North trial opens today

WASHINGTON (AP)--Oliver North, the fired White House aide once hailed by President Reagan as a hero, went on trial today on charges of lying to Congress, shredding evidence and conspiring to commit tax fraud in the Iran-Contra affair.

Indicted 10 1/2 months ago, the retired Marine lieutenant colonel and decorated Vietnam veteran is the first figure in the scandal to come to trial. He could face up to 60 years in prison and $3 million in fines if convicted of all 12 crimes with which he is charged.

North is accused of lying to Congress about his role in funneling money to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels when Congress had banned U.S. aid to them. He is accused of lying to the attorney general about his role in giving the contras millions of dollars in profits from the Reagan administration's secret arms sales to Iran.

He also is accused of shredding National Security Council records and participating in a tax fraud conspiracy in which wealthy donors would get tax breaks for contributions to the Contras. Former National Security Adviser John Poindexter and arms suppliers Richard Secord and Albert Hakim also face criminal charges in the case, but will be tried separately later.

Beginning a process that could take two weeks, prospective jurors today begin filing into the courtroom of U.S. District Judge Gerhard Gesell. They will fill out questionnaires and subsequently undergo questioning before the judge. Those who spent much time viewing the nationally televised hearings into the Iran-Contra affair likely will be dismissed from the pool.

Gesell wants to find 50 people out of a pool of 300 who have not been exposed to the congressional testimony of North or other witnesses granted limited immunity from prosecution in exchange for telling their stories to Congress.

Gesell quashed North's subpoena for the testimony of President Bush, but did say that Reagan will "remain subject to call" for testimony.

North testified at congressional hearings in 1987 that all his activities were authorized by higher-ups in the Reagan administration.

The judge said North failed to show that Bush's testimony would be relevant, but he refused to quash North's subpoena for Reagan. Gesell said that if it appears Reagan ought to be called as a witness, he will first listen to any objections by the Justice Department and Reagan's lawyers before issuing an order.

Gesell also held out the possibility that portions of Reagan's personal diary might be sought as evidence.

Gesell said a subpoena for the diary may be renewed if during the trial North supports a claim that Reagan ordered or condoned in advance North's alleged crimes.

North was fired from his government post as a national Security Council aide on Nov. 25, 1986, three days after assistants to the attorney general found a memo North had written the previous spring referring to a planned diversion of money to the Contras from the administration's secret arms sales to Iran.

Congress from October 1984 to October 1986 had banned U.S. military aid to the Contras. Reagan telephoned North the day of his dismissal, telling him that he was "a national hero." In the ensuing 26 months, Reagan expressed sympathy for North's legal plight but turned aside pardon requests.

Leading the prosecution is John Kecker, a San Francisco attorney and also a Vietnam veteran, who left a lucrative law practice to join the office of independent counsel Lawrence Walsh. Walsh's office obtained the indictments of North, Poindexter, Secord and Hakim last March.

Many of the same witnesses who testified in the nationally televised congressional hearings two years ago are expected to be called by prosecutors, including former National Security Adviser Robert McFarlane, North's secretary at the NSC, Fawn Hall, and former Attorney General Edwin Meese III.

Clements plan honors schools

AUSTIN (AP)--A $39 million proposal by Gov. Bill Clements to reward public schools for making academic gains and reducing the dropout rate and drug and alcohol abuse, does not address the major education issue facing lawmakers, equity funding, according to House Speaker Gib Lewis.

"It's not going to be enough to do what you really need to do as far as equalization," said House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth on Monday.

Clements unveiled his proposals in a speech before 3,500 people attending the Texas School Administrators Mid-winter Conference. The proposals come at a time when the state is being challenged in a lawsuit brought by poor school districts.

The suit alleges that the $11 billion school finance system is unconstitutional because it doesn't ensure that each school district has the same ability to obtain money to educate students.

The 3rd Court of Appeals reversed a district judge's ruling that the system was indeed unconstitutional, and the matter is now before the Texas Supreme Court.

In his remarks to public school administrators, Clements said "By rewarding measurable gain in all these areas, we can ensure that all our schools, regardless of wealth, can participate fully."

Clements cited an example of "success stories" from the Edgewood Independent School District, which is the lead plaintiff in the suit by poor districts against the state. "In San Antonio, educators and the private sector have joined forces in a full-scale battle to keep 'at-risk' students at Edgewood High School in class," Clements said.

Bowling center plans announced

Plans have been completed for the location of new bowling lanes and an indoor miniature golf course in Hereford, it was announced this week in the newsletter of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The new facility will be located at Northgate Plaza Shopping Center, adjacent to Furr's Supermarket, according to Mike Carr, C of C executive vice president.

Carr said the owners and future residents of Hereford are Tracy and Glenda Minson of Oklahoma. The Minsons hope to begin construction for the first part of February, said Carr.

In addition to the bowling lanes, the Minsons plan to have a complete 18-hole indoor miniature golf course along with a snack bar and game room. Carr said the chamber was still exploring the possibility of attracting a theater to Hereford, and has been working with a theater owner and investor about alternatives for such a project. Any local businessmen who might be interested in investing in a theater should contact the chamber office.

County to buy two graders

BY ANDREA HOOTEN
Staff Writer

Deaf Smith County Commissioners voted to purchase two road maintainers for precincts 1 and 4, while rebidding for a maintainer in precinct 3 at their meeting Monday.

Precinct 1 commissioner John Stribling, and Precinct 4 commissioner Johnny Latham recommended trading their old Caterpillar road maintainers for new ones in each of their precincts.

This would cost $27,000 each over five years with a buy-back agreement at the end of that five years from West Texas Equipment, who sold the maintainers.

The buy-back agreement states that the company will repurchase the maintainer for $81,000.

Moore, however, wanted to rebid for his precinct because of an aging Galion maintainer which is eating money in repair and maintenance costs.

"Rather than exercise the $80,000 buy-back, I'm gonna keep the (Caterpillar) I already have and trade my Galion in instead. For the long haul, it would probably save the county some money," said Moore.

Commissioner Austin Rose Jr. said the county will have to find $80,000 over the next five years if Moore did not trade in his Caterpillar for a new one, but Moore added that he would rather make payments on his Caterpillar rather than spend the money on repairs.

Yellowhouse Machinery bid $71,400 for its maintainer, Waukesha-Pearce bid $60,000 and Peek Industrial bid $83,820, but Rose mentioned that none of the other bids met specifications except for West Texas Equipment's.

Bill Allen, an accountant with Gerhardt & Puckett, presented the county's audit for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1988.

Allen said the accounting was fair and all receipts and disbursements were on line but suggested the county attempt to streamline its accounting practices.

"The reports I've seen have been done well," said Allen, "but you may want to look at revising the reports you get each meeting to let you know the activities in each service department."

Allen suggested using the county's new computer to help the accounting.

The commissioners also voted to accept a fire, liability and auto insurance bid from Plains Insurance Agency for $41,403.

Lone Star Insurance Agency was the only other bid-offering a package for $48,722.

The commission elected to appropriate the $18,000 bank franchise tax to precinct 1 since the precinct is dealing with a projected deficit of $88,996.

Alex Schroeter, county auditor, said the money will help offset the deficit which Stribling inherited when he came into office. "Everything John (Stribling) has spent has been authorized expenditures within the correct limits. It's not something that he brought on himself. The former precinct 1 commissioner had a bad habit of overspending and John was handed all that."

Accounting advice
Bill Allen, accountant with Gerhardt & Puckett who audited the 1987-1988 county budget, suggested the county streamline its accounting.

Ag groups renew Hightower criticism

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Two agriculture-related groups have again criticized a plan by Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Hightower to sell hormone-free beef to the European Community.

The Texas Cattle Feeders Association and the Texas Farm Bureau criticized Hightower's attempt to circumvent a beef ban by the EC.

The EC implemented the ban against U.S. beef containing growth-inducing hormones on Jan. 1. The U.S., in turn, levied 100 percent tariffs on many foodstuffs from EC members.

Hightower last week said that Texas could supply the EC's beef needs with 35,000 head of hormone-free cattle.

"It's misleading to state that Texas can supply the EC demands with about 35,000 head of cattle," said TCFA president Wes Bonner. "If all the variety meats from an animal were shipped to the EC, it would require about 5.7 million head of 'hormone-free' cattle to supply the 167 million pounds the U.S. has been shipping to the EC."

In a meeting with Hightower last week, Bonner told Hightower that "cattlemen are extremely upset with your statements which imply to consumers in the U.S. and Europe that our product is unsafe."

S.M. True, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said Hightower's plan was a "publicity stunt."

"Hightower's support for the EC ban on imports of U.S. beef is based on fraud," True, a Plainview farmer, said. "As commissioner of agriculture, Hightower should be the first to know that there is absolutely no evidence of a health hazard in hormone use."

True said the EC ban was a "smokescreen" used to hide an oversupply of beef. "They are using the surplus as a trade barrier," True said. "They, too, know there is no health hazard."

True also called Hightower's plan a "pipe dream." "Only the federal government can issue meat export certificates," True said. "For beef to be so certified, a government inspector would literally have to stay with a herd full time."

Last week, the USDA said it could not let Hightower go ahead with his plan because it had no way to certify the beef as hormone-free. It would have to be certifiable before USDA could allow it to be legally exported.

"The tragedy of the present controversy, which was engineered by Hightower, is that the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, by law, is supposed to be an advocate of agriculture, not an enemy," True said. "While pretending to be a friend, he is, in fact, causing terrible damage to the beef cattle industry."

On Monday, some consumer advocates called for President Bush to reverse the administration's position and allow Texas and other states to export hormone-free beef.

Rod Leonard, executive director of the Community Nutrition Institute, said USDA could "do a certification procedure if it wants to."

Some consumer activist groups cheered the EC decision to ban beef imports containing the hormones. Dan Howell of the Center for Science in the Public Interest said that while proper use of growth hormones may pose no health hazard, there has been misuse and the government cannot adequately monitor the administration of growth additives.

Rich Parker of the American Meat Institute refuted those charges and added that beef raised without the growth hormones would lead to higher prices for consumers and make beef less competitive with other meats.

"Besides," Parker said, "the ban has nothing to do with safety. Europe wants to be a net exporter, not a net importer."

BABBLING BROOKS By John Brooks

By JOHN BROOKS

Thank goodness we're not in Alaska. The weathermen say that all that cold stuff in Alaska now is beginning to move to the south, and our spring is going to end about Friday or Saturday. It's been 80 below zero in some places up there. That was an unofficial reading taken along a highway somewhere. Maybe they measured the temperature by having some guy roll down his car window and sticking his arm outside, then measuring the amount of time it took for the guy's arm to freeze solid. The coldest official reading has been 74 below zero. And the wind was blowing about 30 mph at the time, making it feel like it was 120 below zero on exposed skin. When I heard some weatherman say that last part, I thought surely no one was foolish enough to be outside with exposed skin. Then I saw the Associated Press picture of some folks in a hot tub. Outside. In Fairbanks, Alaska. Sixty below. Wearing bikinis and trunks. I suppose when it's that cold you don't have to worry about, uh, "hot tub diseases." It's automatically pasteurized, with 120-above water and 60 below air. The weather people also say that cold stuff will be here about Friday. I just hope it's not as cold as it is in Alaska. I don't have a hot tub.

Why is it that toddlers have such great command of all of the negatives in the English language? I was down at 5 Star Video and there was this cute little tyke going through all of the "family" movies, all the Walt Disney stuff and the cartoons. "Put it back," Mom said. "NO!!!" said the girl. "Bring one of them here and we'll watch it." "Huh-unnhh." "Get over here." "No!" This child is not alone. Most other children have the same basic vocabulary. I guess it's not hard to understand. You fondly remember all the times you spend hovering over the crib smiling and saying "Daddd-eee" or "Momm-ccc," forming your lips just so and moving them slowly so your child will say that. You try hard to forget all the times you say "no!" to this same cute baby when the kid strews green beans all over the kitchen from his high chair, finds the tear in the couch cushion and pulls out 100 yards of stuffing one little piece at a time, or all the other un-sweet little things babies do along with the sweet ones.

Speaking of babies, didja know there are only two words in the English language that end in "gry"? One is angry, the other is hungry, and if you've ever been around a baby more than about three hours, you know the two go hand-in-hand.

Committee says building prisons not the answer

AUSTIN (AP) — The state shouldn't construct more prison facilities until the criminal justice system is reformed, a House subcommittee on alternatives to prison construction has recommended. Clemens has called for nearly 11,000 new prison beds, with construction financed by $343 million in bonds. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis also have voiced support for bonding to pay for prison construction. "We conclude that unless a comprehensive Texas criminal justice system management plan is written and implemented immediately, the addition of even one prison bed is a waste of our taxpayers' money," said the report presented Monday to the House Appropriations Committee by Rep. Ric Williamson, D-Weatherford. The subcommittee, headed by Williamson, said Gov. Bill Clements "should declare the entire criminal justice system to be in a state of emergency disarray."

Clements "should charge the Legislature with immediately developing a comprehensive restructuring that will return the control of our homes and property to law-abiding citizens," said the report. The five-member subcommittee heard last week from state officials and corrections experts. The report said, "We understand and agree with what our taxpayers expect — get tough on crime. Unfortunately, these 11,000 beds will not give our taxpayers the system they demand. Our streets will not be significantly safer; our homes will not be significantly more secure; our families will not be better protected."

Hereford police arrest 5 this weekend; report thefts

The Hereford Police Department arrested a man, 18, for public intoxication at 13th and Star streets; a man, 24, was charged with public intoxication in the 300 block of Bradley Street; a man, 70, was arrested on a Randall County traffic warrant; a 28-year-old man was charged with driving while intoxicated and backing without safety in the 600 block of Blevins Street; a man, 28, was charged with driving while intoxicated at Fifth and Main streets. Juvenile problems were reported on 15th Street; criminal mischief was reported on Hermosillo Street in which rent houses received $1,000 in damages; burglary of a coin-operated machine was reported in the 1500 block of East First Street; a stolen mailbox and pole were reported in the 900 block of 13th Street; suspicious activity was reported on 25 Mile Avenue; and assault was reported in the 300 block of Avenue H; Two air conditioner motors and pumps were reported stolen in the 300 block of Knight Street; two cases of injury to a child and a case of assault were reported stemming from a fight in Veteran's Park; a license plate was reported stolen in the 500 block of Avenue J; harassing phone calls were made in the 400 block of Avenue G; a fence was reported damaged in the 100 block of Avenue H; a wallet was reported stolen in the 300 block of Stadium Drive; A domestic dispute was investigated in the 400 block of 25 Mile Avenue; an incident of a man threatening a woman was investigated in the 100 block of Lawton Avenue; a suspicious person was reported in the 600 block of Irving Street; two 12-packs of beer were reported stolen from a convenience store at South Main Street and Austin Road; a video cassette recorder and a tool box were taken from a house in the 1500 block of East First Street; An assault was reported in the 600 block of Avenue I and assault was reported in the 300 block of Avenue F. Seventeen citations were issued and three minor accidents were reported.

Lawyer convicted of manslaughter

NEW YORK (AP) — Joel Steinberg was convicted of manslaughter but not murder in his adoptive daughter's death after jurors rejected testimony by his battered live-in companion that he beat the girl and left her comatose on their bathroom floor. Eight days of heated deliberations ended Monday when the jury reached the compromise verdict in the case that refocused national attention on domestic violence. By acquitting Steinberg of second-degree murder, the jurors decided that the disbarred lawyer had not shown "depraved indifference to human life" when he struck his illegally adopted 6-year-old daughter, Lisa, in a rage in November 1987. "It's a sad day for the kids who are being abused in this country," said Dr. Vincent Fontana, chairman of the Mayor's Task Force on Child Abuse, who believed Steinberg was guilty of murder. "The child protective system failed (Lisa), the school system failed her, and now the judicial system has failed her." District Attorney Robert Morgenthau promised to seek the maximum 1-3-to-25-year prison sentence for the first-degree manslaughter conviction, which required the jury to find that Steinberg intended to cause Lisa serious harm. Steinberg, 47, faces sentencing March 8. "Steinberg has shown himself to fully deserve that sentence," Morgenthau said, adding: The case "highlighted the dreadful problems that beset our city — child abuse, drug abuse and family violence. All of us have a responsibility to work to ensure that similar tragedies do not reoccur." Steinberg was stoic as the verdict was announced, ending a three-month trial in a case that spun a web of drugs and domestic violence from behind the facade of a quiet Greenwich Village building. "He did not say anything," said Steinberg's attorney, Ira London. "He did not do anything." "We do not consider this (verdict) a win for Joel or a triumph for Joel," said London. Michele Launders, Lisa's 27-year-old biological mother, fled the courtroom in tears and would not speak to reporters after the verdict. Just before the announcement, she said, "The only verdict that would be justice for Lisa is murder." She had been sitting next to Graeann Smigiel, the grandmother of a then-16-month-old boy who was found in Steinberg's apartment, tethered to a crib and drinking spoiled milk, when police and paramedics removed Lisa's comatose body on the morning of Nov. 2, 1987. Steinberg and his former companion, Hedda Nussbaum, were charged with Lisa's death but Ms. Nussbaum testified under immunity as the star prosecution witness. Publicly about the case reached a peak during Ms. Nussbaum's emotionally wrenching testimony in December, when local television stations and Cable News Network broadcast extensive chunks of her testimony nationwide.

Plan says taxpayers to finance health care

WASHINGTON (AP) — Employers and all but the poorest Americans would be taxed to finance a national health care system extending medical insurance to the estimated 37 million who lack coverage, under a plan proposed by a commission including three former presidents. The proposal encourages continued reliance on private health insurance provided through the workplace, but calls for a new program to provide universal access to basic medical services. Costs would be spread among employers and all Americans above 150 percent of poverty level. The plan offered Monday is designed to extend medical coverage to all Americans, stem the growth of medical expenses which now stand at $550 billion annually, and improve the quality of medical care nationwide, said the National Leadership Commission on Health Care, which worked 2½ years preparing its proposal. "If we continue the present trend, the $550 billion will double in six years and triple in 12 years," said Paul G. Rogers, a former Democratic congressman from Florida who co-chaired the commission with former Iowa Gov. Robert D. Ray, a Republican. The commission also is headed by three former presidents — Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter — who served as honorary co-chairmen. The commission was financed by 38 corporations, unions and foundations. The commission called its plan "eminently fair," and estimated it would add about $15 billion to the $550 billion already being spent on health care annually. "It is not something that will blow us over as a nation," said Uwe Reinhardt, a Princeton University professor of economics and member of the commission. Members of the commission are to meet soon with Bush administration officials and members of Congress to go over the recommendations.

Alaska still shivering; relief not coming soon

ANCHORAGE (AP) — Alaskans struggled with frozen pipes, fuel and food shortages and wind chills of minus 125 degrees in a record cold spell that showed no sign of relaxing its 2-week-old icy grip. A high-pressure system with clear skies, stinging cold and wind heading southeast from Alaska's interior, and another high-pressure system moving in from Siberia threatened to prolong the cold snap. "Basically, we can expect the same kind of cold to continue, with temperatures way below normal," said National Weather Service meteorologist Dan Keeton. With the temperature hovering around 60-below, a C-130 transport plane crashed in a thick, icy fog Sunday night just short of a runway at Fort Wainwright, southeast of Fairbanks, killing eight Canadian soldiers and critically injuring three others. "The weather was quite bad," said U.S. Army Capt. Jim Rodgers. However, the official cause of the crash has not been determined. The coldest place in the state yesterday was McGrath, 150 miles west of Mount McKinley, where it was minus 64. In Fairbanks, it was 60 below. In Anchorage, it was balmy—minus 45, the coldest January day in 15 years. The normal January temperature in Fairbanks is only minus 13.

Sweethearts honored

The three local chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority feted their sweethearts with a brunch Saturday morning at the Community Center. Honored amid decorations of hearts and cookie bouquets were, from left, Dee Ann Matthews of Alpha Iota Mu; Susan Cardinal of Xi Epsilon Alpha; and Gerry Taylor of Alpha Alpha Preceptor. The sweethearts will also be recognized at the Feb. 11 Valentine's Sweetheart Dance set from 8 p.m. until midnight at the KC Hall; the annual event is sponsored by the local chapters.

Brunch fetes sorority sweethearts

A brunch honoring Beta Sigma Phi Sorority sweethearts was held Saturday morning in the Community Center. Each of the three chapters recognized their sweetheart selected for 1988-89. They were: Dee Ann Matthews of Alpha Iota Mu; Susan Cardinal of Xi Epsilon Alpha; and Gerry Taylor, Alpha Alpha Preceptor. The buffet-style brunch consisted of sweet rolls, omelets, fruit, orange juice and coffee. Tables were topped with white cloths and were centered with cookie bouquets consisting of heart-shaped cookies and multi-colored ribbon. A get-acquainted exercise began the annual event as members from the three chapters mingled. Last year's sweethearts, Kathie Kerr, Kay Williams, and Brenda Thomas, were in charge of the brunch. It was announced that the Sweetheart Valentine's Dance will be held Saturday, Feb. 11 at the KC Hall from 8 p.m. until midnight. Sorority members and guests will be treated to chips, dips, and soft drinks while listening and dancing to music played by disk jockey Robert Holmes. Sweethearts, along with their escorts, will be presented at the annual February event.

PEAR PIE

Dear Heloise: My pear tree had an abundance of fruit this year. I gave so many away and still had more. My specialty is apple pies, so I thought why not peel and slice pears and make some pies. I prepared them just as I do with apples. I was pleasantly surprised! The cinnamon and consistency of the pears made them taste like my famous apple pies. — Toni Cummins, Los Angeles, Calif. BAG HOLDER

Dear Heloise: I kept an old record holder for years. I didn't want to get rid of it but I no longer needed it. I felt it could be used for something. I had a great idea! I put it under my kitchen sink in the cabinet. I now store all my paper bags in it. It keeps them nice and neat and easy to reach. — Rita Moran, Topeka, Kansas

CHOCOLATE SYRUP

Dear Heloise: Did you ever want that little bit of chocolate syrup that's at the bottom of a squeeze bottle and won't come out? Don't fret, you can get every drop. Fill the bottle with milk and shake it. It mixes with the last bit of chocolate. Then just pour it into a glass. You can add more milk if you don't like it too dark. There's usually enough chocolate left in the bottom to make two glasses of milk. — Theresa Barnes, Monticello, N.Y.

FILING DOCUMENTS

Dear Heloise: I keep many important documents in a wall safe and found it very difficult to organize these papers for easy access. It is no fun to have to unfold each document to look at the contents. Now all I do is re-fold the documents so the letterhead is facing out and use a paper clip to secure the fold. When I need a document, I thumb through the file and the document is easy to recognize. — Karen Peterson, San Francisco, Calif.

Fluoride-releasing sealants offer two-way protection

The two most potent weapons against tooth decay—fluoride and plastic tooth sealants—have been brought together for the first time to yield anti-cavity protection that is potentially twice as strong as either substance alone. Scientists at the National Institute of Dental Research (NIDR) have blended the anti-cavity properties of fluorides and sealants into a fluoride-releasing sealant that could eventually provide children with invincible armor against decay. Like sealants now in use, the new fluoride-releasing sealant will coat teeth, physically sealing out the oral bacteria that causes tooth decay. But the new sealant will go one step further by continuously releasing trace amounts of fluoride, thus providing a significant extra measure of protection against decay. The chemical process involved provides a long-term, steady fluoride-release, but leaves the sealant intact. A nearly constant concentration of fluoride is maintained between the sealant and the tooth it covers. Like sealants now in use, the fluoride-releasing sealant would be applied primarily to pits and fissures, the nooks and crannies on the biting surfaces of teeth where most decay occurs. The South Plains District Dental Society recommends pit and fissure sealants for children as part of a total dental care program. But the new sealants may also be effective in sealing microscopic cavities on other areas in the tooth as well. NIDR is also exploring potential uses of the sealant to fill cavities and bond braces to teeth. Animal and laboratory studies are currently underway to fully test the safety and effectiveness of the fluoride-releasing sealant.

Shower honors Mrs. Kip Savage

Mrs. Kip Savage (nee Christie Chisum) was feted with a wedding shower Saturday morning at the home of Mrs. Robert Barrett, 301 Douglas. Greeting the guests with the honoree were her mother and grandmother, Mrs. Cecil Chisum and Mrs. Myrtle Hamblen of Amarillo. Also greeting guests were the mother and grandmothers of the groom: Mrs. Freddie Savage, Sr.; Mrs. Reba Hall of Lubbock; and Mrs. Lowell Savage, respectively. Guests were served refreshments of sausage balls, various sweet breads, doughnuts, finger sandwiches, and fresh fruit along with spiced tea and coffee. Refreshments were served from a white linen cutwork cloth centered by an arrangement of silk flowers in the bride's chosen colors of pink and burgundy. Crystal candelabra containing pink and burgundy candles completed the setting. Hostesses presented Mrs. Savage with an Oster Kitchen Center. Hostesses included Mmes. J.B. Shirley, Arthur Dettmann, Marion Ginn, Kenneth Gooch, G.L. (Bob) White, John Wilson, Bryan Evans, Justin McNeely, Robert Barrett, Jim Arney, Jim Henderson, and Henry Reid. The couple married Jan. 21 in Hereford.

Hereford Study Club hears review of 'The Suitcases'

Joan Yarbrow hosted Hereford Study Club in her home Jan. 19 with Morgan Cain acting as co-hostess. Audine Dettman reviewed 'The Suitcases' by Ann Hall Whitt. The author recounted her very early childhood years and growing up in Charlotte, N.C. The idealistic, happy family life changed suddenly at the death of Whitt's young mother, leaving young daughters age four, five, and six. The father went into a deep depression which brought the arrival of a woman in black carrying three black suitcases to transport the girls' things and take them to an orphanage.

Robinson, Addie Cunningham, Mildred Garrison, Jean Ballard, Bessie Story, Helen Spinks, Yarbrow, Gladys Setliff, Elizabeth Cesar, Willie Braddy, Virginia Winget, Cain, Doris Bryant, Mary Stoy, and Gracie Shaw. The next meeting will be held Feb. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

This became a pattern, Whitt noted, as the woman in black came again and again to pack the girls' possessions in "the suitcases" and take them to yet another orphanage or foster home. According to Dettman, Whitt's story is both heart-warming and sad, but with many humorous aspects. Refreshments were served to Leta Kaul, Inez Witherspoon, Nedra COQUILLE, Ore. (AP) — The amount of lumber used for railroad crossties in the United States is equal to the lumber used to build 2.9 million single-family homes, according to Georgia-Pacific Corp. Nearly 29 billion board feet of lumber support the more than 233,000 miles of railroad tracks linking the nation, the forest products firm says. Crossties, which are preservative-treated to last more than 25 years, are made of elm, oak, maple and other hardwoods because of those species' strength, elasticity and resistance to shock.

Top Elks' hoop shooters

These Hereford children were among the top winners at the annual Elks' Hoop Shoot Contest held Saturday at the Hereford High School gymnasium. The local winners will advance to the district contest in Borger in February.

Six win at Hoop Shoot

Six Hereford children won the first round of competition in the Elks Hoop shoot free-throw contest held Saturday at the Hereford High School gymnasium.

Michelle Brock, Danielle Cornelius and Julie Rampley won the girls' age-group contests, and Stacey Sanders, Ronald Torres and Fidencio Ruiz won the boys' age-group contests.

They will advance to the district finals in Borger in February, where they will compete with other age-group winner from the area.

The Elks Hoop Shoot began as a project of the Corvallis, Ore., Elks in 1946, and is in its 17th year of national competition. Over three million boys and girls are expected to participate in the national contest this year.

HHS traveling to Dumas

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces will make their final road trip of the year tonight when they go to Dumas to meet the second-place Demonettes at 6:30 p.m.

At 8 p.m., the Whitefaces will meet the Demons.

The Lady Whitefaces, 5-8 in District 1-4A and 11-15 for the season, face a Dumas squad that has lost only two games—to Levelland—in the District 1-4A double round-robin. Hereford will try to bounce back from a four-game losing skid.

In the boys' contest, the Whitefaces will meet a Dumas team they defeated by a point in their first meeting back on Dec. 6 in Hereford. The Hereford boys are 2-9 and in eighth place in the district and are 7-15 on the season.

The Hereford JV teams and the sophomore boys will also be in action tonight.

Indiana dumps Iowa to take Big 10 lead

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — His free-throw shooting has been off and Indiana's Todd Jadow doesn't believe practice is the answer.

But the senior center came up with an answer Monday night, making 18 in a row en route to a career-high 32 point performance.

The 6-foot-9 Jadow also had a career-high 13 rebounds as No. 17 Indiana downed No. 9 Iowa 104-69 to maintain sole possession of first place in the Big Ten Conference. It was the only game involving ranked teams.

"Free throws is all a mental thing," said Jadow, who went into the game with a .385 mark from the line in conference action. "I think once you hit a few, you just keep going, you get into a little rhythm and they just start falling for you."

Jadow, struggling since conference play began, averaging only three points a game in his past seven games, made his first start in four games.

"I started him because we needed the inside scoring that we didn't have in Saturday's game," Coach Bobby Knight said in reference to a 75-65 loss to then-No. 1 Illinois when Jadow failed to score in 30 minutes of play.

Jadow's 18 free throws made tied the Assembly Hall record for a game. He lost the chance to tie the mark for free throw percentage in a game when he missed his last two attempts.

"He did give them an awful game inside and you could see we just could not contain on the interior," Iowa coach Tom Davis said. "Defensively we had an awful lot of problems locating him down inside, partially because we were trying to cover him with some people in foul trouble and our bench is a little soft at some of those positions."

While Jadow was doing his damage inside, the three-guard starting unit of Jay Edwards, Lyndon Jones and Joe Hillman gave the Hawkeyes problems outside.

Edwards scored 28 points and set a school record for 3-pointers in a career with the third of four he made in the first half.

The Hoosiers led 58-49 at the half and built the lead to 13 points early in the second period before Iowa charged back to cut the deficit to 77-75 with 8:01 to play.

Indiana then went on a 13-2 spurt that ended with two Jadow free throws, giving them a 90-77 lead with 4:28 remaining.

Indiana's 12th consecutive home victory boosted the Hoosiers to 17-5 overall, 7-1 in the Big Ten.

Iowa, which got 27 points from B.J. Armstrong and 26 from Ed Horton, slipped to 15-4 and 3-3.

In other action, Brian Shorter scored 20 points and Pittsburgh got the first 11 points in overtime to beat St. John's 85-81 in the Big East.

Jason Matthews, who scored 18 points, had a 3-point basket and four foul shots in overtime for the Panthers, 11-8 and 4-1 in the Big East. Jayson Williams had 19 points and 13 rebounds for the Redmen, 12-7 and 4-5.

The beating goes on for Heat, Clippers

By The Associated Press

The Miami Heat is still looking like an expansion team. So are the Los Angeles Clippers.

The Heat and Clippers, the NBA's two worst clubs, lost again Monday night as their seasons of misery continued.

Golden State beat Miami 106-98 while Atlanta downed Los Angeles 130-101 for the Clippers' 15th consecutive defeat.

Miami reached the NBA's halfway point at 4-37. The worst record ever is 9-72 by Philadelphia in 1972-73.

The Clippers, in their 19th year of existence, went 0-14 in January — a month when Danny Manning was injured and lost for the season and Coach Gene Shue was fired. The Clippers are four short of the longest losing streak in franchise history, set in 1981-82 while in San Diego.

Before the game, Grant Gondezick of the Clippers told the team he had contacted the NBA office and requested admission to a substance abuse clinic.

"I don't know what effect it had on the team," Clippers coach Don Casey said. "It was an emotional scene. His father's been ill, and the frustration of the season ... I had no suspicion."

The visiting Hawks went on a 22-8 burst in the third quarter to break away from a 60-all tie.

Warriors 105, Heat 98

Rookie Mitch Richmond scored 26 points and Golden State held off Miami's fourth-quarter rally.

The Warriors led 62-45 early in the third quarter before the Heat got within 94-92 with 6½ minutes left. But Chris Mullin, who scored 24 points, and Winston Garland, who had 22, kept Golden State in control.

Billy Thompson had 30 points and Grant Long had 24 for Miami. Suns 126, Nuggets 100

Eddie Johnson had 26 points and Tom Chambers and Arnon Gilliam got 20 each as Phoenix beat Denver in a matchup of the league's two highest-scoring teams.

The Suns scored 13 straight points in the first quarter and led 70-49 at halftime.

Trail Blazers 130, Hornets 118
Clyde Drexler scored 32 points and Portland pulled away in the third quarter to beat visiting Charlotte.

The Trail Blazers scored 10 straight points for an 89-75 lead and increased their edge to 104-86 after three quarters.

Kevin Duckworth added 19 points and Terry Porter had 17 points, 10 assists and eight rebounds for Portland.

Kelly Tripucka scored 26 points for the expansion Hornets, who are 11-32.

Yeoman set to resign

HOUSTON (AP) — Former University of Houston football coach Bill Yeoman, who coached the Cougars to national prominence during his 25 years as coach, is expected to retire soon from his university fund-raising position, the Houston Chronicle reported today.

Yeoman has served in the fund-raising post since he retired from football coaching in 1986.

Yeoman, 61, retired with one of college football's winningest records at 160-108-8. The record was remarkable in that in his last five seasons, UH teams won only 22 of 56 games.

The West Point graduate and former player invented the Veer offense, a dominant college offense in the 1970s and early '80s. The Veer still is used widely in high school football.

In 25 years, Yeoman's teams went to 12 bowl games, including three Cotton Bowls in UH's first four years in the Southwest Conference in the late 1970s. His 1984 team returned to the Cotton Bowl.

Yeoman is expected to leave the university by early March. The details of the retirement are not yet complete, high-level administrative officials said Monday.

"It's going to happen," a source said. "It's now just a matter of time."

Yeoman is in the third year of a four-year, $412,000 contract. After he leaves, he is expected to be compensated according to his individual retirement options.

Yeoman and UH President Richard Van Horn declined to comment on the former coach's future.

Houston was placed on three years' probation by the National Collegiate Athletic Association last month for recruiting violations. Yeoman's direct role in the improprieties and his initial reluctance to cooperate in the NCAA inquiry were noted in the association's report.

The NCAA probation, the school's third since Yeoman took over the UH program in 1962, prohibits bowl game appearances for the next two seasons and live television next year. The sanctions also include a reduction in Houston's allotment of scholarships.

The NCAA indicated the penalties against UH would have been harsher had several steps not been taken to improve the integrity of the athletic program.

The changes included Yeoman's retirement, the hiring of Rudy Davalos as athletic director and academic and financial reforms instituted within the athletic department.

The NCAA also called for UH to suspend Yeoman from fund-raising activities involving the athletic department.

Rice reaping MVP honors

NEW YORK (AP) — While Jerry Rice is on the verge of reaping some of the benefits a Super Bowl MVP earns, he says his talents are still being obscured by the long shadows of Joe Montana and Bill Walsh.

Rice, who caught 11 passes for 215 yards as San Francisco beat Cincinnati 20-16 nine days ago, was in town Monday to receive the sports car awarded him by Sport Magazine.

And he was hardly starved for attention, sitting down for interviews with nearly a dozen reporters, then sitting for individual television interviews. Moreover, he said that his agent, Jim Steiner, has begun to get requests for endorsements and appearances — just those things he said last week were passing him by.

But he still says his achievements in the game had been overshadowed by the attention paid to Walsh's retirement as coach or the 49ers and by Montana for quarterbacking the 92-yard drive that won the game in the final three minutes.

"I went back to the Bay Area and I felt like I didn't get the coverage I deserved," Rice said.

"I don't think it was racism. Maybe it was because of Bill Walsh retiring or maybe because of Joe Montana, but somewhere, Jerry Rice got lost in the shuffle. I expected to get a little more respect."

Last week, Rice implied in an appearance on a San Francisco television station that he might be getting less attention because he is black.

"If it were Joe Montana, Dwight Clark, it would have been headlines all over," he said, adding "I'm not saying it's racism." But when asked if he thought racism was involved, he replied: "Yeah, I would say so." On Monday, he again denied that there was racism involved, but added:

"What I said needed to be said."

He also said he had nothing against Montana.

"Joe and I have a good understanding," he said. "We've got good chemistry going. It was nothing against him. But I just felt I had to use he and Dwight Clark as examples of people who are built up by the media."

Rice also pointed out that Walsh, who stepped down as coach last week in favor of George Seifert, had called him and told him the laid-back Bay Area is not as lucrative an area for endorsements by athletes as, say Chicago, where 16 Bears got radio or television shows after their Super Bowl victory following the 1985 season.

"He told me not to feel bad, that it had nothing to do with racism. He said he'd had a Volvo and he didn't have it any more," Rice said.

Baylor's Strait program lands top running back

CUERO, Texas (AP) — Robert Strait, touted as Texas' top high school running back and the No. 3 rusher in national schoolboy history, said he was leaning toward playing outside the probation-plagued Southwest Conference until he saw a videotape prepared by league coaches.

Strait announced Monday that he will attend Baylor University. He also had considered Southern California, Miami, Houston, Texas Tech and Texas. He said Oklahoma University was a frontrunner before the Sooners were hit by NCAA probation.

Oral commitments are non-binding. The national letter of intent signing period begins Feb. 8.

Strait said he was influenced by a videotape, "Stay and Play," that Southwest Conference coaches put together as a cooperative venture, urging the state's top high school states to stay in Texas.

"When it first began, I really wanted to go out of state," Strait said. "After I took the visits and saw the film on why athletes should stay in Texas ... I thought, 'Why go out of state and help California beat Texas?' I'm from Texas."

Strait said he decided to attend Baylor because he felt comfortable at the school and wanted to go to a school he could help rebuild.

Six of the nine SWC schools came under NCAA sanctions over the past four years — all except Baylor, Rice and Arkansas.

"It came down to Baylor and USC (Southern California)," Strait said Monday in announcing his plans. "I was just going by what my heart thought."

Strait said the atmosphere at Baylor was more personal, and he believes he won't be "just a number" there.

"I decided to go to Baylor because it has an excellent program," he said in a telephone conference call. "I want to be with a program that I can help build up. I feel I don't have to play as a freshman. ... There are a lot of Baylor backs in the pros. They must have some good running coaches."

A member of The Associated Press Super All-State football team, Strait rushed for 1,421 yards last season, giving him a career total of 8,404 yards, second in Texas schoolboy history behind Sugar Land's Kenneth Hall.

Hall gained 11,232 yards in 1969-83 and is the all-time national leader ahead of Emmitt Smith of Pensacola Escambia, Fla., who gained 8,004 yards in 1983-85.

Strait had eight 100-yard performances last season and finished second nationally with 40 career 100-yard games behind Smith's record 45. He also scored a national record 128 career touchdowns.

Strait visited Baylor, Southern California, Miami, Texas Tech, Nebraska, and Arkansas. He made an unofficial visit to the University of Texas last weekend, but he said he felt uncomfortable there.

"I didn't feel like I would fit in," Strait said. "There was just something about it that I didn't like."

He said he had made up his mind about a week ago but waited to disclose his choice so he could make a final visit to Miami.

Strait said he just wanted to play college football and had no preference about what position — tailback or fullback. The 6-foot-1½-inch Strait said he also plans to lose 10 pounds, dropping to 215.

Baylor's football program, he predicted, will improve during the next couple of years. Baylor finished 6-5 last season.

"They're going to be a contender for the Southwest Conference title," Strait said.

Kimbrough going back to Plano

PLANO, Texas (AP) — Deciding to do without the East Texas pines and the peaceful fishing holes that lie within, Henderson football coach Tom Kimbrough will soon become Plano coach Tom Kimbrough again.

Kimbrough quit as coach at Henderson High School Monday, less than a month after he resigned at Plano Senior High School.

Back then he said: "The main reason that I'm going is the appreciation for the beauty of East Texas. We have a deep appreciation for the aesthetic quality, the pine trees, the oaks trees. That's very meaningful to us."

But on Monday, in a prepared statement to the Henderson school district, Kimbrough said he was never sure he was making the right decision by leaving Plano to begin with.

Kimbrough, 44, led Plano to three state championships and a 142-23-6 record in 13 seasons as head coach. In his statement, among the reasons he cited was his commitment to the Plano school system, with which he has been associated since August 1968.

He expressed a concern about handling the dual roles of coach and athletic director at Henderson and said the opportunities for an eventual administrative position were greater in Plano because it is a larger district.

John Clark, athletic director for the Plano school district who headed the search for a replacement, said Kimbrough called Saturday to inquire about how far along the school district was in its selection process.

"I told him we were getting close to the point where we were ready to name someone," Clark said.

Clark, in fact, had planned to recommend a replacement at Monday's meeting. Before hearing from Kimbrough, he said, he had narrowed his list of finalists to several candidates.

"We were going to meet today," Clark said. "Had we not recommended (Kimbrough), we would have recommended somebody else."

Clark, who hand-picked Kimbrough as his successor as football coach when he stepped down after the 1975 season, said he was surprised by Kimbrough's change of heart.

"From the discussion I had with him, I felt like that when he indicated he was going to Henderson, he was gone," said Clark.

Kimbrough had submitted his resignation Jan. 4 and began work in Henderson on Jan. 16.

"We're in kind of a semi-state of shock right now," said Tommy Alexander, Henderson assistant school superintendent. "I guess he's been thinking about it for a couple of days now, but it wasn't something we expected."

In a special meeting Monday afternoon, the Plano School Board approved the administration's recommendation to rehire Kimbrough under the same contract with the same benefits, school district spokeswoman Nancy Long said.

Said Alexander: "I guess he just decided he had too much invested up there, and that was home."

Baseball delay surprises coaches

ALICE, Texas (AP) — A proposal out of West Texas to delay the start of high school baseball in classes A, 2A and 3A has stirred a controversy across the state.

The UIL has been asked to postpone the beginning of baseball in the classes until after district track meets in mid-April.

Coaches in South Texas and East Texas, where milder winters are the norm, seem to be leading the protest against the suggestion.

Under the proposal, the state tournament would take place in the last week of June in A, 2A and 3A. For years, high school baseball has begun in late February, with the state tournament for all classes in the first full week of June.

The measure passed the vote of superintendents in those classes by an overall 427-151 count on Jan. 12.

According to Bill Farney, UIL athletic director however, the measure could be proposed, voted upon and reversed in the same manner this summer and fall in time to keep the format as it is when 1990 baseball comes around.

Many coaches said they learned of the change at the Texas High School Baseball Coaches Convention in Waco, two days after it was passed by superintendents.

"Our superintendent (Gary Hebert) said that he didn't recall voting on that. I think a lot of superintendents just didn't understand it," said Marcus Broesche, baseball coach at Burton, a Class 1A school.

"There were a lot of shocked faces there (Waco) when they heard about it. It was something that just slipped through," Broesche said.

Farney said from his office in Austin:

"The superintendents voted and some coaches didn't know about it and some superintendents are saying they didn't understand it, but lo and behold it passed. It passed in every conference by majority vote and by schools that play baseball."

Charlie Johnston, head football coach and athletic director at Childress, initiated the proposal.

"It was to basically eliminate the crowding on the spring schedule in smaller schools. Class 4 and 5-A usually have specialists, but in smaller schools we'd like to participate but can't."

His players want to compete both in baseball and track, Johnston said.

"Basically a lot of people took it as something to hurt baseball but it is to help. There are a lot of people in small schools and they don't have the coaching personnel. This opens it for a track coach or another one to do both."

Johnston says that there are established summer programs available to the Class 4A and 5A players that are not available to athletes in smaller towns.

"Hey, we're not tied in concrete," he said. "If it won't work, we'll just have to go back to the way it was. I want to see kids get the opportunity to do more and in small schools there is a small amount of money."

Alice baseball coach Tony Gomez said: "It was mainly to start programs in West Texas, but it will kill programs here in South Texas. Even after graduation the (regular) season will still go on. A lot of parents here want their kids to go work after graduation and it is pretty hard in some rural situations."

Gomez said more money would be needed for coaches' salaries because of the three extra weeks of time required by a delay in the season. He predicted the change would kill many summer baseball programs.

Mario De Leon, head baseball coach at Corpus Christi Ray, said he is happy the change doesn't affect 5A schools. He said a major disadvantage to him is that it would foul up summer plans for some students wanting to go to summer school or college.

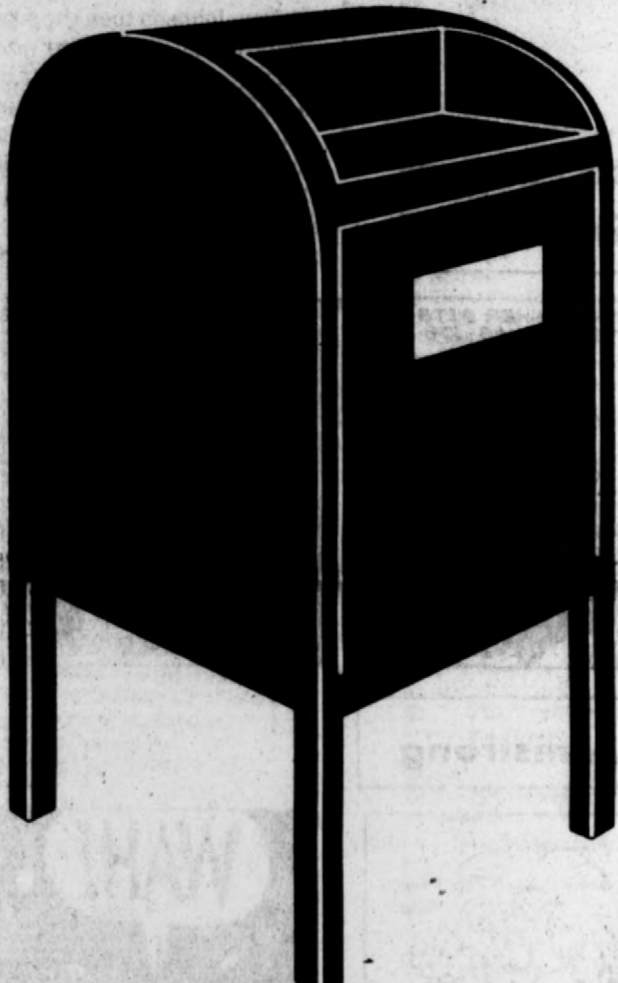

John "Red" Murff of Brenham, a scout for the Atlanta Braves, said by delaying the season, many high school players will miss out on professional baseball opportunities because they won't hit their stride until after the major league baseball draft in June.

"Those small schools. We won't see 'em before the draft and if we don't see 'em the colleges won't see 'em," Murff said.

Diabetic risk factors, complications noted

An estimated 411,000 people in Texas have diabetes and an equal number probably have the disease and do not know it, says the Texas Medical Association.

Diabetes occurs when the pancreas gland cannot produce insulin. Insulin helps the body metabolize carbohydrates (starches) and glucose (sugars).

Diabetes is detected in blood or urine tests. Sugar in the urine and a high level of sugar in the blood are the first signs that the body is no longer using food the way it should.

Symptoms of diabetes include frequent urination (the body's attempt to get rid of the large amount of sugar in the blood) and constant thirst.

People who seem most likely to develop diabetes are over forty, overweight, a blood relative of a diabetic, or a woman who gives birth to large babies (over nine pounds). Mexican-Americans and blacks also are more likely to develop diabetes. In addition, the longer a person has the disease, the more likely complications may develop.

Such risks include diabetic eye disease or retinopathy, nerve disease of the feet (neuropathy), and chronic kidney failure. These conditions are treatable, with the best results coming from early recognition during regular medical checkups.

Diabetic retinopathy is a leading cause of vision problems, such as cataracts and glaucoma, and blindness. Diabetics should have their eyes examined regularly for signs of changes in the retina.

Neuropathy is common among diabetics because circulation to the feet is impaired. Diabetic foot complications will result in about 2,400 amputations in Texas this year, but taking good care of the feet can help the diabetic avoid amputations.

Another diabetic-related complication is chronic kidney failure. This condition occurs when waste products and chemicals gradually build up in the blood, and the kidneys become unable to limit the amount of water in the urine.

TMA reminds you that diabetes is an easily detectable disease that can be managed and controlled. Maintaining the correct body weight, controlling high blood pressure, smoking cessation, and careful monitoring of blood sugar levels with diet and exercise or medications, if necessary, help the diabetic maintain good health. In addition, regular medical checkups can detect complications early.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization with nearly 29,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin and has 116 component county medical societies around the state.

Names In The News

RADNOR, Pa. (AP) — Former Miss America Vanessa Williams said she was surprised by all the publicity the NBC-TV movie "The Sex Tapes" received during filming.

The film in which she plays a prostitute surrounded by sadomasochism is really just a detective movie with a kinky background, she says in this week's TV Guide.

"Well I guess it's a combination of the subject matter and the cast," said Ms. Williams, who lost her Miss America crown in 1984 after nude photos of her were published in Penthouse magazine.

She said she had no qualms about her role.

"You know, it's amazing how many people have asked me whether I have a problem playing a hooker," she said. "No, I don't. My character's motivation is good. She's a girl on the run for her life."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Don Johnson, who portrays the hard-nosed but flashily dressed "Miami Vice" undercover cop, has apprehended a suspect in real life.

He nabbed an intruder in a hotel room as the man rifled through the purse of his fiancée, actress Melanie Griffith, police said Monday.

Johnson, 39, discovered the intruder when he and Miss Griffith opened the door to their room at the Hotel Bel-Air on Sunday night, said police Capt. Clayton Mayes. The purse contained expensive jewelry, but the couple surprised the man before anything was taken, Mayes said.

"Don Johnson took the suspect into custody and held him until hotel security officers could detain him until police arrived," Mayes said.

Arrested and booked for investigation of attempted burglary was David Johnson, 34, no relation to the actor, Mayes said.

Miss Griffith, 31, received a Golden Globe award Saturday night for best comic actress for her performance in the movie "Working Girl." She and Johnson were married previously and have decided to remarry.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Kim, the mentally handicapped savant whose life provided the initial inspiration for the film "Rain Man," is urging the Utah Legislature to generously finance programs for the handicapped.

Kim, 37, whose real name remains confidential, spoke to the House on Monday and demonstrated remarkable mental skills that allow him to recite long passages from books and films he has seen, or compute the correct day of the week for virtually any date on the calendar.

"The work of love is really important. We need lots more money to carry our work on together. We want you to support us in our workshops," Kim said.

The occasion for Kim's remarks was the House's passage of a resolution honoring him for "being a role model for other handicapped persons, and for helping to educate the public regarding the handicapped and their rightful place in society."

The filmmakers also used as their model Joseph Sullivan, a West Virginia savant with skills similar to Kim's. In researching his role as a handicapped savant, actor Dustin Hoffman met with Kim and studied his movements and mannerisms.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Corporate raider Ronald O. Perelman has cast his takeover net out again, this time snagging Spiderman, The Incredible Hulk and the rest of the Marvel Comics superheroes.

The $825 million sale of Marvel Entertainment Group to the Perelman-controlled Andrews Group was completed Wednesday, according to Marvel's old owner, New World Entertainment Inc.

The deal gives New York-based Andrews four Marvel operations, including the comic books, cartoon strips and most rights to the characters.

New World, a struggling movie company, gets to hang onto Marvel's cartoon shows.

Perelman, chairman of Revlon Corp., last month took part in the multibillion-dollar government bailout of an ailing Texas savings and loan.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Kelly McGillis, the star of "Witness" and "The Accused," says she and California yacht broker Fred Tillman were secretly married New Year's Eve.

The ceremonies were held on Tillman's yacht off Miami as Miss McGillis was filming the movie "Cat Chaser," co-starring Peter Weller.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — First lady-to-be Barbara Bush drew kind comments from Mr. Blackwell, but Marilyn Quayle, wife of the vice president-elect, made his Worst-Dressed Women of 1988 list.

"Barbara Bush is going to bring back vanilla ice cream and apple pie. It is going to be pure mid-America," Blackwell said Wednesday as he unveiled his 29th annual Worst-Dressed list.

Britain's Duchess of York and former Philippines first lady Imelda Marcos topped the list by Blackwell, a designer and self-appointed fashion arbiter whose real name is Richard Sylvan Selzer.

Third place went to actress Debra Winger, followed by pop star-actress Madonna; Mrs. Quayle, and Shirley Temple Black. Three celebrity offspring tied for seventh place: Lisa Marie Presley, Carrie Hamilton and Katie Wagner. Jamie Lee Curtis was next, followed by Jodie Foster and funny lady Roseanne Barr.

Cedar Fever A Winter Annoyance

Every year, some people suffer through the colder months with what feels like a head cold, combined with itchy eyes, headaches, general tiredness and other symptoms, just because they breathe the brisk outdoor air.

Allergy sufferers are plentiful in Texas, especially in the central region and hill country. And December and January are some of their worst months, according to the Texas Department of Health (TDH), since the onset of colder weather invariably brings "cedar fever."

Cedar fever is an allergic reaction to the pollen of male mountain cedar (actually two species of juniper), which grow wild throughout Texas. The male trees have tiny green cones which turn brown, spring open, and release a yellow pollen onto the winter winds.

The minute, sticky, pollen grains irritate the eyes and sinuses, and enter the sufferer's respiratory system, triggering an allergic reaction.

Allergy specialists say that cedar fever is second only to ragweed allergy in the number of Texans it affects. And its severity may be greater. Even persons who are able to resist other allergens may fall victim to cedar fever. And for reasons not fully understood, some may react more severely in one year than in another.

In most cases of cedar fever, the reaction is uncomfortable, but temporary. Milder cases may be successfully controlled with over-the-counter antihistamines. However, TDH advises that anyone with severe or persistent symptoms should consult a physician. Prolonged irritation of the sinuses or throat can lead to infections, or may be signs of other illness.

Also, anyone with histories of serious respiratory diseases may be advised to seek treatment by an allergy specialist.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: I am a 64-year-old woman and had my uterus and cervix removed 16 years ago because of benign tumors. I took an oral contraceptive for 14 years prior to the hysterectomy and have been taking Premarin since.
My present doctor, an internist, wants me to get my prescription updated by a gynecologist. I question the need for my seeing one or having a Pap smear or pelvic examination. I have a healthy vagina and ovaries. My cholesterol and HDL-cholesterol are excellent. I have long thin bones and am careful to get calcium along with taking estrogen to prevent osteoporosis. Would there be any reason for my taking progesterone?

DEAR READER: If you still have your ovaries, as your letter suggests, a gynecologist might want to examine them. Cancer of the ovaries is one of five most common causes for cancer deaths in women.
Taking progesterone when taking estrogen helps prevent cancer of the uterus. That is not a problem for you. Some doctors recommend it because of studies suggesting it will decrease the risk of breast cancer. But progesterone can increase your total cholesterol and decrease your HDL-cholesterol, thereby increasing your risk of heart disease. There is a trade-off here. If you take progesterone, have your total cholesterol and HDL-cholesterol checked regularly.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 19622, Irvine, CA 92713. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Become one of the first in our community to own a copy of this magnificent atlas.

What a surprise!

Local Beta Sigma Phi Sorority members held a brunch Saturday morning at the Community Center honoring their sweethearts for 1988-89. Members also found out facts about each other, as Karen Ruland seems to be shocked at the information she learned. Also turned toward the camera is, from left, Barbara Burkhalter, Susan Cardinal, and Lillie Shipman.

Home security topic of club meeting

The members of Valeda Study Club met in the home of Betty Gilbert recently. President Norma Walden led the group in the reading of the club collect.

Margaret Zinser introduced Greg Skypala, the guest speaker. He presented a program on home Security Alarms. He stated that last year the city averaged three break-ins a week and the county averaged two break-ins a week. Most burglaries in this area are committed by the inexperienced ones looking for quick sale items to sell for drug money.

Long ago, castles were built on high hills for protection. Then motes and draw bridges were added for protection. Now people use the neighborhood watch programs and home security alarms. Magnetic sensors on doors and windows and infra-red sensors can alert authorities for help, plus instantly sounding the alarms and turning on the lights. Skypala showed the members a video on an alarm system and demonstrated an alarm system.

Roll call was answered with tips on security. The minutes were read and approved.

The next meeting will be a Valentine Party for the members' husbands and guests. Joyce Rutter will be the hostess for the party assisted by Marjorie Lasiter and Tommie Savage.

Members present were Marcella Bradley, Juanita Brown, Francis Crume, Betty Dickson, Ruth Fish, Gilbert, Della Hutchins, Walden, Margaret Zinser and the guest speaker, Greg Skypala.

Ford Motor Co. began selling its ill-fated Edsel Sept. 4, 1957. The medium-priced luxury car proved so unpopular it was taken off the market in 1959. Since then, the word "Edsel" has been associated with costly failure.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are both in our 30s. We wanted to start a family right away, and I am not pregnant.

I have heard so many horror stories about childbirth that I'm terrified. Some of my friends have gone into great detail about the labor pains and what a terrible time they had. This has not only taken the excitement out of being pregnant, it has scared me out of my wits. I know labor is not exactly a picnic, but I never dreamed it was so excruciating.

Thank you, Ann, for any help you can give me. I desperately need a better attitude than I have right now. - M.R. in Greensboro, N.C.

DEAR M.R.: Anyone who would describe the tortures of childbirth to a woman who is expecting her first baby is no friend.

True, labor is not exactly a day at the beach, but no two deliveries are alike. You might have a cinch. Also, many women will tell you that the thrill of bringing a new life into the world blocks out the memory of pain.

Discuss your fears with your obstetrician and ask about the new techniques for making childbirth easier. He or she will give you the reassurance you need. And please go back and reread the first sentence of my advice. No truer words were ever spoken.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently, you published a test for compulsive gamblers. I took the test and have no problem.

Last September a horse race track opened near our home. I love to go to the races and will go alone if I can't get anyone to go with me. I study the publications and have been pretty good at selecting winners. The most that I have ever lost in a single day is $25, which is not serious for me.

On the other hand, my husband drinks, hunts and fishes three weekends out of four all year 'round. These weekends cost between $50 and $75. We both work full-time and make about the same money.

I have been spending weekends alone for nearly 10 years, and now that I have found something I enjoy, everyone seems to think I have a problem. I would like your views on this. -Win. Place and Show in OK City

DEAR OK: Since you enjoy going to the track and you put a ceiling on your losses, I see no reason for your husband (or anyone else) to criticize you. But watch it, dear. Gambling has an insidious way of getting into your blood. Unless you are well-disciplined you could find yourself in over your head. The next letter was in the same batch as yours.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter you printed from a compulsive gambler got me an awful lot of unwanted attention. The signature of the writer was "Sam G."

Ever since that letter appeared in the paper, my phone hasn't stopped ringing. Dozens of friends and relatives have called to offer help. They all said, "Sam, I didn't know you were a compulsive gambler."

Why didn't you at least print the name of the city? Do you realize how many people in the country could be

"Sam G.?" You owe an apology to all of us. -Sam Grossman, Canoga Park, Calif.

DEAR MR. GROSSMAN: I'm terribly sorry if that letter created a problem for you. So far, I haven't heard from any other Sam G.'s, but it's early yet. Let this be a blanket apology to all who may have been embarrassed.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

PALSY CAN BE TREATED
ORADELL, N.J. (AP) — Care of the eye and a home program of physical therapy are the keys to overcoming Bell's Palsy.

Often, this requires artificial tears during the day, a special ointment at night and taping the eyelid shut or wearing a shield when sleeping, says Patient Care magazine. In addition, a visit to the doctor at two-week intervals is recommended to try to get the eyelid to close.

While it's a scary disorder, in severe cases surgical techniques are available, and 85 percent of patients with Bell's Palsy begin recovery in 10 days to three weeks, with the proper therapy.
