Bill Collectors Limit Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)- Congress is considering legislation to outlaw threats and harassment by bill collectors, a group that became a major contributor to congressional campaigns after the House approved similar regulations last year.

A House Banking subcommittee begins three days of hearings today on a bill by Rep. Frank Annunzio, D-Ill., to make it illegal for bill collectors to use abusive or deceitful tactics.

Rabin Wants U.S. Support

WASHINGTON (AP)- President Carter is meeting for a third, orginally unscheduled session with Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin of Israel, who is asking Carter to guarantee Israel's strength to stand alone against its adversaries.

Rabin is meeting with Carter today at the White House. He was invited to lunch with members of Congress and scheduled a new conference later in the day at Blair House, the government guest residence across from the White House.

The prime minister said he was gratified by Carter's endorsement Monday of "defensible borders" for Israel. But Rabin asked the President during a "working dinner" Monday night to "make sure that Israel's strength will allow it to defend itself by itself."

Romanian Death Toll Rises

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP)- As rescue teams press their increasingly futile search for survivors amid the rubble, the official toll in the earthquake that battered the Balkans last weekend has risen to 1,085 dead and 6,405 injured.

Agerpress, the official Romanian news agency, reported 810 confirmed dead in Bucharest, the Romanian capital, 224 elsewhere in the country, and 6,185 injured.

Officials in neighboring Bulgaria reported 50 deaths in the quake last Friday night and 120 injured, while one death and 100 injured were reported in Yugoslavia.

Western diplomats estimate that the dead in Bucharest could total 4,000 by the time the work teams finish digging through the ruins of 32 apartment buildings and other structures that were

Concorde Landings Delayed

NEW YORK (AP)- A decision on whether the controversial supersonic Concorde airplane can land at Kennedy Airport has been postponed indefinitely, but that hasn't grounded the ballooning verbiage on the issue.

Commissioners of the Port Authority of New York and New Jersey moved unanimously Monday to remove from the agenda of Thursday's meeting the question of whether to lift a ban on Concorde landings at Kennedy.

district court in Lubbock concerning the Hereford Independent School District's (HISD) suit to free it from constraints of the 1975 amendments to the 1965 Voting Rights Act. It was scheduled on district Judge Halbert O. Woodard's docket at 10 a.m. today

At presstime, no decisions had been reported, although school district attorney Richard Green was optimistic that a favorable court ruling would be made for the district by late afternoon. He expected arguments in the case to conclude today over the legal points addressed in the suit by the district.

FIRST THE JUDGE was to rule on whether he alone or a three-judge panel was legally required to hear the case. Once this was established, attorneys were to present live testimony and arguments over the application of the act on the local district.

The suit, filed Jan. 28 against U.S. Attorney General Griffin Bell and the U.S. Justice Department, seeks to gain support for its contention that HISD is not a political subdivision as defined in the act and therefore is not subject to the act. Green was to attempt along with Hereford attorney Earnest Langley to persuade the judge that he has the authority to hear the case by himself and that the district is not a political subdivision since it does not register voters nor handle elections

School Board members were informed of the suit hearing Friday with much surprise since Judge Woodward has said in a letter dated Feb. 25 that his overloaded docket would prevent any which the Justice Department objects to. Interest in the case stretches across Texas and other states since the authority of the act in question is at stake for all school districts and political entities now covered. Even Texas Attorney General John Hill and the Texas Association of School Boards have entered the case as

"friends of the court." Green noted that if the case is decided in favor of the district, local governments won't be at the mercy of the federal government every time some action is to be taken. As it now stands the act allows the Justice Department officials to approve all actions taken, thereby slowing the local government process, officials stated.

TEXAS ASSISTANT ATTORNEY General Tom Choate, representing Hill, said in a Lubbock newspaper the case has wide significance. "It doesn't matter what the Voting Rights act says, because it doesn't apply to the district.

He also claims the district is not liable under the act since it does not register voters and that "It is clear that they're not a political subdivision.

He said the district's difficulty in submitting election changes to the Justice Department, getting approval of the changes and appealing the decisions are "a very significant matter to consider

Since the district falls in three counties (Deaf Smith, Castro, and Parmer), the district officials claim that the three counties involved register voters and the district does not. Counties in Texas are responsible for voter registration.

A deputy tax assessor-collector of Nell Miller, Deaf Smith County tax assessor-collector, was expected to be one of the witnesses called today. Also, conducted on the proposed budget, none of seven persons present contested it. It is for the fiscal year beginning May 1, 1977 and ending April 30, 1978.

In adopting the budget, the city commissioners dropped the tax rate from $1.20 to $1.10 per $100 of assessed valuation. It is based on a tax assessment ratio of 45 per cent. Dudley Bayne city manager, said that the commissioners were able to drop the rate since a higher total tax base prevailed this year after much new construction and the reappraisal program recently conducted. Of course, some taxes will increase while others will drop due to the reappraisal.

Also concerning the budget, the commissioners decided to allocate revenue sharing funds over the next two or three years toward purchasing a site and building a new city hall.

The total operating budget for the coming year is $2,064, 562 which includes the operating and sinking funds. Minus the interest and sinking, the budget is $1,936,174 which compares with $1,800,798 for last year.

Junior Pageant Rescheduled

Hereford Pageant, officials have changed the pageant time to 1 p.m. Saturday. The program had originally been scheduled to commence at 2 o'clock.

The pageant will be held in the Hereford High School auditorium and tickets will be sold at the door for $2 each. The admission price will include a program book. The Little Miss contest, as well as the Miss Hereford pageant, are sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

Nanah Braly and Donna Warrick, directors of the junior pageant, stress that it is mandatory for all entrants to be present for the rehearsal at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow at the high school. There will be no exceptions.

The recent influx of pageant entries resulted in 38 girls deciding to compete for the Miss Junior High title. There are 13 competitors in the Little Princess category, ages 10-12, and 21 girls in the Miss Petite division, ages 6-9. Pageant officials report that twenty 3-5-year-olds will be entered in the Cutest Miss category.

Special entertainment will be provided during the afternoon pageant by Craig McCuistian, young vocalist, and Quenton Renfro, pianist. Escorting the Little Miss entrants will be Chet Bunch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bunch, and Scott Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Simmons.

There will be no talent segment for Little Miss entrants and there are no requirements concerning wardrobe. The two pageant directors stated that no parents will be allowed backstage Saturday afternoon

The four first place winners of the Little Miss production will be presented Saturday evening to the audience at the Miss Hereford Pageant. Each of these girls will receive a trophy and roses from last year's junior pageant winners.

Kathy Johnson, mistress of ceremonies at the Little Miss production, will introduce the three judges, who will include Mrs. John Taylor of Friona and Mrs. John Simpson and Mrs. W.E. Reeves, both of Tulia.

Any questions concerning the junior pageant should be directed to Mrs. Warrick, 364-4764, or Mrs. Braly, 364-0831.

Don't ask me how, but my kids know about crop failures long before the weather service or the farmers know. On the exact day it was reported the orange crop in Florida was severely damaged and that the price of orange juice would double, they went into "citrus shock." "Where's the orange juice?" my son yelled. "There was half a gallon in here this morning."

"You drank it," I accused.

"Anita Bryant says its good for you."

"Anita Bryant doesn't have to borrow from the credit union to keep you fed." "You don't want me to be sick, do you?"

"All I know is if you keep slugging down the citrus, your gums are going to pucker so bad the won't be able to cover your teeth. Besides, you never used to drink orange juice."

'That was before I knew how much it cost.' It was the same story a few years back with meat. The higher the price of meat soared, the more they craved it. They were using language like "eye of the round," "standing ribs" and "briskets."

"What happened to you?" I asked. "You never used to talk that way."

"You don't want us to be sick, do you?" Yesterday, I couldn't believe it when I opened the refrigerator. My tomato was gone. I marched to my son's bedroom and said, "All right, let's have it."

"Have what?" he asked innocently.

"The tomato. I saved two weeks for that tomato."

"Where was it?" he asked. "In the back of the refrigerator behind the baking soda... gift wrapped. I was going to give it to Grandma for her

"I ate it. How was I to know?"

"You don't even like tomatoes. You've never like tomatoes. They make your tongue break out!"

"Would you rather I drank coffee? Chocolate?"

"Ate tuna? Peanut butter? Eggs?"

"Oh, c'mon."

"You know something," he said, staring blankly into space. "I got a craving for an ice cream cone."

Don't be surprised if you open your paper tomorrow and find out ice cream has gone up-due to a freeze.

2. ANGIOCARDIOGRAPHY-X-ray examination of the heart and great blood vessels by study of a radiopaque fluid which has been injected into the blood stream.

3. ANTICOAGULANTS-drugs which delay clotting of the blood. When a blood vessel is plugged up by a clot, they tend to prevent new clots from forming, or the existing clots from enlarging; they do not dissolve an existing clot. Examples are heparin and the coumarin derivatives

4. ANTIHYPERTENSIVE GENTS-drugs which are used to lower blood pressure, such as tranquilizers, drugs to relax blood vessels, and diuretics, among others.

5. AORTA- the main trunk artery which receives blood from the left ventricle of the heart and starts its distribution throughout the body. It arches up over the heart like a cane handle, and passes down through the chest and abdomen in front of the spine. It gives off branching arteries which conduct blood to all parts of the body. 6. ARRHYTHMIA-an abnor-

8. CHOLESTEROL-a fat-like substance found in animal tissue. In blood tests the normal level for young, healthy Americans is between 180 and 230 milligrams per 100 cc. Higher levels are associated with increasing age and risk of coronary atherosclerosis.

10. CORONARY ATHEROS-

CLEROSIS-an irregular thickening of the inner layer of the walls of the arteries which conduct blood to the heart muscle. The internal channel of these arteries (the coronaries) becomes narrowed, and the blood supply to the heart muscle is reduced.

11. CORONARY OCCLUSION an obstruction (generally a blood clot), in a branch of one of the coronary arteries, which hinders the flow of blood to some part of the heart muscle. This part of the heart muscle then fails to function properly because of lack of blood supply Sometimes called a "coronary" or simply a heart attack.

Ada Buys Coal Land

Ada Resources, Inc. has entered into negotiations with several affiliated coal companies and individuals for the acquisition of coal mining assets in Bell County, Kentucky and Claibourne County, Tennessee.

It owns two feedyards here. K.S. Adams, Jr. chairman and president of Houston-based Ada Resources, said the negotiations are in their early stages and that several conditions must be met before a definitive agreement may be concluded.

Assets include leases covering estimated reserves of aproximately 20 million tons of recoverable low sulfur coal being produced from two surface mines and three underground mines. The current negotiations also include equipment sufficient to produce more than 70,000 tons of coal per month and certain other

If acquired, the coal leases would be operated by a new subsidiary of Ada Resources. The Company's present coal subsidiary, Plastics Universal Corporation, has completed its exploration program and is now permitting acreage in preparation for commencement of production within the next three months.

Ada Resources is a diversified energy company with producing oil and gas properties, petroleum products marketing and transportation operations and cattle feedvard operations. The majority of the company's internally generated funds are invested in exploration for oil and gas in southern Louisiana and in its coal business in eastern Kentucky.

For many the fascination of cruising the Pacific has long since worn off. Gossips in an-chorages across the Pacific tell of broken marriages, failed love affairs and ruptured friendships.
"Sailing is the most ex-

But for others, like Jeff Munger, 32, of Rumson, N.J., it is a way of life. "Sure, there are some nights

They left Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in December 1973, cruised the Caribbean, sailed through the Panama Canal, the Mar-quesas, Tahiti, Samoa, Tonga quesas, and Fiji.

Republicans Hope To Scrap Rebates

numbered House Republicans are hoping to pick up enough Democratic votes to junk President Carter's proposed $50-per- person rebate and give Americans a permanent tax cut instead.

Several Democrats share the GOP's distaste for the rebate, but there is no indication that enough will switch votes to kill the rebate and hand Carter a major defeat. A similar Republican effort was defeated last month, 285 to 148.

The vote on the Republican proposal is expected to be the last preliminary question before the House was to decide late today on a tax cut aimed at stimulating the economy. House approval of the tax-cut package would send the measure to the Senate, where the Finance Committee scheduled hearings on the plan today.

The rebates for an estimated 200 million Americans are the key element of Carter's tax-cut

Carter also wants to raise the standard deduction, which would mean a permanent tax cut averaging $105 for 45 million couples or individuals. Some 88 per cent of the tax cut would go to families or persons with incomes under $15,000, but the 31 per cent of the taxpayers who itemize deductions would get no benefits.

As a substitute for the Carter

WASHINGTON (AP)- Out- rebate, the House Republican Conference wants to permanently cut tax rates across the board, targeting the reductions on middle- and upper-income families regardless of whether they itemize or use the standard

Under the GOP plan, 67 per cent of the money would go to those with incomes under $20,000; 11 per cent would go to persons earning more than $30,000 a year.

This would result in a $121 tax cut for a single person earning $10,000 a year; a $185 cut for a family of four earning $15,000, and a $250 cut for a four-member family earning

Why a permanent tax cut instead of the rebate? "Give somebody $50 and he'll spend it on something costing $50 or maybe $100," reasons a House Republican aide. "But give him a permanent tax cut something he can count on for a long time- and he'll buy a car or ome other big purchase that will really help the economy."

Republicans note that efforts to prevent some persons from getting two $50 checks will cause such a delay that some rebates won't even be mailed until late July or August.

That delay obviously would work against the aim of the rebates: to give the economy a quick infusion of cash.

Mandatory car checks would save fuel

By William A. Raftery

Less than four years after the Arabs lifted their oil embargo, the United States is more dependent than ever on foreign oil, particularly oil from the Middle East. Our rate of reliance on foreign oil is growing — and with it our vulnerability to economic and political blackmail: Nevertheless, the United States still has no long-range energy program apart from more public relations content than substance. While the political implications of the problem have paralyzed the government, the squandering of a precious resource con-tinues unabated and the nation becomes increasingly depen-dent on other countries to provide the fuel that keeps our economy functioning.

Opinion

While more time may be needed to define a thoughtful, comprehensive long-range program to develop new energy sources and conserve existing sources, the government could within a matter of months institute a mandatory program which would cut fuel consumption by as much as 375,000 barrels of crude oil a day, according to Environmental Protection Agency data.

That could be accomplished by a nationwide Periodic Motor Vehicle Inspection (PMVI) program under which gas wasters would be required to have their vehicles operate at maximum efficiency. This would not only result in better mileage, but also keep pollutants at a satisfactorily low level — as proven in such states as New Jersey which has a highly successful inspection program.

While some motorists might find mandatory inspections an inconvenience and even an infringement on their imagined "right" to pollute, most Americans would be likely to respond favorably — if they fully understand the benefits of such inspections and the need. And hardly anyone is libely to resent the potential likely to resent the potential savings and increased driving comfort associated with a properly functioning car.

Congress regulates pollution levels of new vehicles but has not dealt on a compre sive basis with the fact that once new cars are on the road they become polluters relatively quickly without proper maintenance. Can we rely on motorists to voluntarily maintain their vehicles in good operating conditions?

Wolverines Assume Cage Leader Role

The Big Ten Conference champions, who meet Holy Cross in an opening round NCAA tournament game Sunday, won three times last week, beating Illinois and Purdue in addition to Marquette.

Both Tennessee, which advanced from No. 11, and Kentucky will be in the NCAA playoffs. The Vols face Syracuse in an opening--round game, while Kentucky faces Princeton. Southwest Conference champion Arkansas was eighth in the poll on the strength of a 26-1 record: Arganese mests Wake Forest in NCAA play Saturday.

Minnesota, 24-3, is on NCAA suspension and ineligible for posteseason play, but the opening-round match Saturday. Gophers were ninth in the voting. Syracuse, 25-3, rounded out the Top Ten.

Mays, Bell Show Off At Pampa Track Meet

By BOB NIGH Brand Sports Editor

Hereford's James Mays traded his basketball sneakers for a pair of spikes last Wednesday and put them to good use Saturday as he set a new meet record in winning the 880 at the Pampa Invitational Track Meet.

Herd sophomore Paul Bell opened his season on a tear also, emerging the meet's only double winner with a pair of victories in the 100 and 220.

The Perryton Rangers won team honors at the meet with a total of 109 points, just one better than Tascosa's 108 and four ahead of Palo Duro's 105. The Whitefaces finished fourth with a total of 55 points: host Pampa was fifth with 40; Dumas sixth with 30 points. Caprock seventh with 29, and Borger finished eighth with 8

Mays bettered the meet and a half with a blazing 1:58.5 in his first outing since reporting from the cage camp.

'He's quite a bit stronger than last year, and his time Saturday was one tenth of a second better than his best time last year." Herd mentor Robert Priest commented.

In addition Mays anchored the Whiteface mile relay team with a 50.1 leg, the fastest by any member of the team to date, Priest reported.

'He has a good chance to go to state," the coach added. Bell's two wins came out of a five-event day, which included prelims in both the 100 and 220 as well as action in the pole vault, long jump, and 440 relay. "He had a good workout, and we expect him to develop strongly," the coach said. "At the present he has the best 100 time in the district." Bell posted a 10.1 in winning the 100 and a 23.0 in taking the 220 title. He also finished sixth

Worry Expressed Over Sharp Drop In Ground Water Levels

WASHINGTON (AP)- U.S. Geological Survey officials are expressing increasing worry over the sharp drought-produced decline in ground water levels around the country.

He did not say at what point he might decide to impose rationing.

Even without rationing, Robie said. "Everyone will be impacted by less agricultural production, higher food prices, energy shortage poblems and the general economic problems the drought will cause."

He estimated that generation of hydroelectric power from shrunken reservoirs would be down by 63 per cent this year, although electricity will be available from other sources.

In the Senate, a handful of senators fought off attempts to Sen. Carlos Turan, D-Corpus Christi, prompted the Senate to adjourn Monday rather than listen to his lengthy complaints about the welfare measure. The bill, sponsored by Sen.

David Walterscheid of the Hereford FFA exhibited this crossbred berrow for his sister. Brenda, at the Houston Livestock Show last week and took the animal to Reserve Breed Champion honors. The barrow was bred by Jimmie Christie of Hereford. David and Brenda are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Walterscheid. This was David's first occasion to show at Houston.

In an event associated with the huge livestock rodeo, Cory Springer of the hereford FFA wrestled a calf across the finish line at the Feb. 26 calf scramble and won a $275 calf purchase certificate from Industrial Equipment Co. of Houston.

The certificate will be used to purchase a purebred registered calf which will be fed for special show ring competition at next year's rodeo.

Champ Light Angus

Scott Clearman, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Clearman of Hereford and a member of the Deaf Smith County 4-H, showed the first place lightweight Angus steer at the junior steer show at the Houston Livestock Show last week. Clearman's steer weighed in at 891 pounds, and the breeder of the young 4-H'ers steer is Thurman Atchiey of Hereford. Clearman has been exhibiting livestock for four years and last week marked his second appearance at Houston.

Longhorn Breed Being Reconsidered By Producers

The famed Texas Longhorn, long a symbol of the birth of the nation's cattle industry, is being reconsidered by producers interested in incorporating them into modern breeding programs, according to Agriculture Commissioner

AUSTIN-The Texas Longhorn, long a major symbol of the birth of the nation's cattle industry, may well be making a comeback among cattle breeders.

"Breeders from Texas to Canada, from Minnesota to California, are re-examining the unique qualities of the Longhorn breed in order to incorporate them into modern breeding programs," according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Some ten million head of Longhorns made the long journey up Texas cattle trails to northern and eastern markets in the 25 years following the Civil War

But by the turn of the century, the combination of barbed wire fences and imported breeds began to spell doom for the breed's dominance. Within a few years, Longhorns were nearer extinction than the American buffalo.

Interest in the breed has never died out altogether, and since 1964, the Texas Longhorn Breeders Association of America (TLBAA) has been telling the Longhorn story

'The uncertain economics of modern-day cattle production have fostered a second look at Longhorn genetic characteristics."
