LeGate, Hamilton ready for election

By DANEE' WILSON
Staff Writer

As May 4 approaches, the mayoral candidates are winding up their bid for the seat being vacated by Mayor Wes Fisher who will not seek reelection after serving for eight years.

Two men have filed for the position: City Commissioner Tom LeGate and Paul Hamilton.

Both men entered the race with prior city government experience. Hamilton served as city commissioner for three years. He said his interest in city government helped him make his decision to run for mayor.

"I have considered continuing in city government," Hamilton said. "When I ran for commissioner, I didn't run to be defeated. I've considered getting back into it (city government)."

Because of numerous phone calls from friends and business associates, Hamilton decided that he had the support needed to successfully run for the office.

"I got a number of calls from personal contacts who tried to talk me into running," the candidate said. "I talked it over with my wife, Dee, and other friends and took about a week to decide. The time was right, I was ready and the people said they were ready, so I said go for it. I went and paid Bonnie Duke my $10 and the race was on."

Hamilton is confident about his chances on winning the race.

"It was made known to me before I decided to run that I had the support," he said. "I don't know if my supporters accredited me as a person because I'm not afraid to take on any task or if it was something I accomplished while on the commission."

Hamilton believes that Hereford has problems that need to be addressed and solved.

"The biggest problem I see is the landfill," said Hamilton, who was born and raised in Hereford. "I want to be able to definitely say we'll be able to retain the landfill or it will close."

"The landfill has been abused for years and years. Now we're going to pay for it. Recycling will help, but the citizens are going to have to have the want to, to recycle. The EnCoRe group has come a long way, but have a lot further to go."

"The water supplies are not what the need to be. We need to look into funding new well fields, but the bottom line is the good 'ol American dollar."

Hamilton has long-range goals for the city as well.

"We need a long-range citizen park plan," he said. "We need to take four to five years to implement the plan and to come up with the money."

"The thing about the parks is, people need to have more pride not to tear up what we buy. Vandalism is eating us alive."

"Pride is lacking and not just with the parks. When it is time to vote on the budget no one shows up. The tax money is what makes the city tick. I would like to see the citizens more involved."

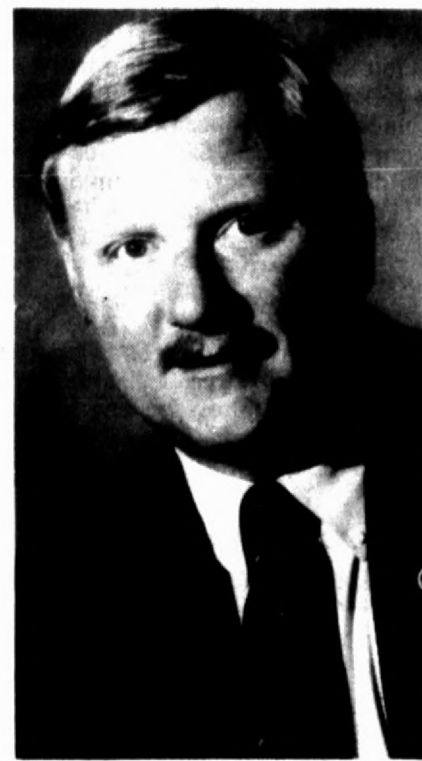

Hamilton sees the transition from having a new mayor and city manager, (present City Manager Darwin McGill is retiring August) as delicate.

"As mayor I would make the Hereford voters will make many decisions in the May 4 election, including the new mayor in the race between Tom LeGate (left) and Paul Hamilton (right).

Candidates forum scheduled Tuesday

A candidates' forum featuring all candidates in contested races in the May 4 city, school and hospital board races will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Hereford Community Center ballroom.

The forum is being sponsored by the Brand, KPAN and Hereford Cablevision. The forum will be videotaped and rebroadcast on Hereford Cablevision next Wednesday and Thursday.

All candidates in contested races have been invited to participate in the forum. Each candidate will be given three minutes for an opening statement to cover qualifications, reasons for running, issues involved in the race and other topics they wish to cover during the allotted time. Each candidate will be asked two questions, and the same questions will be asked of all candidates in a specific race.

Questions are being solicited from the general public, and may be submitted to the Brand or KPAN by noon Tuesday.

The forum is open to the public.

Early voting ends Tuesday

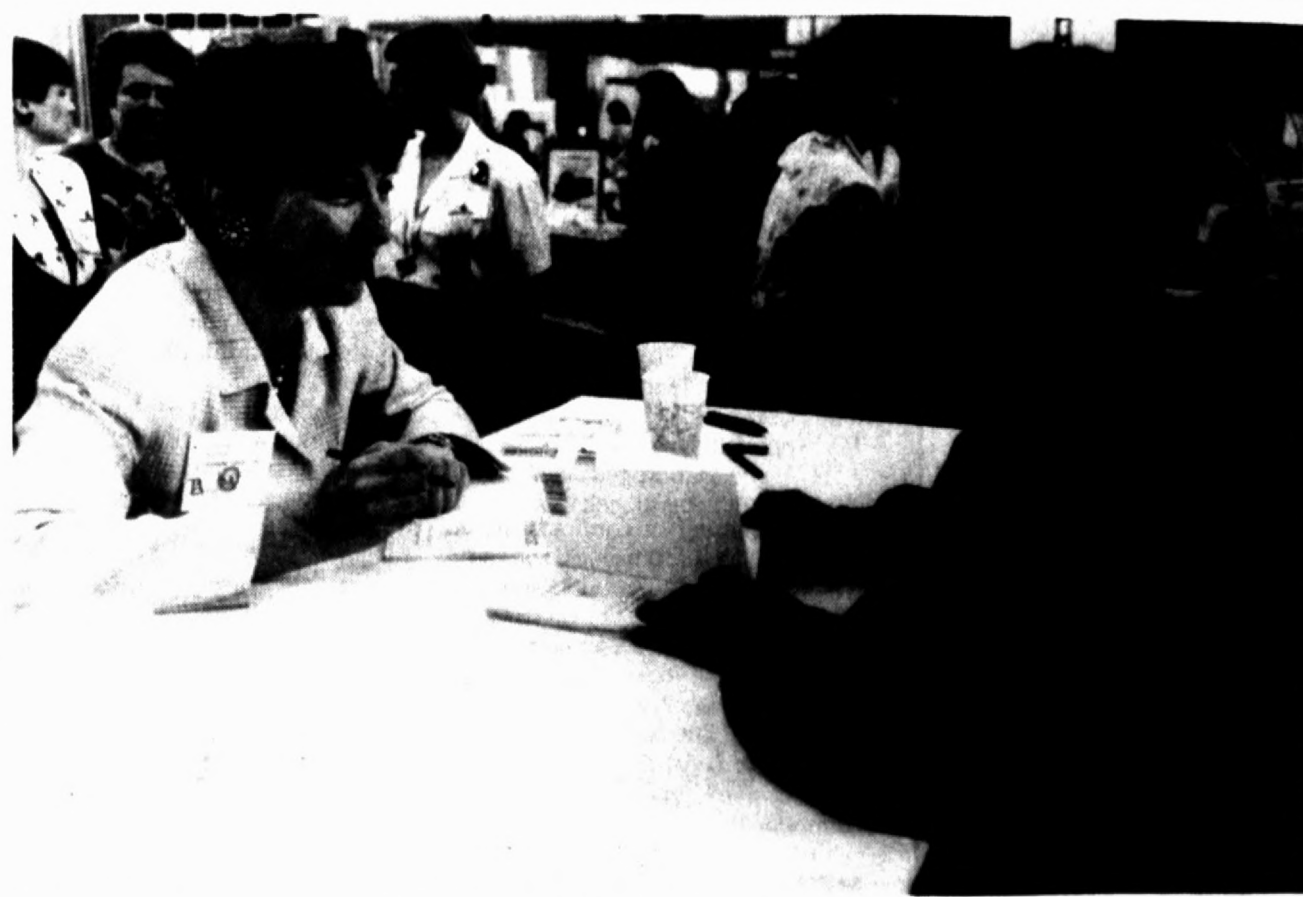

Absentee voting ends Tuesday for the Saturday elections for the city, school and hospital board races.

Early ballots may be cast Monday and Tuesday at the county clerk's office in the courthouse.

Hereford voters will elect a new mayor this year as Mayor Wes Fisher retires after eight years. City commissioner Tom LeGate and former councilman Paul Hamilton are vying for the mayor's post. Sylvia Juarez, an incumbent, and James McDowell Jr. are unopposed in seeking places 1 and 3 on the city council.

Five persons have filed for the Deaf Smith County Hospital Board election, where three seats are up. Incumbents Raymond Schroeder and Ralph Detten are joined on the ballot by Seletta Gholson, Mal Manchec and Dr. Randal Vinther.

Three of four spots on the Hereford school board feature contested races, as only Ron Weishaar, for Place 1, is unopposed. Incumbent Raymond Schlabs is opposed by Martha Rincon for Place 3; Mike Veazey and William Gromowsky are listed for Place 4; and David Bone, Joe Flood and Steve Wright are vying for Place 5.

Saenz presents award at state conference

Saenz presents Library award

Sergio Saenz, a fifth grader at Shirley School in Hereford, presented the Texas Bluebonnet Award to author Stephanie Spinner at the annual Texas Library Association convention recently in Fort Worth.

Saenz was chosen from a group of 107 local students to present the award. The award was given based on nominations from school children throughout Texas. Sergio is a first-generation American, moving here with his family from Mexico three years ago.

"Sergio is a very special boy, a joy to be around especially in the library," said Rose Mary Shook, Shirley librarian. "He is a true ambassador for reading. Because of Sergio, every librarian in Texas knows about Hereford and Shirley School."

Sergio said Spinner was the first author he had ever met, and was still excited about the award.

Attending with Saenz and Shook were Bera Boyd, Wanda Nail and Lois Mitchell, local school librarians; Shirley principal John Dominguez; Hereford superintendent Charles Greenawald; and Merlee McWethy, a teacher at Shirley.

Daniels to lead aging meeting

By DANEE' WILSON
Staff Writer

Margie Daniels, executive director of Hereford Senior Citizens Association, has been named chairperson of the 10th Annual Texas Joint Conference on Aging being held in Amarillo today through Wednesday.

Daniels serves as the president elect for the Texas Association of Senior Centers (TASC), one of five sponsors of the project.

"When I became the president elect, I was told I would chair the conference," Daniels said. "We had to bid on where the conference would be held and we got the bid."

Daniels has been a member of TASC for a number of years and was appointed to their board two years ago.

"Our board met two years ago in Austin and we found out that we were the host organization," she said. "We were in competition against Corpus Christi, Galveston and San Angelo. When I mentioned that Amarillo wanted it, I got the funniest looks."

"The people of Amarillo were great in helping us get the conference."

To set up the bidding process, Daniels got prices of hotels, food, transportation and a place large enough to hold the crowd.

"The Harvey Hotel people were really good to work with," Daniels said. "We worked with the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, who agreed to provide transportation to and from the conference, hotel and airport. Everyone was really helpful."

"The TASC board came to Amarillo to make sure that we could handle it. They were surprised at what the Panhandle has to offer."

"I love the bidding process. It is exciting when you know that you have a good bid. It's really exciting."

Around 500 to 750 people are expected to participate in the event that starts today and lasts through Wednesday.

The conference took a lot of planning and personal time from Daniels.

"I've been working on this for two years," said the hard-working director. "I've found that several of my contacts have changed jobs and I've had to deal with a lot of new people that I wasn't dealing with originally."

Daniels had the responsibility of working with the caterers, getting things set up at the Civic Center, working with registration, hotel arrangements, transportation arrangements and speakers.

"The hardest part was getting people to meet deadlines," she said. "The American Association of Retired Persons is sending informa-

DSGH board to meet Monday

The Deaf Smith County Hospital District board of directors will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday at Deaf Smith General Hospital. The agenda includes Joint Commission participation, physician recruitment, revised budget for May to September, emergency room contract for physician coverage, and an executive session.

Crimestoppers offers reward

A reward of up to $300 is being offered by Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers for information leading to an arrest and indictment in the Crime of the Week. Police are investigating the burglary of Quick Stop Beer and Wine, 340 W. First, on April 22. Taken were 35 cases of Budweiser in cans, a half case of Coors Light bottles, and a half case of Coors Light in 16-ounce cans.

If you have information about this or any other crime, call the Clue Line at 364-2583. If your information leads to an arrest and indictment, you will be paid a reward of up to $300. All callers may remain anonymous by using a code name or number. All final rewards are determined by the Crimestoppers board of directors.

Rhinestone Roundup scheduled

The National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center, located in Hereford, will celebrate its 13th Annual Rhinestone Roundup Weekend June 27-30.

The four-day festival is responsible for raising funds to help sustain and expand the museum. The Hall of Fame has honored 107 western women including early day Wild West Show performers, rodeo cowgirls and women who have contributed to western heritage.

Inducted honorees from across the country will come to celebrate and honor four women that will grace the walls of the Hall of Fame. Two Western Heritage women along with two Cowgirls will be inducted into the Hall of Fame on Friday, June 28. The ceremony will be held at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center and is open to the public.

The Western Heritage Honorees are Mary Ann Goodnight, deceased, of Claude, and Georgia O'Keeffe, also deceased, of Abiquiu, N.M.

Mary Ann Goodnight, known as "Molly," was a fourth generation American pioneer born in Kentucky. She was a Texan from the age of 14 and had very little formal education, yet she taught school and built schools and colleges. She bore no children, though she raised several and is widely revered as "The Little Mother of the Plains."

Georgia O'Keeffe is considered America's most famous woman artist of the 20th century. She is famed for her unbelievably sensitive portrayal of flowers along with her unique portrayal of the Southwest. As one critic has said, "Painting, with its images of romantic, isolated purity, became an embodiment of an individual who was strong enough to live out her life exactly as she wanted to."

This year's Cowgirl Honorees are Nancy Kelly Sheppard of Globe, Ariz. and Lynn Jonckowski of Billings, Mont.

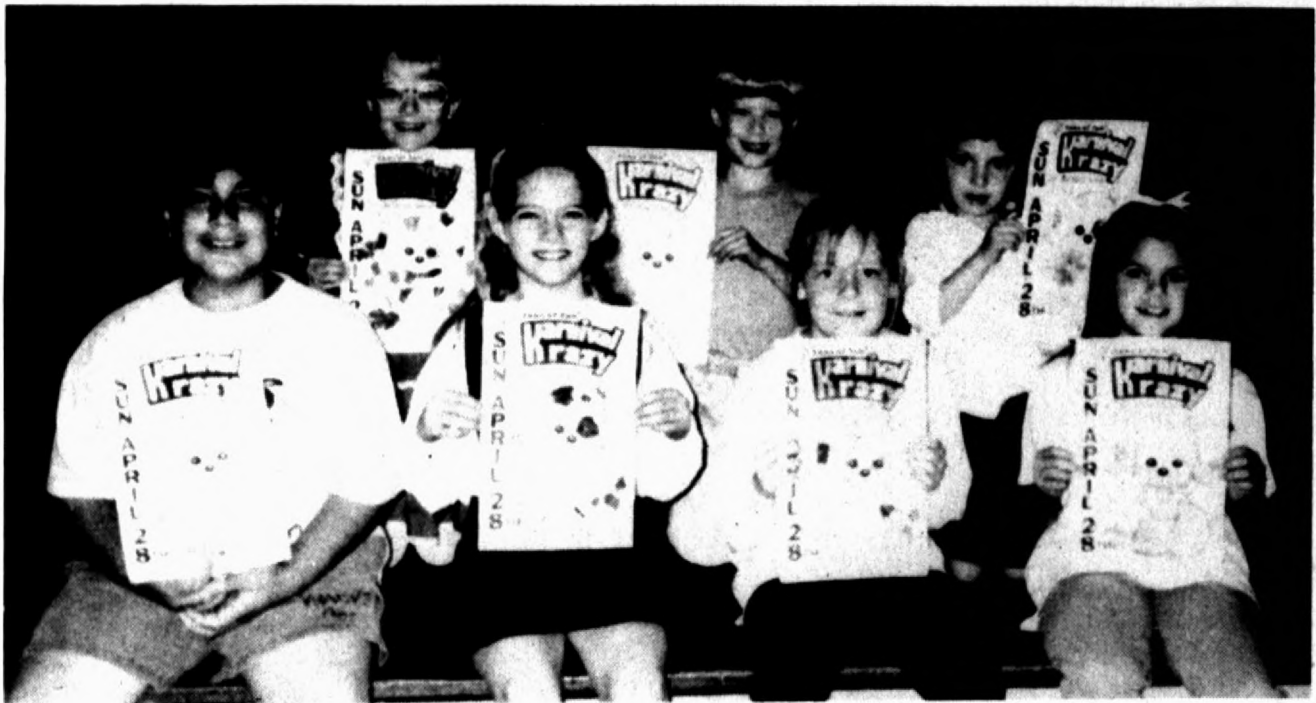

Nancy Kelley Sheppard was a nationally famous rodeo star in the 1940s and 50s. She was best-known for her trick riding and rodeo skills that she performed across the country. One of her more famous tricks was the hippodrome stand, done by standing on a running horse while spinning a loop in each hand.

Lynn Jonckowski is a true symbol of determination and perseverance. Her unsurpassed talents in rodeo have led to a movie contract of her life story. This renowned bull rider overcame many obstacles in her life to become the world champion she is. Her peers, cowboys and cowgirls alike, respect this unusual cowgirl's ability.

The public is invited to join the Hall of Fame in honoring these women during the Rhinestone Roundup Weekend. Activities and various events including the second annual Feedyard Challenge have been planned for guests. Entertainment will be provided along with catered dinners.

Tickets for the weekend can be purchased through the Hall of Fame, 364-5252, located at 515 Ave. B.

Winners were named recently in the poster and placard contests for Karnival Krazy at St. Anthony's School. The items have been used to promote Karnival Krazy, which will be held Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. at St. Anthony's. Winners in the placard coloring contest include (back row, from left) Melissa Warren, Abigail Caperton and Priscilla Flores; (front row, from left) Jerimah Beltran, Shyla Martin, Janae Schlabs, Libby Brockman and Patricia DeLa Cerda (not pictured). Poster contest winners were Julie Schlabs, Stephanie Jesko and Suzanne Baca.

transition as smooth as possible, but with speed. I would put every ounce of energy into getting a good city manager. We need to go over and see what is best for Hereford. It will be a challenge and I'm looking forward to it."

LeGate would bring into the office of mayor six years experience as a city commissioner, with five years as mayor pro tem.

"When Wes Fisher decided he wouldn't run again, he and others encouraged me to seek the office," LeGate said. "I think it would enhance continuity to have a mayor who has been there for that time."

Being an active part of the community is a daily routine for LeGate. He has headed the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce's Hereford Hustlers, currently serves as president of the Hereford Industrial Foundation and he is on the Tax Appraisal Board.

"I was encouraged by many prominent citizens to seek the office," he said. "One person commented that it would be nice if someone could carry on the great deal of cooperation that is currently going on between all the entities. He felt that cooperation could continue through me serving as mayor."

LeGate has a vision for the future of Hereford, but said that he is "one man, one vote." Community improvement lies with all the commissioners.

"I think Hereford needs more community involvement," said LeGate.

with disappointment. "The citizens can't lay all the city's responsibility on the commissioners and mayor. Some of the responsibility needs to come from the citizens' pride in their community."

"I don't have a solution regarding clean-up of Hereford. We have passed some ordinances that I think are real good. Keeping a neat appearance is something we should encourage throughout the city. The city needs to be the primary example. The areas around the swimming pool, tennis courts and community center should always be kept up so people could look and see that's how they should maintain their personal property."

"We have a few limitations because we employ less people than most cities our size, but we can get around and get it done. I think the key word is example."

One of the real problems facing every community nationwide is solid waste. All communities are faced with the Environmental Protection Agency's regulations.

"The EPA regulations are inconsistent," the commissioner said. "We have a regional task force set up through the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission, but we still don't know what we will be faced with from a regulation standpoint."

LeGate's main concerns are with economic development.

"I would like to see Hereford flourish," LeGate said. "I have developed opinions on how the community would react to economic development.

"People, when talking about taxes, have a natural distaste. I feel that people in Hereford would like to see economic development initiate with the private sector. Most would like to see the city in a support role. Citizens don't want to be taxed to help build businesses. What I would like to see is an economic development department within the city, but it is costly and just not feasible."

"Again, the most important part is community involvement. Like I said, the mayor is just one vote. There are six other persons on the commission. The community has to be involved enough to communicate to the commission so not all the responsibility is on the commission. People have to take more interest, become involved, become a candidate."

LeGate said that the transition the city will be making with a new mayor and city manager will be tough.

"I think it would be advantageous to have someone who has been involved in the hiring process," the hopeful said. "In business, I'm accustomed to hiring on a regular basis. The continuity should enhance the hiring process."

"It will be tough, but I'm glad Darwin will be there through the transition period. It will make it a little easier. It's going to be tough at best."

Both candidates are hoping their prior experience will enhance their chances for election. Each feels confident they have the support it will take to win.

Voters go to the polls Saturday. Absentee voting will continue through Tuesday.

tion overnight, but the information folders will already be put together. Things like that are very frustrating.

"I'm not doing it alone. Jim Couzzourt, technical advisor for the Panhandle Area Agency on Aging; Mike McQueen, executive director for the PAAA and Poppy Hulsey, of Tulia, a member of the state board of AARP, have all been a great help to me. I couldn't have done it without them."

Besides making all the conference arrangements and multiple trips to Amarillo, Daniels was responsible for all the programs, information packets and other printed information.

While busy with the final days before the conference, Daniels managed to plan and coordinate two trips for the members of Hereford Senior Citizens.

"I've been busy," she laughed. Daniels is not a stranger to hard work.

"I was appointed to Gov. Mark White's Statewide Health Coordinating Council. I served on that committee for four years. While serving on that committee, I was also on various sub-committees and I served on a special task force. Sometimes I would be in meetings twice a week."

Recently, Daniels has been in meetings in Amarillo two to three times a week putting the final touches on and making final arrangements for the conference.

The Amarillo conference will open with the state senior spelling bee and continue with various workshops and seminars.

The keynote speaker for the event will be Ingrid Azvedo, who is the chairperson of the Federal Council on Aging. Other speakers are Kenneth J. Wyatt and Doug Manning.

"I hope everything goes smoothly," she said. "I've enjoyed the experience, but I won't do it again."

Clean Air Week set May 6-12

Each of us can help in the fight for cleaner air and healthier lungs, reports the American Lung Association which is sponsoring the 19th Annual Clean Air Week, May 6-12.
"Lung disease, including lung cancer, is the third-leading cause of death in the United States," says John R. Garrison, Managing Director of the American Lung Association. The direct and indirect health costs of outdoor air pollution alone are estimated at $40 to $50 billion a year, says Garrison.
The Lung Association offers these tips on what each of us can do to help reduce the level of air pollution at home and in our community:
* Observe Don't Drive Day/Don't Drive Alone Day, May 9. Motorists are urged to leave their cars at home and seek alternative means of transportation such as mass transit, carpools and bicycles as a contribution to the fight against air pollution. Try to keep this practice up, at least once a week.
* Avoid consumer products in aerosol form.
* Test your home for radon and have high levels reduced.
* Regularly clean and maintain heating and air conditioning systems, filters, humidifiers and dehumidifiers to minimize the build-up of molds and other biological pollutants.
* Plant a tree.
* Keep your car in good shape and get regular tune-ups.
* Quit smoking. In addition to endangering your own health, passive smoking is hazardous to your family.
* Have your gas or oil company regularly inspect your furnace, gas water heater and gas clothes dryer.
* Recycle your aluminum, glass and paper.
* Don't burn leaves or trash in your backyard.
* Cast your vote for cleaner air. Support legislation for strong pollution control measures for power plants, factories, and motor vehicles.
For more information about air pollution and how it affects your lung health, contact your local American Lung Association, listed in the white pages of your telephone directory.

NOISEMAKERS

Scientists have just discovered that the ocean makes lots of waves - sound waves, to be exact. The noise just beneath the surface of the sea is more than just bubble: It's bubbles. Underwater clouds of tiny, vibrating bubbles turn out to be the cause of all the noise. The bubble clouds are formed by breaking waves and by raindrops falling into the sea. These bubbles are about the thickness of a human hair and don't collapse easily under water. Scientists say each bubble makes a high-pitched sound that lasts for a fraction of a second.

An economic development proposal with tremendous benefits for the Hereford area was presented at a public meeting here Thursday night. The project of making paper from milo stubble, or other crop residues, fits this area like a glove and offers environmental benefits as well.

Right now, money is needed for a study to determine the economic feasibility of producing the paper. Hereford and area residents have two weeks to come up $14,000, to match a grant made by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Local businesses will probably lead the way in contributing the seed money for the study, but the industrial development committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce is hoping the project will receive community-wide support.

It's an opportunity for all citizens to get involved in helping with economic development. Let's all pitch in and get the funding for the study in short time!

When I tell you I'm of a generation that still thinks men shouldn't use a four-letter word around women, you'll understand why I was amazed to see a story in The Brand this week about condoms. The article concerned criticism of a proposed bill down at Austin to provide condoms to college students.

On a recent tv special, the topic was the issuance of condoms to high school students in New York City, Detroit and several other large cities. The big debate was not about issuing them, but whether or not a kid should get parental permission before accepting one.

We need to adapt to many changes in our society, but we also need to retain some of the old values. When I was a 16-year-old kid in high school, the thought of asking my parents whether or not I could pick up a condom never crossed my mind.

What was on my mind, as a teenager, was the tremendous odds on ever getting to use a condom. The majority of teens had been taught the safest way to keep from getting venereal disease or an unwanted pregnancy. It was simply to refrain from premarital sex.

This philosophy worked for many generations, but now it is apparently considered as an old-fashioned idea--at least that is the prevalent treatment in movies and television shows.

o0o
Out of the mouths of babes ...usually comes wisdom!

James Roberts, Andrews publisher, reports that third graders there got into a discussion of what the school reform bill means and decided to write letters to all of the Texas Supreme Court justices explaining their feelings toward the "Robin Hood" plan.

Roberts obtained copies of the letters and picked out two that seemed typical. Here's one that two girls teamed up to write:

"We are very upset with you because you are making us share our school money. We have worked very hard for it. Some people work day and night for their money. We wish that every school had enough money. But we don't have stuff like other people in different communities have. All that Andrews has is money.

"Why should we share our money with other areas when many parts of the state have more things than we do? The state should share some things with us. We don't have lots of water like other places in Texas. We should have bluebonnets, pecan trees, lakes with a bunch of fish, colleges, better restaurants, museums, fairs, and a bunch of other things.

"Children can learn a lot from these wonderful things. If you take our money, we won't even have good schools anymore, and other places in Texas will have good schools and all the things we don't have.

"We hope someday that the state will elect women to be a judge. They will show you what will happen in the future if you decide something. We think women would be more sensible.

"If you didn't notice, the people in our town are very upset. It is not fair to us. Why do you think it was right to take our money away?"

And one student really got down to the basics in her letter. She wrote to the most liberal member of the court, Oscar Mauzy, and said:

"I really and truly am ready to scream. I do not think that sharing our money all over the state is going to help at all. Our money is all we have! If you take it away, what will we have? Nothing!

"Anyone can move to Andrews if they want to share our money. If you voted for this terrible and horrible thing, I'm going to tell my mom and dad and family to not vote for you.

"I want to know if you will write back. I would like to hear from you, please. I know that you think this is none of my business, but it is very much."

Evidently, this third grader has a good idea of what democracy is all about.

John Brooks

Babbling Brooks

We in Hereford have an opportunity to make an investment in our future that could pay big dividends, if we can come up with $14,000.

That's the amount needed by the chamber of commerce to match a grant approved by the Texas Department of Agriculture to study the feasibility of a milo paper plant in the area.

There is no doubt that the process will work. As I sit typing this column, I am looking at a piece of paper made from milo stubble. The process, however, must be studied: is it possible to turn milo stubble (of which there is a plentiful supply) into pulp or paper, and make money doing it? What will the impact be on the community, the labor force, the environment (it's all positive-positive-positive for the environment)?

This can also pay big dividends for farmers: they can harvest and sell something that would normally be plowed under or burned.

I attended the meeting about the paper project on Thursday; I wish all of you had been there and could be as enthused about the project's viability as I am. I would hope that those of you who are able to support this in any way, whether it's with $10 or $100 or $1,000, will do so.

I also hope that those of you who were so much against the half-cent for economic development sales tax, those of you who have been against other projects and programs, might actually embrace this project. It would be good for all of us to support in any way or shape we can.

bb
Since someone asked me and I didn't know the answer, I will again cast myself into the wind (on the behalf of others who have asked me) to find out something about our hospital.

Since I am not privy to the answers, perhaps we can use this or some other forum to answer the questions.

To paraphrase:
Why, if we have to lay off 14 hospital employees and have four other positions that won't be filled after natural attrition, are we paying someone $1,000 to write articles and do other marketing work for the hospital?

On a personal note, I'm glad that we are getting some news from the hospital, although we could have done the stories, for free, had we been told or asked. We need the hospital, and we need a strong hospital. As a former patient, I am grateful for the care I have received at our hospital from the nursing staff.

As the election is less than a week away, I hope that some of you are planning for the next election.

One of the worries I and others have is that it's taking more and more effort to get people to run for office. It's always good to have two people in a race, no matter what the office. If you have a sincere interest and believe you can help, why not run in the next election. No one here will criticize you for running.

Editorial opinion around the state

April 20

Amarillo Daily News on government spending:
Never underestimate the federal government's ability to mismanage money.

It was bad enough when President Bush proposed a $1.4 trillion budget, complete with a near-record $280 billion deficit.

But Congress, given the opportunity by default to provide some leadership, could do no better.

The House this week approved an almost-identical budget, except that it added $9 billion to the deficit and shifted some money from science and law enforcement to welfare programs.

Try, for a moment, to understand what is happening. In 1991 alone, domestic discretionary spending is projected to jump by 9.1 percent entitlement by 12.5 percent. Total spending will go up $158 billion, a single-year growth record...

U.S. Rep. John Kasich, R-Ohio, has a simple, but workable plan. He wants to limit increases in discretionary spending to the rate of inflation through fiscal 1996. That would save $9 billion next year and almost $90 billion over the next five years.

Kasich's plan is a modest one... But it would be a small step toward solving the problem. And any step at all in that direction would be welcome.

April 17

Waco Tribune Herald on school finance bill:
One key ingredient is missing from the newly enacted school funding bill. It's called funding.

Though much of the bill is aimed at shifting tax burdens within larger taxing districts, it carries an additional price tag of $1.2 billion in the first biennium.

It says nothing about where that money will come from. In addition, a $4.6 billion shortfall looms at current revenue levels. We've already grimaced at the "doomsday budget" approved by the House budget committee, with big gashes included for higher education and services for the elderly and disabled.

The Legislature therefore heads from the school equalization hurdle to the revenue hurdle. This time it may need a pole-vault pole.

April 22

El Paso Herald Post on gun laws:
In the 1980s homicides of young people rose slightly, and the number killed by all means other than firearms sharply declined. By contrast, the number of people aged 10-19 who were shot to death jumped by more than 30 percent. Killings of young blacks, especially soared.

According to the FBI, non firearm homicides of victims aged 10-19 dropped from 812 in 1980 to 478 in 1989. Homicides by shooting rose from 1,336 to 1,770 in the same time.

It's possible, of course, that if teen-age gang members didn't have access to their weapons of choice, they would simply stab or strangle one another instead. We'll never know, as long as American society continues to insist on the ready availability of guns.

April 22

Corpus Christi Caller-Times on Census Under count:
Even before the 1990 Census concluded, critics were howling that it would result in a serious under count, particularly of minority and low-income Americans. Now the Census Bureau, which initially pooch-pooched those charges, has essentially conceded their validity.

On Thursday, Census Bureau officials admitted that they missed as many as 6.3 million persons, including skipping over as few as 236,490 or as many as 632,490 in its initial finding that the state's population was 16.9 million.

That just confirms what Texans - notably, Attorney General Dan Morales - have been saying all along. Now the Bureau should take the logical next step and ratchet upward its figures for Texas and the other under counted states. Inasmuch as the allocation of federal dollars and the distribution of political clout is directly dependent on this, the urgency of the task can hardly be overstated.

Tornado memories

BY LYNN BRISENDINE
Brownfield News Publisher

Lots of folks set store in anniversary dates. All of us like to commemorate personal happenings by remembering the occasion on the date it took place in the past years. And we also set a certain amount of significance when those dates become decades and the years begin to pile up.

Last Friday, the folks of Hereford observed the 20th anniversary of a tornado disaster. The storm hit in the middle of the night after weather officials had declared an all-clear. Storms had invaded the area the day before and had built and declined as they do in this area until the folks in far-away Kansas City said the worry was over. With that, all the emergency workers who had monitored the situation for hours called it quits and went home.

I worked for the newspaper and had been chasing storms all the while, only to give up at the late hour and head home. I was unwinding from a long day when the sirens once again blew their warning. I hustled my family across the street to a neighbor's basement and struck out again, camera in hand, to get the perfect tornado picture.

I drove the company pickup towards the storm-hit area following the twister as it hit in the darkness ahead. That night was a weird experience. The tornado struck the town from the southeast and continued along a trail mainly to the north. It hit the city limits, destroying a few houses, then jumped in the air just before it reached the hospital. From there it stayed in the air, roof-top high and began a strange destructive path. One house would be obliterated while its neighbor escaped untouched. Roofs were ripped from some homes while others blew to pieces and, in their midst, others simply sat through the maelstrom unaffected.

I reached the affected area just minutes after the storm had passed. My boss, Melvin Young, lived in the area on Avenue I, so I went by his home. It was one of the houses which escaped damage. He and I took cameras and began to drive to the worst-hit part of town. After a couple of blocks of the tour, we encountered an emergency official who told us we could continue the tour on foot, but to be careful of the high-power electric lines that went down in many places. That finished our nightly patrol.

The next morning proved one thing: the people of Hereford had been extremely lucky. No one was killed and there were no serious injuries. And with the relief of people who had escaped one of nature's monsters, the stories of that evening began to take on comical tones. People were talking of being so scared that they scraped all the chrome off their bath-tub drains trying to get as low as possible, which was a good tale. But one story topped all of them and the strangest thing about it was that it was a true occurrence.

The weekend before the storm, a fellow asked his neighbor to care for his old pet dog while he and his family took a trip. I can't remember the names of the people involved, but the family on the trip returned home quickly after hearing about the tornado. They got back two days after the tornado and found their home damaged but not destroyed. As they stood in the yard viewing the damage, their neighbor drifted over with some bad news.

He told them that the storm had hit without warning. "I grabbed a kid and my wife got the other one and we headed for the cellar in the backyard. We made it and I was fighting the wind to close the door when I remembered your dog. But I heard a mournful howl as the tornado sucked him up in the air and he flew over the house. I'm sorry but the dog is gone."

As the man finished his story, however, he looked up to see the old dog limping home. What a ride that must have been!

Dear editor,

There has been limited public discussion of issues in the local election campaigns. EnCoRe (Environmental Coalition for Recycling) believes that there are a number of important concerns that should be openly addressed this week for the benefit of the voters and the community's future.

Our organization hopes that, prior to the May 4 election, city commission and mayoral candidates will give public responses to the following questions:

--"What is your opinion of community recycling programs, and how important do you consider recycling in regard to Hereford's future waste management?"

--"As an elected official, what steps would you take to support a community-wide recycling program?"

--"Have you attended any conferences or seminars that focused on recycling? And, if not, would you be willing to do so?"

--"Do you believe that the actual collection of discarded materials for recycling should be the responsibility of the City or of private persons?"

--"If elected, would you consider a local recycling center as a wise investment of taxpayers' money?"

--"Do you favor keeping the local landfill operational or hauling waste to a regional dumpsite?"

--"In considering economic development, how would you prioritize environmental preservation and groundwater protection?"

Thank you,

Dear Editor:

The American Home Week was a real success, not only for the Realtors but for the homeowners. I feel that a big part of our success was due to publicity in The Hereford Brand during the week prior to the Open Houses.

Special promotion advertisements were also provided by First National Bank and the Hereford State Bank. Also, the Realtors truly appreciate all the businesses that donated door prizes. Among the donors were K-Bob's Restaurant, Caison's Steak House, Ranch House Restaurant, Sirloin Stockade, McLain Garden Center and First National Fuel & Nursery.

Winners of door prizes were Don Fellers, Mary Shelton, Tina Langehenning, Elizabeth Huckabay of Dimmitt, Danny Boyett, Robbi Hedges and Coleman Wright.

Once again, the Realtors would like to give a special "Thank You" to all the businesses who participated in American Home Week.

Sincerely,

When it's time for spring cleaning, an important room to keep in mind is the kitchen where food is stored, prepared and eaten.

The kitchen needs to be kept clean and food must be stored safely. Start by checking the refrigerator and freezer to make sure safe temperatures are maintained for storing perishable foods. An appliance thermometer can be used. The refrigerator temperature needs to be between 34 degrees and 40 degrees Fahrenheit. The temperature will vary somewhat in different parts of the refrigerator so check for the coldest places to store most perishable foods like meats, dairy products and eggs. The freezer should register 0 degrees F. or lower. Keeping the refrigerator and freezer clean will help maintain safe temperatures. Clean and defrost insides, and clean lint and dust from the motor and refrigerating unit. Check door gaskets for tightness.

News of dental research

A healthy smile is a bonus at any age. Too often, older people, especially those who wear dentures or false teeth, feel they no longer need dental checkups.

Because the idea of preventative dental care dates back to the 1950s, many people over the age of 65 have not grown up with the idea of preventive care of teeth. The fact is, in time, dentures need to be replaced or readjusted to the changes that may have occurred. If you haven't learned the basic elements of good oral health, it's not too late to start. These include using fluoride toothpastes and mouth rinses, brushing and flossing your teeth each day and regular visits to the dentist.

Although general dentists take care of the dental needs of most older people, some dentists have a special interest in the care of geriatric patients. The National Institute of Dental Research is spearheading research on the aging of the oral cavity along with supporting studies on the biological, behavioral and epidemiological aspects of adult dental health.

Make rice fluffier and white by adding a teaspoon of lemon juice to each quart of water.

Any spoiled foods or those which have an expired "use-by" date should be discarded. Mold on any meats, soft or semi-soft cheese, fermented dairy products such as sour cream or yogurt signals that need to discard these products. If hard cheese has a small mold growth, substantial trimming of the mold from the cheese can save it. Heavy mold growth on a small portion of cheese may not be worth the risk. Throw it away. Also, clean up any spills in the refrigerator. These encourage bacteria growth.

Check freezer foods. While frozen food stays safe for extended periods, the texture and flavor will suffer. Rotate frozen foods and, in general, use within six months to a year. Date all items so rotation will be easier. Packages with frost inside or with freezer burn will probably show loss of quality.

Check the cabinets and pantry. Ideally, foods should be stored in the coolest cabinets in the kitchen. Heat speeds up deterioration of foods.

Avoid storing foods near sources of heat such as range, oven, dishwasher or hot water heater. Also, don't store foods under the kitchen sink where water and pipe connections encourage pest and rodent entry.

Check pantry items such as flour, spices, cereals and grains for signs of insect infestation. If you see little black bugs, throw the infested products away. Clean the storage area and sanitize. Store these types of goods in air-tight containers.

Moldy breads should also be discarded and not eaten.

Check cans and jars for rust, dents, cracks, leaks or bulges. Don't taste any suspicious foods. Throw them away. Again check "used-by" dates. Set up a system of "first-in", "first-out" to ensure the use of oldest foods first. Generally, it's best to use canned goods within one year, especially home-canned items. Check for signs of pests or rodents and take proper measures of control.

Check appliances for cleanliness and proper operation. Now may be the time to replace those appliance parts or repair those you have been putting off. Cleanliness for appliances such as can openers, processors, slicers, blenders, etc. is important to help prevent cross-contamination of foods with disease-causing bacteria. Be sure you have a good supply of clean dish rags and sponges. These items harbor bacteria very well.

Spring may be a good time to do a thorough kitchen search and cleaning, but habits established on a regular basis to keep foods and the kitchen safe are one good way to maintain food quality and safety, and get the most from the food dollar.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Allow me to introduce myself and my family!

Dear Friends:

In order for you to become better acquainted with your candidate for Mayor, I would like to introduce you to my family. In so doing, hopefully it will become clear as to my interest in continuing to help create a favorable future for Hereford an all of its citizenry.

My wife, Carol Sue, and I have been married for 25 years; we are the proud parents of two daughters. Carol Sue has served on the Chamber board for three years, serves on the Cowgirl Hall of Fame board, and is a member of the Hereford Hustlers. She currently is president of the Hereford Board of Realtors and is active in the First United Methodist Church.

Tiffany Confer, is our 21-year-old daughter who is currently a senior at Texas Tech University. Tiffany is married to Blake Confer, also a senior at Tech. Blake and Tiffany are the parents of the "pride and joy" of both the LeGate and Confer families. Jordan Brooke Confer turned one year old on April 20.

Jennifer, our 17-year-old, will be a senior in Hereford High School. Like her sister, she was born and raised in Hereford. Her interests have included band and drill team and she participates on the HHS varsity tennis team. Jennifer also plans to attend Texas Tech University upon her graduation from high school.

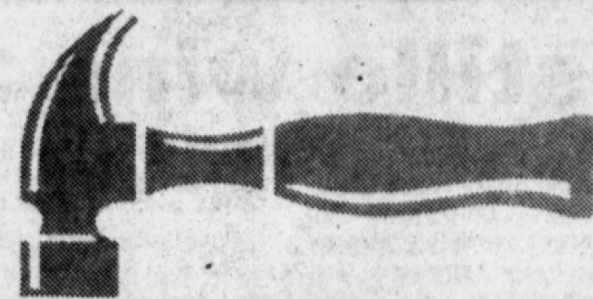

My family would like for me to be mayor. I would like to be your mayor. However, I know that being mayor is not a one-man show. It will take each citizen's support and effort to make our city the place we want it to be or become.

Sincerely,

Tom LeGate

Castillo wins 3,200 in San Angelo

After one day of the Region 1-4A track meet at the Angelo State Multi-Purpose Sports Complex in San Angelo, Teresa Castillo has already earned a trip to the state meet, and Jayme Moore and the girls' 1,600-meter relay team are in Saturday's finals.

For the boys, only Leo Brown is left. He was to triple jump Saturday in the last of his three events. On Friday, he placed fourth in the long jump with a leap of 22 1/2 and did not qualify for the high hurdles finals.

Coach Ron Young said the knee that bothered Brown early in the week was fine, although the triple jump was the only thing that hurt his knee.

Also Friday, Mark Daniel placed fourth in the shot put at 146-9, and Stephen Banner failed to qualify for the 400 dash finals.

Castillo cracked the 12 minute barrier for the first time in the 3,200 run, Coach Martha Emerson said, her 11:56.79 beating second-place Jodi Powell of Fort Worth Boswell by almost 18 seconds.

Castillo was to run in the 1,600 run Saturday, and Emerson expects a good battle with Melody Patterson, the Crowley girl who beat her in the state cross country meet and got her picture in Sports Illustrated.

"Teresa has a really good chance," Emerson said.

Castillo, Moore, Minerva Salazar and Jeannie Barrientez ran the 1,600 relay Friday in 4:02.61, their best time this year. Emerson said she thought that was the second or third best qualifying time.

Moore also made the finals in the 300 hurdles with a 48-flat, her personal best.

Barrientez also ran the 100 hurdles, but did not qualify for the finals, and Emerson's two discus throwers, Christie Burkhart and Roxann Torres, did not place.

Pistons' chances slim

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) - The Detroit Pistons' three-peat hopes suddenly look like a long shot.

The Pistons looked sluggish and out of synch Friday night against Atlanta, a team they defeated five straight times during the regular season, and the Hawks took full advantage.

With Dominique Wilkins scoring 32 points and playing Detroit-style defense, the Hawks beat the defending champions 103-98 before 21,454 stunned fans at The Palace.

"If you can point to one thing, it was our hustle," Atlanta's Glenn Rivers said. "I've never seen this team more focused and hustling as hard as they did tonight."

The Hawks shot 47.3 percent and held the Pistons to 38.5 percent, offsetting Detroit's 51-39 rebounding advantage.

Game 2 will be played Sunday night at The Palace, then the best-of-5 series shifts to Atlanta for the third game Tuesday night and Game 4, if needed, Thursday.

"That's just basketball. That's how it goes," Detroit's Isiah Thomas said. "You take the ups and downs as they come. We just have to ride it out." In other playoff opens Friday night, Boston beat Indiana 127-120 and Portland defeated Seattle 110-102.

Joe Dumars scored 20 points and Mark Aguirre had 19 for Detroit, trying to become the third franchise in NBA history to win three consecutive championships.

In today's games, it was Golden State at San Antonio and Houston at the Los Angeles Lakers, with Utah at Phoenix and Philadelphia at Milwaukee tonight. The Spurs, Lakers, Jazz and 76ers took 1-0 leads into those games.

Celtics 127, Pacers 120
Larry Bird, whose playing status against Indiana was in doubt until game time because of a bad back, had 21 points, 12 rebounds and 12 assists in 41 minutes at Boston Garden.

Bird, who was hospitalized in traction overnight to improve his chances of playing again on Sunday, keyed a 10-0 stretch run with four points, three assists, a rebound and a steal. The decisive spurt snapped a 110-110 tie.

White JV falls short to Borger's JV 6-4

A comeback by Hereford's White junior varsity baseball team fell two runs short, as the Whites lost 6-4 in Borger Friday.

The JV Bulldogs got a 6-0 lead with three runs in the first inning and three in the fourth. The Herd started to fight back in the fifth, getting two runs on walks by Vince Castillo and Chris Gonzales and RBI singles by Jake Head and Andy Kalka.

The Herd made a game of it with two runs in the seventh, but that's all the Bulldogs would let them have. Castillo opened with a walk, Richard Sanderson singled and Head advanced them both with a groundout. Kalka reached on an error, on which Castillo scored. After Andrew Tijerina walked, Sanderson scored on a wild pitch.

Kalka pitched the complete game but got the loss.

The White team's next game is the final one of their season and the last game in Hereford for 1991. The Whites play Randall's JV at 4:30 p.m. Monday at Whiteface Field.

Original Cowboy remembers playing days

By PAT MONCH
Texas City Sun

TEXAS CITY, Texas (AP) - As Baylor's L.G. Dupre broke through the Texas defense one of Texas' best-known radio announcers of all time made the call: "He's tipping down the sidelines. He is long gone," called out Kern Tips to his radio listeners across the Southwest.

Tips' call of the Baylor running back's touchdown run gave Dupre a nickname that lasts to this day.

"No one called me 'L. G.' anymore," said Dupre, now a Dallas businessman. "From then on they called me 'Long Gone.'"

"He was just the greatest," Dupre said of Tips. "He gave me my nickname and it stuck. He just made football fantastic. Howard Cossell couldn't come close."

Long Gone is a Texas City boy from way back.

"He was 'THE JOCK,' the leader of the pack," a friend recalls. "I remember he played on the first Texas City football team to beat (Galveston) Ball High in 17 or 18 years. We just stomped them that year."

Charles Dupre, now a Texas City building inspector, has always been "L.G.'s little brother." But to some former classmates, Charles was one of the best football players to ever come out of Texas City.

Several even claimed that although L.G. "had the name, Charlie might even have been the better football player."

"I don't know about that," Charles Dupre says. "I felt very fortunate to do as well as I did. I owe a lot to the game. It enabled me to go to school."

Both L.G. and Charles Dupre graduated from Texas City High School and Baylor University.

L.G. actually went to Baylor on a basketball scholarship.

"Not many people know that," he said. "But I wound up playing football at Baylor and was drafted by the pros."

L.G. made All-American and played in the college all-star game when the collegians beat the Cleveland Browns. "I was their most valuable player in that college all star game," he recalls.

"L.G. was two years ahead of me at Baylor," Charles Dupre said. "We only got to play there one year together. I was injured in an automobile accident and had to lay out a year."

"What a career L.G. had. He was just tremendous. He owes a lot to the game himself. It seems like I was always 'Dupre's little brother,' but I didn't mind that at all," Charles said.

Charles recalls "my last year we were fortunate enough to play in the Sugar Bowl. We played undefeated Tennessee and beat them 14-7. It was a super game."

"That was Johnny Majors' All-American year at Tennessee. He went on to become their head coach and a very good friend."

Some other friends Charles would make through football included Dell Shofner, "probably one of the greatest receivers in the NFL," Bill Glass, an All-American who placed with the Cleveland Browns, and quarterback Bobby Jones.

"We had some fantastic ball players on the '57 club. Many of them went on to do quite well and went to the pros," Charles said.

L.G. was the No. 2 draft choice of the Baltimore Colts in 1955, where he remained until 1960 when he was traded to Dallas.

Charles played briefly with the NFL Chicago Cardinals and Washington Redskins, but was plagued by injuries. He was working for a Baltimore computer company when old friend Sammie Baugh called him about the new American Football League.

"I moved to New York and played with the Titans until a game in California," Dupre said. "I got knocked out pretty severely, "so hard that my blood pressure went up and they wouldn't let me play for several weeks. I was stuttering and felt my time had come. It was time to hang them up."

Charles recalls his football years fondly. "I enjoyed playing and met some super people. That's something special that the sport can do for you."

While a member of the Baltimore Colts, L.G. played a key role in what some consider the greatest pro football game - a championship game between the Colts and the New York Giants that was the first overtime game.

"It was a pretty good game for me," L.G. said. "There was a crucial third down. It was third and five. (Colts' quarterback Johnny) Unitas handed off to me and I made a crucial first down. That gave us the chance to go on and my roommate Alan Amechi scored the winning touchdown."

L.G. recalls that he gained 60-70 yards in the game. Other memorable games with the Colts were the back-to-back championship wins over the Giants in 1958 and 1959. "We won big that second year, really kicked their butts."

But then came the expansion draft for the new Dallas Cowboys.

"What they did was each team put 11 ball players in the expansion draft."

My coach Weeb Ewbanks put up a couple of guys like Art Dunavan and Ray Kraus, guys he didn't think (Dallas coach Tom) Landry would pick.

"But Landry fooled him and picked them. So he told Landry 'let me pull them back and I'll give you another,' and that's how I became a Dallas Cowboy."

"What I think they wanted was a Texas boy, one who went to Baylor and was well known in Texas. I was a pretty good running back and had a pretty good name," L.G. said. "At least, that's my personal thinking. A good ol' Texas boy from Baylor might draw some people to see the game."

At Dallas, Dupre was the Cowboy's leading ground gainer the first year but he found the transition difficult coming from a back-to-back championship team to a new franchise.

"It was tough those early years," he recalled. "There were maybe 5-6,000 season tickets sold in a 70,000 seat stadium. Those first three four years you only got the hard core football fans," he said. "Dallas is kind of a fickle town."

The team set records such as most consecutive games lost (tied with the 1988 squad) at 10, and most consecutive games without a victory,

12. The only bright spot that first year was the tie with the Giants in which Dupre scored three touchdowns.

"It really wasn't too happy a year for me, coming from the world championship team to an underdog and being beat. That's hard to take."

After Dupre left the Cowboys he went to work for General Electric. "I was in sales with them for five years when I went into the carpet and brick business for myself here in Dallas," he said.

"I don't go to the games any more," Dupre says. "I'd rather watch it on television. It's just not the same as when you are playing. I really don't know how to explain it."

Nelson able to attend namesake

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
IRVING, Texas (AP) - Byron Nelson couldn't make it to Augusta National Golf Club for The Masters this year, but nagging ailments won't keep him away from the tournament that bears his name this week.

"I wouldn't miss it," said the 79-year-old Nelson. "I'll be there."

The Four Seasons Resort and Club at Las Colinas and its TPC course is just a short drive from Roanoke, Texas, where Nelson has his "Fairway Ranch."

His health problems in recent years have not helped any by an accident in his workshop when he severely cut his hand with a bandsaw. But he's always attended the tournament.

"By being at the tournament is my way of giving something back to golf which has been so good to me," Nelson said.

The GTE Byron Nelson Classic is the only PGA tournament named in honor of a golfer. With his permission and participation, sponsors decided in 1968 to name the tournament for him.

Nelson holds the PGA record for consecutive victories, 11 in 1945 during an amazing stretch of golf from March to August. He won five majors, including The Masters twice, the PGA Championship twice, and the U.S. Open.

The Dallas tournament dates back to 1944 when a young Bryon Nelson won the inaugural event at Lakewood Country Club.

The field at the Nelson Classic is usually one of the most attractive on the PGA Tour. Many pros play in it just because of Nelson.

"A lot of the pros come here because of their respect for Byron," said Ben Crenshaw, who won the tournament in 1983.

The list of winners is most impressive: Tom Watson (four times), Jack Nicklaus (twice), Payne Stewart, Ray Floyd, Lanny Wadkins, Miller Barber, Bruce Devlin, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Craig Stadler, Andy Bean, Fred Couples, and Bruce Lietzke, all since Nelson put his name on the trophy.

The Dallas tournament already had a history of great champions. Besides Nelson, the winners included Sam Snead (three times), Ben Hogan, Don January, Peter Thompson, Julius Boros, Charles Coody and Roberto De Vicenzo.

"There's great history in the Dallas tournament," said Crenshaw, who is something of a golf history buff. "Just look who won it."

Stewart, who played in his first tournament in 10 weeks by finishing fourth at the Heritage Classic in Hilton Head, S.C., was expected to defend his title in the 12th oldest tournament on the PGA Tour.

The 6,767-yard, par-70 TPC course was designed by Jay Morrish with Nelson and Crenshaw serving as player consultants.

Officials of the Salesmanship Club-sponsored event just hope they can get a break from the weather.

Eight inches of rain forced cancellation of the Pro-Am last year and the tournament was shortened to 54 holes. Local radio station helicopters were used to help fan dry the course.

JESSICA ANN DEARING, KYLE RAY SCHUDER

Nuptials planned

Jessica Ann Dearing and Kyle Ray Schuder, both of Hereford, plan to wed July 27 in First Baptist Church. The bride-elect is the daughter of Rodney Dearing of Roswell, N.M. and is the granddaughter of Anson and June Dearing of 216 Western St. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Troy Schuder of 100 Aspen St.

Miss Dearing, a 1990 graduate of Hereford High School, is attending West Texas State University majoring in secondary education. She is a member of the Fellowship of Believers. Schuder, a 1982 HHS graduate, is employed at Troy's Sweet Shop. He is a member of First Baptist Church.

Journey Toward Jubilee is topic of celebration

Church Women United May Fellowship Celebration, Journey Toward Jubilee, is scheduled for Friday, May 3, at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center Foyer Room at 11:30 a.m.

The event marks the CWU's 50th jubilee. The program will review major aspects of the history followed by an outstanding accomplishment by each former national president. The first president, Amy Welcher, now 104 years old, will be part of the presentation on video.

Former Hereford unit presidents will present the program. They include Zula Arney, Kee Ruland, Louise Roberson, and Eloise McDougel. Others participating are Jerri Clark and Cathy Revell. May Fellowship Day is one of the major events to mark the celebration of CWUs Jubilee Year. The service was written by Sharon Rezac Andersen, Grand Forks, N.D., with the assistance of an ecumenical group of women from Houston Church Women United. The author drew on her own experience as well as the rich legacy of the many women who journeyed for half a century with Church Women United living out their faith in action and their commitment to the continuous struggle for peace and Christian unity

This is an opportunity for Christian women to learn about CWU. All are invited.

Silver Star Award given to Mercer during workshop

The Silver Star Award was presented to Betty Mercer of Hereford during the Texas Retired Teachers Association District Workshop conducted April 23 at West Texas State University.

The presentation was made for Mercer's "Dedicated Service to Education and/or Retired Educators in Texas."

The all-day event, which was co-sponsored by the AARP, included workshops covering the following topics: president, vice president, membership, legislation, retirement, community participation, informative and protective services and health care.

Following the luncheon, a business session was held, as were awards and installation ceremonies where Mercer was named as the district health care chairman.

Among those attending from Hereford included TRTA members, Bill and Billie McDowell, Dempsey Alexander, Betty Volkman and Mercer.

BETTY MERCER

Loyalty Day scheduled Wednesday

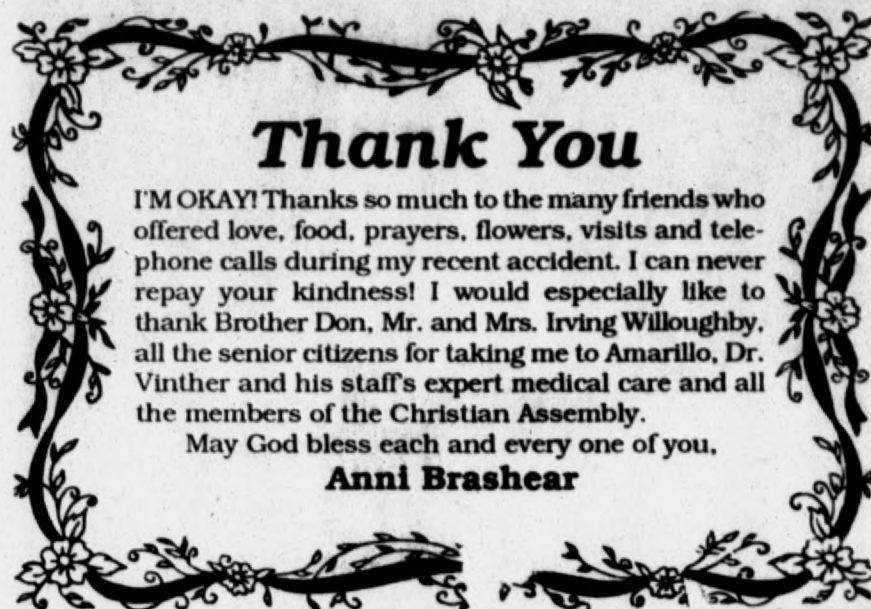

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and Ladies Auxiliary will present a special Loyalty Day program on Wednesday, May 1, at 7 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

A wreath will be placed at the Veterans Memorial in the circle in front of the VFW Post Home. The wreath will honor all veterans who have served in the military and in memory of all who died in service, especially for Roy Wederbrook, for whom Post #4818 is named.

A flag raising, prayer and short patriotic program is scheduled outside. Refreshments will be served inside the post home with a showing of a film on Satanism by Officer Terry Brown.

The first record of the use of spices dates from the age of the pyramids of Egypt—approximately 4,600 years ago when onions and garlic were fed to 100,000 laborers.

Once upon a time, superstitious travelers who believed that they lost their way because of a fairy's spell would break it by turning a piece of their clothing inside out and burning it.

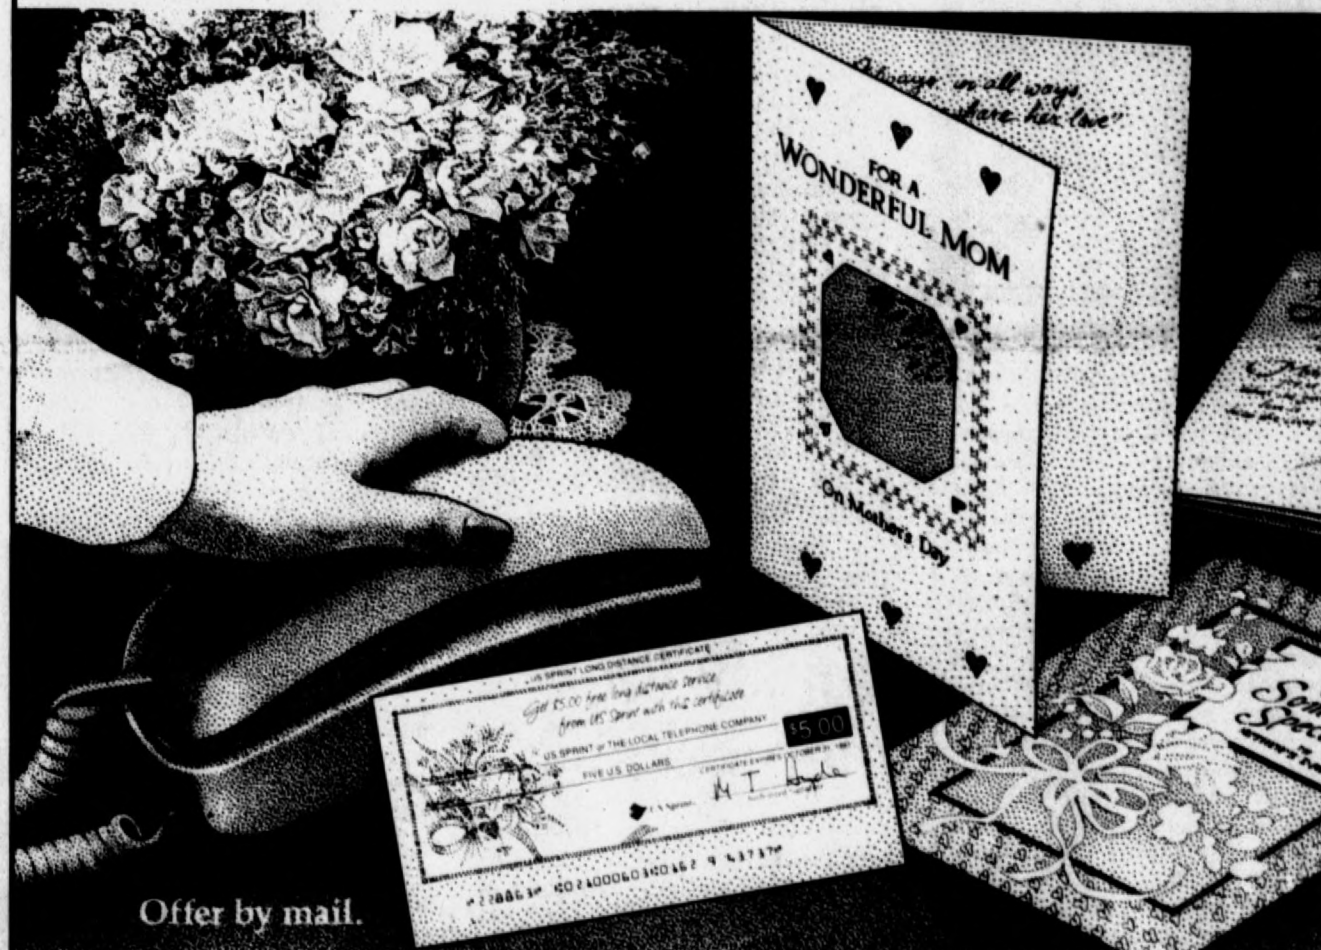

Thank You

I'M OKAY! Thanks so much to the many friends who offered love, food, prayers, flowers, visits and telephone calls during my recent accident. I can never repay your kindness! I would especially like to thank Brother Don, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Willoughby, all the senior citizens for taking me to Amarillo, Dr. Vinther and his staff's expert medical care and all the members of the Christian Assembly.

May God bless each and every one of you.

Anni Brashear

This Mother's Day offer from Hallmark has everyone talking.

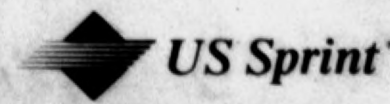

Offer by mail.

Get $5 Free long distance service from US Sprint with any $5 Hallmark purchase. Even if you're not a Sprint customer.

This year, your Mother's Day could have a special ring to it. Here's all you have to do.

- Just make any $5.00 Hallmark purchase at a participating store and pick up your special redemption envelope. Mail it to Hallmark with proof of your purchase and, in a few weeks, you'll receive your $5.00 Certificate from US Sprint good for long distance service.
- If you're a Sprint customer, go ahead and make your long distance call(s) as you normally would.
- If you're not a Sprint customer, you can still access the nationwide, crystal-clear fiber-optic network by dialing 10333, then 1 plus the area code and telephone number. This call won't affect your normal long distance service in any way.
- The cost of your call(s) will appear on your regular phone bill. Enclose the $5.00 Certificate when you pay that bill and it will be applied just like cash.

This offer is limited to one per household and your purchase must be made by Mother's Day, May 12. So, visit your participating Hallmark store today. If you have questions, call 1-800-736-1138.

Kahlich, Maupin wedding vows spoken

MRS. CHAD MAUPIN
...nee Tricia Kahlich

Tricia Kay Kahlich and Chadrick Odell Maupin, both of Amarillo, were united in marriage early Friday evening in St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Hereford. Officiating was Monsignor Orville Blum of the church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kahlich of Route 3, Hereford, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Maupin of 301 Western St.

The church sanctuary was decorated with candelabra, greenery and purple and white bows. The main altar was adorned with bouquets of white gladioli, purple mini lilies and phlox. The white unity candle was nestled in English ivy and purple and pink flowers. Pews were marked by purple and white bows.

Jeanette Tice was matron of honor and Kyle Andrews of Amarillo was best man.

Bridesmaids included Kamille Martin of Hereford and Amy Conway of Austin and groomsmen were Garre Lowrance of Amarillo and Billy Seiver of Friona.

Guests were escorted by Chris

Kahlich of Amarillo, Mike Butcher of Umbarger, Billy Peters of Alanreed and Troy Rodgers of Channing.

The bride's nephews, Glenn and Phillip Kahlich, sons of Chris and Laurie Kahlich of Amarillo, served as ring bearers, and lighting candles were the bride's brother, Chris Kahlich, and the bridegroom's cousin, Billy Peters.

Vocalists, Eddie Boyd and Ernie Boyd of Amarillo, sang "Ave Maria," "Song of Ruth," "The Lord's Prayer" and "Two Candles", accompanied by pianist, Carolyn Evers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white satin formal-length gown with an attached cathedral-length train. It was fashioned with a V-shaped Sabrina neckline of beaded alencon lace and the molded satin bodice was designed with a front panel of beaded lace. Clusters of hanging pearls decorated the bodice and the deep V-shape back bodice was accented with four pearl strands. The long satin sleeves were adorned with lace cutouts. The softly gathered satin skirt fell from a basque waistline and was marked at the back with a decorated bustle. The skirt was edged with schiffli lace as was the train.

The fingertip-length pouf veil was attached to the back of a narrow forehead band of pearls and featured side sprays of fabric flowers and pearls.

She carried a free-flowing arrangement of white roses, stargazer lilies, delphinium, forget-me-nots, honeysuckle and English ivy with purple accents.

In keeping with bridal tradition, the bride wore her great-grandmother's wedding ring as something old; bridal attire, something new; her mother's earrings, something borrowed; and a blue garter. As good luck, she placed a penny in her shoe depicting her birthdate.

Bridal attendants wore tea-length purple taffeta dresses fashioned with scooped necklines, basque waistlines and tapered elbow-length sleeves. Each was also created with a low scooped back, crisscrossed straps and a large bow at the gown's back. They carried bouquets of purple petunias, pink and white phlox and English ivy.

Nikki Self of Amarillo invited guests to register at the reception held at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

The bride's sisters, Phyllis Cornelius and Suzanne Butcher, and Jill Johnson served cake. Punch and coffee were poured by the bride's sister-in-law, Laurie Kahlich, and the groom's cousins, Rusty Bawcom and April Peters.

Others assisting in the houseparty included Nan Conway, Betty Martin, Loretta Urbanczyk and Tina Langehennig.

The wedding cake was decorated with purple, pink and white silk flowers and was placed on a table holding crystal and silver candelholders, a crystal and silver punch bowl and a coffee service.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M. They will make their home in Amarillo.

The bride graduated from Hereford High School in 1988 and attended Tarleton State University in Stephenville. She is currently a computer information systems major at West Texas State University. She is employed with the Boyd Agency in Amarillo.

The groom, a 1989 HHS graduate, attended Tarleton State University and Amarillo College. He is presently employed at Corporate Systems in Amarillo.

Out-of-town wedding guests represented Slaton, Amarillo, Channing, Adrian, Wellington and Arizona.

Red Cross Update

BY BETTY HENSON

A lifeguarding class will begin Tuesday, May 14, at 6 p.m. at Ruskins Pool in Dimmitt. Laura Carter will be the instructor. Class schedules will be announced at the first meeting. Books will cost $10.25 and are available at the Red Cross office. For further information, call 364-5096 after 4 p.m. or 364-3761.

A first aid instructor class will be held Saturday, May 4, from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. at the Red Cross office. Ronny Sanders will be the instructor trainer for the class and can be contacted at 364-8886 or 364-7556 for further information.

The Red Cross office will be closed Friday, May 10. Emergency assistance will be available by calling the telephone numbers on the answering machine at the office. The office will be open as regularly scheduled the following week.

A CPR video has been lost. Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the video is asked to call the Red Cross office.

Appreciation is extended to the Elks Lodge for the donation of $250 for the safety equipment program.

A disaster training day is set for all day Saturday, June 22. Everyone interested in helping in a disaster is welcome to attend.

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

Residents qualify for membership

AUSTIN--Seventeen insurance agents in the Amarillo area, including Charles Bell and B.J. Gililand of Hereford, have qualified for 1991 membership in the Texas Leaders Round Table, an honor organization recognizing outstanding achievement in the life and health insurance and related financial services industry.

Membership in TLRT is a career milestone for life underwriters who must meet strict professional and ethical requirements as well as achieve successful sales records and render continuous service to clients.

Breast screening clinic set

A breast cancer screening program sponsored by the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital of Amarillo will be held in Hereford on Friday, May 24, from 10 a.m.-2:30 p.m. at the South Plains Health Care Providers, Inc., 603 East Park.

Exams are done by appointment only. Funding is available through the Texas Cancer Council for screening mammography for Texas residents qualifying for financial assistance.

Early detection of breast cancer is the major goal of cancer control for each woman seen in the clinic. The clinic provides low cost screening which includes a breast exam by a registered nurse trained in breast cancer detection, teaching of breast self examination, and a mammogram.

Currently, the most effective method known to win the battle against breast cancer is early detection. Early detection is best done by following the guidelines recommended by the American Cancer Society for breast cancer screening for women who have no signs or symptoms of breast cancer. The guidelines are:

- * Learn and perform breast self examination every month.
- * Have a physical examination every year
- * Have a mammogram according to the recommendations by age
- Age 35-40--one baseline mammogram
- Age 40-50--a mammogram every one to two years
- Over 50--Yearly mammograms

For more information about the clinic or to make an appointment, call the Harrington Cancer Center at the toll free number, 1-800-274-HOPE (4673). Locally, for more information, contact the clinic at 364-7688.

Smoke smells will dissipate when a cold, wet towel (wrung out) is swished around the room.

MY STUDENTS

This week I would like to brag about my students here at school. They are talented and dedicated to establishing careers in cosmetology and are enthusiastic about all the customer work we can provide for them. Unfortunately, a few potential customers are a bit reluctant to help students apply their talents. We are governed by stringent state laws! We can not allow any student on the floor with a patron until they are qualified well beyond the basics! And then only under the strict supervision of our instructors! Yes they do take a little more time, but I have seen many beautiful hair styles and smiling faces go out my doors. Our students at LaPlata Beauty School are dedicated to the profession of cosmetology. They are tomorrow's professionals! The student that styles your hair is well qualified and supervised at all times. We are located at 921 E. 1st or Call 364-4571

Good luck Mona

Gonzalez, Bosquez vows exchanged

Maria Imelda Gonzalez of Hereford became the bride of David Bosquez of Lubbock during a mid-afternoon ceremony Saturday, April 13, in San Jose Catholic Church of Hereford. Officiating for the marriage was Father Darryl Birkenfeld.

The bride is the daughter of Leonel and Susana Gonzalez of 212 Catalpa and the bridegroom is the son of Luther and Ramona Bosquez of Lubbock.

The bride's sister, Janie Gonzalez of El Paso, served as maid of honor and best man was Stacy Bridges of Lubbock.

Madras included several cousins of the bride: Lorrie Ann Garcia of Hereford, Emma Lee Briggs of McAllen and Suzi Jackson of Hereford. Also, were Elizabeth Gonzalez of Amarillo, Alice Morin of Lubbock, Deya Gonzalez of Hereford, Ann Garcia of Houston, Aurora Jackson of Hereford, Irasema Carrillo of El Paso and Christy Gonzalez of Hereford.

Serving as padrinos were Micheal Gutierrez of Midland; Noel Gonzales of Lubbock, the bride's brother; Jerry Jackson of Pharr, Texas, the bride's cousin; and Ramior Gonzalez of Amarillo, David Morin of Lubbock, Leonel Gonzalez Jr. of Hereford, Edward Bosquez of Austin, Juan Jackson of Hereford, Herbert Carrillo of El Paso and Uriel Gonzalez of Hereford.

Flower girls were Andrea Garcia, daughter of Rosa Garcia of Lubbock, and Clarissa Guzman of Wichita Falls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Guzman of Burk Burnett, Texas. Train bearers were Kathy Rios, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blas Rios of McAllen, and Laurena Guzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Guzman.

Candles were lit by Anissa Gonzalez of McAllen and Efram Gonzalez of Amarillo.

Raul Guerrero vocalized "Here and Now" and a duet was performed by Rudy and Dina Ramirez entitled "Anos De Compromiso."

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length white satin designer's gown. It was fashioned with an elegant wedding band collar which enhanced the sheath bodice covered in French lace embellished with miniature seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The long tapered sleeves repeated the same embellishment of pearls and sequins. The gown was designed with an open keyhole back adorned by hanging pearls which complimented the keyhole design. The sheath skirt was accented by an elegant cathedral-length train of satin trimmed in lace.

The single layer bridal illusion veil and pearlized pouf were gathered to the back of a headpiece crown designed on a pearl beaded headband that came to a point on the forehead. It was accented by a single front drop pearl. The back of the veil was complimented by dropped pearls entwined with swirls of silk stephanotis.

She carried an all-white bouquet trimmed with delicate pearl sprays.

In keeping with bridal tradition, the bride wore her sister's pearl earrings as something borrowed and a pearl and sapphire ring as something old.

Clara Jackson of Hereford invited guests to register at the reception held in the San Jose Church hall.

The bride's cake was served by Alicia Jackson of Pharr, Oralia Galindo of Hereford and Mrs. Ralph Jackson of Donna, Texas. The groom's cake was served by Mary Vasquez of San Antonio and Adela Bosquez of Austin.

The couple left for a wedding trip to San Antonio.

The bride, a 1986 graduate of Hereford High School, is a May candidate for graduation from West Texas State University.

The groom, a 1984 graduate of Coronado High School, plans to graduate this fall from Texas Tech University. He is employed for Frito Lay.

Out-of-town guests represented Pharr, Texas, McAllen, San Antonio, Bryan, Texas, Ducanville, Texas, Bryan, Dallas, and Hillsboro, Texas.

MRS. DAVID BOSQUEZ

YOUR EYES

MACULAR DEGENERATION

The macula is the point of the retina where the light rays meet. If that is damaged, the central area of vision will seem to be blurred or fuzzy. Macular degeneration can occur to almost anyone, but this is usually a disease associated with the elderly. Although it may not cause total blindness, the condition does make near visual tasks difficult and often impossible to perform.

Testing for macular degeneration -- an important part of a complete eye examination -- the optometrist will utilize certain diagnostic tools. One involves a chart composed of a grid of lines. If the lines appear wavy or distorted, or contain blank spots, macular degeneration may be the cause. Another test will determine if the patient can still distinguish colors.

What can be done? The damage done by macular degeneration cannot be reversed, but low vision aids and magnifiers, prescribed by the optometrist, can help some of those affected to see better.

Between the Covers

BY REBECCA WALLS

James A. Michener's new book The Novel is a suspenseful contemporary story about people involved in writing and publishing. The list of characters include a novelist, Lukas Yoder; his editor, a critic and a reader. The setting is the town of Dresden in a Pennsylvania Dutch country, and in New York.

Lukas is a novelist with a long and successful literary career. He has written his final book and looking forward to retirement when his community is stricken with a mysterious and violent tragedy. Preoccupied by the violent incident Lukas feels drawn to write a new kind of fiction.

Inside the frantic world of publishing, Yoder's editor fights for survival when her own career, as well as Yoder's, is threatened by the publishing firm's possible take over by another corporation. The critic, who teaches literature at a college near Dresden, must come to terms with his feelings toward Yoder's success and his own ambitions to write. But it is a devoted reader who helps Yoder solve the frightening questions that surround the mysterious events that are brutalizing the small community.

In Aspen Gold, Janet Daily takes us to the beautiful and breathtaking terrain of Aspen Colorado, where we meet Kit Masters. Kit was born and raised on an Aspen ranch where she was taught to ride horses and hunt by her father, while her mother instilled the love of music, ballet and the theater.

As a young woman Kit leaves Aspen to pursue an acting career in Hollywood. Now after years of bit parts Kit gets a break with a really big part, the lead role in a movie. She will be playing opposite the famous actor-producer, and ladies man John Travis.

The movie will be filmed in the beautiful Colorado city of Aspen. Kit hasn't been back to Aspen since her fathers death, but upon her return she encounters Tom Bannon, the handsome rancher-lawyer she had left behind. Kit has secretly loved Tom all her life and was devastated when he married someone else. Upon her return, Kit discovers that Tom's wife has died and they soon rediscover the romance they once had. Kit, unspoiled by her newfound success, maintains a strong sense of family, loyalty and integrity with deep ties to the land she still considers home.

Life becomes more complicated when John Travis begins his pursuit of Kit and she must decide what and who she wants for her future. Who does she really love? What will the future hold if she lets go of the home, the land and the bedrock of her family? Can she really obtain the happiness she sees within her grasp?

Elizabeth Adler weaves saga and mystery together in The Property of a Lady. An auction catalog announces the sale of "a large, fine emerald, 45 carats, flawless," identified only as "the property of a lady." Within hours the international power brokers of all kinds are buzzing with excitement about the pending sale in Geneva.

In Moscow and Washington, highly placed officials believe the magnificent stone could be part of the fabulous Ivanoff treasure, last seen in the tiara of a Russian princess thought to have been killed during the Bolshevik Revolution. With vital interest the Soviet Union and the United States are carefully monitoring the sale.

Genie Reese, an ambitious American TV reporter is also covering the auction and trying to determine if the rumors about the origin of the gem is true. Meanwhile Missie O'Brien, an old woman in a Maryland nursing home, follows the news reports.

Missie knows all the Ivanoff secrets and is ready to reveal them as well as her hidden past. Genie finds herself trapped in a place where the balance of power between great nations is at stake. The mystery behind the emerald and the identity of the unknown "Lady" is disclosed.

LESLIE CANISLER, CRAIG JONES

Wedding date set

Leslie Denise Canisler of Amarillo and Brandon Craig Jones of Broken Arrow, Okla. will marry June 29 in St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Amarillo.

Miss Canisler graduated from Hartley High School and attended West Texas State University. She is presently employed with Judith A. Glenn, certified public accountant in Amarillo.

The bride-elect's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charlie L. Canisler of Hartley and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Betty Jones of Hereford and the late Lee W. Jones.

Jones, a 1984 graduate of Hereford High School, received a bachelor of science degree in business from WTSU. He is the division manager of U.S.T. Sales and Marketing in Tulsa, Okla.

June wedding planned

Jennifer Elaine Borman of Hereford and Edward Cantu Jr. of Camp Pendleton, San Diego, Calif. plan to be united in marriage June 1 at St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

The bride-elect is the daughter of J.W. and Cecelia Borman of Route 1, Hereford, and the prospective bridegroom is the son of Irene and Eddie Cantu Sr. of Amarillo.

Miss Borman, a 1990 graduate of Hereford High School, is employed at Pro-med Pharmacy in Amarillo.

Cantu, also a 1990 HHS graduate, is serving in the Marine Corps in Camp Pendleton.

Rediscover simple life

There's nothing quite like the great outdoors seen through the awe-struck eyes of a child. And there's no one quite like Grandma and Grandpa to share it with.

More and more grandparents today are discovering the joys of traveling with their grandchildren -- seeing the country (again, for the first time) and sharing the great outdoors.

Listed are a few suggestions for a successful camping trip.

* Get ready together--Talk to the children about where you'll be going, what you'll be doing, and how long you will be gone. Allow them to take along a few of their favorite playthings, anything that can fit into their own personal backpacks.

* Make it easy on yourself--Select a campground with comforts--hot showers, convenience stores, recreational facilities, swimming pools, even hot tubs and saunas are available at many of today's private campgrounds. Once you're there, share in the chores.

Settlers day reunion May 25

Floyd County will be celebrating Old Settlers Day Reunion at Floydada on May 25. A parade, barbecue lunch, art and crafts show and much more entertainment is scheduled for the event.

Spaces are available for the arts and crafts booths. If interested, contact Dar Lee Foster at Route 1, Box 170, Lockney, Texas 79241 or call 652-3824.

BRANDED Women

By Sandy Stagner

After years of trying to figure out what all the hoopla is about concerning proper diet and regular exercise, I have finally given up the quest. It's a bunch of bull.

Since January my husband and I have eaten nutritious meals, practically eliminating refined sugars and fats from our diets, instead substituting all those yucky green leafy vegetables, chicken and fish, wholewheat bread, skim milk, tofu and mega minerals and vitamins. Sure, we have lost weight, but, speaking for myself, I certainly don't feel any healthier. If anything, I'm weak, grouchy and in bad need of a sugar fix.

The only person that has kept me consistently on my "healthy" diet and gives me constant encouragement is not an employee at one of the dieting centers nor at a health food store. She is the lady checker at Moore's Jack 'n' Jill. Mary Kay, bless her heart, sees me walking into the store early on Saturday mornings drooling at all the wonderful goodies trying to "jump" into my grocery cart. She sees me eyeing the powdered sugar coated donuts, the bags of chocolate Hershey Kisses and the Keebler's Fig Newtons.

If I have managed (with much willpower) to continue on to the frozen food section without filling my cart with junk food, my mouth waters as I gaze longingly (and lovingly) at the ice cream selection and Sara Lee pastries. I stand there a few minutes wondering what I should do. I could easily down a pint of ice cream on the way home and my family would never know I cheated on my diet. But common sense prevails and I finally arrive at the checkout counter.

Knowing the mental agony I am experiencing, the first thing Mary Kay greets me with is, "Sandy, you are looking terrific (what a lie, but I appreciate it anyway). Looks like you have lost another five or 10 pounds. You are doing great, keep it up!" The woman is a saint in my eyes. She's done more for me in my endeavor to lose weight than the $2,000 worth of advice and products I have purchased from numerous diet businesses that I have frequented the past five years.

However, regardless of the weight I have lost, and the big "rush" I get when I can now purchase dresses in sizes 7 or 9, my body still longs for pure, unadulterated sugars and fats coursing through my veins.

Knowing that dieting isn't everything to achieving good health, I also began an exercise program several months ago. Yes, I actually broke a sweat one night while pedaling away on the exercise bicycle. (Scared the heck out of me. I never sweat even when I'm nervous.) The experience was simply horrendous. I thought I was having a heart attack! Although I had been closely monitoring my heart rate just like my medical book stressed to do, when I finished riding I took my pulse. Oh my gosh, it was like 150 beats per minute. I was scared to death. My husband would have to call the paramedics at any moment. On my death certificate the physician would write, "She died from sweating." How tacky!

Now, you are probably thinking, why don't I take a brisk walk several times a week instead. Yuck! I hate walking. It's boring, it's tiring and there is no place to walk. If I walk at the track, I get dizzy from going around in circles and if I walk on the streets, these stupid little dogs either try to bite me or sniff me mercilessly.

To combat the boredom of walking, I have taken along a companion but my friend gets irritated because I have to stop every two minutes to sit on the curb and rest. I've also tried listening to my Walkman playing some exhilarating Beatle tunes like "Twist and Shout" or "Shake It Up Baby." It didn't work either. Instead of a fast paced walk, I found myself unconsciously dancing and prancing around in the streets nearly getting run over. Who needs all this aggravation?

At last, my husband came upon a solution to my exercise dilemma. If I wasn't going to jump rope, do aerobics, walk or ride a bike, he'd buy me one of those hydraulic stair stepping machines. Hey, this sounded easy and fun. I'd just get on that sucker for a few minutes every night while watching television or reading and watch the pounds melt away. HA! HA!

Friday night, John lugged this big box in the livingroom and began assembling this strange contraption. When he finished, he said we had a "state-of-the-art" exercise machine. It is designed with this little digital box attached to the handlebars to monitor the number of strokes you do, the calories you work off, the pressure you exert on the pedals, your heart rate, etc. I was excited, this would be my saving grace. I'd be looking like Cheryl Tiegs by the end of the summer. (I've got a big imagination!)

To get into the exercise mood, I rummaged through my dresser draws and found my old leotard, matching tights, headband and aerobic shoes. Except for some unsightly bulges that followed me around wherever I went, I looked kind of cute--a vision in pink and aqua. I was psyched out.

I turned on some good "boogying" music to ready myself for my "exercise program." I set the "mode" for 20 minutes, turned a knob for the slowest pedal resistance and started. Holy cow, this was insane. I had only been stepping up and down for one minute and my legs felt like they were going to fall off from the intense pain shooting through my thighs and calves. My heart rate had reached 120 beats.

I slumped heavily on the handlebars as I tried to regain some semblance of normal breathing before literally crawling to the bed to lie down for an hour. (In truth, I think I had to stay in bed the remainder of the weekend.) Not only did I NOT feel invigorated, I did NOT even feel I was still alive. So, once again, I emphatically and loudly scream, "I HATE DIETING and I LOATHE EXERCISING." I'm a couch potato pure and simple.

Some people yearn for knowledge, I yearn for a four-hour black and white movie, a couple of pieces of cherry cheesecake and a 36-24-36 inch figure. Somehow, these things don't go hand-in-hand. Okay, I'll settle for 40-40-40 physique and just enjoy the lackadaisical lifestyle that I have become accustomed to.

Anyone need pink and aqua leotards and tights? They are just taking up needed space in my drawers.

Registration planned

Northwest Primary School and the Northwest P.T.A. will have a kindergarten orientation and registration from 1:30-2:30 p.m. Thursday, May 9, at the school campus.

All children who will be five years of age by Sept. 1, 1991, and who live in the Northwest School District, are encouraged to come, accompanied by a parent. A parent must be present in order to register their child.

Parents must bring immunization records, a birth certificate, their child's social security number and two emergency phone numbers.

LAURA RODRIGUEZ, EDDIE LAFUENTE

Couple to wed

Laura Rodriguez and Eddie Lafuente, both of Amarillo, plan to exchange wedding vows June 8 in St. Thomas of the Apostle Church in Amarillo.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Juan Luis Rodriguez and Alicia Rodriguez of Hereford. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mary Lafuente of Amarillo and Alex Diaz, also of Amarillo.

Miss Rodriguez is a 1986 graduate of Hereford High School and attended West Texas State University where she was a member of the Mexican-American Association. She is currently employed at First National Bank of Amarillo.

Lafuente is a 1986 graduate of Canyon High School. He is an international hair stylist for The Plants in Amarillo. He is a member of the National Cosmetology Association and the Lone Star Styles Committee.

Improve eating habits

If the air conditioning were turned off in the Houston Astrodome, the entrance of warm humid air could cause it to rain in the stadium.

Eating habits are learned behavior that can be changed. Here are some ideas that make it easier to improve eating behavior and follow guidelines for better health.

Substitute healthy foods and beverages for those high in fat, salt and alcohol. When possible, don't keep foods that should be avoided at home.

Eat slowly, concentrate on and appreciate the flavor and texture of foods.

Patronize restaurants that serve healthy food or will prepare food as requested.

Bring wholesome meals or snacks from home when you go somewhere that does not provide nutritious food.

Be aware of advertisements promoting foods and beverages that are not otherwise wanted or needed or which should be avoided.

At parties, eat and drink healthy foods and beverages, but concentrate on socializing. Strike up a conversation, dance, participate in a game. Don't stand near the food or bar.

Join groups that do not emphasize eating and drinking. Cultivate hobbies like knitting, stamp collecting or gardening.

Ambulance gets new look

The ambulance that was purchased in 1988, right, an advanced life support unit, came with a basic white paint job. Now, both ambulances operated by Hereford EMS have the same markings, thanks to Easley Trailers and Mel Reyes.

Easley trailers gives new look to ambulance

The emergency services provided by Deaf Smith General Hospital are among the most important, and certainly the most used, of all the medical services of the hospital. The service operates 24 hours a day, with three ambulances and nine emergency medical technicians.

The ambulance that was purchased in 1988, an advance life support unit, came with a basic white paint job, a savings of $1,800. Now, both ambulances operated by Hereford EMS have the same markings, thanks to Easley Trailers. Paul Easley, owner of the company, said, "While we're known for the best-built working ranch trailer on the market, we're also proud of our support of the community. We wanted to do something for the hospital and giving the 1988 vehicle the same physical look as the 1990 unit was a way we could contribute. Mel Reyes did the actual painting."

L.V. Watts, director of Hereford EMS, said, "During the month of March, we had 101 calls and 78 pickups. Both units do a lot of running and we need to let people in the area know that these are DSGH units, that we're staying busy in their behalf. The 1990 unit is our first-out unit, an ICU unit; together, the two units provide excellent service to the community."

Community support is essential to the success of any rural hospital, according to Raymond Schroeder, DSGH board president. "People like Easley, who have built businesses here, are particularly aware of the need for good quality health care from the local hospital. His contribution is not only the physical act of painting the ambulance, but the idea that he supports what we're doing here. We need more of that philosophy from the community," he said.

Americans spend about $400 million on razor blades a year.

Plastics save energy

Plastics are made from crude oil and natural gas--sources of energy. Yet plastics actually help save energy in the long run. Here's how:

* Studies conducted by the U.S. Department of Energy, among others, show that many plastic products require less total energy to produce than equivalent products made with other materials.

* Plastics are lighter than their alternatives, so plastic products and packaging require less fuel to transport.

* Plastics in automotive parts allow for more aerodynamic and lightweight designs, improving automobiles' fuel efficiency.

* Plastics are lighter than their alternatives, so plastic products and packaging require less fuel to transport.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from "California Mom" whose 17-year-old son was disgusted with super-aggressive, sex-crazy girls.

We have changed our phone number three times to get rid of the girls who pestered the daylights out of our sons. The boys are 15 and 16. During the Christmas holidays a girl phoned from the Bahamas where she was vacationing with her parents. The call came at midnight and awakened the entire household. My son said, "I was asleep and you woke me up. Don't you have any sense?" and hung up. She called back immediately to yell at him. He took the phone off the hook. In the old days mothers warned their daughters about boys who were out for all they could get. Today, it's the boys who need protection. -- Fresno Mom

DEAR FRESNO: The mail on this subject was eye-popping. Take a look:

FROM INDIANAPOLIS: When our third son was born a friend said to me, "You are lucky to have boys instead of girls. You don't have to worry about them getting pregnant." What a joke. We worry instead about our sons getting herpes, genital warts and maybe AIDS from girls who are plain out of control. I've found notes in my 16-year-old son's pockets that made me blush.

Planning committee to meet

The graduation class of 1941 will have a planning meeting Wednesday, May 1, at 7 p.m. at the Caison House Restaurant.

Plans for the 50th Anniversary celebration includes a pancake supper at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center from 5 p.m.-8 p.m. on Friday, May 24. A special table will be set up for the class at the Mid-Plains Pioneer Day covered dish luncheon on Saturday, May 25. The group will meet at the home of Jeanne Caison during the afternoon. A buffet dinner and program at the Caison House Restaurant will complete the celebration that evening.

The classes of 1940 and 1942 are invited to join the class of 1941 in any or all of the above plans. Reservations will be needed for the buffet dinner. Call 364-1932 or 364-0399.

Members of the class of 1941 who live in the Hereford area are urged to attend to help finalize plans.

MERIDIAN, MISS.: Aggressive girls? You'd better believe it. I can't bring myself to repeat the messages they leave on our answering machine --imitations of orgasms, etc. Our son is only 15.

PALM SPRINGS, CALIF.: I don't know if it's the trash on TV, the movies or what, but by the time the girls in this town get to high school they've done everything in the book. We are sending our 15-year-old son to military school.

WAUSAU, WIS.: Our son, who is 16, was seduced by his 17-year-old cousin last year. She said he "needed to learn" and it would be best if he was taught by a member of the family. This girl lives, eats and breathes soap operas. Small wonder she has such ideas. The daily diet of garbage on TV is sickening.

GREENWICH, CONN.: After reading what several girls wrote in our 16-year-old son's yearbook, we feel like putting him in a cage until he's 21. Apparently, four-letter words are part of their normal vocabulary.

OXNARD, CALIF.: My teen-age son was propositioned by two girls who taped roses with sexy notes to the windshield of his car in the school parking lot. A third girl wrote her phone number on his hand in ink when he was clearing dishes in a fast food place. With this kind of pressure, I worry about how long he can hold out.

HANNIBAL, MO.: I caught a 13-year-old girl throwing pebbles at my son's bedroom window at 1:30 in the morning. Where are the parents of girls like this, I wonder. It's scary.

FLINT, MICH.: Our 16-year-old son has been getting seven and eight letters a week from a 14-year-old girl who lives in Iowa. She puts lipstick kisses all over the envelopes. He has not written to her since October but she won't give up.

International sorority celebrates anniversary

Three Hereford chapters of Beta Sigma Phi, in concert with 12,500 chapters of 250,000 members throughout the world, will celebrate their Founder's Day on April 30.

The Alpha Alpha, Xi Epsilon Alpha, and Alpha Iota Mu chapters will meet on Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Hereford Country Club to observe Founder's Day. The chairman of the celebration is Peggy Hyer. The mistress of ceremonies for the evening will be Ruby Lee. Marge Bell has been selected for the honor of presenting the special message from the International Executive Council of Beta Sigma Phi. Other members taking part in the program are Jan Walser, Barbara Burkhalter, Holly Bixler, Marrie Leverett, Gay Reily, Virginia Jackson, Lynda Brown, Karen Ruland, and Kay Williams.

Awards will be presented during the evening to outstanding chapter members, recognizing them for their sorority and community work. Some local Beta Sigma Phi projects include Big Brothers/Big Sisters, Rape Crisis/Domestic Violence, Operation Good Shepherd, American Cancer Society, and various other projects.

For further information, contact Ruby Lee, president of Beta Sigma Phi City Council at 364-7038 or Linda Rostenberg, editor of The Torch of Beta Sigma Phi, Beta Sigma Phi International, 1800 West 91st Place, Kansas City, Mo. 64114 (816-444-6800).

MINDING YOUR OWN BUSINESS

Don Taylor

Protecting Your Survivors

A man's dying is more the survivor's affair than his own. -- Thomas Mann

Art was a good friend and neighbor. His business was located across the street from ours. We shared tools and swapped advice. Each of us knew we could count on the other for a helping hand.

Although past 60, Art was an energetic man and the picture of good health. I was concerned when the ambulance pulled up in front of his building. I was shocked when I learned that his partner had found him slumped over his workbench, dead of an apparent heart attack.

No one likes to think of dying. Small business owners are usually too busy to even consider the thought. Like my friend Art, they are full of optimism and energy. Their thoughts are often on future successes. Seldom do they consider the inevitable. Then, death comes, often unexpectedly, and the survivors suffer.

Fortunately, in Art's case, there was a happier ending. Art had been a forward-thinking business man. He and his business partner had made provisions for taking care of their business and families. Art's widow was not troubled by business or financial matters.

Good business planning should include considerations for your death and for protecting your survivors. There are several simple steps you can take now to reduce the stress and trauma your loved ones could face.

Urgent Needs

In the event of your death, your survivors will need information. You should make a complete list of important documents and information and place copies in several locations.

The form is unimportant. It can be a simple list or a letter. The key is to provide all of the information as briefly and completely as you can. Here are a few suggestions to get you started:

- Copies of your will, powers-of-attorney and key business documents. Keep the originals of all important papers in a safe place, such as a fire-proof safe, bank safe deposit box or your attorney's office.
- A list with locations of all business bank accounts, retirement accounts, pension plans -- including those from previous employment -- and insurance policies.
- A list with locations of all personal bank accounts, savings certificates, bonds, stocks and other personal assets.
- A complete list of key business contacts. This list should include both the names and telephone numbers for the following: Your company attorney, CPA or tax accountant, bank contacts, including loan and trust officers, insurance agents and representatives, and brokers or other investment advisors.
- Create a list of relevant business documents. Remember to include business and personal financial statements, company papers, such as bylaws, minute books, stock certificates, incorporation papers, partnership agreements and employment agreements.

• Personal papers and documents should make up another list. Include birth certificates, social security numbers and information, military history and documents, marriage certificates, real estate deeds, automobile titles, and mortgage and payment information. Remember to list both company and personal credit cards and travel accounts.

• Be sure to include any living will or life support wishes, as well as organ donation instructions. It might be wise to discuss these items with a medical professional before making a final decision.

• Advising your survivors of burial arrangements is also a good idea. Many funeral directors have planning and prepayment services available.

Keep the information Current

Update the lists annually and discuss the information with your spouse and family. Make certain that each family member knows where the lists are kept, in the event of an emergency. Even simple items, such as the location of spare car and house keys, are important in a crisis.

Like an ounce of prevention, a little planning can provide a lot of protection. Give your loved ones a little peace of mind, and then try and outlive them.

Don Taylor is the director of West Texas State University's Panhandle Small Business Development Center.

Looking Back

Compiled by Kay Crismon from the files of the Hereford Brand

89 YEARS AGO

B. T. Hinton, the confectioner and ice cream and soda dispenser, celebrated the opening of his ice cream parlors last Tuesday evening by inviting everyone to come in and initiate the new resort by partaking of ice cream or soft drink "on the house."

As there are now a number of fast bicycles and bicyclists in Hereford it strikes us that steps should be taken to construct a race track here. The cost for such an enterprise would be nominal and it would afford an excellent place of amusement and recreation for our "scorchers," and also for lookers on who enjoy feats of strength, endurance and speed. Think it over, boys.

Rat Jowell, one of Hereford's young breeders of registered whitefaces, returned Wednesday from Amarillo.

John Boyd, agent for the "Thistle" bicycles, reports the sale of two more of these excellent make of wheels.

75 YEARS AGO

When Dr. DeGrand had a hurry-up call the other night about midnight and hurried out to get his car, he was surprised to find his garage empty. After hunting sometime, he found his car over in another part of town. A couple of town boys had taken it for a joy ride. They are now getting free board from the county, awaiting court.

Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Taylor are the proud parents of a son, born May 2, 1916.

Beginning Monday, May 1, 1916, the banks of Hereford will close at 3 p.m., each afternoon during the summer months. Please govern yourselves accordingly.

What men want is not talent, it is purpose: not the power to achieve but the will to labor.

We are beginning to think that the months of the year have been mixed by the way the feel of winter has been in the air.

50 YEARS AGO

Deaf Smith County dairy farmers were this week urged to attend the annual dairy show to be held in Plainview on May 6-10.

The Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company held its sixth annual cooking school here Monday and Tuesday, under the direction of Miss Anna Belle Hickman, home economist for the Westinghouse Company. Approximately 70 ladies attended the school which was held at the Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. James Gandy and daughter of Wyche, visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Oglesby, Sunday.

Chicken Dinner, 40 cents, sponsored by Glee Club, Saturday, May 3, at Ireland Building.

Postmaster J.R. Lipscomb today announced that U.S. Savings Bonds and Postal Savings Stamps are going on sale at the Hereford post office. The defense savings bonds will be a major part of the program to make America impregnable.

Now days they have a special week for almost everything you can name, and it would certainly be appropriate to list the week of "April 28-May 3" as "Smile Week" in Hereford. After the slow rains it is hard to find anyone with a frown.

25 YEARS AGO

Barbara Zinzer and John Perrin were honored as "Outstanding Seniors" at the annual Hereford High School Junior-Senior Banquet Saturday night.

Bravo Smokes, Inc. will stage an open house here this afternoon to display its completely revamped factory following extensive changes since its initial opening in November.

Newly-elected officers for the Hereford High School student body are Tony Malouf, Bob Gentry, Gerald Witkowski and Patricia Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hund are the parents of a daughter, Patricia Ann, born April 28. She weighed 9 lbs. 3 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Frye are the parents of a daughter, Sandra Von, born April 29. She weighed 6 lbs. 9 ozs.

Mr. and Mrs. James E. Sims are the parents of a son, Tommy Wayne, born April 27. He weighed 9 lbs. 2 ozs.

10 YEARS AGO

Hereford High School principal Ron Geyer announced he would be leaving the local school system and will submit his formal resignation effective June 30.

Mayor Bartley Dowell signed a proclamation declaring May 3-9 as Clean Air Week in Hereford.

Sue Caudill, daughter of Bill and Elyse Smith, former Hereford residents, and her husband, John, and daughter Janet, recently were filmed in front of a live audience on ABC's Family Feud.

Tim Ruland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Ruland, was chosen to lead the McMurry College band next fall.

Darla Stone, wife of Johnny Stone, was named "Mother of the Year" recently during Young Mother's Study Club meeting held in the Hereford State Bank Friendship Room.

5 YEARS AGO

J.W. Dickerson, mechanical engineer at Deaf Smith General Hospital, explained that the hospital is taking existing space in the hospital and remodeling it to get more use out of the building.

Hereford High School's Stephanie Thomas qualified for the state class AAAAA girl's track meet by placing second at the regional meet Friday in Lubbock.

For her achievements in business, Cherry Peach was elected Woman of the Year by Top O' Texas Chapter of the American Business-Women's Association in Amarillo.

Jim Hillwig and Tim Inman each placed second in events in the eighth grade boy's division of the district meet last Saturday in Clovis.

Dustin Lewis of Hereford placed fourth in the tumbling event at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA gymnastics meet last Saturday, and also placed first in the trampoline competition, in a division for five-year-olds.

1 YEAR AGO

Carrie Skelton, Zack Walker, and Jeri Ann Parker will participate in the State UIL Academic Meet this weekend at the University of Texas in Austin.

Mike Moon was given special recognition during the recent Big Brothers/Big Sisters Volunteer Banquet held in the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church. Moon, who is moving from Hereford, has served as a BB/BS board member for eight years.

Soil Stewardship Week observed through May 5

Soil Stewardship Week proclaimed
Bill Walden, right, chairman of the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District, looks on as Deaf Smith County Judge Tom Simons proclaims the week of April 28-May 5 as Soil Stewardship Week in Deaf Smith County.

"As You Sow" is the theme of National Soil and Water Stewardship Week, being observed today through May 5. The week has been proclaimed throughout the county by Deaf Smith County Judge Tom Simons.

Suggesting that everyone can help care for our earth's environment by looking for things to do right outside their doorway, the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District is encouraging local churches, organizations and individuals to join the nationwide observance.

The local conservation district, which works throughout the year on soil and water conservation measures, is one of nearly 3,000 conservation districts nationwide that work with the National Association of Conservation Districts to encourage greater resource stewardship through the annual observance.

Bill Walden, chairman of the Tierra Blanca SWCD, said he hopes the week will help everyone realize that their own actions (good or bad) will reap results (good or bad) on the environment. "By taking positive environmental steps, as simple as planting a tree or reducing pesticide use, every person can be a sower, not just in the fields where food and fiber crops are grown, but in the boarder fields of life," said Walden.

Materials especially designed to convey the 1991 theme are being distributed to local churches who have indicated a willingness to promote this national observance.

This Home Features Three Covered Porches!

UNUSUAL TWO-STORY PLAN HAS PLENTY OF EXTRAS

BY W.D. FARMER, A.I.B.D.

Attention to detail makes this home special! The two-story foyer flows easily into the master suite, formal dining room, and spacious activity room. The activity room includes a large bay window, fireplace with raised hearth, built-in bookcase, wet bar, and access to the back porch, breakfast room, or master bath.

The master bath, which includes a double vanity, garden tub, and separate shower, is unique in that it is accessible from the great room as well as the master bedroom. The master bedroom overlooks the front porch and includes a large walk-in closet.

Also accessible from the great room are the breakfast room and kitchen. The breakfast room overlooks the back porch through a bay window, and the spacious U-shaped kitchen features a convenient work triangle, built-in pantry, and plenty of cabinets. Adjacent to the kitchen are the laundry room, a half bath, and an office or bonus room with built-in bookcase and a closet.

Upstairs, this home has two more bedrooms. Each has a walk-in closet and a dormer nook. Both rooms share a common bath, and the bath has a separate dressing area with double vanity. The bedrooms are joined by a balcony that overlooks the foyer.

This home is designed for a basement foundation. The basement stairs are accessible from the kitchen and lead to a drive-under double garage.

The exterior of the home is enhanced with horizontal siding, matching shuttered windows and doors, three dormers with arch top multi-lite windows, and three plantation or New Orleans style porches. Each porch includes decorative columns and its own staircase.

This is a computer generated plan. The plan is number 3404. It includes 3,469 square feet of heated area. All W.D. Farmer plans include special construction details for energy efficiency and are drawn to meet FHA and VA requirements. For further information, write W.D. Farmer, P.O. Box 450025, Atlanta, GA 30345.

Tips on painting textured ceilings

By POPULAR MECHANICS For AP Newsfeatures

Q. - We are repainting our textured ceiling and we're having a difficult time trying to get an even finish. Are there special considerations to be aware of when doing this type of job?

A. - Yes, there are. Here is some background on this type of ceiling and some tips to help you with your job. Spray-textured ceilings became the most popular ceiling finish about 30 years ago. Early texture materials were odd blends of taping compounds, perlite or vermiculite and whiteners, all mixed with water. The resulting texture finish was a super-porous material that absorbs paint unevenly. It is this porosity and unequal paint absorption that makes textured ceilings difficult to paint when they become soiled.

All spray texture finishes are, even today, mill mixes, meaning they are a mixture of powder ingredients that must be mixed with water. Painting such finishes is about equal to painting a sponge: there is heavy and unequal paint suction. The result is that, if you apply ordinary latex or oil paints, you will see roller marks or lap marks where the paint lies unevenly on the finish.

To overcome this paint suction you must apply a good sealer. Use an alkyd (oil) sealer and apply it with a long-nap roller. The long nap of the roller will reach into the valleys in the texture pattern and insure complete coverage of the sealer.

The easiest way to seal - or to paint - a ceiling is to cover the entire floor with a canvas cloth or tarp. These are available in living-room size for about $30 each, at your local paint store. Buy a roller and extension handle to apply the sealer or paint. Set the roller pan on the floor and dip the roller into the pan, working from the floor with the extension (4-foot) handle. Drape all walls with a masking product such as Tape N' Drape, which has plastic sheets with adhesive along the edges.

Apply a generous coat of sealer, and check the ceiling from several angles. Sighting from various angles will help you detect any missed spots or "holidays" in your sealer or finish coats. Don't remove the plastic wall covering until the ceiling paint is dry; then inspect the job to be sure the coat is even, with no lap or roller marks.

In a house with a crawl space or basement, look for cleanouts under the first floor, either inside or outside the foundation. Long sewer lines also have cleanouts at or just below ground level. Make it a point to know where yours are so you can find them in an emergency.

Squeaky floors problem solved

Q. - We have a problem with squeaky floors in our 50-year-old home and will be tearing up the floor to correct the problem. What can you suggest to insure that the squeaks don't come back?

A. - We suggest that you use 1 5/8-inch-long drywall screws instead of nails to attach the plywood to the joist. Drywall screws don't require pre-drilling a hole and will counter-sink themselves. They hold tighter than nails and won't come loose even if the wood shrinks.

These screws are also used by some contractors on outdoor decks, and we have seen boards stay as tight as when they were attached under conditions where temperatures vary from sub zero to more than 100 degrees F, and the humidity varies from 0 to 100 percent.

name at least thirty (30) days prior to the date of the election, the date being midnight, April 4, 1991, shall have his or her name printed on the ballot. Such person shall designate in the written notice and request to have his or her name placed on the official ballot for the four single member districts which shall be elected by majority vote. A person who does not file such notice and request within this time shall not be entitled to have his or her name printed on the official ballot to be used at the election. The order in which the names appear for the four single member district positions shall be determined by lot; that is, a number representing the name of each of the candidates shall be placed on a slip of paper, and such slip shall be drawn from a receptacle after they have been mixed, and the names shall then be printed on the ballot in which their numbers are drawn. No person shall be elected trustee unless he or she is a qualified voter and a resident of the Hereford Independent School District. No person shall be elected to the position of Single Member District I Trustee unless he or she resides within the boundaries of the single member district at the time of filing for the position. No person shall be elected to the position of Single Member District III Trustee unless he or she resides within the boundaries of the single member district at the time of filing for the position. No person shall be elected to the position of Single Member District IV Trustee unless he or she resides within the boundaries of the single member district at the time of filing for the position. No person shall be elected to the position of Single Member District V Trustee unless he or she resides within the boundaries of the single member district at the time of filing for the position.

The candidate for Single Member District I receiving a majority of the votes cast for all candidates for the position shall be declared elected. If no candidate receives a majority of the votes cast for Single Member District I, then two candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall run against each other for the position. The runoff election shall be held on Saturday, the 25th day of May, 1991, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Absentee voting for the runoff election shall be conducted as set out below except that absentee voting shall take place between May 8, 1991 and May 20, 1991 with the polls to be open the same hours as during the regular election.

The candidate for Single Member District III receiving a majority of the votes cast for all candidates for the position shall be declared elected. If no candidate receives a majority of the votes cast for Single Member District III, then two candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall run against each other for the position. The runoff election shall be held on Saturday, the 25th day of May, 1991, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Absentee voting for the runoff election shall be conducted as set out below except that absentee voting shall take place between May 8, 1991 and May 20, 1991 with the polls to be open the same hours as during the regular election.

The candidate for Single Member District IV receiving a majority of the votes cast for all candidates for the position shall be declared elected. If no candidate receives a majority of the votes cast for Single Member District IV, then two candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall run against each other for the position. The runoff election shall be held on Saturday, the 25th day of May, 1991, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Absentee voting for the runoff election shall be conducted as set out below except that absentee voting shall take place between May 8, 1991 and May 20, 1991 with the polls to be open the same hours as during the regular election.

The candidate for Single Member District V receiving a majority of the votes cast for all candidates for the position shall be declared elected. If no candidate receives a majority of the votes cast for Single Member District V, then two candidates receiving the highest number of votes shall run against each other for the position. The runoff election shall be held on Saturday, the 25th day of May, 1991, between 7:00 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Absentee voting for the runoff election shall be conducted as set out below except that absentee voting shall take place between May 8, 1991 and May 20, 1991 with the polls to be open the same hours as during the regular election.

Absentee voting shall be conducted by David Ruland who is hereby appointed clerk for absentee voting in the election. The place of the absentee voting will be the County Clerk's Office, Deaf Smith County Courthouse, Hereford, Texas. Requests for ballots by mail should be directed in writing to the absentee voting clerk, David Ruland, County Clerk, Deaf Smith County Courthouse, Hereford, Texas, 79045. Absentee voting by personal appearance will begin on the 15th day of April, 1991, and continue through the 30th day of April, 1991, from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on each day which is not a Saturday, Sunday, or official state holiday. This order shall constitute the election order for the call of the election described. The Superintendent of Schools shall post at each of three (3) public places in this District a notice of the election, stating in substance the contents of this election order and the time and place fixed for the election. The Superintendent shall also cause a notice of the election to be published in at least one newspaper not more than thirty nor less than ten days prior to the election. The Superintendent of Schools shall supply to the clerk for absentee voting all necessary ballots, ballot boxes, poll lists, stub box, tally sheets, and other election supplies necessary for holding the election; and shall likewise make provision on the day of the election for the supplies to the polling place for the election judge and her clerks to conduct the election. All election materials including notice of election, ballots, instruction cards, affidavits, and other forms which the voter may be requested to sign, and all absentee voting materials, shall be printed both in English and in Spanish or Spanish translations thereof shall be made available in the circumstances permitted and in the manner required by law. The board of Trustees shall canvass the returns of the election on the 14th day of May, 1991. Said election shall be held in accordance with the Texas Election Code except as modified by the Texas Education Code. Adopted and entered in the minutes of the Board on this the 5th day of February, 1991.

Hallmark tackles Hitchcock in special

An ordinary family finds trouble lurking in their backyard when their long-lost uncle (Mark Harmon, pictured) decides to make himself at home in Shadow of a Doubt, a Hallmark Hall of Fame Presentation airing Sunday on CBS. The thriller is a remake of an Alfred Hitchcock classic.

'Shadow of a Doubt' remade for network TV

Amy Schmidt

Actor Mark Harmon, who played Ted Bundy in the TV miniseries Deliberate Stranger, will once again play a seemingly guileless figure intent on cloaking his devious dark side in CBS' Shadow of a Doubt. The Hallmark Hall of Fame Presentation, a remake of Alfred Hitchcock's 1943 classic, will broadcast Sunday, April 28, on CBS.

Co-starring with Harmon in the nail biter are Margaret Welsh (Mr. and Mrs. Bridge) and Oscar-nominee Diane Ladd (Wild at Heart). Two-time Hitchcock star Tippi Hedren (The Birds and Marnie) makes a special appearance in the telefilm. Joseph Cotten, Teresa Wright and Patricia Collinge starred in the original film 48 years ago.

Shadow of a Doubt is the suspenseful tale about a much-loved uncle who moves to California to live with his sister's family. Ironically, Uncle Charlie's favorite young niece, who is also his namesake, begins to suspect her uncle is not all he appears to be.

The film is said to be Hitchcock's favorite because it deals with evil impinging on the lives of ordinary people. The director took care to choose the details of his films very closely, and in Shadow of a Doubt, this meant things like arranging for black smoke to billow from the train upon which Uncle Charlie makes his fateful ride into town. Notwithstanding, the celluloid genius never won an Oscar for his directing efforts.

Why attempt to remake a classic? That's what Diane Ladd wondered when she was first offered her role. The actress says she wasn't interested in the project until she discovered an opportunity to work with director Karen Arthur. Harmon, on the other hand, loved the idea. "I loved it then, and I love it now," he says.

Emma (Diane Ladd) is unaware of her long-lost brother's dastardly ways.

This is not the first time Shadow of a Doubt has been remade. A less successful version of the film titled Step Down to Terror was released in 1958.

Hallmark, with its impressive 40-year film track record, could conceivably work wonders with the new film. The differences between the 1943 and the 1991 versions? For one, the remake is done in color and in a setting 10 years later than the original. "I wanted to give the picture a different look," says executive producer Norman Rosemont. "Also, Hitchcock shot in black and white, and we're filming in color so it was important we set the picture in a more colorful era." Another difference is that in the remake, Harmon's character is portrayed as seemingly less evil and deceptively more amiable. "Uncle Charlie is really a charmer. He fits into this town," says director Arthur. Similarities include the fact that both movies were filmed on the same street, McDonald Ave., in Santa Rosa, Calif.

J.R. to meet his maker

An angel (guest-star Joel Grey, right) shows J.R. (Larry Hagman) what life in Dallas would have been like without him on the CBS series' final broadcast, Friday. The series comes to a close after 13 seasons.

Cast members reunite for two-hour finale

By Amy Schmidt
TV history will be made Friday, May 3, when the tube's second-longest-running series makes its last go-round. Yes, Dallas, the show that became the model for prime-time soaps like Dynasty, Falcon Crest and Knots Landing, is calling it quits.

CBS is hailing the episode as "the greatest finale in the history of Dallas." More to the point, producers are hoping for "the greatest ratings sweep in the history of Dallas." And they just might get it. Many people may tune in just to see J.R. (actor Larry Hagman) get his due.

In the final episode, a host of the show's former cast members will gather for J.R.'s funeral. They include Linda Gray, Steve Kanaly, Jack Scalia and spin-off Knots Landing stars Ted Shackelford and Joan Van Ark. Conspicuously absent will be Victoria Principal, who said she declined to participate in J.R.'s demise when producers couldn't guarantee the episode would be the show's last — forever.

The only two original cast members who saw the series from beginning to end are Hagman and Ken Kercheval.

Meanwhile, as this group of ex-Dallasites grieves, the notorious J.R. will be careening from heaven to hell accompanied by an angel, guest-star Joel Grey. Grey will show J.R. what life in Dallas would have been like if he'd never been born in the It's a Wonderful Life-type montage.

Dallas, now in its 13th season, premiered April 2, 1978. It reached its peak in the early 1980s when it concluded its 1980 season with the cliffhanger, "Who shot J.R.?" The answer to the mystery made for TV's second-most-watched episode in history. It was actress Mary Crosby, of course, who did the dirty deed. She is also scheduled to appear in the final episode.

Will J.R. go to heaven or to hell? Will Mary Crosby wear black? These are the questions viewers are now asking. "Well, ya don't really know," commented Hagman. "Ya just don't know."

Hearing Loss Is Not a Sign Of Old Age.

Chicago, Ill. -- A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest hearing aid Beltone has ever developed will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.

It's yours for the asking, so send for it now. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. The actual aid weighs less than an eighth of an ounce, and it fits completely into the ear canal.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Although a hearing aid may not help everyone, more and more people with hearing losses are being helped. For your free sample send your name, address, and phone number today to: Beltone Special Offer, PO Box 51266, Amarillo, Tx 79159, Call 1-800-766-4513 Toll Free.

STAR NOTES

Is this really the end of J.R.?

By Kate Ironside

One of the greatest publicity coups in the history of network TV was Dallas' "Who Shot J.R.?" saga. The conclusion to the cliff-hanger on the 1981 season premiere was watched by an astonishing 42 million households across the country. Little did we know J.R. wasn't going to die, but that he would recover to hang around another 10 years.

Larry Hagman was, of course, the man behind the evil Southern villain. A native Texan and the son of actress Mary Martin, Hagman began his career at Dallas' Theatre-in-the-Round. Later he moved to New York and then to England, where he was cast in his mother's big stage hit South Pacific. Eventually he moved back to New York for a series of Broadway and off-Broadway plays and his first television appearance on the daytime soap The Edge of Night.

In 1965, Hagman was launched to stardom as an amiable astronaut in the comedy series I Dream of Jeannie. His subsequent TV series following Jeannie's five-year run include The Good Life, Here We Go Again and Dallas.

With the demise of the 13-season series, Hagman said he can't imagine doing another series, but he has at least three roles waiting: a film biography of the late Texas billionaire H.L. Hunt; a good guy in the European-made film Vendetta, Inc., and a Love Letters co-starring role with Linda Gray.

TIME OUT

WLAF faster paced than NFL games

By Steve Paschal

Although the fledgling World League of American Football owes its existence in part to a heavy investment by the National Football League, the international game has some important differences that give it an appeal apart from the usual brand of football.

According to league president Mike Lynn, one of the top goals of the WLAF is to "add a little excitement to the game." So when viewers tune in one of the WLAF games being televised on either ABC or the USA Network this week, they'll see a faster pace and other features that keep the games from being just parrots of the more traditional style of play.

For instance, in order to keep the games from dragging on for up to 3-1/2 hours, the between-play huddle has been eliminated, and offenses have just 25 seconds to get off a play.

Hunt no more for 'Red October'

By Amy Schmidt

Sean Connery and Alec Baldwin star in the submarine thriller The Hunt for Red October, Saturday, May 4, on HBO. Last summer's box-office hit dramatizes a U.S. Intelligence officer's dilemma of initiating a first strike against a nuclear Soviet sub headed for American shores.

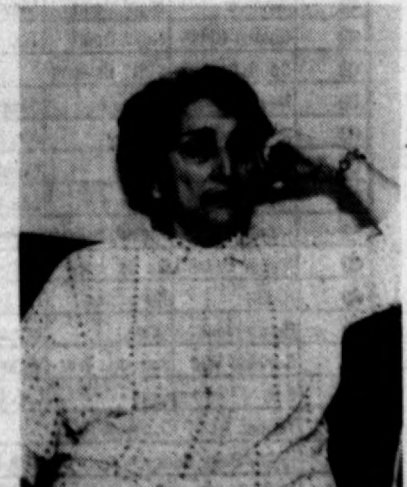

Milo the kitten sails downstream while Otis, his bull-dog friend, gives chase in The Adventures of Milo and Otis, a heart-rending children's tale premiering Wednesday, May 1, on HBO. Dudley Moore narrates.

Anthony Denison (Crime Story) and Sela Ward (Hello Again) co-star in Child of Darkness, Child of Light, airing on the USA Network Wednesday. A Vatican priest is assigned the chilling task of investigating the virgin pregnancies of two women.

I Love You to Death is based on a true story about a woman who hired thugs to kill her womanizing pizza-shop-owner husband. Kevin Kline plays the Cassanova in jeopardy of losing more than his sex life; Tracey Ullman is his jealous wife; William Hurt, River Phoenix and Keanu Reeves depict the hooligans hired to do the dirty deed. The comedy premieres Wednesday on Showtime.

C-Span covers the American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Committee's eighth annual conference on Saturday. This year's timely topic: "Arab-Americans: The Struggle for Peace and Justice."

LET'S TALK

By Polly Vonetes

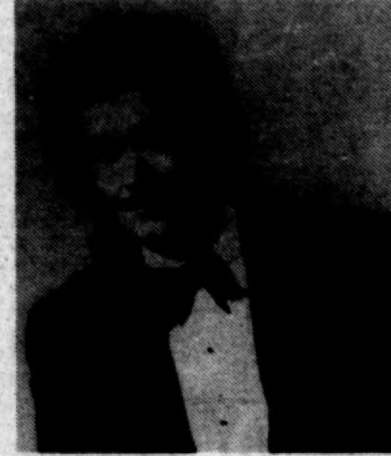

Q: Can you tell me about Jaleel White? I would also like to know where I can write to him. I love to watch him on Family Matters. —Evelyn Henricks, Chanote, Kan.

A: America's favorite nerd, Jaleel White, was born on Nov. 27, 1977 in Los Angeles. He began his acting career at the age of 3, after a pre-school teacher persuaded his mother to enter him in the business. His first commercial was for Goodyear Tires, and he has since starred in more than 30 national commercials for such well-known clients as Kellogg's, Toys-R-Us, Atari, McDonald's, Pepsi, Nabisco and a particularly memorable spot for Jello

Jaleel White

at the age of 3, after a pre-school teacher persuaded his mother to enter him in the business. His first commercial was for Goodyear Tires, and he has since starred in more than 30 national commercials for such well-known clients as Kellogg's, Toys-R-Us, Atari, McDonald's, Pepsi, Nabisco and a particularly memorable spot for Jello

Q: This is the second time I've written. Could you please give me some information on Wayne Newton? Do you have an address where I might write to him? I have been a fan of his for many years. —S.P. Thomson, Ash Flat, Ark.

A: Wayne Newton was born in Norfolk, Va., on April 3, 1942. He started taking music lessons when he was 6, and by the time he was 16 he had become a regular on the Jackie Gleason, Jack Benny and Ed Sullivan television shows. His first hit single, "Danke Schön," produced by his good friend Bobby Darin, made him a household name. Subsequent million-sellers included "Red Roses for a Blue Lady," "Summer Wind," "Dreams of the Everyday Housewife" and "Daddy Don't You Walk So Fast." Ultimately he snagged the biggest performing contract in Las Vegas history, where he earns approximately $10 million or more annually. His marriage in 1968 to Elaine Okamura, an airline stewardess, produced his daughter Erin in 1977. The couple was divorced in 1985. He spends his leisure time breeding Arabian horses, flying his jet helicopter and performing for a variety of charities. Write to him at: 6000 S. Eastern Ave., Ste. 7B, Las Vegas, NV 89119.

Q: Please explain what "hiatus" means for a TV show. Also, what has happened to China Beach and The Trials of Rosie O'Neill? —L. Gerich, Novi, Mich.

A: Hiatus, in the dictionary, means "a break or interruption in the continuity of a work, series, action, etc." In television land it means a series is "taking a break," allowing its cast and crew to take a short vacation before resuming production. Sometimes the series, if the ratings are poor, never goes back into production. An ending to the series China Beach is currently being filmed, and The Trials of Rosie O'Neill is still in production, although the network has not announced if the show will return in the fall.

Q: I have written several times asking if Bag Lady, played by Lucille Ball, would be on TV again. Was it on ABC or CBS? —Lola Rutherford, Auburn, Ky.

A: The movie you are referring to was titled Stone Pillow. Lucille Ball portrayed Flora, a New York City "bag lady." The CBS film premiered on Nov. 5, 1985. It was rebroadcast on Sept. 6, 1987 and again on May 23, 1988. It is a classic and will probably air again. It is not currently scheduled.

Q: I am writing to find out what, if any, shows or movies Elliot from thirtysomething played on before his present role in the series. I am sure I remember seeing him in some other show long before thirtysomething came into vogue. —Janet Schival, Devil's Lake, N.D.

A: Yes, you have seen Timothy Busfield (Elliot) in other productions. In 1983 he had a continuing role on the ABC summer series Reggie. Meanwhile, he was also starring in five national commercials that were running simultaneously. He eventually decided to make his home in Hollywood, and within a month after his arrival he had guest-starred on the series *AfterM*A*S*H* and The Paper Chase. A turning point in his career occurred when he was cast as Poin-dexter in the first Revenge of the Nerds film. This led to his landing the role of J.T. on Trapper John, and the rest is history.

Q: My question: Is Gregg Rainwater of The Young Riders the son of Marvin Rainwater? Where can I write to him? —Glen Rainwater, Pryor, Okla.

A: Gregg Rainwater, of Cherokee and Osage descent, was born in Flint, Mich., where he turned to acting while in grammar school. His American Indian heritage comes in handy playing Buck Cross, the part-Indian Pony Express rider on The Young Riders. He feels his role holds a special significance as it gives him an opportunity to investigate his personal American Indian heritage. For more information on his personal life, write him c/o The Young Riders, MGM/UA, 10000 W. Washington Blvd., Culver City, CA 90232.

Q: Please tell me who sang the song "Rawhide" for the TV series by the same name. —Marion Woods, Vale, S.D.

A: The theme "Rawhide" was written by Ned Washington and Dimitri Tiomkin. It was sung by Frankie Laine.

FAMILY FARE

'Peanuts' special recalls Snoopy's puppyhood

By Anne Wheeler

Fans of Charles Schultz's popular beagle Snoopy can take a look back at the canine's puppy days on a new "Peanuts" special set to air Wednesday, May 1, on CBS.

The special explores for the first time ever Snoopy's birth and his developmental years with his brother Spike and the rest of the family. It also tells how he came to be Charlie Brown's loyal friend.

This is the 26th year "Peanuts" specials have been airing on CBS. In that time, more than 30 have been presented.

The new animated special is also part of CBS' "Toon Night" programming block, which features America's favorite animated characters. So far Bugs Bunny and the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles have made appearances in the Wednesday night slot.

Bugs Bunny will return next week, May 8, for a special Mother's Day show. In that show, Bugs and his Warner Bros. cohorts have a run-in with an incompetent stork. The stork, Bugs' adversary, brags about his contributions to Mother's Day, but Bugs points out some of the bird's birthday blunders.

Two other animated specials will be presented as part of "Toon Night." On May 15, CBS presents Garfield Gets a Life, an original adventure of the fat cat; and on May 22, the Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles return for a second show in the series. © TV Listing Inc.

End to 'Switched' story not in sight

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The story told in the NBC miniseries "Switched at Birth" had its beginnings 12 years ago, yet the end is not in sight.

The two-part drama Sunday and Monday chronicles the continuing battle for custody of a 12-year-old girl in Florida.

"So much is happening, so much has changed, that I have to add a postscript to the story," says Michael O'Hara, the writer and an executive producer of the miniseries.

"Nevertheless, none of it lessens the impact of the movie. It underscores the emotional roller coaster these two families have gone through and will continue to go through the rest of their lives.

"To me, the most interesting thing is that neither family did anything voluntarily to cause any of this to happen. It's like sitting in your living room and an airplane comes in through the window - and you have to deal with it."

The story began in the winter of 1978 when Regina Twiggs and Barbara Mays gave birth to daughters within a few days of each other in a Florida hospital. The women met and exchanged pleasantries.

But when they left the maternity ward each went home with the other's child.

Each family was unaware of the switch until Arlena Twigg died of a heart defect in 1988. Genetic tests showed she was not the Twiggs' biological daughter.

A subsequent test showed that Kimberly Mays was their biological daughter - and today a bitter struggle is being fought over her by the Twiggs and Robert Mays, whose wife, Barbara, died of cancer in 1981.

In the miniseries, Bonnie Bedelia stars as Regina Twigg and Brian Kerwin as Bob Mays. It also stars Edward Asner as Mays' attorney, Lois Smith as Margaret Hill, Mays' mother-in-law, Judith Hoag as Barbara Mays, John Jackson as Ernest Twigg and Caroline McWilliams as the Twiggs' attorney. Waris Hussein directed and the music is by three-time Academy Award-winner Marvin Hamlisch.

In the most recent development in the custody battle, a compromise over visitation rights for the Twiggs with Kimberly collapsed. According to an Associated Press report from Sarasota, Fla., Mays temporarily stopped the visits last November because Kimberly had falling grades and mood swings he didn't understand.

The Twiggs had fought for custody for three years but reached a compromise in October 1989 when they agreed in writing not to seek custody even if, as the genetic test later proved, Kimberly was their daughter. In return, they could seek visitation rights.

"We end the story in May 1990 during a feeling of optimism," O'Hara says. "When I wrote the script I always knew real events could change certain dynamics in the relationships between the two families and their relationships with the child. I tried to construct an ending that would be viable no matter what happened. There will be a postscript at the end to bring the audience up to date."

O'Hara says he doesn't think it would be possible today to get the two families to agree to a dramatic treatment of the story.

"Each family was contacted by more than 30 producers," he says. "This was probably the hottest rights battle in years. What made it different was that you had two families to get the rights from. And the families were not exactly the best of friends."

O'Hara, who previously wrote the movies "Those She Left Behind" and "She Said No," was at work on another project when NBC gave him a rush order for "Switched at Birth."

"I think the network felt the story has so much visibility and so much heat that they wanted to get it on the air as soon as possible," he says. "It's a strong story and it's conceptually rooted in the family."

O'Hara says he feels his background as a newspaper reporter in Florida and Colorado made it possible for him to absorb so much material so fast. He had a researcher gathering information in Florida, then flew there himself to interview the families.

"I had interviews, newspaper articles, depositions, tapes of every talk show they were on," he says. "I had two days to go through it before going to Florida. When I arrived I structured the story that night in the motel. I pretty much stuck to that structure."

"I spent three days with Bob Mays. I knew where to concentrate to find out his emotions, such as when he told Kimberly she was not his biological child. He would not believe it himself until the genetic testing. He said he visited his wife's grave, and I asked him if he talked to her. He told me what he said and I made it into a monologue. He talks about the daughter they never knew."

O'Hara says his next project is a comedy.

"I came to Hollywood to be a comedy writer," he says, "but I lost my sense of humor when I started writing serious drama."

Filming of the miniseries coincided with the war in Iraq. O'Hara noted the director's name reads: "War is Hussein." Hussein, who is from India and is not an Arab, did not allow the usual display of his name during the filming.

Patterson, Bozeman, Hastings are honored

Back when Hereford Senior Citizens was quartered in the old Central School building, about 1978, June Patterson retired after 15 years in the office of an auto parts firm here. She was already a HSC member, and she promptly volunteered to fill a need for a dining room cashier.

She is still in that job, and is a selection as one of the Volunteers of the Month. Her work in the present building, though, is more pleasant than in the previous location: "We always had to hurry and eat and then clear the tables for the domino players."

An Oklahoma native, June soon came to Texas and has lived here since, except for a time during World War II when her husband, Sam, worked in the shipyards and she ran a postal substation in Berkeley, CA. She was a post office employee at Enochs, south of Muleshoe, for a time.

Sam, who was a member and volunteer in Hereford Senior Citizens until his death, was a cotton gin operator. June's daughter, Judy, lives in Amarillo. June has five grandchildren and a great-grandson.

LOUISE HASTINGS

Louise Hastings says she enjoys her volunteer job at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center as a member of a crew which delivers meals to the homebound each weekday. She is one of the Volunteers of the Month for April.

She also values the privileges of membership in the Senior Citizens: association with other members, daily dinners and the games of dominoes in which she participates regularly. Playing dominoes at home with family and friends is one of her hobbies, too.

In addition to the meal deliveries, Louise has volunteered as dining room hostess, helped on the serving line and worked in various jobs when she was needed.

Born in Moline, Ill., she grew up there. Hereford has been her home for about 20 years, moving here from New Mexico. She is a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church.

Her husband died 11 years ago. Her son, Jimmy, lives here with his wife, Terry, and their children, Lucy, Selina, Sammy and Jimmy Jr. She has brought up three foster children, a girl and two boys. One of them, Walter Joslin, is in the U.S. Army and just returned from Saudi Arabia.

JIM BOZEMAN

Margie's Notes

This has been a busy time for everybody with the Joint Conference on Aging starting at noon Sunday, April 28th. We're getting ready for a tour of the Hereford Senior Citizen Center at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 30th. Everyone is preparing the yard and building to show our visitors. The choir will be singing during the tour. We'd like to have lots of people here to greet our guests.

Some of our Volunteers have been setting out plants--new shrubbery in the living room, making the place beautiful for our touring guests. We certainly thank them.

As soon as the conference is over, we're excited about our tour to Branson, Missouri, May 11 through the 16th. We're all looking forward to this trip.

This is the month of our Pioneer Celebration. Be sure to remember the Pancake Supper on May 24th!

He just likes people, so "Brother Jim" Bozeman chooses as his job on the van which takes meals to the homebound, the task of taking the food into the homes, so he can greet the recipients each day. He has been doing that about 10 years, since he retired as pastor of Temple Baptist Church and began serious volunteer service for Hereford Senior Citizens.

Membership began before that time for the Bozemans, who have held in various ways through the years. Jim was on the board of directors while the first unit of the HSC Center was being built. His genial presence has been felt in numerous programs at the Center. Now, he has been named as a Volunteer of the Month.

He was an oilfield worker before he entered the ministry in 1949.

REGINA KESTER

Kester lauded for HSC work

A new position on the staff of Hereford Senior citizens, added in September, is physical fitness director. It is filled by Regina Kester, the Employee of the Month.

Her principal work is conducting the classes in water aerobics and therapy, which are held morning and afternoon for women and men, and a noon class three days a week. Regina has directed similar groups at the Hereford YMCA pool for several years.

That seems an unusual career for one who admits she was afraid of water as a child, but she overcame her fears, learned to swim, taught swimming and helped others cure their fear of water. She says she was helped by her two brothers who "were water-hounds."

She was born and grew up in Germany, and came to Hereford 27 years ago. Now she feels like a Texas old-timer and wants to go back to Germany only as a visitor to family members who still live there. Her mother is visiting her now, and plans to be here May 4 for Regina's marriage to Kenneth Walterscheid.

Since Regina has launched the program for full use of the HSC Center's pool room with its hot water therapy, members and other area residents are getting the benefit of the space, which is an important part of the latest addition of our building. She emphasizes that the water classes are open to non-members, though fees are higher than for members. She invites calls for more information.

AFTER A LIFETIME OF HARD WORK, COULD YOU LIVE ON $87 A WEEK?

by Ron Pollack

The plains of Montana are biting cold in winter. The harsh climate is a challenge, especially if you're 83 years old and trying to get by on a limited income.

Maude Johnson (that's not her real name) lives in Great Falls. Until she turned 65, she worked in a laundry. But she didn't stop working after she "retired." She couldn't afford to. So she cleaned homes in the daytime and offices at night to make ends meet. Today, no longer healthy enough for that kind of hard work, she gets by on about $87 a week, $379 a month.

Out of that, she pays rent on her home, $150 a month. Utilities in this climate of long, cold winters add up to another $100 a month.

That leaves Mrs. Johnson only about $129 a month—less than $5 a day—for food, all of her prescription medicines, and everything else. When the cold wind drives her fuel bills up, she cuts back on food.

"There just isn't anything else left to cut back on," she says.

Maude has a stack of outstanding bills: for her eyeglasses, treatment for her back problems, her recent gallbladder surgery. Still, she makes it a point to pay something on each bill every month, even if it's only a few dollars.

Lizzie McClaskey (not her real name) lives far from the Montana plains, in a crowded neighborhood of Chicago. But her life is a lot like Maude Johnson's. Lizzie lives on $495 a month, including what she gets from SSI. America's thin safety net for the elderly and disabled. The rent on her small apartment is $295 a month. Another $60 goes for utilities. She spends about $80 a month—less than $3 a day—for food. And she pays $23 into her burial fund.

That leaves about $37 a month for everything else. "I buy household supplies like toilet tissues, laundry detergent, bug spray. I don't know what it's like to buy a new dress or blouse at a department store. Second-hand thrift shops are my K-Mart."

"I live in constant fear," Mrs. McClaskey says, "that my refrigerator will break down and I won't have the money to get it fixed."

"I often wish I could take my grandchildren to McDonald's or buy them a gift for their birthday. 'I can survive on SSI,' she says. 'But it's hard to feel dignity or self-respect.'"

The next time somebody tells you that older Americans are all living on Easy Street, tell them about Maude Johnson and Lizzie McClaskey. And 5 million older Americans living on less than $135 a week.

There is supposed to be a safety net in America to protect the elderly and disabled from the ravages of poverty. It's a program called SSI. But the safety net is full of holes. Half of the older Americans who are eligible haven't even been signed up for SSI. And SSI benefits are so low, signing up doesn't lift you out of poverty.

It's a disgrace for our grandparents to suffer so, here in the richest country in the world.

Can't we change things for the better?

One older American who has an abiding faith that we can change things is Arthur S. Flemming, who served in President Eisenhower's Cabinet as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. At age 85, Dr. Flemming is chairman of the SSI Modernization Project, a national task force travelling to every part of the United States, seeking ways to strengthen the SSI safety net.

Making Things Better

America's Social Security Commissioner, Gwendolyn King, shares Dr. Flemming's commitment to change. Under her leadership, the Social Security Administration is spending millions of dollars to reach out and find older Americans who need help—and get them the help they're entitled to.

That's a hopeful sign. But it's only a beginning. For the sake of decency, we should raise SSI benefits high enough to actually lift people like Maude Johnson and Lizzie McClaskey out of poverty.

After a lifetime of hard work, Americans shouldn't have to face an old age of misery.

April showers bring May flowers, an old saying which works fine when we have April showers.

This year we will have the May flowers since the good Lord is providing the water by other means, but we have to put out some effort.

The same is true in our lives and our Senior Citizens Center, we receive many blessings from above but we also have to put out some work.

By working together, we have the best Senior Citizens Center in Texas. We have several projects coming up that will require the cooperation of all, so stay in there all you gals and guys.

With your support and the support of the community, we will have a center that can serve more people better.

Comings and goings at Hereford Senior Center

Visitors from over the United States, and even from abroad, have been entertained by Hereford Senior Citizens this spring. Others have enjoyed making visits to family members here and there.

From Buedinsen, Germany, came Helene Franz to spend some time with her daughter, Regina Kester, a member of our Center's staff. She plans to be a guest at the May 4 marriage of Regina and Kenneth Walterscheid.

Traveling to Pryor, Ok, April 11, Edna Schulte, Ida Jesko and Bettye Bagley attended the wedding of Denise Hoffman, whose parents are former Hereford residents. Denise is a granddaughter of Mrs. Jesko and a niece of the other two. Erika Durham accompanied them to Tulsa where her daughter, Jamie, met her for a visit. The Hereford women made a tour of the Azalia Festival at Muskogee on April 14.

Roberta and Elroy Artho went to Carlsbad one weekend to visit their daughter, Janice, her husband, Bob Pope and the grandchildren, Alison, Denise, Douglas and Brian.

Ruby Baker spent about a month visiting relatives in March. She went to San Angelo, San Antonio, Las Cruces, NM, and even to Dimmitt. Sue Coleman was in Fort Worth several days to welcome a great-niece who was born March 18, also to visit nephews, their families and cousins.

Many visitors have registered for meals and tours of the Center. Leona Paetzold of Greeley, Co. was a guest of the Clarence Beztens; Harice and Evelyn Obar of Minnesota of Dorothy and Fate Shannon; June Miller of Hayward, Ca, of Jack Weaver; Bud and June Ford from Idaho, Kay and Frank Zinser of Royal City, Wa., of the S.L. Garrisons.

Katherine Perrin brought Becca Kirby of Lubbock to lunch, R.A. Daniel was host to Kyle Kitto of Midland. Here with Lola Munson were Johnnie, Sharmin and Juanita Estep of Panhandle.

Sarah Burgess of Tulia and Gladys Carter of Plainview came with their brother, Cawthon Bryant, Zora Gaede of Friona with Thelma Hutson, Beulah Ivie of Dimmitt with Marie Hinds, Dorothy Reno of Midland with Mrs. Mobley, Gordon and Irene Stephens of Amarillo with Clovis Seago.

From Vega, Lucille Broman, Ruth Conn and Jean Brown were guests of Jessie Larson. Homer Garrison was host to Hazen Woods of Austin one day, and Trish Moore of Muleshoe and Marihelen Willis of Red River, NM on another occasion. E.O. and Louella Williams were visitors from Pearce, Az., Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Price from Bonham.

Ann Hathaway of Midland came with her mother, Elizabeth Cesar. Pearl Crump and Lillie Dunlap were guests of Bartley Dowell. Rhoda Mays of Dimmitt was visiting with Dorothy Lundry, as were Muriel and Cecil Choate of Phoenix on another day. Cecil and Eunice Boyers have had Nelva, Jared and Melanie Swopes of Amarillo as guests, also Clarence and Maydell Pope of Clovis.

Lexie Jarman and Mrs. E.J. Reynolds of Las Vegas, NM, and June Caraway of Lubbock visited with Katie Kendall, Theda Lou Slaton of Sun City, Az, with Zakie Wilson, Ida Crockett of Amarillo and Kate Rich of Cedar Hill, UT with bill and Gene Patton, Lela Hendricks of Medicine Park, OK, with S.T. Walton.

John and Betty Drager of Plato, Minn. was a guest of Bertha Tiefel, Bob and Charlene Lawrence of Salida, Co., of the Bernard Robersons, Ted Winn of Dallas of Margie Ford, Cody Deas of Amarillo of his grandparents, the Larry Summers. Harold Kreighsauer was host to Avis Cloud of Dalhart.

Nell Pittman had Wayne and Jena Pittman of Hobbs here for lunch. Cleo and Cal Gore of Craig, Co. came with the Angelos, Andrew Combs of Dallas with Ann Combs, Bernice Sexton of Littlefield and Royce Wimberley of Amarillo with Jane and Ralh Packard.

Peter Knox of Los Alamos, NM, was at the Center with Ruth and Stan Knox, Ron and Cheryl Vardeman of Odessa with Al Daniels, Ravena and Bill Chappell of Baring, Or., with Ira and Pet Ott, Neva Miller of Arlington with Naomi Hare, Madlynne Kelly of Amarillo with Jo Irlbeck, Wendell Morton of Sunray with Sara Bell Morton.

Joe and Sue Hershey were guests of the Howard Hersheys. Nelda Guy Ricketts of Fort Worth, a former resident, was a visitor. Pauline House was hostess to Juanita Wall and Oneta Luce of Texico, Lorene Akers and Bea Owen of Clovis. From Temple, Michelle and Nordan Richburg and Barbara Osborn visited with Dick Barrett.

With Emily Suggs, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Havens and Susan of El Campo and Mandy Havens of Dallas were lunch guests. Ed and Mary Sobczak of Arab, Al., came with their son, Steve, who directs our Young-At-Heart Choir. Jim Thomas brought his granddaughter, Dallas Thomas of Wink.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cage of Borger were with Gerald Townsend. Former Herefordites Deward and Ruth Roberson were here from Truth or Consequences, NM. Patrick Mercer of Edmond, Ok. was Mamie Moten's guest. Nell Hendrick of Monahans came with Jewell Hargrave. Dick Gholson was host to Stephen Wiggins of Lubbock.

Olivia Smithers had out-of-state guests, Virginia Cruse of Nevada and Pat Conger of Louisiana. Larry and Helen Loerwald of Denver were here with S.T. and Hope Loerwald, Kammi Hill of Amarillo with Nancy Hill, Bill Russell of Baird with L.B. Russell, Aaron and Amy Wagner of Amarillo with Viola and Les Wagner.

Clara Richardson of Slater and Ann Schneider of Livermore, both in Iowa, are sisters of the late Hank Wedel and used to come as his guests, have been here lately visiting with friends. Leaton Clark of Austin was a guest of Leatrus Clark, Neta Hart of Amarillo of Leona Kimball and Helen Paige, also of Amarillo, of Margaret Broman.

Arthos named HSC royalty

Elroy and Roberta Artho have been elected Senior Citizen King and Queen for the coming year. They will succeed J.C. and Dessie Mae McCracken.

Ceramic class travels to area ceramic shops

Outside the weekly classes, our group recently traveled to ceramic shops in Amarillo, Clovis and Littlefield to learn different techniques to use on greenware. Each shop has some different items and techniques. Besides a time of learning, we had fun together. Seniors turning to living wills, physician directives

By SID HAM
Attorney at Law

In the past, estate planning professionals have used protected investments, revocable or nonrevocable trusts and wills to take care of the vast majority of all their clients' estates.

Recently, because of the fact that seniors are rapidly becoming the fastest growing segment of our population, these conventional tools are being looked at carefully and used in different ways to protect the changing concerns of seniors.

A new combination of living trusts (where appropriate), wills, durable powers-of-attorney, investment strategies and living wills must be combined in such a manner as to attempt to carry out the wishes of the client and preserve his estate.

In 1989, the Texas Legislature passed the "Natural Death Act," which, for the first time, gave individuals an opportunity to control expenses and their dignity as they neared death. There are many stories of heroic efforts from the medical community to prolong life through the use of highly technical and intensive medical procedures.

It is a compliment to that community that they have been able to develop such life-sustaining techniques. However, with the use of the high technology, there is also often a very high price tag. Many of the increases in health costs in the last few years can be traced to the rise of costs connected with that period of time closest to death.

These final expenses have increased partly because of the great pressures placed upon our medical community to use all available means to prolong the life of their patients.

These procedures, however well intentioned or technically correct, may from time to time result in a life without the dignity or quality which an individual might desire for himself if given the opportunity to make such a decision.

There is now available, under the terms established by the Texas Legislature, a choice as to medical treatment during the difficult final days of a person's life. The rights under the statute become effective whenever a patient has been diagnosed as having a terminal condition. The rights are given as a means to exercise the wishes of the patient.

If an individual has not executed or issued a directive and is not otherwise mentally or physically capable to issue such a directive, a method has been established by which life-sustaining procedures may still be withheld.

The process places this decision in the hands of those closest to the patient, who may already be in shock or grief concerning what is happening.

The decision, in conjunction with the doctor, must be made by a legal guardian or if no legal guardian has been appointed, then by two persons from the following categories:

1. the patient's spouse;
2. a majority of the patient's adult children;
3. the patient's parents;
4. the patient's nearest relative.

The treatment decision must be based on knowledge of what the patient would desire, if known. If the patient had not made his wishes known to these people, then it is not clear whether the decision could be made to withhold the treatment.

The second method of making the decision is one that may be more comfortable to many people. This takes the form of a "living will" or written "directive to physicians."

The statute provides that a person may execute this directive before two witnesses, so long as that person is competent at the time the declaration is executed or the person may issue a non-written directive in the presence of an attending physician and two witnesses.

The witnesses may not be the patient's family members, anyone who would take property under their will or operation of law (if there is no will), an attending physician, an employee of the physician, a patient in the same facility or any person who has a claim against the patients or their estate.

This restriction on witnesses is intended to protect a patient from persons who may appear to have motives which might not be in their best interest.

The legislature has chosen to give this directive the solemn nature normally associated with a Last Will and Testament, together with the time-honored restrictions on witnesses to these documents.

In the directive, a person may make provisions for withholding or withdrawing life-sustaining procedures under circumstances provided in the statute. A person may also include an expression of his wish to his family and doctor to honor his legal right to make the decision. Someone else may be designated to make medical treatment decisions in the event the patients no longer has this ability.

If an individual should later change his mind and decide that this is not the best choice for him, the directive may be revoked at any time without regard to his mental state or competency.

It is not necessary to revoke the living will in writing. This may be done by an oral statement, tearing or obliterating the directive in someone's presence or by another writing.

There are safeguards in the statute which provide that the execution of the directive shall not restrict or impair the sale, purchase or issuance of a life insurance policy or modify the terms of an existing life insurance policy. There are also other safeguards and options provided which should be discussed with an attorney or other knowledgeable advisor.

This discussion is intended to present the general concept of the Texas "Living Will." It is not intended to fully discuss or list all the rights and restrictions under the statute, provide specific legal advice or determine the effect of a "Living Will" on the remainder of your estate planning wishes or objectives.

Because of the need for all estate planning tools to be coordinated, the use of the "Living Will" should be considered, together with other alternatives, after discussion of options and alternatives with an estate planning professional.

Eye Openers

EYE OPENERS
By Dr. Beverley A. Clark

DID YOU KNOW.....?

Macular degeneration is the leading cause of blindness in the United States and the western world. About 5,800 new cases of blindness due to macular degeneration are registered annually in the United States.

The macula is the spot in the retina at the back of the eye which enables us to read, drive and do fine visual tasks. The aging process sometimes causes damage there. This problem can run in families.

The patient first notices blurry vision or lines not being straight, pieces missing out of reading print, or doorways looking wavy. Unfortunately, patients usually wait a week or two before seeking help and then it is often too late. But if the patient consults an ophthalmologist at once, sometimes laser treatment can stop the leaking blood vessels at the back of the eye which cause the problem. To find these blood vessels dye is injected into an arm vein and 36 pictures are taken of the back of the eye as the dye comes through. The offending vessels leak dye and the photos show areas where laser (a special strong light) might stop leakage and help your eyesight.

Don't let anyone tell you that nothing further can be done to help your eyesight. There are many possibilities available to make life easier for low vision patients.

Your eyes have delicate nervous tissue which allow you to see.

You only have two eyes. They are worth caring for. Please feel free to call me at 806-355-7021 for information or a pamphlet.

New group helps seniors solve troubling problems

A new group, American Association of Mature Citizens, has been formed to help solve problems for people at or near retirement age, especially those on fixed incomes.

The group, based in Oklahoma city, includes many years of experience in law, accounting, government, insurance, community service and small business. The group is affiliated with Consumer's Purchase Power, Inc., a national shoppers union with more than 4 million members.

The association provides several benefits, including a Medicare supplement plan and a plan to reduce grocery bills up to 50 percent. A toll free number for more information is 1-800-732-6315, ext. 11.

Maine is the only state in the United States whose name has one syllable.

Carmichael honored by library

Each month the Deaf Smith County Library selects a favorite person to be honored.

For March, Pete Carmichael was the library's favorite person.

The individual is selected by the library staff on the basis of courtesy, pleasant attitude and library use.

Their name is on display all of that month. Pete, who is one of the faithful Senior Citizen domino players, read 17 books.

Home health care coverage can make recovery more comfortable.

Full recovery from a serious illness can take much longer than a stay in the hospital... especially if the patient is elderly. Recuperation at home can be more comfortable and secure. It can also cost your parents or your family a lot of money for which Medicare does not reimburse you.

That's why the CNA Insurance Companies, one of several major companies our independent agency represents, created a new Home Health Care Plan. It provides coverage your parents and your own family may need to help pay the costs of professional health services performed at home.

Contact our agency for a discussion that can make your whole family more comfortable about the future.

Golden Line Dancers have busy month

GOLDEN LINE DANCERS
Jolene Bledsoe,
Reporter

It was nice to have Roy Boyd, formerly of Hereford, Tom and Thelma Johnson all from Amarillo visit our center. They watched the line dancers in one of their regular classes and were really impressed by our performance.

It is just absolutely great having our Fearless Leader, Olga Harris, back. We really missed her and did the best we could without her guidance. Olga's daughter, Judy Thompson, grandson, Jason and his friend, Paul McClendon all from Stamford spent four days with Olga. Olga has completed her treatments and we are so very happy to have her back. She is getting stronger each day and even now she can yell at us when we goof up!

Norma Coffey, Elizabeth Holt, Norma Hendon and Betty Martin are rather new in our group and we are happy to have them. Bonnie Manley is back after having been gone for quite some time - Welcome back Bonnie.

You know Helen Spinks? Well, she did it again!! She fell and broke her left wrist! We are so sorry for the inconvenience it is causing you Helen. This accident is not keeping her out of our line dancing - she is right in there kicking up her heels with the rest of us - Good for you Helen.

Joyce Wartes brought her lovely granddaughter, Kylee to line dance during spring break. It was nice having Bonnie Nall during this time also. Bonnie joined us for lunch and in a game of Skip-Bo. This is becoming quite a custom for we line dancers following our lunch.

Martha Lueb is on the road again! Martha, accompanied by her granddaughter, Julie Lueb, Edna Schulte and her daughter and niece drove to El Paso to see Martha's sister, Frances Kienle.

Helen Spink's son, Louie and his wife Janet and grandson Brad Spinks from Duncanville spent the weekend with Helen. Brad had such a good time he came back and spent several days during Easter week with his grandmother.

Shair James and son, Christopher of El Paso and Kenneth Carmichael of Doniphan, Missouri visited Pete and Wilma Carmichael during the Easter holidays.

Edna Johnson spent four day sin Amarillo with her grandsons, Chad and Ryan Johnson while their parnets went to San Antonio.

Kyle Kitto of Midland spent part of the Easter holidays with his grandparents, R.A. (Bunky) and Arvella Daniels. Our condolences are extended to R.A. and Arvella on the loss of her mother, Mrs. O.G. Hill.

Lloyd and Frances Crume took their own tour of Texas. They spent Easter weekend with their son and his wife, David and Georgia Crume of Pflugerville, Texas. They got to see all the beautiful bluebonnets and Indian Paint Brushes. They also visited several days with Ruth and Gwynne Owen at Cedar Creek lake. One day was spent in Tyler driving through the beautiful azaleas and dogwood trails.

It is good to have Ed McCreary back following a visit in Mesa, Arizona with his sister. While there he got to watch the Chicago Cubs in spring training and did some golfing and even managed to work in some squar edancing.

Welcome back to Bill and Gene Patton afte rhaving been gone since last fall.

It is great having Irene McKinster back after having been gone for several months. She and Jack take off south with the rest of the Snow Birds and we miss them but hopefully they are having a good time.

During Easter week Lola Munson had a surprise visit from her daughter's family, Juanita and Johnnie Estep and their daughter, Sharmin of Panhandle. They came out to the cneter to watch us dance and enjoyed having lunch with everyone.

If you see a gleam in Carolyn Hutcheson's eyes it is because a whole new world has been opened up to her since the Teletypewriter for the Deaf was presented to her from the Golden K Kiwanis and from Shirley and Mildred Garrison. She now has RELAY TEXAS in her home whereby she can answer the phone, make phone calls and has access to closed caption TV! She is very excited about this new venture and anxious to learn all about it and we are happy for her.

Audrey Prowell went to see her sister in Lubbock. The two of them traveled to Brownwood to see their brother.

Betty Jo Carlson and Naomi Hare went on a Trailways Tour, "Springtime in Texas." They visited points of interest in Marble Falls, Austin, San Antonio, Houston, Corpus Christi, South Padre Island, Matamoros and the famous King Ranch. The Bluebonnets, Indian Paint Brush and other wild flowers were shining in all their glory this year making the trip more colorful.

On Monday, April 15th, Bertha Tiesel had her brother and his wife, John and Betty Droege from Minnesota as her guest watching the line dancers and for lunch.

Friday, April 12th, Jean Hill danced with us and she did a great job. She joined us for lunch-nice having you Jean.

Our condolences to Bill and Addie Cunningham on the loss of his sister, Billie Hartman of Lubbock with burial in Greenville.

Birthdays celebrated this month include Peggy Clark, Juanita Brown and Anna Katherine Huckert-HAPPY BIRTHDAY GIRLS!!

Young at Heart Choir

The Young At Heart Choir is anticipating a number of spring and summer activities.

The choir has been hard at work practicing our "Some golden Daybreak" for memory and polishing out "America" musical for some upcoming activities.

"Some Golden Daybreak" was presented by the choir at the Assembly of God Church, March 24. Twenty six members enjoyed much food and fellowship.

Members enjoyed the choir party April 1. There was good food and games. Twenty two members and their spouses enjoyed the evening.

Steve Paul, minister of music at First Baptist Church, directed practice April 11 in the absence of Steve Sobczak.

Tips on maintaing good nutrition

"Maintaining The Nutrition Advantage For the Mature Adult"
By Charlotte R. Clark,
M.S.R.D./L.D.

As a mature adult, your nutrient and food needs may be different from what they used to be. These changes can be due both to the aging process itself and to illnesses and medications that are commonly a part of our lives as we grow older. In general, though, if you enjoy good health, recommended nutrition practices at this stage of life are similar to those during your earlier adulthood. balance, variety, and moderation in your diet, as in other activities of daily life, can serve you well.

1. Eat a Balanced and Varied Diet from Among the Four Food Groups.

Many of us are less active as we grow older and require fewer calories. In eating fewer calories, we must be sure to balance our diets with the various vitamins and minerals we need for good health.

Getting ample amounts of these nutrients while cutting back on the number of calories we consume takes some careful attention to food choices. Remember, to get Balance you need to choose Moderate amounts of foods among all four of the groups each day. Also vary your choices from within each group regularly.

Never omit a food group in your daily intake and never eliminate any type of foods within the groups.

Getting your nutrients from food rather than pills is best. If you have difficulty eating a balanced diet, vitamin and mineral supplements may be advised by your physician; even then no more than 100% of the RDA for each nutrient can be useful.

2. Maintain a Healthy Body Weight.

It is important for your health to keep your body weight as close to a healthy level as possible. When there is too much body fat, there may be a greater chance of developing debilitating diseases like diabetes, cardiovascular disease, kidney disease, high blood pressure as well as exacerbating diseases like osteoarthritis.

Work with your registered dietitian to define your appropriate body weight and to find a diet/exercise combination to help you attain and maintain it. Keep active and eat low-fat, low-calorie foods with a variety of vitamins and minerals to help one achieve a healthful diet and lifestyle.

3. Make Lower Total Fat, Lower Saturated Fatty Acids, and Lower cholesterol Food choices.

Fat is calorically dense. Ounce for ounce, fat has more than twice the calories of protein or carbohydrates. It is best to limit all fat in your diet for purposes of weight control. Also, it is especially important to limit the saturated fatty acids and cholesterol in your diet to maintain or improve your cardiovascular health.

When you limit fat and/or cholesterol, what's left? Choose ample portions of whole grains and cereals, fruit, and vegetables. These four are naturally low in total fat and saturated fatty acids, contain no cholesterol, and are important sources of fiber, vitamins and minerals.

4. Limit Amounts of Sodium and Sugar in Your Diet and Drink Plenty of Water.

Excess sodium and sugar intake can be harmful and offer no health benefits. A moderate sodium intake is considered to be no more than 3000 mg daily and is acceptable for most healthy people. Foods that are high in sodium include: pickles, regular soy sauce, regular catsup, mustard, and pickled fish as well as foods with visible salt on them such as pretzels, chips, and nuts.

As we age, maintaining control of blood sugar levels may become more difficult. Substitute fruits and grains for sweets when possible to help keep your blood sugar level in line.

It is a good habit to drink 6 to 8 cups of liquid each day. Try to get in at least 4 glasses of water and the rest can come from other beverages and soup.

Dietary considerations in Treating Disease.

Chronic illness is more likely to become evident with advancing age. This often means that medication becomes a necessary part of life. The drugs we take can influence the way we absorb and metabolize certain nutrients in our diet, although it is no always completely understood how. Conversely, the foods we eat can also influence how effectively we use medications.

It may be difficult for individuals to get to stores to shop or handle packages. Lack of mobility can seriously interfere with good nutrition. To avoid settling for less nutrition than you need:

Drugs help Parkinson's

In 1989, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) approved two drugs which can help people with Parkinson's disease, a disorder of the nervous system that interferes with the smooth passage of messages between the nerves and muscles.

The two newly approved drugs are: Permax and Eldepryl. Permax helps with the response to Sinemet, a drug used by people with Parkinson's, and it is thought that Eldepryl may help to slow the progression of the disease.

DuPont Pharmaceuticals, which markets Symmetrel and Sinemet, is awaiting FDA approval for a refined version of Sinemet (a slowly released form) which has been shown in early trials to help patients whose response to the drug has become erratic and unpredictable.

For more information about Parkinson's disease and how to cope with it, write to the Parkinson's Disease Foundation, Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center, 650 W. 168th St., New York, N.Y. 10032, or call 1-800-457-6676.

(a) Participate in a shopping co-op with other friends or neighbors.

(b) Order some convenience foods like low-fat frozen entrees, precut vegetables and ready-made foods like roast chicken (remove skin) and salads to help keep preparations to a minimum.

(c) Contact family or friends, local club, place of worship for assistance with shopping, food preparation, and prepared meal deliveries.

Eating for one
There are times when the motivation to shop and to cook adequate meals for one person is just not there. To maintain good health, it is important to make the effort to eat right.

Try eating small, easy to prepare meals throughout the day if three square meals are not your style. When you do cook make a large batch of food and freeze what's left over for later in the week.

EARTH AWARE SM
Here are some simple things you can do to help save the environment, and save you money!
Keep your tires properly inflated. You will increase gas efficiency by up to 5%. If all America's car tires were properly inflated, we would save up to two billion gallons of gasoline per year.
