Hereford High To Graduate 252 Seniors

BY PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Phillip Zinser and Larry Landers officially lead 250 other seniors out of the Hereford School system into a world called "the outside" by those making the trek in the past during graduation ceremonies beginning at 8 p.m. today in Whiteface Stadium.

In case of unfavorable weather the commencement exercises will move to the Hereford La Plata Junior High School gymnasium. There is a 50 per cent chance of rain tonight.

Valedictorian and salutatorian respectively, Zinser and Landers will speak to the Class of '77 following the playing of the National Anthem by the combined symphonic and concert high school bands, the professional and the invocation by Jerry Koenig, senior class president.

Following Zinser's speech a mosaic tile of a whiteface bull, the Hereford High School mascot, will be presented to the school by Julie Hallows, senior class secretary, and Dennis Artho, vice president. The tile will be publicly unveiled during the ceremonies tonight.

Special awards, including one for the outstanding senior student, will be presented by Jerry Don George, high school principal.

Diplomas then will be handed to seniors by James Gentry, president of the Hereford Independent School Board of Trustees.

The closing recessional will be followed by an all-night party for the seniors in the West Texas State University Activities Center. Parents will chaperone the party, which will be the final school affair for the combined senior class.

Zinser, whose grade point average on a 5-point scale was 5.777 (including points for advanced classes), will speak on several subjects of interest to the seniors including the optimistic outlook for the future of the United States.

He also will talk about the fact we shouldn't seek rewards which don't last long.

Zinser said becoming valedictorian was never a goal of his.

I just wanted to be the best I could and valedictorian was just something that came along with it," said the honoree, who plans to attend West Texas State University in the fall and become a farmer after college.

His father, Frank Zinser Jr. of Westway Farms and the younger Zinser seems excited about his future vocation.

I want to be a farmer. Farming is one of the most important things a person can do. It's where you work outside with nature doing a most productive job in a most difficult situation."

Zinser is the youngest of five children in his family. The four others all finished academically in the top 10 in their respective senior years.

Landers primarily will speak about "what we do in life and what we make out of it. It's up to us."

Even though the salutatorian's grade-point average was 5.5497 at the final tabulation, the honor of his being named No. 2 in the class came as quite a surprise. He ranked fourth at the start of the school year "and I hadn't gone down to check to see if I had moved up."

Being salutatorian, Landers said, "is a real honor. It shows that if I work I can do just about anything if I set my mind to it."

Tony Albracht, tied with Zinser with the highest grade-point average at the start of the school year, and Jeanne Hair finished third in the Hereford class. They had 5.5222 averages.

Both Zinser and Landers praised the Class of '77.

"We worked together extremely well and got along. We had a lot of good assemblies and we had a lot of success in making it an enjoyable year for the whole school," Zinser said.

Landers added, "We worked together and there wasn't a big discipline problem. I think we cooperated with the school administration. The administration has been real good and cooperated with us also. If we both hadn't worked together, it wouldn't have been near the senior year we had."

Students for ages have said similar things about their respective senior classes. In the case of the Hereford graduates, it is especially true, according to George.

"This is an outstanding class. It has contributed the best leadership that we've had in high school for several years. They're a congenial bunch, a hard-working group and a dedicated group of youngsters," George said.

"They have done an outstanding job in setting the pace for discipline in the school. We've had less discipline problems this year than we've had in the past."

During Wednesday afternoon's commencement practice, George, told the seniors, "I look for great things to come from this group in the future."

This year's seniors may have been part of a noticeable trend of students everywhere becoming more involved in school activities. School pride, for the past four years, seems to have been downplayed by students.

The change in Hereford's students this year is obvious, noted Gene Barkowsky, assistant principal and the man in charge of school activities.

"I think the pendulum is swinging back. We're having a more conservative-type situation with our youngsters. We're getting away from this thing we had in the 60's and earlier in the 70's," Barkowsky said.

"This group exemplifies this trend." Mrs. Betty Mercer, senior counselor, called the 1977 seniors "a very unified class with a good attitude."

Cooperation was another of the seniors' qualities, she added. "They were very cooperative. This is the first time we've ever finished graduation practice in less than two hours. And we did it in less than an hour."

Cooperative? Maybe. But probably impatient. After all, the waiting and working is over.

Patton, Nunley Net Prizes During Breakfast

Charles Wagner and Vesta Mae Nunley probably are going to celebrate tonight, but W.H. (Bill) Patton may shed a tear when he learns that he missed out on $400 at the Hereford Chamber of Commerce Fund Breakfast this morning in the high school cafeteria.

Wagner and Nunley were on hand to claim $25 and $75 prizes respectively, but Patton missed out on the big jackpot after failing to show up at the 6:15 a.m. affair.

Patton's absence leaves the $400 in the pot, to which $50 more will be added next month. All chamber members are eligible for the prize, but must be present when their name is drawn to win.

One of the highlights of the breakfast was the awarding of this month's "Bull Chip Award" to Hereford High track standout James Mays. Mays, the 4A state 880 champion, also accepted a wind breaker and a cap from chamber president Joe Schollenbarger to be worn when he travels to Mexico City next month to run in a track meet.

Breakfast co-master of ceremonies Doug Manning presented the "Bull Chip Award" to Mays.

The breakfast was filled with the usual skits or contests, ably manned by various "volunteers" at the event. In a new addition to the program, Bub Sparks was presented with the door prize, which turned out to be a "fine" used door complete with stained-glass window.

Special guests at the breakfast included Miss Hereford Dee Anne Caison, and Nora Urias, one of four candidates for Queen of the 1977 Fiestas Patrias, which will be Sept. 16-17.

Travis Shields of the Hereford Rider's Club announced that the club will conduct a rodeo here July 21-23. Some 12 area riding clubs will participate, Shields said.

Raymond Raillard, production manager of "Texas" was on hand to promote that event, which begins at Palo Duro Canyon June 15 and continues daily through August 20, excluding Sundays.

Business Kicks Off Pioneer Day

The annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Day celebration will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Bull Barn, where a basket luncheon will be served at noon.

Highlight of the noon meal will be recognition of the Pioneer of the Year, to be announced by Jimmy Allred. Other honors will go to the oldest man and woman attending and the individual who has travelled the farthest to participate in Saturday's festivities.

The Pioneer Day business session will convene at 10:30 o'clock that morning. Mrs. P.B. Sowell will give a report from the nominating committee and Cecil Boyer will conduct the election of officers.

The Rev. Dewitt Seago, chaplain of King's Manor Retirement Home, will give the invocation and Benny Womble will lead the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag.

Members of Pioneer Study Club will be stationed at the Bull Barn Saturday morning to register guests. Coffee and donuts will be served.

Greetings and membership dues will be handled by Leta Kaul, Nell Culpepper, Frank Ball, Marlin Gilliland and Major Schroeter.

Activities being held in conjunction with Pioneer Day include an Open House from 1:30-4 p.m. at King's Manor and Westgate. Also, Deaf Smith County Historical Museum will be open for visitors.

The graduating class of 1927 from Hereford High School will be holding a reception from 3-5:30 p.m. Saturday at Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room. All interested persons are urged to attend.

'No One Could Know How I Felt'

WASHINGTON (AP) - Except for an encore to be culled from the cutting room floor sometime this fall, Richard Nixon's answers to the Six Hundred Thousand Dollar Questions are finally on the record.

In his fourth television interview Wednesday night, Nixon talked about how he felt after resigning. "No one in the world, no one in our history could know how I felt."

He talked about the resignation of his vice president. "It was a no-win proposition."

And he spoke of the news media that recorded the fall of his presidency. "I respect some, but those who write history as fiction, on third-hand knowledge, I have nothing but utter contempt. And, I will never forgive them, never."

While he was enriched by a $600,000 fee for the interview series, and a share of the profits that probably will increase his share to more than $1 million, the nation's knowledge of his role as the "undicted co-conspirator" of the Watergate scandal reached no new heights.

The real value of the four 90-minute programs probably must be determined, as Nixon suggested from the beginning, by the individual viewers. "I'll express my own opinion," he promised. "They may have a different opinion."

But it was apparent Nixon's opinions of Watergate and his role in the scandal hadn't much changed after nearly three years. Richard Nixon still holds himself innocent of any impeachable offense.

The shows did have their emotional moments. There was Nixon on Wednesday night, saying he would have preferred "the agony of a trial" to accepting a pardon that connoted guilt; that his resignation meant "life without purpose as far as I was concerned."

"No one in the world, and no one in our history could know how I felt... Is that punishment enough? No, probably not," he said.

But "We have to live with not only the past, but for the future... whatever it brings, I'll still be fighting."

Strong feelings also were drawn out in a discussion, without naming them, of Watergate reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein and their book "The Final Days."

Nixon called both them and their book "trash," and said "Mrs. Nixon read it and her stroke came three days later."

"The doctors don't know what caused the stroke," he hastened to add, but "it the book sure didn't help."

In the book, the authors said the Nixons had not had sexual relations for 14 years and that Mrs. Nixon sought liquor from the servants quarters in the final

Beef Prices Rise; Pork Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) - Retail beef prices are climbing again, but retail pork prices have declined further, according to the Agriculture Department.

The average national retail beef price for all cuts in April was $1.34 a pound, up eight-tenths of 1 cent from March.

However, the April price was well below the average of $1.42 a pound of a year earlier.

Pork prices last month averaged less than $1.19 a pound, down from $1.21 in March and nearly $1.37 a pound in April of last year, the department said Wednesday in its monthly report on price spreads between farmers and consumers.

The record retail price of beef was $1.61 a pound in July 1975. With few exceptions, monthly prices have declined since then thanks to lower cattle prices and record supplies of beef as producers trimmed herds.

Pork prices at retail hit a record of almost $1.59 a pound in October 1975, but farmers have stepped up hog production and prices have eased downward since then.

Now that cattle inventories have been trimmed, USDA experts say beef prices will move up gradually this year but that relatively large supplies of pork and broiler chickens will tend to soften the gains. The figures showed that in April farmers received the equivalent of 78.6 cents a pound from retail beef prices, up sharply from 73.1 cents in March, when cattle prices were lower.

That is not what producers get for live cattle because almost 2.3 pounds of choice-grade steer on the hoof go to making one pound of supermarket beef. It is, however, the farmer's share of what consumers pay.

Middlemen who transport, process and sell beef after it leaves the farm collected an average of 55.4 cents a pound in April, down sharply from 60.1 cents in March, the report said.

Pork producers, meanwhile, got 64.5 cents of the retail price last month, down from 65.9 cents in March. Middlemen received 54.4 cents, compared with 55.1 cents a pound in March, the report said.

Officials said the middle-man's share of over-all food price spreads increased two-tenths of 1 per cent from March to April, continuing a climb that began the first of the year.

"While spreads for most crop products increased, increases were greatest for fresh vegetables, particularly lettuce and tomatoes," the report said.

Final Votes Set On Appropriations

AUSTIN (AP) Texas legislators planned final votes today on a $15.4 billion general appropriation bill, aimed at leaving money for teacher pay raises and added state school aid.

House members also were to vote today on a Senate-passed bill prohibiting telephone companies from charging for directory assistance calls.

It was knocked off Wednesday's calendar by a point of order that proper notice was not given when a House subcommittee considered the measure.

Senators sent Gov. Dolph Briscoe a bill requiring the state to pay state employees' Social Security contributions, up to 5.85 per cent of a $16,500 salary starting Sept. 1, 1978, at a cost of $105 million.

Houses Disagree On Malpractice Bill

AUSTIN (AP) "We will not be run over by the Senate," vows Rep. Tom Ober. "We will not simply lay down and accept the House malpractice bill," counters Sen. Ray Fantone.

House-Senate negotiations early Wednesday to recess until Sunday afternoon—less than 26 hours before the legislature must adjourn—and said their three-week stalemate has virtually killed chances for a bill to reduce medical malpractice insurance rates.

"The Senate has told us that we will either accept their version of the malpractice bill or there will be no bill," Ober, head of the House malpractice negotiators, told cheering House members.

"The Senate has killed it," he added.

Moluccans Dress Doomed In White

ASSEN (AP) The Netherlands (AP) South Moluccan terrorists today pushed a sound and tinnyfolded map, dressed in symbolic white to signify casualties from a hijacked train where they are holding 25 hostages. Dutch officials said.

The hostages stood on the tracks for about 20 minutes with a rope around their necks and their hands tied before being carried back into the train, a spokesman for the Dutch Ministry of Justice said.

In the Moluccans' native East Indies, prisoners about to be killed are dressed in white, the spokesman said.

Four yellow cars of the hijacked merpati train are sitting in pastureland just north of Assen, 11 miles from a school where a second armed band was holed about 100 children and six teachers.

The terrorists who staged the two takeovers Monday refused food at both locations Wednesday.

Police Report

Hereford police investigated complaints of shoplifting, assault and criminal mischief Wednesday.

A woman reportedly put clothing into her purse and ran from the Sweetbriar Shop in Sugarland Mall. She was apprehended there and taken to pay for the merchandise. No charges were filed.

John Young reported he was hit over the head from behind by an unknown person around 11 p.m. Wednesday at Mobile Communications. Nothing was taken in the incident, and police have not determined what instrument was used to strike Young.

Criminal mischief reported involving a former employee of J&H Security was investigated by police after Joe Castillo said he had fired an individual.

The ex-employee allegedly entered the office at 141 North Main and broke glass on top of a desk. No charges have yet been filed, according to police.

Weather

West Texas scattered thunderstorms mainly late afternoon and nighttime through Monday with continued very warm afternoons. Highs in upper 80s and 90s, lows in 60s.

Lions View Girlstown Slides At Meeting

Members of the Hereford Neop Lions Club were treated to a slide presentation on the three Texas campuses of Girlstown USA at their regular meeting in the Civic Club Center Wednesday.

Marshall Cooper, Executive Director of Girlstown, presented the slide show which showed highlights of buildings and facilities on the three campuses located at Borger, Whiteface, and Austin.

Special guests of the Lions included Paula Wiley, HHS senior who was awarded a $500 scholarship to the school of her choice to the club, and James Ways, HHS state 880 champion who has signed on with Texas Tech.

The Lions held a drawing to award a trip to the International Convention in New Orleans this summer. Members who had perfect attendance over the past year were eligible for the drawing. Winner of the trip was Calvin Jones.

Two names were also drawn as alternates in the case that Jones could not make it. The first alternate was Nolan Grady, and the second alternate was B.E. Robertson. Robertson will go if neither Jones or Grady can make it.

Town Meeting Set Saturday In HS Cafeteria

Presentations, workshops and fellowship all will be part of Hereford's first Town Meeting from 4 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday in the high school cafeteria.

The meeting originally was scheduled for May 14 in the Hereford ball room.

Discussions will be able to discuss current challenges to future achievement and discern means to meet those challenges. In addition to the workshops designed for that purpose, there will be entertainment and a noon meal.

The meeting will be conducted through a nationally-tested method developed by the Institute of Curative Affairs.

During the Bicentennial Year there were 600 Town Meetings across the nation including 44 in Texas.

Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe endorses the Town Hall Meeting.

An important part of our American tradition is the reliance of local initiative to solve local problems. This not only creates better communities, but it encourages a spirit of neighborhood and cooperation among the people. The Town Meeting is a sound and effective way of assisting this process.

Jose Griggs is Hereford's Town Meeting chairman.

Alleged Rape Under Investigation

Deaf Smith County sheriff's officers are currently investigating an alleged rape which reportedly occurred five miles north of Southwest Feedways Wednesday night.

According to Sheriff Travis McPherson, a woman called city police from a home on Ave. G to report the incident last night at about 11 P.M. City police then notified the sheriff's office of the incident.

The woman told law officials that the man entered her house while she was bathing and raped her twice before falling asleep or a couch.

The woman reportedly drove to Hereford while the man was asleep and notified authorities, who arrested a suspect at the house.

No charges have been filed in the incident yet and McPherson reported there appears to be no evidence of violence. The suspect was being held here pending further investigation at present time.

A 21-year-old Dimmitt man is currently in the county jail in connection with a motorcycle theft in Dimmitt.

Robert Ortega was arrested Wednesday on a warrant from Dimmitt and McPherson stated that Ortega will probably be turned over to law enforcement officials from that city.

Nixon

Days in the White House
"I certainly hope that we did not cause her stroke," Woodward said Wednesday after hearing Nixon's remarks. "I doubt very much that we did, from what I know about medicine."

Woodward noted that despite Nixon's intentions, the former president himself confirmed some of the major incidents related to the book, including a scene in which Nixon cried and prayed with his secretary of state, Henry A. Kissinger.

Nixon said he later phoned Kissinger to suggest, "Why don't we just keep the incident to ourselves."

Wednesday's show also had Nixon saying he knew Spiro Agnew would never survive the investigation into his financial dealings, yet his vice president was at bones that a courageous man who was persecuted because he was a conservative.

Nixon said he tried to back the election of Salvador Allende as president of Chile because he feared a Communist revolution would sweep Latin America.

And Nixon said he never considered pardoning himself, that he was afraid pardoning his top aides would look like the ultimate cover-up, and that he never discussed his own pardon with Gerald R. Ford, who replaced him in the White House.

Over all, the interview series seemed as did the famed White House tapes, to bring out something of the inner Nixon.

He was a character, strong and smooth and confident of world affairs.

ver-baiting, uncomfortable alternately, contrary their prior, spouted their defensive about the issues that brought him down.

He admitted a poor judgment on "the little things," yet insisted he committed no legal wrongdoing, he admitted to lying, but not to covering up. And he spoke of his "paranoia for peace" as justification for acts beyond the normal letter of the law.

Already the lessons are out of the fift program to be aired several months away, purportedly based on the mysterious 18-minute gap in a crucial White House tape and the question of why Nixon didn't simply destroy the evidence that eventually toppled him.

Houston Democrats Say Bill Would Stun Growth

WASHINGTON (AP) Rep. Bob Eckhardt and Rep. Bob Gammage both fear the clean air bill may hurt industrial development in Texas.

Each of the Houston Democrats drew up amendments to the measure, but Gammage's failed and Eckhardt's never made it to the floor.

Gammage said that without an amendment similar to his, industrial development might be halted in Texas because of a conflict with federal clean air laws. Eckhardt said the state should still be able to get along and allow development, providing it adopts a stringent plan to reduce pollution over the next 10 years.

The bill the House considered Wednesday is intended to supplement the Clean Air Act of 1973, which set the end of this month as the deadline for meeting air quality standards, which Texas cities generally have failed to do.

Without a new law, areas with air pollution would fall under the strict federal "trade-off" policy, which stipulates that the new industrial polluters can be allowed unless a compensating source of pollution is first eliminated.

Gammage introduced an amendment that would have required a 14-month study period for clean air standards. During that time, existing construction permits granted by state boards would be given permanent status. The states would have had the power to issue new permits without requiring a trade-off.

Gammage later acknowledged that he presumed that the amendment would take a beating in the drawing board to get them approved by their states before the trade-off requirement was mandated.

The congressional maneuvering took place at the same time that the Texas Air Quality Board met in Houston and decided, at the request of Gov. Dolph Briscoe, to order a vote on shutting down industrial construction of the state's large cities.

After House environmentalists had a chance to read the amendment, they reacted angrily. "What you have here is an immediate free-for-all," said Rep. Andrew Maguire (D-N.J.). "I think I can read the English language. This amendment further defers what should have been done long ago," Eckhardt said. The amendment was defeated 244-177.

Eckhardt said a compromise amendment, which he had written in the form of a substitute to the amendment he thought Gammage was going to introduce. When Gammage did not Eckhardt's compromise was unveiled.

Rep. Bob Krueger had originally announced his intention of cosponsoring an amendment with Gammage. But Gammage was alone when the time the actual amendment was introduced.

The House may finish the clean air amendments Thursday. The Senate has yet to act on its version of the bill.

Wayland Instructor Relieved Of Duties

A Wayland Baptist College instructor, who recently was dismissed from his duties at the Plainview school, has said he will not appeal the decision made by an ad hoc faculty committee and school administrators. Instead, J.D. Whitaker will simply wait to see if Wayland will honor his two-year contract, signed in March.

Whitaker was dismissed for allegedly serving alcoholic beverages to students. He has been an instructor at Wayland since 1975. The dismissal action is the direct result of alleged incidents on Dec. 10, 1976, and off-campus social gatherings where Whitaker supposedly provided alcoholic beverages for consumption.

According to Whitaker's attorney, the case will not be appealed because the college board of trustees would just rubber stamp the dismissal, thus the effort would be a waste of time.

Wayland College president Dr. Roy C. McClung stated that it is not the intention at this time for him (Whitaker) to receive any compensation. A letter which McClung sent to Whitaker Monday charged the instructor with conduct unbecoming a teacher at Wayland Baptist College, violation of a pre-employment understanding about the position and use of alcoholic beverages, and contributing to students' breach of published college rules regarding the possession and use of alcoholic beverages.

As investigation was held last week by an ad hoc faculty council selected by Whitaker and school administrators, McClung then asked for Whitaker's severance from the college and termination of his contract, because of the unknown findings of the committee.

A statement released by the committee said that the committee agreed with two of the three charges and joined in the administrative dismissal request.

Whitaker has the right to appeal all action taken against him before a board of trustees. Whitaker apparently will play a "waiting game" with the school, hoping that his two-year contract will be honored, regardless of the dismissal.

Paul Harvey News When The Cow Does The Milking

America's No. 1 rated low cost insurance.

We were supposed to be able starting at age 15 to milk that cow from your enemies.

Now the cow is milking us. Few of us have dared to challenge the credibility of Social Security. Ever since F.D.K. generations of selfish, hard-hearted, insurance-hungry, self-interest and most economic was.

And to leave our investigative reporters did not find this subject sufficiently challenging, Social Security has been allowed to continue to operate simultaneously, where now the whole program is headed for bankruptcy.

The problem is that Social Security was based on a lie. Americans were led to believe that a deduction from their paychecks would be set aside for them, would accumulate in a trust fund, so that when the worker retired, he would be able to draw on his investment in the trust of his life.

Every time a man and his family believed the fiction that "Lucky Sam" was setting aside a few dollars in his name, that he was building a retirement account, similar to the ones accumulated through private insurance companies.

The truth is that there is no money in the Social Security trust fund.

Social Security pays out from what it takes in. Instead of what it takes in, Social Security should contribute its business as the Social Security system continues to operate, its books would be closed and its assets liquidated.

Social Security's bankruptcy brought by which its income that it can service only through larger and larger contributions of public funds.

More than half of our nation's taxpayers now pay more in Social Security taxes than they pay in federal income taxes, and this is still not enough.

Thirty years ago, taxpayers accumulated $200 billion in Social Security taxes.

Now Congress is contemplating an additional transfusion of $1 billion tax dollars over the next few years.

Now the cow is doing the milking.

The several shell-game solutions presently under consideration all add up to the same thing, more taxes on individuals, more taxes on employers, which individuals end up paying in higher prices and watching $14 billion from some other government pocket to this one.

Part of the problem is that Congress in 1972 worsened the situation by instituting an automatic cost-of-living increase in Social Security recipients.

As the cost-of-living rate recipient will soon be receiving more money, it benefits that the benefits earned in wages.

An announcement of Social Security sounds like an attack on the deserving recipients who worked for and earned their pensions. This criticism instead of a system which led to them, created them, and simply tore down this road may not be able to pay.

Brief Thundershower Greet Early Risers

A brief thundershower greeted early risers in the Hereford area this morning as the rumble of thunder and flashes of lightning accompanied a brief downpour.

Frequent light showers in the past few weeks have been popular for the Panhandle, but welcome by farmers who know the rains spell will probably end soon and the remainder of the summer will be all likelihood dry.

KPAN radio logged a rainfall total of 10 inches for the city this morning while the Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant recorded 12 inches.

To the south of Hereford, Easter Grain reported 20 inches in a slightly heavier shower.

The rainfall tapered off again to the east of the city, with the Dawn community receiving only a light shower, according to a secretary at Dawn Co-Op.

Heavy weather threatened portions of the South Plains last night from a line of thundershowers which stretched from the northeastern Panhandle southward to west of Lubbock.

Tornado sightings were reported in Hale, Lamb and Hockley counties, and a tornado warning was issued by the National Weather Service for the South Plains and portions of the Panhandle last night.

Lubbock was hit by isolated but extremely heavy rains, destructive hail and an electrical storm early Wednesday evening, but no damage or injuries were reported in any of the tornado sightings.

Warm and humid conditions are expected to continue through the weekend over much of the Panhandle and South Plains.

Fire Kills At Least 6 In Manhattan Building

NEW YORK (AP) Fire raged through a sauna bath and rooming house in midtown Manhattan Wednesday, killing at least six persons, the city fire commissioner said.

At least 13 others were admitted to a hospital, two of them in critical condition.

Fire Commissioner John T. O'Hagan, at the scene, said he didn't know whether more persons were trapped inside by the four-alarm blaze, whose cause was not immediately known.

"We now have the job of searching 100 cubicles," he said.

The fire broke out in the Everard Baths at 28th Street between Sixth Avenue and Broadway about 7 a.m.

Five persons wearing only towels were assisted from the bathroom, which an employee said catered to homosexuals.

The fire began in the upper floors of the building, and portions of the top two levels collapsed.

The commissioner said the operators of the bathhouse had been ordered last August to install a sprinkler system in the building but had failed to do so.

Jury Selection Begins

AMARILLO (AP) The jury wheel began turning Wednesday in the capital murder trial of Fort Worth millionaire Cullen Davis, scheduled to begin June 27.

District court officials began drawing the names of 750 persons who will be called as possible jurors in the trial.

From the 750, 250 persons will be chosen to the panel from which the jury will be selected.

Potter County Clerk Billie Nance Hill said the large number of prospective jurors was needed for the panel because the voter registration lists from which the names are chosen have not been purged.

The rolls are not up to date, Mrs. Hill said. "Many people have moved and we don't have records. We found that all juror cards we send out, only one third of the people would show up."

Davis' trial was moved here on a change of venue from Port Worth. He is charged with the Aug. 3, 1976, fatal shooting of his step-daughter, Andrea Wilborn, 12, and of Stan Farr, 31, boyfriend of Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla. The June 26 trial deals only with the Wilborn slaying.

The shootings occurred in the Davis mansion. Two others were wounded, included Priscille Davis.

Davis' trial first started in Fort Worth, but it was declared a mistrial after seven weeks of jury selection because a juror reportedly made prejudicial statements about the case.

Reducing the speed of a DC-8 by 14 miles per hour adds only four extra minutes to a flight between Chicago and Los Angeles, but saves 164 gallons of fuel.

Each Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. and 3 p.m., all preschoolers are welcome to come to the library and take part in the story hour. Grades 1-4 will also have a story hour which will begin at 4 o'clock on Friday afternoons. During the months of June and July, the library will host a special children's film at 4 p.m. on Tuesdays. Ann Landers MYOB

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My brother and his girl friend have been going together for over seven years. Mary Ann is a devout Catholic and Mark is Jewish, but not very devout. They are both in their late 20s and Mark is well off financially. The problem is how they will raise their children. It isn't that Mark is so dedicated to the Jewish faith, he just says he doesn't want his children to be raised as gentiles. Mary Ann feels this is very unfair under the circumstances. Please don't tell me to MYOB. Mark and Mary Ann are as eager for a solution as I am. Concerned

I belong to a bridge club. One woman who is also a long-time member gets on my nerves. The minute a cigaret comes into sight, she says, "Don't smoke. It hurts my throat." If it hurts her throat, why doesn't she drop out of the club? Whenever there is a "problem" the smoker is always expected to bow to the non-smoker. I think this is terribly unfair. Will you do all of us smokers a big favor and comment, please? -- N.Y. Smoker asks, "Do you mind if I smoke?" to say, "Yes, I DO mind. Do us both a favor and put it out."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've asked this question of several people and have gotten several different answers. No one seems to know for sure. Please consult with your authorities and get me the correct information. It means a lot to me, for reasons I won't go into. Is it possible for a dark-skinned (Caucasian), brown-eyed couple to have a fair-skinned, blue-eyed child? -- Need To Know

DEAR NEED: I checked with a Nobel Prize-winning geneticist. His answer was, "It happens all the time." So there's your answer -- right from the top of Mt. Olympus.

Domestic fuel consumption is expected to leap from 8.9 billion gallons in 1976 to 15.8 billion in 1988, says a recent report by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Arkansas has over 9,000 miles of streams and rivers, 2 1/2 million acres of national forest lands and 600,000 acres of natural and man-made lakes.

DEAR CON: Sorry, but I AM going to tell you to MYOB. This is not your problem. If Mary Ann and Mark are interested in my opinion, they can write to me and get it.

If you were to go to them with "Ann Landers said," it would be considered interference by at least one of the parties and he (or she) would be right.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I smoke and intend to continue. Within reason. The problem is that some people forget this is a free country.

Why is the smoker always expected to bow to the non-smoker? Because it IS a free country. The air belongs to everyone. No one has the right to pollute it. If an individual wishes to smoke, he should be permitted to do so, but only insofar as he does not interfere with the rights of others. Laboratory tests have produced evidence that non-smokers who breathe the air polluted by smokers for extended periods of time (meetings, card parties, cocktail bashes, etc.) are adversely affected by it. I urge all my readers to summon the courage when someone lights a cigaret and

HD Members Are Guests At Gallery

For their final spring meeting, members of Progressive Home Demonstration Club met at Texas Art Gallery and Frame Shop Tuesday morning. Jean Lyles, Gallery owner, presented a program on picture framing. Mrs. Johnnie Townsend, president, conducted a brief, routine business session. Others present were Mmes. Tom McLugin, Taft McGee, H.L. Hershey and Gerald Townsend.

Applications are now being taken at the Deaf Smith County Community Action Office located at Fourth and Ross Streets (Old Central School for jobs available to youth. The summer jobs are for youth between the ages of 14 and 21. This work program is sponsored by the Texas Panhandle Community Action Agency of Amarillo.

All youth will be paid a minimum of $2.30 per hour and may work up to 40 hours per week. Disadvantaged youth will be given preference, according to a spokesman for the program.

Open House

Saturday At Manor, Westgate

King's Manor Retirement Home and Westgate Nursing Home will be holding a joint open house from 1:30-4 p.m. Saturday. The public is encouraged to attend. Refreshments will be served at the Manor and Westgate. Sponsoring the reception is King's Manor Auxiliary.

The Open House is being held in conjunction with the Mid-Plains Pioneer Day celebration Saturday and Texas Nursing Homes Week.

Pleasant Surprises

Hidden stuffings tucked inside ground beef patties provide pleasant surprises and turn your beefburgers into conversation pieces. The preparation is simple. Just shape twice as many thin patties as the number of servings you want. Then place the "surprise" between two thin patties, press the edges together to seal and broil. A savory cheese stuffing for six burgers is made with 1 cup grated cheese, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and 1/4 cup chili sauce.

When the youngsters want a nutritious snack, give them a frozen yogurt in push-up sticks or swirled decoratively in a cup. These items are the latest rage among the younger set.

This weekend, call both families for practically the price of one.

It's true! This weekend—and every weekend between 11 p.m. Friday and 5 p.m. Sunday—you can place two Long Distance calls for practically the price of one weekday evening call, when you dial the 1+ way.

For example, a 10-minute call to someone a thousand miles away weekday evenings (5 p.m. to 11 p.m., Sunday-Friday) would cost you $2.44, plus tax. Which, you'll admit, isn't bad. But for practically the same price, you could make two eight-minute calls over the same distance... any weekend.

It's almost like getting one call free! So this weekend, enjoy a couple of Long Distance calls. And make three families happy!

Historical Society To Review Ten Years of Museum Progress

Deaf Smith County Historical Society will hold its annual meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday in the basement of the County Museum. All members are urged to attend.

In the ten years since its establishment, the Museum has registered more than 50,000 guests, representing 46 of the 50 United States and 26 foreign countries. The facility maintains its earlier exhibits of the pioneer home, the cattle industry, a weapons collection and fine arts display.

The Museum has added the Chapel, an Indian artifacts exhibit, the General Store, Longhorn Hall and more outdoor scenarios. This year's special exhibits have included a tribute to Betsy Ross and the Pioneer Woman. Another display of interest honored the first land surveyors of this county, which observed its centennial last year.

Other temporary displays have included the Franklin Mint ingots of state flags and United States Presidents, the Orrfords Liberty Plate, and antique toys and dolls. The Museum is currently featuring a collection of hand-painted china and fine cut-glass on long-term loan from Mr. and Mrs. Leroy K. Williamson.

The newest addition to the Museum is the E.B. Black home, 508 W. 3rd, which was acquired recently by the County. The Historical Society's board of directors will direct restoration of the home and supervise its use for the benefit of the community.

The Society plans to utilize the Black residence as an adjunct to the Museum. Exterior repair work has been scheduled and the County Commission has earmarked funds for this purpose.

The Black house was a gift from Mrs. Prudis Black.

Dead Plants, Brown Teeth Results of Kleburg's Water

KLEBURG, Tex. (AP)—It's not just lugging plastic jugs of tap water from friends' homes that bothers David Story. The water in his new $16,000 house in this Dallas suburb just doesn't seem to perform any task right.

Story began to notice after he moved in that his house plants were keeling over. His new dishwasher stopped washing. And when he tried to bathe, the water felt like it was mixed with sand.

Then one of his neighbors dropped by and told him his children's teeth would turn brown if they drank enough of the water.

According to a report from the State Department of Health Resources, Kleburg's water contains excessive amounts of chloride and fluoride. The report stressed that there isn't enough of either chemical in the water to pose serious health problems.

"The whole thing's kind of screwy. We've tried to get somebody to do something about it but nobody ever has. Most of us out here are poor and we can't afford a new dishwasher every year. It's a mess," Story said.

While surrounding communities use surface water from lakes and reservoirs, Kleburg pumps its own from a 20-year-old artesian well.

Maurice Stroud, a director of the Dallas County Water Control and Improvement District No. 7, brushes off water complaints as "nit-picking."

"The flouride in the water may be bad to some plants, but I don't think it would hurt a dishwasher. And I've been drinking it for years. I love the way it tastes, but I realize some say it tastes different."

The water district will meet June 2 to discuss the possibility of a bond issue to either upgrade the system or try something new, Stroud said.

Regarding flouride, Don Thurman of the state health department said medical studies show that token amounts of flouride in water retard tooth decay. But when more than a small amount is found in the water, the compound causes brown tooth stains.

Lake Superior is the deepest of the Great Lakes.

Grand Jury Indicts 15

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A federal grand jury has indicted 15 people on charges of conspiring to import marijuana from Mexico for distribution in the United States.

The indictment, unsealed Wednesday afternoon, alleged the smuggling conspiracy has existed for more than two years and operated in Texas, Oklahoma, Michigan, Mexico and other unnamed locations.

U.S. Atty. John Clark said the multi-state operation has been under investigation for about a year. He said the probe was conducted by agents of the Drug Enforcement Administration, federal prosecutors and state narcotics officials.

Those named in the five-count indictment were:
Wendell Glenn Johnson, 34, Bellmead, Tex.; Michael Ray Spivey, 27, Mexia, Tex.; John Wiley Watson, Waco, Tex.; Robert Lloyd Kibler, 26, Bellingham, Wash.; Jack Henry Womack, 32, Waco; Howard Watson III, 33, Waco; Karen Lou Spivey, 26, Rt. 1, Mexia.

Also, William Wright Keitt, 42, Waco; Richard Lee Stricklin, Killeen, Tex.; Pedro Vasquez Jr., 27, Weslaco, Tex.; Benny Tyler, South Bend, Ind.; Fred Dennis Beckett, 26; John Norris Epperson, 41, Kenneth Leo Simpson, 34; and Robert Starr.

Beckett, Epperson, Simpson and Starr are reported to be in jail in Mexico.

The indictment said Johnson, Howard Watson, Epperson and Simpson are pilots.

At Wit's End By Erma Bombeck

The T-shirt craze has clearly gotten out of hand. The other day, I encountered three propositions, four declarations, two obscene suggestions, and a word so bad I stopped the car and covered the wearer's body with a road map of Phoenix's downtown area.

Maybe I'm a prude, but T-shirts are not for everyone. I saw one the other day worn by your basic full-figured woman. I nudged my mother. "Why would anyone wear around an aerial view of the graduation class of midshipmen at Annapolis?"

"It's not an aerial view of the graduation class of midshipmen at Annapolis," she said. "It's a pizza."

"I guess I've never seen pepperonies that size before."

"The trouble with you," she said, "is that you do not have the figure for it."

"Oh, c'mon," I said. "Is that what you think? Why, I could walk into any store in the shopping center and get dozens of T-shirts that would look stunning on me."

"Try it," she said dryly.

When I told the first salesperson I wanted a T-shirt, she said, "What do you want it to say?"

"Something clever," I said. "How about, IRONED SHEETS ARE A HEALTH HAZARD?"

"Your chest can't handle that many words," she said.

"I told you so," said mother.

"Then, how about your standard, 'HAVE A GOOD DAY?'" I pressed.

"Your arms would cover HAVE A and DAY, and the GOOD would wrinkle."

"How about 'VOTE!'" said mother. "You could handle that."

"Here's one that's popular," said the salesperson. She held up a T-shirt with one word on it -- "BABY" -- with an arrow pointing downward.

"That's ridiculous," I said. "I'm not expecting."

"No problem," she said. "This one comes with an infant T-shirt for the newborn that reads, 'RIGHT,' or after nine months you can buy a new arrow that points to your head."

"I don't believe this," I said.

Later, as mother and I headed for the car, we saw a large blonde with jeans so tight her hipbones looked like towel hooks. Tucked inside was a T-shirt that read in big, black letters, "SPACE FOR RENT."

"You can say what you want," said mother. "but she's certainly well read."

Brucellosis Hearing Attracts Cattlemen

COLLEGE STATION—Opinions and judgments of cattlemen, veterinarians, state and federal livestock officials and others concerned with the national program of brucellosis eradication were presented during a daylong open forum or hearing at Texas A&M University, May 17.

The hearing was the fourth and final in a series of similar forums held this spring across the nation by the National Brucellosis Technical Commission to obtain ideas and feedback from beef and dairy producers and other interested individuals, said Dr. John Hopkin, commission member and general arrangements chairman.

Chairman for the four hearings was Dr. David Berman, with the school of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Wisconsin. Other members of the Technical Commission, besides Hopkin and Berman, include Dr. Robert Wise, director and a medical doctor with the Veteran's Administration Center at Pogus, Maine; Dr. W.T. (Dub) Berry, vice president of Western Farm Management at Denver, Colorado; and Dr. Robert K. Anderson, veterinarian and epidemiologist with the School of Public Health at the University of Minnesota.

At the hearing held at Texas A&M, cattle industry leaders from throughout Texas—including both beef and dairy interests—participated and presented information, ideas and other types of feedback. Industry leaders also suggested some alternative proposals which they considered to be practical and reasonable in the program to control or eradicate brucellosis from cattle.

Besides cattle producers, others attending were officials of the Texas Animal Health Commission, state and federal animal health officials, officials with the state department of health, veterinarians, researchers and educators.

Examining New Line

Dr. K.B. Porter, Wheat Breeder with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station looks over a new wheat line at Bushland in preparation for a Wheat Field Day June 2 at 1:15 p.m.

Bushland Center To Host Wheat Field Day In June

BUSHLAND—A Wheat Field Day will be held at the USDA Research Center at Bushland Thursday, June 2. Dr. B.A. Stewart, Director of the Center, invites individuals interested in wheat breeding and wheat production research to attend.

Tours of research plots will start at 1:15 p.m. and continue until 3:00 p.m. Featured on the tour will be new wheats that yielded over 100 bushels per acre with irrigation at Bushland in 1976. One of the new unnamed experimental varieties developed by Dr. Kenneth Porter, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Wheat Breeder, averaged 2.5 bushels more yield than other experimental lines and standard varieties in 25 tests over the Great Plains. These experimental varieties beat Scout and Centurk by 20 bushels per acre in irrigated tests at Bushland.

These varieties will be shown in a dryland field to tour participants by Dr. Frank Petr, Area Agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Other research with wheat includes breeding for greenbug resistance and wheat streak mosaic. Dr. Robert Berry, Texas Agricultural Extension Service Plant Pathologist, will show wheat plots that have some resistance to wheat streak mosaic. Spring wheat varieties will be shown in irrigated plots.

Other phases of wheat production will be discussed by several members of the staff. Dr. Wendell Johnson will discuss effect of climate on wheat growth. Dr. Steve Winter will be on hand to tell visitors about wheat rotation with sugarbeets, corn and sunflowers. Limited tillage and stubble mulch research in wheat will be shown by Dr. Paul Unger. Sunflower production will be another feature of the tour. Control of hard-to-kill weeds will be discussed by Dr. Allen F. Wiese.

Dr. Andy Cole, USDA Animal nutritionist, will discuss shipping fever research started in the fall of 1976. The newly expanded cattle research program will be outlined by Dr. G.B. Thompson, Director of Research for Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Amarillo.

The Field Day is sponsored by USDA Agricultural Research Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"We hope for a good turnout," Dr. Stewart said, "and if hail leaves us alone, we have prospects of an excellent wheat crop." "We hope our research will help farmers produce wheat more efficiently," he concluded.

Ag Exposition Adds New Events

LUBBOCK—The High Plains Agribusiness Exposition has added new events to the program—schedule for its three-day tenure at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

The events, which are designed to assist the urban and rural homemaker, include: a microwave cooking demonstration, coordinate by Joy Parnell of Southwestern Public Service Co., on September 8; an interior design presentation, by Lucille Melcher of Cagle's Furniture, on September 9; and a natural fiber fashion show, sponsored by Hemphill-Weils, on September 10. Special events for the Exposition are being coordinated by Cheryl D. Beere, assistant to the director of Industry Showcase.

Other "extras" planned for the Exposition include a pre-show symposium on water conservation, energy, estate planning and marketing. Speakers and details will be announced later.

Danny J. Cunyus, director of the show, stated that within one week of the time prospective exhibitors were notified of the availability of space, more than 48 per cent of the inside space had been reserved. Total inside and outside exhibit space for the Exposition exceeds 120,000 square feet.

Slated as the High Plains first major Agribusiness Exposition, the show is co-sponsored by: Industry Showcase, Inc., Grain Sorghum Producers Association, Growers Seed Association, West Texas Agricultural Chemical Institute, Plains Cotton Co-operative Association, Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and Southwest Farm Press.

Soybeans Gain During Month

AUSTIN—While soybeans and sorghum prices strengthened during the month ending April 15, the average prices received for all Texas crops decreased 1 per cent, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Soybeans jumped $1.74 a bushel in one month, up to $9.08. "This price is quite a contrast to the $4.26 a bushel last year in April," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said. Grain sorghum moved up 7 cents to $3.69 a hundredweight (cwt).

Grains other than sorghum decreased in price, with barley showing the largest drop of 29 cents to $2.09 a bushel. Wheat prices moved down 3 cents to $2.24; corn averaged $2.20 a bushel, and oats at $1.60.

Brown said that despite the worldwide demand for cotton, prices dropped 2.8 cents from March averages to 66.4 cents a pound in April. Wool also dropped from 91 cents to 85 cents a pound. Mohair prices stayed the same at $2.40 a pound, but were 10 cents lower than those a year ago.

April beef cattle and calf prices—$35.60 per cwt. for cattle and $38.40 for calves—were close to the averages for 1972—"but with 1977 production costs," Brown added. April averages were $1.90 higher for beef cattle, $2.80 for calves.

The surface of Lake Superior is 602 feet above sea level. It is the highest of the Great Lakes as well as the largest. The smallest and lowest is Lake Ontario, with a surface 246 feet above sea level.

Decision To Replant Must Be Made Carefully

LUBBOCK—Spring thunderstorms with hail are dealing South Plains cotton severe blows in isolated areas. And farmers, worried that planting deadlines are near, may be quick to react by replanting if they have enough seed. That, says a Texas Agricultural Extension Service agronomist, in many instances may not be the best thing to do.

"You don't make snap decisions when it comes to hail damage," says Dr. James R. Supak, area specialist for the Extension Service. "It will always appear much worse that the actual damage immediately after the storm. In case of cotton, the crops have been hit by hail, and no doubt more will be hit as the season progresses. Supak predicts. If a producer's crop suffers hail damage, he will have to consider several factors in determining whether to replant. Among these are growth stage, type and extent of injury and seasonal conditions.

A first point to consider, the agronomist says, is how much of the field was damaged. A hail storm can reduce the plant population to only two seedlings per row foot in 40-inch rows (about 25,000 to 30,000 plants per acre), and the crop can still produce a normal yield, unless, of course, the crop is poorly distributed or has long skips.

Another point in determining whether to replant is how much damage there was to plants. The agronomist explains that plants having only traces of leaves will recover better than those with no leaves. But he emphasizes that a seedling with no leaves can still make a crop.

"If the damage is suffered early, a crop can recover to the point that the injured plants are difficult to distinguish from undamaged plants," he adds. Also young cotton that survives early hail damage is often more mature at frost than a crop that has been replanted.

"When a cotton field is totally destroyed," he says, "the producer has no choice but to replant, especially if the damage occurs early in the season."

GROWING BUSINESS—Texas Department of Agriculture inspectors have their hands full keeping up with the booming plant business. Plants are inspected to insure consumers are getting insect-free foliage for their homes and gardens.

Your Favorite Houseplant Part Of a Fast Growing Ag. Industry

AUSTIN—If you haven't been talking to your geranium very much lately, maybe you should tell her she's part of one of the fastest growing agricultural industries in the state.

Potted flowers, foliage plants, flowering and vegetable bedding plants became increasingly important in 1976, adding $19,107,000 to the state's coffers, making Texas the ninth ranked producing state in the nation, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

"I guess you could say the nursery industry in Texas is 'growing like a weed,'" commented Reagan V. Brown, Texas Agriculture Commissioner.

"This industry has grown from a $3½ million crop in 1973," he said, "and with Texas producers expected to add over 800,000 square feet of growing area this year, we can expect to see even more dramatic economic increases ahead."

While most of the increased area is in greenhouse production, the figure includes 8.4 acres of vegetable transplants grown out of doors in the state.

Patio or indoor foliage plants provided the bulk of sales, with a wholesale value of almost $10 million in the state last year. This was an increase of over $3 million from the previous year, a survey of the industry by the U.S. Department of Agriculture has shown.

"With home gardening interest at a peak now, consumers are buying more and more vegetable bedding plants," Brown said, pointing out that the wholesale value of this portion of the industry was estimated at $146,000 last year and producers were expected to increase production by 295 per cent this year.

Major production areas include: Chrysanthemums, $4,610,000; poinsettias, $1,583,000; geraniums, $1,640,000; lilies, $408,000; hydrangeas, $618,000; flowering bedding plants, $1,109,000; and vegetable bedding plants, $503,000.

Naman Says Farm Bill Places Agriculture On Brink Of Ruin

Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco has released a statement on the federal farm bill which has recently been reported out of the agricultural committees of both houses of Congress.

"Despite reports from Washington that members of the House Agriculture Committee congratulated themselves with applause on the voting out of the four-year farm bill, Texas farmers do not share this enthusiasm. They view the committee approved bills as a dismal display of irresponsible action that will condemn agriculture to four more years of tottering on the brink of economic ruin," said Naman. "A recent Department of Agriculture survey shows that Texas is one of the nine states surveyed by the Federal Reserve Bank indicating that the financial condition of the farmers has deteriorated'. The report pointed out that one-third of the farmers in these states are having difficulty getting re-financed and one-fourth of the bank borrowers in these states will be forced to re-finance their loans or dispose of their farm assets, if price improvements are not imminent. It showed that 11,300 Texas family farmers are in extreme economic difficulty," Naman pointed out.

"With the exception of the dairy section of the farm program, in itself not good enough, both the Senate and the House versions of the farm bill are totally inadequate to meet the needs of a financially strong agriculture. Prices on all the basic commodities are set at or below the cost of production. Among the worst sections of the farm bill are those which pertain to cotton, peanuts, and rice, but when a farmer asks himself what commodity he might produce and be better off, it becomes a question of whether he is 'shot or hung'," he added.

"The peanut provisions of the bill are a radical departure from what peanut farmers have voted for and supported traditionally. The language which substitutes poundage quotas for acreage allotments will be extremely discriminating and detrimental to producers in Texas and Oklahoma. In fact, the proposed peanut program will wreck the economies of those areas which have traditionally produced peanuts in the southwest.

The cotton section of the bill set loans and target prices at or below the cost of production and assures the U.S. cotton producer that it is unlikely that he will ever again receive a parity or fair price for his crop. The bill contains provisions which permit the importation of an unprecedented amount of raw cotton. In other words it puts a lid on the price of cotton at a low level."

Naman stated the rice section of the bill perpetuates the grave mistake which was made two years ago in repealing a good rice program which farmers had supported and voted for through the years.

"The farm bill, as approved by the Senate and House Agriculture Committees, provides a gigantic windfall to the processors and handlers of farm commodities. By setting loan prices at depressed levels and permitting the importation of raw cotton, the international grain traders and cotton shippers are assured of the continuation of a high volume of low priced farm commodities. The peanut bill is a special interest peanut program designed to benefit the peanut shellers and crushers at the expense of family farmers," the TFU head charged.

"The implications of cheap grain which will be guaranteed under the proposed farm legislation will extend beyond the producers of that grain and will affect an already depressed cattle industry by intensifying the problem by encouraging more production of cheap red meat. Sadly enough, the low prices and economic chaos which will result from the new farm bill will not result in lower retail prices to the consumer. In fact, the consumer can anticipate even higher prices when more family farmers are put into bankruptcy," he added.

"Farmers Union commends the handful of members of the Senate and House Agriculture Committees who had the courage to vote against the majority because of the inadequacy of the legislation. We shall work with them in an effort to get floor amendments to the farm bill that will improve it. We cannot support the legislation as it is presently constituted," Naman concluded.

Comment Time Extended On Milk Order Hearing

The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has extended from May 23 to June 1 the time for commenting on testimony presented at a public hearing held April 5-8 to consider a proposed base-excess producer payment plan in 11 southwestern federal milk marketing orders.

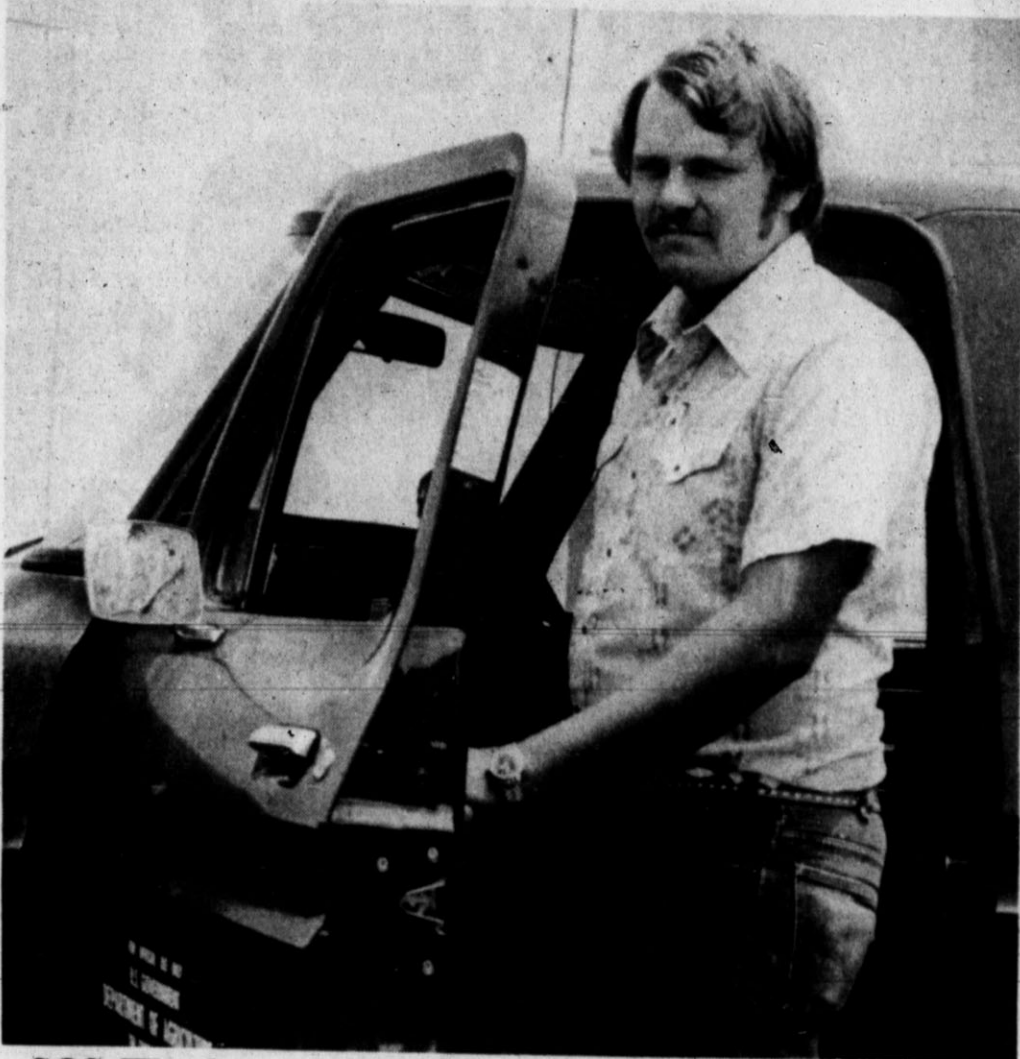

W.H. Blanchard, dairy official in USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service (AMS), said the additional time for filing briefs was requested by Marketing Assistance Plan, Inc., representing some of the affected producers.

As proposed at the hearing, a dairy farmer's milk deliveries to regulated handlers under any of the 11 orders during September-December would be used to compute the quantity of base for each producer. Then from February-July the producer would be paid according to the amount of base and excess milk he delivered during these months to regulated handlers under the 11 orders, Blanchard explained.

The proposed amendments would affect the Texas, Neosho Valley, Wichita, Memphis, Fort Smith, River Valley, Oklahoma Metropolitan, Central Arkansas, Lubbock-Plainview, Texas Panhandle, and Rio Grande Valley federal milk orders.

Persons wishing to submit comments on the record of the hearing should send them to the Hearing Clerk, Room 1077, South Bldg., U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, where anyone may review them.

Notice of the extension of time for submitting briefs on the hearing record will be published in the Federal Register May 23.

Value Of Cotton Just Under Record

AUSTIN—Final tallies on the 1976 cotton crop show the value of production to be $1,122,018,000, just slightly under the record set in 1973, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

The total Texas crop value was 84 per cent higher than the previous year. Number of bales was 3,307,000, according to the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

"An all-time high for U.S. cash receipts for cotton was $3.7 billion in 1976," Brown reported. U.S. production totaled 10.6 million bales.

"All of our reports show that the 1977 crop will be even bigger in Texas. There is little indication so far that foreign demand will lessen. Prices should remain good, despite the increased acreage," Brown said.

The average price per pound of lint in 1976 for Texas upland cotton was 62.4 cents, over a third higher than 1975. American Pima sold for an average of $1.18 a pound. Cottonseed prices moved up to $99 a ton, contrasted with $89.80 the previous year. Upland cotton lint brought $990,513,000; American Pima, $4,191,000, and cottonseed $127,314,000.

American Pima production continued the downward trend that began in 1971. The 1976 crop was the smallest since 1949.

Northern High Plains farmers harvested 292,000 bales from 400,000 acres. Yield per acre increased 99 pounds from 1975 to 1976 with 350 pounds per acre last year.

Red Meat Production Rises TDA Survey Shows

AUSTIN—Red meat production in the state increased six per cent during the first quarter of 1977, according to the Texas Department of Agriculture.

An 11 per cent increase in hog slaughter accounts for a large portion of the increase, but pork output remains lower than earlier predicted, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown commented. "A combination of severe winter weather and disease losses have kept pork production under earlier high predictions so that prices have been maintained at higher levels than expected for hogs," he said.

Hog slaughter of 286,400 head was a part of the six per cent jump in overall red meat production in the state, which stands at 962 million pounds for the first three months of the year.

On the down side of the ledger was cattle slaughter, with its 1,495,700 head count some three per cent under the same period in 1976. Downturns in beef production accompanied by a smaller than expected output of pork, have begun to buoy prices, Brown said. Experts indicate that increases in two major elements of beef demand, population size and disposable income, are also making spring and summer price improvements look very likely.

Calf kill took a big jump during the quarter, up 24 per cent to 162,200 head but were more than counterbalanced by the sheep and lamb slaughter of 226,900 which was down 25 per cent in the same period.

IN WASHINGTON Martha Angle and Robert Walters

The ethics guardians

By Martha Angle and Robert Walters WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. Harrison H. Schmitt believes the Senate's new code of ethics is unenforceable. Sen. John G. Tower says the measure is "a hoax." And Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. calls it "a smelly piece of legislation."

Those three men, all Republicans, are members of the small band of 14 senators who thought so little of the Senate's effort to upgrade its ethical standards earlier this year that they either were absent when it was adopted or voted against it. But Schmitt of New Mexico, Tower of Texas and Weicker of Connecticut have another distinction: They comprise the entire Republican membership of the Senate Ethics Committee, which has full responsibility for implementing and enforcing the new legislation.

The fox-guarding-chicken-coop analogy is an overworked cliché, but it certainly seems applicable in this case. Without tough but fair oversight on the part of the committee, the highly touted code of ethics will serve as little more than a paper facade for the questionable practices which Congress has allowed to flourish for so long.

Indeed, the recent history of ethics enforcement in both the House and Senate suggests that there is little enthusiasm for consistent, meaningful implementation of the high-toned moral standards which the legislators have rushed to formulate in order to improve their image after every major scandal of the past 15 years.

The influence-peddling controversy surrounding Robert G. (Bobby) Baker during the early 1960s led the Senate to vote on July 24, 1964 to establish a Select Committee on Standards and Conduct.

But it was not until July 9, 1965 — almost one year later — that the Senate got around to naming the committee's members. And it took another three-plus months, until Oct. 21, 1965, for the committee to gather for its first organizational meeting.

In its almost 13 years of existence, that committee has conducted a full-scale investigation of exactly one legislator, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. Even that probe probably would not have been undertaken were it not for the months-long drumbeat of criticism of Dodd's questionable financial activities.

The House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct was not formed until 1967 — just after the Senate censured Dodd and the House was forced to deal with the scandal involving Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.

In its almost 11 years of operation, the House committee has matched the Senate record of inaction by also initiating precisely one comprehensive investigation, involving Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, D-Fla. That probe probably would not have been undertaken if Common Cause had not shoved the committee into it.

If that record offers little promise for the future, then the hostile attitude of Republicans on the Senate committee is an even more ominous sign.

"The end product of this effort is nothing more than a blatant public relations effort designed to justify the recent pay raise which Congress received," said Tower, one of four senators who weren't present to vote on the measure. "This bill is a hoax."

Weicker, who voted against it, called the proposal "an amalgam of arbitrary restrictions and incomplete regulations." He predicted that if the ethics code ever faces a court test, "it will clearly fall on constitutional grounds."

Schmitt, who also voted in opposition, said: "The proposed resolution assumes that the rules can be enforced by the Senate. Common sense would suggest that nothing could be further from the truth."

Those three men are highly unrepresentative of the rest of the Senate, 86 of whose members voted for the code of ethics. They are not even in step with most of their fellow Republicans because 27 GOP senators voted for the reform. Yet they now cast half of the votes on the Senate Ethics Committee.

COMMENTARY Don Oakley

Solar future is now

By Don Oakley

The future of solar energy is now. Contrary to the popular impression that harnessing the heat of the sun is one of those "exotic" energy sources whose development is many years away, a veritable boom is taking place in the solar energy field.

A recent estimate by the federal Energy Research and Development Administration (ERDA) indicates that some 5,000 homes in the United States are now heated completely or in part by solar energy units. Two years ago, there were just 183 such homes.

In addition, approximately 5,000 new solar hot water heaters are in operation, plus uncounted thousands of solar swimming pools.

The boom is barely beginning. According to one expert, the number of buildings heated by solar is doubling every six or eight months. "It's exploding."

In his energy message, President Carter expressed hope that the number of solar homes would jump to 2.5 million in the near future, spurred by his proposed tax credit to homeowners and businesses converting to solar.

Last year, the Department of Housing and Urban Development spent $4 million to encourage construction of nearly 1,500 solar homes. Lending institutions are also financing an increasing number of solar homes, not all of them in sunny parts of the country by any means.

A typical homeowner on Long Island, for example, can reduce his hot water heating bill by 50 per cent with a solar system.

Hundreds of companies are becoming active in the field, ranging from giants like Grumman, General Motors and General Electric to small ones like Mor-Flo Industries of Cleveland and Universal Solar Energy of Miami.

A spokesman for Mor-Flo, which also makes gas and electric water heaters, predicts that solar water heaters will have sales of $893 million within five years, $2.4 billion within 10 years and $4.1 billion in 15 years.

This is only a small part of the action. Nationally, says the founder of Universal Solar Energy, solar heating and cooling will become a $50 billion industry in the foreseeable future.

With so many different solar collectors now available, costing from several hundred to a couple thousand dollars — investments that can be recovered in a few years even if the prices of conventional fuels don't continue to rise — the question is why we still think of solar energy as "sometime in the future."

One reason, suggests Joseph G. Gavin, president of Grumman Corp., may be the name. Solar energy sounds like space technology, something exotic, complicated and expensive. Actually, anyone reasonably handy with tools can build a solar collector from materials readily available from a local lumber yard.

Another reason for the misperception, he says, is that most publicity about solar energy has to do with future-oriented research projects being conducted by such agencies as ERDA and NASA. Solar energy is also wrapped up in the idea of "energy independence," which is asking more of it than it will ever be able to deliver.

But while more research is certainly needed, and while solar energy will never account for more than a small, though significant, percentage of our total energy needs, the country is overlooking the opportunity to use what we have right now, says Gavin.

Solar energy requires no invention, no new government agencies, no new installation or servicing skills, no new manufacturing or distribution methods.

All it requires is for individual homeowners who are fed up with the rising cost of fuel to realize that they can become not just energy consumers but energy producers — now.

Sullivan SWC Coach Of Year

Mickey Sullivan, understandably, was at loss for words. He had been named The Associated Press 1977 Southwest Conference Baseball Coach of the Year.

"Well, gosh darn, I'm kinda shocked," said Sullivan. "We only had one boy make All-Conference in three years... then we had to win eight out of our nine games to even finish third... then we win the tournament..."

Sullivan's voice trailed off for a moment then was back to full volume.

"This is a big boost for our program... with Steve Macko getting player of the year and Sammy Bickham as Newcomer of the Year. I've really been pulling for something like this so long..."

Baylog opens play as the SWC representative tonight in the NCAA playoff regionals in Arlington.

Sullivan has been coach at Baylor just four years.

"Other than Baylor making it to the Cotton Bowl this is the biggest thrill I've had," said the former Baylor All-American, who played for the Bears in 1953 and 1954.

The Bears were 39-12 under Sullivan and unseated powerful Texas A&M and Texas in the SWC playoffs.

"I'll tell you, those honors for Macko and Bickham are well deserved," said Sullivan. "And getting Mike Czimskey and Leonard Woods on the team makes it icing on the cake."

Catcher Czimskey and outfielder Woods were on the All-Conference team.

Texas A&M, the regular season SWC champion, placed three players on the team while Texas, knocked out of the playoffs for the first time in 12 years, landed two players on the All-Star team.

Macko, the Baylor shortstop, was the leading hitter with a lousy .404 average.

Bickham won 12 games and lost only two.

Texas A&M's Mark Thurman had the best earned run average at .064.

The first team lineup included Gary Ashby of Texas Tech at first base, Gary Weiss of Houston and second, Maco Houston and second, Macko at shortstop, and Ralph Wheeler of Houston at third. The catcher was Czimskey and Robert Bonner of A&M was the utility infielder.

The designated hitter was Gary Sims of Texas Tech.

The outfielders are Wendell Hibbitt of Texas, Marc Brumble of Arkansas and Woods.

Aaron Misses U.S. Open Cut

ATLANTA (AP)- Former Masters champion Tommy Aaron was one of two golfers to miss the cut Wednesday in sudden death playoffs in sectional qualifying for the U.S. Open Golf tournament. But touring pro Curtis Sifford of Los Angeles and five other golfers survived.

All eight fired 148s Tuesday and returned to the par-72, 6-808-yard Horseshoe Bend Country Club on Wednesday to fight for the six spots available. A record 60 places were offered for 243 entrants in the qualifying at Atlanta.

Tim Fulcher and Ari Kraft, both of Atlanta, birdied the par-five first hole to win spots.

Aaron, of Gainesville, Ga., double-bogied the first hole and fell from the running.

Firing par fours on the second hole to qualify were Sifford, Bobby Walzel of Texas, Robbie Harris of Athens, Ga., and Jeff Jerrell of Marietta, Ga. John Bodin of Atlanta was eliminated when he double-bogied the second hole.

DALLAS (A.P.)- Pete Manos, who was the number one draft choice of the San Antonio Thunder last year, has signed as a backup goalie with the Dallas Tornado. The 22-year-old was waived by Hawaii earlier this week.

Dodger Lead Not Easily Cut

LOS ANGELES (AP)- Joe Ferguson, the former Los Angeles Dodger who now catches for the Houston Astros, took a look at the Dodgers' 11 1/2-game lead in the National League West, and said, "To me, there's no way they can't win."

The Astros had just defeated the Dodgers 7-6 Wednesday night, but Ferguson said he sees little hope of anyone overtaking his former club.

"If the Dodgers keep doing what they're doing," he said, "someone's going to have to make up 11 1/2 games. Who's going to do it?"

"It can be done. I know. I was on two Dodger teams that had big leads but didn't win. But I can't see Cincinnati playing like it has the last two years. They just don't have the same personnel."

The loss was the only the Dodgers' 11th of the season, yet they lost no ground to second-place Cincinnati, which also lost, dropping a 6-5 decision to the Giants in San Francisco.

Pitching the final game of the series tonight will be James Rodney Richard, 3-4, for Houston and Burt Hooton, 4-1, for Los Angeles. Cincinnati follows the Astros into Dodger Stadium.

The Astros got big efforts Wednesday night from two unlikely sources, rookie infielder Cesar Gonzales, who collected four hits and drove in the decisive run in the eighth inning, and second baseman Art Howe, who slugged two solo home runs.

For Howe, the homers marked only his fourth and fifth of his career, prompting him to say, "It's the biggest thrill I've had in baseball."

Howe's second homer, in the eighth inning, broke a 5-5 tie and then Gonzales drove home Cesar Cedeno, aboard after being hit by a pitch, with what proved to be the winning run.

The Dodgers fought back in the bottom of the eighth to score one run, on singles by Rick Monday, Dusty Baker and pinch-hitter Boog Powell. But Ken Forsch, in relief of winning pitcher Joaquin Andujar, 4-3, got pinch-hitter John Hale for the third out in the eighth and then left two runners on in the ninth by striking out Monday to end the game.

Earlier, Reggie Smith powered a towering two-run homer in the fifth inning, his 12th of the season, second in the National League to teammate Ron Cey's 13. That gave Los Angeles a 4-2 lead.

The Astros rebounded an inning later when Enos Cabell followed a walk to Ferguson with a homer to center, off Dodger starter Doug Rau. One out later, Howe hit his first homer of the game to give Houston the lead, 5-4.

Charlie Hough, 3-3, who served up Howe's second homer and Gonzales' run-scoring single, absorbed the loss.

Andujar worked into the eighth inning, scattering nine hits. One was a two-run single by Steve Garvey in the third inning that produced Garvey's 30th and 31st runs-batted-in of the season. Rau worked six innings, giving up five runs on eight hits.

 Rodney Torres shows off the plaque he received for winning the age 9 Pitch, Hit and Run competition in Amarillo last Sunday. Torres will join other local winners Toby Torres, Jr. and Raymon Martinez on a trip to the state competition in Dallas June 11.

Sonics Bolster Front Line In Major Trade

BY TONY BAKER
 AP Sports Writer
 SEATTLE (AP)- The Seattle SuperSonics went shopping for consistency and intimidation. They think they found those ingredients in Marvin Webster, Paul Silas and Willie Wise.

In a move to bolster a weak front line, Seattle engineered a major five-player National Basketball Association trade that sent center Tom Burleson, guard Bobby Wilkerson and a second-round draft choice to Denver for Webster, a second-year center, and veteran forwards Silas and Wise in the three-team trade Wednesday.

Shortly after the Seattle-Denver trade was announced, the Nuggets sent the 7-foot-2 Burleson, the Sonics' No. 1 draft choice from North Carolina State three years ago, to Kansas City for guard Brian Taylor and the Kings' first-round choice in next month's college draft.

"We feel this is a major deal that will help the SuperSonics tremendously. It will give us a front line that can play right now," said Lenny Wilkens, Seattle's new director of player personnel.

"It definitely gives us a front line that can be consistent and competitive and, we think, intimidating. When have the Sonics had a consistent front line player who got 10 to 13 rebounds a night? You can't run without the ball."

The 7-1 Webster was signed by Denver two years ago when the Nuggets were in the old American Basketball Association in a bidding war with the Atlanta Hawks of the NBA.

Webster, 25, known as "The Human Eraser" in college because of his shot-blocking and defensive work, missed most of his rookie season with a kidney ailment. This past season, he played in 80 games and averaged 6.7 points.

Wise, 30, has averaged more than 19 points per game over eight professional seasons, seven in the ABA. Last season, he played in 75 games for Denver, averaging 8.2 points.

Silas, who will be 34 in July, has played in 13 NBA seasons with four clubs. He averaged 7.2 points per game last season in 81 games with the Nuggets, he is a strong rebounder.

Burleson, 25, played in 82 games last season, averaging 9.7 points. His best season was in 1975-76 when he averaged 15.6 points and 9.2 rebounds.

Wilkerson, 23, was Seattle's No. 1 choice last year. The former Indiana star averaged 6.7 points per game in 78 games.

"Sometimes you have to give up some good players to get good players," Wilkens said.

Punting Policeman's Dream Came True

BY MAT YANCEY
 Associated Press Writer
 LENOIR CITY, Tenn. (AP)- For Randy Tatham, a policeman who played in only a few games in one year of college football, a three-year contract with the Dallas Cowboys is a dream come true.

Despite the warnings of a few friends that he didn't have a chance, Tatham, 23, tried out as a punter at the Cowboys' spring training camp last Saturday.

"I kind of always thought I had the ability to play and I just went down there to give it a try," Tatham said.

This week, the team's personnel director, Gil Brandt, called with an offer totaling $70,000 plus possible bonuses for a three-year contract. It was the only contract the Cowboys awarded to a punter this year after the team's starter last season, Danny White, underwent a knee operation.

A policeman here the past 18 months, Tatham dropped out of the end of his junior year at Middle Tennessee State University after injuring his knee muscles in a 1975 spring practice session.

"I've always wanted to play,"

he said. "But after I left Middle Tennessee, I had to wait until my college eligibility was over."

Tatham, 6-5 and 212 pounds, averaged 42 yards a punt at LeNoir City High when he played there but had given up football for basketball when he went to Roane State Community College the following two years.

Working the midnight to 8 a.m. shift as a policeman, the rest of Tatham's day has been taking up with sleep and four hours of running and exercises to prepare for the tryouts.

"I'd run 2 1/2 miles when I'd get off before going to bed in the morning, run another 2 1/2 miles and practice between 150 and 200 punts in the afternoon and run another 2 1/2 miles before going to work at night," he said.

To strengthen the weak knee, Tatham also runs up and down the stadium steps at the high school two or three times daily and worked out on a leg exercise machine.

Tatham said he plans to continue working as a policeman here until two or three weeks before he has to report to the Cowboy's training camp at Thousand Oaks, Calif., in July.

The contract pays him $18,000 the first year, $24,000

Livacoli Sues Editors Team

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)- Investigative Reporters and Editors Inc., several newspapers and 40 reporters and editors were accused in a $17-million lawsuit of defaming Peter Livacoli Jr. in a series of articles on organized crime in Arizona.

as the head of a drug smuggling and prostitution ring operating out of Tucson. The articles said the operation has connections in several eastern cities, Alaska and throughout the Southwest.

The 23-part series was the result of the Phoenix Project, a five-month effort by IRE members from two dozen newspapers and television stations after the car-bomb murder of Don Bolles, a reporter for the Arizona Republic.

Defendants named in the suit are IRE; the Star Publishing Co. in Tucson, publishers of the Arizona Daily Star; the Denver Post; the Albuquerque Journal; the Long Island Newsday; Robert Greene, a Newsday city editor who headed the project, and 39 other individual team members.

In addition, separate suits were filed against at least three other newspapers Tuesday, and Mr. and Mrs. Livacoli's lawyers said they planned to file more suits.

The suit, filed in Pima County Superior Court by Livacoli and his wife, Elizabeth, quotes from four articles that named Livacoli damaged his reputation by faking branding him a drug addict.

According to the lawsuit filed in Tucson, the series, which identified Peter Livacoli Sr. as a former Mafia leader, said "although the old man is increasingly reluctant to deal in narcotics, his sons aren't. The Drug Enforcement Administration, which identifies Peter Jr. as the successor to his father's organization, says young Peter operated a smuggling ring from Mexico to St. Louis, Youngstown, Ohio, Boston and Anaheim, Calif.

Supreme Court Affirms Suit Against Railroad

AUSTIN (AP)- The Texas Supreme Court affirmed a $200,000 judgment Wednesday against a Houston railroad for putting out a false report that tests on an injured switchman

Joe Wherry alleged that employees T. Minahan and D.H. Montgomery of Houston Belt & Terminal Railway Co. had showed methadone in his blood. Court records show that Wherry hurt his knee climbing a fence on the job July 14, 1972.

The doctor reported to Montgomery, superintendent of safety and assistant manager of personnel, that "we had obtained a positive methadone, with a trace" and that "methadone was a drug which was used usually in treating heroin addicts, to get them off of heroin and onto methadone."

The suit was the second to be filed in Tucson since the series appeared earlier this year. Last month, Jerry Colangelo, general manager of the Phoenix Sun basketball team, filed a $500,000 suit accusing the corporation and other defendants of defamation by implying that he associated with gamblers.

Protests Sounded Over Energy Conversion Plan

DALLAS (AP)- The Federal Energy Administration's plan to order several Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana industries to switch from natural gas or oil to coal consumption has been met with a series of loud protests from the companies.

require a large number of plants to make the conversion. Thomas Payne, vice president for environmental quality for International Paper Co. (IPC), testified that the conversion at IPC's Texarkana and Pine Bluff, Ark. Plants would cost almost $36 million.

Payne. Darrell Greenwell, an FEA engineer, said representatives from all the firms involved in the three-state area except Exxon Chemical Corp. of Baton Rouge, La. testified after letters of intent were issued by the FEA informing the firms they are being considered for the coal conversion.

Montgomery then reported to seven Belt officials, and Wherry was suspended July 21. A test by another doctor, however, showed the presence of a compound that had characteristics resembling methadone but was not methadone.

Wherry was dismissed Aug. 9 as an unsafe employee, although he testified he had never taken methadone, heroin or any narcotic.

Hearings were conducted here and elsewhere around the country Tuesday prior to a nationwide FEA order sometime next month that is expected to require a large number of plants to make the conversion. Thomas Payne, vice president for environmental quality for International Paper Co. (IPC), testified that the conversion at IPC's Texarkana and Pine Bluff, Ark. Plants would cost almost $36 million.

The FEA has not made an accurate determination of the practicability of conversion to coal at either mill, said Minahan became involved in the suit, records show, as a result of a letter he wrote to the U.S. Department of Labor, stating why Wherry had been dismissed.

The jury found that Wherry had been falsely labeled a narcotics user, that the charges were made with malice, that his reputation had been damaged and that he was entitled to $200,000.

This Bartender Won't Sample The Stock

CHICAGO (AP)- It won't listen to your troubles or warble Irish ditties. But the computer bar can dispense one of 1,200 different drinks in less than three seconds, and it won't cheat the cash register.

price changes for special entertainment and happy hours. The names of various cocktails, glass size, and all types of liquors are on the drink buttons on the electronic keyboard.

During the hearing, Justin Cooper, vice president of Jefferson Chemical Co., a wholly owned subsidiary of Texaco Inc., accused the FEA of failing to consider the economic realities of coal conversion.

The civil appeals court affirmed the judgment, it said, however, Wherry could not collect individually against Montgomery or Minahan but only the railroad.

The supreme court affirmed that opinion, stating it could find no reversible error.

The bar, demonstrated at the National Restaurant Show, splashes, mixes and pours ingredients in the precise amount to fill the glass. The drinks also are priced, taxed and recorded, and a complete customer guest check is printed, all in the same operation.

Joe Shannon of Kent, Ohio, thought it up. He went from premedical and prelaw studies at John Carroll University in Cleveland into the juke box business. The juke were in 17 bars he eventually bought.

"We believe the FEA, in attempting to carry out its statutory responsibilities, is failing to meet the challenge of developing a viable coal utilization program and is, instead implementing a short-sighted and piecemeal construction order and conversion program," he said.

Greenwell added, "We weren't really surprised by the companies' reactions. We anticipated this. But it's nothing new to them. We've been in contact with them for sometime about this." He said those plants receiving conversion orders can appeal them back to the FEA or in the courts.

Shannon said his computer bars now are in 200 locations of major beverage operators. The cost of a pouring station with optional equipment starts at around $14,500.

It can pour from one drop to 64 ounces. Liquids are drawn by a gravity-fed pump through separate lines, preventing any cross mixing, and lights warn when a bottle is running low. The turn of a key controls

Then I found I was losing 18 per cent of gross receipts," said Shannon, 37. "It wasn't spillage or overpouring that was cutting profits. It was thievery or giveaways by clever bartenders, bar managers and waitresses. So I thought up a computer bar that made all this impossible. Anyone working them has to be honest."
