300 Need Food Here

Father Raymond Gillis of St. Joseph's Mission at the Labor Camp has appealed for public donations of food to help feed more than 300 persons who are without money and depending on charity.

FATHER GILLIS said the mission has been feeding some of the families since December, when farm work in the area halted. Bad weather has kept new field work from beginning this year.

"We need help to feed these people. We are short of money ourselves," Father Gillis said. He said donations of food could be brought to the mission or left at the rear of St. Anthony's Church in town.

SISTER CHRISTINA is in charge of distributing the food. She said flour, lard or shortening, coffee, pinto beans and coffee are the basic items needed. Milk and sugar are needed for children, she said.

"Father Raymond has been spending his own money to buy cheap flour and lard wholesale in Clovis and Amarillo," she said. Sister Christina said she investigates each family requesting food and only those who are without income are given food. SHE SAID the mission is feeding more than 30 families and most of the families have 10 to 15 members. She said five families from Hereford have gone to the camp for food.

"These people come to us for food and we try to keep them living," she said.

Weather Blamed Largely for Deaf Smith Unemployment

Deaf Smith County now has between 150 and 200 persons unemployed, but 80 per cent of them can go to work if the area gets two weeks of dry weather according to Pat Patterson of the Texas Unemployment Commission.

MAKING PLANS—Members of the Hereford Boosters met Thursday morning and outlined plans for the city's first "Main Street Community Showcase." More than 40 business people attended the session. Irvin Alexander, standing, suggested the promotion and is chairman of the stirring committee. The event will be held Saturday between 2 and 4 p.m. Every business in the city is expected to have merchandise exhibits between 2nd and 5th Streets. (Staff Photo)

City's Main Street Turns Real Showcase Saturday

Hereford's Main Street will turn into an actual showcase next Saturday, complete with living models and, for a few hours anyway, the "mall plan" will be in effect, which is something larger cities over the nation have been trying to bring about for a number of years.

first "Community Main Street Showcase."

Plans call for merchandise to be exhibited anywhere and anyhow along the main thoroughfare by every merchant in the entire community. Automobile and implement dealers will have vehicles parked in the middle of the street. Merchants not located on Main Street will have exhibits on the sidewalks.

Suggestions of "old time walking stews" for cafes have been made, along with live models on the sidewalks as well as in the windows.

Decision to hold the project was made Thursday morning during a special meeting of the Hereford boosters, composed of business people in the city. More than 40 people were present, which was the largest turnout in the organization's history, denoting the interest of the business people.

The plan was actually proposed by Irvin Alexander at a booster meeting the previous week. Alexander, Mrs. Bess Moore and J. R. "Monk" Johnson were appointed to the stirring committee.

The event is scheduled to officially begin at 2 p.m. and is supposed to end at 4 p.m., but talk has already been brought out by businessmen that it might continue longer, should the size of the crowd

Deep Test Well Site Remains Undecided

LOCATION OF the Deaf Smith County Deep Test Well hangs on the return of Bill Broadhurst, hydrologist from Lubbock who is on the location committee along with George Turrentine and J. T. Sims. Broadhurst is presently traveling over the country on official business concerning other deep well operations in the nation.

One report reached Virgil Dodson, of Hereford, who is chairman of the county Deep Test Well committee, that local people who will be contacted for donations are questioning the location on the Bill Salmon farm, seven miles east of Hereford.

"I think it would be the settlements of one over another which would decide," Dodson said. "After all, the people are furnishing the money. If anyone prefers one over another, we would certainly like to find out the reason. They can contact me or any of the location committeemen."

The Salmon land is only a few miles from the V. J. Owens farm which already has a well about 900 feet deep and is producing water that tested 96 to 98 per cent bicarbonate of soda when it was first drilled about three years ago, and again last year.

Two weeks of sunbath would solve the biggest part of our unemployment problem here," Patterson said. "Most of the people out of work say they have jobs on the farms when the fields dry out," he added.

PATTERSON SAID a few people here have been laid off due to the current national economic recession. He also noted that Hereford has a few transients who have been laid off in other areas.

"But most of the unemployed are looking for something to tide them over until they can get into the fields," Patterson said. Since (Continued On Page 2)

Bad Accounts Discussed by Hospital Mgr.

At the regular monthly meeting Thursday night of the Deaf Smith County Hospital board of trustees, hospital manager T. E. Seigler read a list of 23 cases, explaining the background on each, which had been taken in during the past two months and were considered doubtful payers.

Seigler told the board members the 23 cases involved a total expense to the hospital of $7,700.

"I'm not bringing this up to cry on your shoulders," Seigler said, "I just wanted you all to be aware of the situation here and to know that we are trying to keep the hospital operating in the black."

Not all of the cases taken in during the two-month period which are considered bad risks were explained, but all except one of the 23 he read had bills amounting to more than $100.

ELLIS COOMBS, Seigler announced, has been hired as bill collector for the hospital, starting at a salary of $225 per month plus seven cents a mile car expenses. Seigler told the board, however, that the bill collector must turn in at least twice his salary each month to be retained.

A one-year contract was voted to be re-negotiated with Dr. M. W. Nobles as official hospital radiologist. The contract calls for a salary of 29 per cent of the X-ray income, although he read had bills amounting to had been deducted.

THE BOARD VOTED to purchase the same type of furniture for the obstetrics department as is now in the pediatrics department. Seigler estimates the cost will be approximately $500 for each of the seven rooms.

Money for the new furniture was raised by the Medical Auxiliary from Christmas card sales, and the La Madra Mia Study Club. Admissions for the month of February, according to the monthly report of the hospital, were: medical, 76; surgical, 23; O. B. 22; accident, 1; dental, 0; births, 20; deaths, 5; out patients, 285.

Census Reflects Religious Data

Church-going is a regular part of life in Hereford and Deaf Smith County, judging by data taken from a recent religious preference survey conducted by the Hereford Ministerial Alliance.

The Alliance conducted a household survey, asking which church each family attends or prefers. The results then were broken down and given to each pastor.

FIGURES FOR NINE of Hereford's 16 churches have been made available to The Brand and they show that 4,271 persons are members of those nine churches and 1,100 regularly attend services. The survey showed only 120 persons in the county with no religious preference at all. Results of the poll, church by church, are as follows: First Christian Church, 300 resident members, 175 regular attendance; Wesley Methodist, 98 resident members, 64 regular attendance; Central Church of Christ, 260 resident members, 375 regular attendance; First Presbyterian Church, 300 resident members, 250 regular attendance; Temple Baptist Church, 250 resident members, unknown regular attendance; St. Anthony's Catholic Church, 230 families are resident members, 1,050 regular attendance; First Baptist Church, 1,046 resident they knew in congress that the price of grain sorghum be frozen at least at the same level as in 1957. "If we could get it at the '58 level, it would be a little bit better," he added.

Price support in 1957 was $1.75, and three cents higher the previous year.

Thursday, the Senate voted 50-43 to freeze farm price supports for 1958. The bill, which now goes to the House, would freeze federal supports under most major farm products and crops, including dairy products, at no less than last year's levels, according to a story released by The Associated Press.

PEELER'S APPEAL to the local milo producers was to urge congressmen in Washington to override President Eisenhower's veto of the bill, which was forecast by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

The AP story quoted Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas as calling for passage of the measure as a means of halting a seven-year decline in farm income.

Peeler also told the members a new president would have to be elected for the Association Monday at the district meeting in Plainview, explaining he thought new blood should be brought into the administration.

The Hereford farmer has already made two trips to the nation's capitol this year, and said he or someone should be there "right now because of the bill now before congress."

General manager of the Association, Bill Nelson of Amarillo, made a report to the organization on his recent trip to the USDA research laboratory in Peoria, Ill., telling of the research being done on grain sorghums.

Nelson said there has already been great strides made in finding new usages for milo in industry, and that work was actually just beginning in the milo research field.

The Association granted $3,000 to the Halfway agriculture research farm at Renner last year for work on improvement of the crop. "I'm quite sure we could get a USDA research laboratory right here in the Panhandle area, probably at Texas Tech, if the school would take on the responsibility, donate a site, which would all have to be approved and accepted by the government," Nelson told the members after the regular meeting.

Though the date has not yet been set, Hanna announced a directors' meeting would be held "in the very near future."

Weather...

Jan. 1 of this year Hereford and Deaf Smith County have had more than four inches of moisture, delaying plowing and planting.

Patterson said about 75 persons are drawing unemployment compensation. The pay provides $28 per week for a maximum of 24 weeks. "Of course the figure drawing the money changes every day. Some get work and some move on and some are added to the list," Patterson said.

One local office manager said Thursday he had received more requests for employment during the past 90 days than during any other similar length of time in the past three years, and added he had averaged interviewing two people a day.

Nationally, more than five million persons in all kinds of work are unemployed. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, farm employment is down three per cent for the same period last year. The USDA said a total of 5,439,000 persons were employed on farms during the last week in February, the lowest number on record for that time of year.

The department said the decline was due to bad weather across the nation and a smaller number of family workers.

IN LUBBOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Petersen and children of Lubbock visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Petersen, and other relatives over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Estes have returned from Bryan where they visited their son, Captain Clifford Estes, and his family. Captain Estes had just returned from a two year stay in Korea.

we're concerned, the only advantage in having the well so close to the Owens well, would be information of having a deep well close to another. No place in the state are there two deep wells close enough, as far as Bill (Broadhurst) knows.

"We do know there is definite interference between wells in the Ogallala level," Dodson continued, "That's the reason we have spacing between these higher level wells. Spacing is: four-inch wells, 200 yards; five-inch, 250 yards; six-inch, 300 yards, eight-inch, 400 yards, and 10-inch or larger a minimum of 440 yards."

Dodson explained the information, should Salmon's farm be selected as site for the deep test well, would be highly valuable for future wells not only here in this county, but elsewhere.

About using water with a high content of bicarbonate of soda on crops (Owens mixes his with Ogallala-level water), Dodson said Canyon, where the water tested 88 per cent, had been using it water on lawns, or had used it, for some time.

Canyon has a well about 600 feet deep, which is below the red beds there, which is about 25 to 30 years old. No reports of injury to lawns has been reported, as far as the local well committee has learned. Location of the Deep Test Well in Deaf Smith is to be decided by the location committee, which has a choice between farms owned by Salmon and Carroll Newsom, five miles southeast of Hereford.

THE FIELD was narrowed to the remaining pair at the last committee meeting, two weeks ago.

At the meeting, Dodson told the committee "I think a farmer ought to figure on paying a minimum of between $13,000 and possibly up to $18,000 for the well. You'll never get another well drilled and cased as cheap as this one, though."

Gerald McCaskill and Virgil Henen were appointed during the meeting by Dodson to head the fund drive committee, saying they could start at anytime they felt ready on their collections.

The "mall plan" will enable downtown visitors to walk anywhere within the three-block area without hindrance of moving vehicles and stop lights.

Music will be furnished, probably at the intersection of 3rd and Main Streets, by the Hereford High School swing band, under the direction of Charles Bell.

Prosperity will be the theme of the event, with a slant on opening the Easter season shopping for clothes and displays of the newest in modern appliances, vehicles; working equipment and tools, hair styles and everything else in the business world.

According to Highway Patrolman Kenneth Maxwell, both vehicles were going west when Kuper turned left as Mrs. Meador started to pass him.

Kuper was cited for changing direction without a proper signal. Damage to the Meador car was estimated at $500 and $150 to Kuper's auto.

STOLEN SNOWMAN

ABSECON, N. J. — Somebody stole Joyce Chivette's snowman. Joyce, 11, built the six-foot snowman in her yard. It was still there when she got up the next morning but had disappeared when she returned from school later in the day.

Just how somebody managed to pilfer the snowman remains a mystery but Joyce is convinced it didn't melt. The temperature never got above freezing all day.

SURPRISE

PINE BLUF, Ark. — Patrolman Billy Kesterson parked his car some distance from the police station, reported in and got on his motorcycle to start his rounds.

He heard on his motorcycle radio a report that an automobile had plowed into a parked car, but since another patrolman was being dispatched to the scene Kesterson didn't worry about it — not until he got back to headquarters and found that the wrecked car belonged to him.

How Can I?

Q. What can I do with a pair of white fabric gloves that are turning yellow?

A. The gloves can be made a popular sand color by tinting them with coffee or tea.

Q. How can I make mock goose?

A. Parboil a leg of pork and remove the skin. Then rub with butter and sprinkle with salt, pepper, powdered sage, bread crumbs, and minced onion. Roast in a moderate oven. A well-seasoned bread dressing can be baked in the pan with the pork. Serve with fried apples.

Q. How can I easily draw threads for hemstitching?

A. The drawing of threads in hemstitching will be simplified if they are first gone over with a wet brush that has been rubbed over a bar of soap.

Stock Larder with Pineapple Cake

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
IT'S FUN to achieve a goal with a recipe. We like the pineapple upsidedown cake put up by a well-known food organization that has a chain of restaurants featuring American-type food. Their dessert has excellent texture and flavor, comes in baked frozen form so that it needs only re-heating, is packed in small foil pans and makes two generous portions.

SUPERB PINEAPPLE UPSIDEDOWN cake can be served at once or stored in its baking pan in the refrigerator or freezer for later use.

With this dessert as a model, we worked out our own recipe so that the cake could be made at home and put in the freezer, ready for unexpected company. Naturally this dessert is less expensive when it is made at home than when it is bought and this recipe produces a reasonable facsimile of the original ready-baked frozen dessert. So if you have more time than money, you might like to try this recipe.

SMALL PINEAPPLE UPSIDEDOWN CAKES

Ingredients: 1 can (1 pound and 4 ounces) sliced pineapple, 4 tablespoons butter, 1/2 cup firmly-packed dark brown sugar, 1 teaspoon Angostura bitters, 1 1/2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 cup butter or margarine, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 large egg, 1/2 cup milk, 4 or 8 maraschino cherries (drained).

Method: Turn pineapple into a strainer to drain well. Put 1 tablespoon butter into each of 4 small foil baking pans (6 by 4 1/2 inches across the top and 1 1/2 inches deep); place over very low heat until the butter melts; remove holder. Put 2 tablespoons dark brown sugar and 1/4 teaspoon bitters in each pan; mix well and spread evenly. Sift together the cake flour, baking powder and salt. Cream 1/4 cup butter, the granulated sugar and vanilla together with electric mixer; beat in egg thoroughly. Stir in sifted dry ingredients in four additions alternately with milk; begin and end with flour. Turn the batter over the four prepared pans; there will be about 1/2 cup batter for each pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 25 to 30 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean and tops are lightly browned. If desserts are to be served at once, run a spatula around the sides of cake to loosen and turn out on flat surface. Insert a half or a whole maraschino cherry in center of each pineapple ring. If desserts are not to be served at once, place pans on a cake rack to cool. Cover tops with foil and store in refrigerator or freezer. To reheat place desserts in pans, uncovered, in hot (425 degrees) oven for 10 minutes or until hot through, then remove as previously directed. If a little of the brown sugar mixture sticks to the pan on removal, scrape up with a small spatula and spread on pineapple. Makes 8 large servings. If desired, the desserts may be topped with whipped cream.

Casual Living Cutting Down Clothes Sales

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The trend toward more casual living is cutting down the percentage of the family dollar going into apparel. According to Athelene Scheid, clothing specialist at University of Minnesota's Institute of Agriculture, expenditure for clothing by both urban and farm families has declined about 8 per cent in the last nine years.

With more of the family money going into home ownership, Miss Scheid reports, many families are merely replacing articles of clothing rather than increasing their wardrobes.

Price increases for clothing have been light during the last five years, she adds, compared to those for other goods and services. The consumer price index for apparel rose less than 1 per cent in the past year, while prices for family living as a whole rose 3.4 per cent. An exception, however, was footwear — which increased 11.7 per cent in the past five years.

Miss Scheid forecasts another increase in shoe prices in 1958. Prices of girls' and women's apparel are expected to remain about the same, but most men's and boys' clothing probably will be more expensive, she says.

Increased labor costs, Miss Scheid continues, may result in fewer manufacturers producing lower-priced lines of women's coats and suits, with selling emphasis on higher-priced merchandise.

Young Escapees Jailed in Adrian

By MRS. R. L. PINNELL
Three Oklahoma youths were arrested in Adrian Monday and sent back to Frederick and Grandfield, Okla., Thursday to face charges of stealing four automobiles.

The teen-agers, ranging from 14 to 17 years old, were escapees from an honor farm at Durant, Okla., and had abandoned their fourth stolen car just outside Adrian when it broke down Sunday night.

Highway Patrolman Harold Wheeler saw the abandoned car and, thinking he would help the owners, went into Adrian looking for them. He went to a cafe and asked if anyone had seen the owners of an abandoned car.

The boys were in the cafe at the time and sneaked out and went to an empty house owned by W. W. Richardson. They spent the night there.

Patrolman Wheeler then checked the license plates of the car and discovered it had been stolen.

He then spread the word around town to be on the lookout for the boys.

Monday morning they went to Carroll Grulhkey's service station and while they were in the rest room Grulhkey called the Vega police and Wheeler came to Adrian and picked the boys up. They spent Monday through Wednesday in Oldham County jail at Vega and then were taken to Vernon Thursday by Sheriff Day Thompson and turned over to Oklahoma officers.

The kind of break Eddie had re- quired that the leg be held in traction until the bones knit together. That means the foot and lower

I explained this to Eddie's father and made all the arrangements for Eddie to go to the orthopedic hospital. I put a temporary splint on the leg and the father, still quite shaken up, took the child to the hospital, where the leg was x-rayed, then set and the necessary traction applied. The break was clean, it would heal well in time and Eddie would in the long run be as good as new. When a child's leg is in traction he must of course stay in bed — he cannot get about with that much apparatus attached to one leg!

Next day the doctor at the hospital called me in great distress. Eddie's father had come to the hospital and insisted upon taking the boy home. A hospital is not a jail; you cannot keep a patient against his will, nor a child against the will of his parents. Doctors can advise strongly against removing the patient, can make the responsible person sign a statement that he is removing the patient against medical advice, but more than that we doctors cannot do.

The father belonged to a religious cult that did not believe in medical care nor in hospitals.

Chili Lightens Cleaning Tasks

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
SPRING housecleaning isn't the gigantic job it used to be — thanks to modern electrical appliances that clean up well all the year around. But there are still closets that have to be gone through, refrigerator coils that need vacuuming and other big chores to be done.

Serving supper can be easy on the day you devote to such tasks if you prepare a dish that can be made ahead and re-heated. Here's a recipe for chili con carne, for instance, that improves by being kept overnight in the refrigerator; you have only to reheat it slowly when you want to serve it. This, by the way, is the "soupy" sort of chili that should be served in soup bowls with a tablespoon and a fork; ladle it over steamed rice if you like, or accompany it with crisp crackers.

You can also make your life easy by serving supper on paper plates, in paper bowls and cups. With the chili offer a salad of greens and carrot and French dressing.

SOUP-DISH CHILI CON CARNE
Ingredients: 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1 cup finely chopped onion, 2 large garlic cloves (crushed), 1 pound ground chuck beef, 1 can (1 pound and 12 ounces) tomatoes, 1 can (1 pound) red kidney beans, 1/4 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin, chili powder, salt, pepper.

Method: Melt butter in 12-inch deep skillet over low heat. Add onion and garlic and cook slowly, stirring often, for about 10 minutes. Add beef and cook over high heat, mashing with a fork to separate into particles, until meat loses its red color. Add tomatoes and kidney beans (including liquid in both cans), sugar, ground cumin and chili powder, salt and pepper to taste. If you like chili mild, add the chili powder by teaspoons; if you like a hot dish, add it by tablespoons. Cover and simmer about 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Refrigerate in covered container. Reheat very slowly about 1 hour before serving, stirring occasionally. Serve in soup plates over steamed rice or with crisp crackers. Makes 6 servings.

When he saw his injured little boy his fear won out over his religion and he brought the child to me. However, later, when he realized his boy would not die, his religious beliefs took over.

I went to Eddie's home to try to convince the father to let us cure his child. Eddie was lying in bed whimpering, his leg hurt now that the traction was removed and the broken fragments of bone rubbed against each other.

The father was adamant, he would not let Eddie return to the hospital. He would care for him at home with prayer. "I did everything — I could think of. Was there any way we could force this man?" I talked with the state health officer, with the medical society, but we had no weapon but moral suasion and that didn't work.

Eventually Eddie's leg healed but it was crooked. It is shorter now than his left leg, and as he grows it will be increasingly shorter than the unbroken leg. Eddie is doomed for life to lameness.

If Eddie had had smallpox or anything that would endanger others we could have forced his remaining in the hospital, but since the only damage was to Eddie himself, we could not protect him. Has the parent the moral right to do this to his child?

3 Women to Visit Homes in Germany

Mrs. Agnes Funk has made reservations on the S. S. United States Liner to sail on March 27 for Germany, but she also will carry with her a permit for re-entry in the United States.

She will return to her birthplace near Frankfurt, Germany, and will visit three sons, a daughter and a sister and all the places she loved so well, but Germany isn't home to her now since she has spent the past four years here with a daughter, Mrs. George Brasher, who was the first German war bride in Hereford.

Mrs. Funk wants to make Hereford her home and plans to get her citizenship papers as soon after her return as possible. Her visa is good for two years, but she thinks she may get her visit over before then.

She will be accompanied by two good friends, both formerly of Germany, Mrs. William Wulff, Rt. 3, of Hereford and Mrs. Frische of Umbarger.

The trio will leave Amarillo on March 24 and will spend a day sightseeing in New York City. They will arrive in Le Harve, France, on April 1 and will visit in Paris and Nevers before going to Lourdes where they will spend two days at the Centennial Celebration of the Shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes, where an estimated six million pilgrims from all parts of the world will take part in marking the anniversary of Our Lady's apparitions to St. Bernadette Soubirous. The Catholic Travel League of New York alone will conduct 40 pilgrimages to the shrine in France.

Then the trio will go back to Paris to go their separate ways. Mrs. Funk will go to Butzbach, Germany, and to her daughter's farm near there. Her son Heinz lives in Frankfurt, Carl lives in Offenbach and Joseph lives in Hofelms. She will also be seeing several grandchildren for the first time. Before returning home the three women will also make a tour of Switzerland, Italy and Luxembourg together.

Mrs. Agnes Funk, mother of Mrs. George Brasher of Hereford, points to Frankfurt, Germany, on the globe and exhibits her ship reservations for her trip to her former home. Mrs. Funk will board the S. S. United States in New York on March 27, her 69th birthday. (Staff Photo)

Music Study Club Observes Texas Day in Program

"Texas Day" was observed in a program presented at the Music Study Club meeting Monday afternoon. Mrs. R. P. Coneway served as hostess for the meeting which was held in the home of Mrs. Paul Coneway.

Mrs. A. O. Thompson, leader of the program, gave the setting for musical numbers on the program telling how the foundation of musical culture in Texas was laid by early settlers, mentioning the early German immigrants who settled in groups in Austin, La Grange, San Antonio, New Braunfels, Fredericksburg and Marble Falls. She told of Texas composers and gave something of their background and type of music. Included were Adolf Fuschs who taught in one of Texas' oldest girls' school, Baylor College, established at Independence while Texas was still a republic; Texas' first native composer, Oscar Fox; David Guion who was born in Ballinger; William J. Marsh, composer of the state song "Texas Our Texas," and many others.

NEW MEMBERS WELCOMED AT CLUB MEETING

Two new members were welcomed when a meeting of the Lone Star Study Club was held Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Joe Kendall. They were Mrs. Baker Womble and Mrs. Norman Moore.

Mrs. Charlie Sowell presented an interesting program on "Our Daily Poison" written by Leonard Wickenden.

She said, in part, "This book tells of the effects of DDT, flourides, hormones and other chemicals on man and animals. The use of DDT for spraying foods has resulted in the increase of diseases such as hepatitis which is now believed to be largely caused by DDT sprays. The United States Public Health Service has confirmed that all foods available in markets today contain a residue of DDT and it is important that the consumer be aware of this. Some vitamins are also destroyed by the use of DDT sprays."

Mrs. R. G. Blue was assistant hostess and Mrs. John Newsom and baby daughter of San Angelo were special guests.

Members present were Mesdames R. G. Blue, Roger Corbett, W. S. Fluit, Leo Forrest, Jim Higgins, C. D. Kelton, Vivian Major, W. C. Meharg, G. W. Newsom, Coy Phillips, Charlie Sowell, Robert Thompson, Jack Grady, C. O. Wilkins, Baker Womble, S. S. Williams, Norman Moore and the hostess.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. My hair seems suddenly to have acquired a dry and brittle texture. What can I do about this condition?

A. The frequency of your shampoos should be cut down for a while. Be sure, however, to brush your hair religiously every day, and massage the scalp by rotating it with your fingertips. Hot oil treatments before your shampoos help, too.

Q. Is there something I can do about my freely-perspiring hands?

A. One quick and easy treatment is, after washing the hands in cool water, to put a drop or two of good-quality witch hazel into the palms.

Q. How should I rid myself of underarm hair?

A. With either a razor or depilatory every week, or as often as needed. Some do this with a dry razor, but it is easier on the skin to lather under the arms first. Be sure, if you happen to cut the skin, to apply some antiseptic to it.

Q. Can you suggest a facial beauty mask or pack that will combat freckles?

A. Mix the white of an egg with the juice of a lemon, and blend with enough almond meal to make a thin paste. Spread this on the face, and leave on at least 20 minutes — then rinse off with warm water.

Q. Is there any makeup which will counteract the appearance of a very small face and a neck which seems quite short and thick?

A. The use of a darker foundation makeup cream on the neck than on the face will help to reduce the apparent size of the neck.

Q. What can I do about my eyebrows, which are of the "wild and woolly" type?

A. Be sure, of course, that you have plucked out all the strays — the hairs which destroy the symmetry of your browline. Then, for control of the eyebrows, your best answer is faithful and regular brushing of the brows with a small, soft brush.

Q. How can I increase the gloss of my rather dull-looking hair?

A. I can think of nothing better for adding sparkle and sheen to the hair than good, vigorous brushing every day. Further wonders can be wrought if you make a practice of giving your hair a brisk towel rubbing after your shampoos.

Q. How can I exercise to slim the contours of my hips?

A. Stretch out on your right side on the floor. Then pull both knees up to your chest, and stretch out legs until the knees are rigid in front of your body. Swing downward until the body is in a straight line, then bend the knees and begin the semi-circle all over again. Do this ten times, lying on each side.

Q. How can I make myself a good, inexpensive hair shampoo at home?

A. Heat together an egg and a teaspoonful of mild skin soap. Apply this with the fingertips, rubbing well into the scalp. Rinse with hot, then lukewarm, then cold water.

Q. I have peeling fingernails. Please tell me what I can do about this condition.

A. After shaping your nails, buff all the edges. This buffing will bind the layers together, thus ending the peeling condition. If you have paper-thin nails, form the habit of tapping them against a hard surface now and then — this encourages a denser structure.

Jewels Spark 1920 Hairdos

CONVERTIBLE COIF—An ideal hairdo of the '20's look, designed by Michel of Rubinstein's may be worn with a bandeau to which jeweled pins are fastened. Carry out the jewelry theme by pinning a jewel at the shoulder.

MAKE IT REGAL—Michel brushes the coif up from the nape of the neck, fluffs it into a high crown just behind a tiara. A chunky rhinestone bracelet and long brilliant earrings help carry out the look of splendor with glamor.

CASUAL APPROACH—The convertible hairdo is down-swept here, accented with a rope necklace and short dangling earrings. It illustrates the magic of jeweled props to complement the chemise look, say fashion coordinators.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newstextures Beauty Editor.

THIS IS THE YEAR to acquire new fashion jewelry, to dig out the old heirlooms and to find new ways to wear those treasures.

It's easy to play up different facets of your personality when you feel so inclined, and this season you may discover the actress seething within you when you cope with the new fashions. One way to achieve a new look is with fashionable jewelry used as props, suggests an institute of fashion coordinators.

Take that great conversation sack, the chemise, for instance. It brings jewelry out of the conventional realm and into a mood bracket. You may wear dangling ropes of necklaces and drop earrings with it. The long, chandelier-like brilliant earrings and tiaras with matching bracelets are ideal for the Contessa hairdo, a variation of the convertible down-swept coiffure made popular this year by Michel of Helena Rubinstein's salon.

That coiffure is short, the '20s vintage. The hair is swept upward from the nape of the neck, and a regal puff over the crown of the head gives the hairdo an illusion of grandeur.

If you mean to be casual about the mode of the moment, you may comb this hairdo forward from the crown of the head and the sides, wearing earrings that dangle but are shorter, and long, free-swinging rope necklaces.

Several favorite pins may carry out this bejeweled appearance.

Past Matrons Luncheon Held

Past Matrons Club of the Order of Eastern Star held a luncheon meeting Monday in the home of Mrs. W. S. Fluit. Mrs. W. C. Hromas was assistant hostess. Following the luncheon a short business session was held and a talk-fest provided diversion for the remainder of the afternoon.

Those attending were Mesdames Pearl Kinsley of Friona, Florence Guinn, Audrey Thompson, Vivian Major, Nell Culpepper, Myrtle Witherspoon, Juanita Hershey, Belle Hromas and Miss Jessie Morris.

A velvet hair bandeau adorned with a lovely pin and matched to two or more pins worn on the shoulder creates an entirely new fashion. Smooth the top hair into a soft rolling wave behind the bandeau, and brush the sides forward.

A half hour in front of a mirror with new and old jewelry — pins, earrings, necklaces and what have you, may help create a new personality to flatter the new fashions.

Some ideas include these:
Anchor your dangling necklace with a glittering pin.

Match a huge, bulky silver bracelet with silver earrings, and perhaps dramatic silver streaks in your coiffure.

Put a pin at the hip line to focus attention away from the non-existent waistline.

Rotary Club To Vote on Program

Members of the Hereford Rotary Club will vote Monday on an 11-point program which has been proposed by president-elect Francis Hardwick.

The club meets at noon in the Hotel Jim Hill. Members will use secret ballots in the vote.

Hardwick's program is as follows: 1. Campaign to get every dog in the county vaccinated for rabies; 2. Sell chances on a car to raise money for the 1959 Junior Livestock Show; 3. Sponsor Fun Night on Halloween for children; 4. Organize the Rotary Anns as a women's auxiliary to the club; 5. Hold a social function every three months for Rotarians and Rotary Anns; 6. To work for the 1958 District Conference; 7. To charter a bus for all members to attend the governor's banquet; 8. Work for 200 per cent membership in the Rotary Foundation; 9. A four-way test program to carry Rotary beliefs into all businesses; 10. A small fine program with the money going to buy a CARE package each month; 11. Form an intracity club council to prevent overlapping of club projects and work on combined projects.

Social Security Studied by Club

"What Social Security Means To Women" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Harold Rudd at the meeting of the Westway Home Demonstration Club Thursday at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Rudd told the group, "Women have a tremendous stake in Old Age and Survivors Insurance. It can mean a reliable income in later years and in case something should happen to your husband. Be sure employment is covered by Social Security."

Mrs. J. C. Morrison, who spoke to the group on "What Social Security Means to Farmers," told the group, "Social Security Insurance is a federal program which farmers have been included in the past few years. All employees on a farm are covered except your spouse and your children. The employees on a farm must work at least 20 days and earn $150 in a year's time."

Mrs. George Turrentine presided over the business meeting. The constitution and by-laws of the club were read, corrected and approved. Mrs. R. L. Wilson gave the treasurer's report. Mrs. Harold Rudd announced the St. Patrick's Day party to be at the community house Saturday, March 15, at 8 p.m.

Members present were Mesdames Harold Rudd, Kenneth Rudd, Paul Rudd, R. L. Wilson, G. C. Merritt, T. E. Thomas, C. A. Sau-

LOST AND FOUND

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — A Marine Corps hat emblem has been returned to Col. Charles S. Todd 16 years after he lost it when he was taken prisoner by the Japanese on Guam in 1941. The emblem was found by Maj.

R. G. Gilmore, then a platoon leader, when the island was retaken by U. S. forces in 1944. He learned at a social gathering here late in 1947 that the emblem had been lost by Todd and returned it to him.

FEDERAL LAND BANK REDUCES INTEREST RATE

For the second time since 1917, the leader in the long term farm and ranch lending field announces a reduction in the interest rate on loans in force.

The interest rate on all loans in excess of 5% has been reduced to 5%, the same rate at which new loans are being made.

Of special interest to borrowers who already have Land Bank loans, we will now close additional loans. This is a new practice and enables a borrower with a 4% Land Bank loan of $1,000 or more to get an additional loan at 5% on the new money and leave his old 4% loan undisturbed.

Farm and ranch owners are invited to call at the office of the national farm loan association to learn how this long term-low cost loan can serve their credit needs.

DUGOUT DUG OUT

HUTCHINSON, Minn. (AP) — An Indian dugout canoe pulled out of Big Swan Lake may date back to the days of the early French explorers.

The canoe was dragged up by Commercial fishermen with a huge catch of rough fish.

The State Historical Society says dugouts were being replaced by birchbark canoes in the mid-1600s.

Weather For Crops, But Not Buildings

If you are doing any kind of construction work, it had better be inside—at least this winter, anyway. Contractors have been pulling their hair out by the roots all this winter season, not only here in Hereford, but over the entire Panhandle area.

The season, to say the least, has been totally undesirable for any type of exterior construction.

One local brick layer has worked less than half the winter because of adverse weather conditions. He says no one is doing any type of construction, in accordance with the past years.

Construction on a new wing of the Dumas High School has been halted so often through the winter, it is still far from completion, and was supposed to have been completed and ready for occupancy in January.

Tascosa High in Amarillo has been delayed more often than not due to extreme weather conditions.

The new First National Bank construction has been halted off and on through its duration.

Home builders around town are having to do most of their work inside—if they are lucky enough to have finished enough of the walling before each cold, wet spell comes in.

Dirt leveling for the McGee Furniture building is made almost impossible because of the wet conditions. Coldness has very little to do with hampering leveling progress, but the wetness of the ground will possibly delay the proposed mid-spring opening of the new business.

H and H Furniture's building completion has been delayed. It was to have an opening within the next four weeks.

Little can be said about the Highway 51 underpass under the railroad that is not already known. Ground work, especially in a place where drainage empties several hundred gallons of water into the low place every time any type of precipitation occurs, is impossible. The workers have, however, completed most of their digging now, and leveling and paving are next on the agenda.

The circle is vicious. Moisture is needed so the farmers can raise crops so the crops can be sold so the money can be spent so more businesses can be built so the construction can be slowed—by needed moisture.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. How can I remove perspiration odor from one of my garments?
 A. Rub over the affected area with a solution of one part ammonia to eight parts water.
 Q. How should the oval-shaped face be made up?
 A. Rouge the center of the cheeks, blending it up over the cheekbones toward the temples in tri-circular fields. Carry rouge very lightly up under the eyes, especially if you have dark circles. Keep your eyebrows natural, starting them on a line directly above inside corners of the eyes. Make up the mouth full, and follow its natural line.

 Q. What is a good after-shampoo rinse for hair that is very oily?
 A. Vinegar, in the proportion of three ounces to 1 1/2 pints of warm water.
 Q. Is there anything else, besides exercise and massage, that will help to reduce a double chin?
 A. One very beneficial treatment consists of rubbing the double chin with ice (covered with gauze or cotton), or applying ice water frequently. This contracts the skin and increases its elasticity.
 Q. How can I exercise to help slim down my abdomen and hips?
 A. Lie flat on back, arms overhead, knees straight and toes pointed. Lift torso slowly to a sitting position, breathing in. Bend forward from waist to reach the toes. Don't hunch the shoulders. Reverse, raising arms overhead, then slowly lower torso to the floor, starting from the small of the back.
 Q. What treatment will help keep my eyes sparkling and bright-looking?
 A. Regular baths with an eye cup and a weak solution of boracic acid are fine. Or, pads of cotton soaked in witch hazel, placed over the eyes for a minute or two.
 Q. What is a good way to "set" one's makeup on the face?
 A. Dip a face towel or cotton square into cold water, wring out, and press gently all over the facial area, being sure to spread a part the eye-crevices and laugh-lines. This eliminates the tense or tight feeling on the skin due to powdering.
 Q. How can I prepare my own liquid soap shampoo at home?
 A. Shave a cake of pure Castile soap into a pint of water, and melt over a low flame. After this is thoroughly dissolved, strain it through some cheesecloth, pour into a jar, and seal tightly until ready to use.
 Q. How do I go about giving myself a honey facial treatment?
 A. Pat on the honey, gently around the eye area, but more briskly over face-planes and neck. Use massage motions to work it into the skin. Then press the fingers on the face and pull away quickly, using the stickiness of the honey to stimulate the skin's circulation. Do this for about three

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS

It was one of the most famous trials of the century, and debate over it rocked the nation. Tennessee had passed a law forbidding the teaching of evolution in public schools. An obscure teacher named John T. Scopes had defied the law. Now he was on trial.

The attorney for the defense was the most famous criminal lawyer of his time. Clarence Darrow. Opposing him for the prosecution was an even more famous name. . . William Jennings Bryan.

Bryan, now an old man, was still eloquent. He built his case around a literal interpretation of the Bible, stoutly maintaining that Eve had literally been formed from a rib of Adam, and that the world had been created exactly 4,000 years before.

Darrow was equally persuasive for the defense. . . but when the two famous lawyers had finished the verdict came in. Bryan had won his case. Scopes was found guilty.

Remember the year? There were great debates in those days over cars, too, and over the merits of the roadster and the closed sedan. But when it came to buying, a man couldn't be persuaded by a silver tongue. He wanted real savings. The year was 1925.

We won't give you any fancy oratory when you come in to see and drive a new 1958 FORD. But we will give you real savings. That goes for our big stock of late model used cars, too. So for a better deal, see CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC. 146 E. Second, Phone EM 4-2727.

U. S. Girls See World in Separates

HELLO RIO! Peggy McIntosh and Terry Plant, two of New York's top models, arrive at the Aeroporto do Galeao in Rio de Janeiro after a 20-hour flight, looking cool and fresh in their wrinkle-resistant, wash-and-wear cotton separates. Peggy, left, wears a shirt and skirt in red striped cotton shog-bark, with Italian collar and unpressed pleated skirt. Terry's outfit is turquoise ploid. Both are designed by Mac Shore.

SIGHTSEEING—Peggy gazes at landmarks on the Avenida Rio Branca, Rio's Broadway. Her passport-perfect outfit is shirt-and-skirt in blue and white drip-dry seersucker, which needs no ironing.

GUIDE BOOK PORTUGUESE—Terry looks up phrases in her English-Portuguese dictionary as she tries to ask directions of a Rio food vendor who carries his stock on his head. Behind them are some of the old buildings of downtown Rio. Terry is dressed for sightseeing in a cool and dainty overblouse of white drip-dry dacron-and-cotton with lace trimming, which she also wears with her spring suit in New York.

American girls can go around the world in blouses and skirts — and look at home in any capital. It's a talent developed in the U. S. A. — this ability to mix and match tops and skirts to produce costumes in any degree of formality, suitable for any climate. And whether it's Paris or Rio, Tokyo or Calcutta, you can always tell an American girl by her casual, well-groomed look, her easy air of being correctly and comfortably dressed, her skill in accessorizing the simplest shirt-and-skirt outfits with the right touch of color, the correct handbag, the imaginative scarf.

This year blouses come in an endless range of colors, styles and fabrics, to enable smart separates fans to assemble their favorite wardrobes. Overblouses are popular in the new chemise silhouette, and may be teamed with a coordinated skirt to look like a dress. New wash-and-wear fabrics make life easy for the blouse fancier, too. For she can dunk 'out her blouses at night and wear them again in the morning without the touch of an iron.
That's one reason American girls can travel light and always look bandbox-fresh.

The Chemise Pops Up in Hereford

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By CLARA BOO
The Vamp returns in '58' — says Vogue Magazine. The spring dress designers seem to have in mind a carefree look such as that of the gay Twenties. Well, of course I am not old enough to remember — but I have heard tell — of those short-short dresses, with no waist line showing and the gals' swinging rope beads to the step of the Charleston. For illustrations, pick up any current fashion magazine. "American Fashion — The New Vamp Look." One definition of the word vamp, "is a girl who is intrigued by a member of the opposite sex, to a point where she will make an effort to please him."
THE HILARIOUS thing about this is that gentlemen do not like sudden changes, and shudder, at the sight of our new chemise designs — chemise is the educated word for the sack.
Some say the chemise has the advantage of quite often concealing the female form and, as a consequence, it supplies girls with an added dimension of mystery, you know no gentleman is ever going to puzzle his brain over the form of a girl in a Bikini bathing suit — I read that too. Dixiel Sims, Seale Steven and Cora Thompson look real nice in their chemises. I hear some other women in town have them too, but have not had the nerve to bring them out from their hiding places yet — afraid of what friend husband will say. Well, I say, if you are going to get a new dress, you might as well get a new one.
I ALSO understand the chemise dress evokes a unique type of behavior. For instance, the chemise Vamp shows a provocative manner of walking which would not have been tolerated by Queen Victoria. Walking during the Fifties has become a mere effort to rush to a job, with out a tendency to stop and loiter. Now Lou Davis has this new walk down to perfection (private showing of course) Lou and Gwyn Davis just returned from Dallas where live models must have been in full action.
Last month The House of Dior comes up with a three dimensional looking thing called the Trapeze that makes the chemise look like last years fashion. Maybe the Style Show tomorrow night will give us all a new outlook on our new much talked about fashions. You know a real model always does a lot more for a dress — better take the hubby too.
Seems that short hair in care-free styles goes along with the age of the Twenties. Remember when your mother bobbed her hair? (If you do, you are past 40 yrs.) At first it was a sinful thing to do. Juanita Bennett has a perfect hair style to go with the chemise look, so does Mary Jane Pittman. Bangs, along with the chemise is supposed to bring back the little girl look, and who would object to that?
THE METHODIST Women are busy as little bees, getting ready for the womens conference that meets here this week. Understand every one can have a job, all the way from washing dishes to sweeping floors.
Neil Spradley is a very practical person. She says her '57 car license are still in good shape and look fine, besides they look nice with her car, and she does not think she will buy new ones. Neil says she has no desire to keep up with "the Jones" anyway.
Jackie Johnson is very unhappy. You see Dean and Jackie moved here recently from Colorado. Jackie says — because he does not like snow. Which reminds me — just what will be left by the way of weather for our 'Easter spell.'

THANKS TO MR. BENSON . . .

'Grand Old Party' May Follow Small Farmer -- And Bow Out Of Picture

Ezra Taft Benson, probably the nation's most unpopular Secretary of Agriculture in all history, has finally emerged with one statement which most farmers will endorse. Mr. Benson recently said in a news conference: "If our critics say we are doing too much for the farmer, I don't agree!"

While the statement is simple enough in content, it possibly sums up the entire realm of discontent among the American farmers, for whom the Department of Agriculture was created to serve.

Mr. Benson, we fear, looks upon the farm program as a "relief measure," a "dole" or a "public handout." The farmer, on the other hand, has come to view the farm program as a "new way of life," an economy based on protected markets similar to that offered through tariffs to protect industry, or union negotiations to protect labor. Confusion has been the inevitable result.

Under Mr. Benson's fully endorsed GOP regime, many small farmers have been forced to leave their land when reduced acreages failed to produce sufficient security to feed and clothe their families. Many of these people are now drawing actual relief doles in cities, while others are surviving on unemployment insurance. The Hereford area, fortunately, was already a land of large farms and ranches and, consequently, has suffered less than many other agricultural points across the nation.

Mr. Benson has a right in his apparent stand against a national farm program, which is another question, altogether foreign to this discussion. The fact is that we now have a so-called farm program and we do not feel that it is fair to sabotage that program with "fifth column" tactics from its inner circles. Certainly, a man with antagonistic outlook should never head the department. The fact that he has continued to do so is definitely one of Mr. Eisenhower's gravest mistakes.

If Mr. Benson were truly the man of integrity he likes to think himself, then he would voluntarily resign. We wonder how long the labor unions could survive if they were headed by antagonistic industrial giants? Unquestionably, the attitude of Walter Reuther in championing his cohorts is far different from that of Mr. Benson in representing the welfare of the farmer.

We believe in tariffs, because we do not want the American laborer to toil long hours at a few cents per day—and lose his standard of living. Likewise, we feel that the American farmer deserves equal consideration. The one big advantage the United States holds over other nations is ample food and fiber, both of which result directly from our soil. Why, therefore, should we repay our farm producers with a less than average standard of living?

There are naturally, many arguments along this line. Right now, our chief complaint centers around the fact that one of two things should happen: 1) Congress should completely throw out the farm program, or, 2.) The President should provide a competent administrator in the Department of Agriculture, who is sincerely interested in the overall welfare of the American farmer.

This is the situation which faces the average voter in the next national election. Furthermore, it is the one factor most likely to unseat the Republican regime after a brief recess in national affairs. It might even write an end for all time to come to the "Grand Old Party."

A Little Sunshine Is What We Need

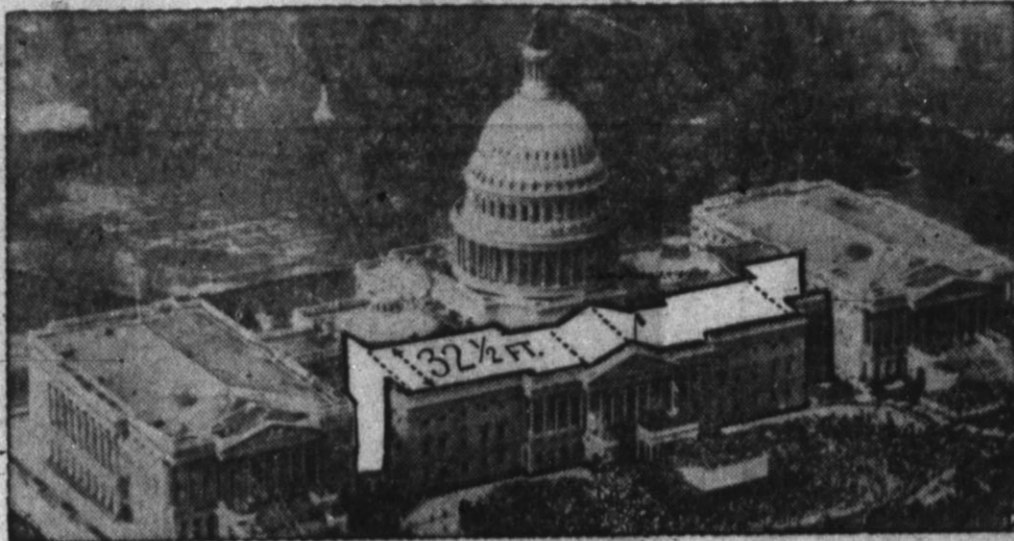

Right now economists are delving into the national unemployment situation with considerable alarm—and Hereford pretty well follows the general pattern. There is, however, a big difference in the national and local situations.

Currently, 150 to 200 people are unemployed in Deaf Smith County, representing roughly one per cent if the population; 75 of these people are drawing unemployment insurance, according to figures released through the local employment office. The big difference between Hereford and the rest of the nation, centers around the fact that 80 per cent of the unemployed in this area can go to work as soon as the weather permits.

A welcome but unusually large amount of moisture (4.56 inches) has created a situation whereby farmers cannot get into fields to work and, consequently, has resulted in lack of jobs by most of the locally employed. The same situation has slowed down business in many local channels during the past 60 days. The condition, although definitely serious to the man who wants to work and cannot find a job, takes an entirely different aspect in the long-range view.

In a nutshell, Hereford's unemployment situation will straighten itself out as soon as we have enough sunshine and favorable weather to start farm work rolling—and we wish the same could be true on a national scale.

Meanwhile, we can console ourselves that present moisture means greater yields, at less cost, and look forward to a future upturn. At the same time, the condition points up the fact that Hereford and Deaf Smith County, like other agricultural areas, are intensely affected by the weather conditions.

WHAT'S PROPOSED — Altered photograph shows major part of proposed Capitol alteration, which would move present east wall forward 32½ feet. Proponents say it would improve the building's lines and make room for needed additional office space and dining facilities.

Capital Face-Lifting Stirring New Ruckus

WASHINGTON — The battle over face-lifting the United States Capitol, at issue ever since the Civil War, is erupting with new bitterness. The Daughters of the American Revolution call the project "vandalism."

Architect Frank Lloyd Wright terms it "absolutely profane." "They should leave it alone," says Wright. "I'm sure they can't improve it."

And Sen. Clark (D-Pa.) in a speech on the Senate floor denounced the plan as "unnecessary and ill-conceived."

But a different version comes from Capitol Architect J. George Stewart.

The fact is, says Stewart, that the front wall of the historic structure is crumbling from old age and might collapse at any time, perhaps bringing the great white dome thundering down on the nation's lawmakers.

Few sightseers ever notice it, but the "skirt" of the 4,455-ton cast iron dome juts out 15 feet 9 inches beyond the front wall of the 165-year-old central portion of the Capitol, between the Senate and House wings. The colonnades of the East Portico disguise this fact.

IT IS THIS east entrance — which most Americans take for the "front" of the Capitol, though it is actually the "back" — which is the center of the current ruckus.

One faction, led by House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.), wants to extend the central portion of the East Front a distance of 32½ feet to give more elbow room to the crowded lawmakers inside the Capitol.

Ranged on the opposite side is a group of architects, historians and others who are lifting cries of outrage at the suggestion of "tampering," as they call it, with the nation's most photographed shrine.

Mrs. Frederic Groves, DAR president - general, says "the proposal to destroy the ancient walls and portico of the East Front is incredible." Another critic, Lorimer Rich, architect of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, said in a letter printed in the Congressional Record:

"This facade has looked down upon history. These steps have known the footprints of our early great — Webster, Clay, Calhoun. This portico has received the remains of our martyred presidents — Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley. These are the walls viewed by our grandfathers as they assembled in the great plaza for the stirring Grand Army review of 1865. "SURELY THIS setting should be preserved."

Testifying before a Senate public works subcommittee, Capitol Architect Stewart said the soft Virginia sandstone of the East Front is cracking and deteriorating badly.

Several ominous cracks, he said, extend the full height of the wall, from balustrade to foot. (Continued On Page 5)

THE GOLDEN YEARS

William McGehees Recall Early Dates

By MRS. E. L. CRISWELL

Mr. and Mrs. William McGehee, who have lived on the Plains since 1896 and in Hereford since 1935, first met at a Thanksgiving dinner. They were married the following May 10, 1896, in a church wedding.

Eleven years ago they celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary and on May 11, 1958, they will celebrate their 62nd year of marriage.

"My father did not allow me to have a beau until I was 16," Mrs. McGehee said, "and when my cowboy friends did start coming to see me they always brought a horse for me to ride and we went on our dates on horseback. I rode side-saddle, of course, and had a long riding skirt to put over my dress. When I reached my destination, I simply stepped out of my riding skirt. I loved horseback riding and rode many years, after I married."

"I TOOK my bride to live in a half-dugout," said McGehee. "It was better than a lot of dugouts of that time. It was 12 feet by 14 feet and had windows above the ground. It had a shingled roof and a floor of planks. Water dogs, snakes and centipedes seem to always find a way to get in the house. My wife was frightened of them, but I believe she was just as frightened of the water dogs as she was the snakes that slipped in with them."

"I farmed, raised cattle and fed the cattle up to be shipped to market. They had to be driven to Amarillo, since that was the nearest shipping yard."

"While I was away, my wife fed and cared for the cattle with the help of a hired hand. She was a fine rider and could stick with a horse as well as anyone. I was very proud of her as she rode, punched cattle and did anything she could to help me in my work. I doubt if I could ever have stayed on a horse side-saddle as she did."

"After we were married a few years, I bought a three room house and moved it from Lockney to our farm just out of town. We thought we were as rich as anyone in Texas. How proud we were of that house setting out on the prairie. It was on this farm that I dug my first irrigation well. It was a rare thing then and people came for miles to see my irrigated crops."

"THE CHILDREN were now old enough to go to school and I made preparation to move to Lockney to put them in school. This we did and I raised hogs and farmed a few miles south of town."

"While living in Lockney I was elected County Judge of Floyd County. We moved to Floydada where I served for four years. During this time tragically struck the home of our daughter. We went to California to be with her but it was never home to us and in 1935 we came back to Texas."

"These were the depression years and Hereford looked like a fine place to live. There were a few irrigation wells here, but I was sure there would be many more. I bought a drilling outfit and began digging irrigation wells and selling pumps. This was the first pump business in Hereford."

"I stayed in this business for many years and have enjoyed seeing Hereford grow into a busy little city. It still has great prospects and I predict it will someday be one of the leading cities of the State."

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

Significance of St. Pat's Day Varies Among Residents

Does St. Patrick's Day have any particular significance to you?

MRS. EDWARD SMITH—Oh, not really. I am part Irish and of course I like to think of it as an Irish celebration. I have always heard of it as an Irish Day and I think of it that way.

BILL PROVENCE—Well, no, I guess it doesn't. I really never gave it much thought.

MRS. ROLAND JACK—No, not really. I'm supposed to be Irish but it really means nothing to me.

MARVIN LITTLEJOHN—I kinda believe in it myself. I'm not Irish, and if I am any Irish it isn't much.

MRS. JIM CLEMENTS—It doesn't mean as much to me as it would if I were Irish. One thing about it is that you don't have to fast on St. Patrick's Day and you do the rest of the week days during Lent.

CLIFFORD KERR—None other than seeing the green around, I guess.

MRS. PAUL LYONS—Yes, but in an unusual way. My grandmother was a native of Londonderry which is in the north of Ireland and strongly protestant. It is not in the Irish republic today but remains a part of England because of its protestant heritage. The historic background is this: James I, a Catholic ruler, was driven out of England because of his religion and was replaced by William of Orange, husband of James I's daughter, but a protestant from France and tried to regain his throne he was defeated by William of Orange in the battle of Boyne, a famous battle in history. Because of her allegiance to the protestant actions of this bitter religious war, my grandmother made her children wear orange on St. Patrick's Day, even in America, and that custom was passed on to me, although we do not feel as strongly about it as she did.

JOHN JACOBSEN—Well, yes, it has a significance. I think about Shamrocks and Irishmen on that day.

HALE-AIKIN COMMITTEE STUDIES COUNTY PROBLEMS

School patrons and officials took a step forward Monday night when the 24-member Hale-Aikin committee met to organize and plan a comprehensive study of Parmer County's school problems. The committee will submit areas: school program (study of the curriculum), teacher supply, school construction, and school financing. Directors have been appointed to head each of the four divisions, with five to 10 volunteer workers under the direction of each director. —THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE (Farwell).

ROBBERS SACK 5 BUSINESSES

Three young Dimmitt men were arrested Saturday night after a 16-hour investigation by Friona police and Parmer County officers for entering five Friona businesses early Saturday morning. Alert work on the part of officers brought the early capture of Raymond Malena, 21, Warren Miller, 20, and Gary Marks, 19, all of Dimmitt. Malena and Miller were indicted by the grand jury Monday while Marks was recommended for probation as he claimed he was "along only for the ride and asleep at the time of the robberies." The boys will face trial on Thursday morning in Judge E. A. Bills' district court in Farwell. —THE FRIONA STAR.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm has found a new angle to the farm problem, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor: With a lot of the experts claiming there are too many farmers as it is, you wouldn't think there'd be any problem to a piece of news I read the other day in a newspaper I found blown against a fence out here now without any additional wind resistance, but there's apparently no limit to how hard some people will hunt to find something about the farm problem to worry about.

According to this news item, only 17 per cent of the nation's agricultural college graduates return to the farm when they finish one of the 50 agricultural colleges scattered throughout the United States, and some experts were worrying about this. What would happen, they asked, if only 17 per cent of medical school graduates stayed with medicine?

I guess it does seem odd to have 50 agricultural colleges teaching agriculture and have only 17 per cent of the graduates go into farming, but this is because some people don't understand the situation.

For example, I was talking to a neighbor of mine who has a boy in an agricultural college and I asked him about this. "Is your boy going to come back and farm when he gets out of college?" I asked him.

"Are you crazy?" he asked me. "I'm sending him to college so he won't have to farm."

I hadn't thought about this, but it may make sense and if the experts are worrying because only 17 per cent of the agricultural college graduates take up farming, think what they'd have to worry about if 90 per cent of them did it. Talk about an agricultural surplus.

On the other hand, there are those who say the way to cut down on the surplus is to get more experts into farming. This group contends that the more theoretical knowledge a man has of farming, the less enthusiastic he is about going up one row and down another.

This is true in a lot of fields. Most people had rather tell a teacher how to teach their child than to teach him themselves, most people had rather tell a school board how to run the school than get on the board themselves, most people had rather tell a city council how to run the town than to tackle the job themselves, and there are more people willing to tell a preacher what to preach about than to preach themselves. I don't know, but I imagine you may run into people occasionally who can't tell you how to run your newspaper.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Orchids To Our Camp Fire Moms

Each March when National Camp Fire Week rolls around, we are inclined to outdo ourselves in an effort to say something nice about the organization. We have done it so often, in fact, that we are about to run out of vocabulary.

When you boil it all down, though, Camp Fire is a great organization in this community for one good reason. That reason is the willingness of the women of the area to sacrifice their time, efforts and energy to make it outstanding. As a result of this devotion, the organization operates with nominal assistance from national quarters, consequently requiring an unusually small budget.

While we willingly admit that many of the women honestly enjoy the work, perhaps sometimes as much as their proteges, we are also reminded that they are constantly doing a most exceptional piece of labor for the community as a whole. Furthermore, they are doing it efficiently and with a minimum of hullabaloo. These things almost any family with a daughter in Blue Birds, Camp Fire, or Horizon will confirm.

The basic idea of Camp Fire is to combine good, clean fun with fundamental teachings, regardless of race or creed. Certainly, the type of volunteer planning and supervision seen in this community cannot be bought with money, regardless of the amount.

Once again, therefore, it is a pleasure for The Brand to recognize and pay tribute to the Camp Fire organization as they observe National Camp Fire Week, which officially opens this morning.

Friendship Club Has New Member

Mrs. K. L. Vidrine was welcomed as a new member in the Friendship Club at its monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Lyle Blanton, 501 Star, March 8. Mrs. Vidrine moved to Hereford with her husband and children from Natchez, Miss., in December, 1957.

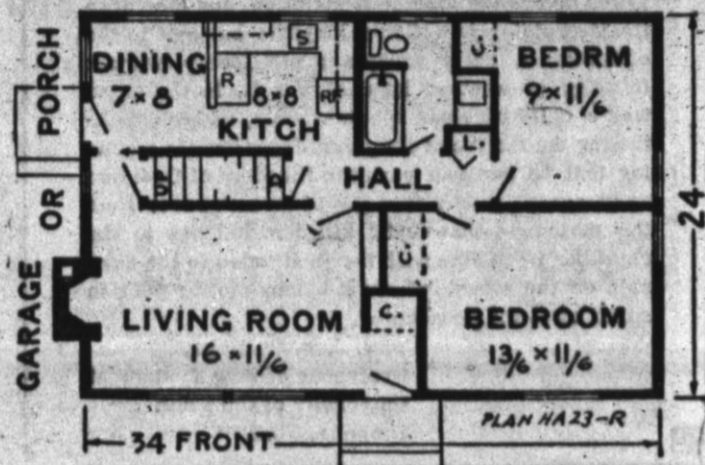

Mrs. Lyle Blanton and Mrs. R. L. McAnally, who are celebrating birthdays in March, received gifts from their secret pals.

The next meeting will be in April and the club will meet with Mrs. Frank Anne, 432 Star.

Present were Mesdames Jennie Clark, Baker C. Wombie, Frank Annen, C. R. Waiser, Harry F. Reed, R. L. McAnally, L. L. Chisum, Hazel Bruner, Helen Coffman, K. L. Vidrine and Lyle Blanton.

Blackheads
 Washing the face with warm water and pure castile soap every night before retiring will usually remove blackheads.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THIS COMPACT, two-story home has four bedrooms and two baths plus dining room, living room and kitchen. All bedrooms, including the two on the second floor, have large closets. The 816 square foot house has a full basement. The plan, HA23-R is by Architect Jan Reiner, Box 12, Boston 17, Mass.

Household Scrapbook

Mucilage Substitute
 Quite often when one is in a hurry to mail a letter, there will be but one stamp and it has no mucilage on its back. In this predicament all necessary is to moisten the mucilage flap of another envelope, run the stamp over the dampened part quickly, then place on the letter to be mailed.

The Manicure
 An acid for the manicure can be made by putting one teaspoon of lemon juice into a cup of warm water. Stains will be removed from the fingers and nails, and it will loosen the cuticle.

Scooping Tomatoes
 One of the easiest methods for scooping the insides out of a tomato or pepper is to use the grapefruit knife with a curved blade.

Modeling Clay
 If the children wish to play with modeling clay and you do not have any, make it by combining a cup of flour, a cup of salt and a teaspoonful of powdered alum with enough water so that the mixture will hold together. When not in use keep the clay wrapped in a damp cloth.

Old Powder Puffs
 An old powder puff attached to the wrist with a rubber band will make an ideal pin cushion while sewing. Old puffs can also be used as rubbing pads for cleaning white shoes.

Stewed Fruit
 If any stewed fruit begins to turn sour, sweeten it by adding a pinch of baking soda and boil the fruit over again for a few minutes.

Pleasant Odor
 Fill a small bowl with boiling water and add a few drops of lavender water to it. Place the bowl in the living room or dining room for a few minutes before guests arrive, and it will give a very pleasant odor.

Black Walnuts
 Black walnuts will spoil quickly when freshly picked if you do not remove the outer husks and keep the nuts in the sun for a few days. Then keep them in a dry place indoors.

Oranges will give more juice if they are at room temperature or warmer and it is not true that they lose their vitamin content by warming. If kept in the refrigerator warm them before squeezing by holding under the hot water faucet or putting them in a warm oven for a few minutes.

ing, and run completely through the masonry behind the sandstone facing.

Capitol custodians say visitors can see for themselves what is happening. Chunks of rotted sandstone, taken from a quarry owned by George Washington, are breaking off the wall with increasing frequency.

Stewart told the Senate subcommittee that when Congress authorized the East Front extension in 1955, its intent was (1) "to correct the architectural defect caused by the overhang of the dome over the East Portico" and (2) to provide a longer-lasting exterior by building the new walls of marble rather than sandstone.

In addition, he said, the extension would provide extra office space and room for a new restaurant for Senate and House members who now have to eat in virtually sardine formation in the old, out-modern dining rooms.

STEWART'S testimony drew support from John F. Harbeson, Philadelphia architect, who is a member of a panel of noted architects engaged in the proposed renovation.

"It is only a question of time," he said, "until you will have to rope off the front. The only safe way to enter the building will be through covered walkways."

But Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.), author of a bill to block Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) and House Minority Leader Joe Martin (R-Mass.) that any alterations to the East Front should be limited to repairing loose stone which might endanger the public.

In other words, no drastic remodeling.

Knowland, the Senate minority leader, and Rep. Martin are members of a special Senate-House commission set up by Congress to weigh the matter of revamping the Capitol. Chairman of the commission is Speaker Rayburn, who has carried the ball for advocates of giving "the Old Lady of Capitol Hill" a face-lifting.

RAYBURN, who says he wants the remodeling job completed in time for the 1961 inauguration, disagrees with critics who contend it would destroy the appearance of the historic structure.

"The East Front extension," he told hewsmen, "will give us a great deal more room and architectural speaking it will look exactly as it is now, with the same facade."

Despite angry opposition, Rayburn said flatly the Senate-House commission will go ahead with plans to extend the East Front.

"The architect is preparing sketches," he said. "When they are ready we will let contracts."

Julian E. Berla, Washington, D. C., architect and chairman of the Committee to Preserve the National Capitol, says he still hasn't given up the fight.

If the proposed changes are made, he says, a plaque should be affixed to the Capitol declaring in bold letters:

"Vandalized by Congress 1958."

A Doggone Surprise

When Mr. and Mrs. John W. Vines returned home one afternoon recently they found the bedspread turned down and pillows disarranged. The discovery somewhat alarmed the elderly couple, knowing they had locked the doors when leaving.

After some investigation about the home, it was further discovered that the cause was their eight-year-old half bulldog, half pekinese "Sniklefritz" calmly snuggled up under the bed cover.

UNDULY ALARMED

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — Members of the Burrill Elementary School Parent Teachers Assn. have seen, first hand, an unscheduled fire drill. They joined the exodus as teachers led 250 hatless and coatless children into rainsoaked streets when two mothers sounded the alarm.

The PTA's executive committee was in the principal's office when the group spotted what appeared to be smoke seeping up through the floor. They sounded the alarm.

The "smoke" proved to be steam escaping from a defective safety valve.

OCEAN TO OCEAN ACROSS SOUTH AMERICA — AND BACK — IN 41 HOURS!

CHEVY'S NEW V8 LEVELS THE HIGHEST, HARDEST HIGHWAY OVER THE ANDES!

To prove the durability of Chevrolet's radical new Turbo-Thrust V8,* the tremendous flexibility of the new Turboglide transmission,* the incredible smoothness of Full Coil suspension, we tackled the most challenging transcontinental road in the world — the 1,000-mile General San Martin Highway. To make the test harder, officials of the Automobile Club of Argentina sealed the hood shut at Buenos Aires — no chance to add oil or water or adjust carburetors for high altitude.

So the run began — across the blazing Argentine pampas, thrusting boldly into the stone ramparts of the forbidding Andes. Up and up the road climbed, almost 2½ miles in the sky! Drivers gasped for oxygen at 12,572 feet — but the Turbo-Thrust V8 never slackened its jet-smooth torrent of power, the Full Coil springs smothered every bump, the Turboglide transmission made play of fantastic grades up to 30 percent. Then a spine-chilling plunge to the Pacific at Chile's great port of Valparaiso, a quick turn-around and back again. Time for the round trip: 41 hours 14 minutes — and the engine was never turned off! That's rugged proof-in-action of the great new advances you'll test for yourself the first time you drive a '58 Chevrolet. That's a real thrill — why not discover it this week? *Extra-cost option

The sure-footed Chevrolet purrs past a road sign that says "danger" — and ahead lies the toughest part of the perilous Andean climb!

SMOKING BEAR

ROCKY FORD, Colo. (AP) — Four-year-old Cecilia Zavala thought a teddy bear should be able to smoke a cigarette. She found one of her father's cigarettes, a match, lit the cigarette and stuffed it in the bear's mouth, then put the toy bear in the closet. The Rocky Ford Fire Department reported the only damage at the Zavala home was that the teddy bear was destroyed in the blaze.

Bible Words for Today

MARK 10:15 — "Truly, I say to you, whoever does not receive the kingdom of God like a child shall not enter it." (RSV)

Without paraphrasing it is not possible to make clear whether Jesus means to say, "Whoever does not receive the Kingdom of God as a child would receive it" or, "Whoever does not receive the Kingdom of God as he would receive a child." Logic favors the former translation, and the verse itself explains how God's kingdom belongs to the childlike. A child accepts a gift freely, without thinking of whether he deserves it. In the same way a child receives spontaneously, without questioning the motive of the giver. Jesus here is teaching that no one can earn the Kingdom of God; one must accept it as a free gift of divine grace. Thus the statement that God's kingdom belongs to the childlike is in line with the Beatitudes in the Sermon on the Mount, where it belongs to the poor in spirit or to the persecuted.

JUDY O'BANNION—First woman student at Presbyterian Theological Seminary, Louisville, on way to class.

Ministry School Gets First Girl Divinity Student

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Judy O'Bannon, a 22-year-old blonde, is the first full-time woman student in the 104-year history of the Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary.

The attractive Judy is the wife of Frank L. O'Bannon, a young lawyer whom she met at Indiana University, and she doesn't look much like a future minister. But she won a Rockefeller scholarship entitling her to a year of study toward a Bachelor of Divinity degree, and she selected the seminary here.

Judy admits frankly that she probably will never be ordained as a minister, because: "People don't want to listen to a woman preach."

But she thinks she would like to teach in a religious school, and adds:

"Even if I don't go on and get my degree, I will have learned how to be a better citizen, a better wife and — when the time comes — a better mother."

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q. How can I make an indelible stencil ink?

A. Mix 2 parts of sulphate of manganese, 1 part lampblack, 4 parts sugar (all in powder form). Then make a paste by adding a little water.

Q. How can I easily remove the seeds from dates?

A. By washing them thoroughly in warm water, then using a sharp knife to make slits in the sides for removal of the seeds.

Q. How can I remove spots from suede shoes?

A. Suede shoes that have become spotted with rain can be renewed by rubbing the spots gently with an emery board.

Q. How can I keep the piano keys white?

A. By rubbing them occasionally with a cloth dipped in alcohol, then drying with another cloth. Do not allow any alcohol to get on the varnish, as it is a varnish remover.

Q. How can I take away stains from coat collars, and remove the shiny appearance that betrays the age of a man's suit?

A. Rub with a spoonful of ammonia in which enough salt has been added to make a soft paste.

Q. How can I keep egg yolks for several days?

A. By covering them with cold water until needed.

Q. How can I make a slave for chapped hands?

A. A remedy can be made by mixing 10 drops of carbolic acid in one ounce of glycerine. Rub a small quantity into the hands and allow to dry.

Q. How can I make Russian dressing?

A. Use 1 cup of mayonnaise, add 2 teaspoonfuls of chili sauce, 1 can of pimentos chopped fine, and if one wishes, a small amount of grated cheese.

Judy does not feel self-conscious about being the only woman student in an otherwise all-male school. She says the students must like her, because they have elected her secretary — treasurer of her class.

The O'Bannons live at nearby Crocyden, Ind., where Judy is a busy housewife in the hours before and after classes.
