Business Execs Confiden

NEW YORK (AP)- The two smooth track into the future. big economic conferences of May produced similar public announcements of confidence, but somewhat more as an expression of hope than as a detailed analyses of all the facts.

The London summit conference of the heads of seven large industrial nations resulted in a public commitment to their mutual goals of jobs, trade, growth and price stability.

Change the rhetoric only slightly and you have a description of the major problems facing the big trading nations- the United States. Canada, Japan, Britain, France and Germany. Present problems are corrected in future goals.

Free trade, to discuss just one of these factors, is fine in theory and infinitely difficult in practice. At the moment, seeking protection from foreign imports. To them, free trade is

They had plenty of documentation: personal income up. industrial production rising. capital spending seeming to improve, interest rates and prices showing some signs of holding within limits, housing

Privately, the businessmen were inclined to describe some of the obstacles they fear could slow the economic locomotive and conceivably even derail it. But they didn't claim to know exactly what to do about them.

Business people are a bit worried about President Carter. While they probably feel more secure about the economic philosophy of Carter the President than Carter the candidate, they cling to misgivings.

Is Social Security to be saved various American industries are by higher contributions from business? Are dividends to remain doubled taxes? Will the investment tax credit be raised? Will Carter's policies promote capital investment?

There are more general problems too. Will this nation be able to resolve the energy

While it doesn't have the popular appeal of some issues, it is safe to declare that business is very worried about its ability to raise money for expansion. And in that concern are wrapped a lot of others.

The two conferences therefore were alike in publicly declaring their hope and faith in what wasn't declared publicly but which later becomes obvious anyway, that goals aren't.

It is when you must deal with the real present rather than the ideal future that you recognize how tough it all is day by day. In all such decision somebody must be hurt, and we can't seem to decide who it should be.

Korean General Upset At Withdraw

WASHINGTON (AP)- On orders from a displeased President Carter, the thirdranking U.S. Army general in Korea is flying here for a face-to-face White House confrontation triggered by his public criticism of Carter's plan to withdraw American ground forces from South Korea.

At issue is Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub's public statement that adherence to Carter's plan for withdrawing U.S. ground forces from South Korea over a period of four to five years "will lead to Singlaub was to arrive in Washington today, but White House officials said Thursday they did not know if Carter would see the general Saturday or make him cool his heels until Monday.

Senate To Debate School Finance Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Senate may get its first opportunity today to debate an $820 million school finance bill that includes $335 million in teacher pay raises.

The Senate Education Committee approved the Bill Thursday on a 6-2 vote.

The bill must be passed by the Senate and the House must concur before the bill can go to the governor for signature.

Sens. Pete Senlson, D-Midland, and Bill Patman, D-Ganado, voted against the bill and asked the committee staff to furnish them with an impact statement if the money local districts will be required to raise is cut from $560 million to $450

Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, said the state board is needed to set uniform property tax appraisal guidelines. He suggested failure to do this would invite a federal judge to step in and order uniform standards.

The committee increased. money for maintenance and operation from the present $95 per ADA to $115 in 1978 and $120 in 1979.

Aiking won approval of $15 million in additioinal pay raises for first-and second-year teachers. Beginning teachers wuld be paid $9,024, and after a year would get $9,308.

It is the latest in a string of apparently easy successes which have come Jay's way.

One of six Britons featured in Time magazine's 1974 listing of 150 like world leaders of the future, he has been economics editor of the Times of London newspaper since 1967 and is presenter of the highly rated news program, "Weekend World," on Britain's commercial channel. He is very much a man following in the footsteps of his father, Douglas Jay, also an Oxford graduate who began his career at the Times and on the Economist magazine, then went into politics and became a Labor government minister during World War II. He is still a Labor member of Parliament for a working class district of London.

Peter left Oxford and went to work at the British treasury for 61/2 years, rising to become private secretary to Sir now Lord William Armstrong, the permanent secretary of the treasury.

While still at Oxford, Jay made his first jump into politics by joining the Oxford Labor Club and into journalistm with a weekly column in the Oxford magazine, the Cherwell.

He also met his wife-to-be, Margaret Callaghan.

Jay, whose columns in the Times are followed closely by fellow economists and politicians, has felt free to criticize his father-in-law's party when he disagreed with its policies.

As he heads for Washington, most commentators feel that Callaghan's government will soon be forced into a general election, and current polls indicate Mrs. Thatcher's Tories are favorites to take over the country. It is unlikely that she would keep Jay in Washington.

Jay may not be unhappy at that prospect, since he admits cut. His present income of around $85,000 will be reduced to $31,748 plus $68,000 for

Likud Has Majority In Israel Parliament

By ARTHUR MAX Associated Press Writer

TEL AVIV. Israel (AP) - Late returns from the Israeli election give Menahem Begin's conservative Likud bloc and its potential coalition partners enough votes for a small but effective majority in the 120-member Knesset, Israel's parliament, election committee sources said today.

The unofficial count of civilian ballots from Tuesday's election gave Likud 43 seats in the 120-member parliament while the religous and rightwing partners that are expected to support it had 19 seats. This would give the coalition a total of 62 and a majority of four.

The sources said Likud was expected to pick up another seat from the still incomplete military returns for a total of 63, or majority of six.

Meanwhile, the Labor party, which dominated Israeli politics from the founding of the state in 1948 until the election, rejected Likud leader Begin's invitation to form an all-party unity coalition. The late returns gave Labor 32 seats, one fewer than earlier returns indicted it would win and 19 fewer than its count in the 1973 election.

Begin, first in line to become prime minister, emphasized his opposition to Israel's relinquishing any of the West Bank of the Jordan river with a visit on Thursday to an unauthorized Jewish settlement at Kaddum, near Nablus, the volatile Arab captial of the West Bank. Begin proclaimed the West Bank the "liberated land of Israel" and promised more Jewish settlements to cement Israel's hold on the territory, which it captured in the 1967

The leader of the Labor party, Acting Prime Minster Shirmon Peres, cited this stand in rejecting Begin's invitation to join in a coalition.

Briscoe Calls Plan 'Horrible'

AUSTIN (AP)- Gov. Dolph Briscoe leveled another attack against President Carter's enery's proposals Thursday and promised to continue his assault 'until they are changed."

"They are horrible," Briscoe said of Carter's proposals. "The energy proposals submitted by the President would, if adopted. constitute a disaster for Texas."

"The philosophy behind this energy plan is wrong," he added. "If this program is fully implemented the federal bureaucracy will have a death grip on the energy resources of our

Briscoe made his remarks at the first East Texas Chamber of Commerce Conference on State and National Energy Policies. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., was scheduled to speak, but sent a statement saying he had obligations in Washington.

Briscoe, who has attacked Carter's proposals vigorously since they were introduced April 20, said he plans a series of speeches across the state against them.

Asked if he would support a federal suit to block the federal control on intrastate gas, Briscoe answered, "If we lose in Congress, we must keep all of our options open. We will use production in Texas: that's how every available means to great an impact we are talking prevent federal control of about." intrastate gas."

"It should be clear to growing bureaucracy." The governor said Carter and his energy advisors have turned "a deaf ear" to oil and natural gas-producing states. Texas produces nearly 40 per cent of the nation's oil and natural gas.

'The President contemplates a tax collection of approximately $27.3 billion in 1980 as part of his plan. Approximately $6.6 billion or 24 per cent of this total will be collected in Texas and 60 per cent of this cannot be passed on to other states." Briscoe charged. "That figure of $6.6 billion amounts to the annual value of all agricultural

Briscoe said the energy problem would be solved by deregulation of oil and gas prices. Briscoe's theme was also sounded by Texas Railroad Commissioner Jim Langdon and A.V. Jones, president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America at the ETCC

"You can be sure that our most important fight is to prevent the allocation of gas within Texas to other states," Briscoe added. "If this is carried out it would close factories and put tens of thousands of Texans out of work at a time of peak demand for

Vance, Gromyko Closer To Arms Pact

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)-Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko Saturday reported progress toward a "common framework" for negotiating a new strategic arms limitation treaty.

But Gromyko emphasized that "major, serious difficulties still remain and a great distance still has to be achieved."

As the two top negotiators departed after three days of talks. Gromyko charged that the United States "has not given up its attempts to achieve unilateral advantages" in a new weapons treaty, 'nor has the United States given up its attempts to undermine the security of the Soviet Union.

Vance said at a news conference that he and Gromyko had reached a "general agreement' on a 'common framework of a new treaty to limit nuclear weapons."

But he, too, emphasized that 'substantial differences remain between the two sides on a number of issues" before a final treaty can be drafted and submitted to the U.S. Senate.

Vance said further negotiations would be continued in Geneva, at the ambassadorial level in Washington and Moscow, and at another meeting with Gromyko at the time and place to be

The U.S. secretary told reporters the two superpowers devised a three-tiered approach that may impose temporary restraints on the U.S. cruise missile and the Soviet Backfire bomber

The status of those two weapons has been the key issue blocking a new treaty-SALT II-to replace the five-year old SALT I agreement, which expires Oct. 3 cutbacks in both nations' weapons arsenals and a commitment to begin negotiating further reductions once the new treaty expires in 1985.

Vance said the framework accepted by the two sides included a treaty, a three-year "protocol." and a "statement of conduct" that would pave the way for negotiations on the third weapons

'In our judgement, the talks have been both necessary, useful and also constructive," Vance said. "Progress has been made. We have reached general agreement on a common framework for the SALT II agreement.'

On the Middle East, the other topic of discussion. Vance said both sides agreed the Geneva peace conference should be reconvened in the fall and would "work to

He said American and Soviet diplomats would hold monthly meetings to keep track of developments "as we continue our discussions with the parties."

But the communique noted "the importance of careful preparation before the conference meets." The statement was seen as a Soviet concession to the Carter administration, which has stressed the need for advance planning to insure the success of the conference.

Carter said last month it would be better to delay the conference if prospects for an agreement seemed poor. The Soviets have pressed for an immediate resumption of the talks.

On arms control, the communique did not spell out what form the two sides expected the new treaty to take. (See TREATY, Page 2)

San Jose Wants Organization

BY JIM STEIERT BOB NIGH Brand Staff Writers

Nearly 100 property owners from the San Jose area located south of the Hereford city limits gathered at the Hereford Community Center Friday night to meet with two officials from the State Department of Health office in Canyon in an attempt to formulate a solution to the water supply problem at the Hereford

IN A MARATHON session which lasted over two hours, camp residents listened to explanations, asked questions, and leveled accusations over past problems before a majority of those present indicated with a show of hands that they desire to form a non-profit organization for the provision of water to

John Wear and Joe Vasquez of the State Health Office in Canyon were joined by County Judge Sam Morgan and James Hull, manager of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative and a former director of Water Inc. at the meeting.

Wear opened the meeting by telling the standing room only crowd at the community center that the Canyon health officials "see violations of the state health laws and the hazards which are posed to your health at the camp and to the people around you and we are concerned. We try not to be punitive in the enforcement of health laws, and we are really not trying to sell you anything other than good health. Citizens are entitled to freedom and the pursuit of happiness in this country, but you're not happy or free when you're sick because the water is bad and the sewer system isn't well-planned. And if you become very sick, you might not even remain

Following Wear's opening statements, Jesus Garcia, a resident of the labor camp area for 18 years, made an intense statement concerning Domingo Pesina, the private owner of the labor camp's only water well and the apparent target of some hard feelings among camp residents in the past.

"THERE HAVE BEEN a lot of ill feelings toward Dimongo and many people might have felt that they were being cheated on water charges. But I know that Pesina is a good man. He helped me when I first came to Hereford and didn't know anyone. When I was broke and couldn't pay the rent, he waited for the money. If he did all of this for me and has done what he could to keep the camp supplied with water, he can't be all that bad, and I think we can afford to help out now." Garcia said.

Vasquez explained to the camp residents the advantages which a non-profit water organization could offer them, emphasizing that each individual would be an owner of the water system. and that a slate of officers selected by the members would be in charge of the organization.

"You people would have been eligible for funds to help with the latest water emergency, when the well went out last weekend if you had organized a long time ago, but because you weren't organized, you were ineligible, and you will remain ineligible for any money until you get together." Vasquez stated.

Wear then turned to the subject of livestock within the labor camp, stating, "It's really not right to live right next door to barnyard animals. I realize that many of you want an inexpensive source of meat, but barnyard animals just don't have a place in a concentrated community

WEAR ALSO POINTED out that control of dog packs is another important consideration, as large numbers of free-roaming dogs pause the danger of rabies and the animals could possibly attack small children.

He then explained a number of state and federal laws, and how they apply to the camp.

Prominent among the examples were laws governing open cesspools, abandoned refrigerators and a federal law covering drinking water quality, which will subject a water supplier to a $5,000 per day fine for each day that the water supply does not meet federal standards.

"I don't want to have to find dead children in an old refrigerator, a cesspool, or from typhoid fever or some other disease," he said.

A PROPOSED crackdown on laws governing livestock near habitations apparently met with some resistance during the meeting, as many of those present were set on keeping their animals

One of the camp residents claimed that livestock is kept in many portions of the city of Hereford, but Vasquez disputed the claim after a check with Judge

Stormy Weekend Kills 1 In Oklahoma

By The Associated Press

Powerful storms roared across most of Oklahoma Friday and early Saturday morning, packing tornados, heavy rains, high winds and hail. They left behind one man dead, dozens of damaged homes and businesses, flooding and power failures.

At least 160 persons were forced to evacuate their homes because of the savage storms, according to authorities. Tornados hit Oklahoma City, Edmond, Del City, Midwest City, Altus, Tipton, Chickasha, Maysville, Waukomis, Moutain Park, Fort Cobb, and Bado. Others were sighted, but did not touch down, at sweral areas in the state.

Flooding was widespread, closing roads and stranding numerous cars. The storms moved from west to east across Oklahoma, with only the far western Panhandle section of the state spared from the severe weather.

The storms were concentrated over eastern Oklahoma this morning. Rain was forecast to continue through the morning in western and central sections of the state and through the afternoon in the Hershall V. Cox. 81, of Binger, died when he tripped and broke his neck while running to his storm cellar Friday night,

There were no other reports of serious injuries, although several persons were treated for cuts and bruises.

In the Oklahoma City suburb of Edmond, two tornados damaged between 25 and 30 homes and an apartment complex, with some of the damage severe.

At Tipton, in Tillman County, a tornado hit the southeast edge of the small town, destroying nine homes and heavily damaging 15 others when it cut through a 200 yard wide, quarter mile long section of the town.

About 79 persons were displaced from their storm damaged homes. They were being sheltered at the Tipton High School.

Five cars were washed into a creek in the Oklahoma City suburb of The Village, but no one was injured.

Police said at least three people were in the cars when the vehicles were pulled into the creek, but managed to swim to

Standards Tough Says GM Chairman

DETROIT (AP)-The chairman of General Motors says unless the government loosens pollution standards for 1978 cars, production may stop in three months because manufacturers cannot meet the standards.

The Carter administration has proposed extending 1977 standards through the 1978 model year.

Chairman Thomas Murphy told stockholders at GM's annual meeting Friday that the industry would go ahead under the assumption that the government will change the standards before production begins for the 1978 model year.

"Should any of these steps not occur, should the law not be changed, General Motors and presumably the other manufacturers, domestic and foreign, would have no choice but to cease production for the American market," Murphy said.

House To Undergo Facelift

BY KEITH RIBNICK Brand Staff Writer

A gracious two-story home was built in Hereford at 514 Union. The year was 1906.

In its 71-year history, the house has been bought and sold six times, always as a residential structure.

The house still is a residence, bought only a month ago by the Bonnie Wilson family, currently in the process of remodeling the historic structure. "It (the remodeling job) is hard work and will cost a great deal, but it is enjoyable and will be worth the effort in the long run," said Wilson, a Hereford resident for 28 years.

Wilson is not planning to change the home's historic value, but to upgrade it to modern living standards... after all, 71 years is a long time.

The 514 Union story is as long and colorful as the many coats of paint in the house has endured. The home was constructed as the result of a family quarrel just after the turn of the century. A family living across the street at 515 Union had an argument and several offspring decided that moving out was the only answer. Since children remained dependent on parents in those days, another home was constructed just across the street. This apparently alleviated the family's problems at least until 1915 when the home was sold to a newlywed couple

Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Ferguson bought the house and retained it for 45 years. In the Ferguson's care, the home became a center of community life in the early days of Hereford. Many social functions held in the house were highlighted by the southern and western decor and by the two pianos located on both floors of the home.

Among the distinguished visitors to the Ferguson home was the governor of Kansas, who stayed in the home during a banker's convention in Hereford. Many well-known performers also stayed in the house, as Mrs. Ferguson was a music enthusiast.

To Be Kemodeled

The Bonnie Wilson home, a 71-year-old Hereford landmark, is going through remodeling changes under its new owners. Underway for only a month,

After Ferguson's death, the home was converted into five efficiency apartments by Mrs. Ferguson during World War II. Wilson's. The highlight of the home's 1940- years was the marriage of the Ferguson's daughter, Grace, inside the large home. Many of Hereford's socialites attended and the ceremony and reception was referred to as the 'social event of the decade" in Hereford. Mrs. Ferguson kept possession of the house until 1961 when she sold it "hoping that some other family can find the happiness there that my family

Within the next fifteen years, the house had at least four other owners: Art Stoy, Gary Royal, Earl Yocum and currently, the

"As far as we know, this house had the first central heating system in Texas;" said Wilson, pointing to an old coalburning heater in the home's basement. Wilson has disconnected the heater and is installing a new gas central heating and air conditioning

Upon entering the home, the homes, which are used for new signs of progress do not hide the historic charm of 514 Union. The wooden staircase, the huge picture windows, the creeking floors all seem to be accented by the new carpeting and wallpaper. The Wilsons have completely rewired and replumbed the home, as well as adding bathtubs and showers to the bath areas. The kitchen is loaded with gleaming appliances and new shelving. All the home's closets had to be built in by the Wilson's as there were none in the house when purchased. Each room in the house has generous proportions, such as the upstairs bedroom that measures 15 by 26 feet. There are even "window boxes",

Wilson plans to put vinylsteel siding on the exterior of the home and will add a wide walkway to the front yard. The porches on both levels of the house also will be revamped, according to Wilson.

The Wilson's are attempting to accent the home with modern touches, as well as retaining the charm of the two story

When we first saw the house, we were both interested and inquisitive about it. But, it was the sturdy structure of the house that sold us." said Wilson.

The Wilson's plan to remodel the home and live there permanently....or, at least, for rarely seen in any of today's five years until the job's done.

Castillo Doubtful Of Alien Amnesty

SAN DIEGO (AP)-The commissioner of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service INS says he doubts the Carter administration will favor a proposal for amnesty for illegal aliens who have been in the country longer than 11 months.

Leonel Castillo, who took office eight days ago, also said Congress is not expected to approve a new illegal alien law unless it penalizes employers of aliens and establishes a guest worker program.

The predictions came Friday after the Hispanic Advisory Committee, a group of Spanishsurnamed leaders, advised the INS that all immigrants who arrived before the start of the nation's Bicentennial on July 4 last year should receive amnesty from deportation.

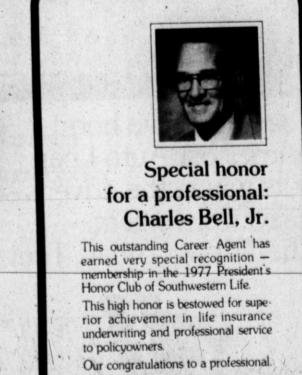

The committee, formed last December to provide the INS with the views of nationwide Latin organizations, also urged expansion of the quota for Mexicans immigrating to the United States. The quota now is 20,000 persons.

President Carter has talked in terms of possible amnesty for ilegal aliens who have been in the United States for three to five years.

The committee, whose recommendations are not binding on the INS, opposed punishment of employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens. The group said it feared the sanctions would lead to hiring discrimination against legal residents of Latin extraction.

DALLAS (AP)- Future trips to

The names and faces of coaches like Tom Landry, Dan Reeves and Mike Ditka are as familiar as many of the team's players to Cowboy fans, while conditioning and flexibility Coach Bob Ward is virtually unknown outside the Dallas organization.

But Cowboy coaches, players and Ward himself agree that as improved scouting and drafting techniques serve to balance the talent in the National Football League, team conditioning and strength will play a bigger part in deciding team success or Gone forever are the days when NFL players can depend on training camp to get in shape, Landry says. Conditioning is now a year-round affair.

"I think the Russians and East Germans proved that in the last Olympics," Landry said at the Cowboy practice field in North Dallas last week. "American athletes always have stressed skills and haven't concentrated on weights and conditioning. With our conditioning program, we're trying to get away from that."

Ward, whose tanned, athletic frame, boyish face and Robert Redford like smile belie his 43 years, hopes the Cowboys are getting a head start on the rest of the NFL one year after he became a full-time member of the Dallas staff.

The year is carefully divided into the season itself, the post-season, and early and late pre-season," he says. "Part of the year is used to build strength and endurance and

After each sprint, Ward would call out the times and record them on a note pad.

"We try to train every factor to the nth degree; speed, speedendurance, pure endurance, pure strength and strengthendurance," Ward said bet-ween races. "This is a speed drill, each man running 10 sprints with plenty of rest in between. Another day, we will run the sprints one after the other to build both speed and endurance. For pure endurance, last Sunday we had some linemen running 10 miles at eight minutes per mile."

The Martin- Jones group whizzes by again and Ward calls out to Martin," Seven- flat."

All-Pro Martin grimaces, obviously disappointed. "I wanted to keep 'em all under seven," he says.

Ward says that one of his favorite expressions is "Fatigue makes cowards of us all.' Translated to his work with the Cowboys, Ward is trying to see that the other teams turn coward before Dallas does. It's not surprising to learn that he earned a doctorate at the University of Indiana after hearing him use phrases like "aerobic capacity" in making a Defensive back Aaron Kyle, who Ward says is the strongest player on the team using a body weight ratio, can "clean" lift 284 pounds. He weighs 185.

Randy White currently is the strongest player on the team, with Jones closing fast. Both should be "clean" lifting over 400 pounds later this year, Ward says.

"Conditioning is a trend in Over a three-month period, the NFL, but I don't think any other team does it like the Cowboys," Ward says. "Tom Landry is a pacesetter, not a follower. Soon, it won't be a trend, it will be a necessity. "Pro football is big business, you've got to do everything you can to get an edge. If you don't you'll be left behind."

That means the St. Louis Cardinals, the Oakland Raiders and everyone else better get their aerobic capacities, conditioning factors and timeperformance continuums together before it's too late.

Hill's No-Hitter Highlights Action

The Red Sox own the early lead in the Pony League baseball race after notching two wins in the first week of action. Norman Hill got the season started with a bang last Tuesday in a no-hit win over the Indians.

Hill's effort produced a 10-1 win for the Sox. He picked up 15 strikeouts along the way while walking just three. Rick Hernandez cost Hill the shutout in the sixth inning by scoring after being issued a walk. Hernandez stole second, and scored when a bad throw on his attempted steal of third went into left field.

Kirk McNaney and Hill led the offensive output for the winners with a pair of hits

Prior to the no-hitter, the Tigers opened their season with an 11-4 conquest of the Twins. Aubrey Richburg picked up the win in a relief role. Richburg whiffed 13 Twins in the stretch. Alan Wartes topped the winners with two hits.

Friday night the Red Sox got their second win with an 11-6 defeat of the Tigers as they banged out three home runs. Tony Pena, Don Delozier, and Steve Bartels all rapped four-baggers for the winners.

In the other game Friday the Indians took a marathon 16-12 win over the Twins: Sammy Martinez led the way for the winners with a home run in the second inning.

Games Tuesday have the Red Sox and Twins clashing at 6 p.m. with the Indians and Tigers meeting at 8:30. Friday's games pit the Indians and Red Sox at 6 and the Twins and Tigers at 8:30.

Maulie Maguires Now A Smash Hit

BY DAVE DVORCHAK

Associated Press Writer BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)- A year ago, a group of women in the Lehigh Valley decided to tackle an old game- rugby. The team, known as the Maulie Maguires, already is a smash

"For a lot of women, it's an interesting experience because it gives us a chance to do something we were never allowed or encouraged to do,"said Carol Lyman, a 25-year-old halfback.

"It was never right to go out and run around in the mud and tackle each other," said Mrs. Lyman, an original member of the team that won all five of its games in its first season.

The Maguires had a tough time fielding a minimum of 15 players for each match last spring. This year, about 25 women are active members.

Four men's teams the first one organized in 1967, have been a rousing success in the area. So the women got in on the act too, overcoming initial timidity and a shortage of experience.

"The men used to laugh at us because we apologized to each Now they're very supportive," said Mrs. Lyman, whose husband plays on one of the men's teams. One is a 5-foot-4 forward affectionately known as "Gretchen the Beast" because of her vicious tackling and high intensity. A darting halfback nicknamed "O.J." adds speed to blend with that power.

"One of the hardest things was practicing against ourselves. We had so few players that we didn't want to hurt each other. That doesn't happen any more," said Mrs. Lyman, who works in public relations. "Most women had watched football on television with their husbands or brothers. It was very tempting to hold onto the right away to keep the play going," she said.

The Maguires are named after a rubgy term. A maul is a player who has been surrounded by players of both teams while trying to hand the ball to a teammate before the other team can kill it.

They placed or scheduled games this spring against women's teams from Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and Philadelphia.

Ex-Nobody Rockets Looking To Future BY MICHAEL A. LUTZ winner and also a controversial Rockets also will improve

AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP)- The Houston Rockets came from nobody status to the brink of the National Basketball Association (NBA) finals in one season, and head Coach Tom Nissalke figures the Rockets have nowhere to go but up.

We've nowhere reached our potential as a team," said Nissalke, who took the Rockets to the fourth best record in the NBAand the Eastern Conference finals before being liminated by Philadelphia.

"Moses Malone is the best rebounder in the league right now and in two or three years he'll be the dominant player in the game," Nissalke said of Malone, acquired from Buffalo prior to the start of the season.

'Then we've got Kevin Kunnert who is only 24 and he'll make tremendous improvement next year." Nissalke said. "This year was the first time he ever got any individual coaching from assistant Del Harris and with more coaching he'll skyrocket."

The seven-foot Kunnert symbolizes the "water buffalo" tab placed on the patterned offense Rockets in the playoffs, but Kunnert and the Rockets almost "buffaloed" the 76ers in the Eastern Conference finals.

Kunnert's deadeye turnaround jumper and rebounding skills helped take pressure off Malone and forced the 76ers to play five-man defense.

Nissalke came to the Rockets last year with the reputation as a

"I told my players before the season started that I expected to have seven or eight confrontations during the season." Nissalke said. "But this team has been amazing. We didn't have one confrontation. Sure, there were some players unhappy because they weren't playing more but we stuck together as a team."

Nissalke's choice to make Maryland guard John Lucas the first player taken in last year's NBA draft, also proved a smart move in the final series against Philadelphia.

Lucas became an almost immediate starter and quarterback of the Rockets' offense and led them to the NBA Central Division title. He had not been as effective in the first round of the playoffs against Washington and the first two games, both losses, against Philadelphia.

But when Lucas finally got control of the game's tempo, the Rockets rebounded from a 3-1 deficit in the series with a victory at Philadelphia last Sunday, and would have forced the series to the seventh game if they had not lost a controversial sixth game 112-109 Tuesday

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)-Clyde Lee, a former National Basketball Association player is reported to be among the candidates for the head basketball coaching job at Austin Peay State University in Clarksville.

Lee, a onetime standout at Vanderbilt University here, was reported to be among some 70 candidates.

The Austin Peay job opened up last week when Lake Kelly resigned to assume the head coaching position at Oral Roberts University in Tulsa.

A change in plans would apparently be necessary if Lee were to take the Austin Peay job. He has already accepted the head coaching post at Franklin Road Academy in Tennessee.

It may or may not be true that nothing is deader than yester-day's news, but few things have more lives than the paper the news is printed on. Yesterday's newspaper can become tomorrow's newsprint, shopping bag, stationary, tissue, con-tainerboard, insulation, egg carton, building material and a

Full metric speed ahead

The nation will take a major step toward eventual universal adoption of the metric system next year when highway speed limit signs are changed from miles per hour to kilometers per Under regulations being drawn up by the Federal Highway Administration, the conversion will take place in a 90-day period ending Sept. 30, 1978, following a massive public awareness and information campaign.

Wisely, the agency has decided not to initiate a dual system.

with signs showing both kilometers per hour and miles per hour. The only way to learn a foreign language is to jump in and swim without depending upon the constant support of translation, and to most Americans, metric is a foreign language.

Easing the changeover will be the fact that 1978 model cars will come equipped with metric speedometers and odometers. Older models can be converted with a transparent stick-on

Motorists will also be able to exceed the speed limit with slightly better consciences under the metric system. Since the present national speed limit of 55 m.p.h. translates into 88.5 k.p.h., the plan is to make the new limit 90 k.p.h. Other limits will also be rounded to the nearest easily recognizable

It costs more to be poor

The price of poverty has just gone up $350.

A typical nonfarm American family of four with an income of less than $5,580 a year is now considered poor; says the U.S. Labor Department. In 1976, the official poverty level was $5,- 500 for the same hypothetical family.

It also costs $241 more than it did last year for an urban family of four to maintain an "austere" standard of living. The department estimates the no-frills budget at slightly more than $10,000. Anything above that is sheer gravy - though don't tell that to the family earning $16,236, the new 'moderate" standard of living income.

The reason, of course, is that old bugaboo called inflation, which like Alice in Wonderland, keeps us all running harder just to stay in the same place.

Singular question

Now that they have been placed on the White House breakfast menu, everyone should know what grits are. But is there such a thing as one grit?

Dr. Frederick C. Mish, an editorial director of the G. & C.

Merriam Company, was recently asked if grits, a popular dish among President Carter's southern countrymen, came in the singular. While in the realm of Platonic ideal forms there may exist such a thing as a single grit of hominy or other grain," he says, there is no singular word in that sense. Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary defines "grits" as "coarsely ground hulled grain," which is not to be confused with "grit," meaning sand or "unyielding courage in the face of hardship or Committees serve a vital function in our society. That functions is best described by Dr. Sharu Hangnekar's rules for decision avoidance.

Rule 1: If you can avoid a decision,

Rule 2: If you can avoid a decision, don't delay it. Rule 3: If you can get somebody else to avoid a decision, don't avoid it yourself. Rule 4: If you cannot get one persons to avoid the decision, appoint

Committees are best defined as:

(1) A collection of the unfit chosen from the unwilling by the Incompetent to do the unnecessary.

(2) A group of people who, individually, can do nothing but collectively meet and decide that nothing can be done.

(3) A group which succeeds in getting something done when; and only when it consist of three members, one of whom happens to be sick and another absent.

I visited the United States Senate a few years ago. I had visions of sitting in the gallary while great issues were discussed there on the floor. When I walked in, I was handed a little pamphlet. I called that pamphlet the "Pardon us while we do nothing" explanation sheet. The pamphlet tried to explain why the Senators were not in the Senate room. It droned on about how the great work was done in the bargaining tables back stage. "If your Senator was not on the floor, they were probably hard at work in some very imporant committee meeting." On the floor of the Senate there were two Senators. One was reading something into the Congressional record. The other would interrupt on occasion to congratulate the reading Senator for his work on this project. The presiding officer was asleep.

That pamphlet was supposed to make me feel better. "Your Senator is not here, he is in a committee." If they think I feel better knowing our government is the product of a committee they have never heard the story about that giraffe.

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith County grass farm applies some heavy thinking to a pesky problem this week. Probably won't work.

Dear Editor:

It isn't an earth- shaking problem but then very few problems aretelevision reporters and headline writers just make them sound that way- but over the years I've noticed a problem Presidents have when they emerge from an airplane and plunge into the crowd shaking hands with the people.

Everybody moves in eagerly with hands out-stretched hoping to be able to tell their friends they shook hands with a President, but only about two per cent get to touch him. The rest are left holding out their hands fruitlessly.

There's a remedy for this problem. Have you ever seen a small boy walking along a picket fence with a stick in his hand, rattling each picket as he does?

That's the answer. One of the planes accompanying a President should be equipped with a big roll of picket fence. Before the President steps out of his plane, the fence is un-rolled and the people told to line up behind it, each with one hand stuck through at about waist high.

The President them emerges and strides rapidly down the fence, his right hand gliding over each out-stretched hand as he passes. This way he gets to touch at least 50 times more hands than the old disoraganized, crowd-around-him way, and it makes a lot less noise than a boy with

To avoid foul-ups where the crowd is longer then the fence, the Pentagon should always determine in advance the amount of fence needed for a given airport by computerizing the population of the place, the type of weather expected, and the estimated popularity of the President in that area. I'd suggest the Pentagon not use the computer it's been using to tell us how many guided missiles Russia has or how big her grain crop

Talk of Texas

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY- Dallas has been the site of both of the state-wide celebrations Texas has staged to celebrate its birthday.

Everybody knows that Big D was host in 1936 for the Texas Centennial Celebration which costs $25 million to stage and attracted more than six million visitors. But most people have forgotten that Dallas also produced the Texas Semi- Centennial in 1886.

It was only a village of 25,000 people then. Raising the few thousands of dollars needed for that celebration was a much harder task than getting the $10 million the city contributed toward the 1936 show.

However, residents got the money together and decided to stage an historic celebration unlike anything the state had ever seen. They enticed 172 veterans of the Battle of San Jacinto and other battles of the Texas Revolution to come. Co. James S. (Rip) Ford came, as did George Erath. Even Big Foot Wallace showed

There were speeches and fireworks and plenty of food and drink. When it was over; Francis, R. Lubbock, a veteran of the Revolution and later Confederate governor of Texas, spoke for all when he said:

"It's the most magnificent reception we ever had, sir!"

Texas thought so, too.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE-Residents of Branch, Collin County, have decided that they don't want to be a town after all.

Problems arose when a few city dwellers moved into the country hamlet and decided that the place needed some government. They elected a mayor and town council.

Like all bureaucrats, the council started passing ordinances, collecting taxes and imposing zoning restrictions. Branch citizens began having second thoughts.

At the municipal election this spring, they voted 89 to 44 to abolish the entire city government and go back to being a hamlet of free people.

Under laws adopted in 1876, an orphaned child under age 14 with no estate could be "bound out" by the judge of a state court to a master. The child could be used to do farm labor or household chores and there was no requirement that he or she be sent to school.

Economic, fuel-saving Japanese automobiles are pouring into the U.S. The question now is, what can this country send to Japan to. offset the large amounts of imports to the U.S. The answer is live cattle, a basic "energy related" export, airfreighted to Japan.

At first glance the economics of a beef-lift seem impossible. A 1,200-lb, steer selling for $600 in Colorado or Montana costs another $600 to fly to Tokyo from Moses Lake, Wash.. . staging area for most cattle charter flights. The importer pays $250 in duties plus another $250 for a quarantine for two to four weeks before the animal can be slaughtered.

But now U.S. cattlemen have found that American Beef-on-the-hoof undercuts Japanese wholesale beef prices by 30 per cent. The U.S. beef is also only slightly higher in price than lower quality grassfed Australian beef, which accounts for 85 per cent of Japanese beef imports. The break for U.S. cattle exporters came in mid-1976 when the Japanese slashed by 22 per cent its six-month quota on butchered cattle imports. The U.S. was allowed only 12 per cent as its share. Live steers are quota-free, enabling U.S. cattlemen to easily skirt the Japanese protectionism.

The U.S. flew 2,938 head of slaughter cattle to Japan last year, up from just 79 head the year before. In the first three months of this year, 1,781 head of cattle flew the great circle route to Tokyo. Flying Tiger Line, Inc., the airline which hauls 40 per cent of all cattle to Japan expects a banner year. Airlines have shipped breeder cattle for many years, so handing the animals poses no new problems.

Some shippers fear the Japanese government could crack down on cattle imports. In fact, the Japanese government has warned U.S. officials informally to hold down on the number of exported animals. However, the Japanese have an automatic ceiling: the quarantine capacity is only 900 cattle at any given time.

Cattle are not the only animal protein flying to Japan. Exports of bluefin tuna to Japan are soaring Flying Tiger expects to haul 1 million lbs. of whole tuna packed in dry ice from Boston to "sushi" bars in Tokyo, double last year's shipments. Tuna in Japanese waters are mercury-contaminated. California skin divers are making high wages diving for sea urchins roe, which the Japanese eat like caviar at $2 a spoonful.

Stalemate Threatens Malpractice Bill

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)-House and Senate conferees on medical malpractice try again Monday to break a two-week stalemate that is seriously threatening chances for a malpractice bill this season.

Each side overwhelmingly rejected a proposed compromise offered by the other Friday and both say they fear there will be no bill.

"We may be deadlocked," said House leader Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, who vows there will be no bill if the five Senate conferees insist on retaining a "collateral source" rule and a cap on pain and suffering awards. "We're fearful that there will be no

Sen. Don Adams, D-Jasper, whose compromise proposal was voted down 4-1 by the House delegation, agrees that the negotiators might not be before the legislature's May 30

Negotiations have broken down over Senate insistence on the pain and suffering limit and a collateral source rule, which would allow a judge to reduce an injured patient's award by what his own health insurance provides.

Uher and Adams said they would bring new compromise proposals to Monday morning's meeting. Uher promised his would not include the disputed provisions and Adams vowed that his would. Both said they weren't bluffing.

Senate Conferees gave in Friday on provisions that would define malpractice and allow panels of doctors to screen malpractice suits. They also agreed to increase the pain and suffering cap from $100,000 to $150,000 and drop a provision

Slew took charge from Cormorant, who had battled him from the break until midway in the final turn, and reached the end of the 13-16th miles ahead of 30-1 shot Iron Constitution. Run Dusty Run, second to Seattle Slew in the Kentucky Derby, was third and Cormorant was fourth.

The time was 1:542-5, just two fifths of a second off the stakes and track record set by Canonero II in 1971.

The victory on this bright, sunny day at Pimlico will send Seattle Slew into the June 11 Belmont Stakes with a chance at becoming thoroughbred racing's 10th Triple Crown winner.Secretariat was the last to do it, in 1973.

The triumph was unbeaten Seattle Slew's eighth and enabled him to duplicate the feat of Majestic Prince in 1969. The Prince went into the Preakness unbeaten and also made the race his eighth win, but he failed in the 11/2 mile Belmont.

Seattle Slew, owned by Karen Taylor, beat the surprising Iron Contstitution, racing for the fifth straight Saturday, by 11/2 lengths. Run Dusty Run was another two lengths back and 11/4 lengths in front of Cormorant.

Slew paid $2.80, $2.80 and $2.20 in picking up the winner's share of $138,600 from a purse of $191,100.

Iron Constitution, owned by Harry T. Mangurian Jr., returned $12.20 and $5 while Verna Lehmann's Run Dusty blast at critics who have Run paid $2.80.

Unlike the Derby, Seattle Slew had no problems getting out of the gate Saturday. Jean Cruguet sent him out of the No. 8 slot while Danny Wright brought Cormorant out of the No. 1 post position and the two colts battled for the lead going past the stands the first time.

Seattle Slew had a slight edge going into the clubhouse turn, but Cormorant was in front entering the backstretch.

Cormorant continued to lead Seattle Slew down the backstretch, then Cruguet asked Seattle Slew to move.

Once again the Slew had the right answer.

As they hit the quarter pole, Seattle Slew was in front, Cormorant was second and Iron Constitution was coming on in

For a time in the upper stretch, it looked like Iron Constitution might be able to catch Slew-but the winner held him clear. Run Dusty Run, ridden by Darrel McHargue, made his usual late run to get the show over the tiring

It was only the second time in 16 races that Run Dusty Run has finished worse than second.

Seattle Slew ripped through the first quarter in 223-5 seconds. The time for the half mile was 453-5 and the six-furlong clocking as 1:094-5. Seattle Slew reached the end of the mile in 1:344-5. Canonero's time for the mile had been 1:35.

Sims, Griffin Named Honary CowBelles

Due to a tie in voting, Bill Griffin and Bob Sims were both inducted as Honorary CowBelles for 1977-78 Friday night, during the CowBelles Father's Day Gala at the Country Club.

As an annual event, the CowBelles honor a man in the community who has assisted them during the year in their promotion of beef. Griffin and Sims had been nominated in April by the CowBelles, whose votes were equally divided in secret ballotting.

Ruth Newsom, Beef for Father's Day chairman, presented the awards Friday night by asking wives of the honorees to escort them to the front of the Country Club, where they received engraved cow bells on

Mrs. Newsom explained that Griffin was nominated for his suffort of Beef for Girlstown, a CowBelle project, and "for the special attention given by Bill and (his wife) Randy when the need has arisen." Nancy Josserand nominated Griffin for the award.

Sims was so honored due to his cooperation in Beef for Father's Day, Ag Day and Beef for Girlstown. He was nominated by Sarah Lawson.

After the presentation Friday, CowBelles and their husbands danced to the music of Charlie Bell's band and dined from a beef buffet. Joan Coupe was chairman of the hostess committee, which placed unique candle centerpieces on the

I heard Dr. Judianne Densen-Gerber of New York speak at a church in my neighborhood recently. Her subject was child abuse. I am not talking about battered children, although there are thousands of those. I am talking about another kind of abuse. Dr. Densen-Gerber showed pornographic literature which contained pictures of children in lewd positions and told how to discipline your child physically. It was apparent that the discipline was designed to give sexual stimulation to the parent. These children-- some as young as six years of age-must be protected against parents who sell them as models for sex magazines.

We need laws to protect our children. Such legislation will be written only if there is pressure from the public. Will you please print this letter and make some comments? Something must be

I immediately contacted Ilana Diamond Rovner, the Chief of Public Protection at the U.S. Attorney's office, in Chicago. She told me that due to the recent publicity there has been heightened interest, not only by sickies who want to buy the stuff, but pressure groups eager to prosecute the dealers and put an end to the whole rotten business. Consequently, "kid

Mrs. Rovner said the Illinois state legislature is now working on laws which would classify this horror not as pornography, but child abuse-- which it most certainly is.

Poppies Symbolize Sacrifice, Hope

Poppy Day, when Americans pay tribute to the soldiers who made the supreme sacrifice on the battlefield, will be observed Wednesday in Hereford.

The American Legion Auxillary will be selling the symbolic poppies for the 47th time since 1930 throughout shopping areas of the community. There is no set price on the poppis and any amount of donations will be

An Auxiliary spokesman explained, "The basic purpose of Poppy Day is to offer the American public an opportunity to honor the war dead and assist the living." Poppy day proceeds are returned to veterans in government hospitals and special convalescent workshops maintained by the Auxiliary.

The poppies which are sold to the public are handmade by disabled veterans, who are paid for this work. For many, this is their only opportunity to earn money during the year. And, the job itself is a respite from long hours spent in a hospital

Materials to make the poppies are supplied by the Legion Auxiliary which provides the wages for veterans who fashion the goods into poppies. Veterans with any form of communicable disease are not permitted to make poppies, but

Over fifty years later, the poppy continues to serve as a tribute to those who gave their lives in the World Wars, Korean War and Vietnam War.

Poppy Day Proclaimed

Mayor Bartley Dowell signs the proclamation declaring Wednesday, May 25, as Poppy Day in Hereford before representatives of the American Legion Auxiliary, including Mrs. Robert Trowbridge, Mrs. Ira Ott and Mrs. Jacob King. Poppy Day is sponsored by the Legion Auxiliary as a benefit to disabled veterans. It is traditionally observed the week prior to Memorial Day, May 30.

At Wit's End By Erma Bombeck

So many of you were kind enough to write me notes following the March 23 death of my Boston fern which set me back 23 bucks, but then what is money at a time like that? A florist in Charlotte, North Carolina, not only sent me an official death certificate, but a Plant Life Insurance Policy created by Craig Beasley. Knowing how many of you feel about your plants out there, I thought perhaps you would want to insure them. This is how it works.

In case of death, the plant will be replaced by a similar plant of equal value providing you can offer proof of death. To qualify, the plant must be void of life at the time it is examined with no reasonable chance of recovery.

Suicide Clause: If the plant shall die by suicide, while sane or insane, the company's total liability under the policy shall be limited to the payment of a sum equal to 5 per cent of the plant's original retail or purchase value. Murder: If death of the insured plant occurs do to abuse or wounds inflicted upon it, or willfull destruction, the company shall not be liable. Accidential Death: If applicable, death benefits will be paid in addition to any other amounts payable under the policy.

Definitions of Accidental Death: 1. Car accident in which the insured plant is driving.

2. Plane, train, or bus crash in which ticket was purchased for plant.

3. Act of being a pedestrian and accidentally being hit by car, train, or bus while walking along side of street or crossing street or railroad. 4. Swimming accident while insured plant is wearing swim

5. Stampede of wild rabbits in the home of the insured

Accidential death benefits will not be paid for any other accident, act of God, act of war, or suicide. Frankly, I think the policies are a wonderful idea. Plants have been independent too long. They're always whining around for more light, more water, more fertilizer, a new pot, a trellis, more mist... it's always something. I have a Mother-in-Law's Tongue on the back of the commode that you can't kill and can't show. It's miserable. Just sits there with a case of terminal dust and stares at you.

I got some insurance forms the other day and said to it. "I guess you're wondering what I've got in my hand? It's an insurance policy on your life that is going to make me a very desirable woman You've been hanging around here three-no, four years now, and you don't bloom, you don't shine, you don't smell, you don't do anything. And I'm sick of you." I put down the policy and started pouring water from a giant watering can. The soil around it bubbled and glubbed and then there was silence.

"You'll never get away with it," said my husband, standing in the doorway. "It wasn't wearing a swim suit."

Married Here Saturday Four candelabra lighted the altar of First Christian Church Saturday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Cynthia Sue Ruther and Alan Dale Donnell of

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Ruther, 107 Mimosa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Deene Donnell of Canyon.

The Rev. Doug Manning, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated at the candlelight service. Focal point in the sanctuary was a large bouquet of white and yellow gladiolas, flanked by the four candelabra. The couple lighted a Unity candle to symbolize their marriage. The pews were marked with large white bows.

Miss Christie Ottesen served as maid of honor and Rodgie Whiteside of Amarillo was best man. Also attending the bride were Miss Jo Beth Price of Canvon and Mrs. James Arney of Lubbock. Jimmy Sparks and Rodney Hales, both of Canyon, were groomsmen.

Guests were ushered by the bridegroom's three brothers, including Greg Donnell of Amarillo and Scott Donnell and Jody Donnell, both of Canyon, and the bride's brother, Michael Ruther.

Chantel Harden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Harden Jr., Hammon, Okla. appeared as the flower girl.

Miss Ronda Easley of Canyon vocalized "The Wedding Song" and The Lord's Prayer with accompaniment from Mrs. Allen Evers at the organ and Mrs. Buddy Peeler, pianist.

Escorted by her father, the bride approached the altar in a gown of candlelight organza,

THE HEREFORD BRAND Malden Not Concerned With Scramble For Roles

BY JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer LOS ANGELES (AP)- Actors tend to be insecure, even when pulling down big bucks in a long-run TV series. They scramble for other roles when their show takes a break. Not Karl Malden when his series was on.

When "Streets of San Francisco" would finish its seven- month, six-day-a-week shooting schedule in the City by the Bay, he'd repair to his hillside home in suburban Brentwood here and commence loafing.

"I did nothing," grinned the 63-year-old actor, whose series finally was axed by ABC after five season. "I came home immediately put on some old clothes and went back to my garden.

"And I just started to weed and pull and plant, anything to get away from using"- he tapped his head-- "this."

Malden, a tall, friendly man who somehow seems both relaxed and intense when he talks, currently is laboring on his first TV effort since the cancellation of "Streets."

He's playing the sea captain's role in a made-for-ABC version of Rudyard Kipling's "Captains Courageous," to air next season. He says he took the part because it's a good change from the detective he played five years on ABC and "because I had a feeling they were going to drop the series, just an instinct." Malden is an alumnus of New York's Actors Studio. But unlike many who emerged from that emporium years ago, he doesn't claim he got started in the Golden Age of TV drama in New York in the early 1950s.

He did exactly three shows there, then promptly fled back to film and theater work, winning an Oscar for his film acting in "A Streetcar Named Desire." He didn't return to TV until "Streets" in 1972.

"Sure, it was the Golden Age when everything was live, but it also was the age when many mistakes were being made and panic reigned," said the Chicago-born son of a Yugoslav

He cited one early TV drama he did, "Animal Kingdom," inwhich he had a small role and Wendell Corey the lead:

"The night of the final dress rehearsal, I saw him running from one set to another. He was changing his shirt, a wardrobe guy was running after him.

"Then he comes on with this girl as if nothing were happening, but he's wringing wet. I said, 'My God, this is ridiculous..." "I was doing some movie work at the time, and I thought, 'Well, why beat my brains out doing this when I'm doing films?" Malden, who's acted in 33 movies, always as a highly regarded supporting player, didn't retun to the tube until 1972 for two reasons:

"In theater and films, I always started at the bottom and worked my way up. And I decided that when I do go into TV, I'm going to start at the

-When Quinn Martin, producer of "Streets," pitched the series to him, the producer said, "There's no pilot and it's guaranteed for 26 weeks.'

Wedding Solemnized At Fort Worth Church

Miss Martha Velma Altman of Fort Worth and Leland Chris Burns Jr. of Adrian exchanged marriage vows Saturday evening beneath a floral archway in Lakeland Baptist Church at Fort Worth. The Rev. Alvin E.

Jernigan, pastor, officiated.

Twin candelabra flanked the altar, which was decorated with carnations, daisies and gladiolas arranged in three baskets.

A junior nursing student at West Texas State University, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Altman, Fort Worth. A graduate of Adrian High School and WTSU, the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland C. Burns, Judy Crites of Fort Worth served as matron of honor and Robert Harwood of Adrian was best man.

Bridesmaids included Miss Susan Cumming of Dalhart, Miss Robbie Sisk of Clayton. N.M. and Miss Chris Gohn of Canyon. Serving as groomsmen were Bruce Kromer of Fort Worth, Jim Whitlow of Amarillo and Ernie Wood of Adrian. Guests were ushered by Joe

Altman, Fort Worth. The bridegroom's niece and nephew, Michael Rey Brown

Perrin of Adrian and Robert and Brian Earl Brown, were the flower girl and ring bearer. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brown, Adrian.

Candles at the altar were lighted by Shelly Ryals, Fort Worth.

"The Twelfth of Never" and "Wedding Song" were vocali-zed by Miss Chris Gohn of Canyon. Accompaniment was provided by Miss Ruth Alverson, Fort Worth.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of lace over white satin, styled with fitted empire bodice and silhouette skirt. A ruffle of pearl- embroidered lace accented the yoke of sheer lace. Lace also formed the bishop

You can really shake up summer tastes by serving cheesy garlic bread heated over the coals with whatever meal you're planning. Garlic butter is made by creaming one-half cup, or one stick, of butter with a crushed garlic clove. If you're slicing long French bread or Vienna bread, butter it first, then insert American process cheese slices. Wrap the bread in foil, then heat for 15 to 20

11111111 AIR TRAVELER'S 'FLIGHT PLAN'

Air travelers can avoid being 'Complaint statistics' by following a 10-point "flight

Last year, more than 16,000 consumer complaints were filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board concerning lost luggage, unhonored reservations and other air travel problems.

A "flight plan" for air travelers depends on several important consumer care tac-

-- Check in on time. Airlines vary on deadlines before departure time, so ask when making the reservation.

-- Know that over-looking is a financial necessity for the airlines due to a high percentage of "no show" travelers.

-- Don't be a "no show." Be sure to cancel reservations if your plans change and you are unable to take the flight on which you reserved space.

-- If you are "bumped" -- that is, holding a confirmed reservation but are denied boarding because the flight is oversold-- know your rights. Unless the airlines gets you to your destination within two hours of the original schedule. you are entitled to a refund of your ticket price-- or passage on the next available flight to your destination-- and compensation equal to the ticket price up to

You are not obliged to accept the compensation (called denied boarding compensation). If you reject the compensation, you may seek redress through the civil courts if you desire. Denied boarding compensation does not apply, however, to any intrastate air carriers (those operating within one state only) or to any charter flights. On the other hand, if you accept the compensation, the case is closed and you have no further recourse.

If you decide not to go through with the trip-- after you have been bumped-- then you only get a refund of the ticket price.

-- Reconfirm your return reservation if you are flying to a popular resort area -- or abroad.

Failure to reconfirm-- normally 72 hours before departure-can, and often does, result in cancellation of your reserva-

If you fail to reconfirm, you are not eligible for denied boarding compensation.

-- Label every piece of checked baggage, inside and out.

For the passenger who does not want his name and address visible, concealed labels are available from some carriers.

-- Lock your luggage., -- Don't overpack. Usually air carriers will not pay for damage to overstuffed luggage that -- Report missing luggage immediately. Failure to report missing baggage before leaving the airport may result in denial of your claim.

-Discuss compensation for missing luggage with the responsible airlines.

-- Any problems not resolved with an individual airlines can be reported in writing to the Office of the Consumer Advocate, Civil Aeronautics Board, Washington, D.C.

Comings And Goings At Kings Manor

We are glad to welcome as an employee Mrs. Arrena Morrison who formerly was employed here for four years. Many residents know "Rene" and are glad to have her return.

Mrs. Mae Ford of Lake Charles, Louisiana is visiting her sister Julia Welty at this writing.

Martha Shirkey has returned from visiting relatives at different points in Missouri. She made the trip with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Mel Lehman who had just spent several days visiting here with Martha and their Aunt Mrs. Jessie Boardman.

Mrs. Oneita Davidson is visiting her daughter and family in Dallas, and her son and his family in McAllen for a few days.

Rev. H.L. Thurston conducted the morning worship services Sunday at the Manor and Westgate. Afterwards, he Mrs. Thurston were our guests at dinner.

Rev. Jordan Grooms conducted Vesper Service in the Lamar Memorial Garden Room Tuesday evening. He based his thoughts on Psalm 73:28, emphasizing the need to be near God at all times and thus share in his goodness.

Mrs. Dewitt Seago delighted our group Monday evening with the showing of the film "Trouble With Angels". Thank you, Roberta, for this lovely courtesy. We enjoyed it greatly.

Fifty-one mother residents of King's Manor and Westgate accepted the kind invitation of Allen Parsons to K-Bobs for steak dinners Saturday evening . What a feast! The foot was "super"-delicious and the service was "extra"-superior. We were unanimous in voting Mr. Parsons (owner and manager of K-Bobs) a most gracious and generous host, and for a jubilant evening.

Mrs. Myna Love was the honoree at a surprise birthday party Wednesday evening in the Lamar Memorial Garden Room which was planned by her children - Mr. and Mrs. John C. Love, Mr. and Mrs. J.G. Gandy and granddaughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Warren. Manorites were invi-

We welcome Mrs. Bickley, Gladys Legg and Eleanor Hudspeth as newspaper readers

The Craft ladies have given the residents another enjoyable afternoon, Mrs. Nancy Duncan, Mrs. Clara Trowbridge and Mrs. Pet Ott came out and brought material for paper decals and plaster plaques. The ladies chose to use some of their Mothers' day cards for the plaques.

The Cecil Boyers and the Cecil Oglesby's have been out with their Quartett which we always enjoy. J.B. Noland was out and sang with the Boyers one week and Mrs. Don was gracious to sing in the absence of Mr. Garris. The Quartett groups are very popular around the home and we are expecting the Summerfield group to come when Jack Streun gets back to singing again. J.B. is a handy man when it comes to singing so he gets several invitations, but it is always nice to have him help with the music as well as the conversation.

We are still enjoying our bus which has made our trips so enjoyable. We go to the library each third Thursday for a film. Mrs. Seago has been giving us some very interesting films.

Make four quares by using one sock for each square, Join squares together and sew center seam lengthwise, turn, and there it is. - CYNTHIA.

DEAR POLLY - I have a beautiful set of blue towels that "bleed." Does anyone know the old-time way of setting dyes? — RUTH.

DEAR RUTH: My mother used to soak such things in strong salt water to set the colors. Some. authorities deny that this works, but you could give it a try. - POLLY.

DEAR POLLY - To help roll a better pie crust, machine-stitch a 12-inch circle on your pastry cloth. To do mine I drew around a skillet lid lightly with a pencil and then did a decorative stitch over that. This helps a lot. - MARGUERITE.

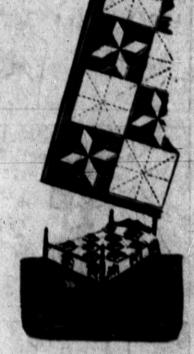

DEAR POLLY - When making popovers for the first time the recipe said to pour the batter into muffin tins, so I started doing this with a spoon but it was horribly messy. I then thought of using a gravy boat and found it easy to pour the batter in the muffin tins and very neatly, too. - MAS. J.S.L.

DEAR POLLY - Did you know that those soil-and-stain-removal laundry products are great for removing paint from the hands and a great help when cleaning paint brushes? - MARGARET.

DEAR MARGARET - No. Margaret. I did not know this and it is so easy. - POLLY. .

DEAR POLLY - When you have no rubber gloves and want to dye something, bread wrappers will work fine. Slip one on each hand and hold in place with a rubber band around each wrist. No spotted hands when the job is finished. -EUNICE.
