City Manager Urges Review Of Gas Rates For Consumers

Pioneer Natural Gas Company's monthly gas rate adjustment, approved by the City Commission in February. came under sharp criticism Monday by City Manager Dudley Bayne.

Bayne told the city commissioners since they had approved in February a 100 per cent monthly rate adjustment for gas bought at the wellhead, rates had increased by 18 per cent

New $400,000 Deaf Smith County Library Building

Far Cry From First Facility Born 64 Years Ago

By SUE COLEMAN Women's Editor

A librarian whose salary was $1.25 a month - which she contributed to a fund to buy books - kept the job 16 years and was largely responsible for starting Deaf Smith County Library which is dedicating its new $400,000 building today as part of Hereford's July 4 celebration.

The extent of Mrs. F.T. Roloson's service becomes clear in tracing the history of the library; she and Mrs. G.A.F. Parker were the early residents who led the county's clubwomen in

THE NEW courthouse was completed in 1912 and county commissioners allored a room for the library, which by then had about 400 books. They had been collected and others were added larer through donations, book showers, a few mones gifts, funds raised through home talent plays and children's tag days.

Mrs. Boloson was assisted by some other club members but was chiefly responsible for operation of the library She not only issued books at set times. but promoted interest in the library through schools and clubs, compiled reading lists for students of various age levels and arranged tables for children.

She led Bay View members in pushing for a county library and when officials were reluctant to call an election to levy a library tax the members enlisted the support of the County Federation of Women's Clubs and circulated a petition from house to house in the town and to farm homes.

WITH 1100 signatures, totaling more than three fourths of the qualified voters in the county, the petition was presented m 1929 and an election called Miss Hostetler came from Wichita

THE STORY is told of Miss Hostetler that the discouraged farmers of that time. coming to government agencies at the courthouse to seek loans to save their land, sometimes stopped to gaze idly at book displays she arranged in the hall. She would speak to them, call their attention to books that might interest them, and often issue them a library card and books, usually rousing western or detective stories. Her theory that people should be led to read on their own interest level was carried to children, for whom she supplied plenty of "funny and nation. Remodeling of the courthouse in 1960 gave the library more space, almost half the ground floor of the building. That was soon outgrown with increase in the city's population; now the new building offers space to expand programs for young and

Clara "McLean" succeeded Miss Hostetler as librarian, Mrs. J.J. Boydston followed in 1946, Mrs. H.L. Newman in 1965 and at her recent retirement Mrs. Baxter London took the position.

There is a pleasant section with comfortable chairs around the periodical shelves, and a number of tables and chairs to make the reference books more useful to students and others in search of various information.

Shelves in the children's wing put books in easy reach of youngsters and there is room for story hours, already begun this summer, and other features. A projector given by the Rotary Club and a microfilm scanner to be presented by the Daughters of American Revolution chapter, with tape and record players for the music room, will make the library more useful to many residents.

ON THE STAFF at present, in addition to Mrs. London, are Rhonda Stewart, assistant librarian; Jean Kelly, part-time employe; Sina Sims and Ann Bradley, student aides.

One room has a stage and dressing rooms, a small auditorium which will be available for Community Theater and other dramatic productions, lectures and various meetings, even for concerts and recitals if a piano is added in the future.

Not completely finished, the basement in the new building contains two large rooms in addition to storage and utility space.

The proposal to import water to West Texas seems to be gaining momentum again. While water has been a relatively concerning the city, as well as the rural residents. No one but the farmer worried about the price of groceries or farm products when crops were relatively cheap and picutiful a few years ago, but the economics of 1974 are different.

The Dallas Morning News recently quoted Gov. Edwin Edwards of Louisiana as saying he has changed his mind about the proposal to take water from the Mississippi to West Texas. After two big floods, the governor said someone should be able to use the surplus water. When Texas tried to implement a water plan in 1969, officials of states along the Mississippi were not too favorable about the project. And, a campaign against the proposal in Houston was enough to bring about the defeat of the plan.

New Gov. Dolph Briscoe is saying Texas faces a "water crisis" at least as Texas faces a "water crisis" at least as serious as its energy crisis, unless the state arranges to import water. From all reports, the political problems are larger than the financial and engineering problems. A technology which put men on the moon should be able to handle the on the moon about the anter to handle the water project. Finances could probably be arranged too. The 1969 plan called for users of the imported water — cities, industries, and farmers — to repay the construction cost by buying the water.

Name In Vain

"I urge you to veto the welfare

So said a telegram sent to the governor, supposedly from a concerned citizen by the name of Watson. But in fact, Watson had nothing to do with the telegram. It had been sent by a local manufacturing firm, which had simply picked his name out of the Watson later found out about the telegram, and filed a damage suit against the company "for tak-ing my name in vain." And a court ruled that he did indeed have good grounds for complaint.

The court said: "(The company) appropriated, without the plaintiff's consent, his name, his personality, and whatsessed. This they had no right to

This case illustrates the growing recognition of the right of privacy as a legal doctrine. Often called "the right to be let alone," it has already been applied in a wide variety of situations.

Another example arose when an obstetrician, summoned to a woman's home to deliver her baby, brought a young man into the bedroom with him.

The woman assumed that the stranger was some sort of medical aide. Only afterward did she learn that he was merely a personal friend of the doctor. She sued for an intrusion on her privacy, and the court upheld her

Of course, the right of privacy is not unlimited. It must be reconciled with other rights with which it may conflict. Thus:

A man who was mugged on a downtown street objected to the publicity that appeared in the local press. He argued in a court hearing that, as a private individual who had done no wrong, he was entitled to the shelter of the privacy doctrine.

But the court pointed out that whether he liked it or not, he was 'newsworthy"-a legitimate object of public interest. The right of privacy, said the court, did not outweigh the freedom of the press guaranteed by the Constitu-

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON.D.C.-President Nixon continues to receive support from a large segment of the American public. In recent days, to obtain a voice in the national capital's press, his backers have bought ads in the newspapers (both of which have been stingingly critical of the President) to call on fellow Americans to back the President.

The public opinion polls show Nixon's support edging slowly upward, though there are no noticeable gains in the nose-counting on Capitol Hill. But the President's highly important travels this month, both to the Middle

Jobs Open On Border Patrol

Commission is now accepting applications for Border Patrol Agent positions. These positions are located with the Immigration and Naturalization Service, an agency of the U.S. Department of Justice.

The Service hires approximately 400 Border Patrol Agents annually and offers good opportunities to men and women who are interested in immigration law enforcement and want to prepare themselves for positions of greater responsibilities through on-thejob and Service-offered training.

All new appointees are assigned to positions located along the Southern United States border.

Border Patrol Agents perform a variety of immigration law enforcement functions to prevent the smuggling and illegal entry of aliens into the United States. Duties include detection, apprehension, and deportation of illegally entered aliens; interrogation of suspected violators; inspection and search of automobiles, trains, buses, airplanes, ships and terminals to detect aliens entering illegally; and other duties to enforce the law.

Persons appointed to Border Patrol Agent positions participate in a 4-month intensive training course at the Border Patrol Academy where they study immigration and naturalization laws, Spanish, marksmanship and undergo physical training Border career employees.

In addition, agents enjoy many "fringe benefits" such as vacation leave each year, sick leave with pay, low cost life insurance and health insurance for which the government shares in the cost. Salaries are based on the standard federal work week of 40 hours.

Individuals selected for appointment enter on duty as Border Patrol Agents with the basic entrance salary of $9,969 per year. At the time of appointment, all agents must have a combination of abilities and skills such as the ability to learn law enforcement methods, ability to gather factual information, poise and selfconfidence, tact and ability to deal with a wide variety of persons in all walks of life. In addition, agents must have the ability to learn to speak and read Spanish. Individuals selected receive instructions in speaking and reading Spanish as part of the basic training for Border Patrol Agents.

area served by a Home Health Agency and can receive the needed services in the friendly confines of your own home, says the State Health Department.

Skilled and specialized care is given daily to thousands of Fexans through one of the 45 Homes Health Agencies in the state. The individual agencies may be small, from a minimum of two or three employees to more than a hundred, but they add up to a network of home care services covering a large segment of the state's population. Most of the patients are Health Department. Information may be obtained from Dr. T.E. Dodd, director of Home Health Services Division, 1100 West 49th St., Austin, 78756. What must a Home Health Agency have for certification?

The requirements are many, says Dr. Dodd, but they basically are these: Each agency must have a physician or registered nurse as director and have an advisory committee. It must be a non-profit organization, or a public organization like the health department, and must offer skilled nursing plus one additional therapeutic service such as physical The Home Health Services

Definitely yes, says the State payments come through a third party, or fiscal intermediary. This can be an insurance company or Social Security. The intermediary, based on the orders from a doctor, will determine the length of the related home care needed in each case. Progress reports are made by the nurse-director and given to the physician on the case, allowing the doctor to keep abreast of progress. Often a patient advances more rapidly than the schedule originally proposed.

Home Health Agencies are providing a great service to the homebound in Texas, says the State Health Department.

Finances certainly are a part of the contribution. Rising costs of hospitalization greatly increase the financial strain on anyone unfortunate to have an illness demanding hospitalization. It is much less expensive the Home Health Agency way. And, the shortage of hospital beds makes it mandatory that patients be released as soon as it is medically practical.

Another point arrived at over the years is this, says a State Health Department spokesman: Patients able to go home to continue their rehabilitation are much happier and seem to respond more quickly.

The President's record in this field is truly impressive, by any standard. A Middle East settlement was deemed impossible six months ago. Improved relatiions and long-termed agree-ments with Russia and China are unquestioned, major forward steps in the nation's foreign relations alone. And there is more to come from Mescow this month if Washington reports are accurate.

As a result, and the generall tilring of Watergate news (which has resulted in fewer viewers of television news, on all three networks) the President's support has inched upward. The improvement has been slow since the March bottom but it has allso been steady.

An Action Biography

U.S. Secretary of State Henry Kissinger was exchanging quips in the Kremlin with Soviet General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev and Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko about the prospects of trade in vodka and Pepsi Cola. The occasion was a photo-taking session for the world press preceding the start of Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT).

ABC News Correspondent Ted Koppel brought a television crew to record the banter and the flurry of flashbulbs for the ABC News special, "Kissinger: An Action Biography." airing Friday, June 14 (8:30.9:30 p.m.) on the ABC Television Network. Records Bettered In AAU Prelim

Sixteen West Texas AAU track records were bettered Saturday when more than 350 youngsters competed in the West Texas AAU Preliminary Meet held at Whiteface Stadium. The event, sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, preceeds the West Texas AAU meet to be held in Borger this Saturday.

Hereford youngsters bettered four of the AAU records, but although times and distances were bettered, they will not go in the record books. To establish a new record, the performance must be at a designated competition. The meet in Borger Saturday is such a meet, and Dr. Joe Whitley, director of the Hereford Track Club, feels several Hereford youngsters will have chances to better the record books.

Saturday, in the midget boys division, the team of Randy Vogel, Zane Barber, Damon Jones and Wayne High bettered the 440-yard relay record for that division. The old record was 59.0 seconds, but the Hereford team ran a 58.3. Sandy Whitley bettered the long jump record in the junior girls division by jumping 16' 4½". The old record was 16' 1½". James Mays ran a 2:12.2 880-yard run to better the junior boys record of 2:16.8. Zane Barber clocked a 12.3 100-yard dash to better the record of 13.1 in the midget boys division.

Dr. Whitley has planned for winners at the track meet in Borger this weekend to travel to other cities to compete in higher levels of competition. The Hereford Track Club will end its season after the July 6 meet, and any youngsters advancing beyond the district meet in Borger will do so on an individual basis.

After the AAU West Texas District meet in Borger Saturday, youngsters will have a chance to compete in Lubbock at the T.A.A.F. regional meet July 13. The AAU regional meet is in Borger July 20, and the T.A.A.F. state meet is in Austin July 26-27.

He also was taught the proper use of high explosives and the placement, detection and disarming of mines.

Teamwork was emphasized while he learned to work as a member of a rifle squad, mortar squad or direct fire secuon. Each team member completed the training well qualified to perform other jobs in case of casualties.

Beef Still Good Item

Retail beef prices probably will not go any lower, although beef continues in relatively large supply, one expert says.

Mrs. Gwendolyne Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, made the predictions this week.

"There are frequent advertised specials on many cuts, so this is a good time to do a little extra buying for the freezer — look for best values on round steaks and roasts, beef liver, ground beef, chuck roasts and steaks," she said.

"Pork values include hams, picnics, end-cut loin roasts and chops, Boston butts, shoulder roasts and steaks.

'Fryer chickens and turkeys take the bargain spotlight in many markets, and grade A, large-size eggs offer economy and quality."

Turning to fresh fruits and vegetables, Mrs. Clyatt said items in good supply at most reasonable prices are sweet corn, squash, snap beans, okra, carrots, dry yellow onions, cushaw, blackeye peas, radishes, green onions and cabbage.

Also, Valencia oranges, bananas, cantaloupes, honeydew melons, watermelons Santa Rosa plums.

"Apricots are in peak supply this month, although quantities are small- and prices are generally high," she added.

CONSUMER WATCHWORDS: Quality and prices vary on cherries, plums, pinapples, peaches, white grapes, nectarines and strawberries

Make these fruit selections carefully.

The series will premiere at the conclusion of "The Waltons" Thursday, July that approximately 7:58 p.m. on the CBS Television Net.

Leaving Library, She'll Hit Motorcycle Trails

By SUE COLEMAN Women's Editor

MOTORCYCLING is not a sport associated in the public's mind with retired librarians. but Lorene Newman, who lately ended almost 20 years' employment in Deaf Smith County Library, is a cycling enthusiast with plans to ride even more, now that she has time for favorite recreation.

It wasn't her teenage children who sparked Mrs. Newman's interest in motorcycles. She sparked theirs.

'It sounds sort of silly," the quiet-spoken librarian says, "but a television program about a family who rode motorcycles started our family to riding. It looked like fun to me and I said so to my family. The more we talked about it the more we wanted to try it; now the whole family has motorcycles."

THE WHOLE family, Lorene and H.L. Newman, their three children and seven grandchildren, have always enjoyed outdoor activities like comping. fishing and hiking. Motorcycle riding was just another step.

"You can go where a car can't take you, it's cheaper, and for myself I've found that all the walking and climbing I did 10 years ago is getting harder so I'd rather ride," Mrs. Newman explains with a grin. "The only problem is staying on!"

The last sentence refers to a tumble she took last April, which left her with a broken arm and a cut above her eye. She hasn't been able to ride her cycle since, but expects to take off again soon as her arm has healed to the point that she can grip the handlebar properly.

STILL NOT sure what caused the accident because she has no memory of the actual crash and some time afterward, she only knows she was riding alone on the pavement near the Newman's cottage at Ute Lake in New Mexico.

In the six or seven years she has ridden motorcycles she had only one other serious spill, a fall in sand when her foot was pinned under her cycle and her

Since both retired this spring. Mr. and Mrs. Newman are putting into effect plans they had been making for several years, to travel, camp and enjoy hobbies they previously lacked the time for. They were at home a couple of days this week from Colorado, then returned to join their daughter whom they had left with their trailer-camper.

SHE IS Sharon Jones of Amarillo; the Newmans' sons, Alan and Pat, also live in that nearby city and their families are frequently in the party on Newman outings.

Colorado and New Mexico mountains are favorite fishing spots and the Newmans like to get off the main highways and go to places like old ghost towns to explore. That's where motorcycles come in handy, Lorene Newman adds.

Her longtime work with the library here began in 1955 when she became assistant librarian, then she was made librarian 10 years later when Mrs. J.J. Boydston retired. But she says "I grew up in this library" because she was an omnivorous reader and her mother, Vera Smith, was assistant librarian several years in the 1930's.

THE SMITH family moved to Hereford in 1929 from Geogia and Mrs. Newman says "The first places we went to begin getting acquainted were the Presbyterian Church and the library. She attended Hereford schools and says she got the remainder of her education in the library instead of in college.

"My mother saw that we read, but I was a compulsive reader anyway; if there was nothing else at hand when I had a minute's time, I would read labels on the boxes or advertisement on the calen-

SOON after their marriage, her husband began employment with the Texas Highway Department from which he lately retired. The couple took retirement early, with definite plans for their future, to avoid the fate of some fellow-workers they had seen who waited for mandatory retirement and then faced a "nothing to do" existence.

"For years I've bought material for sewing and handcraft whenever I saw something I liked, put it back to wait for time to use it, and now have a stock that should last about 50 years," Mrs. Newman

She likes to paint and do all sorts of handwork in addition to reading in her spare time. But first, this summer there is more fishing, camping - and motorcycle riding.

Parties Given For Bride-To-Be

Before her midsummer Patsy Brownlow and Debbie wedding, Linda Collins is being complimented with pretty parties in rooms decked with daisies, the flower she has chosen as the floral setting for the ceremony July 12. She is to be the bride of Henry Ramaekers of Umbarger.

A shower Tuesday afternoon was given in the home of Mrs. Henry Solomon, where Miss Collins greeted guests with her mother, Mrs. Boyd Collins; her fiance's mother, Mrs. Vincent Ramaekers of Umbarger, and his grandmothers, Mrs. Florence Albracht and Mrs. Leonard Conrad. They all wore daisy corsages. Rita Collins, sister of the honoree, invited callers to register. Mrs. Reuben Guiterrez and Mrs. Jimmy Walker served cake and punch. Daisies and blue candles were arranged in the center of the refreshment table on an all-white cloth with net overlay.

Hostesses with Mrs. Solomon were Mmes. Gene Brownlow, J.B. Digby, Andy Keyes, W.J. Albracht, William Igal, Bill Kunykendall, James Priddy, Art Stoy, Robert Boyd, M.E. Dean. Lee Cocanougher, Jimmy Bell, Rodger Ruland, M.D. Henson. and Fred Muller.

Future bridal attendants of Linda Collins complimented her with a pre-wedding personal shower Sunday in the home of Joan Frische, north of Dawn.

in Hereford after being part of a vast audience of 6,488 persons who heard the principal address of the four-day "Divine Purpose" Spanish District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses Sunday at Sunland Park Race Track in New Mexico.

T.J. Filgiano spoke on the subject: 'Human Plans Failing as God's Purpose Succeeds." "It is comforting to know", hesaid, "that, whereas human plans for mankind are failing, the purpose of a loving Creator is succeeding." Pointing to the League of Nations and its successor, the United Nations, Filgiano said they have failed to reduce international tensions and produce a world free of military armaments and weapons of tremendous destructive potential. Speaking of the end of World War II and the introduction of nuclear power, Filgiano asked what protective divice would men responsible for world planning now provide? Something that expressed a wisdom superior to that of mortal man?

"No", he said, "the nation that explored the atomic bomb took the lead in arranging with its allies for another society of nations. Just the old political league with a new dress and facial makeup, under a new name, the United Nations organization."

Course

Scheduled

"The Economist Views Society and Its Problems" will be a special topics course offered at West Texas State University the second summer term. "A large part of what happens in our economy is what people think is going to happen in the future," says Economics Department Head Dr. Barry Duman, the course instructor.

"We hope by educating the population," Duman noted, through isolating some of the causes of the present economic crises, we will be able to come with some solutions.

Duman cites the goal of the course is to provide the citizens of the Panhandle with economic insight into various social, political and economic issues that they may be forced to deal with in their roles as businessmen, workers, public servants, voters and consumers. The course will include topics such as the economics of discrimination, problems of pollution and ecological imbalance, inflation, economics of health and medical care and global economics. "The need for this course is most apparent," Duman says, "when one considers the many economic and economic-related problems currently confronting the American citizen and more specifically the citizen of the Golden Spread region. "The acute local nature of these problems becomes apparent when one notes that we have recently emerged from a period of agricultural recession in the face of high prices," Duman

"Occurrences such as these have had dislocating effects on the producing and consuming publics and, coupled with the general confusion surrounding the wage-price controls, have forced our citizens to become more aware and involved in economic decisions and polic-

Economics 399-1, the Economist Views Society and Its Problems, requires no prerequisite courses. The class will consist of informal discussions and forums, with guest lectures when appropriate.

Registration for the course, which will be held from 9:10-10:40 a.m. on the WT campus, is July 15. For more information, contact the Dean of Admission and Registrar, Painter of the month, whose work is on view in Deaf Smith County Library through July, is Jon Birdsong, who was art teacher at Stanton Junior High seven years before he resigned to devote full time to painting.

Working chiefly in watercolors, Birdsong paints scenes of this area, characteristically in monochrome effects to set a mood. He aims at achieving the feeling of vastness and isolation of the Panhandle landscape with sparse vegetation, tall grass and tumbleweeds, few trees and lone buildings. Recognition has been given his work in numerous awards andhe is praised for capturing the unique look of plains, canyons and mountains of this truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, . . . " wrote Thomas Jefferson, master architect of buildings and nations. He told us why we needed a new government. He said that if a government doesn't do what the people want, they should change it.

Our Founding Fathers were revolutionaries and they were not afraid to try new methods. Even though they resorted to violence to make the change, they desired more peaceful methods. But this government they created makes peaceful change possible. These men of '76 were hardheaded realists who depended on "divine providence" to guide them. And so must we, on this Fourth of July, if the '76 Spirit is to live.

Special Mass

Cites Freedom

St. Anthony's Parish joins the community in celebrating the 198th anniversary of national independence with a special Mass in St. Anthony's church at 8:30 a.m. today.

Before Mass a Boy Scout will lead the congregation in the Pledge of Allegiance.

A sung Mass, including patriotic hymns, will be presented by the parish family, to be assisted by the choir. At the Offertory, copies of the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, an American History book, a Flag, and a sample of American soil will be the gifts brought to the Altar.

"It is the intention of the parishioners of St. Anthony's to thank Almighty God for 198 years of independence and freedom, and to join with the community of Hereford in the beginning of the celebration of our country's bicentennial amiversary." said a Catholic spokesman.

Additives Not Real Villains

Food additives are not always the "bad guys" they're often made out to be, according to one nutritionist.

She's Sally Springer, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System

"Sugar and salt are two of the most common additives-each of us uses about 15 pounds of salt and 102 pounds of sugar every year," the specialist said.

'Food additives are merely substances added to foods to improve or alter the taste, texture, appearance, nutritive value or preservability," Miss Springer explained.

Additives are often used in preparation of convenience

"If housewives were willing to give up the convenience of pre-cooked foods-and grow, harvest, cook and preserve food themselves-they could eliminate many additives," the specialist noted.

"All food additives must meet strict government regulations before they can be used.

WT Enrolls Over 2700 Proper Care Needed For Non-Stick Pans

Non-stick finish on cookware and appliances is one modern kitchen miracle - but it takes more than magic to keep it this way, according to one

"For the two basic types of non-stick coating availableheavy-duty and regular-there are individual and general care techniques," the specialist said. "Smooth-edged spoons or

Then condition the cooking surface by lightly rubbing it with cooking oil on a paper towel or waxed paper," she

Repeat this occasionally to maintain the non-stick finish.

"After every use, the pan or appliance should be cleaned with hot, sudsy water. A plastic pad is best for cleaning the surface to remove any residue that might settle into the porous finish. Residue can damage non-stick properties.

Improper cleaning could result in a grease build-up, lessening the effectiveness of the non-stick quality.

The final registration total for the first summer session at West Texas State University is 2707, says Dean of Admissions and Registrar Don Cates.

'We serve a very different clientele in the summer than in the fall," Cates observes. 'There are more people connected with teacher educa-

After analyzing various statistical breakdowns of the two semesters, Cates notes that the percentage of education majors jumps from 29 per cent in the fall to 40 per cent in the summer. This is partially due, he believes, to the recently mandated legislation requiring teachers to periodically take professional development courses.

He also says the summer class sizes are opposite to those in the fall. Freshmen dominate fall totals, while in summer "with every successive class, the percentage goes up." The ratio between male and female also reverses, with summer finding more girls on campus than boys.

Approximately 37 per cent of the summer WT enrollees are full-time students, and almost one-half of them commute. The most popular single age this summer is 21, followed by ages 22 and 23. The 31 and over bracket, however, has the largest proportion of the student population: approximately 22 per cent. This is unlike the fall, when the most popular single ages, ranked in order, are 19, 20 and 21, with the 31 and over category garnering 16 per cent of the student population.

'There has been less change in where people come from," Cates says, "but the mean age has come up.

"What causes that is the part-time graduate students,'

Heart-Warming Story Featured

The Deaf Smith County Library is featuring two books this week, The Doctor's Daughter by Elizabeth Seifert and A Dream Of Treason by Marshall Pugh.

The Doctor's Daughters is a heart-warming story of a girl whose adventures and loves finally lead her to the discovery of her own inner strength as a human being.

A Dream Of Treason concerns a story of a strange survival bond gorged between enemies. The author suggests the deadly gamesmanship of the politics of energy.

The library is open to the public free of charge from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. Mondays, 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. weekdays and 9 a.m. until noon Saturdays.

THE DOCTOR'S DAUGHTER by Elizabeth Seifert

Nothing would ever be quite the same again for Joey after the night of the carnival. She had been the cause of the catastrophic struggle that had taken place between two young men - Gary, the too ardent stranger, and Philip, the friend of her childhood.

The daughter of distinguished doctor, protected by wealth and strict parental supervision, she had been unprepared for any kind of crisis. If she had been more worldlywise, more sophisticated, she might have prevented the tragedy. Now tormented by guilt, she knew that she had to break out of the circle of misguided affection that for far too long had held her a prisoner. Here is a heart-warming story of a girl whose adventures and loves finally lead her to the discovery of her own strength too, is the story of two doctors' families whose lives are so strangely intertwined for good and for evil.

Once again Elizabeth Seifert has drawn her readers down hospital corridors, into the fascinating behind the scenes world of doctors.

A DREAM OF TREASON By Marshall Pugh

The ruthless machinations of an international power elite whose obsession is oil and the cunning countermeasures of the Arab sheiks who control its flow provide sinister background for this timely novel of political duplicity.

At a secret meeting in Whitehall, the representatives of the supra-governmental Anglo-American agencies that

Clothing Designer To Teach Workshop

Les Wilk, couture designer whom "Women's Wear Daily" has called the "darling of Southwest specialty shops," will lend his guidance to a three-week workshop in advanced clothing design at Texas Tech University.

The Dallas designer-manufacturer will spend the second week of the workshop on campus as a lecturer, demonstrator and consultant on problems in designing.

The workshop begins July 15 and will continue through August 2 and will be conducted under the supervision of Dr. Eleanor Woodson, associate professor of clothing and textiles in the College of Home Economics.

The workshop is for graduate students.

The first week of the workshop will be devoted to instruction in flat pattern design and the use of power sewing equipment such as the single needle lockstitch machine, the serger, and the blindstitch hemmer, all of which are basic to vocational school programs and to industry, Dr. Woodson said. Hand knitting machines and Viking sewing machines will be available for use by the participants also.

Wilk will present his own style of designing, manufactur-ing and merchandising fashions during the second week, and the third week will be devoted to application of information and skills to the designing or teaching by the individual participants, she said.

"This is the first time this type of workshop using power sewing equipment on campus has been conducted." Woodson said. "That feature and the participation and help of a fashion designer of national reputation such as Mr. Wilk are indicative of the moves our department and college are making to integrate industry with the college curriculum in the teaching of clothing and textiles."

In accepting the invitation to be one of the leaders in the workshop, Wilk said it fulfills a desire of his to work with college and university students and faculty in the area of design of women's fashions.

Wilk's design credits include "everything from circus costumes to aquacades and musical comedies to Shakespeare." He opened the Les Wilk label five years ago after working for another dress manufacturer for six years. Two seasons ago he opened a second label, the "L.W. Country Couture" with a designer approach to fashion sportswear.

He is the first recipient of the new Silver Fashion Award to be presented by Weiss & Goldring in Alexandria, La., one of the leading specialty stores in the South. He was chosen to receive the first award by Harry Silver. the store's president, because Wilk's clothing "has proved. season after season, to be not only in impeccable taste but also has epitomized what the gracious Southern woman has always envisioned as 'her image'. Dr. Woodson urged that reservations for the course be made as early as possible. The class will meet in Home Economics Room 203 each Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 12 noon and all participants are urged to report for the first class session at 9 a.m., July 15.

Housing facilities are available in air-conditioned rooms in the residence halls.

For persons who cannot attend the full three weeks, a special problems course is being offered for the graduate who wishes to earn one or two credits to fulfill a special need, Dr. Woodson said.

Additional information may be obtained from her through the Clothing and Textiles Department, Texas Tech University, Lubbock 79409 or by calling 742-7287.

Families Cheer Corn Pudding

Corn Pudding is a dish as American as Blueberry Pie, and, in its own way, just as homey and delicious.

It is basically a souffle to which a can of cream style corn is added. This variation, created in the Argo kitchens, uses corn starch in the cream sauce base to give it a creamy-smooth consistency and to help stabilize the pudding.

Serve Corn Pudding as a vegetable or as a main dish. It's delicious served with ham. Or, when the budget needs stretching, with frankfurters.

Corn Pudding 2 tablespoons corn starch

1 teaspoon sugar

1 teaspoon salt

1 cup milk

1 can (1 pound 1-ounce) cream style corn

1/4 cup margarine, melted 3 eggs, separated

Mix together corn starch, sugar and salt. Gradually add milk. Mix in corn and mar-garine. Beat egg yolks slightly garine. Beat egg yolks slightly and stir into mixture. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form when beater is raised; fold into corn mixture. Pour into greased 1½ quart casserole. Set in pan of hot water to depth of 1½ inches. Bake in 350°F oven 1 hour and 10 minutes or until knife inserted in center. in center comes out clean. Makes 6 servings.

PCG Urges Farmers To Certify Crops

"Those who don't sign up for the program stand to lose 20 per cent of their allotted acreage, one-third of their farm's established yield, and all chance of being eligible for disaster payments, price deficiency payments or price support loans. It's as simple as that," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald A. Johnson.

The cotton section of the Agriculture and Consumer Protection Act of 1973, which became effective this year. offers far less benefits to participating farmers than did the previous program. And county ASCS personnel across the High Plains fear that some farmers may fail to recognize the importance of "signing up" this

Holly Not Desparate For Sugar Act

Holly Sugar Corporation and the domestic sugar industry can survive without a Sugar Act for the next three or four years, President John B. Bunker told stockholders attending the corporation's 69th annual meeting recently at the Broadmoor

The fourth generation sugar man said that, over the long term, some sort of legislation for regulation will be needed to ensure stability of supply and

Without this stability, the industrial user, who accounts for about 75-80 per cent of all sugar consumed in the nation, will be hard-pressed to find a substitute for sugar's sweetening and preservative action qualities," Bunker said.

Bunker was referring to the June 5 action by the House of Representatives which defeated bill to extend the present Sugar Act past its Dec. 31, 1974 expiration. The Act has regulated the importation, growing and marketing of sugar in the United States for 40

"It is becoming increasingly apparent that the House action is raising prices and places the industrial users in a weak bargaining position on the so-called 'world marker.' So I look for an extension of the 'system' if not the Sugar Act." Bunker explained.

He said that with the price of sugar remaining high for awhile, he believes that growers will turn increasingly to sugarbeet crops.

He blamed defeat of the Sugar Act on misinformation or lack of understanding, especially critics who were clamoring to kill the Act to buy sugar on the 'world market." "They didn't realize that the so-called 'world market' is semantic miscarriage—that the 'world market' is only 10-15 per cent of the world's sugar because the remaining 85-90 per cent is grown and marketed under sugar systems similar to our own," Bunker explained.

He said that under the Sugar Act, the big industrial usersbottlers, bakers, confectioners, etc.-knew what their costs. would be and could count on relatively stable prices and supplies.

"Scrapping the Sugar Act can only be bullish on already high prices, as our big industrial users go out and compete for enormous quantities of sugar on the world market (5 million tons)," he told stockholders.

He also attacked the notion that payments to farmers constitute "subsidies" by the Sugar Act. He explained that the payments made to growers for complying with the provisions of the Act come from taxes levied on the sugar industry

"In effect, that tax levied on Holly and shared by the grower is recycled into payment to the grower. Not only is not one red cent otherwise paid to the grower by the government but, actually, the government profits by this arrangement. Over the years, more than $705 million has accrued to the U.S. Treasury through operation of

Frequent, Uniform Mowing Helps Grass

By Dr. William H. Daniel Consultant to Lawn-Boy/Ryan

Perhaps no homeowner's task is more taken-for-granted than mowing the lawn.

But unless you follow a few simple techniques and understand how mowing can help your lawn, you can defeat your purpose in having a nice looking, tight and dense lawn.

Before reviewing specific lawn mowing pointers let's lawn mowing pointers let's briefly review why frequent uniform mowing is desirable. Repeated mowing weakens tall grasses and big weeds so new grass plants have a chance to grow and get sun. In addi-tion, your lawn helps regulate crabgrass and other weeds.

Change Path Regularly Begin by mowing around the exterior of your lawn and do not cut the center until last. Reverse the starting direction of the exterior cut every time you mow your lawn. After you've mowed the exterior, begin a normal cross-lawn cut. Every time you cut your lawn mow it in a totally different direction so the grass is never forced to grow in one direction. By altering your mowing pattern, your lawn will be more uniform and take on a picturesque appearance.

How high should you cut your lawn? The rule of two inches for common bluegrass, fescues and ryegrasses had merit when disease and drought were common. Today newer bluegrass can be mowed less than one inch when dis-ease has been avoided and density is maintained. Southern grasses, including bermuda and zoysia, can be cut one-fourth to three-fourths inches high. Such grasses have underground roots and can look rugged unless closely trimmed. A rule of thumb is to cut your grass before the length of clippings exceed the height of the cut. For example, on two-inch bluegrass, you would cut it weekly or about 16 times per year on the average in the Midwestern United States. If in doubt, cut the grass a little higher, more frequently and with well-sharpened blades. A dull blade will rip, tear and beat grass. Within limits. higher mowing favors deeper roots, gives more drought tol-erance and generally permits less weed infestation. It's not uncommon to have thicker grass when healthy grasses are cut close and often. Many lawn specialists are rewriting lawn care rules tow-ard shorter cuttings because of new grass varieties, automatic irrigation, fungicide pro-tection and special lawn pro-grams. Yet if disease or stress occurs, the turf is more subect to damage when cut short.

Nutrients Can Recycle that repeated mowing can re-move up to 50 per cent of the nutrients applied, especially nitrogen. So if you use a lawn bag to catch clippings you should use additional fertilizer nutrients. Otherwise, your lawn could become weak and less resistant to weeds or

If you leave grass clippings in your lawn nutrients can recycle in place, but you also run the risk of building up thatch and increasing the dis ease incidence.

Rotary mowers, especially self-propelled machines, can save you time in mowing your lawn and also are econo adaptable and dependable. But never leave your rotary mower running unattended on your lawn. Not only is it unsafe, but the constant rotation of the blade in one place can damage the grass.

Adjusted and sharp reel mowers can give a better clipped leaf tip and an array of of them are used by profes-sional turf managers on golf courses and parks. However, rotary mowers are a wise choice for the average home owner. Remember that grass is a manufacturing plant and leaves produce carbohy drates for other leaves, the crowns and roots. Thus, you must take care to avoid scalping, disease or poor mowing habits if you want a thick, green lawn.

New Protein Substitutes Inadequate

AUSTIN .- Textured vegetable protein products are satisfactory protein supplements but inadequate substitutes for meat, poultry, eggs and fish, Agriculture Commissioner John C. White said recently

White said research has indicated that vegetable ideal balance of amino acids and all the minerals and trace minerals essential for good

Recent predictions have said that by 1980 as much as 20 percent of all processed meat items could be made of vegetable protein. The big push has been toward soybean extenders which are low in cost and can be added to processed meat.

In 1971 the U.S. Department of Agriculture permitted use of up to 30 percent soybean extenders to meet the protein requirements of some school

White mentioned that some ground beef extenders have been criticized for leaving an after-taste. Other vegetable protein products have been shown to be gas-producing and indigestible to some people. These are undesirable for use in baby food and certain other products.

The rising cost of living has created a rush to find cheap substitutes for animal protein," White said. "Research thus far has indicated there are none. Protein from meat, eggs and poultry remain an essential part of well-balanced diets."

Current figures show there are 209,000 farms in Texas, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

August, September Best Months For Grass Planting

Farmers who plan to establish cool season grasses this fall should prepare seedbeds now and plant the grass in August or September. Irrigated pastures help to reduce erosion, and produce high quality forage. Irrigated pastures are well suited to adjust for proper land use. Like any other crop, however, they do better on the Most of the grasses planted in this area under irrigation are cool-season type grasses such as Tall Fescue, Smooth Brome, Orchardgrass and Tall Wheatgrass. If a farmer has limited irrigation water. Tall Wheatgrass is recommended:

A good seedbed is important in establishing grass, but the most important phase of establishment comes immediately after the grass is seeded. First, unless a good rain comes right after seeding, the grass should be irrigated to insure an adequate stand.

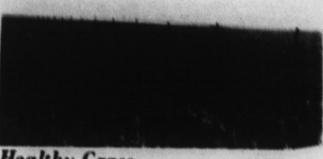

Another important job in establishing irrigated pastures is weed control. If weeds become a problem, they should be sprayed with approved chemicals after the grass reaches the three leaf stage. After the grass becomes fully established, it should be properly grazed. If any grass is overgrazed long enough, it will die. A short top growth on the grass means that it will have short roots. The leaves are the food factories of any grass. Ninety-five per cent of the plant food is taken from the air. Only five per cent of the plant food is taken from the soil. Overgrazing will destroy both the leaves and the roots.

Other important items in establishing and managing irrigated pastures are fertilization, rotation grazing and adequate livestock water for each passone.

For assistance in establishing and managing irrigated pasture. consult the personnel of the local Soil Conservation Service Office in Hereford.

Price Disappointed In Cattle Loan Bill

the first Congressman to introduce a cattle loan guarantee bill, said a similar bill approved by the House Agriculture Committee will provide only 'minimal" help.

In the House Agriculture Committee, Price voted for the bill to provide livestock producers with a loan guarantee program. He also supported a separate resolution designed to reduce imports of dairy products.

The livestock loan bill approved by the House Committee would establish a $2 billion fund to guarantee 80 per cent of the principle and interest on 3-year loans obtained at the going market rate of interest. It would place a $350,000 limit on the amount guaranteed to any single producer. It defines those eligible for the assistance as any person who is, or has been

I offered a bill that would offer substantial help in re-stocking feedlots and insuring a continuing supply of beef to consumers. This Committee bill will help the family producer, but won't serve the needs of the major producers and its impact for the consumer is going to be minimal," the Texas rancher said, "This bill is not real emergency legislation like I had
