United Fund Campaign To Benefit Nine Groups

When the Deaf Smith County United Fund stages its kick-off coffee at 10 a.m. Monday, Oct. 28, the results of six months of planning will begin to be seen.

With a goal of $21,975, the drive, first of its kind here, will last for a week, although officials hope the goal will be reached in two or three days. Several contributions have been received already.

The funds will be distributed to nine groups during 1958.

Purpose of the United Fund is to eliminate a continual demand upon the public for donations to various causes.

INITIATED last spring by the civic affairs committee of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, the United Fund first took shape from the experienced hands of Dan Eddy, public relations director for the Salvation Army's southwestern area.

Coming here at his own expense, Eddy held organizational meetings on April 2 and April 16. At the last meeting officers and committeemen were elected with Ben Childers as president; Ed Loerwald, first vice president; Charles Ray Hoover, second vice president; Mrs. Dyalthis Benson, secretary, and Bert Boomer, treasurer.

Woody Wilson was appointed general campaign chairman. On the executive and campaign committee are Mrs. Paul Harvey, chairman, Mrs. William Wimberly, Andy Kershen, Chester Wiggins, Mrs. Charlie Burk and Marcus Latham.

Virgil Hennen headed the budget and admissions committee with Townsend Douglas, Dub Reeves, L. L. LeGrand, Frank Beizer, Hilary Aven and Cecil Williams as members.

Ed Line, chairman, Monk Johnson and Bill Stanford drew up the constitution and by-laws for the fund.

On the publicity committee are Jimmie Allred, chairman, Jimmie Gilentine and Clift Formby.

On Sept. 5, the budgets and admissions committee heard requests from 10 groups and admitted nine to the drive.

RECEIVING FUNDS will be the Camp Fire Girls, $1,000; Boy Scouts, $3,500; Little League, $1,000; Pony League, $1,000; Athletic Club, $1,500; Red Cross, $7,000; Heart Fund, $700; Salvation Army, $3,000, and USO, $500. This totals $19,200. Other funds will be used for expenses and a contingency fund.

Persons or groups making contributions to the United Fund may designate a specific organization to receive a contribution. Non-specific donations will go into the general fund.

Following is a breakdown on the activities of each organization participating in the United Fund:

CAMP FIRE GIRLS: For girls 9-12 years of age. Teaches crafts and camping.

BOY SCOUTS: For boys 11 to 14. Teaches outdoor lore, scouting, camping and various activities.

LITTLE LEAGUE: Baseball for boys 8 to 12 years old. Furnishes uniforms, equipment. Has two leagues, member of national Little League. Partially self-supporting.

PONY LEAGUE: Baseball for boys 13-14. The next step from Little League.

ATHLETIC CLUB: Sponsored by Hereford civic clubs, supplies varied athletic activities for boys and girls 8-18. Most of money from United Fund will go for equipment.

RED CROSS: National organization. Furnishes food, clothing and other necessities for needy families or individuals. Has full-time salaries worker in Hereford.

HEART FUND: National organization. Mostly works with research on heart diseases.

SALVATION ARMY: A national welfare agency, based on religion and organized in a military fashion. Its money from funds will be spread over 15 months instead of 12.

USO: An organization for the benefit of servicemen in America and overseas.

Prior to the organization of the United Fund, these groups had staged individual fund drives or had accepted donations. Participation in the United Fund eliminates individual drives by these particular groups.

Two large national foundations, Cancer and Polio, will continue to hold separate drives. Both declined invitations to join the United Fund here.

AT THE KICK-OFF coffee next Monday in the Jim Hill Hotel ballroom, Eddy will speak to officials of the fund. The public is invited to attend.

Campaign Chairman Wilson said Eddy's expenses are being paid by the Fund this time. Wilson urged all block chairman and workers to attend the meeting.

So far the United Fund has spent money on button and cards for contributors and $30 for a state charter. Officials are trying to hold expenses to a minimum.

Seven clubs have sent contributions to the Fund. They are La Affiliata Estudio Club; Hereford Rebekah Lodge No. 228; Hereford Chapter No. 312 Order of the Eastern Star; Calliopean Club, Lone Star Study Club, Hereford Music Study Club and Wyche Home Demonstration Club.

Several other organizations have voted to contribute to the fund, Wilson said.

Around Town

Absenteeism continued its high rate in Hereford's public schools with 372 absent Thursday and 423 out Friday. A total of 2,577 students are enrolled in the schools. The trouble was the same as it has been the past few weeks: colds and flu.

A Christmas shopping promotion project, suggested by a Hereford Boosters committee, was approved Friday by chamber of commerce directors. To be staged separately from the Christmas parade and Santa Claus visit program sponsored by the Jaycees, the stunt will probably include the awarding of 25 turkeys to downtown visitors. The C-C directors agreed to pick-up the check for the gifts and advised committee members D. E. Cleveland, Oliver Streu, Lloyd Wildfield and Helen McCauley to complete plans for the event.

The Hereford Rebekah Lodge will hold its annual Halloween carnival Tuesday at 8 p.m. at 206 Main. Coffee, hot dogs and homemade pies will be sold during the carnival.

Central School P-TA is staging a drive for membership and it will end Friday. A prize of $10 goes to the room in the school which enrolls the most parents.

The First Baptist Church has changed the time of Sunday evening worship from 8 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. Training Union will continue to meet at 6:15 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Baker returned this week from a three-week trip to Oklahoma, Missouri. (Continued On Page 2)

'Christmas Card' Plan Again Will Aid Hospital

Project Christmas Card has been started again in Hereford.

Began last year, the project raises funds for a worthy purpose. Money ordinarily used to buy and send Christmas cards locally is deposited by residents in one of the two Hereford banks and spent on the selected purpose.

This year, funds raised by the project will be used to purchase five beds for the new children's wing of Deaf Smith County Hospital, redecorate the original wing of the hospital and put new furnishings in the obstetrics ward.

Last year, $4,743.55 was deposited by individuals and more was donated by organizations. The money was spent on furnishings for the new children's wing.

Accounts under "Christmas Card" have been opened at the First National and Hereford State banks. Deposits must be made by Dec. 15 and should be signed as the depositor signs his Christmas cards. Both deposit slips must be left with the bank.

The Hereford Women's Medical Auxiliary is sponsoring this year's project. Last year it was sponsored by Les Meres Study Club, Young Mothers Study Club, El Niño Study Club, Child Study Club and La Madre Mia Study Club and the auxiliary.

Organizations, businesses and individuals selling Christmas cards are reminded by the Medical Auxiliary that the project does not apply to cards sent out of town.

Project Christmas Card was initiated last year when 56 Hereford residents published a "Merry Christmas" pledge in The Brand telling of the project.

Voting Underway for C-C Leaders

Ballots for the election of four new Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors to two year terms have been mailed to the organization's members.

Candidates include: (Mike) Baird, Floyd Cole, C. C. (Bill) Ellis and Charles Noland from the farm group, and C. C. Acker, J. R. (Monk) Johnson, W. J. (Dub) Reeves and Grady H. Rogers from the town group. The C-C director posts are divided equally between farm and town businessmen. In the current election, two directors will be named from each group.

Ballots will be counted by the nominating committee on Nov. 2, and the newly elected directors will take office at the annual C-C banquet Jan. 16, 1958.

Bank Deposits Are Slightly Above June Report Total

Combined deposits in Hereford's two banks were $10,797,360.11 at the time of the quarterly bank call on Oct. 11. The total was just under the figure for the comparable period of 1956 and showed a small increase over deposits at the last call on June 6.

Last October there was $10,721,160.11 in the banks here, an increase of about 16 per cent over the 1955 total of $9,007,779.65.

On June 6, 1957, the bank call reports showed $10,325,765.82 on deposit here, which marked a sharp drop from the record $12,245,837.89 recorded in mid-1956. The unusually high prices received for vegetables marketed from Hereford farms was credited with bringing in the cash that sent deposits over the 12 million dollar mark at that time.

Low prices for potatoes and a disastrous onion market during the current year were apparently reflected in the failure of deposits to swing upward.

Combined assets of the banks on Oct. 11 were reported as $11,600,512.89, compared to $11,494,138.11 in October, 1956.

Loans and discounts remained about equal with those of a year ago, $5,434,359.48 on the current call compared to $5,445,535.63.

Funeral Services Held Friday for Mrs. Witherspoon

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Witherspoon, 50, were held Friday afternoon in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. Howard Scott, pastor, and the Rev. Russell Wingert, First Presbyterian Church pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Witherspoon, wife of attorney James W. Witherspoon, died Wednesday afternoon in Deaf Smith County Hospital after a long illness.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery. Gilliland Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Witherspoon was born in Hereford on Aug. 3, 1907. She was a member of the First Baptist Church.

Survivors, other than her husband, are a daughter, Miss Irene Witherspoon of Hereford, and her mother Mrs. Irene Gilliland of Hereford.

Milo Group's Finance Plan Moves Ahead

The Grain Sorghum Producers Assn. reports 102 grain elevator operators are cooperating in its plan for deducting two pounds per 1,000 from farmer deliveries to support its program of research, legislation, and market development. Bill Nelson, executive vice president said in his report on the associations' activities for the past month that farmer interest in a series of county organizational meetings has been very encouraging with attendance averaging 75 persons.

In the commodity groups' regular monthly board meeting last week in Amarillo, 17 directors and committeemen from 12 of the 17 counties affiliated with GSPA were present.

Ivan Block, J. T. Gilbreath Jr. and R. G. Peeler represented Deaf Smith County in the meeting.

Peeler, president of the association, and Frank Moore of Plainview, legislative representative, reported on the recent Commodity Group Meetings held in Washington. The Hereford man indicated that another conference of the commodity groups is planned for Omaha, Neb., in November and sought counsel from the county representatives.

The association is supporting a "Surplus Reduction Farm Plan" which calls for a uniform level of support for all commodities; government programs for all commodities to have a uniform expiration date, and a percentage of cultivated acres to be retired from production.

Nelson told the representatives that a Grain Sorghum Agricultural

Mrs. A. H. Swigart, County's 1st Baby Girl, Dies at 66

Funeral services for Mrs. Alice Swigart, the first white girl born in Deaf Smith County, were held Saturday afternoon in Rose Chapel of Gilliland Funeral Home with the Rev. H. V. Fields, pastor of the Grace Gospel Church, officiating.

Mrs. Swigart died at 3 a.m. Friday in Osteopathic Hospital in Amarillo. She was 66 years old. In Hereford she lived at 702 E. 2nd.

$2,500 IS SOUGHT FOR YULETIDE DECORATIONS

Preparing for Hereford's annual Jaycee-sponsored Christmas lighting program, block chairmen last week began solicitations aimed at raising $2,500. The Jaycees are slated to order replacement bulbs and materials and some additional decorations for Hereford business areas on Tuesday night.

Don Zimmerman, who presided over a meeting of 28 block chairmen and Jaycees Thursday morning at the Jim Hill Hotel, explained the need for collections for the project each year: "Buying new bulbs, replacement wire, new decorations, funds for the annual Santa Claus visit with candy gifts for the children and miscellaneous costs are something that must be done each year, year after year."

"Merchants should look on their donation not as a contribution but as an investment in the community. Imagine what Christmas in Hereford would be without this Jaycee program. It is a vital part of the season and of our community and business," Zimmerman said.

ABOUT $5,000, including $1,000 each spent by the city and county governments for materials, was collected for the project last year. But the major part of the extra-large sum was used to buy new wires, fixtures and decorations to replace those destroyed in the fire at the old Bull Barn.

The 18 solicitation teams this year are using a 75 cent per front foot "asking" figure for donations from businesses, compared to $1 last year. And the city and county are being asked to donate just $300 each for purchase of new materials. Bill Howard, Jaycee member, said that his group estimates the project will actually cost about $2,000, and that the $500 additional fund is to serve as a cushion for next year's decoration work.

Zimmerman noted during Thursday's meeting that the Jaycee's Christmas decoration work in Hereford has won statewide attention and an award from the Texas Jaycees.

HOWARD told the group that Santa Claus will be the old-fashioned kind this year, "as last year's Santa was not entirely satisfactory." He said that if enough funds are made available the light strings may be tied in to meters to permit their being turned off late at night and during daylight hours. The meters could be expected to prevent lines burning-out due to shorts as has happened in the past. The installation costs are (Continued on Page 2)

Funeral Home Being Built at Sixth and Park

Gilliland Funeral Home has started construction on a new $75,000 building at the intersection of Sixth and Park Ave., and hopes to be in the new structure sometime in January.

"We needed more room, more parking space and a more modern building. It will be modern, up to the last minute," said Bill Gilliland, owner.

Gilliland said he planned and designed the building himself, incorporating the latest ideas from undertaking establishments in Texas. It will include a chapel.

The building will have an 85-foot front and will be 90 feet deep. Robert E. Thompson Construction Co. of Hereford is contractor.

Officers Seek Man on Check Warrant

City police and sheriff's officers are seeking Harley L. Stone, 39, who they say skipped out of Hereford sometime Tuesday night after stealing a TV set, giving a hot check and not paying three nights rent at the Filkins Motel.

Stone already was wanted in Hereford on a felony warrant for swindling by worthless check.

Officers said Stone took a $150 portable TV set and stand from the Plains Motel when he left without paying his bill. He also gave Orshorn-Norwood Chevrolet Co. a hot check for $31.10 for repairs on a car which police believe was stolen from Hertz Rent-a-Car.

In addition to the warrant here, Stone is wanted in Dallas, Nevada and other places for various offenses, the officers said.

In August Stone gave a worthless check to Western Auto here for $171. He was indicted by the Deaf Smith County grand jury.

The check to Orshorn-Norwood was on a Midland bank. Stone has no account in Midland. The stolen car is a 1957 blue Chevrolet with stolen New Mexico license plates.

Zimmerman said that it is unfortunate that the absence of light poles on both sides of the street make it impossible to decorate Park Ave., but said it may be possible to install plaques there and in other business sections away from Main St., and that a centrally located area along Park may be decorated in a seasonal theme.
The contributions teams this year are seeking cash rather than pledges to prevent their having to make several calls on the same business houses.

RAISE MEAT-TYPE HOGS

Rowlands Achieve Honors for Swine

H. H. Rowland & Son of Hereford, purebred Landrace swine breeders, have been given recognition for production tested litters by the American Landrace Assn. To qualify for a production tested Star Award in the breed association, a litter must have eight or more pigs raised to 56-days of age with a total litter weight of 300 pounds or more.
The Rowlands achieved a Three Star rating with a nine pig litter that weighed 356 pounds after 56 days.
Rowland reports that the Landrace, a meat-type hog developed in Denmark and first introduced to the U. S. back in 1936, is continuing to gain popularity as packers and housewives continue to emphasize their purchase preference for lean pork.
While very few purebred Landrace swine are marketed except as breeding stock, crossbreeds bearing the Landrace strain have brought some premiums from packers. "I received a 50 cent per hundredweight premium on the sale of a group of crossbreeds at Amarillo recently," said Rowland.
The Hereford Landrace breeder, who now has six purebred sows and two purebred boars in his pens, said that accompanied by his neighbor Billy Williams, he recently attended a sale of purebred swine at Trimble-Man or Farms in Trimble, Mo.
"The high seller was a boar at $2,250, the first sow offered brought $2,005, and one litter of six went on a bid of $10,000," Rowland said.

Rowland bought a half-brother to the $10,000 litter. He said that since entering the business two years ago, with stock purchased in the Midwest from breeders who imported Landrace swine from Europe, sales for breeding stock he has offered have been brisk. "I've a big stack of back orders that I'd sure like to be able to fill, too," he declared.
There will be at least four Landrace pigs in the stock show here this winter. Rowland last week gave two to Future Farmers to fit for the show, and his son Monte, and daughter Judy will be showing Landrace in the 4-H division.

Farm, Ranch Club Plans Donations

The Farm and Ranch Club voted Thursday to make donations to the United Fund and the Bippus community church this year as well as contributing food and clothing to the county welfare office.
Meeting with Mrs. Charles Hoover, the group heard a program on Dallas by Mrs. N. E. Tyler. Mrs. Norman Minks won the club prize.
For decoration, the luncheon table had a group of gold-sprayed Bells of Ireland and each place card had a Bell of Ireland.
Present at the meeting were Mesdames Richard Boyd, Bobby Northcutt, Waldron Melton, Norman Minks, N. E. Tyler and the hostess.

Special Agents Cutting Down on Oil Thefts

NEW YORK, (AP) — Special agents, organized along the line of the cattlemen's associations of the old west, cut losses from oil field equipment rustlers, a recent issue of Patroleum Week reports.
The McGraw-Hill publication said that the agents, working closely with local officers, have reduced thefts of oil company equipment from hundreds of thousands of dollars annually to a fraction of that loss.
George Robey, chief investigator for the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn., estimated that at least a million dollars worth of stolen equipment has been recovered in the last seven or eight years.
Thefts vary from a drilling rig to a radiator, or from casing to elevators, from mercury in pipeline meters to steel thread protectors.

The association's program involved not only pushing legislation to tighten loopholes but also the appointment of special agents to handle reports of stolen property.
The program is basically a self cure. The association realized that the condition under which thieves operate is mainly a result of carelessness and lack of organization of the oil industry.
Some of the regular preventive measures the association uses to clamp down on oil field thieves include:

The association also encourages firms to brand equipment and report any thefts.
One of the biggest problems the association has encountered, the magazine says, is to make juries recognize the value of equipment. Many times, what only looks like a big hunk of lead, is a big hunk of lead worth $500.
The more crafty thief has found ways to dodge a felony charge in court. If he takes over $50 worth of equipment, he has committed a felony, punishable by 2 to 20 years in prison. To avoid this, a thief often cuts up equipment for junk and sells it for less than $50, then if caught, he is guilty of only a misdemeanor, and subject to a lesser sentence.

It said that each person has too many worries and that there were times when everyone felt worn out. It said that each person had his own aches and pains and of course they were concerned about them. on their fingers. They want to know, "What's the deal?" and "Why don't I come out from under the house and find out what is happening?" They say that Hereford has twice as many planes as it has Cadillacs — and point out that the planes, on an average, cost about twice as much, based on second hand plane prices.

I GIVE UP! I admit that my estimate was due to stupidity and total ignorance. I am glad to be enlightened. I recognize a total investment of $175,000 to $200,000 locally owned planes. I am not against the deal. Furthermore, I fully believe that an enraged flying enthusiast is much more aggressive than a mother bear guarding six cubs. He could even be worse than an irate barber.

Just in case someone else might be as stupid as I am, here's a list of planes as enumerated by several area enthusiasts: Lyle Blanton, Cessna 180; Cameron Gault and Dave Beavers, Super Cub; Bill Decker, Beech Bonanza; Doc Hendricks, Beech Bonanza; W. W. Hill, Navion; Bryant Bros., Cessna 172; Olin Paris, Piper Tri-Pacer; Ray Johnson, Cessna 180; Slim DeBusk, Aerona; Gerald Jungman, Swift Arrow; Ivan Woolsey, Taylorcraft; Franklin Springer, Taylorcraft; Bud Paetzold, Piper Tri-Pacer; David R. Johnson, Cessna 180; Wayne Wallace, Piper Tri-Pacer; Jim Pavlicek, Cessna 172; W. F. Ponder, Aerona Champion; Charles Fry, Stinson; Walter Galley, Twin Cessna; Carl Cross, Super Cub; Ralph Stivers, Fairchild.

In addition, declare my pride-wounded friends, there are two or three other privately owned and operated planes in the western part county, plus 10 or 11 others engaged in student instruction, crop dusting, charter work and other professional chores. What's more, they say that anyone with interest enough to write about them has only to visit the Gault airport, Bud Paetzold's airport, the old City Airport and individual farms to see most of the planes. A few, however, are anchored in the Friona port and Trade Winds in Amarillo.

I APOLOGIZE. It's all my fault. According to my prediction of 12 planes in two years, we are already living in 1976. Also, I apologize to Mary Harman. I said Harman's wrapped up a package the shoplifters snatched at Sam McLahens store and, all of the time, it was Rutherford's, where the thieves were apprehended.

There has been one of my "bad weeks." When I was younger, I used to have "bad days" but, as time marches on, these days are becoming weeks. I can't say that I look forward to the time when the "bad weeks" will stretch into "bad months."

HANK WILLIAMS is a colorful old boy who grew up in the city (Oklahoma City) and migrated to the farm. In addition to making an outstanding success as a farmer, Hank figures cities are fine — for the purpose of visiting once in a while. He also thinks that everyone in this area should expend a unified effort toward locating a sugar beet processing plant in this country. Pulp feeding, standardized prices and a lot of other reasons lead him to this conclusion.

NO OTHER INDUSTRY would fit the area more closely than a going beet sugar mill. Natural resources, by-products and cash crops all substantiate the idea. I admit $10 million is a lot of sugar, but we have a lot of country — and one or two corporations might be interested. Sounds like a good Chamber of Commerce project for 1957-58. I notice where we have some new directors coming up soon. At least, the idea is worth investigating. I noticed back in the old Brand files where the C-C went to Garden City in 1918 on the same mission. Sometimes it takes 40 years for a dream to come true. Maybe that will be the case with Hereford's sugar refinery.

OLIVER STREU says we should change link on The Brand. He says the dogs in his neighborhood always prefer The Brand to other papers thrown in his yard.

Maybe she asked for it, but when they took Queen Elizabeth to the historic site of Cornwallis's surrender, I couldn't help thinking about Dale Carnegie and his book, "How to Win Friends and Influence Enemies."

HUNTING IS GOOD, according to Dub Hair and Grady Rogers, who are just back from Colorado, where they joined Raylan Evans and bagged their deer in record time. The trio came out with six bucks, the legal limit. John Patton, meanwhile, is investigating the fishing stories around Elephant Butte, where they say the bass are literally leaping into the boats. Quite a few others are now out on deer hunting parties and from all reports, it sounds as if 1957 is "the year" for deer hunters.

Russia's Sputnik has at least 100 days of time left to circle, says recent computations at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory. The Naval Research Laboratory, on the other hand, figures the satellite may plunge from its orbit and burst into flames within a week. As of Friday, it has been plowing on its way for a period of 14 days.

NOTE OF THANKS The sorrow of the burden That we bear Is lessened by the thought That "She is in God's Care." We wish to extend our sincere thanks to everyone for their deep sympathy and kindness during the loss of our darling baby and loved one.

We also extend our sincere thanks to the Gilliland Funeral Home and also the Rev. Naugle and Brother Seay.

We also thank everyone for the floral offerings and food bought by all the kind neighbors.

Real Gone! Out of this World IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By SPUTNIK Guest Party Limer Pardy Limer decided to do something different this week — so we're going out of this world with Sputnik.

Gosh, it's high up here, but you surely do get a good view of the goings on in Hereford. First, let's turn the tables on Betty Babone. You never hear about her. Talk about grand entrances — she really made one at the Broadmore in Colorado Springs, when she tried to out-do the professional skaters. As she was walking across the ice, she fell flat on her (face?).

While flying over the Glen Hopson home the other night, all I could see were beds — all over the living room. All five Hopsons have had the flu. And, of course, they just couldn't miss any T. V.

Speaking of flu, I think Virginia Kroll would rather have it than fly to St. Louis to see the new Mercury models. (She's not flying either!)

LUELLA AND RAY Johnson aren't afraid of flying though. They had a luscious trip to Gulf Port, Miss. The occasion was the A. O. P. A. Plantation Party. The weekend was filled with parties. A get acquainted party kicked things off Friday. Yacht parties Saturday morning and afternoon kept things going. The climax was a big Sea Food Jamboree and Dixie Land Dance. Luella said the only thing wrong with the weekend was that it ended too soon.

The other day, when I wasn't too busy posing for pictures, I read the October Better Homes and Gardens. Try the chocolate crinkle cookies. The Man in the Moon made some up for me as a welcoming gift. They were really good!

I hear Donald Shipley is the best cook for a Sunday morning breakfast. Turn your order in early for next Sunday, phone 1687.

IF YOU SEE a ghostly figure fluttering around in a green nylon gown about midnight on the east side of town, don't worry. It's only a good friend letting the neighbor's momma cat in to her kittens. She just couldn't stand the mournful sounds.

Mrs. W. E. Dameron really gets around. She's gone again! This time it's off to Kansas and Ohio along with Mrs. A. M. Jones and Mrs. Frances Dameron. Nicki and Bill won't have time to miss her for a while though. They left Friday for Ft. Worth to see the ball game and then on to Houston to visit the Jay Barnett's.

The deer season has started. Claudine Rodgers has been a "deer widow." With Mutt leaving next week, Virginia Wheeler should call her to find out the stories she heard so that she'll be prepared. However, not all the widows around town aren't "deer widows." Jama Pool, Lenore Cox, and Winona White can give Virginia a few pointers, too.

The 4th grade county fair at Alkman School was a big success according to the mothers — everything from roosters to handmade quilts. It was a junior edition of the Tri-State Fair. At last, Hereford has a fair.

L'Allegre has some nice calendars for sale. They list every club's meeting day from November, 1957 to December, 1958. They certainly are nice and only sell for $1. If you want one, just contact a member.

See you later... Destination MOON!

Nancy Killens, Jerome Noggler Are Married in Home Ceremony

Nancy Kay Killens, daughter of Mrs. Beulah Messenger, 413 Knight, was married to Jerome Louis Noggler, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Noggler, Rt. 3, Hereford, at 5 p.m. Oct. 12 in the home of Charles Crowell.

The Rev. H. V. Fields, pastor of the Grace Gospel Church, read the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Charles Crowell was matron of honor. Floyd Messenger, brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride wore a light aqua knit suite with a white fur collar and carried a white carnation bouquet on a white pearl Bible. She wore a white sequin hat with a small white veil.

For something borrowed, she wore the hat, which belongs to her mother; something old, a linen handkerchief from her maternal grandmother; something blue, a garter; something new, her suit.

Mrs. David Watson played the piano and Mrs. Floyd Messenger sang. Musical selections included I Love You Truly, Bless This House, Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us, Mendelssohn's Bridal March and Wedding March.

White dahlias were used as a centerpiece on the piano with candelabra on either side. A reception was held in the Crowell home after the wedding. Mrs. Reece Lawson served the cake and Mrs. Floyd Messenger served coffee.

The bride attended Friona High School and is a member of the Women of Today Club in Hereford. Noggler is a graduate of St. Anthony's Catholic School and is employed by the City of Hereford. The couple is at home at 418 Mable.

YOUNG MODERNS

Early Dates Put Damper on Debuts

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newsfeatures Writer "Do you have to be rich to have a debutante party?" inquires an 18-year-old Midwestern girl. You would have to be rich to give a debutante party like those that were famous in other generations. But the truth is that even wealthy families today do not squander their money on those fabulous parties.

Girls who still are introduced in traditional "coming-out" parties do it en masse, with 100 or so other girls. One reason is that it doesn't make much sense to introduce your daughter, spending a fabulous sum, when she's already been dating for a few years.

The idea behind a "coming-out" party is to introduce a girl to the eligible men in her own social circle.

ial strata. Today girls date earlier, know the boys in their set, so there is little point in mortgaging the old homestead just to enable a daughter to dance with men she already knows.

A great many girls of 18 do not feel they are ready for marriage, anyway, and prefer a college education before settling down to the real serious meaning behind debutante parties — snaring a man.

There's no reason why a girl can't have a modest coming-out-party if her parents can afford it, though, and if there is a need to meet young men. Many girls live in areas that are isolated, and in that instance a list of men may be obtained from a proper source, and a party given for the 19-year-old to launch her into a social whirl.

WOMAN METEOROLOGIST

She Knows Her Satellites

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Florence van Straten is a rare bird — the only woman civilian meteorologist working for the U. S. Navy.

As a wartime WAVE weather officer, she was the only woman ever assigned to active duty aboard a Navy ship. A slim brunette with brown eyes, she looks like a secretary as she sits at her Pentagon desk. But it's high level stuff, including jet and missile travels and radioactive fallout, that occupies her time.

Actually, Dr. van Straten, 43, a native of Darien, Conn., who holds a Ph. D. in physical chemistry from New York University, would rather be a writer. Fate steered her into this unusual job of research and idea generating on weather problems — present and future.

In her spare time, she writes on a variety of subjects, including science fiction. But, for the Navy, here's an idea of the everyday problems that beset Dr. van Straten, head of the technical require-

Detailed Records Help Farmers on Tax Difficulties

LUBBOCK. — Farmers and ranchers have everything to gain — taxwise — in keeping detailed inventory records of draft, breeding and dairy livestock, C. A. Freeze of San Angelo told more than 100 area lawyers and accountants at the Fifth Annual Texas Tech Tax Conference held here.

He also pointed out that soil and water conservation expenditures are, in many instances, now deductible according to the 1954 Internal Revenue Code.

Since an amendment to the 1951 Code, "We have had smoother sailing in treating the sale of draft, breeding and dairy animals as the sale of capital assets," he said. This includes livestock regardless of age that are held for 12 months or more after acquisition.

Freeze stated that it is very important to keep detailed inventory records, segregating the animals held for sale from those held for breeding purposes.

FREEZE ALSO stressed that the average livestock raiser and farmer should give more attention to federal estate and state inheritance tax problems that arise upon the death of one of the spouses.

Those with substantial ranch operations should consider creating family partnerships with gifts over a period of years, he said. This splits the income among members of the family, and usually reduces death taxes upon their death.

Freeze reported that soil and water conservation expenditures are now a new class of deductible expenses. This includes any expense in treatment of moving of earth such as levelling, grading, terracing, control and protection of divergent channels, earthen dams, eradication of brush, and planting of windbreaks.

When asked if the Internal Revenue Code would ever allow depletion of irrigation water, Freeze commented that such a ruling would come about only if irrigation farmers get an organization strong enough to bring it to the federal government's attention.

Freeze is a director of the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants and was one of the featured speakers at the tax confer-

Winter Cover Crops Beneficial to Soil

COLLEGE STATION — The rains and winds that characterize winter weather often rob the farmer of valuable topsoil through erosion — not to mention the hidden damage from leaching. But farmers can prevent this wintertime destruction of their land by planting cover crops.

But it must be remembered that cover crops do more than just protect the land, says R. J. Hodges, extension agronomist. These crops improve the soil itself, leading to increased yields.

Many growers have discovered that winter legumes increase their cotton and corn yields, more than paying for the time and money spent in putting in the legumes, points out the agronomist. These cover plants do not interfere with other crops, coming at a time when farm work slows down. They are turned under to add plant food, especially nitrogen to the soil during the slack period in the spring. Grazing, hay, silage or seed taken from the winter crop will provide other sources of income for the farm, he adds.

Annual winter legume crops named by Hodges include vetch, Austrian winter peas, crimson clover, burr clover and sweet clover. Some operators use a combination of annual grass and annual legume while others prefer the annual grass alone. For further information on winter cover crops, ask the county agent about local recommendations.

Dawn Musettes Hold Meeting

The Dawn Musettes held a regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. E. T. Stewart, with Mrs. Ray Polan as assistant hostess.

Travel with Muzak from the Keyboard Jr. magazine was discussed by Audri Miller. "This is a form of recorded music used by railroads, ships and airlines. Its purpose is to provide enjoyment and relaxation for the passengers. Tape recordings of the finest music are used to minimize weight and airplanes are lined so the engine noise is shut out," she said.

Yehudi Menuhin, violinist and world traveler, was discussed by Robert Caraway who told of Menuhin's entertainment of troops during World War II.

The role of the bride in American history was told by Jon David Miller.

Piano selections on the program were The Bugler, Jon David Miller; The Little Navaho, Robert Galley; March, Lucy Beth Miller; Morning Friege, Phyllis Ann Wimberly; On Halloween, Billie Neal; Mrs. Frog, Linda Stewart; Too-Ra-Loo-Ra-Loo-Ral, Nan Neal. Habanera by Bizet was sung by Mrs. J. B. Caraway with Mrs. Stewart playing the accompaniment.

Lucy Beth Miller, president, directed the short business meeting. The club voted to make a donation to the county United Fund Drive.

Mrs. Zed Stewart was a special guest. Others present included Rosemary Stewart, Alice Ann Caraway, Glenn Polan, Janice Galley, Wayne Polan, Mrs. Orval Galley, Mrs. Carl Wimberly, those on the program and the hostesses.

feeding hogs is EASY the Purina way

Modern feeding methods have taken the guesswork out of hog feeding. Today you know, even before you start, how much feed it should take to put your hogs across the market scales. And, on the Purina Program you know that 5½ months is plenty of time to get hogs to market weights.

The Purina Hog Program itself is just as simple as good nutrition will allow. Even if you have no grain, there's a Purina ration ready to feed right from the bag. Purina recommendations on breeding, feeding, sanitation and management are sound and practical — because they're based on more than 25 years of experience at the Purina Research Farm.

We'd like to see you give hogs and Purina a try on your farm. This combination has made money for thousands of people. Put it to work for yourself. If you're thinking about hogs for your farm, we'll be glad to help you get started. Stop by soon and talk it over with us.

What Happens to the Family . . . When

Women Enter Many Fields, Including That Of Crime

Possibly or no great significance, but definitely off the beaten track was the appearance of three women on the crime docket of Deaf Smith County this week.

While three cases against women may not be unusual in larger cities, they demand considerable interest in a small community of less than 10,000 population.

Since World War I, women have emancipated to the point that their former role of "mother and homemaker" is today secondary in many households across the nation.

Diversified Farming Improves Economy

Practically everything that comes along has advantages and disadvantages—even diversification of farm crops.

Although most of the propaganda spread through various agencies concerning diversification invariably favors and recommends the practice, rainfall during the past few days proves the old saying, "You can't please everyone."

And there are differences of opinion even between the latter group. An early freeze would be highly beneficial to the milo man, but it would spell havoc for the lettuce grower.

While the idea of putting all your eggs in one basket does eliminate county-wide economic disaster, it also creates a situation whereby all of the diversified crops can hardly hit bumper yields in any given year.

On the other hand, old timers who recall days when this area was practically 100 percent wheat shudder to think what would have happened to the area during the prolonged drought which beset the country during the past seven years.

THE CONSTITUTION IS Required Reading For All Americans

So many people are invoking the Constitution of the United States these days in support of arguments on both sides of public questions that we wonder how many of them have actually read the United States Constitution throughout . . . or read it at all.

Obviously the Constitution cannot mean all things to all people or it could not have survived for these 170 years as the great charter that it is.

The Constitution is a truly remarkable document . . . remarkable both for the brevity and for the exactness of its language, and for the built-in flexibility which has made it as effective today, in this changing world, as it was in its inception 170 years ago.

It is flexible because it outlines the broad principles of representative government, neatly dividing the power and authority between its three branches . . . the executive, the legislative, and the judiciary to create a workable system of checks-and-balances between them . . . and permitting them to work out the specific mechanics of government within the boundaries of those principles and powers to fit the changing needs of the nation.

And it is a great charter because it creates a sphere of constitutional liberty inviolable by government and protected by judicial power. It is not a lengthy document . . . it can be read in its entirety by the average reader in 45 minutes or less.

And it is easily accessible to anyone with the desire or inclination to read it. The full text of the Constitution may be found in almost any standard encyclopedia . . . or in the annual editions of such common reference books as The World Almanac and The Texas Almanac.

We suggest that you read it . . . or re-read it . . . in the light of current national events, and renew your acquaintance with the principles of freedom on which this nation was founded and which have made it great.

TEXANS IN WASHINGTON

Judge from Panhandle Hands Down Clear, Blythe Decisions

By TEX EASLEY AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON — The tang of the Texas Panhandle, to which he was long exposed, may have something to do with the clarity and interesting reading that mark opinions handed down by Chief Judge Marvin Jones of the U. S. Court of Claims.

Judge Jones long ago attracted wide attention in Washington with the uncluttered prose and lack of legalistic language in his opinions.

If there's a human interest angle in a case, he'll bring it out in his decisions and at the same time avoid the technicalities that abound in most court decisions.

Aside from his prose, the jurist and former congressman is personally popular with Washington correspondents. He usually has breakfast at a round table gathering in the National Press Club. He was a close personal friend of the late George Stimpson, a correspondent for several Texas newspapers and once president of the club.

Judge is a bachelor and a philosopher. So was Stimpson.

JUST BACK from a trip to Amarillo, Jones found himself the subject of George Kennedy's column in the Washington Evening Star. Kennedy began with this observation:

"Marvin Jones, chief judge of the U. S. Court of Claims, is back from vacation. This adds a blythe spirit to his capital, albeit in judicial robes."

Kennedy then told this story on Jones:

"Judge Jones has breakfast each morning at a round table at the National Press Club. When his companions heard he was going back to Texas to go fishing, their idea of the piscatorial possibilities of that arid land led one of them to go to the kitchen for a can of sardines and slip it into the judge's pocket."

"When he left, someone realized it had no key."

"One of the round-table group, Larry Cates of the Airline Pilots' Assn., called National Airport and arranged to have the hostess on the plane make good the omission."

"In a few days, his companions got a letter from the vacationing judge. It read:

"I WANT to thank the committee, whoever it may be, for the sardines. Whatever else may be said, they were well packed."

"About two hours out of Washington, the beautiful hostess, with an engaging smile, said she understood I had a can of sardines and offered me a can opener."

"I shared the sardines with some fellow travelers, including two Discocrats. I warned them that the sardines were from Maine but their appetites were stronger than their convictions."

Back in the capital, the judge reported catching some bass in the Panhandle. Incidentally, his primary purpose in returning to Texas each year is to visit his mother, who now is 101 years old.

Jones represented the Panhandle in Congress during the early "New Deal" days of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. As chairman of the House Agriculture Committee he wrote most of today's basic farm laws.

Many of his opinions as a judge of the Court of Claims have been incorporated in two bound volumes.

HERE'S A SAMPLE:

Pedersen vs United States, in which a Foreign Service officer's wife claimed per diem expenses for time spent in Cairo in World War II awaiting a ship that would take her and her two dogs and a cat back home.

In his decision Judge Jones wrote:

"We can well understand Mrs. Pedersen's anxiety about her pets and her reluctance to travel without them."

"In our youth, we always had dogs, mostly of the mongrel variety, but nevertheless, dogs."

"We placed them just behind people, and when on rare occasions we fell out with our playmates, our hounds usually forged ahead."

"We have very little respect and no affection for anyone who has not at some time in his life loved a dog."

Then he brought in Allciabes' dog, Sen. Vest's eulogy to dogs, Mark Twain, Rin Tin Tin and the Bible. Then came his conclusion. He decided against the dog owner.

Navidad River Is Short, Unknown

SCHULENBURG, Tex. — The Navidad River in Southeast Texas, which flooded during the heavy rains of September, is one of the shortest and perhaps least known rivers in the state.

Its headwaters are in two streams near here, midway between San Antonio and Houston on U. S. Highway 90. It means miles southward for about 100 miles and empties into Matagorda Bay.

The mouth of the Navidad was discovered by LaSalle while he was searching for the Mississippi River.

He sailed into Matagorda Bay in February, 1685, apparently in the belief it was the mouth of the Mississippi. However, he sailed only a few miles upstream before realizing his mistake.

The French explorer set up a camp on Matagorda Bay and set out from there on his overland search for the Mississippi which ended with his death near Nacogdoches.

The name Navidad is Spanish for navidity or Christmas. Local legend says the river was so named because the early Spanish explorers discovered it on Christmas day.

When Sam Houston's Army was marching from Gonzales to San Jacinto during the Texas Revolution, the Texans camped the night of March 15, 1836, on the banks of the Navidad near the present town of Schulenburg.

A few days later the Mexican army of Santa Anna camped on almost the identical spot.

There is a legend that Santa Anna buried a considerable amount of gold along the Navidad or along Mulberry Creek, one of its tributaries.

Numerous fortune hunters have tried to locate the treasure, but there is no authenticated case of it having been found.

But there is one local story that a Mexican family found part of the treasure. The family, hired to work on a farm, lived in a tent along Mulberry Creek. One night it disappeared without collecting the wages it earned. Local people said the family left because it found part of Santa Anna's treasure.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Guesses Vary on Number of Private Planes by Jan. 1

Jimmie Gillentine figured there would be 12 or 15 privately owned aircraft in Hereford by the time the airport opened. That was before the news staff queried pilots and came up with a total of 21 private planes, already, plus about 10 commercially operated aircraft. How many private planes do you think there will be by the first of the year?

MRS. GARY CROW—Not living here very long, I don't know too much about the town, but I would guess that there will probably be about 41 private planes.

DON T. GUSEMAN—I imagine your tabulation will be pretty accurate because there are several boys learning to fly and they aren't going to buy planes until they get several hours in. I would say about 30.

CLARENCE COLE—About 31, because I think the airport will help to increase the number of privately owned planes.

LEO OHUG—I think there will probably be about 50 privately owned planes and I believe they will be due to the new airport.

MRS. D. Y. EDWARDS—I think the new airport is going to be real nice and I will say about 50 private planes will be in Hereford.

LESS THOMPSON—I would say about 25 and I think these would be because of the airport and the training school which has been set up.

MRS. WILLIAM F. HARDWICK—I am certainly amazed at the number of planes already owned in Hereford and if that is correct I would say at least 10 more private planes will be bought. I would also say that with all the vegetable people coming in that the number could easily rise to 50 people owning their own planes.

RICHARD WINGET—I would think about 35 since they are giving the facilities for young fliers to learn. This could cause a greater increase as time goes by.

Bible Words for Today

PSALM 139:9,10—"If I take the wings of the morning and dwell in the uttermost parts of the sea, even there thy hand shall lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me." (RSV)

In this unforgettable picture of the omnipresence of God, the Psalmist is saying that no matter what life deals out to him, he will always be adequate. Like Sidney Lanier's marsh hen "who builds a nest on the watery sod," he has built his home "on the greatness of God." He has true peace of mind, not because he thinks he lives in a bomb-proof shelter where no evil can reach him, but because of the far-flung horizon of his soul.

There is a word here for us as we seek to live victoriously amidst the tensions of an increasingly de-personalized civilization, and the fears of an atomic age. Many a person threatened with mental illness or nervous breakdown might be spared if he could gain the assurance of the Psalmist. When life gets toughest we can be saved from frustration and hopelessness by our faith that "even there thy hand shall lead me, and thy right hand shall hold me."

The Rev. Stuart LeRoy Anderson President, Pacific School of Religion Berkeley, Calif.

MEETING PLACE FOUND

At a meeting Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Christian Church the workers for the Migrant Ministry Center made final plans for the re-opening of "Casa de Amigos," set for this Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Penney building. The center which will be open from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. on Saturdays and from 2 p.m. until 6 p.m. on Sundays is an interdenominational effort to provide the migrant workers with a clean and wholesome place to rest while shopping. Toys and supervised games will be provided by two volunteer hostesses.—THE FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN.

PLEDGES PUSH TOTAL

Although attendance was light at the swimming pool meeting Tuesday night, the project got another "shot in the arm" when it was revealed by Jess Landrum, the man heading the drive, that donations had brought the $15,000 goal to within striking distance. The pool received its biggest boost when N. L. Tharp offered to furnish a location, dig the hole, and contribute $4,000 to the project. Also, the Sherley-Anderson-Pitman, elevators of Farmer County pledged $1,000.—THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE.

SEEKS AID FOR FLOOD DAMAGE

Federal funds for emergency disaster relief, under Public Law 875, may benefit Motley County over $18,000 in repairing roads and culverts damaged by the spring floods. County Judge Vance H. Gilbreath said yesterday that he is seeking $18,877.50, which includes $5,985 reimbursements on money already spent. The funds, allocated under Civil Defense and Disaster Relief provide only for temporary repairs and can not be used for any permanent construction, Gilbreath said. It allows for temporary repairs of public facilities after disaster has caused undue burden on the financing of local government.—MATADOR TRIBUNE.

CONTRACT FOR THREE WELLS

McDonald Water Company of Amarillo was awarded a contract to drill and equip three wells on the Mack Forrester land by the Canyon City Commission Monday night. The bids were opened Thursday and tabulated by B. R. McMorries, the city's consulting engineer. McDonald's bid was $29,722 and was the second low of the adjusted bids. The McDonald non-adjusted bid was $29,679. A total of nine bids were received by the city. The highest bid received was $67,270 from Texas Water Wells of Houston.—THE CANYON NEWS.

The BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm seems to be undisturbed about the Russian satellite, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor: Last week it wasn't necessary to go out of your way at all to get hold of the main topic of discussion throughout the world—that satellite the Russians shot out into space, and while I haven't heard of anybody around here who has seen it, I'll admit they're like me they haven't tried very hard.

If it's passing over my farm every 95 minutes, it's all right with me. There's no law against it.

But I have been thinking. Now I understand some people in the United States are concerned over the fact Russia got a satellite up first, but it doesn't bother me. I figure we'll get one up before long. The secret of a satellite is sort of like the secret of the bicycle—it's pretty generally known in scientific circles.

But what does interest me is this: I feel sure we can get a small satellite up into space, and a little later on we can get a bigger one, then a still bigger one, and if we spend enough effort and money we can finally, I suppose, get a real rocket ship up in space, with a man on board, and I'm sure we ought to do it.

But I've been thinking, what a joke it would be on the scientists if, after we spend several billion dollars, get the rocket ship up all right, and the man on board successfully soils it around throughout space for a few days and then radios back: "Well, I've been around the moon twice, I've traveled a hundred million miles in every direction I can think of from the earth, I've explored everything I can find out here, and while I hate to say this, I know you've spent a lot of money getting me and this rocket ship into outer space, BUT THERE AIN'T NOTHING OUT HERE. I can't find a blamed thing out here worth having, and you can see just as much of nothing as I can by looking straight up from where you're standing on earth. No trees, no rivers, no land, no people, just a lot of nothing and a million or so monotonous stars that sun-burn you if you get close. If it's all right with you, I'd like to come back down. I'd even enjoy arguing with my wife. Anything to get away from all this blank space."

Now I'm not saying this is what'll happen, we ought to go ahead and see anyway, but we ought to keep in the back of our mind that it's possible a twinkling star is sort of like a movie actress—it looks a lot better from a distance.

Yours faithfully, J. A.

How To Foil the Goblins

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Time for Halloween costumes again, and when every little fellow fancies himself a knight in shining armor, a clown or a big black cat.

Take the easiest way out if you can, mom, because mainly the costumes are one-shot. Even if they are put away for next year, they'll be outgrown or "out of style," when witching brew times comes 'round again.

Aluminum foil may serve as a quick, easy-to-use material for junior party-goers. Last year's clown suit (if it still fits) may get a new ruff of glittering foil and a conical shaped hat. Or make armor-like accessories for a young knight to perk up costume.

The ruff may be made by tearing off a yard of household foil and pleating it, accordion fashion. Squeeze one edge tightly over a piece of string. Do the same with a second piece of foil, squeezing it over the same piece of string. Spread both pieces of foil so that the ruff will fit around the neck. Tie it at the back of the neck with string.

The hat may be made of heavy paper or cardboard and covered with foil. Cover it with foil and decorate it by making four balls of foil and attaching them to the hat by glue or small pieces of thin wire passed through the balls and through the hat. Place them in a line from top down the front of the hat.

A KNIGHT'S helmet may be made with three pieces of household weight aluminum foil about a yard long, formed over a small lampshade (an inexpensive one from a variety store will do the trick). Mold each piece of foil with the hands to the shape of the shade, overlapping the foil to make the complete helmet.

Round out the top by placing a hand inside the helmet, and forming it into a round shape. Turn up the bottom edge, making two vertical cuts with scissors at the front to form an opening for the face. Turn up this piece of foil higher than the rest of the brim. Top with a plume formed of foil, and glue it to the top of the helmet.

A shield can be made by cutting a piece of cardboard into an oval or round shape. Cover it completely with foil and decorate it in any interesting design with lengths of foil that have been crushed into a rope in the hands. These lengths can then be glued to the shield. A piece of stout string at the back provides a handle and also bends the shield into a rounded shape.

A sword is made from a piece of stiff cardboard covered with foil and decorated at the handle with colored tape.

Little girls may become fairy queens in a jiffy with foil, wire coat hangers, cardboard, wooden dowels and ribbon made into wings, wands and crowns.

The crown may be made easily by shaping cardboard into a crown, stapling it or sealing it with cellophane tape, and then covering it with foil. It may be decorated with sparkling sequins in real fairy queen tradition, if you like. The wand is a long wooden dowel (or fly swatter handle) covered with foil. Top it with a cardboard star covered with foil. A bright ribbon may be spiraled down the length of the wand and secured at the bottom with a big bow.

Wings may be made of two wire coat hangers. Cut off the hooks and pull slightly the straight bottom sections of the hangers and cover them with foil. Join the two hangers together by binding them with string at the hook ends. Where hangers are joined, attach four 3-foot pieces of twine. These may be brought over the shoulders and under the arms to attach the wings to the back.

BICYCLE THIEF

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Allan R. Pike got back his lost bicycle with the aid of the city council. The bike had been sold at a police auction. Pike proved to the council the police had improperly confiscated it from in front of his University of Michigan dormitory.

This cost the city council $20 in reimbursement to the man who bought the bicycle at the auction.

It isn't hard to follow.

Secrecy Shrouds About To Fall For Detroit's 1958 Model Cars

SHADOW OF TOMORROW—Silhouette of a 1958 car, with photographers hovering over it far in advance of announcement time, dramatizes the atmosphere of top secrecy surrounding new models. The shadow, incidentally, is thrown by a 1958 Plymouth.

AF Newsfeatures
The heavy shrouds of secrecy covering 1958 model automobiles are falling this month like autumn leaves in the north wind. With the fanfare which denotes the manufacturers' drumbeats, one after another the new cars will be formally introduced to the public. The Edsel Ford new arrival in Detroit's gallery, jumped the gun on its more seasoned competitors and started its courtship in September. Probably no one produce manufacturer in the United States excites more curiosity in the public than the automobile. And the city is not confined to the auto. Keeping new model styling engineering details out of competitors' hands is one of the toughest assignments the car stylists and producers face each year. Despite the careful precautions companies take, it is no secret in Detroit that if you want to know what a certain car maker is planning for a model year, you usually can get the information from one of his competitors—you have the proper connections. Each manufacturer maintains a "leak" department, it is said, which is said, can furnish drawings or pictures of a competitor's forthcoming models. One of the hardest design leaks is that following the resignation or discharge of a man in the midst of work on a new car. He usually gets a job with a competitor and is a fruitful source of information for his new employer. Although moves and counter-moves among competitors are in dead earnest, the car makers are just as interested in keeping their new model planning from the general public. Advance disclosure of major styling and engineering changes invariably affects the buying of models currently on sale. The competitors would need the information a year or more in advance to be able to match any innovations another producer might be planning. Styling and engineering have to be firmly set that far in advance because of the time required by the tool and die shops to provide production equipment.

SIMPLE CURE
CLINTON, Okla., — Mrs. Bud Owen was rinsing out some of her granddaughter's clothes when she threw her thumb out of place. While on her way to the doctor's office, she turned around in her car when her grandchild got bubble gum all over her face. Mrs. Owen reached to get her grandchild and just then the girl hit grandma's ailing thumb — and it popped right back into place.

Mrs. William Dameron was hostess for the meeting of the L'Allegra Club Oct. 17, when they met in her home.

Mrs. Bill Hardwick gave the program on people's personal experiences from 1900 until the present time. She said that family recreation has become almost a daily routine in one form or another.

The last 50 years have shown that regardless of the early simple life of 1900. The hard years of the late twenties to the prosperous years of today people have always found ways to entertain themselves and their families through family recreation help them to achieve a better frame of mind. Though times change rapidly, people change very little, she said.

Members present were Mesdames Hap Cavness, Bill Dameron, Bill Hardwick, Charles Hill, Francis Hill, John Douglas Pitman, J. W. Robinson, Charles Seeds, Donald Shipley, Oliver Streu, Gilbert Davis and Tommie Cornahan.

DRIVE-IN FREELoadERS

LOGAN, W. Va. — Sneaking into drive-in motion picture theaters in the trunks of cars has become so prevalent that some theater operators have hired extra help to check cars as they park.

Magistrate Robert D. Skaggs reported he had heard of 40 such cases in recent months.

the proper way to sit and rise from a chair. In conclusion she suggested that one should use the "14 point system" to determine overdress or underdress. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Ted Hardwick. Roll call was answered by members telling if their husbands could cook. Three new members were welcomed to the club. They were Mrs. Harold Morton, Mrs. James Brownlow and Mrs. Jerry Landers.

West Texas State Plans Homecoming

CANYON (Special) — A parade, barbecue, football game and class and club reunions will highlight the annual Homecoming celebration Saturday, Oct. 26, at West Texas State College, as they have for the past five years.

These activities have become a standard fare for several thousand ex-students who return to the campus annually for visiting and renewing acquaintances.

WT students kick off the celebration on Thursday by observing "Western Week," when western garb is mandatory for everyone on campus. Violators of the dietum Thursday and Friday will be thrown into a horse tank by a posse of Buffalo athletes.

A western dance Wednesday night starts the two days of campus affairs prior to Homecoming Day. A traditional Homecoming assembly program Thursday morning at 10 is to be televised over KGNC-TV.

The 25th anniversary reunion of the Class of 1932 will be observed by more than 100 members of the group. An informal gathering of the group will be held Friday night at the home of Mrs. Otis Parker, and the class will participate in Saturday's events as a group.

Saturday's slate included the parade at 10:30 a.m., barbecue at 12, the football game between the Buffaloes and Hardin-Simmons at 2 p.m., club teas, smokers, and parties following the game, and the Homecoming dance in the cafeteria at 8 p.m.

At least 16 beeves will be barbecued Friday night by WT faculty, aided by students and Canyon citizens, for the meal Saturday. Committees of students and faculty will also prepare the side fare of beans, barbecue sauce, onions, and apricots Friday night and Saturday morning.

Exes and visitors will be charged 50 cents a plate for the barbecue, and present students will be allowed a punch on their cafeteria tickets, to pay for the meal. The custom of free barbecue was abandoned last year, when the cost became too high to be paid from donations.

More than 500 students from Hardin-Simmons University are expected for the Homecoming football game. A special train from Abilene will arrive in Canyon before noon Saturday.

Littlefield Bats Freshmen, 47-7

Faced by fullback Charles Coffey's three touchdowns, Littlefield's freshman team mauled the Hereford frosh, 47-7, here Thursday night.

Coffey opened the scoring for Littlefield in the first quarter with a 73-yard run. The point was made and it was 7-0. Bill Fowler registered two TD's for Littlefield in the second period on runs of 13 and three yards and De Pierce returned a punt 70 yards to run the halftime score to 27-0.

Coffey tallied in the third and fourth quarters on runs of five and seven yards and Littlefield left 40-0, before the Hereford freshmen could score.

Corby Paetzold set up the Hereford touchdown by returning a kickoff 50 yards to the Littlefield 30. Quarterback Ronnie Botkin went in from one foot for the score. Halfback Clyde Whitaker ran the point.

Jerry Koller scored the last touchdown of the game on a 33-yard scamper and the extra point made the final score 47-7.

It was the second meeting of the year between the two clubs, Littlefield winning 41-27 at Littlefield on Sept. 19.

The freshmen will play at Plainview on Oct. 31. Plainview defeated the frosh, 14-7, in their previous game.

The Path of Muddy Feet

By SANDRA GLENN

Sometimes mothers wonder if it's all worth it! This is referring to the innocent little toddler that just cannot resist getting his feet muddy and in the weather like we have been having lately it isn't so hard to do. It does seem funny that it takes all morning for mother to clean up what it took Susie or Johnny two minutes to mess up. But really, what can she do? The door slams and there in the middle of her once clean floor stands a muddy little angle with a million dollar smile on his face and he says, "Mommy, I got my feet just a little bit muddy." Not that mother could tell by looking at the tiny little footprints that have embedded themselves across her rug or her newly waxed floor.

What can she say? Nothing. She thinks instead that in only a very few years he will be grown and then there will be no more muddy feet, no sweet little face looking up for forgiveness and most of all she knows that soon he will be a fine young man who will have a child of his own and then, as it always has, history will repeat itself.

a half years.

Mrs. George Muse and Mrs. W. S. Gillis went to Lamesa Monday on business but they reported that it turned out to be more of a pleasure trip. Mrs. Gillis said that it was certainly beautiful country since it had gotten all this rain.

Mrs. O. Wertenberger, Mrs. Charles Bell, Mrs. Flo Dickerson and Mrs. Faust Collier attended the Classroom Teachers' Meeting in Amarillo last Saturday.

The central subject of the program was "Stepping Up the School Program to Meet the Needs of the Above Average Child."

Mrs. Charles Bell served on a panel discussion of "Inspiring Students to Higher Achievements Through Scholarships." Scholar-

Dalhart Bees Nip Hereford, 25-19

Hereford High School's B team scared Dalhart's Bees here Thursday night before losing a close one, 25-19. Dalhart registered the winning touchdown with two minutes to go in the game.

Halfback Paul Harrison put Hereford into an early lead with a 45-yard touchdown sprint in the first quarter. Wayne Bomar plunged for the point and made it 7-0.

Dalhart retaliated with Steve Alexander going four yards for a score. The run for the point was stopped and Hereford still led, 7-6, as the quarter ended.

Eddie Bergen ran 40 yards, for a Hereford touchdown in the second period, but it was called back because of a clipping penalty.

Dalhart took the lead a few minutes late with fullback Jim Mitchell sweeping right end for five yards and the score. Mitchell punched over the extra point and Dalhart lead, 13-7, at halftime.

On a fourth down and one yard to go situation in the third quarter, Mitchell bolted up the middle and ran 73 yards for another TD. The try for point was stopped and it was 19-7 as the period ended. The score came after Dalhart had stopped a Hereford drive on the one-yard line.

With eight minutes to go Hereford quarterback James Brogden tossed a three-yard pass to right end Jimmy Brown in the endzone. A pass for the point was blocked and the score stood, 19-13.

After recovering a Dalhart fumble on the Hereford 20, Brogden rared back and hit Harrison with a pass on the 50 and the fleet halfback raced the rest of the way to score. A pass from Brogden to Brown for the point was broken up and the score was tied, 19-19 with four minutes to play.

Dalhart took the kickoff and drove 55 yards in two minutes with Alexander getting the winning touchdown on a three-yard sweep around right end.

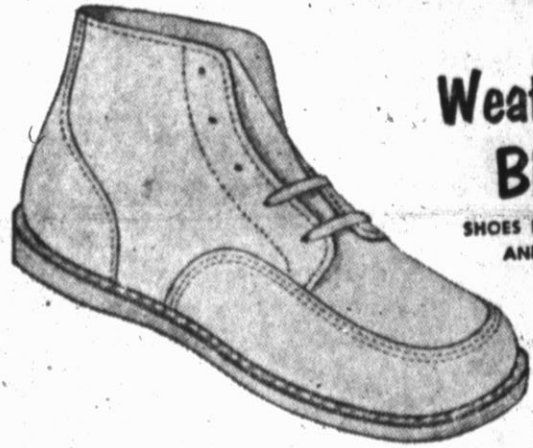

The Hereford B squad showed a marked improvement over previous games. Prior to Thursday the Bees had scored only six points in five outings. Next scheduled game for the Bees is at Littlefield on Oct. 31.

SOMEBODY IS NAMING A BABY

OUR ANCIENT forefathers found proof of the magic in names and chose with reverential care the name for the newlyborn. The study of names and of their survival in civilization has enabled us to ascertain what peoples inhabited districts now tenanted by races of far different speech.

In certain countries names were kept secret lest an enemy use it to do the bearer harm, while in other lands the name was so secret it could not even be spoken by the father and mother. In ancient Rome a name was well guarded lest it be used by the unfriendly for black magic. The Chinese gave their babies unpleasant names that would not tempt the envy of the gods.

An examination of customs prevalent among the widely separated races of Asia, Africa, Australia and America proves that animals were more important to mankind than they are now. The wolf, bear, turtles, cockatoos, raven, horse and snake, were feared and honored and considered closely akin to the gods. The ancient mother who named her baby after a snake was paying a great honor to that wily creature.

IN NORTH AMERICA Indian tribes developed their family names under the symbol of the totem, by phenomena or tribal characteristics as well as the sun, moon, clouds and wind. The first Anglo-Saxon names used were in honor of plants and were followed by description names such as Strong, True, Short or Long. England supplied many of the color names such as White, Black, Brown or Golden.

Astrology leads to "Jewel" names such as Ruby, Garnet and Pearl. The "flower" names came, for the most part, from flower-loving Scotland and mythological names have been handed down from nearly every pagan land.

As Christianity spread, the names of Bible characters and saints flourished in Italy, Germany, France and England, and when churches came into the picture, baptismal names began. The most popular being Mary, John, David, Esther, Ruth and Sarah.

The ancients believed that the meteors they had seen fall to the earth were precious stones. They also believed that jewels afforded protection to their wearers, and in some lands the gods were associated with individual jewels which were their symbols of divine power.

HIPPOCRATES, the founder of medicine, directed the jewels dedicated to the signs of the Zodiac to cure the diseases of the various parts of the body. The 12 jewels of the months of the year were the 12 stones of the foundation of the Holy City of Jerusalem, that we read about in the Bible. Celts connected the months of the year with the 12 jewels set in the breastplate of Aaron, the high priest of Jerusalem. Some believed that the birthstone guarded the health of its wearer and enhanced chances for love, opportunity and success.

January's birthstone is the garnet, symbol of constancy. It is a fire-red jewel named by the Greeks for its resemblance to the seeds of a pomegranate that played a large part in Greek mythology. January's flower is the snowdrop, emblem of hope and a new beginning.

The amethyst is February's birthstone, emblem of sincerity, known to the ancients as the chastity, in honor of the girl Amethyst who in mythological story was pursued by the god Bacchus, and in escaping was turned to a stone. February's flower is the primrose, emblem of youth. According to Greek legend, a youth pined away of love and was turned in to a primrose.

The bloodstone, emblem of courage, is the birthstone for March. It is said to cool fiery natures and insure a serene and profitable life. March's flower is the violet, emblem of modesty. Greek legends have it that Modesty, the daughter of Midas, when pursued by the sun-god Appollo, was changed into a tiny fragrant purple flower.

April's jewel, the diamond, sparkles like spring itself, and is the symbol of springtime, hopefulness and a love that is always young. The daisy is April's flower, emblem of innocence. According to Roman mythology, the dryad Belides, when fleeing from the orchard-god, Vertumnus, was changed into a daisy to protect her innocence.

THE LOVELY emerald is the birthstone of May, symbolizing love and success. But if a wife who wears an emerald is unfaithful, the jewel breaks. The birth flower of May is the imperial fleur-de-lis, what we know as the stately white or purple iris that has been the symbol of kingdoms and kings.

The pearl is June's jewel. It was an important stone to the ancients for in Italy the moon was held to be an enormous pearl and in India people believed pearls fell with the rain. Its wearer is assured a long and healthy life. The clinging honeysuckle, emblem of devotion, is June's flower.

July's jewel is the queen of jewels, the ruby. People who wear rubies as their birthstone, according to legend, may go anywhere, under any circumstances, and never meet with harm. July's birthflower is the serene waterlily that rides the waves even in turbulent waters.

The ruddy-toned onyx is the birthstone of August and is said to guarantee happiness in marriage for those who are born in August. In ancient Rome, lawyers of the courts wore the onyx to aid their powers of eloquence. The poppy, emblem of consolation, is August's flower. The ancient Greeks believed that Ceres, goddess of the fields, created the poppy to console herself for the loss of her daughter Proserpine.

The sapphire, sometimes called the emblem of sanity and mental and moral well-being, is September's birthstone. The star sapphire, that mystery gem which holds a star, is said to have been worn by history's most glamorous woman, Helen of Troy. The blue of the stone is repeated in the color of September's flower, the morning glory, emblem of cheerfulness.

October's birthstone, the opal, attracts fame and passion, the honor of October's children, but brings bad luck to those who wear it if they are not born in October. October's birth plant is the hop which is considered the emblem of injustice.

The topaz is November's birthstone, its lovely yellow and gold tints matching November's own colors. It was called the divine stone because it was the jewel worn by the gods. It is also said to be an aid to sanctity. The yellow chrysanthemum, emblem of pride and courage is November's birthflower.

December's birthstone is the blue-green turquoise, that symbol of prosperity. The ancient Persians wore it as an amulet to protect them from danger and so did the American Indians as an aid in time of conquest. December's own floral symbol is the Christmas holly, the red berried plant that was hung in homes and churches by the earliest English, because it was the hiding place of the elves.

Remember the old nursery rhyme built around the days of the week? Each day honored one RICKY—Seems to fit this bright-eyed son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lewis, Rt. 4 Dimmitt. This name is an ancient French and German favorite brought into England by the Norman invasion. It comes from the name Richard meaning the rich and hard. King Richard of England, the "Lion Heart" was a knight and a poet who led the Third Crusade to the Holy Land.

MONICA—This name was the favorite of the whole family when it came to naming this little lady. It is derived from the Latin word meaning "The Advisor" honoring Saint Monica, the mother of Saint Augustine. The Irish call it "Morna" meaning soft or gentle. The name was much loved in early Scotland and Ireland as well as in this country where it is sometimes shortened to Mona or Monna. This little girl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Slagle. (Angel Photos)

BRENDA—This little lovely bears a name chosen because her mother had always liked the name. The name is a diminutive of Brenda honoring the Irish Saint who is patron of sailors. The Scots turned it into Briana or Brenna and those who bear the Scotch version are said to have supernatural power. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Burdine, 109 Ave. K.

JAMES—This happy fellow bears his dad's name. It is a form of Jacob and the third most popular name for boys. In the Bible the Patriarch Jacob was the son of Abraham and his sons founded the tribes of Israel. Jimmie and Jamie are derivatives. The kings of Scotland, England and Spain bore this name, which in Hebrew means "The Supplanter." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. M. Wood, 109 Ave. A.

LYNETTE—comes from the Gaelic name "Linne" meaning a waterfall. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clearman, Dimmitt Highway, liked the name and gave it to their youngest. The name has steadily increased in popularity in many forms. Other names derived from Linne are Marylyn, Marilinn and Lynmarie.

JANA-RENE—In every Christian land Jana, from which Jana is derived, is one of the most loved of all names. It is the feminine form of John which means "God is Gracious." RENE comes from Irene meaning peace, in Greek mythology Irene became the goddess of peace and early Christian Greeks took her name in honor of Saint Irene who was empress of Constantinople. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Self, 214 Ave. D.

of the gods and many names can be traced back to these gods. "Monday's child is fair of face, Tuesday's child is full of grace, Wednesday's child is full of woe, Thursday's child has a journey to go, Friday's child is loving and giving, Saturday's child must work for a living, While the child that is born on the Sabbath Day Is blithe and bonny, and sunny and gay." American names come from four main sources - the Greek, Teutonic, Latin and Hebrew and very few people in the United States bear names that are not from one of these sources. Each name has dozens of variants, shortened forms and diminutives, all having the same meaning. For instance, Mary is the most used of all Christian feminine names, honoring the mother of Jesus. A Hebrew name meaning "the bitter" it was brought back from the Holy Land by the Crusaders. Its variants include, Miriam, Marye, Maria, Mara, Mariel, Mariline, Marla, Marya, Molly, Moll, Polly, Poll, Minnie, May, Maynia, Marysia, Marica, Maryal, Marile, Polette, Molone, Mathilda, Marilyn, Marylou, Maryann, Maureen, Manet. MR. AND MRS. ALBERT HIGGINS

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Higgins Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Higgins formerly of Hereford, observed their Golden Wedding Anniversary in their home at Texline last Sunday.

Higgins was born near Gordonville, Grayson County, Tex., Dec. 30, 1881.

Mrs. Higgins was born near Dexter, Cooke County, Tex., Jan. 4, 1885. Their homes were about three miles apart and they both grew up in that vicinity. During the winter of 1902-03, Higgins taught the Dexter School. Salla Jackson was one of his pupils, where she evidently "learned the first rule." They had their first date, the following June 16, when they attended a singing. Their conveyance was a one-horse buggy. They were married Oct. 13, 1907 at 8 p.m. in the Methodist Church building in Dexter by the minister, J. O. Davis.

The hush was packed as the date had been announced some time earlier. They lived in that area where Higgins taught school and farmed until 1914 when they moved to Hereford where Higgins had bought a section of land for $4 per acre in 1905. They sold this and bought a ranch north of Hereford and moved there in 1914. They left Gordonville, Oct. 1, 1914, in two covered wagons with some extra livestock. They had been on the road 17 days when they arrived at their ranch. They lived there 33 years. In 1946 they sold their land holdings in Deaf Smith County and bought ranch holdings in Dallam County near Texline and Union County, N. M.

There were seven children born to them, five of whom are living. They are Garland, who lives in Texline, Noel, Howard and Gordon, who with their families have homes on the ranch; and Wilma, now Mrs. Ernest Sheets, who lives east of Texline. There are 12 grandchildren. All of the family are active members of the Church of Christ.

Open house and a reception were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Higgins, Sunday, Oct. 13, from 2 to 5 p.m. Gold and brown floral arrangements served as decoration throughout the house. A yellow rose corsage and boutonniere were presented to the honorees. Napkins and table centerpiece carried the golden wedding theme. The table was laid with a white lace cloth over gold, appointments were silver and crystal. Serving at the punch bowl and serving cake were Mrs. Noel Higgins, Mrs. Howard Higgins, Mrs. Gordon Higgins, and Mrs. Ernest Sheets. The sons and son-in-law received guests at the door. Donna, Sandra and Caroline assisted at the guest book.

On display were several family pictures and school group pictures dating back as far as 1896; also a few of the love letters written by the honorees more than 50 years ago.

Approximately 150 guests called during the afternoon. Many gifts, flowers, cards, and te, and Marygold.

Under Helen, meaning light, you'll find Eleanore, Eileen and Aileen, Helene, Elaine, Elin, Lana, Lenore and others.

Jane, Jean and Joanna are the common feminine forms of John. Europe began the use of Joanna the name of the holy woman in the Bible, in the 13th Century. Spain made it into Juana and France into Jehanne d'Arc. In every Christian land Jane is one of the most loved of all names. The Scots sang of Bonnie Jean, the Spanish of Juanita, and Shakespeare of Joan. The little bird Jenny Wren, was even named in honor of Jane. Other names listed under Jane having the same meaning are Joan, Johanna, Jonea, Johnnie, Jone, Jonita, Jannah, Janel, Janie, Jennie, Jenica, Janetta, Jenny, Janina, Jennet, Jeanine, Gianna, Janis Yonna, Jackie and Jan, and of course others.

CHARLES comes from the Old High German and means strong or manly. The Teuton emperors were given this name and the mother of Charlemagne gave it to her son who became Charles the Great. The name both as Charles and Carl, became a favorite in England.

Some of the names derived from Charles are Carl, Carroll, Carol, Carle, Charley, Chuck, Chick Kyrie, Karal, Kalle, Carolus, Carlo, Carlino, Carlos, Chariton, Cariton, Chauncey, Cheney and Chester.

JAMES, the Hebrew name meaning "the supplanter" ranks third in popularity of Christian names for boys. King James I of England who ordered the translation of the Bible was but one of the many kings of this name. Other related names are Jacobus, Jacob, Jake, Jaques, Jack, Jocko, James, Jamie, Jemmy, Jem, Jimmy, Jim, Jacqueline, Jachimo, Jaime, Jascha, and the Latin Shamus.

ROBERT, meaning "bright in fame," has many variations. Honoring Saint Robert who founded the first Christian church in the seventh century, it became the surname of kings, dukes and earls in Scotland, and in legend the name had an adventurous meaning for there has been Robinson Crusoe, Robin Hood and Rob Roy. Names stemming from the name include Rupert, Robertus, Robing, Rob, Nob, Nobby, Nod, Noddie, Rod, Bob, Bert, Ruprecht, Roberto, Robbie, Roibin, Robinson, Hobbs, Dobbs, Roderick, and Roy. The Spanish took this old German name and made it one of royalty. Their King Rodrigo carried it into Scotland, Ireland and Wales developing into Broderick, Rodrick and Roddy.

There were over five million babies born in the United States in 1956 and somebody gave each one a name. With a little forethought and diligence in selection, every little newcomer should receive just the right name.

WOMAN SHIPBUILDER

Her Children Are Boats

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (U) — Like the ships she builds, Margerite Grebe is proof that a man is a fool to doubt the abilities of a woman.

She is president of a ship-building firm that specializes in designing and building modern cruising yachts. She inherited the post from her husband, Henry C. Grebe, who died five years ago.

The couple acquired the firm 36 years ago in Milwaukee, Grebe's home town. It was moved to Chicago and its present site on the North Branch of the Chicago River in 1924.

"It was a mud hole," says Mrs. Grebe.

The Grebes worked hard to build their shipbuilding company. One of their first customers was Philip K. Wrigley who ordered a yacht built to his specifications.

Since then the shipyard has turned out scores of luxury class motor cruisers. During World War II, the firm built mine sweepers, Navy tankers and tugs.

Handling a man's job and 60 men employees is a woman-sized task that Margerite Grebe has accomplished with a woman's keen insight. The fact that her firm is one of the few custom boatbuilders still operating in the United States is due to her ability to hold skilled craftsmen who have been with the firm since it started in 1921.

Her shipyard superintendent, Ben Volkman, is one of these, as well as Joe Drobeck, head of the mechanical and electrical department.

"She is very enthusiastic," says Volkman. "You can't chill her spirits. She is a very good boss."

Says Mrs. Grebe: "I'm just in her pitching. It's so wonderful to do something important: You might say that my whole heart and soul is in it. I have no children, and you've got to do something constructive. If you don't you'll die on the vine. Isn't that true?"

Therein is the secret of her ability to get along with men. She presents herself as a friend who is interested in their viewpoint and their problems. As refined and delicate as her snowwhite hair, she does not carry her burdens lightly.

"I feel responsible for all these men. We go back many years. I know their families. We are all good friends," she says.

Mrs. Grebe is at the shipyard every day, including Sundays. She personally acquires and signs the orders for the ships, is present when the keel is laid for a new ship and supervises the christening and launching ceremonies.

One of her recent ships — a 73-footer — was built for O. A. Sutton of Wichita, Kan., for use in Florida and Bahamas waters. The shipyard completed four large motor yachts last year. Two are on the ways now — a 47 and 65-footer. It requires six months to complete a ship.

Mrs. Grebe appraises each completed ship with mixed feelings. She says:

"It's almost like a child you see growing and blossoming. When she's finished and painted, you say, 'Isn't she beautiful!'"

ON THE HOUSE

Insulation May Cut Your Heating Bills

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE

AP Newsfeatures PERHAPS MORE THAN any other factor, insulation — or the lack of it — will determine the size of your fuel bills this winter.

An adequately insulated house not only loses less heat through the walls and roof, it also can be heated comfortably with a smaller heating plant.

Storm windows and doors also will increase savings in fuel bills. Most homes being built today have proper insulation. It is an important item to check before you buy your house.

If your home was not built, say, during the last 15 years or so and you think your fuel bills are too high, its insulation is the starting point on a check list to find out why fuel dollars are being wasted.

Other factors, too, play an important role in heating costs. The larger a house, naturally, the more room volume there is to be heated — and, consequently, more fuel will be required.

THE TYPE OF construction varies heating bills, too. Some building materials offer higher resistance to the weather and are more effective in keeping heat inside a house. A brick building may hold its heat better than some types of frame dwellings.

A house with large glass areas and many windows may lose more heat than a house with fewer windows.

Quality heating equipment is no luxury. It may save many dollars in heating bills over the years. Therefore, don't shop for "bargain" heating plants.

On this point, the Better Heating-Cooling Council, which speaks for the heating industry, has this to say:

"POOR EFFICIENCY and higher fuel bills usually result when the heating plant is of poor quality or if the heating system is improperly installed. This situation frequently occurs when a homeowner gets a 'bargain' from his heating contractor or builder."

The council then adds: "Also, operating expense may be lower with a heating system that continues to provide heat when the thermostat calls for an intermittent time out. Heat may dissipate rapidly from some heating systems, causing frequent on-and-off periods which lead to higher fuel bills. Hot water heating systems overcome this particular problem, however, because of the heat-retaining power of water."

A question frequently asked by homeowners is this:

"How much should it cost to heat my house?"

IT IS VIRTUALLY impossible to set a flat average for fuel bills. Costs of different fuels vary widely from one region of the country to another. Actual fuel prices may be set by local competition.

Fuel prices also may vary because of the expense involved in distribution and the distance of a particular community from the fuel's natural source.

About the only test of over-all operating cost is one of comparison. It cannot be wholly accurate but it can provide a rough measurement. The Better Heating-Cooling Council offers this advice:

"First, find several homes in your community similar to yours in age, size, construction and price range. These test homes must all be heated by the same type of system (hot water, steam or warm air) as yours. They must use the same fuel (oil, gas or coal).

sumption with the owners of the test homes in terms of volume and cost, and take an average. If your costs run close to the average, your system is operating with reasonable economy. If there is an appreciable difference, and it's not in your favor, get in touch with your local heating contractor. Chances are he will pay you back for his charges with reduced fuel bills."

Texas' first telephone was installed in the Galveston News plant on March 18, 1878. World's largest lumber mill is at Lewiston, Idaho.

Beacham's Musical Lollipops Send Customers Home Happy

By HUGH MULLIGAN

NO ONE WOULD have suspected it but for many years now, the terrible-tempered Sir Thomas Beecham, conductor of the Royal Philharmonic, has been sending out lollipops to his concert audiences.

Beecham distributes his lollipops for the same reason a barber does — to send his customers home happy, contented and anxious to return for more. His, however, are musical rather than an edible variety.

As Beecham himself defines it, his lollipops are musical sweets served up as encores at the end of a concert to restore the equilibrium of the audience. If the main piece on the program has a grand slam bang ending, then Beecham selects an encore of "an essentially syrupy, soapy, soothing and even soporific nature" to becalm his listeners. On the other hand, if the concert has a quiet ending, he says, "the character of the lollipop suffers a slight change and the former tranquilizer is replaced by something of a more genial type."

The lollipops served up on Beecham's baton have been brightly packaged by Angel Records for distribution during the Christmas season. The flavors range from sweet to spicy, from Debussy's "Afternoon of a Faun" and Berlioz' "Dance of the Sylphs" to Von Suppe's explosive "Poet and Peasant Overture," and the Royal Hunt and Storm from Berlioz' "The Trojans." All make for delicious listening.

Without using Beecham's lollipop term, many record companies have been successfully catering to the sweet tooth of hi-fi fans with musical confections played by major orchestras and symphonies have figured prominently in the assortment, prompted no doubt by the stunning success of Mercury's recording of the Tchaikovsky "1812 Overture," one of the finest hi-fi records ever made.

Recent and outstanding recordings in this diversifying field include: "Overture," a Capitol album with Felix Slatkin and the Holly-

Columbia's album of overtures by Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra. The selections include the William Tell overture, Smentana's overture to "The Bartered Bride," Von Suppe's "The Beautiful Galatea" and a spirited, explosive performance of Offenbach's overture to "Orpheus in the Underworld," known more popularly as the "can-can overture."

Angel devotes a whole album to Franz Von Suppe, the overture king, with Henry Krips and the Philharmonia Promenade Orchestra handing out the lollipops.

In the same light concert vein, Design Records offers D'Artega conducting a "Pop Concert in Carnegie Hall," with selections ranging from Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," featuring piano soloist Rosa Linda, to the tone poem "Caves of Granada" by Rebekah Harkness, one of the outstanding women composers in the world. D'Artega, handling the orchestra with deft artistry, is given an added assist by the engineering staff which managed a frequency limit from a low of 16 to a high of 25,000 cycles per second.

Stuffed Fish Fillets Tasty Dish

PLAIN FISH FILLETS go fancy when you stuff them with bread crumbs and vegetables.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

ALL OUR TASTE-TESTERS ENJOYED fresh flounder fillets when we baked them with a breadcrumb stuffing. Grated carrot and chopped celery and onion are the vegetables that go into the stuffing, so choose green peas or snap beans or a crisp green salad to accompany this dish.

If there should be any of the stuffed fillets leftover, remove them carefully with a wide spatula to a small baking dish, cover it with foil and refrigerate; next day heat in a very hot oven. We save the oblong aluminum foil pans from ready-cooked frozen foods and use them for storing and reheating.

SUFFED FISH FILLETS

Ingredients: 1/2 c. butter or margarine, 1 1/2 cups finely grated carrot, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 1/2 cup finely chopped onion, 2 cups (4 slices bread including crusts) fresh bread crumbs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon white pepper, 1/4 teaspoon dried crumbled thyme, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 8 fresh flounder fillets (about 2 pounds), paprika.

Method: Reserve 1 tablespoon of the butter; melt the remaining butter in a 10-inch skillet. Add the grated carrot, chopped celery and onion. Cook gently, stirring occasionally, until partly tender — about 10 minutes. Add the bread crumbs, salt, pepper, thyme and lemon juice; mix well. Arrange 4 of the fish fillets in a baking pan so they cover the bottom; a pan that is about 8 by 12 inches is a good size. Spoon the stuffing evenly over the fish; cover with remaining fillets. Sprinkle fish with paprika. Dot with remaining tablespoon of butter. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 40 to 45 minutes — until fish is opaque through and flakes easily. Baste several times with butter that drips down. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Frozen fish fillets may be used in this recipe if they are thawed first. Perch would be a good variety to choose.

After the group ate the regular business meeting took place. Roll call was answered with ideas of mending and patching.

Members present were Mesdames R. A. Fullwood, S. S. Williams, Nellie Slaton, Mary Flowers, Ada Hollabaugh, Ethel Layman, Lovie Creig, Ruby Moody and the hostess, Ola Hacker.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. S. S. Williams on Nov. 5.

Beauty At Home

Q. How is a girl supposed to know whether or not to wear full evening dress for a particular social affair?

A. Usually the form of the invitation will dictate the manner of dress. Sometimes the word "formal" will be printed or engraved on the invitation. If the invitation is issued personally or by telephone, the hostess should state the type of dress expected. If you are uncertain, it is always better to ask than to be unhappy after you arrive because you are out of step with the others present.

Q. What is the usually recommended manner of brushing the hair?

A. Part the hair into strips about an inch wide and six inches long. Hold that strip high with the left hand, and with the right hand place the brush bristles close to the roots and let them sweep up through the strand to the ends. Repeat five or six times, then take another strip. This is a good way to encourage more gloss in your tresses.

Q. Just what is eyeshadow supposed to do for one's eyes?

A. It makes your eyes deeper, brighter, bigger-looking. But the trick is to make the eyeshadow look natural, and not scream for public attention. Its name of "shadow" means just that — it should be a faint trace, and nothing more. Q. Please suggest a quick and easy treatment for dry hair.

A. A few drops of olive oil, added to the regular liquid soap shampoo, is a big help.

Q. What causes corns and foot calluses?

A. Usually, shoes that are too tight. Wear well-fitted shoes. A bad corn will stay with you for life, reappearing periodically on the slightest provocation. So don't take any corn lightly now. Put pads on them while they are young, and visit a chiropodist if they refuse to leave you.

Q. Does it make any difference, when one is trying to reduce, how the daily intake of calories is divided up among the three meals?

A. No. Just be sure to hold your daily intake to not more than 1,400 calories. Most women reduce successfully, and without discomfort, on about 1,200 daily calories.

Q. What is important for the youthful appearance of a middle-aged face?

A. Through deft application of makeup, to maintain the upward curve of the eyebrows and lips. Your best help here is a photo-

DECEPTIVE WOMAN

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — No sooner had a frantic mother telephoned city police reporting the disappearance of her little girl than the police had a new problem on their hands: To find the parents of a boy found wandering alone on Knoxville streets.

After trying to entertain the boy for about three hours, the officers received another phone call from the mother of the lost girl.

"I forgot to tell you," said the woman, "that Peggy might be mistaken for a boy."

Doing a double take, officers decided that Peggy, indeed, might. The jeans-clad, crew-cut found "boy" turned out to be the "lost" girl.

TEDDY BEAR MAN

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — R. A. McLean, known in these parts as Ohio's "Teddy Bear Man," has distributed more than 10,000 teddy bears to hospitalized children.

Since the early part of 1952, McLean has helped make boys and girls a little happier while they are convalescing in hospitals.

McLean himself was hospitalized for some time as a boy.

Hundreds of persons in northwestern Ohio contribute to the project and McLean also obtains funds through the redemption of sales tax stamps.

Keeper of Great Seal Has Complicated Job

KEEPER OF THE SEAL—Mrs. Clydia Mae Richardson, chief of the presidential commissions branch of the State Department, presses the Great Seal of the United States to an important government document. She has been keeper of the seal since 1943.

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — To Mrs. Clydia Mae Richardson the Great Seal of the United States is second only to our flag in symbolizing the "sacred heritage of this country and its great strength and vision."

This little woman, born and raised in Highmore, S. D., has been the dedicated keeper of the seal since 1943. The seal is affixed to proclamations of the President, ratifications of treaties, the commissions of members of the Cabinet, and of American ambassadors, ministers and foreign service officers, and to certain other documents.

All the above documents must first be signed by the President and the secretary of state before the design is impressed on a paper wafer which has been glued to the document.

Celebration of the earliest impression of the seal, 175 years ago, was observed recently in the mezzanine of the State Department building where the original Great Seal, with its press and cabinet, are housed in a glass cabinet.

As chief of the presidential commissions branch of the titles and commissions staff of the State Department, Mrs. Richardson's job is a complicated one.

When Congress is in session, the section prepares the nomination of a government official on a handsome handwritten form which is signed by the President.

A presidential secretary then takes it up to the Senate. The secretary of the Senate takes it to the president of the Senate, who interrupts Senate business to announce that a message has been received from the President of the United States.

When the nomination is confirmed, another paper called a "Senate resolution" is drawn up and stamped by the White House and State Department where it is filed. A commission is prepared, equally beautifully engrossed, again sent from State Department to White House and back, for the secretary of state's countersignature. Finally the seal is affixed.

Mrs. Richardson has the sole privilege of using the keys to open the locks guarding the seal. Accompanied by two aides, she first unlocks the doors to the doors to the glass room. She uses two keys to unlock the cherrywood cabinet in which the seal is kept. Then she unlocks the press and finally the special lock on the seal itself. The keys are locked in a safe when not in use.

"My work is far from hum-drum," Mrs. Richardson said. "Every time I swing the arms of the press into position, and impress the Great Seal of the United States on an official document, I feel that I am taking part in the making of history and the progress of this nation.

"For me the seal has great spiritual significance — a great reminder of what the Lord has given us."
