Coach Williams Comments On Inter-Squad Scrimmage

"Everyone's looking pretty good, but we can't really tell yet," Bobby Williams, Hereford High School's head football coach, said Friday following an intra squad scrimmage. The Maroon squad won the scrimmage, 8-0, with end Steve Slagle scoring the only touchdown on a pass reception. The Maroons then ran for the extra point, getting two points under the new ruling. Williams announced that the varsity squad will play the graduat-

ALL THE REST of the windows in the building remain untouched, and there is still "a lot of interior glass to be put up on the counters and so forth," stated Price.

Contract ended officially the same day for the glass sub-contractors as it did for the sheet metal workers, but a 10-day extension was granted by the union to get the west side of the building closed in.

Neither group of union workers have yet started picketing. Work continues inside the building by plasterers, lathers and electricians, who have another year yet to go on their contracts, and there is very little chance they will strike, according to Price.

Sheet metal workers are striking for a 47 1/2 cent hourly wage increase.

All the workers are from out of Amarillo, and the wages are paid to and from the city, as well as on the job.

Community Woman Is Honored Friday

By MRS. HAROLD RUDD
 Mrs. George Turrentine was selected as the Woman of the Year and was awarded a certificate and $25 at the Silver Anniversary Program at the Jim Hill Hotel ballroom Friday afternoon. You often hear Mrs. Turrentine say, "Come on over, we can meet at my house" whether it be a committee meeting, club meeting, shower or sewing class. This trait makes a very good club member.

Showers were received in the community Thursday evening. The amounts ranged from a trace to a half inch. Most of the farmers welcomed them, especially those with dry land wheat.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rudd and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rudd attended the official board dinner at the First Methodist Church in Hereford Tuesday night. The girls quartet from Hereford High School presented the program.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Saucy had supper and visited with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Kropf in Hereford Monday night.

Mrs. T. B. Thomas Jr. and Debra visited with Mrs. Ed Wilson Jr. in Hereford Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wagoner, Gayle, Ann and Joe Bob ate a picnic supper with Mr. and Mrs. Van Coltharp and family of Hereford Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Saucy were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Shirley Wednesday night in Hereford.

Mrs. Joe Wagoner and Gayle accompanied Mrs. Joe Story and Sandra to Canyon Tuesday afternoon to secure rooms for the girls when they enter West Texas in the fall. The girls will have rooms in Randall Hall.

Mrs. G. C. Merritt and Mrs. T. B. Thomas Jr. and children visited with Mrs. Edwin Morrison in Hereford Thursday afternoon.

The Westway Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. R. L. Wilson Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Keneth Rudd had the program on "Salads and Salad Dressings." Thirteen members attended. Mrs. Johnny Bradford was a guest.

Mrs. W. B. Nunley installed officers at the PTA meeting at Central School in Hereford Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Head of Hereford were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Head Tuesday.

Mrs. Ross White of Hale Center is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Odom. Paul Parish is also visiting them. Paul is a nephew of Mrs. Odom.

Monday night Miss Patsy Jackson was given a Kitchen shower by her friends in the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson. Those attending were Cynthia Thompson, Sue Talley, Dortha Fish, Mary Lynn Johnston of Canyon, Earlene Plank, Jeanette Faulkenbury, Mrs. Jimmy Oswald and Mrs. Phillip Shook.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reinauer and Joe Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Buck Green and Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson and Bobby and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Price and Truman all attended the FFA steak fry at the Bull Barn Thursday night. Reid Green received an award for outstanding work in FFA.

Mrs. Chester Mlynen has been attending a training course in Amarillo for the Stauffer Home Plan for the past two weeks.

Mrs. Patterson and girls and Mrs. T. D. Alston visited with Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Collins of Walcott Thursday afternoon.

Forrest Marnell, Dorothy and Joan attended the Marionette Father-Daughter Banquet at the St. Anthony's School Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Robinson and family visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Robinson in Saquach, Colo., last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Richardson visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Doss at Pampa over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Scott were in Big Spring Tuesday on business. Paul Easley spent the night with Ricky Nunley recently.

Mrs. J. W. Stengel accompanied her sister, Mrs. Sam Masurek and baby, to Amarillo Thursday. They took the baby to the doctor for a check-up and also shopped.

Misses Gayle and Ann Wagoner attended a bridal shower for Gale Blythe in the home of Sandra Story of Hereford. Gayle was one of the hostesses.

Mrs. Joe Wagoner and Gayle attended the Mother-Daughter Tea given by the Third Year Home Ec girls Friday afternoon at the high school.

Joe Reinauer Jr. visited with Bill Dufur, Wheeler Sears and John Thomas when he went to College Station last week. The boys took Joe on a tour of the campus.

Mrs. Richard Golden and children of Wildorado visited with Mrs. W. L. Cook Wednesday. The ladies then went to Black to visit Mrs. Golden's cousin Mrs. Bill Carthel of Black.

Tell Junior if He's Going To Get Hurt

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — When you take Junior to the doctor, you should tell him if it's going to hurt.

That, says Pat Robinson, University of Illinois child development specialist, is the easiest way around the problem.

Answer a child's questions truthfully. Perhaps he's to be vaccinated. Tell him what the doctor will do. It probably will pain for a minute and then not hurt at all. But tell him that for one minute it will hurt.

When a child has a cut or scratch, the medication often hurts. Tell him it will sting. Have him squeeze his fist or his teddy bear. Talk soothingly to him.

If he's to stay in a hospital, prepare him for it. His idea of hospitalization may be quite different from an adult's.

Since children can't visit hospitals, it's important for parents to explain what to expect. The best preparation is for parents to visit the hospital or find out as many details as possible from the doctor.

Brief him on what will happen during the day; what his room will look like; what doctors and nurses will do. Tell him things in a humorous way. Beds bend in the middle; patients drink through straws and have their own bed trays.

Let him help pack. Provide him with one or more picture books about children going to the hospital. Give him a favorite toy.

Strawberry Loves To Play Field

By CECILY BROWNSTONE Associated Press Food Editor THE STRAWBERRY IS FICKLE and loves to change partners. Some fine cooks long ago discovered its flirtatious character and teamed the inviting ripe-red morsels with other fruit.

Ever taste the sheer refreshment of strawberries, gently mixed with fine sugar and cubes of orange, over lemon ice or vanilla ice cream? Have you succumbed to the wiles of the scarlet berries and fresh pineapple? You've probably seen this combination artfully arranged in color photographs food artists dream up. Here's how to achieve a picture-pretty look. Place a slice of pineapple on each plate. Cut the hulled strawberries into even lengthwise slices. Arrange a layer of the berry slices over the pineapple like the spokes of a wheel; add another layer to extend over the spaces left by the first slices. Top each arrangement with one juicy-ripe and perfect green-capped berry.

VERY VERSATILE FELLOW—A flirtatious character which teams well with other fruits, the strawberry joins rhubarb here to create a tempting cobbler.

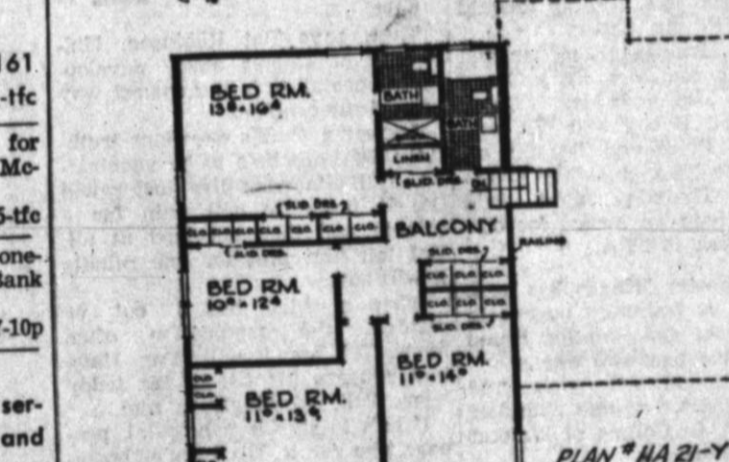

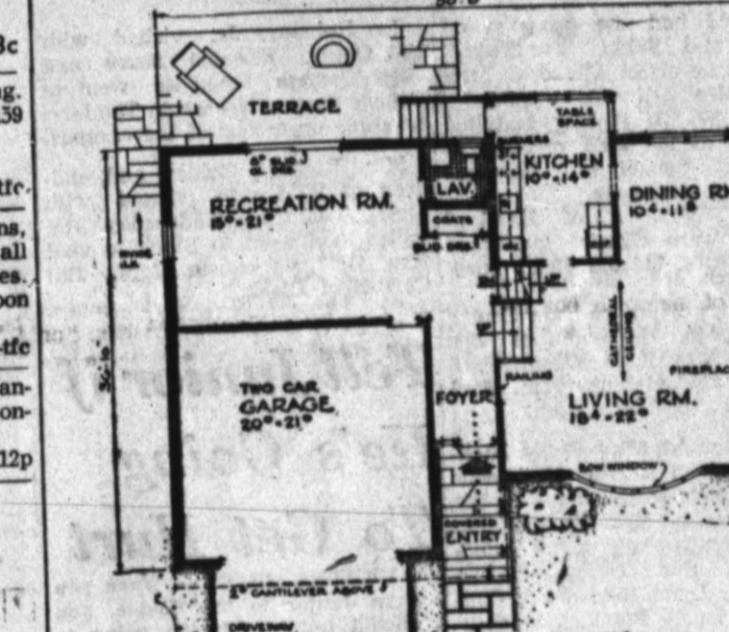

1 cup sifted flour, 1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder, 1/8 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup butter or margarine, 1 egg, 1/2 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons milk, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Method: Rinse strawberries in cold water, hull and drain. Mix berries, rhubarb and 2/3 cup sugar in a heat-resistant glass baking dish (10 by 6 by 1 1/2 inches). Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in butter until mixture is like fine crumbs. Beat egg, 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 cup milk in a bowl. Add vanilla. Fold into flour mixture; do not beat smooth. Pour over fruit and spread. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven 45 minutes. Place on wire rack to cool for 5 or 10 minutes and serve hot with unsweetened whipped cream. Makes 6 servings. Make sure topping is baked through — cake tester inserted is not reliable in this recipe.

STRAWBERRY RHUBARB COBBLER Ingredients: 1 pint basket strawberries, 1 1/2 cups pink rhubarb (cut in 1-inch lengths), 2/3 cup sugar.

U. S. Life Different, 'Things Work Right'

By LAURANCE F. STUNTZ

NEW YORK (AP) — I suppose Rip Van Winkle felt something like I did. Rip slept for 20 years. I was away for 16. We both had surprises due.

To tell the truth, I was a little afraid of coming back. But the kids were growing up and it was time they had some American schooling.

That's why I left the Associated Press' foreign service and came home after 16 years in Latin America.

My first discovery was that life in the United States — if you speak English — is easier than anywhere in the world.

Things work. Public utilities get turned on promptly. You can buy anything you can afford. People do what they say they will when they say they will.

On the other hand, the U. S. is getting more like Latin America in some ways. Take the simple matter of getting a hat cleaned in New York City.

Lots of shoe repair shops display hat cleaning signs. But it doesn't mean a thing. "We don't do that kind of work any more," they tell you.

I finally wound up in a side street hat store. They did the job. But it took a week. In Mexico, they do it in two days.

American department stores are just too big for a simple provincial town south of the border. It takes too long to find what you want to buy.

But is rather a relief after not being able to find it at all in the biggest store in Rio de Janeiro. The food stores are wonderful. You can get anything you want all the year 'round.

Latin America exports its best bananas to the United States. I didn't have a really good one for 16 years.

Same with coffee. The best of the crop is exported. Even the growers drink second-rate stuff.

The vending machines everywhere were a surprise. I'll bet I could live for weeks on what I could get out of a machine. I'm getting callouses on my thumb from feeding in the quarters.

One of my nicest surprises, believe it or not, was the income tax. For one thing, it's not as big as I had judged from the moans of my U. S.-dwelling friends. For another thing, you get so much for your tax money.

For example: My income tax is less than I had to pay for schools for my children in Brazil, my last post abroad.

For that, I get water I can drink right from the faucet. No filtering and boiling first. I get honest policemen who don't come around once a week or month for their "tips." I get wonderful free lending libraries. I get the schools.

And I get pretty reliable weather reports, fairly clean streets and a system of public transportation that usually works.

Furthermore, my tax bill gives me a license to complain. The average American living abroad has to keep his mouth shut about things. After all, it's not his country.

I must say, though, that the railroads here seem to have fallen apart. Trains are mostly dirty and frequently late. On the other hand, buses are bigger, cleaner and faster.

American attitudes proved to be not what I expected. There doesn't seem to be any war psychosis. Nobody seems to think that he, personally, is in any danger from The Bomb.

Right now, everybody is talking about the recession. To a veteran of the 1933 bank holiday, things ought to be pretty worrisome.

But I don't know anybody who is saving money to be ready for a real depression. And there are still more classified ads offering jobs than there are houses for sale.

I haven't made up my mind about television. I still get along with the old-fashioned radio. And the rock 'n' roll doesn't bother me a bit. It couldn't. Not after years of Mexico's cha cha cha, Rio's samba and the Argentine ga-ta.

COOL, CLEAR WATER—What's it like to come home after many years abroad? Mostly it's small things that are taken for granted by most Americans—like drinking water right from the tap. Associated Press Reporter Laurance F. Stuntz, recently returned after 16 years in Latin America, and his children, Cita, 14, and Stephen, 12, try it in the kitchen of their Pelham, N. Y., home.

Remembering Mother Is Not Enough

AP Newsfeatures
Mother would never complain if you gave her nothing more than a 10-cent handkerchief or even a kind word for Mother's Day.

But if you're going to buy her a gift, why not put a little thought into the project, and get something she can use and enjoy all year?

Since all mothers are different, with individual tastes and needs, one general gift list can't possibly please them all. So here is a list of suggestions for specific kinds of mothers:

CAREER MOTHER. . . If she goes to work in an office every day, she'll welcome such things as these: A cosmetics kit for her desk drawer, a smart new handbag to match her new shoes or suit, a piece of gay costume jewelry, a box of stockings in her own size and favorite color, a feminine brief case, a pocket appointment book.

HOMEBODY. . . Nothing would please her more than some gay, pretty but practical aprons, that make housework almost fun. She'd also appreciate some luxury items for the bath, a new negligee, gardening gloves or the latest cooking book.

ENTERTAINING MOTHER. . . If she gives smart dinner parties, get her the accessories — some new and colorful place mats, crystal cocktail glasses, little silver ash trays for the table, a handsome new serving dish for buffet dinners or even a frilly and frivolous hostess apron.

LETTER-WRITING MOM. . . If her children have all moved away from home, the thing she'll appreciate most is a big supply of handsome stationery — all kinds, from correspondence cards to letter paper, in the color she likes, engraved with her monogram or printed with her name and stamp box for her desk. If you want to be really lavish.

ATHLETIC MOM. . . She's easy — just give her some new gear for her favorite sport.

ANIMALS BENEFIT
NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Miss Sallie Louise Beaman's will left four acres of land to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, with a few restrictions. It must look after a pet cemetery on the property, take care of her dogs and use the property as a shelter for animals. And $5,400 was left to care for her dogs.

CLEAN VENTIAN BLINDS
Venetian blinds, be they plastic, wood or metal, often accumulate a greasy film from cooking and heating. This film can be removed with a creamy clean-up wax which also protects the blinds from accumulated dirt and grime.

'CAROUSEL' SCORES AGAIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Add another chapter to the "Carousel" success story.

The Rodgers-Hammerstein musical has been selected as the American theatrical attraction to be presented next spring at the Brussels World's Fair.

Jean Dailrymple, who is both producer and director of this country's entertainment part in the Belgian exposition, settled on "Carousel" after it recently returned to the center for a limited engagement amid critical ovation.

Miss Dailrymple plans to round up as many of the current cast as possible for the overseas version.

THAT MODERN GENERATION
BALTIMORE (AP) — The morning after the northern lights lit up the evening sky, an elementary school teacher in suburban Rosedale asked the class if they had seen the Aurora Borealis.

One boy replied: "I don't know. What channel was it on?"

followed by Miss Terry Smith, 7th grader from Stanton, and David Glenn Alston, also a 7th grader. Judges Blue Turpin and Mesdames Glenn Nelson, W. O. Witherspoon and Charles Laing joined with Department Chief Earl Phillips and Fire Marshal Clay Angelo in expressing their delight and enthusiasm over the high quality of work put forth by students in all the classifications.

NEW BROADWAY FACE
NEW YORK (AP) — Add new faces on the Broadway stage: Ellen McRae, cast in the leading feminine role in "Fair Game," a comedy due in November. Aside from a couple of years of little theatre work in her native Detroit, Miss McRae's performing career has been limited to television only. She has appeared with Jackie Gleason, Steve Allen and on several spectaculars.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. What is a good makeup routine for an acne-pitted face?
A. Fill in the pits with a cream base that is lighter than skin-tone. The cream base can be pressed in and set by using a puff lightly dusted with talcum powder. For the makeup, use a liquid foundation cream of a skin-matching tone, smoothed on evenly and carefully so as not to disturb the first cream base. Then the rouge, and the powder.

Q. How can I cleanse knuckles that have dark lines in them?
A. Use a combination of soapsuds and cornmeal. The gritty kernels will dig in and eradicate the dirt. The starch in the meal also is healing, soothing, and bleaching.

Q. What exercise can I practice to help ward off a double chin?
A. Tilt your head back, being careful not to strain the cords in your throat. Open your mouth wide, and then slowly, with perfect slow motion, close the mouth by pulling up the lower jaw.

Q. How can I remove a fresh wine stain from an unwashable dress?
A. Try using an absorbent, such as French chalk, cornstarch, or fuller's earth. Apply the absorbent, let remain for sometime, then brush it off. Repeat, if necessary.

Q. Is there anything I can do to encourage my eyelashes to become darker?
A. A slight clipping of the ends of the lashes every two months or so will have a tendency to strengthen them and stimulate them, thus darkening them. Petroleum jelly is good, too, for both eyebrows and lashes.

Q. What can I do about a crop of blackheads that has appeared on my back?
A. After allowing the back to soak in cream or oil for a half-hour or so, scrub it well with a stiff brush and soapsuds. Do this frequently, and it will help your condition.

Q. How can I prolong the life of my fingernail polish?
A. By applying two coats of polish, which not only adds to the intensity of the color, but also prolongs its life. Be sure to wait until the first coat is dry before applying the second. Also, be sure to remove a hairline of polish from the tip of the nail with the thumb of the other hand to seal the polish. When the second coat has dried, finish up the job with a clear top coat.

Q. What is a good, revitalizing beauty mask for a face that is pale and colorless?
A. One of the best is a honey mask. Just pat some honey over face and throat in a thin film, leave on 15 minutes, then remove with a damp cloth.

Q. What is a good, beneficial treatment for perspiring hands?
A. A warm water and alcohol bath helps them. Two or three times daily, use an astringent lotion made of one part boric acid to 20 parts water. Then dust the hands afterward with some talcum powder.

Q. How can I help to preserve the auburn tint in my hair?
A. Try diluting a little salt of tartar in a pint of warm water, and rubbing this well into the hair until a good lather is acquired. Leave on for about a half-hour, then rinse out.

Q. How can I treat fingers which have been roughened by much sewing?
A. Wet them thoroughly, then smooth them off with some pumice.

SWEDISH STAR ARRIVES
NEW YORK (AP) — Zahra Norbo, one of Sweden's most successful young actresses, is taking it easy in her first American stage role. Instead of arriving with big splash, the latest arrival from the homeland of Greta Garbo and Ingrid Bergman, has signed to debut in off-Broadway production of "The Italian Straw Hat," a comedy with music.

Miss Norbo, 22, was "Miss Sweden" in the 1955 beauty competition, and besides acting has since been one of Scandinavia's most photographed models.

Since arriving here, her dramatic mentor has been Lee Strasberg of Actor's Studio.

Expansion of Soil Fertility Research for the South Plains

Plans for expanding the soil fertility research to aid in more efficient and economical use of fertilizers for 18 South Plains Counties has been developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. This work will be done in cooperation with the Texas Extension Service, Texas Technological College, High Plains Research Station at Halfway, members of the fertilizer industry, farmers and businessmen of the area.

In the proposed program, basic soil fertility research will be conducted at Lubbock on mixed land soils, at Brownfield on Sandyland soils, and at Halfway on the Hardland soils. In addition, field trial experiments will be conducted on farms to develop information on special soil problems not represented at the three locations where the basic studies will be conducted.

Information from these fertility studies will be correlated with soil tests from each of the locations and field trial to determine the reliability of present tests and to develop more dependable data for predicting the likely response to fertilizer materials.

The expanded research program has been developed to meet the growing demands for information on the use of fertilizer, legumes and other practices to help maintain and improve the original productivity of the soils in the South Plains. The relatively large expansion of irrigation within the past 10 years has brought about intensive cropping, heavy production and a general decline in native soil fertility. The rate of decline has varied widely with the amount of irrigation water used, soil type and cropping practices.

The experimental work on each soil type will be designed to determine the most desirable rates and combinations of nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and trace minerals in relationship to previous land use, irrigation methods, different cropping and management systems. In addition plant physiology studies on plant nutrient uptake, nutrient balance and trace elements will be conducted under field and greenhouse conditions.

A new newly formed South Plains Soil Fertility Committee, representing fertilizer manufacturers, dealers, farmers, businessmen and other industry will serve as an advisory group in the new research work and will help obtain support from various interested groups or parties, August Balzer of the OK-Tex Chemical Co., Lubbock, is chairman of the committee. Stark Royal, Smith - Doubliss Co., Lubbock, is vice chairman, and Walter O'Neal, Lubbock, Olin Mathieson Co., is secretary.

The South Plains Committee has appointed four groups to obtain the needed support for the program. Walter O'Neal, Stark Royal and Alfred McWhorter of International Chemicals & Minerals will represent manufacturers. Farmers are represented by Iyan Block, Hereford; Ben Dopson, Lamesa; Kenneth Purtell, Brownfield; Frank Moore, Plainview; and Elbert Harp, Abernathy. The dealers will be represented by James (Doc) Potts, Taylor Evans Feed Stores, Amarillo; Grady Goodpasture, Goodpasture Grain & Milling Co., Inc., Brownfield; and August Balzer, OK-Tex Chemicals, Lubbock.

New Camp Fire Leaders Sought

New leaders are needed to carry on the Camp Fire program, according to Mrs. Marvin Coffee, Camp Fire Leaders Assn. chairman, who presided at the final meet of the season Friday morning at the Camp Fire Hut.

Many groups of Blue Birds will be flying up to Camp Fire this month and new leaders and assistant leaders will be needed when the groups resume regular activities in the fall.

"Anyone who will consider helping with the Camp Fire program is asked to call Mrs. Walter London Jr. for explanation and assignment," Mrs. Coffee advised.

It was announced that Mrs. Moyer, a former field advisor, will be in Hereford soon to aid in making outlines for the summer camp program.

Mrs. Jack Gilliland led the program for the day on "Methods of Outdoor Cooking" giving simple recipes that may be prepared easily.

Leaders attending the meeting were Mesdames Pete Guinn, Marvin Coffee, W. B. Gibson, Abe Davis, Dean Robbs, J. T. Jones,

Taking things for granted gets a lot of people in trouble. The other day Henry Sears and Jim Bob Allison were looking for J. C. McCracken and finally drove to his farm. The only person in sight was a fellow driving a tractor across the field. Henry and Jim figured the fellow wouldn't know where Mac was, so they came on back home. Friday morning they ran across Mac drinking coffee and were telling him about the deal. "Heck," said Mac. "I was the guy on the tractor!" Naturally, he hasn't convinced the boys, but Mac is sticking to his story.

This probably accounts for the unemployment situation you are always hearing about. If all of the town farmers actually start driving tractors, think what a difference it will make. And, come to think of it, what's the use of being a town farmer — if you have to work?

COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT: This protest stems from a group of citizens on Knight Street, and they seem quite determined to have justice. The whole thing centers around those pictures which The Brand printed last Sunday showing Kenneth Coker in his dandelion patch. Kenneth's neighbors say the dandelions are there, all right — but they have never yet seen Coker making any effort to combat them.

"He does sit on the front porch while his wife mows the lawn," declared Bob Lamm, "but nothing short of trick photography could possibly get Coker into the poses you had in the paper."

Other protests have been lodged by B. F. Cain, Townsend Douglas, Ralph Sears and Gerald McCathern. Coker, it seems, would be the man most likely to win Hereford's "Worst Kept Yard" contest. His neighbors definitely agree with the pictures. Their big complaint is the fact that he isn't following through.

Sam Nunnally turned up this week with one of those cowboy style straw hats. It looks good but, somehow, it doesn't look like Sam. Women seem to spruce out with new hat styles from week to week, but most men get on one style hat — and stay with it. The hat, sooner or later, becomes part of their personality. The ranch style hats have fact been popular in this area. Fact is, you couldn't recognize Cliff Acker, J. A. Pitman or Mike Baird if they blossomed out in any other kind. I guess that is why it was such a shock to see Sam wearing the wide straw.

Ira Scott reports that Hereford certified maize seed growers are finding markets all over the nation. Ira says he shipped one order into Minnesota this year.

Dr. A. T. Mims and Don Little were reviewing highlights of a fishing trip in New Mexico, where they helped open the season last week. They discussed several humorous incidents, how much they enjoyed the outing, the food, and a lot of other things. Finally Dr. Mims said:

"You know, Don, the only thing we needed to make that a perfect trip would have been to catch a fish or two."

The U. S. Army is really on the bal. Approximately 15 minutes after workmen installed the first pane of glass in the new bank building, it was covered with recruiting posters.

H. L. Hershey and Tom Draper were the two husbands attending the Home Demonstration Council meeting and, consequently, were recognized for their interest: "I have been exposed to so many of these meetings at home in the past," said Mr. Hershey, "it just didn't seem right to miss this big one in town."

Mrs. Bess Werner says she appeared on the radio during H-D week and some of her folks reported that her voice sounded like a cross between Laura V. Hamner and Ma Perkins. This voice business invariably shocks folks who hear recordings played back. People listen to their own voices so much that they become accustomed to them, but when they come rumbling back off a tape recorder, the owner is generally quite amazed — and most frequently disappointed.

"Is there anything you can do about it?" asks Mrs. Werner. The best thing, of course, is to realize that you sound "this way" all of the time and, if you have any friends at all, it is obvious that your voice isn't as bad as you thought — or, even better, that you have the finest and most loyal bunch of friends in the whole wide world.

REX TYNES, a former druggist and sure enough old timer, wrote in from Clarendon to have his subscription changed from McLean. Rex figures he will be in Clarendon for a good, long spell. If you don't want to get your ears whipped down, don't challenge him to any chess games by mail. He is sudden death. Many years ago Rex always kept a motto beside his prescription case — and I guess still does. I shall never forget the content, which went something like this:

"I had no shoes, and felt sorry for myself — Until I met A man who had no feet!"

It's peculiar how people will be impressed and remember these sort of things, and this is especially true of people you respect and admire. Needless to say, it works with the less desirable attributes as well as the more noble sides of our nature. The influence people exert as they travel along the pathway of life is far greater than most of us ever stop to realize. This unseen influence stands as a challenge to every Christian, every club member, every father and every husband — and the same is true of every wife and mother.

Anyway, I shall always associate the motto with Rex Tynes. He is a mighty fine fellow, and I am sure that he has exerted a wonderful influence on many young men in this community.

Billy Graham, the evangelist, is one of the few men who approves of the new "sack" dresses. "It takes the sex out of dress," said Graham, who added: "I'm going to have my wife get one." He is a little bit late. My wife got one before the first child was born — and that was a long time ago. I don't like to contradict Mr. Graham, but I still cannot see why a maternity dress wouldn't be connected with sex — somewhere along the line, at least. Guess I am just plain ignorant.

Jack Fortenberry says there is a silver lining to the worst of clouds. He lost 75 per cent of the wheat on a 300-acre tract in a recent hail storm and was pretty blue for awhile.

"Now," says Jack, "it turns out that it wasn't so bad after all, because the other 25 per cent is going to dry up due to lack of moisture."

Lee Benefield is back from his trip to Europe and had a real big time. He figures, however, that some of the places are over-rated, especially in Paris:

"I made it a point to visit all of the so called 'hair raising' spots," declares Lee, "and I'll guarantee not a one of them raised a single hair on my head."

Buckeye is the popular name for a species of chestnut abundant in Ohio.

Broom corn is a grass from which brooms and clothes brushes are made.

A Full Day in the Life of Hereford Mothers

There's One Day That's Sweeter
Than All of the Others

And There's One Mother Sweeter
Than All Others, too,

And That Is this Day
That's Especially for Mothers

And This Is Our Love-Wish
'Happy Mother's Day to You'

8 a.m. —Top of the morning—Remembering mother with flowers is Jeanie Drever's way of beginning this Mother's Day with her mother, Mrs. T. M. Drever. The lovely bouquet of bright yellow tulips seem to be nodding an approval echo of Jeanie's "I Love You."

12 Noon—For you, Mother dear—Tucked away in an attractive little package, which Linda Edwards fondly presents to her mother, Mrs. G. W. Edwards, are oceans and oceans of "love-potions" happily reflected in the smiles of both the giver—and the one who receives.

4 p.m. —Melody of love—One of the happiest times of the day in the Paul Lyons home is when, fresh from afternoon naps, the children gather around their mother at the piano. It may be "Jesus Loves Me" that they are singing—or it may be "Jingle Bells" but it all adds up in a sweet melody of love for mother. The children are Robert 4, left, Jane, 3, and the littlest one, 2-year-old Elizabeth.

8 p.m. —Bed-time story-time—Happy ending to a long busy day for Mrs. Dick Godwin and her two small sons, Ricky, 4, left, and Bill, 2. Story time, the treasured time of shared excitement and adventure while mother reads of faith, fun and fable before the sandman carries them off to a happy dreamland. (Staff Photos)

men's work of the church. Her main hobby is making baby quilts which she gives to her grandchildren and grandchildren of friends. There is so much love in every little stitch that she never sells them, but up to date she has made more than 75 including those for her seven grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

"Many who have seen them want to buy the quilts," she said, "but it would take away some of the pleasure of making them if I commercialized the hobby."

Black H. D. Hosts Progressive Club

The Black Home Demonstration Club met Thursday at the community house with all of the members as hostesses. Progressive Home Demonstration Club members of Hereford were guests.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Dick Rockey. Opening exercise was given by Mrs. Woodrow Whitaker.

The club song, "Ever Onward," was sung by the group. Roll call was answered with "What I enjoyed most about Home Demonstration work this past year." Council report was given by Mrs. Ralph Price.

Plans were made for the Black home demonstration club and the Lakeview club to go together and have a pressure cooker clinic June 10 with the all day meeting at the Black Community House.

The program on "Family File" was given by Jimmie Lou Wainscott. To close the program Mrs. Clyde Hays gave the Kitchen Prayer.

REMEMBER WHEN?

By CHARLIE SEEDS

It seems there's nothing really new in women's fashions... because the experts can always point to a fashion of twenty years ago... or a hundred years... that was really the same idea.

But this was a change, and it swept the country by storm. They called it the New Look. The phrase caught on...

and so did the long skirt which was its chief feature. There had been a time when women's skirts crept up as high as the knees... but now they were many inches lower.

Even men knew all about the New Look. They couldn't help it. Their wives' dresses were all suddenly too short and out of style. Nothing would do but a new wardrobe with the new length of skirt. And there was many a man who would have liked to tell off an upstart French designer named Christian Dior.

But the women loved his New Look, and overnight Dior became the fashion arbiter of the western world.

Remember the year? Cars were scarce that year. There were long waiting lists of prospective buyers. A buyer had to take what he could get in model, extras and trade.

The year was 1947. Times have changed in the car market since then... and today's buyer is in the driver's seat. You can pick your exact model and accessories when you buy a new 1958 FORD from us...

...and you'll get real savings in trade and terms. We're ready to do business your way, at CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., Inc., 146 E. Second. Phone EM 4-2727.

Donna Stagner, Rev. Parrott To Wed in Chapel Ceremony

The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Donna Jean Stagner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Stagner, to the Rev. Robert Earl Parrott, son of Mrs. Walter Stubblefield of Natchitoches, La., and the late Dr. James C. Parrott, was announced at a tea given by her mother Saturday afternoon in the Stagner home, 122 Ave. D.

The Stagner home was decorated throughout with early spring blossoms and the tea table, where the romance was revealed, was laid with an Italian linen cloth, a gift from Miss Stagner to her mother after a trip abroad last summer.

A replica of the good ship "Queen Mary" on a mirror sea banked by orchid and white lilies and bridal wreath, centered the table to reveal the story of the romance on ship board as the couple joined a party June 19, for a vacation tour of Europe last summer. White satin streamers told the wedding news "Bob and Donna-June 19" inscribed in silver.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Stagner and the honoree and Misses Nadine and Joella Weinert of Snyder.

Miss Della Stagner aunt of the bride-to-be, registered the guests, and Mrs. Earl Stagner and Mrs. Virgil Young presided at the refreshment table.

Others in the house party were Mesdames H. E. Miller, Jimmie Allred, G. P. Owen, Gerald Wilson, Howard Scott, S. B. McLallen, E. J. Kirksey and Mesdames Frank Watson and D. C. Kinsey, formerly of Hereford and now of Portales, N. M.

Informal piano music was provided by Mesdames Howard Scott, T. W. Roberson and J. R.

Miss Donna Jean Stagner

Allison

Miss Stagner is a graduate of Hereford High School and of Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene. She has been a member of the Snyder Public School faculty for the past two years.

The Rev. Parrott is a graduate of Louisiana State College at Natchitoches, and of the Perkins Theological Seminary of Southern Methodist University. He is presently the associate pastor of the Munholland Memorial Methodist Church in New Orleans. After June 1, he will serve as director of the Wesley Foundation, Louisiana State University at Baton Rouge, La., where the couple will make their home.

The wedding will take place in Perkins Chapel, Southern Methodist University in Dallas on June 19.

THE PASSING PARADE

MILWAUKEE (AP) — St. Vincent's Infant Asylum is closing its doors because orphanages have become old fashioned.

The asylum, founded in 1904, once cared for as many as 60 children at a time, but populations of orphanages have declined because child welfare experts now prefer placing children in foster homes.

The Daughters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul plan to abandon their present building in the fall. They are considering establishment of a small home for emotionally disturbed teen-age girls.

At The Movies

STAR THEATER

Path of Glory: Story revolves around Colonel Dax, Commander of a French Infantry Regiment on the Western Front in 1915. A nonconformist whose first loyalty is to honesty and decency, Dax is an able, courageous soldier, but he is also a man with a conscience. When three of his best fighting men, following a tragic, ill-planned battle, are accused of cowardice, Dax takes his place alongside his soldiers, although he is told it is in the interests of the morale of the Army that these men must die. Kirk Douglas and Ralph Meeker. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Les Girls: The story begins in London with a suit for libel. Sybil, the English member of the act, now married to Sir Gerald Wren, has written her gay memoirs about her experiences with the troupe, which is known as "Barry Nichols and Les Girls." Barry being its American entrepreneur. In the book she had written that Angele Ducros the act's French dancer, had attempted to commit suicide because of her unrequited love for Barry. Angele, now married to Pierre Ducros, furiously denies this statement and is suing Sybil for slander. Stars Gene Kelly and Mitzi Gaynor. Booked for Wednesday and Thursday.

MADISON, N. J. (AP) — A minister-turned science-teacher attributes his classroom success to his religious — not scientific — training.

EDITORIALS

Senior 'Ambitions' Reflect New Ideals, Place Heavier Emphasis On Happiness

A series of personality sketches of 1958 seniors appeared in The Brand Thursday listing, among other things, ambitions of the various students interviewed. As to be expected, quite a few of the answers were given in a jesting vein, but most of them appeared serious in nature, providing material for extensive speculation.

Whereas government and teaching jobs had little allure several years back, they definitely hold considerable appeal these days. The teaching profession, for instance, got a heavy play among boys as well as girls, and was rivaled only by that of secretarial endeavor. Such professions as game warden, forestry service and nursing entered the picture frequently, along with an occasional preference for the ministry and foreign missions work. Equally as many students would like to become professional entertainers as prefer engineering which, until recently, headed the student preference list.

Although apparently in banter, the students who wanted to become millionaires invariably linked their ambitions with the profession of farming and ranching. Quite a few who didn't mention the millionaire angle, also listed farming and ranching as a choice, and numerous girls cited matrimony and motherhood as their goal.

Hereford's record for high ratio of college attendance will probably continue, according to the sketches. Most of the students did plan to attend college, although some indicated that they will work to make the attendance possible.

All in all, the sketches this year indicated extensive thought and planning on the part of students. Far more, to say the least, than would have appeared 15 or 25 years ago. Most of the class indicated an interest in long-range "happiness," equal the consideration of future "success." This outlook definitely shows a greater understanding and maturity on the part of graduates than was commonly found a decade before.

While we appreciate the fact that the sketches were presented in a semi-humorous vein, we feel that they still afford a yardstick upon which success of our school operations can be estimated. The fact that our graduates do have a sense of humor is a normal, healthy situation which will help them over many rough spots in days to come.

In addition to the cost of buildings, figures show a cost of $296.71 per year, per student for education in Hereford schools; this amounts to $3,560.52 which tax payers have invested in each graduate.

It is a staggering figure when multiplied by 115 to 125 graduates. On the other hand, when you watch the alert, fine looking young men and women march across the stage to receive their diplomas, you realize that it is the best money the community spends. Marching each year with the group goes the hope and future of the United States of America.

Let's Name Most Courteous Shopper

Voting starts Monday in a movement to select "Hereford's Most Courteous Sales Clerk." The contest is sponsored in an effort to stimulate courtesy and is indeed a worthwhile project.

Hereford these days can boast hundreds of courteous clerks. In fact, so many of them are so nice that it would be difficult to make any single choice. Seldom do you run across a clerk who is not anxious to go out of his or her way to efficiently help and please the customer.

Being able to vote for these persons will be a genuine privilege among many customers, most of whom would like to show their appreciation in some manner. Another method, of course, is continued patronage with the firm which makes the employment and livelihood of the clerk possible.

This service factor is pulling more and more customers into the small towns and shopping centers across the nation each day. Many things have changed, but people still take their business where it is appreciated, other things being equal.

We would offer just one suggestion. Once the most courteous clerk has been selected, how about a contest to select the most courteous and considerate customer. The clerks could cast their votes from time to time—and the results might prove highly interesting. Certainly, it's a poor yardstick that won't measure in both directions.

How Many Pigs?

WELDON LACY in The Olton Enterprise: An item in the Shidler (Okla.) Review told of a copy-reader on an Oklahoma paper who couldn't believe it when he read a reporter's story about the theft of 2025 pigs. "That's a lot of pigs," he growled, and called the farmer to check the copy. "It is true that you lost 2025 pigs?" he asked. "Yeth," lisped the farmer. "Thanks," said the wise copy-reader and corrected the copy to read "two sows and 25 pigs."

ON TOUR HERE—Juan Antonio Valentin-Gamazo, left, and Antonio Hidalgo-Granados, agricultural engineers from Spain, were taken on a tour of the Ed and John Paetzold farms near Hereford Wednesday afternoon by Al

Spaniards Study Local Irrigation Techniques

Two representatives of Spain's department of agriculture are in Hereford this week studying irrigation and tillage techniques with staff members of the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District.

Antonio Hidalgo-Granados and Juan Antonio Valentin-Gamazo arrived here Tuesday afternoon and will be in Hereford and area until Wednesday when they leave to continue their tour of the Southwest.

Both Spaniards hold doctorate degrees in agricultural engineering. In Spain they are working with a government program to transform land by irrigation.

Hidalgo, the older of the two, said 125,000 acres are being transformed per year under the program.

"The government buys the land and installs irrigation. The land is then sold to poor people who are given 25 years to pay for it and 60 per cent of the costs of installing the irrigation. The people pay only three per cent interest," Hidalgo said.

"No underground water is used for irrigation in Spain. We get the water from dams," he added.

"Our crops and yours are similar: cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, barley and vegetables," Hidalgo noted.

Valentin and Hidalgo, accompanied by Al Lee of the Soil Conservation office, visited the Ed and John Paetzold farms Wednesday afternoon.

Thursday, they went to farms belonging to Cameron Gault, Chester Wiggalls, Maurice Tannahill, Jack Renfro, Luther Lesly and the Trautmann Bros. They also watched Gifford-Hill Western installing irrigation pipe.

Max Schrader, work unit conservationist, said the two men were shown different types of water pipeline systems and methods of getting water to the rows. "We are trying to fit them in with our regular round of work and show them what's going on. We're also answering questions on plowing techniques, tillage, soil management and harvesting," Schrader said.

From Hereford Hidalgo and Valentin will continue their tour of Texas and then go to New Mexico, Arizona and California. They will return to Spain in three months.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

F.A. Mays Recall 56 Married Years

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL

"I came to Texas when I was a small child," said F. A. Mays of 119 Ave. J. We came in covered wagons from Arkansas in 1889. It had rained so much it took us several weeks to make the trip. I have always been a farmer and a sheepman. I was very bashful as I was never around people too much.

"I had a friend to make my first date with Ollie. She was a lovely girl and I was definitely interested. She was so kind and her folks treated me so nice, I kept going back; not realizing that Dan Cupid was plotting my future. We were married Nov. 16, 1902.

"My HMT buggy was a great help in our courtship as we would drive out of town on Sunday afternoon and return just in time for the evening church service. We went to the Church of Christ. On one of these drives I mischievously put a cocklebur in her hair, just for fun and she had a terrible time getting it out. She was greatly concerned because she thought it would have to be cut out and would leave a bare spot. I helped her get it out and was happy to do so.

"WE WENT TO parties and hayrides and in the fall, after we had finished making syrup, we would all get together for a candy pulling. We used the vat which we used to make the syrup and we got all the young folk by couples to pull the candy. Each couple was given a handful of candy as soon as it was cool enough to hold in our bare hands. We pulled and pulled, working the candy back together, then pulling again. I believe it is called taffy candy now, but we just called it candy. After it got stiff we twisted it into different designs and put it on a greased cloth to get cold, then it was cut into pieces with a butcher knife. It was very sweet and we had fun pulling and eating it as it was almost our only candy.

"Her mother would not let me ask for the daughter but sent me to her father. He had gone to the pasture to get the horses up for feed and I walked with her and asked for his daughter's hand in marriage. He was very nice about it and told me some of the responsibilities of marriage. She was a good cook but a little shy to cook for more than two.

"We raised all of our food, had meat or beef clubs of four families and each would kill a beef and give a quarter to the other three until it had gone around and then begin over again. This was for winter only and we would hang the beef out and let it freeze and never lost any. It had a most wonderful flavor and was so tender and delicious. In the fall we would make a root cave to keep our root crops from freezing and to last through the winter.

"WE DUG A round hole in the ground, deep enough to line it with fodder; then filled it with sweet and Irish potatoes, rutabagas or any other crop that we might have. We covered it over with the fodder and placed a board at least

COMMUNITY CENTER PLANS APPROVED

Plans for remodeling the American Legion Hall to provide a community center were approved by the community recreation group Thursday night. After studying plans by architect C. N. Harrison and a watercolor sketch by Mrs. Emilio Caballero, members of the group unanimously approved of remodeling the Legion Hall rather than constructing a building to be used as a center. Under the remodeling plans there would be no change in the location or amount of space in the game room of the hall. An addition of seven feet would be made to part of the rear of the building. The addition plus interior changes would provide a "Teen Town" for the youth of Canyon.—THE CANYON NEWS

EVENTS MARK SOIL CONSERVATION WEEK

Events which will mark National Soil Conservation week in Salt Fork Soil Conservation District were announced this week by Fred Scuyres, Work Unit Conservationist of Soil Conservation District. The date is May 11 to 18. The one of greatest significance came before the week began, the receiving of area awards by one individual and one group on Thursday night at Littlefield. Thursday, May 15, will be the Minister's tour, in which ministers of Salt Fork SCD are invited to see what is being done to conserve the land. Programs on soil conservation will be given for Rotary Club Tuesday, May 13, and Kiwanis Club Friday, May 16.—WEL-LINGTON LEADER.

DUMAS MAKES READY FOR "DOGIE DAYS"

"We're about ready for the cowboys," Dogie Days rodeo chairman, H. S. "Mutt" McMurry, said Saturday, "with very little work yet to be completed on the permanent rodeo arena at the Lions Club Little League baseball field in Pioneer Park." The biggest job facing Dumas Lions, and the many volunteer workers who have helped with the construction of the rodeo facilities, is painting the maze of steel pipe and heavy lumber pens and chutes. McMurry indicated that the only construction projects remaining were the addition of a few more boards to the top of the arena fence, and completion of the judges' stand. Bleachers now used by spectators at Little League games will also be relocated prior to Dogie Days, June 12, 13 and 14.—MOORE COUNTY NEWS.

The charge will be higher for lots covered with debris.—THE TULIA HERALD.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his birdweed farm claims he's found a scientific truth about living, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I was out here the other afternoon working with my tractor that is, I was sitting down looking at it wondering if I put some gas in it would it start, when I got to thinking about one phase of the satellite program that a lot of people seem to have overlooked.

That is, every once in a while when the scientists set out to launch one, everything works satisfactorily in the first two stages, the thing takes off straight up with a roar, the second stage rocket kicks it higher, but for some reason the third stage rocket fails, the one that's supposed to send into orbit, and the satellite nose-dives into the ocean.

This has the scientists puzzled, but that's because they're not familiar with the rule of life I've discovered that says the third stage is always the hardest.

For example, take plowing. I can handle the first two stages, I can put some gas in the tractor and I can start it, but it's that third stage, driving it up one row and down another, putting it into orbit, so to speak, that I have trouble with.

With other people, it's the other things. Take borrowing money. Some people can handle the first two stages, getting up the nerve to go into the bank, and actually getting the loan, but it's at the third stage, paying it back, that the earlier scientific calculations seem to explode.

Or take getting married. A man can find a woman that marry him and he can get married, but it's that third stage keeping her in orbit, that brings on the headaches. A scientist occasionally may be able to figure out exactly how much it takes to get a satellite into orbit, but the mind man has never mastered the job of figuring out ahead of time what it costs to keep a family's needs satisfied. The mysteries of outer space may be baffling, but they'll never equal the number of unknowns involved in keeping a growing family in orbit, especially when you no sooner get the going in one orbit than they break out in other orbits going in all directions.

Scientists with their nose-diving satellites really have easy.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

12 by 12 inches for a door. Stood up a few bundles for a slanted roof and covered it all with a heavy soil, quite deep so it would not freeze. When we needed vegetables, we dug open this door, pulled out what we needed, replaced the door, soil and all until it was needed again. We never lost any vegetable from freezing.

"After our boys grew up, they often came to the Plains to help their uncle with the harvesting. They loved it and did not want to come back to Coleman to live. One summer we visited and we also fell in love with the Plains. When I saw the irrigated crops and seeing the water flow from the wells in an eight-inch stream looked wonderful to a guy that had been hauling water for family use for nine years. We came to Hereford and bought land in 1946. We made wonderful wheat crops, and later moved to town. Hereford is a fine little town and the climate makes it a wonderful place for living."

"My family moved from Williamson County, Ark., near Georgetown to Coleman County in 1885. We came in covered wagons and my mother drove one of them. It took us some time to make the trip but we enjoyed it all. Later on my father drove 50 head of hogs, just as the cowboys drove cattle. They used horses and it was the same with one exception. They could only be driven in the morning and when they tired it was necessary to let them rest the remainder of the day. They crossed the rivers in ferry boats. Hogs will not swim as cattle will if pushed into water. A few weeks later about 25 of the hogs were stolen, but my father never learned anything about them.

There was a joke going around then, like this "Does it ever rain here? Why sure, drawled the farmer, we had a right heavy fog 'during' the flood."

"OURS WAS A home wedding, the ceremony was read by J. C. White of the Church of Christ," Mrs. May said. "The wedding supper was at my parents' home and the 'entire' dinner at his parents home. There were more than 60 guests but I cannot remember half of them.

"I still have my wedding dress. It is of steel grey broadcloth, all wool but light in weight; completely lined with satin. The coat is fitted and waist length, with white satin lapels reaching to the waist and quilted about two inches wide at the edge. It has long pointed sleeves, also quilted at the wrist. The skirt is cut full with a circular flounce, quilted above and below the flounce, with a deep inverted pleat the full length of the skirt. My husband's suit was of navy granite wool and he paid $18 for it. It would cost 10 times that today.

"We have always lived on a farm and loved it. At that time every farmhouse had a storm cellar of some kind. We had gone to bed rather early; I was asleep but was awakened by thunder. The very stillness gave you a creepy feeling. We looked at the horizon in the south and it was aflame with a queer orange glow that was eerie to say the least.

"We grabbed a few clothes and ran to the cellar. Just as Mr. May tied the door it hit. It was the sound of a dozen freight trains all in one, so loud you could hear nothing but the roar and it was terrible. It was over in a few minutes and we ventured out to see the damage.

"The house had not been hurt too much but the barn had been flipped on its roof and we had tied a pony to a wagon to keep it from knawing a bad foot. It had picked the pony and wagon off the ground and set them down in front of the up ended barn and the pony was on the opposite side of the wagon. The pony was uninjured and the wagon was in perfect shape.

"We used fireplaces for heat in those days and it was great fun to wrap sweet potatoes in heavy cloth wrung out of hot water. Spread a layer of cool ashes on then a layer of hot ones and let them bake. They were so sweet and tasty cooked with all the sugar left in. I learned to cook when quite young but was a little afraid to take the responsibility of cooking for a crowd. It did not take me long to learn to plan a meal as well as prepare it.

"We have had some good times and some bad ones. We are very proud to have lived together for 56 years. 56 years sounds so long, but to us it seems as yesterday working happily together," she said.

POSTURE CONTEST FINALIST — Mary Dufur, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Dufur who live five miles northwest of Hereford, placed fourth in a "Good Posture" contest, observing Good Posture Week over the nation by chiropractors. Preliminary judging took place Thursday evening and finals held Saturday. Bathing suits and formals were worn during the beauty judging portion of the contest, which counted 40 per cent. Sixty per cent of judging was taken on study of X-rays of contestants' spinal columns. A sophomore in Hereford High, Mary won $10 in cash. She was sponsored by Dr. C. D. Kelton of Hereford. Olivia Swain of Pampa was winner. (Staff Photo)

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Awtrey Sr. returned Monday from a vacation, and sight-seeing trip to South Texas. They visited in Combes with friends and relatives of Mrs. Awtrey's. They also visited in Albany with Awtrey's sister. They went to San Antonio and Del Rio. They attended a bull fight at Acuna; Old Mexico just across the border from Del Rio. They reported that it rained most of the time they were in that part of the state, but that the grass is very pretty.

CHRISTIAN MOTHER

Two mothers stood at the entrance to a coal mine, where a terrible accident had occurred. Each had a son trapped somewhere in the mine. The one mother was hysterical, the other calm and quiet. When asked how she could be so undisturbed, she replied:

"My comfort is this: my son was a devout Christian. If he has been killed, he is with God in heaven, where I shall soon meet him. If he is alive, then God is with him and will bring him safely back to me."

Fortunate lad to have such a mother! She had prepared him for life. But, more important, she had prepared him for death!

It took years of teaching and training, years of a consistently good example on the part of the mother, to prepare for that fateful hour. She had prayed—and she had taught her little boy to pray. She had gone to church—and she had taken him along Sunday after Sunday.

He was her son, but she had brought him to Baptism so that God might make him His son. She had told him about the love and promises of Christ and encouraged him day after day to place his faith in the Savior. In order to receive forgiveness for their sins and to strengthen their faith, she and her son had gone side by side to partake of the Lord's Supper frequently.

And so it was not an accident that she could now stand calm and undisturbed at the entrance to the mine in the face of terrible disaster. She had done her duty as a Christian mother. Her son was safe in his Savior's keeping. Is yours?
