

Primary Elections: End of Road For Some

★★★★★★★★★★★★

Judge, Commissioner Races in Spotlight

Party primaries spotlight the political scene Saturday, with a victory being tantamount to election for some Democratic candidates, an advance to the November general election for others who face Republican candidates, and further campaigning for some office seekers who could be involved in a runoff election.

With only one contested countywide race in Deaf Smith a "normal" turnout of approximately 2,500 voters is still anticipated. Two commissioner precincts have contested races and could help voter interest in those areas, while the county judge's three-man contest has drawn considerable interest. Several statewide contests add potential ballot attention.

ABSENTEE voting ended here Tuesday with 193 ballots cast for the Demo primary and 3 for the GOP party primary. In the 1972 first primary, almost 2,500 votes were cast in the Democratic primary and 43 in the Republican primary here.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday, with the Democratic primary election being conducted in the 11 usual voting boxes. Precinct conventions will be held at the site of the voting boxes at 2 p.m. Saturday, according to Demo county chairman Leo Witkowski. The Deaf Smith Republican primary election will have just one voting box, to be located at La Plata Junior High School, according to Joe Shollenbarger, GOP chairman. The sole GOP candidate for a county post is LeRoy Williamson, a commissioner candidate in Precinct 2.

VOTER INTEREST is running high in the county judge's race where incumbent H.C. (Hank) Williams faces the challenge of Sam Morgan and J. Mike Ranspot. Williams, 62, will soon be completing 13 years in office—serving three elective terms after first being appointed for one year.

Morgan, 62, is an executive assistant with Deaf Smith Electric Co-Op., Ranspot, 27, is employed at Shook Tire Co. and is a life-long resident of Hereford.

THE PRECINCT 2 commissioner's race has five Demo candidates and one Republican hopeful. Demo primary candidates are Joe M. Zinser, Austin C. Rose Jr., W.H. (Bill) Griffin, Grant Hanna, and Clinton Jackson. LeRoy K. Williamson is the GOP candidate. Longtime commissioner Marcus Latham did not seek reelection.

In Precinct 4, there are three Demo candidates seeking the post to be vacated by veteran Donald Hicks. The candidates are James L. Voyles, Luther Lesly, and M.W. (Webb) Blankenship.

DEMOCRATIC primary ballots will have one U.S. office—that of Rep. George Mahon who is unopposed. A full slate of statewide and district officials are included, as well as a referendum on pari-mutuel wagering on horse races by local option.

Demos unopposed on the local level include Dist. Judge Archie McDonald, Criminal D.A. Andy Shuval, District Clerk Lola Faye Veazey, Co. Clerk B.F. Cain, Treasurer Vesta Mae Nunley, Co. Surveyor A.J. Schroeter, and JP Glen Nelson.

THE REPUBLICAN ballot lists candidates for nine statewide offices, the Precinct 2 candidate—Williamson, and three referendums. The pari-mutuel wagering issue is listed as well as referendums on a "right-to-work" law for the Texas Constitution, and a provision requiring approval of a majority of all voters before any state personal or corporate income tax can be enacted.

Voting boxes, locations and elections judges for the Demo primary:

 Prec. 2—Commissioners' Courtroom, Tony Hoffman.

Uses Mule Instead Of Fuel

One man around town seems to have come up with one answer to the energy crisis. Great? It might be unless one is speaking of Jay Crofford's energy supply. He appears to be running a little short of this commodity when he plows a garden in west Hereford.

Library, Additions Are Approved by Trustees

By O.G. NIEMAN
 Editor-Publisher

Trustees of the Hereford Independent School District held a special meeting Monday to make a final inspection of the new high school library and additions at Shirley Elementary.

The board gave approval to the new building projects, briefly discussed the possibility of a change in board election procedures, finalized plans for a school board workshop, approved purchase of a new posting machine in the business office, and reviewed the local fund assignment for next year.

THE NEW building programs were part of a $1.3 million improvements project approved by voters in December, 1972. The high school library is a new 8,000-square-foot addition. The Shirley improvements included three additional classrooms, a new library-media center, a teacher's workroom and renovation of the teachers' lounge. The board had earlier accepted new construction at Stanton Junior High—the addition of the new science rooms and a physical education dressing-room addition.

A suggestion on changing school board election procedures had been submitted to the trustees at a previous meeting. The proposal concerned the election of trustees by "place", rather than by the present method of selection from a field of candidates.

SUPT. ROY Hartman explained the law on elections and distributed copies of the regulations on election by positions. With this system, positions on the board are designated by numbers and candidates select the position for which they seek election. The proposal will be placed on the agenda for discussion at the next regular board meeting.

THE SCHOOL BOARD workshop was scheduled Wednesday at the West Texas State-University activities center, and most of the trustees announced intentions to attend. Hartman was one of the speakers for the various discussion panels Wednesday afternoon.

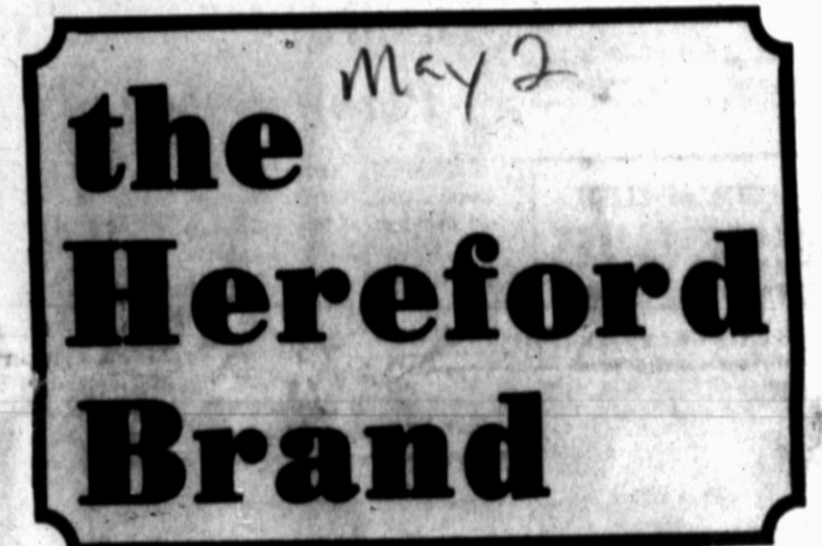

The superintendent, and business manager Bill Phillips, outlined the local fund assignment which is determined by the state. The funds to be derived from local sources is determined by an economic index for the county, and local districts across the state pay 20 per cent of the Foundation School Program. The information was presented to the board for study, and will pertain to budget decisions in June. The amount Hereford district will require from local sources in 1974-75 was tabbed at $562,207—compared to $537,742 the past year.

IN ANOTHER item Monday morning, the board approved the superintendent's attendance at an IDEA Fellows' Institute in Colorado Springs, Colo., in June. Hartman was one of 30 school administrators in the southwest to be selected as a participant in the institute, sponsored by the Charles F. Kettering Foundation. Cost of the week's institute is $100.

All trustees were present for the breakfast meeting Monday at the school business office.

Houston Investor Visits in Hereford

K.S. (Bud) Adams, president and chairman of the board of Ada Resources, Inc., recently formed by the merger of Ada Oil Co., other properties of the Adams family, and Southwest and Champion feedyards of Hereford, was in town Tuesday evening to meet with stockholders of the local industries.

"You might say I worked my way up to Hereford," the genial Adams responded here Tuesday when asked how his interest was drawn to the community. "I started doing some cattle feeding in South Texas several years ago and, after looking into feedyards, decided the best and most efficient were in Hereford."

ADAMS, who first visited Hereford about a year ago, said he was no stranger to the Panhandle. "Some of our first oil and gas wells were in Moore and Hutchinson counties in 1948. We founded Ada Oil in 1946, primary for exploration and refining. The family has also had ranching interests over the years—in Oklahoma and South Texas—and we now have a 16,000-acre farm in California," he added.

"When we decided to go public, we started looking at feedyards—feeling they would be a good combination with the energy field and farm and ranch interests," Adams stated.

ASKED ABOUT the energy situation, Adams said he felt the problems had not been solved and the price of gasoline has not reached a high point as yet. "I believe it will go to between 60 and 70 cents a gallon in many areas. The next 10 years will be a critical period in developing oil and gas resources."

Pastime Revives Past

With a pop of the reins and a yell of "Come on Rowdy, come on Junie, get going," a picture of the past was brought to life watching Jay Crofford and his two mules plow a garden spot for a friend.

While this was the only method of plowing years ago, Crofford uses this as a hobby.

"I would sure hate to have to make a living doing this. This plow is about 50 years old and I just picked it up from a junk yard.

"Rowdy and Junie aren't really broken yet, but we've plowed up other garden spots this year and they are beginning to get used to it.

"I got Rowdy about three years ago, and I've had Junie about two, ever since they were just colts. I play around with my 15 horses and was given these mules and just have fun with them.

"Even though I haul grain and drive a truck, I still like to have these mules and horses. They nearly work me to death. The ground is so hard but they still pull me around when they get going," said Crofford.

VFW Honors Trio Here On Law Day

Cold Front Brings Rain

A cold front lingered over most of Texas Wednesday, bringing welcome showers to scattered parts of the area but only "a trace" here Tuesday.

Overcast skies remained around Hereford Wednesday morning with the forecast calling for still more chance of rain through the day. A light shower Tuesday night was the first appreciable amount of moisture in some time, with just slightly more than an inch recorded this year.

County Agent Justin McBride reported that most farmers "liked the sample and had placed orders for the whole dish." The line of showers that moved from Clovis, N.M., to Guthrie Tuesday missed Hereford, for the most part. Plainview logged almost half an inch, while Clovis, Mulleshoe and Littlefield reported good showers.

Three men were awarded plaques as the VFW and its Auxiliary observed Law Day Wednesday morning by honoring all local law officials, firemen and their families at a breakfast in VFW Hall.

RECIPIENTS of the plaques for outstanding service were Art Burton, county deputy; Lloyd Smith, city policeman, and Jay Spain, fire marshal. The presentations were made by Mrs. Francis Parker, president of the VFW Auxiliary.

The annual breakfasts are held on Law Day, according to Mrs. Parker, "so that we can voice recognition and appreciation for these fine men who devote their lives to our safety."

THE CITATION to Burton read: "As a sincere expression of appreciation and praise for selfless and heroic assumption of citizenship responsibility in crime prevention and criminal apprehension."

The presentation to Smith was for "grateful recognition of unyielding adherence to the highest ideas of law enforcement in maintaining, preserving and protecting the lawful rights of all citizens."

SPAIN'S citation read: "In special recognition and highest praise for alertness, personal courage, and ever efficient guardianship of life and property."

Four HHS Students Trip To State Finals Friday

Four Hereford High School students will represent the city in state finals competition in Austin Friday and Saturday, two in math and two in track and field. All four won state berths in qualifying rounds the past two weekends in Lubbock.

GINGER NEWTON, a senior, will compete in "number sense" competition. Eighty problems must be worked in a 10-minute time limit, without the benefit of paper or pencil. In qualifying, Ginger placed second.

JOEL FUHRMANN, the only junior of the four, will compete in slide rule, attempting to complete 75 problems in a 30-minute time limit. Joel was first in the qualifying rounds.

In the track and field competition,

James Harris and Charles High will carry the Herd banner. It's the second trip to state for High, who captured sixth place in 330-yard intermediate hurdles last year. He'll compete in the 120-yard high hurdles this time around, and has run a 14.1. High ran a 14.4 at the State Qualifiers' meet in Lubbock last week, about fifth best in the state.

HARRIS ran the fourth best time in the state in winning last week with a 38.9 in his event, the 330-yard intermediate hurdles. He has run 38.4. Both are being coached in hurdles by student teacher Gary Goodin under the watchful eye of Coach Don Cumpston. Goodin is formerly of Hereford, and set hurdling records here in 1968. Harris and High have matched their teacher's records, but never bested them.

Foursome In State Finals

Four Hereford High School students will leave for Austin today to compete in the state finals. From left to right, Ginger Newton, Charles High, James Harris, and Joe Fuhrmann. Miss Newton will compete in "number sense", and Fuhrmann will compete in slide rule, both in the math division. Harris and High will run intermediate and high hurdles, respectively, in the track division.

Ag Dept Pleased With Rural Record

The Department of Agriculture is chalking up what it believes to be a good record in meeting new rural development obligations handed it by the Congress. Newspaper Farm Editors were told at their Washington meeting.

Will Erwin, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, put it this way: "Take housing. With roughly $7.0 billion outstanding in over 600,000 rural housing loans and with write-off losses of less than one-tenth of one percent, USDA's Farmers Home Administration has contributed substantially to better rural housing."

USDA, CONTINUES to carry out its original duties mandated by legislation in 1862, but was assigned a second major mission as a part of the Rural Development Act of 1972—responsibility for assisting small towns and the nonfarm countryside in their developmental efforts.

"USDA is currently responsible for community improvement programs as well as farmer related programs," the official continued. "When President Lincoln signed the bill creating the Department of Agriculture, he described it as a 'people's' Department. And the basic concern of rural development is people."

Rural housing loans, Erwin pointed out, have increased from $507 million in 1969 to $1,858 million during the current fiscal year. Sewer, water, and other community facility loans are budgeted at $520 million for the upcoming year against $198 million in 1969.

"Organizational," Erwin said, "we are in good shape with a USDA Rural Development Committee functioning in every state and in most local areas either at the county or regional level. The Extension Service has over 600 rural development specialists helping rural people meet their developmental challenges."

The breakdown of FmHA loans outstanding on Jan. 10, 1974, shows the status of present assistance efforts: 300,955 Farm Loans totaled $3,444,401,000; 611,451 Rural housing loans totaled $6,899,687,000; 9,783 Community facility loans totaled $1,354,084,000.

"BUT THE SURFACE of need is only scratched," Erwin said. "Our goal is to help local communities help themselves using the private sector where possible. Rural America still has over one-half of the nation's substandard housing."

Many communities are still withering. And thousands of communities have sewer, water and other community facility problems to solve before they can develop otherwise. There are many other needs to be met. But the machinery for helping rural people meet these needs is operating effectively. We can feel good about the future of Rural Development."

CONGRESS, HE SAID, set a FY 1974 ceiling of $200 million on the new business and industry guaranteed loans, "but we have requested twice that amount in the budget for FY 1975." Private, local lenders make these loans with FmHA guaranteeing repayment of them up to 90 percent of losses.

Many people associate Adam's name with the Houston Oilers, the professional football team he owns but which is not a part of Ada Resources, Inc. Asked how he got into the "football business," Adams said he played football in high school and college and just decided "to speculate and gamble that Houston was ready for a pro team."

ADAMS added that pro football had some "big problems now just like other businesses." He said the players' union currently has presented some $7 demands to owners, but "there is no way the game can support all the demands." He pointed out that all the demands of the players would cost the league $189 million a year, or about $7 to $8 million per team. Accompanying Adams on his visit here was Spencer Murchison, executive vice president of Ada Resources, Inc.

At one time, officers in the Turkish navy had to wear wooden models of their warships on their hats.

ROCK-MELTING DEVICES DIG TUNNELS

Melting holes through solid rocks and mountains is nothing new. Flash Gordon and other science fiction heroes often did it to escape from perilous predicaments. Today, however, scientists are actually doing it with a device called a Subterrene penetrator.

Although it still sounds like science fiction, researchers at the Atomic Energy Commission's Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory in New Mexico are developing a rock-melting bit that shows promise as a method of boring holes deep into the earth or in excavating tunnels.

The Subterrene penetrator, funded by the National Science Foundation, would bore holes in rocks by progressively melting them instead of chipping, grinding, breaking or shoveling them away. The energy to remove the rock or soil would come from heat in contrast to the usual mechanical or explosive forms.

The temperature of the penetrator's bit, some 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit or higher, is enough to melt even granite. As the rock melts, it flows past the bit on the outside or through specially designed openings in the bit. As it solidifies, the rock forms a strong, impermeable glass lining with "roots" in the small cracks around the hole.

As a boring device, the bit will have the potential to do hot-rock penetration for geothermal energy development, as well as meet many conventional drilling and tunneling needs.

For tunneling, the bit could be designed to achieve the size and shape desired and to provide a lining for the tunnel. In smaller sized tunnels (less than about three feet in diameter), the heat would be provided by electricity. In larger sizes, the heat could come directly from a suitably designed nuclear reactor.

Some other potential uses for the penetrator include: Melting of shallow holes in very hard rocks for structural anchors for buildings or bridges; production of water wells with formed-in-place glass linings, and horizontal glass-lined tunnels for sewer or waterlines.

While the Subterrene penetrator shows tremendous potential, it is still in early stages of development. The Los Alamos team has developed a small, prototype rock melter and assembled a portable field demonstrator model that has melted an 85-foot-deep hole into volcanic rock with a 2-inch bit. The second phase of the project, scheduled for completion in the next five years, aims to develop and test a prototype electrically-powered, boring and coring penetrator, which the researchers have dubbed a "Geoprospector."

Continue Community Aid

These local volunteers worked to put tornado victims back on their feet after the storm hit Hereford in 1971. Seventh-Day Adventist Church members dedicate their time to welfare work and disaster relief at the Community Center each Wednesday.

Church Observes 100th Year Of Service

According to Elder I.B. Burton, pastor of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, there will be a special program observing the 100th year of mission and welfare service for the denomination.

Eighteen-hundred seventy-four was an explosive year for the advent movement. During that year J.N. Andrews sailed as the first missionary from North America. The expansion and proclamation of the gospel message and the growth of this church had begun.

The vision of pioneer leaders broadened to encompass their mission as a global task embracing all the nations of the world.

Later in 1874, the first Darcas-Welfare Society was organized in Battle Creek, Mich. Their special concern was the ministry to the sick and needy. As the scope of the first foreign missionary focused on the mission of the church beyond the seas, so the first Darcas-Society turned its eyes toward the immediate community and its needs.

The Adventist Church Mission was seen as a ministry to all the needs of all the people. It adopted to meet physical and social needs as well as spiritual and emotional requirements.

After 100 years of service, 10,974 Darcas-Welfare Societies are operating in 193 countries. In addition, 1,373 Adventist Men's Organizations are involved in community service programs. Community Service Centers now number 1,489 and aid over nine million annually.

Locally, at Community Center, 711 Park Ave., there have been over 100 people helped in emergency situations, with clothing, bedding and miscellaneous items provided.

The center is open each Wednesday afternoon from 1-5 p.m. according to Mrs. Mae Grimes, director of community service for the local Adventist Church.

Each year, there are approximately 10,000 articles of clothing processed at the center with church members donating hundreds of hours of free labor. The work room is equipped with clothes washer and dryer and plenty of space for mending.

The conference of Seventh-Day Adventists in which Hereford is located has a disaster van which is stocked with over 10,000 articles of clean, mended, ready-to-wear clothing and bedding. It is taken to disaster areas stricken by tornadoes, floods, fires or other catastrophes. The van's contents are then distributed where needed and are then replenished by Panhandle churches.

The disaster van was brought to Hereford after the tornado in April of 1971.

An Adventist spokesman said, "We believe that welfare work is an important part of religion and Jesus himself must have thought so too when he raised Darcas from the dead to continue her welfare mission.

"Christ said, 'Verily I say unto you, inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these — ye have done it unto me.'—Matt. 25:40."

Appointed To Mission Work

The Rev. and Mrs. H.E. "Gene" Meacham were among 27 missionaries appointed at a meeting in Little Rock, Ark. of the Southern Baptist Foreign Missions Board. Equality Of Sexes Sneaks Into Hair Fashion

By Janis Lockhart
Staff Writer

For years the women of the world have been the ones to hang their heads in the wash bowl, watched as a trained beautician cut her locks off to the newly desired length, sat under hair dryers and then gone through pain in order for her hair to look just right for the days to come. All the while some husbands were explaining that they would not go through anything like that due to the fact that it was just not necessary to have every hair in place all the time.

Well, it seems that things are changing rapidly and have been for some time now and it is taking some time to get used to.

To over-hear a conversation between a man and his barber—now "hairstylist", making an appointment to have his hair done, it makes one stop and wonder if these are the same people that once made fun of women for wanting to take all that time and money to make their own hair look nice.

TALKING to one of the local barbers it was very surprising to hear that one of his patrons has just recently moved and called him long-distance to see if a hairstylist could be recommended in his present location. Believe it or not, the barber was able to look into his "Who's Who Book" and recommend one that would do a good job.

Hard to believe? It is especially when a woman can ask her beauty operator to recommend someone in another town and she has no idea of anyone working in that town.

The barber explained that they have names for the cuts they give the men and for those that have very little to cut, they have sliders, crown and full hair pieces and other means of adding the needed amount of hair to the head.

These are about equal to the wigs, wigs and falls that once were "too expensive and unnecessary for women to buy" according to their family.

But not so now, it is perfectly alright for the women to buy these things, because the one that the husband is fixing to buy probably costs more than hers.

Another amazing thing is that a woman can walk into a beauty shop and find a man having his hair cut or fixed simply because he has found a beautician that cuts it exactly as he wants and vice versa. In the barber shop, which used to be completely off-limits, one is able to find a woman sitting in the barber chair because that barber is able to cut and shape hair so that it compliments her facial features.

IT WAS PUZZLING to watch young men come out of the barber shop and see them carrying small boxes, and not knowing what it was. They explained, "The small one is shampoo and the large one is setting gel to apply before I use my blowcomb."

Permanents? Yes, now they are for both sexes. The men are able to get a body wave just as the women have and this makes their hair much more manageable.

In comparison, the cost is not that much different. A

Fifty years ago, a woman would not have considered entering the smoke-filled depths of a barber shop anymore than a man would have been tempted to walk into a chatter-choked beauty parlor. However, today's girl has opted for the convenience and freedom a barber-cut can give. Likewise, modern males are becoming more concerned with the shaping and care of hair provided by a hair stylist.

woman can have a shampoo, set, wiglet combed in, and even a rinse, for about $7.50 and a man can have a shampoo, haircut and style for about the same price. Permanents vary in price, therefore it really depends on what one wants as far as a permanent as to the cost.

Another barber said, "I go to school once a month to stay up on the latest styles, some being the Male Shag, Ruffi look, Avante, and the U.S. Male to name a few."

"I can give a man the name of a barber in every state and most of the foreign countries. Some may not speak English but one would only have to give him the name of his particular hair cut and he would know how to cut it."

My business is comprised of about 10 per cent women and some of those wear their hair shorter than my male patrons.

"THERE ARE approximately 7,000 barbers that are listed and I can recommend any one of them because they take the same training each month that I do."

Being serious and hearing women talk, they are very happy that the men have taken this step. It is great to be escorted by a well-groomed man and there seems to be no doubt that men are looking better every day.

They have been dressing in sharper looking clothes so why not have their hair done to enhance their looks to go along with their new image?

IF A TABLE OR CHAIR WOBBLER BECAUSE OF A SHORT LEG, SQUEEZE PLASTIC WOOD ON A PIECE OF WAXED PAPER PLACED ON THE FLOOR. SET THE SHORT LEG ON IT, FORCING IT DOWN UNTIL IT'S LEVEL AFTER THE WOOD DRIES. TRIM OFF THE EXCESS WITH A KNIFE AND SMOOTH IT OUT WITH FINE GRIT SANDPAPER BEFORE ADDING YOUR FINISH. NOW THAT A PRETTY EASY WAY TO SOLVE A IRRITATING PROBLEM. TRY IT.

Rotary Plans Talent Show

Members of Hereford Rotary Club saw a preview to the upcoming Rotary Talent Show when the club met Monday at the Civic Center for its weekly meeting.

Joe C. Brown was honored at the meeting as "law enforcement officer of the month". A plaque was presented from the club by Mike Patrick, April chairman of the project. Brown expressed his appreciation to the club for its endeavors supporting law enforcement in Hereford.

The officer has worked for Hereford Police Department since 1971 after being employed at Caviness Packing Company and Missouri Beef. He and his wife Annie have two children, Jo Ann, 8, and Westley, 5.

Asked about her thoughts about her husband's profession, Mrs. Brown said, "I'm happy with what makes him happy... being a policeman was a childhood ambition for Joe."

The Browns came to Hereford in 1962 and are members of St. Anthony's Catholic Church. Mrs. Brown is a teacher's aid at Stanton Junior High School.

Entertainment for the ladies day luncheon included four vocalists. They were Lisa Martin, Gussie Sanders, Patsy Morris of Dimmitt and Fred Ratliff. They will be featured in the Rotary Talent Show set for 8 p.m. on May 17 at the Hereford High School Auditorium.

Buff Benson is chairman for the talent show and Mike Patrick and Charles Wagner are in charge of ticket sales. Team captains include Bruce Brown, Richard Crider, Herman Ford, James McDowell, Patrick, Rodger Ruland and Benson. Winners will be awarded with 240 pounds of beef steaks. Tickets are on sale for $1.50 each.

The Boy Scouts of America have been officially recognized as part of the national Bicentennial program for their four-year program to involve some 6.5 million youth and adult members in activities leading to the commemoration of America's 200th birthday.

The ARBC recognized that through Scouting's Bicentennial Program, youth and adults will find a meaningful relationship between their active participation in Scouting and the spirit of the Bicentennial. Scouting has identified this relationship through existing and newly-created programs from 1973-77. These programs directly contribute to the development of youth, forge an increased awareness of family relationships, and enhance awareness and support of projects affecting community, national, and international progress.

Special task forces of adult volunteers, youth members, and BSA professionals on the national level have been working for over two years to develop a Bicentennial observance program that would be meaningful to members of the Boy Scouts of America. These task forces have integrated BSA monthly program themes, national activities, and suggestions for local programs into a package that will immediately involve all BSA members into the spirit of the Bicentennial. The BSA national office personnel maintain a close working relationship with members of the Bicentennial Commission and staff to provide for the maximum use of available resources and program suggestions. Local councils are encouraged to avail themselves of state and local resources.

The BSA Bicentennial Program covers the entire Bicentennial Era of 1973-77. Each year of the Bicentennial Era has been identified with a program emphasis: Each program emphasis will carry a national theme and program direction that contributes to the character development, citizenship training, and physical and mental fitness of youth. A recognition program has been developed to recognize participating members in Bicentennial Programs. Scouting also is encouraging BSA units, councils, and the national organization to recognize non-Scouting groups for their service to the advancement of human welfare. The national office of the Boy Scouts of America has developed a comprehensive communications program that is detailed through 1977. An important ingredient in this program is the continuing features in the BSA magazines. Boys' Life, Scouting, and Exploring magazines have and will continue to bring program highlights and special Bicentennial related features to the attention of Scouting's membership. The national office of the BSA will prepare special scripts and outlines for local council use in preparing for Scout shows and camporees. The development materials will be specially written to include the current Bicentennial Program emphasis.

The ARBC has on the basis of the above outlined BSA program officially recognized the general Boy Scout Program and granted the BSA use of the official Bicentennial logo.

Federal Control Enters No-Fault Auto Insurance

Congress has decided to get into the middle of the controversial no-fault auto insurance issue. The Democratic side of both the Senate and the House is sponsoring legislation, already approved by the Senate Commerce Committee to establish federal no-fault insurance standards and to make those standards mandatory in states which do not have no-fault insurance laws or which have no-fault laws which do not meet the federal standards.

Clearance is still needed on the question of whether the proposed federal legislation encroaches on the traditional right of the states to regulate the insurance activities within their borders.

standards. In Massachusetts, the pioneer promoter of no-fault insurance, and in Florida where no-fault limits for bodily injury are held to a maximum of $1,000, significant reductions in premiums for bodily injury insurance have resulted.

The primary opposition to the whole concept of no-fault insurance comes mostly from the trial lawyers who would lose income from any plan which would reduce the number of lawsuits arising from auto accidents.

THE INSURANCE industry is pretty much in agreement over the need for no-fault insurance but it is badly divided over whether the states or Congress should be responsible for the legislation creating it.

A major factor sparking the current federal legislation is the small-like pace of the states in passing no-fault bills. Only 12 states have no-fault insurance and another six or eight states are expected to pass it this year.

A&M Urges Development

Texas A&M University is launching a new Manpower Development Program in 11 High Plains counties under the Rural Development Act of 1972. The University will develop and implement a 3-year pilot program as authorized by the U.S. Department of Agriculture under Title V of the Act, according to Dr. H.O. Kunkel, Dean of Agriculture, Texas A&M University.

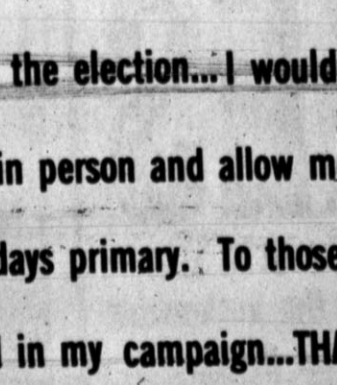

and other industries in the High Plains area have resulted in an estimated 8,000 new jobs to be filled by the end of 1974. The Texas A&M directed program will involve the rural counties of Carson, Castro, Deaf Smith, Gray, Hansford, Hemphill, Hutchinson, Moore, Ochiltree, Parmer and Roberts. Potter and Randall counties will also be involved in the program since Amarillo is the economic hub of the project area.

Close coordination between the various agencies involved in Manpower recruitment, training, and development is essential to provide needed workers in these rural counties, said Kunkel.

Objectives of the program are: 1. To determine Manpower needs and availability. 2. To develop and evaluate effective Manpower recruiting and screening programs for deficit job categories. 3. To assist area employers and appropriate agencies with Manpower and personnel management training. 4. To provide orientation and counseling for relocated workers and their families. 5. To evaluate the social and economic impact of expanded employment on the community.

Odd Cult Flourishes In A Small Texas Town

BY GENE SUTTLE

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written and submitted for publication by Gene Suttle of Hereford. A regular visitor to Bangs, Tex., Suttle writes of the mystery surrounding an influx of people called the "Terrellites" in the small West Texas town.)

For 25 years I have visited

Bangs, Texas regularly. My inlaws live there. Bangs is a West Texas town, located 8 miles west of Brownwood on highway 67. Through the years Bangs has been a quiet town of a population of about 1500.

Most of the town is located south of the highway and railroad tracks that closely parallel the highway. The railroad and highway seem to shut off the people in Bangs from the passing world. The people who live in Bangs are generally elderly people with well kept yards.

Bangs is a beautiful town. A town that closes its business early. One driving thru Bangs after the businesses close will find virtually a ghost town.

I SPENT A week in Bangs the week preceding Easter. How this little town has changed! How it has changed. This little town is literally rocking with excitement, mystery, and with people. The change that has come over this West Texas town has been caused by an influx of people called the "Terrellites", followers of a "prophet" called David Terrell.

The stir has captured the attention of people thruout the state. Sunday, March 17, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram carried a full page report written by columnist Jerry Flemmons. The Associated Press's account written by Mike Cochran was carried by many area newspapers. Experts from these new stories, personal observations, and personal interviews from local residents provide the following account.

It all began early last year. People began arriving in Bangs and surrounding communities. They came in old cars, pickups, trucks, with belongings stuffed in cardboard boxes, furniture tied atop, or they arrived with nothing more than the clothes on their backs.

Bangs did not know they were coming, nor do they know how many more are coming. Some of the people, also know as the "New Testament Holiness Church", predict millions.

WHY ARE THESE people coming to Bangs? The prophet, the man who speaks for God, David Terrell, foresaw the salvation of Bangs. All urban centers are doomed, but not Bangs. Bangs is now the blessed place, hallowed ground, the land flowing with milk and honey. And to think, I own a little spot right in the middle of this sacred spot!

So they came. They have come from Oklahoma,

Arkansas, Louisiana, Tennessee, Florida, Alabama, Georgia, New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Kansas, South Dakota, Arizona, and California. Perhaps as many as 1500. Young old, white, black and brown. More arrive daily.

They live in trailer houses, tents, rent houses, and abandoned farm houses, in Bangs, Santa Anna, Coleman, and Rising Star. All are adjacent communities to Bangs. Until recently, they held their meetings in a large tent located at the northwest part of Bangs.

They now have a brick structure that when completed will seat from 1500 to 2000 people. People say it has no foundation. It is built by placing brick upon brick. It has a dirt floor. I had to see for myself, and from a few yards away. (as close as I would dare get to the structure) I could see no visible sign of a foundation. Some people think the building will be condemned. Others wonder how it stands.

The followers are interrelated only by their faith in Biblical prophecy and their belief in David Heze Terrell whom they call "The Prophet". When questioned, his followers claim little personal knowledge of their spiritual leader except that he's a prophet, a faith healer, a man of God.

According to his followers, Terrell has healed the blind, deaf, mute, ill, crippled, and cancerous, and in one instance, raised the dead. He has gone 21 days, 127 days, and 10 months without food.

Terrell is dark-haired and thin. He is 4'. The Lord, he said, gave him x-ray eyes which he focuses on people to be healed during his services. He also claims to be gifted and blessed as Paul. Terrell's message to his followers is this, according to the wife of Terrell's right hand man, Calvin Baldwin: "Flee into the country. Learn to live by faith, let the ground supply your needs because when the famine gets here, there is not going to be no more food in the stores and if there is, then it's going to be so high until a poor person won't be able to buy it. If people'd get hold of God, it won't have to be."

She was asked, "How does her church differ from organized religions?" "Well, uh, we just don't believe in sinning." "Do Baptist and Methodists and...?" "Well, we act in what we believe. We practice what we preach."

FIND DAVID TERRELL. Not an easy matter. David Terrell simply appears and disappears, heightening the mystique with which he governs the believers. He has many addresses and no homes. Except for services, he does not appear in public.

He consents to no interviews. He just doesn't talk to people, explains Mrs. Baldwin. It is reported Terrell has nothing to do with other clergymen, has not studied and "his theology comes from inside his head."

No one seems to be able to explain the effects he has on his followers who believe him to be what he claims to be—a prophet. David Terrell oversees what probably is a million dollar a year kingdom, the riches of which include fast, exotic automobiles, high-flying, expensive airplanes, road-running luxury buses, mountain-sized tents and A-1 credits.

For the faithful, Terrell preaches, predicts, plays a guitar, prays, dances, jigs, heals, kneels and wields the work of God like a thunderbolt upon the heads of the followers who give their all, then some, for the prophet.

There is no way of estimating how much Terrell receives in contributions, but it is said he keeps only 30 per cent and gives the rest to the church. How much is 30 per cent of x dollars?

"I SEEN THEM give TV sets, the shirt off their back, live hogs, watches, and stuff," said Tommy Smith. "They take up collections in an ole lard bucket."

One woman was asked if she tithed, and she said, "I give what I have... I've given my shoes." She is barefoot.

His followers generally are poor. They have large families. They may be ignorant. Many are illiterate. Most of the Terrellites are quiet. They are nice, honest, people, and those who can find jobs are hard-working.

One reporter says, "The followers of Terrell are the last remnants of the oldtime religion. They are the people out there in Radioland. They are the buyers of blessed prayer cloths, blessed oils, four colored photographs of Jesus Christ."

To the natives of Bangs, their lives seem severe, austere and joyless. They are not evangelistic. They are an American subculture.

There are others, following other prophets, but those who follow David Terrell number in the thousands, perhaps tens of thousands and already they are filling Brown county and surrounding countryside.

"This is only the beginning, you ought to see the bunch behind," said a Terrellite.

So the people of Bangs wait and wonder. One thing is obvious. The subject and tone of conversation is not the weather in Bangs, Texas. I predict this area in West Texas will never be as it was one year ago.

The Senate has approved a $2.39 billion foreign aid authorization bill. The Senate rejected two previous foreign aid bills in the past two years.

WHOLESALE PRICES UP

The nation's energy shortage created record shattering increases in fuel prices, which pushed wholesale prices up 1.6 per cent in November according to government figures. But food prices were lower for the third consecutive month.

Floyd Asks Voters to THINK

In announcing my candidacy for State Representative of District 74, I proposed a tax bill that will cost Texans little by placing the burden on those who pipe crude oil and natural gas out of Texas where it serves as a cheap fuel. I repeat, "Here is an untapped source of state revenue."

Everyone is for a program to solve our water problem, which is already at a critical point. Everyone is for improved educational opportunities for our children. Solution without financing—how?

To my qualifications—I am a small businessman who has felt the pinch of inflation. I live in a rural area. My city, my county, and my farmer friends face water problems. I have witnessed the recent plight of many cattlemen. My wife teaches in our local high school. I know of our local needs, and I know that our needs are no different from yours.

I caution you to observe some of the clowns who are writing the new constitution. Mr. Clayton tells us that "Finance Article requires all real and tangible personal property to be taxed on the basis of market value, the appraisals being made by the counties. There is a provision requiring the legislature to provide a method to appraise agriculture land on a productivity basis."

Before you cast your ballot, give a thought and all look at the truth. Anyone who tells you we don't need additional revenue is attempting to avoid an unpleasant situation perhaps to win the grand prize on something. Could the red ribbon be the position of Speaker of the House?

Whatever your decision on May 4, I will respect the fact that you cast a ballot. I will appreciate the fact that you voted only after you had faced the truth. I will support your wishes.

Thank you,
Harvey R. Floyd

★★★★ FFA Banquet Honors Students, Parents ★★★

Future Farmers of America held their annual Parent-Son awards banquet Tuesday night at the high school cafeteria. Approximately 250 parents, members and guests attended. Entertainment was provided by the Nashville Guitars, playing country and western selections.

Presiding over the banquet, President Ronald Johnson paid special recognition to school board members, teachers, and parents of FFA officers.

The Honorary Degree given each year to a civilian was presented to Harlan Vander Zee, president of Hereford State Bank. Each year the bank gives the FFA a one thousand dollar scholarship and supports the club in other areas.

Awards were presented to the boys that achieved an outstanding rating in Agri-Business, Crop Production, Electrification, Livestock Production, Ag-Mechanics, Leadership, Citrus Fruit, Decab and Grain Handling.

Pens were given to the teams that entered shows and the livestock judging contests.

Pam Kerr, FFA Sweetheart, was presented a trophy for the help she has given to the club, by giving out ribbons at the different shows and other contributions she has made, to help the club run smoothly.

During the past year, Miss Kerr has kept a scrapbook containing all coverage on the years events and presented it to the club.

Layton Sawyer, speaking on behalf of the young farmers, gave thanks to the club for their help through the year.

"There is always help from the teachers but this year we had these boys come to us and ask if there was anything they could help us with. This was a year that the FFA boys were not afraid to work, and work they did," said Sawyer.

To conclude the ceremonies, the officers issued a challenge to the incoming officers and members to find and complete projects that were missed this year.

Honored at Parent-Son FFA Banquet

Receiving special recognition at the annual Parent-Son FFA Banquet Tuesday night were these FFA officers and Miss Pam Kerr, sweetheart. Harlan Vander Zee, right, was awarded an Honorary Degree for his contribution to the organization this year. FFA officers for 1974 are (l-r) Ronald Johnson, Jay Boren, Jess Arthur Robinson, Miss Kerr, Kirk Andrews, David Hutchins, Ted Eicke and Mike Aven.

Texas Governor Hunts For Water

Governor Briscoe told his Water Task Force members to consider looking out-of-state for development of future water sources for Texas. The Governor was the featured speaker at a two-day meeting of the Governor's Water Resource Conservation and Development Task Force, April 15-16, in Austin.

The 33 members of the Task Force heard the Governor's opinions of a study presented to him by the Task Force, "Statewide Program of Conservation and Development of Texas Water Resources."

First draft of the document was given to the Governor in late March, with the final draft being presented to him on April 15. Concerning the study, the Governor assured them "that it will receive careful study, and I will respond to it as you proceed."

The Task Force was created in November, 1973, to coordinate the numerous planning activities of the various state and regional water authorities in Texas.

Briscoe told the Task Force "We must continue to accelerate our efforts to protect and improve water quality conditions throughout Texas."

The Governor spoke of his views on the importance of irrigated agriculture to the economy and social well-being of Texas. The Governor told the meeting that he has directed his staff to work with Task Force members and other interested and informed groups throughout Texas and elsewhere in the nation, to make certain that the place of food and fiber production generated by irrigated agriculture is properly documented and supported by comprehensive study, based on today's real-life situation.

The Governor also said that he believes that ground water resources should be managed through local authority. "As you know, I believe very strongly that management of all resources should be exercised at the most local level of government where that responsibility can be undertaken effectively," added Briscoe.

The Governor explained that the problems must be faced that have accompanied the exploitation of some of our ground water resources. He said, "We must face this problem objectively and forthrightly. Working with the local governments in the area, and the interests now served by ground water, we must take the necessary measures to alleviate these problems."

Continuing, the Governor stated, "Elsewhere in the state, where ground water is a resource that can be made a part of our overall water supply availability, effective management for the joint use of surface and ground water supplies is needed. I believe such programs can be most effectively designed and implemented at the local level."

"I believe also that as a safeguard to the public interest,

Friona Firm Cited For Growth

Five widely diversified manufacturing firms representing a cross-section of Texas have won the annual Governor's Industrial Expansion Awards for 1973, Governor Dolph Briscoe has announced.

Governor Briscoe said Hi-Pro Feeds, Inc. of Friona, Datapoint Corporation of Brownwood, Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. of Waxahachie and the Beaumont Shipyards of Bethlehem Steel Corp. was selected as 1973 winners.

The winners were nominated by their local Chambers of Commerce and selected by the Texas Industrial Commission for their civic and economic contributions to their communities.

"All Texans should join in honoring these industries, all of which have added significant strength to the economic growth of their communities and the entire state," Governor Briscoe said in announcing the winners.

"It is fitting that we are able to honor our existing industries, which are sometimes overlooked when the bouquets are passed to the industrial growth of our state."

The Governor pointed out that the majority of new jobs created in Texas come from expanding industry, although location of new plants usually receives most of the public's attention. The five award winners will be honored in ceremonies in the Governor's office and will be feted at a special luncheon hosted by the Governor.

In previous years, the Governor has made the presentations at a Governor's Conference in Austin, but the Texas Industrial Commission, at the request of Governor Briscoe, voted to reduce the ceremonies to the winners this year due to the fuel shortage.

The Commission voted at their last quarterly meeting in Brownsville to eliminate the 1974 conference to keep from requiring long travel by the estimated 600 industrial leaders who annually take part in the event.

Jim Harwell, Executive Director of the Texas Industrial Commission, said the competition for the 1973 awards was particularly close. Selection was made after analyzing company payroll increases, new employees and plant area enlargement as well as local expenditures for goods and services.

Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp. expansions in 1973 helped create 273 new jobs in Waxahachie, raising its area employment to 535. Plant payroll increased 18.6 per cent to $6.8 million.

Superior Continental Corp. began plant operations in 1964.

By 1973, its 190 area employees made it one of the largest employers in Brownwood.

Datapoint Corporation reported a 115 per cent increase payroll for last year to $5.8 million, while total local expenditures increased from $400,000 in 1972 to more than $2 million in 1973.

Hi-Pro Feeds, Inc. more than doubled its plant payroll during 1973 to $686,000. The 42 employees added to the payroll brought the total number employed to 107, a 64 per cent increase.

Hi-Pro expanded its plant facilities to 53,540 square feet and increased its total investment in new equipment by $4 million during 1973.

Bethlehem Steel Corporation added 800 employees to its payroll accounting for a 44 per cent increase.

Six special citations for Industrial Expansions were also announced. Receiving the citations will be, ARA Manufacturing Company of Grand Prairie, Stanton Supply Corporation of Stanton, Perry Equipment Corporation of Mineral Wells, Maywood, Inc. of Amarillo.

Public Employees Ask For Pay Raise

By KERRIE WOMBLE
Brand Staff Writer

One of the first rules a staff writer learns is that the title "Mr." is obsolete in a news story. Usually this policy lends a professional quality to a journalistic piece and this trend is rarely broken.

However there is a custom so inbred in our society that even the strictest procedure dare not cross. And that is the understanding that one always addresses his or her school principal with the word "Mr." preceding the last name.

This regulation is deeply sewn into little hearts, which always beat double-time when in the presence of the school's figurehead.

So if it please the proofreader, this reporter is going to take the liberty of stretching journalistic practice this one time by giving a title of respect to a man who certainly deserves it.

D.C. MARTIN is an exacting man who has dedicated 45 years of his life to the education and refinement of young minds. He has served in the three basic capacities of any school system — teacher, principal and superintendent.

For over 25 years, Mr. Martin has been a school principal in Hereford and many long-time residents grew up under his direction.

He began teaching in 1929 during the gloomy start of the Depression. The venerable man laughed and said, "It's pretty bad when you can't even tell there's a Depression when looking at your salary. But seriously, there were two years when my monthly paycheck was only $77. School employees were able to buy a type of saving bond called a 'warrant.'" He explained, "These had a 6 per cent interest with an indefinite maturity date and eventually we collected on them, but it took a long time."

His classroom career was interrupted in the early 40's when he entered two years of active combat during World War II. He served in the Rainbow Division of the Army Infantry Unit.

Mr. Martin returned to the education field and became superintendent of the Seminole County School District where he remained for 14 years before coming to Hereford.

In 1948, Mr. Martin was hired as an American History teacher at Hereford High School. He recalled, "Of course the high school was where Stanton is now. I remember that I started teaching here in a small room on the third floor."

After one semester, he was promoted to elementary principal at Central School. After putting in an eight year tenure, Mr. Martin transferred to Aikman, where he has stayed for the last 18 years.

MR. MARTIN reflected on the changes he has witnessed in his 45 years in the teaching profession. "I think the most noticeable difference is in the curriculum. Nowadays there is so much more than the three R's."

"The areas of teaching have been given quite a bit more variety and flexibility. Naturally there is a greater amount of teaching tools available than there was 40 years ago."

"However, there are some things that never change in the education of children. The key to any successful school system is the quality of its classroom teachers," he said. "I have been most fortunate in that I have had the unequalled pleasure of working with an extraordinary group of teachers. And you have to have a good staff which is dedicated to the job in order to have a high quality school."

Mr. Martin defined the role and responsibilities a school principal acquires. He said, "The principal needs to realize that he is there to serve the students, teachers and parents. He should always demand their respect, but should not become so aloof that he is not available at all times to his staff or students."

"I feel that this availability is frequently overlooked."

THE VETERAN school administrator was born June 25, 1909 in Swain, Ark. When he was seven, his family moved to Maud, Okla. where he met his childhood sweetheart and future wife, Delia.

He attended East Central State Teacher's College in Ada, Okla. and did some graduate work at Oklahoma University. He received his bachelor's degree from West Texas State.

Mr. Martin married Delia, who had paralleled his education throughout the past years, in 1928. They have one son, C.D., who is currently a lawyer in Midland.

Mrs. Martin entered the teaching field with her husband and will be chalking up 45 years also.

Mr. Martin's involvement has not been limited to the local education system. He is a member of the Lions Club and served as president of the organization in 1958. Also, he was recognized as administrator of the year for the 1972-73 school term. The principal has put in two periods as president of Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA).

THOUGHTS OF RETIRING worry Mr. Martin. "You know for two years I've thought about what I'd do when I finally had to quit and I still don't have any concrete plans now that it's here."

"Seems like I've had to punch a time clock for my whole life and I kind of like the idea of living on impulse demands. I think I'll play it by ear."

"I would like to catch up on my hunting and fishing. I've always loved the outdoors, especially the mountains. I'll probably have more time to devote to my gardening and lawn, also."

LOOKING BACK over the past years in the local school system, he said, "I guess my greatest love has been with elementary school people. It's all been great. Things have been smooth-running and I've had a very pleasant time through the years."

He added, "I wish to express my appreciation to the residents of Hereford. It has been a very special privilege to be a part of this community."

"It's a rewarding feeling to have an ex-student come up to you and say hello and you see what a fine adult he grew into."

When asked about the most important elements necessary for a good teacher-student relationship, Mr. Martin replied, "Patience is quite vital." He paused and then added, "But underlying it all there has to be a very real and basic love of children."

A reception honoring D.C. Martin's service to Hereford will be held Sunday from 2-5 p.m. in the Community Center. The citizens of Hereford are invited to attend.

Serves Here For 25 Years

D.C. Martin, principal of Aikman Elementary School, will be retiring after 45 years of service in the education field. He has devoted the past 25 years to being a Hereford elementary school principal. His dedication to local youths will be recognized Sunday from 2-5 p.m. at a reception in Community Center.

More than 45,000 public employees have petitioned Governor Dolph Briscoe to call a special session of the Legislature to consider a salary adjustment for state employees.

At a Capitol news conference, Texas Public Employees Association president Walter H. Looney said the petition calls for an immediate 10.2 per cent adjustment in salary schedules.

He said, "Because of inflation, employees of the State of Texas are taking a cut in pay in terms of real income. State employees need a 10.2 per cent adjustment just to keep pace with inflation which has occurred during the last year."

INTERNATIONALLY recognized wage authority Dr. Ray Marshall, who has completed an extensive study on compensation of Texas public employees, presented some of his findings at the news conference.

"The income position of Texas state employees," he said, "has significantly deteriorated since October, 1968, when average earnings of Texas public employees were 97 per cent of the average earnings of other state employees in the nation. By October, 1974, the average earnings of Texas state employees will be only 84 per cent of the national average."

To bring salaries of Texas employees up to the national average will require an adjustment of 26 per cent during the fiscal year beginning in September, 1975, unless something is done now."

Dr. Marshall is professor of economics at the University of Texas and director of the Center for the Study of Human Resources. He is a consultant to U.S. leaders and foreign nations in the areas of manpower and labor issues.

LOONEY SAID, "We are not asking to make Texas number one among the states in wages paid to state employees. We're simply asking for a cost-of-living increase to prevent the deterioration of buying power through inflation. We believe we're faced with an emergency situation, and we're asking the Governor to do everything in his power to ease the financial strain on the more than 70,000 Texans who are employed to carry out the state's governmental programs."

President's Role Needs Reform

By LLOYD BENTSEN
United States Senator

When George Washington took office, he insisted that "Mr." was a sufficient title for any American, including the President of the United States. Over the years, however, the Office of the Presidency has deviated from the original intent — and I believe it is time to re-examine the role of the President in our system of government.

There is a disturbing trend in the concept of the presidency which started many years ago. This wasn't something just cropped up in the current Administration. And it was as much the fault of the Congress — a failure of Congress to assert its constitutional role, over an extended period of time — as it was the fault of the Executive Branch.

I recognize that it is all too easy for a member of the Senate to take a critical view of the Executive. The adversary relationship between the two was built into our Constitution and the function of government depends on it.

Members of the legislative branch are not expected to always agree with the President — even if they belong to the President's party. But we are expected to respect his concept and conduct of the office.

The concept of the Presidency has been changing over a period of time — and from my viewpoint, much of the change has not been for the better.

The recent turmoil surrounding that office is a clear signal that it is time to re-examine the role of the President in exercising the "just powers" conferred by the consent of the governed.

The President is required to be many things to millions of people. He must be a politician, a Chief Executive, a Commander-in-Chief, an educator and a leader.

SINCE THE early days of our country, the office of the presidency has become more remote, more exalted, more powerful. And it has become more distrusted and feared — both at home and abroad.

Thomas Jefferson walked from his hotel to his inaugural ceremony afterward sat at the cold end of the table at his boardinghouse because no man there would give the new President a place at the warm end. No one thought of yielding his place to the new President, any more than he would have thought of demanding it.

Of course, we cannot go back to the simplicity of the old days. But it is still within the power of the President to set a tone that is in keeping with a democratic society, where hardships and sacrifices are equally shared.

In spite of modern demands for protection and security, Harry Truman was one of our most accessible Presidents. He got his exercise by taking brisk early morning walks through the streets of Washington — followed by a breathless retinue of reporters and a barrage of questions.

He kept his perspective by reminding himself, when faced with crucial decisions, that he was just an average American citizen — who happened to be occupying the Office of the Presidency at that particular time in history.

It is this perspective that needs to be restored and re-emphasized — by an open president, an accessible president, who makes no apology for democracy.

I REALIZE I place a heavy burden on the shoulders of the President, requiring him to be not only Chief Executive and Commander-in-Chief, but skilled politician, analyst, planner, educator, leader and example. And some may wonder if there are any Americans who can fit the job description.

Of course there are — thousands of them. I reject categorically the undemocratic idea that there is only one person in either of our country's political parties who is uniquely qualified for the presidency.

We may have shortages in this country, but there is no shortage of leadership. There is an abundance of talent to be tapped — and, in re-examining our concept of the Presidency, it is important that we take full advantage of it.

Attitude Vital For New Resident

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh of a nine-part series concerning the problems involved in the moving of a family from one town to another. This article relates mainly to the family's adjusting to the new town.)

BY JANIS LOCKHART
Brand Staff Writer

The family has arrived in their new town or city and there is a lot of adjusting in all areas.

There are two choices: 1. Sit back and wait to see if anyone is going to come and offer a welcome, say, "how wonderful it is that you have come to live in their town" or 2. Look at the new place that will be home and say, "I know we will like it and meet people with the thought of, 'There you are and I'm glad to get to meet you,' instead of 'Here I am now make me feel welcome!'"

WITH THE right attitude, people will accept a newcomer much quicker as being part of the community than if he expects more from them than he is willing to give of himself.

When invitations are offered, why not accept? This is a chance to meet and enjoy finding new friends and the only thing lost is a feeling of loneliness.

If the main thing in one's life is to get into the "In" group, or the "Wealthy" group, he may be in for a big surprise.

LOOK AROUND and you may be as lucky as I and find real friends, those that could care less what you have but are just interested in what you are as a person.

It is these people that make leaving a town very difficult. I hope never to lose them as they are the ones that made the town such a wonderful place to live, work, and remember.

Harris To Play Rained Out; In All-Star Tilt Makeup Set

James Harris, Hereford's star running back, has been named to play in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star football game Aug. 1 at the Astrodome in Houston. Complete rosters were recently released, naming Harris, and two other players from the Panhandle, Jeff Cresap of Vega, and Dennis Cobb of Stinnett.

Harris will play for the North squad, under Coach Bill

Shipman of Lewisville. Harris has been named for several awards, including second team All-State, District 4-AAAA Most Valuable Player, and Athlete of the Year at Hereford High.

During the football season, Harris accounted for 2,003 yards of total ball movement; 1,415 yards rushing, four passes caught for 36 yards, not to mention four pass interceptions, most at crucial times. Harris' total scoring was 110 points, or 18 touchdowns, and one conversion. James has signed a letter of intent with Texas Tech.

Jeff Cresap of Vega, a guard, and Dennis Cobb, a quarterback, of Stinnett will also play for the North.

The Hereford Whitefaces were rained out in Lubbock Tuesday afternoon, causing the Herd's baseball season to last one more day than expected.

The first game of a doubleheader against Lubbock High was in the bottom of the second inning when the skies opened up and flooded the playing field. Hereford was trailing 4-0 at the time. The games will be made up, though, with the doubleheader beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday on Lubbock High's field.

The last game of the season had been scheduled as a doubleheader against Lubbock Monterey Friday afternoon at 2:30, and it will be played as planned.

Girls' League Sign-Up Set

Registration for the Girls' Softball League, for girls aged 8 to 15, will be conducted Saturday from 1 to 3 p.m. in the Friendship Room at Hereford State Bank.

The summer program for girls is under the overall program of Kids, Inc. of Hereford. All persons interested in coaching, sponsoring or other participation in the league are invited to attend the sign-up meeting.

There will be a $3 insurance fee for each girl in the program.

ST. PETERSBURG—Terry Lovelace, public relations chief of the St. Louis Cardinals, says the big player swap between Boston and St. Louis last year probably helped both clubs.

"We're happy and think the players we got in that swap will help our club," he said recently at his Al Lang field office.

"When Boston came over here for a game the other day, interestingly, it was our ex-Boston players who won the game for us."

(Boston was red-hot in early Grapefruit League play and that was one of only two defeats in their first dozen games.)

"But the trade will probably be good for both clubs—that's the way it looks right now," Lovelace said.

Athletes Crusade For Christ In Hereford

Athletes in Action visited Hereford Monday, with Ed Mooney of the Washington Redskins and AIA gymnast Daryl Charles witnessing for Christ at Hereford schools and to a group of about 70 at the Bull Barn.

After a morning schedule of programs at Hereford High and the two junior highs, the program moved to the Bull Barn. Bud Eades was master of ceremonies, and he introduced Bobby Owen, Herman Ford, and Rev. Eugene Brink, all instrumental in bringing the crusade to Hereford.

Mooney spoke shortly to the group, relating incidents that have happened to the Athletes in Action on their tours. The organization has eight teams that tour the United States and foreign countries, competing against teams in flag football, wrestling, basketball, weightlifting, track, and gymnastics. The athletes use their talents as a platform to share their faith in Jesus Christ with others.

The gymnast, Daryl Charles, shared his testimony with the group, telling how Christ had influenced his life. Similar programs were presented at the schools.

Mooney and Charles will be joined by several other professional athletes Saturday night at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium in Canyon at 7:30 to take on members of the West Texas State Buffaloes in a flag football game. Halftime ceremonies will include witnessing by the professional athletes.

Coach Attends Clinic; Readies Spring Drills

By DAN WELTY Sports Editor

Hereford head football coach Larry Dippel and defensive coordinator Don Cumpton attended a coaching clinic at Texas Tech in Lubbock Friday and Saturday of last week, picking up a few new ideas and refreshing a few old ones before the Herd starts spring training Monday.

The clinic was run by the Tech football staff, and gave the visiting coaches a chance to observe the Red Raiders in their spring training and final spring scrimmage. The Friday afternoon session lasted five hours, Saturday's morning session about three hours, and then the coaches watched the Tech defense take on the Tech offense.

Coach Dippel pointed out there are differences in the college and high school games, but that by watching the Tech staff in action, he and coach Cumpton were able to "pick up a few things."

Spring training will be a "hunt and peck" time for the Herd. Graduation will rob the team of 28 seniors, and Coach Dippel will have only seven lettermen—three defensive starters and one offensive starter—return next year. "It will be wide open in the spring training. We'll be finding out who can do what and where," says Dippel.

The Herd will stay with the wing-T formation on offense and the Oklahoma 5-2 defensive formation. These are the strategies that took the Herd to the regionals last year, but Coach Dippel is planning on improvements this year.

While at Tech, the Whiteface head mentor and his defensive strategist, Coach Cumpton, talked extensively about the offensive trapping and option game. The Herd used a more complex pro-type wing-T formation last year, but will emphasize the trapping and option game more in spring training.

Looking forward to the District 4-AAAA race in the fall, Coach Dippel says his preseason pick is Lubbock Coronado, followed by Monterey and Plainview. Coronado has the largest number of returning lettermen, which would give them the edge as far as experienced players are concerned. Lubbock Monterey is

ENMU Names Carthel "Greatest Greyhound"

Don Carthel, a three year starter at center for the Eastern New Mexico University football team, has been named the "Greatest Greyhound" for 1974. Carthel, a four-year letterman from Friona, received the award at an awards party sponsored by the Office of Student Affairs and Associated Student Government at Eastern. Greyhound football mentor Jack Scott commented, "Don was the best center I ever had. He was super, and improved his play every season. "Don was definitely a team man," Scott continued. "He did some clutch kicking for us (he doubled as Eastern's place kicker and center) and he is a good student. Don was a tremendous down-field blocker and he teamed with Earl Crisp and Steve Loy to make the best team tri-captains I ever had on my teams."

In 1973, Carthel was the second leading scorer with 20 extra point kicks and five field goals for a total of 35 points. He was the leading scorer in 1972 with 10 extra point kicks and four field goals.

Carthel booted 16 extra points and six field goals in 1971, but during his freshman season he made only one extra point. In all four years at Eastern, he scored 47 extra points and 15 field goals for 92 points.

Next season as a graduate assistant, Carthel will assist Scott with the Greyhound football program. He will graduate with a degree in physical education and math on Thursday.

Stanton Teams Fourth District Track Meet

Stanton Junior High sent three teams to the Panhandle Junior High Athletic League District meet in Canyon last Friday, with each of the grade teams placing fourth in the competition. The ninth-grade team scored 41 points, the eighth-grade team tallied 45, and the seventh-grade team got 42 points. The ninth-grade team was composed of only five boys, so they did not compete in the relay races. James Mays captured first in the 880-yard dash with a 2:07.2 timing. Ruben Moreno placed third in the 220-yard dash, with B. Collins and S. Dryden placing second and fifth, respectively, in the mile run. Placing second in the high jump with a 5'9" leap was Bill Fraser, and Steve Dryden was third in the pole vault. The eighth-grade team won no first places, but Frank Madrigal was second in the 880-yard run with a 2:09.2, an exceptional time for that age. Kelly Kitchens was second in the pole vault, and fourth in the discus, as well as placing 6th in the 70-yard high hurdles. Albert Deltoro placed fourth in the high jump, and fourth in the pole vault, while Greg Hennington was third in chinning and the broad jump. Fifth place in the 50-yard dash went to L. Galvan. Both relay teams placed fifth, with J. Mendoza, L. Galvan, J. McDowell, and G. Hennington running the 440-yard sprint relay, and J. Barrientes, J. McDowell, A. Deltoro, and G. Hennington running the 880-yard relay. The seventh-grade relay teams placed fourth in each of their events: A. Garcia, S. Luna, L. Graves, and J. Mercer ran the sprint relay, and A. Garcia, S. Luna, R. Rodriguez, and K. Bunch ran the 880-yard relay. Jackie Mercer placed third in the 100-yard dash, placed fifth in the high jump, and second in the discus, while Freddy Flores was third in the 880-yard run.

Weather

What is the best weather for the hitter-in baseball? The best kind of day for the hitter, or slugger, in baseball, is the warm, clear day, when the air is light, or when the wind is blowing from the homeplate to the outfield. This weather produces excellent vision, light air, with no handicap of a headwind for the ball being hit. Since warm air is lighter than cold air, a ball will travel just a little further in warm clear air. The batter's vision is best on a clear day. On the other hand, the best weather for a pitcher is a cold, dark day, with the wind blowing from the outfield to homeplate. In such weather the batter's vision will be more restricted, the air will be just a little heavier, and the ball will not travel as far when hit, and the wind will also check its flight.

Local Wells May Face Shutdown

Irrigation wells and pumps in drought-stricken West Texas may soon be forced to close down because of a shortage of lubricating oils, State Representative Bill Clayton (D-Springlake) warned.

Clayton, who recently led a large number of his colleagues in the Texas Legislature to petition the Federal Energy Office for a reassessment of the FEO lube oil priority, stated that while he has been assured that a new priority is being written for agricultural use of lube oil products, the priority change probably will not go into effect until June 1. Clayton cautioned that many areas of the state will be completely out of lubricating oil before the new priority gives them any relief.

To help avoid the possible shutdown of these essential irrigation wells, Representative Clayton reported that he is encouraging all dealers and distributors who are running out of lube oil to contact the Texas Railroad Commission's fuel allocation division in Austin to find out if any additional lubricants may be available in their particular case. The Austin number of this department is 512-475-5491. In addition, Rep. Clayton urged all persons with such problems to contact his Austin office at 512-475-3400.

After conferring with several energy officials and lube oil distributors last week, Rep. Clayton left for Atlanta to meet with the Southern Legislative Conference, of which he is an Executive Board member. At this meeting of legislators from across the southern states, Rep. Clayton pushed for solutions which would bring quicker responses to the problems of energy crisis.

One solution which Rep. Clayton suggested that met with a good response was a proposal that the states push for authority to be allowed to handle their own fuel allocation programs. Many of those in attendance agreed with Rep. Clayton that such a program would work better than the federal allocation program here are some excellent alternative hybrids for High Plains farmers.

Pioneer Brand 8311, the "Golden Bronze Yield Leader," has been our most popular hybrid this year — so popular, in fact, that it may be in short supply in some areas. One reason is that the demand has been so great downstate where 8311's disease tolerance is so important. Fortunately, there are several other Pioneer Brand hybrids that are proven top performers on the High Plains. If you can't get 8311, ask your dealer about these.

PIONEER Brand 8417

This versatile yellow endosperm sorghum is a champion yielder in the medium-late maturity class, for irrigated or non-irrigated land. It has large open heads, uniform head height, strong stalks for easy threshing, good tolerance to smut and anthracnose.

PIONEER Brand 820

This top-notch full-season hybrid, is a consistently high yielder. Excellent drought resistance and standability plus good roots and stalks make it a good choice for irrigated or non-irrigated farming on the plains.

PIONEER Brand 828

One of the highest yielding sorghums you can plant, this full-season hybrid responds well to good management on good land with plenty of water. ~~Plains growers like it because it holds its quality and threshes well even after an early freeze.~~ It produces sturdy stalks with semi-compact heads of dark red grain.

PIONEER Brand 846

Famous for its versatility and adaptability, this medium maturity hybrid yields along with the full-season varieties. Resistant to smut, rust and MDM, its outstanding hybrid vigor and excellent drought resistance help it turn in consistently high yields even under stress.

Petition Pulls For Special Session

News From Austin

AUSTIN, Tex. - Pressure on Gov. Dolph Briscoe to call a special legislative session increased with an appeal by inflation-hit state employees for a $62 million a year emergency pay raise. Forty-five thousand state employees signed a petition addressed to Briscoe requesting a special session on these pay matters:

A 10.2 per cent (three step) increase for classified and hourly workers immediately.

An additional 6.8 per cent (two step) boost for 1974-75 benefitting all employees.

An increase in the per diem travel allowance from $18 to $25 a day.

An increase in the mileage rate paid for use of personal cars on state business from 12 cents to 20 cents a mile.

Texas Public Employees Association represents more than 70,000 state employees.

TPEA President Walter H. Looney said the raises are needed to help keep up with the inflation spiral and catch up with last year's zooming living cost.

If inflation continues at present rate until September, said Looney, soaring prices will have nullified 96 per cent of the wage raises given state classified employees in the last seven years.

Governor Briscoe said he is "concerned" about the employees' problem and will consider it "along with the other priority matters in state government."

The Governor is weighing demands for a special session to provide $200 million in emergency school finance aid to help hold down local property tax increases.

COURTS SPEAK - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals held both criminal and civil penalties can be exacted for water pollution.

A divided State Supreme Court concluded an Abilene fireman, who was fired for declining to take a lie detector test concerning a stolen truck, must be reinstated.

A new trial was ordered by the Court of Criminal Appeals for a 22-year-old man sentenced to 101 years imprisonment for stabbing a drinking companion to death near Brownwood in 1970.

MANUFACTURING FIRMS WIN - Five manufacturing firms won the annual governor's Industrial Expansion Awards for 1973.

Winners were Hi Pro Feeds Inc. of Friona, Datapoint Corporation of San Antonio, Superior Continental Corporation of Brownwood, Owens-Corning Fiberglass Corporation of Waxahachie and the Beaumont Shipyards of Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

Local Chambers of Commerce nominated the winners. Selections were made by the Texas Industrial Commission for civic and economic contributions to communities.

COTTON DEADLINES SET

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White ordered cotton farmers from the Winter Garden area to the coast to complete planting by midnight May 10.

The area is ahead of last year's planting schedule, and some of the counties have reached 99 per cent completion, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

White said cotton planting statewide is 16 per cent complete, compared with nine per cent this time last year.

Estimated total acreage for Texas is 5,933,000 acres, up 10 per cent from 1973. Planting deadlines are fixed as part of the Texas Pink Bollworm Act control program.

White said probability of bollworm infestations is greater this year due to delay in cotton stalk destruction and a mild winter.

FEDERALS HELP - A $195,000 federal Economic Development Administration grant has been awarded to Laredo and Mineral Wells for industrial site development to offset shutdown of U.S. military installations.

Of the total, $89,000 will go to Laredo to help offset loss of jobs through closing of Laredo Air Force Base. The funds will be concentrated on development of industrial sites and to improve transportation and to improve tourism.

Another $90,000 EDA money to ease closure of Fort Wolters at Mineral Wells will be used to conduct a water development study and develop industrial sites in Mineral Wells and Weatherford.

Word of the allocation of the grant came from Al Rodriguez, head of the Technical Assistance Center for the Texas Industrial Commission.

The Industrial Commission also reports that 37 industrial start-up training programs now operating in 29 Texas communities are expected to provide 5,320 new jobs in the state.

APPOINTMENTS - Governor Briscoe has named 12 citizens to a special interim committee to study reorganization and modernization of agencies which administer public education.

They are: Dr. Charles E. Bounds, Austin; Dr. Oliver H. Brown, Austin; Will Davis, Austin; Mrs. Clarence L. Ervin Sr., Lubbock; Dr. L. Harlan Ford, Austin; Dr. Lawrence D. Haskew, Austin; Dr. Irvin A. Kraft, Houston; Mrs. Elza McKnight Jr., Dallas; Rev. Al Moser, Austin; Mrs. Luci Johnson Nugent, Austin; Miss Teresa Pena, El Paso and Dr. Alberto C. Serrano, San Antonio.

CONVENTION DELEGATES TO RETURN - Delegates to the 1974 Constitutional Convention will resume their efforts to draft a revised document May 6, in Austin.

During the convention recess members of the Style and Drafting Committee have been meeting in Austin to polish language in the constitutional articles thus far tentatively approved.

Delegates have until July 31 to finish the constitutional rewrite. That's the date the convention automatically self-destructs.

NEW PUBLICATION - After seven years of research the Texas Water Development Board has published a book discussing application of computer-age technology to the planning of water supplies.

Copies of the report, "Report 183, Analytical Techniques for Planning Complex Water Resource Systems, A Summary Report," are available without charge from the Texas Water Development Board, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas Highway Patrolmen are having their gasoline problems too, but sufficient state funds are available to buy enough of the high priced fuel to get through this and next year.

Wesley L. Hjernevik, former director of administration at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, has joined the State Welfare Department as deputy commissioner for management.

Lloyd G. Wood of Edinburg has been named new president of The Lumbermen's Association of Texas.

Conditions of a road-improper drainage, obstruction, etc.-may be considered a nuisance if the conditions defined in the statute exist with reference to or because of the road or its maintenance. Atty. Gen. John Hill has ruled.

No wonder they never got anywhere! In the dark ages, the study of geography was forbidden!

Sissy Speaks Out On the Issues!

Save Rural Texas

"I believe our rural areas should no longer suffer from the broken promises of those who put political rhetoric over actual performance.

"I believe we must save rural Texas from continuing loss of population, profits, and vitality. I believe some public officials made a great mistake in trying to make rural Texas look more and more like urban Texas.

As Governor, Sissy will:

- propose program for complete tax reform which would encourage the use of rural land for agricultural purposes
- turn the attention of researchers in colleges and universities toward finding the answers to questions about how to make farming in Texas a more profitable business
- propose a program so that the Texas farmer or rancher can get the credit he needs to enter and stay in farming or ranching on a profitable basis.

As the election date of May 4th nears, I would like to express my sincerest appreciation for the kindness shown me during my campaign. I'm sorry that I missed meeting some of you, but I am looking forward to meeting you. I have made every effort to personally meet and talk with each of the voters in Precinct 2. In addition to being very pleasant, these visits have enabled me to learn more about what each of you expect of the county government. As a result, I feel more strongly than ever that I can make a positive contribution for you to the government of Deaf Smith County. When you go to the polls this Saturday, I sincerely hope you will cast your vote for W.H. "Bill" Griffin.

WHY AM I RUNNING FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER?

At present, I am controlling my work hours, but still active with my own company, Griffin Industries, which includes oil well service, business consulting, and cattle feeding operations. Now that I have the time, I would like to focus my experience and qualifications on serving the community in which I live. One of the most impressive characteristics of this area is the constant effort by everyone to prevent needless waste. People around here seems to get the most possible use out of everything. I think the county government should operate on the same principles, which are consistent with my experiences in the industrial, and oil industry. I sincerely feel that my professional training can be put to good use in helping the Deaf Smith County government operate as efficiently as possible.

WHAT ARE MY QUALIFICATIONS?

Although I have never been active in a government capacity, I have always felt, like most people, that government at any level is basically a business operation. With this view in mind, I can offer as qualifications my knowledge of finance, cost analysis, projected statements of operation, economic analysis, personnel relations and management. In addition, my extensive experience in maintenance and operation of all kinds of mobile heavy equipment can be applied effectively to the county's road building and maintenance operations.

In private enterprise, I have been able to use my knowledge and experience successfully, and feel certain that both will prove useful in providing sound, efficient government for the citizens of Deaf Smith County.

Natural Family Planning Idea Is Program Subject

A film and discussion of natural family planning concept will be presented the evening of May 9 in a program open to the public. Mrs. Ray Berend and Mrs. Mark Banner, who attended a seminar on the subject a few weeks ago, will be the leaders.

invited for the program at 8:30 p.m. in St. Anthony's Parish School auditorium. There will be no admission charge.

After the film showing, the ovulation method of family planning, a concept devised by two Australian doctors, will be discussed and questions answered.

All interested residents are

FAREWELL COFFEE — Mrs. O.Z. Golden, center, was complimented with a coffee in Hereford Country Club Saturday when dozens of friends called to say goodbye and wish her happiness in a new home at Del Norte, Colo.,

Tech To Graduate Seven From Here

The Texas Tech University spring 1974 commencement exercises will involve seven Hereford residents when more than 2,000 candidates from the six colleges and the Graduate School will receive degrees.

Weather permitting, the ceremony will begin at 9:30 a.m. May 11 in Jones Stadium. In the event of inclement weather, the exercises will be conducted in the Lubbock Coliseum.

Representing Hereford are: Bryan Douglas Knox, Master's Degree, electrical engineering, 341 Stadium Dr.; Brent Lee Caviness, Bachelor's Degree, management, 142 Nueces; David Dennis Downey, Bachelor's Degree, agricultural engineering, 216 North Texas; Kay Lyman Caviness, Bachelor's Degree, English, 123 Nueces; Linda Kay Brisendine, Bachelor's Degree, home economics education, 607 Ave H; Jerry Lee Odom, Bachelor's Degree, sociology, Rt. 4; Karen Kay Bain, Bachelor's Degree, microbiology, 902 Irving. Eighty-eight graduates of the Law School will receive degrees May 17.

Of the total, 1,651 are candidates for bachelor's degrees, 303 for master's degrees and 74 for doctorates.

Dr. Grover E. Murray, Texas Tech University president, will deliver the commencement address the morning of May 11 at the invitation of the commencement committee, after which recipients of doctor's degrees will be hooded and master's degrees will be recognized. Following the main commencement program each of the colleges will conduct its own graduation ceremony.

The 1974 program implements a new concept for the university for its commencement exercises.

Because no formal graduation exercises were conducted at the conclusion of the fall semester, students who qualified for their degrees in December 1973 are invited to participate.

Grads' Mothers To Meet

Traditional entertainment for Hereford High School graduates of 1974 will be planned at a meeting of class members' mothers at 3:30 p.m. Monday in HHS auditorium. Betty Mercer, class sponsor, urges mothers of all senior students to be present.

Plans are to be made for the senior prom of May 10, and the all-night party for graduates after commencement exercises May 23.

Easter Community Party Set Friday

Easter community residents and their friends will meet for monthly games of 42, refreshments and conversation at the Easter Community Building at 8 p.m. Friday.

Life Of Hero Told By Author

The Warren Wagontrain Raid by Benjamin Capps and Deaf Smith. Incredible Texas Spy by Cleburne Huston are two books being featured this week at the Deaf Smith County Library.

The Warren Wagontrain Raid tells the story of a senior war chief, Satanta, who led a party of more than 100 braves into the North Texas plains. During this time General William Sherman's attitude toward the threat of Indian activity on the frontiers changed greatly; from that time he maintained a very severe stance on the policies that should be used to control the Indians.

In his book, Deaf Smith, Incredible Texas Spy, Cleburne Huston tells the complete story of Erastus Smith, a strange hero who earned a permanent place in the history of Texas.

THE WARREN WAGONTRAIN RAID

For the first time, the story of this important Indian raid has been told in its entirety; the author vividly recreates the incident as viewed by all participants—soldiers, settlers, and three generations of Kiowa Indians.

In May 1871 Satanta, a senior war chief at the height of his power among the Kiowas, led a party of more than 100 braves into the north Texas plains. With him were two other chiefs: Seventy-year old Tsatangya, the most prestigious Kiowa chief, and 22 year old Big Tree, known for his daring in combat.

As Satanta led his warriors toward a point on the Butterfield Trail, a small U.S. military party moved toward the same place. The leader of this group, General William Tecumseh Sherman, was there to determine whether the southwestern frontier was under any serious threat from Indian raiding.

The night after General Sherman's party arrived at nearby Fort Richardson, a wounded civilian staggered into the fort. Indians had ambushed a supply train not 20 miles away, leaving seven men dead and several wounded. Sherman took charge of the pursuit of the Indians, who had vanished into the wilderness with tools, guns, and more than 40 mules.

The general's attitude toward the threat of Indian activity on the frontiers greatly changed during the spring of 1871: from that time he maintained a much more severe stance on the policies that should be used to control the Indians. And it was Sherman who would command the U.S. Army for the next dozen years—the period of the Indian Wars.

DEAF SMITH, INCREDIBLE TEXAS SPY

Handicapped by deafness from childhood, Erastus Smith eventually earned honor and fame in the paradoxical role of scout and spy in the Texas struggle for independence. After spending most of his life in loneliness and obscurity, he was suddenly hurled headlong into the blazing Texas Revolution. He served valiantly with Austin, Bowie, Travis, Milam, Fannin and other Texas immortals before being picked by Sam Houston as his chief scout and spy.

As the "eyes and ears" of boisterous, blundering Texas army, he performed incredible feats, confounding the enemy and providing his Commander-in-Chief with the information necessary for planning the Battle of San Jacinto, resulting in overwhelming victory for the Texans. His destruction of Vince's Bridge assured the capture of Santa Anna, president of Mexico.

Known universally as "Deaf Smith", he became the folk hero of the soldiers and citizens of the new-born Texas Republic. Sam Houston referred to him as "My friend, Deaf Smith, my stay in darkest hour!" Marquis James wrote, in THE RAVEN: considering the tax of the other faculties that deafness imposed upon a scout, the achievements of Smith elude rational explanation."

Here for the first time is published a full biography of this strange hero who earned a permanent place in the romantic history of Texas.

Music Week Plans Made

National Music Week observance, with emphasis on public school musical groups, will begin Sunday, sponsored by Music Study Club. Mrs. Tom Burdett is chairman and Mrs. Wes Fisher co-chairman of plans for the week. Mrs. Allan Cansler is arranging programs. Radio station KPAN will present daily concerts taped by school bands, choruses, orchestra and ensembles. In addition, a Hymn Of The Day will be broadcast at 9:10 a.m. each day.

Few persons can be as tiresome as the individual obsessed with a sense of humor.

Almost anyone can plan but it takes work and intelligence to execute a program.

SWORDS into
PLOWSHARES

We all believe in 'something' so strongly that it governs our entire life. Verbally or physically, we resist all who oppose us.

But angry words and flying fists never really converted anyone... guns can't either. Fighting does not change people very much. Only love can do that.

Isaiah said beat our swords into plowshares and our weapons of war into tools of peace. Let us not confuse or complicate the issue by debating wars.

Nothing could be more vain than trying to stop such monumental clashes. Instead, we should concentrate more on our personal fights and frustrations. For if we, as individuals, can put down our weapons and make peace with our adversaries, then maybe nations will eventually do likewise. After all, nations are made up of individuals like you and me. Why not let real peace begin with us by beating our swords into plowshares and our pruning hooks into implements for peace?

Look Who's New

Residents of Deaf Smith County will be getting a financial uplift during the next month or two by virtue of checks coming to them from Washington.

Most of this cash represents tax refunds due to people in the local area who paid a larger amount in withholding taxes during the past year, through payroll deductions, than they needed to.

On the receiving end, also, will be all persons who are getting Social Security benefits each month. Their current checks are running seven per cent higher than they were in March. In July they will go up an additional four per cent.

All of which means that there will be more spending money available to consumers in the area. Whether they will use it once or will salt it away depends upon their individual attitudes toward present economic conditions.

WITH RESPECT to the forthcoming tax refunds, they will go to some 5,850 persons in Deaf Smith County. It is estimated, and will total about $2,153,000, based upon figures from the Treasury Department as to the size and the number of returns it expects to issue.

The total amount to be refunded, nationally, is a record $22 billion. It will go to some 60 million taxpayers who overpaid in 1973. That is far more than last year.

Their checks will average $361, it is estimated, as against $345 previously.

Together with the $2.4 billion additional that will be going to Social Security beneficiaries, it will mean that about $24.4 billion will be pumped into the economy shortly from these two sources.

ASSUMING THAT Deaf Smith County gets its proportionate share of it, there will soon be approximately $2,390,000 more available to local people.

Just what they will do with it is anyone's guess at this time. The economists themselves are far apart in their forecasts of consumer reaction in this period of spiraling living costs.

The consumers themselves are of two minds. Should they cut down on their spending or reduce their debts or should they buy now before prices go out of sight? Each will decide for himself.

Agencies' Services Supply CWU Topic

Directors of two community programs in Hereford, JoAnn Dwyer of Big Brothers-Big Sisters and Donald Ellwell of the Mental Health Mental Retardation Center, will be speakers to Church Women United at its May Fellowship Day program Saturday in First United Methodist fellowship hall.

Topic of the program is Explore New Paths. The guest speakers will each explain possibilities for service to residents of this area, offered by the respective agencies.

Group discussions will be led by three ministers with Dr.

Jordan Grooms of the host church as coordinator. The other leaders are the Rev. Roger Knapp of United Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Gene Brink of First Christian Church. Conclusions reached by each group will be reported to end the program.

The meeting will begin at 11 a.m. and a covered dish lunch will be served at noon.

Mrs. Joe Frank Huckert will preside for business, featuring the report of a nominating committee for election of 1974-75 officers.

Dennis Lists Heifer Sales

Morgan Dennis of Hereford has sold 15 heifer shorthorns recently to Texas and Oklahoma buyers.

D.M. Granberry, Box 425, Olton, purchased a 2-year-old milking shorthorn, Pan Tex Southern Belle 2d 356157, from Dennis.

Drive For Paper Continues

A drive for paper to be sold for recycling is still underway in the local Teens Against Dystrophy group, and discarded magazines are especially wanted according to Bridget Mazurek, a member. The TAD group raises funds for the national Muscular Dystrophy Association which conducts research to combat the crippling disease.

Any kind of paper and cardboard is accepted in this drive; it should be boxed or bundled and may be taken to either 109 Aspen or 426 Star.

Any residents who wish to join the TAD or assist in its projects is invited to telephone the Sam Mazurek residence, 276-5262, for information.

A dramatic presentation entertained Women's Forum members in the annual Fine Arts program Monday at a covered dish luncheon in Community Center. Mrs. Tom Kendrick and Mrs. John Gilliland were the program guests from Hereford Community Players.

They reviewed a popular new comedy by Neil Simon, Prisoner Of Second Avenue, and read cuttings. Mrs. Jim Bookout, program chairman, introduced the two.

Installation of officers for next term was a feature of this, the last quarterly meeting of the 1973-74 season. Mrs. Sam Long took office as president to succeed Mrs. L.H. Lookingbill Sr., who conducted the installation.

Officers to serve with Mrs.

Long are Mmes. O.G. Hill Sr. and Bruce Brown, vice presidents; Mrs. Sam Morgan, secretary; Mrs. Thurman Atchley, correspondent; Mrs. T.J. Carter, treasurer; Mrs. Bookout, historian; Mrs. A.B. Higgins, reporter; Mrs. Lookingbill will become parliamentarian.

Mrs. W.C. Hromas reported an invoice of flatware for serving meals at Community Center, and the Forum voted to buy pieces needed to complete a service for 100.

Mrs. Ralph McCullough, cheer chairman, asked that each club affiliated with the Women's Forum supply her with a list of its members.

Mrs. G.P. Owen was introduced as a guest with the 30 members present. Hostess clubs were Pioneer Study, Music Study and Hereford Garden Club. Members of the latter club decorated tables with spring blooms from Hereford yards.

Science Teachers Visit Water Workshop Today

Secondary science and social science teachers from 26 counties in the upper panhandle area of the state comprising the Region 16 Education Service Center will attend a one-day teacher training workshop in water quality management today at the region office auditorium located at 1601 South Cleveland Street in Amarillo, according to Bobby Whitefield, Training Coordinator for the Texas Water Quality Board's Environmental Education Program.

The Amarillo workshop will be conducted from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. under the direction of Tom Barra and Jim Caley of the TWQB's Environmental Education Program staff in Austin.

Whitefield stated that the courses are being conducted for schools at no cost to provide basic information and training supplements for teachers who wish to develop units in water quality into their existing curriculums. He said interested teachers should contact Mrs. Allegra Bush at the Amarillo Education Service Center for additional information. More than 40 teachers in the area have already preregistered.

The Region 16 Education Service Center includes schools in the following counties: Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall, Childress, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree and Lipscomb.

Versatile Duo-Harpists Applauded In CCA Concert

The harp, a stately instrument which is seen more than heard in orchestras and rarely played alone, is more versatile than most people expect, the audience at Sunday afternoon's Civic Concert Association program learned.

Duo-harpists Joe Longstreth and John Escosa played no tinkly melodies in slow tempo, but lively folk songs, Irish jigs and even jazz as well as pieces by masters of the baroque period and the French impressionists, including Debussy's Clair De Lune, the composition customarily demanded of harpists by their audiences.

A responsive audience, with a number of visitors from Canyon and Clovis CCA groups, applauded every selection, also informal remarks by the two artists about their instruments which are not generally familiar. At the end of the program they invited interested persons to the stage for a closer view of the harps and questions about them.

The rapport established by the performers with their hearers added to enjoyment of the concert, in which both played solos in addition to the two-harp numbers. A further demonstration of their versatility was the performance of an original composition by Escosa, titled Trompe L'oeil.

This was the last program of the current season for Hereford CCA.

Commission Condemns Gambling Proposal

Larry Mathis and the promoters of legalized gambling in Texas are "guilty of the worst sort of deliberate deception in their advertising," Dr. James Dunn said.

Dunn, secretary of the Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission, underscored his opposition to legalized parimutuel gambling in Texas as he rapped Mathis, a director of Texas Citizens for Parimutuel Racing.

"Their emphasis upon horse racing ignores the fact that racing horses is as legal as baseball in Texas today," Dunn said, noting proponents of gambling largely have ignored the gambling aspect to make an attempt to pitch the May 4 referendum on "legalized" horse racing.

Texans will vote in the Republican and Democratic primaries next Saturday on the matter of parimutuel betting on horse racing, not on horse racing itself, Dunn emphasized.

"Horse racing is legal in Texas. Gambling isn't," he added.

Dunn also struck at what he called "the local option myth which is perhaps more dangerous than the deceptive advertising."

"Common sense indicates that Texas would have no more than four or five race tracks in major cities. This leaves more than 200 counties to suffer a dollar drain and gain nothing," Dunn said.

off legal gambling, but the vast majority of the businessmen would lose to the tracks. How does any grocer, druggist, clothier, doctor or insurance man gain by giving gamblers a chance in Texas?" Dunn pondered.

"Ordinary self interest demands that citizens in the 225 or more counties that would be the biggest losers strongly oppose betting on horses," he added. The secretary of the social-action arm of the 2-million member Baptist General Convention of Texas, added: "Crime is not a local option matter. It cannot be contained by county lines. All Texans would suffer from this so-called local option gambling," Dunn said.

He also commented: "Most parents want what is best for their families. Every voter who understands the full impact of state sanctioned gambling will vote against it for his own best interests. Texas Baptists are clearly on record in opposition to gambling. The best and highest moral reasoning calls us to work vigorously for its defeat May 4."

By BOB HILL
Lentz, Newton & Co. Amarillo
The U.S. airlines fly trillions of miles every year and their accident record is one of the best in the world. This is why airline accident insurance for the traveler is so inexpensive. The accident rate is extremely low for the number of miles flown.

During the time when all these miles are being flown accident free, the airlines are also carrying over 2-billion tons of hazardous cargo every year. Hazardous cargo includes radioactive isotopes, explosives, flammable and corrosive chemicals. In all those miles that have been flown there have been only three known incidents where passengers may have been endangered by hazardous cargo.

TWO WEEKS AGO officials learned that passengers on an airline serving the Eastern seaboard may have been exposed to radiation from improperly packed radioisotopes es carried in the baggage compartments of aircraft. Of greater concern is the amount of exposure of some 50 ground personnel who were in close contact with the isotope container. A reading of 900 Roentgens was recorded within six inches of the container when the leak was discovered. A dose of 500 Roentgens over a period of one hour can be fatal. This is only the second known case of possible radiation exposure aboard a commercial airliner. Passengers on a flight of the same airline in 1971 may have been exposed but there have been no apparent injuries. A crash of a cargo jet in 1973 may have been caused by leaking acid from an improperly packaged shipment. That accident plus the two radiation incidents has caused an uproar among the airline pilots who have asked the FAA to impose a ban on the shipments of all hazardous materials on passenger aircraft.

Life is the art of drawing sufficient conclusions from insufficient premises.

Responsibility for regulating the shipment of hazardous materials is under the Transportation Department and, while Congress is preparing to investigate the latest incident, the accident-free record of shipments of hazardous materials stands as one of the outstanding accomplishments of the U.S. airlines.

ASIAN OIL CUT

The Senate passed a $73.3 billion defense appropriation bill after voting to cut off military petroleum shipments to Southeast Asian governments. Sen. Norris Cotton (R-N.H.) said the Pentagon was shipping 22,000 barrels of oil per day to Vietnam and 1,550 barrels to Cambodia.

TROOPS RETURN

The Navy announced that half the U.S. Marines stationed in the Mediterranean during the Middle East crisis have been called home. Approximately 1,800 men of the 34th Marine Amphibious Unit were returned.

ON SOCIAL SECURITY

The Senate and House passed an 11 per cent Social Security increase. The increase would take effect in two steps: 7 per cent in the March check due April 3, and 4 per cent starting with the June check payable July 3.

Mrs. Lauderback To Head Veleda

With Mrs. Armon Lauderback as president, officers for 1974-75 were elected in Veleda Study Club Tuesday evening at a meeting in Mrs. J.D. Gilbert's home, and a program on Quilts was given by Mrs. George Olson.

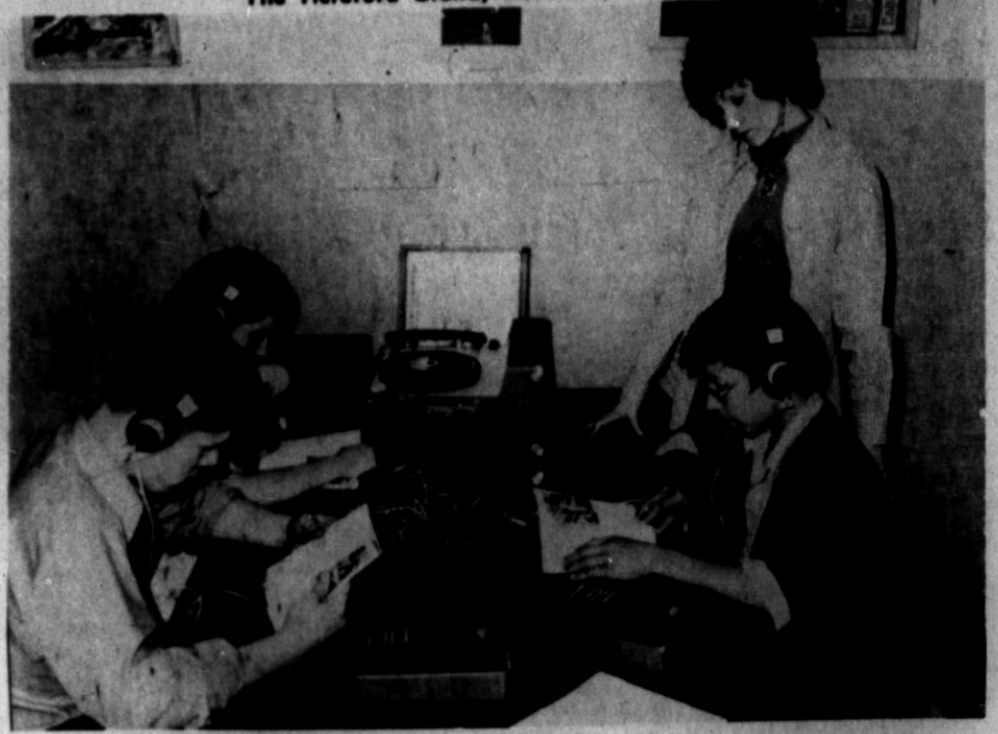

Other officers who will work in the new administration are Mrs. Bill Walden, vice president; Mrs. Gilbert, secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Ruther, correspondent; Mrs. Howard Birdwell, treasurer; Mrs. Gwynne Owen, historian.

"Quilts are little patches of love in history," Mrs. Olson said as she spoke of the renewed popularity of the handmade coverlets for home decorating.

The patchwork quilt is a true American art, she continued, showing and discussing patterns evolved by pioneer women as they pieced quilts for the practical purpose of keeping their families warm.

She said the dictionary definition of a quilt as two layers of cloth filled with wool, cotton or down and held in place with a stitched design, could be expanded by saying that "a quilt is filled with love and beauty and stitched with history."

Members enjoyed seeing the hostess' new home during the social program. Others present at the meeting were Mmes. Bill Bradley, Gid Brown, Hugh Clearman, Richard Ottesen, John Poindexter, George Ritter, Billy W. Sisson, Glenn Watts and Frank Zinser Jr.

'Need to Read'

Mrs. Judy Birdsong, reading teacher at LaPlata Junior High School, is instructing seventh grade students during a reading class. Students, left to right, are Sammy Aguilar, Benjy Kirby and Brenda Tackiff.

The Lonely Heart

Class Stresses Reading

All seventh grade students at La Plata Junior High, are enrolled in what could be their last formal classroom instruction in the subject of reading.

The importance of the ability to read cannot be emphasized enough. The ability to read by grade seven may be taken for granted by some, but such is not the case in the Hereford school system.

Remediation as well as enrichment is part of the carefully planned curriculum.

In one reading class at La Plata Junior High, being taught by Mrs. Judy Birdsong, the physical facilities are well utilized. The somewhat larger room is partially filled with tables and chairs rather than the typical student desks. This allows the teacher more flexibility in working with small groups. Reading carrels are present for individual study.

Other items within the classroom are tape recorders with earphones, a film strip previewer, controlled reader, and a "Language Master."

There is at least one unique object in the room, a bath tub. Mrs. Birdsong uses it successfully as a motivational tool. The only requirement for using the tub is that an individual must be reading at all times. Its color is bright yellow, covered on the inside with multi-colored carpet, an innovative creation by Mrs. Birdsong.

At the beginning of each year, in order to plan a reading program, each individual student is given a diagnostic test. Some tests available are—the Nelson, Stanford, and San Diego. The test is used to find the grade-level at which a student is reading.

Mrs. Birdsong is very clear in stating; however, that testing or reevaluation goes on throughout the year so that a student does not become locked into only one reading level. Students are continually conferring with her, enabling them to choose materials which will assure growth and success. Freedom to choose their own reading materials, encourages students to become better readers.

The class receives a local newspaper twice a week and a daily paper once a week to supplement their various other materials. Some of those other materials are the Bomar Series, SRA, Gates-Pearson Educational Study Skills, Barnell Loft and Turner-Livingston with titles such as "The Friends You Make," etc. In addition the class visits the school library once a week in order to read for pleasure.

The reading program is enhanced by Mrs. Birdsong allowing the students to form their own study groups in class. She states that this practice is continued until one or more of the students prove to her that they can not work constructively with that group.

Mrs. Birdsong states that one of her greatest frustrations is that everyone expects a seventh grader to be able to read. A few by that time have become such good "pretenders" that it is difficult to recognize their specific problems.

When a better diagnostic program is enacted, and as the reading program grows some of these frustrations will be alleviated.

'Girls Of Year' Revealed In BSP

Girl Of The Year awards for each chapter of Beta Sigma Phi were presented at the annual Founders Day Dinner Tuesday evening at Dickie's Restaurant. Recipients were chosen by secret vote of the members earlier this spring.

Mrs. Edward Allison was chosen in Kappa Iota Chapter, Mrs. Ken Waiser in Alpha Iota Mu, Mrs. Ken Wiley in Xi Epsilon Alpha and Mrs. Howard Gore in Alpha Alpha.

Mrs. Max Stipe, president of the City BSP Council which is hostess for the dinner each year, was master of ceremonies for the program marking the 43rd anniversary of the founding of the sorority which is now an international organization.

Presidents of the four Hereford chapters each gave a resume of the year's activities. Mrs. R.J. Cramer read a letter from Walter W. Ross of Kansas City, son of the founder and present head of the sorority.

With Mrs. Jim Cramer at the organ, Mrs. Maxie Horton sang a prize-winning BSP song titled "What Color Is Love?"

Dinner was served buffet style to 48 members.

Defines Courage

"IT TAKES COURAGE:
To live according to our convictions.
To be what you are and not pretend to be what you are not.
To say 'No' squarely and firmly when those around say 'Yes'.
To refuse to do a thing which is wrong, although others do it, or it is customary or in trade.
To stay home evenings and try to improve yourself when your comrades spend their evenings having a good time.
To remain in honest poverty while others grow rich by questionable methods which you could easily use yourself.

To refrain from gossip when others about you delight in it.
To stand up for an absent person who is being abused.
Not to bend the knee to popular prejudice, but stand firmly erect while others are bowing and fawning for praise and power."

Club Thanks Commission

In an effort to start a campaign to get the Community Center functioning once again as it was proposed in the beginning, it was necessary for us to meet with the City Commissioners. We would like to take this opportunity to thank each one of them for the cooperation they gave us and for receiving us so graciously.
We are pleased to see that the Chamber of Commerce and some of the Women's Clubs are also interested in the activities of the Community Center. We would like to urge other clubs and interested groups to get behind this worthwhile effort that we might have a place to have some planned recreation.

Sincerely,
Veleda Study Club
Mrs. Gwynne Owen,
secretary

ART SHOW PLANNED — These art pupils of Anna Kovacs put the finishing touches on paintings which will be exhibited Sunday afternoon from 1:30 - 6 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church Fellowship Hall. The public is invited to view works of Mrs. Kovacs and her students, who range from second graders to adults over 65.

Electrical Trades Raises Potential

Today in the automation age numerous jobs are requiring more dependable and well experienced young men and women.

New fields are developing every day. One of those openings is in electrical trades. Electrical trades is one of the highest paying jobs available for experienced youth. In this program students are taught not just the trade but a way of better communication with one another.

This is one of the courses available at Hereford High. It is not a course by itself but a branch of the vocational education program. It is a state approved credit pending upon restrictions. These are, that a student must be at least 16 years of age and have completed two full years of the course. The electrical trades department has a setup on the class hours in that the student have a three hour class both years totaling 1,080 hours.

Just like any club there are of course dues, which are only $2.90 per year and it is mandatory that the student has completed at least two years of related math, also available at Hereford High School.

The Electrical Trades Department competes in district, state and national competition with their various special projects they have completed. In the way of special projects a "sort of library" is available for reference. The students may use these books for ideas or take ideas directly from them. All tools and equipment are furnished for their use as their needs demand.

Approximately 25 students are presently enrolled in electrical trades among which the president is Richard Cavazos.

Students are not, however, licensed when they complete this course, they have completed two years which is equal to one year of apprenticeship. The city of Hereford requires four years apprenticeship before becoming a journeyman. The standard pay for an apprentice is by the hour $3.90 and for a journeyman $7.80.

The man who sponsors this is Ed Warren. The students seem to work better and get more out of the class if they are not constantly reminded of the rules.

Students can "really find a true person in Warren." He would like to be to others as he is to his students "a pastor, counselor, neighbor and friend."

One of the most important things electrical trades teaches is how to fix electrical devices. They will fix what is brought to them for $1 plus parts.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

IT WAS right interesting to me to read a piece in a church bulletin not long ago by a minister who suggested that something might be done to bridge the generation gap, at least in church, by stopping the practice of dividing everything up into such definite age groups.

He noted that adults and youth and children were channeled into their different activities at church and further subdivided so that an eight year-old boy didn't have to submit to the indignity of being in the class with a seven-year-old much less sit in the same auditorium with a parent.

He might have added that the system goes on so that women in their 30's refuse to stay in a Ladies Aid circle if a few women over 50 are members.

And that isn't confined to churches; it is the bane of women's clubs, which find that their members tend to grow old together and can get new members only in their own age group, so finally the organization just fades away from old age.

SOCIOLOGISTS sometimes deplore the fact that families no longer embrace three or four generations, so children don't have the advantage of being familiar with their grandparents in their own home, as was customary until the last few decades. Organizations just continue that trend.

But if the minister doesn't remember, I do, that 35 or 40 years ago churches were leaders in the idea of "closely graded" Sunday School classes to separate children into their own age groups, so that even small churches like one I attended, struggled to get teachers for classes with three or four members because it horrified the youngsters of 11 years to be put in a class with "those little kids" only 10.

All youth organizations have trouble with this concept, it seems to me, with the kids so imbued with the idea of associating only with others their own age that it's difficult to get a crowd for some activity that's intended "for younger teenagers" or some such designation. The 14's are afraid a 13 will get in.

Maybe this lifestyle is all to the good but I share the preacher's thought that it breeds generation gaps—and not just between children and parents. If churches can do something to turn the tide, more power to 'em.

FIRST PLACE in a showing of photography by students in Sam Houston State University at Huntsville was won by James Corbett, formerly of Hereford, in the color division. He is the son of Annis and Paul Corbett, Harrison Highway.

Titled Country Reflections, his photograph is of a traditional red barn reflected in a small pond. Looking at a picture of the prize winner in the university newspaper, a friend asked Annis if the photograph was made in this area.

"It couldn't be," was the answer; "There's water in it!" Corbett, incidentally, is a graduate student in SHSU, with a bachelors degree from North Texas State University.

ELECTED secretary of Sub-T-16 men's social club at Lubbock Christian College, David Wiggins will serve during the 1974-75 school year. He is the son of the Chester Wiggins of Hereford, and a freshman business major at LCC. He graduated from Hereford High last spring.

Mother Of Bob Veigel Is Buried

Funeral services for Mrs. Ardella Burris Veigel, 89, of Plainview, mother of Robert Veigel of Hereford, were conducted Wednesday afternoon in Grace Presbyterian Church of Plainview by the Rev. John Hill, pastor. Burial was in Plainview Cemetery.

Mrs. Veigel died Tuesday morning in a convalescent home at Plainview. She had been a resident of that city since 1949 and previously lived in Floyd and Hale Counties. Born in Cambridge, Ohio, she married Charles R. Veigel in 1909. He died in 1967.

In addition to the son and a grandson, Bobby Veigel, in Hereford, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Mabel Lott of Plainview and a brother, Homer Burris of Cambridge.

Moving a BILLION of anything is a big job

A new Santa Fe record:
Moving a BILLION bushels of grain in 20 months

The BILLIONTH BUSHEL was moved on March 20, 1974, and car 312567 at the FAR-MAR-CO elevator, Hutchinson, Kansas, broke the banner symbolizing this event.

"To give recognition to the movement of the BILLIONTH BUSHEL of grain over the Santa Fe in a twenty-month period, Miss Kansas Wheat joined me at Hutchinson, Kansas, March 20, 1974.

When this record grain movement started in mid-1972, many predicted the rail industry would not be able to handle the job. Despite no advance warning and severe problems of port congestion that hampered the handling of cars with export wheat, Santa Fe and many other railroads have set records of moving grain while keeping other traffic rolling.

This great transportation job was accomplished by skillful, dedicated Santa Fe people, and through the wonderful cooperation of all shippers. Grain continues to move in a big way and a bumper crop is expected at harvest time. That is why we are now hard at work planning ways to apply Santa Fe facilities and resources to move increasing volumes of traffic this year without serious car shortage."
