DSGH reports new surgeon, big profits

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Deaf Smith General Hospital has recruited a new surgeon, who is anticipated to start practice between Nov. 15 and Dec. 1, it was reported by Gary Moore, DSGH administrator, during a regular hospital board meeting Tuesday night.

Directors have also been seeking an orthopedic surgeon, and approved Tuesday night a contract with a recruitment firm to seek three other physicians—an ear, nose and throat specialist, a family practice physician, and an internal medicine doctor with a specialty in cardiology. Moore added that a family-practice doctor is scheduled to join a local clinic this summer.

In other business Tuesday night, the board reviewed the operations report for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1988; heard the administrator's report; made a tour of the new mammography unit and the laundry facility; and reviewed the payroll and accounts payable records.

The profit and loss statement for the year showed that total operating revenues were down by $51,590 but net income was $385,783—up $175,665 over last year. A budget comparison indicated that costs had been trimmed by $204,367 for the year. Total operating revenue was $5,578,651 as compared to $5,630,241 a year ago.

Total patients admitted for the fiscal year were 2,644, a slight increase over last year's total of 2,625. Moore said the most significant figure on patients was the decline in length of stay. The total patient day care was 10,906 last year and 9,123 this year. Last year, 38 percent of the patient days were on Medicare, and this year the total dipped to 31 percent. The length of stay for Medicare patients dropped from 7.18 last year to 5.22 this year.

Surgical procedures, drop-ins and outpatient visits were all down this year in comparison to the year before. Emergency room visits increased. Surgeries were down by 285, from 1,808 to 1,523, while outpatient visits dropped from 5,723 to 4,782.

Emergency room visits were 7,420 compared to 6,920 last year.

The name of the new general surgeon will not be released until he announces the close of his practice in another city, Moore said. The hospital board had contracted with a recruitment firm to seek two surgeons, with one being an orthopedic surgeon. Moore said it could be next May or June before physicians are found to fill the staff positions being sought here.

The administrator reported that renovation of the lobby and hallway is expected to start next week. The mammography unit is now in operation, as well as the hospital's new laundry. Directors visited the two new operations after the board meeting Tuesday night.

Directors attending the meeting were Ralph Detten, Marjorie Ford, Raymond Schroeder, Frank Zinser and Craig Smith. Dr. David Baddour made a routine medical staff report. Phillis Morrison presented the financial report.

Bush in underdog role despite reports

By DONNA CASSATA
Associated Press Writer

Michael Dukakis promised to erase the nation's $150 billion trade deficit in four years as the Democratic nominee waged his uphill fight for the presidency. Republican front-runner George Bush claimed the underdog label in his battle with the notion that the race for the White House is over.

Dukakis portrayed the election as a choice between a candidate for the wealthy and a nominee who is committed to working class Americans as he took his case to voters in Michigan.

The Democratic nominee received an enthusiastic response Tuesday in Kalamazoo when he told the crowd, "George Bush cares about the people on Easy Street. I care about the people on Main Street. He's on their side. I'm on your side."

Dukakis also accused the Republican administration of failing to halt the growing trade deficit and doing nothing to solve the problems that led to the 1987 stock market crash, which occurred one year ago today.

GEORGE BUSH

The vice president, who traveled to Fulton, Mo., site of former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill's famed "Iron Curtain" speech, focused on U.S.-Soviet relations in his address at Westminster College.

But in opening remarks to the students and comments to reporters, Bush sought to convince listeners he doesn't have the presidential election in hand.

"The worst thing to do would be to show a complacency I don't feel or an overconfidence that I do not feel," said the GOP nominee, who led by 17 points over in this week's NBC News-Wall Street Journal poll.

A Dukakis aide, however, said a new Harris poll put the gap at about nine percentage points. Barbara Winkour, a spokeswoman for Louis Harris & Associates in New York, said Harris would be releasing a poll today, but declined to comment Tuesday on its results.

Two other surveys found Bush leads of about the same size. In the first poll of 1,002 registered voters surveyed Saturday through Monday, Bush led 49-39 percent. The second poll of 1,201 likely voters Friday through Monday gave the GOP ticket a 49-40 percent lead.

Both were ongoing tracking polls — in which the newest day's result is added and the last day's is dropped — done by KRC Communications Research in Cambridge, Mass. They had margin of errors of three percentage points either way.

Front-runner Bush was stressing his foreign policy themes today at a series of appearances in Dearborn, Royal Oak and Saginaw, Mich. The industrial state, with its 20 electoral votes, is a key battleground.

Dukakis was traveling through rural areas of Illinois and Missouri, visiting a farm in Hull, Ill., and attending a livestock auction in Mexico, Mo. The Democratic nominee is hoping to break the Republican lock on the rural vote in a year in which the farm economy has suffered.

Democratic vice presidential candidate Lloyd Bentsen was spending his second day in California, the biggest electoral prize with 47 votes. Republican Dan Quayle was campaigning in Missouri and West Virginia.

Bentsen, who has hinted at dissatisfaction with his running mate's limited response to GOP attacks, accused the Republican ticket of a "vicious campaign that violates the public trust."

"They've said things about Mike Dukakis that in Texas we wouldn't say about a rattlesnake on a lawn at a church picnic," Bentsen told about 2,000 students at the University of California at Los Angeles.

For his part, Dukakis lashed out at Bush, charging that his rival has "no convictions, no ideas, no plans."

The Massachusetts governor said his solution to the trade deficit would be to reduce the budget deficit, increase foreign trade, invest in education and training and place a greater emphasis on research and development.

The vice president, expanding on his own campaign ad suggesting that only the Republican nominee is experienced enough to negotiate with the Soviets, told the Fulton audience he would remain wary of Soviet intentions despite the reforms instituted under the leadership of Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

"Now is not the time to abandon realism about what moves the Soviet Union," Bush said.

Quayle also was warning against overconfidence, but was upbeat after greeting cheering college students in Illinois.

"I'm beginning to feel what it's going to be like on election night," Quayle said.

Sales tax rebate soars here, in region

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The city of Hereford will receive a sales tax rebate this month of $53,991, up 28 percent from the $42,217 received in October 1987.

Hereford has now received $493,084 for 1988, up 7.1 percent from the first 10 months of 1987. A year ago, Hereford had received $460,208 through the first 10 months of the year.

According to State Comptroller Bob Bullock, surging sales tax rebates across the state reflect increasing statewide economic growth and stability. "The state's metropolitan areas are doing even better than originally forecast. I'm glad to see Texas is sitting on solid economic ground again," Bullock said.

The statewide rebate is $64.8 million, a 17 percent increase over the October 1987 rebate.

Most cities in the area received more money this month than they did in October 1987. The only city with a decrease was Friona, which will receive $7,110, $298 less than the October 1987 rebate. For the year, Friona has received $81,519, off $4,500 for the year.

Other area cities and their rebates include:

Canyon, $29,187, up 12.3 percent, for the year $308,503, up 2.7 percent; Dimmitt, $16,854, up 57.4 percent, $176,523 for the year, up 45.6 percent; Pampa, $101,577, up $9,000 compared to October 1987, $1,085 million for the year, up 10.6 percent;

Plainview, $137,790, up 50 percent over October 1987, $1.39 million for the year, a 42 percent hike; Levelland, $52,325 this month, a 4.5

percent increase, $588,822 for 1988, a 14.4 percent increase over 1987; Littlefield, $17,644, a 3.2 percent raise over last October, $207,453, a year-to-date hike of 4.7 percent;

Lubbock, $1.02 million this month, up 8.8 percent over October 1987, $11.44 million for the year, a 12.1 percent increase; Borger, $100,585, a 48 percent increase, $876,347 for the first 10 months of 1988, a 19 percent rise; Vega, $1,790, a 2.3 percent hike, $20,009 for the year, a 9.5 percent increase; Amarillo, $922,890, up 17.6 percent over October 1987, and $10.15 million for the year, an 8.4 percent increase.

Deaf Smith County received a check this month for $24,036, bringing its total for the year to $179,398. The county payments will be used to offset ad valorem taxes in future years.

The October rebates reflect taxes collected in August and reported to the comptroller's office by Sept. 20.

Out of Zhiguli? You're out of beer

WASHINGTON (AP) —

Glasnost could come to this: American television ads proclaiming, "Zhiguli, the czar of beers — when you're out of Zhiguli, you're out of beer."

It's pronounced zee-GUH-lee, as in the best-selling beer in the Soviet Union.

And if a new joint venture between the Soviet government and American investors is successful, Zhiguli will be just one of a number of Soviet products trying to make a dent in the giant American market.

The group also has high hopes for Lagidze Waters, a fruit-flavored soft drink made from mineral waters from the Georgian region of the Soviet Union.

The new joint venture, called Torg International, the Russian word for trade, was launched Tuesday with toasts of Soviet champagne at the Soviet embassy.

The participants credited Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev's campaign of perestroika, the economic restructuring designed to overhaul the stagnant Soviet economy, as the guiding force behind the new effort.

"This is a joint venture with the aim of selling in the United States some Soviet goods, Soviet soft drinks, Soviet beer, Soviet candies, Soviet chocolates, perhaps some other goods of high quality," said Soviet Ambassador Yuriy Dubinin. "It is one more step in the development of Soviet-American relations."

Futurists see lasers, new TV

WASHINGTON (AP) — Laser-protected homes, pocket telephones and interactive television will be commonplace in the United States of the future, but the nation could face a potentially devastating AIDS epidemic and a growing threat from high-tech terrorists, researchers say.

In its annual summary of predictions, the World Future Society says AIDS could have the impact of a world war by the end of the century. The predictions for 1989 and beyond summarize, but do not detail, reports published during the past year by the society, a non-profit educational group based in Bethesda, Md., which encourages study of issues affecting the future.

On the positive side, the society foresees technological advances in the home, improved quality of life in America's cities, and better working conditions as corporations give more attention to job satisfaction.

Workers over age 50 will find a growing demand for their stability and experience, the report said.

Company policies in support of families will become much more common as the Baby Boom generation moves into the upper echelon of management. These will include on-site child care, flexible working hours and sick leave for children's illnesses.

Among the society's other projections:

—City downtowns will become more livable. Many will plant trees and establish cultural and entertainment facilities such as arts districts, children's museums and aquariums. Shopping areas will increasingly be combined with educational, cultural and entertainment facilities.

—Many homes will be protected by laser shields and artificial intelligence security systems, with surveillance by heat-sensitive monitors and even satellites becoming possible.

—Pocket-sized telephones will become available, someday replacing public phones.

—Interactive television will play a large role in the classroom of the future, giving students in remote locations the ability to see, hear and talk to a professor hundreds of miles away.

—Businesses will need to provide continuous employee training as the automation and computer revolutions eliminate many low-literacy jobs.

—Computers will become a popular target for terrorists.

Poor loosen purse strings more than rich

Low- and moderate-income people give more donations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donations to charity decrease as incomes increase, according to a Gallup poll which says low- and moderate-income Americans are more generous than their upper-income counterparts.

"Giving and volunteering in America is a stark contrast between heart-warming generosity and bone-chilling selfishness," said Brian O'Connell, president of the Independent Sector, a nonprofit coalition of 650 corporate, foundation and volunteer organizations which commissioned the survey.

The March survey of 2,775 adults 18 years and over produced profiles of the most and least generous Americans according to income, family status, church membership, community size and region.

Those most likely to make contributions and volunteer their time were members of low- to moderate-income families, churchgoers, rural residents and Midwesterners.

The least generous were the affluent, single individuals, the non-churchgoing, city dwellers and Southerners.

"Contrary to popular opinion, the well-to-do in America cannot be described as generous," O'Connell said.

O'Connell said at a press conference Tuesday that contributing households with incomes below $10,000 gave an average of 2.8 percent of their income to charity. Those with incomes from $10,000 to $29,999 gave 2.5 percent, while those between $30,000 and $49,999 gave 2 percent.

Contributing households with incomes between $50,000 to $74,999 gave 1.5 percent; those earning $75,000 to $99,999 donated 1.7 percent, and those with incomes of $100,000 or more gave 2.1 percent.

Overall, the survey found that 70 percent of the households in America make charitable contributions.

The average amount of annual contributions per household was $790.

Members of almost half of the households — 45 percent — also volunteered time to charitable activities. The average per household was 4.7 hours a week in 1987.

Extrapolated to the entire U.S. population, the figures would translate into 80 million people giving a total of 19.5 billion hours worth $150 billion, O'Connell said.

The study indicated a link between religion and charitable support, with 79 percent of church members contributing money and 51 percent volunteering time. Among non-members, 55 percent made donations and 33 percent volunteered time.

However, more than one in five of the church members — 22 percent — contributed only to religion and not to any other charities.

Eugene C. Dorsey, head of the group's "Give Five" campaign to increase volunteerism, said the study shows it is possible to reach the organization's goal of motivating Americans to donate at least 5 percent of their incomes and five hours a week apiece to the causes of their choice.

But Dorsey, who also serves as president of the Gannett Foundation, said the findings also confirm the need for establishment of "a basic standard of what we owe to our communities."

Virginia A. Hodgkinson, the coalition's vice president for research, said its previous surveys had missed the link between rising income and decreasing support for charity. She said the earlier studies measured only the amount given without regard to what percentage of income the donated amount represented.

She said the profiles of the most and least generous Americans were based on the averages for weekly volunteerism, contributions as percentage of income and the percentages of family members who were volunteers.

Using this formula, the Midwest was first with individual volunteers donating 2.5 hours of their time and 1.5 percent of their income, followed by the West (2.4 hours, 1.5 percent of income), the East (2.0 hours, 1.2 percent) and the South (1.8 hours, 1.7 percent).

Although those questioned in the South reported giving a greater percentage of earnings to charity, Hodgkinson said this group had a lower overall proportion of households with volunteers and fewer volunteers overall in the general population.

Planning in early stage for Jessica McClure movie, says film producer

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — A television movie about the rescue of Jessica McClure from an abandoned well is little more than a gleam in the producer's eye, but he knows what angle the story will take.

"The story is about a town that found its soul, found its heart," said John Kander, executive producer for the movie. "Midland had lost its can-do spirit (with the fall of oil prices) and found its heart again through volunteers."

The movie, which is still in the planning stages and has not been scripted, will focus on the volunteers and city employees who rescued the 18-month-old girl Oct. 16, 1987.

"We're still at the point of organizing — how many characters we can put in it and still be very clear and true to the facts," Kander said Monday.

Jessica fell 22 feet down an 8-inch well Oct. 14. Hundreds of volunteers worked non-stop and rescued the little girl 58 hours after she fell in.

Jessica's parents and doctors say the girl is now a typical 2½-year-old except for a missing little toe and half a big toe on her right foot — casualties of a pressure wound from the long hours in the well.

Kander said scriptwriter David Eyre is researching the story now. Kander hopes the film can be broadcast sometime next fall. It will be shown on ABC and has a working title: "Everybody's Baby: The

Rescue of Jessica McClure."

The scriptwriters' strike delayed the project, Kander said, adding that Eyre was hired after the strike ended this summer.

The movie was delayed even before the strike because of a squabble between two groups that wanted a say in how the story was told. A group of 11 Midland city employees formed to review movie offers, select the best and seek approval of Jessica's parents, Chip and Cissy McClure.

Another group — mostly blue-collar volunteers who walked off their job sites to drill the rescue shafts — sprang up and quickly worked out a deal with a producer, but the municipal employees group rejected the proposal.

Mayor Carroll Thomas appointed a committee to review the movie deals, and the committee chose Interscope.

Kander said Interscope has reached an agreement with the McClures, but he would not discuss specifics. Some rescue workers will be paid for consulting on the script, he said.

"When you depict someone's story, you have to spend time to talk to them and in a sense, telling their story is an invasion of privacy," Kander said. "They deserve to be compensated. I feel that's totally appropriate. We're not talking big numbers here — there's a lot of people involved."

Long-awaited rescue

A rescue worker lifts 1½-year-old Jessica McClure from a 22-foot well in Midland on Oct. 14, 1987, after 58 hours of constant drilling to reach the toddler who fell down the 8-inch hole.

Teacher wins no-pass, no-play case

WACO, Texas (AP) — A Waco teacher says she is relieved a jury ruled in her favor in her battle with the public school system after she refused last year to pass a star football player who was failing her sociology class.

"I think I'm most pleased with the verdict," Sue Collins said Tuesday. "I knew that we were telling the truth. It was just a feeling of relief more than anything."

On Friday, a federal jury awarded Ms. Collins $77,000 in damages after it found violations of her First Amendment rights and of the state "whistle-blowers" act.

Hospital Notes

PATIENTS IN HOSPITAL

The University Interscholastic League ruled midway through the 1987 football playoffs that Waco High School star defensive end Trell Payne was ineligible to play because he had failed Ms. Collins's class.

The football team, undefeated at the time, forfeited six games, including a final playoff contest that ended its season as the team prepared for its next playoff battle.

House Bill 72 states that any student who fails a class will be declared ineligible from extracurricular activities for the next six-week grading period.

The 34-year-old Ms. Collins said

Payne also had failed her course during the first six-week grading period, but that principal Wilbur Luce and football coach Johnny Tusa pressured her to pass Payne.

The teacher said the school officials suggested she use a method called "point-borrowing." She could raise his score 15 points for the grading period, then subtract it from the next one when the student's performance had improved.

After Payne failed the class in the second grading period, Ms. Collins approached the UIL.

Top name performers to appear at benefit

Country-gospel and bluegrass music will be presented by top name performers during the 14th Annual Country Music Jubilee set for 8 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 27, in the Hereford High School auditorium. The event is being sponsored by Sheriff Joe C. Brown, Jr. and the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department.

Tickets are priced at $7.50 per person for the benefit show and are available at the Sheriff's Department and Gibson's. A door prize will be presented during the evening.

Appearing on the jubilee show will be the high-energy veteran performer, Wally Fowler, originaor of the Oak Ridge Boys and the All-Nite Gospel Sing. He appeared on the Grand Ole Opry for 10 years, was crowned Mr. gospel Music in 1963, was inducted into the Library of Congress in 1969, and was named to the Hall of fame in 1985.

Also, performing will be the Pilgrim's Quartet, who traveled 11 years with the late Archie Campbell of Hee-Haw, and features one of the world's lowest bass singers. In addition to the group, the "Queen of Gospel Music", also known as the "One Day At A Time" lady, Jeanette Lunsford, will be singing her own composition, "In the Midst of the Storm", as well as other popular tunes.

Other performers will include Hereford's own "Now and Then Bluegrass Band" consisting of Herman McCleskey and daughter Deanna, and Kent and Suzanne Finch, Robert Blasingame, and Tex and Eva McKnight. Other guests will be the high stepping, exciting national championship award winners, "Top of Texas Cloggers" from Amarillo.

Special screening

Seliece Hamilton, R.N. and Director of Nurses at Deaf Smith General Hospital, measures and weighs emergency room clerk, L.V. Watts. This will be one of the screenings provided for participants of Health Fair '88 set from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 25, at the Hereford Community Center. The fair is sponsored by The Family Living Committee of Deaf Smith Extension Service and Deaf Smith County Hospital.

A kangaroo cannot jump if its tail is lifted off the ground. It needs its tail for pushing off.

Aero-medical helicopter to be at Health Fair '88

A special feature of Health Fair '88 on Oct. 25 will be the arrival of CareLink, emergency aero-medical helicopter service. CareLink medical air service links communities and hospitals in the West Texas and Eastern New Mexico area with medical specialists in the region.

CareLink provides 24 hour medical service in a Dauphin 2 air ambulance helicopter. The helicopter travels at speeds of 195 miles per hour while life saving procedures are performed.

The helicopter will land behind the Community Center and will be there only from 10 a.m. until noon. In the event that CareLink is needed for an emergency call they will not be there the full time or may not arrive. Information on arrival can be obtained by calling the county Extension service at 364-3573 after 10 a.m.

The public is urged to attend the Health Fair and see the aero-medical helicopter and participate in the screenings and information presented. The Health Fair will be open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. and is sponsored by the Family Living

Committee of the Deaf Smith County Extension Service and Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion, handicap, or national origin.

NOT A BUSINESS

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — Anthony McIntosh, a defensive back for VMI, has a theory about college football that has been voiced by many educators but not too often by a varsity player.

"College football has lost the one thing it was invented for — fun," McIntosh said. "Most players see the sport as a business and so do most coaches. There is added pressure on the players to win because the schools see it as profit not as sport."

Volleyball team secures second with win

Kill by Kosub

Libby Kosub (11) of the Hereford High School volleyball team slams the ball between two Estacado blockers during the Hereford-Estacado volleyball match Tuesday at the HHS gym. Looking on are teammates Nikki Self (10), Shantel Cornelius (22) and Jill West (14). Hereford won the match, 17-15, 15-7 to assure no worse than a tie for second in District 1-4A.

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The Hereford High School volleyball team assured itself of no worse than a tie for second place in District 1-4A with a 17-15, 15-7 win over Lubbock Estacado on Tuesday at the HHS gym.

"We're excited," said Hereford volleyball coach Brenda Reeh. "We've got a three-game lead in the battle for second with three games to play. If we win one of the three we're in, but we want to win all three."

Hereford had to scramble in the first game. Nikki Self, who had eight service points and three aces in the match, served the first four points of the match, but Estacado came back to tie the score at 4. Hereford jumped to a 7-4 lead before the Matadors surged in front, 8-7.

Libby Kosub served the next six Hereford points, including three aces, to give Hereford a 13-8 lead. After a side out, Shantel Cornelius served another point to put Hereford ahead 14-8 before Estacado rallied to grab a 15-14 lead. Reeh called a time out.

"We had to get our energy level back up," Reeh said. "We were committing too many unforced errors, and we needed to buckle down."

"We also knew that if we won the first game, we had a great chance to win the second. That's been Estacado's history this season, that the second one was easier if they lost the first one."

On the next serve, Cande Robbins got a stuff block for side out, then served the last three points, with Cornelius getting the winning point on a stuff.

In the second game, Estacado took an early 3-2 lead before Kosub served three points to give Hereford a 5-3 lead. The Whitefaces never relinquished that lead.

Hereford's offense was a little shaky at times Tuesday, but Reeh said Estacado can be blamed for that. "When you play teams as big as Estacado and they have teams with a dominant hitter, you have to look for holes and put it in those holes," Reeh said. "We varied our attack quite a bit and tried to just dump it over a few times."

"Defensively, our blocking was pretty good. We didn't have too many blocks roll up our arms, and when we couldn't stuff it, we'd tip it up. I thought our defense was pretty good."

Kosub led Hereford servers with 12 service points and five aces, while Self had eight service points and three aces. Shantel Cornelius had 10 good attacks and five kills, Jill West had 12 good attacks and three kills, and Poppy Richardson had nine good attacks and one kill. Robbins had four stuffs, and Cornelius had three stuffs.

The Hereford junior varsity came back from a 14-1 first-game deficit to win 16-14, then came back after trailing 7-2 and 14-11 in the second game to win another 16-14 decision.

Waterfowlers banquet is Tuesday

Texas Waterfowlers Association, Inc. will hold its annual fundraising banquet and auction Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the Hereford VFW Hall, with the auction set to go about 8 p.m.

A large selection of hand-carved waterfowl decoys highlight the auction list this year. Offerings include a mesquite wood teal decoy, magnum pintail and mallard decoys, along with an unusual loon decoy.

Both mens' and womens' doorprizes will be awarded at the banquet. The women's doorprize is a gold and ruby dinner ring, and the mens' doorprize is a Ruger Mark II pistol.

A special "membership boost" period will be held at intervals during the evening. During "boosts" individuals will have the opportunity to win either a Remington Model 11-87 automatic shotgun or a Remington Model 870 shotgun by adding to their basic TWA membership fees.

TWA is a non-profit conservation organization that works to preserve and provide wintering habitat for waterfowl in this region. Proceeds from TWA events are used to lease habitat for waterfowl. TWA raises its entire budget through its annual banquet and auction here. Donations to TWA are deductible for income tax purposes.

Tickets for this year's TWA banquet and auction are priced at $20 each, which includes the meal and a membership in TWA. Tickets may be purchased from any TWA committee member or by calling 364-8400.

TWA president J.D. Gould of Vega said proceeds from this year's fundraiser will likely be used to lease habitat projects in Castro and northern Deaf Smith counties.

Since its inception in 1980, TWA has been working in the Texas High Plains, which is identified as one of the vital waterfowl wintering areas of the Central Flyway.

TWA works through private landowners, furnishing them financial incentive to provide wintering habitat for ducks and geese.

JOE WAS TOUGH

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Walton, the coach of the New York Jets, probably wouldn't look twice at a candidate for tight end who is his size when he played that position.

Joe was only 5-10 and 185 pounds, anywhere from 4 to 6 inches and 40 or 50 pounds lighter than the tight ends of today.

"Joe may have been small," quarterback Y.A. Tittle once said, "but he was the best third-down pass receiver in the game when he played."

Walton played for the Redskins and Giants.

McGwire mashes Dodgers, 2-1

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics nearly got even.

The losers of Game 1 on a bottom-of-the-ninth-inning home run by Kirk Gibson, the A's beat Los Angeles 2-1 in Game 3 of the World Series on Mark McGwire's ninth-inning homer Tuesday night.

"That's one," A's Manager Tony La Russa said. "Now, we need three more."

The A's still trail in the Series 2-1, but by winning Game 3, they at least stopped the bleeding and averted almost certain defeat. No team has come back from 0-3 in a seven-game Series.

The Dodgers squandered a bases-loaded, none-out opportunity in the sixth inning with the score tied 1-1, and that was where the game turped.

"That definitely picked the team up," McGwire said. "That kept us in it. They could have blown us out right there."

The A's will use their best pitcher, Dave Stewart, in Game 4 tonight as they try to really get even. Stewart, 21-12, gave up three runs over eight innings in Game 1. The Dodgers will go with rookie Tim Lincecum, who lasted only two innings in the opener.

Rick Honeycutt threw two hitless innings of relief for the A's, and McGwire, who hit 32 homers during the season, launched his game-winner with one out in the ninth off Jay Howell.

Just as Gibson had homered off the A's top reliever, Dennis Eckersley, McGwire faced the Dodgers' bullpen ace. And he added a taste of defeat to a postseason of insult and embarrassment for Howell.

Howell was thrown out of a playoff game for putting pine tar on the ball, then was suspended for two games.

He was belittled first by the New York Mets' David Cone as a high school pitcher, then by the A's Don Baylor, a former teammate, as a guy who couldn't get anybody out. And now this.

Instead of wearing No. 50 on his back, he might be wearing 86.

"I have no excuses," Howell said. "I just made a bad pitch. I tried to get a high fastball by him."

Howell came in to start the ninth. The first batter he faced was Jose Canseco, who led the majors with 42 homers during the season. Howell saved the bat off in Canseco's hands, and he was out on a popup to second.

That brought up McGwire, hitless in nine previous World Series at-bats.

The count went to 2-2 on McGwire, and he fouled a pitch straight back. He fouled off two more Howell fastballs before hitting a line drive that just cleared the fence in left field.

The Dodgers lost two players to injury early in the game — starting pitcher John Tudor and cleanup hitter Mike Marshall — and when the sixth inning came, Dodgers Manager Tom Lasorda said he was afraid to use gimpy Gibson as a pinch-hitter for Jeff Hamilton. He said he didn't want to run out of players too early in the game.

Gibson has not started in the Series because of injuries to both legs. Tudor went out in the second inning with a sore elbow, and Marshall had to leave in the fourth with a stiff back. The Dodgers said Marshall would be ready to play in Game 4, but they didn't know the extent of Tudor's injury.

The A's scored a run on Ron Hassey's RBI single in the third.

The Dodgers tied the score on Franklin Stubbs' RBI double in the fifth, then chased A's right-hander Bob Welch, a former Dodger, when they loaded the bases the next inning.

Danny Heep, who had come in for Marshall, led off with a double, John Shelby singled and Mike Davis walked. That ended Welch's evening, and Greg Cadaret and Gene Nelson got three quick outs on just five more pitches.

Cadaret, a left-hander, got Mike Scioscia to foul out to third on his second pitch. Nelson came in to face the right-hander Hamilton, with the left-handed slugger Gibson still on the bench. Hamilton grounded into a forceout at home on the second pitch, and Alfredo Griffin grounded the next pitch to first base for the third out.

Nelson stayed in the game until he gave up a leadoff single to Shelby in the eighth. When Honeycutt replaced Nelson, Dave Anderson hit for Davis and struck out after failing to bunt. Scioscia blooped a foul to third again, and Honeycutt struck out Hamilton.

Honeycutt, normally used to face one or two batters, retired the side in order in the ninth, and the A's were back in the Series.

FACES TOUGH JOB

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Coach Dick Harter of the expansion Charlotte Hornets, one of the two expansion teams in the NBA for the 1988-89 season, is realistic enough to know that victories are going to be hard to come by for the first couple of years.

Reception by Thames

Kelli Thames (5) of the Hereford High School junior varsity volleyball team reacts after receiving a serve from Estacado during Tuesday's match at the HHS gym. Ready to help out are Cindy Spies (31) and Robin White (11). The JV came back from a 14-1 deficit in the first game and a 14-11 deficit in the second game to take a pair of 16-14 wins on Tuesday.

Smith loved prime-time game

By DAVE GOLDBERG AP Football Writer

Bruce Smith was so pumped up about playing in prime time that he was dressed three hours before the game and went on and off the field seven times before the opening kickoff.

"I've never done that before, that's not like me," he said after being credited with 2½ sacks as the Buffalo Bills, playing in their first Monday night game since 1984, beat the New York Jets 37-14. "To me, it was the biggest game of my career."

Smith needed to look just 90 miles down the New Jersey Turnpike to see the danger that presents.

Just six days after the Philadelphia Eagles, in their first national showcase since 1981, beat the New York Giants 24-13, they bottomed out against Cleveland. They scored just three points, allowed Don Strock to throw two touchdown passes in his first start in five years while Monday night hero Randall Cunningham was sacked nine times.

"I've coached high school, college and in the pros, and it happens at all levels," Eagles Coach Buddy Ryan says. "That's one of the reasons I don't like the Monday night game. It gives us the short week."

But it's not just the short week for teams like the Eagles and the Bills.

The Eagles treated the New York game as a Super Bowl — a chance for national exposure. To the Giants, who had been on prime time 11 times since Philadelphia's previous appearance, it was ho hum.

After the Bills beat the Jets on Monday night, their locker room had that same kind of Super Bowl atmosphere.

STEALS OFTEN

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Playing against Alvin I feel I should wear a no-pest strip around my neck," Mychal Thompson of the Los Angeles Lakers remarked. Thompson once was a teammate of Alvin Robertson, the defensive star of the San Antonio Spurs.

Robertson led the NBA in steals in for both the 1985-86 and 1986-87 seasons.

It wasn't that they are now 6-1 and two games ahead in the AFC East; it was that they had won in front of the nation. In fact, they interrupted their shower to award owner Ralph Wilson the game ball and serenade him with a bit of off-color verse.

Coach Mary Levy played down the importance of the national television showcase. But he also said, "You'll have to ask the team about that."

But the team, almost to a man, contradicted him.

"It would be an understatement to say we were pumped up," said Smith, ebullient and talkative for the first time since returning three games ago from a four-game substance abuse suspension. "This was a chance to show what the Buffalo Bills can do and we did."

"The sky's the limit," he replied when asked if the Super Bowl is what the Bills can ultimately do. Then he smiled.

But Levy is more practical (coachily).

He pointed out that the euphoria was over the instant the game ended and the Bills have to prove what they can do against New England this week. As the Eagles learned Sunday, it won't be easy to get up again, particularly for the young, budding All-Pro Pros like Smith and Cornelius Bennett, who are suddenly full of themselves.

Other Bills know differently.

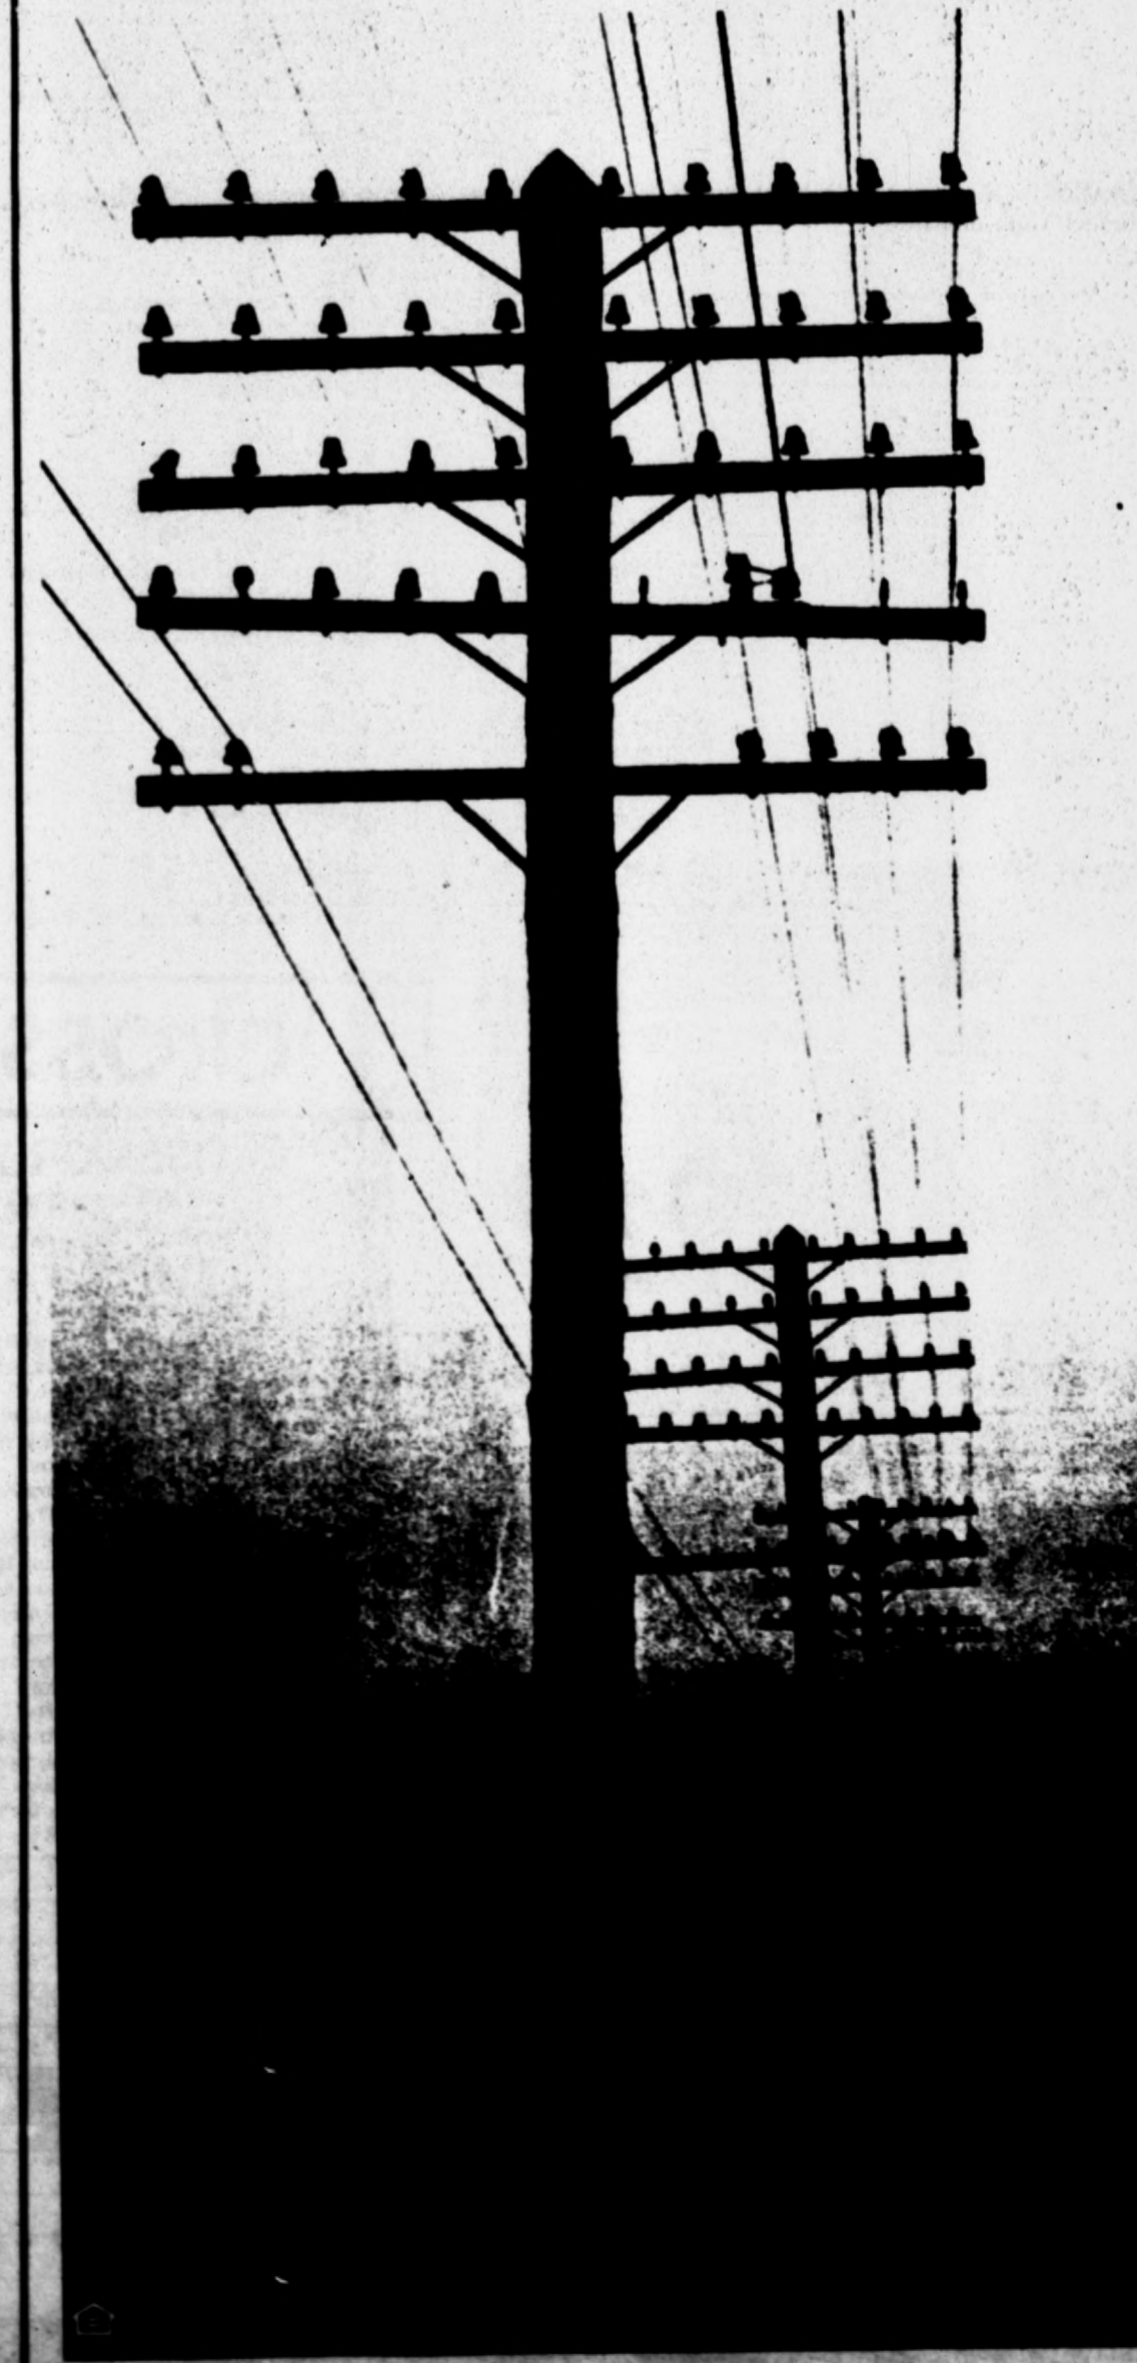

"Winning like we did on Monday night makes you a target," tight end Pete Metzelaars said after the game.

Then there's Fred Smerlas, the 31-year-old nose tackle who knows what it's like to go through two seasons (1984-85) in which the team had fewer victories (four) in 32 games than it has in seven this year.

"We have a great mix," he says. "The front office went out and got us veterans like Art Still and Leonard Smith. The players and the coaches get along fine and we've got great young guys like Bruce Smith and Shane Conlan and Cornelius Bennett."

"But I think this team knows itself. I think it can keep an even keel. We're never too high and never too low."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am writing this from a correctional institution in Salinas, Calif. No, I am not writing to ask you to help me get out. What I would like is a little advice on how to manage what is becoming a serious problem among the "guests." (I hate the word "inmates.")

You would not believe how serious these guys are about soap operas. The switching of channels has led to some serious knock-down drag-out fights. Last week one fellow stabbed another one with a pencil. Even though the wound was superficial, it will give you an idea of how seriously they take these TV programs. They would rather fight than switch.

I can understand a guy punching another guy in the mouth for grabbing his chicken dinner or stealing his cigarettes, but to get violent over a soap seems ridiculous to me.

It's not easy to live in Another World, as we surely do, but with only One Life to Live, we wait As The World Turns in search of that Guiding Light, hoping and praying that we all don't end up in General Hospital.

Any comment?—B.J.C.

DEAR B.J.C.: From what I know about the penal system in this country I doubt that the guards would allow those TV arguments to get out of hand. Meanwhile, if that is the biggest problem you "guests" have to cope with, you are lucky.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd like to comment on your reply to "Texas," who jumped into the discussion about education. You mentioned how serious the Russians and the Japanese are about educating their children and added, "We dare not risk putting our country in the hands of a bunch of dummies 20 years from now."

Wake up, Ann. We do not have to wait 20 years. The dummies are already voting (or not voting) and they are ruining our country.

Our schools teach everything from sandbox to waterskiing, but many students graduate without knowing one cotton-pickin' thing about world history or economics.

When only 35 percent of the eligible voters bother to register and only 40 percent of those 35 percent take the trouble to vote it's a pretty sad commentary on this nation's priorities. I am worried about America's future.—Puyallup, Wash.

DEAR PUYALLUP: You have focused on an issue that is a national disgrace. A few years ago someone suggested a tax credit for citizens who voted. It's too bad when we have to bribe people to do something that should be a privilege, but it just might work.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I gave up smoking four years ago and I haven't missed it at all. One of the principal reasons I quit was because of an item you printed that said each cigarette takes eight minutes off your life. A little honest arithmetic showed me that already I had puffed away over 10 years of my life. I couldn't believe it! It didn't even take me eight minutes to smoke one lousy cigarette!

My question is this: Now that I have quit, is the damage reversible? Do I get any of those minutes back?—Frank in Brooklyn

DEAR FRANK: Every authority I have consulted says "Yes!"

Coal-black lungs will be pink again after six months of abstinence. Bravo and welcome to a healthier (and longer) life.

Drugs are everywhere. They're easy to get, easy to use and even easier to get hooked on. If you have questions about drugs and drug use, Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "The Lowdown on Dope," will give you the answers. Send $3 plus a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope (45 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago Ill. 60611-0562.

On Sept. 10, 1919, New York City welcomed home Gen. John J. Pershing and 25,000 soldiers who served in the U.S. First Division during World War I.

School memorabilia

Costumes of twirlers and cheerleaders from past Hereford classes are on display at Deaf Smith County Museum in a tribute to Hereford Schools. The costumes are circa 1958, 1968, and 1988, and represent Hereford High School, and the former Stanton Junior High and La Plata Junior High schools. Paula Edwards, top photo, curls the hair of the HHS cheerleader while Lisa Albiar, left photo, puts the final touches on the SJH cheerleader.

Dental hygienists observe anniversary of profession

During National Dental Hygiene Week, October 16-22, the Panhandle District Dental Hygienists' Society will observe the 75th anniversary of the profession.

The first school of dental hygiene was established in Bridgeport, Conn. in 1913. Since that time, hygienists have worked in partnership with dentists, researchers and other health professionals to improve the public's oral health. Dental hygiene emphasizes the importance of prevention of tooth decay and gum disease through regular professional visits and proper home care.

Through the efforts of dental hygienists, many more people can look forward to having healthy teeth and gums all their lives. 75 years of commitment to care has had a positive impact on the public's oral health.

The Panhandle District Dental Hygienists' Society recommends the following tips to help keep teeth and gums in good condition:

- Visit your dental hygienist and dentist regularly. Don't wait until it hurts.
- Follow your hygienist's instructions on how to floss and brush your teeth. Do both at least once every day.
- Use a fluoride toothpaste or mouthrinse.
- Eat well-balanced meals. Avoid frequent snacks.

Family film scheduled

"Brother of the Wind" is the family film to be shown free of charge at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Heritage Room of Deaf Smith County Library.

The outdoor adventure is set in the Canadian Rockies and is the story of a lonely mountain man who saves four wolf pups from starvation when their mother is killed. The pups make themselves at home in the man's cabin where they become his constant companions. Their comic behavior is delightful, but the old man realizes that they must be taught to become self-sufficient.
