'Honeymoon' May Gain Rebates

WASHINGTON (AP)- Thanks to the "honeymoon" that Congress traditionally grants to a new chief executive, President Carter apparently has the votes to win Senate Finance Committee approval of his $50-per-person tax rebate. But Carter can expect a stiff fight when the measure reaches the Senate floor. A final committee vote on the tax bill could come today.

Democratic members of the committee stuck together when the panel refused on separate 10-8 votes Thursday to substitute a permanent tax cut.

Water Projects 'Endangered'

WASHINGTON (AP)- The Carter administration has told Texas congressmen that six more water projects are on its "endangered" list, including the billion-dollar Trinity River project between Dallas and Houston.

The six projects are all under the jurisdiction of the Army Corps of Engineers. They join two Bureau of Reclamation reservoir projects in the Corpus Christi area to make a total of eight Texas projects that may never be

Bitterness Follows Conviction

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)- Wendy Yoshimura, sentenced to 1 to 15 years in state prison, claims past ties with Patricia Hearst and the Symbionese Liberation Army led to her trial and conviction in a weapons cache case.

But Alameda County Superior Court Judge Martin Pulich cited the association with Miss Hearst as one reason for granting Miss Yoshimura bail after he imposed sentence Thursday.

He hiked Miss Yoshimura's bail from $25,000 to $50,000 but allowed her to remain free while she raises the bail

World Free Travel Arrives

WASHINGTON (AP)- An executive order that has kept Americans from traveling to four Communist countries is expiring today and that means U.S. citizens are free to travel anywhere in the world for the first time in 27 years.

President Carter announced nine days ago that he would not renew the ban on travel by Americans to Cuba, Vietnam, North Korea and Cambodia.

The restrictions had been renewed semi- annually by previous administrations but Carter decided they were inconsistent with human rights.

Consumer Prices Climbing

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumer prices leaped one per cent in February, the biggest inflationary surge in 21/2 years, largely as the result of the severe winter weather's impact on food supplies, the government said today.

The Labor Department said about half the increase stemmed from higher food prices as killing frost in the South and drought in the West curtailed supplies.

Food prices alone rose 2 per cent in February, the sharpest rise in three years, with fresh vegetable prices jumping a record 20.9 per cent.

Most other food prices also were up sharply, including fresh fruits, and coffee which jumped another 9.9 per cent last month for a total increase of 82.9 since February 1976.

High prices for gasoline and other fuels also reflected winter's impact.

The February price increase, following January's eight-tenths of a per cent rise in consumer prices, was certain to add to fears that inflation may be worse this year than in 1976, when prices rose only a moderate 4.8 per cent.

If prices continued to increase for the full year at the February rate, it would translate into a 12 per cent jump in prices. However, the Carter administration believes the underlying inflation rate probably is still between 5 per cent and 6 per cent and that prices will begin moderating once the impact of the winter weather runs its course

THE EDITOR of any newspaper gets calls from readers who are unhappy about something in the paper, or something that was not in the paper. Just what does a reader want to see in a local paper? There are as many answers as there are readers. One frustrated Oregon editor, with tongue in cheek, wrote these answers to the perennial question:

1. My name. 2. A front page article showing how crooked the city government is most of the time 3. My wife's name

4. A featured article showing 25 ways on how to cheat on income tax forms. 5. My kid's names.

6. A local news item about the affair my neighbor is having. 7. A classified ad offering a new home for sale for $4,000. 8. More news about lawbreakers.

9. Less news about lawbreakers. I was picked up last night and I should not have to pay a fine.

10. An editorial condemning high school teachers for being liberal with "F's." 11. A wedding picture of the groom instead of the bride when he is more handsome than she is pretty. 12. A sports picture of me when I bowled

Absentee Voting Gains Little Interest During First Week

Absentee voting in the four local elections scheduled for April 2 has been slow so far compared with earlier years when elections seemed to garner early voter interest. It began Monday.

Based on reports from the three entities handling votes, eight ballots have been cast so far as of presstime today. Actually, fewer persons could have voted since the ballots could be from the some of the same people.

The city, independent school district, hospital board and county school board elections are all scheduled for the same day with absentee voting being held at different locations. The deadline for absentee balloting is Tuesday, March 29. The Hereford School District tax office is handling the school voting, the city clerk's office is responsible for the city elections, and the county clerk's office is ccordinating for the city elections, and the county clerk's office is coordinating the hospital board and county school board elections. Those voting in the Walcott School District may absentee vote at the Walcott School.

In a late development Thursday, Eugene Barela, a candidate for place 2 on the Hereford City Commission, announced he was no longer a contender for the post due to "personal reasons." His name must remain on the ballot but he said he was withdrawing from consideration due to complications with his job at Armour Foods which might

Grandmother Obeys Order After Jail Time

HOUSTON (AP) - An ailing 70-year-old grandmother said she will obey a court order and get rid of a carport at her home after a night in jail caused her to be "upset and nervous."

Diddie Smith was held in contempt of court by State District Court Judge John Snell, ordered to serve a five-day jail sentence and pay a $200 fine because she failed to remove the $1,100 carport she had built in front of her northwest Houston home.

She spent Tuesday night in a cell at the county jail with seven or eight other female prisoners but attorney Dan Rhodes arranged for her release Wednesday by posting a $500 bond set by State District Court Judge Max Boyer.

The Lazybrook Civic Club, of which Mrs. Smith is a member, won a court removed claiming it violated subdivision

On the ballot against him were E. Earl Brookhart, a retail store owner, an Ed Coplen, also a local retailer. Other candidates in the city race are Paul Abalos (incumbent) and John Matthews, a teacher, in place 1; and accountant Bartley Dowell and construction contractor Emory Brownlow for mayor. Brownlow would have been the incumbent in place 2 had he filed for the post. Abalos runs a restaurant and is employed with the school district.

Candidates in the Hereford School Board of Trustees races are incumbent David Hutchins, a farmer, in place 4; Mack Tubb, attorney, in place 6; and restaurant manager Trini Gamez, REC rural development manager David Pruitt, and livestock raiser Bill Walden in place 7. Incumbents in place 6 and 7 are not seeking re-election.

On the Hospital Board ballot, the following contenders are listed: Gerald Payne, Eddie Reinauer Jr., and incumbent Hap Cavness and Isaias

To Change

Lifestyle

WASHINGTON (AP)- President Carter says his proposal for a national energy policy will make his popularity rating pulummet because his plan "will substantially change the lifestyle of the American people.

Chatting with reporters Thursday night as he neared the end of his first meet-thepeople trip, Carter said his energy plan means "some very difficult decisions will have to be made by Congress."

The President said, "I'm going to take as much of the disapproval and disappointment of the American people on myself as President to make it easier for Congress to move forward."

Carter planned today to sign legislation that will halt the importation of chrome from Rhodesia. Carter had supported the measure, saying it would underline U.S. commitment to black majority sule in the African nation, now controlled by a white

On his whirlwind two-day trip, the President participated in an energy roundtable in Charleston, W. Va., where

"We now have above a 70 per cent favorable rating in the polls for our job so far, but when we come out with an energy policy on April 20 we will probably lose about 10 or 15 per cent of that." That was a reference to the most recent Gallup Poll, which showed 70 per cent of those questioned saying they approve of Carter's performance as President, while 9 per cent disapproved. The rest had no opinion. Carter said he was willing to sacrifice some of his popularity among the people "to require them to face the brutal facts that we all are going to have to work together to deal with the impending crisis... as energy runs out" in the years ahead. The President gave few details of what he has in mind beyond emphasizing conservation programs and greater utilization of coal.

He did say he wants to provide "an easy way for homeowners to heat their homes" and urged investments in insulation.

The trip that began Wednesday afternoon took him to Clinton, Mass., for a town hall meeting, to Charleston and then to United Nations headquarters in New York where he addressed world diplomats. He returned to the White House late Thursday.

Referring to his Clinton and Charleston appearances, Carter told reporters: "That's the kind of thing I like to do. It makes me feel sure of myself when I go back to the White House.

In Charleston, he seemed sure of his moves to cut the budget by scrapping federal water projects. He declared: 'This will be a major struggle between me and the Congress... I hate, as a brand new Democratic president, to have an argument with Congress, but I'm know about this." At the United Nations, Carter vowed to end the arms race and to continue his emphasis on human rights. Human rights, he said, will be the "backbone of our foreign policy."

The President rejected arguments that a country's handling of its citizens is an internal matter out of the realm of foreign affairs, noting that all U.N. members have pledged to observe basic human

Local Officer Wins Suit Over Drug Raid

A local law enforcement officer was one of the fortunate defendants in a civil suit filed against six area officers as the result of a drug raid last year on a Plainview Apartment

Federal District Court Judge Halbert O. Woodward filed a judgment Thursday in Amarillo which released Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Officer Robert Barnes from any liability in the $303,000 civil rights suit filed against him and five other officers. He was assigned as a Metro-Intelligence Unit (composed of Deaf Smith, Randall and Potter Counties) representative in the raid.

As it turned out, the officers, seeking drugs in the Plainview apartment knocked down the door of the wrong apartment. The plaintiffs in the case were the ones living in the residence including Ted Hooks, his fiance Dianne Duncan. and her roomate Delia Guitierrez.

The original defendants in the case besides Barnes are Russell Ivy and Mike Patterson, former Amarilo Metro-Intelligence Unit officers; Former Hale County Major Crime and Narcotics Commission members Benny Clifton and Gary Gillespie; former Hale County deputy sheriffs Gary Noblett, David McDaniels and Clyde Vandergriff, and former Plainview police Lt. Richard Sims.

Sims, McDaniels, and Vandergriff were dropped from the case after both sides in the case agreed.

The plaintiffs, court reporter students, were ordered to pay court costs and can not receive any damages based on the decision.

The case was tried last month with a hung jury resulting after two days of deliberations. The trial concluded Feb. 25. with the final deliberation of the jury. The incident which took place on March 19, 1976 involved a suspected heroin pusher who lived beneath the plaintiffs.

The petition by defendants claimed that their constitutional rights were violated when the officers entered the apartment without a proper search; warrant, awoke them from sleep and arrested them.

Defendants' attorneys argued successfully that the officers did act in good faith in carrying out the warrant, which specifically directed them to the upstairs apartment. Judge Woodward agreed that even with forcible means, the officers acted correctly since past cases have supported that, "good faith and reasonible belief are complete defenses to any entry even though forced and without announcement, that the police officers are acting under a warrant, and in taking action necessary to protect themselves under circumstances.

Attorneys for the plaintiffs argued the warrant was no good since it was obtained with incorrect evidence.

Woodward admitted in the judgment that he made an error in instruction the jury when he directed them to decide a legal question as follows: Did the officers act maliciously, capriciously or arbitrarily in carrying out the search warrant?

ARBOR DAY, was first observed April 10, 1872 in Nebraska. Now, two-thirds of the states have laws, resolutions or annual proclamations for observance of Arbor Day and it is a legal holiday in many. The custom of observing Arbor Day spread throughout this country and into several others. Our next observance will be January 21, 1978 (always on the third Friday in January). Because of the difference in climate over the United States, (and in some states) Arbor Day falls on different dates in different states. In our area, Arbor Day is usually observed on a Friday in April.

We are indebted to garden clubs for doing much to promote Arbor Day observance in Hereford; the results have been several beautiful trees and shrubs planted in parks, special gardens via beautification programs. Governor James Stephen

Hogg, our first Texas-born Governor, was credited with leading the adoption of Arbor Day legislation, when he said. want no old-fashioned monument of stone or marble. but plant at my head a pecan tree and at my feet an old-fashioned walnut. Piano At Local Museum Of Old Tascoda Vintage

Contributed By SUE COLEMAN

On loan to the Deaf Smith County Historical Museum, an unusual piano dating from the turn of the century is linked to the history of the family of Thomas Benton Jones, a pioneer cowboy, resident of Old Tascosa and Oldham County Judge.

THE IMPORTANCE OF QUALITY

Several years back I made an emergency trip to visit with my niece, Ann, who was then a teenager. She has become "uncontrollable" according to her mother. As a result of the visit, it was quite plain to me that the mother had exercised "force" (both physical and verbal) over her daughter most of her life. When Ann discovered that her mother could no longer "make" her do anything, she lost interest in their relationship and her total family for which she had been responsible most of her life.

The point I want to make with this story is that we need to look at the QUALITY of our relationships with a child.

We have the idea that we are larger and more powerful and, consequently, can dominate what a child does. I suggest we relate on the level of human being to human being. Let's share feelings of good will, appreciation, respect and love. Let these be the foundation of the relationship. When they are, there is no possibility of a child suddenly realizing that he is as physically strong as the adult who has been exercising power and force and there's no basis for the relationship.

Let's compare a quality

Mrs. Garrigan's lively history tells much of her childhood in Tascosa, where Frenchy McCormick, later noted as the last resident of the ghost town which it became, was just a friendly neighbor.

She writes of Jack Cooper, the saloon owner who loaned the big lamp from over the bar to light the tiny adobe church where her parents were married by Father Dunne, and other figures from the past including lawyers Amarillo who came for the court sessions while Jones was county judge and were friends of the Jones children.

FAITH LED ST. PATRICK ON HIS MISSION TO IRELAND

ike so many of our special events, St. Patrick's Day has come down to us as a far cry from its religious origin, where a Catholic bishop journeyed to Ireland in 432 A.D. to introduce Christianity; an act for which he became their patron saint. Today, Irish descendants celebrate the occasion with parades, parties and green apparel. But they maintain the Shamrock as the symbol of the deeper meaning of the day; pride in their faith and their beliefs. For what St. Patrick and others did throughout the centuries was exactly what all of us should do, to the best of our ability: set the example and thereby encourage those around us to attend the Church of their choice, where they will learn that we are all the children of God, no matter where we live on this earth.

Young Gains Unanimous Decision Over Foreman

unanimous decision Thursday

About 45 minutes later. Foreman's brother appeared at the post-fight interview area and told reporters that George would not be there. A short time later, Foreman was carried from his dressing room on a stretcher and taken by ambulance to a hospital.

Gil Clancy, one of Foreman's trainers, said that the former champion was suffering from heat and exhaustion and that he was okay. Promoter Don King said he felt that it was more frustration than anything.

But a spokeman for Presbyterian Hospital said Foreman was admitted to the intensive care unit. He would make no further five rounds.

The victory puts Young in line for a rematch with Ali, to whom he lost a disputed 15-round decision last year.

But while Ray Kelly, a young co-manager shouted, "we want Ali," Don King, who promoted the upset, was talking about matching Young against the winner of the Ken Norton-Duane Bobock bout in this Caribbean captial. Norton and Bobick will fight in New York's Madison Square Garden May

As for Foreman, King was talking about getting him back in action as soon as possible, but it won't be against Ali, at least not in the near future.

Referee Waldemar Schmidt scored it 118-111 for Young. Judge Cesar Ramos scored it 116-112 and Ismael Fermandez ruled it 115-113, both for young. The AP scoreboard had it

Bonnies, Cougars Win In NIT Semis

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Jim Satalin had "Gardenitis" -- that nervous affliction that has fogged the minds of many basketball coaches at Madison Square Garden.

'I almost blew it because I wasn't smart," said the St. Bonaventure coach.

Luckily, he had some clever players to make up for his coaching mistakes Thursday night, and the Bonnies moved into Sunday's final of the National Invitation Tournament with an 86-82 victory over Villanova. They will meet Houston, an 82-76 winner over Alabama in Thursday's night's other semifinal game.

Satalin particularly faulted himself for the foul trouble of his two leading scorers, Essie Hollis and Greg Sanders. They the first half and had to sit out some crucial moments before and after intermission.

"I wasn't smart enough to take them out earlier." Satalin said. "I should have sat them down when they got their second fouls. If we had lost the game, I would have blamed myself."

Glenn Hagan came to Satalin's rescue. Usually the Bonnies' playmaker, he turned into their top scorer with 26 points, including 22 in the second half.

Finley Loses Suit; Promises To Fig

By HOWARD ULMAN AP Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) - A strike-out pitch from a federal judge hasn't taken the starch out of Charlie Finley. The feisty Oakland A's owner is making fighting noises again as he warms up for the next inning.

"We've lost the battle, but we haven't lost the war," Finley said Thursday night in declaring he would appeal within two weeks the loss of his lawsuit against Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

"I'll never forget this St. Patrick's Day. It's been the most miserable of my life. But, as the old saying goes, there'll be another day," he said.

"It makes me think of the old adage: "If you want to see the sun shine, you have to weather the storm.' But you have to hang in there."

The latest cloudburst soaked Finley Thursday when U.S. District Court Judge Frank J. McGarr ruled Kuhn had great powers, including the authority to void Finley's sales last June 15 of three stars.

The colorful boss of the newlook A's said he was disappointed by the decision of McGarr, who professed no love for baseball. But Finley flashed signs of optimism.

"In the front of every pawnshop throughout the country there's three brass balls hanging over the sidewalk in front of the store. You know what those balls stand for? They mean we buy, we sell and we trade. And that's the way that this ballclub won three world championships and five consecutive division titles and we're going to do it again."

Finley said McGarr's ruling the A's and if Kuhn tries to block another of his transactions he'll take the commissioner back to court.

But next time, Kuhn could be armed with a copy of McGarr's

The judge said Finley's $3.5 million suit came down to a single issue: Did Kuhn have the power to void deals which he felt were not in baseball's best interests. McGarr's answer was Whether Kuhn was right in deciding that the sales were not in the best interests of baseball had no bearing on the case, said McGarr.

It was a legal confrontation, not a hot-stove debate over what the attempted sales of Joe Rudi and Rollie fingers to Boston for a million dollars each and Vida Blue to the New York Yankees for $1.5 million would mean for the national pastti McGarr said baseball'is owners themselves gave Kuhn the power to block actions which he considers to be not in the best interests of the game. He noted that the "questionable wisdom of this broad delegation of power is not before the court it was a prime topic for Finley. who said, "A man can't have this kind of power, no way. The Kuhn was "obiviously plea-sed" by the ruling which found on ill will or capriciousness on

"I've said right along that there really was more at stake here than a hasale between Charlie Finley and Bowie Kuhn," the commissioner said, "What is more important is the fact that the court upheld the what he thinks is right for

Trinity Net Coach Has Happy Problem

HOUSTON (AP) - Trinity University tennis coach Bob McKinley has a delightful dilemma---three No. 1 players on his team and he has to decide almost daily who's going to play the No. 1 position.

His current No. 1 is freshman Tony Giammalva, formerly of Houston, who advanced thr the first two rounds Thursday of the 19th annual Rice Invitational Tennis Tournament to protect his No. 1 seed.

"I guess you'd say we have a rotating lineup," said McKin-ley. "Tony has played No. 1 in a lot of the big matches. He is an aggressive player and I have a theory that you have to be aggressive in the big matches. He does very well and isn't

'Go Ahead Take This' Could Lead To Drug Addiction

"Go ahead and take this. It will make you feel better." These are words parents use that begin the social pressure that eventually could lead to experimentation with drugs. according to Reverend Bill

Lang, director of the Deaf Smith County Council on Alcoholism, was speaking before the Noon Kiwanis at their Thursday meeting. "It will make you feel better" is the phrase that many parents use when they try to persuade children to take aspirin, cough syrup and other medications. In later life, this is the same phrase that peer groups will use to coerce a young person to try drugs. This, in essense, makes a are a society dependent on drugs. Many drugs are socially acceptable, such as caffiene. nicotine and the many sleeping aids, keep- awake aids and a multitude of non-prescription drugs. The most socially acceptable is, of course, beverage alcohol. And it is also the most abused drug.

According to national statis tics based on population, Hereford has approximately 700 alcoholics. Lang said that the age limit on alcoholics and other drug abusers would surprise most Hereford citizens. Young people begin experimenting

Residents Warned About Flights

27th Tactical Fighter Wing (TFW), Cannon AFB, New Mexico, wishes to inform local residents of low altitude navigation flights in their general area. These low level flights are an integral part of F-111D aircrew training.

This training is vital to the Air Force mission as it provides realistic simulation of combat sorties. During these missions, 27TFW aircrews are flying precision training routes to increase their combat readiness and maintain a high degree of proficiency. These low altitude routes are designed to train aircrews to attack enemy targets with the least possible exposure to enemy aircraft and defenses.

The routes depicted are flown in New Mexico, Arizona, and Texas. They have been carefully selected to avoid as many populated areas as possible, and also to by-pass primitive wilderness areas in order that the e areas will not be disturbed.

The VFR low level routes flown by the 27TFW are normally in use from 8 a.m. to 12 Midnight, Monday through Friday. This schedule provides aircrews the training necessary to perform their assigned mission either day or night. Aircraft normally operate on these low level routes between 200 feet and 1500 feet above the surface. Speeds range from 390 knots to 560 knots which is well below supersonic flight.

General aviation pilots have been asked to be particularly alert when flying in areas of low altitude routes. Civilian pilots who maintain an altitude of 2000 feet above the ground will be well clear of military aircraft on these low level routes. Anyone desiring more information on the Cannon AFB VFW low level training program is requested to contact Capt. Jack Bauder, 784-3311, extension 2405.

8 Accidents Kill One, Injure Six The Texas Highway Patrol investigated eight accidents on rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of February, 1977 according to Sergeant W.E. Wells, Highway Patrol supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in one person killed and six persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first two months of 1977 shows a total of 16 accidents resulting in one person killed and 12 persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for February, 1977 shows a total of 414 accidents resulting in 13 persons killed and 275 persons injured, as compared to February, 1976, with 416 accidents resulting in 17 persons killed and 243 persons injured. This was two less accidents, four less killed, and 32 more injured in 1977 at the same period of time.

The 13 traffic deaths for the month of February, 1977 occurred in the following counties: Two each in Lubbock and Randall; and one each in Archer, Wichita, Carson, Deaf Smith, Foard, Hall, Ochiltree, Oldham and Parmer.
