Wheat Quota Vote Set For Thursday

Deaf Smith County wheat growers will go to the polls Thursday to decide whether or not a wheat marketing quota program is to remain in effect for the 1961 crop.

The referendum will be held from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m., according to Faust Collier, manager of the Deaf Smith County Agricultural and Conservation Office in Hereford.

Polling places include: Community A, Commissioner's Precinct 1, County Ball Barn; Community B, Precinct 2, County ASO office; Community C, Precinct 3, Walcott School; and Community D, Precinct 4, Simms Commu-

Marketing penalties will apply to the excess wheat of growers who do not comply with their farm allotments, and price support will be available at not less than 75 per cent of parity, the exact level to be announced later.

If more than one-third of the voters oppose the quotas, there will be no quotas or penalties for the 1961 wheat crop, and price support will be available.

Johnson Found Not Guilty Of Robbery Charge

Thurmond Johnson, 45, a farmer-rancher who lives near Frio, was found not guilty to charge of robbery by assault by an all-male jury in 69th District Court early Thursday morning.

The jury arrived at the verdict of not guilty at 1:15 a. m. Thursday after hearing final arguments presented by attorneys at 11 p. m. Wednesday.

Johnson was indicted April 12 by the Grand Jury. Prior to that time, he was under $1,000 bond set after he was arrested and charged with the felony offense of robbery by assault.

The charge had resulted from a complaint filed on Feb. 23 by a Deaf Smith County farmer, Al Smith, the complaint alleging that Johnson had, by assault and violence, forced the complainant to write a $13,850.51 check drawn on the First National Bank of Hereford on the morning of February 23.

Attorneys for the defendant were John D. Aikin and Earnest Langley of Hereford. Presiding in court was District Judge Harry Schultz of Dalhart. District Attorney Frank McKown of Dumas represented the state.

Trial for Johnson began at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday after more than a day of selecting the 12 jurors from a panel of 88. District Clerk Lucille Posey read the verdict, which was signed by jury foreman A. J. Schroeter, at 1:15 a. m. Thursday.

Jurors were Schroeter, S. S. Dodson, Lewis West, Jack Higgins, Clyde Cave, Sam Morgan, C. W. Parker, B. J. Lueb, N. R. Miller, Neal Cooper, Paul Corbett and Leslie Combs.

While the jury was in chambers, District Judge Schultz heard a plea of guilty entered by John T. Jennings, who had been indicted for forgery and passing Jennings received three years probation.

Man Injured In Fire On Farm

While filling a tractor with butane early Saturday morning a 39-year-old Hereford negro man received minor burns about the face when the fuel ignited.

A. C. Johnson, an employee on the A. R. Dillard farm, 14 miles northwest of Hereford, was released from the emergency room of Deaf Smith County Hospital shortly after the burns were treated.

Johnson was filling the tractor tank at about 2 a. m. Saturday when the butane ignited. He was taken to the hospital by Dillard.

A Hereford Volunteer Fire Department engine was dispatched to the scene, and the fire was extinguished in a short time by W. J. (Dub) Reeves, fire chief, and Clay Angelo, fire marshal.

Angelo said the fuel continued to burn as it came out of the filler hose. Front tire of the tractor was burned, and some of the cut-off valves of the tank were damaged, he said.

Employees on the farm pulled the tractor away from the tank before the fire engine arrived. About 500 gallons of butane were lost in the fire.

CARRYING ON the tradition, six members of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department left Saturday for a week of basic training at College Station. Members of the Department, at the end of this school, will have more than 2000 man-hours of service training at the annual program. Seated is Chief Dub Reeves. # Students Explain Work For Kiwanis

Five of the students of the Migrant Ministry Group have the program for the Kiwanis Club Thursday, explaining some of the activities and problems of the work camp.

The students include the Rev. Bob Story of Nashville, Tenn., Joyce Lumpkin of Houston, Susan Munsie of Decatur, Ill., Merle Oleson of Sioux City, Iowa, and Wayne Ewen of Bonham.

The Rev. Story, the work camp co-ordinator, began the program by relating some of the background for the work camps.

The churches sensed a need for the students to come together, to grow to understand each other, and to work together in an area of need, he said.

The students put their individual ideas together to plan the activities and the schedules for the camp and "whatever the 12 of us give, this is what our life together becomes."

Miss Lumpkin said one of the real problems was prejudice. She said it was easier for a group to come in from the outside who were not involved with the immediate situation that it is for the residents who live here.

As long as we can stay detached from them, we can avoid prejudices, but when we are forced to become involved and do not understand them, we become prejudiced. When we break this barrier, we will be on the way to living a Christian life," she said.

Rev. Robert Story

Merle Oleson said that the major and primary purpose of the work camp was to build a building for the migrants. "Other than that," he said, "we are learning to live together and our own needs are being fulfilled through this experience."

"When we go back home, we can be more of service to our home towns and people," he said.

Susan Munsie discussed the work camp in terms of the challenges that are met every day. She said it was a challenge at the sight to become acquainted with the little children who cannot speak English.

"The work camp will be a challenge to you because it will be left up to you to carry on the program which we have started," she said.

Wayne Ewen closed the program by saying, "Through working with 12 individuals, you find a dialogue with God."

Wheat...

(Continued from page 1) able at 50 per cent of parity, as directed by law. Allotments will remain in effect as a condition of price - support eligibility. Collier said that all local growers who will produce more than 15 acres of wheat as grain, in 1961, and their wives, will be eligible to cast ballots in the referendum.

Growers who will have smaller wheat acreages in 1961 and those who are taking part in the feed wheat program are not eligible to vote, since the wheat from such areas would not be subject to marketing penalties under a quota program.

"Farmers who vote in the referendum will be the ones who decide what kind of program will be in effect for the next wheat crop," Collier reminded.

Official notices of farm allotments for the 1961 wheat crop were mailed to 1,231 wheat farmers in this county recently. This county received a 4.82 acre allotment reduction on next year's crop.

The county received a reduction of from 200,423 acres in 1960 to 196,341 acres in 1961. Texas received a 1.1 per cent cut, and this county received a reduction of two per cent.

The release men for operation of their farms, this year women in the county have agreed to serve as judges of the referendum. They will meet at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in the First National Bank Community Room to receive instructions and supplies.

Judges include: Community A - Mrs. E. C. Hammett, chairman, Mrs. L. W. Tooley, vice - chairman, Mrs. H. L. Hershey, member, and Mrs. O. L. Williams, alternate; Community B - Mrs. R. L. Rouse, vice - chairman, Mrs. S. N. Thweatt, member, and Mrs. G. V. Hall and Mrs. Ruth Coleman, alternates; Community D (Simms Community House) - Mrs. C. F. Dyer, vice - chairman, Mrs. R. E. Simmons, member, and Mrs. LeRoy Williamson, alternate.

Forum...

The Rev. Don R. Davidson, former Hereford pastor and chairman of the conference board on homes and hospitals, was invited to talk with the group about the proposed home.

Following his visit here in January, and additional study, the group voted to make a bid to have such a home located in Hereford.

Earrest Langhey presented the bid at a meeting of the conference in May. The bid was received, with no commitment made, and the special corporation was formed.

Members of the corporation visited in Hereford and studied several other towns which later made bids.

Last month, the special board met in Lubbock and unanimously voted to locate the first of four planned homes in Hereford. Only stipulation was that Hereford was to provide a suitable site and a goodwill gift of $100,000, of which up to $18,000 could be the site.

Purpose of the forum is to answer questions and provide information about the home, which would have an initial cost of about $1,000,000. There would be living facilities for about 130 central services facilities for twice that number.

Total investment in the home at the end of five years is expected to be about $1,500,000. Henry Sears, who heads the finance committee of the Hereford Area Foundation, pointed out that the $82,000 cash will have to be secured by donations or pledges by Sept. 14, since the final decision on the home location will be made on Sept. 15.

He emphasized that not all the goodwill gift would have to be on hand, since pledges would be accepted.

An intensive fund drive locally will start after Sunday's forum, he said.

The Rev. Davidson is planning to stay in Hereford next week, interviewing prospective residents of the home and answering any questions which might arise.

She is a member of Pi Kappa Lambda, an honorary fraternity for music people and the musical equivalent of Phi Beta Kappa. She is also a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music honorary.

Miss O'Steen enjoys reading and visiting with friends in her spare time. During the winter her time is taken up with teaching and practicing.

"I want to go on with my teaching in the future and continue to perfect my music," Miss O'Steen said.

A favorite of Miss O'Steen's is the "Schuman Symphonic Etudes" but the piece which is her "workhorse" is the "Mephisto Waltz" by Liszt.

"You must choose pieces which fit your style," Miss O'Steen said.

Miss O'Steen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Mealer of Irving.

How Can I?

By Anne Kubley

Q. How can I repair a crack in a basement laundry tub?

A. First, widen the crack in your tub by opening dirt, grease, and soap. Next, mix some litharge and glycerine to a putty just stiff enough to be worked into the crack easily with a putty knife. Let your repair patch dry for at least 24 hours before running any water into the tub.

Q. How can I tighten the handle of an umbrella that has become loosened?

A. Fill the hole in the handle with powdered resin, heat the rod, and press it firmly into the hole; then lay it aside for a while to set.

A. What causes pie meringue to become tough?

A. Meringue will be tough and will shrink when set away to cool if baked in an oven that is too hot.

Q. How can I make some vine supports on a concrete wall without the trouble of drilling into the concrete?

A. Press some dabs of plastic wood at intervals on the concrete wall. This is weatherproof and waterproof, and will adhere firmly to stone, brick or stucco. When the plastic wood has hardened, staples can be driven into it for holding your guide wires or string.

Q. How can I remove white-wash from a ceiling?

A. Dissolve one pound of alum in one gallon of strong vinegar. Apply with a brush, allow to soak in well, and then scrape and wash in the usual way.

FARM SUPPLY

621 E. First                      EM 4-1120

By JIMMIE GILLENINE
The Democrats took top billing all week, and no doubt about that. Personally, I wasn't too proud of "our own" Lyndon B. Johnson, especially when he sold out to the Labor - Liberals. I figure he couldn't beat 'em, so he just joined 'em. Anyway, he is now another one of Walter Reuther's boys, and should be quite happy except for his conscience.

I could tell that "Mr. Sam" was more than a bit miffed about the whole deal and maybe even Mr. Daniel. Ladybird smiled and smiled, though, and I'll bet her heart fluttered twice when that "Colored Gentleman" made Lyndon's seconding speech. It was too bad his old Texas pappy couldn't have been there to rejoice with them.

Furthermore, that party platform probably upset the Russians more than a little bit. By the time Mr. Khrushchev reads it carefully and sees where the federal government would take over the schools, highways, medicine, and make all private business places furnish special foam rubber pillows for sitdown strikers, that old boy will have his work cut out if he expects to outdo the Democrats. Mr. K has already announced that the Commies will take over this country, but he'd better hurry up - he might not want it. Wayne Thomas bet Henry Sears a cup of coffee, and gave three - to - one odds, that neither Kennedy or Johnson would be nominated by the Democrats. Since both men were nominated, this promotes Wayne to top man in the "How Wrong Can You Be" department, and the way I figure it, he owes Henry at least six cups of coffee. I don't mind taking second place in this department, for a change, especially when someone makes such a 100 per cent. clean sweep. Next thing you know, Wayne will be predicting the weather, and that's the last straw.

Melvin Young is vacationing this week, which provides my excuse for not writing the Bull Column Thursday. I had around 25 legitimate protests, and some of them got downright nasty. Needless to say, I dearly loved them each and every one, especially F. W. Dool who said his paper sales dropped more than 50 per cent. In the acting profession they call this "ham," and I guess the same term pretty well fits the column writing business. Besides, Melvin takes the most peculiar vacations of anyone I ever knew. A few years back, he painted his house and this year he planned to spend his off time moving. Melvin says this is far, far more pleasant than the trip he made last year to California, especially if you count the two blowouts and the engine trouble he had in Arizona.

Vacations are good for the average business, though. When the employee gets back, he downright appreciates the air conditioned office and the paid coffee breaks. Palmer Norton is about to decide this Chamber of Commerce routine is for the birds. He says you can't even enjoy a decent headache without interruptions. Friday, during the absence of Manager Bill Thompson, Palmer was in bed nursing a sinus condition and got so many calls that he finally dressed and came to town to attend some meetings. It turned out all right, though, because when he got back home that night he still had the headache.

Meanwhile, it seems that I have maligned and besmirched fair name of the great state of Virginia. I was writing about Pick Harman going back to Richmond, W. Va., but, instead of Richmond, I said Richmond. A former Richmond resident - I didn't get her name - was most unhappy about the mistake. And I don't blame her. Nobody would want a character like Harman reported in their hometown even if it was the truth, which it wasn't. Besides, Richmond, Va., according to the lady, is 240,000 or more population, and not the paltry 4,800 attributed to Richwood, W. Va.

I have nothing against Virginia, Oklahoma and New Mexico are the states that give me trouble; occasionally Colorado, until they priced things out of my class, then quit giving trade stamps.

The Jim Roberts family recently made a trip to old hometown of Lewisville, Miss., and had a nice visit with relatives and friends. Their daughter, Beverly, took along 13 - year - old Sharon Tinnin as a special guest, and the young lady was deeply impressed with Southern atmosphere, especially the drawing speech. Glad to be home again, she burst in the Tinnin living room to announce: "Guess what, Mothaw? I done got home with fawty cents."

* Things are really busting in the N. D. Bartlett subdivision across from Piggly - Wiggly (Gaylord Newell said always put it this way instead of "a cross from the post office"). Helen McCauley plans to move soon, maybe next week, and the Sears man dropped in to say that they will open probably early in August.

I also hear many people talking about the recent resignation of Howard Scott as pastor of the First Baptist Church. Dr. Scott honestly merits the title, but I understand that he has a tough time getting used to it. Anyway, they are fine people and will be missed by many friends. Cleburne, I hear, will be their next stop.

Ben Childers is already wanting to know when it will rain again. Some people are never satisfied. Even now, he won't get through chopping weeds before Labor Day, but wants to know when it will rain again. Can you beat it?

The foggy moors of England are rich sources of slate and granite.

Beauty At Home

Q. How can I make a good bleaching pack for very much neglected hands?

A. Mix three tablespoons of powdered oatmeal with two tablespoons of clear, fresh peroxide of hydrogen and three or four drops of tincture of benzoin. Work this between the fingers and over all the hands. Then don some rubber gloves and let it stay on half an hour to an hour. Then wash off, and treat the hands with some olive oil.

Q. What is a good treatment for a very dry type of skin?

A. Oatmeal or almond meal treatments are fine, since these meals contain oils which are very solvent and penetrating, and the pores of the skin yield their waste matter to this penetrating treatment. Slightly moisten either type of meal with quite hot water, sufficient to make a paste. Apply this gently to the skin with the fingertips, rubbing well in. Remove with warm water. Repeat this process several times until you feel sure that your face is clean, then follow this with some cold-water rinses.

Q. What is a good hip and thigh reducing exercise?

A. One of the best is the scissors kick. Lie on right side, right arm up, head resting on arm, left arm in front on floor for support. Stiffen the knees and lift the legs slightly off the floor. Keeping the knees stiff, "walk" with straight legs parallel to the floor, scissors - fashion. Do this 20 times or more, then rest, and repeat on the other side.

Q. How can I treat excessive perspiration of my feet?

A. With soap - and - water scrubbings - plunges in - hot and cold water alternately - using an alcohol or menthol lotion and powdered alum, after the feet have been bathed and dried. If

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. How can I prevent sticking of windows due to the weather stripping?

A. Rub a cloth dipped in hot paraffin over the stripping. This will leave a smooth track for the window sash.

Q. Just what are the proper paintbrush cleaning agents for the various kinds of paints used?

A. For oil paints and varnishes, use turpentine and then naphtha or kerosene. For flat paints, just naphtha or kerosene. For shellac, dehydrated alcohol does the trick. For lacquers, acetone this trouble is chronic with you, better consult your doctor.

Q. What after - shampoo rinse for keeping light - colored hair light - looking?

A. Very good for this purpose is the juice of a lemon in a pint of water.

and naphtha. For calcimine and other water paints, just plain old water.

Q. How can I prevent trap sickness?

A. This can often be prevented by eating a lemon. The chewing of gum is also effective in many cases.

Q. How can I remove kerosene spots from fabric?

A. Scour the material with turpentine, then with warm water and soap.

Q. How can I prevent a dark ring around the yolk of a hard-boiled egg?

A. By boiling the egg no longer than fifteen minutes, and then placing in cold water.

Q. What can I do about a felt hat that has become spotted by rain?

A. Try rubbing the surface of the hat with some steel wool until the nap is raised, and you will find that the spots have disappeared.

Indians And Tigers Defeat Red Sox In Thursday Games

In a continuing series of double-header games, the Indians chilled the Red Sox 17-3 and the Tigers clawed the Red Sox 5-3 in rapid succession Thursday night.

Ronnie Duncan hurled a no-hitter in the first contest, but the Reds scored three unearned runs on miscues.

The Red Sox started out like they meant business with three runs in the top of the first. Jackie Andrews and Robert Strange walked and Jerry Don McCaslin got on by fielder's choice that failed to get a runner. Joe Childers walked, Danny Loerwald was hit by the pitcher and Dick Lookingbill walked to shove in another run.

The Indians roared back with four runs on three hits in the rest of the first. Gary Stagner singled and Duncan homered to start things off. Billy Hill walked and scored on a stolen base. He passed ball and an error. Gary Royal was hit by the pitcher. He tallied on a balk and a single by Larry Minks.

Billy Hill and Ronnie Duncan scored in the second on a walk, an error and passed balls.

The Tribe garnered four more unearned runs in the third. Royal walked and went around on a passed ball, an error and a wild pitch. David Kendall walked and Minks got on by error. Joe Parker and Gary Stagner walked. An error allowed the fourth run to score.

And seven more runs came in during the last of the fourth. Royal walked, Kendall got on by error, Minks followed suit and John Kovacs was safe on a fielder's choice that got Royal.

Stagner, Duncan and Hill walked to load the sacks before Gaytan Otts greeted a relief pitcher with a grand slam homer.

The game was called with just one out because of the 12-run margin rule in the last of the fourth.

After allowing the three unearned runs, Duncan was very effective. He gave up two walks in the second, but struck out two. He fanned three in the third and two more in the fourth.

Jerry Don McCaslin started on the hill for the Red Sox, but moved in favor of Johnny Northcutt in the second. Strange came on in the fourth. McCaslin absorbed the loss.

The Indians got just four hits, but two of those were homers. In the second game, the Red Sox were limited to just two hits as Frank Cain pitched for the Tigers.

The Bengals used a nine-run outburst in the second inning to break a scoreless tie.

Jim Gutierrez and Mike Ranspot singled to start the rally.

Richie Albracht walked and Arvell Williams doubled. Mike Ferguson and Ray Behrend singled. Then Anthony Mays and Chuck Callaway singled before the first out.

The Reds added two runs in the fourth. Johnny Northcutt singled and moved around on a walk, two errors and two more walks, followed by McCaslin, who used the same route.

Mike Ferguson scored for the Tigers on a walk, two stolen bases and a wild pitch.

The Bengals garnered two more in the fifth. Gutierrez and Ranspot walked, moving around on another walk, a fielder's choice and an error.

Use 'Pep Pills' Only Under Doctor's Advice

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE they?

A generation ago high school and college students studying for exams kept awake with coffee.

Nowadays "pep pills" fill the need for a stimulant during all-night cramming sprees. But pep pills are far more harmful than coffee.

What are pep pills? What do they do? And what harm are Garcia, R. B. Hutson, Sue Brown, 7-14.

 Mrs. Val Mathis, 7-15.

Look Who's New!

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Brown are the parents of a baby boy born July 13 at 6:08 p. m. and weighing 7 pounds 11 1/2 ounces. A seven pound 12 ounce baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bruce on July 14 at 2:39 a. m.

The drug from which they are made is amphetamine. It is manufactured by over 100 drug houses and marketed under innumerable trade names as pills or as nasal inhalers. It has been estimated that over six billion doses are taken every year in the United States.

Amphetamine is used in medicine to relieve nasal congestion, hence the inhaler form of the drug. But it has other effects besides its action on stuffy noses. It has a powerful brain stimulant, raises blood pressure, increases heart rate and muscle tone and at the same time causes a striking drop in appetite. The drug acts quickly. About 10 to 20 minutes after taking a 10 mgm pill a person becomes talkative, feels more alert, is fired up with energy and self-confidence. Fatigue is masked and he is able to push himself on without stopping for the normal sleep and rest his body needs.

Under medical supervision amphetamine is a very useful drug. It is used to rouse a patient from depression, and useful in treating alcoholism and epilepsy. It is used to help overweight people take off excessive pounds.

Used properly under the supervision of a doctor, amphetamine can do much good.

But when taken indiscriminately, it can do great harm. Over dose of amphetamine causes headache, dizziness, delirium, convulsions, sudden blackouts. It can cause hallucinations resulting in all sorts of anti-social behavior. An overdosed person may go into a panic state and attempt either suicide or homicide.

A peculiar thing about this drug is that when taken by a group of people (usually teenagers) at the same time its effects seem to be multiplied by the stimulation each gets from his pepped up neighbor. Gangs of youngsters in possession of a supply of bootleg "binnies" work themselves up into a reckless disregard of their normal code of values. Burglaries, hold-ups, gun fights, sex crimes sometimes result.

Amphetamine is a "prescription only" drug but the profits from bootleg supplies are enormous. The Food and Drug Administration has a campaign to arrest and prosecute illegal peddlers of amphetamine pills. But the profits from the sale of bootlegged pep pills are so great that it is difficult to stamp out the traffic.

Education of the American public to the dangers of the misuse of this drug is essential. Parents need to understand the possible harm and suffering that often follows what seems in the beginning an innocent use of this drug. The only legitimate use of this powerful drug is on prescription from your doctor, who will see to it that you do not take too much.

CASPER, Wyo. (AP) - A woman complained a city employe abused her with vile language after giving her car a good whack with a broom. City Manager Henry Rolfe investigated and found a street employe who confessed "cussing" the woman.

But he told Rolfe he lost his temper only after the woman drove around a "do not enter" sign, drove over freshly painted stripes, struck him from behind and knocked him to the pavement. He said his broom flew into the air and landed on the car.

PETUNIA SEEDS EXPENSIVE GREYBULL, Wyo. (AP) - Frank Copp found out five ounces of double petunia seed is a lot of petunia seed.

He ordered that much from a seed firm in Billings, Mont. The firm wrote Copp to ask if he was certain he wanted five ounces.

Copp wasted no time in replying he didn't. The seed sells for $500 an ounce.

AMBUSH AHEAD: Manikins of Indians at New York City's "Freedomland U.S.A." aim weapons which automatically spout fire on signal as sound track fills the area with blood-curdling cries.

New Amusement Center Combines History, Fun

BY BERNARD GAVZER
NEW YORK (AP) — When it comes to geography, New Yorkers supposedly think the West begins on the New Jersey side of the Hudson River and stretches in a wasteland to an oasis known as Hollywood.

The provincial, native New Yorker may soon get an even more lopsided notion of the nation's geography.

Just north of Manhattan, on what was mostly swampland, 80 acres have been shaped into an outline of the United States. With its borders, New York is a hop and skip to Chicago, then a wee jump to New Orleans, making it seem that a jaunt to the Midwest would take less time than crossing Fifth Avenue during rush hour.

This is "Freedomland U.S.A." — the East Coast version of the West Coast's "Disneyland." But where "Disneyland" brings storybook fantasies to bigger-than-life dimension, Freedomland concentrates on major historical events or eras in American life.

The man who did much of the groundwork leading to the creation of "Disneyland," 38-year-old Texan C. V. Wood Jr., is the key figure in the 65-million-dollar Freedomland project.

Taking reasonable pride in the intricate, complex detail work that went into bringing the center to life, Wood nevertheless admits that even the best-laid plans couldn't provide for everything.

Consider the trouble with some Bronx buckeroos. In an area representing the route of the trees and boulders and land features typical of the Northwest sector were reproduced. For added zest, animated manikins Pawnee Indians are positioned for a gun battle. When a switch is thrown, these life-like dummies move, weapons automatically spout fire and a sound track fills the area with blood-curdling cries.

But the Pawnees—great and fearless fighters of the plains—

PARLOR PLANE-BUILDER: Richard Fitzgerald explains to his family the finer points of wing construction. He is building a light plane in the living room of his home, and expects to fly it this summer.

Builds Plane In His Own House

By EARL ARONSON

ELMIRA, N. Y. (AP) — Remember that fellow who built a boat in his basement and couldn't get it out?

Well, Richard Fitzgerald won't have the same problem with the airplane he is building in his living room. When the craft is complete, it will be taken to the airport in three sections — two wings and fuselage.

The Elmira businessman began this project a year ago. He expects to be flying his plane this summer.

The test flight will bring some suspense, he admits. "But I'm not really worried," he says. "It's just a question of whether it will perform the way I want it to. I have no doubt it will hold together and fly."

The plane's presence has startled many visitors. A wing fills the second living room. Often, the project spills into the kitchen.

Mrs. Fitzgerald, who learned how to use a sewing machine to qualify as chief fabric sewer, and the six-year-old Fitzgeralds are enthusiastic. Norman, 11, helps with the painting.

With the exception of the engine, all parts have been made from raw materials, such as steel tubing and plywood.

Fitzgerald, a member of the Binghamton Chapter, Experimental Aircraft Assn., has been flying for three years and has been talking for nearly as long about building his own plane.

Finally his wife called his bluff. "I'll buy the plans and specifications if you build it," she said, never expecting he would.

The one - place Model SA 3 A Stits Playboy will be 18 feet long, with a 22 - foot wingspan and a 65 horsepower Continental engine. Fitzgerald figures his cost will be $1,000 for a plane that would sell for $5,000.

Vows Are Exchanged Saturday

Mrs. William Wade Wolfe, the former Miss Jean Gilliland of Dallas

(Hodge Park Studio Photo)

The candlelight wedding of Miss Cecil Jean Gilliland of Dallas and William Wade Wolfe, also of Dallas, was read at 6 p.m. Saturday, July 16, by the Rev. Russell Wingert in the Hereford First Presbyterian Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Gilliland of 6019 Prestonshire, Dallas. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Benrye M. Wolfe and the late Perry Talbot Wolfe of Dallas.

The double-ring ceremony was performed before an altar banked with baskets of white spider chrysanthemums and graduating tapers in seven branched candelabra.

Mrs. John Sims, organist, presented a medley of wedding music and accompanied Taylor Sims, vocalist, who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride's sister, Royce Gilliland of Hereford, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Marline Gilliland of Hereford, Janie Bowles and Linda Montgomery of Dallas.

Identical dresses of ice blue silk organza were worn by the feminine attendants. They were fashioned with fitted bodices and scoop necklines with cap sleeves and full skirts. Delicate net hats with velvet trim echoed the tones in their frocks and they carried crescent shaped bouquets of white spider chrysanthemums.

Preston Wolfe of El Paso assisted the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Bassel Wolfe of Dallas, Frank Williamson and Sidney Seligman of Lubbock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a wedding gown of dupioni silk and Chantilly lace, designed with molded bodice finished with a rounded decolletage neckline and short sleeves. From the low bodice waistline the full bouffant skirt enhanced with inserts of matching lace extended to a graceful chapel train. A crown of lace and seed pearls caught the silk illusion veiling that fell to fingertip length. The bridal bouquet was a white orchid nestled in stephanotis carried on a white Bible.

Her only ornaments were a pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, and an antique brooch belonging to her great aunt, Mrs. Reed Williams.

At the reception held in the church parlors following the wedding, the bride's table was laid with a white organza cloth over blue and centering the table were the attendants' bouquets. The tiered wedding confection was done in white, topped with tiny blue sugar spun blossoms.

Making up the house party were Mrs. Bassel Wolfe of Dallas, Mrs. Preston Wolfe of El Paso, Mesdames Carl Roberts, and Allen Benton of Lubbock, Mrs. W. yne Hill of Crosbyton, Miss Mary Branson of Dallas, Mesdames Marlin Gilliland, Jack Gilliland, Charlie Hill, Ralph Hastings, J. T. Gilbreath Jr., and Miss Donna Hill, all of Hereford.

For the wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev., the bride wore a beige and white knit sheath with bone accessories. After July 22, they will be at home in Lubbock.

The bride is a graduate of Dallas High School and received her degree from Texas Technological College in June. While in college she was named a La Ventana (College Annual) beauty and was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority.

Mr. Wolfe is also a graduate of a Dallas High School and of Texas Technological College. There, he belonged to the Double T Association and was a member of the varsity basketball team.

He is now employed with T. I. M. E. Inc. Motor Freight Line in Lubbock.

Hereford Man Weds Tyler Girl In Saturday Ceremony

Wedding vows were exchanged in a double-ring ceremony Saturday, July 16, by Miss Shirley Ann Gray and Virgil Royce Cocanougher in the Pollard Memorial Methodist Church of Tyler.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Gray, 330

Hillcrest Drive, of Tyler. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cocanougher, 210 Ave. D, Hereford.

The Rev. Charles Godbey officiated as the vows were exchanged before an altar arranged with gold urns filled with white gladioli and stock and seven branched candelabra flanking a white satin covered kneeling bench. Indirect lighting focused the large gold cross hanging in the center background.

Mrs. Ralph Chambers, organist, and John Bass, soloist, presented the traditional wedding music.

Attendants were Mrs. Louise Jenkins of Little Rock, Ark., matron of honor, and Don Cocanougher of Hereford, brother of the bridegroom, as best man.

Mrs. Jenkins was attired in a pink sheer street-length dress styled with draped bertha collar ending in a deep V in back accented with a bow of self material, and full skirt. She wore a halo of pink silk flowers in her hair with draped short veil, and carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Ushers were Carroll W. Jones and Jessie D. Morris of Tyler.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, chose an ice blue crystalline frock styled over taffeta with lace accents. The Sabrina neckline was outlined with blue chantilly lace motifs embroidered with sequins and pearls. A full street-length skirt and lace gauntlets sprinkled with seed pearls completed her costume.

Her shoulder length tulle veil was attached to a tiara of sequins and seed pearls and the bridal bouquet of a white orchid with carnation streamers was carried on a white Bible.

A reception honored the couple in the church parlors following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a white linen cutwork cloth underlaid with blue candles flanking the bride's bouquet in the center.

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. Ruby McCain of Swan, Mrs. JoAnn Mallory of Lindale and Mrs. Sue Johns of Tyler.

For the wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a toast linen suit with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Upon their return the couple will reside in Tyler at 414 West Elm St.

The Frio Home Makers Club met Tuesday afternoon in the party room of the First National Bank in Hereford. Mrs. Frank Robbins was hostess for the occasion and the program for the meeting was a talk given by Mrs. Helen Coffman, who teaches first grade at Central School in Hereford. Mrs. Coffman pointed out in her talk on "Are You Doing Too Much For Your Child," that many parents do give too much and do too much for their children, thus making them unprepared for the realities of life, unwilling to do without anything, and expecting to be given things when they are older.

On Thursday evening, July 28, the club will sponsor a swimming party at the pool in Hereford from seven until nine p.m. and followed by a picnic supper in the park nearby. Owner Stanley Gibbs said he forgot to lock the door. Officers took the drinkers' names but no charges were placed.

dry out the house and keep it at a comfortable temperature.

4. Is there running water or will you have to tote it from a well?

5. Is there electricity? If so, is the wiring adequate for any appliances you might take with you? Such items as toasters, iron, baby bottle warmer and sterilizer can put tremendous strain on a small wiring set-up.

6. What is in the house? You'll want an accurate inventory. There is nothing worse than arriving at a summer spot after a long trip and discovering that there are no utensils, coffee pot, or what have you.

7. It's a good idea to request that the house be ventilated and inspected before you move in. You should have a guarantee, too, that it is thoroughly clean. Take along disinfectant just in case.

8. How far is it to stores? Church? Are there playmates for your children? Is there any entertainment for small fry, other than what you can provide?

9. How will you get service in the event a major appliance breaks down? Is there a doctor close to the vacation spot?

10. Will the cottage provide linens and blankets? Don't take these items for granted? And if you must cart too much paraphernalia, perhaps it will be too great an inconvenience.

Vacation Cottage Requires Scrutiny

By VIVIAN BROWN

The Vacation cottage sounds like a long-awaited dream to some women, when at long last the man of the house consents to rent or buy one. But is it really the answer to her summer vacation or will she work harder than she would at home?

Mom would do well to impress on the man of the house that there are a couple of questions to be asked before they sign on the dotted line. Here are some worth considering:

1. If the advertisements say "water," you'll want to know whether it is a lake or a quarry that is a bottomless pit, a threat to toddlers and a condition that will keep you on edge. Write to the local department of water supply if you can't get in the information any other way.

2. "Mountains" is another ambiguous term. These could be hills, crags or steep cliffs that will necessitate penning up the children or accompanying them every time they are outdoors.

Are there dangerous snakes?

3. How can the house be warmed if it turns cold? A rainy summer can result in a damp house with a miserable existence for all, unless there is a way to

Rev. Don Davidson, Executive Director, and other members of the Board of Trustees of Methodist Homes for Older Adults, Inc. will be present for the forum discussion. It will follow strictly the question and answer pattern. If you need to be a member to move into the home you are invited. If you are interested in buying a deferred membership in the home you are invited. If you have a loved one whose memory you could make live on after you are gone by a Memorial Apartment in the home. You can learn particulars in this meeting. It is hoped that there will be more people present who are not Methodists than the number who are Methodists, just because Methodists do not make up the majority of the community. It is quite evident that we have the wholehearted support of the Hereford Area and we are thankful for this fact. Every citizen is invited and welcome.

Rev. Davidson will remain in Hereford on Monday and Tuesday to be available for private conference at the bank (1st National) for any who want to talk seriously and personally of this matter.

Our rural areas, once dead to the hum of electric energy and blind to the marvels it produced, are now ablaze with the efficient dependable electric service provided by the electric cooperative.

Tennis Star Keeps Fit While On Run

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Karol Fageros, a honey-blond beauty whose form — both tennis and otherwise — is her trademark, says there are tricks to keeping fit while on the run. On clothing, "I generally carry 10 to 15 dresses and eight to 12 tennis dresses," in addition, of course, to her famed gold-colored tennis pants and belts trimmed with gold tennis rackets.

"I wear wash-and-wear on the court. And one of the greatest things I've learned is how to steam out dresses. Just hang them in the bathroom, turn on the hot water and close the door."

Proper diet: "I eat mostly steak, salads, lots of vegetables.

dry out the house and keep it at a comfortable temperature.

4. Is there running water or will you have to tote it from a well?

5. Is there electricity? If so, is the wiring adequate for any appliances you might take with you? Such items as toasters, iron, baby bottle warmer and sterilizer can put tremendous strain on a small wiring set-up.

6. What is in the house? You'll want an accurate inventory. There is nothing worse than arriving at a summer spot after a long trip and discovering that there are no utensils, coffee pot, or what have you.

7. It's a good idea to request that the house be ventilated and inspected before you move in. You should have a guarantee, too, that it is thoroughly clean. Take along disinfectant just in case.

8. How far is it to stores? Church? Are there playmates for your children? Is there any entertainment for small fry, other than what you can provide?

9. How will you get service in the event a major appliance breaks down? Is there a doctor close to the vacation spot?

10. Will the cottage provide linens and blankets? Don't take these items for granted? And if you must cart too much paraphernalia, perhaps it will be too great an inconvenience.

Are there dangerous snakes?

3. How can the house be warmed if it turns cold? A rainy summer can result in a damp house with a miserable existence for all, unless there is a way to

Vacation Cottage Requires Scrutiny

By VIVIAN BROWN

The Vacation cottage sounds like a long-awaited dream to some women, when at long last the man of the house consents to rent or buy one. But is it really the answer to her summer vacation or will she work harder than she would at home?

Mom would do well to impress on the man of the house that there are a couple of questions to be asked before they sign on the dotted line. Here are some worth considering:

1. If the advertisements say "water," you'll want to know whether it is a lake or a quarry that is a bottomless pit, a threat to toddlers and a condition that will keep you on edge. Write to the local department of water supply if you can't get in the information any other way.

2. "Mountains" is another ambiguous term. These could be hills, crags or steep cliffs that will necessitate penning up the children or accompanying them every time they are outdoors.

Home For Older Adults

Will Be Held

Sunday, July 17th

2 p.m.

In The Community Center

The meeting will be broadcast over KPAN but everyone is cordially invited to be present to ask your questions about this or any other home.

Rev. Don Davidson, Executive Director, and other members of the Board of Trustees of Methodist Homes for Older Adults, Inc. will be present for the forum discussion. It will follow strictly the question and answer pattern; if you need to be a member to move into the home you are invited. If you are interested in buying a deferred membership in the home you are invited. If you have a loved one whose memory you could make live on after you are gone by a Memorial Apartment in the home. You can learn particulars in this meeting. It is hoped that there will be more people present who are not Methodists than the number who are Methodists, just because Methodists do not make up the majority of the community. It is quite evident that we have the wholehearted support of the Hereford Area and we are thankful for this fact. Every citizen is invited and welcome.

Rev. Davidson will remain in Hereford on Monday and Tuesday to be available for private conference at the bank (1st National) for any who want to talk seriously and personally of this matter.

No potatoes. Very little butter or candy. If I want quick energy, I take honey."

Proper rest: "I can fall asleep in a plane or bus. Even five minutes will revive me. But my biggest problem is keeping myself so there are no circles under my eyes."

Although tours mean full schedules, the 26-year-old "Golden Girl of Tennis" manages to find time for physical fitness courses, elocution and drama lessons, too.

KEEP IT HOT
You can keep drip coffee hot, while you are pouring the water through, by placing the coffee pot on an asbestos mat over very low heat.

DIG THIS!
Know how to serve Edam or Gouda cheese? Cut a slice from the top and then let guests dig out muggets of it; if there's a cheese scoop on hand the digging's easy.

DELICIOUS SPREAD
Canned shrimp are soft enough to mash with a fork for sandwich fillings. Add the seafood to soft cheddar cheese and mix in a little chill sauce for a delicious spread.

ELECTRIC CO-OPS PROVIDE

PARTNERSHIP POWER FOR PROGRESS

It is a simple truth that rural electrification has been the most important program inaugurated during the past quarter century for the rural areas of Texas—and America. And as the nation celebrates the joining of the fiftieth state to our Union, the Electric Cooperatives of Texas pay homage to the democratic principles which fostered the birth and growth of rural electrification.

Our rural areas, once dead to the hum of electric energy and blind to the marvels it produced, are now ablaze with the efficient dependable electric service provided by the electric cooperative.

With pride in the past and confidence in the future, the Electric Cooperatives of Texas truly provide Partnership Power for Progress!

Democratic Party Still Has Its Same Old Name

The Democratic Party of the United States went to the cleaners in Los Angeles this week and was so thoroughly renovated that none of the old timers still recognize it. The name, in fact, seems to be the only thing which has not been altered, patched-up, or completely changed.

Those long-treasured Jeffersonian principles were wrung entirely out of the party structure, and replaced with labor union reforms; any semblance of states rights was swapped for the massive NAACP vote, and extreme left-wing liberals took over to propose the greatest mass "give-away" ever envisioned in the history of the world. Those seven die-hard Southern states who cast only Democratic electoral votes in 1956 were rewarded with a stab in the back as they fought to maintain a shred of the party's original basic principles. And for good measure the Democrats proposed initial steps for the federal government to take over public schools, then inserted the first wedge toward making socialized medicine a national reality.

Texas and Senator Lyndon Johnson, all this time, found it plausible to "play politics" but Nikita Khrushchev backed the movement all the way by announcing that he had shot down another American plane? Why did he withhold this announcement 10 days to be released at this particular time?

Frankly, we doubt if the Democrats could have played any more completely into Republican hands had Mr. Nixon been personally calling every move. No doubt there is great rejoicing in the camps of Walter Reuther and George Meany; likewise at NAACP headquarters. But what about that vast majority of average Americans who stand for liberty, justice and freedom? What has happened to those ideals which molded our country into the most highly civilized form of democracy ever known to mankind?

There was one thing about the Democratic Convention in 1960 which we do endorse and approve. The labor leaders and extreme liberals did lay their cards on the table and, in no uncertain terms, they let us know exactly for what the Democratic party stands today.

Our big question, in turn, is: "Where do we stand, and how far are we willing to go in behalf of those American principles we have long held sacred and believed inherent to ourselves and to our children?"

This is a question we must answer as Americans, as Texans and as individuals. It will be answered in November, and upon that answer — regardless of what it may be — will be molded a new era in American politics.

Home For Aged Is Sunday Topic

One of the most important meetings ever scheduled in this area has been set for Sunday, July 17, at the Community Center, when detailed plans will be discussed in an open forum concerning a proposed home for older citizens.

In the first place, the forum provides the next step toward establishing the home. Likewise, questions will be answered in detail for all persons who care to attend, or who may wish to clarify some special point. In addition to local representatives, a group of Methodist representatives will be on hand to provide the answers.

Because a large delegation will indicate definite interest in the proposed home, community leaders feel that all persons interested in any phase concerning the project will want to attend the session. In addition to possible candidates for occupancy, they feel that the meeting will hold interest for scores of other citizens.

The home for older people, needed without question in the area, would provide a secure haven for many residents. So far, Hereford has been the only community to place an active bid for the $1 million Methodist proposal but, without sufficient continued interest, it is not likely that the organization would seriously consider the location here.

The meeting here Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. proposed to answer all of the questions you have been asking. Plan now to attend, and get the answers first hand, and from a reliable source.

Pony League To Host Visitors

Announcement of Pony League officials that two official tournaments will be held in Hereford the latter part of this month comes as good news to citizens, and more especially to baseball fans of the area.

Both the Area tournament, July 19, and the District tournament, July 25, will draw many spectators to the community. Best of all, selections of this community indicates that we have adequate facilities, and that our own Pony League players are of sufficient caliber to be recognized as outstanding.

Credit for the recognition goes foremost to the league officials and leaders, who have worked untiringly to make the program a success; also to be recognized are parents of the players and other fans who have supported the 1960 program all summer.

Naturally, we hope our boys will come out on top but, win, lose or draw — it seems to us that the 1960 Pony League season has been most successful and, better still, our youngsters have learned to apply the basic principals of good sportsmanship and fair play.

Boys Ranch Is 12 Month Task

A recent speaker reviewed activities, purpose and accomplishments of Boys' Ranch. He recognized interest and help on the part of Hereford citizens and pointed out that interested people have made the ranch what it is today.

We doubt if Mr. Ray Noblitt of Clarendon told us anything about the ranch we had not before heard. He did impress a lot of people with his enthusiasm, however, and caused us to realize that Boy's Ranch like all other worthwhile achievements, cannot be operated on a "flash in the pan" basis. The boys, after all, must eat, sleep and be taken care of 365 days out of the year.

These are good things to remember. This area has always been a bit overboard in supporting the ranch and we now have three of the 261 youngsters enrolled. We agree with Mr. Noblitt. Help financially every time you can; no more worthwhile cause exists in the United States. Visit the ranch once a year, or more often, and find out what is happening on the scene.

All of us have an interest in the project. It will grow and prosper, according to how well we respond from day to day, week to week, and year to year.

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

St. Vincent de Paul devoted his life to the poor, the sick, the unfortunate. When he was a young priest, he was captured by Barbary pirates and sold into slavery. But he never forgot his mission. He preached and ministered to his fellow galley slaves. Later, he converted his master and escaped.

As a free man, St. Vincent continued his charity work among slaves and established missions which later grew into the Congregation of Priests of the Mission, or "Lazarites," devoted to work among the Christian captives in Moslem lands. Two centuries after the death of St. Vincent, young Frederic Ozanam was taunted about his faith: "Show us your works!" Guided by the principle "Find those in need and go to them," Ozanam and his friends founded a society of laymen devoted to social service and dedicated it to St. Vincent.

Thus today, the Society of St. Vincent de Paul continues to minister to the ailing, feed the starving, shelter the homeless and carry on in the inspiring spirit of its patron saint.

Rain Is Important Part Of This Area's History

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL
"Rain, rain, go away, and come another day" could have been quoted in other months of July in years gone by, but none other had so many inches of rain, as this year, although it could not be measured in that way.

Beginning in September of 1915 to 1931, Mrs. Minnie Walker kept a diary of the days' happenings over the years on narrow spaces on an insurance calendar. The spaces were very small but thereon was recorded the everyday happenings, of rain, work, picnics, community gatherings and even the births of some of our citizens of that time, the family of course, but also some not of the family.

The Fourth of July nearly always had a shower or two to its credit and several times, much rain, big hail and high winds were reported too.

It marked the many and various gatherings, the visits with family relatives and friends. Somehow it seems that folks of today are missing out on a lot of warm friendliness and fellowship for the whole community and not just a few people of one's church or club. Everyone knew everyone and were interested in each person's welfare, both spiritual and physical.

With totals of rainfall over Texas amounting to almost 30 inches, it will be interesting to look at some of the July notes. There will be no mention of amounts, but the fact that it rained is always mentioned. Here are notes taken for July as covered by the calendar diary from 1916 through 1931:

"1916 - July 1. Menfolk cutting hay, on the third began cutting wheat and on the 11th plowing corn. 12, rainy. July 3 and 4. Rained very hard, blew down sheds, just finished cutting wheat. July 9 Raining.

"1917 - July 4. Rain, went fishing and caught some bass, cooked them for mother, as she is not feeling well. Mention of rain on four different days, varying from shower to hard rain, rained all day, etc.

"1918 - July 1. Shower today. Shocking oats. 5. Hot and dry, but cloudy. 16. Showers; again showers on the 18. 21. went fishing and it rained again. 22. good rain. 23. still raining.

"1919 - July 14. Rained again, at least 2 inches. (First mention of amount) 20, went to a family reunion at Rat and Birdie Jewells.

"1920 - All went to the "round-up," 2, cutting wheat today. 4, no mention of celebration, but went to town, (meaning Hereford). 7, shower today. 12, rained last night, 19, rained. 31, took a load of wheat to town and sold for $2.10 per bushel.

"1921 - July 4. Tried to cut oats, but rained us out. 5, rain. (Continued on page 2)

Bankers Report One Of Best Conventions

The Panhandle Banker's Association held the final session Thursday afternoon of what was conceded to be one of the very best conventions in the history of the association.

There is always inspiration in numbers, and with an increasing attendance from the beginning each session gained enthusiasm and interest.

Not only the master minds of the association, but bankers of national prominence from all over the country gave prestige to the convention.

The era of prosperity which exists throughout the Panhandle, as shown by the various reports, was very encouraging and added to the general feeling of good fellowship.

The regular program began Wednesday afternoon. The address of welcome in absence of Mayor W. M. Knight was delivered by Judge John B. Slaton and the response was made by S. F. Sullenberger of Amarillo.

At 4:30 p.m. an immense auto procession of residents and visiting bankers reviewed the irrigation farms near Hereford and at 6:30 a genuine old-time barbecue and fish fry was partaken of.

This was to have been held on the river, but due to recent heavy rains, the cooked meat and fish, together with coffee, pickles and bread, were served in the Miller-Walker building.

25 YEARS AGO

Wheat compliance papers for Deaf Smith County were sent to Washington yesterday, the second in the state to be forwarded. Potter County's papers went in Tuesday. In the papers sent to the capital were 833 contracts.

This leaves, according to Dewey Reed, 33 sets of papers not finished. They are held up for signatures of non-resident land owners and tenants.

Before going to Washington, the papers were inspected by the state board of review at Amarillo, John R. Edmonds, wheat program chief for Texas, said the certificates were in excellent shape.

Second, 1934 and first 1935 benefit payments will be made after approval in Washington. No information as to when the money will be sent is available, but judging from the past, Reed is of the opinion that the money will arrive sometime in September.

133 ACRES WHEAT LOST

What was termed the most damaging wheat fire in many years took a toll of 133 acres of high producing wheat, damaged a fire truck and a combine at the J. W. McMahan farm about 31 miles south and west of Friona last Wednesday afternoon. The fire started when the idler wheel on the new combine froze, heating up and touched off wheat that wrapped around it. McMahan tried to get the combine out of the blazing field, but failed to get the motors started after it had quit, following a strange noise. He climbed out of the cab and ran for the edge of the field. Neighbors gathered at the scene, but with the winds blowing out of the southeast in gusts up to 25 miles per hour the blaze ran across the field of wheat. The Friona Volunteer Fire Department answered the call for help at about 2:15 p.m. with two trucks and the emergency pickup. The field was wet but the volunteer firemen set about to try to control the blaze which had covered about half of the 200 acre plot by that time. Hard luck, combining with switching winds and boggy land plotted against firemen; later in the afternoon men on Truck 5 were stuck, out of water and the wind had changed directions. The firemen tried by hand to make a firebreak to protect the truck from damage by fire, but to no avail. The fire jumped the barrier and burned an estimated 150 feet of high pressure hose, a tire, damaging the radiator, lights, siren and scorching all the paint from the truck.

SEVERAL FAMILIES HOMELESS

High water, spurred on by additional rains, continued to force Levelland residents in two sections of the city from their homes Thursday night and Friday morning, as at least 45 families picked up soggy belongings and trekked out of low areas to higher ground. Some 37 of the families are Negro, whose homes are in the north part of Levelland. The remainder of residents, Anglo and Latin-Americans, live in the southwest part of the city, most of them in the 1400 and 1500 blocks of 12th street. However, water in those areas had begun receding late Friday morning and city officials said that no more evacuations would be necessary unless more rains fell and the water began to rise anew. At least two houses in Sundown also were flooded. One family was moved out, although the residents of the other house in the northwest part of the city were out of town on vacation. Several families moved out of their houses in the Negro section of Levelland late Thursday, and the white residents began leaving their homes on the southwest part of town early Friday morning as a large lake in the area swelled from 1.40 inches of rain a short time earlier. Trucks and pickups belonging to several city business houses assisted in the Friday morning move. A city maintainer also was in operation at the scene to help pull moving vehicles through the high water.

NEW CHARTER VOTED

By a majority of more than two to one, the people of Muleshoe voted Tuesday to adopt a new charter of city government, known as the Home Rule Charter. The vote totals: For, 227, against, 104. The election had been called by the city council after the proposed charter was presented by a commission of local citizens, who had been studying the provisions of the new instrument for some time. The City Council will now petition the Texas Secretary of State at Austin for a charter. After it is granted, the council will order elections as required by the charter. Providing for an interim city government, the charter specifies that present city officials shall continue in the office to which elected, to serve until an election is held. This will be at the regular time for a city election, early in April of 1961.

The BOOTLEG Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed goes international this week, in a provincial sort of way.

Dear editor: Earlier this week while I was sitting around waiting for the Democratic National Convention to warm up on television — I had some work to do but I figured national affairs come first, especially if you can attend them while sitting in a soft chair inside your house — I got to thinking not only about national affairs but international affairs too. A man who can't do two things at the same time hasn't got a chance in this modern fast-moving world. As I understand it, Mr. Khrushchev over in Russia is keeping a close tab on the Presidential election in the United States this year, as he has said he's not interested in holding another meeting until there's a change of administration over here.

Naturally I don't know who the next president will be, only the public poll takers know that and half the time the man they know is going to get elected never takes office, I guess because not enough voters believed the polls, but at any rate, whoever he is, I have a proposal for him.

What he ought to do is inform the Russian people he'd like to hold a summit meeting but he believes he'll wait till there's a change of administration in Russia. Attending a summit meeting with Mr. Khrushchev is like playing baseball with a crooked umpire, who lets one side walk on three balls and calls the other side out on two strikes, and if that doesn't win the game, has his side pick up their gear and walk off the diamond.

Now I can't tell the next president when the next change in Administration in Russia will occur, but it will occur. Despite all their scientific achievements, the Russians have never gotten around to postponing the life of a dictator indefinitely. If his best friend doesn't get him, old age will.

It's entirely possible the United States can get along without a Russian summit conference and Cuban sugar for a good while.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

IS THE SHOOTIN' ALL OVER NOW? — The jitters are hanging on for this jaguar at the Dallas Zoo, but he finally ventured out of his corner after a hectic Fourth of July weekend. Zoo officials believe the jaguar is still unnerved by the crowds of yelling youngsters, all the firecrackers in the distance, and generally the spirited commotion that accompanied the long holiday weekend. ## Lions Guest Tells Boys Ranch Story

"A Shirt Tail To Hang To," the story of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch, was related to the Lions Club Wednesday, by Ray Noblitt, prominent Clarendon Businessman, recently retired.

"It is a home for boys built on Christ, faith, love and understanding," Noblitt said. Forty per cent of the homes in the United States are without Christian influence, he explained.

Ray Noblitt

The boys live, work and play in a wholesome environment which will build the structure of their future lives. He pointed out that Cal Farley established the ranch 21 years ago with one thought in mind and that was to save boys from the reformatory and eventually the penitentiary.

The population of the penitentiaries comes more and more from the teen-age group or youth group from 17 to 29 years of age, Noblitt said.

"Right now in each 24 hour period there are over 5500 teen-age boys and girls arrested because of some infraction of the law, these infractions being anything from running a stop sign to the worst crime you can think of," Noblitt explained.

At the ranch, the boys are taught to understand the meaning of the word "no." There are 261 boys at the Ranch now. Half of them are from the "better" group and half from the "bad group" — boys who were in serious trouble with the law at the time they arrived at the ranch. In some instances, they had already been sentenced to reformatories, Noblitt said.

"At the ranch, we have a complete school of 12 grades with 30 adults on the staff, this number including 27 teachers. We teach 14 vocational subjects so that when a boy leaves, we know he is qualified to make an outstanding living for himself and to be a credit to society," Noblitt said.

The boys have a chance to attend college either by being sponsored through civic organizations or through the Ranch, he said.

There is also complete spiritual training for the boys. A full time chaplain heads the training, and the boys have church and Bible School classes which are held during the evenings through the week, he explained.

The dormitories house 36 boys each and a man and wife are in charge. The ranch never hires a man and woman as managers of a dormitory unless they have one or more children of their own.

The dorm mother cares for the boys with the same love and affection she would her own children.

Noblitt has been associated for over 35 years with the ranch and is one of the ranch's oldest continuous supporters and contributors.

How Can I?

By Anne Kubley

Q. How can I prevent the fraying of ribbon ends on dresses and hats?
A. By applying clear fingernail polish to the ends of the ribbons. Just run the polish applicator along the edge of the ribbon.

Q. How can I tell by the flame in my water - heater whether the heater is working efficiently or not?
A. If the flame is red or orange - and not predominantly blue - it needs adjusting. It's not giving as much heat as it could, and it forms carbon on the bottom of the tank, which slows down the heating of the water. Some of the carbon drops into, and clogs, the burner outlets.

Q. How can I remove paraffin easily from a container in which it has been melted for some canning?
A. Whether it is silk, cotton, or wool, if the black material is rinsed in a deep bluing-water, it will greatly improve the appearance and the color.

"1925 - July 7. We branded and vaccinated calves today. 19, went to Sunday School and to an ice - cream supper that night. 28, rained big last night. 29 and 30, went to a dance, did not get home until 6 a. m. as it rained hard all night. Had an earthquake in early morning. Many felt it. Shook dishes on shelves.

"1926 - July 1. Awful hot all day. 5, picnic at Mrs. Bradys. Purcells, Howtons, Ingams, Fryes, Iveys, and us Walkers and Shorty were there. Had fried chicken, fish, ham, cakes, pies, sandwiches and ice cream. Later went in swimming.

"1927 - July 4. Had a nice rain last night. 12, cutting wheat.

"1928 - July 1. A pretty day; we went to town and then to Dawn. Took seven dozen eggs and sold them for $1.40, 2 pounds butter $1. Rained, 6, dance at Christians', rained today. 23, rained today. 24, rained again. 31, rained all night.

"1929 - July 1. A pretty day; we went to town.

"1930 - July 1. Rained and hailed. 7, cutting wheat; the adjuster was here. 9, reunion camped at Big Springs and a big norther came up. We saw the Northern Lights. 14, dance at Bob Allison's. 21, big supper at Tom Ivey's ranch. 42 people were there and 14 cars. 26, we went to town and voted. Just 43 years ago today my father and mother and we children settled in Deaf Smith County on our claim at Big Springs on Tierra Blanca Creek. Henry Cox was born, the first white child born in the county. 14, barbecue at Bob Allison's; I baked a cake and lemon pies. Finished cutting wheat. 17, cloudy all day. 30, canned peaches today. It is Birdie Jowell's birthday. 43 years ago come July 26, 1887, this county was fit for pioneers that had the courage to stick through dust storms, dry, dry years as well as wet ones. That is almost three quarters of a century."

What a change has come over Deaf Smith County in those 73 years. The railroad was built, we have highways reaching out to almost anywhere one would wish to travel. There are irrigation wells by the dozens, produce sheds, businesses, homes of beauty, simple and luxurious. Schools, wonderful schools.

How the old timers would have rejoiced over the schools, for it was their great aim to build schools for tomorrow's children. I am sure they would have trouble in believing what their eyes could see if they could 'get to town' as they did so many years ago. The year 1887, a vast plain, few houses, few wells and even fewer trees, acre after acre of luscious grass, antelopes and buffalo.

Some people still hold to Horse and Buggy ideas—even about their vision. Some think vision examinations are a simple 5-minute procedure. An ethical optometrist always examines not only for present seeing problems, but for problems that might arise in the future. Preventive care is a fundamental part of any profession—especially OPTOMETRY.

Moisture Brings Harvest To Abrupt Halt In Area

By MRS. R. L. PINNELL. It was hard to believe that in the middle of the summer season, everything could come to such an abrupt stop as has occurred the past week. The first rain came on Sunday night in varying amounts and continued off and on for six days and nights. Amounts ranging from 12.9 inches at the A. F. Roberts ranch to seven inches "plus" at the Jacobson farm have been reported.

Most of the wheat was out of the fields but several have reported barley and oats not yet harvested. Most lakes are full, which will insure plenty of fall ducks.

A full roster of teachers have been elected for the 1960-61 season. These will include Mrs. Ferris Kromer, first and second grades; Mrs. A. P. Jones, third and fourth grades; Mrs. Hazel Chilton, seventh and eighth grades; and Superintendent A. P. Jones, all of whom are "old timers."

Newly-elected teachers are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Johnson of Quail, Tex. He will teach math and science and coach the boys. Mrs. Johnson will head the home economics department. Both are graduates of West Texas State College. Johnson was an all-state basketball member from Quail and attended Clarendon Junior College for two years.

OFF THE Shelf

By H. A. TUCK

For a fascinating excursion inside yourself and your neighbors, delve into The Status Seekers. The author, Vance Packard, has become something of an authority in stripping the veneer from people and their actions. Witness his first book, The Hidden Persuaders, which described the events behind the advertising business.

In his second full-length book, Packard takes a long, slow look at success: those who have it, those who are approaching it and those who don't have it. He uses his own searching analysis, plus those made by other sociologists in what are considered typical towns around the country.

Their results and findings will, in turn, frighten you, amuse you and provoke you.

On the title page, Packard explains his book this way: "An exploration of class behavior in America and the hidden barriers that affect you, your community, your future." And it does every word of what it says!

Packard introduces his book by reviewing the oft-heard remark that mass production, modern transportation and communication are creating a classless society.

Then he proceeds to blow that theory into status-covered fragments.

He uses three chapters to outline the change in status which includes an emerging "diploma elite" and a built-in obstacle course for those on the outside trying to get in.

Second part of the book is devoted to 13 chapters on marks of status. This includes such outward marks as a home of the proper size in the right location, job prestige, behavior that reveals status, sociology of sex appeal, who can be a friend, clubs, religion, voting and education.

Sandwiched between the two party conventions, it is interesting to note two factors pointed out in the study on voting habits.

The atomic stalemate accounts for a frustration-boredom factor in politics. "American voters and the columnists alike bemoan the 'eternal shilly-shally' of the 'eternal shilly-shally' in politics. With the world split into two massive camps, this shilly-shallying is likely to continue—short of a generalized nuclear searing of the planet—into the indefinite future; Americans are accustomed to settling disagreeable situations straight in a hurry. Since this is no longer feasible, our foreign-policy makers, whoever they happen to be at the moment, are likely to be the butt of our irritations. The result is a yearning—more intensive with each year an Administration stays in office—for a housecleaning and new faces."

Packard quotes an astute political scientist who has noted the trend to vote for new faces, "I think probably the most important thing a politician can do, under our present system, is to establish a public personality, rather than establish a set of issues."

Further along, Packard discusses the strains of status and the trends toward a more rigid society.

He concludes with implications of status-seeking in the future. For those who are interested, the author also includes a short, do-it-yourself survey to determine your status.

The Status Seekers will probably frighten most people. At any rate, it is a survey that should have as much impact upon America as did Dr. Kinsey's famous studies of the country's sexual habits.

There have been others — such as Benjamin Franklin — who healed family troubles as well as those of the commonwealth. Today, the fine, efficient men who guide the civic destinies of our community do not have time to personalize their talents. But they work assiduously for the good of the greatest number... and they do a most commendable job. They do their utmost — give their time and effort — to make our community — Your Neighborhood — your life, more abundant. Give them your support. # White Sox, Indians Win Tilts In Pony Doubleheader Control pitching and good hitting attacks gave two team victories in Pony League games Tuesday night. In the opener, the White Sox beat the Tigers 7-3 and the Indians took the Red Sox 6-1.

In the first game, Joe Hernandez paced the White Sox attack with a four-hit pitching effort and a pair of doubles at bat.

The White Sox jumped to a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Hernandez and Ronnie Roberts singled and came in on a fielder's choice and an error.

They added five more in the third. S. D. Baize started with a double and Pete Encinas singled. An error put Paul Drager on base before Darrell Christianson singled and Jim Higgins walked. Catcher's interference

Not a single cracked egg since Chevy took over the route

That '60 Fleetside pickup you see takes whatever kind of road comes along, and makes about 250 stops a day delivering eggs house to house for Mr. Harry Hansen of Missoula, Montana. "With my previous truck," Mr. Hansen writes, "I always had some cracked eggs. Cargo damage always cut into my profits. But the new Chevy eliminated that problem completely. I haven't had one cracked egg with my new truck and I've had up to a ton of eggs in it without any difficulty. . . . I didn't know a truck could ride so nice."

Chevy rides nice, all right: takes good care of fragile cargoes. But that's not even the half of it. Torsion-spring suspension also means longer life for the truck, extra thousands of working miles, because the sheet metal and body components take less of a beating. You can run off-the-road or over back trails at faster safe speeds, too; get in more trips a day, make more money. Those facts are as true of the big Chevrolet heavyweights as they are of the pickups. Any model you name. Get one on your job and you've got the world's most efficient, most economical way to haul any load over any road. Your dealer will be happy to prove that statement any day you say.

"I'm getting close to 20 miles to the gallon," Mr. Hansen states, "and that's on- and-off delivery."

YOUNG MODERNS

Suspicious Will Ruin Friendship

By VIVIAN BROWN

SUSPICION can break up some beautiful friendships, something young people should keep in mind. Here's a letter that illustrates suspicion in the making:

"My girl friend is doing her best to attract my boy friend. She has even planned a surprise birthday party for me, and has called him asking him to lend his help. He told me about it because I had planned to do something else on that date. Should I tell her that I know what she is up to?"

Ignore it. Act gracious about the party. Her intentions could be different from what you suspect. And besides you should have more confidence in yourself than you display. Another letter concerns early marriage.

"My fiance is 18. I am 17. My parents say that we are too young to get married, and believe I should wait until I am 18. We want to get married this summer and honeymoon before Jack goes back to college in the fall. He will be a junior and is studying to be an electronics engineer. We have known each other for six months."

Six months is a short time to know a person you plan to marry. But many successful marriages have been made despite short engagements. Much would depend on whether you are mature enough to take on the obligations of marriage.

Here's a problem that concerns propriety:

"Do you see any harm in a young couple going away together for a week end? We plan to go to a resort where young people congregate. I am 17, my friend is 18. My parents say it would look awful, and my mother says she doesn't think we should do it, even though many other young couples do it. The girls and boys sleep in separate dormitories at this place. Why should people get the wrong impression?"

People would question such an arrangement no matter what your ages were. However, if an older person — possibly one or both of your parents — went along, or if you were in a group, there would be no reason to question your actions.

"Is there any harm in going out sailing with a boy you have known for a while? No one else will be aboard," writes a girl.

Not if a strong wind is blowing. He'll be busy handling the sails.

Gossip will get this girl nowhere:

"A friend of mine confided in me that she is engaged to with a man who is engaged to another girl. She says she believes he is going to break his engagement to the other girl. Don't you think it is my duty to tell the girl who is going to be jilted so that she can break off the engagement before the man makes a fool of her?"

For all you know, your friend could be distorting the facts. I would mind my own business.

and let these three people work out their own problems.

What Are Effects On Wife Of Husband's Drinking

By NORMA GAUHN
 (P) Newsfeatures
 NEW YORK (P) — A man who drinks to excess is a bum . . . If a man really loves his wife he won't drink too much . . . A wife is the mainstay of marriage . . .

Do you agree or disagree with these statements?

Further, what was the attitude of your parents toward drinking? When did you first become aware that your husband had a drinking problem? What did you do about it?

These are a few of the questions being asked wives of alcoholics in research concerned with America's fourth largest public health problem — the disease of alcoholism.

Only mental illness, heart disease and cancer claim more victims than alcoholism, which has some five million sufferers in the United States.

Wives of alcoholics have come in for special attention in a number of scientific studies as victims who need help as much as their husbands for the emotional and physical toll caused by the disease.

"But," says Dr. Margaret Bailey, research associate for the National Council on Alcoholism, "some of the most spectacular findings were based on very small samplings. We plan to cover a more comprehensive area."

A $79,000 grant from the U.S. Public Health Service's National Institute of Public Health makes the new study possible. Under Dr. Bailey's direction, trained workers will question 250 women from every cultural and economic level. Each interview takes from 1½ to two hours.

"We're getting wives who have come to clinics for help, from family groups affiliated with Alcoholics Anonymous, from medical doctors, clergymen, psychiatrists and court referrals," D. Bailey says.

"There's a popular theory that wives of alcoholics are themselves a distinct personality type; that a certain type of woman marries the excessive drinker.

"But I'm not convinced. I know individual wives have married inadequate men so they could be the dominant partner; there are cases where women actually enjoyed the suffering of life with an alcoholic. A study in Pittsburgh even found a small group of women who became sick when their alcoholic husbands sobered up."

"But such studies show the need for more research. I don't feel there is enough evidence to justify singling alcoholism out as a disease that attracts a certain type of person, any more than cancer or heart disease."

One area to be explored is the effect of alcoholism on the wife's health. Findings will be matched against a study on community health unrelated to drinking.

"We hope to learn how wives of alcoholics compare with women in a random sampling as to nervous and physical symptoms — shortness of breath, trembling hand, headaches, stomach upsets. There may be differences, maybe not."

Interviewers will probe for the point at which drinking breaks up a family. It might be when children are drawn into shattering quarrels; or when a wife feels she can never mean as much to her mate as his bottle; or when physical violence is involved.

"One woman had been married only three weeks when her husband knocked her down stairs while on a binge," Dr. Bailey says. "She walked out and never came back. Yet other wives endure protracted physical abuse. What determines a woman's tolerance?"

Experts know that family attitudes are crucial both in the alcoholic's realization that he can't control his drinking without help and in his ultimate recovery.

Dr. Bailey's project hopes to learn what makes a woman seek help for the alcoholic problem or end the marriage. This should help make treatment and preventive public education that much more effective.

Dr. Bailey hopes the present study — on which results will be compiled next winter — will lead to further projects to examine men with alcoholic wives, parents and children of alcoholics.

"What we learn can help clergymen, doctors and social workers who deal with alcoholism as need for more research. I don't feel there is enough evidence to justify singling alcoholism out as a disease that attracts a certain type of person, any more than cancer or heart disease."

need for more research. I don't feel there is enough evidence to justify singling alcoholism out as a disease that attracts a certain type of person, any more than cancer or heart disease."

One area to be explored is the effect of alcoholism on the wife's health. Findings will be matched against a study on community health unrelated to drinking.

"We hope to learn how wives of alcoholics compare with women in a random sampling as to nervous and physical symptoms — shortness of breath, trembling hand, headaches, stomach upsets. There may be differences, maybe not."

Interviewers will probe for the point at which drinking breaks up a family. It might be when children are drawn into shattering quarrels; or when a wife feels she can never mean as much to her mate as his bottle; or when physical violence is involved.

"One woman had been married only three weeks when her husband knocked her down stairs while on a binge," Dr. Bailey says. "She walked out and never came back. Yet other wives endure protracted physical abuse. What determines a woman's tolerance?"

Experts know that family attitudes are crucial both in the alcoholic's realization that he can't control his drinking without help and in his ultimate recovery.

Dr. Bailey's project hopes to learn what makes a woman seek help for the alcoholic problem or end the marriage. This should help make treatment and preventive public education that much more effective.

Dr. Bailey hopes the present study — on which results will be compiled next winter — will lead to further projects to examine men with alcoholic wives, parents and children of alcoholics.

Paint Mixer

One of the hardest parts of painting is the mixing of your paint. You can speed this process by making this handy little mixer. Drill a hole in a small piece of wood so that it will fit tightly over the end of a dowel rod. Then clamp the other end of the dowel in the chuck of your hand brace, and use this device as a rotating paddle.

Fiber Rugs

Awning paint is very good for use on summer fiber rugs. It will sink into the fibers without producing a painted effect, and it dries into a nice, dull surface, is resistant to water, and withstands exposure.

Repel Ants

A few cloves sprinkled in the corners of your shelves and cupboards will discourage ants and give a nice, spicy smell to your cabinets.

Patent Leather

When today's mothers and grandmothers were children, they rubbed castor oil or petroleum jelly on their patent leather shoes to keep them from cracking. Done twice a month, this is still a good treatment.

Grass Stains

Grass stains on washable garments can be removed by adding a few drops of amyl acetate to a thick soap solution and rubbing it thoroughly into the stains, then rinsing at least three times in clear water.

Jewelry

Wash costume jewelry in soap water. If very dirty, rub a little soap onto a soft brush and scrub gently. Another good cleanser is a teaspoon of ammonia in a teacupful of warm water. In either case, rinse the jewelry in cold clear water and polish with a chamois.

To make a light starch for delicate materials use the water in which rice has been boiled and add a little bluing to it.

Give Your Family Needed Nutrients

By Dorothy V. Whipple, M. D.
 MOST AMERICANS have enough money to buy all the food they need, yet many are not nearly as well nourished as they should be.

We don't see real starvation around us, but we do see people with no vim and vigor, youngsters with poor posture and flabby muscles. We hear cross, irritable voices and see tired, drawn faces.

Not all human ills can be cured by improving the diet, but you may be surprised how much unnecessary misery is swallowed in the form of doughnuts and jam.

Good buoyant health is what we are after. Clear bright eyes, smooth firm skin, strong muscles, shiny hair, sound teeth, erect posture, straight bones, peaceful nerves.

If your body works well, at least some of the tensions of our hectic world will roll off your back.

It is not always within our powers to reduce tensions, but it is within our power to nourish our bodies to the optimum. As the mother of a family you can do more. You provide good food for your family and teach your children the principles of good eating, so that when they leave home they will continue what you started.

Why is it that the knowledge of nutrition is not better applied? There are several reasons.

Food faddists have given nutrition a bad name. Some of the horrible concoctions that are supposed to be good for you are enough to scare anyone off. The truth is, truly nutritious food is delicious to eat. There's no need to eat anything you don't like. Nutrition is a question of selection and preparation of good food.

Another reason the real laboratory knowledge we have about nutrition is not absorbed by the public is because the bulk of our knowledge comes not from the scientists, but from commercial food manufacturers.

Highly refined foods keep better than do natural foods. Bacteria, fungi, molds and weevils do not grow in highly milled flour, as they do in ground whole grains, because there isn't enough nourishment in the refined food to keep them alive. There isn't enough in them to nourish humans, either, but the food makers don't tell us that. They do tell us all the virtues of their product but keep quiet about all the minerals and vitamins they have removed to increase the ease of handling their product.

Mothers should take a course in nutrition, or look up a book on the subject. They may learn a lot they didn't know. They will be able to make food taste better, save money on food bills, and see the difference in their families.

YEAR ROUND TREAT

Good all the year round: a tall glass of iced coffee with a scoop of coffee ice cream. Double flavor treat!

REMEMBER WHEN?

BY CHARLIE SEEDS

It began on a Thursday morning in October. For several days before, there had been heavy selling and severe losses in the stock market. But on the morning of October 24th, the bottom dropped out of the market.

Panicky crowds gathered outside of the dignified Stock Exchange Building in New York, on famed Wall Street, that morning. The big bankers of the nation came to the rescue of the market that day, and the avalanche of selling was temporarily stopped.

Over the week end there was frantic debate, a mixture of fear and the hope that the nation's financial giants would be able to lead the market to recovery. On Tuesday morning, hope died. This was the day of the great liquidation, the famous 16-million share day. On this day the October "bear market" came to its disastrous climax. This was the beginning of an era which America will never forget.

Remember the year? A lot of Americans gambled that year... and lost. But strangely enough, when a man bought a car in those days, he figured he couldn't afford to gamble. He shopped for the car that was the best buy... and the dealer who would give him greater savings.

The year was 1929. A lot of Americans this year have discovered that the new 1960 FORD is today's best buy... and the dealer and performance. And you'll discover your "best buy" on a new 1960 FORD when you check our deal, at CHARLIE SEEDS MOROT CO., INC., Highway 60 and Miles Street, Phone EM4-2727.

ONION HARVEST resumed this week after a long spell of unusually rainy days earlier in the month. Market on the crop rose earlier this week, and farmers and shed operators report quality as good. (staff Photo)

Time To Refinish Outdoor Furniture

By VIVIAN BROWN

It's time to refurbish outdoor furniture.

If it has weathered the winter outdoors, fine. But, don't be fooled by its ruggedness. When summer sunshine hits it, if it is wooden, chances are it will experience a breakdown. Then it will sag with nails pushing out and wood splitting and rotting.

Pine and redwood chairs should be inspected for places that "give." Smooth any cracks or rough spots by sanding and filing holes with commercial filer. Countersink nailheads. Metal fittings on wood and metal furniture can be freed of rust with steel wool or sandpaper.

Use good quality varnish, shellac or other sealer that your paint man recommends. Spar varnish or one of the natural inexpensive finishes may be used on redwood or cedar. Varnish or pigmented finish should be applied by brush.

The inexpensive peel chairs that are used outdoors and on screened-in porches, and Wicker chairs, look handsome when painted white or pastel colors. Peel chairs should be repaired if needed, by winding loose peel around the areas where it is missing. If more of the bamboo-like peel is needed and not available, substitute raffia or twine, gluing it as you go. It is particularly important to wind peeled sections of legs and arms before painting them.

Wicker furniture takes best to spray paints — easier on the back, also. Use a spray gun or the vacuum cleaner spray attachment.

Aerosol spray enamels are good for small pieces. Metal, like wood, should be prepared before you clean it. Remove dust, dirt, oil and grease with a cloth saturated with turpentine or paint thinner. Sand away any chipped or peeling paint and roughen highly glossed areas to provide good adhesion for your new treatment.

Dust and soot can be washed away with detergent. Whatever the cleaning method used, be sure to dry the furniture thoroughly before you go on with your project.

Metal furniture should be free of rust before it is repainted. Spots of bare metal and unpainted metal furniture should be primed with a rust-inhibiting primer such as zinc chromate.

The recommended finish for outdoor metal furniture is a good exterior enamel, tough and durable, providing protection against the elements. If the furniture is to be used only indoors, a regular enamel can be used. Either enamel can be applied by brush or spray.

White is a favorite enamel for metal furniture as it keeps the metal surface at a comfortable temperature, reflecting the sun's rays. Peel, wicker and metal chairs are especially gay painted white and cushioned in blues, turquoises, deep greens, yellows, lavenders, reds. Corduroy or sail cloth are good fabrics to use for cushions.

When painting summer furniture, place chairs and tables upside down on a bench or table that is covered with newspaper. It's much easier to paint the under-surfaces and legs at that comfortable height. When these areas are coated, place the pieces right side up and finish.

If you are spraying, allow yourself a good amount of space, protecting nearby areas with newspapers or drop cloths. When applying the enamel by brush, put it on smoothly, and use a nearly dry brush to brush it out evenly. Remove excess which can cause runs.

If you plan to paint outdoors, select a day with little wind so that debris will not adhere to freshly coated surfaces. Do not paint in the direct rays of the sun, for the sun can cause the paint to blister.

If you paint indoors, provide adequate ventilation in your

Beauty At Home

By LYNN CARTER

Q. Will you please suggest a good home treatment that will help to soften and bleach my skin, as well as refine its pores?

A. Here's one good treatment: Apply a mixture of two-thirds warm olive oil and one-third lemon juice, rubbing this well into the skin. Use the outer skin, and any drying effects of the lemon will be offset by the olive oil.

Q. Is there something I can do, besides visiting the dentist, to remove the tartar from my teeth?

A. A dental visit is probably best, but you can try rubbing a mixture of lemon juice and pumice stone over your teeth with some cotton wound around an orange stick.

Q. How can I bring out my eyebrows, which are practically invisible?

A. Two eyebrow pencils — one brown and the other black — will usually work wonders. First, give your brows some short, soft strokes with the brown pencil, then follow with about one-third as many strokes with the black. If this is done carefully, you should produce a nice, natural look to your brows.

Q. What is an exercise that will encourage slimmer-looking and shapelier legs?

A. Extra doses of walking and rope — skipping are very good for this. Also, a stretching kind of exercise: Sit on floor with legs apart and backs of knees close against the floor. Reach forward with the hands and grasping the toes firmly, pull them gently toward you. This exercises and tones those leg muscles, thus encouraging symmetry and beauty.

Q. Is it possible to massage the scalp too vigorously and thus injure it?

A. Not if your massage is performed correctly — moving the scalp about on the head with the fingertips. You could possibly, however, produce irritation if you rubbed your fingers or scraped them over the surface of the scalp.

Q. What external treatment can you suggest for pimples on the face?

A. Bathe your face at least twice daily with pure soap and water, rinsing thoroughly with very warm, and then with cold water. Try using lanolin, instead of face cream, and as little powder as possible.

Q. What is a quick and easy way to promote more gloss and sheen in my hair?

A. One of the best and easiest ways to do this is to give your hair a brisk towel-drying after every shampoo, and then spend at least 10 or 15 minutes with the hairbrush.

work area. Indoors or outdoors, choose a day with little humidity so that the drying time will not be prolonged.
