School okays most construction payment

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The Hereford school board agreed Tuesday to make a partial payment of the rest of its $2.3 million construction bill from High Plains Construction Co. of Amarillo, and officially designated November as "I'd Rather Read Month."

The board agreed to make final payment of $10,252.99 for his work on the construction projects at Hereford High School, Hereford Junior High, and the HHS band hall addition, and paid Reynosa Construction of Amarillo $22,931.70 for its work on the band hall project, retaining $5,000 until tiles in the building are replaced.

High Plains will receive $61,628 of the final bill for $115,878, but will have to wait until school representatives meet with school attorney Paul Lyle of Lubbock before getting any of the rest.

The remaining $54,250 might be withheld for liquidated damages because the High Plains HHS project was 84 days late and the HJH construction was 133 days behind schedule.

The contract with High Plains called for damages of $250 a day for each day the project was late, subtracting days considered unworkable because of the weather. Mills told the board Tuesday that the liquidated damages could be "hard to collect. You need to talk with your attorney before you proceed with this."

"Liquidated damages are hard to collect if you are in the mood of being punitive," Mills said. "And, I'm sure Mr. (Tommy) Sanders (of High Plains) will object to this."

"I don't see that we damaged you," Sanders said.

Board member Kathy Moore pointed out that teachers had very few days to prepare their classrooms before school started, and that several areas needed re-painting before they could be occupied.

An original motion calling for the liquidated damages to be enforced was tabled, and a second motion was passed calling for payment of $61,628, with the remainder to be held until the board talks with its attorney.

School librarians Carole McGilvary and Bera Boyd presented an outline of "I'd Rather Read Month," which will be held in November.

Coordinating efforts of school libraries and the Deaf Smith County Library, an effort will be made to "get more people reading," said Boyd, librarian at West Central School. "We are looking to get some family-oriented activity besides watching TV."

Boyd told the board the month will include a poster contest among students in all schools; focus on special and fun events in November; have teachers and librarians read to students during class and library time; and have students select one day to dress as their favorite character from a book.

Prominent throughout the month will be special "I'd Rather Read" logos and bookmarks that will be given to each Hereford student.

The board also agreed to sell a school bus to the Walcott school district; will buy a pickup they have been leasing for the vocational agriculture department; and scheduled graduation for Sunday, June 4 at 2 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium.

Maes places Ramirez at scene

A Hereford woman testified Tuesday in 47th State District Court that she saw former Hereford Police Lt. Paul Ramirez at the scene of his wife's murder last November.

Mary Frances Maes of Hereford said she saw a man flagging down a car at a roadside park just west of Umberger on U.S. Highway 60. She and her daughter approached the passenger side of a small station wagon and saw Paul Ramirez sitting in the passenger seat.

Maes said she asked Ramirez if there had been an accident, and that Ramirez told her that his wife, Mary, 39, was going to leave him.

Maes said she then went to the driver's side of the vehicle where she found Mary Ramirez slumped over in the seat. She found no pulse.

Maes said Ramirez then grabbed a gun sitting between the front seats of the car, and Maes and her daughter then went to Umberger to summon an ambulance.

Bill Spies, a Hereford teacher, said he saw a man he identified as Paul Ramirez motion for a woman driving a car to pull over at the roadside park.

Randall County District Attorney Randall Sherrrod said late Tuesday that he had "from 25 to 30 witnesses" he could call that could place Paul Ramirez at the murder scene last Nov. 22. Sherrrod said he expected the state's case to run through at least noon Thursday.

Earlier on Tuesday, the final two jurors were seated and final pre-trial hearings were held. Ramirez formally pleaded not guilty to the murder charge during those Tuesday hearings.

Bush, Dukakis fine-tune

By DONNA CASSATA
Associated Press Writer

Democrat Michael Dukakis pitched economic nationalism while Republican George Bush accused his rival of adopting a protectionist stance strictly for political gain as the two presidential candidates fine-tuned their strategy for their second and final debate.

The vice president, embarking on a weeklong West Coast swing highlighted by Thursday's debate in Los Angeles, told business students at Seattle University on Tuesday that Dukakis opposed "protectionist demagoguery" during the Democratic primaries. "But now, for political reasons, he sees advantage in stoking fears about foreign influence," Bush said.

Dukakis vowed that the Democratic ticket would be aggressive advocates for U.S. companies and workers.

"Together we can build a future where the best products in the world are designed by American minds, built by American hands and produce good profits and good paychecks here on American soil," the Massachusetts governor told a partisan crowd at Tufts University in Medford, Mass.

Later Tuesday, Dukakis responded to Bush's charges: "I'm for more trade, not less trade. I want to export American products, not American jobs."

Like Bush, Dukakis was in California today, conferring with advisers and doing some last-minute studying of briefing papers for the nationally broadcast, 90-minute debate, set to begin at 9 p.m. EDT at Pauley Pavilion on the UCLA campus.

Neither candidate planned any campaign appearances today to devote their time to debate preparation.

Bush was working with former Deputy Treasury Secretary Richard G. Darman, who was Dukakis' stand-in for a mock debate the vice president had Saturday, said press secretary Sheila Tate.

Bush was taking a short break this morning to meet with Los Angeles Police Chief Daryl Gates.

One final detail for the candidates' face-to-face confrontation was decided Tuesday when the Bipartisan Commission on Presidential Debates selected the moderator and three questioners.

Ann Compton of ABC, Andrea Mitchell of NBC and Margaret Warner of Newsweek will quiz the candidates, and Bernard Shaw of Cable News Network will serve as moderator.

The latest poll indicated that the race remains close, raising the political stakes for the prime-time debate.

The Gallup Organization survey showed Bush leading Dukakis 49-43 percent among 1,007 registered voters questioned Friday through Sunday. Given the poll's margin of error of plus or minus four percentage points, the race is a statistically tie.

Among 748 likely voters, Gallup found Bush ahead 52-41 percent, but stressed the closer result, saying it was too soon to gauge likelihood of voting.

As in other polls, Democratic vice presidential nominee Lloyd Bentsen was seen as having decisively beaten Republican Dan Quayle in their debate last week.

Quayle returned to Indiana on Tuesday to a rousing hometown reception.

Boy injured in accident

An eight-year-old boy was injured this morning when the pickup his older brother was driving rolled over on Farm to Market Road 1058 about 10 miles west of Hereford at 8:05 a.m. today.

Tate Head suffered several broken ribs and underwent exploratory surgery at Deaf Smith General Hospital this morning. His condition was not known at press time. The driver, T.J. Head, 15, and his brother Jake, 13, were slightly injured in the accident.

According to Department of Public Safety Trooper Darrell Matthews, T.J. lost control of his pickup as he and his two brothers were riding to school.

The vehicle rolled twice, and the cab detached from the chassis.

Matthews said none of the boys were wearing a seatbelt.

Crimestoppers helps recovery

By ANDREA HOOTEN
Staff Writer

The Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers recently recovered $5,820 in stolen merchandise and arrested nine persons on felony charges because of anonymous tips through the Clue Line, said police Lt. David Wagner, a member of the Crimestoppers board.

Crimestoppers offers a weekly reward of $300 for any information leading to the arrest and indictment of felons. The caller may remain anonymous and payment is discreet so that no peace officer comes in contact with the informant.

The organization has doled out $2,450 in reward money this year, surpassing the $2,400 mark set this time last year.

"It's very effective," said Wagner. "We could not solve a lot of our cases without it. People give us leads and we follow up on them."

Crimestoppers helped the police department arrest two juveniles charged with stealing $830 worth of merchandise on Thursday from a vehicle in the 600 block of Bowie Street.

Another recent burglary which an informant helped to clear was the Sept. 26 burglary of Cardinal House of Kawasaki & Suzuki, 1403 E. Park Ave., in which $5,000 worth of merchandise including a motorcycle (not recovered yet), computer and miscellaneous items were taken.

The juvenile connected with the burglary also may be responsible for the Aug. 29 burglary of a house in the 200 block of Avenue K. At the juvenile's home, police recovered several power tools and tool boxes possibly taken in the burglary.

Other cases cleared include the Aug. 12 theft of a four-wheeler from the 300 block of Cherokee Street. The four-wheeler was recovered and several juveniles are being questioned about the incident.

Johnny Velasquez, 19, was charged with the Sept. 22 burglary of Gibson's Discount Center in which four guns and boxes of ammunition were taken. Velasquez also was reportedly connected with the burglary of Garrison Seed & Co. Inc., East U.S. Highway 60, in which a gumball machine was taken.

Informants through Crimestoppers also helped indict Mary Jane Mendoza, 33, on charges of forgery and passing, and Demesio Mendoza, 29, on charges of passing a forged instrument.

The Mendozas are accused of stealing checks from the La Mexicana Restaurant, 1101 E. First St., on June 2.

Raul Guajardo, 31, and Ventura Ramirez, 39, were arrested on charges of possession of cocaine through an informant in August.

Stolen items including power tools, a computer and other appliances worth $5,820 were recovered recently through Crimestoppers. The organization offers a $300 reward for anonymous information leading to arrests or indictments of felons.

Turrentine attends seminar

Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace, Johnnie Turrentine, right, attended a 20-hour seminar Sept. 6 through Sept. 9 in Amarillo which covered such topics as how recent attorney general opinions impact the justice of the peace court, civil law, code of judicial conduct, criminal trial procedure and simulations. Other judges who attended were (left) Phil Woodall from Randall County; Ann Beavers of Oldham County; and Cliff Roberts of Potter County.

Nuke delays won't hurt security

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted to repeal a law requiring farmers, shrimpers and oilmen to pay a 15.14-cent per gallon tax on diesel fuel at the pump and then apply for a refund at the end of the year.

The measure calls for the government to reimburse off-road diesel users for the taxes already paid since April, with about 11 percent interest, said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, the bill's Senate sponsor.

Backers of the repeal said the law hit farmers especially hard because they had to pay the tax when they need cash most — during the planting or harvesting seasons, creating a cash-crunch for many.

The repeal was passed Tuesday night in legislation making technical corrections to the tax code by a vote of 87 to 1. Neither Democratic Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen nor Republican Phil Gramm participated in the vote.

A similar measure is also included in a House-passed bill. The separate measures now go to a conference committee where differences will be worked out before final legislative passage.

According to figures from Sen. Phil Gramm's office, Texas farmers would pay $31 million in diesel taxes, while the annual cost to shrimpers and other commercial fishermen was $14 million and to oil field workers, $25 million.

"Whoever cooked up this bureaucratic nightmare inadvertently targeted some of the most hard-pressed people in Texas to impose it on: farmers, oil operators and fishermen," said Gramm, R-Texas. "I'm glad, however, that a measure of common sense has now prevailed."

Said Rep. Solomon Ortiz, a Corpus Christi Democrat: "Reinstating the tax exemption is good news for so many farmers who have already been hit hard by the drought. Shrimpers and construction workers will also benefit from the bill."

The law, passed by Congress late last year as part of the final budget bill for fiscal year 1988, also put a paperwork burden on the off-road users, requiring them to keep logs of their diesel fuel use that were to be filed with their tax returns. Prior to the law's enactment, off-road diesel fuel users were exempt from paying taxes on the gas and bought it at the pump tax-free.

Bentsen said the repeal will funnel $447 million to users over the next three years — $317 million in 1989, $84 million in 1990 and $46 million in 1991.

"Late last year, the government made a mistake when it changed the collection point of the diesel fuel tax. ... The result was an unnecessary burden on farmers, fishermen, drillers and others whose equipment used diesel fuel, but which they operated away from highways," Bentsen said.

Gramm spokesman Larry Neal said the origin of the diesel bill is "very, very shadowy and no one has ever been able to pinpoint the author of this particular provision."

Senate repeals diesel tax law for farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government will not be able to manufacture nuclear weapons materials for 2½ months, but it says that raises no threat to national security.

Energy Secretary John S. Herrington said at a news conference Tuesday that his department, which had planned to restart one of its three nuclear weapons reactors at the Savannah River Plant as early as November, now does not expect the first of them to reach full operation until January.

All three of the reactors, which began operation in 1954, have been closed down for maintenance and safety checks amid a wave of publicity about lax safety precautions.

The department, said Herrington,

"will not operate unsafe reactors. We will meet the defense needs of this country in a safe manner and an environmentally sensitive manner."

Herrington's deputy, Joseph F. Salgado, outlined what he called a "phased restart." It will include supervision by a senior manager at Savannah River and a review of safety at various milestones during the four weeks officials say will be needed to take the first reactor to full power.

Salgado said he foresaw no shortage of tritium, one of two nuclear weapons materials produced at Savannah River. The facility, the only federal nuclear weapons plant on active status, also produces plutonium, which does not decay as quickly as tritium and is said to be in abundant supply.

"We are comfortable that Savannah River will operate at a sufficient level to meet the tritium needs of the future," Salgado said.

The news conference was called to defuse criticism of the Energy Department not only over the Savannah River plant in Aiken, S.C., but also over radioactive contamination at another facility in Rocky Flats, Colo., and over allegedly lax security at weapons laboratories in New Mexico and California.

In related developments Tuesday:

—President Reagan voiced concern about the nuclear plant safety problem during a meeting with top Defense and Energy department officials, chief of staff Kenneth Duberstein said.

Duberstein quoted Reagan as saying the administration is "committed to making sure that all safety precautions are taken and that all rules and regulations be followed."

—The chairman of E.I. du Pont Nemours and Co., which operates Savannah River under contract for the Energy Department, reacted angrily to claims that company employees had a lax attitude toward safety. R.E. Heckert said du Pont was "caught in a political cross-fire" between the Energy Department and Capitol Hill.

—Officials said the shutdown of the Rocky Flats' main plutonium processing plant on Saturday virtually halted production at the nuclear weapons plant.

—Congressional researchers said the Energy Department has admitted hundreds of visitors from communist and nuclear-sensitive nations into its nuclear weapons labs at Sandia, Los Alamos and Livermore without required security checks.

—Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, said the cost of cleaning up radioactive and hazardous waste at Energy Department nuclear facilities is estimated at $150 billion to $175 billion. He cited estimates by Energy Department officials and the General Accounting Office.

"It will take 20 years, even if we know how to do the cleanup," Glenn said, adding that "safety and health matters too often took a back seat" to production goals at the department's nuclear facilities. It was not clear how Glenn, the chairman of the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee, made the estimate.

—A report issued at the Savannah River plant estimated that cleaning up the facility could cost as much as $6.5 billion. The estimate, by the GAO, was markedly higher than an earlier Energy Department forecast of $285 million for cleanup of 69 waste sites at the plant.

Salgado pointedly avoided a verbal battle with Heckert, the du Pont chairman.

"We have confidence in our employees at Savannah River," he said. The decision to change operating procedures there "is not an indictment of the employees. It is more an indictment of our own practices and procedures."

Lady finally uses whistle she toted

HOUSTON (AP) — Patsy Young had carried her whistle for 25 years, but had never had an occasion to use it until a man attempted to pull the Houston attorney from her car in a parking garage.

Mrs. Young, a 51-year-old grandmother, told police her husband gave her the whistle when she was a University of Houston student so she could use it to call for help if she got into trouble.

Mrs. Young said she was getting out of her car in downtown Houston early Tuesday when a man grabbed her right arm.

"He said he needed to borrow my car," she said. "He started pulling me out of the car. I started struggling, screaming and hitting. I kept trying to knock his glasses off, and I was screaming at the top of my lungs."

As the man ran away after a brief struggle, Mrs. Young began blowing her whistle.

"It seemed like I was blowing for a really long time," she said. "A woman heard the whistle and found five or six policeman who came running in."

"I pointed out the direction he ran and one of the policemen stayed with me while the others went looking for him," she said. "A few minutes later, they came back with him."

The suspect, 36, was apprehended by security guards when he ran into a nearby office building "looking nervous, like he was looking for a place to hide, Roberry Lt. Allen Tharling said.

"What this lady did is a perfect demonstration of what women should do when they are getting out of the car in a parking garage," Tharling said. "She looked around when she got out of the car and was prepared. People said that whistle could be heard all over the place."

Young said she has always carried the whistle on her key chain, but this was her first time to use it.

"My husband gave it to me 25 years ago when I was an undergraduate student at UH," she said. "There had been some attacks there and he wanted to buy me a pistol."

"I told him if I had a pistol and was attacked, I would have to say, 'wait a minute while I get this pistol out of my purse,' so he brought me the whistle."

Nieman coordinator for Spelling Bee

AMARILLO — For the 41st year, West Texas State University and the Amarillo Globe-News will again sponsor the National Spelling Bee for young students in the area.

Named as director for Deaf Smith County again this year is O.G. Nieman, publisher of The Hereford Brand. The director will coordinate the Bee program with the public and private schools and select a date for the county competition.

The Scripps Howard National Spelling Bee rules allow any student who will not be in a grade higher than the eighth or older than 16 by the end of the current school term to enter the contest. The county finalist is to be named by March 18, 1989.

There are two levels of competition. A Junior Bee is for students in the fifth and lower grades. In previous years the Junior Bee included the sixth grade students, but with the middle school concept, the sixth graders are now to be included in the Senior level, which also includes seventh and eighth grades.

Each county Senior winner will compete in the Regional Bee at WTSU on April 15. The top winner in that event will earn an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. to represent the district in the national contest. The trip is for two, courtesy of the Amarillo newspaper.

Junior county winners do not compete in regional unless they win the Senior county title. The Junior Bee primarily serves as an introduction to the program. Both the senior and junior winners from each county will be guests of the sponsors at a Bee luncheon in Canyon preceding the regional competition.

Copies of the study book, "Words of Champions", are available from Jeane Bartlett, bee editor of the Amarillo Globe-News, at 50 cents each. This word list is used in most school eliminations and contains more than 3,000 words.

Letter to the Editor

Dear editor:

This letter is in regard to an article that appeared in the Hereford Brand on Tuesday, October 11, 1988. Beside the article was my picture with the caption beneath it "New tax assessor-collector Margaret Perez asked Deaf Smith County Commissioners for more help in her over-worked office."

For the past twelve years there have been three deputies besides the tax assessor-collector in the auto license department. When Nell Miller retired and I was appointed to that position, that left only two deputies. Our office has been budgeted for three. When I met with the commissioners it was to ask to replace the full time position with a part time person, not to ask for more help.

The commissioners of this county are in the tough position of trying to cut the budget and still deliver services to the community. I can very well understand that, therefore the last thing I would do is try to add to that burden and ask for more than what had already been budgeted.

Our office will do what it can to help them in their endeavor.

Sincerely,
Margaret Perez

Fire prevention tips

The State Board of Insurance, State Fire Marshal's office and the local fire department offer the following guidelines for practicing fire prevention in the home:

- Make sure that heating and cooking appliances are properly installed and used according to instructions.
- Do not use gasoline or flammable liquids for cleaning in the home. Do not use the to start or freshen a fire for heating or cooking.
- Provide proper ventilation for portable gas and oil heaters or fire places.

- Do not smoke in bed.
- Before going to bed, check upholstered furniture to ensure that smoking materials are not lodged in the furniture.
- Dispose of smoking materials safely. Store them out of doors in a metal container and immerse them with water to make sure that they are completely out.
- Keep matches and lighters away from small children.

Food stamp funding not lucrative

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The state of Texas may lose more than $500,000 in funding for the food stamp program next year because of the theft of food stamps by two U.S. Postal Service workers and the loss of other stamps amounting to $282,035, officials say.

Authorities say two postal workers stole more than $140,000 worth of food stamps and another $120,000 in stamps was unaccounted for in the mail.

The Texas Department of Human Services, which administers the joint federal-state program, is fighting loss of the federal funds in a suit filed recently in U.S. District Court in Austin.

The state owes $282,035 in lost food stamps, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture says it intends to cut funding next year by that much, according to court documents.

Since Texas matches those funds, the Human Services Department stands to lose $524,070. The amount of food stamps available would not be affected, but jobs connected with the program would be, a state official said. The Legislature would have to approve money to replace the lost federal funds.

"If the Texas Department of Human Services is required to pay the claim of $262,035, it would have to be paid from state funds appropriated for the administration of the food stamp program," Randy Washington, associate commissioner in charge of the department's income assistance programs, said.

House, Senate try to combine tax bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators are trying to reach a compromise on sharply differing tax bills passed by the House and Senate, one containing a "taxpayers' bill of rights" and the other offering relief for 20 million owners of mutual funds.

The Senate bill, which was approved Tuesday night on an 87-1 vote, would cut selected taxes by an estimated $3 billion over three years and, to avoid worsening the deficit, boost other taxes by the same amount. The House bill, passed 380-25 on Aug. 4, has a $7.5 billion price tag.

Far more provisions are identical in both bills. Both would correct hundreds of technical errors in the 1986 tax overhaul; extend several expiring tax benefits; relieve farmers from paying the federal diesel tax on fuel for off-road use, and raise some taxes to pay for the benefits.

The tax bill and a comprehensive plan for fighting drug abuse are the only major pieces of legislation standing in the way of adjournment of the 100th Congress, as early as this weekend.

"All of us realize the more revenue we have in this bill, the less likely the president is to sign it," said Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., manager of the Senate tax measure. Thus, the Senate will try to hold down the cost and House negotiators will be pushing for senators to accept some new provisions.

HHS Homecoming queen's court

Homecoming candidates and attendants for Hereford High School were announced Monday. One of the three senior candidates will be chosen queen, with the selection to be announced at the 2:14 p.m. pep rally Friday. Standing from left is Teresa Baker, freshman attendant; Wen-

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently I made the decision to give custody of my three children to my ex-husband. The responses I've gotten from family and friends ranged from insensitive to cruel. Society seems to assume that a woman who doesn't have custody of her children doesn't love them, or that she is a child abuser.

I've been asked, "What did you do that was so terrible that you weren't allowed to keep your children?" I am appalled that so many people rush to make a judgment with no information whatever.

My former husband earns twice what I make. I could never have kept my family going on my earnings, even with child support. He is just as good a parent as I am, in some ways better. We both love the kids. They are as comfortable living with him as they would be with me.

Let me say this to those who have the nerve to ask such a question. You are not entitled to an answer. It's none of your business. Please, don't be so quick to pass judgment until you have walked in my shoes.

I don't need counseling. I've already had plenty. If it weren't for the counseling and therapy I would never have had the courage to do what I did. It saved my life.—K.L. in Milwaukee

DEAR MILWAUKEE: I am sure you speak for millions—and they are grateful. Often the mother who gives up custody is performing the most heroic act of her life. Such women deserve praise, not criticism and scorn. Thanks for a splendid contribution to this space.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A few days ago, I saw a young woman in her mid-20s leaving a restaurant. I would not have noticed her except for one thing—she was wearing a dress made out of an American flag. It was a simple wrap-around style, which made me think that she probably made it herself.

I was raised at a time when the flag was held in high regard. It was always taken in at sunset and handled with great care so that it never touched the ground.

It seems to me that there are laws concerning inappropriate treatment of the flag. What are the penalties for abusing Old Glory as this woman did?—R.H.G., Neb.

DEAR R.H.G.; There are penalties (fine and imprisonment) for burning or defiling the flag, but the woman in the flag dress broke no law. She did, however, show poor taste and a lack of respect for this proud symbol of freedom. I hope she sees this and gives that dress a "military funeral."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I loved your response to "Realistic in La Jolla." You said, "An awful lot of people who have worked hard all their lives deny themselves pleasures and acquisitions that they would thoroughly enjoy because they want to leave a lot of money to their children." Then you added, "In my opinion, this is a big mistake. Unearned money can destroy incentive and ruin families."

My husband tells of a business acquaintance who bought a brand-new Cadillac. When his son saw the car his eyes opened wide and he exclaimed, "Wow! What did this car cost you, Dad?"

Without missing a beat, the older gentleman replied, "Not a dime, son, I took it out of your inheritance."—In Agreement in Iowa

DEAR IOWA: I loved it! The "older gentleman" sounds like my kind of fella.

Feeling pressured to go "all the way" because everyone else is doing it? You're not alone. For answers to your questions about sex, and to learn how your peers really feel about it, write for Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "Sex and the Teenager." Send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Brockman, a Hereford native, was selected by coaches and faculty advisors based on his contributions to the team, school and community. Both academic and athletic leadership play a part in the selection process.

Brockman was honored on-air by CBS at the conclusion of Saturday's game, and Toyota will present Brockman with a special award plaque and donated $1,000 to the UT general scholarship fund in Brockman's name.

Cone rewrites story, forces Game 7

LOS ANGELES (AP) — David Cone rewrote his story and Davey Johnson rewrote his lineup card. As a result, the end is yet to be written to this year's National League playoffs.

Cone, who was awful in Game 2 in the wake of a controversial column under his byline in the New York Daily News, was brilliant in Game 6 Tuesday night, pitching the New York Mets to a 5-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers to deadlock the series at three games apiece.

So it's on to Game 7 tonight, with probable NL Cy Young Award winner Orel Hershiser pitching for the Dodgers against Ron Darling of the Mets. A berth in the World Series opposite Oakland goes to the winning team.

Cone, 26-3 with a 2.22 earned run average during the season, overcame a shaky start to stifle the Dodgers on five singles, two with two outs and nobody on in the ninth inning. Cone then retired pinch hitter Mike Davis on a fly to left to end the game.

The heretofore quiet Kevin McReynolds, 3-for-20 in the first five games, sparked the Mets, becoming the eighth player in the history of the league playoffs to get four hits in a game.

McReynolds, batting in front of a hot hitter, Gregg Jefferies, instead of a cold one, Howard Johnson, drove in three runs, two on a fifth-inning homer off losing pitcher Tim Leary which gave New York a 4-0 lead.

In his shortest performance of the year as a starter, Cone allowed five runs in two innings of Game 2 last Wednesday night, and the Dodgers won 6-3.

In the celebrated column which appeared earlier that day, he wrote that Hershiser was "lucky" to shut out the Mets for eight innings in the opener a night earlier and that ace Dodgers reliever Jay Howell "reminded us of a high school pitcher" because of all the curveballs he threw.

When asked how he would write Tuesday night's performance, Cone said, "I don't think I should probably answer that. I've tried to put it all behind me, but it just won't go away."

"I wanted to do so well tonight, but I was a little jittery at the start. Fortunately, I made some big pitches to get out of it and that is the way I would write it."

Cone appeared to be a lot jittery. After the Mets scored a run in the top of the first, marking the first time they had scored first in the playoffs, Cone's first seven pitches in the bottom of the inning to Steve Sax and Mickey Hatcher were balls.

After throwing a strike to Hatcher, Cone threw another ball, putting runners at first and second with nobody out.

With the Dodger Stadium crowd of 55,885 going nuts, up stepped Kirk Gibson.

Gibson took a strike before popping up a bunt which Cone caught. Mike Marshall then fled to left and Cone struck out John Shelby to end the threat.

"Kirk Gibson bunting probably turned the game around," Cone said. "I really wasn't thinking situation baseball at the time. I was just trying to throw strikes."

He did so the rest of the way, walking only one more batter and finishing with six strikeouts.

The Dodgers got a runner past first base only twice after that and there were two outs each time.

The changes Johnson made in his lineup got results right away. After Lenny Dykstra reached base on Dodger first baseman Hatcher's error to start the game, Wally Backman, elevated from the eighth spot to second in the order, delivered a hit-and-run single, sending Dykstra to third, from where he scored on a sacrifice fly by McReynolds.

In the top of the third, Darryl Strawberry and McReynolds singled, and Strawberry later scored on a two-out double by Kevin Elster, who replaced Howard Johnson at short and batted eighth.

The Dodgers got their run in the bottom of the fifth. After Cone had retired Jeff Hamilton and Alfredo Griffin, making it 10 in a row he had gotten out. Dodger reliever Brian Holton singled, Sax walked on four pitches and Hatcher singled home Holton.

The Mets got their final run in the sixth on a one-out, leg double to left by Dykstra and a two-out, broken-bat single by center by Hernandez.

A's try to prepare for Series

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Storm Davis waved a bat menacingly and yelled "Everybody out of the way out there!" to his teammates deep in the outfield as he stepped into the Oakland Coliseum batting cage.

Then he hit a ground ball. If the Athletics' pitchers are taking batting practice, it must be World Series time.

At Oakland's first pre-Series workout Tuesday, A's manager Tony La Russa announced that Dave Stewart, Storm Davis and Bob Welch will start the first three games. Coincidentally, all three are ex-National League players with hitting experience that could come in handy in Games 1, 2, 6 and 7 when designated hitters will not be used in the National League park.

"They won't be able to do enough (batting practice) in the next couple of weeks to overcome the disadvantage we have," La Russa said. "But our starters are all good athletes, so I think they'll be all right."

La Russa is more focused on a couple of decisions he will have to make this week.

Regular second baseman Glenn Hubbard, who was left off the playoff roster due to a hamstring pull, will be back for the Series if his leg is healthy by Friday's World Series roster deadline, according to La Russa. Otherwise, Mike Gallego and Tony Phillips will again share the second-base duties.

The manager also hasn't made up his mind whether to play Dave Parker or Luis Polonia in left field against right-handed starters in the first two games. Because there is no DH in those games, whoever doesn't start will have to sit on the bench.

"If it's Luis we don't have our leadoff guy, and if it's Dave we don't have our number four hitter," La Russa said. "So it will affect our plans either way."

La Russa said he won't commit to a fourth-game starter until he sees how the first three games go. He said left-hander Curt Young, who spent the playoffs in the bullpen, could get a start.

Stewart, who started twice in the playoffs and won Sunday's finale 4-1, hit some line drives and long fly balls during his turn in the batting cage, but said he's not looking forward to hitting in the World Series.

"I'm looking forward to pitching, because that's what I do best," he said.

In 1963, his last season in the National League, Stewart had one hit in seven at-bats for the Los Angeles Dodgers before being traded to Texas. But like most pitchers, he clearly remembers the few hits he has had.

"In 1961, I hit a three-run triple against Cincinnati," he said. As for his lifetime average, he only knows that it's "two-something." Sorry, Dave, it's actually .196. Stewart said he's also a "real good bunter."

Davis is a worse hitter, going only 1-for-16, .063, last year for San Diego in his only NL season. But he enjoyed taking his whacks on Tuesday, lining one shot to Jose Canseco that brought whoops from his teammates.

"Hit it a little harder, man," teased Canseco, standing in at third base.

Welch, a career .151 hitter with the Dodgers, doesn't figure to get an at-bat early in the series because he's scheduled to start Game 3.

Landry puzzled by QB injuries

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Eighteen NFL quarterbacks have been injured in the first six weeks of the season and Dallas coach Tom Landry says it's because the best defense is a passer on his back.

"You have to blitz the quarterback and hit him before he gets the ball off, that's why you see defenses rushing so many people," Landry said. "When they (the NFL) made the rule you can't hit receivers and knock them around then it changed the defenses."

"The best defense you have is to control the quarterback so defenses are going after him."

The NFL's "in-the-grasp" rule was legislated to protect quarterbacks.

"There's never been a rush on quarterbacks like you see now," Landry said. "You don't see many teams rushing three guys and sitting back in a zone with the other eight players. They're coming after the quarterback to disrupt his timing."

Chicago coach Mike Ditka, who advocates a rough, tough style of play, said in a telephone interview "the injuries are coming so hot and heavy in this league it's taking the fun out of it."

Ditka continued "you can talk about injuries to the quarterback but the ones to the other positions are also alarming."

He said he, like Landry, was puzzled for an answer.

"Maybe we're not working hard enough in the off-season," Ditka said. "Athletes are bigger, stronger and faster and they meet at such a high rate of speed something has to give."

Jim Finks, general manager of the New Orleans Saints, said more receivers are going out at the expense of pass protection, leaving the quarterback vulnerable to hits.

"It's not something we have to legislate against," Finks said. "It's a style of play."

Dallas club president Tex Schramm, a member of the NFL's rules committee, said "we were concerned about the injuries to quarterbacks so that's why we instigated the 'in-the-grasp' rule. We'll certainly have to study it some more."

Governor declares special week

A group of professionals who help thousands of Texans each day are getting well-deserved recognition. Operators from telephone companies throughout Texas are being recognized with a specially designated week.

Texas Gov. William Clements has declared Oct. 9-15 "Operator Recognition Week" in honor of the thousands of telephone operators who serve the 66 local telephone companies throughout the state. More than 3,000 Southwestern Bell Telephone directory assistance and long distance operators are in that group.

"At Southwestern Bell, each of our directory assistance and local/long distance operators handle 900 to 1,200 calls per day," said Gary Stevens, area manager for the company. "Statewide that's more than two million calls we deal with day in and day out. We take pride in handling those calls in a friendly, efficient and professional way."

Operators provide a vital service to millions of customers who depend on their telephone for their livelihood, security or pleasure, according to Stevens.

"Our operators are specially trained to give friendly service that's efficient and accurate," said Stevens. "To help our operators do a better job, here are a few simple tips we'd like to pass along."

-Have information ready when billing a call to a third number, calling card or making a collect call.

-Have plenty of change when calling from a pay phone.

-Give directory assistance operators as much information as possible including the spelling of a name and address.

-In an emergency, stay calm, tell the operator what kind of help is needed and the location.

Gregg Smith Singers to perform Saturday

Members of the Hereford Community Concert Association will be entertained by the Gregg Smith Singers at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Hereford High School Auditorium. This is the second concert of the CCA's 1988-89 season.

The internationally acclaimed Gregg Smith Singers have been at the forefront of the world's greatest choral groups for over a quarter of a century. The most recorded classical vocal ensemble anywhere, the Singers have more than 50 albums to their credit and have won awards from Hi-Fi and Stereo magazines, as well as three Grammys and the Montreux International Recording Award.

In addition to worldwide critical acclaim, the Singers have been lauded by composers such as Igor Stravinsky, Samuel Barber, Aron Copland and Carol Orff.

The group was formed in 1955, when Gregg Smith, then a graduate teaching assistant in the music department of the University of California's Los Angeles campus, organized talented students and young professionals interested in singing both new and rarely performed older music.

Smith wrote his first musical composition at the age of eight after three years of piano training. He grew up in Chicago, Ill., studying every instrument from the tuba to the flute and joining every choral organization that he could. He later moved West where he combined studies at the University of California with teaching courses, conducting both the University Opera Chorus and the U.C.L.A. Madrigal Singers and composing in his spare time. In 1966, he earned his master's degree in composition with a choral cantata based on "The Seven Last Words of Christ."

In 1968, Smith became artist-in-residence at the State University of New York's Stony Brook campus. A year later, he became the director of choirs at the famed Peabody Conservatory in Baltimore. By 1975, his professional activities had become so numerous that Smith had to leave teaching. Since a 1976 Far East tour, Smith's life has been devoted entirely to the Singers themselves and to composing.

Bazaar planned in Nazareth

The public is invited to attend the Holiday Arts and Crafts Bazaar from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 20, in the Nazareth School cafeteria.

In conjunction with the bazaar, a turkey dinner, sponsored by the Christian Mothers Society, will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. that day in the Community Hall.

For additional information, contact Lucille Drerup at (806)945-2563 or Rose Mary Wilhelm at 945-2563.

Golda Meir became prime minister of Israel in 1969.

Concert slated Saturday

The Gregg Smith Singers will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Hereford High School auditorium for members of the Hereford Community Concert Association. Admission for the second concert of the CCA's 1988-89 season will be by membership card only.

The Gregg Smith Singers are substituting for the William Hall Chorale because of the serious illness of William Hall. The next concert will be in February of 1989.

McBrayer welcomed as new member by music study club

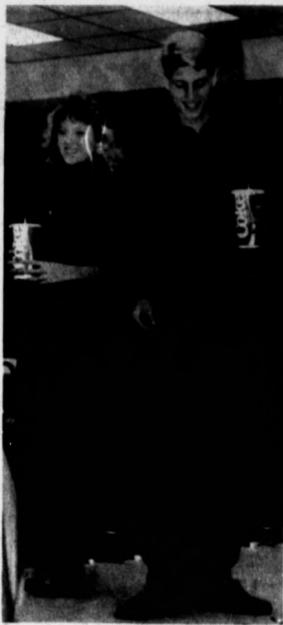

Mrs. Duffy McBrayer was welcomed as a new member when the Hereford Music Study Club, a member of the Texas Federation of Music Clubs, met Monday in the home of Mrs. Wayne Thomas.

During the business meeting which was called to order by President Mrs. Thomas Betzen, it was announced that Mrs. Doug Manning will serve as a delegate at the District I Convention set Oct. 29 in Stratford.

Mrs. Bill Bradley served as leader and gave a history of the early life and many works of Irving Berlin from 1904 through 1929 which led into musical performances. "Play A Simple Melody" and "Sisters" were sung by a duet, Mrs. Lynton Allred and Mrs. Sid Shaw, played by Betzen on the piano. A medley of "Say It

With Music", "A Pretty Girl", "Marie" and "Remember" was performed on piano by Mrs. Joe Walters. "What'll I Do?" and "Always" was sung by Mrs. Donald Meyer with Betzen accompanying her on the piano. The club chorus sang "Blue Skies" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band" with Walters serving as accompanist.

Members attending included Mmes. Allred, Betzen, Bradley, Joe Hacker, Manning, Meyer, Bobby Moore, Frances Parker, Joe Reinauer Sr., A.J. Schroeter, Shaw, Thomas, Walters, W.T. Carmichael, Harold Close, J.C. McCracken and Linda Gilbert and Rosie Griffin. The next meeting is set at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 14 in the home of Mrs. David Badour.

Public invited to FGBMF dinner, meeting Saturday

Dr. Frank Peters of Amarillo, a former Hereford resident, will be the guest speaker at the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship dinner and meeting Saturday at the Hereford Community Center. The public is invited to attend.

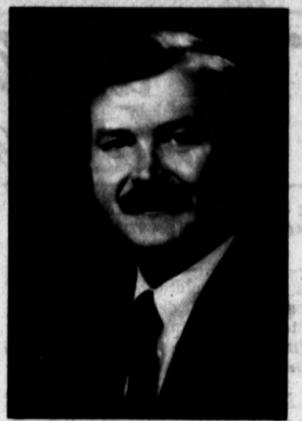

The Caison House will be catering the dinner at 7 p.m. and the meeting will start at 7:45 p.m. Special music will be provided by San Jose.

On March 14 of this year, Dr. Peters was involved in a serious automobile accident while visiting Costa Rica. He was struck by a truck traveling at 80 m.p.h. and sustained broken facial bones, skull fractures, five broken ribs, a punctured lung and his eyes were paralyzed. He was also in a coma for 18 days. He will tell of how he was healed without the surgery doctors said he would require.

Dr. Peters is married to the former Mary Kay Wagner of Hereford. They have five children.

FGBMF officers are Richard Schlabs, president; Robert Huckert, vice president; Randy Tooley, vice president; Royce Riggins, vice president, Ted Coleman, secretary; and Jimmie Allred, treasurer.

The Cholesterol Screening will be held Saturday, Oct. 29 at the YMCA. Cost of the test will be $6. The Lubbock Chapter will be bringing a team here with their machines to conduct the tests.

The test will only take three to five minutes and will tell you if you have a problem requiring further checks. Volunteers are needed to help with the screenings. In order to avoid a long wait, registrations will be taken at the YMCA of the Red Cross office.

The Uniformed Volunteers will meet Thursday, Oct. 13, noon, at the Red Cross office.

Registrations for the Territorial meeting and tour of the Harrington House should be made now at the Red Cross office. Cost of the meeting will be the $4.50 for lunch. Call 364-3761 for information or to register.

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of the American Red Cross is a United Way Agency.

Photographers using Autochrome in the 1920s carried into the field not only bulky cameras but steamer trunks full of chemicals and a supply of colorplates that alone weighed as much as 150 pounds.
