Testing Program Begins Monday

A month-long program to eliminate and control brucellosis among Deaf Smith County cattle gets underway here Monday as a six-man state-federal brucellosis control testing team begins operations.

A laboratory for the team has already been set up in the Little Bull Barn and is to begin operations Monday. Heading the unit is Dr. R. H. Miller Jr.

Hereford Area May Be Future Hospital Site

The possibility that Hereford might become a site for the construction of a Shrine crippled children's hospital moved a step closer to reality as two members of the Oasis Shrine Club were asked to meet with the chairman of the Site Locations Committee.

Making the trip to discuss the possible location of the Shrine hospital in the Hereford area are Dub Reeves and Dr. L. B. Barnett.

They are scheduled to meet with the committee's chairman in St. Louis "in the near future."

"We are very optimistic over the possibility of having a crippled children's hospital here," said Reeves, president of the Oasis Shrine Club.

He also pointed out that a number of other areas are also seeking location of the hospital in their areas.

Previously Reeves and Dr. Barnett met with the Board of Trustees of the Imperial Shrine and also with the Medical Advisory Board in Toronto, Canada, to discuss selection of Hereford as a possible site.

Using the laboratory as a base, the testing technicians will gather blood samples from Deaf Smith County cattle herds. Samples will be processed at the laboratory and results should be available the following day.

Final plans for brucellosis testing were outlined here Thursday by Dr. Miller as he spoke to some 40 area cattlemen on the technical aspects of the program.

The meeting was held in the Boy Scout room of the Hereford Community Center.

Dr. Miller stressed at the meeting that the success of the program "will depend upon you and how well you get along with your neighbors."

"We are at your service," he commented, "and are here to run the tests. All we ask is your cooperation and that you give us a representative day's work."

He termed a day's work for each of the testing technicians as either eight stops or the testing of a 200-head herd.

It was suggested by Dr. Miller that the program be put on a "self participation" basis with each of the cattlemen contacting his neighbors.

"If we have to skip around over the county," he warned, "we will not accomplish the program."

As he spoke, Dr. Miller again urged area cattlemen to cooperate fully with committees set up in the county to "line up" herds for testing.

The committees had been set up at a previous meeting on brucellosis. With the county divided into 16 sections, chairmen were appointed to head committees. Purpose of the committees is to contact cattle owners to speed up the testing program.

Dr. Miller pointed out the minimum requirements for the testing program. He stated in herds of less than 50 head, all are tested.

If there are more than 50 head in the herd, 20 per cent may be tested for brucellosis, he said.

"But, we are here to test 100 per cent of the breeding females and vaccinate all heifers," he commented.

Million Dollar Vegetable Harvest Nears Completion

A multi-million dollar vegetable harvest within the county continues to "look good" this week as some sheds are nearing the end of their packing activity.

Another two weeks should complete potato harvesting operations, according to one shipper, while onion fields should be cleaned up within a week.

With the wheels of the carrot harvesting crews just now beginning to turn, producers find a "good market" awaiting high yields from county fields.

Carrots which have been harvested so far tend to be classed as "exceptionally good" producers report.

Potato and onion markets have weakened some. An annual occurrence, demand for local vegetables declines as those from northern areas begin to flood the market.

"Market for our products is a little easier this week," one packing company reports. "This is because buyers can get onions from about ten states now. Shipping costs and competition force us out of the northern markets."

"But the majority of our onions are already in," he adds. Another producer pointed out that "another two weeks will clean up the potato harvest."

South Africans Impressed By Large Scale Production

Around Town

In Hereford this week, there has been a lot of news reflecting the progress of Deaf Smith County's agricultural industry. All is most encouraging. First the brucellosis control program is getting underway here Monday. This program is aimed at control of a disease which costs cattlemen millions of dollars annually.

The second bit of encouraging news came out of a meeting of the Deaf Smith County Sugar Beet Association. American Crystal Sugar Co., is not going to terminate beet growers contracts due to the construction of the Holly mill here.

Hereford multi-million dollar vegetable harvest is fast drawing to a close. Many of the growing and shipping firms are pleased with the quality and quantity of the crops. For a while in the middle part of the summer, it looked as if most crops would be severely damaged by wind, rain, and hail. But the crops survived for a good year.

By Gardner Collins

Brand Staff Writer "What we have seen of Deaf Smith County," said a Basutoland soil conservation official and his wife, as they toured the county Thursday, "has been most impressive. We have never seen such intensive production on such a large scale."

Touring the county as part of a trip to various agricultural regions of the United States are Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Youthed. Youthed is with the agricultural department of the British protectorate.

(Basutoland is a small independent British protectorate located in the middle of the Union of South Africa. It is south of the Orange Free State on the southeast tip of the African continent. Population, according to the world atlas, is approximately 575,000 in the 11,700 square mile area.)

Youthed described his first trip to the United States, saying, "It is primarily on a traveling grant from the Carnegie Institute to study soil and water conservation techniques, engineering, irrigation, and project planning."

Beet Association Accepts Proposal

Deaf Smith County sugar beet growers meeting Friday accepted a proposal from American Crystal Sugar Co. for the crop years of 1963 and 1964.

The proposal, as outlined to the group, by H. Lee Benefield, president of the Deaf Smith County Sugar Beet Growers Association, calls for a cutback in Panhandle beet production during the 1963 season.

However, company officials, according to Benefield, would bring the area back up to normal production in 1964 if Holly Sugar Co., had not completed the proposed mill here

They have been in this country for three weeks, but their three months tour will take them through areas of West Texas, New Mexico, California, Nebraska, Illinois, and finally to Cornell University in New York.

Youthed is a native Englishman; however, he was raised in Basutoland since his family moved to the country when he was a child. Mrs. Youthed was (Continued on page 6)

Air Force Team To Demonstrate Techniques Here

A special team from Amarillo Air Force Base Fire Department and Base Security Section will be in Hereford, Wednesday, Aug. 15, to conduct a series of public demonstration on aircraft firefighting techniques.

The demonstrations will be held in the northeast part of Veteran's Park and will begin at 2 p. m., according to Dub Reeves, chief of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department.

Purpose of the demonstrations is to show the public and fire departments of the area how to attack fires and disarm Strategic Air Command Aircraft, said Reeves.

The fire chief said that fire departments, mayors and city commissions from Friona, Bovens, Dimmitt and Vega, as well as the general public, are invited to attend the demonstrations.

Firefighting techniques demonstrated during the afternoon will show the methods used to extinguish highly flammable materials carried aboard military aircraft.

Also to be demonstrated is how to control spectators, report information and to cope with nuclear accidents involving aircraft, and rescue.

Following the demonstrations at an open pit, there will be a question and answer period.

A film pointing out the hazards to the public due to aircraft accidents and fires will be shown following the demonstration at the Fire Hall, said Reeves.

It was pointed out by Reeves that requirements for the demonstration state that two fully manned fire trucks must be on standby duty at the demonstration site. Any interested citizen in the area, he commented, is urged to attend the demonstration.

Injury Results From BB Shot

A young Hereford boy was injured Friday afternoon as a shot from a friend's BB gun wounded his eye.

C. H. Wright Jr., nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wright of the Shady Acres Trailer Park, was rushed to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo by Gilliland Funeral Home Ambulance following the shooting.

According to the boy's sister, C. H. Wright Jr., and his older brother were playing with a neighbor boy about 3 p. m. Friday.

Young Wright was struck by a pellet from the gun that his friend was holding.

After first being taken to the Hereford Clinic, young Wright was taken by ambulance to St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo. The boy continued to hemorrhage throughout the trip.

RECORD ENROLLMENT PREDICTED

Fall Term Registration Slated Here For Aug. 26

A new record in enrollment for the Hereford Rural High School District was predicted last week as the school calendar for the coming year was announced. Registration for the fall term is slated to get underway here on Wednesday, Aug. 29.

As he outlined plans for the coming school year, P. L. Stevens, superintendent of the district, pointed out that the record enrollment is expected during the first week of school.

Indications show that a probable 3200 to 3300 students will enroll, he stated. This exceeds the total enrollment during the first week of school in 1961 by more than 300 students. Students start their annual trunk back to the classroom on Aug. 29, as enrollment for all grades is held.

Classes commence on Thursday, Aug. 30. School will, however, be dismissed the following Monday, Sept. 3, for Labor Day.

Teachers are slated to attend an annual pre-school workshop scheduled for Aug. 27-28 in preparation for the opening of school.

Some students will obtain their first dose of extra curricular activities earlier, however, as both the high school band and the football teams slate pre-school practice.

As provided in Interscholastic League rules, football practice officially begins Aug. 26, according to head football coach Jack Meredith. Opening game for the Hereford Whitefaces will be Sept. 14 at Canyon. First home game is slated Sept. 21 against Dimmitt.

Band practice for the 90-piece Big Domino Band begins Aug. 20, according to director Ben Gollehon. (Continued on page 6)

AT LABOR CAMP

Services Set To Dedicate Maternity Care Hospital

Dedication of Our Lady of Guadalupe Maternity Hospital at the Hereford Labor Camp is slated to be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Aug. 15, with the Right Reverend John Markowsky, Bishop of Amarillo, conducting the services.

Construction of the hospital at the labor camp was begun in Oct. 1961 by Dr. Lena Edwards. The basic structure of the building, plumbing and heating has been done by the Latin Americans.

Along with the dedication services, according to Dr. Edwards, an open house will be held from 4-9 p. m. Cornerstone of the building will be laid by Bishop Markowsky between 7:30 and 8 p. m.

All Hereford area residents are invited to attend, she added.

The 10-bed hospital, according to Dr. Edwards, will be capable of handling 500 maternity patients a year. Expenses will be met with donations.

"We will be asking a $50 donation to cover a five-day stay," she said. "An additional donation will also be asked to pay volunteer workers at the hospital."

The hospital will be staffed, she explained, by those serving in order to learn nursing, dietetics and housekeeping.

Hereford area doctors are also invited to practice at the labor camp hospital, she added. The two-story building is constructed of cinder blocks and, besides the ten rooms will contain an office, a delivery room, supply rooms and bath. Living quarters for several of the staff personnel will be in the upstairs part of the structure.

When completed and furnished, the physical plant of the hospital, including the necessary equipment, will be worth an estimated $50,000.

Much of the labor has been donated by the Latin Americans themselves, said Dr. Edwards. (Continued on page 6)

Hereford Man Wins Not Guilty Verdict In Trial

A Hereford farmer and rancher was acquitted of charges alleging that he flew a stolen aircraft from New Mexico to Texas. He was tried Wednesday in U. S. District Court in Amarillo.

Acquitted of charges by a jury was Bobby Glen Hill, a 29-year-old farmer and rancher. The jury's decision came after a full day of testimony in Judge Joseph B. Dooley's court.

WORKMEN WILL BE PUTTING THE finishing touches on the Our Lady of Guadalupe Maternity Hospital at the Hereford Labor Camp this week as dedication services were slated for 8 p. m. Wednesday, Aug. 15, with the Right Rev. John Markowsky officiating. Open house will be held from 4-9 p. m. (Staff Photo.)

Regulations Now Govern Cattle Movement To Area

Requirements governing the movement of cattle from livestock markets into certified counties or to counties in the process of being certified were released as Deaf Smith County began a Brucellosis Control testing program.

According to a letter from R. G. Garrett, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, these rules "are very important to livestock owners in Deaf Smith County."

"Failure to comply with them," the letter stated, "could jeopardize the brucellosis status of the county."

It pointed out that the rules are necessary to prevent Deaf Smith County and other areas from being reinfected as a result of infected livestock coming into the area through markets.

Requirements state that after the cattle have been purchased and before movement, the purchaser and livestock market operator will be jointly responsible for testing or vaccination of all cattle subject to Bang's disease tests or vaccinations. All cattle — except steers, spayed heifers, calves under six months old, and official brucellosis vaccinates under 30 months — before leaving the market for areas where Type II Brucellosis work is being done must comply with certain regulations.

It was pointed out that cattle from Modified Certified Brucellosis counties or Certified Brucellosis Free herds accompanied by health certificates must be kept separate in specified pens.

These cattle can be moved without further tests, according to regulations. Regulations governing cattle from other areas with official health certificates showing negative brucellosis tests must be kept separate from other cattle at the market.

They can be moved directly to owners premises, but are under quarantine. The cattle must be retested in not less than 30 or more than 60 days. If the test is negative, they will be released.

Cattle which do not comply with the first two regulations must be negative to a brucellosis test before leaving the market. They can be moved to the owner's premises, but only under quarantine.

The cattle must be retested within 30 days nor more than 60 days. If tests are negative, they may be released.

Regulations stated that the livestock market will be required to furnish testing facilities if none are available. The veterinarian shall be approved to conduct the tests.

We're facing a slow market now, with the price on number one red potatoes as low as $2.25.

"However, some varieties will pay as much as $3.50," he added. "Our market is off because we are now confined to southern markets since harvesting of vegetables in the northern states began. It happens each year."

"We'll have enough supplies in this district for another two weeks of operation," the shipper pointed out.

Another packing plant manager described the market as "pretty rugged." He added that Testing...

If 20 per cent of the cattle in a herd are tested, he pointed out, a suspect animal may be found. All of the herd, even the bulls, will have to be tested.

"So, it is to your advantage," Dr. Miller said, "to test all at one time."

Brucellosis control has been effective in other states, he stated. It has been demanded by certified areas that Deaf Smith County and the Panhandle have a control program.

"Bang's disease is definitely controllable," Dr. Miller declared, "by testing, slaughtering reactors, and calfhood vaccinations."

The ultimate goal of the testing program is certification of the county as a modified certified control area, he said.

For certification, Deaf Smith County must have less than one per cent of the cattle population infected or less than five per cent of the herds infected.

If reactors are found in a herd, they must be disposed of within 15 days and the entire herd retested for infection within 60 days.

If a test shows a suspect, only suspected animal must be retested. However, if the retest shows she is a reactor, the whole herd must be tested again.

Dr. Miller pointed out that the only cattle the team is interested in testing are "those one year of age or older."

He stated it was not necessary to test official Bang's vaccinates under 30 months, official vaccinates shipped into the country from modified certified Type II areas or from a market test center within the last 30 days, steers and spayed heifers.

Both drivers were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

born in the protectorate.

As he spoke of impressions of agriculture in the Deaf Smith County area, Youthed commented, "I have never heard of such... such a vast underground water reservoir being tapped on this sort of scale."

In Basutoland, there is a similar area, of about 8000 square miles, he declared, but it is mountainous country. There is far more water, but it cannot be used to the extent it is here.

He pointed out that it could be stored for eventual commercial use. Youthed commented, "We need industry to use it, but it can't be developed due to the lack of minerals and that sort of thing."

Conducting the Youtheds on a tour of the county was Don Newman of the Soil Conservation Service in Hereford. The tour was through both irrigated and dryland sections.

As he spoke of his impressions, he said, "We toured the Mississippi River Delta with its very, very rich and fertile soil. When we came to the Plains, we never expected to find something that would compare with production there."

"What has really impressed us very, very much is the large intersection of U. S. 385 and the Labor Camp Road as Scroggins was attempting to pass another vehicle, according to the investigating patrolman.

Scroggins, who was headed north toward Hereford, met a 1959 station wagon driven by Mrs. Dora Belle Angeley, 45 of Muleshoe, almost head-on.

Traveling with Mrs. Angeley were her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Bob Angeley, and her two grandchildren.

According to the Highway Patrol officer, Scroggins was attempting to pass in a no passing zone. His 1949 two-door sedan was estimated at a total loss with $300 in damages estimated to the Angeley station wagon.

Both drivers were treated for cuts and bruises and released.

Company officials stated, he continued, that the cutback in production here will not be too great and have come up with a workable plan.

It was brought out in the meeting that beet growers here were not dissatisfied with their association with American Crystal Sugar Co.

The Holly Company, it was pointed out, acted first in deciding to build a mill here before company officials made a decision.

Officials of the association praised the work of Odean Nixon, field representative of American Crystal Sugar Co., for the work he has done in the area.

It was pointed out that his work has been a great help to both growers and to the association as well.

Dr. Edwards has pointed out that when she came here in January 1961 she discovered that these people needed maternity care. She stated, "I believe that this hospital is something that this community needs."

pany officials went over comparative figures showing freight costs and costs of producing sugar for Deaf Smith County and other growing areas.

They pointed out, he said, the need for them to protect their mill at Rocky Ford. They also discussed their position when Holly announced its intention to build here.

As he spoke, Benefield stated, "I told Von Berger and Johnson that you can't jerk the carpet out from under the young farmers in Deaf Smith County that are just getting started."

"I told them I knew their plant had to be protected," he declared, "and suggested a cut-back."

Company officials stated, he continued, that the cutback in production here will not be too great and have come up with a workable plan.

Last Thursday I meant to mention the Hereford F o n y League team, but remembered only too late. The players and the coaches deserve a lot of praise for going so far in Sectional competition. Even though I only got to see one game during the play-offs, I was very impressed with the spirit and sportsmanship of the whole team. The team was a credit to the community at the Chidress tournament.

Commenting on his work as a soil conservationist, Youthed told of his "treks" — better known as safaris to Americans — to reach many of the areas in the country. Most last from two to eight weeks and require 15 to 30 animals to carry personnel, equipment and supplies.

"The country is very much underdeveloped," he said, "but is coming up slowly through our efforts. A good crop of wheat now averages around 15 bags (weighting 200 pounds each) to the acre."

Farms have also grown in size, he commented, and now average 4.6 acres per family.

"Our biggest problem," he declared, "is that the able bodied men work in the South African mines while the women and children look after the farm."

The man will come back at planting time to plow the land and sow the seed, he continued. Then, he goes back to the mine. Agriculture officials must deal with the old men and women left to tend the farms.

"It is a terrific problem," he emphasized, "and arises from the need for outside income to live."

The stockmen in the country are in much better shape than farmers, he pointed out.

"In fact," he stated, "these people literally bury their money in the ground."

He pointed out that livestock — sheep and goats — are the main sources of income and form the economy of the protectorate.

"The principle industry of Basutoland is agriculture, but economically it is wool and mohair," he stated. "We have some of the best in the world and export to Europe."

Among the things that has impressed the Youtheds about the United States is the friendliness of the American people.

"When we landed here," said Youthed, "we were met at the airport and shown every courtesy. We meet people and it is as if we had known them all our lives."

He also commented that even in Basutoland, there were a few "Texas stories" told at every gathering.

Company officials stated, he continued, that the cutback in production here will not be too great and have come up with a workable plan.

It was brought out in the meeting that beet growers here were not dissatisfied with their association with American Crystal Sugar Co.

Be appearing in the area.

Well, here is the spot where the poem usually appears, but again I don't really know what to write about. With the weather the way it is, perhaps the same poem will be just as good. Hereford's official high temperature has hit a sweltering 98 degrees for the last three days.

Farmers Cautioned Of Erosion Danger

As a result of recent heavy rains many farmers are experiencing a problem in soil erosion, points out Don Newman of the Soil Conservation Service Hereford office.

Rains which fell in a short period of time caused some extensive damage to county farms. "Much of this erosion could be easily stopped by installation of diversion terraces at a location just before any steep slope begins," Newman explained.

"If something is not done soon, valuable topsoil may be lost in these areas and decreased crop yields will follow," he warns.

"As far as dryland is concerned," Newman adds, "diversions and terrace systems should be installed in order to hold the rainfall on the land for as long a time as possible, allowing the moisture to soak in to the soil and bring better crop yields."

Newman also pointed out that whenever a diversion terrace is installed it is necessary to drain excess water onto a well established grassed waterway or native rangeland.

This serves two purposes by preventing erosion and conserving moisture, he concluded.

Soil Conservation Service technicians, in conjunction with the Soil Conservation District, urge those with erosion problems to drop by the local office and discuss steps which might be taken to prevent damage.

"Perhaps something can be done quite economically to stop this problem which is carrying away our good topsoil and leaving only infertile subsoil with which to produce future crops," Newman stated.

Community Landmark Is Rebuilt, Opened Monday

By Mrs. Harold Radd
The new Westway Food Store opened for business on Monday of this week. Gerald Banner is manager and operator of the new store. He has plans for a grand opening in the near future.

The store has been a landmark in the community for many years. This reporter does not know the name of the man who first built the store. R. M. Gunn, now of Hereford, owned and operated it for many years.

In the late 1940's Elmer Combs purchased the store. A few years later his brother, Cliff, became his partner. In the fall of 1960, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Owens leased the store and ran it until it was destroyed by an explosion in October of 1961. The Combs Brothers rebuilt the store.

Marvin Morrison of Hereford visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morrison on Tuesday. Edwin Morrison has also been a caller in the home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Freddy Harris of Amarillo are spending a few days of their vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett McIntosh. On Sunday the group visited with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wall in Friona.

Mrs. Billy Kee accompanied her mother, Mrs. Harold Hawkins, and her sister, Mrs. Ray Williams of Hereford to Amarillo to visit Harold Hawkins in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schlabs and family of Black visited with Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Jesko Sunday afternoon.

W. B. Mitchell of Fort Worth spent Tuesday night with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Johnson.

Mrs. Alice Cooper went to Hedley last Sunday to bring Joyce home. Delores Sanders and Gary Don, Lisa Ann, and Jimmy Stewart returned home with them for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Linn Smith and family of Dalhart spent Sunday with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Landers.

Mrs. Gene Roach, Martha and Wallace of El Paso came Sunday to spend the week with her mother, Mrs. Bess Werner, and brother, Mr. and Mrs. George Turrentine.

Wednesday Mrs. Werner was hostess for lunch. Her guests included Mrs. Pearl Harrison and Mrs. J. M. Simpson of Amarillo, Miss Ann Brooks and Miss Evelyn Cannon of Arkansas, Mr. and Mrs. George Turrentine, Janice, Carol and Patti, and Mrs. Roach, Martha and Wallace.

Miss Kaye Kershen of San Antonio visited with Mrs. George Turrentine Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carrol Kalka, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Warminski and children, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Haiduk, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Wyatt, Mrs. Martha Warminski, all of White Deer, were here to attend the Beznar-Kalka wedding Wednesday with John

Deaf Smith County Leads Bond Sales

Deaf Smith County leads the state in the sale of U. S. Savings bond in comparison with a quota for the county, according to an announcement made by the U. S. Treasury Department.

The county racked up a total of 243.6 per cent of its 1962 Freedom Bond Drive goal, according to Robert L. Thompson, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Savings Bond Committee.

Thompson pointed out that although the county leads the state percentage-wise in the sale of bonds, most of the investment here is thought to have come from heavy investment from a small group of persons.

A goal of $220,000 in bond sales was established for the county this year. An investment of $335,964 during the first six months of 1962 placed Deaf Smith County in the spotlight as 243.6 per cent of the goal was reached.

Each year bond committee chairmen from each of the 254 counties in the state convene to establish goals for the sale of bonds, Thompson explained. This practice dates back to the days of World War II when large-scale Freedom Bond drives were organized.

Since the war, promotion of bond sales has been largely left to the local investment and savings institutions, banks, and loan companies.

Goals for the entire state, as well as each county, are established yearly. Through comparison of records, it is determined what steps need to be taken to promote the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds.

Deaf Smith County has led the entire state percentage-wise in the sale of bonds for some three months. Live Oak County has reached 234.1 per cent of its goal to claim second place.

Savings Bond sales in Texas for the first six months of 1962 totaled $76,720,875 which represents 102.3 per cent of the 75 million dollar Freedom Bond Drive goal, the Treasury Department announced.

Refinery Picture Is Clouded By Applications For Other Sections

People in Deaf Smith County and, for that matter, all over the Panhandle, are wondering about the flood of publicity from the Plainview territory which centers around application for a beet sugar refinery.

As we understand the situation, there will not likely be more than one refinery in the area — for the next few years at least. Hale County, like some 18 or 20 other spots in the United States, certainly has every right to ask for the beet allotment, which we understand will be placed through the Department of Agriculture.

Meanwhile, the fact that Deaf Smith-Castro-Parmer growers have maintained delegations in Washington for the past two years should make some difference, especially when you consider that it was the efforts of these people which resulted in the present Sugar Act, through which the new allocation is made possible. Hereford, in addition, has a reliable sugar refining firm which holds a location option, and which has expressed absolute intention of building a refinery if the acreage is designated, whereas the firm dealing with the Hale County group was said to have made "no commitments whatever". These things should certainly carry some weight with the department.

In addition, the first application was filed under the new act by area growers and by Holly Sugar Corporation, and the same group which spent so much time in Washington on the bill is doing everything possible to point the acreage allocation in this direction. If this does not get results, it is difficult to say what would.

The Deaf Smith-Parmer-Castro territory can also show extensive need for the crop as compared to the Hale County territory, where growers already have lush cotton allotments, while growers in this territory lean more heavily on grain sorghums, a

It Started 30 Years To Late

Just now numerous other area towns are adopting city zoning programs and, like Hereford, they are plagued with "pros" and "cons" by the score. Hereford, after almost a decade of zoning, still faces occasional controversy, but nothing to compare with early years of the program.

Basically, zoning is for the protection of the general public of which we are all a part. At the same time, it personally affects the individual concerned often in an expensive or personal manner. In addition, there is seldom a controversial zoning case which does not have two legitimate sides — and frequently the decision is so difficult that it would stump the Supreme Court.

Hereford has had several zoning board members, all sincere and honest, which accounts in a large measure for the manner in which the community has survived. These citizens, past and present, might well be classified as the unsung heroes of the community. More important, the zoning results are beginning to be apparent and, as the city grows, they will become all the more important.

The Brand would voice only one criticism of the zoning program, in fact — and that would be: "It was started 30 years too late".

Who Did The Spade Work?...

Spanish Swindle Again Bilks Misled Americans

Misled Americans are again being bilked of untold sums of money by the so-called "Spanish Swindle" mail confidence game, according to Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

The information was released in a service bulletin prepared for the Chamber of Commerce members by the National Better Business Bureau, Inc.

"Chief Postal Inspector H. B. Montague advises me that he has evidence that this centuries-old racket, is being promoted against the American public by increasingly active swindlers outside the country," the Postmaster General declared.

"Many thousands of dollars are being taken from unsuspecting victims each year by cunning operators who offer Americans a get-rich-quick scheme which never pays off," Day explained.

There are several variations of the Spanish Swindle, but basically it works this way:

The intended victim receives a "very personal" letter from a supposed "banker" in Mexico, which reads: "A person who knows you and has spoken very highly about you has made me entrust to you a very delicate matter, on which depends the entire future of my daughter as well as my very existence."

The swindler says he is in a Mexican jail for bankruptcy, but has hidden away in the secret compartment of a trunk about half-a-million dollars. The trunk, according to the letter, is deposited in a United States Custom House.

If the victim will lend him $10,000 to pay off his debts, cover court charges, and get out of jail, the "banker" will give him one-third of the money hidden in the trunk.

If the victim succumbs to this appeal to his avarice, he is told when and where to take the $10,000 and promised that the fake banker's "beautiful daughter" will act as an intermediary, and will, incidentally, provide the victim with a grand time in Old Mexico.

When the victim arrives in Mexico, money in hand, he is shortly relieved of the $10,000 — often at the point of a gun. Usually, he is too embarrassed to report his loss.

There is no extradition treaty between the United States and Mexico covering mail fraud, and Mexican courts have held that victims are as guilty as the swindlers — which makes it unlikely that the victim will seek help from Mexican police authorities.

This confidence game originated in Spain some 200 years ago, but through the years the format has remained basically the same with emphasis being placed on the careful selection of the intended victim.

Such publication as "Who's Who in America" and similar other reference books for business and professional men are often used to obtain the names and addresses of prospective victims.

less-money-per-acre-crop. This has been one of the primary reasons for extensive efforts to secure beet acreage as a prop to economy, which might compete with the heavier cotton allotments of Hale County and the South Plains.

At the same time, it does not pay to be too optimistic. Certainly, it is possible that the Department of Agriculture could place the acreage in some area other than Hereford, including Plainview and Hale County. We feel that Congress had this area in mind when they passed the Sugar Bill, due chiefly to local efforts, and it would be a shame to "win the battle and lose the war".

Consequently, we should lend every possible assistance to our sugar committee in this final effort. We got this far through unity, and now is certainly no time to stop.

WE HAVE CITATION

Now Let's Start Safety Practices

This week, for the second consecutive time, Hereford received a Pedestrian Safety Citation for having gone five years without a fatal accident involving pedestrians within the city limits.

Considering phenomenal growth of the city during the 10 year period, the accomplishment is indeed outstanding, and is a tribute to police officers and city officials. Undoubtedly, it has been accomplished in part through installation of traffic lights and late model equipment. Much credit also goes to the School Safety Patrols, and to the special patrol officers who are stationed near our public schools, where orderly traffic control is a matter of rule rather than exception.

And without detracting from the efforts of these good people, we are at the same time prone to wonder why there has been no serious accident in downtown Hereford, where at least half of the population jaywalks at random, and without a second thought. Many of us, including youngsters, are prone to dart in and out of traffic without regard to street lights or intersections.

So long as we go right ahead piling up safety awards, it is difficult to criticize the present system. On the other hand, a traffic death could easily result from our present jaywalking practices — and this seems to us a rather drastic way to learn an important lesson. The best cure for the situation would be one of voluntary enforcement, whereby we would take the time to walk to the corner, and to cross the street with the green light. Certainly, it would not require much time — and should be our next step toward getting that third consecutive citation, five years from now.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Two Sets Rules

E. B. Germany, president of the Lone Star Steel Company, raised an interesting question the other day in regard to the Billie Sol Estes case.

Senator Ralph Yarborough says he got $1700 from Billie Sol as part payment of the cost of the senator's weekly radio program. Germany says it will be interesting to learn if Estes wrote this $1700 off as business expense when he filed his tax return.

If Billie Sol wrote it off, did Yarborough list it as a deductible business expense along with the other $20,000 plus he collected for his radio program.

If he so listed it, on what grounds could he claim it as a legitimate business expense? Germany raises the question of the necessity of Yarborough having a radio program? Many members of Congress have no such program. Will the president of the senate, or even President Kennedy say Yarborough was required by his employer to buy a radio program when this is not a requirement made of all senators.

It is a good public relations device for keeping Senator Ralph's name before the public, but not a requirement of the office. The income tax laws don't even allow deduction of the costs of conducting a campaign, although by all rights they should. If these campaign costs are not deductible, however, how could the cost of an office holder's radio program be?

Germany wonders, and with good reason, if there are two sets of rules connected with the income tax situation — one for the average taxpayer and another for politicians who may be seeking to exercise some sort of diplomatic immunity. Maybe all this will come out if, as has been promised, every phase of the Billie Sol Estes case is gone into. We shall wait and see.

SAVINGS BOND SCHEME HITS CITY

A chain letter scheme in which the participant "can't lose" hit Perryton last week and sent the sale of U. S. Savings Bonds soaring. They soared so fast, in fact, that both Perryton banks sold out of $25 Savings Bonds within three days and are still out. The variation of the old chain letter proposition has some new wrinkles and some local people have cashed in on the deal to the tune of several bonds coming through the mail to them. However, Uncle Sam takes a dim view of this chain letter operation, even if it admittedly promotes the sale of Savings Bonds. The Treasury Department has sent out warning letters to banks regarding the chain letter savings bond scheme, and the Post Office Department has alerted all Postmasters to be on the lookout for such operations, calling them illegal.

TABOR SENTENCED ON EMBEZZLEMENT

Emmett Tabor, former mayor of Bovina, was given a 10-year probation sentence in district court Wednesday in Farwell. Tabor, 58-year-old barber, received the sentence for embezzlement after pleading guilty. The sentence was passed by Judge E. A. Bills of the 154th Judicial District. The Parmer County Grand Jury had indicted Tabor twice on four counts each in its session July 23. The indictments charged Tabor with theft, embezzlement, forgery and passing of a forged instrument. The sentence covered only one of the counts. Judge Bills indicated that the sentence on the other indictment was deferred pending Tabor's compliance with the probated sentence.

MASS POLIO IMMUNIZATION SLATED

Every resident of Hardeman County will definitely be given the opportunity to receive Sabin oral vaccine in a mass poliomyelitis immunization program to be directed by Dr. John Bell of the Quaoah Clinic staff. Dr. Wade Nicholas of Chililote will assist. Dr. Bell has called a planning meeting for Thursday evening at the community room of the Security National Bank for the purpose of discussing with local civic and club personnel the immunization program. Dr. Bell said enough doses of the vaccine would be allocated to Hardeman County under a 13-county immunization program where every man, woman, and child could have the opportunity of participating in the mass immunization.

HEAVY BOLL WORM INFESTION HITS COTTON

Collingsworth cotton fields are on the verge of a heavy boll worm infestation, County Agent Bob Lynch warned growers this week. "The weather last week was ideal for a 100 per cent hatch and they really hatched," he added. "Worm counts in some fields are running very high, as many as one worm to every five plants. We usually consider that it is time to spray when there is one worm to every 20 plants," the county agent continued. Growers were urged to check their fields carefully and regularly and if necessary begin spraying operations.

ADEQUATE HOSPITAL FACILITIES ESTIMATED AT $600,000

Everett Solomon of Andrews told Floydada leaders that a hospital plant to serve the needs of the Floydada area would cost a little over $600,000. Solomon is on the construction and operation committee of the Texas Hospital Association and was in Floydada as a representative of that organization. Solomon is the administrator of the Permian General Hospital at Andrews where they have a new 75-bed hospital. He came to Floydada on an invitation from the Floydada Chamber of Commerce which is presently studying doctor and hospital needs here along with possibilities of improving local facilities for caring for the sick.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed grass farm views the tax situation this week, in a round-about way.

Dear editor:

I was out here on my bindweed farm yesterday afternoon under a tree not doing much of anything, in fact, I wasn't doing anything at all, according to some people's definition, although taking a nap can be as important as anything else, if it results in increased brain activity or a resurgence of physical activity, although neither one is necessary, taking a nap just to be taking a nap is good enough for me; at any rate I was sleeping satisfactorily with no purpose in mind when a newspaper blew over my face and I woke up clawing at it and dreaming I was drowning.

Since I was then fully awake and hadn't slept long enough to feel like working or thinking either, I opened the paper and read a while.

I skipped over the news of the major crisis around the world, having found out long ago the best solution to a crisis is to stay completely ignorant of it, and was reading along on an inside page when I ran across an item that said a public opinion poll has just been completed showing 72 per cent of the people in the United States don't favor a tax cut at this time.

This is like saying 72 per cent of the farmers in a drought area aren't in favor of a rain.

What I believe is that the people running the poll got their wires crossed. They didn't take that poll in the United States. They took it in Europe. It's not hard to believe that 72 per cent of the people of Europe are opposed to a tax cut in the U. S. In fact, it'd run closer to 100 per cent. I can't imagine a worse crisis in Europe than the threat of a tax cut in the United States.

Or, if the poll was conducted in this country, the clerks typed the question wrong, making it read not do you think we need a tax cut but do you think we're going to get one?

From my vast knowledge of what the people think, based solely on how I feel, I would say that 72 per cent would like to have a tax cut but 99 per cent aren't counting on it. And for that 1 per cent counting on it, I'd recommend they hold back a little reserve, in case things don't work out.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Bride-Elect Honored With Bridal Shower

Miss Margaret Boomer, bride-elect of Robert Edward Oliver, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower on Thursday afternoon, Aug. 2, in the home of Mrs. Douglas Pitman.

Mrs. Pitman was assisted by the following co-hostesses: Mesdames H. L. Benefield, Leroy Aven, Joe Reinauer, W. R. Hair, Wayne Edwards, J. J. Durham, Herschel Thurston, John D. Pitman, Earl Holt and Arthur L. Manjeot.

The entertaining rooms were decorated with summer cut flowers and each member of the houseparty and those in the receiving line were presented corsages in the bride-elect's chosen colors of delphinium blue and white.

Guests were received by Mrs. Douglas Pitman and she in turn presented them to the honoree, Miss Boomer; her mother, Mrs. Bert Boomer; Miss Carolyn Aven; and Mrs. Lynn M. Boomer of Claude, an aunt of the bride-elect.

Tea dainties were served from the table, laid with a white embroidered cloth, and appointed in crystal and silver. The floral decor was centered with a gleaming white statuette of cupid, carrying a mass of flowers; at the base of which was a hand bouquet of white gladiolus, marguerite daisies and heavenly blue delphiniums, tied with white satin ribbons.

C of C SCOUT 'Deaf' Smith Says

TO: The Spirit Of General Sam Houston FROM: The Spirit of Erastus "Deaf" Smith SUBJECT: Some Scouting Observations On The Frozen Food Plant

The Agriculture Committee of my Chamber of Commerce, headed by Frank Ford Jr., along with the Industrial Committee headed by Neil Cooper, has been looking at the possibilities of a food processing plant for the Hereford area. This is not a new idea for my county but has been talked of for many years. As most people know there was a canning plant located in Hereford for a short time in the late 1940's. Reading through old copies of the Brand, I find that diversification in vegetables was an objective of the Chamber of Commerce in the 1930's.

The Agriculture Committee has been trying to study out some of the positive factors that can be used to sell the food processing industry on this area while at the same time trying to discover the factors that have kept the industry away from here in the past. One consideration that many canners and packers have reported is that few of the vegetables used in a canning or freezing operation are now produced on a commercial scale here. The obvious answer to that is that there has been no local market to stimulate such production.

Many backyard gardeners have proven that most any kind of vegetable can be grown here, but backyard gardening and commercial production under field conditions are two different things. The Agriculture Committee, however, is seeking to demonstrate that vegetables in commercial quantity and quality can be grown.

They are doing this through their Salad Bowl Festival to be held in the Bull Barn on Sept. 29. Premiums will be given both to the amateur vegetable gardener and to the commercial producer of vegetables with the larger premiums going to the latter. Because many vegetables will not be in season on Sept. 29, a home canning competition is also being planned.

Another question that has been raised is that of hail damage. Processors point out that in small truck garden production not only is the grower hurt by hail - and he can be insured - but the canner is also hurt with idle crews and machinery - and lost contracts. This is a question that the committee has no answer to other than to point out actual statistics on hail damage in the county over a period of years.

ACCIDENT PRONE?

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Police suspect Benjamin Talmadge, 72, may be accident prone. Their suspicion is so strong they asked the court to revoke Talmadge's driver's license. One day recently, police said Talmadge sideswiped a car at 9:30 a.m.; his right front door flew open and brushed two cars at 11:15 a.m.; he ran into the rear of a police cruiser at noon. The night before, Talmadge backed into a parked car. Records showed he had two other minor accidents earlier this year.

zen food angle, but, other than the possibility of operating year around by freezing beef, are the same factors working against us in this effort? Enthusiasm is the very lifeblood of community and area growth. Sam, but misdirected it can cause a tremendous loss of time and money. The enthusiasm for a food processing plant is good. Food processing seems to be a natural for our area but careful research of the production, marketing and other factors must be combined with that enthusiasm so that it has a good chance of carrying through to success. That's my scouting report on one phase of the activity of my Chamber of Commerce, Sam.

PACE FOOLED CARRY BACK

NEW YORK (AP) - After 11 straight in-the-money races, Carry Back became an also-ran in the $105,200 Suburban at Aqueduct. Although fourth and last he picked up $5,260 and ran his earnings to $1,014,413. "Carry Back was only galloping," says Trainer Jack Price. "Why his mile time was 1:37 4/5. In winning the Metropolitan he ran the mile in the track record time of 1:33 1/5. I should have warned Johnny (Jockey Rotz) about the possibility of a slow pace." Beau Purple beat Kelso in the Suburban, reserving his speed for the last half, and ran the mile and a quarter in 2:00 3/5 a new track record.
