Appropriations Bill Sent To Governor

AUSTIN (AP) - The legislature's one "must" bill - funds to operate Texas' gigantic state government for two more years - is behind it.

A $15.5 billion general appropriation bill, 28 per cent higher than current spending, won final approval in both chambers Thursday.

It goes to Gov. Dolph Briscoe, via Comptroller Bob Bullock, who must certify that enough taxes are forthcoming to pay for it. Briscoe has until June 19 to line-veto items he doesn't like.

Then the state's hundreds of agencies, universities, junior colleges, courts and institutions will have to live with it for the two years starting Sept. 1.

Senators passed the compromise budget unanimously, but there was a mild uproar in the House before representatives approved it, 75-59.

Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, objected because a rider had been deleted prohibiting the use of family planning funds for abortions.

"If you vote for this bill, you are voting to kill 13,000 babies at a minimum this year. You might be able to take that home and live with it, but I can't," Hollowell said.

Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Victoria, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, said spending had risen 80 per cent in the past four years and a giant tax bill lay ahead unless the state became more frugal.

"The economy is good. People are moving in. We are going to have increased demand for state services," replied Rep. Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

The bill leaves $1.1 billion "on the table" for other spending, such as teacher pay raises and additional state aid for school districts - two subjects that remain in stuck conference committee.

The House passed and sent to the governor Thursday night bills that would:

- Open state-licensed occupations to qualified ex-convicts whose crimes did not relate to the work they would do.

- Raise candidate filing fees. A candidate for U.S. senator would pay $2,000 instead of the $1,000, and other statewide congressional candidates would pay $1,500 instead of $1,000.

- Increase motor vehicle inspection fees from $2 to $4 and add brake systems, wheel assemblies and steering systems to the parts that must be inspected.

- Enable persons whose conversations have been bugged or whose telephones have been tapped to collect civil damages of not less than $1,000, plus attorney fees. Penalties could be collected not only from the wiretapper but also from landlords or telephone companies who knowingly allowed electronic snooping to take place. Criminal penalties also would be provided.

A bill establishing a method for taxing farm, ranch and timber land according to its productivity - not its value on the real estate market - was sent to Briscoe. But it would take effect only if the legislature breaks a stalemate over a constitutional amendment giving it this authority and the voters approve the amendment.

Rep. Abe Ribak, D-San Antonio, got only 70 of the required 100 votes in the House for a constitutional amendment allowing garnishment of up to half a person's net wages for court-ordered child support.

Carter Faces Veto Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) - Jimmy Carter's first presidential veto appears inevitable as Congress shows little willingness to heed his warnings about the need to cut back on federal spending.

Whether Carter rejects a farm bill, money for water projects or the huge appropriations bill for the departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare, he's certain to face a stiff fight to make his veto stick.

Carter drew the line on curbing the budget at his news conference Thursday. "I have to reserve the right and the duty to say no when spending is excessive," he said.

Later in the news conference, Carter said he has "the right to veto bills if I think they are excessive."

Carter pointed to the farm bill and the water projects appropriation as prime contenders for this first veto.

The meeting with reporters saw Carter publicly air a dispute that has been brewing between the Democratic President and congressional liberals. Carter has taken a firm position at White House meetings with members of Congress on his determination to balance the budget by the end of his term.

Congressional Democrats have told him pointedly that they don't share his determination to balance the budget, especially, if it means sacrificing social programs.

Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., called Carter's threat to veto the farm bill "scare talk. It scares a lot of farmers, but it doesn't scare members of Congress."

And one of Carter's fellow Democrats, Sen. James Abourezk of South Dakota, brushed aside administration claims that the target prices set for major crops in the farm bill were too high and could cost nearly $4 billion, compared to the $2 billion price tag for the support levels proposed by Carter.

A veto might be avoided if the bill that goes to the White House is closer to the $2.3 billion measure approved by the House Agriculture Committee than the $4 billion bill that passed the Senate Tuesday night. The House is scheduled to act on the committee bill next month.

Avoiding a veto on the farm bill may be a lot easier, than avoiding one on the public works appropriations bill containing funds for water projects Carter has fought to eliminate.

North Korea Shows More

WASHINGTON (AP) - U.S. military concern over the power balance in Korea focuses on a nearly two-to-one North Korean advantage in tanks, many concentrated within 50 miles of the demilitarized border zone.

Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub indicated to a House subcommittee this week that his opposition to a U.S. ground force withdrawal is based largely on recent intelligence estimates of North Korean strength.

Singlaub, removed as U.S. chief of staff in Korea for suggesting the planned withdrawal would lead to war, said other generals agree with him. But some experts say they feel the Chinese and Soviets would restrain any North Korean urge to launch an invasion of the south.

President Carter, at a news conference Thursday, said Singlaub had committed "a very serious breach" of the military command system "and I certainly don't agree that there is any cause for a war to be expected."

U.S. intelligence analysts have known about the North Korean tank buildup for about two years, but estimates apparently have been inflated.

Military officials indicate they are concerned by more than raw numbers. Many of North Korea's 1,850 medium Soviet and Chinese-made tanks outgun South Korea's 1,000 medium U.S.-built tanks.

To help remedy this, the U.S. Army wants to arm South Korea's M48 tanks with 105 millimeter guns instead of their present 90 millimeter weapons. That would put them roughly on a fire-power with North Korea's T54 and T55 tanks and their 100 millimeter guns.

Valedictorian Leads Seniors To 'New World'

[Editor's note--The following is Phillip Zinser's valedictorian address to seniors of Hereford High School during commencement exercises Thursday evening.]

We stand here today boys and girls. It is our job tomorrow to be men and women. The threshold we cross tonight leads to a new world.

But, before this step is taken, we thank our parents. Honorable and true, a king and queen, my parents have given me time, love and themselves. Thanks to them I know God. No man can give me more than my parents have.

At the culmination of our public school career I thank the teachers. We have had many good teachers, who work much harder than they are given credit for. Many people have made many personal contributions. The Hereford school system is a good school system.

Also, I thank God. He created in the beginning and ruled in the end. Mighty and powerful, just and right is He.

Here we stand at the door to eternity, the gates of finality. Do we stand ready? Do we stand willing? Do we stand united? We are strongest when we stand united. A Wise man is a strong man and gets stronger. A wise man is also a good listener. But when he does speak, a wise man's words are golden jewels.

The words of a just man are as choice silver. The just man walks in his integrity. The righteous man knows the secret of the Lord.

"I have a vision for America for a time when men will again fight for the right. We have now in Washington a President who seeks to rule America righteously. The mood of America has not been this hopeful for decades. Once more we are growing and getting stronger."

We have studied many things in school. Frequently, many of us have won awards. Nevertheless, people usually aren't rewarded for their most valuable contributions. Such contributions, those unnamed contributions, are rarely noticed. Many of the things we have been taught we shall forget. Those most important things of life are not taught in school books.

Before the final farewell we can take a lesson from nature and think about the rattlesnake a minute. The color of the ground, he is a master of camouflage. When he needs to be still he is as fixed as a rock. When he moves he is as swift as a moment. He watched everything around him. He does nothing foolish to harm himself, but tries only to survive. He is feared and respected.

Enjoy yourself tonight because where we stood we can stand no longer. Farewell.

Kidney Donors Needed Man Says To Kiwanis

Members of the Noon Kiwanis Club were told of the great need for kidney donors during the club's Thursday meeting, a project that the club is adopting and pushing at the divisional level.

Alan Brockman, a Hereford man currently waiting for a kidney donor, told the story behind the need for kidney pledges. The board of directors of the Hereford club has decided to undertake a program to not only enlist kidney donors, but to educate the public about the warning signs of kidney problems and to help those who suffer from kidney disorders. The local club has taken the project to the Division 33 Council, asking the other clubs in the area to work on this special project.

Brockman, who is the manager of the Big Tex Elevators in Hereford, told the Kiwanians that the kidney is a filter for the human body. If the kidney stops functioning, then a person must have some other form of filtering system. He then undergoes dialysis treatments to filter his blood until a new kidney can be found and transplanted.

The dialysis treatments are not only time-consuming but expensive as well. The average person must have three dialysis treatments a week and each treatment takes six hours. A bovine vein is transplanted into the arm so that a large amount of blood can flow. The blood is pumped from the patient's body to the machine where it is filtered by osmosis, then pumped back into the body. During a single treatment, the blood is exchanged 18 times.

The cost of a dialysis treatment is $150. A yearly total for the treatments can easily total $25,000. Medicare pays for 80 per cent of the treatment. State agencies help to pay for transportation costs and insurance covers some kidney patients, but it is still very expensive.

The only alternative to expensive and time-consuming dialysis is the transplanting of a kidney. The first kidney transplant was performed unsuccessfully in 1954. The operation has been performed successfully thousands of times since, but the basic problem is the supply of kidneys.

There are four tissue types in a kidney. To transplant a kidney, a person must first have the same blood type as the donor and must match at least two of the four tissue types. At least two of the four tissue types must match, regardless of the donor, or the patient's body will reject the new organ. "Related" donors, or family members quite often match these prerequisites. The first successful transplant in 1954 was from an identical twin. Often though, a brother, sister, parent or even grandparent qualifies as a donor. "Cadaver" donors are persons who have agreed to donate their kidneys and then died in a auto wreck, an industrial accident, or some circumstance of death in which the kidneys were not affected.

A "related" donor most often goes to the hospital and gives up one of his kidneys, an operation that is minor and will keep the donor off work from only a month to six weeks. A kidney from a "Cadaver" donor must be harvested 30 minutes after death, however. Once the kidney is harvested, doctors must transplant it within 72 hours. "Related" donors transplants have attained a 95 per cent success rate with "Cadaver" transplants are only 79 per cent successful.

Brockman told the Kiwanians there are 8,000 persons in the United States awaiting kidneys. Eight hundred are in Texas, with 300 in the Dallas district, of which our area is a part. In our immediate area there are 15 persons awaiting transplants, including Brockman.

Thirty persons have died in the Amarillo area in the past 3 months, Brockman said, that could have been potential kidney donors. That would have been 60 kidneys. Since the human body needs only one kidney, one-quarter of that number of donors would have satisfied the needs of those awaiting transplants in the Amarillo area. This is where the Kiwanis club hopes to help.

The local club has already begun work on the special project, and plans to educate the public so that there will be plenty of donors on hand. Although there is a kidney bank in Lubbock, there is a great need for persons to register.

Persons interested in donating a kidney can write to the Kidney Foundation of the Panhandle, 305 Polk, Lobby Amarillo Bldg., Amarillo. Driver licenses issued since 1976 also have space on the back side reserved for a donor pledge.

In other business, Kiwanians at their last meal in the Civic Club Center. With the announcement recently that the building would be torn down this summer, Kiwanians voted to move their meeting place to the Presbyterian Church where their meals will be catered.

Committee Investigates Kiddie Porn In West

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A House committee is bringing its investigation into child pornography to Los Angeles, seeking ways to control a growing trade in photographs, movies, slides and books depicting children engaged in sexual acts.

Los Angeles has become a kind of capital city of the so-called "Kiddie Porn" business. Investigator Lloyd Martin of the Los Angeles Police Department estimates that 30,000 boys and girls are sexually exploited by adults in Los Angeles every year.

Martin said much of child pornography is made in southern California. "You can tell by the suntan marks on a child's body that he or she is from a sunny climate," he said.

The scheduled lead off witness today before the House Select Committee on Education and Labor, is Robin Lloyd, a Los Angeles-based television newsman who has written a book on boy prostitution.

Lloyd says the children who most frequently wind up in the pages of such magazines as "Nudist Moppets" and "Little Girls Together" come from "a vast army of a million kids who run away each year."

Lloyd, who says he has 264 magazines, each costing about $7, dealing with child prongraphy, relates what he considers a typical scenario among the hundreds of children, ages 8 to 16, who become the stars of Kiddie Porn:

"A 12-year-old girl, a 13-year-old boy comes to Los Angeles. They've split from Omaha or someplace looking for a better deal. They're hungry and they're cold and they don't have a place to stay. They're a prime target for a recruiter for pornography."

"When you're 12 and you're hungry you might soon discover that you're not as broke as you thought you were. You've got a marketable commodity - your body. You've got something to hook."

What Lloyd, the police and others are seeking is a federal law prohibiting the filming of children under 16 engaged in sexual acts and the transportation of such films across state lines.

"I think we have to try to control it. Forget about the world elimination. If people didn't want to buy it, the market wouldn't exist. I think we have to face up to that," he said.

The market is huge, but there is no way of accurately estimating how many adults purchase books and films distributed by child porno producers.

Under current law, most child prongraphy is prosecuted under obscenity statutes, but getting a conviction is no easy matter.

Martin said his men could do more with public support. "The real sad part is that we can't show the public the material we have on hand. It is just too objectionable for public display."

Insurance Rates Rehearing Set

AUSTIN (AP) - The State Insurance Board Thursday set a June 22 rehearing on its decision to reduce property insurance rates by a statewide average of 2.8 per cent.

Insurance companies, which wanted a 6.6 per cent average rate hike, requested the rehearing, which is a necessary step if they intend to go farther and challenge the board order in court.

"This rehearing is being granted to the insurance companies not because we have any doubts that our rate cuts are justified but simply in an effort to be fair," said board chairman Joe Christie.

"If our rates are based on calculations which the companies can prove to us are erroneous, we will make any changes necessary. Otherwise, we expect to proceed with the original rate reduction which we felt was justified because of the large number of companies selling policies at rates below those set by the board," Christie said.

New rates take effect July 1, unless revised by the board.

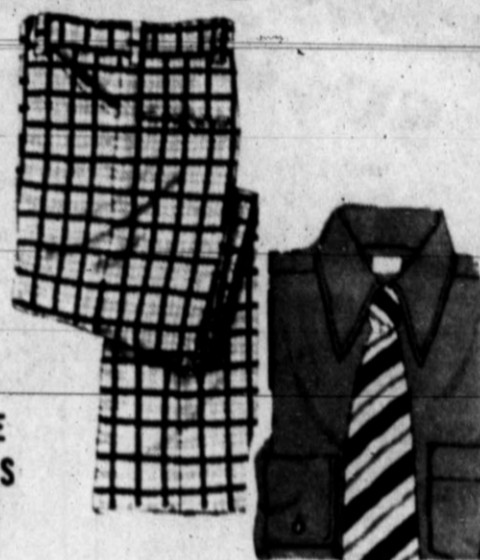

The statewide decrease is deceptive because most homeowners will be paying more for their coverage - two per cent on the average. But major cuts were made in fire rates and extended coverage, which insures against windstorms, explosions, riot damage and the like.

HD Council
Reviews Business

Deaf Smith County Home Demonstration Council convened Monday afternoon in the District Courtroom with Judy Williams, president, in charge.

Naomie Birsendine was unanimously elected to serve a second term as THDA chairman. Delegates chosen to attend the state THDA convention Sept. 20-22 at Galveston were Naomi Birsendine, Terri Johnson and Jewell Hargrave. Esther Thuet was named alternate.

Club presidents reported various chapter projects. These activities included donations to Girlstown, assistance for Hereford Day Care Center, volunteer work at Westgate Nursing Home and making costumes for Argen Draper 4-H Club. One president announced that her club had travelled to Plainview, where they toured an underground home.

Doris Johnson, educational chairman, expressed concern that more HD members were not able to attend the annual tour of homes May 12. She stated that four members enjoyed visiting the Charles Packard, Ivan Tipps and Norman Harder homes.

Mrs. Johnson thanked those women who met recently and made 60 ditty bags, which will be filled with county products to be taken to the Miss Texas Pageant in July by Miss Hereford, Dee Anne Caison. Miss Caison will give the pouches to fellow contestants at the state pageant.

Ann Landers Children Not Invited

DEAR ANN: We are a childless couple (by choice... and our home is not child-oriented). Two couples have ruined recent visits for us by including toddlers and pre-schoolers in late dinner invitations, when they knew that we are not set up for entertaining young children.

When they go out to a restaurant they get a babysitter, but when it's just to someone's house, they don't bother. The visits were totally child-dominated and adult conversation was impossible.

I've always heard that a good social rule is to assume children are not invited unless they are specifically included. Please comment. Sign me -- Not Running A Day Care Center

DEAR NOT RUNNING: I agree with you.

By now, you know who the offenders are. If you invite them again, tell them it's an adults-only evening and to please make arrangements to leave the children at home.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am one of the many hotel telephone operators who work at a big metropolitan hotel, and our switchboards are always very busy.

During certain periods of the day we are run crazy with all the lines going at once. It's impossible to take long messages. Yet some people think we are social secretaries. They give us "messages" as long as letters.

Why don't they realize there are other callers besides themselves? It is impossible to give good service if ten calls are waiting and one person takes too long.

Duress of hotel operators will be grateful if you will ask the public to show a little consideration. And please, if it takes us a while to answer a call, don't say, "Oh, you're there! I thought all of you had died."

Griped
DEAR G.: Here's your letter but don't expect it to change anything. Some people are impatient... demanding and sarcastic and they take out their frustrations on the first person they talk to -- which in many instances is you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I realize you have problems greater than this one, but I've been bugged by something for a long time and would appreciate an answer.

What is the proper social procedure for entering a revolving door when a man and a woman are together?

Should the man allow the woman to enter first and then push from the rear or should he enter first and make the pushing easier for her?

Please help me. Every time I see a revolving door, I run the other way. -- Mr. O From New York

DEAR NEW YORK: The man goes first. He should, however, say something -- such as, "Pardon me for going ahead but I'll do the pushing."

CONFIDENTIAL to Third Time Since Christmas: See a lawyer about separate maintenance if you don't want a divorce. I realize a man must "let off steam" but a woman needs teeth in her mouth. Your marriage sounds like a nightmare. Wake up.

Be A Friend,
Have A
Friend

By JoAn Dwyer, Exec. Director
Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford

In a mother's meeting this morning, the subject of disrespect came up. The general consensus was that kids nowadays do not respect parents and adults in general. "Talking back" was given as a prime example.

I do believe that kids are freer to express their feelings, both positive and negative.

I think respect is really a matter of consideration for another person. In this realm, we need to consider the feelings of kids as well as to expect them to consider ours.

Let's look at the typical statement: "Don't talk to me that way. I'm your mother!" Actually, the point is that we are both human beings who need to express anger. If a child sees us expressing anger verbally and with sarcasm, he is most likely to do the same.

So perhaps I need to look at the way I am responding to the people around me. I may come closer to understanding a child's responses. And instead of considering these responses a lack of respect, maybe I can regard them as an expression of feelings. This ability to express can lead to healthy adulthood.

I know we all, at some time or another, get to feeling like Rodney Dangerfield, "I don't get no respect!"

If your blood pressure number is "up," don't let it get you down. You can control it with proper treatment and be healthy, says Carla Shearer, health education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

For God So Loved The World

FLOWERS PROVIDE A YEARLY PROOF OF GOD'S LOVE

In May, by bringing forth the flowers,
God adorns this land of ours;
When each species beautifies
With fragrance, color, shape and size
The earth on mountainsides or plains
In floral grandeur, fed by rains;
Where petals, brilliant-hued, abound
On bushes, trees and on the ground.
In any Church you may attend,
This beauty helps you comprehend
The springtime lesson it will give:
God loves this world in which we live!

—Gloria Nowak

"I am the rose of Sharon and the lily of the valleys."
—Song of Solomon 11:1

He called the flowers, so blue and golden, Stars that in earth's firmament do shine.
—Henry Wadsworth Longfellow

Dorsett Inks $Million Contract With Cowboys

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas Cowboy Head Coach Tom Landry says there's no need to draft the top guy if a team isn't willing to pay high salaries and newly signed Heisman Trophy winner Tony Dorsett is a millionaire because of the Cowboys' willingness.

Dorsett, who led the University of Pittsburgh to the top of the college football ladder last season, signed his name Thursday in Pittsburgh to a contract reportedly worth more than $1 million.

"I'm thrilled about the whole idea," said Dorsett. "Like I said at the draft, I was overwhelmed to be selected by the Cowboys. To make it official makes it all the more pleasing."

Dorsett will be the first million-dollar player for the Cowboys of the National Football League.

As to Dorsett's instant wealth, Landry said, "I don't think it'll bother the other people on our club because having the high salaries is not uncommon in this era."

Dorsett signed the contract in the office of his attorney, Harvey Eger, while his agent Mike Trope and Dallas Cowboy vice-president Gil Brandt watched.

Neither the Cowboys nor Dorsett would discuss terms of the contract. But Trope said Dorsett "got what I consider a fair market value. Tony got an excellent contract and the Cowboys got an excellent player."

Earlier, Trope had negotiated a multi-year, $1.2 million contract for Southern California star Ricky Bell with Tampa Bay.

"I am not going to say that Dorsett's contract is above or below Bell's contract," Trope said adding that the five-year figure for the duration of the contract "was in the neighborhood."

Dorsett was drafted by the Cowboys this year after a deal with the Seattle Seahawks that involved general draft choices going to Seattle.

Dorsett said he hoped his speed would help him get a starting job with the team next season.

"I have seen the Cowboys," he said. "They have excellent personnel and it is not going to be easy. I have to work and win a starting job. I am also going to have to be going through a learning process. They have a very sophisticated offensive system."

"But if they want a running back, maybe that will help me. I don't know what they are looking for in the way of offense, but I think I can contribute something."

"I am optimistic."

The Cowboys' longest run from scrimmage last year was 24 yards.

Dorsett said the Cowboys also were gaining a large group of fans in Pittsburgh. "My family and friends. It used to be that Pittsburgh was our number one team and then the Cowboys, but now it is Dallas first."

Dorsett has added something. Cowboy officials said Wednesday that the possibility of signing the Pittsburgh All-America had spurred Cowboys season ticket sales this month and renewals also were up.

Dorsett signed the contract and immediately left "for the bank" according to Trope.

Asked the first thing he would do with the money, Dorsett said, "Buy my mother a house. I want to make my parents secure financially."

ATLANTA (AP)—The Atlanta Braves have taken first baseman Willie Montanez off the disabled list and sent outfielder Brian Asselstine to their Richmond farm club of the International League.

Montanez, re-activated Thursday, is hitting .317. He was on the disabled list with a leg injury since April 30.

Complex Chatter

ballpark complex here had been cut $5,000. The news, however, failed to discourage the Kids, Inc., officials, who plan to go ahead with original plans and build four diamonds at the park site. [Photo by Bob Nigh].

Grant Amount Cut

Ballpark Construction May Begin In 45 Days

By BOB NIGH
Sports Editor

Beginning of construction on the planned nine-acre ballpark addition for the Hereford Kids, Incorporated organization may be as near as 45 days it was learned Thursday as officers of Kids, Inc. and Deaf Smith County officials met with a representative of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TP&WD) in the county court house.

Earl Craig of the TP&WD met with Kids, Inc. president Chuck Cosper, other officials of the organization, and county judge Sam Morgan to discuss the project. Precinct 2 county commissioner Austin Rose was also in attendance as a representative of the commissioner's court.

"Basically he (Craig) was here to visit the site of the proposed ballpark complex," Cosper said. "Before the parks and wildlife department will approve funds they must have someone visit the site."

Originally Kids, Inc., applied for a grant on $72,000, the estimated cost of the four-ballpark project, which will be situated at the Deaf Smith County Sports Complex, a 31-acre tract located at 15th and Whittier.

The TP&WD was attempting to secure a grant of 50 per cent of that figure, or $36,000, from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation. (BOR). Craig let some air out of the balloon, however, informing those present that the BOR would grant only $31,000.

"The BOR will go only $31,000 of the $36,000 you asked for," Craig said. "This would cover the construction of three diamonds according to your estimates."

Craig added that the figure was arrived at after consideration of the latest census (1970) of Hereford using a formula submitted to the Texas Outdoor Recreation Plan (TORP), part of the TP&WD.

"Of course you may convince TORP to increase the grant amount if you can come up with some facts and figures which show additional need or higher expected usage of the parks," Craig said.

He said that the chance for additional money hinges on estimated usage of the parks, citing the possibilities of adult leagues and the high school using the diamonds. "They may up the figure also if you can show that people from all over the county use the diamonds," Craig added.

Informed that Hereford had a swelling population during the summer months, Craig said that that fact could also have a bearing in getting the grant figure higher.

"Mack (Tubb, Kids, Inc. secretary-treasurer) will be writing a letter to try to get the grant increased," Cosper said. "But, we will go ahead and build a four-diamond complex regardless of whether we get the increase," he emphasized.

The organization is close to matching the grant amount with monies coming in from several areas. The city of Hereford has donated $13,000, while the county chipped in another $3,000 in addition to purchasing the land for the project originally.

Other funds have come from the Hereford Lions, ($750), a local VFW group ($500), the Catholic Women's Club ($300), and the Hereford Boxing Club through Harold Wheeler ($800). Also Kids, Inc. had $5,000 on hand when the project was begun, and Cosper reported that nearly $4,000 was raised by the recent lightbulb sale.

"The rest of the money we need will be borrowed," Cosper said. "I don't think that $5,000 will make that much difference, and we need all four diamonds."

Canoe Trip Program Offered

The Hereford area YMCA is offering three canoe trips this summer to local adults. One trip down the San Juan River in Utah, and a pair of trips down the Rio Grande River in Big Bend National Park have been scheduled.

"The Y will provide all necessary equipment such as canoes, life vests, and bedrolls," Y director Claude Huard said. "No experience is necessary."

The trips will consist of two days travel, and three days on the river. The first trip will be to the San Juan River June 6-10. Trips to the Big Bend area and the Rio Grande River will be held July 11-15 and August 1-5.

Craig told the Kids, Inc. officials, which included president-elect Jerry Don George and board member Rusty Hendricks in addition to Cosper and Tubb, that preliminary work can begin now even though the contract for the project won't be here for about 45 days.

Permissible action by the group includes submission of the plans and specs of the park to the TP&WD for final approval, and the advertising for construction bids.

"We'll (Kids, Inc.) meet next Wednesday to decide when to advertise for bids," Cosper said following the meeting.

DETROIT (AP) - Ex-Detroit Tigers first baseman Norm Cash, who signed with a Detroit professional slow pitch softball team this month, is stating out the season $500 in the hole.

Mike Ilitch, owner of the team, held a press day Thursday to show off his new player.

Cash didn't show.

"I didn't feel good," Cash later explained.

U.S. Trade Deficit Hits Record Peak

WASHINGTON (AP)—Imports of oil, coffee and transportation equipment contributed to a record monthly trade deficit of $2.6 billion in April, the Commerce Department reported Thursday.

The nation's trade deficit for the first four months of 1977 totals more than $8.5 billion, eclipsing the previous 12-month record deficit of $6.4 billion in 1972.

Carter administration officials blamed the huge deficit primarily on oil imports, saying U.S. trade in other goods and commodities is healthy.

C. Fred Bergsten, an assistant U.S. treasury secretary, said in a speech in New York today that the nation could have a deficit of $20 billion this year, which would be more than three times the record 1972 deficit.

The amount of oil imported in April declined from March. But petroleum still was the biggest single expense by far on the U.S. import list.

The Commerce Department said the nation last month imported nearly 288 million barrels of oil at a cost of about $3.9 billion. The nation spent about $4.3 billion for foreign oil in March.

Over-all, the value of imported goods during April totalled $12.6 billion, while exports totalled about $10 billion, leaving a deficit for the month of $2.6 billion. The previous high monthly deficit of $2.4 billion was set last month.

During the first four months of this year, the total value of imports was set at $48 billion, with exports listed at $39.4 billion.

While oil imports declined slightly in April, the Commerce Department said this was more than offset by increases of $54 million in imports of coffee, $128 million in machinery and transportation equipment, and $26 million in imports of sugar, along with increased in other categories as well.

Imports increased about 1 per cent during the month, but exports also declined about 1 per cent, largely because of declining shipments of manufactured goods and other nonagricultural products, the department said.

Administration officials professed not to be concerned about the enormous trade deficits, but large trade deficits have in the past caused a decline in the value of the U.S. dollar.

Senators Unanimously Okay Spending Bill

AUSTIN (AP)—Senators unanimously approved a record $15.5 billion two-year spending bill Thursday, but pending legislation could push the state budget up another billion dollars.

The House was expected to vote later in the day. Four days remain in the legislative session to resolve conference committee deadlocks on medical malpractice insurance and public school financing—one of the costly items still pending.

The general appropriation bill worked out by 10 House-Senate negotiators is approximately $2.7 billion more than the 1976-77 budget.

End-of-the-session tempers flared in the Senate as it skirted a filibuster for the third straight day on a bill to shorten the wheel base of milk trucks.

A motion to block a filibuster failed, 15-16, and it infuriated Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Gaiveston, that his colleagues had attempted to muzzle him.

He said he had "about an eight-hour question" to ask, but the Senate left the bill and went on to other business.

The Senate avoided a filibuster on a bill allowing tape-recorded oral confessions by voting to adjourn, 14-13, until Friday.

The legislature must adjourn its 140-day session by midnight Monday, but Gov. Dolph Briscoe said Thursday "It is still within the realm of possibility" that it can finish its work by Friday.

Legislators sent several proposed constitutional amendments to the people, who will vote on them Nov. 8.

One would allow tax exemptions for solar and wind-powered electrical generating equipment. Another would permit "cashless society" electronic fund transfers systems EFTS that otherwise would be outlawed by the constitutional ban on branch banking.

A third would enable agricultural producers to vote assessments on themselves for research and promotion, and a fourth would raise from $200 to $500 those civil cases over which justices of the peace have jurisdiction.

Senators sent the governor, 17-11, a bill enabling gas pipeline companies with railroad commission approval to condemn played-out gas fields to use as giant underground storage tanks for natural gas.

One reason for the South Texas and Central Texas energy crisis was Lo-Vaca Gathering Co.'s lack of storage facilities, forcing it to sell its customers only newly produced gas at high field prices.

The Senate sent Briscoe a bill that would add another task to the governor's chores, requiring him to submit to lawmakers a report every two years on the organization and efficiency of state government.

A bill to tax farm, ranch and timber land on its productivity—not its value as real estate—was sent to the governor even before legislators voted to ask the people for that authority through a constitutional amendment.

A 16-14 Senate vote was four short of enough to debate a House-approved bill to create countywide tax appraisal districts.

House members voted 90-55 for a bill that would prohibit directory assistance charges when numbers are not in the phone book or are incorrectly listed; for long distance numbers; or for hotels and motels whose customers use directory assistance. A final vote still is needed.

Singlaub's Korean Criticism Termed 'Invitation To War'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. John K. Singlaub's criticism of U.S. plans to withdraw troops from South Korea was "a very serious breach" of his responsibility and was "an invitation to the world to expect an inevitable war," President Carter said Thursday.

He added in his news conference that "Gen. Singlaub was not fired" for his remarks to a reporter. "He was not being chastized or punished," Carter went on, explaining that the officer had been "transferred."

Later in the news conference, he would have been the focus of those who agree with him and this would have disturbed the South Koreans, Carter added.

But much worse, the President indicated, would be the effect on the world, particularly potential adversaries.

"It was an invitation to North Korea that South Korea is not able to take care of themselves... It was an invitation to the world to expect an inevitable war."

Carter said South Korean forces together with remaining U.S. air, naval and intelligence units are adequate to meet any invasion threat.

Singlaub told a House subcommittee Wednesday that many U.S. officers agreed with his opinion that intelligence estimates show North Korea is building up its forces to a dangerous level.

KEY WHITE HOUSE aide, Martha Mallard Mitchell's responsibilities include the executive staff's liaison with the District of Columbia administration plus issues that concern black Americans in general. She and Midge Constanza, in charge of public liaison, are the two highest ranking women on the White House staff.

Romero, Somers Try Again

Hereford Lions Club officials announced that Ricky Romero and Freddy Boy Doug Somers would "get it on" again - this time to a conclusion, in Saturday night's main event. Lions Club wrestling saw both men counted out of the ring in two previous matches. This time, the match will be conducted under Lumberjack rules, with the other wrestlers posted around the ring to help both grapplers inside. Romero, at 224 pounds, is giving away nearly fifty pounds to Somers, but has the advantage of years of experience.

Danny Little Bear, a powerful and agile 245 pounder, joins Chief Thunder Cloud in tag team action against the top-ranked team of Rip Hawk and Swede Hanson. Hanson and Hawk come in at a combined weight of 560 pounds. The 320-pound Hanson was disqualified last week when he threw Thunder Cloud over the top rope. The 236-pound Indian impressed Bull Barn fans last week with his aggressive style. The debut of Tampa University football and wrestling amateur star Ervin Smith was postponed for Saturday's action. Word was received that Smith had been injured in a professional bout in Florida. He will be replaced by Dallas' Scott Casey, popular young 235-pound former Texas champion. Casey will square off against Smith's contracted opponent, Cowboy Dan Wayt. Wayt is a muscular 285-pounder from Longview, Texas.

In last week's action, El Lobo drew in twenty minutes with young light heavyweight Bobby Pico. Pico, from Mobile, Alabama, spotted the foe over thirty pounds, and surprised everyone - including the masked Mexican, by holding out until the bell against a rough onslaught of smashing forearms and punishing holds.

Former sumo great Tendu, 238-pound Japanese pupil of Dory Funk, Jr., stopped the Chicago-based Mack Quarry in a rugged match. The more experienced Quarry, at 218 pounds, combined experience with street fighting skills only to be pinned with a rolling cradle.

Action at the Bull Barn will begin at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Ace Puts Graham In Share Of Lead

By ED SHEARER

ATLANTA (AP) - Australian David Graham has his theory about how much a hole-in-one helps a golfer during a round.

"If you are six over par, I don't think it does that much for you," he said. "You can play one hole and you make a big jump."

Graham made a big jump Thursday when he wedged his tee shot into the cup on the 135-yard, par-three 13th hole and bolted into a share of the lead in the storm-delayed opening round of the $200,000 Atlanta Classic Golf Tournament with a four-under-par 68.

He was tied with three others at that figure - Mac McLendon, Dave Eichelberger and John Schroeder - while 57 other competitors were forced to complete their round today when lightning forced suspension at 5:26 p.m. EDT. Thursday and an ultimate postponement 78 minutes later.

Three players stood at four under when play was stopped - former U.S. Open champion Lou Graham and defending champion Hal Irwin, each with three holes left, and PGA champ Dave Stockton, with one hole to go.

At three under were Jerry McGee, with two to play, and Tommy Aaron, with one hole remaining.

"I was just coasting along and the next minute I'm four under," Graham said of the ace. "It hit about eight feet above the hole. It had a little juice on it."

Sixers Playing 'Team' Basketball; Go Two Up

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - "They're playing defense, they're passing the ball, they're setting up the open man - the Philadelphia 76ers are doing their best to ruin their reputations."

"People put us down all the time," said playmaker Henry Bibby. "They say we're a bunch of one-on-one players, we can't play ball, we don't execute our plays well, we can't do the job on defense."

"They keep saying it - but we keep winning."

Bibby was the sparkplug in Philadelphia's lopsided 107-89 triumph over the Portland Trail Blazers Thursday night, a victory which gave the 76ers a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship series. The series resumes Sunday at Portland.

Bibby scored 15 points and handed out six assists in the first half, when the 76ers took an 18-point lead with the racehorse offense and shacking defense. Portland never was really in the game after being out-scored 30-17 in the second period, and came no closer than 12 points in the second half.

The game was marred by a fourth-quarter melee which saw both squads engage in a free-for-all and about 100 spectators join in. The main combatants were Darryl Dawkins of Philadelphia and Maurice Lucas of Portland, two of the heaviest of heavyweights, both of whom were ejected. The only casualty was Philadelphia guard Doug Collins, who tried to act as peacemaker and got socked by Dawkins for his effort.

The game itself was one-sided, as Collins led the 76ers with 27 points and Julius Erving had 20. Philadelphia led 31-26 after the first quarter, then broke it open in the second period by hitting 13 of 24 shots while limiting Portland to just six of 27. It was 61-43 at the half and really no contest after that.

As in the series opener, won by Philadelphia 107-101, the 76ers' defensive discipline was a key factor. The 76ers shut off Portland's fast break, then took away the Blazers' inside game, forcing them to take shots from the perimeter instead. And Portland is not a good perimeter shooting team.

"A lot of people think that we're a bunch of renegades," said Erving. "They think that a good, well-drilled team can run us apart. We are trying to prove them wrong."

"Portland is very singular in its offensive strategy. There is one basic play they like to run 75 per cent of the time - they set up Walton in the pivot and then try to free their cutters for layups. We know this, we've drilled against it and we've been able to stop it. We've forced them to do things they don't want to do, like shoot from outside."

Indeed, early in the first half, when the game still was up for grabs, Portland was able to get only one basket off its pet play of center Bill Walton feeding a cutter for a layup.

Walton led the Blazers with 17 points and 16 rebounds, but never was a dominating force. As a team, Portland, forced out of its normal patterns, shot a dismal 35.6 per cent, including 7-for-19 by Lucas and 6-for-18 by Lionel Hollins.

Miami Slugger Wants Pro Shot

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) - It's the good old college try in the NCAA South Regional baseball playoffs, but one of the top players is already seeing visions of dollar signs in the upcoming major league baseball draft.

Slugging shortstop Merck Naehring of Miami of Ohio was asked shortly after his game-winning homer over Lamar-University Thursday if he was going to play his senior year for the Redskins in 1978.

"Hopefully not," said Naehring, who has a career batting average of .363 and a slugging percentage of .579.

The 6-foot-3, 179-pound Naehring has the pro scouts drooling. "I'll sign after the June draft depending on the dollars," said the Cincinnati native, taking his cue from the millions being paid players in the big leagues. "I'll sign if the money is there and I think I can play for anybody who wants to take me. I think I can beat anybody out."

Naehring certainly will get no argument from Lamar which lost 1-0 on his ninth homer and 50th RBI of the year in the ninth inning. The ball hit the top of the wall in Arlington Stadium and bounced over.

Baylor banged out 15 hits including a three-run homer by centerfielder Shane Nolan in a 10-1 victory over the Privateers. Naehring, who was an 18th round draft choice three years ago by Baltimore when he came out of high school, and Baylor shortstop Steve Macko, have drawn the most raves from the pro scouts.

"I'm here looking at Naehring and Mack," said Paul Richards who was the manager at Chicago last year.

"I want to play pro ball and I don't care who drafts me," said Naehring.

Macko, a senior who was the Southwest Conference Player of the Year with a .417 batting average, said "I hope the Texas Rangers take me."

Macko's father is Joe Macko, equipment manager for the American League team.

Baylor centerfielder Shane Nolan was the hitting star for the Bears with a three-run second-inning homer as lefty Burl Coker 11-4 coasted to the victory. Coker was replaced in the seventh inning after the Bears had built a 10-0 lead.

New Orleans' ace Roger Erickson 8-2 took the brunt of the Baylor pounding.

CHICAGO (AP) - Quarterback Virgil Carter of the Chicago Bears of the National Football League has announced his retirement from football to devote fulltime to his work with the Chicago Board of Trade and Mercantile Exchange.
