School Administrative Contracts Shortened

By BOBBY TEMPLETON

Contracts of administrative personnel were limited from three to two years by the Hereford School Board of Trustees following a closed executive session Tuesday night at the central office of the school district.

The action resulted from a "phase down" by the board in the employment contracts issued to assistant superintendents, principals and other administrators and central office personnel. Jim Conkright, school board president, said the two year contracts will make the employees more "responsive" to their immediate supervisors.

Superintendent Harrell Holder's contract was shortened to a three year period in January. Formerly, the superintendent's contract lasted five years. The decision was made in January of 1976 to limit the contracts and employ superintendents for only three years.

Conkright said the philosophy behind the move was to provide shorter periods of time between re-employment of personnel. During longer periods, he said that resentment and personality conflicts may build between personnel and those they deal with.

Presently teachers remain on one-year contracts.

THE SCHOOL BOARD also approved the purchase of five new buses for the district after a recommendation by Larry Wartes, assistant superintendent.

He suggested that the purchase order to the state government could include a three 72-passenger buses and two 60-passenger buses for the city and rural routes in the district.

The action was taken now so that Wartes could turn in his order by a March 7 deadline. The state then processes the order which could take up to six months to fill. The district expects to get the vehicles by September for the 1977-78 academic year and to pay for the buses with next year's budget funds.

The large buses are priced at about $15,000 each.

The district now runs 33 buses and several are at the 90,000-mile mark. Buses are usually run about 120,000 miles before major overhauls are made or new buses purchased.

In another expense decision, the district gave its approval for the tax office under Fred Fox, tax assessor-collector, to contract with Western Data Inc. to computerize the school district tax rolls. The cost is estimated at about $3,500 annually.

He explained that easier access to tax figures with the computers will allow the district to receive quickly compiled reports on tax collections, and other information. Although no employment positions are eliminated, Fox noted that the system will enable workers to work more accurately on routine duties especially during the four to five week period annually when the tax roll is prepared.

IN OTHER BUSINESS, the board: Approved a liability insurance policy providing $1 million in umbrella coverage for vehicles at a cost of about $1,600 annually.

Heard a tax report which showed $252,939 in collections in January. Total collections for the year now stand at 87.5 per cent which is one per cent down from this time last year.

Delayed action on the student suspension policy until attorneys have time to word it to avoid problems dealing with the time period between a suspension and a possible board hearing if requested. A possibility exists that a hearing could be requested within three days which would not allow enough time for evidence to be compiled on actions accused against a student.

Channeled to the district's teacher insurance committee a proposal on tax sheltered annuities. The committee is charged with deciding whether more than one company should be allowed to approach teachers on payroll deduction plans for the annuities.

Tentatively set the 1977-78 school calendar of holidays and 10 in-service training days.

Selected Tuesday May 12, for the Past School Board Member's annual dinner.

HEARD A REPORT from Mal Manchee, textbook custodian, on the annual adoption of textbooks. The school board decides at its next meeting which textbooks the district wants.

Reviewed a report showing that enrollment here dropped by 50 students from last month and 108 from this time last year. It now stands at 5,307.

Accepted the resignation of Nancy Stewart, a teacher at Shirley Elementary School. Employed were the following teachers: Star Christie, Shirley Elementary; Janice Hudgens, Shirley Elementary; Sharon Langford, La Plata Junior High; and Phillip Musgrove, La Plata Junior High.

Grand Jury Rule Wanted

AUSTIN (AP) - A person being investigated by a grand jury should have the right to be present when the grand jury hears evidence against him, says Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston.

Washington testified before the House Criminal Jurisprudence committee in support of his bill which would allow a suspect to be present. If the jury chooses, the suspect may make a statement and be questioned under oath.

This bill would allow the defendant as well as the prosecutor to be present during presentation of the state's evidence, Washington said.

"One of the things wrong with our system is that everybody is hiding evidence, playing lawyer," Washington said.

"We need to put it out on the table and say, 'Here's what I have against you.'"

Illegal Aliens Forced To Smuggle Drugs To U.S.

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Organized family gangs in Mexico are "enslaving" illegal aliens to run heroin and other narcotics into the United States, a Federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) official says.

The charge was leveled by Gerald O'Connor, deputy chief of the DEA's intelligence center in El Paso.

O'Connor said San Antonio is one of the key cities in the network of underground trails which carries narcotics north.

At least three Mexican families are known to operate through San Antonio, he said.

In a telephone interview from El Paso this week, O'Connor recounted the testimony he gave to representatives of the U.S. House Immigration Committee.

The DEA official said there are numerous cases where the drug families select a Mexican and offer him a free ticket to illegally immigrate to the United States if he will act as a courier for illegal narcotics.

"They even offer them schooling on how to handle themselves so as not to get caught and furnish them with fraudulent documents," he said.

"Once here, the Mexican families prey on the aliens' fears of being detected and force them to do other errands such as becoming peddlers. They always get them a job and a place to live," O'Connor said.

Of 423 illegal aliens arrested during the third quarter of 1976 on narcotics charges 298 were from Mexico, he said.

Most of the arrests were made in Northern states and not along the border, a statistic which O'Connor said indicates the aliens are slipping past border checkpoints.

"These mafioso-type families are also heavily into other criminality—alien smuggling, document fraud, heroin, cocaine, marijuana and even weapons," O'Connor said.

He said the DEA has mapped the known routes of drug traffickers and found them to be the same as those used by "the other products of criminality."

Brief Required By Feb. 22

Deadline Imposed On School Suit Against Justice Department

Federal District Judge Halbert O. Woodward of Amarillo has given the Hereford School Board of Trustees until Tuesday, Feb. 22, to file a brief in connection with the suit it filed against the U.S. Justice Department.

The board is contesting the federal government's right to enforce 1975 extension of the Voting Rights Act on the Hereford Independent School District in relation to the method used in the election of school board trustees. The district now elects trustees with a place and runoff method as used by 90 per cent of districts across the state. The U.S. Justice Department ruled that this method is possibly discriminatory and should be changed.

State law forbids districts changing their method voting to revert back to the method formerly used.

The Judge asks the district to spell out reasons why the suit should be tried in his court (The District Court for the Northern District of Texas) as opposed to the district court in Washington D.C. Also, Woodward wants to know the reasoning for a one-judge panel as opposed to a three judge panel.

The Voting Rights act specifies that any suits dealing with it be filed with the Washington D.C. Court. The district claimed the protest was filed by the Justice Department in the Amarillo district and therefore the court has jurisdiction.

Harrell Holder, superintendent, told the School Board of Trustees Tuesday night that the Feb. 22 deadline imposes a tight situation since the deadline for election filings is Feb. 29.

"We may have to call a special school board meeting by March 1 to solve the matter," he said.

The method of selecting trustees was changed in 1974 from the pure at-large system. Officials here confirm that the Justice Department only investigated and ruled against local government entities making changes in recent years no matter the reasoning used.

They claim that had no changes occurred, the district would not have been tampered with.

Jim Conkright, board president, has said that the board was only going to a form of voting popular with most districts in the best interests of local citizens.

Reduced Cash Flow Adversely Affects Agricultural Credit

Reduced cash flows of farmers and ranchers have adversely affected agricultural credit conditions in the northern High Plains of Texas, according to a survey of area agribankers by the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas. Results of the January 1 survey show repayment of loans has slowed, renewals are up sharply, and the availability of funds to meet current loan requests has been reduced.

Cash flows from the marketing of farm products decreased during the 1976 crop year largely because of low wheat and grain sorghum prices. Earnings from cattle feeding operations were depressed by low slaughter cattle prices and high costs of grain. Because of favorable prices, however, incomes of soybean growers improved slightly.

According to 95 per cent of the bankers, the financial condition of farmers is not as strong as a year ago. And 74 per cent indicated the position of cattlemen has weakened. One banker heavily involved with agricultural lending reported his customers are financially weaker than in many years.

Lower farm incomes have caused year-to-year deterioration in several key indicators of agricultural credit conditions, say Carl G. Anderson and Alan M. Young, agricultural economists for the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

Where 25 per cent of the respondents said loan repayments were slower than usual last year, this year 83 per cent did.

Where last year no bankers surveyed reported the availability of funds was less than usual, this year 37 per cent did.

Where last year 15 per cent said collateral requirements were more strict than usual, this year 42 per cent did.

A third of the bankers surveyed said they are not looking for new customers. The demand for operating loans is quite strong, pressured by higher operating costs and large crops being withheld from the market in hopes of higher prices. Demand for feeder cattle loans has declined and fewer loans are being made for machinery purchases.

Interest rates have decreased for operating loans and feeder cattle loans, but they have risen somewhat for longer-term loans. Average rates reported were 9.58 per cent for feeder cattle loans, 9.43 per cent for farm operating loans, 9.92 per cent for intermediate-term loans (1 to 7 years), and 9.39 per cent for farm real estate loans.

The downturn in farm income is not reflected in the land market. Bankers believed the price of "good" farmland widely represented in the area increased around 9 to 11 per cent in 1976, and ranchland values increased 1 per cent. More than a fifth of the bankers foresaw a slowdown in the appreciation of land values in the months ahead.

Yarbrough Judge Named

HOUSTON (AP) - A retired judge has been named to preside over the disbarment proceedings against Texas Supreme Court Justice Don Yarbrough.

Judge Bert H. Tunks, who served as chief justice of the 14th Court of Civil Appeals in Houston, has been appointed by Chief Justice Joe Greenhill of the Texas Supreme Court.

Prostitution Law Attacked

AUSTIN (AP) - Women lobbyists have attacked proposed legislation that would increase penalties for prostitution.

Pauline Sullivan of Citizens United for Reform of Frauds (CURE) told the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee Tuesday night the bill "discriminates against poor women."

She said pictures taken by a Killeen police officer of prostitutes on the street showed the downtrodden of society. "These women are not making money," she said.

Jody Richardson of the Women's Political Caucus said the pictures failed to show the men who bought the sexual favors. "These women could not sell if there were not buyers," she said.

Dallas Police Chief Don Byrd told the committee prostitution is not a "victimless" crime, as so many claim.

Nader Left Standing Alone

MIAMI (AP) - Consumer advocate Ralph Nader was unhappy when he had a poor turnout of students for a talk at the University of Miami. But for once he didn't knock the product, he put the blame on the consumer.

"This is not your ordinary university," Nader said. "They must major in scuba diving down here. When you go to a college where the weather is so important, I guess you're not predisposed to a commitment to social causes."

So why did some students miss the chance to hear him Monday?

Everybody already knows what he's saying," said Marie Mar. "He's brought to the forefront a lot of things people should be aware of. But he needs to come out with something more provocative, something really big."

Manpower Top Priority

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter's nominee for Secretary of the Army said he will give early priority to military manpower problems, but sees no reason to reinstate the draft.

At his confirmation hearing before the Senate Armed Services Committee on Monday, Clifford I. Alexander acknowledged there is disagreement over whether the all-volunteer Army is working well, or whether a system of involuntary service should be reinstated to help fill widening gaps in the reserves.

Gen. Bernard W. Rogers, the Army chief of staff, testified earlier that the strength of both Army reserve units and the ready reserve, who would be called up in time of war, is declining and will become "critical" over the next two years.

GLADYS MANJEOT
—recognized for community contributions

Mrs. Manjeot Cited As Bicentennial Patriot

By KERRIE STEERY
Women's Editor

Gladys Howton Manjeot, who first came to this community in 1915, has been designated as one of the Patriots of the American Bicentennial, a prestigious group of 1,500 honorees who were outstanding community leaders in this country during the Bicentennial year.

As a Bicentennial Patriot, Mrs. Manjeot will have her name recorded in the "Patriots of the American Bicentennial" historical registry book. She will also have her residence city and state listed with her name.

The first section of the book describes the life and events of the Bicentennial period and the second chapter will list the names of the 1,500 honorees and other contributions of this era. This historical registry will be placed in the Library of Congress a time ago and other historical archives throughout the nation. Each patriot will receive a copy of the volume in addition to the Bicentennial publication. Mrs. Manjeot will also receive a limited edition commemorative plate signed by Robert Charles Howe, Mrs. Manjeot's name will be inscribed on the frame of the commemorative plate.

Mrs. Manjeot is not sure how she was selected as a Bicentennial Patriot, but she suspects that the citation came about as a result of her work with the Nature Trail being named in Veterans Park here. The concept of a Nature Trail was embraced by the American Revolution Bicentennial Association (ARBA), which provided a federal grant for funding of the trail project.

Although the initial steps the Nature Trail will eventually be a joint project with the city and the federal grant was matched by funds from the City.

Mrs. Manjeot is not sure how she was selected as a Bicentennial Patriot, but she suspects that the citation came about as a result of her work with the Nature Trail being named in Veterans Park here.

of which could earn her this citation. Mrs. Manjeot has been a "patriot" in this community for almost four decades.

When acquaintances think of "Glad," as she is known here, they picture her outside in her sanctuary—the garden. A life member of Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., Mrs. Manjeot has earned innumerable honors in recognition of her experience and contributions through gardening.

She has worked on every level, including local, district and state levels, in more than 39 years of garden club membership. A member of Hereford Garden Club and an honorary member of Bud to Blossom Garden Club, Mrs. Manjeot is qualified as a Master Judge at national and state flower shows and as an authoritative speaker in Texas. She also assisted in founding Garden Beautiful Club.

Mrs. Manjeot was instrumental in the establishment of several local garden spots, including Hereford Garden Center, Rose Garden at Hereford High School and First Baptist Church Memorial Garden.

Mrs. Manjeot's column, "By The Garden Gate with Glad," has appeared in The Hereford Brand for a decade. She has had other works published, including a flower show schedule that received national acknowledgment.

Concerned with civic appearance, the industrious gardener has been actively engaged in selling spring-flowering bulbs for beautification as a longtime member of Pioneer Study Club. She has served on the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division beautification committee and is adamant in her concern for local clean-up efforts.

ALWAYS IN HER PRIME. Mrs. Manjeot states that her first love is young people who have benefited in several ways from her vigorous efforts.

I have given more years of my life to young people than to anything else. Mrs. Manjeot summed up. It is essential that we achieve a better understanding of today's youth. We need to defend them.

Due to her interest in youth and education, the progressive senior citizen established a scholarship in 1956 for horticulture students at Texas Tech University. She said that 30 colleagues have taken advantage of this opportunity in furthering their education.

Youth camps were another venture launched by Mrs. Manjeot and her late husband, A.L. Manjeot. The couple established the first Baptist Youth Camp in this district.

The local resident was Hereford's USO secretary during World War II. She remembered fondly, "Many military men called our house their home."

She added, "Because we loved boys, during World War II we housed and fed five boys, including our son, Lloyd, and four others."

GLADYS HOWTON CAME to Deaf Smith County in 1915 with her parents, the late Rev. and Mrs. Benjamin Howton. Her father was a pioneer Baptist minister.

While employed as Deputy County Clerk and District Clerk, she met her future husband, who came in to file for a hunting license. Later, the young clerk would be writing her own marriage license.

The couple were wed in 1921 and lived here until 1935, when they moved to New Mexico. They returned to Hereford approximately four years later.

Recalling her late husband, Mrs. Manjeot said, "I could never have accomplished my goal if it had not been for Art's assistance in all my endeavors. He was always so congenial and helpful."

A member of First Baptist Church, Mrs. Manjeot has taught Sunday School classes for 55 years. She also served on the United Fund committee for four years.

Mrs. Manjeot has been recognized for 33 years of faithful service in Order of the Eastern Star. She is a past worthy matron and was the first Mother Advisor of Order of Rainbow Jay Girls, which she helped establish here.

The Manjeots' son, Col. Lloyd Howton Manjeot, has carried high recognition in the military service. He and his wife, Rosemary, have two children, L.H. Jr. and Beverly Gale.

In addition to the numerous activities already mentioned, Mrs. Manjeot is a foster parent for two Philippine girls, who completed high school and college with their guardian's assistance.

Mrs. Manjeot also finds time for traveling and crew embroidery.

Ann Landers Repeats First Column

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This might sound like a crazy request, but I would love to see the first column you ever wrote. How about digging it up and giving us all a look? — G.R., Madison, Wis.

DEAR G.R.: My first column appeared on Oct. 16, 1955. Here it is.

DEAR MRS. LANDERS: I have always regarded marital mis-UPS as humorous — until now, when the noose is tightening around my own neck. We have been married ten years and have two sons. I like auto racing but my wife has no interest in it, so I've always gone without her.

I have fallen in love with a woman who has three children. She is also very fond of auto racing. Her husband is ignorant and impossible. I believe this woman would be a terrific wife because we have much more in common than me and the Mrs. I need some advice. — Just K.

DEAR K: Time wounds all heels and you'll get yours. Buster: Do you realize there are five children involved in your little race-track romance?

You are flirting with a muddy track on Black Friday. Wake up and smell the coffee.

DEAR ANN: I'm in junior high and like a boy in my class. He is emotionally unstable and sometimes breaks down and cries in the classroom. This is very embarrassing to him.

I think his parents are overly protective and he needs someone to talk to. I'd like to be the one. Should I suggest it? — Alice.

DEAR ALICE: So, in junior high and already practicing psychiatry? I know you mean well, honey, but don't go stacking your nose into this boy's personal problems. He might resent it. Just continue to be nice to him. In time, he might feel comfortable talking to you — in which case be a sympathetic listener.

Local Trio Sees 'Scoop' Coif Done

Sharon Kovacs, Sandra Wright and Phyllis Neill, all of A-1 Beauty Salon, attended the All Texas Beauty Show of America at the Fairmont Hotel at Dallas recently.

The spring and summer release for 1977 coifs is "the scoop," a semi-short, textured hair shape that features volume over the ears and forehead. The face-framing hairstyle has a "scoop-like" appearance with multi-seasonal attraction.

This style can be cut for a wavy look, wavy appearance or curly design, or a combination. There is also a scoop with a naturally smooth style, or one with wider or smaller width proportions and scoop cuts with bi-level and tri-level dimensions.

The casual daytime cut can be dressed up for the evening with fresh flowers or ornate combs.

The blouson look is good for spring '77 in jackets, blouses, dresses and T-shirts, reports Marlene Odle, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a widow with a 19-year-old son. A 26-year-old woman has been chasing him for a year. Now he tells me they are going to be married as soon as her divorce is final. She gives him money to take her to fancy places and buys him expensive presents. The woman and I got into quite a battle and I nearly snatched her bald — but she is still very much in the picture. Is there some legal way I can break this thing up? I'm not against my son getting married. I just want him to have a decent wife. — A Mother.

DEAR MOTHER: If your son doesn't have any sense in his head, pulling the hair out of hers won't change anything. There is no law to prevent him from marrying this woman. So give up. You're fighting a losing battle.

DEAR ANN: I've been going with Hilda for three years. Just two years ago she let me kiss her. Whenever I try to get closer she tells me she isn't "that kind."

Four men who work at the plant with me say they have been intimate with Hilda. (Two in the last year.) I've bought her nice gifts, like a fur coat and a three-piece living room set. Yesterday she asked me to pay her rent to show I really care. I've offered marriage but she says, "Later maybe." Please advise. — Hole In My Heart.

DEAR FRIEND: You also have a hole in your head. Tell Hilda to take a long walk on a short dock. Then find yourself a girl with character and good morals.

(There it is, G.R. A little moldy, but it was fun to look back.)

Valentine Theme Brightens Meeting

Festive Valentine motifs and gaily dressed hostesses created a sweetheart theme Tuesday for a luncheon meeting of Pioneer Study Club at the Country Club. In long dresses of ruby red, the hostesses included Mmes. C.L. Craig, Paul Rudd and J.V. Pickens.

In observance of the Valentine theme, each club member in attendance wore something red.

During a routine business session, Mrs. P.H. Gilliland read a letter of thanks from Mrs. Ray Johnson, a financial report was heard from Mrs. O.G. Hill Sr. and Mrs. Herman Ford.

Mrs. W.C. Hromas called the members' attention to a project sanctioned by the National Federation of Women's Clubs wherein garments are sewn for handicapped individuals. A report from the Federation was given by Mrs. Guy Walser.

Mrs. Ted Panciera collected annual membership dues for Friends of the Library and it was announced that a club member, Mary Seigler, had moved to Dallas.

The invocation was delivered by Mrs. William Wimberley and the U.S. flag pledge of allegiance was read by Mrs. A.L. Manjeot. The salute to the Texas flag was directed by Mrs. Hromas.

The problems of reducing national crime were analyzed during the program, given by Mrs. Tandy Legg and Mrs. L.H. Lookingbill, and during the "commodity quote," presented by Mrs. John Heard.

Quoting information provided by Sheriff Travis McPherson, Mrs. Heard stated that the frequency of felony crimes has lessened locally this past year, but an anti-crime campaign will continue to be waged. McPherson commented that special attention will be given to stopping drug traffic. Through Mrs. Heard, he expressed appreciation to the club members for their cooperation.

Adhering to the theme, "Hands Up," Mrs. Legg reported that shoplifting has turned into "big business" and smuggling contraband items is on the increase. She continued, saying that the crime of rape is difficult to prosecute, because the victim will often not report the incident and that trial proceedings are embarrassing to the woman involved.

Continuing on this topic, Mrs. Lookingbill urged her audience to obtain protection stickers from the local sheriff's department, as well as have valuable property identified.

She informed the group that former President Gerald Ford had commended the Women's Club Federation for analyzing the national crime problem. He described their efforts as a "grassroots program which is a great service to the community." Ford also surmised that "club women are alert because they are alerting."

Mrs. Lookingbill explained that some women are resorting to the usage of a "mini-gun" which shoots nerve gas as a protective device. She stressed that all U.S. states need to adopt uniform laws in fighting crime and that alcohol should be labeled as a narcotic, along with other habit-forming drugs.

Others present were Mmes. Frank Ball, Bonnie Brumley, C.P. Cockrell, Henry Hastings, A. Petersen, Delmar Sigle, P.B. Sowell, R.L. Wilson and Miss Roberta Campbell.

Dry yeast may be stored for several months in a dry, cool place, Frances Reasonover, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

EAT for the Heart of It

by Janita Oswald,
Nutrition Task Force Chairman
American Heart Association

Your heart is on the job running for a train, playing a round of golf, pounding a typewriter, digesting a meal, or just being angry—all of these activities place demands upon your body for energy. To meet these demands, the heart, which is really a muscular pump sends exactly the right amount of blood to the particular part of the body that needs energy, while maintaining normal body functions. It is constantly receiving blood, sending it to the lungs for oxygen, and then pumping it out again.

While the heart pumps blood to meet the body's needs, the heart itself is nourished by its own arteries. The arteries, known as the coronary arteries, branch off from the main artery called the aorta.

The coronary arteries bring to the heart muscle the blood necessary for it to function. The more work the body has to do the more blood these arteries must provide the heart muscle to help it carry on its pumping operation.

As long as the coronary arteries are not narrowed or obstructed by disease, blood flows freely through them, and the heart muscle receives enough blood to function properly. But, if these blood vessels become narrowed or blocked, adequate supplies of blood cannot reach all parts of the heart muscle, and the heart may not function efficiently. When a coronary artery is completely blocked, the muscle fibers in the blocked area soon die, the pumping ability of the heart declines, and the heart's beat may become irregular and ineffective.

Next week I'm going to write about recognizing symptoms of Heart Attack.

Centerpiece at the serving table was a rural mailbox, opened to reveal a cascade of red carnations, while daisy chrysanthemum pompons and palm ferns. The table was laid with white linen.

Hostesses for Sunday's courtesy included Mmes. Dwane Nelson, Gerald Parker, Edgar Sowell, A.B. Jacob, H.D. Fowler, H.H. Miller, Pat Smith, John Stribling, H.V. McCabe, Dwaine Worley, Wallace Shelton Jr., J.B. Caraway and Caroline Higgins.

HD Chapter Selects Delegate

Naomi Brisendine was nominated to serve as a delegate for North Hereford Extension club by her fellow members, who met Thursday in Southwestern Public Service Reddy Room.

Martha Lueb presided during the election and called for the opening exercise, which centered the symbol of America. Brenda Campbell was introduced to deliver an arts and crafts program on quilting and making yarn flowers.

Mary Johnson was hostess to a dozen members in attendance. The next meeting is slated Feb. 24 in the Reddy Room. Mrs. Lueb will be hostess.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Miller of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bavousett and Mark of Friona, Mrs. Gerry Burton of Canyon and Alice Koch and Amalia Bracht, both of Umbarger.

Attending from Hereford were Esther Springer, Ruth Groneman, Margaret Osborn, Henry Wedel, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tiefel and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Stoerner.

Sherry Harder Discusses Use Of Scarves

Sherry Harder, Assistant County Extension Agent, presented the program when members of Palo Duro Home Demonstration Club met Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Wallace Hill.

Mrs. Harder gave a brief summary of 4-H Club and the different programs it has to offer children.

She also described how to use scarves as a fashion accessory. Mrs. Harder informed the group on different types of scarves and how to choose them according to color and types of fabric. She revealed illustrations on how to tie and drape scarves at the neck and waistline.

Members were reminded of the HD Council Appreciation Luncheon scheduled Feb. 28 at the Bull Barn. It was decided to pay expenses for two club women and their husbands to attend a dinner at K-Bob's Steak house for Camp Fire Girls sponsors, Feb. 14.

Those attending were Mmes. Michael Brisendine, Ted Coleman, Lin Fisher, Wendal Bain, Terry Camp, Michael Carter, Wallace Hill, Roy Lively, and State Norvell.

The ancient art of tatting was demonstrated before 25 women and children by Louise Vaughn, right, at Deaf Smith County Library Monday afternoon. Shown with Mrs. Vaughan is Mary Hamby, representative of Friends of the Library. The same program will be given at Lamar Memorial Garden Room of King's Manor Retirement Home, Feb. 14 at 3 p.m. All interested persons are asked to contact Mrs. Vaughan at 364-6334.

Offseason No Vacation For Pro Football Teams

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the first of a three-part series on the off season preparation of a pro football team. The articles center on the Dallas Cowboys.

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP)—Like small armies, professional football teams return in January from their 100-yard battlefields to heal the wounded, count the cost, and plan strategy for the upcoming campaign.

The regimen is the same for the victorious and the humbled in autumn's collisions of 11-man platoons—a violent rite that immobilizes many Americans into a sixth-month trance on sports' version of the Crusades to the Super Bowl Summit.

"We start a whole new war every January," says Dallas Cowboy President Tex Schramm sounding not unlike the late Gen. Patton plotting a winter offensive on the Rhine.

Like Patton, Schramm abhors losing. The Cowboy did not plant their pennant on the Super Bowl in 1976. The new year puts Dallas even again with the other 27 National Football League teams.

"This is as busy a period as you have after you once get over the shock of the season suddenly being over," says Schramm. "All of a sudden you have a whole new year to play and schedule and set dates. It involves everybody, our 40 front office people and the football staff. It's time to get everything coordinated."

The Cowboys have the reputation of being perhaps the best organized franchise in the NFL.

But as a pure bottom line business—which pro teams are—a few things might shock the brass at General Motors or IBM.

"We don't even have a budget because of so many variables in the business," said

Schramm. "The best you can do is make monthly projections to see if something is going off the track."

"The whole damn business is scary. I mean your whole season may rest on some guy kicking a field goal in the last three seconds of a game. You can go into the red ink real fast."

He adds "If you don't win on the field, you can become a loser financially very easy. Winning is the name of the game."

Fortunately for Schramm, the Cowboys under Coach Tom Landry have been in the black for owner Clint Murchison after a difficult early struggle as an expansion team.

"Costs keep skyrocketing," says Schramm. "For example, we shot and processed 325,000 feet of film last year. That's probably more than a lot of movie studios. Bob Friedman brought me his summary the other day. I'm afraid to look at what is cost."

Schramm, one of the prime movers in the merger of the old American Football League with the NFL, spends a lot of his time involved in league affairs particularly the bargaining agreement with the players' union.

Of course, there are player salaries to be negotiated, mapping out halftime details and a myriad of other details.

"You think people get rich off professional football teams, forget it," says Schramm. "If you took the value placed on our teams and wanted to go out and buy a franchise, the return would be less than 5 per cent on average."

"You have to work constantly to develop sources of income and it's difficult to do without raising prices. You can't afford any fat in the organization that's for sure."

Golf Team

Clovis Downs Herd

The Clovis Wildcats got back a little of their pride Tuesday evening as they knocked off the Hereford Whitefaces 64-58 in Clovis.

The Wildcats thus won the rubber match between the two teams for the season. Clovis won the initial match 66-58, but saw the Faces embarrass them 101-68 in the rematch.

Herd coach Barry Arnwine tabbed Tuesday night's contest as "unemotional." "We didn't play bad, but it's hard to put a lot of emphasis on a non-district game in the middle of district play," he said.

Both teams were less than red hot from the field as the losing Herd hit but 18 of 50 attempts for 36 per cent. The Wildcats were only slightly better with a 24 of 63 performance or 38 per cent.

But, things were better at the charity stripe as the Herd hit 78 per cent from the line (22 to 28) and Clovis canned 80 per cent (16 of 20).

Junior Kelly Kitchens led the Herd scoring attack with 16 points, with James Mays one bucket behind with 14. Mike O'Rand was in step with a 13-point night.

David Lansford led a balanced Wildcat scoring showing with 13 points, while six other Wildcats scored at least seven points.

While the Herd was busy visiting New Mexico the rest of District 4-4A opened the second half of play.

Monterey's Plainsmen thumped first half winner Plainview 52-33 to hand the Bulldogs their first district setback. Mike Buckner and Stan Eggenberger led the way for Monterey with 11 points apiece, while James Poarch's seven points topped Plainview.

Coronado downed Lubbock 58-45 in the other district matchup. Bryan Smith led the Mustangs with 16 points, while Cecil Ross hit 19 in the Westerner's losing cause.

District action Friday night has Hereford at Coronado and Lubbock travels to Plainview.

Golf coach Terry Russell will take seniors George Yocum and Doug Walterscheid and juniors Mike Hill, Tommy Weaver, and James McDowell to the initial tourney.

Yocum is currently on top among the Herd linksmen, and sports a 74 average through tournament play.

The junior varsity will join the varsity when it goes to Lubbock February 18-19 for the Lubbock Invitational.

Players on the JV include Greg Pagett, Tony Albracht, Don Shaw, Robert Holder, Jim Lyles, Keith Pagett, Miles Goforth, Richard Brandon, Mike Hacker, Bill Roberson, Jeff O'Rand, and Kenny Shore.

Coach Russell expects two additions to the squad following the conclusion of the current basketball season. Expected to join the team then are juniors Kelly Kitchens and Randy Marrs.

Track Team To Run

The Hereford Whiteface varsity track squad will participate in a triangular scrimmage, hosting squads from Tucumcari and Clovis this Thursday, beginning at 2:30 p.m.

Herd track coach Robert Priest said no times will be kept and no awards will be given in accordance with UIL rules.

"This is just a workout against somebody different from a teammate," Priest said.

The cinderella will run in a return scrimmage in Clovis in about two weeks as they look ahead to the opening of track season at Brownfield February 26.

Division 1 colleges playing basketball have built 82 new arenas in the past 10 years.

Former American League shortstop Ed Brinkman this season will manage the Montgomery, Ala., Rebels in the Southern League.

Dan Bankhead in 1947 became the first black pitcher in the major leagues. He appeared in six games without a decision that year for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The late Jimmie Dykes managed six major league teams in 19 seasons.

La Plata Cagers Set For Playoffs

La Plata's seventh and eighth-grade basketball teams square off against as yet undetermined foes Thursday afternoon for the right to be called district champions.

The Maverick seventh graders romped by Plainview 47-26 last Friday afternoon in a playoff to capture the zone title and win the shot at the district crown.

The Maverick eighth grade team won the zone title while losing to cross town rival Stanton Thursday. By virtue of a Plainview loss the Mavericks claimed the title despite the loss.

Coach Mike Crawford's seventh graders have posted a 21-1 record this season on the strength of scorer Alan Wartes (14.8) and rebounder Aubrey Richburg (9.3).

Following Wartes on the scoring chart for the seventh grade Mavs are Richburg (7.4), Bruce Clarke (6.0), Don Delozier (5.6), Joe Soliz (2.9) and Trent Thomas (2.4).

"Although Trent doesn't score a lot he is our playmaker and can score when he has to in a game," Crawford said.

In other categories Soliz leads the team in steals with '98 and in free throw percentage with a 68 per cent standard (15 of 22), while Wartes is the best field goal shooter at 48 per cent (148 of 308).

Eddie Helms' eighth grade bunch has a 13-9 overall record this year. Felix Soliz leads the team in scoring with a 10.7 average.

Following Soliz come Chris Schumacher (8.1), Norman Hill and John Josseland (7.4), and Jeff Flippo (3.8).

The seventh graders posted a 9-1 mark in district play, while the eighth grade bunch went 7-3.

$30 Billion In Savings Seen If Missiles Agreement Reached

WASHINGTON (AP) - If President Carter reaches an agreement with the Russians not to deploy mobile missiles, it could save the United States up to $30 billion while neutralizing a worrisome new Soviet weapon.

The United States is in the early stages of developing a mobile long-range missile called the MX, with the bulk of the cost lying ahead. Current plans call for it to be combat ready in about seven years.

Strategists say a mobile missile that could be moved about on a launch vehicle would be less vulnerable to a Soviet nuclear attack than the current generation of land-based U.S. missiles.

The Russians have been testing their SSX-20 mobile missile for more than two years and are expected to start deploying it soon. Their investment already has been substantial.

At his news conference Tuesday, Carter said:

"If they would agree... to a cessation of the use or deployment of the mobile type missiles... that would be a very important point for us to join them in a mutual agreement, and that would mean that we would not then perhaps spend a large amount of money to develop our own mobile missile."

But Carter warned Moscow that there would be "great pressure on us to develop a mobile missile" if the Russians move toward development of an intercontinental range version of the SSX-20 "that can be moved from one place to another undetected."

The SSX-20 has been tested with multiple nuclear warheads at ranges longer than 2,000 nautical miles. This is far short of being a threat to the United States. The missile is generally regarded as intended for targets in Western Europe and China. As such, the SSX-20 does not fall within the terms of the U.S.-Soviet agreement limiting strategic long-range nuclear weapons. However, U.S. military officials note that the SSX-20 comprises the first two rocket stages of a three-stage intercontinental missile called SS-16.

Gen. George S. Brown, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, recently told Congress "the Soviets could relatively quickly provide themselves with greater capabilities against the United States by upgrading SSX-20 deployment to SS-16s." Experts say this could be done by adding a third rocket stage to the SSX-20.

Carter has a budget stake in holding back development of a brand-new mobile ICBM to replace the current Minuteman missiles, which are in fixed underground silos. But some U.S. officials fear canceling the MX would leave the Minutemen vulnerable to knockout by several types of Soviet ICBMs unaffected by the pact Carter suggested.

A FREE RIDE FOR ELDERLY

PRAGUE. Czechoslovakia (AP) - All senior citizens over 75 with pensions under 800 crowns ($80) will be able to ride free on trains, buses and subways here.

Persons in the 64 to 75 age group can buy a reduced-fare, monthly ticket for 35 crowns, or about $3.50.

The free rides are expected to cost the city some 12 million crowns, or $1.5 million, a year. Prague will be the third Czechoslovak city to give free transportation to its senior citizens.

Bergland Asked To Resume Scouts Recognition Dinner Slated Feb. 11

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland has been asked to resume a Rural Electrification Administration REA loan program to help rural people insulate their homes, and take other steps to conserve energy.

The request was in a letter to Bergland from the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, which represents local Co-ops that borrow money from the Agriculture Department agency.

Robert D. Partridge, executive vice president of the association asked Bergland to explore the possibility of using the authority in Section 5 of the Rural Electrification Act to begin making loans "for the purchase and equipment" by consumers served by the electric co-ops.

The loan program years ago had provided about $47.4 million to borrowers but was ended in November 1969, the association said.

Bergland told a reporter that he was interested in the proposal.

"We're certainly going to look at it, absolutely," Bergland said.

In his letter, Partridge said his association is "in accord with the emphasis" placed by President Carter and his energy chief, James Schlesinger, on energy conservation.

"Dr. Schlesinger has also emphasized the responsibilities that he believes all electric utilities must accept in assisting their consumers to implement energy conservation measures, and has cited examples of what he has in mind," Partridge said.

Among those are the need for utilities to provide home inspection services, advice, financing and installation of insulation, storm windows and more efficient appliances and equipment, Partridge said.

The association said that

Begun in the 1930s to get electric power to the nation's farms, REA programs and its co-op borrowers have developed far beyond that original intent and now have reached into many unincorporated city suburban areas.

Constitution Allows Spread Of Mail-Order Religious Titles

WASHINGTON (AP) - Ever have a yen to preach the gospel? You can become a minister for $3 or an archbishop for $8 by applying to a mail-order ordination company.

Postal officials say they can't stop the sale of unearned religious titles because of constitutional guarantees of freedom of religion.

Federal law prohibits using the mail for a misrepresentation scheme and the Postal Service regularly uses this law to shut down "diploma mill" operations that sell college degrees through the mail.

"But there is very little we can do about mail-order ordination. If these outfits didn't have religious trappings we would move against them immediately," Postal Service attorney Thomas Ziebarth said.

In the absence of government action, mail-order religion is becoming an increasingly large business, with an estimated 100 operators now selling ordination papers or religious degrees.

These operators usually work out of their homes. They usually ask no questions about an applicant's religious beliefs before declaring him a minister, authorized to preach, marry couples and often ordain more ministers. All the operators ask for is an "offering."

law is broad enough to authorize loans for the purchase and installation of insulation material, modification of new types of equipment such as that for solar heating of domestic water supplies."

Scouts Recognition Dinner Slated Feb. 11

The Llano Estacado Council Boy Scouts of America annual recognition and awards dinner is slated for Feb. 11, 1977, in Amarillo's Hilton Inn. The buffet dinner will start at 6:30 p.m. and the program will conclude at 8:30 p.m.

Dr. James H. Granberry, a prominent scouter and former Lubbock mayor will speak. The Boy Scout Council annually awards its highest recognition award -- The Silver Beaver -- to volunteer scouters for exceptional dedication and service to the Boy Scouts. This year four outstanding scout leaders will be awarded the Silver Beaver Award. They are Bill Sladek of Stratford, Bill Sims of Dumas, and Ethan Hassinger and Ted Abrahamson of Amarillo.

All friends of scouting are invited to fill the limited, available reservations now by calling 374-5348 in Amarillo or writing to Boy Scouts, P.O. Box 7606, Amarillo, Texas 79109.

Besides whatever spiritual blessings ordination may bring, some mail-order ministers use their status for tax breaks.

In a recent tax protest in Hardenbergh, N.Y., where much land is owned by church or non-profit groups, some 118 of the town's 236 residents enrolled as ministers in the Universal Life Church. The local assessor took them off the tax rolls.

Historic Russian Clothes On Display

NEW YORK (AP) - "The Glory of Russian Costume," a lavish and varied collection of historic Russian clothes that have never before been shown outside the Soviet Union, is now on exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of Art here.

The exhibition includes a selection of costumes that belonged to historical figures such as Peter the Great and Catherine the Great and to the aristocracy. There are colorful costumes of the ordinary peasants, and the sumptuous garments of the "rich peasants" - all of the 18th and 19th centuries. Also featured are a few artifacts of the 11th and 12th centuries.

The costumes have been lent by Soviet museums, among them the Kremlin in Moscow and the Hermitage in Leningrad, and the exhibition has been made possible by a grant from the SCM Corp.

Billie Jean King, the grande dame of tennis who knocked out Bobby "Sugar Daddy" Riggs on the court and scored points with women everywhere, is the subject of an upcoming ABC movie. Entitled "Billie Jean," the story of her career will be penned by Judith Parker. Beginning in April, short stories by nine American authors will be dramatized over PBS. The National Endowment for the Humanities is footing the $2 million plus bill for the programs, which will run from 28-55 minutes. Among the authors represented are F. Scott Fitzgerald, Sherwood Anderson, Ernest Hemingway, Ambrose Bierce, Stephen Crane and John Updike. Some of the performers who will appear are Ron Howard, Fritz Weaver, Irene Worth and John Houseman. Carrie Fisher (daughter of Eddie Fisher and Debbie Reynolds) is still fooling around with older men, professionally at least. She's been signed to play Marie, the college student who becomes friendly with Doc Delaney (Laurence Olivier) in NBC's production of

"Come Back, Little Sheba." Previously, Ms. Fisher seduced Warren Beatty in "Shampoo." Roastees for upcoming Dean Martin Celebrity Roasts include Angie Dickinson, Peter Marshall and Ted Knight... Lee Van Cleef made his mark at a late age in the business in the spaghetti western factories. Well, all that leather slapping and sneering has paid off. Van Cleef has been signed for an NBC pilot, "Scanlon," about a U.S. Marshall. The only difference between this and his former work is this is set in contemporary times a la McCloud. "Fellini - Wizards, Clowns and Honest Liars," is an appropriate title for an upcoming special on the great Italian film maker. Set to release at the same time as his next picture, "Cassanova," the special will feature comments by Anita Ekberg, the sensation of "La Dolce Vita," Anthony Quinn, Marcello Mastroianni, Donald Sutherland, and Lina Wertmuller, who was formerly an assistant to Fellini... Roy Thinnies is also slated for an NBC pilot, "Diamond Head," about a secret agent, code named "Diamond Head," whose mission is to thwart the attempted theft of a 21st century chemical explosive. Also starring in the projected series are France Nuyen, Hawaiian actor Zulu and Ward Costello. Production is currently underway in Honolulu. Robert Young and Victoria Racimo have been added to the growing cast list of "The Rhinemann Exchange." Shirley MacLaine returns to the small screen in another CBS special on March 5. She's lined up some interesting guests, most notably Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo, a unique dance company consisting solely of men, who also dance the women's roles - on perfect points. They're hysterical, technically astounding and should steal the show... Barry Manilow, the high priest of pop, will head his first special on March 2 over ABC. His guest will be Penny Marshall. Flip Wilson will be a pitchman for PBS, when he acts as spokesman for public television's Festival '77 campaign to raise funds. It's set for March 6-20... Arthur Hill and Barbara Barrie team for a made-for-TV movie set for next season, about a young woman's search for her natural mother... Football great Jim Brown will be featured on Police Story later this season.

Visiting With Mandinkan

WTSU Mandinkan Tribesman Relates To Culture Portrayed In 'Roots' Movie

By MELODY PARKER
WTSU Writer

As millions of television viewers across the nation sat before their TV sets, engrossed in the life of Kunta Kinte, the chief character of Alex Haley's best seller "Roots," another Mandinkan tribesman was watching for a more important reason than entertainment.

Manga Sanyang, a WTSU sophomore from The Gambia, West Africa and a member of the Mandinkan tribe portrayed in "Roots," was interested in the cultural aspects of the program "We are a civilized country."

"In the movie, The Gambia was shown as a jungle country. We have no jungles. The country is flat, no mountains and the jungle scene was basically Hollywood production. Some things are geographically impossible," Sanyang said.

"We are a civilized country." The Gambia is a former colony of Great Britain, a jewel in her global crown for more than 350 years, according to Sanyang. The country was given independence in February 1965 and is a democratic republic. No racial incidents surrounded the Gambia's relatively new independence, Sanyang said.

The Gambia is one of the smallest countries in Africa, with only a million population. The people control the country, have a civilian president (a Mandinkan tribesman) and, a modern capital city, Banjul.

It is an agricultural country with its cash crop being peanuts, which are exported from The Gambia throughout the world.

"We have many recipes for peanuts, even peanut stew," Sanyang said. "The people eat rice twice a day, lots of vegetables, meat, but no pork because 90 per cent of the people are Moslem. We hope to be exporting rice by the 1980's."

The official language is English and is taught to students beginning in the fourth grade.

The Mandinkan tribe is the largest tribe in the Gambia, and consists of five major branches.

"The character of Kunta Kinte is a folk hero type. There are lots of 'Kunta' in The Gambia. It is a common name," Sanyang said.

"Slavery existed in Africa long before the white man 'tubabo' came. In the 13th and 14th centuries, slavery was a common practice," Sanyang explained. "If one tribe got mad at another, the result was usually tribal warfare. Which ever tribe won would take prisoners and make them slaves."

Sanyang said that the Mandinkans were considered fierce warriors. "The Mandinkans were hardly ever taken slaves. The case of Kunta Kinte is isolated. Mandinkans did make lots of prisoners slaves because they owned much land and were slave owners."

Sanyang feels that Alex Haley was putting all the blame on the English 'tubabo' when many other nationalities were involved in slave trade. "The Portuguese, French and Spanish people were also slave traders. Slave trading became very commercialized," he said. "It was a case of whoever was the stronger."

Sanyang said that during the television novel, the Mandingo language was spoken and some of the words weren't quite accurate.

"Several of the words were authentic Mandingo but some of it was made up and isn't really our language. The Mandinkans don't say uga muga or things like that," he laughed.

Mandinkan traditions still exist in The Gambia, and according to Sanyang, the people try to keep the traditions sacred, but more refined. In one instance, "Roots" touched on the Mandinkan tradition of "journey to manhood."

"The idea presented was accurate but it was very dramatized. The journey to manhood is very personal and sacred and it is not something that is discussed among the people," Sanyang explained. "I feel that perhaps the person Haley got his information from realized this and told another concept of it."

Sanyang did say that he had gone through the rites of the "journey to manhood," but explained no further.

"The book 'Roots' is based on legend and I think it is a good thing. Haley captured part of it but not all. He took fact and embroidered on it a little," he said.

"Our music is different than the way it was in the movie, but was explained accurately in the novel. Our dances are much different, too. But I think the changes were made to the sake of the audience."

"I don't think it's rational for white people to feel sorry for what happened to the black man and I don't think black people

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

The Wa Ke Ta Discovery Club met at the Community Center for their regular meeting.

The group agreed to work on a Group Torch Bearer Horse-manship and plans were made for future programs in this area.

Members present were Laurie O'Rand, Becky Guerrero, Cindy Streun, Kellie Howell, Cindy Smith, Melodi Moore, Carol Smalts and Debra Pool.

Mrs. Bud Kelley is the leader.

Mrs. Wayne Elliston, a registered dietician and food service consultant, presented the program for Wakan Ki Lo Discovery Club as they proceed on the Group Torch Bearer Cooking.

A film entitled "Food Services and Careers" was shown and the girls learned the different professions such as supervisory chef, cook, baker and management which all pertain to food service.

Mrs. Elliston commented on special diets ordered by doctors adapted as closely as possible to the trend of the area and individual. Diabetic, soft, regular, low cholesterol, fat controlled, sodium restricted and liquid were some of the special diets and Mrs. Elliston revealed why it is important that a diet be followed.

In closing, Mrs. Elliston stressed the importance of a well balanced diet and to eat plenty of fruits, vegetables, whole grain and less sugar. She stated that the diet the girls have now will determine the health of their children and future generations.

Mrs. Elliston was presented a Camp Fire Pin as a token of appreciation for the informative program.

Members present were Monica George, Cristl Crawford, Ramona Rhodes, Cindy Gamez, Rhonda Hollowell, Tammy McCathern, Brenda Parson, Lori Parker and Susan Brown. Leader is Mrs. Floyd Eubanks and Mrs. Reece Lawson,

Death Taxes Called Bad Tax By Cattlemen's Group Head

AUSTIN (AP) - "We think death taxes are one of the worst taxes there is," says the head of the Independent Cattlemen's Association.

T.A. Cunningham told the House Ways and Means Committee Monday that Texans might work harder and fill the state treasury with more revenue if inheritance taxes didn't consume so much of their estates.

"A person will work much harder and pay more taxes," Cunningham predicted.

The committee heard testimony on six bills that would provide varying degrees of relief from the state's inheritance tax. Committee members hope to act on the proposals next week.

Cunningham and other witnesses urged relief from the tax, which they said was forcing many rural families to sell their land after the death of the husband and father.

Inheritance taxes now apply to all of a bequest to an individual in excess of $25,000, with a rate that starts at 1 per cent and rises to 6 per cent on $1 million or more.

The Texas tax, passed in 1923, "has changed from a tax on the estates of the wealthy to a tax on the estates of the middle class," said Pat Smith, state affairs director of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Smith added that nationwide figures indicate a fourth of all farm transfers are for the purpose of estate settlements.

One bill, HB27 by Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Golia, would exempt husbands and wives from any taxation on estates inherited from their spouses.

"If I was Howard Hughes and I had a wife, the whole estate would go to her tax-free," asked Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange.

"That's right," said Von Dohlen. For others, his bill would leave the amount of tax-exempt inheritance at $25,000 and preserve the present tax structure. The state would lose $51 million in revenue over the next two years if the bill is enacted.

Other inheritance tax bills heard Monday were: --HB1, by committee chairman Joe Wyatt, D-Victoria, raising the exemption to $60,000 per heir, at a cost to the state of $20.4 million.

--HB7, by Rep. Fred Head, D-Athens, exempting the first $75,000 for all classes of heirs-including siblings, the federal government, aunts, uncles and cousins. Cost: $59.6 million.

--HB256, by Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, exempting the first $50,000, with a $100,000 exemption for surviving husbands or wives. Revenue loss: $21 million.

--HB752, by Rep. Nub

Donaldson, D-Gatesville, the same exemption structure as Hollowell's but with higher rates on the taxable portion of bequests to children and parents. Cost: $16.7 million.

--HB787, by Rep. Pete Lancey, D-Hale Center, creating a $100,000 exemption for surviving spouses and $50,000 for other close relatives, with a lower tax rate for inheritances by husbands and wives.

Friend Of Missing Grain Man Moves Close To His Hiding Place

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) - A man who claims he saw missing Iowa Park grain and fertilizer dealer Robert Johnson in the water after Johnson fell from a pleasure boat Jan. 3, has moved to Eagle Pass, a border city only about 75 miles from where a police informant claims Johnson is hiding.

Ray Browne moved to Eagle Pass about 10 days ago, a friend said.

Johnson vanished from his pleasure boat in the Gulf of Mexico near the Port Aransas jetties Jan. 3 Browne was one of three Johnson employees aboard at the time.

On Monday, Port Aransas Constable Ben Cash said he has talked to a self-professed friend of the grain dealer's who claims he saw him at a Mexican ranch about 75 miles across the border from Eagle Pass.

Approximately 10 days ago, Browne went to work for Doug Fletcher Jr., a commercial trucker from Eagle Pass who specializes in hauling grain and fertilizer.

Like several others, the Eagle Pass trucker said Johnson owes him money for leasing his equipment. But he doesn't know how much because he says the receipts were confiscated when all of Johnson's equipment was locked up by police pending a bankruptcy hearing. Fletcher, who cannot work due to open-heart surgery last month, said he hired Brown to operate his five trucks until he recovers.

"If you know truckers, then you know that when one gets down, they generally try to find another that knows the business," Fletcher said, adding that he has known Brown about 12 years.

"I asked him about this Johnson's disappearance and he said, 'Doug, I saw the man in the water.' He told me he thinks he's Johnson dead. But I don't know. He won't commit to me, and I guess it's none of my business."

Fletcher said the Brownes have been served by federal marshals to appear before a federal grand jury in Wichita Falls Monday. The panel is investigating reports by state auditors that upwards of half a million bushels of grain stored in Johnson's grain elevators there are missing.

Browne moved a trailer from Iowa Park where Johnson's home and main offices are located to Eagle Pass last Friday. Jack Conley, head of the Texas tourist bureau in Wichita Falls, said a woman who signed her name Kay Brown paid $5 for a moving permit.

"She said it (the trailer) was either going to Corpus Christi or Eagle Pass," said Conley, "and she finally selected Eagle Pass."

The trailer is registered to Gernomino Elevator Co. in Wichita Falls, Conley said. Incorporation papers show the president of the firm is H.C. Johnson - Robert Johnson's brother.

Paul Harvey News To Live Or Not To Live?

Dying used to be so simple. In fact and in fiction, the soldier, the gunslinger or the bedridden just gasped one final breath and that was that.

Now you can take your last breath and go on living. Now you may be without respiration, heartbeat or brain waves and machines can keep you "living"--if you call that "living."

But a young lawyer from the tiny California town of Elk--after watching two dear friends suffer weeks of unnecessary agony--decided something must be done.

And he did it. As of this year, at the urging of that young lawyer, now a member of the California State Assembly, Barry Keene, Californians have a "right to die."

One of the immensely valuable advantages of a system of government which allows autonomy to individual states is that those states can take turns testing innovative ideas--thus to determine whether they are good ideas for all of us to consider.

California has gone ahead of the rest of us in trying to legislate your right to die with dignity.

It's a complicated law. It requires that a living will must be signed by the patient authorizing the doctor to "pull the plug," so to speak, rather than to sustain life artificially.

This document must be witnessed by at least two people who are not related to the patient, the doctor or the hospital.

Two doctors must certify that the illness is terminal, that there is no chance for the patient to survive "naturally."

The law specifically forbids "mercy killing."

The law properly limits the prerogatives of health insurers and life insurers.

California's lawmakers thought they'd thought of everything.

Yet there is still nothing in their new law which defines "imminent death," the moment at which a doctor can justifiably withdraw life-support machinery.

That unanswered question--"When are the dead dead"--is what has stalled similar legislation in 25 other states.

Those opposed argue that this "licenses doctors to kill the aged, the weak and the poor."

It is argued that doctors may coerce or persuade patients to make decisions they might not make otherwise.

And some states have decided to look the other way--to continue to allow doctors to do as they have been doing "unofficially"; that is, to consult with the patients and the family and to "allow death by withholding further treatment."

It is not uncommon in many hospitals for doctors to instruct their staffs with a notation on a terminal patient's chart: "DNR." That means "do not resuscitate."

But with the proliferation of malpractice lawsuits, doctors are understandably reluctant to assume such responsibility without the law on their side.

California has given them such a law. Now we'll see.

Few Federal Officials Understand Laws They Enforce, Survey Shows

WASHINGTON (AP) - Lawyers who deal with federal regulatory agencies say fewer than two-thirds of the commissions now serving on such panels actually understand the laws they are supposed to enforce, a congressional survey shows. The lawyers would recommend only about half of the commissioners of eight agencies for reappointment by the president, said the survey, which was released today along with two reports by the Senate

Government Operations Committee. The reports, the first of six planned in a federal regulation study, suggest major overhauls in the handling of regulatory appointments by Congress and the White House to improve the quality of appointees.

Release of the study comes before President Carter has nominated anyone to the 11 regulatory posts he now can fill. The reports urge stiff new conflict of interest rules to slow the "revolving door" between regulatory agencies and the industries they oversee, lending support to Carter's call for such new laws.

Warnke Likely Pick As Arms Negotiator

WASHINGTON (AP) - Backed by another presidential endorsement and the support of most members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Paul C. Warnke seems on the way to confirmation as the chief American arms negotiator with the Soviet Union.

Warnke is President Carter's choice to head the Arms Control Disarmament Agency and to lead the U.S. delegation when Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty negotiations (SALT) resumed this year. He calmly fielded questions for more than three hours Tuesday before the Senate committee.

The study found regulatory agencies have done a poor job of enforcing existing conflict-of-interest laws and regulations.

The two reports made 64 recommendations for action by Congress, Carter and the regulatory agencies, including: -Enactment of a "sunset" law that would abolish each regulatory agency on a given date unless it is specifically renewed by Congress; zied his position when he told Sen. Clifford Case, R-N.J.: "I reject any concept of unilateral disarmament." About the time Warnke was testifying on Capitol Hill, President Carter was telling a news conference that he had "complete confidence" in the appointment and that Warnke's "views are well considered by me and I accept them."

The reports urged stiff new conflict of interest rules to slow the "revolving door" between regulatory agencies and the industries they oversee, lending support to Carter's call for such new laws.

-Chopping the Interstate Commerce Commission from 11 to three members, with Carter appointing all three of the reconstituted commission; -Writing into law the requirement that the various commissions be made up of persons with a variety of backgrounds and who represent a broad range of interests;

The tone at Tuesday's hearing generally was friendly as Warnke outlined his views on U.S. security and the balance of strength with the Russians. The only critical questions came from the Republican side of the committee, particularly from Sens. Robert P. Griffin of Michigan and John C. Danforth of Missouri.

In spite of the critical questioning by Griffin and Danforth, Carter's projection seems sound based on the rest of the committee's views. The other Republicans - Case, Jacob Javits of New York and Charles Percy of Illinois--all indicated they support Warnke.

Agricultural Leader Says Foreign Farm Labor Good

Funding

Rep. Jim Nugent, D-Kerrville, chairman of the House Transportation Committee, said the highway system no longer could make it on its present source of income, the motor fuels tax.

Briscoe's no new taxes policy eliminated the option of increasing the nickel a gallon tax.

Anyway, it would take an increase of six cents per gallon to raise as much money as the fund transfer will provide, said an opponent of the bill, Rep. Joe Wyatt, D-Victoria, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Nugent said that without new money dedicated to roads, no funds would be available for wholly state-financed projects by 1981; for federally matched construction by 1985; and for safety and improvement programs by 1987.

The gasoline tax, he said, "is no longer a source of revenue that can keep pace with the twin evils of inflation and rising construction costs."

Opponents objected to creating a spending commitment long before legislators debate the general appropriation bill, school finance or measures to give tax relief to heirs, landowners and utility customers.

Teachers are demanding higher pay and their lobby is strong enough to get it for them, at a minimum cost of $300 million over the next two years, observed Rep. Bill Sullivan, D-Gainsville.

"I know the governor says we don't have to give them one, but political realities are such that if you believe that, on his word you would believe the aurora borealis is a flashlight in the hands of an eskimo," Sullivan said.

Probably the best gauge of true sentiment in the House was not the final vote Tuesday evening. It most likely was the 86-55 vote against rockdale Rep. Dan Kubiak's motion to postpone the bill until after the general appropriation bill passes the House, probably in April.

HOUSTON (AP) - The president of the United Fresh Fruits and Vegetables Association believes American farmers should have the right to use foreign labor "as long as the workers get good pay, good housing and good working conditions."

Bernard J. Imming said in an interview that the association "supports all immigration laws, but perhaps they should be changed. I am convinced the abuses of alien labor are things of the past. If growers need immigrant labor, they should have that right."

Most of the immigrant labor used in the vegetable and fruit fields of United States is from Mexico.

Imming, in Houston for the annual convention of the association, said he has heard the argument that the use of Mexican labor in the fields would hurt the unemployed citizen of the United States.

"I'm not trying to cop-out," he said, "but that just isn't true. Many of our nation's unemployed are not capable of doing farm work."

Public Weigh Job Taken Over

HOUSTON (AP) - Nobody wanted the job of Harris County public weigher for 50 years, not until Martin Gillman came along with a belief that the consumer was getting stuck in the pocketbook again.

Gillman is a retired Air Force captain who checked the Texas Constitution and found it provided for a public weigher in each county.

He ran unopposed for the position in the 1976 election.

Gillman, 61, said in a recent interview that becoming public weigher wasn't just a lark, but a serious effort to save the taxpayers money and pump between $5 and $7 billion into the country treasury.

A public weigher is responsible for checking the scales used in supermarkets, neighborhood groceries, at grain elevators, and other places serving the general public.

Currently, all weighers are certified by the State Agriculture Department and Gillman said, "This is a nice, ripe political plum."

"The inspectors, many of whom happen to be on the payrolls of companies they serve, are getting $1 to $10 in fees for inspecting scales for the very outfits where they work. None of the money is being returned to the county and no weigher can serve two gods."

Gillman recently took his case to the Harris County Commissioners but the issue was referred to County Atty. Joe Resweber for study.

The county attorney had ruled earlier that the commissioners were not obligated to furnish Gillman with office space, much less any authority.

Gillman said 16 public weighers were certified "last week and it wasn't done through my office."

Texas: Colony Of North, Krueger Says

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas can no longer afford to be "A colony of the North, U.S. Rep. Bob Krueger, D-Tex., told state legislators Tuesday.

Krueger addressed a session of senators and representatives in the Senate following a news conference.

"For many years the North has used the South and Southwest like a colony," Krueger told the legislators. "They used our natural resources, made them into manufactured goods and then sold them back to us. But now a change is taking place."

This internal colonialism is changing, he said, "and we are moving toward getting a fair return on the products we produce...all we want is for them to pay as much for our resources as we pay ourselves."

Krueger said Texas would be the hardest hit state in the nation if the federal government should have the power to regulate intrastate natural gas.

"Texas is not only the largest producer of natural gas in the USA, it is also the largest consumer of gas," Krueger said.

He said it was unlikely that separate interstate and intrastate gas markets will continue. "The only alternative facing the country is either the removal of price controls from interstate gas and the Federal Power Commission's authority to allocate gas, or the complete control of natural gas supplies by a five-member board of Federal Power Commissioners in Washington."

"Given this alternative, deregulation of natural gas is in the interest of Texans, as well as of all America," Krueger said.

The New Braunfels Congressman, said there was no control of intrastate gas in the emergency bill that was asked by the White House or when it passed the House and Senate. However he said, while in conference, "a Senate staff member" wrote it about 15 words that casts a shadow on that interpretation.

He said some areas in Texas, particularly in the Houston ship channel area, might be affected by the provision that concerns gas that once was in interstate commerce but is stored intrastate now.
