Around Town

A membership drive for the newly organized Hereford Boosters will get underway tomorrow. The groups' board of directors met Wednesday to outline plans for the drive among the retail establishments in Hereford. At the meeting each director received prospect cards and placards to be delivered to the various firms upon receipt of their dues. J. P. Jones, president, was in charge of the meeting. The membership of the club will have regular meetings scheduled for the first Friday in each month.

The final releases barring completion of the airport project were obtained late last week. "Still pending Civil Aeronautics Authority approval of the land title, which has been promised as soon as their attorneys are satisfied, we hope the paving project will begin Wednesday," said Dudley Bayne, city manager. "Unless we have unusually bad fall weather, the work should be completed before winter," he added.

Dr. A. T. Mims will give a short talk and act as master of ceremonies when the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce presents a program Wednesday for the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, Mims, C of C president. (Continued On Page 7)

Charges were filed by County Attorney Ed Line on a complaint by James Whitson, an employe of Caperton's. The charges allege Caperton paid Whitson with a worthless $50 check. Since the check exceeds $50, the alleged act is a felony.

Plan Area Farm Tour To Feature 2 Crops, Irrigation Practices

Hybrid sorghum production, soybean plantings and good irrigation practices will be features of the annual Deaf Smith County farm tour, which will start at 1:30 p.m. Thursday from the courthouse.

"We have scheduled the trip to give comparisons of various types of sorghums, and to show new varieties and methods of cultivation of soybeans," said Hugh Clearman, county agent.

"Improved irrigation systems will be seen and described on several of the farms, with viewers afforded an opportunity to see how their use affected crop production," he added.

ALL FARMERS in the area, businessmen and any interested persons are invited to take part in the tour. "We would like everyone to gather at the courthouse for the tour in order to form parties and fill each car, thereby cutting down on the length of the caravan that will be required to carry the tour participants," Clearman said.

The county agent's office, Soil Conservation Service, Deaf Smith County Certified Seed Growers, Soil Conservation District supervisors, Gifford-Hill Western, and Grant Hanna of the DeKalb Co. will be co-sponsors of the tour. Refreshments will be served by Gifford-Hill and DeKalb.

The first stop after leaving the courthouse will be made at the W. H. Johnson place, 10 miles southeast. Soybean production, with three varieties growing under varied conditions, and certified hybrid sorghum seed production will be described there.

PLANTINGS of hybrid sorghum for grain production and a field of the newly introduced Texoca 54 white kaffir, which has a guaranteed market for industrial and commercial uses will be features of the second stop, at the C. R. Dameron farm.

Moving on to Virgil Walkers' place, the tour will stop to compare growth of three types of hybrid sorghums, 660, 610 and F-62. Three varieties of cotton and a well engineered underground irrigation system will also be seen.

At the W. H. Andrews farm, bench leveling and rows laid out with a controlled grade to improve irrigation water flow will be featured.

FORTY DIFFERENT hybrid sorghums will be inspected when the caravan reaches T. L. Sparkman's fields. From there, the tour will move to the Jay Boston farm to study his irrigation system and view an exceptional field of hybrid sorghum, which several observers estimate will produce 10,000 pounds per acre.

Both Texas Certified and DeKalb variety hybrids are planted on Boston's farm. A field of hybrid sorghum growing under dryland conditions will be the final scheduled stop on the tour, Ray Johnson's farm near Summerfield.

Clearman said that the tour sponsors have some additional stops in mind, if time is available, including a comparison of hybrids with standard Martin milo on the T. D. Alston farm.

Final rites for Nester E. Gass, 80, an early-day Hereford pioneer, will be held at 3 p.m. today at the First Christian Church with the Rev. Gilbert Davis, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Gass, who came to Hereford with his parents in 1888, died at 11:30 p.m. Friday in his home at 311 Jackson. He had been ill for several years. He was a member of the First Christian Church.

His father, D. R. Gass, owned the first mercantile store in Hereford and Nester Gass started in business with his father. He later converted the store into a dry-goods business and sold it in 1938.

Pickets Cautioned by Sheriff Before Phone Strike Ends

Telephone service returned to normal and 40 telephone installers went back to their jobs here Friday morning after the installers' union and Western Electric officials reached agreement on a new contract. But not before the county sheriff had occasion to visit with pickets outside the telephone exchange building and give instructions on their conduct.

Sheriff Charles Skelton said that several telephone operators called on him Wednesday night, said they had resigned from their union, which was not involved in the contract dispute, and had been threatened by a striker when they started to enter the exchange building to resume their duties.

Skelton said that he contacted the strikers and read the law regarding mass picketing to several men gathered outside the building. No more than two men at a time are permitted to conduct the picketing operation, according to the statutes, the sheriff said. No protest was expressed after the sheriff advised limiting the line to two men, and the union steward called him later to report that all picketing would be stopped pending a report from union officials in Lubbock. The pickets, two of them, were back on duty Thursday morning, but users noted that telephone service was "nearly normal" through the local exchange.

Service had been reduced to about three-fourths of normal after the strike began on Monday and most telephone operators honored the installers' picket line, which resulted in the telephone switchboard being manned primarily by Leland McMurray and Santos Lamas were indicted for desertion of children. M. L. Fly was indicted for forgery and passing a forged instrument. Roy J. Herbert was billed on theft over $50.

Hardison also pleaded guilty to a charge of forgery and was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. They were taken to Huntsville Friday.

Herd Loses to Dimmitt, 21-6

A one-man scoring parade by Dimmitt halfback Keth Lowe marched right past Hereford at Dimmitt Friday night as the District 1-AA Bobcats upended the District 1-AAA Whitefaces, 21-6.

Lowe scored all three Dimmitt touchdowns and booted all three extra points to hand the Whitefaces their second loss in as many starts. An estimated crowd of 1,800 saw the game.

Dimmitt gave indications of what was to come the first time it got the ball. The Bobcats took the opening kickoff and drove to the Hereford three-yard line before losing the ball on a fumble.

Hereford managed a first down and then Jim Curtisinger kicked out to the 50 yard line. Seven plays later Dimmitt quarterback Truman Touchstone tossed a 22-yard pass to Lowe in the endzone for the first touchdown with two minutes left in the first quarter. Lowe converted and it was 7-0.

Mild Asian Flu Epidemic Is Underway; No Vaccine Ready

A mild epidemic of Asian flu has hit Hereford and vicinity in the past week, according to Dr. L. B. Barnett of the Hereford Clinic. Dr. Barnett estimated Saturday that there have been about 50 cases "with some clinical symptoms of Asian flu," during the past week.

Dr. Barnett said most of the cases are not of the bed variety and "certainly not hospital cases." Deaf Smith County Hospital manager said the hospital has treated two cases. "This is a very mild epidemic and this part of the country usually gets the milder versions of the airborne diseases because of the atmospheric conditions and lack of congestion," the doctor added. Symptoms of Asian flu, Dr. Barnett said, include its sudden onset, a high temperature, headache, body aches and severe vomiting in most cases.

No recent word has been received on Hereford's share of the Asian flu vaccine, Dr. Barnett said, but added "we will get our pro-rata share when it's available." A separate shipment for hospital and clinic staffs is expected about Oct. 1.

The vaccine for the general public will be distributed on a priority basis when it is received, Dr. Barnett said. He said older people with a definite history of chest and/or heart diseases will get the vaccine first. The rest of the vaccine will be distributed by age groups.

"None of us (doctors and staff) has had the vaccine yet and we haven't caught the flu yet," Dr. Barnett said.

After Wednesday's tour, one member of the board spoke of alternatives from which the trustees and ultimately the voters might choose. "But we haven't anything definite, yet," he said.

The trustees found all schools except Stanton Junior High are using every classroom, and noted that practically all room is fully utilized in the high school building, with some crowding apparent. Two Hardin-Simmons University's B team erupted for 19 points in the second quarter here Thursday night and went on to trounce West Texas State's B team, 32-6, in a game sponsored by the Hereford Lions Club. An estimated 300 fans saw the contest.

West Texas had taken a 6-0 lead in the first period on a one-yard plunge by Bob Herring and had had a 28-yard TD run called back.

With nine minutes left in the second stanza, H-SU end Dallas Christian intercepted a pass thrown by WT quarterback Bill Mayfield and ran 55 yards for the Buttons' first score.

Quarterback Harold Stephens kicked the point and H-SU led, 7-6. A few minutes later the Buttons hopped on a West Texas fumble on the WT 42 and six plays later fullback Jack Taylor plunged less than a yard for a touchdown. The try for point was blocked.

With time running out in the first half, Royce Barnes, halfback, dashed 53 yards to make it 19-6.

West Texas stopped on Hardin-Simmons drive on the six-yard line in the third quarter, but in the last period the Buttons scored twice more.

An intercepted pass put the ball on the West Texas 15 shortly after the quarter began. Barnes took a pass from Stephens to the three and plunged over on the next play.

The Buttons grabbed another WT fumble on the little Butts' 35 and Stephens pass to Morris Light to go to the three and then Stephens took it over with just seven seconds left in the game. John Brandshaw kicked the point after.

West Texas led in first downs, 16-15. Hardin-Simmons, working out of a spread formation, completed 14 of 31 passes.

The Hereford High School White-face band played during the first half and performed a half-time show.

HEAD HOSTESS—Mrs. John A. Peters, president of the Armed Forces Hostess Assn. which has headquarters in the Pentagon, points to a map showing where hostesses are located in the Washington, D. C. area. The association assembles information on U. S. armed forces centers in all parts of the world and relays it on request to service families who are being transferred.

Hostess Assn. Helps Service Wives Adjust

By JANE EADS WASHINGTON — The Armed Forces Hostess Assn., friend in need to thousands of service families the world over, tries to answer queries on a multitude of subjects. "We try to help anyone wanting any information any place where military personnel are stationed," explains Mrs. John A. Peters, wife of an Army lieutenant colonel and president of the association of volunteer officers' wives which has its headquarters and information clearing house at the Pentagon. The store of information on housing, transportation, schools, other subjects is obtained from the presidents of officers' wives clubs on posts around the globe. "They know what women want," observes Lylas Peters, "the many varied problems that plague the poor service wife who must pack up and move her family when her husband is transferred from post to post every three or four years. When they get stuck, we're the ones to help."

Mrs. Peters says that as of January, 1957, there were some 2,913-144 dependents of armed forces personnel stationed within the continental limits of the United States and abroad. When writing for information, either to the Pentagon offices of the association or to a local post, a self-addressed, stamped envelope must be enclosed and certain details must be supplied the hostesses. First, a correspondent must give her husband's service rank. Second, if there are children, ages and type of school they wish to enroll them in, public, private or parochial. Third, exactly where her husband is stationed.

Formed in Washington in 1959 by a small group of women under the direction of Mrs. E. P. Campbell, wife of an Army colonel, the organization of volunteer answer-ladies and problem-solvers has boomed to 1,000 clubs. Some 60 of these are operating in this area alone. In the Pentagon a staff of 40 volunteers rotates in manning the office, each serving at least two full days each month. One of the main functions of the association is to extend a personal welcome to newly-appointed officers and their families in the community and to supply assistance to all service personnel in their new surroundings. On entering this area the service wife is contacted by one of the neighborhood hostesses who tries to help her and her family become a part of, rather than an addition, to the community.

ALAS! A LINE WAS LACKING IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

Some days it just doesn't pay! I knock myself out trying to earn the title of Poet Laureate of Irving Street and what happens? They foul me up by leaving out one of the most inspired lines in last week's ditty.

No doubt readers got the idea, but the climactic lines should have read "Along came the City crew. With their spraying machine."

DR. ROY GRUBBS good-naturedly chided those who have complained about the spray in his recent talk to a certain study club. But he was dead serious in his commendation of the City's project in respect to its effective control of encephalitis.

Dr. Roy is a walking testimonial for the advantages of tape recording. He couldn't make it in person for the above mentioned talk, so he recorded it on tape and sent the machine to the meeting.

He spiced the informative message with bits of humor and the result was most enjoyable for the audience. Am sure the doctor was somewhat more at ease in this method of presentation than if he had stood there in person, surrounded on all sides by women.

JOAN YARBRO was rather startled but amused when she went to a club meeting not long ago.

The ladies of the club had decided to stage a Funny Hat contest on this particular day. Joan, after due deliberation of materials she had on hand, chose baby rattlers and other nursery items to decorate her own chapeau as ridiculously as possible.

Well! The other club members thought it was Joan's clever way of making an announcement.

And on the subject of conclusion-jumping, Juanita Sims was highly amused at some young teenagers who were listening to her make a phone call from the golf course clubhouse.

It was real chilly that morning so Ruanita had left her dog, Ruddle, shut up in the house. When the day grew warmer, she phoned a neighbor about the dog. "Reba," she says, "will you please go over and let Ruddle out of the house? I locked him in this morning because it was too cold to leave him outside, but I think it's warm enough to let him out now."

Juanita had thought nothing of the conversation until she realized that the young eavesdroppers around the telephone thought she had left her child locked up in the house for the day.

Perhaps the foregoing are a couple of examples of how rumors get started. Both were cases of perfect innocence.

AM GOING to try to top Argen Draper's journalistic bit about calories on menus.

A restaurant called Days in Odessa has a policy which I wish the Hereford dining places would inaugurate. Especially those who desire to make eating "out" more pleasurable for the families with small children.

Each child receives a special menu listing suggestions of what the children might eat at kiddie-ity, now of Friona are the proud parents of a baby boy, born Tuesday in Hereford hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carthel of Black are also the proud parents of a baby boy. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H. V. McCabe.

The Lottie Moon Circle of W. M.S. met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Ray Polan. The program was on Pakistan. Those present were Mesdames Paul McClung, Jim Alston, and Miss Della Dow and the hostess.

Among those shopping in Amarillo on Wednesday were Mrs. Marion Russell and Elizabeth, Mrs. Zed Stewart, Mrs. W. J. Stewart of Canyon, and Miss Bertha Frye.

Mr. Marion Russell, Mr. Ray Polan, and Mr. Leroy Burgess went fishing at Conchos over the weekend.

Some of the men attending the agriculture meeting in Lubbock the first of the week were Carl Wimberley, August Frye, Ray T. Stewart, Ray Polan, and H. V. McCabe.

Diapers, Diamonds Used in Bombers

A purchasing agent who fills requisitions for diamonds, diapers, pipe tobacco, wooden marbles and leg makeup, does so, not in a movie or television studio, as you might expect, but at an aircraft factory. The diamonds, it turns out, are for grinding wheels employed in tooling; diapers, it seems, are dandy lint-free cloths for cleaning bombsight lenses on a giant jet bomber; the pipe tobacco is used in smoke generators to test ventilating systems; wooden marbles — some 3,800,000 of them — are utilized in metalbonding to equalize vacuum and to apply pressure to uneven tool surfaces; and the leg makeup is applied to employees' hands, not legs, for photographic purses to provide the necessary contrast. Other novel requisitions which the purchasing agent can fill without so much as a raised eyebrow include: ink droppers, chloroform, fingerprint remover and acid neutralizer, grain alcohol, helium, stop watches and window socks. Their uses: ink droppers are brought into action to fill pyrometers in heat treat areas; chloroform and helium aid in servicing and repairing aircraft flight instruments; fingerprint remover and acid neutralizer are used on unplated parts to prevent corrosion due to handling; grain alcohol is provided for laboratory tests; the stop watches are employed in various service tests on bomber components, and the "window socks" of the type worn by shop window decorators, are worn by maintenance men walking on top of the bomber. They prevent sun- and shock.

Accident Victims Still in Hospital

Mrs. Orpha Nickerson, 56, of 229 Lee is still in serious condition at Deaf Smith County Hospital from injuries received Tuesday in a car accident at Dawn. Mrs. Owendia Miller, 35, 606 Knight, driver of the car in which Mrs. Nickerson was riding, is still being treated at the hospital and is in a painful but improving condition. Mrs. Nickerson suffered a broken leg, cuts and bruises and Mrs. Miller suffered bruises and shock.

RED TAPE CUTTER

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — An Army helicopter pilot lost patience with red tape and got his craft fixed in a hurry. He walked to a hardware store for a part and paid for it with his own money. CWO John Gray, from Ft. Sill, Okla., made an emergency landing here. He notified the Army he needed a small plug to fix a leaky gas line, and one was flown from Ft. Sill, 100 miles away. Gray got the part, valued at about 60 cents, but found he needed another small part to finish. Under Army regulations, the plane would have to return to Ft. Sill and fly back the part. Gary got impatient, walked to a store and purchased the part — for 40 cents.

TOUCHDOWN BOUND — Dimmitt halfback Keith Lowe (12) receives a key block from end Gary Cleaver (84) and breaks into the clear to go 13 yards for his third score of the night against Hereford at Dimmitt Friday. Dimmitt won, 21-6, and Lowe scored all of the Bobcats' points. Hereford's 78 is John Beasley. (Staff Photo)

2 Miles South

FAST FARMER—The first Hereford area cotton was pulled Tuesday on the A. N. Hopson farm, one mile south of Hereford. Hopson, right, harvested five bales Tuesday and Wednesday and ginmer J. A. Ward, left, said he was pleased with the quality. The first bale was put on display downtown. It was later than the first 1956 bale by 10 days. The grower, who received about $350—the price represented a bonus of about $150 above market price—for the first bale, said the crop was planted May 3-4 on his 22 allotted acres. (Staff Photo) supervisory persons. The strikers, represented by Communications Workers of America officials in New York, obtained a 13.2 cents hourly contract raise and some other concessions from Western Electric. But Robert Flanagan, a CWA leader, told the Associated Press that he believed the rail and file of the union would reject the new contract, which is subject to their approval.

This might mean that the strike will be renewed within 10 days.

and other members of the board of directors, will attend the meeting in the Herring Hotel. Don Zimmerman will make a brief talk on the Hereford businessman's relationship with Amarillo, and John Douglas Pitman will review the area and county agricultural situation. Mims will talk on medical research accomplished here.

The McCathern brothers, J. E. Jr. and Gerald, found pinto beans a profitable crop this season. After planting 15 acres beside their extensive grain sorghum acreage they spent a lot more time worrying about marketing than in cultivating or irrigating the new crop. Harvesting was expensive, $12 an acre, but one cultivation and three irrigations brought a yield of 33,000 pounds of cleaned beans. Most of the crop was sold to Lubbock and Amarillo wholesalers, with several sacks being sold to Labor in his back pocket when another child lit the fuse.

CECIL MASSEY, one-time Chamber of Commerce manager and later City of Hereford manager, was in town Friday. Everywhere Massey went folks kept telling him that he hasn't changed much during his tenure of office in Haltom City and currently in Weatherford, where he is now city manager.

Shortly after getting to town, Massey called J. W. Robinson Jr., on the telephone, identified himself, asked about the weather and, in general, left the impression that he was calling from Weatherford. Finally, in the course of conversation, J. W. mentioned something about how nice it would be to see Massey, who replied:

"Sounds like a good idea! Just stay put about a minute and a half — and I'll run across the street and see you." Which he did.

Which goes to prove that Massey hasn't changed a lot, at that. However, he does report another son, born the latter part of July and says that the whole Massey clan is mighty happy with Weatherford.

From away in Chicago our old friend, Joseph Chmelik, sends a clipping about how James E. Gardiner, Texan on the North Pole expedition, joined 10 other Seabees and built a road to an observatory post for scientists from Byrd Station. The boys finished the 643-mile "highway" in 43 days and Gardiner is narrating a film to be shown on NBC Sept. 23. The thing that caught Mr. Chmelik's eye was the statement where Gardiner claims to have added a lot of snow to the metres and bounds of Texas.

"When we reached the site of Byrd station, I claimed it and the surrounding territory for Texas."

"I built a cairn and put a whiskey bottle — empty — in it with a written claim in the name of Texas inside," Gardiner declared.

PERHAPS THIS may be extreme, but Texas really is changing these days. Old timers like C. R. Smith can recall the days when our Lone Star State was famous as the world's leading cattle empire. We still have the most cattle but, more recently, Texas has become even more widely known for its oil production: "more millionaires" — and still quite a few places to drill more wells.

The big change, right now, lies in Texas expansion as a manufacturing center — and it is really stepping out. Many industrial leaders feel that Texas will also become a huge import and export area within the next 25 years. Already, hundreds of huge firms have located in Texas. Everything spells future growth and expansion along the lines seen on the Eastern seaboard in past history. They also predict an inevitable rise in "operating costs" and "higher taxes." People who are unhappy with taxes now, just haven't seen anything yet, according to the experts. Invariably, growth and expansion go hand in hand with rising costs and higher taxes.

Hereford and Deaf Smith residents can testify along this same line. Our little deal is not a drop in the bucket to what will happen to Texas — but we have definitely seen sharp cost increases... and higher taxes.

ABOUT FISHING: I kept hearing so many stories that I finally took off a few days to make a personal investigation. Fishing was good around Platona, Colo. Everyone was catching fish — except me. Gene Moore stood in one spot and filled his creel. Dub Reeves was the worst, though; he actually sat down and took his limit on flies. He made us eat 14 for lunch — and we were still dodging every time we saw a stranger for fear that he might be a game warden. Finally, we ate our way down to an even 10 each — and came home. I think I caught five fish in three days, so you can figure that Dub and Gene were really going to town.

We also heard that Wayne Edwards and D. C. Kinsey had much the same experience. I figure that I owe Raylan Evans an apology. I was just judging other people by my own feeble efforts.

I also found out another thing: It is mighty hard to explain how you got hit in the head with a hammer while changing a tire. Every time I tell the story to anyone, they invariably act like they think that I am feeding them a line. It is sort of like the old boy who ran into a door and got a black eye. Folks just don't choose to believe the truth. Clint Wylie said that trout will be taken for the next week or 10 days on flies, then it will be a case of worms and salmon eggs. Dub and Gene offered to dig me some worms this time and, if I had it to do over, I sure would let them. Anyway, they convinced me that "it isn't the fishing, it's the fisherman." Trouble with Marlin and I seems to rest in the fact that we are a couple of "has-beens," just like Evans said all of the time. Though, I do hate to admit it.

The telephone strike has come and gone without much ado. However, it did recall to many residents the time when F. H. Oberthier started picketing the pickets after printing his own sign which read: "These boys ought to be in Korea!" The two young men stood it a half day, then packed up and went back to Amarillo.

PICK HARMAN says it is a fact that Amarillo will install the downtown "mall" system. He has been talking with some merchants and they assure him that it is in the bag.

These days most Hereford merchants are bemoaning the "help situation" as being at a low ebb. The complaint seems to be universal. Either there are more jobs or fewer people available to fill them. Anyway, you run into the hue and cry on every hand. Personally, I think that there are just a lot more jobs that need filling. The opening of local schools, plus the annual college drain, accentuates the situation. Many of the merchants may have forgotten how tough things were last year and the year before. It makes you stop and wonder how they ever filled all of the positions in the days before so many wives started working?

Back in the thirties most school systems passed ironclad rules against hiring married women. Now, the married women provide around 75 per cent of the teachers. This topic used to result in quite a few arguments — but it definitely seems to have solved itself with the passage of time.

COUNTRY FAIRS are about as American as apple pie, but I sometimes wonder how many people who attend the fairs ever take the trouble to go inspect the exhibits. I would guess fewer than half. On the other hand, you could sponsor a big carnival without the exhibits — and fewer than one-fourth of the normal crowd would attend. Many Amarillo merchants are complaining this week because "business is off." Fair week, they say, definitely is not what it once was in the matter of ringing the cash registers. People who go to the fair these days, seem to do just that. All in all, it is quite a deal and presents somewhat of a question to the folks who pick up the check year after year.

FOR I.O. THESE 20 years the people of Deaf Smith County and Hereford have talked about promoting an annual county fair. However, we never seem to get much closer than the year before. Maybe we are lucky to be so indifferent on this particular score.

On the other hand, most of our troubles can be attributed to a lack of energetic leadership. If some old boy bowed his neck, stuck out his chin and waded in with dauntless determination, Hereford could do just about anything it wanted. The same thing, of course, is true concerning all other towns and communities. More depends on the appearance of each new generation than most people realize.

DRIET, Ky. (AP) — A little girl didn't know it at the time but she probably saved Earl Turner's life during a rainstorm.

Turner was standing outside his theater when the girl telephone to ask when the movie would start. He told her 7:15 then recoiled back from a blinding flash of lightning.

Leaving the boxoffice, Turner dashed outside to the spot where he had been standing and found a 75-pound piece of limestone, knocked from the roof by lightning.

NATIONAL BUSINESS WOMEN'S WEEK, SEPT. 22 - 28

THE ATTENTION of the general public will be focused on the achievements of women in business and the professions during National Business Women's Week beginning today and lasting through Sunday, Sept. 28.

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs is the largest organization of business women in the world. It was organized in St. Louis in 1919 with national headquarters established in New York City.

Purpose of the B&PW Clubs is to elevate the standards of women in business and professions, and to promote the spirit of cooperation, as well as to create friendship and fellowship among business and professional women throughout the world.

THE HEREFORD Business and Professional Women's Club was organized with 17 charter members on Jan. 23, 1933, sponsored by the Plainview B&PW Club. For the first two years members were busy familiarizing themselves with the work of the different offices and concentrated upon enlarging the membership. Only one small project was carried out.

Then in 1935, a program of activity was launched that has developed into outstanding service to the community. The year 1935 saw the first Pioneer Day Celebration, planned and produced by the club members who still give all assistance possible to putting over that celebration. In 1936 a B&PW Club program on cooperation resulted in the organization of the Hereford Federal Credit Union with three club members as charter members. Now, under the direction of Mrs. Dyalthis Benson the local Federal Credit Union is recognized in state, national and international Credit Union movements.

DURING WORLD WAR, II Bibles were presented to each woman entering armed service, but the "biggest project of them all was naming streets and numbering houses" according to one long-time member. The members worked three years on this project and finally went from house to house with the Jaycees measuring and numbering to complete the work in 1948.

Members worked with the Chamber of Commerce in encouraging local trading benefits and in 1953 the club was honored by having a member elected to state office

VALUABLE MEMBERS—Mrs. Dyalthis Benson, manager of the Federal Credit Union, seated, and Mrs. Pauline Howard, assistant, are both long-time members of the club and have given much interest and time to the promotional welfare of the organization. Mrs. Benson is a past president and Mrs. Howard has served in several official capacities.

TOP OFFICIALS—Mrs. Bruce Carter, left, B&PW Club president, talks over plans for National Business and Professional Women's Week with the first president of the club, Mrs. Mabel Wilson. During the intervening years the club has grown both in size and status to become one of Hereford's leading civic organizations.

WHAT TO DO AND HOW—Mrs. Madlynne Faughn, center, chairman of the public relations committee, compares notes on plans for the Sept. 22-28 week with members of the committee, Mrs. Kathleen Baker, left, and Miss Mary Bourn.

PROFESSIONALS—Food is the main concern of these three members who are teachers in Hereford's public schools. Mrs. Margaret Ann Durham, right, head of the high school home-making department, answers some questions coming from

as a district director.

Some of the other projects include establishing a student fund from which deserving students may borrow, and a scholarship fund of $150 is awarded each year to a senior graduating girl. Each year a contribution is made to the state project of aid to foreign students, and a donation is made to the Dr. Minnie L. Maffett fund to further the higher study of women doctors.

CONTRIBUTIONS are also made each year to Girls Town, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Labor Camp projects and the group has also worked for the Children's Wing at Deaf Smith County Hospital and with the March of Dimes.

It takes a heap of doing to finance all of these projects as well as a great deal of time. The club sponsors a style show in cooperation with Hereford merchants each year to help with the finances, and Christmas cakes are sold. They also stand ready to give assistance to many worthwhile projects sponsored by other organizations.

The club will attend The First Methodist Church as a group today and a tea is scheduled from 3 to 5 p.m. in the home of Mrs. J. K. Baker. Invitations have been extended to all women in business and professional work in the city.

Robert E. Thompson, Inc. Has Grand Opening

A Grand Opening Celebration, scheduled for Monday, Sept. 23 through Saturday, Sept. 28 was announced today by Robert E. Thompson, owner and operator of Hereford's newest building materials firm. The firm has been in business approximately two years, but has recently moved to larger and more convenient quarters at 240-244 East Third Street.

Thompson, father of five children and a native of Brownfield, Texas, moved to Hereford three years ago and became active in the construction business here, building some of Hereford's better homes, many of which are located on Centre Street in Northwest Hereford. He later established the Robert E. Thompson building materials firm and began business in his first location on East Highway 60. Shortage of space soon necessitated another move, and finally, the third move to his present location.

Besides the lumber and builders hardware carried by Robert E. Thompson, Inc., the firm is also dealers for General Electric Heating and Air Conditioning units, Cook's Paints, sheet metal, plumbing fixtures and supplies, and just about anything else you need in the construction business. Thompson stated today that the firm now employs nine men including himself and pays out annually in salaries and contract labor, approximately $90,000.

Among the better commercial buildings that the firm has constructed during the past three years is the new Cooper's Market building, Hereford State Bank building, Suits Auto Supply building and the offices of Gowsert and Bybee. Thompson stated that he hopes to add many more to this list in the years to come, and that he's always ready to help future homeowners with their plans too.

The firm recently began giving Gunn Brothers Thrift Stamps with every purchase, regardless of it's size.

Each person visiting the firm during the big Grand Opening this week will receive a miniature China Pitcher free, plus an opportunity to win the Grand Prize to be given away Saturday. Adv.

oring the Music Study Club president at the annual event, Mrs. W. J. Stanford, newly elected president, was named honoree.

The long table laid with white linen, held a center arrangement of Peace and New York roses and corsages of red roses marked places for members. Mrs. W. E. Dameron gave the invocation and a silent moment honored the memory of a past president, the late Mrs. Earl Phillips.

The traditional fun session followed the luncheon and a short program was featured when Mrs. A. O. Thompson told something of the history of the national organization and the Assembly Charter which was issued in 1944, was displayed.

Mrs. Thompson reviewed the three-fold objectives of the National Past Presidents Assembly which include: First - To enlist and conserve for the Federation of Past Presidents in their respective communities, that their zeal and valuable experience in public service may be utilized to add strength to the state and national federations of music clubs in constructive work. Second - To give signal recognition to the Past Presidents, whose courage and unremitting efforts are largely responsible for the present widespread appreciation of music throughout the nation. Third - To assist in raising a prize fund for young artist winners in the state and national Federations of Music Clubs contests.

It was pointed out that according to the Past President's Assembly secretary, Mrs. C. J. Mounitz, the Hereford chapter was among the first in the nation to be organized. The group was organized in 1930 and met regularly once each year. The charter was granted in May 1944 with Mrs. J. R. Allison as the honored president of the Music Study Club. Charter members of the group were Mesdames G. A. F. Parker (deceased), H. L. Broadwell (deceased), C. C. Ferguson, A. O. Thompson, J. C. McCracken, J. P. Slaton, S. O. Wilson, W. E. Dameron, H. K. Fox, C. C. Acker (deceased), C. J. Mounitz, C. H. Dillehay, now of Bonham, R. P. Coneway, and J. R. Allison.

POTPOURRI Silvana Has a Time at the Tri-State Fair

By SANDRA GLEEN

This year's exchange student, Silvana Felizia, seemed to be having herself quite a time in Amarillo at the Tri-State Fair. It seems she had met the exchange student from Amarillo High School, Roberto Ruffino, on the bus coming here. Quite by accident, they met again at the fair and since Roberto is also from Torino, Italy, the two amused themselves by talking over customs of their own country.

Silvana, Betty Paetzold and Mrs. George Paetzold were showing the exhibits at the Hereford F. H. A. booth on Monday. The project was on exchange students and they gave out information on how to acquire an exchange student. The exhibits displayed the picture of everyone of Hereford's exchange students. Four years ago the first exchange student came to Hereford and she was Jean Chapman from England. The next year was Helga Thome from Germany and last year Elizabeth Brummer came here from Sweden. This year, of course, is Silvana Felizia from Italy.

Mrs. Paetzold said the booth attracted quite a crowd but she thought the main attraction was the interest which Silvana and Roberto created by talking to each other in the language of their own country.

Among the 270 pledges for Texas Tech's 10 national sororities during fall rush, was Miss Linda West, Linda, who is a 1957 graduate of Hereford High School, was one of the 26 who pledged Alpha Pi. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wood.

The Rev. and Mrs. Noel Bryant and Stanley of Dallas were guests in the home of his mother, Mrs. D. H. Byrant, Monday night. He is the pastor of the Oak Cliff Methodist Church in Dallas.

If you saw the West Texas and Hardin Simmons B teams play Thursday maybe you noticed the referee, George Muse, who is teacher-administrator in Hereford High School. Tuesday he refereed for a junior high football game and you could see him easily above the heads of those younger boys, but at the West Texas and Hardin Simmons game he looked much like a school boy. However, it would be a long and hard search to find anyone with as much power over those 200 pounders. Muse is a referee of the Lubbock Area Interscholastic League.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Morton of Sandy, Ore., announce the arrival of their son, Billy Glen, who was born Sept. 11 and weighed 6 pounds and 15 ounces. The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Morton and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kitchens, all of Hereford.

Admiral Robert E. Peary carried a United States flag sewn by his wife on all his polar expeditions.

Patricia Jordan, Billy Amrey Wed in Church Ceremony

St. Anthony's Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding on Saturday evening, Sept. 14, of Miss Patricia Mauree Jordan and Billy Frank Amrey son of Orville Amrey of Amarillo.

The bride is the foster daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Schmuck, 295 Sandia Road N. W., Albuquerque, N. M.

Baskets of white gladioli combined with greenery provided the nuptial setting with Father Michael Sugrue performing the ceremony.

Mrs. Morris Hacker, presented organ music and accompanied Mrs. M. L. Simpson Jr. who sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother" by Lambellotte, and "Schubert's Ave Maria." She also played the processional from "Rebecca" and the recessional by Rossini.

Mrs. Dale Porter of Albuquerque attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a pink velveteen street length dress with a pink feather hat, and carried an old-fashioned nosegay of pink carnations.

R. L. Layman was best man and ushers were Max Stipe and Kenneth Brock. David Schmuck Jr., brother of the bride, carried the rings for the double ring ceremony on a white satin pillow.

The bride chose a waltz length dress of lace over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice, having a low round neckline and bracelet length sleeves, and full gathered skirt.

Her waist length veil of illusion was attached to a lace pill box embroidered with rhinestones and seed pearls. Lace mitts completed her costume and she carried a bouquet of pink feathered carnations topped a white Bible.

Mrs. Schmuck was dressed in navy crepe with pink accessories. Mrs. E. E. Layman took the place of the bridegroom's mother in the wedding.

The foster parents of the bride hosted a reception at the nurses home of Deaf Smith County Hospital. The brides table was covered with a blue satin cloth overlaid with blue net caught at the corners with clusters of tiny wedding bells. The bride's bouquet was used as part of the table decorations and the three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bridal couple. Assisting in the house party were Miss Rae Brunson, Mrs. Clarence Schulz, Mrs. Travis Caraway and Mrs. R. L. Layman.

The bride is a graduate of Albuquerque, N. M., High School and of Amarillo Junior College. She received her nurse's training at St. Anthony's School of Nursing in Amarillo and has been employed as a registered nurse at Deaf Smith County Hospital for the past year.

Amrey is a graduate of a Fort Worth high school and attended North Texas State College at Den-

Dawn Music Club Features 'Federation Day' Program

Mrs. Johnny Fagan of Borger, president of Seventh District, TFMC, was the main speaker on the subject "Federation Objectives." She stressed the importance of scholarships and emphasized the urgent need for more players of string instruments, saying that large symphony orchestras were finding it difficult to obtain players meeting their string requirements. Mrs. John Smith of Borger played "Andaluz" by De Falla as a piano selection and accompanied Mrs. Fagan who played two violin numbers, "Romance" from the second concerto by Wienewski, and "Jalousie" by Jacob Gade.

The program was concluded with the group singing the hymn of the month "This Is My Father's World."

Their children include Mrs. Gene Purcell of Hardesty, Okla., Wayne, Betty, Kenneth and Don Walser. They also have three grandchildren.

Other members of the house party were her sister, Mrs. Pat Morse and daughter Kay of Fort Worth, and Mesdames Jim Clark, D. C. Walser, Ray Johnson, Earl Lance and J. M. Wright.

Price Outlook for 1958 Is Worst in Years for Milo

Don't put your pencil to figuring the future of grain sorghum prices. Unless some very big "ifs" can be converted into prices, the support and market prices for milo are apt to shrink like a $1 shirt in a tub of hot suds.

Right now the outlook is as black as the inside of a brunette cow. If enough of the current crop, and that part of the 1956 crop that is being carried over could all be stuffed into brunette cows and whiteface cows, chickens, pigs and such, there wouldn't be any problem.

Trouble is, apparently, just about everybody discovered what good feed our easily produced grain sorghum really is, all in the same year.

Uncle Sam's experts estimate combines will glean 481,315,000 bushels of milo this year, compared with the 10 year average of 205,065,000. While production is being boosted over 100 per cent in just one year, the government figures it still has 72,000,000 bushels left over from the 1956 crop.

With that much grain already in storage, and with more than double a normal year's production due to go into the government loan, it appears Secretary Benson will be looking over a mountain of grain sorghum when he makes his decision on its support level for 1958.

Under present law he can peg the supports for the coming year at any point between zero and 90 per cent. The Secretary's decision, unless Congress should prescribe some change in the farm law, is not apt to offer much encouragement to milo growers.

It could result in cattle feeders obtaining milo grain at bargain prices, however, and with a good supply of milo in the bin might lead to greater popularity for our staple farm product.

A bigger share of the feed grain should, in time, improve the bargaining position of grain sorghum producers and handlers. It that improvement took too long a time, however, the result would be disastrous for many irrigation farmers.

At best, the milo producers' outlook for the coming year is as black as it was during the Thirties. We are hoping that some new solution to the problem will be found before planting time rolls around again.

Inflation: Will It EVER End?

By DAVID L. BOWEN
AP Newscastures Writer

Every month since August of 1956 the cost of living in the United States has gone up.

In the last decade, the government's measure of how much it costs to maintain a constant standard of living has gone up in eight years and down in only two, 1955 and 1949.

To find a third year when the index moved downward you must go back to 1939 — back before World War II when the cost of living was only about one-third what it is today.

President Eisenhower recently called this relentless climb, only too obvious on the large chart and in your daily shopping experience, "our major internal problem."

Continuing inflation in time of peace and falling government expenditures has caused some economists to argue that the current inflation cannot be explained in so-called "classical" terms. They say this inflation is something new and that the "classical" cures will not work. This argument, however, is by no means universally accepted. In the debate now under way inside the government and out, here are three of the important questions and some of the answers:

Is the current inflation basically different from others in history?

All parties agree that at least in duration, if not in makeup, the current inflation is out of the ordinary. Inflation has always occurred during wars, yet at no other time have prices continued to rise long after the economy returned to peacetime normality. Heavy government spending, easy money and demand outrunning supply are the traditional elements of inflation. At present there is a federal budget surplus, money has been tight for months, there are no shortages, yet prices continue upward.

What are the causes of the current inflation?

The answer depends on who's talking. Business leaders most frequently argue that wages are increasing faster than productivity. Government statistics show average hourly factory earnings were 49 per cent higher in 1956 than they were in the 1947-49 period; output per man hour only 33.5 per cent higher. The rising wages caused increased overhead, management says, the increased overhead forced higher prices, and, the higher prices are called inflation.

To labor leaders, management profits are to blame. David McDonald claims that since 1945 "there have been 21 rounds of steel price increase. There have been nine rounds of wage increase. The price increases have yielded the industry more than $3 in revenue for each $1 in wage increases."

Economists, on the other hand, point to these and other factors, most peculiar to the postwar decade. They include the national commitment of both political parties to full employment; the tendency of wage hikes won by unions in highly organized and highly efficient industries to spread to non-unionized and less efficient labor areas; the automatic nature of a "round" of price increases in big concentrated industries after a "round" of wage increases (which at least bends the old principle that prices are fixed by the law of supply and demand); the high value placed by society today on labor "peace"; heavy industrial investment in expansion; the nation's booming population.

What can be done about inflation?

The answer again depends on whom you ask. The "classical" economists feel certain the traditional restraints — tight money and lower government spending — will bring inflation under control. Many observers detect indications of deflation right now: there have been cancellations or postponements of some expansion plans, inventories are high in some areas, home building is lagging.

Dismissing these signs as only temporary, those who see the current inflation as a new phenomenon expect prices in the long run to continue upward. For this school of thought, the big problem is to see they don't climb too fast.

John T. Dunlop, a Harvard University economist, says he would be glad to settle for a 25 to 35 per cent price increase between now and 1975. Dunlop, who finds more inflationary than deflationary elements in modern American society, maintains the size of the future increase will in part depend on how great a value is put on labor peace and full employment. The less value, he says, the more inflation will be controlled. Dunlop points out this would mean strikes and layoffs, and may well be a price the nation will be unwilling to pay.

Some hold out the hope that, recognizing inflation as a common enemy, labor and management will cooperate in holding the price line — with mutual sacrifices, Walter Reuther and the Big Three auto makers already have exchanged statements in this vein, with little favorable result.

President Eisenhower has called on labor and management and the public to act responsibly; labor and management by slowing the wage-price spiral, the public by not spending "recklessly and adding fuel to this flame."

No solution, even universally disliked government controls, is guaranteed to work. One of the few certainties is that within the next two years or so, it should become universally agreed whether this inflation is of the historic type or something new under the sun.

If present fiscal policies do not halt inflation by that time, the U. S. economy is working on principles different from the past.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Some Silent on Ways To Fight Inflation

Can you think of any measures the individual citizen might take to help combat inflation?

MRS. ELMER PATTERSON—I think it would be best for everyone to hold his own spending within his income.

MRS. LEWIS SHIRLEY—Prices could be cut. American people strive for more than they deserve. Other countries live on less and our expenditures make it hard on the government.

TOWNSEND DOUGLAS—Actually, I just don't know exactly what he could do. I think he ought to be saving some instead of spending it all. In an agricultural community like this we might ought to stick to necessities until we see what happens to the milo price supports. I think people ought to keep some cash on hand.

MRS. GEORGE PAETZOLD—I think that we should try, each and every one, to live at home and provide our own supplies. I also think we should quit harping inflation.

MRS. DYALITHA BENSON—Careful spending is the main point. Savings, though small, should be made out of our income.

MRS. T. J. CARTER—It seems they have taken measures by cutting down on purchases. The smart thing to do would be to cut on buying until prices come down.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Of nine men asked the question, only one gave an answer. The others declined or said to "ask somebody else." Two said the question was too controversial.)

Busybody Court

There seems to be no escape from the meddling of the present Supreme Court—even on the other side of the River Styx.

Stephen Girard of Philadelphia died 126 year ago. But the court now decides that he had no right to leave a sum of money for the folks he had in mind and specified. Thus the small secondary school which he endowed in his home city for "poor, white, fatherless boys" must now admit Negro lads as well.

The court's argument is that even a privately endowed school enjoys certain benefits from organized government and hence is subject to the Fourteenth Amendment.

By this cockeyed line of reasoning, the same court can order coeds admitted to West Point, rabbinical students to Catholic seminaries, octogenarians to both spring and fall football training at SMU. No discrimination, mind you, on account of race, sex, age, creed or "previous condition."—Dallas Morning News.

A Minute, Please

"Show me a man who has very little money," quipped the comedian, "and I'll show you a bum."

Not very funny, but neither is the plight of our downtown visitors who find themselves out of change after parking. Too often, recently, we have heard complaints from motorists:

"I parked, found no meter change in my pockets (purse), ambled into a nearby store for change, ambled right back and found the Meter Maid was already writing out a ticket. No excuse. I got the ticket but sure don't feel like paying it."

If the City of Hereford is that hard up for money, perhaps a toll on Main St. would ruffle no more feelings than being charged in this manner. If those meters are intended to insure better utilization of downtown street parking space and not as a device to raise revenue for the city, it would appear that more consideration of the man who says "I was out of money" is in order.

We appreciate living in a place where nobody can "fix" a ticket, and we feel that our police force is doing an excellent job, generally. But it appears that the good public relations for which Chief Aycock has been working needs just a bit of attention here.

FIRST COTTON GINNED AT ROLLA

The first bale of cotton ginned at Rolla was reported Wed., Sept. 11, by L. A. Davis, manager. The cotton belonged to W. A. Kester, who had 1,500 pounds of seed cotton and got a 408 pound bale. It graded strict middling 15/16. He received a $30 premium. Davis said it will be about a week and a half before cotton pulling gets under way in that community, but crop prospects are better than a week ago.—WELLINGTON LEADER.

POLIO CENSUS NOW BEING ASSEMBLED

The census of post-polio patients now being assembled by the Lamb County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis includes victims of so-called non-paralytic polio, as well as those severely crippled by the disease, the Rev. Donald W. Luckemeyer, chapter chairman pointed out today. Medical research in recent years has demonstrated that some patients, originally listed as non-paralytic cases, may develop muscular weaknesses, curvature of the spine, and limb deformities even before a lapse of several years.—COUNTY WIDE NEWS.

George S. Gandy, president of the Wheeler Independent School Board, has been confirmed as a member of the State Advisory Committee on Administration of Vocational Education, the Texas Education Agency announced this week. The Wheeler man's confirmation by the state board was made at its meeting on Sept. 2. ## The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm has had a visitor from town, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

I've got a situation this week I don't know how to handle, so I'll report on it and let somebody else decide on it.

A friend of mine from Hereford was out here visiting me on my farm yesterday afternoon after he got off from work in town and he said he was getting tired of hearing how inflation has hit the farmers.

"You farmers think inflation is limited to the farm, but I'd like to tell you it's in town, too," he said.

"I sympathize with you country folks, I know what it must be to fight low prices and high costs, but I'd like to point out us folks in town have got some problems, too.

"One tractor blows out, I know, and you're on the rim, but did you ever stop to think if one motor burns out on one of my appliances, I'm sunk? Have you ever stopped to think what a strain it is on a man's constitution to hear the washing machine motor stop suddenly when the machine ain't paid for yet? Do you know what it is to have the television set go blank thirty days after the guarantee runs out and a year before the last payment is made? You ever stepped on a starter of your car and found the battery dead on the day you're overdrawn at the bank? You ever stop to think a man in town has problems, too? You know how hard it is to feed and clothe and educate and doctor and entertain a family in town? It doesn't make any difference how much a man makes, it never is quite enough, even when salaries are high."

Well, I said, I guess you've got a point. What I want to know, is, what're you going to do about it?

"Well," he said, "I've been thinking about it a lot and I've come to the conclusion that the only way for a man in town to make ends meet is to take on a second job in the country."

Wait a minute, I said. You've got this thing backwards. The agricultural experts are recommending that us farmers take on a job in town to supplement our income.

"That's where I got the idea," he said. "I'm not making quite enough in town to suit me, you're not making quite enough in the country to suit you, so the only way out is for you to work part-time in town, me to work part-time in the country. This way we'll both get ahead."

Frankly, I don't know whether this idea will work, but it's sure something to think about. I've got plenty of work all right he could do out here on my farm, but I'd sure have to work a lot extra in town to get the money to pay him for it. Until further notice, though, I believe I'll just stick to the country.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

ONIONS, CHEAP—Piled-up in heaps, four to five feet high, these are some of the area's onions that didn't go to market this season. They landed at the city dump after the price dropped below the break-even mark, either as culls or surplus. A rough estimate of the volume of onions still to be bulldozed into trenches at the dump ground: Enough onions to cover a football field over a foot deep. At present, they're a smelly feast for a million flies. (Staff Photo)

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Walter Rogers To Fight Statehood for Alaska

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON — When Congress takes up the statehood bill for Alaska early next year, Rep. Walter Rogers of Pampa plans to renew his plan of opposition.

Speaker Rayburn of Bonham has announced his support for the bill, but Rogers is staunchly against it. He is backing a resolution calling for a constitutional amendment requiring approval of three-fourths of all existing states before a new one could be admitted.

This resolution, Rogers points out, also protects Texas' right to divide itself into five states if it should desire.

"Certainly, none of us Texans believe this would ever happen," he says, "but we felt we should protect any rights which we had." Admittance of Alaska to the Union would reduce Texas to the second largest state.

MANY LEGISLATORS are hoping the Budget Bureau will send to Congress between now and Jan. 7 the eight watershed improvement plans already approved by the Agriculture Department.

Two are in Central Texas, one on Knob Creek and the other on York Creek. The remainder are in four other states.

After approval by the secretary of agriculture, such projects are reviewed by other federal agencies, then sent to Congress through the Budget Bureau. On Capitol Hill only the approval of the House and Senate Agriculture committees is necessary before the Agriculture Department may start work on small dams and other water retarding structures.

Rep. Bob Poage of Waco, author of the watershed act and in whose district Knob Creek lies, says the administration is violating the intent of Congress by keeping these projects before the Budget Bureau long after approval by the Agriculture Department.

"The reports that reach our (Agriculture) Committee," he wrote in an adjournment issue of the Congressional Record, "are to the effect that at least some of these projects are being held up because the Bureau of Budget feels that there should be substantial local contribution on the cost of the construction of the necessary works of improvement.

"The law was specifically changed by Congress just last year to eliminate the necessity of farmer contribution to the cost of the needed water detention structures.

"The Bureau of the Budget may not feel that this Congressional action was wise, but it is the law, and I must confess that I am somewhat astounded that it should be thus ignored."

AROUND THE CAPITAL:

Some of the Texas members of Congress who own their own homes here have leased to tenants for the Fall, others find it convenient to just lock them up and so have a place to stay if business calls them back to Washington.

Four of the Texas Congressmen live within a three or four minutes walk of the House Office buildings, in an area where an interesting change is occurring in the character of the neighborhood.

Contrary to the trend elsewhere in the District of Columbia, in this area whites are replacing Negroes as the principal owners and occupants. Incidentally, it comes as a great surprise to many tourists here to learn that more than half of the population now is Negro.

But several blocks of houses in a stone's throw of the Capitol are being returned to white occupancy. They are two and three story brick "row" houses, built side against each other with tiny yards only in front and back. Most of them were built around the turn of the century, some a century ago, and originally were owned and occupied by white families.

The trend is now reversed. Increasingly, members of Congress and their staffs and other Capitol Hill employes are moving into the area. It's convenient. And it's even about to become fashionable to live in these handsome old places, some of which always have remained in white ownership and occupancy.

Rep. Wright Patman of Texas was among the first of the legislators to acquire and remodel one of these attractive residences, then Rep. Poage. Rep. Jack Brooks acquired a four-unit apartment house near the Capitol. A bachelor, he lives in one and rents out the other three. Rep. John Dowdy of Athens rents an apartment which takes up the second floor of a quaint old red brick house just two blocks from his office.

Hurricanes affect much larger areas than tornadoes, but their winds are not as strong.

MODERN WILD WEST

PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP) — Night owls were amazed when they spotted a police cruiser chasing a stagecoach through the streets. The stagecoach, drawn by an auto, finally collapsed during the wild ride, dropping a door here, a wheel there.

Police came upon the remains and the abandoned auto, then went to work tracking down the culprits.

Four youngsters were arrested but released after they promised to pay the stagecoach's owner, I. J. Derosssett, $600 for the wrecked stagecoach.

The teen-agers explained they saw the stagecoach in Derosssett's yard and decided to try it out.

TOOTHY EXHIBIT

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — As the jurors deliberated over "exhibit A" in the jury room, Thomas Estes of Minneapolis fidgeted in the courtroom.

"Exhibit A" was his upper partial plate.

Estes was plaintiff in a $3,000 damage suit against a drug chain. He claimed he broke a tooth on a rusty metal screw embedded in a candy bar he bought at one of the chain's stores.

He got his upper plate back, but lost the suit.

EARNED FEE

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — A woman posted bond for a man's appearance in traffic court, dumping $100 in dimes on the desk of Justice of the Peace Leon Nowitzky Sr. He got a $2 fee for preparing the bond, which included counting the dimes.

What Does God's Law Say— "BETWEEN The Lines?"

Few Christians will deny that the Ten Commandments are God's design for human conduct. Some so-called Christians think they are out-moded.

But how many know what they really mean?

"Thou shalt not steal," for example, obviously forbids robbery, burglary and embezzlement. What many evidently do not realize is that this Commandment also forbids evasion of just debts, bribery to gain political and business advantages, lending money at usurious rates, and other sharp practices which are often dishonestly excused as "smart business."

The Commandments speak only in broad, general terms. Their full meaning can be understood only in the light of the teaching of the New Testament. "I am the Lord, thy God; thou shalt not have strange gods before me," is taken by some to mean only that they must believe in a Supreme Being. Actually, it obliges us to prayer, gratitude, hope and worship, even though these words are not mentioned.

Most Christians agree that The Lord's Day must be kept holy. Yet there is a wide difference of opinion as to how this should be done... indeed, there is even some disagreement as to when the Lord's Day should be observed.

When God said "Thou shalt not kill," He was not warning mankind merely against murder due to greed, lust or vengeance. He was telling us plainly that He, Who alone had the power to create human life, was reserving for Himself the right to take it away. And He made no exceptions for deliberate abortion and the so-called "mercy killings" which some Christians seek to justify today.

A wide variance of opinion also prevails as to the meaning of the Commandment: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." Some apparently think this is a prohibition only against perjury in a courtroom. Actually, it is a warning against lies of all descriptions and all acts of commission and omission which injure the good name and reputation of another.

You hear people say, with smug assurance: "I keep the Commandments—that's enough." And it would indeed be enough if they truly understood what the Commandments require. But we must read "between the lines" if we are rightly to understand God's instructions and to live according to His design. If you want to be sure... if you want to refresh your mind on the true and full meaning of God's rules of life... write today for our free Pamphlet No. KC-12. It will be sent to you in a plain wrapper, and nobody will call on you.

Cunningham Is on School Study Group

LUBBOCK. — A West Texas school study council will be brought a step closer to reality Monday with the meeting at Texas Tech of a seven-man interim planning committee.

Fred Cunningham, superintendent of the Hereford Rural High School District, will be a member of the planning group.

Establishment of such a Council has been approved by the Tech board of directors and school boards in at least 18 districts having indicated interest in cooperating with Tech in the agency.

According to preliminary plans worked out by interested school superintendents and Tech faculty members, the Council will gather facts on region-wide school problems and work with schools and school systems on localized problems.

The Council, with headquarters at Tech, also will be an information center on school research everywhere and will give school leaders opportunities to meet together for discussion of common problems.

Dr. Berlie Fallon, who has been authorized by the Tech board to serve as Council executive secretary, said he expects the interim planning committee to arrange a general meeting of prospective and participating members.

Members of the interim committee will include Fallon and representatives of the school districts for Levelland, Slaton, Hale Center, Littlefield, Hereford, and Andrews.

They were appointed to the committee by interested school superintendents in a meeting last summer at Tech. The committee will gather at 10 a.m. Monday in the Tech education and philosophy department offices, located in the Administration Building, Fallon said.

These Women Meet Disaster Head-on

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Red-headed Beulah Miles returned early this summer from months in a Red Cross camp for Hungarian refugees in Austria, just in time to take off for the Louisiana bayou country to give out snake bite kits and emergency medical care to the victims of Hurricane Audrey, which ripped through the Gulf Coast communities of Cameron, Grand Chenier, Creole and Pecan Island.

What happened to Beulah Miles has happened to many of the women who are part of the American Red Cross disaster service as they follow in the wake of nature's destructive forces, helping battered families to pick up the pieces of shattered ways of life.

Here in Louisiana, for instance, several hundred have been on the job for more than two months, going from one disaster scene to another.

Typical of these is Ruth Sawyer, a member of the Red Cross disaster reserve from Manchester, N. H., who went on her first assignment as a disaster relief caseworker in 1936. She was living quietly at home in New Hampshire last December when she was called to Camp Kilmer, N. J., to become part of the Red Cross staff involved in the Hungarian refugee program. In May, she moved with the program to Brooklyn, New York, where Hungarian refugees are still being cared for at the Hotel St. George. Since June, she has been part of the disaster relief teams in Concordia, Kan., Fremont, Mo., Hays, Kan., and now Louisiana.

Ruth has been working in the Creole area, where she drives over dusty shell roads into isolated communities. Her office is a tent basking under the hot, humid sunlight. Another Red Cross reserve member who also has two decades of service is Alice De Moya of West Palm Beach, Fla., whose desk is a kitchen table in the same tent.

A new member of the disaster team, and one who had perhaps the most dramatic experience on this assignment, is Nurse Ida Mary Dicks from nearby Baton Rouge, who was one of the first on the scene.

IN HURRICANE'S WAKE—Red Cross Nurse Ida Mary Dicks gives immunization shot to John Richard, Louisiana refugee.

In the darkness of the first night after the hurricane struck, she and other Red Cross workers rode through the inky blackness on a police boat, from Lake Charles to Cameron, 57 miles away, in response to a radioed appeal for help in behalf of almost 1,000 hurricane refugees huddled in the Cameron courthouse.

It was only when daylight came, and Ida Mary rode back to Lake Charles with the aged and the sick aboard an oil company barge that she realized the hazards she had survived in the darkness, when the small police boat was tossed around by winds and missed unseen obstructions — one of them a tank of butane gas — by inches. Then, a few days later, when the bodies of the 363 known dead were brought in, she assisted families trying to identify them.

"During the war, overseas, we dealt with the war dead, but it was not the same," the former Army nurse recalls. "We were a long way from home, and could be impersonal. No human being can be impersonal when a mother finds the body of her child."

QUICK APPOINTMENT — HONOLULU (AP) — The Laie Community Assn. requested that a volunteer fire department be formed. Fire Chief Harold C. Pate recommended to the Board of Supervisors that the request be turned over to the "Committee on Rural Fire-fighting."

Turned out there wasn't any such committee. The supervisors named Chief Pate a "committee of one" and sent the request back to him.

America — a town in the future for people with a past. The Rev. L. L. Roloff, 42, pastor of the Alameda Baptist Church in Corpus Christi, had the Bible in mind when he founded the unusual community.

God once asked Joshua to build six cities of refuge — three in Jordan and three in the Land of Canaan — where men in trouble might flee for protection to live among others who also needed help. This is the seventh City of Refuge.

AN ARROW on a simple sign points down the lane to the 80 acres where the town is being built — six miles northwest of Lexington and about 55 miles east of Austin.

There are five trailer homes, a quonset hut and a water well for the present 20 residents. A large brick building, part of it a church, is nearing completion.

Sometime in October the town will be ready for about 65 men from all parts of the United States. Already the city is getting more applications than it can handle.

Later there will be another barracks for women and yet still another for boys.

There will be no charge to those who come to live and work in the city. The upkeep, food and other necessities will be provided from donations to Roloff Evangelistic Enterprises, an organization formed by the Corpus Christi minister.

THERE ARE no restrictions as to what a man or woman was before being admitted to the City of Refuge. It is expected that some of the residents will be ex-convicts, dope addicts, alcoholics, juvenile delinquents or just anyone with a knack for getting into trouble. The only requirement is that the offender hopes to do better in the future and that he attend church services twice daily.

The Rev. Bob Smith, a new pastor, is director of the new city. He and Mrs. Smith have watched it grow from the beginning.

One of the first residents of the City of Refuge did not come to the peaceful-village because of a stormy life. Johnny Hunt, a top notch Corpus Christi carpenter, learned that he was going blind from cataracts on both eyes. "No longer could he hold down his job, so he moved his wife and three children to the City of Refuge. Hunt, who has done much of the carpentry work here, says he believes his sight has improved since he made the move.

Mint Sherbet Low in Calories

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

VICTORIAN MENUS featured fruit sherbets in both cold and hot weather and served them not only for dessert but as an accompaniment to poultry or meat.

If you're interested in reviving this pleasant custom, here's a sherbet that's fine for all-year-round use because it's made from pantry shelf ingredients. Flavored with pineapple and mint, it's delightful with roast lamb. Serve it this way some Sunday when all the family's home and a few guests have been invited for dinner. The ice may be spooned into sherbet glasses and placed at the head of each place setting. Or it may be turned into small paper cups and put right on the dinner plates.

As a dessert, this sherbet is just dandy for weight-watchers. It rings up only 104 calories per half-cup serving, due in part to the fact that it is made with nonfat dry milk. The instant variety of this milk mixes immediately in ice water and is used in many families where both weight-watching or economy — or both — have to be taken into consideration.

PINEAPPLE MINT SHERBET
Ingredients: 3 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/8 teaspoon peppermint extract, 1/4 cup well-drained crushed pineapple. Green food coloring.

Method: Set refrigerator control at coldest point. Pour liquefied instant nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler; add gelatin and allow to soften. Add sugar. Place over hot water; stir until sugar and gelatin are dissolved. Remove from heat; add peppermint extract and pineapple; stir to mix. Tint mixture pale green with food coloring. Pour into refrigerator freezing tray; cover with waxed paper. Place in freezing unit until mixture is a firm mush (about 1 hour). Turn into chilled bowl and beat with rotary beater (hand or electric) until fluffy. Quickly return to freezing tray and cover with waxed paper. Return to freezing unit and freeze until firm, about 2 hours. Makes eight 1/2 cup servings.

THE COLONEL TELLS

What Makes Men Look at Women

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

Most women dress, make up, use perfume, and cultivate a winning way to attract and please men. But sometimes they object when a man offers suggestions as to how they can improve themselves. Once in a while a man may come up with some very useful pointers for women, however, if they'd but listen, as a letter to this column from a retired Army colonel indicates. His advice seems to be worth passing on to readers for their amusement or amazement.

"A woman should buy the clothes she wants and do her own color matching, but should have an impartial man (not a husband, because he will not look, and not a wolf because he'd like her in anything) look her over. Women stress sex but they are not subtle enough, like a couple of women I noticed just this morning. One was perfect down to the hemline. It was four inches too long to really set off her legs. The other was perfect up to the hemline.

"If the first woman had her hemline up to the level of the other, even her husband would whistle. The second needed to start all over, although she was pretty enough. As it was, I yawned.

"What women need to shoot for is to set their figures off so that their father or brother would be proud of them, and so that another man realizes he is not their father or brother and looks again and again.

"Women should practice patting children, too, until they develop an automatic smile. A lot of women have pretty figures and nice clothes, but we meet them in the store and they have that little hard look of being preoccupied in their faces.

"My wife is lovely, but when she is occupied with household chores and has that faraway look, I never pay any attention to her.

"The other day I saw a beautiful blonde in a clothing store in Daytona, Fla. She was dressed perfectly with a figure that was out of this world, but she never changed her expression for a half-hour. Her face seemed to be frozen. I would have given her some advice as a big brother only my wife was just a few counters down the aisle. If I was sure she wouldn't have slapped my face (the blonde), I'd have given her a few bad minutes so she could improve her personality in the future.

"French girls have developed a look that seems to say they are going to fall right in your arms. But they do not really do that or anything more forward than American girls, except they manage to avoid that hard look. A man can buy a statute anywhere. He doesn't want to marry one.

"Why doesn't a woman take off into a grocery chain store some day just as if she were breezing into a cocktail party to test my theory. She would smile at all the males she knows in the store, and she'll be amazed how they respond. Then she can keep up that same attitude all day, until her husband comes home from work. She'll be surprised at the pleasant reaction.

"In short, it ain't that you girls aren't pretty and do not have good figures. You just murder what you have."

It's a dear bargain if you can't get immediate insurance service in time of need, if you can't get quick help after an auto accident or other loss.

We have a hunch you'd rather BUY FROM AN AGENT who can have a man on the job quickly, prepared to give you personal assistance in settlement of any claim. After all, that's the true test of insurance.

That's how this Agency conducts its business.
