City Again Takes US-Made Pipe Over Foreign Imports

Okay Site For Labor Camp's Credit Office

With the approval of the site for an office, final arrangements are being made to extend the services of the Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union to the Labor Camp, according to Mrs. Dyaltha Benson, manager.

Approval of the site for the office was given by Ed Dziuk, Walter N. Hodges Sr., and Jack Renfro, members of the board of directors. The office site was granted on a lease-free basis.

A building will be moved on to the site as soon as the weather permits, said Mrs. Benson. "With good weather, we should have the building there before Dec. 1," she continued. "We hope to have the office open by Dec. 15 and perhaps sooner."

Introductory classes in family finance and savings were also begun last week. The first sessions were held at the Labor Camp nurses' home last Thursday and Friday.

In spite of the bad weather, stated Mrs. Benson, 71 persons attended the first session and 53 attended the next evening.

Mrs. Benson expressed her appreciation for "the very fine cooperation" of the Labor Camp leaders in helping with the project.

For the second time in recent months, the Hereford City Commission accepted a bid on American-made pipe for the city's Water Department over a cheaper pipe of foreign manufacture as the city purchased $15,310.74 worth of pipe and fittings.

The bid on the American-made pipe was submitted to the Commission by a Hereford firm, Clowe and Cowan Inc., and totaled $12,776. The bid on the foreign-made pipe totaled $12,088.

In reaching its decision, the Commissioners decided to take the bid which would be most advantageous to the city. The decision was reached on the basis of experiences with the imported pipe.

The Clowe and Cowan bid calls for 4000 feet of eight-inch pipe for $6920; 4000 feet of six-inch pipe, $4920; 1200 feet of four-inch pipe, $936.

Low bid on the pipe fittings and six fire hydrants with valves was received from Western Industrial Supply Co. of Amarillo. The company's bid totaled $2534.74.

Other companies which bid on the pipe were Johns-Manville, $13,128; Moore Supply Co., $12,088; and Morrison Supply Co., $12,776. The two identical bids were from companies supplying identical pipe.

Bids on the fire plugs and other pipe fittings were also received from Johns-Manville, $2994.76; Moore Supply Co., $2651.38; Clowe and Cowan, $2665.65; and Morrison Supply Co., $2777.82.

In other business at the regular Commission meeting held Monday night, the commissioners agreed to accept a proposed lease on the front part of the Ireland Building. The space to park two fire department vehicles now housed in a service station across the street from the City Hall, will be rented to the city for $45 a month.

Additional space is available in the building to park other fire department vehicles. The additional space will be rented to the city for $15 per month per vehicle.

County Agent 'Lefty' Thomas Didn't Apply, But Gets Trip

BY GARDNER COLLINS
BRAND STAFF REPORTER

For many years, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has recognized the outstanding work of county extension agents by awarding trips to the nation's number one annual 4-H meeting. This year, such a trip was awarded to J. W. (Lefty) Thomas, Deaf Smith County agricultural agent, even though he did not apply.

"Application for the trip," said Lefty, "was really made by my wife and Mrs. Earl Plank. They took the form off of my desk and sent it in for me. They told me about it later.

"My selection," he continued, "came as a surprise. I didn't think there was any chance of my going."

Also chaperoning the 13 boys and 18 girls from 4-H clubs across the state to the National Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30, will be Marshall Crouch and Miss Peggy Wilsford, assistant state 4-H leaders, and Mrs. Nettie Freudenberg, home demonstration agent at La Grange.

Thomas has been employed by the Agricultural Extension for the past 19 years. He began working with the service in Waxahachie as an assistant county agent for Ellis County. He was transferred to Wellington as the Collingsworth County agent a year later.

Four years ago, he was transferred again, this time to his present post in Deaf Smith County. One of the most important duties of the county agent is working with the county's 4-H clubs in developing programs.

"4-H work is important," said Lefty, "because building citizenship is the primary objective and it teaches technical agriculture and homemaking."

The leadership program developed in Deaf Smith County has gained state-wide recognition and was recently praised by the Extension Service.

An outstanding leader training program, according to the service, is credited with much of the success for the 4-H program in the county.

In the county, Lefty is in charge of the boys' 4-H program. He meets with five clubs at least once a month and sometimes holds extra meetings.

Since he has been here, five state awards have been won by county 4-Hers with two teenagers winning in national contests.

"We are hoping that the two going this year — Dick Plank and Caroline Brumley — will also win in the national contests," he said.

Lefty praised the county 4-H leaders, saying, "The adult leaders are the backbone of 4-H work since county agents could never get anything done without them."

Clothing Valued At About $400 Taken From Car

A second clothing theft from a parked automobile in less than a week netted between $375-$400 worth of women's clothes, according to the Hereford Police Department.

The clothing, which included several dresses and a fur stole, belonged to Mrs. Elba O'Hara, Elk City, Okla. She had parked her 1955 model automobile behind Lamm Jewelry, 347 N. Main, as she stopped to visit her daughter, Mrs. H. Bob Lamm.

The theft occurred sometime between 4-6:30 p.m. Saturday, but was not discovered until Mrs. O'Hara reached her daughter's home at 127 Sunset Dr., according to the investigating officer Patrolman Pete Cole.

Other clothing, belonging to Miss Catherine Lamm, was lying in the rear seat of the car but was not disturbed.

Dear Me! Deer Can Be Costly

Deer hunting and trouble may not be linked together, but everything seems to happen at the same time as far as N. E. Milburn, 128 Ave. B, is concerned.

Milburn's trouble began when he went deer hunting in Colorado this past weekend.

First, a car on which he had a lien was stolen in Denver on Saturday. The approximate value was $500.

Then, Sunday night after he returned, someone ran into his trailer. It was slammed into and turned over sometime during the night. He placed the damages at about $100.

"We got all the deer we could eat and a little more," Milburn said.

Thanksgiving Will Be Special For Glen Fuller And Parents Of Dawn

BY WAIN MILLER
BRAND STAFF REPORTER

A brief examination by a school nurse, 66 trips to Amarillo and a miraculous breakthrough in the field of eye surgery technique have led to what will most certainly be the first of the blessings to be counted Thanksgiving Day in the home of the H. S. Fuller family, south of Dawn.

Along with the rest of the family, Glen Fuller will observe the holiday in the traditional way this year, complete with mouth-watering turkey 'n' dressing.

When the family sits down to the feast, one thing will certainly be remembered above all others in its prayer of Thanksgiving. For the past five years, Glen has gradually been losing his vision.

Three months ago, he became the second person in this area to undergo a "corneal transplant" operation, allowing him to regain his precious sight.

Both father and mother, as well as Glen, were thrilled with the success of the operation. Glen is the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Fuller.

In the words of his mother, "I feel that we will definitely have something extra special to thank God for this Thanksgiving."

Perhaps the first thing that the Fullers will remember in their Thanksgiving prayer will be the eye-examination program carried on in the Hereford schools, for this was the first step in discovering the growth which would have eventually led to Glen's blindness.

Upon the nurse's advice, Glen went to see an optometrist, and later an eye specialist, where the growth was actually discovered.

Doctors prescribed large contact lenses that covered the entire face of the eye. No simple job, Glen made 66 trips to Amarillo to have the lenses fitted.

As the specialist had one pair of lenses near completion, it was learned that a tighter fitting contact would retard the growth. So, all the measurements and fittings were to be done once more.

With the special contact's, Glen could then see well enough to keep up his school work.

Shortly before school was out last year, the family learned that the only cure for Glen's impending blindness was the transplant surgery, in which the eye cornea from one human's eye is transferred into another's.

From that time, until August 9, 1961, the Fuller household was in constant turmoil. Glen's

Scholastic Accomplishments Get Pat On Back For School

Just as football teams, bands, and choirs earn applause for jobs well done, scholastic achievements within the Hereford Public Schools system have also earned a pat on the back for an outstanding accomplishment in the education of local students.

Results of a battery of nationally standardized tests taken by all Hereford High School juniors and seniors indicate an outstanding educational development in Hereford.

According to percentage ratings on the results of these tests, Hereford schools rank within the top ten percent of the hundreds of high schools across the nation which have taken this standard quiz.

All departments of education within the school system showed ratings far above the national average, with the greatest achievements shown in the fields of math, reading, English, and social studies.

Developed by the University of Iowa, the battery of nine tests has been administered to millions of students throughout the nation, in order to determine a basis for comparing the nation's schools.

"These tests measure knowledge gained throughout the lifetime of the student, both at school and at home," according to Robert L. Thompson, student counselor at Hereford High School.

He pointed out that grades from these tests reflect the strong points of the entire school system, not only in high school, but also in the training received at home.

Tests cover the fields of social studies, natural science, correct grammatical expression.

LOOKING FORWARD TO THE DAY when he can ride his horse, Glen Fuller is celebrating Thanksgiving in an extra special way this season. Recovering from a recent corneal transplant eye operation, Glen has regained full use of his eyes. Unable to ride in the past because of limited vision, he is anxiously awaiting the day when his doctor grants permission for Glen to mount his horse or, better yet, take the family car for a spin.

PLANTING GOOD ALL ROUND CINCINNATI — Slopes beside the city's expressways are being planted with rambling flowers, shrubs and trees which reduce roadside maintenance, curb erosion, muffle traffic noise and reduce headlight glare.

William Conrad, roadside development engineer, says the planting effort also is tied directly to the psychological makeup of motorists: "If you let a highway look frowsy, people throw all their litter on it. But if it looks like a park, they respect it."

The den, with early American furnishings, was the scene of an oblong dining table, laid with a dark green cloth, set with Royal Copenhagen dinnerware and amber crystal. The flower arrangement was a piece of driftwood as the base with dried magnolia leaves, cornflowers and the filler of gladiolus seed pods.

Sober Alcoholics Report On Finding Peace In Their Lives

(Editor's Note: The following article was written by Ramona Noel of Hereford, a worker in the Hereford Council on Alcoholism, after attending a three-day meeting of Alcoholics Anonymous. Her impressions provide an insight into the victims of this disease and their outlook on life. This article is presented as a service in advance of Alcoholics Information Week, which will be observed here Nov. 26-Dec. 3.)

BY RAMONA NOEL

One of the most fulfilling experiences that has ever happened to me in my lifetime came when I attended a three day Round-up of Alcoholics Anonymous.

When I came away from this meeting it made me wish that I was an alcoholic, because these people had something that a lot of us have searched for all our lives. They are proud people, which they should be, they have found God. If you have any doubt that God doesn't perform miracles, a meeting of this sort will open your eyes to the realization that here are people with which God has performed miracles. Our daily living can be shaped by the same suggestions that the alcoholic uses to help him to sobriety. It is such a wonderful program that it is hard to express the feelings that are bursting to come out.

For those who have been sober for months or years are a true example that through the grace of God they can live a normal existence again, but still bearing in mind that they can never take that one drink again. Sure they can take it, but it wouldn't be sufficient for them. One would call for another and another because they know they are an alcoholic and will always be, because it is a disease and they are unable to control their drinking after that first one. They have admitted that they are powerless over alcohol.

This problem of alcoholism is now in the open for everyone to know. It is not now something to be ashamed of. If any doubt at all existed, which it didn't, before going to this meeting about not being accepted by this group of people there is none whatsoever.

To me it is a privilege to rub shoulders with a group that is so dedicated to the cause of helping themselves and with their love to help others. Most alcoholics have had an inferiority complex to overcome, some of them may still have it, but with the closeness of association with each other helps to erase their feelings of being inferior. Alcoholism is not particular about its victims; it can be anyone from minister to bricklayer. Listening to each speaker tell of his experiences before sobriety brings you to realize this. The occupations of the different speakers made a great impression on me. If someone had told me about the hillbilly lawyer that they heard speak, it would not have meant a thing to me — but to be there and experience it myself helps me to a deeper understanding of the struggles of each one.

One of the most dynamic speakers of the meeting was an Episcopal minister, Dr. John D. from Oklahoma City, Dean of St. Paul's Episcopal Cathedral of Oklahoma City and head of Evangelism for the Episcopal Church. The feelings that he transmitted across to his audience had an electrical effect. Born in the Netherlands, he came to America in 1934, having gone as far up the ladder as he could in Europe.

He holds a Doctor's degree in chemistry and engineering and speaks seven languages. He has had 17 years of sobriety. He related, "Ten years were spent drinking and making money and within one year everything was lost from drinking. I ended up living in an eight-dollar a week room."

Dr. John compared people to a tree, "Like a tree, to start fresh and new, we have to cut it down to the ground and the roots for it to start to grow and begin anew. People have to be done the same way."

An alcoholic has no will any more, his existence is much like a zombie. Even more bluntly, he described the alcoholic who is drinking as an insane person.

Dr. John said, "My God can do anything. He loves you so, that he will do anything. He sobered me up and made me what I am today." Another thought he gave me is, "Happiness is something you can't buy, but it comes thru the back door — by helping others, therefore, doing things for other people gives no limit what God will do for you."

After listening as if in a trance to this man I immediately felt the urge to meet him, feeling that he would not remember me from Adam the next time we met. But the remark he made to me will always live with me. As I grasped his hand I told him how glad I was to meet him. He grinned from ear to ear, giving my hand a vigorous handshake, and said, "Mountains never meet, but people always do."

As we walked from the crowded auditorium, I noticed the faces and actually saw a certain glow. If they felt as I did there was a feeling of humility in their hearts that could not be erased by anyone.

With all that was received through this one talk what was in store for us next? My anticipation toward the next few days was growing, anxiously awaiting to see what potent remarks each speaker had to share with us.

The next morning was truly a day of perfection — sun bright, sky clear and a crisp wind blowing. Arriving at the meeting, we were welcomed with warm smiles and cheery greetings from strangers met the night before who now seemed like old friends.

Among the speakers for this day was Fred W. from Kansas, 27 years an alcoholic and now seven years of sobriety. He began his drinking at age 16. He remarked, "Live a 24-hour period, one day at a time, because tomorrow does not belong to us; all we have is today. One of the common faults of an alcoholic is impatience plus a lack of self-reliance. In order to achieve sobriety an honest approach to the problem must be made with the miracle coming from within, not without."

During his talk a statement was made that all of us could digest and use every day,

"Love is expressed in service."

As the day continued I experienced a feeling of thankfulness for being included into the fellowship of this group and the emotions they inspired in me.

When Frank L., with an unmistakable Irish brogue, appeared on the program a suspicion of doubt wandered through my mind. Could this little man be an alcoholic, too? Frank, who was short and sporting a crew cut, had studied to be a priest and was proud of his 11 years of sobriety. The amazing thing about Frank was the vast volume of sound that rolled from such a small man. Before his sobriety, Frank hit Washington's Skid Row. His buddy there was called the Professor, once the Dean of an Eastern university. Together they decided to educate the world.

Much of his life had been spent travelling about the world without a feeling of belonging to anyone or anything, although he had been in 50 countries and seen combat in two wars in the service of two different countries.

The first AA meeting Frank attended was in jail. As he commented, "I went to mock and stayed to pray." Contrary to most alcoholics, he never doubted the existence of a God.

Three points he made that enlightened me were: 1. "What people say about you is your reputation, what God thinks about you is your character. 2. God gives each man the privacy of his heart, mind and soul. 3. Man should not have opinions, but convictions."

Alcoholism is not a respecter of persons, each one is different. Cliff W., 21 years of sobriety, said, "The desire to quit must equal the desire to survive. Sobriety is not enough, because alcoholism does not come out of the bottle alone, but also from the person. Therefore, he should practice AA out of sheer necessity, finally, practice it because he wants to." He described himself before sobriety as a "bankrupt idealist" — the goals he could not reach made him resort to the bottle for escape.

Relating his life, he said, "After holding the same job for 21 years I felt like everything was pretty well made and then came the shock of being laid off, without a job. Going home I walked into the kitchen and after all these years of sobriety my first thought was to take a drink. Struggling with the inner thoughts and desires to drink again I at once realized I was slipping back to the years before. Finally, getting control of myself I turned to the 12 steps practiced in AA."

Desperate after losing his job, Cliff decided that the best thing for him to do in order to put things straight again in his life was to go to his creditors and explain to them. The bonding company, which he owed money, was the first on the list. After explaining his situation, he and company officials agreed on payment of 50 cents a week until the debt was paid.

Seeing how easy that was, he decided he'd talk to the little Jewish grocer that he owed $200. He told him that he could not pay his bill and why. As he started to leave the little grocer said, "Most anyone else would not say anything and move away." As he put his arms around Cliff's shoulders he said, "Your credit is unlimited."

The two yardsticks Cliff measured himself by were: 1. Yardstick of normalcy — that which consists of the distance come through 21 years of practicing AA or living the AA program. Everything he had or owned was credited to the AA program. 2. Yardstick of contrast — what he used to be.

Taking the stand with a bounce and sparkle Dave R., the hillbilly lawyer from Tennessee, stood looking over the audience with a twinkle in his eye and with a big smile told the group how welcome that they had made him feel. His talk was serious, but full of incidents that were hilarious.

Since Dave started drinking when he was 30, he thought he had to make up for lost time. As he described it, "Once I started I really pulled some dudes." After becoming a successful lawyer, drinking contributed to losing his business and friends. He became so far in debt that nobody would sign his notes and, as he so aptly put it, "Now wasn't that a pretty come-to-pass?"

Dave felt that everyone was against him, even his two daughters and his brother. He called his brother "some big mouth," because he was interfering with his life and his drinking.

Dave told about an incident that really made him realize that he was an alcoholic: "One morning I came to at one of those little side-road motels not knowing how I got there. When you come to and find yourself on the edge of the bed with one sock on and not knowing whether you are getting up or going to bed, then you're a full-fledged alcoholic."

With all his drinking behind him, Dave feels he now has a wonderful relationship with his Creator. He urged each one not to get too busy to attend AA meetings.

In describing what AA meant to him he said, "God will not permit anything visited upon us without giving us the strength to bear it, if we'll just ask him."

The second night at the round-up really concluded two days of wonderful fellowship. Every year a dance is held for the group.

At the dance that night I was utterly amazed at about four to five hundred people attending — all sober — dancing to a toe-tapping Western band.

Indication of the dance's success was on the faces of everyone. After the dance I felt in my heart that this had been a dance that would live vividly in my heart for a long, long time.

The last speaker, Father John J. W., traveled to Texas from Maryland for the Round-Up. Father John, 20 months of sobriety, was the youngest AA speaker at the round-up.

As Father John said, "Without the 12 steps I would have nothing and be nothing. I could read everything about AA, but if I did not practice the 12 steps I would not be sober today."

The first drink that started Father John on the road to alcoholism was the death of his mother. He wanted to cry because he felt bad, but knew that it was unmanly and he couldn't cry. The lump in his throat would not disappear, but when someone suggested a drink he accepted. With the drinking of his first highball — the lump disappeared.

At first he drank with people, then alone in his room in the rectory. "Drinking, spitting on the floor," Father John said, "I was a repulsive drinker."

Father John finally was com-

Willie Wirehand Wishes You

A VERY HAPPY THANKSGIVING 1961

Let us pause on this day, as our Pilgrim forefathers did so long ago -- to give prayerful thanks, not only for the food on our table, but more importantly, for those freedoms we all hold so dear - - -

- FREEDOM FROM WANT
Our Country Produces More than we can consume . . .
- FREEDOM FROM FEAR
No secret police knock on our doors at midnight . . .
- FREEDOM TO WORSHIP
In America we attend Church unmolested . . .
- FREEDOM OF SPEECH
We may voice our opinions without fear of censorship
- FREEDOM TO GOVERN
Every American Citizen may cast his ballot in secret . . .

Our Country has come a long, hard way since that first harvest in 1621 to truly become the "Land of Plenty" and the Home of the Free. LET US PRAY IT WILL ALWAYS BE!

"DO YOU CALL THAT MUSIC?" wails Charles Kelly during "Stunt Night" hilarity Friday. ELM MEDICINE
AMHERST, Mass. P — Tree inoculation may be the way to remedy or prevent tree disease.
So said Dr. Albert E. Dimond of the Connecticut Agricultural Station at a conference on Dutch elm disease control. He said one compound already has been found which, when painted on bark, will climb the water-carrying cells of elm trees. Researchers are now at work, he said, on a compound which would permeate the tree with a chemical agent poisonous to the elm fungus.

IT TAKES TWO TO MAMBO, according to Distributive Education Club's skit entitled "The Three Stooges" presented during Stunt Night Friday. For their efforts, the girls were presented third place awards following the program. Lending their own version of the comedy team are from left: Patsy Livesay, Nicky Bradford, and Geneva Logan. BUSINESS WORDS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — Don't say "off season." Stay "thrifty season" or "economy season."

This can make all the difference in the world for a summer resort. G. Raymond Wood, executive director of the Southern New Jersey Development Council, told a civil group.

"The phrase 'off season' has an indication that there is nothing doing," he said.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING!

Thanksgiving Offers Traditional Treats

BY HELEN NELSON

BRAND WOMEN'S EDITOR

The modern housewife is often tempted to prepare the majority of meals the easy way with prepared mixes and all the conveniences offered by the supermarkets of today. Some times she does this out of necessity; but when preparation time for Thanksgiving dinner arrives, she almost always goes the "long route" in cooking. Maybe she needs to prove to herself that she still can cook in this manner and she knows too the quality and flavor of the food cooked is superior.

These recipes are taken from collections of many loved ones of both family and friends. Won't you try them?

- Best wishes for a humble and happy Thanksgiving!
- Traditional Thanksgiving Dinner
- Grapefruit Appetizer
- Roast Turkey with Louisiana Rice Dressing
- Green Bean Bake
- Sweet Potato Surprises
- Tossed Vegetable Salad with French Dressing
- Cranberry Mold
- Cele's Batter Bread
- Chocolate - Nut Angel Pie
- Pumpkin Chiffon-Tarts Coffee

Remove seeds and center membrane from the grapefruit halves; loosen the segments. Top with frozen blueberries, dust with powdered sugar. Serve in individual dishes as an appetizer. Keep chilled until ready to serve.

Roast Turkey

The old - time method tried-and-true

Stuff and Truss: Stuff turkey just before roasting. Allow about 3/4 cup stuffing per pound ready - to - cook weight. Rinse bird; pat dry with paper towels. Stuff the wishbone cavity and skewer neck skin to the back. Tuck the wing tips behind the shoulder joints. Rub large cavity with salt. Spoon in the stuffing. Shake bird to settle the stuffing; do not pack. Close opening by placing skewers across it and lacing shut with cord. Tie the drumsticks securely to the tail. (If opening has a band of skin across, push the drumsticks under, and you won't have to fasten openings or tie legs.)

Grease skin thoroughly. If you use a meat thermometer, insert it in the center of the inside thigh muscle adjoining the cavity.

To roast: Place bird breast up on the rack in shallow roasting pan and leave in this position for the entire roasting time. Cover with a loose "cap" of aluminum foil, pressing it lightly at drumstick and the breast ends, but avoid having it touch the top or sides. Roast at a constant low temperature.

When the turkey is about two-thirds done, cut the cord or band of skin so the heat can reach the inside of the thighs.

About 20 minutes before the roasting time is up, test for doneness by pressing the thick part of drumstick between the fingers. Meat should feel very soft. Also move the drumstick up and down; it should move easily or twist out of joint. The meat thermometer should register 195 degrees, if used. When the turkey is done, remove from the pan and let stand 20 minutes before carving.

Louisiana Rice Dressing
Add 3 cups of plain white rice to 6 cups of boiling water. (Do not soak rice). Let the rice and water come to a boil; cover. Turn the heat to low and cook

Boil slowly until tender, the bony pieces and giblets of the turkey. Season to taste. When tender, remove meat from the bones and put aside to add to the dressing mixture. Retain the broth for liquid for the dressing and gravy, if desired.

Fry 1 medium onion in a small amount of grease until soft. Cook 1 cup chopped celery and 1/2 cup chopped bell pepper together until tender. Add onion, celery and pepper mixture, 1 1/2 to 2 cups of mushrooms, 1 cup chopped nuts, chopped boiled eggs, the tiny pieces of boiled meat, herb seasonings to taste, 2 raw eggs, and broth from the meat to the cooked rice. Mix well. Stuff the inner cavity of the turkey.

Green Bean Bake

In a 1 quart casserole, stir 1 can of cream of mushroom soup with 1 teaspoon of soy sauce until smooth. Mix in 3 cups of cooked green beans, and 1 cup of French fried onion rings, and a dash of pepper. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 20 minutes. Top with another 1/2 cup of fried onion rings; bake 5 minutes more. Makes 6 servings.

Sweet Potato Surprises
2 cups mashed sweet potatoes
1 egg

Slides Of Holy Land Trip Shown

The regularly scheduled meeting of the Hereford Child Study Club was held Thursday, Nov. 16, in the home of Mrs. Garland Solomon.

Plans for the Christmas party were discussed with the place to be announced later. The Community Club Awards program was discussed. A decision was tabled until a later date.

The program was presented by Earnest Highers, minister of the Central Church of Christ, about his trip to the Holy Land. Slides were shown during a commentary given about the trip. He stated, "a trip like this one is inspirational and would serve to increase your faith in God."

Members and guests attending the meeting were Mesdames S. L. Garrison, Earl Huckabee, Marvin Knox, Art Stoy, Maurice Tannahill, Garland Solomon and Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Highers.

1/2 teaspoon salt
8 marshmallows
1/2 cup crushed cornflakes

1/8 teaspoon pepper
Boil and peel potatoes. Mash or put through ricer. When partially cool, add beaten egg, salt and pepper.

If mixture is too dry, add a little milk. With floured hands, form into 8 round balls with marshmallows hidden inside. Roll in cornflakes, crushed fine. Drop into deep shortening, heated to 375-385 degrees F. or hot enough to brown an inch cube of bread in 40 seconds. Fry until brown, and drain on absorbent paper. (This is very good with roast or most any kind of meat.)

Mrs. Jennings French Dressing

1 1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup vinegar
1 can of tomato soup
1/2 cup sugar
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce.

salt, pepper, and garlic
Mix well. Shake well just before adding to the salad. Add immediately before serving. (This dressing keeps well.)

Cranberry Mold

1 cup ground raw cranberries

Dinner Served To Guests, Members

Turkey, ham and all the trimmings were served to the members and guests of the West Hereford Home Demonstration Club on Nov. 16 at 7 p.m. at the Bull Barn. A prayer by Mrs. F. S. Smith preceded the meal. Games were played for the remainder of the evening. Mrs. Alice Brady won the door prize, a set of ceramic turkeys.

The next meeting will be Nov. 23 at 2:30 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Wayne Carthel. Plans for the Christmas party will be made at that time. All members are urged to be present.

Those present for the meeting and supper were Mrs. John Jacobsen Sr., Mrs. W. A. Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Carthel, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shirley and children, Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Smith, Mrs. W.J. Frost, and James Elmer, Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Vaughn, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Alexander and boys, Mrs. Edna Anders and girls, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Awtrey, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Awtrey, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. SCHOOL CUTS CLASSES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Richard Batchelder, former president of the Department of Classroom Teachers of the National Education Association, says longer school years won't make children learn more.

Batchelder said at a convention here that his own city of Newton, Mass., has cut school to only four days a week and "it works very well."

1 cup ground unpared apples
1 cup sugar

1 3-ounce package lemon-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup pineapple syrup
1/2 cup seeded Tokay grape halves

1/4 cup broken walnuts
6 pineapple slices
Combine cranberries, apple, and sugar.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add syrup; chill till partially set. Add cranberry apple mixture, grapes, and nuts. Pour in to individual molds; chill till firm.

Unmold on pineapple slices on crisp lettuce. Pass the mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

Cele's Batter Bread

1 stick of oleo
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cup sour cream
3 eggs
4 cups flour
2 pkgs. of dry yeast

Heat cream until it bubbles. Pour over sugar, salt, and oleo. Let cool until lukewarm. Sprinkle yeast over it and stir in. Add eggs and beat well. Add flour. Let rise in mixing bowl until double. Stir down and put in pans. Bake loaves at 375 degrees until brown and rolls at 400 degrees until brown.

This bread can be prepared ahead of serving time. It is good cold, but especially good warm.

Chocolate-Nut Angel Pie

1/2 cup granulated sugar
1/8 teaspoon cream of tartar
2 egg whites
1/2 cup chopped nuts (walnuts or pecans)

3/4 cup semi sweet chocolate pieces
3 tablespoons hot water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Sift sugar and cream of tartar. Beat egg whites stiff, but not dry. Add sifted sugar gradually, while continuing to beat until smooth and glossy.

Line well buttered 9 inch pie plate with this mixture; keep center hollowed out to 1/4 inch thickness; do not spread meringue on rim of the plate. Sprinkle with nuts.

Bake in a slow oven (275 degrees) about 1 hour or until delicately browned and crisp to the touch.

Melt chocolate in the double boiler, stir in water and cook until thickened. Cool slightly, add vanilla, fold in whipped cream. Turn into the meringue shell, chill 2 to 3 hours or until set.

Pumpkin Chiffon Tarts (Mom's)

1 1/4 cups cooked pumpkin
1 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon ginger
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
3 eggs
1 tablespoon gelatin
1/4 cup cold water

Divide the sugar into two parts. Add half a cup to pumpkin together with the spices and salt and blend well. Add the milk and stir until smooth. Separate the eggs; beat yolks slightly and stir them into the pumpkin mixture.

Cook the mixture in double boiler until smooth and perfectly blended. Remove from the fire and add gelatin which has been dissolved in the cold water. Stir until all the gelatin is perfectly dissolved, then set the mixture aside to cool. When cool, add the egg whites, which have been beaten stiff with the remaining half of sugar. Fold them lightly but thoroughly into the mixture. Pour the mixture into baked tart shells, and place them in the refrigerator until serving time.

Served with unsweetened whipped cream.

Green Reports Palo Duro's Shrine Drama Being Formed

During the past week the people of the Texas Panhandle had an opportunity to become acquainted with Paul Green, the distinguished playwright, who is preparing the symphonic drama for the Texas Panhandle, the great historical play with music and motion which is to be played in the Palo Duro State Park up against a high bluff.

Green spoke to the first meeting of the Board of Directors of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, Inc., the organization formed to put on the drama, and to the general meeting of the Foundation. He also addressed a coffee at the Amarillo Club, put on for the Amarillo members of the Foundation and for interested guests, and at a luncheon meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Amarillo organized by the Fine Arts Council and presented for the business men of the city.

At the luncheon, Green spent some time describing the play as it has already formed. He said, "I see people assembling and watching the sunset in the Canyon, that great panorama of color which is more spectacular than anything that man can do. Then as darkness falls, I hear music, music based on the great folk melodies which our Fathers knew and loved. This music will rise and swell until suddenly it will break and high on the cliff, outlined by light will be an Indian, waiting to his God. The light may switch to another pinnacle, where another Indian will answer. Then it may switch to a trail leading down from the plain and pick up a covered wagon slowly lurching down. In this wagon will be a pioneer family, parents and children, and in their experiences in the play, we shall see what our Fathers did, and feel what they felt. Using sound and light, it will be possible for us in the audience to experience the blizzards that they suffered, the sand storms that they faced, and the crashing terror and excitement of a buffalo stampede. They will live in a dug out of a log house and in their lives we will see the humor and love and endurance and religious devotion and stamina which made possible the settlement of this hard land.

"In this drama that I am going to write for you people, there will be some violence. But opening this area of the country up for civilization, there was violence. I will record it because it was there, because the pioneers had to suffer the hardships, the deprivations and the violence because it was worth suffering for. Anything is worth suffering for if the ideal is strong enough.

"The settling of the Panhandle was a risk, but it is the nature of American people to gamble. We are not a nation of people who like to play it safe. Americans are willing to reach dangerously even though there is a threat to personal safety.

"Here in the Panhandle is exemplified the philosophy of America and the exemplification is vivid. The fact that there was nothing here that is spectacular in history, nothing here that was easy or comfortable, but plenty of sand storms, blizzards, live stock losses, cruel winds and loneliness, makes the settling as dramatic as anything could ever be.

"I want to tell about your great Panhandle history. To commemorate the settlers of this area. There is a story to tell and if my drama doesn't stir you, then I have failed." Green's assertions are backed by his lengthy credit list of plays and dramas which deal with outstanding events in American history. His first symphonic drama, "Roll, Sweet Chariot," was produced in New York in 1934. This drama proved to be a failure, but was the basic foundation for success that was to come. The failure propelled Green out of the 'Bottleneck of Broadway' to write his symphonic dramas for the people. His first major symphonic drama, "The Lost Colony," is produced on Roanoke Island and relates the story of the first white settlers in America.

Green warned his audience in the Branding Iron Theatre in the Fine Arts Building that the symphonic drama he is going to write about the history of the Panhandle could be a gigantic success or an equally gigantic failure. But to the North Carolinian's way of thinking, gambling on the success or failure of the undertaking is typical of the American way of doing things. And he believes that the drama that will be produced in Palo Duro State Park can be a spectacular success.

Last spring Green visited Canyon and Palo Duro State Park at the invitation of Mrs. Ples Harper and a group of Canyon citizens who were interested in the possibilities of a symphonic drama being produced in the canyon. After Green got here he went down into the Canyon only "to be amazed at this wonder of nature." Green asked many questions. "Were there enough interested persons in the area? Could the weary tourist be deflected in his travels to drive down to the Canyon? Was there sufficient interest in drama in the region? And was there a strong enough department at your college?" To these inquiries, Green came up with affirmatives.

With his love and understanding for the American heritage, with his rich and fluent command of his native tongue whether speaking or writing, Paul Green could well qualify as the poet of the American people.

He is convinced that he can write a great drama from the material of Panhandle history. Green has commented in his recent visit, "There is a greatness in America. That's why I believe that Americans should relate their heritage."

mitted to the violent ward in the mental hospital at Seaton Institute. Sitting with head in hands he felt disgusted and angry at being there. When a drunk man was brought into the hospital one day he thought, "Look at that drunken bum. I am here for my nerves, I think." Emphasis was made that the drunk must reach the point of complete and utter surrender, absolutely have no reservations, before he is ready for help. It doesn't help for someone else to admit that your life is unmanageable and you're powerless over alcohol, it has to come from within yourself, he pointed out.

After going to the best theologians in the United States without any results, it finally got to the point of no place else to go and something had to be done. Thus, feeling hopeless and helpless, he turned to AA. When he first came into AA Father John didn't like the 12 steps. His opinion of AA was that it included a bunch of "crackpots," making each other feel good and indulging in inverted pride.

Someone told him that if you had trouble believing in God then you first come into AA, then use the group as a higher power. This he felt he could accept, because they had something he wanted: they were happy. Before AA his 24-hour-a-day life was spent wrapped around booze. After going to AA for a short time he came to believe that a power greater than himself had stepped in. As he put it, "I came to believe in a 'God of my understanding'."

Father John related his feelings of coming into AA as a man lost in the wilderness for several days, hungry, cold and lonely and not knowing where to go. Finally, coming to a ty airport. Buzz the fair building and a car will meet you.

Those wishing a catalog in advance of the sale can write to "H. M. Breedlove, Secretary, Clarendon, Texas."

W. H. "Bill" Cook is president of "The Rolling Plains Registered Beef Cattle Association." Cameron Gault, registered Hereford cattle breeder from Hereford, has several bulls in this sale.

SPLIT-PERSONALITY STUDY
CHATTANOOGA (A) — A prominent psychiatrist - neurologist says victims of schizophrenia, or split - personality, may have physical as well as mental symptoms.

In fact, said Dr. Robert Heath of Tulane University, it is possible that the disease — once thought to be wholly a mental or nervous disorder — may be determined through an inborn error in metabolism.

He said a serum fraction from the blood of schizophrenics has been found to produce the same symptoms of personality change in normal human volunteers.

Dr. Heath is professor and chairman of the department of psychiatry and neurology at Tulane.

These workers should be recognized for their cooperation and help given for worthwhile projects. While talking Lefty added, "The county agent works only behind the scene." Thomas was given his moniker, "Lefty" while attending Tarleton Junior College in Stephenville. He was a pitcher on the baseball team as well as football team quarterback and collegiate boxer. The name stuck with him after he was graduated and began teaching school at Tolar, Tex., in 1928. In addition to his teaching duties, Lefty was also the school's coach. During the summer months, he played semi-pro baseball and worked in the oil fields. Some of the teams he played for between 1932 and 1940, are the Dancinger Oil Co. Roadrunners, Amarillo Gas Co. and Col. Texco. In 1940, Lefty returned to college and after two years was graduated from Texas A&M with a bachelor of science degree in agricultural education. "I decided to go back to college because I didn't like the oil fields," he says, "and I felt the need of higher education." "I liked agriculture since I had been raised on a farm near Abilene," he continued "and wanted to get back into that field." Lefty had his mind made up when he graduated to become a county agent. However, there were no openings with the Extension Service. While waiting, he taught vocational agriculture for 16 months before becoming the assistant agent in Ellis County. Lefty and his wife, Casie, live at 117 Aspen here. Of their three children only one, Jack, 13, is still at home. Their daughter, Mrs. Ada Carole Rummel, is at Ft. Bliss with her husband, and their other son, John, is working on a Ph. D. in entomology. If all the world's winds should die down, starting them again would require more power than all the United States' electrical plants could generate in a hundred years.

Due to the early deadline this week to get the Thursday issue out before the holiday, we didn't carry the results of Tuesday night's opening basketball game between the Whitefaces and the Pampa Harvesters. We do know that the Herd will be at home again Friday night, hosting the Palo Duro Dons who were state finalists last year. Poor Tom Gilley has only two starts and three more of his regulars back. However, the Dons will be missing all-state Steve Carter, who always seemed to have his finest nights again at Hereford. Hereford coach Cuby Kitchens is a "crying towel" coach, who is always pessimistic about his team's chances. "We are inclined to cry with him this week, though. Randy Dowell, who was expected to be Hereford's strongest rebounder, came down last week with a glandular fever and will be in bed for about a week or ten days. His absence will make it a little tougher on the untested Whitefaces, most of whom are starting their first varsity games this week.

TCU had its moment of glory last Saturday against the vaunted Longhorns. Now, it's not often that we sympathize with A&M, but we really do feel sorry for them come Turkey Day. Had Texas won last week, the Aggies might have had a chance, but Darrell Royal's boys are going to be fighting mad and eager to get back into the top spot. Texas should win this one by 40 points. If you haven't already bought that turkey, don't forget about the traditional St. Anthony Thanksgiving dinner at the school from 11:30 a.m. until 2 p.m. Thursday. On Thursday, spare a kind thought if you will for a reporter this week of three club gatherings who was served, thrice, turkey and dressing to fill him so full that he thinks he's almost feathering!

Highway Wreck Injures Four

Four persons were treated for minor injuries at the Deaf Smith County Hospital and released as the result of an automobile pickup collision about one-half mile north of Hereford late Sunday evening. Injured in the accident were Mrs. Deward Armstrong, Rt. 4, Hereford, and her three children, Kent, 6, Cynthia, 10, and Terry, 8. No one was seriously injured in the smashup, according to Carol Parker, investigating officer, Texas Highway Patrol. The accident occurred as Elmer Baker, also of Rt. 4, was trying to hook a chain on his stalled 1955 model pickup truck so it could be towed. Deward Armstrong, a 1955 model sedan, ran into the side of the truck as he was driving toward Hereford. Armstrong was unable to see the pickup stalled in the traffic lane because of an approaching automobile, said Parker. Damages to the pickup were estimated at $300 with $350 damage to the Armstrong vehicle, according to Parker.

Thompson stressed that grades of students in Hereford have no basis for comparison with the rating the school received in comparison with other schools. (Continued from page 1) name was added to the growing list of those who wished to undergo such an operation.

The eye from which the cornea was to be furnished was to come from one of the eye banks such as the one planned in Amarillo, so the Fullers were in almost constant touch of the doctor who had charge of Glen's case. In this type of operation, the "transplant" must be made within 48 hours following the death of the donor. As soon as possible following the death of one who has willed his eyes to an eye bank, Glen was to be notified; however Glen had to wait his turn for the still rare operation. Meanwhile, the Fullers went into a nerve-racking period of waiting - waiting for the call that might mean Glen's sight. One morning Mrs. Fuller noticed scar tissue on Glen's left eye, signifying that blindness had come. Although he still has sight in his right eye, it is very limited. Finally, the call came at 2:30 p.m. on Aug. 9. Glen was to be in Amarillo by 4:30, to prepare for surgery the following day. Saint Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo had been notified that an eye was on its way by plane from New York City. With small-scale chaos, the Fuller family gathered the things they needed and rushed to Amarillo. The operation was set for 4 p.m. Aug. 10, but Glen had to undergo treatment for hay fever before the operation could begin, so that he would not sneeze. After Glen had prepared for surgery, his doctor found that the eye which had been rushed from New York was not satisfactory for the operation; however two more corneas were due in from the Lions Club Eye Bank in Oklahoma City at 6:48 p.m. "It was a terrible wait," said Mrs. Fuller. When the eyes arrived at the airport in Amarillo, they were rushed to the hospital by ambulance. Because of the extended wait, Glen began to dehydrate before the operation began. Finally, however, all was ready and he entered surgery. His mother and father report that he was in the operating room for an hour and a half, some of the most anxious moments of their lives. As soon as his operation was completed, doctors performed similar operation on an Amarillo girl. Following the operation, Glen had to lay perfectly still for almost a week. After 15 days, he was released from the hospital and returned home. In order to let the eye heal properly, there could be no vibration. It had to be cleaned and treated daily by a patient mother. "One joke that occurred on the hospital," said Mrs. Fuller, "was when the doctor found out that Glen had shaved. Patients are usually told not to shave because of the vibration, but doctors didn't warn Glen because they didn't think he was old enough." Everything turned out fine, however. He now has normal vision from his left eye. Sometime in the future, Glen's right eye will be operated on, as it too is gradually going blind. Glen says that his eye does not bother him now, since all stitches have been removed. "I am looking forward to driving the car more than anything else," says Glen. Although he has his license, his vision finally became too limited to allow him to do this. Next to this, Glen is anxious to saddle up his horse again. Because of the vibration, this is impossible at the present, but it won't be long, according to Attractive Pat Voyles, who admitted she got most of her help from her husband, declared that she intended to use her tickets for the nationally known bowl game in Dallas on Jan. 1. She moved ahead by one game in the final week on the basis of her pick of Notre Dame to beat Syracuse. They did, on the basis of a field goal after time had run out, to give her first place as Curtis' expert picked Syracuse to win. Their picks were the same on all other games.

(Staff Photo)

Formal acceptance of a new group and installation of officers was held for the Neoki Horizon Club Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p.m., with services conducted at Hereford Community Center. The new group, which will be a chapter for a similar group, and Mrs. Jean Streu, former advisor for a similar group, and Mrs. Pat Loerwald, one of the charter members of the original Horizon Club for Hereford, served as installing officers.

Symbolizing the national colors of blue and silver, a table laid with a blue cloth held the eight candles signifying the eight points of Camp Fire law, from which the new members' candles were lighted.

Horizon Club pins were presented to 14 girls, including Misses Debbie Beene, Judy Crume, Sharon Tinnin, Susan Stapp, Nancy Boyer, Janis Medley, Patsy Stoy, Vickie Inman, Helen Davis, Barbara Langley, Linda London, Beth Ballard, Gayle Witherspoon and Jo Ella McGee.

Officers for the group are: Debbie Beene, president; Judy Crume, vice president; Linda London, secretary - treasurer; Jo Ella McGee, historian; and Beth Ballard, reporter. Each girl was presented with a gift symbolizing her office.

Following installation rites, the guests were served from a tea table featuring a crystal punch bowl and a centerpiece of white mums, flanked by white tapers in blue candelabra.

Guests included: Mrs. Phillip Barkley, Mrs. Dale Tinnin; Mrs. Carl M. Stapp; Mrs. Inez Witherspoon; Mrs. Arthur Stoy; Mrs. Walter London; Mrs. LeRoy Boyer; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McGee; Earnest Langley; Larry Hill; Ronnie Gray; the installing officers, Mrs. Streu and Mrs. Loerwald; and the advisors, Mrs. Vance Crume and Mrs. Tom Marks.

REDSKINS HEAP HER

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A soap company engaged Tucson public relations man Sidney Brinkerhoff to find an Indian who could send smoke signals promoting a new product.

Unable to find a smoke-signal on several Arizona reservations, the amazed publicists asked one Indian, "Well, what do you do when you want to send a message to somebody on the next mesa?"

"Why," the Indian replied, "I used the telephone. What do you do?"

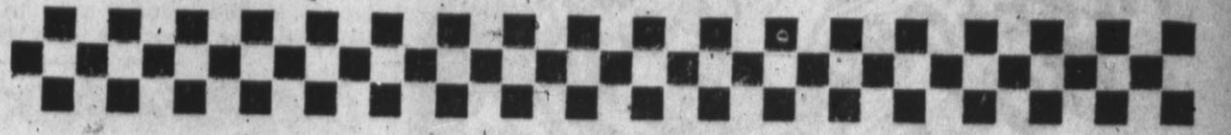

ALL REPAIRS COVERED

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Working atop his carport, Charley R. Miller said it suddenly occurred to him that such repairs were covered by his insurance. He quit working and started down the ladder, but slipped and broke an arm. The arm was insured too, he said.

Young Canada geese feed on grains, marine plants, insects, their larvae and snails. They double their weight in a week and are fully grown in six weeks.

AMONG THE MANY AWARDS presented during the recent County 4-H Club Achievement banquet were those for foods and nutrition. Ed Rinn, left, presented the awards for General Foods. Recipients included: Catherine Smith, Glenda Hamfeld, Kathryn James, Dianne Jack, Nancy Minks, Karen Shearhart, Linda Brooks, Connie Bryant, Teresa McAndrews, Joyce Bezner, Deborah Jesko, Gale Gruhlkey, Becky Higgins, Ellen McGowen, Beverley Barrett, Elizabeth Burrus and Janis Higgins. FRIO

BY JIMMIE GILLENTE
 Abe Lincoln coined a phrase about not being able to fool all of the people all of the time, but occasionally I think it is even more difficult to please some of the people any of the time. When I missed writing the Bull Column several weeks I got complaints galore, so I made a few resolutions and started back. Now people are telling me that I should stop again. They say the weather was nice and everyone was happy until I started making predictions — and messed things up. I hear by the grapevine that my old friend, Mrs. J. C. McCracken, was even giving me a bad time the other day — and I figure that Mae is right. She usually is.

On the other hand, if I make incorrect predictions I will get classed with Dan Trus and some of those other TV weather boys who lean on the U. S. Weather Department in Amarillo. It really is hard to know what to do, but I'll say this: "If you get a buck or two ahead and have a chance to put an overcoat on layaway, go ahead and make the deal." The worst is yet to come. This is just the beginning of that hard, long winter I've been talking about.

Casey Gilbreath is upset because our rainfall is away below normal, but says he will be willing to skip the shortage, rather than have it fall between now and January 1, 1962. Mrs. Lee Cocanougher is tired of the snow and says she wishes I would leave town, so it can melt off. There is one bright spot, though; after all of these years Jay Boston and I finally agreed on something — and it makes me most happy. I think all the world of Jay, but invariably we wind up on opposite sides of the fence. Jay says I am 100 percent right about the pheasants. He says the proposed open season can most easily wipe out our meager start. He has probably more pheasant than anyone in the territory, and he has worked long and hard to increase his flock. He adds that hunters who shoot from the road will be breaking state and county laws — and definitely should be fined because, in addition to wiping out the pheasant population, it is extremely dangerous to shoot from highways.

Back to the weather business, I think Mrs. Cocanougher has the answer. If enough people wish to make a contribution, I will be most happy to take a long trip — and the more people who contribute, the further I can go. The way things are sounding this week, I might get all of the way around the world. If you are interested in sending this kind weather off to India and Russia, while you bask in the sun, be sure and leave your contribution at The Brand Office. I doubt if it will be deductible, but it still might be a bargain.

A bright spot in today's situation is the price of turkey. I don't remember turkey being as glorious Thanksgiving in the down to 29 cents in a long, long time, especially the smaller sizes; all dressed and ready to go, too. Link this with the frequent 25 cent price tag on fryers — and it looks like some good eating for everyone but the food boys. I hear that the wholesale price on some of those turkeys runs as high as 39 cents. J. T. Guinn, who gained a reputation as a turkey king — chiefly because Mrs. Guinn is such an enterprising woman — says they quit the business because they kept losing money on their turkey crop. However, I think he was just plain lucky. Knowing J. T., I figure that folks kept asking for the turkeys to be dressed, and Mrs. Guinn passed this part of the deal to the man of the house, which made it the time they quit. It was probably mere coincidence that the price tumbled the next season.

Which reminds me. Lots and lots of people are kidding Deaf Smith County's new judge, Hank Williams, about Roy Joe Stevens, the former Randall County judge — but Hank swears this had nothing to do with his ambition to hold the office. Fact is, I get the idea that he has heard just about all of that business he wants.

Emmett Milburn went deer hunting down state with Otis Hall, R. J. Cramer, Cameron Gault and Sam Nunnally and they got plenty of deer to go around, but hit a spot or two of trouble after they returned home. Emmett parked his trailer on Union Avenue next to his back yard, and someone smashed into the mobile house turning it over.

"We forgot to take along a radio," reported the boys, "but it turned out ok, thanks to Sam. The only trouble was we never did find out how to turn him off, or tune in another station."

The drug store boys seem fairly happy with the new system of keeping one store open on Sundays, except they really catch it when their Sunday rolls around. Funny thing, too, they say that sales for the one store which stays open usually hits around one-half of the gross all three stores would do if they all remained open as in the past.

Holidays always mess things up around a newspaper office, and Thanksgiving is one of the worst. Christmas comes on Monday this year, which is probably the best time from our standpoint. In addition, it gives everyone a long, long week — end. This, of course, means that New Year will do the same thing.

It is nice, though, to be able to wish everyone a happy, glorious Thanksgiving in the best American tradition. In this nation, we have more to be thankful for than any other place in the world and, in this particular area, we have a bit of edge even on the other Americans — provided we drive carefully, observing speed limits and highway regulations.

Thanksgiving More Than Just Holiday

By JAN REESE

Thanksgiving is a special day set aside by the American people to give thanks unto the Maker and Giver or all our bountiful blessings.

Thanksgiving shouldn't be the only time in the year that we are thankful enough to let Him know about it.

It is not a time to give thanks for our material blessings only, but our spiritual blessings above all. When the Pilgrims came over they were thankful for a bountiful harvest and protection throughout the past year. It seems that we are only aware of our material blessings, when, if it weren't for the spiritual realm of blessings, this world would not even exist.

If we lived in a country that did not enjoy freedom of religion we might be more humble in our thanksgiving. We don't even begin to realize what a privilege it is to be able to worship the Lord, in spirit and in truth without fear of persecution.

Let us strive to be more thankful throughout the whole year, letting our joy spread to others, so that these blessings can be enjoyed throughout our lives and those who follow us.

It is now the time of year for thought and meditation and it is now that we send a formal "thank you message" to the Lord; but deep down our hearts are filled with thankfulness the year 'round.

Woodworking Is Vocational Asset

Woodworking II is offered to boys who have completed the full year course of Woodworking I. Alvin Smith is the teacher.

In this course one should pick one or two big projects and apply the knowledge to them that was acquired in Woodworking I.

The power machines enable shop students to do a better and faster job in their projects. Some of the student body may wonder what all the noise is out in the shop building. It is not entirely the boys—it is partly the power machines.

The most noise comes from the surfacer which planes the wood to a uniform thickness. The table saw is used to make

Behind The Lockers

First things first, and in this case, "First" means first—to the seniors, anyway. Going all out, the senior class won first place in the Annual Queen race, placing lovely Judy Means on the royal throne to reign over her delighted subjects.

Not content, the seniors captured first place during "Stunt Night competition with their stunt entitled "Hereford Bull Meets Mos-Cow."

All of the hard-working senior class members who helped in these events are to be congratulated for their victories.

By the way, Mrs. Buck, the Whiteface is interested in learning more about the tour you said the seniors might take. Do you really think that the sen-

Loerwald Named Fighting Whiteface

Whiteface end Ken Loerwald was presented the coveted "Fighting Whiteface" award during the annual Football Banquet held at the Hereford Country Club Saturday night.

Guest speaker at the banquet was Preston Watson, former head football coach at Floydada. Entertainment was furnished by a men's quartet from Friona.

All Whiteface coaches were presented gifts on behalf of the entire team as a token of its appreciation for the devotion shown by the coaching staff.

Over 160 football players, their families, and guests were present at the formal affair.

Dickie Slaughter
Senior Personality

A familiar sight around Hereford High this year is long, tall Richard Gordon Slaughter, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Slaughter of 818 Ave. K.

He is better known as "Dickie." Dickie is 16 years old and will be 17 on Dec. 8. The reason that he is a senior and is just 16 is explained by the fact that he skipped the second grade.

He told that his favorite pastime is being with Kathryn, and most people believe him because he is hardly ever seen without that little girl around.

His favorite cars are 1957 Pontiacs. About football, he said, "It's the best it has ever been, as far as I know."

His favorite year at H. H. S. was when he was a freshman, because he got into so much trouble. His favorites are as follows: food, pork chops; drink, vanilla; sport, basketball; subject, advanced math; teacher, Mr. Patterson; and color, blue or brown.

When asked what he likes to do on dates, Dickie stated, "I usually just go to the show and mess around."

He has been active at school as he is in Key Club, D. E., and is a probationary member of the National Honor Society. His freshman year he was in basketball, and his sophomore year he was a member of the Junior Red Cross. This year he is president of Kenneth Hart's home room.

Dickie thinks the school spirit it has been much better than in previous years, and that the

Members of the senior class went home with a feeling of satisfaction Friday. Not content with winning the Annual Queen race, the seniors proceeded to capture first place during Stunt Night competition.

Not only the seniors, but all three classes had a right to be proud, although a couple were reportedly disappointed.

According to Mrs. Violas, as many schools do. The Chisholm, annual staff sponsor, the 1962 Annual Queen race and Stunt Night were the most successful in the history of the school.

Proceeds from the affairs will be used to help finance publication of the "1962 Round-Up." Almost two-thirds of the entire cost of publishing the yearbooks was raised during the drive.

For several weeks prior to Stunt Night, the wheels of imagination are whirring in the heads of students to find an idea for a stunt for their own particular organization. Then hours of practice and work go into making it a success. The final result: a night like last Friday, Nov. 17, "Stunt Night," one of the most popular events of the year! This year's Stunt Night was a huge success, as everyone who was there, and almost everyone was, will testify. The crowning touch, the coronation of the senior candidate, Miss Judy Means, was a thrilling ceremony.

Under the direction of the annual staff, the decorations were beautiful and were a prime example of that talented staff.

Each year the yearbook staff sponsors Stunt Night instead of taking local merchant advertising in the yearbook for exper-

Delores Price

Delores Price Is Active Senior

Delores Price is a familiar sight around Hereford High School these days. In school she has been very active in clubs and other activities.

Some of the clubs she has been in are the National Honor Society, Junior Red Cross, two years in FHA, Future Nurses, and she has been secretary of her home room for two years.

Delores was very proud of the football boys and said that they did a wonderful job this year. Her opinion of the Senior Class is that it is the best ever! She said, "The kids this year are more active and have more get-up-and-go than ever before."

Some of her favorites are: color, green; food, steak; teacher, Miss Ward; subject, P. E.; book, Gone With the Wind; movie, Gone With the Wind. Her favorite pastime is being with a red-headed boy.

Vida Delores is 17 years old, has brown hair and eyes, and was born May 25, 1944.

Her pet peeve is people who boss other people. Delores' most embarrassing moment was when her slacks ripped on the Corpus Christi trip and she had to wear Jerry Don Whitaker's shirt around her.

West Picks Ideal Boy

In building an ideal boy, Joyce West says that starting at the top, he would have to have hair like Arnold Powell, eyes like Lynton Alred, a nose like that of Jay Boynton, a mouth like that of Mack Canlier, but smiles like Jim Kassahn and sounds like Charles Kelly. Also he would have to have ears like Mike Ferguson.

Then, on the physique of Butch Waltersheid she would put the hands of Micky Bonasio, feet of Arnold Powell, walk of Dwight McGee, and dress him like Butch McCaslin.

Furthermore, she would combine Randy Dowell's personality, Walker Parrish's talent, David Block's cuteness and the fun of Dick Combs.

Joyce feels that with careful measuring and mixing she would wind up with a best-around guy such as John Buck.

AT REGIONAL MEET

Donna Rogers Is All-State Vocalist

Seven members of the Hereford High School Mixed Choir were selected as members of the All-Regional choir, and tried out for positions in the all-state vocal group Saturday.

Donna Rogers was named a member of the All-State choir. She is one of 15 vocalists selected from this region. Winning spots as alternates were Fred Henry and Ted Wimberly.

Singers competed with all schools in Region II of the University of Texas Interscholastic League, including all Amarillo high schools, as well as some other area schools.

Other Hereford High School students selected as members of the All-Regional choir by choral director Don Moore were Beverly Boyer, Mary Albracht, Lavonne Thompson, and Ronnie Gray.

Approximately 150 vocalists from this area compose the all-regional choir. Choir directors from each school pick eight singers for the All-Regional group.

Region II's All-Regional choir will present its annual concert Jan. 20 in Canyon, with all seven of the above mentioned students singing.

All-State choir meets in conjunction with the Texas Music Educators Convention held in Dallas sometime during the month of February. Over 230 vocalists from throughout the state will comprise the choir.

Miss Rogers is the first Hereford High School vocalist to be selected for the all-state choir in over three years, according to Don Moore, choral director.

TAKE YOUR PICK! Candy, cake, or mints, it's all on sale now. Just in time for the holidays, three Hereford High School clubs have launched sales drives to raise funds for various activities. The Future Homemakers of America are offering "Pecan Party Candy," the National Honor Society, Peanut butter candy, and the Tri-Hi-Y club has chocolate-covered mints on sale. (Whiteface Photo)

Jerry Moss

Senior Personality

Being the only senior in his biology class is most embarrassing for Jerry Moss. Jerry is the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Price R. Moss of 803 Brevard.

Jerry says "I don't think there is a better school than Hereford High anywhere." Because of Mrs. Williams' fairness and agreeable personality, she is Jerry's favorite teacher. Boy's Homemaking is his favorite subject.

Jerry spent most of the summer working on a farm with his dad. Mowing a certain family's lawn also took up a large portion of Jerry's time.

Although Jerry is well liked and easy to get along with he does have a pet peeve. Terry Smith! It seems that she is the reason for the bruises on his legs.

Being with S. D. is his favorite pastime, and steak is tops on the list for food.

Jerry will attend West Texas after graduation this year. He plans on majoring in psychology.

Jerry is leaving this advice to sophomores, "Stay away from Dennis Rickman and David Highers."

Charles Kelly Describes Girl

Charles Kelly has been cooking up a mysterious brew and has come up with the best all-around gal, Judy Kreisghausner.

He confided that he started with Kay Lemons' hair, Joy Story's eyes, Kay Seamonds' nose, and Toni Parker's ears. Then he added a mouth like Caroline Brumley's with the addition of Suzanne Langley's smile. Included would be the teeth and talk of Mar-Gwen Lackey and a voice like Joyce West.

Her hands would be similar to those of Ruth Ann Allison and she would have the wonderful figure of Luther Billis, alias Lynton Alred. She would have feet like Sharon Hill, and a walk like Betty Scott.

After all this, Charles decided that he put the cuteness of Sharon Sumner and the talent of Audni Miller. She would also have a pinch of Nelda Botkin's intelligence, and the mannerly ways of Jan Story. He included the bashfulness of Judy Means and the funniness of Janie McBroom.

To carry out the recipe he added the shyness of Janet Patterson and silliness of Joyce Ann Johnson.

She had the personality of Connie Kent and for extra seasoning the all-around good-fun of Janie McBroom, and the dress of Linda Reed.

Charles is very proud of his concoction and hopes that no one takes advantage of his freeness to part with his ingredients.

PRESENTED WITH HONORARY memberships in the Future Homemakers of America were Ed Skypala and G. W. Newsum. These two fathers were honored by members of the FHA for their outstanding support of the high school organization during the Daddy Date Night held Thursday. All high school FHA members dated their fathers to the annual dinner party. Terry Anderson, at left, pins a membership pin on Skypala, while Maribeth Gilliland presents the pin to Newsum. Students Are City Officials

Have you realized that for one day the town of Hereford was under the threat of an elected group of students from Hereford High School who took over the city offices?

Bill Miller was head of the group as mayor while city manager Charles Kelly made sure the streets were swept.

Mean old Butch Waltersheid gave speeding tickets which enabled Tim Gallagher, city secretary to record receipts.

Cliff Corley married all of the so-called couples and convicted the criminals, as he was city judge.

Jay Boynton made sure that the fire department did not burn down and Ruth Ann Allison made the water available as water commissioner.

City Commissioners had a special meeting to discuss the matter of closing all streets leading to school. The following members attended: Dennis Hodges and Peter Lantz, senior members; Dick Combs, junior; and Ronnie Duncan, sophomore.

The city may be very lucky that this sort of thing occurs only one time a year but some think it would be a good idea for us to know a little more about it before it comes up next year.

For the first time, student officials were elected to public office for the one-day term this year. The special day was sponsored by the Hereford Optimist Club, in coordination with the high school Student Council.

Behind...

 Say Boynton, don't worry too much about that scene in "South Pacific." After all, doesn't she always come running back to you?
 Speaking of "South Pacific," the play is set for Nov. 30, Dec. 1-2. From all indications, this musical is going to be one of the top presentations of the high school music department. Members of the cast and crew are spending many long hours working towards that goal, at any rate.
 One of the most frequent comments heard from "Behind the Lockers" last week was "Where's the Whiteface?" Well, it's a long story about an unnoticed deadline, and we hope it won't happen again.
 At least the staff did accomplish one thing, though. Apparently many people missed the Whiteface.
 Ritchie Albracht, why are you having to buy slides in biology? David, don't you know your locker from a door with the sign "girls" on it?
 Bob H., don't you know that you should keep your hands on the steering wheel?
 Say, Mrs. Mackey, were you really in the Navy? Why is Donna Rogers the only senior to get her ring? Kay C., when are you planning to record your latest song?
 Nancy Edwards would like for anyone who may be interested to know that her birthday was Nov. 8, but she will gladly accept any presents brought to her.
 Jerry Cutsinger, why did you dress in the girl's dressing room? Ann Gentry, how did you say you and your teddy bear were getting along? By the way, have you found it yet, Ann?
 Terry Smith, you have an odd place for getting lessons.
 We are so sorry to report that Grady's bass voice has changed to soprano. Shari Jo, way to "fall up" the stairs and rip your slim-jims!
 Did your summer wishes finally come true, Jenny? What's this about little white lies, Martha?
 Mary R., nice job of drowning those people in front of you at the Dumas game with hot chocolate. Judy F., I think that you had better graduate at semester and go to Denton to watch a certain somebody.
 Mack C. wants to know if you "hear" a ball or "hurl" a ball. If anyone is interested in teaching him to spell, please contact him at BR 6-4179. Mrs. Leggett would deeply appreciate it.
 Mr. Hudson, why is your name "paddles?"
 We would like to congratulate Hereford High School's wonderful football team on its success this year, and wish our forthcoming basketball team good luck.
 David Dowell, what happened to your hat Saturday night?

Why were Edward A. and Joe S. absent Nov. 13? How many deer did you boys shoot?
 Tell us more about what a screwdriver is, Joyce McNeese. Suzanne Langley, way to look in windows while you are walking in the snow. Lavonne Thompson, can't you tell the difference between the front end and the back end of a sweater?
 Linda L., you sure do write corny poetry, we are told. Betty S., why do you have that big hole in your pleated skirt?
 Dennis R. and Gloria B., what were you two doing in the janitor's room? Carolyn W., why do they call you "plop-plop?" We are curious to know what Roger A. found in his locker. Joe L. wants everybody to know that he actually has an "A" in P. E.
 Linda H., whose locker have you been getting in? (What would be more interesting to find out is what she is doing in there and how she gets out!)
 We understand that three girls had a much-wanted house guest last week. Who was it, Kone, Sharon, and Sheri?
 Three cheers for Kay Allen! She's got a new ring. Way to go, Kay.
 We understand that one of our beloved teachers is giving extra grades for all geese brought to him.
 Say, Dwight M., why do you have so much trouble getting the key in the keyhole. By the way Dwight, what were you, Arnold Powell, and Tommy Powell doing in the gym during noon hour last week breaking lights by shooting off the trampoline. (It sounds confusing, but that's what somebody asked us to ask you.)
 Why are Shari P. and Brenda B. going to have to take physical education third period?
 Can't you get a date with anyone besides your daddy, F. H. A. girls?
 It seems that Walker P. gets nervous when he has so much trouble with his car. Nannetta C., what is this we hear you and Eugene Green are doing by your lockers?
 Were you really sick, or did you go to Portales, Judy? Kone, why were so many freshmen girls glaring at you last week in the cafeteria? Linda and Terry, did you lose your watches or something?
 Here's an interesting item: It seems Cynthia S. managed to get her fingers tangled up in the typewriter, which doesn't seem exactly too easy to do.
 A certain first period class wants to know what a certain coach has against a certain religion.
 Terry W., best you remember that "U" turns are illegal these days. How about yours?
 Anyone know what John Bob Drake's car was doing on the sidewalk. Now, that is a stupid question because it couldn't have been doing much of anything except sitting there—could it?

Drew, did Santa Claus ever come? (Rumor has it that Drew was anxiously awaiting the arrival of Santa and the beloved Rudolph during English class one day last week.) Really, Drew, we think it's a little early.
 Why in the world are Charles K. and Mickey B. always on the floor in the auditorium looking for "cigarette ashes?"
 Don't understand how it happened, but would Dick C. please tell us how he managed to get stuck three times in the same night?
 Grand Opera has finally come to Hereford! Who is it that sits in the study hall during the noon hour and performs the latest opera, "Chop-sticks?"
 We understand that the student officials had a ball riding around, instead of tending to the city business as they were supposed to last week. Way to fire!
 Edward A., you had better watch out for that pigeon-toed scavenger that will be coming home soon! Eldon Howell, have you really been drinking all that Sprite lately?
 Tim (Wolf) Gallagher and Jerry M., what kind of pictures have you been drawing in biology lately? Suzy Woodford, how in the world did you ever get that ball - point pen tangled up in your braces in plane geometry?
 Whew!! Weren't the halls buzzing with newsy little items last week? Oh, I almost forgot, Larry, who did you say your father - in - law was?

 Oscar Hammerstein. The songs that will be sung in the show are "Some Enchanting Evening," "This Nearly Was Mine," "I'm Gonna Wash That Man Outta My Hair," "Honey Bun," "I'm In Love With a Wonderful Guy," "Cock - Eyed Optimist," "This Is How It Feels," "Younger Than Springtime," "Carefully Taught," "Ball Ha!", "Happy Talk," "There Is Nothing Like a Dame," "Bloody Mary," "Dites-Moi," and "Twin Soliloquies."
 The setting is on a South Pacific island. Mr. Moore and the choir members hope to have the sets just perfect so the audience will think they are on the island.
 Joyce West does an excellent job in playing Nellie Forbush. She seems to have been born to play the part. Mary Albracht has the difficult part of Bloody Mary. If anyone asks Mary about the part, she will say it is a very short and easy part compared to the others, but it is far from it!
 Walker Parris is playing the part of the dashing Lt. Joe Cable. As Hereford High School knows what a grand voice Walker has, there's no need to say he is perfect for the part. Lynton Allred, playing Luther Billis, and Jay Boynton, playing Stewpot, will keep the audience in stitches. They are, no doubt, made for their parts as the acting seems to come so natural to them.
 Some of the other characters are Henry by Jerry Cowart; Lt. Buzz Adams, Ronnie Gray; Seaman Toni O'Brien, Waldon Scott; Cpt. Hamilton Steeves, Jim Dziuk; Sgt. Kenneth Johnson, Ted Wimberly; Professor, Charles Kelly; Bob McCaffery, Roger Albracht; Victor Jerome, Wadd Dee Hudson; Sven Larsen, Troy Gandy; Pamela, Margwen Lackey; Janet, Judy Price; Commander Harbison, Ken Loerwald; Captain Brackett, Dick Combs; Yeoman Herbert Quale, Arvell Williams; Seabee Morton Wise, Mike Roberson; Bessie, Janice Patterson; Lisa, Donna Rogers; Connie, Laverne Bezner; Due, Joyce Ann Johnson; Lt. G. Marshall, Gillian McArthur; Lia, Kay Lemons; Dinah, Lavonne Thompson; and Patricia, Joy Story.
 All of the members of the mixed choir are working on this show. If not in the cast or chorus, they are behind stage. No show can go on without the people behind stage.
 Suzy Woodford and Nancy Boardman are doing the accompanying on the piano. There will also be an orchestra.
 The choir hopes to make this show just as good as all the others that Mr. Moore and his choirs have done before. They hope to be able to make it the best ever!
 Those who missed Stunt Night, surely missed a good show of local talent and a lot of fun. See you next year!

 Another machine, the jointer, straightens the edges of the wood for good glue joints. Last, but not least, is the lathe. It is a less noisy machine but has its place in the shop. Each boy is required to do certain lathe work to get credit for the course. Smith is expecting some good projects from the Woodworking II boys this year. Toward the end of school a display will be held in the gym. Everyone is invited to come and see the finished products of Woodworking II.
 Smith expressed the opinion, "Each student should investigate the possibilities of shop work, not only as a vocation but, also, for the leisure time value. Shop work provides good training in a vocational skill."

OFF THE Shelf

BY H. A. TUCK

In 1784 Henry Martin was a young man without a home, a family, a past to return to. His search for security and love is deftly written by Jess Shelton in Martin's Land, a new novel in the Deaf Smith County Library.

Martin's older brother was killed in the Revolution, his parents were dead after an Indian raid. His only sister was far away in Virginia.

Henry Martin was wandering west when he came upon the Choctaw girl, Small Moccasin, and her father. With them he headed across the Mississippi into New Spain.

Henry Martin proved himself and was adopted by the Osage Indians. After he hunted and lived with them, even got rifles for them, they saw nothing strange when both Small Moccasin and the lovely, arrogant Wind Woman both became his women.

He built for them a house from his dreams. His family grew to include John, the son of Small Moccasin, and Paul and Amanda, the children of Wind Woman. He grew golden corn, turned it into golden whiskey and sold that for real gold.

But Henry Martin was unable to break his dream of the blonde, pale beauty of Martha Robinson, whom he had met earlier in Pittsburgh. Raiders killed Wind Woman and Small Moccasin's father. After Martin had extracted his terrible revenge, he was more than ever driven to be somebody important.

Martin's dreams came true when Martha Robinson and her parents came to Martin's Hollow asking to settle land next to his.

Martha became mistress of Martin's Land, mother of his twin golden-haired, white-skinned sons, the wife of a man who had become a power in the Territory.

But Henry Martin hated her. John and Paul rode with the Osages and were bent on revenge of their own. Too late Henry Martin knew that the seeds of hate he had sown would bloom in blood and a struggle that could end only in death. Shelton has written a novel of the early days along the American frontier when strong men and women battled to settle and put down roots, opposed by the Indians, the country and even by other settlers.

This is not a pretty novel, nor romantic in the usual sense. But it is powerful and exciting to read. If you like adventure seasoned strongly, you'll like Martin's Land.

LOCATING EMERGENCY
SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Inadvertently giving the wrong address in the confusion of reporting an emergency is being remedied by a single question from dispatchers here: "What is your nearest cross street?"

Fire Division officials say the question not only makes the caller stop to consider exactly where he is, but also pinpoints the location in cases where several streets have similar names.

... give us hearts of gratitude on this Thanksgiving Day. May the dignity and the solemnity of the occasion of Thanksgiving warm our hearts as individuals, as families, as nations. As we express gratitude for the favors of mercy, may we be conscious of the fact... they all come from God. May we know the full meaning of historic Plymouth landing. Let us be reminded anew that freedom began there... and to worship God according to the dictates of our own hearts was guaranteed when the Pilgrim Fathers stepped ashore. Then, let us not fail to humbly recognize God as the Giver of life,—the Provider of all goods,—and the Savior of the souls of men... AMEN

Pioneer Resident Taken By Death

Mrs. Carl Gilliland, 77, a resident of Hereford for more than 55 years, died at 7:30 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 18, in Vivian's Rest Home in Amarillo, where she had been a patient for two weeks.

Funeral services for Mrs. Gilliland were held at 10 a.m. Monday, Nov. 20, in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home with the Rev. B. L. Davis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Mrs. Gilliland, the former Irene Estes, was born Oct. 28, 1884, in Abilene and moved to a ranch in Hale County in her early childhood. In 1905 she came to Hereford with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John Estes.

One June 5, 1905, she was married to Carl Gilliland, a young Tennessee lawyer who had come to Hereford in 1903, and for many years the couple played a leading role in civic life here.

Mrs. Gilliland was a leader in the Red Cross chapter during both World Wars and had been active in the First Baptist Church.

An expert needlewoman, she had made and dressed literally hundreds of beautiful dolls. Her collection was one of the finest in the country.

Her son, Capt. Jim Gilliland, was killed Jan. 11, 1955, in the crash of an Army bomber off Tarawa. Mr. Gilliland and a daughter, Margaret — the late Mrs. James Witherspoon of Hereford, also preceded Mrs. Gilliland in death.

Survivors include four sisters, Mrs. Maude Harrel of Abilene, Mrs. Eunice Klett of Lubbock, Mrs. Margaret Nicks of Hillsboro and Miss Jonnie Estes of Hereford; two brothers, Percy Estes of Dimmitt and Cliff Estes of Hereford, and one granddaughter, Mrs. Irene Couch of Alexandria, Va.

Interment was in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland Funeral Home of Hereford.

Attempt To Block Escheat Law Enforcement Claimed

BY VERN SANFORD

Rep. Franklin Spears of San Antonio says that leaders in the banking business are blocking attempts by the Special House Committee appointed to investigate enforcement of the Texas Escheat laws. Spears claims that officers of the Texas Bankers Association have advised members to ignore a questionnaire the committee sent to every banking institution in the state. But he says hundreds of banks and savings and loan companies are cooperating in spite of the advice. He points out that while banks and savings and loan companies are exempt from reporting procedures set out by the 57th Legislature, they are included in the escheat laws.

House Committee's questionnaire asked for non-confidential statistical information to try to determine the number of abandoned accounts. Representative Spears says the study will be very valuable, if enough banking institutions cooperate. Meanwhile, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson filed the first suit under the new escheat act. Suit seeks to recover $1,094,150 in stock and dividends held for the unknown owner of a missing railroad land trust certificate.

The missing certificate was first issued in 1888, but the Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Braswell says no one has been able to establish ownership since. Suit was filed in the 101st District Court in Dallas against Mercantile National Bank of Dallas, trustees of the Texas Pacific Land Trust, and various claimants to the missing certificate.

Wilson's suit alleges that the property should go to the State of Texas under provisions of House Bill 5, covering abandoned property, since its owner has been unknown for seven years or more.

Race Is On
Kellis Dibrrell of San Antonio told Young Republicans in Austin that the Democratic primary no longer will be tantamount to election, now that the Republicans are gaining prominence in the State.

Dibrrell has announced for lieutenant governor on the Republican ticket. He predicted that Texas voters will have a problem on May 5 when they're forced to choose between voting in the Republican or Democratic primary.

A Democrat, former Secretary of State Tom Reavley, was first man to announce for the Attorney General's office. Reavley, an Austin attorney, says he considers that office the largest, most varied and most important "law practice" in Texas.

Up To The Courts
The University of Texas Board of Regents has agreed "unanimously" to let the court decide whether they should integrate dormitories.

Judge Thornton Hardie of El Paso, chairman of the regents, says a test case filed by Austin attorney Sam Houston Clinton in behalf of three Negro students has been turned over to Atty. Gen. Will Wilson. In a letter to Hardie, Clinton asked the regents to integrate the facilities and escape the suit.

Hardie has accused Clinton of filing the suit for "the purpose of publicity and propaganda." Regents originally planned to study further integration. Hardie refused to say whether the suit has changed their plans.

Students and faculty have asked the regents for dormitory integration through campus polls. Integration in athletics also has been at issue. The regents chairman says they do not want to do anything that would disturb the "excellent relations" U. T. has had with other members of the Southwest Athletic Conference.

Textbooks Adopted
Three "Texans for America,"

J. Evetts Haley or Canyon, Dr. Don L. Riddle of Paris and Mrs. Joan Slay of Fort Worth, appeared before the State Board of Education this week to protest acceptance of several textbooks.

Organization had previously notified the Board of objections to 25 books on the State Textbooks Committee's recommended list. They spoke out strongly against two history texts, linking the authors to subversive organizations and charging the publisher of one with cooperating with a "known subversive" in the publication of a World War II booklet, "The Land of the Soviets."

After a three-hour discussion between the "Texans for America" and board members, and statements from publishers denying the charges, Board of Education voted to adopt all books on the committee's list, except four geography books which Commissioner J. W. Edgar asked them to delete.

The Board of Education also adopted a regulation setting 18 semester hours of education courses as the minimum required for a teaching certificate in Texas.

Water Talks
Leaders in water conservation work have been in conferences with the State Board of Water Engineers on the ambitious report of U. S. Study Commission — Texas. Commission, created by Congress, contains representatives of all the Federal water and soil conservation agencies, plus a representative from each of the eight river basins covered by the study. George H. Brown of Houston is chairman of the Commission.

Comments of the 17 state agencies will be relayed to Gov. Price Daniel, who will add his own comments to the report. The Commission will then meet again to prepare a final report and forward to President John F. Kennedy for transmittal to Congress.

In all, the report suggests that nearly $4,000,000,000 worth of dams and canals will be needed by the year 2010. Most of the work is for water supplies, which are not federally-financed.

Chief Engineer John Vandertulp of the State Board of Water Engineers has estimated that in the next 20 years, cities and industries will have to spend $1,000,000,000 for their share of water facilities.

Allison Named Wayland Trustee

J. R. Allison, Hereford Baptist layman, has been named to the board of trustees of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview. His election came during the concluding session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas meeting here.

Wayland Baptist College is one of nine educational institutions owned by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The Texas Baptist Christian Education Commission coordinates the institutional programs of the eight colleges and universities and one elementary-high school academy.

Total assets of the schools are estimated at more than $42 million. A total of 12,000 students are enrolled in the schools.

Father Of Local Resident Dies

Funeral services were held Monday, Nov. 20, at 2 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Tahoka for Preston Ellis Askew, 76, father of W. D. Askew of Hereford. The Rev. D. W. Copeland, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and the Rev. Ray Martin, pastor of the Wells Baptist Church, officiated.

Mrs. Askew was a farmer and a member of the Wells Baptist Church. He was married to Hettie Holder in 1906 and came to Lynn County in 1920 from Palo Pinto County.

Survivors include his wife, three daughters, seven sons, one of which is W. Dalton Askew of Hereford, 19 grandchildren, 7 great-grandchildren, and 4 sisters.

Burial was in the Tahoka Cemetery under the direction of Stanley Funeral Home.

CIVIL WAR INTEREST

SYDNEY, Australia — An American Civil War Research Group, similar to the Civil War Round Tables in the United States, meets monthly in Sydney to discuss the American Civil War.

The Civil War, says its president L. Traynor, "interests us greatly from a number of aspects — because it has been the only major internal conflict for centuries between English-speaking peoples, because of the wide canvas which it covered and all because of the sheer tragedy of it."

Members of the research group have collected battlefield relics, weapons and books dealing with the war. They also have sought out graves of several veterans who emigrated to Australia after the war.

OUT OF THE FISH BOWL

NASHVILLE — It thrives in some people's goldfish bowls, and the Tennessee Valley Authority is out to get rid of it.

It is a pesky fern-like growth called water milfoil which has moved into TVA's vast network of dams and reservoirs. TVA officials say the plant is used in goldfish bowls, later poured down the drain and eventually winds up clogging the intake screens at the hydro electric plants. The small weed is even blamed for increasing the mosquito population.

Senior Personality

By Whiteface Staff

This all-around senior is David Lynn Highers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Highers of 320 Star Street. David was born January 11, 1944. He certainly has grown a lot since then because he is now six feet, three and one-half inches tall.

It seems that David enjoys mutton better than anything else to eat. He liked the movie, Hercules; the book, The Bedside Mad; and the song, Big John. In choosing the prettiest color David would choose blue.

David's favorite pastimes are being with Vicki and trying to get the coaches to like him. His most embarrassing moment was when he locked his keys in the trunk of his car at the Kirby's house and had to leave it there all night. David said that his pet peeve is the homemaking films.

David's ambition is to get out of the "98-pound" weaking class.

David is as now undecided as to what college he is going to attend. He has decided what he is going to major in though and it will be physical education.

David's opinion on Hereford High School is that it is a good school, but this has been the best year yet!

David also has an opinion on the Whiteface. He thinks that there could be more entertainment columns instead of so many news columns.

Extension Office Busy On Writing Out Plans Of Work

BY ARGEN DRAPER
All is buzzing around in the Extension Office with the Plan of Work being put on paper after the Sub-Committees have met and made plans for 1962. The plans are interesting, too. The plan is in the office of the District Agents and soon the specialists will have a copy and begin getting material to us to help with the program.

The accomplishments of the club women are being totaled and it seems that more has been done in improving home-making practices than ever before. The annual report is about ready to go into the district office. You will be proud of the things that have been done during 1961 through the efforts of local leaders. Isn't Deaf Smith County the very best in which to live and work?

The Gold Star Banquet held in Amarillo last Saturday night made the agents more proud than ever of the two county winners. Larry Minks and Sharon Bezner are truly winners. They come from Gold Star families which is about the first step in making gold star 4-H club members. The thing that makes the Gold Star Banquet so good is that 4-H'ers give the program, preside, and carry on the whole affair. Dick Plank gave the welcome to the group. He did an exceptional job of this part of the program. Dick went to Amarillo early to help with the plans for the banquet.

In addition to the gold star winners those from Hereford who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Forrest, Sam Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Parsons, Miss Lorefa Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Minks, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bezner, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Draper. The four Electric Cooperatives in this area give the Gold Star Banquet in honor of the gold star winners, their families and their agents.

Mrs. LeRoy Williamson is a member of the Board of Directors of the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau. She will be a good member and will have good ideas. Mrs. Williamson has had much experience in leadership and in many organizations, including home demonstration club and 4-H club.

This past week at the district meeting in Amarillo I was presented with a 20-year certificate for work in the Department of Agriculture. This was a surprise to me. I couldn't believe that I had worked that long with the agricultural people in West Texas.

One of the most recent moves to town is the Bill Gentry family. Too, the C. A. Saulcys will be moving soon as they have sold their farm and have bought a house in town.

You who didn't come to the Meats program really missed something. The information was good and worthwhile things were given that will help the consumer as well as the cook.

Ellen McGowen, member of the Willing Workers 4-H club, is a member of the Foods and Health Sub-Committee and helped with the meats program.

LONG WEEKEND

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Once a month Lt. Paris Eugene Smith travels 3,208 miles round trip from Arizona just to make roll call in the Tennessee National Guard. It takes a five-day weekend — from Thursday through Monday.

Smith left his job at Sewanee, Tenn., to enroll in the American Institute for Foreign Trade at Phoenix. But the Arizona fighter unit had no opening for Smith — a navigator — and Tennessee still needed him.

So now Smith catches a commercial flight from Phoenix to Yuma on Thursday, hops a regularly scheduled Air Force flight from there to Smyrna, Tenn., the next day, and a fellow navigator provides a lift to Berry Field at Nashville where the two answer roll call at 8:30 a.m. Saturday.

APPROPRIATE TITLE

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — The Rev. B. Max Byrd of Newton, Ala., has returned to the University of Alabama library a book which his sister bought at an auction in Ozark, Ala. The book, 36 years overdue, is entitled "Rymes of a Rolling Stone."

We all appreciate the contribution the 4-H members make to the sub-committees. We were glad to see men come to the program. Mr. Brandt, A. A. Hare and Martin Wagner looked so much at home and got a lot out of the program, too. A new angle to most of us was the feel of the meat as to quality and age. A stream-lined carcass is one that has had the excess fat stripped. Question: In Texas what percent fat is allowed to be put in hamburger?

Congratulations to the members of the St. Anthony's parish who gave the program on TV from Amarillo. The exhibits, displays and information about the Thanksgiving dinner made me hungry for turkey and dressing.

Mrs. Effie Charlton, mother of Mrs. Bill Gilleland, sent me a lovely linen handkerchief which she made. It was a wide border of handmade crocheted. Mrs. Gilleland has been expecting her mother here for a visit for several weeks but it seems that the weather has delayed the trip. She flies from New York to Hereford to visit.

To Frank Ford Sr: One of these recipes must be the one you requested. The first is from the out-of-print bulletin Canning Meat in the Home. The other is the recipe you had worked out. (I found some comfort in knowing that Frank had lost a recipe.)

Sausage
25 lbs. meat (4 parts lean, 1 part fat)
1 cup salt and 3 tablespoons black or red pepper.
1/4 to 1/2 cup sage (if desired, according to taste)
Mix seasonings well with meat before it is ground. It may be made into cakes, stuffed in casings or packed in bulk. Sausage in casings may be cured and smoked before canning if desired.

Sausage
25 lbs. meat
2/3 cup salt
1 tablespoon black pepper
1/3 cup sage
1 tablespoon red pepper
1/4 cup brown sugar

Frank Ford losing the recipe prompts me to say that I have lost a yellow plastic dish pan. I am almost afraid to tell I've lost something since my experience in losing that cape. But being Scots by nature I had rather admit this than buy a new one. Understand?

A Bountiful THANKSGIVING TO YOU ALL

LET US PAUSE TO GIVE THANKS, NOT ONLY FOR OUR BOUNTIFUL THANKSGIVING FEAST, BUT FOR ALL THE ADVANTAGES WE HAVE AS AMERICANS.

ROCKWELL BROS. LUMBERMEN

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES

Warning Given To Mr. K: 'Don't Start Nuclear War'

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

Don't do it, Mr. Khrushchev. That is, don't make the mistake of shooting one of your nuclear weapons in this direction.

Many people have been debating the defense policies of this Nation, and I think it would be well in view of certain fears that seem to be gripping people to point out some most important facts.

Most of the people writing me about Federal expenditures say that they are willing to spend whatever is necessary for defense but to please cut other expenses. This is sound logic, and I point it out because I think every American fully subscribes to the proposition of billions for defense but not one cent for tribute.

Let us see what is being done with relation to our defense structure. In the first instance, approximately 60 cents out of every tax dollar is allocated directly to major national security. Add to this figure monies appropriated in other segments of the government, but relating to the defense structure, and the cost for defense will approximate 70 percent of the Federal expenditures.

Of course, 100 percent of the tax money could be spent for defense and not accomplish the needed result. The point is that the American people are interested in whether or not the money spent for defense is being spent and has been spent effectively.

It would be impossible in the short space provided in this newsletter to go into the various expenditures and point out the effectiveness or non-effectiveness in each portion of the defense program. However, debatable these expenditures may be, the fact is that this country is the strongest in the world insofar as military preparedness is concerned.

This Nation has a nuclear retaliatory force that could and would destroy any enemy making the mistake of attacking us. We have available hundreds of manned intercontinental bombers capable of loosing devastation on the Soviet Union or any other nation starting a war.

This would include 600 heavy bombers and many more medium bombers. The intercontinental capabilities of these manned aircraft is highly effective because of the in-flight refueling techniques devised in our defense program.

Add to these six Polaris submarines at sea carrying a total of 96 missiles. We have dozens of intercontinental ballistic missiles. Our carrier strike forces and land-based theater forces could deliver additional hundreds of megatons. The total number of our nuclear delivery vehicles, tactical as well as strategic, can be counted in the tens of thousands.

Many people say: "But what use are these if the Soviets strike first?" This nation is not an aggressor nation and has never been. Should it become apparent that the Soviet was striking, the retaliatory strike could be contemporaneous. However, should we be subjected to an attack, the question would be our retaliatory potential — whether the original attack was a surprise or not.

The United States has so deployed and protected the retaliatory capabilities that we could not be effectively disarmed by a sneak attack. In other words, our second strike capability is as extensive, or more so, than the Soviets could deliver by striking first. Hence, it can be presumed that the Soviets will not be in any great hurry to mount an attack — sneak or otherwise.

In addition, there are many other components of our defense structure. Among these is the stepped up strength of our conventional forces. This has been done in order to make it possible for this country to retaliate or take proper action in order to control brush fire or brush war activity without being forced to the use of nuclear weapons under such circumstances, thereby risking the possibility of triggering an all-out nuclear conflict.

Also included in the defense program is the Civilian Defense field which is receiving special attention under the guidance of the Department of Defense rather than as a separate uncoordinated agency. I repeat, "Don't do it, Mr. Khrushchev!"

WALTER ROGERS
MEMBER OF CONGRESS
18TH DISTRICT OF TEXAS

CLASSIC COMMANDS

PARIS, Tenn. (AP) — Two of warfare's most memorable commands were bellowed on the west bank of the Tennessee River near here 97 years ago.

"Halt!" roared Col. John Morton, chief of artillery for Gen. Nathan Bedford, reining in his charger. "Dismount and prepare, on foot, to fight gunboats!" The Civil War huss cavalry ruined 19 federal vessels before the strange shooting match ended. And the general got off his classic when he fired a cannon and saw his round fall short.

"A rickety shay," he yelled exuberantly. "I'll hit her next time. Elevate the breech of that gun lower."

TOO FEW DOCTORS

CHATTANOOGA (AP) — American medical schools are falling short by 3,000 doctors a year of training enough physicians and surgeons to meet the nation's normal requirements.

This is the word from Dr. Owen H. Wangenstein, past president of the American College of Surgeons, who spoke at the Tennessee Valley Medical Assembly in Chattanooga.

Dr. Wangenstein said medical schools now are graduating some 7,000 doctors a year, compared with annual requirements of about 10,000. One thing that might help, he said, would be higher pay for hospital interns and resident doctors.

OFFICIAL ROMANCE

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The first time Nancy Carter and Charles Bennett went out together, they took a prisoner to the Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

Recently they were married. But they are continuing their jobs — Nancy as a sheriff's deputy on cases involving women and juveniles and Charles as a deputy in the Summit County sheriff's jail division.
