

School Agrees to $29,000 Payment

Woodward Suit Settled Out Of Court

The lawsuit between Hereford Independent School District and former La Plata Junior High teacher Wayne Woodward has been settled by mutual agreement, it was announced this morning by Supt. Harrell Holder.

Negotiations were completed last week between attorneys representing both sides, and the Hereford school board made its decision official following a closed session Monday night.

Holder announced the case was settled according to the following conditions: (1) The school district will promptly pay Woodward $29,000; (2) This sum will represent full compensation due Wayne Woodward for all claims he might have against the Hereford school district; (3)

Woodward will relinquish his right to reinstatement to any position in the Hereford school district; (4) Woodward will relinquish all claims and demands against the school trustees, administrators, agents, and representatives of the Hereford school district, and (5) The School district will promptly dismiss its appeal of the suit to the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

In announcing the decision, board president James Gentry said, "The settlement of this suit was determined by the board to be in the best interests of the students and taxpayers of the Hereford Independent School District."

Holder said the school district "felt it was economically feasible to settle at the agreed figure." The superintendent said the school district thought it "had a good case for the Fifth Circuit and had a good chance of winning."

Holder added, "However, there was a chance of losing and a good chance it could take as much as two years to have the case heard. We felt like the chance of losing and the additional two years of accrued salary and interest was greater than the school district should risk.

"Even had we won, we would have been facing a considerable expense for attorney fees. We are greatly pleased in having this ordeal finally settled," concluded Holder.

The board did not renew Woodward's

House Says Extra Money May Cut Casualties in Nuclear War

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House of Representatives is channeling an extra $44.8 million into civil defense in an effort one lawmaker says could cut U.S. casualties to 20 million in a nuclear war.

In approving a $35.9-billion weapons bill for fiscal 1978, the House boosted the civil defense budget by 50 per cent to $134.8 million. The Pentagon had requested only $90 million.

The action Monday came after Rep. Ronald V. Dellums, D-Calif., attacked any spending for civil defense as "a waste, ludicrous, insane. It makes me feel I'm sitting on the floor of the House in a dream. It's the height of insanity."

But backers of the move cited a need for American preparedness, particularly after the recent Soviet rejection of a U.S. strategic arms proposal.

Rep. G. William Whitehurst, D-Va., said it would be "destabilizing for us to do nothing in response to the growing Soviet civil defense program." He argued that civil defense shelters could reduce American fatalities in a nuclear war "down to 20 million."

"It's criminal to say there's no hope" of saving lives in a nuclear war, Whitehurst added.

The procurement bill, which is $60.8 million more than President Carter requested, passed 347 to 43. Separate bills are expected to bring the 1978 defense budget up to a record $120 billion.

The Senate has not yet acted on the bill. If Congress actually ends up spending the money after authorization, separate votes are needed to appropriate the funds - it would be the most spent on civil defense since fiscal 1962, when $207.6 million was appropriated.

The House also rejected, 301 to 88, a Dellums amendment to cut U.S. troops overseas by 17,000. Although it did not specify where, Dellums and others said the troops could be withdrawn from South Korea.

Dellums' amendment would have withdrawn 17,000 of the 462,000 U.S. troops overseas and cut the total U.S. armed force of two million men and women by 50,000.

Rep. Richard White, D-Texas, said the results could "be disastrous" and Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., said "the signal it would give is that we're getting tired, we want to get out of the picture."

President Carter has said he favors withdrawing the 33,000 U.S. ground troops from South Korea while leaving air support there. But he has not yet formally proposed it.

During the debate, strong sentiment surfaced for revising military pensions, which now cost $9 billion in the year 2000.

A hastily drawn amendment by Rep. Tex. Aspin, D-Wis., to simply put all future servicemen under Congress' own, less lucrative pension plan, lost, 247 to 148.

The House approved one amendment that would require the Pentagon to give Congress 60 days' notice before closing or reducing any bases.

CB Theft Reported

Police are currently investigating the theft of a CB radio and an eight-track tape player, both of which were taken late last week.

Lyle Bonner of 233 Aspen told police that a tape player was taken from his vehicle while it was parked at Hereford High School late last week, while Jerry Johnson of 427 Ave. K reported that a CB radio was taken from his vehicle while it was parked at 709 Maple Friday.

There was no loss estimate on either of the stolen items.

Monday night, officers received a report on the theft of some gasoline from two vehicles owned by Alred Casared of 717 Stanton.

Superintendent Proposes Freshmen In High School

BY O.G. NIEMAN

A proposal by Supt. Harrell Holder to move the ninth grades into high school was outlined to the Hereford School Board during a special meeting Monday night.

The plan also calls for moving sixth graders into Stanton and La Plata junior high schools, doing away with Shirley Elementary and making the building a high school annex.

In "tossing the plan out" for the board's consideration, Holder said he believed the plan would offer better educational opportunities for the students and also would save some money. Trustees will consider the proposal and seek community feedback before discussing the matter again at the next meeting.

In other business at the special meeting, David Pruitt took the oath of office as trustee for Place 7 and new officers were elected. James Gentry was elected president of the board; Clark Andrews was re-elected vice president, and Sallie Strain was named secretary.

Longtime Resident Dies; Manjeot Services Pending

Gladys Howton Manjeot, who first came to this community in 1915, was found dead in her home, 303 Westhaven, this morning. She was 75. Services are pending with Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

A life member of Texas Garden Clubs, Mrs. Manjeot was known best for her gardening expertise and authored a weekly horticulture column, "By the Garden Gate with Glad," which has appeared in The Brand for more than a decade.

Mrs. Manjeot was instrumental in the establishment of several local garden spots and was involved in plans for carving a Nature Trail in Veterans Park in observance of the nation's Bicentennial. She was a member of Hereford Garden Club, Pioneer Study Club, Bud To Blossom Garden Club, the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division and taught Sunday school classes at First Baptist Church for 55 years.

Born Gladys Howton, she came to Hereford in 1915 with her parents. As a young woman, she was employed here as Deputy County Clerk and District Clerk. She married A.L. Manjeot in Hereford in 1921. He preceded her in death.

The horticulturist was Hereford's USO secretary during World War II and was concerned with youth work during her lifetime. She was a 33-year member of Order of the Eastern Star and was the first Mother Advisor of Order of Rainbow for Girls, which she helped establish here.

She is survived by a son, Col. Lloyd Howton Manjeot and a sister, Mrs. Pink H. Gilliland, 122 Hickory.

Pruitt, elected in a runoff election Saturday over Bill Walden, was administered the oath by County Clerk B.F. Cain. He joined Mack Tubb and David Hutchins as new trustees elected to the board this year.

The board also viewed tentative plans for building an addition on to the administration office in order to have a place for the school tax office. Trustees had been informed at the last meeting that the tax office downtown is to be torn down, and the landlord wants the school to vacate the building in late October.

Architect Herb Brasher appeared at the meeting with a sketch to show the plan for adding on to the administration building, as well as an alternate plan. His proposal was to add a board room, superintendent's office, secretarial and reception space on the front, or northside, of the building.

The tax office would be located in the rear of the administration building and have an outside entry. Approximately 2,900 square feet of floor space would be added under this plan, and the estimated cost would be in excess of $70,000. Holder said having the offices together could effect some savings in equipment, as well as parttime labor.

Trustees questioned Holder and Fred Fox, tax assessor-collector, about the location of the tax office. Fox said some taxpayers preferred the office downtown.

Downpour Soaks Area

Portions of Hereford were drenched in a downpour typical of early summer weather in the Texas Panhandle Monday evening.

After a virtually cloudless day, thunderheads moved in from the west Monday afternoon.

Shortly before 7 p.m. the clouds unleashed an intense shower on the center of Hereford.

The rains were of short duration and were apparently heaviest in the area of Dameron Park on east Park Avenue.

Light hail accompanied the showers, and a bolt of lightning also struck within the park.

KPAN radio recorded .22 inches of moisture for the city in the cloudburst, although only a trace of moisture was reported on the northern edge of the city.

Traces were also reported from the Dawn and Easter communities, in addition to the Clint Homfeld farm, 47 miles northwest of Hereford.

Across the state, skies were generally cloudless early this morning, but light showers occurred from Lubbock southward past Big Spring, Sweetwater, Abilene and San Angelo, and farther west in the vicinity of the Guadalupe Pass.

Occasional showers are expected again tonight in the western portions of the state.

Blood Mobile To Solicit Wednesday

Local citizens are asked to "give the gift of life" Wednesday afternoon by donating blood to the Hereford pool of Coffee Memorial Blood Bank, headquartered in Amarillo.

According to local drive chairman Marlene Watson, the blood mobile will be stationed at the Community Center from 4-6 p.m. Wednesday. Pints of blood are needed to maintain a blood account accessible to local residents.

Mrs. Watson requests that she be contacted if a Deaf Smith County resident should require blood transfusions.

Commissioners Approve New Hospitalization Plan

Deaf Smith County Commissioners, meeting in regular session Monday, adopted two resolutions, approved a more comprehensive hospitalization plan for employees, okayed the revenue sharing budget on final reading, asked for bids on repairing the heating system at the county museum, and discussed the 1977-78 budget.

One of the resolutions adopted was a formal appreciation to be presented to Prudis Black, who last week presided the deed to her landmark home to the county. The Deaf Smith County Historical Society plans to restore the former residence, add displays and open it to the public as an annex to the museum.

The other resolution was a routine agreement for the county to remain as a part of the Randall-Potter Metro Intelligence Agency. The county provides a deputy for the special unit, which is funded by the Criminal Justice Council.

A representative from Blue Cross-Blue Shield attended the meeting and explained a more comprehensive plan. Commissioners had also been concerned about confusion in filing claims, and a more simplified system has been adopted. The new plan will cost each employee about $1.60 more per month, according to Judge Sam Morgan.

The county judge also reported that a low bid had been accepted from McCaslin Lumber on remodeling an office for the use of District Judge Wesley Gulley. His office will be located next to the grand jury room. It was formerly the office of county welfare officer Jewell Smith, who moved to an office on the first floor.

Commissioners are currently studying the 1977-78 budget and will continue that work at the next meeting. All commissioners were present for the Monday meeting.

Woman 1st ordained

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) - The Rev. Sandra Blanche Michels was ordained Monday night as the first woman Episcopal priest in Texas. She received thunderous applause after being ordained in St. Clement's Episcopal Church and was all smiles.

Meanwhile, about 70 parishioners were having a service of "Grief and distress" with the Rev. Frank Grubbs in protest over the ordination of a woman to priesthood.

Bishop Richard Trelease Jr. described the protestors as a tiny group.

CDC Seeks Victims

ATLANTA (AP) - The National Center for Disease Control, which is searching for Army troops exposed to a nuclear bomb test in Nevada in 1957, has received hundreds of calls about the search but none from persons involved in the test.

The CDC is looking for the roster of the 504th Airborne Infantry Regiment of the 82nd Airborne Division as part of a research project on whether low-dose radiation might be causing delayed leukemia.

About 1,100 persons - including about 250 members of the 504th - were at the Yucca Flats test site for the exercise in nuclear war training, said Dr. Glyn G. Caldwell, deputy chief of the cancer branch of the CDC.

Plan affects hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) - Leading members of Congress promise to move quickly on President Carter's plan to hold down hospital costs, but a heated debate is expected in both the House and Senate.

In a message Monday to Congress, Carter proposed that total increases in hospital bills be limited to about 9 per cent a year at most facilities. Hospital costs have been going up about 15 per cent a year, twice the national inflation rate.

The legislation would limit reimbursements to hospitals from all sources: Medicare, Medicaid, Blue Cross, commercial insurance and individuals.

Carter said the plan could save the public, the government and health insurance companies $2 billion the first year and $5.5 billion in 1980.

Past attempts to put a 9 per cent lid on increases in Medicare and Medicaid payments for hospital care have failed amid heavy opposition from hospitals and medical associations.

because of the proximity to other taxing offices. Abstract offices also like the downtown location, and Fox said he makes trips to the courthouse and abstract offices for information. Fox pointed out he also was required to make trips to the administration office.

Holder said he had been contacted by two individuals about renting or buying other properties, one of them downtown. Gentry said he also knew of office space available for rent in the downtown area.

Asked about paying for construction of a building, Holder said it was possible for the school district to issue time warrants or certificates of indebtedness and budget the payments. Trustees decided to consider the proposals and discuss the action to be taken at their next regular meeting.

Trustees had many questions on the "middle school" concept proposed by the superintendent. Holder mentioned several advantages of the system - one being that a seven-point day could be utilized for 6th through 8th grades. The ninth grade is required to have six-period schedules. Holder estimated that more than half of the students need additional reading instruction in the seventh and eighth grades.

Holder pointed out that by doing away with Shirley Elementary would also solve the problem of it being the only ethnic identifiable school in the system. Shirley has about 72 per cent minority enrollment - Mexican American and black. HEW recommends that no more than 66 per cent be of minority races.

"I know it would be very difficult to make the change by the start of the next school year, but the timing would be good," Holder said. Ray Todd, Stanton principal, has resigned effective at the close of the school year, and Holder pointed out that with the change in systems - the school would not have to replace a principal. The plan also would eliminate some teachers.

The tentative proposal would call for kindergarten through fifth grade at Shirley being redistributed in other elementary schools. Holder said most of them would probably go to Aikman school, while a few on the south boundary of Shirley would be bused to Tierra Blanca.

One question from a trustee concerned the effect on the bands. Holder suggested that involving sixth graders in the band system would help. Another question concerned competition in University Interscholastic League events. Ninth graders would be eligible, said Holder, but he suggested keeping two ninth grade teams in athletic programs.

One trustee asked about the cafeteria at Shirley, and the superintendent said money could be saved by doing away with that facility. The space might be used for a homemaking class or used in some other way in the high school system. The high school cafeteria uses a split shift to feed, and participation is lighter in high school.

One junior high principal said he thought the maturity level would be better with the 6-7-8 combination.

The board went into closed session on two matters. One session was requested by Rinaldo Garcia, who wanted to discuss a disciplinary situation at one of the schools. The other item on the agenda was discuss a lawsuit against the school.

Suit

contract for the 1975-76 school year, and he filed suit against the school. He alleged that involvement with the Hereford chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) caused the board not to issue another contract. The school contended that his "hostile attitude" and uncooperative actions were the only reasons for not rehiring the teacher.

Woodward sought $400,000 in his civil suit in July, 1975. In U.S. District Court in Lubbock Oct. 13, 1976, Judge Halbert Woodward ruled that the teacher had a right to reinstatement, back pay and $6,000 in attorney's fees. The Hereford school board decided to appeal that decision.

KIDCO Head Optimistic About Chances In Hearing

SAN DIEGO (AP) - The State Board of Equalization is investigating an allegation that a horse-manure distribution firm, whose officers range from 9 to 14 years in age, owes back taxes.

The children retained their own lawyer to fight the state tax collectors and a hearing was scheduled for today.

"I think we have a good chance of beating it," said Richard Cessna Jr., 12, the president of KIDCO. "We shouldn't be taxed, we're just kids. They ought to be glad we're out working on our own instead of being out someplace, busting windows."

The action involved KIDCO, Inc., a corporation founded and run by the children of Richard Cessna, who operates the equestrian center at San Diego Country Estates, a planned community in Eamona, Calif.

Cessna said the children let him sit in at board meetings, but make their own decisions.

The firm, whose primary service is selling manure and wood shavings from the stable floors in the form of compost for nurseries and golf courses, incorporated in the British West Indies last year to prevent it from being subject to California taxes.

KIDCO contends the taxes are paid when horse feed and wood shavings are purchased, so there should be no tax on the back end.

Carter Wants To Limit Patient Fees

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter is ready to ask Congress to limit the fees hospitals may charge patients for rooms and services, a move that could save the government and consumers nearly $2 billion in 1978, government sources say.

Legislation to implement the plan by putting a cap on hospital charge increases is expected to go to Congress today.

The Carter administration also plans to send to Capitol Hill its legislative proposal to launch a new program of comprehensive health assessment and treatment for poor children, the sources said. President Carter has asked for $180 million to get that program started.

The limit on hospital charges, which the government has called "the first step in making national health insurance financially feasible," would benefit most consumers indirectly by slowing the upward spiral of health insurance premiums.

The cost of health care in America has been rising at about 15 per cent a year, and consumers pay those increases in the form of rising taxes and health insurance premiums. This rate of increase is more than twice the anticipated six per cent rise in over-all consumers prices this year.

The government estimates that American work about one month of the year to pay for their health care and almost two weeks of those earnings go to hospitals.

Nearly 90 per cent of hospital charges are paid by government Medicare and Medicaid programs or by Blue Cross and the private health insurance industry.

The child health proposal is designed to set up a state-run program to seek out poor children in need of medical attention and assure that those children who need treatment get it.

It eventually will replace the existing Early and Periodic Screening of Medicaid children, a program the administration says never has worked.

Paul Harvey News

Let's Stay Young Together

Eula Weaver of suburban Los Angeles had a stroke and was left mostly paralyzed.

Additionally, her hands and knees were agonizingly arthritic.

She was 77 and faced with spending the rest of her life as an invalid - or she might force herself to start walking again.

Even with the pills it was painful, but she was determined to walk again.

She went on a diet of mostly green vegetables and fresh raw fruit, less than three ounces of meat a day.

Now it's 10 years later. Eula Weaver is 87. No more pills. She jogs a mile every day.

And on an indoor bicycle she pedals the equivalent of 10 miles before dinner.

In the National Senior Olympics these last three years she has won six gold medals.

This is not to suggest that every stroke victim should jump from his wheelchair and start running.

What it does suggest is that, allowing for physiological variables, we could all take better care of ourselves.

Recently the American Medical Assn. sought, from the most recent statistical evidence, to ascertain whether our nation's health is in fact improving.

Despite their best efforts to be definitive, the researchers had to submit two answers to the question - yes and no.

Our nation's death rate is now the lowest in history.

In eight years, the number of Americans over 65 has increased from 18.8 million to 22.3 million.

Ten years ago you could expect to live 68.4 years.

Today you can expect to live 70.2 years.

Of the 10 leading causes of death 10 years ago, nine have been reduced.

But on the debit side of the ledger, more Americans are killing themselves - unnecessarily, voluntarily, directly or indirectly.

Knowingly we continue to jeopardize our health by smoking, drinking, overeating and underexercising.

So the death rate from cancer continues to rise.

And the death rate from suicide and homicide continues to rise.

And though we are living longer and have more healthy years - we also have more invalid years.

And that is why the AMA's researchers had to say that medicine is winning that war against diseases, losing the war against excesses.

In the four nations where life expectancy is greater than ours - Sweden, Japan, United Kingdom and France - per capita use of cigarettes is less.

Dr. Alan Richardson of Illinois State University quotes Dr. Alex Comfort, "Until the mid-19th century, infections remained a mystery. Until Louis Pasteur, bacteria remained a mystery."

He is convinced that our generation will learn enough about the protein link with the aging process to control it.

But while science co-operates to extend our lives, excesses conspire to shorten them.

'Controlled Torque' Engine May Save Fuel

LOS ANGELES (AP) - An electrical engineer has designed a more efficient electric motor which he says could save one to two million barrels of oil per day if it is put into wide use.

Cravens Wanlass told a news conference Monday that his "controlled torque" motor uses up to one-third less power than most electric motors. State officials termed the motor a "major billion-dollar breakthrough for energy conservation."

The Santa Anna, Calif., engineer said the motor, developed in his home workshop, uses more efficient windings and larger capacitors - energy-storing devices - than conventional motors. The larger capacitors allow more energy to be stored within the motor for use as needed.

"It's not an obvious design... it looks like a dumb thing to do," Wanlass said.

Glenn Bjorklund, a spokesman for Southern California Edison Co., which tested the device, said, "No one ever thought about doing it the way he did."

Wanlass said the new motor could be used in air conditioners, swimming pool filter motors, washing machines and other appliances as well as industrial machinery.

He said it would cost about $40 to modify a current one horsepower electric motor to his design. But he added that motors in some appliances, such as refrigerators, would be more difficult to convert because of their casings.

Several hundred of the motors have been tested in Southern California for several months, Wanlass said. Officials at a fast-food operation in Santa Monica said the 11 motors tested at the establishment since February resulted in a 20 per cent power savings.

Wanlass estimates that between one and two million barrels of oil could be saved each day for every 500 million motors converted. The United States consumes 18 million barrels of oil per day.

A study for the Federal Energy Commission last year found that more than half of all the electricity generated in the nation runs electric motors in industry, business and homes.

Waste, Mismanagement Said Responsible

For High Hospital Costs

FT. MITCHELL, Ky. (AP) - The president of a 12,000-member medical group representing interns and residents said hospital costs have skyrocketed because of waste, mismanagement and an emphasis on profits rather than patients.

Dr. Dan Asimus, president of the Physicians National House-staff Association, said Hospital costs have soared over 1,000 per cent in the last 10 years compared to the average increase in the cost of living in the rest of the American economy.

"Health care is outrageously expensive and the quality isn't as good as advertised," Asimus said at the conclusion of the group's national convention here. He added it is time interns and residents participate in formulating creative solution to the problem.

He said PNHA is "determined to produce some real changes in the way health care is delivered," Asimus said improved patient care could come about through bargaining. "At times, we've been forced to strike over ridiculously long hours, inadequate nursing coverage, broken equipment and sloppy administration before the hospital management would listen and seriously negotiate with us," Asimus said.

Jay Dobkin of New York was elected to succeed Asimus, whose term expires June 30. Dobkin, who has testified in favor of a law to include interns and residents under the National Labor Relations Act, said that interns and residents will "provide an avenue for lowering hospital costs by involving people closest to the problem."

Any solution to the issue, he said, must involve "the unique perspective of interns and residents who deliver approximately 80 per cent of direct physicians care in the nation's teaching hospitals.

Ann Landers Prayer For Police

Dear Ann Landers: On Christmas Eve I became engaged to the most wonderful man who happens to be a police officer in Newark, New Jersey. He presented the ring to me in a jewelry box. It was a surprise.

In the drawer that held the ring, I now keep this prayer which I would like to share with your readers:

MY PRAYER FOR POLICEMEN

O Almighty God,
Whose great power and eternal

Wisdom embraces the universe,
Watch over all policemen and Law enforcement officers everywhere.

Protect them from harm
In the performance of their duty

To stop crime, robbery,
Riots and violence.

We pray, help them keep our streets

And homes safe, day and night.

We recommend them to your loving care

Because their duty is dangerous.

Grant them strength and Courage in their daily assignments.

Dear God, protect these brave men.

Grant them your almighty protection.

Unite them safely with their families after duty has ended. -- Marilyn

DEAR MARILYN: What a beautiful poem. My thanks for the privilege of sharing these sentiments with my readers.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our four-year-old son has a walk exactly like his dad's. Everyone thinks it is terribly funny because Claude is a little bow-legged and pigeon-toed and his walk is -- well, there's nothing quite like it. You can tell it's him three blocks away.

We got into a discussion about his the other evening and Claude insists the boy is imitating him. I do not agree. My theory is that a child can inherit a walk from a parent in the same way he inherits blue eyes or red hair. Am I right about his? Settle the argument, will you please? -- The Wife

DEAR WIFE: Children don't inherit a parent's walk in the same sense that they inherit blue eyes or red hair. But you're close.

What your child DID inherit was his father's hip and bone construction, and that's what produces the distinctive walk.

CONFIDENTIAL to Am I A Stinker?: Yes. Any man who takes up three years of a woman's time owes it to her to say "farewell" in person.

CONFIDENTIAL to Terribly Hurt: Forget it. You've lived this long without Wedgwood dishes. Ben Franklin was right when he said, "If you want to know the true character of people, watch them divide an inheritance."

Members of Merry Mixers Square Dance Club served as host couples Saturday evening at the Bull Barn, where 24 squares participated in the Grand March of the annual Spring Fling.

John Poindexter, vice president of Region III, Panhandle Square Dance Association (PSDA), delivered the invocation. Benny Womble, president of the Merry Mixers, issued the welcoming address.

Roy Johnson of Amarillo called for the Grand March, which was led by the officers of the Merry Mixers Club. More than 30 squares danced to the calling of Johnson. Les Grumke of Amarillo cued the rounds between square dance tips.

Also recognized as special guests were all club sweethearts, including Emma Kuper of Hereford.

Door prizes, donated by local merchants, were given away between tips. In addition to Hereford guests, out-of-town visitors represented clubs in Amarillo, Tulsa, Dimmitt, Friona, Nazareth, Littlefield, Plainview, Del Rio, Dumas, North Hollywood, Calif. and Clovis, N.M.

PETS AVAILABLE
...this week at city shelter

ANIMAL ORPHANS

These homeless pets are available for "adoption" at the City Animal Shelter.

The animal action committee of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division is presently working with City Animal Control Officer Butch Trevino in the "adoption" of available dogs and in the return of stray dogs to their rightful owners.

Dogs which are not placed in a home within a reasonable length of time will be destroyed. The committee urges Hereford citizens to comply with Hereford City Ordinance N. 970, which states:

"It shall be unlawful for the owner of any dog to allow such a dog to run or be at large upon any street, alley or public place in said City, or on the property of others than the owner of said dog, unless such dog shall be at all times restrained by rope, chain, leash or other means of control sufficient to reasonably control the act and conduct thereof.

"Any police officer or animal control officer of the City shall take custody of any dog running at large upon any street, alley or public place in the City, in violation of this Ordinance, and shall impound same in a suitable place, provided by the City for such purpose, under the terms and conditions of this Ordinance."

Citizens are also asked to keep their pets currently immunized against rabies and distemper and to have them properly collared and identified with a City permit number tag and rabies vaccination tag. This is to be done annually.

Proper tagging will also aid the animal control officer in contacting the owner immediately should the dog or cat be lost.

The animal action unit also strongly recommends that animals be neutered or spayed in order to curb the growth of the local animal population.

Compliance with the City ordinance and other committee suggestions will help prevent "the heartbreak of a homeless, unwanted and perhaps sick or injured dog being put in a crowded cage with little hope of reprieve."

Animals available this week at the City shelter include:
MALES
Four black and white puppies. A black and white Boston terrier with bobbed tail. A "unique" big gray and black dog. A light tan dachshund type with brown collar. A tiny tan and white dog with white collar. (pictured) A shaggy white medium-sized dog.

Miss Monical Earns College Chorus Award

Myrna Monical, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Monical, 717 Irving, received the A Cappella Chorus Award in a special honors convocation at Lubbock Christian College April 22.

The award goes each year to a person in the 65-member A Cappella Chorus who gives outstanding service to the group.

A senior music major Miss Monical has sung in the chorus for the past two years. She has been a chorus officer and a member of the Women's Sextet, which performs special numbers during A Cappella performances.

Her musical talents have also seen her active in the LCC Royal Blue Band; orchestra; Music Masters, the campus musical club, and Sunny Days, a small singing group. She also has been a member of Lambda Omega Alpha social club.

Miss Monical graduated from Hereford High School in 1972, where she was a member of the band and had parts in school musicals.

Dawn Woman To Graduate

WTSU--Approximately 1,000 West Texas State University students are scheduled to receive diplomas in spring graduation exercises May 14 at 4:30 p.m. in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum.

The ceremonies will honor the 747 May graduates and the 272 December 1976 graduates who have filed for diplomas and who have successfully completed all degree requirements.

Graduating from Dawn is Margaret Smith of Box 86 with a degree in elementary education.

COLORFUL, COLORFUL -- El Buzon of Texas created this original for 1977 Maid of Cotton Ellen Clark. The halter-wrap cotton dress is styled with a turquoise bodice and a flower-garden print skirt in brilliant shades of turquoise, orange, yellow, hot pink, green, and vermilion. White cotton eyellet trims the neckline.

EAT for the Heart of It

by Janita Oswald,
Nutrition Task Force Chairman
American Heart Association

You've already learned that the end products of digestion—fatty acids, amino acids, and sugar—can be burned for energy; the liberated energy, in turn, is stored in the magical ATP molecule.

But what about the other aspect of the story. How do the basic building blocks get reconverted into body tissue?

This is done by a process of building up from smaller integral parts is called synthesis. In a way, an oversimplified way, it's the reverse of digestion. With the important difference that now the molecules are tailor-made for the part they play in each cell. If, for some reason, the diet is deficient in an essential amino acid or an essential fatty acid, there will be defects in the newly synthesized molecules... and eventually a breakdown in the metabolic machinery.

Minerals, besides their own metabolic tasks, are also interrelated in human physiology to supply a number of needs. Zinc, manganese, copper and cobalt are required for the proper operation of many key intracellular enzymes molecule.

Iron is an essential part of hemoglobin which carries oxygen in the red blood cell, and is also found in myoglobin, the oxygen-binding pigment located in muscle. Calcium forms the bulk of bones and teeth, helps blood clotting, controls the excitability of the nervous system, exerts an effect on the heartbeat, and activates several enzymes. Phosphate is closely linked to calcium in bones and teeth, is a vital part of the energy-storing ATP molecule in and is involved in fat and carbohydrate metabolism.

Sulfur is abundant in cartilage, tissue proteins and liver bile. Sodium and chloride, the constituents of ordinary table salt, are the chief minerals in blood plasma and extracellular fluid and are the dominant minerals controlling the distribution of body water.

Potassium is the chief intracellular mineral, and proper ratio of intracellular potassium to extracellular sodium is absolutely essential for virtually every life-sustaining process taking place in the body tissue. Iodine is part of the thyroid hormone. Fluorine, beneficial in the prevention of tooth decay, is often added to dentifrices and drinking water for this purpose.

CRAB-STUFFED BAKED SOLE (Serves 4)

- 4 fillets of sole
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 3 teaspoons water
- 1/2 cup cracker crumbs
- 1 small can crabmeat
- 1 small can mushrooms
- 1/2 cup margarine
- 2 tablespoons sherry
- 1/2 cup non-fat milk

First, freshen 4 good sized strips of fillet of sole in 2 teaspoons of lemon juice mixed with 3 teaspoons of water. Set this aside while you make the stuffing of one small can of crabmeat, rinsed, drained and flaked, combined with a small can of mushrooms. Include liquid from the mushroom can. Add 1/2 cup of soft or melted polyunsaturated margarine, mix with 1/2 cup finely ground cracker crumbs, 2 tablespoons sherry and 1/2 cup non-fat milk. Mix all of this thoroughly, spread a tablespoon of toothpicks. Place on a greased baking pan, sprinkle bread crumbs which you have combined with paprika and dot with soft polyunsaturated margarine. After all the fillets have been rolled, bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

Confederate-Yankee Won't Choose A Side

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Juanita Hackett, a 72-year-old guide at the Vicksburg National Military Park, has a ready answer when Yankee tourists ask if she resents the North because of the Civil War.

She explains that her mother married a Yankee soldier, and when he died, she married a Confederate cavalry veteran. "I tell them that my father was a Confederate soldier and my half-sister's father fought for the North and that she and I live together," said Mrs. Hackett.

"Then I tell them that our grandfather was a Confederate soldier and I ask them what do they think."

Mrs. Hackett and her sister, Ella Malone, 83, both widows, planned nothing special today as Mississippi observed Confederate Memorial Day, a holiday celebrated on various dates by Southern states.

But each month is a time for remembrance, since the half-sisters attend regular meetings of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

"My sister was able to become a member because of our grandfather, but I don't think she tells everybody that," Mrs. Hackett said.

Mrs. Malone and her sister bought a home in Vicksburg four years ago and "while we have our spats, it's not about our fathers. Actually we live together quite peaceably."

Their mother was Minnie Lauderdale, the daughter of Confederate soldier Teace Lauderdale, an Alabama native who went to war in 1861 and served four years, his last year as a prisoner of war.

Minnie Lauderdale was 17 when she married Levi Fletcher, a 40-year-old Yankee soldier from Maine. Mrs. Malone was born in 1893 and a few years later Fletcher died of cancer. Mrs. Fletcher then married Victor Levi, a Confederate cavalry veteran from Louisiana who went to war when he was 12 or 13, and Mrs. Hackett was born in 1904.

As Mrs. Hackett puts it: "My husband used to tell me, 'Please

Adair Crew Battles Well Fire

STAVANGER, Norway (AP)—A team of U.S. "well-killers" maneuvered a barge alongside a drilling platform in the North Sea today as they prepared to begin the tricky operation of capping a runaway oil well.

Meanwhile, the Norwegian government appointed a blue-ribbon panel to investigate the first blowout in Norway's offshore Ekofisk oil field.

The blowout is developing into a major issue for the fall general election and oil companies were worried that the minority Labor government would cancel plans for test drilling off northern Norway, which is to begin next year.

Heavy seas and gale-force winds on Monday thwarted plans to plug the well, which has been spewing oil and gas since a blowout Friday night. The storm suddenly faded away to a southern breeze early today, allowing Texas well-cappers

Boots Hansen and Richard Hattenberg to move the 400-foot, pipe-laying barge Choctaw into position.

The storm also broke up more than 80,000 acres of spilt oil. One 15 1/2-mile-long slick stretched southeast toward Denmark 180 miles away while a second slick 6-to 10-mile-long look a more northeasterly course toward Norway, 167 miles away.

The wind changes frequently in the North Sea in the spring and the slick is expected to drift for several days and perhaps weeks before reaching shores.

The two Texans, associates of the "renowned American oil well fire fighter Red Adair, must first get necessary equipment aboard "Bravo," the oil-drilling platform operated by Phillips Petroleum Co. of Bartlesville, Okla. Then they plan to clean up around the production well to reduce the danger of explosion and fire.

The well-pluggers, carrying oxygen masks and fire-resistant overalls, will have to work in a shower of brownish-red oil that is spurting 60-feet high and water from the fireboat hosing down the platform to prevent a spark from igniting the geyser of fuel.

When the weather permitted, Hansen, Hattenberg and a work crew were going to hoist a shutoff valve from the barge to the platform with a crane and try to bolt it over the wellhead to stop the flow.

In that first step was successful, more valves were to be added and then mud was to be pumped down the 10,000-foot-deep well to check the pressure and hold the oil and gas down. This could bring the well completely under control in two or three days, experts said.

The Phillips Petroleum Co., which operates the well, said a drilling rig was en route to the scene, and a new well would be drilled to divert the flow if the capping operation failed.

Waves of 20 feet and winds up to 50 miles per hour halted attempts to cap the well Monday and also stopped efforts to contain the growing oil slick with floating booms and skimming equipment.

The oil company estimated between 3.16 million and 3.78 million gallons of oil had gushed from the well by noon Monday. It estimated the continuing flow at between 840,000 and 1.05 million gallons a day.

Phillips said the rough weather Monday might have scattered and broken down some of the slick, which the company said covered an area six miles wide and 15 to 20 miles long. Southwest winds were pushing it in the direction of Norway's southern coast 170 miles away. But the Norwegian Meteorological Institute said even gale winds would only move it about 15 miles a day.

A task force of 11 ships was assembled to try to clean up the spill.

All Quiet On The Lebanese Front

BY FAROUK NASSAR
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—A cease-fire has been restored in Beirut after three days of fighting between Syrian troops and Palestinian guerrillas.

Palestinian sources said more than 80 persons were killed in the worst battling since Syrian forces halted Lebanon's civil war five months ago.

Apparently many of the dead were noncombatants caught between the opposing forces. Hospitals were filled with wounded.

The Syrians launched a house-to-house search for guerrillas of a pro-Iraqi Palestinian organization and a pro-Libyan Lebanese Moslem group after two Syrian soldiers were killed Friday night.

Fighting raged through the weekend over a square mile of one of Beirut's most densely populated slums adjoining the city's two main Palestinian refugee camps.

The Syrians completed their search Monday and sent Saïqa Palestinian guerrillas, which the Syrian government controls, to patrol the area. Meanwhile, guerrillas from Yasir Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization replaced the radical Palestinians, and the Saïqas attacked the PLO men.

A cease-fire was arranged Monday night. Afterward only an occasional shot was heard.

A PLO communique blamed the fighting Monday on "unruly elements that managed to start trouble in areas close to refugee camps."

The communique said PLO forces "deployed in hot spots and silenced all sources of fire." It appealed "to all parties concerned to exercise restraint so that the cease-fire will hold."

The city of Las Vegas, Nev., was founded in 1905 by the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad Co.

don't get started talking on your family, because I could never get it straight."

Mrs. Hackett said she enjoys answering tourists' questions as she accompanies them on trips through the winding roads of the 1,800-acre military park marking the site of the Civil War siege of Vicksburg.

"I think they enjoy hearing my story and I have never known another person like our mother—you know, someone married to both a Northern and a Confederate soldier," she said.

Think how much less municipal projects would cost if someone could only find a way to eliminate those expensive feasibility studies.

R & R REFRIGERATION

When you have 21 years of experience under your belt working on large industrial refrigeration units, commercial and residential heating and cooling, you can pretty well consider yourself an expert in your field.

When you have a unit that is malfunctioning and you desire an expert to repair it, then all you need to do is pick up your phone and call Robert Rhoton, owner of R & R Refrigeration. The firm is Hereford's exclusive dealer for the world famous Westinghouse line. Rhoton does service on all makes of commercial, industrial and residential heating, cooling and refrigeration. He was quick to point out that with home appliances such as kitchen ranges and refrigerators are not serviced by his firm, due to the workload involved with the larger units.

The firm is also dealer for the efficient Heat Sentry attic ventilator fan, which when installed in your home, helps cut cooling expense during the summer months.

The Rhotons moved to Hereford from Lubbock nearly 11 years ago. Robert and his wife Nell have three children, Teresa, married and employed with the Hereford Brand; Dale, 17 and a junior at Hereford high school and Lynette, a freshman at La Plata junior high. The Rhotons are active in the First Baptist Church.

Rhoton stated that his work leaves little time for recreation, but when the radio call for volunteer firemen goes out, he is one of the first to respond. He has been an active member of the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department for the past 5 1/2 years. Rhoton is also a member of the Noon Kiwanis Club and a former member of the club's board of directors.

Advertising Revenue To Climb This Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Daily newspaper advertising revenue in the United States is expected to climb 10 per cent this year, according to the president of the Newspaper Advertising Bureau.

Jack Kauffman told publishers attending the bureau's annual meeting Monday that 1977 revenues will top 1976 by an estimated $1 billion.

Local retail advertising will be up 10 per cent, national advertising 13 per cent and classified 9 per cent, Kauffman said.

The session was held in conjunction with the American Newspaper Publishers Association convention.

Coal Slurry Bill Given Chance For Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) - A coal slurry pipeline bill which could save Texas consumers money has a good chance to win congressional approval this year, Rep. Bob Eckhardt said Monday.

Eckhardt and Rep. Abraham Kazen, both Texas Democrats, held hearings on the bill, which would allow pipeline builders to take land through eminent domain.

Similar bills are pending in the legislatures of Texas and several other western states.

Eckhardt said a federal law would insure that no single state could prevent construction of a pipeline by refusing to grant authority for land condemnation.

The pipelines could be particularly important to Texas electricity consumers in the next 25 years. During that time, Texas utilities will be forced to switch from natural gas to coal as fuel for their generators.

Coal slurry is being touted as the most efficient way to move coal from the mines in Montana and Wyoming to the utilities in Texas. One witness, Joe Foy of Houston Natural Gas Corp., told the committee that a pipeline could save $2 billion over its lifetime in comparison to the cost of rail transportation.

Foy's company would like to build a $500 million, 900-mile pipeline from Wyoming to the Gulf Coast. He said that the pipeline could accommodate branches to other Texas cities.

San Antonio might be interested in a branch, Kazen said, because of the experience it has had with the only railroad able to supply it with coal, Burlington Northern.

The railroad's rates per ton of coal for San Antonio were $7.90 in 1973. Recently, it asked for a rate of $17.34, which was lowered to less than $12 by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Foy said a pipeline, once built, would need comparatively few price increases because it would use less labor than railroads.

The railroads are the chief opponents of Eckhardt's bill and of the coal pipelines. They have stymied private efforts to build them by refusing to allow pipelines to cross the rights-of-way they own throughout the West. The Eckhardt bill would give them no choice.

The railroads say they would be losing the best and most profitable coal trade to the pipelines, which could sign up major utilities as customers. That, they say would leave them little incentive to make the investment that will be needed to carry the increased coal production goals President Carter has set for the 1980s.

But despite the railroad opposition, Eckhardt said he was confident the bill will go through. Last year, it failed because environmentalists refused to support it.

But this year, a leading House environmentalist, Morris Udall, D-Ariz., is supporting the bill. The administration has yet to take a formal position, but Federal Energy Administrator John O'Leary indicated that its reservations, if any, will probably be minor when he testified Monday.

More prominent support came Monday from Rep. James C. Wright, the House majority leader. He called it a way to provide "the best intermediate range solution to the energy shortage."

Coal slurry involves pulverizing coal at the start of the pipeline, mixing it with water, and pumping it along to the terminal, where it is dried out and reconstituted.

Human Cannonball Miffed At Media

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Even a self-proclaimed Human Cannonball has a right to privacy, says Hugo Zacchini, who wants the Supreme Court to decide that television news cameras can't record his 15-second act without his permission.

The nation's highest court was told Monday that a Cleveland television station should not have been protected by its First Amendment right to gather the news when it filmed Zacchini's entire act for use on a news program.

In the act, Zacchini is shot from a cannon into a net some 200 feet away. His famous circus family has boasted a Human Cannonball among its members for more than 50 years.

"The news media can't come in and under the guise of the First Amendment capture a performer's entire act," argued Cleveland lawyer John G. Lancione.

He said Zacchini has a "right to publicity" - a cross between a property right and the right to privacy.

Under Ohio law, a performer has a right to exclusive control over the publicity given to his performance. What the high court has to decide is to what extent the news media is allowed to "invade" the performer's right in pursuit of a "legitimate public interest."

The court's decision, expected before the end of its current term in June, could break new legal ground in the area of free press-privacy tensions.

After the film of Zacchini's short flight at the Geauga County Fair was shown on the television station, Scripps-Howard Broadcasting Co.'s WEWS, the performer, sued Scripps-Howard for $25,000.

The Ohio Supreme Court eventually ruled that the appropriation of Zacchini's publicity for his act was an invasion of his privacy, but that the station's First Amendment privileges barred recovery of any money damages.

In other matters Monday, the court:

Canon City, Colo. (AP) - Authorities searched today for five-long-term inmates who fled the Colorado penitentiary after overpowering two guards.

The inmates, who escaped on Monday, had a police radio and at least one gun, prison authorities said.

Some of the roadblocks that had been set up in the Wetmore area, 20 miles southeast of Canon City, were taken down Monday night prison spokesman Nard Clair said. "We're assuming that they're still together and that they're still in the area," he said.

He said off-duty prison guards, the Colorado State Patrol, and Fremont and Pueblo county authorities were taking part in the search.

The five inmates were on a work detail at the prison's license plate plant and were loading supplies when they overpowered the guards and drove away in a prison pickup truck, Clair said.

One guard, Lt. Dale Erts, was bound with heavy packing tape and was left in the north compound, which is outside the main prison walls but surrounded by fences. The other guard, Lt. L. R. Lick, was forced to ride on the running board of the truck so guards in the watchtower wouldn't get suspicious.

The prisoners then used the guards' keys to unlock two chainlink gates in a relatively remote corner of the prison grounds, officials said. Once beyond the fence, they released Lick and drove on. Neither guard was injured.

Clair said the inmates abandoned the truck in a residential area and drove off in a waiting car.

Clair identified the escaped convicts as:

--Ted F. Bean, 39, serving 20-to-30 years for robbery and assault on a Denver police officer;

--David L. Anderson, 38, serving a life sentence as an habitual criminal in El Paso County;

--Larry E. Ford, 41, serving 9-to-10 years for first-degree burglary in Fremont County;

--Wesley Massey, 34, serving 20-to-40 years for robbery, aggravated robbery and possession of weapons in El Paso County.

Slumbering Reds Awaken To Swamp Braves, 23-9

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The awakening Cincinnati Reds did not wash away their frustrations Monday night. Instead, they almost washed away the Atlanta Braves.

Apparently determined to prove that anything the Los Angeles Dodgers can do, they can do better, the world champion Reds, who had scored only 25 runs in their previous seven games and went to Atlanta with a four-game losing streak and an embarrassing 4-10 record, unloaded 18 hits and buried the Braves 23-9.

Gen. Sherman could not have sacked Atlanta any better, although the Dodgers teed off on the Braves' beleaguered pitching staff for 16 runs and 16 hits Sunday.

"You don't wash away frustrations with games like these, you do it by winning 2-1 games," said Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson, who benched All-Star catcher Johnny Bench Sunday and threatened to seat other non-producers. "I'd rather see a well-played game than one like this one. Don't get me wrong, I like to win any way we can, but the other kind pleases me more."

This kind is nice when you're on the right end of it, but I don't enjoy them because when you're on the other end it's not very pleasant."

In the only other National League game, the Dodgers whipped the San Diego Padres 7-3 as Ron Cey walloped his sixth and seventh home runs of the season. The St. Louis-Chicago game was postponed by cold weather.

In the American League, the New York Yankees defeated the Baltimore Orioles 9-6, the California Angels trimmed the Oakland A's 11-6 and the Boston Red Sox edged Toronto 6-5 after the Blue Jays won the opener of a doubleheader 4-3.

The Reds scored six runs in the first inning and erupted for 12 runs in the fifth, tying a modern NL fifth-inning record and scoring the most runs against the Braves since they moved from Milwaukee to Atlanta in 1966.

George Foster drove in seven runs with a three-run homer in the first inning, a run-scoring double in the second and an RBI single as well as a two-run homer in the fifth. Bench and Cesar Geronimo also homered.

The Reds' onslaught made it easy for pitcher Jack Billingham although he was reached for 17 hits and all nine Atlanta runs in eight innings.

Dodgers 7, Padres 3
Cey drove in three runs with his two homers and Rick Rhoden won his third straight game with a seven-hitter. Cey, who has hit in all 15 Dodgers' games, increased his National League-leading RBI total of 25, a club record for the month of April.

Randy Jones, last year's Cy Young Award-winner, took the loss and dropped to 1-3. Steven Garvey also homered and Davey Lopes rapped three hits as the Boston Red Sox edged Toronto 6-5 after the Blue Jays won the opener of a doubleheader 4-3.

Yankees 9, Orioles 6
Reggie Jackson answered Baltimore's boobirds with a two-run fifth-inning homer, keying a three-run rally that propelled the Yankees to their sixth consecutive victory. Jackson, who signed a lucrative New York free agent contract after one season in Baltimore in which he played out his option, also legged out a ground double on the wet grass in a two-run first inning and doubled and scored in the eighth.

Thurman Munson also hit a two-run homer for the winners. Jackson was booed continuously and had to be restrained from going after a fan when the game ended.

Manager Billy Martin said a jagged piece of glass was thrown at him and he was struck by a piece of ice. A large plastic container was thrown into right field when Jackson took his position in the seventh inning and about a dozen hot dogs were tossed toward home plate when he batted for the first time.

Angels 11, A's 6
Nolan Ryan allowed 18 base-runners in 5 2-3 innings but came away a winner as home runs by Don Baylor, Tony-Salaaita and Bobby Grich powered California over Oakland. Ryan struck out only four and allowed 10 hits, five runs, walked seven and hit a batter before being relieved in the sixth.

Blue Jays 4-5, Red Sox 3-6
Boston struck for four runs in the seventh inning, including two RBI by Jim Rice, tying the score and Rick Burleson's sacrifice fly scored the winner in the eighth as the Red Sox edged Toronto and split a doubleheader. The Blue Jays won the opener as Otto Velez belted two home runs, the second a two-run shot in the eighth a 3-2 deficit.

Banquet On Tap Tonight

The highlight of the Hereford High School athletic year, the Annual All-Sports Awards Banquet will tip off tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Bull Barn. KPAN sports director Tom Simons will act as master of ceremonies for the event.

All athletes from HHS will be recognized, with special media awards to be presented to outstanding athletes in each sport. In addition, Hereford Brand publisher Speedy Nieman will present an "Athlete Of The Year" award on behalf of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

The banquet is sponsored by the Hereford Whiteface Booster Club.

Baseballers Face Plainsmen Today

By BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

It's a good news-bad news type of day for the Hereford Whiteface baseball squad today. The good news is that the All-Sports banquet for all HHS athletes is tonight...the bad news is that the baseballers will have to face District 4-4A leader Monterey in a doubleheader at Whiteface Field before they can go home to get spruced up for the gala event.

The Plainsmen currently lead the district with a perfect 10-0 mark; and have dropped only 3 of 26 games overall. Hereford, on the other hand, is 1-9 in the loop and 6-16 over the season.

The latest pair of losses came Saturday when the 'Faces' dropped two one-run contests to Plainview, 1-0 and 3-2. But, things were looking better. Herd coach Rick Stewart admits.

"We played as well as we could and still lose," the mentor said. "We were really competitive out there." Stewart was especially pleased with senior Jim Lawson, both on the field and at the plate.

"Jim pitched the second game for us, and looked real good in the 3-2 loss," Stewart said. Lawson, now 0-3 on the year, has been forced to make up some of the slack in the pitching department since Roy Martinez was dismissed from the team recently for disciplinary reasons.

Lawson was also a demon at the plate, connecting on Bulldog pitches consistently. "Jim hit screamers all day, but unfortunately most were right at somebody," the coach said.

The 'Faces will be hard-pressed to defeat the Plainsmen, who are in the midst of a 13-game winning streak. Even more amazing is the fact that the Plainsmen returned only two starters off last year's 26-7 district co-champion team, which eventually lost a playoff to Lubbock High.

Still, the Whitefaces possess the potential to hand Monterey its first loop loss this season, if they can get it all together. But, even scoring a run on the powerful Plainsmen would be an accomplishment after 5-0 and 10-0 losses suffered the first time the two clubs met.

Headed To State

Suzanne Duvall gave Hereford a second state meet qualifier last weekend when she qualified for the girls state track meet which a second place performance in the shot at the regional meet. Duvall will compete in the state qualifier's meet in Bovina this week before traveling to Austin for the state meet in May. She joins Herd golfer Barbara Scott, who finished second in the region golf tourney, as a state qualifier.

NBA Referees Return

By The Associated Press
Tom Heinsohn and Gene Shue won't have substitute referees to kick around anymore.

The coaches of the Boston Celtics and Philadelphia 76ers, who have complained bitterly over the officiating in the National Basketball Association playoffs, will finally have first-string referees to pick on as a result of Monday's strike settlement.

The NBA's 24 striking officials laid down their picket signs and picked up their whistles after reaching an agreement with the NBA to work the remaining playoff games until a contract can be secured.

With the exception and veterans Earl Strom and Richie Powers, two referees who are not union members, the officials walked off the job on April 10, the final day of the regular NBA season. The NBA pressed minor league officials into service.

Among complaints about the inexperienced officials was Shue's protest of Philadelphia's 124-119 quarter-final loss to Boston on Sunday. Shue protested referee Joe Crawford's ruling that awarded Boston 10 seconds to advance the ball to midcourt after the 76ers knocked the ball out of bounds in the backcourt. The 76ers eventually dropped the protest, citing financial considerations.

Boston's victory provided the Celtics with a 2-2 tie in their best-of-seven-game series. The fifth game is scheduled for Wednesday night in Philadelphia.

Three other quarter-final games will be held tonight. Los Angeles at Golden State, Denver at Portland and Houston at Washington. Los Angeles, Portland and Washington all hold 2-1 leads in their series.

Golden State, NBA champions two years ago with virtually the same team, will have the homecourt advantage for the second straight game. The Warriors beat Los Angeles 109-105 Sunday behind Rick Barry's 40 points to stay alive in their Western Conference series.

Denver goes into tonight's Western Conference playoff game at Portland with high scoring center Dan Issel nursing an infected foot. Issel, bothered by the foot in Sunday's 110-106 loss to the Blazers, spent part of the day Monday at a hospital having the foot drained. If Issel can't start, second-year man Marvin Webster will have to carry the load.

Mitch Kupchak, a rookie from North Carolina, has been instrumental in Washington's series with Houston. In the opener at Houston, Kupchak came off the bench to score 32 points and lead the Bullets to a 111-101 victory.

The all-time record for a hole-in-one by a male golfer is 93. For a woman it's 81.

LSC Cinder Meet Nears Completion

KINGSVILLE, Tex. (AP)—East Texas State's Glen Machan has a new Lone Star Conference track record and Southwest Texas, Abilene Christian and Sam Houston State were poised to capture team titles today as the LSC Spring Championships neared completion.

Machan added a quarter of an inch to the conference high jump standard with a y-10R effort, surpassing the 1974 mark set by Randy Rea of Abilene Christian.

After Tuesday's four finals, Abilene Christian literally leaped into the track and field lead with 39 points. The Wildcats, paced by Carl Williams' first-place long jump and fourth-place high jump, snared 37 of their 39 points in the leading events.

Defending champion Angelo State scored 16 points Monday as did East Texas State and Sam Houston.

The team title already has been decided, however, in the tennis competition.

Southwest Texas has already amassed 43 points to runner-up East Texas State's 31. The Bobcats have two singles finalists and one doubles team still alive.

Southwest Texas' Tom Davenport upset the defending singles champ, Dan Hirst of East Texas State, in the day's top match by a 6-3, 3-6, 7-6 count.

The league's golf trophy is yet to be won. After 126 holes of the round-robin schedule, Sam Houston has a two-stroke advantage over Angelo State. Stephen F. Austin is a distant third, 42 swings off the pace.

The individual medalist was to be decided today on the Kieberg County course. David Breen of Angelo State leads the pack with a seven-round total of 516. The players will be allowed to eliminate their worst round before the individual totals are compiled.

Steve Thompson of Stephen F. Austin and John Bader of Howard Payne set the pace Monday with one-over 73s.

Angelo State was expected to make a strong run at Abilene Christian for the track championship, qualifying competitors in nine running events after Monday's preliminaries, compared to six for ACU.
