Hereford Relays take spotlight here Saturday

Local fans have the opportunity Saturday to watch a track meet in Hereford.

The Whitefaces, who have high finishes in their three previous competitions this season, are among the favorites here Saturday.

Hereford will compete in Division I with Lubbock Coronado, Amarillo High, Clovis, Canyon, Levelland and Muleshoe.

The Hereford JV's will be in Division II, along with Lazbuddie, Sudan, Abernathy, Dimmitt, Farwell, Friona, Childress, Vega, Bovina, Coronado JV and Amarillo JV.

Coronado is rated the Division I favorite, with Hereford, Canyon and Clovis frontrunners. In Division II, Lazbuddie, Vega and Childress are the teams to beat.

Don Cumpston, Hereford track coach, said Coronado is rated the top contender because of its two good relay teams and potential in the hurdles, pole vault and high jump.

Canyon is strong in the sprints and has top athletes in the sprint relay, hurdles and quarter mile. Clovis has good distance runners and quality weightmen.

Field events begin at 9:30 a. m. on the track at Whiteface Stadium, across the street from La Plata Junior High. Preliminaries in the running events also are scheduled in the morning, with the 440-yard relay for Division II teams set to kick things off at 10 a. m.

Legislation needs only Governor's signature; May 18 election is next

By BETTY HANNA
Brand Correspondent

AUSTIN, Tex. — The bill to create a criminal district attorney in Deaf Smith County was waiting in the office of Gov. Preston Smith Wednesday for his signature.

The governor's signature will be the stamp of final approval, after which county commissioners will take steps to put before county voters, on May 18, the decision regarding who will become the first person to occupy the office.

As introduced by Sen. Max Sherman of Amarillo, the bill called for Smith to appoint a man to fill the job. But after the Texas Legislature set up a May 18 election to vote on proposed constitutional amendments, Deaf Smith County commissioners flew to Austin and asked that the bill be amended to provide an election, simultaneous with the constitutional amendments voting, to name the criminal district attorney.

Both Sherman and Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake backed the legislation.

Another bill of special interest to Deaf Smith County also marked a big step Wednesday. The bill to authorize the county to establish a juvenile board came out of Senate committee and won final passage in that body Wednesday and went over to the House.

Sherman, who introduced the bill in the Senate, said final passage in that body came considerably sooner than he had expected.

Andy Shuval, who has been county attorney for the past six months, and Rex Easterwood have announced their intention to file for the criminal DA. A $100 filing fee is required.

The job would do away with the job of county attorney here and would incorporate those duties in the new position. The district attorney serving the 69th judicial district would serve only the counties of Oldham, Dallam, Hartley, Sherman and Moore although the district judge would continue serving this county as well as those five.

Whoever is elected would be on a term running through Dec. 31, 1974. Since he would take office as soon as the election results were certified, he would serve about three and one-half years in this term. A successor would be named in the 1974 General Election.

The job carries an annual salary of $12,000 to $16,000. The state pays $500, of that salary, with the county paying the remainder.

The criminal district attorney would represent the prosecution on all criminal and civil cases pending in any court convening in Hereford, from the district court level down.

The legislation allows the criminal district attorney to hire one or more assistants, who would have to be lawyers; a special investigator; and a stenographer. He also could fire them. If county commissioners felt any of the positions were unnecessary, they could control that since they set the salary, which could be set so low that the job could not practically exist.

Spelling Bee begins today

The annual County Spelling Bee kicks off today at Aikman Elementary school with the Junior Division and will conclude tomorrow at the same location with the County Division.

Some 14 students are entered in the Junior Bee and six in the County Bee.

The Junior Division, made up of fifth and sixth grade students, consists of Dee Ann Caison and Patti Hendon from Northwest School, Don Brockman and Susan Schlabs of St. Anthony's, Richard Mora and Jeanne Hair of Shirley, Kristi Mason and David Anderson of Tierra Blanca, Becky Friemel and Oscar Rodriguez of Bluebonnet, Billy Bayne and Tina Berry of Aikman, and Abel Trevizo and Rose Marie Hix of Central.

Those to compete in the County Bee are D'Lynn Davison and Pam Lee of Stanton, Barbara Garcia and Julie McNey of La Plata, and Janette Schlabs and Joan Koozer of St. Anthony's.

The winner of the Junior Division also will be eligible to compete in the County Bee Friday and to attend the luncheon in Amarillo on April 24 sponsored by the Amarillo Globe-News.

Each county champion will participate in an area contest April 24 in Amarillo, where the winner will qualify for the National Spelling Bee. The winner of the trip to the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D. C. will have his expenses paid by the Amarillo Globe-News.

Each finalist in the county contest will receive a plaque, which will become his permanent possession, and a gold pin.

County Judge H. C. Williams direct the county bee and Pic Thompson will pronounce the words during the local contests.

Judges for the two local contests are Mrs. George Turrentine, Marvin Coffey and Bill Austin.

Draft board calls 34 for tests

Some 34 area young men will be called April 8 to Amarillo to undergo pre-induction mental and physical examinations as the local board's part of the April draft call.

Of the 34 to be called, 28 will be for physicals and four will be for induction.

Cleta Allshie, secretary for the local draft board, said those being called for physicals will be for those with numbers up to 150. Those being called for induction will be up to No. 100.

Most of those called for physicals, she said, will be the ones who have deferments but were not called earlier. These will be mostly college-aged students and those who have trade school deferments.

The local quota is part of the state's call for 1,033. The national call is for 17,000 men, all for the Army.

City Commission OK's new jailer

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

The city commission Monday agreed to go along with the county and hire a full-time jailer, but delayed official action on the matter until it could be postponed on the March 20 commission agenda.

County commissioners were supposed to meet with the city officials Monday, along with county sheriff Travis McPherson, but only the sheriff showed.

The city commission also accepted bids on five police cars and bids on seal coating of streets. Jones Motor was awarded the bid on the five police cars with their bid of $11,517.20 with trade-in.

Jake Diel was awarded the contract for the seal coating of streets with his bid of 13 cents a square foot on single seal, 30 cents a square foot on double seal, 18 cents a square foot for strip seal and $1.45 a square foot for reconstruct surface course.

McPherson brought the possibility of hiring a full-time jailer before the county commissioners in their meeting March 8. It was agreed at that meeting that the county commissioners would meet with the city officials Monday.

Because the city manager was not notified of the meeting, and it was not included on the city agenda, the city commissioners were not allowed to act on the matter. State law makes it necessary for all public bodies to post, three days in advance of regular meetings, all matters to be discussed.

McPherson was told there probably would be no problem in getting the measure passed by the commission at its next meeting.

The sheriff told the city commissioners that hiring of a full-time jailer would relieve the book work and other duties that normally would be placed on the arresting officers.

"I have discussed this at length with your police chief, and he seems to agree that it would help us both. It would put our men back out on the streets sooner and even give us an extra field man," McPherson said.

Under the proposal, the city and county would split the salary of the new employe, which would be about $500 a month.

McPherson said he already has a man in mind for the position.

The job of the jailer would be to finger print all prisoners, book them and run them to and from the court room when their trials or hearings are set.

Under the present setup, the county and police officers are forced to handle all the paper work and booking and fingerprinting of the prisoners.

Bronco League will meet today

A meeting will be held at 8 p. m. today at the Pioneer Natural Gas warehouse to further discuss the new Bronco Baseball League.

John Bunch, president of the new league, has asked that anyone interested in the program to attend.

This is the first year for the Bronco Baseball League in Hereford. It replaced the old Little League Baseball program.

Tornado alert

If you hear a loud siren blasting out at long intervals over Hereford Monday morning — and the skies are clear — you can ignore it.

The Hereford Fire Department has set a test for 10 a. m. Monday to check out the tornado alert system.

If the skies are cloudy, the test will be postponed.

TEXAS SCHOOL BELL AWARDS

AWARD WINNER — Jewell Harris of Abilene, president of the Texas State Teachers Association presents the School Bell Award to Hereford Brand General Manager Melvin Young in recognition of outstanding school coverage during 1970. Archie Roberts of Beeville, president-elect of TSTA, stood nearby during the presentation last week in Dallas.

Mike Wartes agrees to play WT football

Mike Wartes, who last fall set a school passing record for the Hereford Whitefaces, signed a letter of intent Monday night to play football with West Texas State University.

Leldon Hensley, an assistant coach for the Buffaloes, came to Wartes' home for the signing. He rated Wartes above Dumas' all-state quarterback Bobby Laughry and called the Hereford player the best passer in the Panhandle.

Hensley, who came with WTSU coach Gene Mayfield from Odessa Permian, said Wartes is a "heady" player, the type who can think and react under pressure.

"I'm happy and pleased," Wartes said, "I was real impressed with the school and the coaches, and I'm looking forward to playing for them. They play topnotch football and I hope I can help them."

Wartes considered Eastern New Mexico University and Sul Ross before agreeing to the WT pact. He visited the West Texas State campus in Canyon last Friday.

Wartes was a unanimous choice on the District 4-AAAA first team on offense. He led the league in passing throughout the season, finishing with 1,561 yards and eight touchdowns on 101 completions in 216 attempts.

The son of athletic director and head football coach Larry Wartes, he also led in total offense with 1,554 yards. He led the runnerup by 273 yards in total offense and 530 yards in passing.

His needle-eye passing shattered the old Hereford passing mark of 999 yards established in 1965 by Steve Hodges. He directed an offense that rallied late in the season for two upsets that let the Herd finish with a 2-8 year and win for his father "Coach of the Year" honors.

The 5-11, 160-pound Wartes looked at possibilities in both college football and basketball before casting his lot for the gridiron. He was all-district the past two years in basketball, in Class AAA his junior year and in Class AAAA his senior year.

Wartes is president of the student council at Hereford High School.

"I'm starting working with the weights and throwing the football," Wartes said, "to anybody that will catch it."

He hasn't decided on a major in college yet. It probably will be social studies or history.

Legion executive issues challenge

An American Legion National Executive Committee representative Tuesday night challenged members of local Post 192 "take a stand and dedicate yourselves" to the ideas set forth in the American Legion Preamble.

Jack Flint of Dimmitt, who represents Texas on the National Executive Committee, was the guest speaker at a double celebration Tuesday that marked the 52nd anniversary of the American Legion and the burning of the mortgage on the local American Legion building.

Ira Ott and Dr. Milton Adams, who was post commander when the new American Legion building was built, conducted the mortgage burning ceremonies before a crowd of approximately 75 persons.

The building was started in August of 1917 and the mortgage was paid off just recently.

Flint told the members of the local American Legion and Auxiliary that the present situation of the United States is very similar to that of the once-powerful Roman Empire. He said the Roman Empire fell, after two centuries of peace, "because the middle class people, the backbone of any country, vanished and selfishness took over."

"I think we can say our nation has been falling and we as legionaires should take a stand, and speak out for what is right," he said.

"When a few loud mouths can speak out and destroy our universities that we as taxpayers have helped build, when atheists can take God from our schools, it is time we took a stand and dedicate ourselves and carry out what is set forth in our preamble," he said.

Flint congratulated the local post on its accomplishment of beginning a new year, on the anniversary of the 52nd year of the American Legion, with a new building that is debt-free.

"You have a very special reason to celebrate tonight. You are going to burn a mortgage and will start a new year with this building that is entirely yours," he said.

"And as we turn back our memories to World War III where men, seeing the need to unite and remember those who have given so much to their country, we can remember when this post was created, when the charter was cancelled in 1928 and when the following year a temporary charter was given.

"Since it was first started, many have given of themselves to make this post something to be proud of. In 1946 when the Second World War was over, the ranks of the American Legion began to swell and you people here, with $7500 purchased the land for the Veterans Park so you could have a permanent place to meet," Flint said.

The local Post, prior to its purchase of the land and an old Army barracks to be used as a meeting place, moved from one location to another to conduct its meeting. It was not until the barracks and land was purchased that the post finally found a permanent home.

"Now our thought go from past to present where now you have a new building to really be proud of," he said.

"All of this turning back of the pages is only to see the responsibilities we must shoulder to keep this country the kind of place to be proud of," he concluded.

Tech dormitory gets facelifting

LUBBOCK — Members of the Class of 1947, who first occupied Bledsoe Hall at Texas Tech University, would be in for a surprise if they returned to their old dormitory today.

The days of dark hallways, cement floors, faulty lighting, and faded paint are gone forever.

According to R. Clifford Yoder, assistant to executive vice-president, in charge of housing, "the renovation of Bledsoe Hall will include repainting of all rooms and corridors, carpeting corridor floors, installation of acoustical ceiling tile and complete refurbishing of the room."

"One feature that exemplifies the remodeling is the wood-textured vanity dresser with built-in sink. All the new furniture, beds, dressers, bookcases, desks and chairs — will be mobile and allow the student to arrange the room to his own liking."

All rooms will also have new tile flooring to cover the cement flooring. In addition, all the electrical systems will be rewired and all bathrooms will have entirely new fixtures.

Yoder said the total cost of refurbishing the 175-room dormitory will be approximately $250,000. "The project is being financed not from state funds, but with dorm receipts," he said.

"One other new idea this coming fall," said Yoder, "will be offering 37 of the rooms as singles. The total capacity of

Tech study indicates

Teen-agers break law more often when in groups

Teen-agers tend to break the law more in groups than as individuals, a recent report by Texas Tech faculty members indicates.

The educators made a study of juvenile crime reports in the Bledsoe Hall will be $50."

Yoder said the work on Bledsoe should be completed in time for the fall term.

Rent rates in Bledsoe will be higher to offset the expense of remodeling, Yoder said.

"Following the renovation of Bledsoe," said Yoder, "we hope to continue this program for the other older dormitories. However, we cannot schedule anything now until after the fall term has begun."

"We have to see how the finances go with renting the dorm and we also want to get an evaluation on the renovations from the future occupants to see if we need do anymore."

Lubbock area which show that from 60 per cent to more than 90 per cent of the offenses committed by youngsters have occurred in groups.

"These groups or cliques tend to be rather small — two to four — but they may also belong to larger groups — 10 to 25 member," Dr. Myra S. Minnis told social scientists in Nacogdoches last week.

She was one of 24 Tech faculty members who addressed participants in the 74th annual meeting of the Texas Academy of Science at Stephen F. Austin University.

The professors are looking into the juvenile's self concept and the effects of the "process of labeling."

"Despite often aggressive, outward behavior patterns, many youngsters in trouble reveal a deep sense of inferiority and uncertainty," she said.

To solve juvenile delinquency will be difficult, she said, because of its widespreadness and complexity. Federal grants to individual states is almost mandatory, she said, to develop effective research, control and prevention.

The incidence of juvenile reports by police are generally around 1,700,000 each year, she said. However only about one-fourth of the juveniles are turned over to the courts. Three-fourths, including the neglected and abused, are sent home or to other agencies.

There are generally selective factors in juvenile delinquency as there are in adult crime — relative to age, sex, race, ecological setting and social class, she said.

Although she pointed out that "senseless, vicious and unprofitable vandalism is a modern phenomenon true not only of lower class youngsters but middle and upper class as well," it is the poor rather than the wealthy who are more often officially reported as involved in juvenile delinquency.

Minority groups are more often reported than the Anglo, she said, the urban rather than the rural youth (with the urban rate more than three times as high as the rural), and the boy five times as often as the girl — "relecting, perhaps, the 'halo' around woman in our culture."

Mrs. Jim Culpepper and son Jason

Let's cook something

Family likes racing

by JANIE REINART
Staff Writer

"THE FAMILY that races together, keeps pace together" may well be the theme for which Mr. and Mrs. Jim Culpepper and son Jason, base their hobby of racing upon. Culpepper, winner of approximately 65 trophies and numerous cash prizes for his stock car racing ability, met his wife at Hereford Speedway four years ago when she was "Trophy Girl" and he was winner! They were married a year later, laughed wife Marilyn, at the recollection of the unusual meeting.

Culpepper is in partnership with his father, O. H. Culpepper at Hereford Wrecking. He is in the process of building another race car and his wife will continue to enjoy watching him race (and most likely win) when season starts again next month. "LAST SUMMER, starting April 19 and ending the latter part of September, Jason and I went with Jim twice a week every week to races in Lubbock. We really enjoyed it," said Marilyn.

The hobby is by no means one-sided, however, as shown by Mrs. Culpepper's own three trophies. Two she received for winning in local Powder Puff Derby competition in 1968 and one for rolling her husband's car.

"I was on the first lap and rolled it the first time I had driven it," she noted. "I was pretty shaken, but not hurt. Jim hasn't let me drive it since, but I wouldn't anyway—no nerve!"

TWO-YEAR-OLD son Jason has a battery-operated car which he "rods" around the house. "He thinks his daddy's race car is just it," says his mother. When he sees a car on television it's "daddy's car."

Marilyn, in her duties as housewife and mother, collects recipes, cooks, bakes and sews, all enjoyable tasks when she has time to do them as she likes.

She was recently awarded a plaque for her outstanding and dedicated service to Young Homemakers of Texas, in which she has three years membership, serving a term as president and now as parliamentarian.

Mrs. Culpepper considers herself lucky when she says, "I've never had any problem with Jim or Jason at mealtime. No matter what I fix to eat, they like it."

A meal-in-one dish she prepares often during the course of winter, is COUNTRY GOULASH
1/2 lb. hamburger
2 medium bell peppers (one small onion optional)

1 T. shortening
1/2 cup cooked macaroni
1/2 can tomato soup
2 hard cooked eggs, chopped
1/2 can corn
2 slices cheddar cheese
1/2 cup water
1/2 t. sugar
Salt and pepper to taste

Brown meat, peppers and onion in shortening in large skillet. Add remaining ingredients. Add more water needed to prevent sticking. Cover and cook over low heat for 20 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serves 6 or more.

SINCE it contains vegetables and meat, (a great way to use leftovers) Mrs. Culpepper serves it with cornbread. It is a recipe her grandmother gave her when she and Jim married because she thought the convenience would be appreciated, and it was.

Another fast, easy and yet delicious dish eaten quite frequently in the Culpepper home, is

PEACH COBBLER

Melt 1 stick butter or margarine in 9 x 13 inch cake pan
Mix together:
1 cup flour
3/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 t. baking powder
1 cup milk.

Pour batter over melted butter and DO NOT STIR. Add one large can and one small can peaches (may substitute apricots for small can) and do not stir. Bake 45 minutes at 350 degrees. Batter rises to top for crust-like topping.

CULPEPPER, born, reared and educated in Hereford, served two years in the army. His wife is a 1965 graduate of Hereford High School, attended West Texas State University and studied computer programming at Commercial College in Lubbock.

Oxygen makes up nearly half of the three chief constituents of the earth's crust, alumina, chalk and siliceous rock.

Small talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

POSITIVELY, spring is here — and that's true even if it comes a below-zero blizzard tonight. Come to think of it, that's a normal spring occurrence in West Texas.

But the reason I'm so sure of the season is not the series of sandstorms, nor the flickers hunting bugs in the grass, nor people standing outdoors these sunny afternoons, holding the garden hose to water the flower beds instead of laying the hose down to run by itself.

Not even the host of golden daffodils (courtesy of Wordsworth) on the postoffice lawn, happy a sight as they are. Instead it's the host of golden dandelions that popped up overnight in my front yard this week.

To tell the truth, they look real pretty now, but I already know that in a very few weeks they will be my pet enemies, for the rest of the summer.

ANOTHER sign of spring is bicycle riders, and these fine days are just suited to their activity. Nell Culpepper is one of them who rides often down the quiet side street by my house, and the other day she was wearing a jaunty yellow pants and jacket outfit that looked exactly like what the best-dressed cyclists wear.

PICTURES taken on a tour of the South Pacific and Southeast Asia last year have been shown to several groups lately by Bruce Carter, who was a member of the tour party. Her brother-in-law, who lives in Houston, was the photographer and brought back travel pictures of unusual quality.

Although Bruce has her own assortment of pictures from the trip she borrowed his slides, arranged to follow the route of the travelers, to show for her garden club and other friends.

Wanting to take a last look at them herself before sending them back to Houston, she invited Gwyn Torbit, Betty Young and me for an exclusive screening at her home. That's the way to enjoy a travelogue to the hilt; you can interrupt the narrator's comments with all sorts of questions and find out things about the trip that the formal audience never hears!

ANOTHER evening of student dramatics is on tap today, the all-school play at Stanton Junior High. But it isn't just one event this year; it's three one-act plays so if you don't care for drama, you might go to see the comedy, or if comedy isn't your dish, how about a mystery?

After writing about the all-school play over at the other junior high school, La Plata, early this month, it occurred to me that I said nothing about an important factor, the music. It was really a part of the play in some scenes, and a very pleasant entertainment between acts.

The program listed Joyce Brady at the piano and David Crume on drums, but there was a guitar and vocals also, and Donna Durham was master of ceremonies. It simply isn't fair to omit mention of the offstage workers on a play; too much depends on them.

Hereford Man's father buried

Funeral services for Charles Clayton Danley, 73, of Amarillo, father of Charles Wayne Danley of Hereford, were conducted Wednesday afternoon in Griggs Pioneer Chapel at Amarillo, and burial was in Memorial Park Cemetery there.

Mr. Danley, a carpenter who had resided in Amarillo 40 years, died at noon Monday in his home, 503 E. Eighth. He was born May 25, 1897, at Rowlett and was a veteran of World War I.

Survivors in addition to the son are a daughter, Mrs. Margie Gammage of Houston; two other sons, Louis and Norman of Amarillo; two sisters, Mrs. Mae Mitchell and Mrs. Myrtle Cavenner of Ardmore, Okla., and seven grandchildren.

Hereford girl pledges sorority

ABILENE — Levenie Benefield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Blankenship of 308 Jowell, Hereford, has pledged Sigma Theta Chi social club at Abilene Christian College.

A 1968 graduate of Hereford High, Miss Benefield is a sophomore history major.

To be eligible for social club membership at Abilene Christian, a student must have 30 semester hours, have attended ACC one semester, and have at least a 2.0 grade point average out of a possible 4.0.

CHILEANS ENTERTAIN ROTARTANS — The Group Study Exchange Team that toured local industries last week provided entertainment for the Rotarians and wives Friday evening. After each man list-

Attend the Silva MIND CONTROL SPECIAL SEMINAR

ESP BRAIN WAVES SINCE 1944

SILVA MIND CONTROL SEMINARS have had tremendous success throughout the nation in teaching practical applications of controlled E.S.P. The reason for such rapid growth and success is attributed to the Silva Method of Mental Training. This is the first and only method in history known to be effective in developing and controlling E.S.P.

The "Silva Method," as this method is known, was scientifically researched by Mr. Jose Silva from Laredo, Texas, a research scientist researching since 1944, a pioneer in mental training. He is the discoverer of the new science Psychorotology and the creator of the MIND CONTROL program. Mr. Silva states, "the discovery that Human Intelligence can learn to function with awareness at the Alpha and Theta frequencies of brain will go down in history as the greatest discovery of man."

ATTEND THIS IMPORTANT SEMINAR AND LEARN MIND CONTROL TECHNIQUES

Mr. Silva continues, "in just hours of classroom instruction students learn to function with awareness at lower frequencies such as the Alpha and Theta. This is accomplished with the use of the Silva Method of Mental Training without the use of Bio-feedback Equipment. The MIND CONTROL program has changed the meaning of E.S.P. which was uncontrolled, erratic and very evasive, to Subjective Communication which is controlled and effective."

MANY BENEFITS are now known to exist for those that can learn to function with controlled awareness at the Alpha and Theta Brain Frequencies. Our students report better memory, higher grades, less tension and anxiety, faster revitalization and healing, release and rejection of psychosomatic problems, control of sleep, headaches, also migraine, smoking, weight and some even drugs.

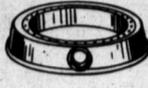

THE MIND CONTROL PROGRAM GIVES YOU BETTER CONTROL OVER:

Tuesday, March 23 will be a big day in Hereford. A first for our little city, and almost a first for any city of this size.

That's the day when the local Kiwanis Club will entertain the President of Kiwanis International.

It's almost unheard of to have an International President of any organization visit in a city with less than 100,000 population, and frankly, there are a lot of cities that size which have never been visited. But Hereford, Texas is going to be host for this distinguished visitor.

Ted R. Johnson, a Denver banking and finance executive who is now serving as President of Kiwanis International, will be winging his way into the P and handle Tuesday afternoon for the event, hosted by the local Kiwanis Club. Dean Herring is General Chairman for the meeting.

Actually, had Mr. Johnson not decided to stop at Kingsville, Texas on Monday, Hereford might have been the first town of this size to host such an affair. But as it is, Kingsville will get the jump on us and Hereford will have to be satisfied to be the second town. But, that's not bad.

Incidentally, Dean tells us that they are expecting around 700 people for the affair.

And another Hereford businessman is expanding. Bob Spangler, owner of Spangler's Diamonds is putting in a store at Dalhart which he hopes will be open sometime in April. The Spanglers will hire a manager to run the Dalhart store however, and will remain in Hereford.

We always like to see the Hereford merchants expand, but we like to keep them here also. We sincerely hope that Mr. Spangler's Dalhart venture will be a success and we're sure it will be.

—HB—
Apparently House Speaker Gus Mutscher's involvement in the stock fraud case didn't hurt his popularity in the legislature. We see that he was given an overwhelming vote of confidence this past week.

—HB—
We note that the State of Texas has filed an antitrust suit seeking a recall of all American motor vehicles manufactured since 1953 to force a auto firms to install air pollution control devices without charges. Actually, we've got a couple of older models that we'd be happy for the manufacturer to pick up — and keep.

—HB—
And we've always thought that the wind is blowing on the Plains, we'd sure like to be somewhere else. Like Dallas for instance.

But don't be fooled. The wind blows in Dallas too. And we'd rather smell a feed lot any day than a diesel bus.

Tulia painter is guest speaker

The Making of an Artist could have been the title for the guest speaker at La Plata Study Club's guest night in the home of Mrs. Ansel McDowell Tuesday evening.

Kenneth Wyatt, Methodist preacher, after-dinner speaker and artist told a fascinating story of his success as a painter although he has had no formal art lessons.

Now a resident of Tulia, Wyatt was serving as a Methodist pastor in 1967 when he met a famed portrait painter while on a speaking engagement in Dallas. Inspired by the artist's works, the preacher spent his speaker's fee for canvas, brushes and paint. His first work was a full length portrait of his son in baseball attire.

Encouraged by his artist friend, he painted incessantly, first portraits of anyone who would pose for him, then mastering technique by copying works of recognized artists, finally destroying the copies or giving them away. Success came "out of the blue" when several of his paintings were sold at an auction, and he was told, "An Artist has been born."

"Whatever talent I have certainly is from the Lord; I have had many breaks because of contacts made in the ministry and as a lecturer; I have been given much assistance. This, however, is my formula for success: 1. You must really want to do what you undertake. 2. You must work hard," he concluded.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Harlan VanderZee after guests had been welcomed by Mrs. Tom Harkey, club president.

Refreshments were served from a formal table laid with a cut-work linen cloth and centered by an arrangement of white carnations accented with St. Patrick's Day emblems. The green and white color theme was repeated in ice cream balls festooned with green coconut and cake squares decorated in green. Mrs. Harkey presided at the silver service.

Guests registering were: Mmes. Lynn Kester, Genevieve Guseman, Tommy Braddy, Jerry George, Danny Martin, W. S. Fluit, Harold Arnold, Walter Bryan, Charles Newell, Troys Carmichael, Earl Green, Jeff Carlile and Miss Charlotte Smith.

Members present included Mmes. J. D. Neill, Alex Glass, J. C. Brown, John Thames, Ken Rogers, Jack Brown, Emil Detman, Tom Harkey, M. H. Ritchie, Phillip Shook, Urlin Streu, A. J. Schroeter, Raymond White, Pat Hughes and Elmer Patterson.

CARD OF THANKS

WE take this means to express our sincere appreciation for the love and care shown to our Mother and Grandmother during her extended illness and to us in our bereavement to the entire staff at Westgate; to the ladies of Central Church of Christ for hours spent sitting with her and for the lovely meal; to Dr. Hicks, and to the many others who helped. May the Lord bless and keep you.

Historical group displays replica of general store

Material collected for a new exhibit in Deaf Smith County Museum, a replica of an old general store, was on display at a membership meeting of the county Historical Society Sunday afternoon in the museum.

Slides picturing a similar children's Addition made to other museum displays in the past year were also shown after the business session.

Sam Morgan was elected a director to succeed Mrs. Ben Childers, whose term expired; Mrs. Colby Conkright and George V. Stambaugh were re-elected for three-year-terms on the board. Amendments to the by-laws were approved to give the board more authority in intervals between membership meetings.

A formal vote of thanks was given Bill Hacker and Harry Lomas, volunteer workers who have given hundreds of hours to the museum since it opened and in preparatory work before the opening. Both continue to help get exhibits ready, put them in place and keep them in good condition, and also act as guides for numerous museum visitors.

Mrs. Elmer Patterson, who several years ago compiled a history of Deaf Smith County, told of current plans to revise and enlarge the book, bringing it up to date. She was assured that the Historical Society and the museum staff will fully support this effort and aid in screening material.

Bush babies are monkeylike animals in Africa that cry like infants, swivel their heads, wiggle their ears and walk straight up trees on suction cups.

Auxiliary year reviewed at end

Reviewing its first year, in which more than 500 hours of volunteer service have been given to residents of Kings Manor, United Methodist retirement home here, King's Manor Auxiliary planned new activities as it elected officers for the coming year Tuesday.

The spring membership meeting was held in Ward Parlor of First United Methodist Church. Mrs. Robert Strain was chosen president for 1971-72, to succeed Mrs. Hilton Higgins.

Mrs. Jim Perrin was named vice president, Mrs. Carroll McDonald secretary and Mrs. Clark Andrews treasurer. These officers were installed by Mrs. H. K. Kendrick of Friona, member of the Manor board of directors.

Appointed by Mrs. Strain as committee chairmen for the new year were Mrs. H. R. Cavanaugh of Friona, arts and crafts; Mrs. J. C. McCracken, transportation; Mrs. J. J. Durham, social activities; Mrs. Keith Simmers, resident aid; Mrs. Don Martin, education and publicity; Mrs. Higgins, membership.

Mrs. A. T. Mims was named to head a new committee, which will work to keep surroundings cheerful for residents of Kings Manor and its hospital unit, Westgate.

Committee reports revealed the scope of activity by Auxiliary members during the past year. Crafts classes at Westgate and painting instruction at the Manor, birthday observances each month, transportation of residents on regular shopping trips and other occasions, numerous programs given at the Manor by visiting groups and personal visits, letter writing and errand running were all counted in the friendly aid given by the volunteers.

Closing the meeting Tuesday, tea was served by Mmes. Bill Stewart, A. L. Outland, J. T. Gee and Coconougher, members from Friona. Spring flowers decorated the table where members enjoyed refreshments as they visited informally.

The American Field Service student gave facts about Germany and her home city, Nuremberg, and spoke informally about her life at home and school in Germany as compared with that in Hereford.

A new member, Mrs. Glen

Nelson, was welcomed to the club. Others present were Mmes. A. H. Cook, B. F. Markham, Walter Johnson, Emmett Hale, Glenn Witherspoon, A. B. Higgins, George Suggs, Earl Clark and Miss Della Stagner. How to attack erosion:

Grass cover stops dust-urbing problem

In areas where there is not sufficient vegetation to cover and protect the soil, wind erosion becomes a serious problem that is seldom an individual one.

"Once started, it tends to spread from field to field and from farm to farm," said Dan Herrington of the Soil Conservation Service.

Protection against wind erosion is best accomplished by the maintenance of a good vegetative cover or litter on the soil surface. Wind erosion lowers the productive value of land from which the soil is removed. Neither the place of origin nor of deposition benefits by wind erosion.

"Soil blowing occurs only when high winds come in contact with loose, unprotected soils," Herrington said. "Fields that are well protected with vegetation will not blow severely regardless of how dry it gets, except when near-by blowing fields ruin the protective vegetation."

To prevent wind erosion from taking place each farm should have a long-range conservation plan on each acre within its capability. Each acre should be treated according to its needs for protection and improvement.

Herrington said stubble mulching and other tillage methods that leave crop residues on or near the ground surface should be used on all cultivated fields. Crop residues on the ground surface help protect the soil from the force of high winds and also improve soil structure which allows water to soak into the soil more readily.

Windbreaks, he said, are useful in helping curb wind erosion around farmsteads and feedlots. Once windbreaks are well established, they protect the area all year to an area of 10 times the height of the trees measured in the direction the wind is blowing. They give some protection as far as 10 times the height of the trees.

"Growing a cover crop on unprotected land can help prevent wind erosion also," Herrington said. "Other practices that can be applied are strip cropping, emergency tillage and can be applied are strip cropping, emergency tillage and proper grazing of rangeland."

"Wind erosion can also be a health hazard. It not only can be harmful to our breathing, it can cause serious accidents on state and county roads," he said.

EMERGENCY TILLAGE — In order to prevent further wind erosion, emergency tillage is being done on many area farms. Here, the tillage is done on the Mrs. N. A. Brown & Sons farm.

COMBINE MEET — About 50 men receive latest information on combines at this meeting Monday night sponsored by New Holland Hereford. The meeting was preceded by a free barbecue supper.

PAID LESS
BROCKVILLE, Canada — for no other reason than their sex, many women professors in Canadian universities receive anywhere from 8 to 49 per cent less pay than their male counterparts, the director of the women's bureau in the federal labor department said recently. Speaking to the Canadian Federation of University Women, Sylvia Gelber criticized the association for stating in the past the battle for women's equal rights was all but won in the universities.

not now exist in this country. TLC is regarded by some as an idea tool for mass screening tests. Drugs are absorbed from the urine on a piece of sensitized paper. The paper would then be mailed to the state laboratory. After treatment with a series of solvents, discolorations on the paper would tell an experienced lab technician whether drugs have been used and, if so, which drug.

The availability of thin layer chromatography services would be an inducement for more physicians to participate in the care of drug abusers. And, greater numbers of drug users could be reached before their misuse or abuse of drugs became a health problem or a concern to law enforcement agencies.

Casting to begin for next play of Hereford Community Players

First readings for parts in the spring production of Hereford Community Players, to be presented late in April, are scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Community Center. Any resident of the area who wishes to try for a role or to work in offstage duties is invited to be present.

The play will be a comedy-mystery with a cast entirely of women. Juanita Owen will direct.

Ghost of Rhodes Manor, by Jean Lee Latham, is a three-act play set in the living room of a huge old house, whose owner has left it for many years in charge of an aging caretaker. On the night when Helen Underwood, writer of mystery stories, comes with her secretary and nervous maid to gather "atmosphere", a hypnotist and her companion also turn up, and so does Tillie Van Winkle, a reporter, she says.

A female sheriff and of course the ghost, complete the cast.

Staging the play will call for creation of illusions with special equipment and lighting; persons interested in that phase of the theater are invited to the Monday meeting, or to notify Mrs. Owen.

Tight money market throws more money into insurance, banks savings

As happens in times of recession, when people are more concerned than usual about their future, residents of Deaf Smith County took steps in the past year to bolster their financial security.

They tightened up on their non-essential expenditures, put more of their disposable cash into their savings bank accounts, more into life insurance and health insurance and reduced their installment debt.

As a result, they entered the current year with more safeguards than ever, especially with respect to cash savings and life insurance.

For the local community as a whole, life insurance holdings are now placed at more than $81,196,000, a record high.

Data on the number of policy holders and the extent of their coverage is given for each of the states and for the United States as a whole in the current Life Insurance Fact Book and in other reports.

They show that families boosted their protection in this direction by an average of $1,600 during the past year.

As a result of the large increase, the overall amount of life insurance in force in the United States reached $1.4 trillion (yes, trillion), or nearly 10 per cent more than in 1969.

In the state of Texas alone, the reports show, the total is $71,525,000,000 as against $68,227,000,000 a year ago.

For the majority of families, there is a direct relationship, it is found, between their annual income and the amount of insurance they carry. In Texas, the amount now held is equivalent to about 27.2 months of after-tax income. Applied to Deaf Smith County and to the average income listed for the area, the life insurance holdings locally are an estimated $14,200 per family.

This is well above the average per family in many sections of the country.

Another factor accounting for the surge in insurance protection is the big increase, recently, in the number of marriages taking place. These young couples, with their new responsibilities, are quick to provide themselves with such protection.

6 study nuclear attacks

Six area Soil Conservation Service employees, including one from the local office, participated last week in a two-day Radiological Monitor Training program to prepare them for emergency work in case of a nuclear attack.

Dan Herrington, with the local SCS office, took part in the program as did other SCS employees from surrounding counties.

Instructors for the program were Dan Huckabee, agricultural engineer, and Luther Geiger, soil scientist with the SCS, both from the area office in Amarillo.

The six participants studied the various instruments that are maintained in each SCS office in their district that are used in the detection of radiation. The participants also studied the various types of radiation and their effects on people, crops, livestock and soil.

It is the responsibility of every Soil Conservation Service office to have qualified personnel and equipment available to its employees in case of a nuclear attack. Every SCS office in the U. S. must meet these

New tests hint effective control of drug problems

A quick and simple laboratory technique, called "thin layer chromatography" may soon open doors to effective control of many drug abuse problems.

As a screening aid, thin layer chromatography — or TLC — tests can provide information revealing all the components presenting a sample of blood or urine. In the clinical lab, TLC is now being used for the rapid analysis of poisons in blood or urine samples. But now scientists have been able to adapt the test to detect more than 1,000 different drugs, ranging from pep pills to heroin.

TLC can be useful in screening for possible presence or absence of certain classes of drugs. Amphetamines, barbiturates and the opiates can be determined in a TLC test.

What that means to drug guidelines.

In Deaf Smith County, there is a county defense board that is made up of representatives from the various agencies of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The representatives are from the SCS, the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, the County Extension Service and Bill Thompson, local Civil Defense coordinator.

Theismann signs for All-America football game

LUBBOCK — Joe Theismann, Notre Dame's All-American quarterback, has accepted an invitation to play in the 1971 Coaches All-America Football Game scheduled June 26 in Texas Tech's Jones Stadium.

Theismann, who led the Fighting Irish to a victory over the Texas Longhorns in the 1971 Cotton Bowl Classic, will play for Coach Charley McClendon's East team.

Officials of the All-America game said Theismann is among

City woman's brother dies

Dee M. Thomas, 54, brother of Mrs. Ray Cowser of Hereford, died last week in Phoenix, Ariz. following a lengthy illness. Burial will be today in Phoenix.

Other survivors are three sons of Phoenix, Thomas's mother, Mrs. Mary Thomas of Plainview; one brother, Jess, of Lubbock; and two sisters, Mrs. Walter Oler from Tulsa and Mrs. E. E. Terry of Plainview.

TEACHING AID

TORONTO — Teachers working with mentally retarded children will be able to observe their teaching successes and failures on videotape at the National Institute on Mental Retardation's new Alhambra Research Division which opened recently at York University. The theory is that the teacher, observing a playback of her performance in a difficult teaching situation, will get better insight into her strengths and weaknesses.

many of the nation's top college football stars expected to participate in the game in its second year in Lubbock. The 1970 contest drew a record crowd of 42,150.

The 6-0, 175-pound Theismann was runner-up to Jim Plunkett of Stanford for the Heisman Trophy and finished the regular season as No. 2 nationally in total offense with a total of 2,813 yards.

Theismann hit on 155 passes of 268 for 2,429 yards and 16 touchdowns during the 1970 season. He was ranked fourth nationally with a completion percentage of 57.8.

The Notre Dame star had a career completion percentage of 57.3, ahead of a record of 56.7 set by Frank Tripucka in 1945-46. Against Southern California in the rain and mud, Theismann completed 33 of 58 passes for four touchdowns and a total of 526 yards, just 28 yards short of the NCAA record.

In addition to his heroics on the field, Theismann was chosen as an Academic All-America first team selection for the 1970 season. He has signed to play professional football with the Miami Dolphins.

All-America game officials announced that the game will begin at 7:30 p. m. The nationally televised contest was played at 8:30 p. m. in 1970.

All-America game ticket officials said that Texas Tech season ticket holders have until April 15 to purchase their tickets in order to obtain their usual seats, switch locations or purchase more tickets in other areas of the stadium for the all-star contest.

Tickets will go on sale to the general public on April 15.

Swain wins coach of year area honors
FORT WORTH — Texas Christian University basketball coach Johnny Swain has been named Coach of the Year for District 6 by the National Association of Basketball Coaches. Swain coached the Horned Frogs to the Southwest Conference championship this year after the TCU cagers had been picked no higher than sixth in pre-season polls. It was the second SWC championship in four years for the youthful mentor. Swain had earlier been tabbed Coach of the Year in the SWC by the wire services. For this honor Swain becomes a nominee for National Coach of the Year along with the seven other district winners plus the coaches of the four NCAA finalists and the two NIT finalists. The National Coach of the Year will be named at the NCAA Championships in Houston, March 24-26.

Group fights taxation
AUSTIN, Tex. — A blue-ribbon committee has been formed to lead the fight against income taxation. Midland attorney Tom Sealy resigned from the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System to devote full time to directing the work of the statewide group. The Texas Association of Taxpayers started with an advisory committee of 300 prominent citizens. Sealy announced that a membership drive is getting under way. "Our purpose is not obstruction, but rather an honest and open effort to help the Legislature develop a reasonable tax program and undertake whatever economies are possible in order to resolve this situation in the regular session," Sealy said. "We are united on one broad principle — that this should be done within the present tax structure and without enactment of either a personal income tax or a corporate income tax." The group said that business pays 34 per cent of the present sales tax and that 13 per cent of all state revenues come from natural resource taxes which many states do not levy. The organization, Sealy said, feels that "this is no time to strap income taxes on the people" in view of unemployment and the shape of the economy. It will argue a corporate income tax is "simply the forerunner of a personal income tax." Meanwhile, the House-passed $402.5 tax bill, made up largely of sales levy increases, arrived in the Senate without a sponsor. It was referred to the State Affairs Committee. Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan, chairman of the State Affairs Committee, indicated that he will not lend his name to the bill and that he is in no hurry to schedule hearings.

Spring training is the time when all teams start even the home of her son, Frank Tirey, of Happy, where she had gone for a weekend visit. She was a native of Palo Pinto County.

Surviving are four sons, Frank of Happy, Roy of Fairfield, Calif., Robert of Albuquerque and George of West Nyack, N.Y.; three brothers, Clayton Stokes of Morton, J. B. Stokes of Breckenridge and George Stokes of Prairie Grove, Ark.; 14 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

The Maltese nation — Malta and two other Mediterranean islands, Gozo and Comino — has almost 2,700 persons per square mile, making it one of Europe's most crowded countries, the National Geographic Society says.

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor
Baseball's two winningest teams met in last fall's World Series and ahead lies another 162-game schedule so there is no guarantee that the Baltimore Orioles and Cincinnati Reds will repeat.

That's why all 24 major league teams are busy with spring training. Some teams must restore ailing arms and legs and most will try to figure out which rookies are equipped to replace expensive and aging stars.

No team will lose a game that counts until the respective American and National League pennant races open on Tuesday, April 5 in Washington and Cincinnati. So until then, every manager will be telling how his old or new team will be improved, barring injuries, ailments and draft calls.

There are 17 teams training in Florida, six in Arizona and one in California. Since 1955 both pennant winners have trained in Florida. Two cities there house four of the 24 teams. West Palm Beach is the home of the Atlanta Braves and the Montreal Expos. St. Petersburg is the locale for the New York Mets and St. Louis Cardinals, has been since the Mets started operations in 1962.

The Baltimore Orioles, 1970 AL pennant winners with 106 victories, plus three more against Minnesota's Twins, in the AL playoff and four out of five against the Cincinnati Reds in the Series, look best even before they open on April 7. The Birds beat the New York Yankees by a 15-game margin. If the Yankees are stronger they didn't show it the last half. In June they were only one game back of Baltimore.

Baltimore's only planned change could be in right field, a spot held down superbly the last five years by superstar Frank Robinson. The O's have been trying to trade Robby because he becomes 36 in August, and because right handed batter Merv Rettenmund, 27, and southpaw swinger Terry Crowley, 24, appear ready. Look for Manager Earl Weaver to platoon them — if Robby is traded.

Every team in baseball could use Frank Robinson but all teams are trying to cut operating costs, and Robby is making $100,000-plus a year, may be as much as $150,000.

The Reds, only other 1970 team to win more than 90 games (Minnesota's total), won the NL flag by 14½ games over the Los Angeles Dodgers. The Reds may have early season pitching problems and will miss center fielder Bobby Tolan, possibly until June with a torn Achilles tendon. Tolan accounted for 176 Red runs and stole 57 bases, most in both leagues.

Look for the Dodgers to gain on the Reds. They have good pitching and have added the strong bat carried by Rich Allen — 101 runs batted in and 34 homers in 122 games for the 1970 Cardinals. He can play first base, and some third base.

It should be an interesting spring because of so many question marks. Can Curt Flood come back after a year of self exile? Can Denny McLain regain his form of 1969, before he was suspended? Will the Yankees get Washington's Mike Epstein, a slugging first baseman they need to help fill Yankee Stadium, the House that Ruth built?

And will the Mets trade Ron Swoboda, their 1969 Series star who must fight off three others to play right field?

American mint growers now farm 76,600 acres of peppermint and 27,000 of spearmint, a crop that in 1969 was valued at $30,442,000. Production costs are high, but mint oil brings nearly $5 a pound in a market that has zigzagged from 75 cents to $22 a pound.

USDA announces changes in wages for beet workers

The U. S. Department of Agriculture today announced a revision in the determination of fair and reasonable wage requirements for sugarbeet workers which became effective April 27 of last year. The revision did not affect the level of wage rates — a matter which is currently under consideration for the 1971 crop.

The provision concerning the payment of worker's wages through a crew leader or labor contractor has been revised to add requirements covering the producer's responsibility and to safeguard the worker's interests. The producer is required to furnish or have furnished to the worker at the time of payment of wages, a statement of earnings, and to obtain a signed receipt from the worker for the wages received. In addition, producers will be required to obtain from the crew leader or labor contractor proof that he is registered or licensed; a copy of each worker's statement of earnings, or a wage record sheet showing the names of the producer and workers, dates work was performed, description of work performed, units of work, agreed upon rates per unit, and the amounts of wages due each such worker; and a receipt signed by each worker acknowledging receipt of wages earned which shall in no event be less than those required by the wage determination.

The producer is responsible for paying to the labor contractor or crew leader the fee for his services, and the producer will be required to have on file a statement signed by the labor contractor or crew leader showing the amount of the fee, and showing that such fee is over and above the wages agreed upon by the contractor and producer (in no event less than the minimum provided in the determination). The revision also provides that a producer who in good faith has obtained and has on file the required records shall have met the requirements of the determination, except that in cases where the worker files a wage claim and it is found that the worker's signature has been forged or he has been forced to sign under duress, the producer shall not have met the requirements of the determination for eligibility for payment under the Sugar Act until the county ASCS committee determines that all workers on the farm have been paid in full.

The provision relating to payment of wages has also been changed to prohibit deductions from workers' wages for repayment of debts originally incurred with someone other than the producer. Deductions for cash advances are permitted only when made by producers to workers.

USDA officials said that the changes result from recent lawsuits brought by sugarbeet workers in Colorado disclosing the existence of certain violations of the minimum wage provisions of the Sugar Act.

Although USDA further stated that it has found that crew leaders or labor contractors often perform a valuable service for both workers and producers, the revised regulations provide that the producer may pay workers' wages through licensed or registered crew leaders or labor contractors, but with added requirements reaffirming and clarifying the producers' responsibility to insure that workers actually receive the wages agreed upon and in no event less than the fair and reasonable rates provided in the wage determination.

The amended wage regulation will become effective on March 29, 1971, which will give producers the opportunity to revise their recordkeeping systems to meet the new requirements.

Along the Frio

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS

Plans are underway for the spring revival at Frio. Services conducted by Rev. Straus Atkinson, District Missionary, of Plainview, will begin March 28 and continue through April 4. Leon Hokett, of Dallas will direct the choir. Hokett has been guest musician several times for revivals at Frio.

Frio Homemakers Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Last weekend while Ronnie Ronnie Andrews. The program on new spring materials was given by Mrs. Dwane Nelson. She also discussed the latest trends in fashion styles and had swatches of materials for sewing clothes to display.

Present for the meeting were Mesdames T. L. Sparkman, Eugene Baldwin, Frank Robbins, Carlton Dobins, W. A. Springer, Linda Blair, Sam Ogan, Henry Andrews, Laura Littrell, Chesley Johnston, Owen Andrews and Miss Alma Andrews.

Andrews was in Amarillo for Army Reserve meetings, Mrs. Andrews, son Kyle, and Mrs. Andrews' aunt, Mrs. Joe Nelson and three children of Dimmitt, went to Albuquerque. They visited Mrs. Nelson's sister, Mrs. Virginia Hartman and Mrs. Margaret Adams, and others of their families.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Andrews and several other relatives visited the Andrews home Sunday afternoon. The occasion was the Andrews' wedding anniversary.

Mrs. H. M. Mobley, Austin of Midland went to Farmington the last of the week. They expected to visit the Raymond and Don Mobley families and attend the wedding of Karla, daughter of the Raymond Mobleys, on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Carlon Dobbins and Mrs. Edgar Vinson went to Ardmore, Okla., last Thursday, for medical attention at a clinic. On Friday they went on to Glenwood, Ark., to visit Mrs. Dobbins' brother in a convalescent home. During the remainder of the weekend they visited their granddaughter and daughter, Mrs. Wayne Betts, near Dallas, returning home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marsh Pitman of Waco came Wednesday night to visit their parents, the Sam Ogans and John Pitmans. On Friday evening, the Ogans and Pitman relatives were guests of Marsh's grandmother, Mrs. J. L. McCormick, Amarillo, for a shrimp dinner at Amarillo Country Club.

Mrs. Annie Springer attended the golden anniversary party of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Sheffy in Dimmitt, on Sunday. She reported visiting with several friends, including Mrs. Bob Knox, of Lockney. The Knox family lived in this community during the late '20s.

Americanism

Liberty, as proclaimed by law and constitutions, can never have full meaning without the added ingredients of Fraternity and Brotherhood; without the spirit of friendliness and unselfishness... love for one's fellows. Those powerful qualifying attributes help spell out what Americanism is.

When one sees a family unit, parents and children, with Bibles in hand, attending church to worship as they please... then one is witnessing Liberty in its finest and most fullsome forms, for that, too, is American. Freedom of religious worship is equally important, along with economic freedom and freedom from oppression, in America. Then worship God as you please but be sure to worship... that is Americanism.

MARIAN STRICKLAND

Black businesswoman hopes for miracles and an upswing in the nation's economy

By JOYCE TRENT
Kansas City Star Staff Writer
KANSAS CITY, MO. — Black businesswoman Marian Strickland looked at the $7,000 loss on her year-end balance sheet and said, stubbornly, "But I've got to stay in the ghetto for my people's sake."
Her husband, Robert, who wants her to move, replied, "The name of the game is survival. You aren't helping anybody if you go out of business."
There are at least 69 more black women like Mrs. Strickland operating small businesses in greater Kansas City. They are fighting tremendous odds, not the least of which is the mortality rate of the small business itself.

Facing that risk and the problems inherent in her race and sex, Mrs. Strickland chose to add another obstacle. She is trying to sell luxury items in her card and gift shop in an area that in the best of times is hard-core poverty. And 1970 was not the best of times.
When Mrs. Strickland left the Internal Revenue Service four years ago to open her gift shop, she gave up a $7,000 a year salary, retirement benefits, and $5,000 in savings. Her sole business experience consisted of her skill in operating accounting machines.
"I was motivated by a love for beautiful things, and I wanted to sell them," she explained. She bought figurines, gilded mirrors, greeting cards, children's finery and gifts. Although she has concentrated more in the last year on bread-and-butter items, she still emphasizes the other because of a belief that "blacks need them every bit as much as scarves and socks."

She located in the ghetto by choice. Like many Negroes, she had listened to the cries of "black power" and made the gamble on faith she would get the support she needed. The support, when it came, was not from those who had done the vocalizing or from the more affluent. It came from those with limited income. It was small, but until last year business was steady and the profit was just enough to keep going.
Then, in 1970, Mrs. Strickland lost most of the walk-in trade, and her remaining clientele, which includes a few whites, shops only occasionally. When they do come, they have a hard time finding a place to park.
There are other problems with the location. A year after the shop opened there was a riot, and insurance companies now refuse protection. A persistent fear of robberies also led Mrs. Strickland to begin locking her door during the day — a serious handicap to drawing customers off the street.
With daily sales sometimes as low as $4 and 40 per cent of her accounts delinquent, she has had to reduce inventory, sell at 50 per cent of original cost and lay off her salesgirl. At this point, Mrs. Strickland is hoping for a miracle.
Operating at a sharply reduced profit but confident of working her way out is Mrs. Strickland's landlord, Mrs. Flora Hunt, who owns and manages a cleaning shop next door. When Mrs. Hunt took over the business she had never been rough going. Her gross last year was only $10,000.

She has two full-time workers and one who fills in. Finding and keeping employees in the dry cleaning business is more difficult each year, Mrs. Hunt said. Her insurance is high because of the burglary.
Mrs. Hunt believes an upswing in the economy and her own "mother wit and horse sense," will alleviate her situation, and in an effort to pick up business she has been circulating more in the community, including visiting customers' homes. "I have been in tough spots before," she said. "This is not the worst."

Singing review tonight

Time is 8 p. m. today for the musical review of the Broadway hit, "I Do, I Do," to be presented in the fellowship hall of First Baptist Church by Mary Allen Vincent of Dallas.

L'Allegria Study Club is sponsoring the entertainer's appearance here in her unique review of a popular musical show. With a piano accompanist, Mrs. Vincent sings the principal songs as she tells the story of the comedy, a format which she originated and which has pleased many audiences in the past eight years.

Tickets sales are being conducted by members of L'Allegria Club, who are bringing the program here as a contribution to the cultural life of the community. Any profit from the venture will be added to the club's service project fund.
