Parade, Pep Rally Increases Homecoming Spirit

Herd Takes On Coronado Tonight

It was a day of excited homecoming activity after a parade went through downtown, a queen was crowned and spirit was raised for the football clash between the Whitefaces and Lubbock Coronado at 7:30 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium.

The gridiron fighters will test muscle against muscle tonight as both teams try for a district win. Hereford comes off a defeat last week at the hands of the Plainview Bulldogs. A win tonight would provide a renewed effort to win the remaining games.

SCHOOL STUDENTS were let out early today as they crowded the sides of streets along Park Ave. and Main Street to view the floats and other entries in the parade. The winners of the parade competition were not yet decided as of presstime and they will be printed in the Sunday issue with pictures of winning entries.

The homecoming queen was announced at the pep rally held at 2:05 p.m. today at the Hereford High School gym, but the Brand's noon presstime again prevented its release in this story. The winner will be pictured and announced in the Sunday edition.

Candidates for the homecoming queen honor were seniors— Paul Wiley, Gayle Yosten, and Julie Hallows; junior— Rhonda Hall; and sophomore— Lisa Duggan. The queen was selected from among the seniors with the other four girls-providing the queen attendants.

She is chosen from a vote of the whole student body.

THE QUEEN and her court will be recognized at the halftime ceremonies at the football game. A special performance of the HHS band will be presented.

Seniors did "their thing" with a supper sponsored at 5 p.m. at the HHS cafeteria. It helps to raise funds for senior activities.

Rooms throughout the high school were decorated with victory strings made from construction paper. One room was selected at the winner of decoration competition.

Students will celebrate the homecoming with a dance after the game at the Hereford Community Center. Couples and individuals are invited to attend for a nominal cost.

The theme for the homecoming is "Children's Stories, Rhymes, and Disneyland." Parade entries were based on this idea. Judges for the parade were Jan Bradford, Helen Higgins, Debbie Gonzales, Bill Bradley, Laura Walker, Sarah Gonzales, Nicks Farris, and John Thames.

Five Parents In Jails For Child Abuse Activity

By The Associated Press

Two infants were dead and another disfigured while five young parents were in Texas county jails today after three unconnected, macabre cases of child abuse in the state.

Murder charges were filed Thursday in Amarillo against 20-year-old Linda Sue Moss - the second set of murder charges stemming from child abuse in the Panhandle city in two days.

Her two-year-old son, Jack Roy Moss, died Wednesday of brain injuries, authorities said.

Officials said Lionel Tschudy, 30, and his 25-year-old wife, Beverly were jailed Wednesday, charged with the murder of their three-month-old son Terry Wayne. The child died Monday night of malnutrition.

Meanwhile in Dallas, 18-month-old Robert Smith Jr. remained hospitalized in serious condition, suffering from mutilated fingers and toes, a disfigured lip and cigarette burns.

His parents, Robert Smith, 22, and his 18-year-old wife, Eva Marie, were in Dallas County jail, charged Wednesday with inflicting serious bodily injury to a child, a jail spokesman said.

Justice of the Peace Cleophus R. Steele Jr. set bond at $50,000 each for the couple.

Police said the infant had bite marks on his upper lip and wounds in his buttocks and chest. His fingernails and toenails were mangled.

Dallas County Chief Sheriff's Deputy H.A. Bockemuhl said Thursday the two parents are being kept in separate, single cells to protect them from other inmates. Justice of the Peace Clifford Roberts of Amarillo set $100,000 bond each of three parents charged in the two deaths.

Roberts said Robert Francis Lang, 24, who had been living with Miss Moss, is being held under $50,000 bond as a material witness in the death of the Moss infant.

Voters Need Blue Card

Nell Miller, county tax-assessor-collector reminds local voters that they need only have in their possession a blue voter certificate card, in order to cast their ballots in the Nov. 2 Presidential election.

"A lot of people are confused and have been calling to find out if they're eligible to vote if they didn't fill out a registration form when they were mailed out in February. All the individual needs is the blue voter certificate, and if it has been lost, an individual may sign an affidavit at the polls," Mrs. Miller reminded.

Tire Theft Reported

Hereford police are currently investigating the theft of a set of tires at a city residence and the theft of a quantity of gasoline from a local business.

Donnie King told officers that a set of tires valued at $200 was taken from his residence at 619 Ave. K sometime Thursday.

A spokesman for Easy Way No. 1 on Park Avenue reported that a customer filled his car with $5 worth of gas last night, then drove away without paying for it.

Promoting Ford, Dole

Campaign workers for Republican nominees Gerald Ford and Robert Dole came through Hereford Thursday in a mobile home to promote the voters in rural areas to get to the polls on Nov. 2. It is one of eight such groups criss-crossing the state in a program sponsored by the Young Texans For Ford Committee. One of Hereford's voters (left) Mrs. Loretta Ellerd, 123 Ranger, is presented literature by campaigns (L-R, forefront) Susan Sanders, Lubbock; and Lea Cay Sanders, Lubbock. In the back are (L-R) James Glassford, Henrietta; and Jeff Pollard, Fort Worth. All the campaigns are Texas Tech students.

Milo Moving At Slower Pace

Corn Harvest Approaches 70% Completion Mark

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Deaf Smith County's 1976 corn harvest is nearly 70 per cent complete as the week draws to a close, and with continued good weather, harvesting of the yellow grain could end in slightly over a week.

AT THE SAME time, milo harvesting is nearly half finished in some areas, while at other sites, combining of the red grains is just beginning to gather steam.

Although spokesmen for local elevators for the most part have been unable to give corn yields estimates, the 1976 crop appears to be stacking up favorably when compared with the bumper production of 1975. This is despite problems with corn plants falling due to disease and insects.

A spokesman for Pitman Grain here late milo, although it didn't bother any of the grain that was already mature," an Easter Grain spokesman explained.

Joe Artho, manager of Hereford Grain Corporation reported that all of the corn handling facilities at his elevator were full at midweek, forcing a temporary shutdown to allow the local elevator to catch up on drying operations and move some of the abundant yellow grain.

"We were busy putting milo in the bins without aerators, since it doesn't require drying like the corn does, and that's why we haven't run into any problem where the milo is concerned, because the harvesting of that grain isn't that far along," Artho commented.

He added that some farmers had reported dry weight corn yields at 10,000 pounds per acre and above on exceptional fields.

indicated that some of the area's corn harvesters will be bringing in their final loads of the yellow grain this weekend, although most will not finish for another week or so.

The spokesman reported that corn test weights are remaining high in the 54-57 pounds per bushel range, and moisture is still anywhere from 17-25 per cent.

AT EASTER GRAIN, south of Hereford, the corn harvest was reported to be two-thirds finished earlier this week, and about half of the milo crop was out.

"The corn is doing pretty good, but a lot of the growers have been disappointed in their milo yields. The early frost which hit about two weeks ago hurt a lot of the

Awaiting Harvest

Heads of red-hued milo stand grain-filled, awaiting the moment when the farmer's combine will add their offerings to the bounty gathered from his land. Milo harvesting is beginning to pick up speed now as farmers finish up the corn harvest and turn their attention to the second grain crop. An unusually early frost during the first week of the month hurt milo yields in some areas here, as the not quite ripened grain was nipped by the cold temperatures, reducing its yield potential markedly. ## Reaction to Vaccine Favorable

The reaction to the Hereford Swine Flu vaccine inoculation program has been "generally favorable" from local residents even though deaths were once linked to the vaccine. It was halted briefly after deaths were first connected to the vaccine but later proved unfounded.

It began again last Monday and Dr. Howard Johnson, health officer for the county, said no adverse situation have developed since all the wide spread publicity of elderly persons dying after receiving the inoculations. Even government sources were quoted to say that the public relations of the death could have been better handled and prevented any public concern over consequences of the flu immunization.

"We have people here who wouldn't take it for all the tea in China, and others say it (publicity) is a bunch of hogwash," Johnson said. "We've had both extremes."

Reaction has been more favorable than negative, he explained.

Concerning the number of persons inoculated, Johnson said, "We haven't had any land office business, but we are giving both forms of the vaccine."

The monovalent form is for persons between 18 and 65-years-old, who do not have any chronic diseases or disabling health problems. The bivalent form is for elder citizens and those with chronic illness.

About 2,000 doses of the monovalent are being handled through the Hereford Surgical and Medical Clinic. Of course, not enough demand has yet existed to consume all this amount. The clinic has about 300 doses of the bivalent.

The Hereford family Clinic has smaller portions of each vaccine and its use is at about the same average level.

BULLETIN

The United Way of Deaf Smith County campaign is "off to a slow start", drive chairman Speedy Nieman announced following a report meeting of division chairmen just before noon today.

Workers have collected just $15,590, Nieman announced, but he added that this 15.7 per cent of the goal "probably represents a similar percentage of cards returned." Division chairmen will be contacting their workers and urging them to finish their solicitations next week, said the drive chairman.

Nude Photos Printed

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)- University of Alabama alumni may get a little more than they bargained for at this weekend's homecoming - seven photographs of a nude woman, right there on page A-7 of the student newspaper.

The seven pictures, published Thursday, are under the headline "Photo Essay by Reid Pruitt." Each photo is apparently of the same unidentified model, her face turned away, covered by hair or out of the picture completely.

Neither Pruitt nor Hoke Perkins, editor of the Crimson and White, was immediately available for comment.

About 20,000 editions of the paper were printed Thursday, and copies were hard to come by on the campus.

Hoover Honored

WASHINGTON (AP)- J. Edgar Hoover's supporters are raising a half million dollars for a monument and scholarship fund honoring the man who was the FBI's iron-willed director for 48 years.

The fund raising comes in the wake of disclosures in congressional hearings and news stories about Hoover's use of the FBI to harass and spy on civil rights leader Martin Luther King, conduct a "dirty tricks" operation to disrupt militant political groups and alleged use of FBI employees and material to do repair work at his home and perform other personal services.

Bolles Trial Controlled

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)- Arizona's attorney general has taken control of the Don Bolles murder case on orders of the governor after publicity about the reporter's slaying prompted a mistrial.

Defendant John Harvey Adamson, a 32-year-old greyhound dog breeder, returned to his jail cell to await a new trial date.

The state's special prosecutor on the case, Asst. Atty. Gen. William Schafer, accused the chief county prosecutor of scuttling the trial with his public statements.

Numbers of Suits Differ From Actual Malpractice

AUSTIN (AP) - A spokesman for the Texas Medical Association says there is a big difference between the number of malpractice suits and actual malpractice.

Furthermore, said Dr. E. Don Webb, Houston, there is no significant link between malpractice suits and the competency of physicians.

"A statewide survey shows malpractice suits and claims are increasing rapidly regardless of doctors' training or experience," Webb told a legislative conference Thursday.

"The same survey shows 60 per cent of all suits and claims ever filed were filed between 1972 and 1975. Obviously, doctors did not begin committing massive malpractice in 1972."

Webb told the conference sponsored by three House committees studying malpractice insurance, that "Doctors have extensive self-policing, better than any other profession, better than any other profession. The review process, by its very existence, improves the quality of medical care. It also screens out any doctors who might be practicing substandard medicine. There are boards to review everything from diets to operations in hospitals."

Webb said a study commission has tentatively approved some legislative recommendations that would improve the present doctor review system. One recommendation, if made law, would improve communication between local review boards and the State Board of Medical Examiners. "Currently, it is hard for a local review group to report its findings to the examiners board without making itself vulnerable to legal action," he said.

Other recommendations would strengthen the board's disciplinary powers and give them more money to investigate cases.

The Battle of Bemis Heights on Oct. 7, 1777, was the last battle of the Saratoga Campaign. Benedict Arnold rallied Gen. Horatio Gates' continental troops and forced the surrender of "Gentleman Johnny" Burgoyne after Gates refused to move against the inferior British forces. Arnold directed the battle against Burgoyne's lieutenant, Simon Fraser. With Fraser's fall, the redcoats withdrew, leaving behind 600 casualties. The World Almanac notes.

Letter To Editor Corrected

Due to an error of omission of the word "not" in a sentence in a letter to the editor published Thursday, Carolyn Waters' meaning was unregretably distorted concerning a correction of a KPAN radio broadcast of a news story on the Wayne Woodward lawsuit against the school board.

It should have stated the following: "We did (not) say that the state TSTA and TCTA did not adhere to the code of ethics of teachers. They just didn't follow the PR and R procedure and they did insist that Woodward follow PR and R procedure and the code of ethics."

"SKIN" PROTECTOR

BETHELEHM, Pa. (AP) - Zinc oxide, which many an Earthling uses to prevent a sunburned nose, is protecting the "skin" of the Viking lander from the harsh Martian environment.

A super-purity oxide was developed by New Jersey Zinc Co. of Gulf & Western Natural Resources Group to withstand temperatures of minus 200 degrees Fahrenheit, Martian dust storms with winds up to 60 m.p.h. and the severe ultraviolet ray exposure of outer space.

The coating is worn by both Viking I and Viking II.

College-Career Night

Students at Hereford High School Thursday night listen to a presentation by a representative of West Texas State University at College-Career Night in the school library. Although not as many students showed up as hoped, the students attending were given presentations on possible colleges to attend after graduation and a sampling of career they might pursue.

Discrimination Damages Awarded

LUBBOCK (AP) - A federal judge has ruled that some past and present female employees of Lee Vision Inc. may be entitled to damages as a result of a discrimination suit against the firm.

In a Thursday ruling, U.S. District Court Judge Halbert O. Woodward said the damages must be paid to women who were promoted to managerial positions since 1971 and not paid salaries the same as men in those jobs.

The ruling said Lee, which operates over 60 eyeglass retail outlets in Texas, has discriminated against women in manager and manager trainee positions.

Woodward, in a statement of findings of fact and conclusions of law, ordered attorneys for Christine Vaught of Amarillo to prepare a proposed judgement of damages due women since 1971 for the discrimination.

Vaught originally filed her suit as a class action against the company in 1974 to include several hundred Lee women employees across the state. However, Woodward ruled that only women in managerial or trainee positions may be included in the class.

Vaught said she was fired from her job with Lee in Amarillo when she requested a raise to the levels of comparable males in 1971 after he had been told she was "in charge" of the store. Woodward heard testimony on the first phase of the suit in late June and early July. The amount of damages will be determined in future sessions. Vaught was represented by the federal Equal Employment Opportunities Commission.

The company also operates under the names of Lee Vision, One Price Optical and Lee Optical among others.

WILLFUL WINE
NEW YORK (AP) - Sherry is among the oldest of wines.

According to Rand McNally's "Entertaining With Wine," all sherrys, which are made by a continuous blending of old and new wines, century after century, fall into two basic categories: the light, dry finos and the darker, robust olorosos.

The vintner can't plan which type he will make - the wine, decides and develops for itself. The wine maker, according to the book, must simply watch, wait and accept.

Costs Studied For Raising A Child In Deaf Smith County

In Deaf Smith County, under present conditions, how much does it cost to raise a child from birth to age 18?

Most parents have no idea of the overall amount. They don't think of children in terms of dollars and cents. Beyond recalling that at certain stages along the line the costs were very heavy, they have never thought about their total expenditures.

A new analysis of such costs provides some answers. It is based upon studies made by the Department of Agriculture, the Bureau of Labor Statistics and others.

The finding is that the amount spent by parents in rearing a child varies from family to family. In general, however, it is closely related to income.

In some families, the outlay in the 18 years is equivalent to as much as 3.6 years of earnings, after taxes. In others, as little as 2.9 years of earnings are so-spent. The average is slightly more than 3 years.

The studies show that where net income is in the $14,000 to $15,000 range, as it has been recently for the average family in Deaf Smith County, the outlay per child is approximately $44,900.

The expenses incurred in the first year can be unusually large. According to the Health Insurance Institute, the average cost in that year for medical and hospital bills, furniture, clothing, medicines and the like runs to $2,194 nationally. Insurance covers some of this in most cases.

Others than that, the greatest demand comes in the period between 13 and 18, when youngsters eat more, require more expensive clothes and more money for recreation.

In most local families, food is a principal item of expense. With prices as they are now, the food bill to age 18 comes to about $13,500.

Another major item is clothing, which amounts to $4,480, on average, allowing for the fact that hand-me-downs are sometimes available.

Beyond these, there are the outlays for recreation, medical and personal care, housing, transportation and the like.

Based upon current costs, the total expenditure by Deaf Smith County parents for the 450 or so local youngsters who turn 18 each year, adds up to approximately $20,205,000.

Bullock To Test Quality of Fuel

Comptroller Bob Bullock said this week that his office is initiating a pilot project to test the quality of gasoline sold at service stations in Texas.

Bullock said the Comptroller's Office has received a number of consumer complaints in recent months indicating that some service stations are selling inferior gasoline.

"We've had calls from people whose engines totally burned out a few miles down the road after filling their tanks," he said.

The Comptroller said that Articles 8601-8611, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes, set out specific gasoline standards and empower his office to test to see that the standards are met.

Selling inferior gasoline to the public without clearly indicating its substandard quality is a misdemeanor, he added.

Bullock urged motorists who can document that their engines have been damaged by inferior gasoline to call his Motor Fuels Tax Division toll-free from anywhere in Texas at 1-800-252-5555.

The pilot project will be closely coordinated with efforts by Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin to strengthen the State's power to test and enforce reasonable gasoline standards, he said.

"Statutes already on the books obviously contemplate that the quality of gasoline sold to Texas motorists be monitored," said Bullock. "Yet his has never been done. While our funds are limited at this time, we feel we can support this pilot project. Should it prove beneficial to the motoring public, we will seek additional funding from the Legislature."

Two Charismatic Churches Ousted

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Four delegates from two Dallas-area charismatic churches have been denied seating and voting rights at the 91st session of the Baptist General Convention of Texas here.

The action was taken Wednesday by a vote of the convention's 2,500 messengers against two pastors and two laymen of Shady Grove Baptist Church of Grand Prairie and Dallas' Beverly Hills Baptist Church.

Both churches were ousted for their charismatic practices by the Dallas Baptist Association in October 1975.

Dr. Howard Conatser, pastor of the 5,500-member Beverly Hills church said, "I am sorry this day has arrived. However, I am sure God will continue to use Texas Baptists in a momentous way as he has always done."

Dr. Wendell King, pastor of the North Temple Baptist Church, said, "The charismatics represent congregations in Dallas which have been disruptive to the fellowship and worship of other churches in the area."

King said the churches should not be denied their constitutional rights to worship as "the Holy Spirit leads," but he said "I have difficulty with their being called Baptists."

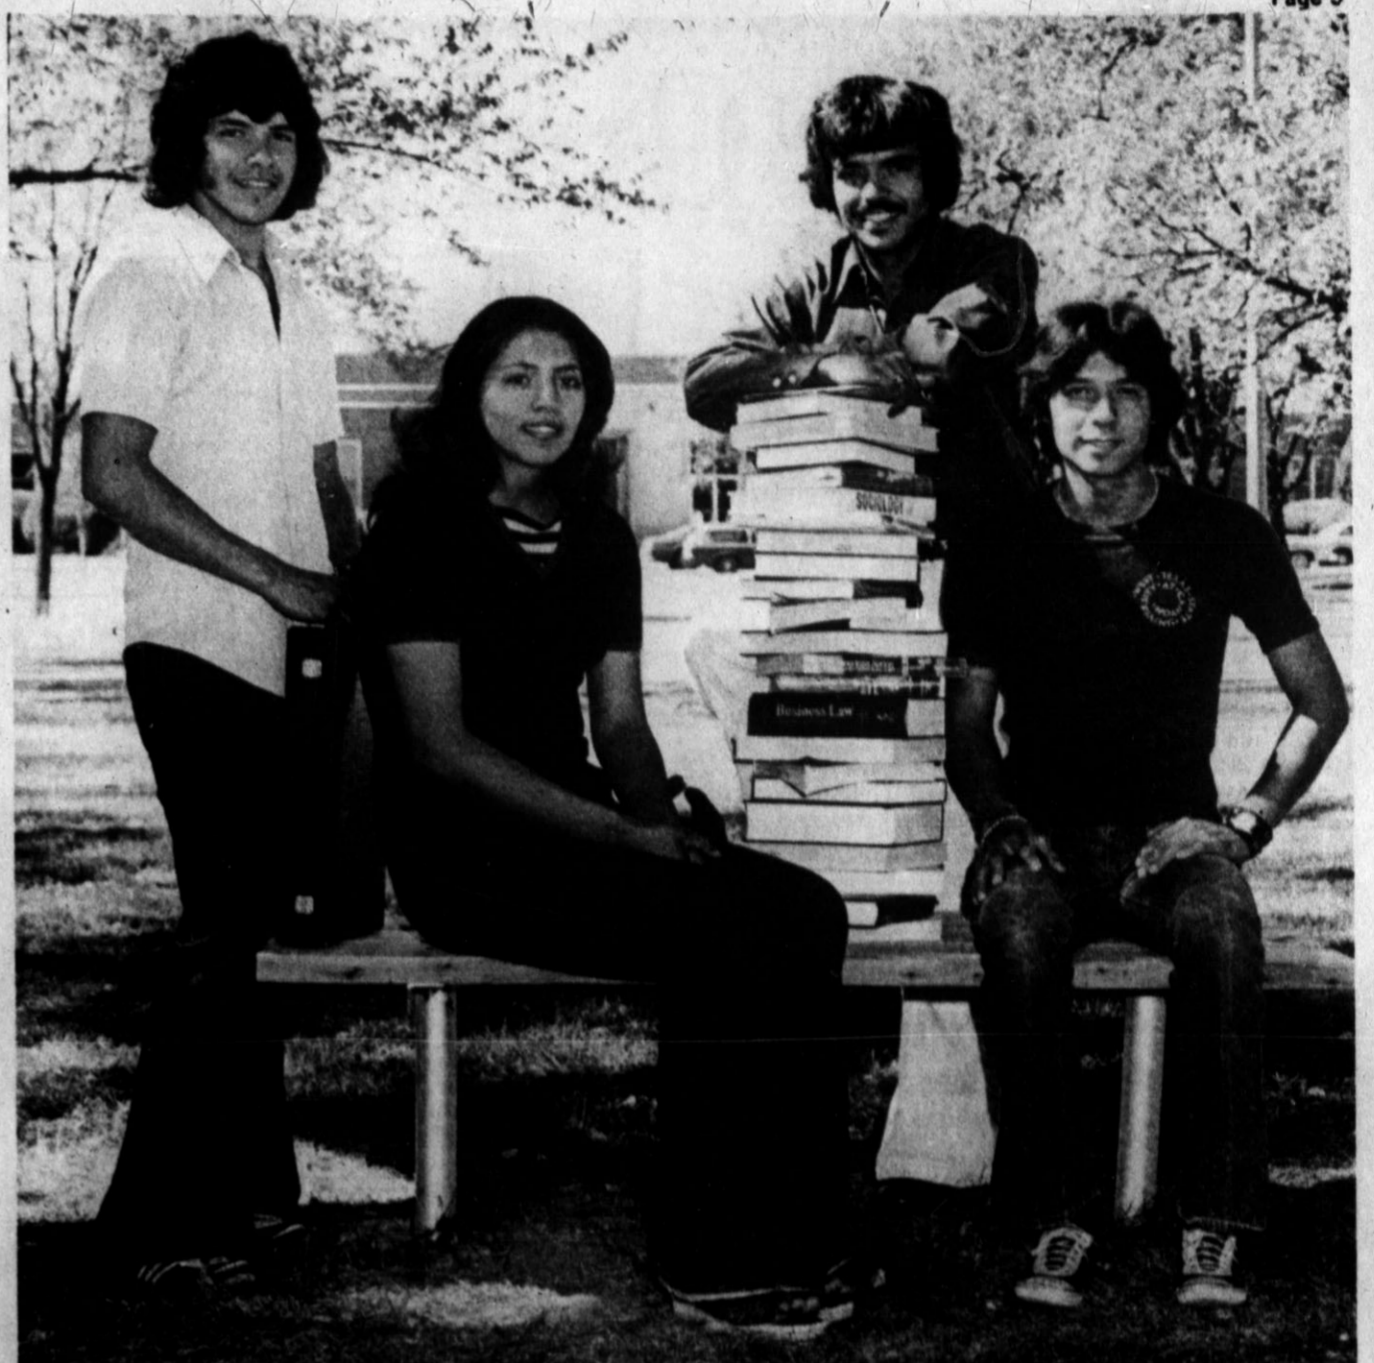

King challenged the seating of the four church members after the convention credentials committee had recommended the persons be accepted as delegates.

Olen Griffing, pastor of Shady Grove, said, "I do feel that Texas Baptists as a whole are in danger of drifting from Biblical principles and precepts they have historically held as dear. If we Texas Baptists are not careful, we could take the same direction that many other main line denominational churches have taken."

Dr. James G. Harris, president of the convention, said "When we meet in Ford Worth next year, it will be a whole new ball game. We only acted for this year. We did not make any action for future conventions."

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Dean Winn Sr. of San Antonio, Tex. and Mrs. Tully Lidell of Orlando, Fla., arrived here recently in a single-engine plane piloted by Shirley Winn of Woodland, Calif. Shirley is Mrs. Winn Sr.'s daughter-in-law, and Mrs. Lidell's daughter.

Mrs. Winn Jr. and her copilot, Anne Molina of Sacramento, picked up the older women, who are in their 80s, en route home after winning 23rd place in the Angel Derby sponsored by the 99s, an international women's pilots organization.

A Lot Of Books

How many books are needed each semester for four brothers and sisters at West Texas State University? A lot, says [l-r] Gonzalo, Theresa, John and Jesse Ibarra, but it's worth it.

Ibarra Family Recruits Well For West Texas State University

Professional college recruiters, eat your hearts out, the Ibarra family is taking over.

The Ibarra's believe in teamwork, and apparently they do it well. Four members of the same family from Paducah are currently attending West Texas State University. But, they don't stop there.

At least 12 students from Paducah (pop. 3,000) were influenced by the Ibarra's to attend WTSU. "Some of the kids I knew, I just told them about WT, and they decided to come," said the oldest.

Gather round the table and let's get acquainted. Leader of the clan is Jan Ibarra, 24, next come the twins Gonzalo and Jesse, 21, and holding up the end is Teresa, 18.

Playing follow the leader has proved to be an advantage, according to Teresa, who doesn't mind having three older brothers around. "I like my brothers being here," she emphasizes.

One major disadvantage, however, is pointed out by John. "They depend too much on me; they ought to start fending for themselves," he suggested. "They think I make the right decisions, although I may not always do that."

The major advantage according to John, a computer programming major, is the savings on trips back home. "When we go home, we just all get in the car and go home," he said, adding that being closer to home was one of the reasons for deciding on WT.

Has the enrollment of all four at the same time put a strain on Ibarra parents, financially? "To some degree, yes," said John, "but not significantly. Most parents are very proud to have their kids go on to school (college). Our parents are very proud and happy for us, especially since they never had the opportunity—the chance to get an education."

What does the immediate future look like for the Ibarra's? "Right now, we're looking for a house," said John. "It seems it would probably be a lot cheaper."

In the long-term future, however, John says he plans to get his degree, probably settle down somewhere and "start living."

The twins, who like to play the guitar, are undeclared majors. Physical therapy and management, however, rank high on their list of possibilities. All four, who are active members of El Chicano Club, say emphatically, "We really are enjoying it here!"

And, so it seems there may be little truth to the old adage "there's no place like home," as long as the family comes along.

The Ibarra's are the children of Jessie Ibarra, Paducah.

"My stock is down again"

"The value of a well-maintained home or income property invariably keeps pace or exceeds inflation. See First Realty about a sound investment property."

FAITH IS AN INFALLIBLE CURE FOR SELF-PITY

The insidious disease of self-pity is one that we all contract at least once in our lives: usually following some sorrow, major disappointment or the conviction that we have failed ourselves and those around us. However, the remedy is simple and unending. Instead of wallowing in this morass of despair, we need only turn to faith in God in order to see the fallacy of this waste of our resources, and to divert our energies to the positive channels of helping to ease someone else's misery. So stop feeling sorry for yourself and go to your Church; you will learn that there is always someone out there who needs you — and your help. It works every time!

Come out of thyself.
Stand in the open.
Within thy heart wilt thou hear
The response of all the world.
— Rabindranath Tagore

"Who comforteth us in our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort where-with we ourselves are comforted of God."

Scarf Designs Add Flair To Clothes

COLLEGE STATION -- Scarf prints, an exciting new fashion fabric look, create garments with individualized uniqueness, Becky Culp, an area clothing specialist, points out. "The 'scarf look' includes large square or rectangular panels with border designs around the four outside edges. Often the design includes a prominent design along the center, spreading toward the borders," she said. Mrs. Culp is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. "Scarf prints are usually a medium to lightweight fabric and are available in a variety of fibers and blends. One or more companion, smaller scale prints or solids are often available to coordinate with scarf print fabrics sold by the yard." The specialist suggested placing scarf panel borders to emphasize certain garment design details such as two borders meeting at the center front or back, or a border outlining a hem, cuff, collar or yoke. Dominant center scarf designs also can create emphasis by being positioned on the outside of a sleeve or in the center of a garment, she added. "Due to the extra emphasis scarf prints create, all garments should be tried on before purchase to observe illusions of size and shape created on the body. Also, the homesewer should hold panels up to the body to see illusions created and plan to cut out the garment accordingly. "The production of scarf print fabrics and labor costs required to design and cut out garments are higher than for comparable simpler fabrics. Book Review Given To Club Members

"How To Talk Back To Your Doctor" by author, Dr. Arthur Levin, was the book reviewed by Eva Gilliland when members of La Afflatus Estudio Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Pet Ott. Irene Markham served as co-hostess. Some of the topics discussed included how to select a doctor, what kind of doctor the person needs, how to find a doctor in case of an emergency and the process of diagnosis. The author stated in his book that American people spend approximately $50 billion per year for health care but the life span of man is the same as it was 20 years ago. During the business session with Della Stagner presiding, a letter was read from La Plata

Study Club extending a special thanks for the club's money donation to the completion of the kitchen facilities in Deaf Smith County Library. Also, Lydia Hopson was welcomed back into the club as a member by those present. They included Madeline Bell, Gladys Bralym Teresa Hale, Allyne Johnson, Ora Morgan, Aileen Montgomery, Lucille Hughes, Mary Leland Whiteside, Alberta Higgins and Emily Suggs. The next meeting was scheduled at 3 p.m. Nov. 2 at the home of Teresa Hale.

Be A Friend, Have A Friend

By JOAN DWYER, EXEC. DIR. Big Brothers-Big Sisters of Hereford
HOW DO YOU LISTEN?
It is necessary to become an effective listener in order to facilitate communication between two people. "Mutual respect" must be established to demonstrate to both adult and child that each is hearing what the other has to say. The meaning of mutual respect is allowing children and adults to honestly and openly express their feelings and beliefs without fear of rejection. Acceptance may be shown through inflection as well as the words used. Effective listening requires concentration, eye contact and a posture which implies, "I'm listening." Sometimes, good listening requires us to be silent, while at other times it requires us to respond. By using "reflective" listening, we can help a child think through a difficult or trying time. We can reflect and clarify a child's feeling. This in turn helps a young person make his own decisions and resolve his problems himself. Child: "Nobody wants to play with me anymore!" Adult: "You feel lonely and left out." Reflective listening acts as a mirror for the child to see himself. This lets a child know that he is understood and accepted. Closed responses are just the opposite. This type of response indicates that the listener has not heard nor understood what has been said. Child: "I sure wish we could have gone to the park today. I don't have anything to do." Adult: "Well, nothing can be done about the rain. Sometimes that's just the way life goes." A closed response will block communication. Watch out for nonverbal messages. Our actions, tone of voice and facial expression often indicate that we are listening or not listening. A pat on the back or a smile can indicate understanding or acceptance. While at the same time, this type of encouragement does not interfere with our child's decisions.

Two Delegates Report Educational Congress

Two delegates to the National Congress for Educational Excellence recently reported their findings to members of Hereford's Chapter, Association of the W's, who met at Community Center. Mrs. Les Mullins and Mrs. Arlo Deyke attended the Dallas assembly, which was held Sept. 24-25 at Dallas and drew doctors, lawyers, teachers and other concerned individuals. The duo stated that the convention theme was "Back to Basics" and this was the first state assembly of its kind. A national convention will be held during the last weekend of February 1977 in St. Louis, Mo. and the Association of W's is encouraging citizens to attend. The trip to Dallas for Mrs. Mullins and Mrs. Deyke was partially funded by proceeds from a home products party staged recently by the local chapter. Continuing their report, the speakers stressed that it is the responsibility of parents to rear their children and to maintain a close involvement. The chapter urges parents to stay current with activities of the school system, as well as other youth-oriented programs. The Hereford Association became involved in the local educational field in June when they reviewed proposed school textbooks. Mrs. Dennis Farley conducted the meeting and welcomed members of Young Mothers Study Club, who audited the gathering. The purposes of the Association of W's was explained for the guests' benefit. The next Association meeting here is scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Nov. 9 at the Community Center and the public is welcome to attend. Before you preheat the oven make sure the oven racks are in the proper place. For example, for yeast-bread loaves and pies you may want to place the rack below the center of the oven.

You can freezer-store those fruit and nut quick-bread loaves for two or three months. Thaw the loaves in their wrapping at room temperature.

Bench's Pair Of Homers Secures Cincinnati Sweep

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Seven games ago, Sparky Anderson knew it would take only seven games for his Cincinnati Reds to become baseball champions of the world.

The first of those seven came in Philadelphia. The Reds, winners of the National League's West Division, were playing the Phillies, the best of the East.

"I said to myself then that if we beat pitcher Steve Carlton in the first game, we'd win seven straight," Anderson recalled.

The Reds did beat Carlton. Then they beat Philadelphia again...and again. That was the National League pennant.

Then came the New York Yankees, who had just won the American League flag in an exhausting five-game series with Kansas City.

The Reds beat the Yanks. Then they beat them again...and again. Seven games later, the Reds were No. 1 for the second straight year.

Thursday night's clincher was a 7-2 romp built on Johnny Bench's two home runs and the pitching of Gary Nolan and reliever Will McEnaney. It was the first World Series sweep since Baltimore's over Los Angeles in 1966. And it was the first time a National League club had taken two straight World Series since the New York Giants did it in 1921-22.

It was, to put it mildly, awesome.

"They beat us tonight," muttered catcher Thurman Munson, the only bright spot in the otherwise pale New York lineup. "They beat us this time, they beat us four straight, they beat the hell out of us all the way through. What else is there to say?"

Whatever else there was to say was said succinctly by Anderson.

"This ball club has more class than any other club of the 24 all around the country," Anderson said. "Last year, when we beat Boston in seven games, they were like kids. Now they're men."

Indeed, in the Cincinnati locker room, the mood was remarkably subdued, as though these Reds were used to such championships—which, in fact, they are. There was little of the yahooping, champagne-bathing, towel-throwing of last year, when it took the Reds seven dramatic games to subdue the Boston Red Sox.

"Last year was certainly exciting, more so than this one," said Bench, the runaway Most Valuable Player in the Series for his eight hits in 15 at-bats and six runs batted in. Five of those RBI came in the clincher on a two-run homer in the fourth and a three-run shot in the ninth.

"And last year might have been more gratifying for me, personally, added Bench, whose .533 Series average more than offset his dismal, injury-decimated season when he batted .234 with 16 homers and 74 RBI.

It may well have been Munson's finest game ever, too. He had four hits, scored one run and drove in the other. His six straight hits over two games tied a Series record set in 1924 by Washington's Goose Goslin.

Munson batted .529 in the Series, far above any other Yankees starter. New York has a whole hit a paltry .222 to the Reds' .313.

In the first inning, Munson singled and scored on Chris Chambliss' double. In the fifth, Mickey Rivers singled, stole second and scored on Munson's single.

But each time the Yanks got a run, the Reds got more.

In the fourth inning, Joe Morgan walked and stole second with such ease that Munson didn't even bother throwing. With two out, George Foster singled him home. Then Bench unloaded on an Ed Figueroa fastball and sent it soaring down the left-field line. It hit the foul screen in front of the upper deck and the Reds led 3-1.

"Yeah, I knew it was out," Bench said. "But at first I didn't know if it was going to be fair. The way I hit it, though, as soon as it started straightening out, I figured it was good. I stood watching it at the plate—no because I didn't want to have to walk back, but just to make sure."

In the ninth, with the Yanks down by just one run, the Reds demolished any hopes they had of making a comeback.

Tony Perez walked, then Dan Driessen did, too. In came Dick Tidrow, replacing Figueroa. One out later, Bench hit his second homer, a line drive a couple of rows back in the lower left-field seats.

"Tidrow had gotten me out in the third game with a slider, gotten me to hit into a double play with it, so I was thinking slider," Bench said. "That's what he threw and I really got into it."

A few minutes earlier, Yankees Manager Billy Martin had gotten out of it. The game, that is, he was thumbed by NL umpire Bruce Froemming at first base.

"Thurmon Munson had turned around a few times on balls and strikes," Froemming said, starting his explanation. "Then Bill Deegan the home plate umpire threw a ball out of play. I watched it roll into the Yankee dugout. I saw Martin pick it up and throw it back on the field in Deegan's direction."

"We had a riot situation here in New York and Martin knew it."

And Martin was immediately gone. "I would throw a manager out of any field in the country for doing what he did," Froemming said. "It's an automatic ejection for throwing equipment on the field."

The Reds' last run came on successive ground-rule doubles off Tidrow, by Cesar Geronimo down the right-field line, and Dave Concepcion, down the left-field line. Each was grabbed by a souvenir-hunting fan.

Not much later, the souvenir-hunters were on the field by the hundreds, even before Roy White's fly ball settled in Foster's glove in left field.

And half an hour after that, Yankee Stadium stood like an enormous tomb in the ravaged South Bronx. Silent, littered, ravaged itself with huge chunks of sod torn away. And most of all, empty.

The Yankees, once the most feared team in baseball, had rolled over and played dead.

Drake Hosts Buffaloes

CANYON, Texas—West Texas State sets its sights on the Missouri Valley Conference race this week as the Buffaloes meet the Drake Bulldogs in an important Valley game Saturday afternoon in Des Moines, Iowa.

WTU goes into the game tied with Tulsa for the MVC lead, both with 1-0 records, while Drake has lost its first two league games and all seven contests so far this season.

"Our main objective every year is to win the conference," WT Coach Gene Mayfield says, and even though the Buffs are having a mediocre 1-4 season thus far, Saturday's game with Drake stands as the biggest one of the season.

West Texas goes into Saturday's game in much the same shape as a year ago. At that time the Buffs were also 1-4 but used the 24-6 win to ignite them on a three-game winning streak. A win over Drake this weekend could have the same effect.

Actually, the Buffs are not that far from a 4-1 mark. Three of the losses have been by four points or less, and the only game in which the Buffs have been out of was the 50-7 loss at Houston. In that one, however, WT only trailed 10-7 at the half.

The game at Drake will feature the Valley's best rushing and best passing teams. The Buffs are averaging over 209 yards per game to lead the MVC in that category, while Drake is passing for over 210 yards per game.

"I think (Jeff) Martin, (Paul) Proffitt, (Pat) Tuttle, and the rest of the Drake offense have really made progress," Mayfield adds. "Jack Wallace really deserves credit for developing their passing attack; it's as good as I have seen."

Martin is throwing for over 138 yards per game with wide receiver Proffitt (21 catches for 284 yards) and tight end Tuttle (19 for 276) his favorite receivers.

For West Texas, fullback Bo Robinson continues to lead the MVC in rushing with his 77.2 yards per game. Halfback Anthony Dogan ranks sixth with 47.2 per game. Both Robinson and Dogan could go over the 1,000-yard mark for their careers with good performances against Drake.

Defensively, the Buffs really came on against North Texas State, allowing the explosive Eagles only a touchdown and field goal in the 10-7 loss. End of the season.

Switzer Calls For Spy Investigation

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—University of Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer has asked university officials to conduct an investigation into football spying allegations.

Switzer repeated previous denials Thursday that he had any knowledge that Oklahoma had used fans to spy on opponents' practice sessions, as alleged by Texas Coach Darrell Royal.

In a prepared statement Thursday night, Switzer said: "I have requested that our university administration conduct an investigation into these allegations."

"Neither myself nor any member of my staff has asked anyone to spy on an opponent's practice, and if I should find out that a member of my staff was truly involved in this unethical practice, his contract will be terminated."

Switzer's reaction came after several newspaper accounts revealed another report of an alleged spying incident prior to

John Havlicek scored 32 points, including six in the last three minutes of regulation play and eight in overtime, and sank his final eight shots as the Celtics rallied to beat the Indiana Pacers 129-122 in one of four National Basketball Association games Thursday night.

Manager John McNamara of the San Diego Padres began his organized baseball career with Fresno, Calif., in 1951. He was a catcher.

Athletic Director Ted Brethoff of Wichita State University has offered football fans a cash rebate of one-half the ticket price on any home game the school team loses during 1976.

Jerry West spent all 14 years of his pro basketball playing career with the Los Angeles Lakers, was a National Basketball Assn. all-star choice 12 times, then signed a multi-year contract to coach the only NBA team for which he ever played.

Ed Halicki of the San Francisco Giants had a string of 25 scoreless innings this summer.

Montreal has a tough time winning at night. The Expos lost 49 of their first 67 games under lights this season.

The San Francisco Giants dropped 11 of their first 15 extra inning games this season.

Randy Cook (four tackles, three assists, one sack, and one pass deflection) and tackle Mike Lusane (eight tackles, five assists, one sack, and one fumble recovery) led the defensive line to their best night of the season. Just a week ago, Houston had rushed for 548 yards against the Buffs, but NTSU could only manage 76.

After Drake, West Texas will host McNeese State in the Buff Homecoming game on Oct. 30. The 2 p.m. game will be WT's only home afternoon game of the season. Drake will take that afternoon off.

Robert Graves and Randy Marrs had what Haney called the most balanced game of the season against Estacado. Marrs raced to three touchdowns in the victory.

Wrestling Features Tag Team Conflict

The Hereford Lions Club features tag team action in the main event in Saturday's night's wrestling at the Bull Barn. Ricky Romero, at 226 pounds, teams up with Scott Casey, 235, to face the crushing weight of Tank Patton and Alex Perez.

Patton, the 300-pound ex-footballer and wild man from Tampa, Florida, has apparently found a kindred spirit in former boxing great Perez, a 245-pounder from Lela Lake, Texas. Last week Perez was assigned as a special referee for the wrestling matches. An old feud with Romero flared up in the main event, and Perez contributed to Romero's loss to Patton.

Rapid Ricky, seeking vengeance, has chosen popular young Casey as a partner. Last week Casey took the final pin over Rip Hawk in a tag match which saw Casey and Pez Whitley go over Hawk and Swede Hanson.

In semi-main action Saturday night big Nick Roberts of Lubbock renews an old rivalry with Don Slotton, The Lawman. Roberts stands 6-4 and tips the beam at 240. Slotton, at the same weight, stands 6-6 tall.

Their last clash here prompted sportswriters to refer to them as "a couple of ambling alps." Both men are wrestling promoters, Slotton in Abilene and Roberts in Lubbock, and

JV Shoots Down Estacado, 28-20

The Hereford junior varsity football team put it all together Thursday night and went on to defeat the Lubbock Estacado JV 28-20 at Whiteface Field.

"We were fired up and determined to win," coach Danny Haney said of his team, which jumped out to a 14-0 lead before the Matadors scored.

Estacado got on the board on a kickoff return following the second Hereford touchdown. "At that time we felt like we were going to beat them bad, but we sort of opened up the gate for them on the kickoff return," Haney said.

Estacado was 6-1 heading into the contest, and was probably the fastest team the 'Herd JV had faced this season. "They had a lot of talent, but we just got out and got after them," coach Haney added.

Robert Graves and Randy Marrs had what Haney called the most balanced game of the season against Estacado. Marrs raced to three touchdowns in the victory.

"Our offensive line did an excellent job blocking, and it was the best night our backs have had," Haney said.

Defensively cornerbacks Glenn Yosten and Chris Hill and ends Warren Cornelius and Chuck Schmucker led a charge that was able to contain the Estacado speed. The 'Herd defenders constantly stopped Estacado's sweeps and quick pitches.

"We contained them real well, and had excellent pursuit," Haney said.

With the win the JV raised its record to 2-3-2 on the season, while Estacado fell to 6-2. Hereford will take on the Coronado JV in Lubbock next Thursday and will return home against Plainview on Saturday, November 6.

Baseball's longest game in history was played at Al Laug Field, St. Petersburg, Fla., June 14, 1966. It went 29 innings lasting one minute less than seven hours.

Every kid at the Bull Barn will get free cotton candy. Wrestling at the Bull Barn this coming Saturday night starts at 8:30 p.m.

The reports said that Lonnie G. Williams, accused earlier this month by Royal of peeking at the Longhorns prior to their clash with the Sooners, watched and photographed the University of California as it practiced at Texas Stadium in Dallas Sept. 14.

The Dallas Times-Herald said in a copyrighted story that the name of L.G. Williams appears on the Texas Stadium security log. A handwriting expert told the Times-Herald it was hand that wrote "L.G. Williams" on other documents known to have been signed by Williams.

Williams, who has moved from Dallas to Oklahoma City, could not be reached for comment.

Crystal City Wants Briscoe's Apology For 'Little Cuba' Label

CRYSTAL CITY, Tex. (AP)—The city council of this Raza Unida-controlled South Texas city has demanded that Gov. Dolph Briscoe apologize for branding it a "little Cuba."

The Crystal City Council passed a resolution Thursday accusing Briscoe of trying to "isolate" the city and cause it "irreparable economic damage" with his "little Cuba" statement.

A Crystal City official also said Thursday that the governor's attitude is affecting the economic development of the city.

Briscoe made the statement recently when he said he would try to block a $1.5 million federal grant to a Crystal City economic development corporation because it would be used to promote socialism.

County Judge Jose Angel Gutierrez, founder of the Raza Unida party that controls the county, said the federal funds were to be used for the formation of an agricultural co-operative. The state government obtained a temporary restraining order halting the flow of money.

Mayor Francisco Benavides, a political foe of Gutierrez, said council members passed the resolution saying Briscoe "knows that the statement is false...and that there is no possibility of a little Cuba existing in Texas."

The resolution added that "public officials of this city and county were elected by the same process by which he Briscoe and other public officials were elected."

The council's statement said officials of Crystal City "are as much a part of the United States as officials of any other city or county."

Council members also demanded that Briscoe "take his office more seriously and try to create harmony among the people of the state instead of creating ill feelings and chaos," and asked for an apology for "the statement he so irresponsibly made against the people of Crystal City."

Benavides said Thursday, "Everything has stopped. We are having trouble getting private industry to talk to us, we can't get any state or federal aid, we are being isolated."

Benavides also said that the Crystal City hospital, a private institution, had closed down last week.

Dr. Donald Smith, co-owner of the hospital, said the 30-bed hospital closed down because it was losing money and added that the "political turmoil" in the county was one of other indirect reasons having to do with the decision.

Dr. Smith said he planned to continue his private practice in Crystal City, but added that the political situation has caused some people to leave the city.

"Carrizosa Springs is now the growing city in the area," he said.

Raza Unida was founded in Crystal City five years ago and new controls most government agencies in the county.

Baptist Thinks Taxes May Influence Instruction

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—The president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas has warned the opening session of the 91st convention that public tax-subsidies to church schools may influence the school's religious teachings.

James G. Harris, pastor of University Baptist Church of Fort Worth and head of the two million-member Texas Baptist organization, criticized a recent U.S. Supreme Court ruling which approved public tax subsidies to three Roman Catholic schools in Maryland.

Harris also said Tuesday night he is appalled at the evidence of "growing permissiveness and increasing disrespect for the family unit" on the part of the Supreme Court.

He pointed to a recent high court ruling that a minor child can secure an abortion without parental consent.

"I do not believe that many Texas Baptists favor abortion by demand," Harris told about 6,000 Baptist delegates attending the three-day convention.

"The complex subject of abortion can never be solved by debate on the floor of a convention. But the pregnancy out of wedlock of a child who is 13 or 14 or 15 years of age is a family affair," Harris said.

"Such a child needs the supportive love and guidance of parents who suffer with her," he said.

The thrust of this year's meeting is "Good News Texas," a $1.5 million mass media promotional campaign which Baptists will use in 1977 to carry their beliefs to all residents of the state.

Hill Investigates Shotgun Slaying

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Attorney General's office has joined the investigation into last week's shotgun slaying of East Texas civil rights leader Frank Robinson.

Atty. Gen. John Hill announced Thursday that he was assigning Asst. Atty. Gen. Anthony Sandberry to aid in presenting evidence at a Nov. 16 inquest into Robinson's death.

Hill made the announcement after a conference with Palestine Municipal Judge Alexander Nemer, who said he has also invited Dist. Atty. Richard Handorf and Melvin Whitaker, both of Palestine, to assist in the inquest.

Robinson, a retired teacher who successfully fought for reapportionment in Palestine and Anderson County, was found shot to death in the garage of his home here Oct. 14. He had also helped integrate teaching staff at nearby schools.

Police Chief Ken Berry said he is investigating the death as a homicide, although no formal ruling has been made.

Robinson's widow has called for FBI intervention in the case and a FBI spokesman in Dallas said a preliminary report was made to the Justice Department.

The spokesman said no further action would be taken unless it is ordered by the Civil Rights Division.

Texas Rangers and agents of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms have aided Berry in the investigation.

Rodney Howard, one of three plaintiffs with Robinson in a city redistricting suit, said he and the others were taking special precautions.

"We're a little worried because we don't know why Frank was killed," Howard said. "We have to be prepared for the worst."

Mrs. Robinson said Wednesday that she felt "sufficient time has elapsed" in the investigation to warrant FBI intervention.

"The fact that I feel that further and more sophisticated help is needed doesn't in any way reflect on the sincerity and integrity of the local police department," she said.

Mrs. Robinson is chairwoman of the Texas Advisory Council for Technical-Vocational Education.

Ann Landers Moore Poor Marriages

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are retired, in our mid-60s. For various reasons we have not "lived together" in the real sense for 20 years. We each have heavy grievances against the other, but two attempts at divorce fell through because of health problems and social pressure. So we continue to share the same house.

My question: How many marriages end up this way? I'll bet the percentage is high, especially in the older age bracket. How do these people cope with the situation, which at times becomes very depressing?

--Seeking Answers

DEAR SEEKING: I can't give you an figures on the number of couples whose marriages are hanging together with safety pins and Elmer's glue, but I CAN tell you there are more poor marriages around the good ones—by a long shot. Especially after ten years.

How do they cope? Dear lady, are IN such a marriage. How do YOU do it? My guess is—with great difficulty.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Since your column is an educational source for a great many people, I'd like to pass on some useful information out of my own experiences.

Several days ago my car was stolen. The details of where and how are not important, but the aftermath caused me considerable anxiety. I hope I can spare others what I went through.

Unthinkingly, I left my house keys in the glove compartment. On the key ring was my identification card, complete with address. Also in the glove compartment was a map, showing friends how to get to our home. (We live in the suburbs.)

The car was recovered after going to the movies with the girls at the shop where she works. How can I help her make a social life?—Mother With A Heartache

DEAR MOTHER: I know of no way a mother can create a social life for her 20-year-old daughter. Rosalie will have to do it herself—if she is interested.

I recommend weekend vacations away from home where single people go, political clubs, night-school classes—in other words, outside exposure. She'll never catch a muskie if she keeps fishing in a herring barrel.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement. Ann Landers' booklet, "Marriage—What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Eleven thousand pounds of steel twisted by a tornado will be placed in a city park to commemorate Omaha's 1975 tornado.

The steel has been transformed into a 22-foot-high piece of art by sculptor Sidney Buchanan.

The steel is mostly from a warehouse, hit directly by the tornado.

Teacher To Fight Ouster

RYE N.Y. (AP) — Joan La Rocca, the art teacher dismissed by Rye's school board for trying to convert students to a fundamentalist religious sect, said today she will appeal her ouster.

Miss LaRocca said she plans to fight the unanimous decision on the board "to the highest courts."

Her dismissal by the board followed review of a hearing by a three-member panel last summer. It can be appealed to the state commissioner of education.

called The Annotated Musical Publishing Co. or TAMPCO.

The teacher was suspended after complaints from parents who expressed fears to their clergymen that their children would give up school and career goals to follow the religion.

Miss LaRocca was accused of holding prayer meetings in her office, inviting students to meetings here and in Meriden, and preaching the beliefs of Brother Julius in classrooms.

The teacher said she did not try to convert her students. She maintained that her classroom was one in which "young people felt comfortable and could discuss any topic."

Miss LaRocca, a teacher for nine years before her suspension last April, has acknowledged following a movement headed by a figure known as Brother Julius, who is considered by his 300 adherents to be the true messiah of the Old Testament prophecies.

The sect is based in Meriden, Conn., where it is formally

Criswell Calls Carter 'A Fine, Christian Man'

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Rev. W.A. Criswell of Dallas said Wednesday Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter is "a fine, Christian man."

Criswell, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas, said his recent critical remarks concerning Carter's Playboy magazine interview had nothing to do with his ministry.

Criswell addressed a loyalty dinner for Park Hill Baptist Church in North Little Rock. He took exception to Carter's having granted an interview to Playboy and to Carter's view that churches should be taxed property other than their buildings. He later endorsed President Ford.

Dr. Dale Cowling, pastor of Little Rock's Second Baptist Church, and a Carter supporter, has been sharply critical of Criswell's statements.

In his address to the church crowd, Criswell refrained from commenting on politics, except to say, in reference to financial support of the church, that any institution must avoid bankruptcy "and that goes for the American government."

In an interview, he said he feared Carter's policies because they were fiscally irresponsible.

Cowling praised Carter for trying to reach Playboy's subscribers with an essentially Christian message.

Criswell said he had no real quarrel with the content of the Playboy interview, which he had read, but he objected to the fact that the interview was granted to "a cheap pornographic magazine."

Pilots Killed After Planes Crash Midair

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two small airplanes collided over a playground full of children Thursday. The two pilots were killed, but nobody on the ground was hurt, even though some debris fell among the horrified children.

Debris also fell near a stationhouse full of policemen.

Los Angeles County coroner's investigator Donald Stricklin identified the victims as Erich Baldwin, 27, of Redondo Beach, and Donald R. Boldt, 44, of Westlake Village.

Police reported initially that three men, including a student pilot and his instructor, had been killed but later investigation did not substantiate that, Stricklin said. Only one person was in each plane, authorities said.

"We heard a loud crash and bits of skull, bits of flesh and a couple of dozen chunks of the airplane came showering down on the kids," said school principal Raymond Roller.

Plane Crash Kills One, Injures Two

GRANBURY (AP) — The crash of a light plane Thursday near Granbury in Central Texas killed a 65-year-old Kilgore man and injured two Tyler men, officials said.

Authorities identified the dead man as the pilot, Bowen Monroe Davis.

His passengers, identified as R. Curtis Phillips, 36, and Charles K. Linder, 42, were hospitalized in a Fort Worth in satisfactory condition.

Authorities said Davis radioed that he was having engine trouble in his Cessna 210 shortly before hitting the top of a pecan tree and crashing 200 yards from a private airstrip northeast of Granbury.

On Wall Street

By BOB HILL

The biggest boom in the export of potatoes hit this country just two weeks ago. The drought Europe, Poland and Western Russia suffered last summer has wiped out most of the fall potato crop in those countries. The European common market production of spuds is expected to be off 25 per cent.

The U.S. potato producers are holding for higher prices for those potatoes headed for foreign markets and, if the buying demand continues next year from Europe, it could force up consumer prices next year. The big question is whether the European weather will improve next summer. The foreign buyers are saying as little as possible about their needs in order to hold the price down; the U.S. farmers and commodity brokers are mum in order to avoid unfavorable publicity and government investigations. And the Commodity Futures Trading Commission is watching trading activity on the New York Mercantile Exchange for evidence of any illegal speculation.

The U.S. has plenty of potatoes for everyone. This year's crop, the best in ten years, hit a record 299 million hundred weight, topping last year by 9 per cent. The fall potato harvest accounts for 85 per cent of all U.S. production. Commodity brokers who don't usually get into the shipping of potato, are active potato shippers because they have storage and shipping know how and the facilities for handling spuds. Potatoes are bulky and perishable and can't be handled like grains. This requires lots of labor to handle and refrigeration.

Orders for dehydrated potatoes are also setting records from European buyers. A measure of just how important the potatoes are to the European common market is the waiver of the 18 per cent import duty that common market member nations must pay on imported potatoes. France hasn't bought potatoes from anyone in 23 years, but it expects to buy 1/3 of the U.S. exports this year. In previous years the French have embargoed imports of U.S. exports this year. In previous years the French have embargoed imports of U.S. spuds on sanitary grounds. Now the French are willing to work out a compromise.

Ford Signs Law To Aid 1,000 Counties With Federal Land

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford Thursday signed a bill to increase federal payments to approximately 1,000 county governments where there are large blocks of federal lands that cannot be taxed locally.

The greatest impact is in the West, where there are thousands of square miles of federally owned grazing land, national parks and forests and reservoirs. In all, however, 40 states are affected.

The Ford administration had opposed the measure, but in the end the GOP leadership in the Senate dropped its opposition to consideration of the bill, and it was passed by voice vote.

It is estimated to add about $12 million to the federal budget.

The bill provides counties with a choice of two formulas for payment: 75 cents an acre, minus any federal payments under such other programs as timber cutting or mineral leasing; or a flat 10 cents an acre in addition to any other payments. The formulas also take into account population figures.

Each county affected would receive at least some additional federal funds under the bill, which limits the total payment to a maximum of $1 million annually.

Federal lands covered are national forests and parks, wilderness areas, lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management, and reservoirs controlled by Bureau of Reclamation and the Army Corps of Engineers.

Excluded from coverage are Alaskan lands, Indian reservations, wildlife refuges and military bases. Some of these categories are covered under other aid formulas.

A number of new national parks and wilderness areas have been created in recent years. The bill would reimburse counties for the land lost to the federal government to the extent of one per cent of the estimated fair market value.

This was one of another batch of bills signed by Ford, affecting such matters as immigration and extension of unemployment compensation to agriculture and domestic workers.

Ford also approved an increase of approximately $2 billion in the U.S. quota in the International Monetary Fund. It also includes reforms of the international monetary system which Ford said "will provide the increased flexibility, resilience and reliance on market mechanisms which today's monetary relationships require."

Teacher Of The Year Named

AUSTIN (AP) — A first grade teacher in Fort Worth who believes the educator's goal is "to develop thinkers rather than memorizers" has been named Texas Teacher of the Year for 1977.

The selection of Mrs. Marie Haines of J.T. Stevens Elementary School means her name will be placed in the annual competition for National Teacher of the Year.

State Education Commissioner M.L. Brockette announced Thursday that Dr. Anne Ramundo Catalani, an English teacher at Robert E. Lee High School in San Antonio, was named first runner-up. It was noted that she grew up in a non-English speaking home.

Mrs. Haines was chosen from 41 entrants in Texas. She has taught for 28 years.

Pipe organs are the largest of all instruments. Some have hundreds or even thousands of pipes of different shapes and sizes.
