Survey shows rise in child abuse deaths

CHICAGO (AP) - Drug use in major U.S. cities is fueling the rise in child abuse, which killed more than 1,200 youngsters in 1988, a survey shows.

"It's hard to think of treating the problem of child abuse before treating the problem of drug abuse," said Leslie Mitchel, co-author of a survey released Thursday by the Chicago-based National Committee on the Prevention of Child Abuse.

Child abuse deaths rose 5 percent in 1988 to 1,225, compared with 1,163 deaths the year before, the committee said in its annual report on child abuse. The report was based on a 50-state survey.

More than 2.2 million child abuse reports were filed nationwide last year, about 3 percent more than in 1987, the committee estimated, using data from 41 states and the District of Columbia. Data from other states were unavailable, said the committee, which gathered statistics by telephone from the federal liaisons for child abuse and neglect in each state.

Of the 32 states that could provide information about problems linked to child abuse, 22 cited substance abuse "as the dominant characteristic among their caseloads," the report said.

"In the District of Columbia, for example, almost 90 percent of the caretakers reported for child abuse are active substance abusers," the committee said. "While nationwide, the percentage of cases involving substance abuse has historically remained at 30 percent to 40 percent, the current population includes a greater number of more violent and dependent drug addicts."

Ms. Mitchel, who wrote the 21-page report with Deborah Daro, said state representatives "wished they could go back to the days of heroin and marijuana," rather than having to cope with cocaine and its powerful derivative, crack.

Addictions to cocaine are "more expensive to maintain," so the parents' attention is focused on getting the drug, and the dependency itself consumes their time," Ms. Mitchel said.

Abusers tend to be "off in another world," and more likely to neglect their children, she said.

Katie Bond, a spokeswoman for the Denver-based American Association for Protecting Children, which gathers child abuse statistics for the federal government, said the new findings are probably on target.

"We always come up with approximately the same figures," she said.

But increasing reports of child abuse and fatalities have not resulted in more money to combat the problem, the committee's report said.

"In 1988, only 12 states received increases in their child welfare budgets, and the majority of these funds merely provided for cost of living increases," the report said.

The committee recommended:
- Increasing child welfare budgets to provide better investigation of child abuse reports and better resources to solve the problem.

- Adding hot lines and crisis intervention services.

- Expanding educational and support services to pregnant women and new parents.

Mayor proclaims special day

Mayor Wes Fisher is called upon to proclaim many special days or weeks during the year and, at the urging of friends and supporters, he has proclaimed Saturday as "Wes Fisher Day" in Hereford. Four of Fisher's closest friends joined the Mayor as he formally signed the proclamation, which salutes Fisher as the "top proclaimer in city history," surpassing the record set by former mayor Bartley Dowell. The proclamation expresses appreciation to Fisher for the time spent in penning proclamations and posing for photos. See Page 2 for further details on the precedent-setting event.

Seed bank system working out problems

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's seed bank system, shown in a three-month investigation by The Associated Press as beset with storage and political problems, is already making changes, prodded by a lawsuit by prominent biotechnology critic Jeremy Rifkin.

Rifkin, who has won several landmark court battles to regulate gene splicing, filed the suit eight years ago in an attempt to force the USDA to disclose the severity of the problems in the seed banks.

Henry L. Shands, national germplasm leader at the USDA, said the suit has prompted the preparation of an operating manual covering management of seeds of major crops.

The manual, a draft of which is expected to be completed later this year, provides that the germplasm system would for the first time "have a procedure and have it out on the table so that Rifkin or anyone else can inspect it."

Rifkin chose an unusual legal strategy, charging that the failure to properly protect the collections in the seed banks was causing the loss of often-irreplaceable seed samples and thus harming the environment.

Therefore, he argued, the USDA should be required to file an environmental impact statement. Rifkin hoped that would disclose the severity of the system's troubles.

Final arguments in the suit have been heard and a decision is expected soon, Rifkin said.

"Germplasm is as critical to the age of biotechnology as oil, natural gas, coal and metals were to the industrial age," he said.

"The U.S. germplasm system has been a failure from top to bottom for 10 years. ... This is an attempt on our part to force the government to respond."

Credit union celebrates successful '88 Thursday

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

The Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union celebrated a good 1988 at its annual membership meeting Thursday at the Hereford Community Center.

"We are a vibrant and healthy organization, thanks to our members," said Joe Kerr, president of the board. "We had an exceptionally fine year."

The total assets of HTFCU increased 10 percent to $20.7 million, with an 11 percent increase in deposits to $19.6 million.

During 1988, HTFCU's loans jumped 40 percent, to $11.6 million.

Kerr detailed for the members how the Credit Union's assets have increased, from $8.6 million in December 1977 to $14.5 million in December 1985 to the $20.7 million on last December 31.

Brenda Fuentes, an account executive, was honored as the employee of the year by HTFCU manager Bob Baker.

The crowd was entertained by "Flashback," Hereford school band instructors James Maclasley, Don Summersgill, Mike Bryant and Joe Rogers. Baker presented the group, which performs music from the 50s and 60s, with a contribution to go to the DARE program, a joint effort by the Hereford schools and the Hereford Police Department to combat drug use.

Grassfire woes continue here

By KAY PECK
Staff Writer

The hazard from grass fires continues to be critical with the dry season turning area pastures into tender waiting for the flame.

A smattering of rain on Monday didn't help dry conditions across the county. The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department has been called to nine grass fires during the past week. In almost every instance, the fire was started by careless burning of trash or stubble.

Hereford Fire Marshal Jay Spain said now is not the time for open fires.

"A lot of people are doing open burning, and they're not thinking about the cost to the city and county," said Spain.

Even if a grass fire causes only minor damage, the fire is not without its expense.

"Every time we roll out of here, it costs the taxpayers," Spain said.

The risk of fire is increased by the spring winds. A rush of wind through the county Thursday helped spread three grass fires.

"A norther blew in last night. That's when it all got started," Spain said.

In about one hour's time, Hereford volunteer firemen were called to three different fires. Firemen were still responding to a call to Progressive Road at a location south of Austin Road when a second fire was reported approximately 24 miles northwest of Hereford on the Willis Dugan place.

Firefighters were still fighting the Dugan fire when a third fire was reported on the Dimmitt cutoff a mile south of U.S. Highway 60.

Two of Thursday's three fires were attributed to farmers burning stubble. The third was believed to have been caused by a short in an electric fence.

"It's not going to get better until it rains," Spain said. "Nobody should be burning anything."

Dry conditions have upped the number of calls made by the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department. As of today, Hereford firemen had responded to 112 fires in 1989. If just one call is made before the close of the day, the number of fire calls made in the first three months of 1989 will exceed the record breaking 1988 account from the same period. A total of 112 calls were made in January through March, 1988.

"It was dry last year, same as it is this year," Spain said.

In contrast, 97 calls were made in January-March, 1987; 97 calls in January-March, 1986; and 82 calls in January-March, 1985.

State wants to close 'black hole' in rural healthcare

AUSTIN (AP) - "Black holes" in rural health care - places devoid of even basic services - must be closed and state lawmakers must act to keep the problem from growing, a legislative task force report says.

"Thousands of rural Texans are denied even basic health care, let alone health care approaching the standards found in urban areas," said the report. "Most affected are pregnant women, the fixed-income elderly and the indigent."

Several House and Senate members gathered Thursday to announce support for a House measure that would include several of the task force suggestions, which they said are badly needed.

"Those who are too sick, too old, too poor ... that's the ones that we are trying to help," said state Rep. Mike McKinney, D-Centerville, who said he is the only physician in a large area. McKinney said 53 Texas counties have no hospital and 14 counties, with a total of 23,000 residents, have no physician. He said emergency room and obstetrics care are becoming scarce in many areas.

Texas has lost 66 hospitals since 1984, according to the task force report.

"If you show up in Leon County with an emergency, I'm your neurosurgeon. I'm your chest surgeon ... until I can get some help," McKinney said. "The impact of that is it's hard to keep good doctors in the county because they're overworked." Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, said the task force report was "a bit of a scary outcome," because services keep declining in rural areas. He urged lawmakers to pass the recommendations this session.

"Even during the course of our study we saw hospitals close," Brooks said. He said such legislation would be "one of the most significant things we will do for health care in this year or many years to come."

McKinney said an 80-page bill sponsored by several House members is scheduled for hearing Monday before the Committee on Public Health.

Some of the proposals are:
- Pay rural hospitals the same Medicaid supplements as city hospitals.

- Provide student loans for rural health care students.
- Develop a statewide trauma center system.

- Limit liability of medical malpractice for doctors in remote areas.

McKinney said insurance premiums are "escalating beyond belief," making it "almost impossible" to recruit county doctors, who often have to deliver treatments outside their specialties and thus often are exposed to malpractice suits.

Federally regulated Medicaid payments are "blatantly unfair" to rural doctors and hospitals, McKinney said. The task force recommended the Legislature urge Congress to equalize the payments.

Another problem is lack of coordination between state agencies governing health, which also should study the impact of their policies on rural medical care, McKinney said.

Exxon fires captain of grounded ship Investigation indicates skipper was legally drunk

VALDEZ, Alaska (AP) - The captain of the oil tanker Exxon Valdez is out of a job today because a federal investigation showed he was legally drunk after his ship ran aground, causing the nation's biggest oil spill.

Capt. Joseph Hazelwood was fired Thursday for violating company rules that ban alcohol on its ships, said Exxon Shipping Co. Inc. President Frank Iarossi.

"We are all extremely disappointed and outraged that an officer in such a critical position could have jeopardized his ship, his crew and the environment through such actions," Iarossi said.

The federal government, meanwhile, said it will not take over the spill cleanup, but will monitor the environmental damage. The tanker ran aground on a charted reef March 24, dumping 10.1 million gallons of oil into Prince William Sound.

Coast Guard Commandant Paul Yost, one of three senior officials who made a fact-finding trip to the spill site, said it was "almost unbelievable" that the ship strayed outside a 10-mile wide shipping lane to run aground.

"This was not a treacherous area, not treacherous in the area where they ran aground," Yost said in Washington on Thursday. "It's 10 miles wide. Your children could drive a tanker up through it."

Hazelwood was the skipper of the 987-foot tanker, but he was not on the bridge when the ship hit Bligh Reef a half-mile outside normal shipping lanes. The ship had just left the Port of Valdez, loaded with crude oil from the trans-Alaska pipeline.

On Thursday, crude oil covered about 600 square miles of the sound once considered one of Alaska's most beautiful marine habitats.

A blood test administered more than nine hours after the accident showed Hazelwood had a blood-alcohol level of 0.061, said William Woody, head of a National Transportation Safety Board team investigating the spill. The Coast Guard limit for operating a commercial vessel at sea is 0.04, Woody said.

Coast Guard Lt. Ed Wieliczekiewicz said investigators did not know whether the captain consumed alcohol after the boat hit the reef and could have been sober at the time the vessel ran aground. The accident occurred shortly after midnight March 24, and the Coast Guard arrived between 2 a.m. and 2:30 a.m.

"We don't know," Wieliczekiewicz said, adding the Coast Guard also cannot say whether an observer was with Hazelwood at all times after the accident.

Iarossi said Hazelwood, 42, was fired in a notice sent to his Huntington, N.Y., home. Exxon and Coast Guard officials said they did not know his whereabouts. A telephone call to Hazelwood's residence early today was answered by a recording.

Hazelwood has been arrested twice for drunken driving and had his license suspended three times.

Third mate Gregory Cousins, who was piloting the ship without certification when it ran aground, showed no signs of alcohol, nor was there any indication of alcohol in tests administered to helmsman Robert Kagan, Woody said.

President Bush on Thursday called the spill "a major tragedy" and after being briefed by three senior administration officials who had just returned from Alaska predicted that the cleanup effort "will not be easy."

The president backed away from considering a federal takeover of the cleanup operation, a possibility he had mentioned on Monday.

"It seems inevitable that there will be a very substantial impact, particularly on the habitats of sea otters and sea lions," said William Reilly, administrator of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. The government also will monitor salmon and herring fisheries, he said.

Tugboats maneuvered a second empty tanker, the Exxon San Francisco, alongside the grounded Exxon Valdez to unload the remaining 520,000 barrels from the vessel. A barrel is 42 gallons.

Donation for DARE

Joe Rogers, left, a music instructor at Hereford High School, accepts a donation for the DARE program from Bob Baker, manager of the Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union, at Thursday annual HTFCU meeting. The DARE program teaches drug resistance to youngsters in the Hereford schools. Rogers and other music instructors, as the "Flashback" group, performed music from the 50s and 60s at the meeting.

EPA adds three sites to priority cleanup list

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Environmental Protection Agency has added three hazardous waste sites in Texas to its Superfund list for priority clean-up, meaning work can begin to remove the contaminants.

The sites, which had already been proposed for Superfund status, are identified as Brio Refining Inc. in Friendswood, Sheridan Disposal Services in Hempstead, and Industrial Transformers (Sol Lynn) in Houston.

Roger Meacham, EPA spokesman in Dallas, said all three sites are ready to enter the so-called "construction" phase, in which actual removal of toxins begins.

Texas has 28 sites either proposed for Superfund status or actually on the list. While a site is proposed for the Superfund, the EPA can assess the extent of the contamination and design a remedy to remove the contaminants, Meacham said Thursday.

According to EPA documents, the Brio Refining site was operated as an oil refinery until the company went bankrupt in 1982. Large-scale biotreatment and incineration demonstration studies have been conducted at the site.

The EPA announced in January 1988 that its proposed remedy would be incineration, but would consider biotreatment if it could be shown to be effective in removing toxins.

Industrial Transformers (Sol Lynn) is an abandoned transformer reclamation and chemical supply company. Three lots as well as the groundwater were contaminated by trichloroethene and polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs), the EPA said.

The agency said it is negotiating with a potentially responsible party regarding implementation of a chemical dechlorination process to treat the contaminated soils. Design work on removal of the soil contaminants should be completed in 1990.

The EPA decided in September 1988 to pump and treat the contaminated groundwater. Sheridan Disposal Services in Waller County is an abandoned waste disposal facility.

A 22-acre sludge lagoon, 40-acre evaporation landfarm and incinerator were utilized for waste disposal, the EPA said. The sludges contain high concentrations of volatile organic compounds, benzene, trichloroethylene, toluene and PCBs, the EPA said.

EPA said it has decided to treat the contaminated sludges and soils, and is negotiating with the Sheridan Site Committee, a group of potentially responsible parties, on the clean-up funding. A report on possible groundwater contamination is expected to be ready for public comment this summer, EPA said.

The Superfund law gives the government the power to sue former owners to recover the costs of cleanup or to force them to take action.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, March 31, the 90th day of 1989. There are 275 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

One hundred years ago, on March 31, 1889, French engineer Alexandre Gustave Eiffel unfurled the French tricolor from the top of the Eiffel Tower in Paris, officially marking its completion. Eiffel's work, however, was denounced by artists, composers and authors who signed a petition condemning the Tower as a "horrid nightmare" that resembled "a huge, black factory smokestack."

On this date:

In 1831, Quebec and Montreal were incorporated as cities.

In 1870, Thomas Peterson Mundy cast a ballot in a municipal election in Perth Amboy, N.J., becoming the first black to vote following ratification of the Fifteenth Amendment.

In 1880, Wabash, Ind., became the first town to be completely illuminated with electrical lighting.

In 1917, the United States took possession of the Virgin Islands from Denmark.

In 1923, the first dance marathon in the United States, held in New York City, ended with Alma Cummings setting a world record of 27 hours on her feet.

In 1932, Ford Motor Co. publicly unveiled its "V-8" engine.

In 1933, during the Great Depression, Congress authorized the Civilian Conservation Corps.

In 1943, the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical "Oklahoma!" opened on Broadway.

In 1949, Newfoundland entered confederation as Canada's tenth province.

In 1953, the United Nations Security Council nominated Dag Hammarskjold of Sweden to become Secretary-General.

In 1968, President Lyndon B. Johnson stunned the country by announcing in a broadcast address that he would not run for another term of office.

In 1976, the New Jersey Supreme Court ruled that Karen Anne Quinlan, in a coma for almost a year, could be disconnected from her respirator. Quinlan, who remained in a coma, died in June 1985.

In 1980, former track and field star Jesse Owens, hero of the 1936 Berlin Olympics, died in Tucson, Ariz., at age 66.

In 1983, some 5,000 people died when a major earthquake struck southern Colombia.

In 1986, 167 people died when a Mexicana Airlines Boeing 727 crashed in a remote mountainous region of Mexico.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: The enclosed was given to me several years ago and I ran across it while cleaning out the drawers of an old desk.

Because of what is happening in financial circles these days I thought perhaps you might find it interesting enough to share with your readers. Sign me - A READER IN INDEPENDENCE, ORE.

DEAR INDEPENDENCE: Alas, the more things change, the more they are the same. Thank you for sending this intriguing information my way.

LOOK AT WHAT HAPPENED TO:

1. A man who was head of one of the world's greatest monopolies.

2. A man who was one of the most successful speculators on Wall Street.

3. The former president of the largest independent steel company in America.

4. A past chairman of one of the country's largest utility companies.

5. A former president of the largest gas company in the United States.

6. A man who was once the president of the New York Stock Exchange.

7. A former president of the Bank of International Settlements.

8. A man who was a member of President Harding's Cabinet.

Here are the names that go with the "happenings."

Ivar Krueger, head of International Match Corporation (known as the "match king"), died a suicide - or was murdered. The truth was never established.

Jesse Livermore, the "most wondrous of the 'boy wonders'" of Wall Street, died a suicide.

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of Bethlehem Steel, died broke.

Samuel Insull, chairman of Commonwealth Edison Company and other utility corporations, was acquitted on embezzlement and mail fraud charges. He died in Paris in modest surroundings.

Howard Hopson, president of the Associated Gas and Electric utility empire, had been in prison for mail fraud charges and died in a sanitarium.

Richard Whitney, president of the New York Stock Exchange, served time in Sing Sing for grand larceny.

Leon Fraser, president of the World Bank for International Settlements, died a suicide.

Albert Fall, secretary of the interior in Harding's Cabinet, served a prison term for accepting a bribe.

Now Ann is speaking: I wonder where some of the super-rich, beleaguered Wall Street inside-traders will be 20 years from now. I suspect history will repeat itself. It often does.

Dear Ann Landers: I'd love to meet the idiot who planted the idea that a firm handshake is the sure way to succeed in business. I have arthritis in my hands and one firm handshake can leave me with excruciating pain that lasts for hours.

I wear a conspicuous piece of adhesive tape on my right hand to ward off those bone-crushing handshakes, but people ignore it. Please, Ann, tell your readers that a firm handshake means only that the sadist applying it cannot recognize swollen, arthritic joints. - S.B. IN HERNANDO, MISS.

DEAR HERNANDO: I've told them several times in this space over the years, but apparently they don't care to listen. Maybe you'll have better luck. Have a heart, folks.

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) - Former first lady Rosalynn Carter says her daughter's political activism came as a surprise.

Mrs. Carter told a Nova University luncheon that the country met Amy as a shy pre-teen and watched her grow into a college activist protesting apartheid and the CIA.

"Actually, Amy's activism surprised us, because she's basically a very shy person," Mrs. Carter said Wednesday. "We don't always agree with her, but we're proud of her. She's only been arrested four times."

Amy, 21, is studying art at a Tennessee design school.

Abundant Life

THE GLORY OF MAN

By Bob Wear

The glory of man is the natural fruit of living, as the flower is the natural fruit of the grass. Much of this glory is badly tarnished, and this is expected to be because humanism is permitted to control so much that is associated with man's glory.

Our glory is in our accomplishments, our success in cultivating our personal endowments; in building our homes; in getting and using wealth wisely; in winning approval of our fellowmen; in developing skills in arts and crafts; and in the improvement of our environment.

Our brightest glory, however, is not so much in these things as it is in us - the fruit of our character, the kind of people we are. "A man is one whose body has been trained to be the servant of his mind; whose passions are trained to be the servants of his will; who enjoys the beautiful, loves truth, hates wrong, loves to do good, and respects others as himself." - Ruskin.

The glory of man is important, and must not be minimized, or treated with contempt, or deliberately sullied and turned to evil purposes. On the other hand it must not be made more important than it is. Of course, our glory is temporary, but this does not lessen its importance. "All flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withers, and the flower thereof falls away." - Bible. This is as also a known fact as part of our pragmatic knowledge. For whatever it may mean to you who read; our purpose in life is to "glorify God". Perverted purposes are obviously the downfall of mankind.

The glory of man, when wisely conceived, is very wholesome, but, when it is perverted becomes unwholesome beyond imagination.

In its proper place, the glory of man reaches its highest level in the glorification of the Creator.

Rose probe may be long-standing

CINCINNATI (AP) - Major league baseball's investigation of Cincinnati Reds manager Pete Rose may have been under way as early as last September, according to a published report.

Linda Knata, classified advertising director of The Sporting News, told The Cincinnati Enquirer that the publication declined advertising from Rose's Hit King Marketing Inc. last September after making background checks, including one in which a major league baseball official revealed the investigation was in progress.

Mike Bertolini, who ran Hit King Marketing, had approached the publication about advertising for a January memorabilia show in Atlantic City featuring Rose and the 11 living players who had hit at least 500 home runs.

Knata said The Sporting News routinely does 26 background checks before accepting advertising from memorabilia dealers.

In the course of the checks, she said a baseball official told her of the Rose investigation.

Jim Small, a spokesman in Commissioner Peter Ueberroth's office, denied anyone in the office told Knata of a Rose investigation.

"That is not true. We will categorically deny that took place," Small said.

Small would neither confirm nor deny that the investigation into Rose for "serious allegations" was in progress last September.

"I can't confirm it; I can't deny it," he said. "We are not saying anything about this (investigation) until it is over."

Background checks on advertisers are fielded in one of two departments in the commissioner's offices: security, headed by Kevin Hallinan, or licensing, directed by Kevin White, The Enquirer said.

Tom Barnidge, editor of The Sporting News, said Thursday he was not aware of baseball's investigation of Rose until the commissioner's announcement on March 20. Barnidge said advertising was denied Hit King Marketing for other reasons.

"The bottom line is that the show was going to be held in a casino," Barnidge said.

He said the Sporting News has a policy against accepting advertising that pertains to gambling. The weekly newspaper does not carry betting lines or odds of any kind.

Hit King Marketing is one of a number of firms that has sold Rose memorabilia. Another, Premier Sports, run by former Rose associate Paul Janszen, purchased an advertisement in the March 30, 1989, issue of Sports Collectors Digest offering "authentic Pete Rose collectibles," including autographed Mizuno bats, autographed balls and pictures.

Knata said Janszen once had a licensing agreement to represent Rose in the sale of autographs. She said Janszen, now serving a sentence in a halfway house here for tax evasion, arranged for a 52-week advertising rate with The Sporting News but pulled out after "six or seven weeks."

"It flopped," Knata said. "His (Rose's) products just don't sell." Rose is being investigated for his betting activities. He could be suspended for up to a year if it is proven he bet on baseball and for life should any bets have been placed on games involving the Reds.

Seton Hall's Gaze called 'hired gun'

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

SEATTLE (AP) - Like some Wild West gunslingsers who used to market their services by handing out calling cards, Seton Hall's Andrew Gaze ought to consider an advertising campaign.

His slogan could be, "Have Shot, Will Travel."

You want to know about the shot? Gaze was the Pirates' No. 2 scorer at 13.6 points per game, and he set a school record with 89 3-pointers, 43 percent of his attempts.

You want to know about the travel? His basketball passport carries endorsements from around the world - his native Australia where he learned the game, the United States for the 1984 Olympics, Spain for the 1986 world championships, South Korea for the 1988 Olympics, and South Orange, N.J., for Seton Hall's trip to the NCAA Final Four.

Gaze is the ultimate commuter student, who quite candidly admits that his Seton Hall sojourn is "a one-year proposition."

College teams often dip into other countries for talent. Akeem Olajawon came to Houston from Nigeria and played three years. Andrew Gaze may wind up being at Seton Hall less than seven months, just long enough to finish a full basketball season if not a full academic year.

One rival Big East coach watched the wonder from Down Under bury his team with 3-pointers and called him "a hired gun."

That might be a trifle harsh. He's a gun, sure. But hired?

"People who say I'm just here to play basketball don't know what they're talking about," Gaze said. "If the courses I'm taking were not going toward getting a degree, I wouldn't be here."

He is here, however, as a short timer with the credits he earns to be transferred to his Australian school, Footscray Institute. That makes him a sort of basketball mercenary who has some people wondering about equal application of NCAA eligibility standards.

A student-athlete who transfers from one Division I school to another, under almost all circumstances must sit out a season. Gaze arrives on a sort of eight-month, lend-lease program from the other side of the planet and is plugged directly into his school's lineup.

Seton Hall first discovered Gaze two years ago when he made a Big East tour with his homeland club team, the Melbourne Tigers. He lit up the scoreboards, averaging 31 points, and particularly caught the attention of P.J. Carlesimo when he scored 46 against Seton Hall.

Carlesimo immediately began singing the praises of New Jersey to this world traveler. Spain and Seoul are swell, but you ought to see South Orange.

A year later, Carlesimo coached a touring Big East team that weaved its way through - what a nice coincidence - Australia. He was careful to look up Gaze, who was flattered by all this attention but had other business, first with his club team, then with Footscray, and finally with the Australian National team at the Seoul Olympics, where he was the tournament's No. 2 scorer.

That brought him to Seton Hall on Oct. 16, the day after practice started and at least a month after classes began. Just your average 23-year-old student-athlete.

Imagine how pleased Gaze was to find the NCAA offering three points for shots from 19 feet, 9 inches, compared with the 20-6 required in the international game. Friendly place, this America. He immediately became Seton Hall's zone buster, firing at will from outside.

Now the coaches' rules committee is recommending going to the international distance for three points. Gaze won't mind. That is, if he's still here.

NCAA rules state that after a student-athlete's 20th birthday, for

Lakers drown Spurs, 138-98

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - For the third time this season the Los Angeles Lakers have followed a blowout loss at Phoenix with a solid victory at home.

This time, the Lakers credited a team meeting and solid defense for their 138-98 whipping of the San Antonio Spurs Thursday night.

Byron Scott matched his season high with 35 points and A.C. Green added 22 for the Lakers.

Coupled with Phoenix's 135-123 loss at Sacramento, the Lakers increased their Pacific Division lead to four games over the Suns.

Scott said a team meeting Wednesday brought the Lakers together after a 127-104 loss at Phoenix Tuesday night.

"Everyone got a chance to talk at the meeting and get things off their chest," Scott said. "It was probably the best thing that has happened to us."

"I think we can keep doing this. Tonight we just had to get started again. I didn't matter who we were playing."

Lakers coach Pat Riley, who severely criticized his team's effort in the loss Tuesday, was pleased this time.

"As much as I accuse our team of not playing hard sometimes, it's not a question of whether the team has character or not, it's just that sometimes we lose desire," Riley said. "That's normal, but it doesn't have to be accepted."

"We caught ourselves after the Phoenix game and this game should be a good start for us on the way back," Riley said. "Our defense was consistent the entire game and I was very pleased how we sustained our effort. It was a bad night for the Spurs to catch us. We played a great game."

Last Dec. 26 the Lakers lost 111-96 to the Suns, then came home and beat Philadelphia 128-123. On Feb. 1 they fell 114-97 to Phoenix, then returned to the Forum and beat Portland 140-129.

Los Angeles took command against the Spurs from the start. Scott scored eight points and the Lakers made seven of their first nine field goals to take a 17-5 lead with just 3:27 elapsed. Scott finished the period with 16 points, while Green added 14 as the Lakers led 42-24 through one quarter.

Los Angeles made 26 of 28 free throws in the first half and built a 79-45 halftime lead, its largest of the season.

The Spurs were led by rookies Willie Anderson and Vernon Maxwell with 17 and 11 points.

"Recently, we've played a little better than we did tonight," San Antonio coach Larry Brown said. "This one was over the quickest. We've had some bad games, but this was right up there with the worst."

San Antonio last won here Jan. 6, 1984, a span of 13 losses. The Spurs' road record fell to 3-34 and they have lost seven of their last eight games.

Duke hungry for NCAA top spot

SEATTLE (AP) - Final Four experience gets its chance against international experience when Duke meets Seton Hall in one of Saturday's Final Four semifinals.

The Duke Blue Devils are marking their third appearance in the national semifinals in four seasons - an impressive mark except they have never returned to Durham, N.C., with the national championship trophy.

"I'm hungry," All-American forward Danny Ferry says.

Seton Hall is making its first Final Four appearance in just its second NCAA tournament.

The players aren't all without pressure experience, however, as starters Andrew Gaze and Ramon Ramos both played in the 1988 Olympics - Gaze for Australia, Ramos for Puerto Rico. Gaze, in fact, finished as the Games' No. 2 scorer.

"I always thought the Olympics would be the ultimate," said the 23-year-old rookie. "Now I'm getting a chance to see the Final Four and it might top what I have been through."

The teams took a decidedly different trip to the Final Four.

Duke was the preseason No. 1 and stayed there the first 10 weeks of the season. The Blue Devils finished tied for second in the Atlantic Coast Conference regular season and lost to North Carolina in the conference tournament championship game.

Seton Hall was tabbed seventh in the nine-team Big East in a coaches' preseason vote. The Pirates took off on a 13-game winning streak to start the season and lost just six games - all to Big East opponents.

Duke is known as Ferry's team, while Seton Hall is a veteran unit with balanced scoring and no real star.

"I haven't seen a whole lot of them, but from what I understand they rely a lot on Danny Ferry and he is the key to their offense," said Gaze, who never followed American collegiate basketball until he arrived on the Seton Hall campus this season. "They're well coached and have been to the Final Four a number of times. They are one of the top teams in the country. There's no comparison, I think. From what I've seen they rely a lot on Ferry and we don't have a major superstar. We have more balance."

Guard John Morton leads the Pirates in scoring at 16.9, followed by Gaze at 13.6. The other starters come in between 12.1 and 8.7.

Stopping Ferry will be the key for Seton Hall, a team which relies on defense. The Pirates have allowed no opponent to shoot better than 39 percent from the field in the tournament.

Senior Daryll Walker should start on Ferry, but every big man - including Ramos - expects some time on the two-time conference player of the year.

"I know he's going to get his points. I know he'll get in double figures," said Walker who is averaging 10.3 rebounds in the tournament. "But I just have to play him straight up and make him work for his points and not let him get 30."

"Everybody on the team looks to him. He's been through it all."

Ferry averaged 22.3 points this season, led the team in rebounding at 7.4 and was second in assists with 16.4.

January favored in Senior PGA tourney

FRISCO, Texas (AP)-Don January should be the favorite when the 54-hole Seniors PGA Pro-Am Reunion Tournament began today because he's playing on his home Stonebriar Course.

But he begs to differ. The first player to win $1 million on the PGA Senior Tour has been so wrapped up being director of golf at Stonebriar Country Club that he doesn't get to play much competitively.

"When you aren't in competition your short game suffers," he said. "The senior tour is getting tougher and tougher. It's hard to win out here when you haven't played a lot."

January earned $82,000 last year, his second lowest total since he joined the senior tour.

When construction began at Stonebriar in 1987, January limited his playing time on tour.

"It was good to be home every night and not in some hotel somewhere," he said.

Orville Moody, who overcame a reputation as one of the poorest putters on the PGA Senior Tour to become one of the best, was the defending champion.

Moody won the championship last year with a 15-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole at Bent Tree Country Club using his 54-inch putter.

He beat Don Massengale, Bobby Nichols and Bob Charles, all tied with him after regulation play.

"Going to the long putter has saved my career," Moody said. "Your wrists don't break down on the stroke. You can stay smoother."

"I never was a very good putter when I was on the regular tour although I did win a U.S. Open. But I think I'm pretty good now."

So good, in fact, that his senior competitors call him "one-putt."

The site for the $335,000 tournament shifts to the new Stonebriar Country Club this year. Stonebriar is a test Par 72 course which plays 7,064 yards from the back tees. The seniors will be given a yardage break but par will be more precious than Moody's winning total of 10-under par 206 at Bent Tree last year. Water comes into play on 12 of the 18 holes.

"It's a tough track," January said. "It will play even longer because of all the rain we've had."

The course has been hit with over five inches of rain and the first green was under water on Monday. High winds also could make play difficult.

There will be a field of 72 senior players who will have amateur partners with handicaps in the PGA Senior Tour's version of the "Crosby" format at Pebble Beach.

The professionals will play for the individual title and the two-team competition will continue through Sunday with a cut to the low 20 teams on Saturday. There will be no cut in the professional championship.

Dallasite Bruce Crampton, the recent winner in the Arizona Classic, joins January in the field.

Missing from the field are leading money winner and former champion Chi Chi Rodriguez, Bob Charles, Gene Littler, Peter Thomson, and Miller Barber of nearby Sherman who came down with the flu.

Freddie Haas and Tommy Bolt withdrew.

SEC expansion plan lists Texas, Arkansas

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) - The universities of Arkansas, Texas and South Carolina are being considered for possible membership in a new, expanded Southeastern Conference, a local television station reported Thursday night.

Texas and Arkansas are members of the Southwest Conference. South Carolina is in the Metro Conference.

WIS-TV, quoting unnamed sources, said South Carolina is holding discussions with SEC officials about the possible change.

The station's sports director, Joe Daggett, said the station's source is a "high-ranking" member of the school's administration, whom he could not identify. The discussions are being held at the "university presidents' level," he reported.

The SEC has ten teams, but is considering expanding and then splitting into an east and a west division, the report said. Members of the SEC are Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Mississippi, Mississippi State, Tennessee and Vanderbilt.

Texas and Arkansas are also being considered for the SEC's expansion, according to the report.

Neither University of Arkansas president Ray Thornton nor Athletic Director Frank Broyles could be reached at their homes by telephone for comment late Thursday night.

While South Carolina is a member of the Metro Conference, the school's football team is independent because the Metro does not include football. The SEC includes football among other sports.

Childress offered job with Chicago

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (AP) - Ray Childress has been offered a job with the Chicago Bears and the All-Pro defensive end says he's willing to move to the Windy City.

But first, his team, the Houston Oilers, has a week to match the Bears' offer.

The Bears would not disclose details of the offer, but published reports in Chicago and Houston said it was worth $4.7 million over five years.

FIRST UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

A pre-holiday bazaar will be held in First United Methodist Church in late November. Mary Jones and Rubeth Griffing will serve as co-chairmen and will soon appoint chairmen of the various divisions and urge members to begin work on handmade items to stock the booths. The church has sponsored such bazaars in the past, usually every two years, as fund-raising events. Jones has been a co-chairman before but Griffing is a newer member of the congregation. They will soon have plans underway for another successful sale with gift items, food, "trash and treasures" and other articles which have proved popular with shoppers in the past.

Two special events will be of interest in First UMC at the end of next week. One is the annual Amarillo District Laity Banquet Saturday evening, April 8, at St. Stephen's UMC in Amarillo which will be attended by a number of Hereford members who will meet there with those from churches over the area for a dinner and program.

The Hereford church will be host the next day for a workshop for Sunday School workers of five nearby churches, led by Louise Schock, a specialist in Christian education from the Northwest Texas UMC conference office in Lubbock. Churches participating in the workshop are San Pablo and Wesley UMC of Hereford, First UMC of Friona, First UMC of Dimmitt and First UMC of Vegas.

FIRST CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

A public auction of donated items will be held Saturday, April 22, at 10 a.m. at the church. Proceeds will go to the Nazarene Christian Academy. For additional information call the church office at 364-8303; Charles Hoover, 364-1735; or the Rev. Bob Huffaker, 364-3760.

Congratulations is extended to Rhonda Fuston for winning a gold medal in voice at the recent Youth-A-Rama.

The public is invited to attend the Academy's dinner theatre to be held April 7-9 at the Hereford Community Center. "Family Outings" will be presented in three acts and the topics will include marriage, offspring, disillusionment and commitment. Directed by Jeff Love, the performances will be held Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. Dinner will be served for the evening performances and dessert only will be served Sunday. Tickets are priced at $10 per person for the evening performances and $5 for Sunday's event. They are available from Academy students, the school office, Thames Pharmacy and Ouida's. Advance ticket purchase is required.

Registration has begun for parents wishing to enroll their children in the Nazarene Christian Academy. For additional information contact the school office, 364-1697.

Forty children will be competing in Wichita Falls at the children's talent and competition Saturday, April 1.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

Applications are now being accepted for First Baptist Church scholarships. You may pick them up at the church office. The annual scholarship award will be given to students selected by the scholarship board.

The Baptist Women will meet for a business session and coffee at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Kinsey Parlor. The mission study, "What if..." will be led by Clovis Seago.

Beginning Sunday, the youth choir will meet at 5:45 p.m. in the choir room.

Kindergarten open house has been scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Sunday. All those with children presently enrolled and anyone interested in enrolling for the 1989-90 school year are invited to attend. There will be a program in the sanctuary presented by the children now enrolled and a tour of the classrooms will follow. Also, information about the school will be presented and refreshments will be served.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Day W.M.U. will meet at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 4, at the church.

ST. ANTHONY'S CHURCH

The public is invited to attend St. Anthony's Parish Carnival Krazy set from noon until 5 p.m. Sunday, April 9. Food will be served throughout the afternoon. There will be a live auction, live mimed clown entertainment and door prizes. Among the items for sale will be spin painted T-shirts, house and garden plants, crafts and baked goods. A few of the game booths include cake and toy walk, face and hair painting, fish toss, balloon darts, fish and ducky pond, bingo, dunking booth, water arena and more.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The guest minister for the 10:30 a.m. Sunday worship service will be the Rev. Ralph O'Dell of Lubbock.

Rev. O'Dell's sermon title is "How Do We Become Righteous?" The text is II Corinthians 5:21. The scripture lesson is Romans 3:19-26.

The Women's Association will meet at noon Wednesday, April 5, for a covered dish luncheon. Working women who can attend on their lunch hours are welcome and do not need to bring a dish. The program will be a TV video, "The Fuzzy Tale" which will explain about Doug Manning's "Warm Fuzzies."

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

"Teen Suicide-The Wrong Answer" is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. April 16 at First Christian Church. The event will be sponsored by the Youth Ministerial Alliance. Volunteers are needed as counselors. If interested in assisting, call the church office.

The Women's Retreat is planned Saturday, April 8, at the Sheraton Hotel in Amarillo. Diane Kindall will be the guest speaker.

Overexposure to sun hazardous

By The Associated Press
The sun may be great for tomatoes, but it could be tough on your face.

Even the most skilled makeup job can't rescue a complexion dulled and damaged by overexposure.

Anyone who spends a good deal of time outdoors, whether in recreation or work, should be vigilant. The American Cancer Society says that no one is really free from risk. Most at risk are fair-skinned people who burn easily, but anyone can be affected.

Especially during warm weather months, "making under" is as important as making up. For both beauty and safety, it will help you look cool, fashionable, and healthy.

Making under can mean two things: Use protective sunscreens and lubricants before applying foundation, and apply your makeup with a light hand, choosing soft colors and textures.

The type of sunscreen you use depends on your preference, but you may find a moisturizer-based cream most convenient in making up. Most of these products contain PABA (para-aminobenzoic acid) and are labeled with SPF (sun protection formula) ratings. Choose one that has a rating of 15 SPF or higher. Don't forget to use a sunscreen on your arms, legs, neck, or any other skin area bared during the summer, especially if you're outdoors between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

From a fashion point of view, the no-makeup look is the best makeup. This season's cosmetics lines feature light colors and textures designed to blend with the fluid, feminine clothing women are finding in stores.

Matte foundations in sheer, delicate shades ranging from pink-tinted pastels to soft tannies have been designed to play up rather than hide natural coloring. Unless your skin is very dry, finish the base with a light dusting of translucent powder.

Choose similar light shades for eyes. Single eyeshadow colors can be found in muted heather and floral shades. Finish with a light brushing of blush colors in soft matte colors, coupled with frosted highlight shades blended at the tops of your cheekbones. Compacts with both base and highlight blushes can be found to make this combination easy.

Even lip colors come muted and in matte finishes. Frosted, pearlized colors can be added for evening wear or can be used alone for a fresh natural effect during the day.

Lapidary Club meets

A tailgate rock swap was discussed by the Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club when they met Monday in the Flame Room.

No action was taken in the matter but it was proposed that the swap be held in June. Jack Nunley, president, conducted the routine business meeting. Joe Williams reported on the program he presented at First United Methodist Church concerning collecting and working with rocks.

Lucille Naylor furnished the door prize which was won by Nunley, Naylor, along with Mr. and Mrs. Bub Newell and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mulkey hosted the meeting.

Bud Cawthon showed a film on "The Beginnings of Country and Western Music."

There were 21 members present at the meeting. It was announced that the next meeting will be held April 24 in the Flame Room at 7:30 p.m.

Body-hugging costumes popular

Like other active-sports gear, the body-hugging costumes worn by dancers, swimmers and bikers have been appropriated as fashionable streetwear for teens and near-teens.

The old reasons for skintight outfits in sports and dance are free movement and to cut down wind or water resistance. A new reason might be that, coupled with brilliant colors, the new clothes flaunt a trim figure.

Designer Bonnie August couples a short, loose graffiti T-shirt with second-skin bike pants, both done up with flashy neon colors. She also uses leotards, tank suits, crop tops, and stirrup tights in combinations of cotton blends, spandex, and shiny ribbed synthetics.

Paper toweling, when dampened, will make an excellent pressing cloth.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Become one of the first in our community to own a copy of this magnificent atlas.

Names In The News

NEW YORK (AP) - Singer Judy Collins, actor Ed Asner and about 30 other abortion rights advocates staged a rally on the steps of a courthouse to promote an April 9 march in Washington.

Francoise Jacobs, a spokeswoman for the National Organization for Women, said Monday the group wants to make the public aware that access to legal abortions saves women's lives.

Illegal abortions were once the leading killer of pregnant women in the United States, she told Monday's rally.

"I've known the terror of abortion when it was illegal and the people who suffered from it when it was illegal," said Asner. "I don't want to return to those days."

Opponents of legalized abortion have been waging a campaign to have the U.S. Supreme Court overturn Roe v. Wade, the 1973 case that legalized abortion.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Ed Begley Jr., a surgeon on the old "St. Elsewhere" series and a co-star in the film "The Accidental Tourist," has filed for divorce from his wife of nearly 12 years.

The petition, filed Monday in Superior Court, cites irreconcilable differences with his wife, Ingrid Margaret Begley.

Begley is seeking joint custody of their two children - Amanda, 11, and Nicholas, 10 - who live with their mother north of Los Angeles in Ojai.

All assets, excluding their Ojai and San Fernando Valley homes and Begley's business interest in Nicanda Productions, have been liquidated through a marital property agreement drafted when the couple separated in August, according to court papers.

Joan Severence joins the cast later this season as the sister of Rebecca Howe, portrayed by Miss Alley, and will become a love interest for Malone.

Miss Long is not returning to the show, said Maggie Begley, a spokeswoman for Paramount Television. Miss Long played Diane Chambers on "Cheers" in the 1982-87 seasons, then left to pursue a career in movies. She's starring in the recently released "Troop Beverly Hills."

The rumor began when a reporter overheard her and Danson talking at the premiere of the movie "Cousins," which stars Danson.

The conversation was only a "wouldn't it be nice" kind of talk about Long's return, Begley said.

LAS VEGAS (AP) - Entertainer Jerry Lewis is moving his annual Labor Day Muscular Dystrophy telethon from Caesars Palace, where it has been held for the past seven years.

Lewis said Monday the telethon has outgrown the Caesars Palace sports pavillion and will be moved to Cashman Field Center, an entertainment complex near downtown.

He said moving to the larger 2,000-seat center would enable the telethon "to do some production things we haven't had space to do at Caesars."

The 1988 telethon raised a record $41.1 million and was carried by 200 U.S. television stations.

Local entrepreneurs keep popcorn popular

Popcorn sales that exploded during the 1980s show no sign of slowing down. Where not long ago a few brands sufficed, multitudes of pre-popped, flavored, microwave and ready-to-pop labels cram grocers' shelves.

Dzuik and his brother Al, who grew a few rows of popcorn for their own pleasure, figured they were onto something. They decided to expand and start selling popcorn on the cob.

novelty item, but it looks like it will go year-round," said Rip Hawk, a wrestler turned vice president in charge of marketing.

Mart are current marketing prospects.

The Dzuik brothers grow five-to-seven-inch ears that dry in the field before being hand picked and cleaned. Two, three, or four ears, depending on size, are packed in clear, reusable plastic bags. An ear at a time can be popped in a bag, which affords a good view of kernels going off until condensation clouds the plastic.

The United States, in fact, consumes two-thirds of the world's popcorn, 80 percent of it at the movies.

That was in 1985. Last fall the Dzuiks harvested 57 acres. If sales keep coming, they may plant 100 acres this spring.

Hawk said, "Texas Microwave Popcorn-on-the-Cob" is being sold by Panhandle supermarkets, an arts-and-crafts chain in 10 states, and a few stores in Dallas, Houston and Austin. J.C. Penney, Kroger Stores, and Wal-

A large ear yields close to a quart of popcorn. Ears will stay fresh for a year, possibly longer, Hawk said.

Popcorn is a different type than sweet corn—whose ancestor it may be—or feed corn. About 200 white and yellow varieties can be grown strictly for popping. "It is one of the most healthful snacks you can eat," said Texas Department of Agriculture home economist Carol Guthrie. "It is a good source of fiber, and when you eat it without adding fat, a four-cup serving contains only 110 calories."

Popcorn's history began at least 1,000 years before the arrival of modern American kitchens and theatres. Tenth century Peruvian Indians thought popcorn significant enough to take some with them to the grave.

America's favorite snack

Popcorn, one of America's favorite snacks, now comes on the cob, thanks to Hereford entrepreneurs. Put the ear in the microwave oven and watch it pop.

Popcorn is on the list of approved foods from the American Cancer Society, the National Cancer Institute and the American Dental Association.

Though many kitchens these days are equipped with microwaves, hot-air and hot-oil poppers, anyone who has a large, heavy pot with a ventilated lid for steam to escape can pop corn.

Begin by coating the bottom of the pot with a film of vegetable oil. Do not use butter; it will scorch. And don't add salt, which toughens the corn, until after popping it.

Heat the oil until two or three kernels pop when thrown in the pot. Then add a layer of kernels to cover the bottom of the pot. Cover the pot with a ventilated lid and shake the pot to prevent kernels from burning. "Shaking also helps unpopped kernels to pop, adding to the volume," Guthrie said. "The more shaking the better."

Hot air poppers are best for popping corn without fat. Texas Microwave Popcorn can also be eaten by anyone on a low-fat diet. It is fat and salt-free, though both can be added after popping.

Guthrie recommends storing conventional popcorn at room temperature in a jar with a tight-fitting lid. Freezing or refrigerating will dehydrate it.

Following are some recipes that enhance popcorn:

POPCORN WITH PARMESAN CHEESE

- 1/2 c. popcorn
- 1/4 c. vegetable oil
- 3 Tbsp. Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 tsp. salt

Pop popcorn in vegetable oil. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and salt. Toss well. Makes about 15 cups.

TEX-MEX POPCORN

- 1/2 c. popcorn
- 1/4 c. vegetable oil
- 2 1/2 tsp. chili powder
- 1 tsp. ground cumin
- 1 tsp. salt

Pop popcorn in vegetable oil. Sprinkle with remaining ingredients. Toss well. Makes about 15 cups.

Prices Effective Thursday, March 30, 1989.

Names In The News

NEW YORK (AP)— Singer Judy Collins, actor Ed Asner and about 30 other abortion rights advocates staged a rally on the steps of a courthouse to promote an April 9 march in Washington.

Francoise Jacobs, a spokeswoman for the National Organization for Women, said Monday the group wants to make the public aware that access to legal abortions saves women's lives. Illegal abortions were once the leading killer of pregnant women in the United States, she told Monday's rally.

"I've known the terror of abortion when it was illegal and the people who suffered from it when it was illegal," said Asner. "I don't want to return to those days."

Opponents of legalized abortion have been waging a campaign to have the U.S. Supreme Court overturn Roe v. Wade, the 1973 case that legalized abortion.

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Ed Begley Jr., a surgeon on the old "St. Elsewhere" series and a co-star in the film "The Accidental Tourist," has filed for divorce from his wife of nearly 12 years.

The petition, filed Monday in Superior Court, cites irreconcilable differences with his wife, Ingrid Margaret Begley.

Begley is seeking joint custody of their two children—Amanda, 11, and Nicholas, 10—who live with their mother north of Los Angeles in Ojai.

All assets, excluding their Ojai and San Fernando Valley homes and Begley's business interest in Nicanda Productions, have been liquidated through a marital property agreement drafted when the couple separated in August, according to court papers.

LOS ANGELES (AP)— Ted Danson is coming back for an eighth season as Sam Malone on "Cheers," but rumors that Shelley Long will return to Boston's favorite watering hole are unfounded, NBC says.

The network announced Monday the highly rated Thursday-night comedy is returning with Danson, Kirstie Alley, Rhea Pearlman and Woody Harrelson behind the bar and George Wendt, John Ratzenberger, Kelsey Grammer and Bebe Neuwirth on the stools.

Joan Severence joins the cast later this season as the sister of Rebecca Howe, portrayed by Miss Alley, and will become a love interest for Malone.

Miss Long is not returning to the show, said Maggie Begley, a spokeswoman for Paramount Television. Miss Long played Diane Chambers on "Cheers" in the 1982-87 seasons, then left to pursue a career in movies. She's starring in the recently released "Troop Beverly Hills."

The rumor began when a reporter overheard her and Danson talking at the premiere of the movie "Cousins," which stars Danson.

The conversation was only a "wouldn't it be nice" kind of talk about Long's return, Begley said.

LAS VEGAS (AP)— Entertainer Jerry Lewis is moving his annual Labor Day Muscular Dystrophy telethon from Caesars Palace, where it has been held for the past seven years.

Lewis said Monday the telethon has outgrown the Caesars Palace sports pavilion and will be moved to Cashman Field Center, an entertainment complex near downtown. He said moving to the larger 2,000-seat center would enable the telethon "to do some production things we haven't had space to do at Caesars."

The 1988 telethon raised a record $41.1 million and was carried by 200 U.S. television stations.

Local entrepreneurs keep popcorn popular

Popcorn sales that exploded during the 1980s show no sign of slowing down. Where not long ago a few brands sufficed, multitudes of pre-popped, flavored, microwave and ready-to-pop labels cram grocers' shelves.

The United States, in fact, consumes two-thirds of the world's popcorn, 80 percent of it at the movies. Popcorn's history began at least 1,000 years before the arrival of modern American kitchens and theatres. Tenth century Peruvian Indians thought popcorn significant enough to take some with them to the grave.

Further north, Aztecs decorated headdresses and necklaces with popped kernels worn during ceremonial occasions, American Indians popped corn on hot stones, or, like the Iroquois, put it in pottery crocks set into heated sand. Later, colonists ate popcorn with sugar and cream for breakfast.

To prove that ingenuity has not died, two brothers and a former wrestler in Hereford have joined forces to market popcorn on the cob. Like the early Indians who tossed a few hard kernels into an open fire, Ed Dzuik, Jr., wanted to know what would happen when he put an ear of popping corn into a microwave oven. Within 90 seconds he could see snowy kernels flying around inside.

Dzuik and his brother Al, who grew a few rows of popcorn for their own pleasure, figured they were onto something. They decided to expand and start selling popcorn on the cob.

That was in 1985. Last fall the Dzuiks harvested 57 acres. If sales keep coming, they may plant 100 acres this spring.

"At first we thought of it as a novelty item, but it looks like it will go year-round," said Rip Hawk, a wrestler turned vice president in charge of marketing.

Hawk said, "Texas Microwave Popcorn-on-the-Cob" is being sold by Panhandle supermarkets, an arts-and-crafts chain in 10 states, and a few stores in Dallas, Houston and Austin. J.C. Penney, Kroger Stores, and Wal-

Mart are current marketing prospects.

The Dzuik brothers grow five-to-seven-inch ears that dry in the field before being hand picked and cleaned. Two, three, or four ears, depending on size, are packed in clear, reusable plastic bags. An ear at a time can be popped in a bag, which affords a good view of kernels going off until condensation clouds the plastic.

A large ear yields close to a quart of popcorn. Ears will stay fresh for a year, possibly longer, Hawk said.

Popcorn is a different type than sweet corn—whose ancestor it may be—or feed corn. About 200 white and yellow varieties can be grown strictly for popping. "It is one of the most healthful snacks you can eat," said Texas Department of Agriculture home economist Carol Guthrie. "It is a good source of fiber, and when you eat it without adding fat, a four-cup serving contains only 110 calories."

Popcorn is on the list of approved foods from the American Cancer Society, the National Cancer Institute and the American Dental Association.

Though many kitchens these days are equipped with microwaves, hot-air and hot-oil poppers, anyone who has a large, heavy pot with a ventilated lid for steam to escape can pop corn.

Begin by coating the bottom of the pot with a film of vegetable oil. Do not use butter; it will scorch. And don't add salt, which toughens the corn, until after popping it.

Heat the oil until two or three kernels pop when thrown in the pot. Then add a layer of kernels to cover the bottom of the pot. Cover the pot with a ventilated lid and shake the pot to prevent kernels from burning. "Shaking also helps unpopped kernels to pop, adding to the volume," Guthrie said. "The more shaking the better."

Hot air poppers are best for popping corn without fat. Texas Microwave Popcorn can also be eaten by anyone on a low-fat diet. It is fat and salt-free, though both can be added after popping.

Guthrie recommends storing conventional popcorn at room temperature in a jar with a tight-fitting lid. Freezing or refrigerating will dehydrate it.

Following are some recipes that enhance popcorn:

POPCORN WITH PARMESAN CHEESE

- 1/2 c. popcorn
- 1/4 c. vegetable oil
- 3 Tbsp. Parmesan cheese
- 1/2 tsp. salt

Put popcorn in vegetable oil. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese and salt. Toss well. Makes about 15 cups.

TEX-MEX POPCORN

- 1/2 c. popcorn
- 1/4 c. vegetable oil
- 2 1/2 tsp. chili powder
- 1 tsp. ground cumin
- 1 tsp. salt

Put popcorn in vegetable oil. Sprinkle with remaining ingredients. Toss well. Makes about 15 cups.

America's favorite snack

Popcorn, one of America's favorite snacks, now comes on the cob, thanks to Hereford entrepreneurs. Put the ear in the microwave oven and watch it pop.
