Wreck Injures One; Vehicles Are Total Loss

A car-pick-up smashup injured a Hereford resident as both vehicles involved in the accident were listed as total losses by Hereford Police Department officers investigating the collision.

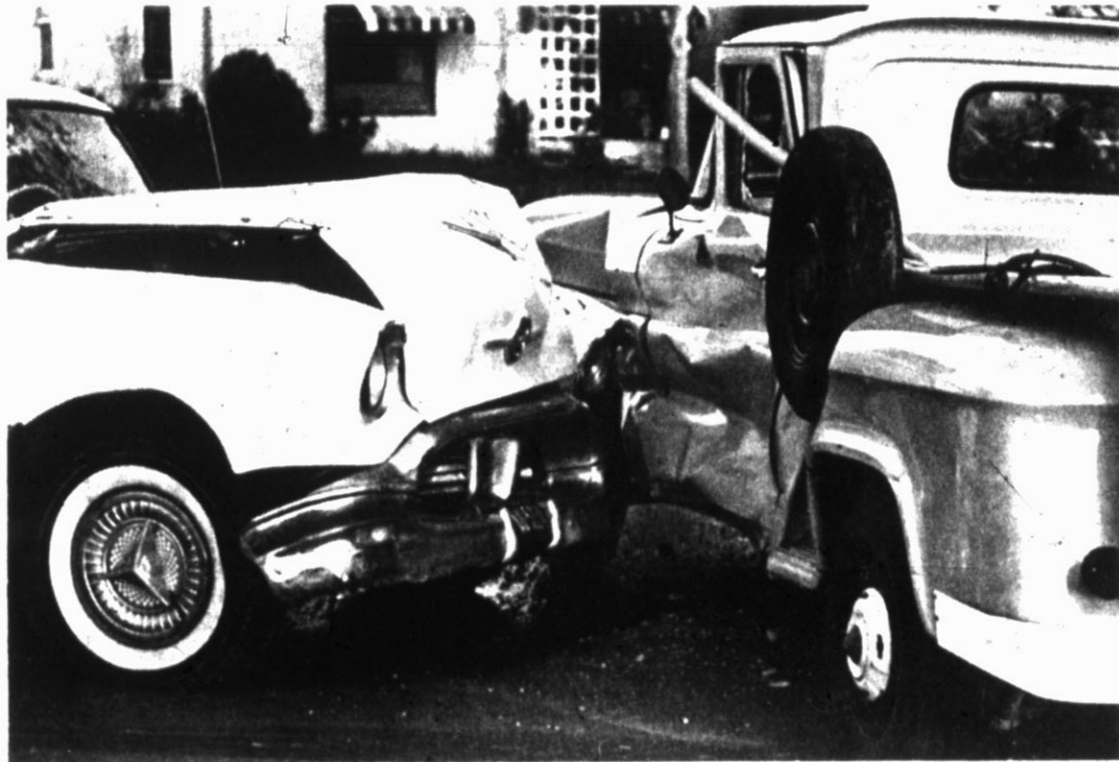

The accident occurred Monday about 7 p.m. as a 1959 model pick-up and a 1956 model sedan rammed together at the intersection of Wulf and Blevins Streets.

Taken to the Deaf Smith County hospital for treatment was John F. Warren, 40, 823 Blevins, driver of the pick-up. A hospital spokesman reported Wednesday that Warren has been released.

Warren was injured as the two vehicles collided with the sedan striking the truck broadside near the cab. The right side of the truck was heavily damaged. The front end of the sedan was smashed.

At the time of the collision, the sedan, driven by Joan Culp, 19, Route 1, Hereford, was apparently headed west on Wulf, according to the police department. The Warren vehicle was traveling south on Blevins.

Two tickets were issued following the collision citing Joan Culp for no driver's license and failure to grant right-of-way.

TWO HEAVILY DAMAGED VEHICLES, involved in a collision at the intersection of Wulf and Blevins Streets, were listed as total losses by the Hereford Police Department. A Hereford man, John F. Warren, 40, 823 Blevins, driving the pick-up, was also injured in the accident occurring about 7 p.m. Monday. The 1956 model sedan involved in the collision was driven by Joan Culp, 19, of Route 1, Hereford. (Staff Photo)

EVERYONE ASKED TO HELP

Town Is Spring Cleaning

Hereford's annual spring cleaning, Clean-Up, Fix-Up and Paint-Up Week got underway here Monday as city residents and businessmen were urged to dress up the exterior appearances of their homes and businesses.

To assist in the campaign aimed at encouraging all persons to clean up the home or place of business, the city of Hereford assigned trucks for extra trash collection.

The extra trash pickups are to be made throughout the week and through next week, according to a statement made by Dudley Bayne, city manager.

He also urged all residents to assist the city in the handling of the extra amount of trash by putting debris in containers.

Clean-Up Week is one of the activities sponsored during the year by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Beautification sub-committee headed by Mrs. Jimmie Gillingent.

All city residents are urged to take advantage of the special trash pickups being made by the city, she commented. The trucks will be picking up tree limbs and other litter which is not ordinarily picked up.

Residents are asked, she said, to put the debris in closed containers whenever possible to assist in the extra collection. Use of the covered container will also keep the trash from being blown about by the wind.

She also pointed out that citizens could improve the look of the city by cleaning the bushes and tall weeds from the alleys and vacant lots within the city.

The removal of dandelions from lawns is also a part of the annual Clean-Up Week campaign. Mrs. Gillingent pointed out.

City officials have expressed their interest in the campaign to beautify Hereford pointing out that the removal of high weeds and trash eliminates a dangerous fire hazard and the potential hiding places for prowlers and burglars.

In endorsing the campaign, Dub Reeves, fire chief explained that a great many of the calls answered by the volunteer department are caused by litter catching fire.

By removing litter from buildings and weeds from vacant lots, alleys and along fences, homeowners will be able to save money in the form of taxes and lower insurance rates, he pointed out.

Even though Hereford, has one of the lowest rates of any surrounding town, he warned, a major fire will increase insurance protection costs. This fire could easily be started by an accumulation of litter.

Also expressing keen interest in the campaign is the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, since a clean city will not only attract tourists but persons who are interested in moving to the city.

A clean, neat town showing the citizens pride in their com-

Thousands of Deaf Smith County residents will join with fellow Texans in a massive march to the polls Saturday, May 5. Local voters will face lengthy ballots, with 17 state posts up for party nomination, along with two U. S. Congressmen, one district race and six county races.

Many of these are contested. And for the first time, there will be two primaries going as the Republican party seeks to make Texas a two-party state.

Saturday's election, and the subsequent second primary in some cases, will determine party candidates for the General Election in November.

In Deaf Smith County, polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Call Committee To See Proposed School Sketches

Basic plans for school additions were given a final going-over Tuesday night in a special meeting of the Hereford Rural High School board.

Trustees voted to submit plans drawn up to a special meeting of the Citizens' Study Committee, which was formed last November to make recommendations on school needs.

Meeting of the committee is set for Monday, May 7, at 8 p.m. in the high school cafeteria, according to Donzil Pulliam, its permanent chairman.

Superintendent Paul Stevens told the board Tuesday night that they had gone along with the recommendations for physical plant additions, although on a slightly smaller scale in some cases.

Architect Herb Brasher of Lubbock was on hand Tuesday to show revised sketches for school expansion. Included at the high school would be a two-story wing on the north end of (Continued on page 10)

LOBOS WIN 6-1

Herd-Demon Tilt Saturday Crucial

From the way Levelland treated Hereford Tuesday, a casual observer would think that the Lobos are good friends of the Dumas Demons. Actually they are arch-rivals but the Lobos did their best for Dumas.

It happened that Levelland whipped Hereford 6-1 in baseball to give Dumas a full-game lead over the second place Whitefaces. Hereford has a 3-3 record while Dumas is 4-2. Levelland is 2-4 with both its victories over Hereford.

So the conference 1-AAA race comes down to the wire. Hereford will be at Dumas Saturday afternoon for a crucial game. Starting time is 2 p.m. On Tuesday, May 8, Hereford will play a non-conference game with Nazareth while Dumas will be at Levelland.

Hereford will play its last regularly-scheduled game here on Friday, May 11, hosting the Levelland squad.

With just one game separating each of the three teams, almost anything could happen in the final three games. Either Hereford or Dumas could win the title outright, or it could happen that all teams might end up in a three-way tie.

Dumas earned its first place by virtue of a wild 7-6 win over Levelland at Dumas Saturday. Trailing 4-6 going into the last of the seventh, Dumas scored two runs to tie the score. The third out was marked up on a strike-out, but the Lobo catcher let the ball get by. The batter got to first and the winning run scored from third on the miscue.

In Hereford's downfall Tuesday, pitcher David Schmidley continued his mastery over the Whitefaces. And the powerful Lobo hitters chalked up three extra-base hits to ruin Hereford's effort to pull into a first-place tie.

For five full innings, it was an excellent ball game. In the first three innings, so (Continued on page 8)

Padgett Named Police Sergeant

Marshall Padgett of the Hereford Police Department has been promoted to sergeant, according to an announcement made Tuesday by Henry Aycock, chief of police.

The post was created recently as the City Commission budgeted funds for the position. At that time it was pointed out that an officer was needed to act as second-in-command of the department.

Chief Aycock explained that the duties associated with the new post are as an assistant to the chief of police.

Padgett has been with the Hereford police Department for approximately a year. He had served 12 years on the Amarillo police force before taking a position here.

While serving with the Amarillo force, he had risen to the rank of detective sergeant. Padgett and his wife reside at 607 Irving. They have a daughter, Debra Sue, 2½ years old.

Hereford Teams In FFA Contest Win State Place

Two Future Farmers of America judging teams earned the right to enter state competition in College Station next week after placing high at the Texas Tech contests in Lubbock Saturday.

Also earning the right to enter statewide competition was a dairy products judging team comprised of Larry Hair, Pat Smith, and Terry Teaschner.

These two teams will compete Thursday in College Station in an attempt to gain state honors in the F. F. A. contests. Accompanying the boys to College Station will be Wyatt Harmon, assistant vocational agriculture instructor at Hereford High School.

Vocational agriculture instructor Jess Robinson reports that over 1,600 boys competed in the various contests at Lubbock Saturday.

Other teams from Hereford which were entered included a dairy cattle judging threesome comprised of Gary Duggan, Alton Johnson, and Tim Teaschner.

Entering the cotton classing event were Scott Ramsey, Earl Jackson, and Carl Myers.

Meat judging contest entrants were David Block, Jackie Andrews, and Bill Miller. Competing in grass judging was a team composed of Joel Lyial, James Corbett, and David Reinart. Robert Caraway, Terry Hill, and Billy Johnson entered as a team in the crops judging contest.

DOING THEIR PART in Hereford's annual spring clean up by chopping weeds in the front yard are Bruce and Terry Batley, 8 and 10-year-old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Batley, 509 Ave. J. Hereford Council, K of C, Observes 25th Anniversary

About 400 members and guests attended a banquet Sunday evening, April 29, in commemoration of the 25th anniversary of the Knights of Columbus, Hereford Council 2778. The dinner and program were held in the auditorium of St. Anthony's School.

Tommy Albracht, currently Grand Knight of the local Council, was master of ceremonies for the program. Ernie Brockman of Nazareth, district director, extended his congratulations to the charter members for planting the seed which has resulted in the outstanding growth and achievement of the Hereford chapter. Guest speaker for the meeting was R. Conroy Scoggin of Houston, immediate Past Supreme Director of the Knights of Columbus. Scoggin told the group of his recent trip to Europe, the highlight of which was a visit to Rome and the Vatican City.

"I would like to commend the Hereford Council on its 25 years of devotion to God, church, community and the nation. This Council truly is made up of men of Catholic action," he said.

Scoggin told of being met in Rome by the Governor of the Vatican City, of Mass at St. Peter's Basilica, a visit to the tombs of Pope Benedictine, Pope Pius XI and Pope Pius XII. He also attended Mass in the catacombs, where early Christians hid.

He also attended a concert given by Pope John. St. Peter's was so impressive, he said, that he returned for a longer visit. He pointed out that the building was so large that all the Catholic churches in the Amarillo Diocese and the San Angelo Diocese could be placed inside with room left over.

Following Scoggin's talk, a 11 past Grand Knights of the local Council presented brief highlights of the 25 years that have passed. Albracht told how the Council was started after John Albracht received a letter from the Supreme Council asking if such an organization could be started in Hereford.

In 1937, the Hereford Council was formed with the installation held in City Hall and the charter banquet held in the old Streu Hardware building on April 25.

By Suzy Woodford
Who said it takes women hours to dress? It only takes Maribeth Gilliland 30 minutes. Last Saturday night, after play practice was called off at 7:00, Mickey Bonesio asked her to go to the Key Club Banquet which was to be held at 7:30. Maribeth had only 30 minutes to get ready, but with the aid of Jan Reese she made it and looked very cool, calm, and collected.

Drew Kershen, who is the outgoing president of Key Club, got the order of happenings a little confused.

He had everyone stand, say the pledge to the flag, sing America and then give the invocation.

Everyone got a big laugh out of this except Drew. He only got a red face! But I am sure in years to come he too will think it was funny.

Besides eating and being entertained by "Ron, Dick, and Charlie", the Key Club guests witnessed the installation of new officers.

Dick Combs is the newly elected president; David Block, vice-president; Ronnie Gray, secretary; and Charles Kelly, treasurer.

Good luck to these new officers and the rest of the club for another successful year!

As I was walking down the hall last week, I heard Patti Skypala and Audni Miller talking about roses.

Audni was to be "Tizzie McIntosh" in the Thespian contest play, "The Sisters McIntosh", but got the measles and could not be in the play.

All this happened about three days before contest. The cast and crew of the play decided Audni had really worked hard and was very sorry about her fate, so they gave her one dozen pink roses.

April 25 was Patti's birthday. Bill Dirks gave her one dozen roses, so Patti was telling Audni that she too had gotten roses and wasn't it fun!

Speaking of Audni Miller, she went to a drama school last summer in Victoria, Tex.

While she was there, she met Bill Stevens, who lives in Victoria. This week she found out Bill is going to Yale.

Now everytime you see Audni, she says, "Did you know I am going with a Yale man?"

Hat Parade Given At Sunshine Meet

The Sunshine Club members were guests in the home of Mrs. Clint Lundry on Tuesday evening, April 24, for a program presented by the hostess, Mrs. Lundry. She showed colored slides of Holland.

Roll call was answered by naming "A Town Of Interest To Me". After the program, a hat parade was presented. Many beautiful and unusual hats, made by the club members, were modeled in the parade. Mrs. Elsie Jones won the prize for the best hat.

Sandwiches, cake and coffee were served to one visitor, Mrs. Alma Andrews, and club members, Mesdames Nan West, Helen Cole, Margie Kemp, Doris Burgess, Elsie Jones, Elsie Minor and the hostess, Mrs. Clint Lundry.

Boy, some people have all the luck!

REP. ROGERS WRITES

Memphis Farmer Wronged Charges Area Congressman

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT:

"Mr. Norman" is Mr. James M. Norman, who resides in Memphis, Tex. He was wronged by the government — his own Federal government; not deliberately wronged, perhaps, but nevertheless a victim of too much red tape or inefficiency or, perhaps, a reasonable mistake.

In any event, Mr. Norman has been out $2,001.48 which, in the opinion of the House of Representatives (which passed a bill for his relief), he is entitled to recover. He would have been well on his way to recovering it, had the other body of the Congress (sometimes referred to as the Senate) proceeded to discuss his bill for relief on its merits. However, when the bill for the relief of James M. Norman came up on the calendar of the Senate, an amendment known as the Mansfield-Dirksen Amendment was offered, to substitute the provisions of S. 2750, a bill to bar arbitrary litigation tests in Federal elections, for the contents of the Norman bill.

Mr. Mansfield is the Majority Leader of the Senate, and a Democrat. Mr. Dirksen is the Minority Leader of the Senate, and a Republican. So, it would seem that Mr. Norman involuntarily became a bipartisan victim. If the amendment is adopted, it will mean that Mr. James M. Norman, individual citizen of the United States, will be denied the relief to which he is entitled and be forced to begin anew the mechanics of obtaining a recovery of his money. The irony of the situation lies in the fact that the debate on S. 2750 will no doubt produce much weeping and wailing about the violation of the rights of individual citizens of the United States of America. Yet here is Mr. Norman, an innocent victim of the fault of the Federal government, whose rights as an individual citizen are being ignored and encroached upon. And, this encroachment of individual rights in this particular situation is being used as a platform or a vehicle from which to argue against the encroachment upon individual rights. One wonders, how inconsistent is inconsistency?

The facts of the Norman case are simply this: in 1952 he was approached by representatives of the Federal government to purchase crop insurance on Foard County, Texas. He yielded to the entreaties and agreed to purchase the crop insurance. Under the rules then applicable, such crop insurance, once purchased, remained in force and was reinstated each year unless affirmatively cancelled by the landowner. And, in the event a landowner did not cancel the insurance, he was charged the premium for the full year and it could be collected from him by law and, in fact, was in many cases.

Hence, Mr. Norman was insured beginning with the 1952 crop year, and from year to year afterward, through 1958. For some unexplained reason, the description records reflected section 26 rather than section 16. This was unknown to Mr. Norman, as he had not made out the applications but had only signed them in the first instance at the request of representatives of the Federal government.

In 1952, 1953, 1955, and 1957, indemnities were claimed in accordance with the contract and were paid by the proper agency in the Department of Agriculture. It will be remembered that this was the period of the long drought in Texas. In 1958 there was another crop failure and Mr. Norman again claimed the indemnity to which he was entitled. It was then that the Department of Agriculture discovered that his land was actually section 16 and not section 26. They also discovered that section 16 was not in an insurable area, although this fact had never been made known to Mr. Norman. Consequently, the 1958 claim was rejected and a demand was made upon Mr. Norman to pay to the Federal government the sum of $2,001.48.

When Mr. Norman made these facts known to me, I immediately instituted an investigation of the matter and concluded that Mr. Norman was not at fault, but that the fault lay with the Federal government. In fact, had the insurer been a private corporation instead of the Federal government and had made the same mistake, any claim against Mr. Norman would have been barred by the statute of limitations, or Mr. Norman could have successfully defended a law suit from an equitable standpoint. However, not so with the Federal government.

Under the circumstances, I introduced a bill for the relief of Mr. James M. Norman in the summer of 1960. Due to the lateness of the time, the bill was not reached during that session of the Congress. Hence, on January 3, 1961, I reintroduced the bill and proper hearings were had before the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives. The bill, H. R. 1361, was favorably reported from the Committee and was subsequently passed by the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate. It passed through the Judiciary Committee of that body and was placed on the calendar for consideration by the Senate.

Mr. Norman was kept fully advised of the progress of the measure, as he was entitled. He no doubt subscribed to the policy that in this country justice is slow, but sure. There is no doubt in his mind about it being slow, but when his bill became the vehicle for a civil rights dispute with the bipartisan support of both the Republican and the Democratic Parties, I wonder if Mr. Norman is not somewhat skeptical about justice being sure. In any event, let it be known here and now that we shall continue the fight for justice, whether it be Mr. Norman or any other individual citizen of this nation who is entitled to redress.

WHAT HORSERACING WILL DO FOR TEXAS

WHEN YOU VOTE FOR HORSERACING IN TEXAS YOU GUARANTEE OUR STATE AND EVERY COUNTY ADDITIONAL FUNDS FOR BETTER ROADS, HOSPITALS, SCHOOLS, PARKS, AND THE CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES.

CHARITIES BENEFIT
Tracks all over the nation regularly have "Charity Days" with all gate proceeds going to a particular charity. In one State last year over 5 million dollars went to charity. All of the net profits of Del Mar track in California goes into boys work. Texas tracks can provide millions for charity work in Texas.

HORSERACING, BEST SUPERVISED OF ALL SPORTS
Federal, State, County and City supervision plus the industry's own Bureau have virtually eliminated all scandals and corruption from what today no less a personage than J. Edgar Hoover has called a "well supervised and clean sport, a wholesome diversion." The completely electronic Totalisator board guarantees an exact and accurate count of all monies bet as a protection to the State and the public.

LEADING TEXANS BACK HORSERACING
The Citizens Committee, composed of bankers, industrialists, retailers, farmers, ranchers and other prominent civic leaders, is for horseracing because of its economic benefits to Texas. The Committee wants to see proper legislation setting up strong administrative safeguards to insure a well-regulated horseracing program for Texas. The Committee wants first class racing for a first class State.

OMAHA — "... motels and restaurants at capacity, downtown business increased."
ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILLINOIS — "... the businessmen welcome the horsemen."
PHOENIX — "... a mighty good adjunct to the tourist business, about $150,000,000 annually."
EL PASO — "... (track just across border) Credit managers not reporting any rise in delinquent accounts. Business feeling the effect of "extra" business from race track patrons. Definite asset. Besides the millions of dollars that can be expected from tourists, the track itself will rocket more millions into circulation in Texas. Labor and material for a first class track will be in excess of 12 million dollars. Employment at the track will provide another major payroll for Texas.

TEXANS FLOCK TO RACES IN OTHER STATES
By car, by plane and even by special trains, thousands and thousands of Texans go to Hot Springs, New Orleans, Kentucky, New York, California, New Mexico, etc. Let's keep these $96555 in Texas.

MILLIONS $$$$$$ IN EXTRA INCOME FOR STATE AND COUNTIES
The State of Texas and every County in Texas will share in the pari-mutuel tax. In 1961, New York State received over $99 million dollars from horseracing taxes; California over $38 million, New Jersey over $25 million, Illinois over $19 million plus 20 other States for a total in excess of one quarter billion dollars. This money is needed in Texas for better roads, hospitals, schools, parks, conservation of natural resources, old age pensions, teachers salaries, etc. This income to the State and to every County in the State will help prevent increased taxes.

TOURIST ATTRactions DESPERATELY NEEDED
Texas' sagging tourist industry dropped from 10.3 million visitors spending $531 million in 1957 to 8.6 million visitors spending $457 million in 1960, according to the State Highway Department. The tourist trend in Texas is down while the tourist industry in the U.S. is booming at a $20 billion a year rate. Based on population Texas' tourist income should be over a billion dollars. Horseracing offers Texas an opportunity to reverse this trend and bring back the thousands of tourists who have found visits elsewhere more alluring.

FARMERS AND RANCHERS TO BENEFIT
Texas leads the nation in quarter horse registration and is 6th in the breeding and raising of thoroughbreds. Texas, because of its climate and horse raising background, can greatly expand the business of breeding, raising and training horses if horses can race in Texas at first class tracks with first class competition. Today race horses from Texas must be shipped to other States which entails great expense. With tracks in Texas, every farmer and rancher will have the opportunity and the economic incentive to supply the necessary horses. A great new industry will boom.

HORSERACING OUTDRAWS FOOTBALL-BASEBALL COMBINED
In 1961, horseracing retained its position as the nation's number one spectator sport with a new record total of over 59 million in attendance, almost 5 million more than the total baseball and football attendance combined. The pleasing of being outdoors, the love of horses combined with the thrill of an exciting race have earned for horseracing the role of "America's Favorite Sport."

HORSERACING BOON TO BUSINESS
A survey made by Chambers of Commerce in cities enjoying horseracing, resulted in a 100% agreement that business increased because of horseracing.

NEW ORLEANS — "... it is my considered opinion that the economic impact is beneficial. Retail credit is unaffected."

VOTE "FOR"

FOR the legislature to submit a Constitutional amendment to legalize pari-mutuel wagering on horse races.

FOR the legislature to enact a law legalizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse races (14) per cent of the pari-mutuel pool, the home-county receiving two (2) per cent of the total pool, and all other counties receiving one-half of the net State share on the basis of population. No racing on Sunday.

Cooking School Friday

By Argen Draper
The Cooking School will be Friday, May 4, at 1:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. This promises to be one of the best things that we will have this year. Each club member should put out a special effort to attend.

The Progressive Farmer magazine plans to select another group of Master Farm Families in Texas in 1962. If you as an individual or if a group, would like to nominate a worthy family, the farm magazine editors will send the family a record book to be filled in. The scoring is done after this record is completed.

Here are some marketing tips for food shoppers. Fryers are in ample supply at economical prices, and Grade A large eggs are certainly the economy-quality buy. Good beef values will be found in round and shoulder steaks, short ribs and ground beef.

Hams and ham portions, picnics, Boston butt roasts and sausage highlight pork counters. The most economical fresh fruit and vegetable items include bananas, avocados, wine-sap apples, lemons, collards, mustard, turnip greens, radishes, green onions, white potatoes, and carrots. Head lettuce is a bit lower in price this week, as are most of the tomatoes.

Larger supplies of fresh strawberries are expected this week, so prices should be more attractive. Frozen orange concentrate supplies are greater than a year ago, and prices are lower.

June is officially Dairy Month but every day meals should include milk. I can't forget the time I attended a luncheon meeting for milk promotion and iced tea was served.

Dry milk deserves a place in your meal planning, too. It is a low-cost product, yet it contains all the nutrients of whole milk except for the milk fat.

Most of us don't need the fat, as there are plenty of other foods that have a lot of vitamin A in them so, you need not worry about the loss of that vitamin when you use dry skim milk instead of whole milk.

Dry milk stores easily, it can be kept in dry form much longer than whole milk. Once the water is added, however, the storage life is about the same as fluid milk.

Dry milk can be the key to getting adequate milk nutrients into your family's diet. Make the dry milk more concentrated than called for. Mix dry milk with whole milk to make "double milk."

Use dry milk often in cooking and where possible use more than the recipe calls for. Your own experience will determine how much of this you can do.

4-H District Contest at West Texas State last Saturday was well attended and as usual Deaf Smith won its share of the awards. Two girls and seven boys will represent the county at Round-up in June. Congratulations to the individuals and to the clubs that had winners, also to the adult leaders who have done such an excellent job with the 4-Hers.

There's an official 4-H jacket in the office that can be bought at cost. It's a small size. Ask Mrs. Leroy Williamson about it or the Extension Secretary.

A number of recipes are coming to the office on cooking from Latin America. Here's a main dish from Mexico.

MEXICANA CHICKEN PIE
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup shortening
5 to 7 tablespoons cold water
Chicken filling

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening until mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Turn out on lightly floured board or pastry cloth and press dough together. Cover or wrap in waxed paper and place in refrigerator while preparing Chicken Filling. Roll 2/3 of dough to circle 18-inch thick. Fit into 9-inch pie pan. Trim edge, leaving 1/2 inch extending over edge of pan. Turn filling into pastry shell. Roll remaining pastry to 1/8-inch thickness and cut into strips. Lay strips, lattice fashion, over filling. Fold edge of pastry shell over ends of strips. Flute edge. Bake in hot oven (425 F.) 40 to 45 minutes or until pastry is lightly browned. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

CHICKEN FILLING
2 cups cream style corn (1 pound can)
1/3 cup corn starch
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1 1/2 teaspoons chili powder
1/2 cup sliced ripe olives
1 1/2 cups diced cooked chicken
1-inch cubes (two 5-ounce cans)
1 cup chopped green pepper (1 medium pepper)
1/2 cup crushed, well drained tomatoes (1-pound can)

Mix together corn, corn starch, onion, salt and chili powder. Stir in olives, green pepper, chicken and tomatoes. Pour into pastry shell. No. of ingredients: 13; No. of utensils: 15; Total preparation time: 1 hour, 30 minutes.

The third is for or against "The Legislature to submit a Constitutional Amendment to abolish the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting."

There are three propositions on the bottom of the Republican ballot. First would be for submitting a constitutional amendment to legalize parimutuel wagering on horse races on a local county option basis.

Herd...

(Continued from page 1) phomere Jim Haney allowed just two Lobos on base. He walked the first batter he faced in the first while an error put a runner on in the second. The Lobos went down in order in the third.

Hereford got a runner to second in the first inning on a walk and a passed ball, but that was all. One run came in during the second, and that was all for Hereford. Dan McDowell singled and was sacrificed to second on a bunt by Joe Mack Hale. John Buck singled with McDowell moving to third. A double steal worked with McDowell coming in.

In the last of the fourth, Ross Joplin slammed the first pitch over center field for a home run to tie the score, 1-1. It was the first hit of Haney. The next three batters were retired in order. Ken Eberwald singled in the top of the fifth, but was erased on a missed hit-and-run.

Levelland went in front 2-1 in the last of the fifth. Ronnie Baggett doubled and came in on Schmidley's single.

Hereford went down in order in the sixth, but Levelland did not. Duke Edgar singled and moved around to third on an error during an attempted pick-off. Vic Hines walked and Haney was pulled in favor of Mickey Stevens.

But the plate suddenly diminished in size as Stevens walked the first three men he faced. Hines came in on a passed ball. Then Wayne Burton doubled to drive in two more runs. Hereford finally settled down and got the next three batters out with the bases loaded.

In the top of the seventh, the first two batters struck out. John Buck hit his second single but a third strike-out ended the game.

Hereford got five hits, all singles, and was charged with two errors and two passed balls. Levelland also got five hits, but that included a home run and two doubles. The Lobos played errorless ball.

Haney was tagged with the loss as he pitched five-plus innings. He allowed four runs on three hits, walked three and struck out three. Stevens pitched one inning and allowed two runs on two hits, walked three and struck out one.

Schmidley went all the way for the victory. He allowed five singles for one run, struck out six and walked one.

No Lobo got more than one hit. John Buck's two singles accounted for a good part of Hereford's hits. The game lasted just 80 minutes.

By JIMMIE GILLENTE
Here it is two days before election, and no one except the politicians seem very excited. This is due, in part, to the May primary, whereas it used to be on the last Saturday in July—and it hardly seems like an election to a lot of us. I remember because I got married on election day, and it was always easy to remember the anniversary but, from now on, I will probably be thoroughly confused. I don't see why the politicians can't let these things alone, but they contend that it is progress—and maybe they are right.

will take a few minutes and study the miniature backgrounds because, in several races, there are probably quite a few names most of us never before heard. It plain costs too much money these days for every office seeker to air his views extensively.

Even then, TV is so cluttered up a fellow can't tell what he will see next. Texas candidates are bad enough, but some of the stations are running in Oklahoma propaganda—and I think that is going a bit too far.

Charley Martinez, assistant manager at Anthony's, is talking about going into Wisconsin for a stint, which he hopes will pave the way for a store of his own, probably in New Mexico. I can't figure that Charley will make a very good Yankee, but you never can tell.

Grady Rogers meant what he said about remodeling. Already, they have the ceiling lowered, part of the new tile installed and plan to wind up early in the month. Grady says they will install new fixtures throughout as part of the improvements. So far, it is looking mighty nice.

Conchas Lake is reporting good catches these days and in the April 27 bulletin recognized some Hereford fishermen. "Bryant and Party" were listed with 60 crappie and 9 bass, while Fritz Smith appeared on the list with three pike and three trout. It just goes to show that some of the biggest talkers don't always catch the fish. Anyhow, I didn't see anything about Reed-Williams, Jim Lipscomb, John Patton, Cleo Meharg, Neil Cooper and some of those other boys who haunt the place most. I don't know what it will be, but I am sure that each of them will have a good alibi. Probably "discrimination".

The biggest price leap I have heard of recently is in the cost of dried mosquitoes, used by doctors for allergy tests and inoculations. The jump was from $2 to $12 a gram, or $5,455.20 a pound. On the other hand, if you had to slap that many mosquitoes, it might be worth it.

Last Saturday there was so much fuzz in the air, it looked like snow. I figured it was coming from Cottonwood or Elm trees, but Helen Nelson says it came from dandelions. This sounds possible, especially since there are not too many Cottonwood trees in this vicinity. Besides, the stuff was all over town, and so are the dandelions, which leads me to believe Helen may well be right.

Cord Hammock says that Billie Sol Estes should be elected President, and in a couple of years he would have Russia mortgaged down to the hilt. One thing for sure, the Reds never would know exactly how much we had in the way of arms—especially tanks.

Meanwhile, Jessie Stanford admits that he has been thinking about the World Fair in Seattle, but says he hasn't figured out a way to make it and avoid the tremendous crowds. Knowing Jessie, though, I'll bet he gets there before the gates make their final closing swing. Jess and Mrs. Stanford have never had a yen for foreign ports, but have probably toured as much of the United States as any couple I know.

Remember to vote Saturday. There will be no early Brands Saturday evening. Instead, we will hold up and carry complete election returns in an early morning edition.

In different areas, attached to the present building, would be a clothing lab, physical education room for girls and an addition to the present vocational agriculture building to provide room for drafting, metal work, power ship, mechanics and woodworking.

The present Northwest Elementary School would be expanded. Included would be 17 more classrooms, change in the administrative facilities and a large all-purpose room that would include kitchen and two cafeteria lines.

Minister Speaks At Rotary Meet

The three things that Americans need most in today's world, said the Rev. Don Schooler, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church in El Paso, Tex., are religion, integrity and morality.

The Rev. Schooler was speaking at the regular noon meeting of the Hereford Rotary Club. He was introduced to the club by the Rev. Herschel Thurston.

As he spoke, he pointed out the reason why Col. John Glenn, the globe-circling astronaut, has made such an impression on the American public is because of his integrity, morality, and belief in God.

"He stands for all the things that your father and my father believed in," he commented as he spoke of Glenn. "He believes in the things upon which this country was founded."

In commenting on today's issues, the Rev. Schooler said that communism scares him because communists "believe in their philosophy."

"They, as far as I can understand," he emphasized, "believe more strongly in this philosophy, even though they are wrong, than we as Americans believe and we are right."

When Khrushchev said, "We will bury you," he pointed out, the communist chief was not speaking of war. He was saying that the communistic theory would destroy the principles upon which this country is based.

Communists claim the theory of their society is based on history, he pointed out, while the principles upon which this country was founded express a belief in God.

As the Rev. Schooler spoke, he also pointed out the effects of modern technology on the world in the past few generations.

"My father's world was so big," he said, "that you couldn't get around it. Our world today is so small that we are living at everyone else's back door."

"Isolation is foolish," he told Rotary Club members, "There is no such thing in the world today."

In developing the main theme of his talk, the Rev. Schooler also spoke of automation and the effect it is having on economics of the world.

"Yesterday the U.S., Germany and Britain were the only countries producing things," he commented. "But, today it is not true. You can buy goods from Holland, Belgium, Italy and Japan, to name a few."

As he spoke on the problems facing the United States, the Rev. Schooler said, "We need not hunt communists under every bush. But, we must get some religion, integrity and morality inside of each of us."

The Billie Sol Estes manipulations brings out the fact that no one can get away with doing wrong, he commented, because this is a moral universe governed by God.

CIVIC CLUB SPEAKER, the Rev. Don Schooler, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, El Paso, spoke at the noon meeting of the Hereford Rotary and Hereford Lions Clubs here this week. In both talks, the Rev. Schooler urged a return to morality, integrity and God. The speaker was introduced at the meetings by the Rev. Herschel Thurston, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Hereford. (Staff Photo)

Water, Water! But Is It Everywhere?

The Hereford Brand

HEREFORD, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1962

SECTION TWO

Story And Photos By Wain Miller

Plentiful water for irrigation has marked the progress and growth of wealth in Hereford and Deaf Smith County since 1910, but lack of irrigation water could hurl the area back into the era of dryland farming.

Shortage of irrigation water has seldom been discussed in the Hereford area, but available figures cast a shadow of a doubt concerning the future of the area unless water supplies are conserved.

High Plains Water Conservation District released figures last week showing a decline in the water level within the county at an average of near three feet per year. Releases each year show that the water level is constantly declining, yet farmers and others concerned with the county's agriculture have not become alarmed about the future of irrigation.

"Water will be here until I quit farming," states one local farmer, who reflects the apparent mood of most agriculturists. Right he is that water will be here as long as he needs it and no doubt for long after he turns his land over to someone else.

No one is worried about the bottom falling out of Deaf

Smith County wells tomorrow or the next day, but the fact remains that an estimated total of over 2500 wells within the county continue to drain a vast underground reservoir.

Water geologists calculate that before large-scale irrigation came about in the late 1930's, there was over 15 million acre-feet of water available for pumping from a vast underground reservoir under Deaf Smith County.

This would be enough water to cover 15,000,000 acres with one foot of water. In a survey made in 1958, estimates placed the amount of water available for use by Deaf Smith County residents at 13,400,000 acre-feet of water, according to J. G. Cronin of the United States Geological Survey.

Figures released by the High Plains Undergound Water Conservation District in 1955, stated that a total of 1,300,000 acre-feet of water had been withdrawn between 1938 and 1955. This was said to be some 8.7 per cent of the total available water in the water-saturated strata from which local irrigation water is pumped.

However it was pointed out that over 70 per cent of the water which had been used had been pumped within a five-year period from 1950 until 1955.

W. L. (Bill) Broadhurst, Chief Hydrologist for the Water District, states that water levels in more than 80 observation wells within the county, which are measured annually by the Texas Water Commission and the High Plains Water District, indicate that ground water is being depleted.

Broadhurst stated in a news release last week for The Brand, "To illustrate what is occurring throughout Deaf Smith County, we have picked five observation wells that have been measured since January of 1950. Each of the wells selected is from a different part of the county."

Water level in a well owned by Jim Jenkins, 20 miles northwest of Hereford, has declined over 31 feet from January, 1950, to January, 1962. In 1961 the water dropped 3.64 feet.

On land recently purchased by Troys Carmichael some seven and one-half miles northwest of Hereford, the depth to water has dropped almost 30 feet since 1950. An even three feet of this drop was registered during 1961.

A. T. Frye's well, two and one-half miles southwest of Dawn, declined 39 feet since 1950, with a reported drop of 7.28 feet in 1961. Least decline in the four wells was registered three miles north of Summerfield on land owned by W. C. Beene. Water level declined 27.36 feet in the period since 1950, with a drop of only 2.14 feet recorded last year.

Broadhurst concluded, "The declines shown for the four observation wells indicate that we have a problem that needs to be faced up to and recognized. It is a problem that can be partially, but not completely, alleviated by individuals making more efficient use of both rain water and ground water."

The High Plains Undergound Water Conservation District was established in 1953. Including all or parts of 13 counties, the Water District was set up as the result of a vote by residents.

The largest of several such authorities in the state, the High Plains District regulates irrigation well drilling in the area which lies over a vast underground reservoir which stretches from the Lubbock vicinity north to Deaf Smith and Potter counties.

When residents voted in favor of establishing the district, the aim was that the district set up irrigation development standards to be followed by the farmers.

Besides regulating well spacing and permits, the district provides information and aids in irrigation planning. Currently awaiting the decision on the controversial water depletion test suit, the district has also represented the farmer in battling various legislation.

Water used for irrigation in the Southern High Plains lies within the Ogallala formation in a large reservoir bounded by the High Plains Water District.

Since there is no effective source of replacing the water used other than through natural rainfall, the District encourages conservation.

Bruce Fink, ground water geologist and head of the Hereford field office of the district, points out that only an estimated 3/20th of an inch of rain water per year seeps from the ground into the water saturated sands.

"This is only a drop in the bucket compared to the amount that farmers pump out," he adds.

"About the only really practical means of preserving the water is through better use of rain water and strict conservation practices," he surmised.

"The farmers are getting to think more about conservation of underground water," Fink adds. "Several are saving rain water through the use of lake pumps, as well as the establishing of proper plowing, terracing, and bench leveling."

Among the farmers who are presently using lake pumps to reclaim water that would otherwise be lost through evaporation is Steve Clements. On his farm 10 miles northwest of Hereford Clements had a lake pump installed in September.

"I think a lot of the pump," Clements stated. "It is very economical and I am impressed with the number of gallons per minute we can pump."

"Right now we're using about four gallons of butane per hour and pumping 1400 gallons of water per minute. This compares quite favorably with my wells, which average about 850 gallons per minute."

"So far the lake pump has proved very economical," he adds.

"Lakes here are not very useful unless we can get the benefit of the water in them," he concluded. Water level in Clements' lake has dropped about a foot since he began pumping.

"Not only do I get to use the water in the lake," he said, "but we also catch the irrigation tailwater and rainwater which finds its way to the lake."

Another practice which has proved successful both in conservation and in economy is the irrigation run-off, or tailwater, return system.

Operation of a tailwater recirculation system on the R. C. (Dick) Godwin farm northwest of Hereford has been "very successful so far," according to the owner.

"We're pumping a good amount of water all of the time," Godwin stated. "We can get up to as much as 2000 gallons per minute from the pit and it seems very economical."

"I don't need as much power to operate the pump," he adds. "The price of installing a well, the cost of power, and the maintenance of the well are more costly than the operation of such a return system."

"I think it's important to use the tailwater," Godwin stated. "because the water table is dropping and wells gradually grow weaker. But a system such as mine is not only good conservation, but it pays off in dollars and cents."

Besides his tailwater recirculation system which is run by an irrigation pump, Godwin has other pits including a gravity flow system. Without the aid of a pumping device, he is able to irrigate one-half section of land with run-off water from other fields.

These are only two of the practices employed to conserve the water which is constantly being mined from underneath the county.

In a report prepared for the Texas Water Commission and the High Plains Undergound Water Conservation District, J. G. Cronin of the United States Geological Survey stated, "Ground water is stored in the Ogallala formation in the void spaces between grains of sand and particles of silt and clay, and it is possible to recover only a part of the water in storage."

In order to determine the amount of water under a given area, farmers and geologists multiply the number of acres of land time the thickness in feet of the water bearing strata under the farm. This amount should then be multiplied times 15 percent, which is considered the amount of water which could be recovered from the waterbearing strata.

Cronin summarized the future of the county's irrigation by stating: "The estimated amount of water withdrawn from the Ogallala formation in the Southern High Plains each year so greatly exceeds even the most optimistic estimates of recharge that it must be concluded that ground water is being 'mined' from storage."

Cronin points out that the use of river water by cities will save a small quantity of the water. "But a more practical method for meeting the water-depletion problem is by improving water conservation practices, which at best will only extend the life of large-scale agricultural production. Considering the economic value of irrigation, the extension of the water supply for even a few years is worthy of concentrated effort toward conservation."

Cronin points out that although the quantity of water which could be recovered from lakes and ponds is small, the water saved would otherwise be lost through evaporation. This would extend the life of the underground reservoir.

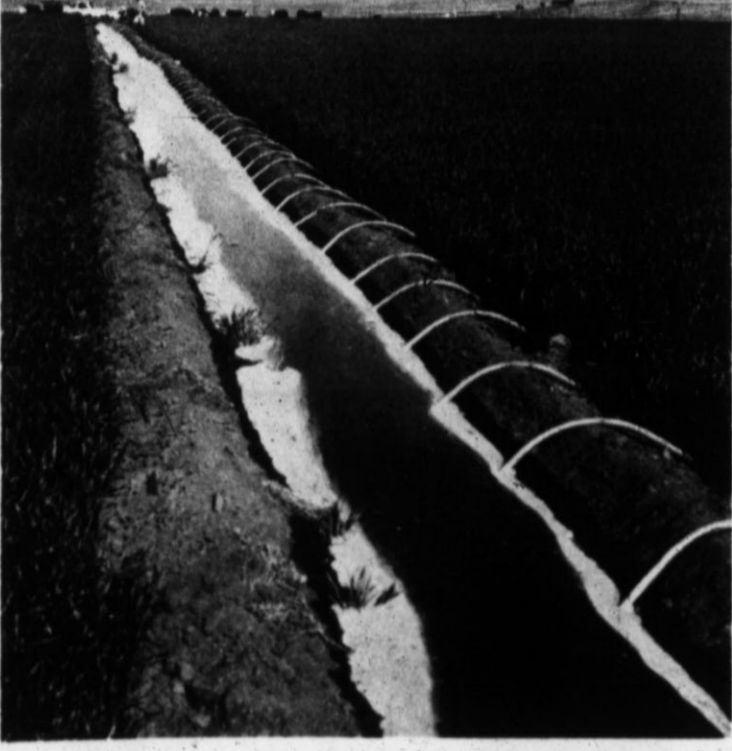

He adds that conservation of lake and rain water, combined with strict conservation of ground water, are the only known means of extending the life of large-scale irrigation.

"It will require the efforts of everyone affected, both individually and collectively, in order to extend the life expectancy of the ground water, the life blood of the Southern High Plains," Cronin concluded.

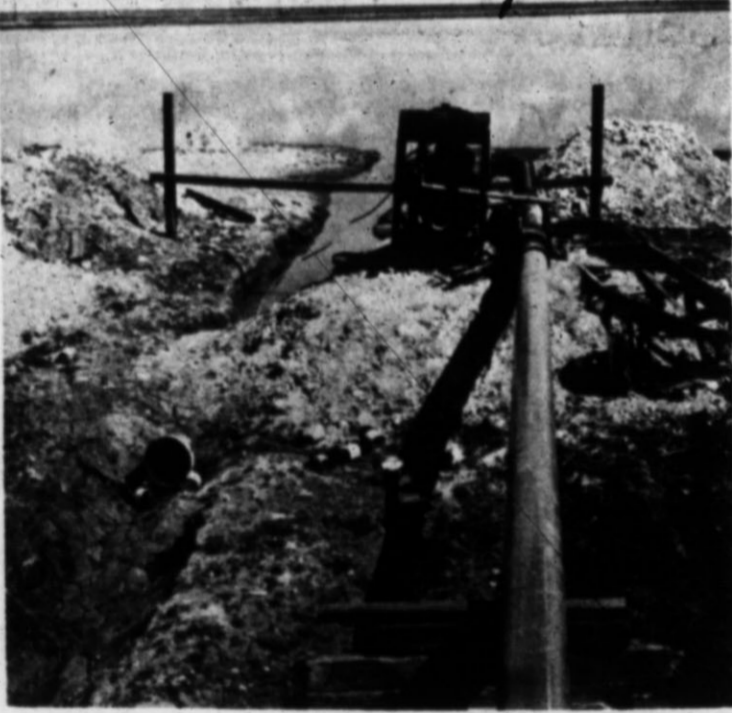

Through the cooperation of Bruce Fink at the High Plains Undergound Water Conservation District office in Hereford, The Brand has prepared this article as a reminder to farmers who are once more starting the wells which are mining the water from beneath the farmland.

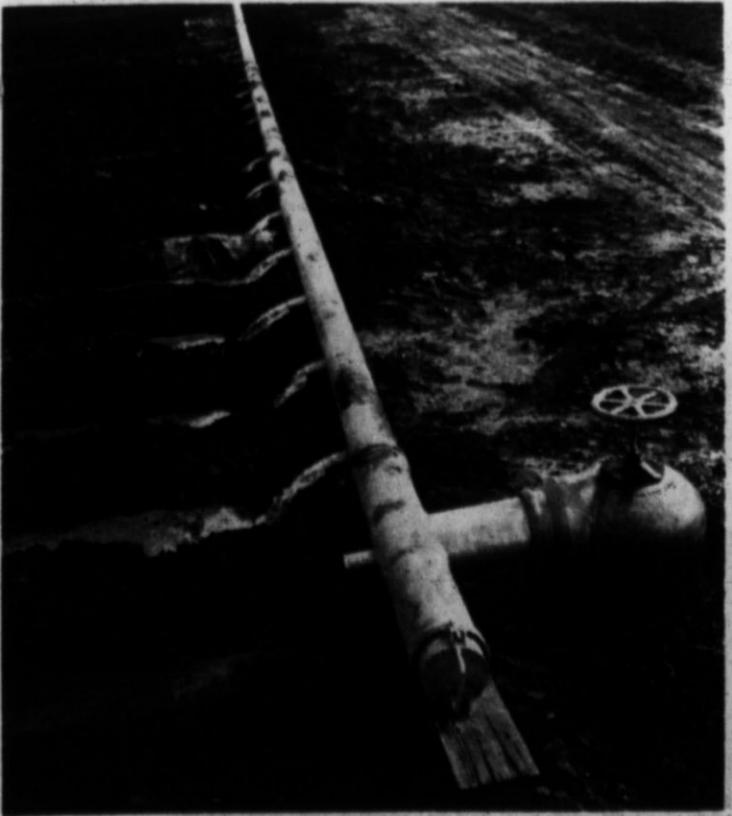

REGISTERING THE FLOW of water from a tailwater recirculation system, a meter is read by Bruce Fink, soil water geologist of the Hereford office of the High Plains Water District. The system, located on the Dick Godwin farm located northwest of Hereford, is currently pumping some 1200 gallons per minute of water; but is capable of flowing over 2000 gallons per minute.

IRRIGATION TUBES arched over banks of ditches is another familiar sight in Deaf Smith County. Irrigation is solely responsible for the high yields of the area's grain crops, and has been the key factor in the development of rich vegetable industries. Proper conservation must be employed in order to extend the life of the area's "lifeblood"—water.

ONE OF MANY conservation measures recommended by water conservationists, this lake pump recovers water that would otherwise be lost by evaporation. Steve Clements, who operates this system on his farm 10 miles northwest of Hereford, reports that the operation has proved very successful.

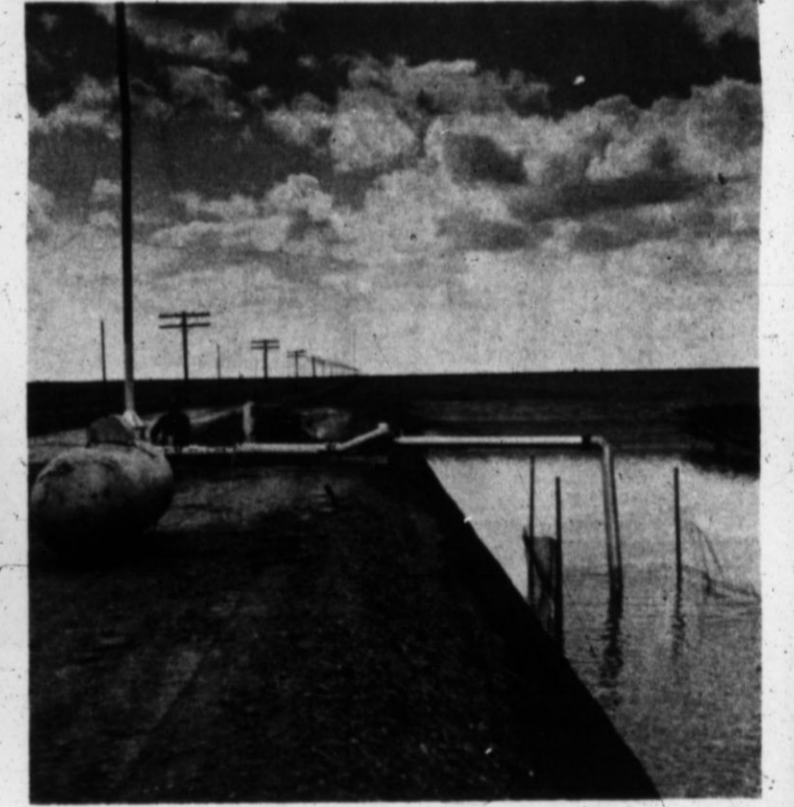

IRRIGATION PIPE has become popular with area farmers. This aluminum pipe allows easy control of water distribution but serves an even more important use in water conservation. All types of underground and enclosed water systems prevent water loss through evaporation and seepage.

POINTING OUT the Hereford area on a map of the High Plains Undergound Water Conservation District is Bruce Fink, manager of the Hereford office and water geologist. The District, which was established in 1953, covers parts of 13 counties in the Panhandle. It regulates irrigation practices on the area which lies over a huge underground water reservoir.

UNDERGROUND PIPELINES not only add convenience to farming, but are considered a valuable aid in water conservation. Frank Bezner and Tino Cortez set a value on one of the Bezner wells southeast of town.

A TAIL WATER RETURN pit is in operation on the Dick Godwin farm northwest of Hereford. The system makes it possible to capture water run-off from fields, return it to the pit for storage, and then pump it back onto the fields. Note the water flowing into the pit in the upper left-hand corner of the pit. Conservation of tailwater is considered a "must" by water conservationists.

THE TRADEMARK of Golden Spread agriculture might be considered to be the irrigation systems which have brought vast wealth. Water is constantly mined from the ground with no effective source of restoring the used water. Strict water conservation is the only known way in which to extend the life of large-scale irrigation.

A FAMILIAR SIGHT on the Southern High Plains is priming the tubes in order to start the water flowing down the rows. Tino Cortez starts a tube on the Frank Bezner farm southeast of Hereford.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING!

Epicurian Delights Feature Of Friday's Cooking School

"The success of today's modern woman as a homemaker, mother, clubwoman and wife depends to a great extent on her ability to prepare wholesome nourishing meals for herself and her family—quickly, easily and pleasantly", declares Joann Loftis, Southwestern Public Service Company home advisor, who will conduct the all-electric cooking school at the Hereford High School Auditorium on Friday, May 4, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. To prove her point, Mrs. Loftis, herself a homemaker, will demonstrate over 30 recipes which she considers to fit into the schedule of the busy homemaker. From complete oven meals to meals that can be prepared in advance, frozen, and then heated-to-serve in just minutes, Mrs. Loftis will run the gamut of epicurian delights.

As a tribute to the rich farming area and ranch lands surrounding Hereford, Mrs. Loftis will begin her demonstration with a complete meal built around a crown roast beef, and supplemented with onions, carrots and green beans and, for dessert, a delicious Apple Flake Crunch.

This will be followed by another complete oven meal featuring onion scallops and candied sweet potatoes, Hereford-grown. Even in the southwest where beef is the mainstay of the diet, an occasional change is welcomed by all the family, and so Mrs. Loftis has included several seafood recipes. The advent of the airplane, plus modern methods of refrigeration and cannery, make it possible for homemakers hundreds of miles from the sea to enjoy the best of seafoods, along with their coastal cousins. Here is one recipe which those attending the school will receive in booklet form:

CHOPSTICK TUNA
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup water
1-3-ounce can (2 cups) chow mein noodles
1 cup chopped celery
1/4 cup chopped onion
1-7-ounce can (1-cup) tuna
Dash of pepper

Combine soup and water. Add 1 cup chow mein noodles, tuna, celery, onion and pepper; mix lightly with a fork. Pour in a lightly greased baking dish. Sprinkle remaining noodles over the top. Bake in a preheated oven at moderate temperature (375 degrees) for about 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Serves 4 or 5.

Another seafood recipe that will be featured is called Shrimp on a Skewer which, according to Mrs. Loftis, is simply delightful and affords a rare treat to summertime guests. Admitting that this recipe is one that takes some attention, Mrs. Loftis says that "the results are well worth the time and effort for those special occasions when you simply must have something that will tickle your guests' taste buds".

In addition to demonstrating the many recipes, Mrs. Loftis, assisted by Miss Stella Carver and Mrs. Ann Walker, will also demonstrate the latest in major electric appliances.

Buy-Rite Appliance, Jerry's Appliance, Robert's Appliance, and Sunset Appliance will furnish the various appliances to be used by the three home service advisors. These dealers are all cooperating with the Public Service Company and the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative in sponsoring the all-electric cooking school.

A RECIPE FOR YOUR FREEZER

1-10 inch Angel Food cake
3/4 cup butter or margarine
3 1/2 cups of powdered sugar
3/4 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 4-ounce cans shredded coconut

Divide cake evenly into 6 wedges; then cut each wedge in half, crosswise. With hands, gently mold each piece into a round ball. To make frosting, cream butter or margarine until soft. Gradually add sugar. Gradually add scalded milk and beat until the frosting is the consistency of whipped cream. Add salt and vanilla. To frost snowballs, spread the frosting on one half of each ball, then dip the frosted portion in coconut. Set aside for a few minutes to harden the frosting. Then repeat the procedure to frost the other half. Freeze and wrap in moisture-vapor-proof material. Yield-12 snowballs.

NOTE: This is a very rich dessert. For party size snowballs, follow the above procedure, but divide cake into 24 snowballs. For individual birthday cakes, put small candles into each one and light. It thrills each little guest if he or she gets to blow out his own candle.

Alcoholism Group Conducts Meeting

Frances Hardwick called the monthly breakfast meeting of the Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism to order Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Western Wheel Inn.

Jewell Smith urged that as many as possible try to attend the forthcoming Fifth Annual Institute on Alcohol Studies in Austin July 8-12. If you plan to attend make your reservations as soon as possible with either Jewell Smith, the Rev. B. H. Baldwin or Herb Boardman.

The program was presented by Frances Hardwick, "On Creating a Crisis," stressing the families' obligations on helping the alcoholic.

A point of interest brought out by Hardwick was, "It is generally agreed that most alcoholics will seek help only when they hit bottom. For a long time it was assumed that bottom had to be skid row, but only a small fraction of the alcoholic population—possibly not more than five per cent—ever reaches skid row."

"The bottom is different for each individual. It is that point at which he says: 'I've had it. If this is what alcohol does to me, I'd better quit drinking,'" Hardwick said.

Hardwick explained, "The phrase 'hitting the bottom' is, of course, another way of saying that the alcoholic finally meets the crisis that makes him want to alter his behavior."

He continued by saying, "A wife or mother may try to protect the alcoholic from such a crisis with the best intentions, but her efforts are usually misguided. The alcoholic who is sheltered from the reality of his behavior has little reason to stop drinking. This only permits a progressive illness to get worse."

Attending the breakfast meeting were: Henry Aycock, Wayne Thomas, Mrs. Esther Springer, Lowell Sharp, Mrs. O. G. Hill, Mrs. F. J. Joel Treadwell, the Rev. B. H. Baldwin, the Rev. B. L. Davis, Mrs. H. E. Miller, the Rev. V. T. Moreno, Mrs. Lois Rutter, Mrs. Jewell Smith, Dwane Barrett, Mrs. Ramona Noel and Frances Hardwick.

ATTEND REVIVAL

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Boardman and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Higginbotham, all of Hereford, attended the Easter weekend revival in the Community Church of Vigo Park. After the church services the group went to the John Culwell home for coffee, punch and cookies.

ATTENDS FUNERAL SERVICE

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stevens and sons of Hereford attended funeral services for his father in Hamilton, Tex. The services were conducted on Tuesday, April 24.

PAMPA VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Meharg of Hereford attended the 35th anniversary celebration of the Pampa Lions Club on Monday evening, April 23, at the Coronado Inn in Pampa. The main speaker was Per Stahl, president of Lions International from Sweden. Meharg is a former member of the Pampa Lions Club and is currently serving as Boss Lion of the Hereford Club.

Richard A. Pate On USS Rankin

Richard A. Pate, boilerman fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton W. Pate of Route 3, is serving aboard the attack cargo ship USS Rankin, observed by President John F. Kennedy during a two-day visit on April 13-14 to the Atlantic Fleet in Norfolk, Va.

Following the Presidential visit, the ship headed for Vieques, Puerto Rico, to take part in a three-week joint Navy-Marine Corps maneuver involving more than 40,000 sailors and Marines aboard some 83 Atlantic Fleet ships to be climaxed with an assault on Vieques.

BASIC PLATFORM

I believe in the God given rights of the worth and dignity of the individual. I believe that the power to govern and to spend public funds is a sacred trust and that every effort should be made to keep governing authority as close to home as possible. I am and shall always be opposed to any efforts aimed at more centralization of government at the state or national level. I favor honesty, integrity and fiscal responsibility in county, State and National Government; therefore, if elected I will take a long hard look at any new taxes or increase in existing taxes.
I believe our natural growth will continue to increase revenues in proportion to our needs. If we continue to increase taxes, we will create an unhealthy tax climate for business and bring a halt to the migration of new business into Texas.
I will keep an ever constant eye on those who would raid the public money for giant welfare and giveaway programs, thus causing a welfare State and Nation, I refuse to barter incentive for a dole.
I believe that a nation that values its privileges more than its principles will surely fall; That we must uphold our constitution against all those that would tear it down. If elected I shall represent two groups, the 91st District and Texas.

Morton's TEA

New Wrinkle for an Icy Tinkle...
Try MORTON'S TEA Cubes!

Here's a trick to make Iced Tea Season even more fun this year . . . and guaranteed to cause conversation! Brew loose-packed Morton's Tea for minimum of five minutes, preferably in earthen pot as the British do. Cool until tepid to touch, then fill refrigerator ice tray and freeze into "tea cubes." Later, when ready to serve, brew another pot of tea, fill glasses with "tea cubes" and pour fresh-brewed tea over them. Absolutely 100% Morton's Tea flavor . . . no dilution because the very "ice" itself is full-flavored Morton's Tea also! Incidentally, Morton's Tea is blended for flavor right here at home with Southwest-style Iced Tea in mind

One of the fine services the Gray Ladies perform is the entertaining of the Retraining group at the Amarillo Air Force Base.

Last Tuesday night Shari Prowell, who is a Junior Gray Lady, and Gyrene Carter took a group of high school students to entertain the boys.

Avie Justice played the piano, Donna Rogers sang and Audni Miller gave a reading. Brenda Beasley and Sara Gillentine also went along to help serve.

After the program, the girls served the boys coffee and cookies. Besides performing for the boys and giving them refreshments, the group talks to the boys and gets acquainted with them, which benefits both groups.

The boys are very friendly, nice, and loaded with jokes and funny remarks.

Last week-end the streets of Hereford were again filled with college students home for Easter.

Tommy Kay Robinson, who was graduated from Hereford High School last year, came home Tuesday with a broken bone in her foot.

Tommy Kay said she just fell out of bed one morning and it just popped. We wish her a speedy recovery!

The Perryton High School choir came to Hereford last Thursday and gave a magnificent performance.

Since Hereford was their first stop, the group stayed in the homes of Hereford High School Choir Members.

Perryton is going to be in our district next year in sports and scholastics. This was an excellent opportunity for our students to meet and get acquainted with future competition.

I know everyone in Hereford enjoyed having them, especially Jenny Holt, who kept two boys, and Dick Plank and Mike Robinson, who kept two girls.

I only hope Perryton found Hereford a friendly town and will return real soon!
