BY BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The Hereford School District elections for 1977 have taken more of a solid shape today as another candidate has filed and an incumbent office holder has announced he will not run.

MY WIFE is an eternal optimist. It dawned on me Thursday night while I was trying to sweep the dirt out of the garage. And, that was quite a chore, because the wind was blowing the sand back in almost as fast as I was sweeping it out.

She insisted that I get the sand out, however, so we wouldn't have a bunch of mud in the garage. The weather man on the 6 p.m. news had said there was a possibility of showers Friday. She believed. I laughed, but I swept.

WE JOIN other sports fans in the community in wishing the Hereford Whitefaces success as they seek the district basketball championship tonight at Canyon. This year's team has created much excitement among the fans, and for several reasons.

The team doesn't have much height—no one being over 6-3, but they're a hustling, unselfish bunch who will battle you down to the final whistle. We look for a large crowd of Hereford fans at the game tonight!

WE HAVE the capability and resources to be an energy sufficient nation by 1985," claims H.O. Hodson, a veteran engineer and vice president of Southwestern Public Service. We heard an energy address by Hodson Tuesday while attending a Lion's Club meeting in Amarillo.

To attain that goal, however, Hodson, says we must have less government regulations on the energy business; we must have access to coal as a generating fuel, and we must continue to conserve energy. He asserts that the current energy crisis is not a "contrived condition," but one brought on by government controls and intervention.

Hodson says the talk and research on solar and wind energy sources is "offering false hopes to the American public, because it will never account for more than two or three per cent of the energy supply." He referred to the solar research program as the "NASA Welfare Plan" because it provides jobs for former aerospace scientists.

development manager for Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, filed in place 7 on the School Board. Lynton Allred, a local fuel distributor, formally announced this morning that he will not seek re-election to that post.

IN THE CITY COMMISSION race, only incumbent Paul Abalos has filed. The Deaf Smith County hospital board of directors race has drawn a slate involving Dentist Hap Cavness, Farmer Eddie Reinauer Jr. and Dr. Gerald Payne.

The filing deadline in city and school elections is March 2 and petitions for the hospital election must be filed at the Deaf Smith General Hospital by March 8. Forms may be picked up there. All elections are set for April 2.

Pruitt, 31, will be running against Mrs.

Trini Gamez, who filed last week. She is not running against Hereford attorney Mack Tubb, who filed Thursday in place 6 on the School Board. It had been incorrectly stated in one story Thursday that she was opposing Tubb. He is unopposed at present.

Tubb was the third candidate to announce following Mrs. Gamez's filing and that of David Hutchins, a local farmer, who is running to place 4. He is seeking his first elected term as he was appointed to fill out last year's portion of a term left vacated by Alex Schroeter. Places 6 and 7 are for full three year terms while place 4 is for the two remaining years of that unexpired term.

CONCERNING HIS REASON for seeking office, Pruitt said, "I am very interested in the future of our school system, one reason being my child and others her age will be the ones affected by the decisions of the next school board."

He feels his education and business experience will definitely benefit the school system "in developing good positive philosophy toward the future of our community and schools." His top priority is efficient use of the tax dollar while maintaining the best possible education for the children.

Pruitt noted the timing of his filing was in part geared to the announcement that Allred would not seek re-election. Also, he said he was "not running against anyone but that I am interested in the job itself."

Tubb noted in his campaign decision that the school system was among the finest and he desired to offer as much service as possible to the School Board.

Allred said that he was not going to run again due to business and family reasons, much like those stated by Jim Conkwright, who said Wednesday that he was not running again for place 6 on the School Board.

"At this time, I feel that it is necessary for me to devote more time to my family and to my business," he said in a prepared news release. "I am very grateful that you allowed me to serve as trustee these past three years and observe first hand the fine educational program we have here. I know that 1977 will be another year of progress in our schools and community."

He said the decision was difficult because, "Hereford is fortunate to have an excellent team of administrators and teachers working closely together to

Burr Blaze

Hereford Volunteer firemen are trying desperately to fight this burr fire at United Beef feedlot south of Summerfield, located eight miles southwest of Hereford. They were joined in their almost futile efforts by firemen from about three neighboring communities. The high powered winds fueled the blaze which spread rapidly to burr stacks lined up in rows. All the men could hope to do was wet down the stacks to prevent further spreading. (Photo By Bobby Templeton)

Hedging Of Cattle Eyed During Beef Clinic

BY JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

"The psychology of speculators and hedgers in the cattle market may be determining your price. In fact, I am concerned that cattle futures may sometimes lead the cattle market, instead of following it."

THOSE WERE SOME of the comments of Charles Hoover of Hereford, manager of Southwest Feed Yards concerning hedging of cattle during the Beef Cattle Clinic held at the Bull Barn Thursday afternoon.

The clinic, sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Livestock Committee, featured presentations on various aspects of livestock production by area cattle specialists, in addition to presentations on the use of hedging as a management tool.

"The futures market has always included bulls and bears, but in recent times, it has also included a lot of hogs who don't want to miss the top dollar. They hold out for the top amount and end up missing an opportunity for profits," said Hoover. "Futures do cause a change in people's thinking, and as feedlot managers, we are always concerned with these things. I think each cattle feeder should be aware of what futures can do for them and how the futures market functions. Used properly, it is another good management tool," he added.

Shirley Garrison, a Hereford cattle feeder, spoke on his experiences in the use of cattle futures over the past ten years, and traced the cyclical history of cattle feeding in the country.

"LOOKING BACK into the 60's when cattle feeding really started booming, it appears that profits in cattle feeding were just too easy and too great," said Garrison. "Local feeders began to believe that the historical cycles of cattle feeding were just a thing of the past, and in my own opinion, we overbuilt cattle feeding facilities," he added.

Using charts to illustrate the past three 10 year cycles in the cattle industry, Garrison pointed out that at least four years were required for the number of cattle on feed to decline to a level

NORM Head To Speak Tonight

Arnold Paulson, president of the National Organization for Raw Materials will speak on the economic problems of the area and the nation at the Hereford High School auditorium tonight at 7:30.

Paulson will explain the National Economic Stability Act of 1977 being proposed by his organization.

Paulson will explain the ideas on how to protect farmers, ranchers and others producing raw materials through "full honest parity" prices for all raw materials.

Under the proposal, producers would be protected by minimum price laws and maximum price laws would protect the consumer.

One of the primary aims of the NORM proposal is to insure a fair share of income for America's rural areas.

According to Harlan Vander Zee, a local NORM leader, the organization is supporting an office in Washington for Paulson through donations.

The capitol office will remain open as long as funds last.

Amin Holds Americans

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Ugandan President Idi Amin today ordered all Americans in Uganda kept there until Monday and sent President Carter a telegram demanding that the United States take care of its own human rights problems before accusing Uganda, the Uganda radio said.

The announcement of the telegram came as some 200 Americans trapped inside Uganda on Amin's orders, waited to learn why they had been summoned to meet the Ugandan leader in Kampala next Monday at 11 a.m.

Bryant, Gay Issue Arises

MIAMI (AP)—A leader of Miami's homosexual community disputes singer Anita Bryant's claims that pressure from gay activists caused her to lose a chance at a television series. "She wants to cause gays to lose their jobs and she complains because she lost a job," Bob Kunst said. "The lady is a hypocrite." The latest round in an increasingly bitter dispute began Thursday when Miss Bryant, a vocal foe of a Dade County ordinance that bans discrimination against homosexuals in housing and employment, called a press conference.

Farmers Shorted On Grain

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP)—Farmers who had grain stored in elevators belonging to missing North Texas businessman Robert Johnson are "almost guaranteed" to get 60 per cent of their claims returned, a federal bankruptcy judge said Thursday.

Judge John Ford held an informal bankruptcy meeting attended by about 30 attorneys, creditors and bidders for the grain and the elevators in which it's stored.

Foreign Cutoff Promised

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Carter administration, in an action designed to dramatize its commitment to human rights, is recommending cuts in foreign military aid to Argentina, Uruguay and Ethiopia because of concern that those nations are abusing their citizens' rights.

The treatment of political prisoners is an issue in all three countries, whose governments are military-dominated. The cuts, revealed by Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance on Thursday, involve millions of dollars, but only Uruguay would be completely cut off from U.S. military aid.

Pick Up Your Phone: Jimmy Carter May Be On The Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pick up your phone a week from Saturday and give the President a call.

You might not get through the selection system they're setting up to handle this first talk show. But if you do, you can ask or tell him almost anything.

The system designed for "Ask President Carter" the two-hour broadcast talk-a-thon between the President and the public, will let only 20 callers reach the White House at any one time. A White House aide says the calls will be prescreened—but not for content.

There will be a seven-second delay between the words as they are spoken and when you'll hear them on the air. The CBS radio network, which will carry the show, will use that seven seconds to catch and cut off anyone who becomes abusive or obscene.

Carter will take the calls from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. EST in the Oval Office. His aides say he chose the time to give working people at home on a Saturday afternoon an opportunity to reach him. He'll probably sit in an easy chair, listen through a speaker phone and talk through a microphone around his neck.

A television camera will record the proceedings for delayed rebroadcast if the networks choose to carry portions of the show. Walter Cronkite of CBS News will be moderator.

Barry Jagoda, a 33-year-old former employe of CBS and NBC who now handles the President's media and public affairs, won't reveal the toll-free number that will connect you with the President.

"You'll dial a 900-number. That's the first time a 900-number has ever been used. It's a toll-free 900-number, as opposed to an 800-number. That's so the 800-system doesn't get overloaded.... We'll announce the number next week," he said.

If you decide to call, here's what Jagoda says will happen: "Somebody will answer the phone and say, 'The White House, ask President Carter. If you're lucky. The chances are, though, the phone will ring busy... There probably will be hundreds of thousands of people who don't get their questions answered."

Each call the President takes will have to have survived a process of elimination handled by telephone company computers.

Jagoda says each call will compete first with hundreds of others at local telephone switching stations. Two calls will be selected at each local station by a computer programmed to choose them for geographical balance. The two chosen calls will then be routed from the local station to one of 10 regional switching centers.

"Each of those 10 will let six calls through—again balanced geographically. So you've got 60 calls coming into Washington at a time. Now we've only got 20 lines in Washington, so we'll get 20 phone calls at the White House at a time."

CBS operators will answer those 20 lines.

Jagoda says they'll say: "May we have your name and phone number? We want to verify the authenticity of this call. Thank you very much." They'll write the name and phone number down and give it to somebody else, who calls back directory assistance in that distant town," Jagoda says.

allowing a favorable market once again after cattle numbers peaked in 1954 and 1964, and indicated that the process of reducing cattle numbers is still underway for the 1970's period.

"Our cattle numbers are now back to 52.4 million from a peak of 56 million, but it will take the remainder of this year and into next year for the reductions to have much affect," he stated.

Garrison explained that during the recent cycles cattle numbers have increased above the trend line by three to four million head in each cycle, and that each drought accompanied each period.

THE LOCAL FEEDER also indicated that the trend in America has been to consume increasing amounts of meat each year, but that the trend may now be leveling off as Americans are spending a smaller percentage of their disposable income on beef.

"Americans are changing their eating habits and a lot more ground meat is being consumed. Already, 40 per cent of the meat consumed is ground beef, and if this increase continues, we're not going to need all of those beef factories because you don't need a grain-fed animal to make hamburger," he said. John Womack with Merrill Lynch in Amarillo spoke on the use of hedging as a management tool.

"Hedging is placing something between you and something you fear," he explained. "The futures market is a rumor mill with fantastic excesses. It climbs too high and falls too low, and conversation prompts the excesses," said Womack.

He briefly explained the workings of a futures contract and pointed out that the average life of a fat cattle contract is three days on the Chicago exchange.

"If agriculture is going to survive under the present severe stresses, futures are one more management tool you need," he said.

DR. JOHN MCNEIL, area beef cattle specialist from Amarillo, spoke on the utilization of forages in Deaf Smith County, and told local cattlemen that good wheat pasture is still one of their best winter forages.

"Most cattle raisers will go to a lot of trouble to make sure that their cattle are taken off of wheat by March 1, but experiments have shown that the cattle can be left on the wheat for an additional 20 days with no reduction in wheat yields and additional gains for the cattle," McNeil stated.

"Wheat is certainly one of the best forages in the area, and when there is some dry material available, you can expect a daily gain of at least 1.5 pounds. At the latter stage of the grazing season when the wheat begins to grow well, the cattle will gain even more, and under the right conditions a graze-out program can be advantageous," he commented.

McNeil indicated that in experiments in stalk grazing, better gains were obtained from high quality sorghum stover than from corn stover.

DR. RAMON SAMMONS, economist from Amarillo, outlined several types of market strategy for local cattle raisers in respect to marketing grain and cattle.

Sammons listed various strategies including selling at harvest, utilizing a dollar average system whereby some production is sold each month or quarterly, hedging part of the production and speculation on the rest, or some combination of the methods with sales adjustment for tax advantages.

provide the best possible education.

ALTHOUGH BOTH Conkright's and Allred's announcements were somewhat expected, they did surprise some people. Even more surprising to those who knew them were the filings of Tubb and Pruitt.

Pruitt, a resident here for six years, received his bachelor of science degree from Texas A&M University and a master of science degree from Texas Tech University.

He is a member of the Noon Kiwanis Club, United Way board of directors, and the First United Methodist Church. He is a past member or participant of Big Brother-Big Sisters of Hereford, Little Dribblers basketball program, Industrial and Agricultural committees of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, and other civic endeavors.

He has served as chairman of the "Texas First" campaign to stimulate local employment and as chairman of the fund drive for the local organization of Scouting/USA (Boy Scouts).

He and his wife Pat have a three-year-old daughter. Mrs. Pruitt is a teacher in the public schools here.

Civil Defense Again Makes News

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials are more concerned about civil defense than at any time since the early 1960s following reports of an elaborate Soviet civil defense program that includes construction of shelters to protect citizens and critical industries from nuclear blasts.

Some U.S. experts believe the Russians are spending about $1 billion a year on civil defense.

This is about 12 times the current U.S. Civil Defense budget of $82.5 million.

But some western observers in the Soviet Union say they have not seen evidence of a major civil defense effort. One western diplomat in Moscow reported no traces of such a program "beyond an occasional CD poster."

Pentagon analysts are worried that extensive Soviet civil defense preparations, coupled with significant increases they say are underway in Russian nuclear striking power, may be aimed at gaining superiority over the United States by the early 1980s.

They fear that the "balance of terror," credited with deterring nuclear war, would be toppled if the Russian population were safeguarded while the U.S. population was not.

However, there are significant differences of opinion about the extent of the Russian civil defense effort.

Defense Secretary Harold Brown is skeptical. He told a Senate hearing last month that "I am not convinced... that the Soviets have gotten very far" in developing an effective civil defense program.

VITAMIN A
By PHYLECIA ROWLAND
The value of Vitamin A has been known for centuries. Hippocrates knew that eating liver was treatment for night blindness. Vitamin A, since its discovery in 1931, has been found to be necessary for good vision, maintenance of health of mucus membranes and growth.

What is commonly known as Vitamin A is actually found in two forms. The term Vitamin A is applied to the form found only in animal sources and is called preformed Vitamin A. Provitamin A, or carotene, is not absorbed as well as preformed Vitamin A; therefore, more is needed to meet the daily requirement. Carotenes are bright yellow pigments which give color to fruits and vegetables, such as carrots (from which carotene was first discovered), apricots, squash, peaches and sweet potatoes. Green vegetables also contain carotenes, but the yellow pigment is covered or masked by the dark green chlorophyll pigment.

Vitamine A is fat-soluble. This means that it dissolves in fat, but not in water. Therefore, it is not destroyed readily by high heat, nor by cooking in water.

Functions of Vitamin A in the Body
The functions of Vitamin A are not fully understood. Several functions in the body have been established.

Vitamin A and Vision
Vitamin A is united with protein in the retina of the eyes to form the pigment visual purple. Visual purple is bleached in strong light with some Vitamin A lost in the process. Visual purple is quickly regenerated and the eyes adjust quickly to subdued light whenever sufficient reserves of Vitamin A are present. Low stores of Vitamin A cause visual purple to regenerate slowly; thus, the eyes adjust poorly to light. This results in night blindness. This type of night blindness is successfully treated by increasing the intake of Vitamin A through diet or in a concentrated form.

Vitamin A and Health of Body Tissues
Vitamin A is necessary for the maintenance of mucus membrane linings of the skin and the linings of body passage and cavities. Membranes are moist and pliable when sufficient amounts of Vitamin A are available from the diet or from stored resources in the liver. Vitamin A helps to provide a protective covering for the organs and to resist bacterial invasion in the organs. A deficiency of Vitamin A causes the membranes to become thin, dry, porous and flaky. Thus bacteria have ready access to unprotected membranes and certain infections result. Dermatitis, a skin disease, produces dry, rough and itching skin. Hair follicles become infected on the surface of the skin, often appearing on the back of the upper arm.

Vitamin A and Growth
Vitamin A is necessary to maintain optimum growth. An inadequate intake of Vitamin A stunts the growth of bones and can eventually lead to the development of nervous lesions.

According to legend, it is unlucky to kill a petrel because this sea bird represents the soul of a sailor lost at sea.

Homeless Pets Need Help From Hereford

By KERRIE STEIERT
Women's Editor

By incorporating the help of the local media, a "pet adoption" program is being supported by the animal action committee, a new branch of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

The committee, recently organized, is aspiring to find homes for stray animals, mainly dogs, by publicizing the availability of pets at the City Shelter. Through the placement program, fewer dogs will have to be destroyed.

The City Shelter processes approximately 50 stray dogs per month and the majority of these creatures are killed by a gunshot to the head. The animal action task force is hoping to decrease the "kill total" through publicity on KPAN Radio and The Brand.

As a weekly feature in The Brand, a dog which has been impounded will be pictured and a list of other available canines will be published. These strays will be kept alive for a reasonable period in order to give the public an opportunity to "adopt" a pet.

When an individual wants to take possession of an impounded dog, they must pay inoculation and license fees. Butch Trevino is the animal control officer here and may be contacted on weekdays.

THE OTHER SEGMENT of the animal action force's purpose is to improve present City Shelter facilities and to promote inoculation and neutering of animals. The committee members are hopeful that the City's tentative plans to expand the current facility will soon be set in motion.

Missionary To Speak At Nazarene Church

The Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Demetre, who are now on furlough from their work as missionaries to Jamaica, will be in Hereford Monday. Rev. Demetre will be speaking for the congregation of First Church of the Nazarene, located at 16th and Blackfoot.

The evening service will begin at 7 p.m. Monday. Rev. Demetre will illustrate his presentation with photographs and will answer questions regarding the mission fields where he has worked.

Rev. and Mrs. Demetre are on their third furlough since being sent to Guyana as missionaries in 1962. They were City Manager Dudley Bayne has informed the committee that a new building will be constructed to adjoin the current site, as soon as other city building projects are completed.

Also chosen as a project of the new committee is a public awareness campaign concerning inoculation against rabies and distemper and stressing the importance of "birth control" measures for pets.

In order to relieve the number of dogs and cats running stray on local streets, the committee members strongly endorse the neutering of a household pet so that unwanted offspring cannot become a burden. Also, the women stress that residents adhere to a city ordinance which requires that all pets be licensed, tagged and kept within a fenced yard or on a leash.

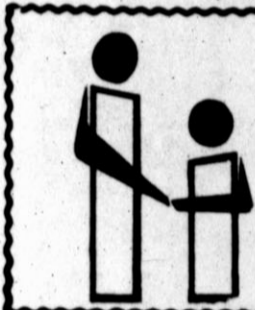

The animal action force tentatively plans to participate in the rabies inoculation program conducted annually by the Volunteer Fire Department.

MEMBERS OF THE animal action unit have no authority where the shelter is concerned and are not responsible for any aspect of it. Neither are they affiliated with the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals or any other Humane society.

Any persons who are interested in joining the animal action committee are welcome and may do so by contacting Donna VanderZec, president of the Chamber Women's Division.

Currently serving on the committee are Dean Jones, Susie McGee, Margaret Formby, Star Christie, Mardell Robinson, Carrell Ann Simmons, Mesida Smith, Beverly Bryant and Wynelle Robinson.

Be A Friend, Have A Friend

RESPONSIBILITY AND CONSEQUENCES

We see kids, who at the age of 14 & 15, do not make the connection between what they do and say and the consequences that result. A child must learn at an early age to accept responsibility through the consequences of his behavior.

Adults are so used to punishing "bad behavior" - getting angry, yelling, scolding - that it is a hard assignment to remain calm and let a child experience consequences.

Instead of telling Johnny, "You're a bad boy, you got your shoes and clothes wet," simply let him know that because his shoes are wet, he can't go back outside. Then the responsibility falls on Johnny. Without emotional upset from you, Johnny sees that what he did led to his not being able to go out. (It would be nice to get out of the "ogre" category, too, wouldn't it?)

When you're shown a picture that a child has done, you might say "You worked slowly and carefully on this picture and it looks neat and pretty." This statement points out the behavior and its consequences.

Point out to a child, also, that he should be proud of his work. Too often we talk about how proud we are, which takes part of the consequences away from the child. "Danny, you didn't put your ball back in the toy box and now we can't find it and we can't play ball." Danny will learn responsibility from this experience.

A good rule of thumb in teaching responsibility through consequences is not to interfere in the consequences (over-protection) and not to throw in value statements.

Donna McNutt

Is 3-F Speaker

Donna McNutt, caseworker for Hereford Family Services Center, was guest speaker Wednesday for Fun-Food-Fellowship Club in First United Methodist Church Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. McNutt, who was introduced by Ozetta Wilhelm, gave a presentation on the topic of mental health and answered questions from her audience. Prior to the program, the 3-F club sang while Bessie Gossett accompanied at the piano. Audrey Heard read scripture about faith.

Dr. Jordan Grooms delivered the opening prayer and the Rev. Herschel Thurston also gave an invocation. The Rev. Doug Gossett read the benediction. Before the meal, games of "42" were played.

What about the future of coffee prices? Wholesale prices have nearly doubled in the past 15 months. If there is no further problem with the world coffee production-- such as frost in Brazil-- the normal trend may resume by 1979-80--or perhaps sooner, according to reports by the Foreign Agricultural Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture. Present world stocks are considered adequate to offset foreseeable crop deficits. The world coffee supplies will continue tight, however, and prices will remain relatively high, says Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Ann Landers

Education Is The Key

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It is possible to get off welfare. I was on for three years and it's no picnic. The embarrassment alone is enough to make you sick. The solution is education.

I never wanted to be on welfare, but with one baby to take care of and a second on the way, I had no choice. But I never viewed it as a "way of life." I was determined to get off.

I enrolled in secretarial school (on borrowed money), hell-bent on making a better life for my kids. It was tough going. You can't buy much on $63.00 a week. I lived with relatives, put up with rats and garbage, lived on one meal a day, plus a few other inconveniences.

Now I'm employed by a large company, making good money and repaying those who helped me when I was down. Please print my letter, Ann. Confidence can be contagious. -- One Who Got Off dear one: You scored a bullseye with your response. Education IS the answer-- and now, if we can get THAT message across, we've got it made. For those who are interested in vocational education, the U.S. Health Education and Welfare Department publishes a directory (available at most libraries) of schools with occupational programs for those with high school diplomas. The National Association of Trade and Technical Schools publishes a directory of accredited vocational schools which can be obtained free from NATTS, 2021 L Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

DEAR ANN: My husband and I have been married for 26 years. We have a beautiful family, a son, 22, and a daughter, 19, both in college. From all outer appearances, we have a beautiful marriage.

Five years ago, for no apparent reason, my husband ceased to need me physically. There is NO "other woman," NO "other man." We discussed separation, even divorce. But even as we talked we both knew we wouldn't go through with it.

The anguish, frustration and tears (oh, how many tears!) are gone, but the excruciating ache inside remains. For 20 years ours was an "ideal" marriage as could be found anywhere.

I keep wondering how many such marriages continue this way-- for family or religious reasons. How about a survey?-- Wondering

DEAR WONDERING: I don't need to take a survey. I can tell you-- the answer is "plenty." Male impotence, though not widely discussed, is a serious problem these days and about 95 per cent of the impotent males under 60 have psychological problems.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are having a disagreement. Please clarify something for us. You once said in your column that if you invite friends to your home three times in a row and they don't invite you back you don't need to ask them again. Does this go for relatives?-- The H's in Delaware.

DEAR H'S: Don't exclude relatives from family get-togethers, even if they get 50 invitations behind-- but I see no reason to treat relatives as social friends if they don't treat you in the same manner.

Consumers should drink pasteurized milk. Avoid raw milk and cheeses, because various diseases such as tuberculosis and brucellosis are carried in unpasteurized dairy products. Mary Sweeten, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, says.

B. L. "Lynn" Jones

A recent Kiplinger report recommends if you need to borrow, and homeowners in particular, may find the next 3 or 4 months an ideal time to do so. Rates are as low as they will be all year and plenty of money is available. What this means if you are considering buying a home, this is an excellent time to do so.

Battenhorst Fund At Both City Banks

A campaign is currently underway to assist the family of Steve Battenhorst in paying a substantial hospital bill. Steve was critically injured on Dec. 12 in a motorcycle mishap and has been under intensive care at Northwest Texas Hospital for two months.

Although the local youth has been moved to a patients ward, he will remain hospitalized for some time, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Battenhorst.

Funds have been established at First National Bank and Hereford State Bank and all contributions will be appreciated.

To further defray Steve's medical expenses, his church will be sponsoring a benefit luncheon in his behalf Sunday at Immanuel Lutheran Church, Park Avenue and Ave. B. All interested persons are invited to worship services at 10:30 a.m. and the luncheon.

Cost of the meal for adults will be $2 and 75 cents for children. Any additional contributions are welcome.

The Aid Association of Lutherans Fraternal Insurance Company will match any funds received and all proceeds will be forwarded to the Battenhorst account.

The Rev. Joseph Lowery, pastor of the local Lutheran congregation, and Mary Alice Frye, president of the local AAL branch, invites the public to the Sunday benefit.

Herd Thinclads Open At Brownfield Meet

By BOB NIGH
Brand Sports Editor

The spring sports season really gets into full swing this weekend as the Hereford boys and girls track teams open their seasons at Brownfield Saturday.

Ten returning lettermen lead the Herd boys, with seniors James Mays and Dennis Collins back as captains. Of course, Mays will miss the Brownfield meet due to the Herd cagers being in the playoffs, but Collins will be on hand to run his specialty, the mile.

"We should be strongest in the sprints and sprint relay," boys coach Robert Priest said Thursday afternoon. "And, we should be really competitive in our district with some improvement in some other areas," he added.

Tough competition will be the name of the game at Brownfield with teams from Abilene, Abilene Cooper, the Odessa and Midland schools, and several Lubbock schools scheduled to run.

Girls coach Roy Shipp feels that his distaff runners will be strongest in the relay events, and will have more "overall depth" due to a "pretty good crew" of sophomores.

"We're expecting a lot out of Tawanna Moton, and as far as that goes, the rest of our sophomores," the coach said. Moton will be entered in the long jump, 100-yard dash, high jump, 80-yard hurdles, and the 440-yard relay...a tough assignment for a youngster.

Seniors Suzanne Duval, Cindy Acton, Sharon Straufuss, Micki

Merritt, and Lisa Perez will be upperclassmen strength to the girls squad.

Duval, Straufuss, and junior Judy Birdwell all qualified for regionals last year in the 440-yard relay, but Birdwell wasn't able to run due to an injury.

And, Duval also qualified for regionals in the mile relay along with junior Joyce Betzen, who is returning this season also.

Daniel Olson and Doug Reinart return this year for coach Priest after making it into the regionals last season as part of the 440-relay squad.

Running down the roster Priest will have Paul Bell, Olson, Reinart, Steve Hazelrigg, Tom Clarke, and Gerlad Vaughn in the 100 and 220; Greg Brockman and Terry Huffaker in the 440; and Olson, Reinart, Hazelrigg and Bell in the 440-relay.

Mays, Huffaker, and Frank Madrigal will handle the 880 chores, with Priest calling Mays "really strong" in the event. Collins will run the mile, while Bud Hughes will compete in both the 330-intermediate and 120 high hurdles.

In the field events the Herd will have Bell, Hazelrigg, and Blake Autry in the long jump (following the basketball campaign); Bell in the pole vault; and Barry Acton, Jim Fish, Mike Kerr, Sammy Davison, Greg Melugin, Steve Sauter, Jay Montgomery, and Richard Olson in the shot and discus.

"Fish, Kerr, and Acton will probably be the strongest of the group," Priest said.

Coach Shipp will field Moton, Kelly McClarty, and Carla Polk in the 100; Perez, Polk, LuAnna Berryman, and Lori Taylor in the 220; and Duval, Birdwell, Laurie Pittard, and Marie Schilling in the 440.

The 440-relay team will consist of Berryman, Moton, Becky McGilvary, and Straufuss, while Birdwell, McGilvary, Betzen, and Berryman will enter the 880 relay.

The mile relay team will be Betzen, Birdwell, Pittard, and Schilling. Moton and Betzen will run the 80 hurdles.

Merritt, Velma Arroyos, and Olivia Gonzales will run the 880.

Injuries will prevent Duval, Lisa Drake, and Rita Soliz from entering the running events this week, but the trio will join the competition in a few weeks according to coach Shipp. Duval will run the 440, while Drake will enter the 880 and Soliz the 880 and mile.

In the field events Duval and Martha Stotts will handle the shot put, with Acton, Stotts, and Teresa Lambert to hurl the disc. Triple jump entrants will be Berryman, Schilling, and Polk; Siraufuss, Berryman, and Moton will enter the long jump; while Schilling, Moton, and Arroyos will compete in the high jump.

"I need to emphasize that these events are for this week only for the girls...many of them will compete in different events down the line," Shipp said.

Assisting Priest this season is Carroll Tucker, while Bobby Anderson is helping Shipp with the girls. Tina Lambert is the girls' manager.

Number One!

The Herd Cagers were signalling their position as Number One at the close of their 71-51 win over Lubbock Tuesday evening. They'll find out for sure tonight if they're really No. 1 as they meet the Plainview Bulldogs for the District title in Canyon. [Photo By Lanny Smith].

Finley Reportedly To Add Allen To Stable

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

And now to further enthrall you, baseball fans, comes the latest shocker courtesy of Charles O. Finley.

Reportedly galloping from his Perkasee, Pa., farm to join up with the mule-loving maverick owner of the Oakland A's is none other than the noted Pennsylvania horse-fancier Richard Anthony "Call Me Dick" Allen.

How do you like them apples, Bowie Kuhn?

The report comes from Finley, who disclosed Thursday that he expected to reach agreement "any minute" with the veteran slugger, who'll be 35 next month and who was cut adrift by the Philadelphia Phillies following another anorexia-filled 1976 season.

If Allen indeed makes it to Oakland, the A's will be the controversial first baseman's fifth major league club, including two tours with the Phillies, who had it up to here with him both times.

Allen was up for grabs in a special free agent draft last year and the A's clutching at straws after most of their own clutches, were the only ones to reach out for him.

In 85 games with the Phillies last season, Allen batted .268 with 15 home runs and 49 runs batted in, giving him 346 homers and 1,088 RBI in his 13-year career.

Finley said Allen's lawyer told him that "as far as he was concerned we had a deal, but we have to wait for Dick to give it his agreement." The A's owner would not discuss details of the planned signing, but said it would not be a long-term contract.

With Allen's checkered history, did anyone think it would be?

While Allen apparently was finding a new home just as spring training was getting under way, the Boston Red Sox were faced with a horse of a different color.

Bob Woolf, who represents Luis Tiant, the team's ace pitcher, said the 36-year-old right-hander would not report to camp today as scheduled and is "seriously considering the possibility of retirement" unless the Sox agree to extend a contract that was renegotiated last season through 1977 to a reported $180,000 a year.

ATLANTA (AP) - Roller skates would have been better than ice skates for the Atlanta Flames after four armed intruders left water running on their practice ice Thursday and melted it down to bare concrete.

Thieves broke into the Omni early Thursday, surprised a guard who was watering the ice and bound him while they ransacked the offices.

Perez-Romero Feud Continues

Lions Club wrestling last week saw one of the wildest and bloodiest matches ever, and a violent feud continues at the Bull Barn this coming Saturday night.

Alex Perez, the 245-pound former golden gloves champion from Lela Lake, Texas, will again confront Mexico's 224-pound rapid Ricky Romero.

In tag team action last week a bloodied Perez left Romero lying in the ring, although Romero and team partner Reggie Parks gained the victory. Perez' partner was huge Tank Patton.

The two men have fought each other in every major arena of the Southwest, and are prompted more by passionate hatred for one another than by the money which they earn in the ring.

Cyclone Negro, the Venezuelan tornado, may not find as easy a victory this coming Saturday as he did on last week's card. Slated to meet popular Jerry Kozak, Cyclone demolished substitute Oscar Bustamante in four and a half minutes last week.

The 250-pound South American who was decorated by his government for his proficiency in several sports, meets young Scott Casey of Dallas.

Casey, 235 pounds and highly conditioned, has recently switched to East Texas for competition, but has returned for a shot at the top-ranked Caribbean hurricane.

El Bracero joins with Parks to meet Doug Somers and Patton in opening action. El Bracero, 220 pounder from Mexico City, clashed last week with newcomer Somers. Somers is a protege of newly-crowned world champion Harley Race, weighs in at 245, and showed a strong scientific knowledge of wrestling in last week's debut.

Aggressive to the point of being vicious, Somers was disqualified in his match with El Bracero, and left his smaller foe hurt and stretched out on the canvas.

Parks, the 228-pound pit bulldog fancier who left Canada to make his home in Nogales, drew lumps from Patton last week in the main event. He will seek revenge Saturday night against the master of the claw, while El Bracero holds off Somers. Patton, from Tampa, Florida, tips the beam at 315.

Action at the Bull Barn starts at 8:00 p.m.

Area Girls' Teams Grab Tourney Wins

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Six teams have claimed a spot in the finals at the girls' state high school basketball tournament after first-round mis-matches in which no game was closer than 13 points.

Semifinal contests in Class A and 4A were scheduled today.

The biggest rout Thursday - the opening day of the 27th annual tournament - was Canyon's 88-49 victory over Corpus Christi Tuloso-Midway in the 3A semifinals.

Canyon's 32nd victory against a single one-point loss this season broke the single-game scoring record of 78, set by Canyon in 1975.

Nazareth might have approached that mark, however, if Coach Cathy Wilson had not pulled high scorer Cheryl Hartman, who had 26 points, midway through the third quarter, as well as the other starters a few moments later.

Nazareth, a finalist in 1976, whipped Maypearl, 61-26, in Class B and the score was 50-14 at the end of the third quarter.

Canyon's Merry Johnson, an all-tournament selection as a non-shooting guard last year, switched to forward this year.

Golfers At Plainview

The Hereford High School boys golf team, fresh off a fourth place finish in the Lubbock Invitational last week, will travel to Plainview today to play in the Plainview Invitational Tourney.

Host Plainview has been given the inside shot to claim the team title at their meet, with John Horne leading the way. The Bulldogs won the Odessa Invitational last week, with Horns claiming medalist honors.

Other teams to be on hand include Amarillo High, Caprock, Tascosa, Palo Duro, Pampa, Lubbock, Monterey, Coronado, Borger, Odessa Andrews, and six junior varsity teams including Hereford's.

and poured in 29 points for Canyon, which has won 28 games in a row after losing to Nazareth, 47-46. Becky Williams had 27 for Canyon and Gwen Bentley 31 for Tuloso-Midway.

The victory sets up a rematch with Waco Midway, which has beaten Canyon the past two years in the 3A finals. They play Saturday morning.

Midway's Diane Horn, also a 1976 all-tournament choice, scored 27 points and 6-foot Jean Smith 26 in beating Saginaw Boswell, 74-59. Boswell shot an incredible 43 free throws but made only 27 and was held without a field goal in the third quarter.

Nazareth's foe in the B championship game Friday night will be May, which avenged a 1976 tournament loss to Crawford by defeating the Pirates, 63-50. Bonnie Buchanan, a top college prospect, scored 48 points for May, including 26 of 29 free throws for a conference record.

In 2A, Spearman beat Red Oak 58-45 and Waco Robinson defeated Devine 69-54.

They will play Saturday morning for the title.

Carla Harper scored 32 points for Spearman, which defeated Robinson in the finals in 1970 and 1972.

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) - Norman Lietzke, father of professional golfer Bruce Lietzke, died Thursday after a long illness with emphysema. He was 65.

He underwent surgery earlier at Houston, a friend said.

Young Lietzke, the Professional Golf Association's leading money winner this season with two tournament victories, had skipped recent events to be with his father. He has won the Tucson and Hawaiian Opens this year and has earned more than $130,000.

Michele Cooper had 26, Stacy Colyer 24 and Lynda Linam 17 for the well-balanced Robinson team. Krista Irwin scored 34 for Devine, which made only two of 13 free throws. Robinson hit 21 of 32.

The A semi-finals matched unbeaten Cushing and Cooper and Deweyville and Borger Phillips, the defending champion in 2A, which moved down a class this year.

In 4A, Arlington will meet undefeated Schertz-Clemens and Angleton plays Dallas South Oak Cliff, which nudged defending champion Duncanville 48-47 in the regional finals.

Paul Harvey News High Schoolers Dumber But Wiser

Interesting contradiction: Academically, many of our school-agers are not learning the essentials.

Some parents in New York are suing schools for "educational malpractice" because their children are given a high school diploma though they can't adequately read, write or spell. And they can't add 20 and 25.

At the same time, however, we learn from the new National Opinion Survey that the scholars are wiser than ever.

In their own enlightened self-interest they are renewing their faith in traditional values.

The turnaround was in the 1960s--when they did what they liked, and then did not like what they did.

In preparing the seventh annual "Who's Who Among American High School Students" it was necessary to survey 23,800 juniors and seniors.

They've changed. From the "do-your-own-thing," "Let-it-all hang out" philosophy of the Sixties, these high schoolers have become morally conservative.

Understand, the interviewees in this instance were the scholars, the "outstanding students."

This survey is conducted annually by Educational Communications, Inc. of North Brook, Ill., among students recommended by high school principals or guidance counselors. They have to be "B" or better students. They are already "outstanding" in academics, athletics, community service.

It can be assumed that these will become our nation's leaders, so their opinions are especially significant.

The majority of these 17- and 18-year-olds do not believe in premarital sex, do not believe in smoking pot, do not believe in drinking liquor.

Surprised? Eight of 10 of these "top teens" favor traditional marriage.

Seventy-four per cent have never had sexual intercourse.

Fifty-seven per cent intend to abstain from sex until marriage.

Eighty-nine per cent have never used drugs.

(Contrast this latter figure with the 1972 finding that 28 per cent had tried hard drugs.)

Eight per cent have not smoked cigarettes.

And hear this: 58 per cent feel that the job of full-time homemaker can be totally fulfilling for a woman.

Eight of 10 consider themselves "members of an organized religion"; 64 per cent regularly attend services.

Maybe we've been worried about the wrong things.

Because the school-agers who

Cash when hospitalized

For person to person health insurance, call JERRY SHIPMAN 103 AVE. C 364-3161 do misuse drugs and sex are likely to make the most titillating news, we have overlooked the increasingly responsible attitude and disciplined behavior of the "achievers."

And this is interesting: 68 per cent would be willing to attend a school where more than half of the students were of a different race--but 75 per cent reject the idea of busing to achieve the objective.

They are using their heads. Seventy-three per cent say that corporate power is too great. At the same time, 66 per cent say unions hold too much political power.

In the bullpen warming up is a generation of maturing leaders who are going to be wiser than ours were.

Congress Favors Tax Cut, High Spending To Pump Up Economy

BY JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)- Heavy majorities in both houses of Congress are now on record in favor of tax cuts and increased federal spending to boost the economy. The next question is how to do it.

First the Senate, on a 72-20 roll call, and next the House, 239 to 169, voted to amend the budget for the current fiscal year to allow tax reductions and spending hikes. But those votes did not commit the lawmakers to any specific plan to prime the economy.

However, the House, before amending the budget on Wednesday to allow a stimulus plan of up to $16.4 billion, indicated it prefers a one-shot rebate plan, such as the $50 per person advocated by President Carter, instead of a permanent tax cut.

By a vote of 258 to 148, the House rejected a Republican plan to reduce individual tax rates permanently by 15 per cent. The GOP, led by Rep. John Roussetot of California, argued that the nation has persistently high unemployment because "excessive tax rates...deter employment and investment."

Democrats called the GOP tax plan a classic example of the trickle-down theory of economics of which money spent by the wealthy is expected to eventually benefit low-income workers.

The House budget amendment of $16.4 billion compares to $15.5 billion that Carter recommended and $17.2 billion approved by the Senate.

There are two key differences between the House and Senate versions:

The House plan evasions tax rebates or cuts for taxpayers and special bonuses to nontax-payers totaling $12.7 billion, compared to $13.8 billion in the Senate. The House version accounts for changes in the Carter tax plan already approved by the Ways and Means Committee.

The House added $215 million more than the Senate in special aid to help offset tax revenues lost by states, cities and counties because of the lagging economy and bad weather. The House plan totals $1 billion, a figure that reportedly is supported by Carter.

In addition to the tax cuts and special aid to state and local governments, here is how the plan envisioned by a majority of the House would work over the next seven months:

-$700 million for public service jobs, such as in hospitals and jails. The aim is to expand from the current limit of $310,000 jobs to 600,000 over the next seven months and to 725,000 in 1978. Carter and the Senate recommended the same amount.

-$60 million for the job-opportunities program, which involves 12-month jobs on local economic-development projects funded party by the federal government. Neither Carter nor the Senate recommended this.

-$500 million more to start construction on such public-works projects as schools and hospitals, the same as approved by the Senate. Carter asked for only $200 million more.

-$600 million for special employment training and jobs targeted for young and old Americans, who are hardest hit by unemployment. The Senate figure is the same; Carter asked for only $300,000.

-$800 million for construction of antipollution and recreation facilities and railroad and highway construction. The Senate approved the same amount; Carter made no such request.

Conservatives Offer Another Alternative To Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP)- The already weakened Republican party is facing an organized rival, a conservative coalition determined to take over the role of spokesman for the out-of-power party.

But despite the formation of a "shadow cabinet" by conservatives usually counted as staunch GOP supporters, the traditional Republican party hierarchy is exhibiting little concern.

"It's a free country," shrugged GOP chairman Bill

Brock after the conservatives unveiled their "shadow cabinet" Thursday to criticize and offer alternatives to Carter administration policies.

"Everyone has the right to criticize the President and the Democratic Congress if he or she wants to. I have no objection to that," said Brock. "The Republican party will continue to offer constructive, responsible programs to solve the problems of the people of this country."

The conservatives' "Citizens Cabinet" is dominated by Republicans, although it includes some Democrats. Each "cabinet" member will concentrate on his counterpart's actions in the real Cabinet.

State Rep. Louis Jenkins, a Louisiana Democrat who will be secretary of the shadow cabinet, said the group will hold news conferences, issue position papers and even try to make televised responses to Carter's State of the Union messages.

"We anticipate the involvement of citizens cabinet in foreign affairs and we think that we'll send delegations abroad to meet with foreign leaders and with members of the opposition parties in other countries," he said.

New Hampshire Gov. Meldrim Thomson, a Republican who is the shadow secretary of state, said he plans to lead a delegation to Panama to express conservative concern over the Panama Canal negotiations.

The chairman and "attorney general" of the shadow cabinet is William Rusher, publisher of the National Review. Rusher is a Republican, but an ardent advocate of forming a new conservative party.

Howard Phillips, director of the Conservative Caucus and a prime organizer of the new coalition, said "now everybody on the cabinet shares" Rusher's desire to bolt the GOP.

Other shadow cabinet members are: Ron Paul, a former GOP congressman from Texas, labor; economist Hans Sensholz, treasury; Rep. Larry McDonald, D-Ga., defense; former California Lt. Gov. John Harmer, commerce; Rep. Steve Symms, R-Idaho, agriculture; former U.S. welfare commissioner Robert B. Carleson, health, education and welfare; housing consultant John McLaughry, housing and urban development; California businessman Sam H. Husbands Jr., transportation; and economist Henry Hazlitt, chairman of the council of economic advisers.

Day Of Prayer Set March 6 In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)- In an attempt to end the drought that is plaguing Oklahoma and other western states, a resolution has been introduced in the Oklahoma House and Senate to proclaim March 6 a day of prayer for rain.

The resolution says: "Only the compassion and love of Our Heavenly Father can assure that this state will receive the rain which it most desperately needs."

The resolution was introduced Wednesday by Sen. Norman Lamb, R-Enid, and Rep. Ross

More Americans Moving Out Of Cities Than Into Them

DENVER (AP)- More Americans are moving away from metropolitan areas than are moving to them "in one of the noteworthy reversals in migratory patterns in the nation's history," a Rand Corporation demographer said today.

Some of the places these people are moving to have experienced little or no growth for decades, according to a report by Dr. Peter Morrison to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"Migration is gaining recognition as a powerful and unpredictable force," Morrison said. "The essentially private and unregulated movements that make up migration flows are now being scrutinized for the newly perceived costs they create, both at origin and especially at destination."

Morrison made these points: --Each year between 1970 and 1975, for every 100 people who moved to a metropolitan area, 131 moved out. Net migration gains occurred in nearly two-thirds of all nonmetropolitan counties, compared with only one-quarter in the 1960s.

--In 1974, 10 of the nation's largest Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas were declining in population: Chicago, New York, Los Angeles-Long Beach, Philadelphia, Detroit, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Seattle-Everett and Cincinnati.

--At least 44, or nearly one in six, of all 259 metropolitan areas in the United States had fewer residents in 1975 than they did in 1970, and one in three metropolitan residents was living in an area of population decline.

--Migrants are gravitating increasingly toward the South and Southwest, producing a wave of growth in those areas and leaving behind a population stagnation throughout much of the Northeast.

Some small cities have rebelled. Petaluma and Liver-more in the San Francisco area, Boulder, Colo., and Boca Raton, Fla., are among the smaller cities trying to control growth from migration by imposing population ceilings or enacting other measures.

Labor, Corporate Battle Waged Over Public Television

MIAMI BEACH, (AP)- George Meany has nothing against Shakespeare. But he believes that if the British playwright's works are to be shown on public television, the actors should be American.

The issue is a sample of growing tensions between organized labor and an institution of which is long been a supporter--non-commercial, publicly funded television.

At the same time, the unions are questioning a key slice of public television's support the sponsorship of high-quality, prime-time programs by major U.S. corporations.

A statement adopted Wednesday by the AFL-CIO Executive Council during its winter meeting expressed concern that "too little attention has been paid to the influence which corporate sponsors or so-called 'underwriters' wield over the system."

The council also said that since Congress "meant for public broadcasting to encourage greater American creativity, we are troubled by the steadily increasing use of foreign-produced material which now dominates major prime-time programming."

The dispute began last year after the Corporation for Public Broadcasting decided to spend $1.2 million of federal money to produce a series of Shakespearean plays entirely in Britain for showing on U.S. public television and later in American schools.

Additional funds for the planned 36-part series were to come from Exxon and from Morgan Guaranty Trust Co.

Meany, the AFL-CIO's 82-year-old president, protested in a letter last December to CPB Chairman Henry Loomis, saying "the decision cannot be justified artistically or economically."

"There are thousands of unemployed American performers and craft personnel who could match or exceed the work of their contemporaries in other countries," Meany said. "Highly successful Shakespearean productions in the United States prove there is no artistic deficiency in this country."

The AFL-CIO says it will ask Congress to restrict the way in which corporations can give money to public TV.

Presently, companies like Mobile Oil and Exxon often underwrite the cost of such programs as "Upstairs, Downstairs" and the "Forsyte Saga," and freely publicize their support. The AFL-CIO contends that these tax-deductible gifts amount to taxpayer subsidy of corporate institutional advertising.

The restriction sought by the AFL-CIO would require any corporate funds donated to public TV be for general purposes, not tied to a specific program.

A STRAIGHT LINE is still the shortest distance between two points, but to connect the necessary points at the Duval Sierrita Mine near Tucson, Ariz., called for a record long conveyor line. Installed to carry ore and waste rock at the copper mine, the line will be equipped with the largest single order of belting, supplied by Goodyear.

Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, a French artist of the late 19th century, was only four-and-a-half feet tall.

The resolution was introduced Wednesday by Sen. Norman Lamb, R-Enid, and Rep. Ross

GOD IS AN INEXHAUSTIBLE SOURCE OF POWER

We have been constantly hearing about the "energy crisis", which has resulted in the desperate search for new sources of power, both natural and artificial. Whatever the source, the goal is the continuation of our good life and the further achievements of progress in every aspect of it. Human beings also need a continuing supply of power in order to accomplish their own personal goals, whatever they may be. God is a never-ending source of the power you need, so go to your Church and learn about this unlimited resource that is always available to you.

Chrysler Earnings More Volatile Than Competition

BY OWEN ULLMAN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corporation's $700 million swing from record losses to record profits last year may be the largest bust-to-boom turnaround for an American corporation ever, financial analyst say.

The firm's report this week that it rebounded from a $260 million loss in 1975 to a $423 million profit last year also bears out an old saying about the smallest of the Big Three car makers Chrysler makes a lot of money in good auto years, then loses it in bad years.

"Chrysler historically is a volatile company," says David Healy, an industry analyst for Drexel, Burnham & Co. of New York.

"Its profit margins are considerably more narrow than those of General Motors or Ford. So a swing in sales volume has a much greater effect on Chrysler."

The auto industry is known as a volume business. That's because the annual fixed costs for tools and other equipment necessary to produce cars can run into the billions of dollars—whether a company builds one auto or millions of them.

When sales are low, as in 1975, a company may never recover those costs. But in good years such as 1976, when the costs are recovered, each additional sale delivers a lucrative profit to the producer.

General Motors builds nearly three times as many vehicles worldwide each year as Chrysler; Ford nearly twice as many. Thus, the two larger firms reach the break-even point sooner.

During the 1975 recession, the industry's worst slump in 40 years, GM and Ford made profits despite sharp drops in earnings. Chrysler suffered the steepest sales drop and soon was losing nearly $1 million a day, in great part because of cash rebates of $200 to $500 it was forced to offer on cars to stimulate a lethargic market.

In contrast, U.S. car sales staged a strong recovery in 1976—rising 22 per cent above 1975 levels—and Chrysler outperformed the industry with a 31 per cent gain.

"The volume was the key reason for Chrysler's turnaround," says Arvid Jouppi, a Detroit-based analyst for Colin, Hochstin Co. of New York. "Chrysler took a bigger share of a bigger market."

Analysts note that the automaker's losses in 1975 were exaggerated by three factors: its ineligibility for tax credits, a $66 million loss by its British subsidiary and a $75 million write-off of another unprofitable operation.

Similarly, last year's profits were inflated by a $94.4 million tax credit and a $79.2 million subsidy from the British government to cover losses incurred by Chrysler United Kingdom.

"It's still a remarkable turnaround," said a West Coast analyst. Neither Jouppi nor Healy could recall a more spectacular turnaround in business fortunes.

At the depth of its slump two years ago, Chrysler began overhauling its worldwide empire. Its jettisoned losing operations, set up cost cutting programs and developed a new product line so that, as management vowed, the firm would make money in bad times as well as good.

Has Chrysler achieved that objective?

"We've heard the company say it can make money in a bad market," says analyst Jouppi, who forecasts another industry slump before the decade is over. "But it's got to prove it."

LABOR OF NECESSITY of a few decades past becomes today's work of art. Dapper young gentleman cranking up his Model T for a family outing is sculpted in pewter. Robin Cirico gives a final polish to the miniature, one of a limited edition produced by The Franklin Mint, Franklin Center, Pa.

NEW YORK (AP) — Life insurance sales were up 3.7 per cent in 1975 over the previous year, according to Institute of Life Insurance figures. Nearly $190-billion-worth of ordinary life insurance was purchased during 1975.

Lent Season Signifies Second Chance For Repenting Christians

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — A puzzled patient asked his psychiatrist, "If there is no such thing as guilt, then why do I feel so miserable?"

In the Judeo-Christian view, human beings chronically fall short of their best potentialities, and to honestly deal with the fact, should admit it, regret it, ask amends and seek to do better.

That's the kenote of Christianity—always another chance.

"It's also what Lent is about, a 40-day season of penitence, meditation and sensitizing of conscience which began Wednesday—called 'Ash Wednesday.'

"Remember man, that thou art dust, and to dust thou shalt return," the minister says as he imposes ashes in the sign of a cross on the foreheads of worshippers in Roman Catholic, Episcopal and some Lutheran churches.

It symbolizes that human beings are sinners, that they do foul up to varying degrees, that they are guilty, that they need to acknowledge it and be sorry for it to accept a loving God's forgiveness for it.

This is a continually restorative process of Christianity, but it gets extra emphasis during Lent, the period leading to Easter, and it calls for special disciplines for reconditioning the psyche.

"We all need times of quiet, penitence from the distractions of the world," says the Rev. Frederick Rapp of St. Stephen's church, Port Washington, N.Y. "It answers deep needs of the human spirit."

But he emphasizes that the traditional practices of Lent, such as the imposition of ashes, meditation and fasting, are not the objective themselves, but only the means to it.

"People often confuse the means with the ends," he says. "Discipline is never an end in itself." Noting, for example, that an athlete trains for a race or game, not for the training itself, the Rev. Mr. Rapp adds: "So it is with spiritual discipline—to bring our lives closer to God and make us more aware of his care and influence in human life."

It's a habit Jesus followed. From the New Testament accounts, he wasn't an ascetic and he enjoyed celebrations and feasts, but he often quit the crowds and went off alone to meditate and keep himself tuned to God.

Lent itself commemorates the 40 days he spent in the wilderness in self-searching and decision before he began his ministry.

Although various types of meditation have become a vogue in this country, often of the lately imported Eastern varieties, such as yoga or Transcendental Meditation, the practices always has been a standard feature of Christianity.

Jesus offered considerable guidance about it, such as warning against making a big display of it to court attention, or being dismal-faced and morose about it.
