Man Arrested For Rape Here Early This Morning

A 23-year-old Hereford man was arrested early this morning by Hereford police on charges of rape in connection with an incident which occurred at Veteran's Park shortly before midnight last night.

David Mojica was arraigned before Deaf Smith County Justice of the Peace Glen Nelson at 8:30 this morning, and his bond was set at $10,000.

The suspect remained in the county jail in lieu of bond at Brand presstime.

Criminal District Attorney Andy Shuval released the name of the suspect following the arraignment this morning, after the city police department declined to release the name of the suspect or details concerning the case.

Shuval reported that he was called on the matter at about 1:30 this morning.

Common Marketers Enraged

ROME (AP) - The European Common Market's 20th birthday party today was marred by a row because the smaller members haven't been invited to President Carter's first summit conference in May. The Dutch threatened to walk out of the meeting after opening ceremonies because the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Denmark and Ireland will not be represented at Carter's meeting in London with the leaders of France, Britain, West Germany, Italy, Canada and Japan.

Graham Has Hometown Crusade

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP) - Evangelist Billy Graham has kicked off his first "hometown" crusade since 1953.

The Montreat, N.C., native's sermons are expected to draw more than 12,300 persons daily to this mountain city. The crowd is being handled in the civic center, an auditorium and a nearby Roman Catholic Church.

Graham scheduled this crusade in 1973 at the invitation of Dr. John W. White, pastor of Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church in Asheville and chairman of a primarily black delegation which backed the invitation.

Graham's opening sermon Wednesday was entitled "Roots."

Country music recording artist Johnny Cash and his wife, June Carter Cash, were special guests at the first night of the crusade, which ends Sunday.

Warning Planes Wanted

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) - U.S. Defense Secretary Harold Brown sought the support of Western European defense ministers today for the purchase of nearly $3 billion worth of Boeing patrol-command planes to give Western Europe speedier warning of Soviet Bloc troop movements and air attack.

Brown appeared optimistic on his arrival for the meeting of the defense ministers of the North Atlantic allies. But there were signs of opposition from West Germany, which with the United States would pay more than half the bill.

Some West German officials were balking because of Washington's reluctance to build a common U.S.-German battle tank around Bonn's new Leopard II tank.

Congo Leader Executed

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo Republic (AP) - Former President Alphonse Massamba-Debat was executed today for plotting the assassination of President Marien Ngouabi, the ruling military committee announced.

It said Massamba-Debat was convicted by a military tribunal. Ngouabi, who led the military coup that ousted Massamba-Debat in 1968, was shot and killed last Friday. The military committee, which took over, said the gunman was Capt. Barthelemy Kikadidi, who escaped.

Full-Day Kindergarten Touches Off Debate

AUSTIN (AP) - A bill designed to save the state $19 million a year by blocking the start of full-day public kindergarten has advanced to the House after touching off unexpectedly hot debate.

Representatives gutted the bill with an amendment by a 74-59 vote shortly before both chambers of the legislature adjourned for the weekend Thursday afternoon. A final vote is expected Monday.

Under existing law, the state will begin providing funds for full-day, full-year kindergarten in September.

Court Gives Moonies Back To Parents

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Five young followers of the Rev. Sun Myung Moon today begin "deprogramming" sessions their parents hope will change their lives.

"This is very scary," said John Howard, 23, of Danville, Calif., after a court decision Thursday returned him and four others to the custody of their parents for 30 days. "This is like the mental institutions where they put dissidents in Russia."

The ruling by Superior Court Judge S. Lee Vavuris followed 12 days of testimony on Moon's Unification Church and methods employed by those seeking to draw young people away from the religious group.

The parents who sought conservatorship of their children had argued that the church turned their children from creative young adults into unquestioning puppets.

Attorneys for the church members said the decision violated religious freedom and said they would appeal.

TV Show Features Shuval In Crime Package Debate

Deaf Smith County's Criminal District Attorney Andy Shuval will be among four attorneys featured as "stars" in a statewide broadcast to be aired in two parts the next two Sundays.

Shuval said he and Carol Vance, district attorney in Houston, will represent the "pro" side of a debate on Governor Dolph Briscoe's anti-crime package bill now before the state legislature. The "con" side of the debate will be conducted by Frank Maloney, past president of the Criminal Defense Lawyers Association, and Vince Persini, defense lawyer from Dallas.

The program is a presentation of "Capitol Eye" which is hosted by newsmen Winston Bode, the program's owner, and John Ford, political writer of the Austin American-Statesman newspaper.

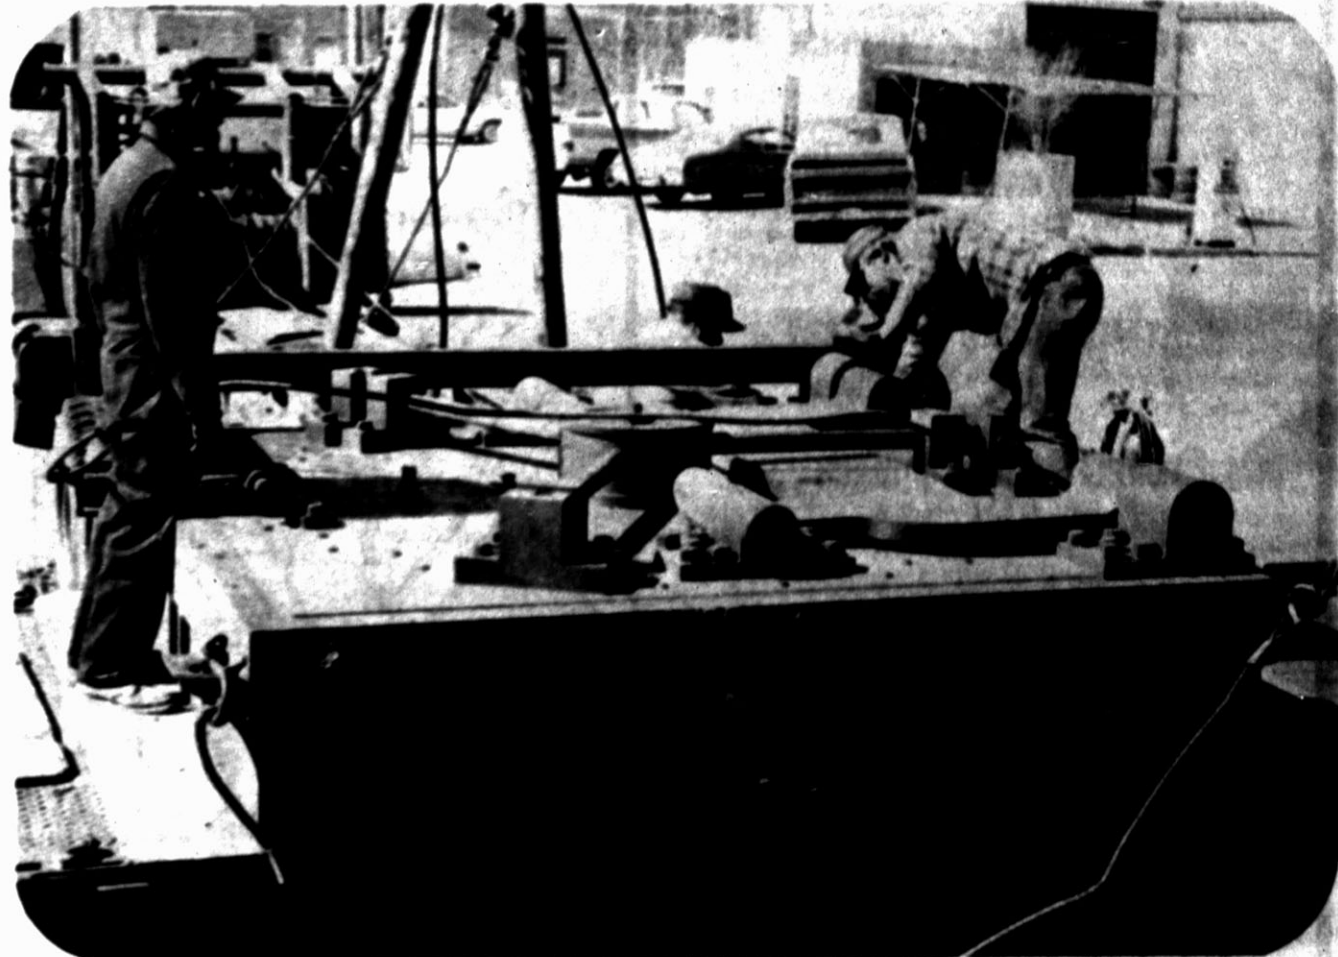

The governor's program to combat crime has gained much controversy over the state as one his major legislative initiatives since taking office. In it was the creation of 23 new state district courts, one of which was formed in Deaf Smith and Oldham Counties.

The show was previously taped for broadcast at 1 p.m. this Sunday, March 27, and the following Sunday, April 3, on cable television channel 13. The channel originates in Dallas and the show was taped in Austin. Shuval represents the smaller, rural area of the state while Vance represents the metropolitan area.

The package is supposed to help fight crime in both segments of society and each offers his interpretation of the bill's effect.

The defense attorneys, who naturally consider the bill more as an infringement upon defendant's rights, will counter the prosecutor's statements from civil rights angles as they view the bill's ultimate effect.

Shuval offers a special perspective to the program since he originally helped draft the governor's bill as past chairman of the legislative committee of the Texas District and County Attorneys Association.

Old, But Safe

This bank vault door weighing about 30,000 pounds is something of an oddity for the new Hereford State Bank building now under construction. Workers are shown unloading the antique, round vault door shortly before it was secured in place. It was purchased about eight years ago from the Mosler Company, which retrieved it from a bank in Brenham, Texas. It was located there for about 44 years. Bank vice president Jeff Carillo said "It's a classic." (Photo By Lanny Smith)

Clayton 'Knows Problem'

State Officials Working On Ways To Fund Wind Erosion Districts

Farmers faced by the hazards of harsh erosion due to the powerful spring winds are getting a helping hand from the state government concerning their efforts to enact conservation measures against the erosion.

Criminal District Attorney Andy Shuval, who recently visited Austin, said today that Speaker of the House Bill Clayton is committed to the fight against the damaging wind. Also Governor Dolph Briscoe's office has assured that efforts will be made to do anything possible to help with the problem.

The main source of help from the state level is a legislative bill that would appropriate funds to finance wind erosion districts across the state. As yet no such bill is introduced but the emergency situation of the erosion has caused the offices of Clayton and Briscoe to respond to the problem.

County wind erosion districts such as the one here have recently been reinstated following many years in a dormant state. The districts have the authority to allow a farmer's neighbor to forcibly plow up his land if it has not already been done to cut down on erosion through wind resistance.

The Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court has officially resurrected the district but it lacks the necessary funds to finance plowing, which one farmer says costs as much as $40 an acre. In the meantime, County Judge Sam Morgan has said that any such work would have to be performed on a voluntary basis with no expectations of pay.

Shuval noted that farmers don't have the time to freely chisel up their neighbor's land, so he met with Clayton recently to seek any possible state aid. During the Dirty 30's districts were financed through funds allocated from the Texas Department of Agriculture. This money does not exist today.

Clayton and Briscoe are both committed to seeking a special bill through the current legislative session even though the deadline for free introduction of bills has passed. However, immediate action is needed.

A bill approved by the session's end in June would still only make funds available as early as September since that is when the state fiscal year begins. Current appropriation bills set the expenses for the coming year.

"Without available funds, it puts pressure on neighbor's to do the work free... but this isn't fair," Shuval explained. "We can't assess home-steads, either."

Previously fees for the plowing work were charged against a farmer and his land much like taxes.

"Clayton is a farmer from up in this area and understands the problem," Shuval said. "He is to be credited with the ideas for helping farmers."

Band Wins Sweepstakes Honors

The Hereford High School Symphonic Band won a sweepstakes award at the Amarillo Civic Center, Thursday, in University Interscholastic League competition.

They obtained this award by placing in the division I category in both Concert and Sightreading contests. The band won a division I award in marching last October. The HHS Concert Band received a division I in concert and a division II in sightreading during competition Thursday.

It is the fourteenth year Hereford has earned a sweepstakes honor. The division I honors in marching and concert mark the 16th consecutive year for such awards.

Chicks Aren't Such Dumb Cluckers After All

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Chicken Little notwithstanding, feathered farm creatures may not be such dumb cluckers after all, a university researcher says.

If they have to, chickens can perform tough tasks normally considered the domain of bony animals like monkeys, said Rutgers University nutritionist Robert Smith.

"Over the years, they've got themselves at the top of the intelligence scale and the head of the parade of the farm," he said. "But they're not so dumb. He can really do a tremendous thing."

Smith's research indicates "that public opinion is wrong" for overlooking such elementary facts as "chickens are intelligent." "We brought it to the world's attention."

Smith has advised chickens to learn to solve puzzles, to learn to recognize human faces, to learn to get food to themselves and to solve puzzles. He said that when the chickens mastered the tasks, they were rewarded. The birds learned the new required number within 7 to 10 days, he said.

"It's an intelligence test, a way in solving the problem," Smith said of the chicken. "It's really amazing. It'd sure be an ability to solve a problem."

The experiment was conducted at the Rutgers University, N.J., campus. In these tests, he said, he fed chickens at a time to see if chickens could learn to solve puzzles, a researcher says.

Smith, a nutritionist, said chickens are intelligent. "We brought it to the world's attention."

Smith has advised chickens to learn to solve puzzles, to learn to recognize human faces, to learn to get food to

County Court Holds Closed Meeting Today

Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court was holding a special called meeting today to begin work on the proposed budget for the coming year.

After the session opened at 10 a.m., County Judge Sam Morgan immediately called for an executive session, which he said was for the purpose of discussing salaries of individual employees. This closed session was expected to last much of the day.

According to the state open meetings law, governmental bodies are allowed to go into closed session when "evaluating the performance of identifiable employees." Apparently, the commissioners were studying salaries on an individual basis, rather than an across-the-board type proposal.

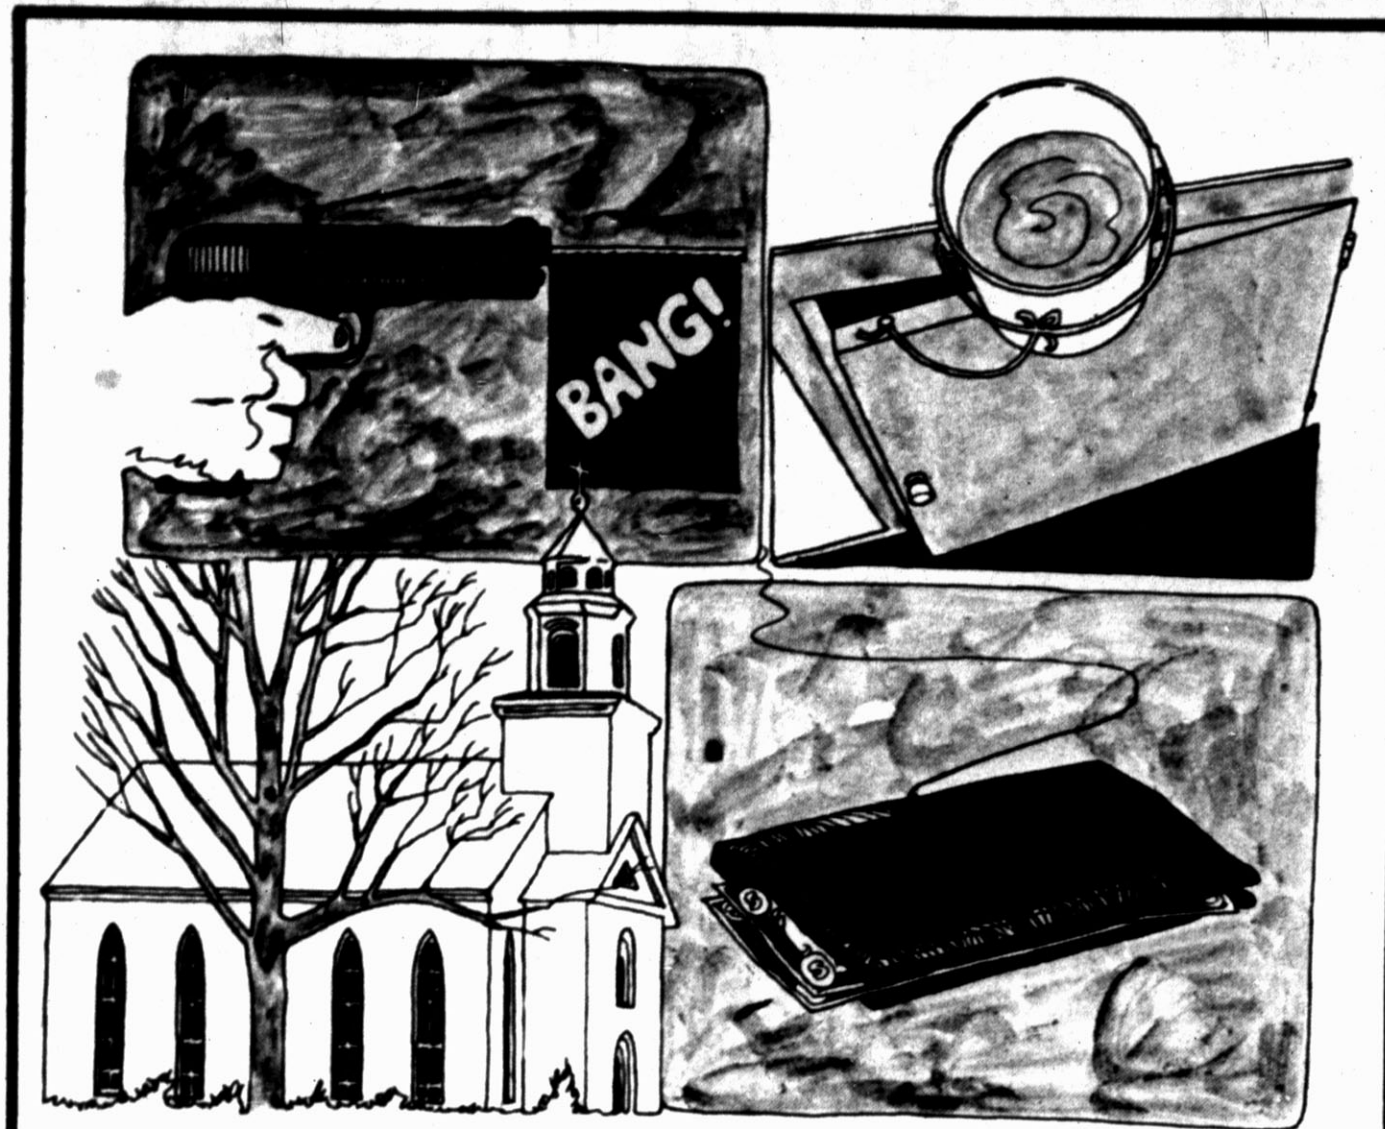

All four commissioners and Judge Morgan were in the meeting, as well as County Auditor Alex Schroeter and County Treasurer Vesta Mae Nusley.

LACK OF FAITH MAKES FOOLS IN APRIL OR ANY MONTH

April Fool's Day, of uncertain origin, is a definite delight for the younger generation; when the unwary had better resist the vanishing purse on the sidewalk and beware of other childhood jokes and pranks. However, we are being no less gullible when we attempt to delude ourselves — any time — into believing that we are completely self-sufficient, able to solve all our own problems and in no need of any spiritual guidance. This totally materialistic view of the world we live in leaves far too many questions unanswered to present any true picture of it; and in any case, we all exhaust our earthly remedies sooner or later and have to call upon a higher source of help, always available at the Church of our choice. On that day, we stop fooling ourselves.

I have seen fools resist Providence before and I have seen their destruction.

House Highway Bill Favored

AUSTIN (AP) - The House passed a bill on highway construction is better than the one proposed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, says Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

After signing more than a dozen bills Thursday, Briscoe told an impromptu news conference Thursday, "It will put more money in early, at a time when it will buy more highway construction."

The House bill, now bottled up in a Senate committee, calls for approximately $600 million for immediate highway construction.

Briscoe said he had come to no final conclusion on Hobby's counter-proposal, but he hopes a solution, or compromise, can be reached sometime next week.

Inflation will prevent the Hobby version from producing as much construction, even though it calls for more money over a 20 year period, Briscoe said.

"I'm very optimistic that this session we will pass sound highway legislation that will meet the highway construction crisis that we find ourselves in," he said.

"I'm very optimistic that this session we will pass sound highway legislation that will meet the highway construction crisis that we find ourselves in," he said.

One of the bills Briscoe signed authorizes cities to increase their hotel occupancy tax from three per cent to four per cent.

Asked how he squares his approval of that measure with his often repeated "no new taxes" slogan, the governor noted the bill originated in the Senate, where tax bills cannot

Guillain - Barre Disease Still Here From Flu Shots

[Editor's Note: Associated Press writer C.C. Minicler was hospitalized when he found that both a roommate and a neighboring patient had Guillain-Barre, the paralyzing syndrome that temporarily halted the national swine flu vaccination program. He learned that persons who had the shots as long as four months ago are still contracting the disease.]

DENVER (AP) - Joseph Lima, 29, has not been able to speak for 16 days. His eyes are fixed on a stare; he can't control his eyelids. He is unable to eat or walk. He breathes through a surgical hole in his throat.

Lima was hospitalized March 7 with a paralyzing Guillain-Barre syndrome. He received a swine flu vaccination Nov. 12, a month before evidence of its connection to Guillain-Barre halted the $135 million national vaccination program.

Lima's case was not reported to either the Colorado Health Department or the national Center for Disease Control CDC in Atlanta.

"The vigor of the surveillance effort dropped off after the end of January," said the state Health Department's chief epidemiologist, Dr. Tom Vernon at the CDC, spokesman Bob Alden said the CDC is no longer "aggressively seeking a continuing reporting system."

Because of slackened reporting of the syndrome, no up-to-date figures are available on new cases. But there is comfortable apartment on the edge of McGregor, a Central Texas community of 5,000.

She's lively and alert and still drives her car downtown to shop or to church on Sunday.

But, Miss Lena said, "I couldn't teach now. I wouldn't have the patience to put up with the young people of today."

Mary Reynolds has no problem remembering how many children she has taught. There are 30 in her kindergarten class at Will Rogers Elementary School in San Antonio.

This is her first class and Mrs. Reynolds, 23, said it is a dream come true "Because I always wanted to be a teacher -- find it a challenge to work with young minds."

Miss Lena, who never weighed more than 100 pounds, said children in her days "were sent to school to learn and it was my job to teach them. I didn't have to send notes home to the parents. I handled the problems myself."

And, around McGregor there are many businessmen and professionals and others who admit they got a licking now and then with Miss Lena's paddle.

Mrs. Reynolds said she opposes spankings but, "I admit I've done it. I never thought I could spank anyone, but with a discipline problem I didn't know what else to do. With more experience, maybe, I will be able to control the children without raising my voice or spanking them."

Back in Miss Lena's days, fathers were working long hours and mothers had the housework to do and "not many of them had time to help out at school. It was up to the teachers."

In Mrs. Reynolds' class, parent volunteers come to school three days a week so the teacher will have more time to devote to individual instruction.

Miss Lena, who taught history, math and English in high school, said the youngsters of today, "expect a lot more freedom and they get it. They're not learning to read like they once did. They have too many others on their minds. In my day I gave them an assignment for homework and I expected them to have it done."

Today, Mrs. Reynolds said, "I teach the basic concepts with the hope the children will develop their own abilities. I try to teach them to be independent in the way they work and in the way they learn. I want them to discover things without me forcing it down their throats."

After graduation from the University of Texas, Miss Lena was ready for the classroom. "We were given a teacher's certificate then and that meant we could work in the elementary or the high schools. We didn't have to do practice teacher. We evidence that Guillain-Barre continues to strike, even after an eight-week incubation period suggested by federal officials.

New consent forms for the partially revived swine flu program warn that there is a chance of contracting Guillain-Barre within eight weeks of vaccination. Lima was affected 15 weeks later.

When Lima, a microbiologist at Fitzsimons Army Hospital outside Denver, received his shot, the consent form then in use warned of possible tenderness in the arm, adding "some people will also have fever, chills, headaches or muscle aches within the first 48 hours."

Almost four months later, when Lima was admitted to Presbyterian Hospital March 7, went right into the classrooms and that is a good place to learn."

Things were different for Mrs. Reynolds.

She had practice teaching before receiving her bachelor's degree and then an internship before earning her master's.

"The internship taught me a lot. I wasn't ready to handle children until then. In college it was all theory. I agree, when you get in the classroom is when the teacher begins to learn."

In the days Miss Lena taught the school systems were segregated. In the small town of McGregor there were only a few Mexican-American families. Her classes were 99 per cent Anglo.

The majority of the pupils in Mrs. Reynolds' class are Hispanic and she teaches in both English and Spanish.

Of the new teacher of today Miss Lena said, "They may be just as dedicated as we were, but they sure are out for the big salaries."

Mrs. Reynolds answered, "Of all the teachers I know, each and every one takes their work seriously. We are dedicated to a job where long hours are required. We certainly aren't after the money because the pay scale isn't that good when compared to other professions."

Texans Entertain In Different Ways

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texans have devised at least 932 ways and occasions to amuse themselves in the next six months from a rattlesnake fry to Van Cliburn's International Piano Competition.

And there's 102 rodeos scheduled in between, according to the Texas Highway Department's Calendar of Texas Events for April through September.

That doesn't even include Junction's Kow Kick, Taft's Boll Weevil Festival or Galveston's Sand Castle Sculpture Contest.

And for those who delight in culinary events, there will be four different chili cookoffs, Freer's Rattlesnake Fry, the Southern Hushpuppy Olympics in Lufkin and an International Gumbo Cookoff in Orange.

They'll also barbecue a buffalo in Granbury, while black-eyed peas will reign supreme in Athens and pinto beans will be king in Kingsville. There's also more than a dozen major ballets, opera festivals in Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth, about 35 symphony concerts, a Bach music festival in Victoria and a month-and-a-half Shakespeare Festival in Odessa.

Estimates show that 8 in 10 of all women visit a physician at least once a year while the male ratio is 7 in 10, says the Health Insurance Institute.

Fine Arts Festival Opens Here Tomorrow

Artists and craftsmen will be amassing their creative products at the Community Center this afternoon in preparation for the annual Fine Arts Festival, which starts tomorrow. More than 600 exhibits are expected to be on display at the Center Saturday and Sunday for the general public. There will be no admission charge. Festival hours are from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday and from 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

The array of fine arts items will include approximately 100 paintings, stained glass, needlework, bronzed castings and sculpture, floral arrangements, decorated pastries, carvings, literary works and other diverse hobbies.

Also to be offered in conjunction with this year's Festival. Again, there will be no admission fee. A special literary program featuring the co-authors of "Panhandle Pilgrimage," is planned at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. Pauline and R.L. Robertson, who wrote the historical book, will be keynote speakers. Also slated tomorrow is a paper tole painting demonstration by Amy Gilliland at 2:30 p.m. Ceramic tole painting will be featured in a program at 2:30 p.m. Sunday when Carol Gerk will practice the art. An added feature from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday will be a display and demonstration of making silk flowers. Through the efforts of Hereford Garden Club, a representative of the Amarillo Garden Center will give this program. Dramatic entries will again have a role in the local Festival. At 11 o'clock Saturday morning, prose and poetry selections will be recited by students from Hereford High School. These students will also perform dramatic readings at 3:30 p.m. Sunday. Under the direction of Bill Devers, the Community Youth Choir will give a concert at 1:30 p.m. Sunday for the audience at the Community Center.

Ruth Black is chairman of the Fine Arts Festival, which comes under the jurisdiction of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. Also serving on the Fine Arts committee are Fran Brown, Kay Cotten and Edith Brandon.

Caravan Assembling For Las Escarbas

Las Escarbas, a restored ranching site which has historical meaning for residents of Deaf Smith County, will be officially dedicated at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The old ranch has been moved from this county and restored at the Ranching Heritage Center of the Texas Tech University Museum at Lubbock.

The tours committee of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division is organizing a car caravan to Lubbock Sunday for all interested persons. There will be no charge for participants.

The caravan will assemble at 9:30 a.m. Sunday at the Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main. Upon arrival at Lubbock, the local travelers will eat lunch prior to registering at the Heritage Center. Betty Gilbert is chairman of the Chamber tours committee.

Las Escarbas once stood on the fifth division in Deaf Smith County and was a part of the 3-million acre XIT Ranch. Residing in the ranching headquarters were the Reinsauer brothers: Fred (deceased), Joe and John, who administered the family estate. The homestead was also a recreation center for XIT cowboys, a storehouse, guest quarters for visiting owners and an office for ranch management.

Be A Friend, Have A Friend

ANALYZING RELATIONSHIPS

In analyzing the status of my relationship with a child, I need to know what signals I'm receiving.

First, I'll consider the positive signs that tell me a child respects me and is happy I am his friend.

These messages are both verbal and nonverbal. He might demonstrate affection, show concern for my feelings, express themes of adult-child warmth in his imaginings, seek assistance with a difficult task, share an accomplishment, or model my behavior. Most kids will ask me to watch them do a trick or give me a drawing they've labored on, or show me a blue ribbon won in a track meet. I heard the end of "Little Red Riding Hood" changed to where grandma reappears, the wolf runs away (instead of being chopped into), and everybody is back to normal. There's even an added bonus of a new friendship with the woodchopper. Kids will give me a clue as to how they consider me and our relationship...all I have to do is look, listen and feel.

Balloon Sale Here Slated Tomorrow

"Romans or Bust" is the current motto of Hereford Chamber Singers, who will be selling helium-filled balloons Saturday at Sugarland Mall and Downtown. The balloon sale will begin at approximately 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Proceeds will defray freight expenses for the Singers' trip to Romania this summer. The local choir, directed by Bill Devers, is also planning various other fund-raising projects, including a White Elephant Sale on April 30. Persons wishing to contribute tax-deductible sale items are asked to contact Rose Ann Smith at 364-4085 after 5 p.m.

Dr. Duffy McBrayer, a member of the Chamber Singers, is finance chairman.

Obituaries

JOE RAY HYSINGER

Services were conducted this morning in First United Methodist Church for Joe Ray Hysinger, 48, who resided 15 miles northwest of the city. The Rev. H.L. Thurston, retired Methodist minister, officiated.

Burial was in Rest Lawn Memorial Park by Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Hysinger, who died Wednesday at Deaf Smith General Hospital, came to this county in August of 1962 from Otton. He owned farmland in this county.

Born June 4, 1928 at Crowell, he married Vilas Ziegler Sept. 22, 1946 at Plainview. He was a member of First United Methodist Church and was past worshipful master of the local Masonic Lodge 849. He belonged to the Oasis Shrine Club.

He is survived by his widow; a son, Joe Ray Jr.; two daughters, Vickie of the home and Mrs. Renee Coker of Amarillo; his mother Mrs. H.A. Hysinger of Otton; two brothers, Jim Hysinger of Hereford and Jack Hysinger of Muleshoe; and a sister, Mrs. Helen Slack of Holliday.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorial donations to the Shrine Burns Clinic at Houston or Scottish Rite Crippled Children's Hospital.

Fallbearers were C.P. Worthan, Fred Boern, Mike McGill, H.R. Jacks, Jim Cherry, and Denny Barnett.

Special Guests Welcomed

The new title bearers were present at the Country Club Wednesday evening, when color films of the pageant were shown to a group of Chamber women. (Photo by Phyl Smith)

Mrs. Paschel Pageant Affairs Is Honored At Courtesy Draw To Close

Mrs. Richard Paschel was honored at a layette shower Sunday in the Dawn Community Center.

Serving as the centerpiece was a pastel ceramic design of a baby bottle filled with an arrangement of small flowers, flanked by creamers, one holding cotton swabs and the other containing diaper pins. The serving table was covered with lace over a yellow cloth. Cake, punch and coffee were served to approximately 40 guests.

The Ti-Ya-Ta-Wa Adventure group from Aikman Elementary School met Tuesday at the Camp Fire Lodge.

The group decided to have a bake sale April 16 and everyone decided what they would bring.

Attending were leader Pat Vinton, Carlette Messer, Crystal Finley, Wendy Roe, Ginny Flores, Leslie Robbs, Karri Vinton, Tracy Shepherd, Michelle Ford, Danna Trevino, Rhonda Cates and Michelle Hughes.

JUNIOR LEAGUE GETS PROJECT GRANT

NEW YORK (AP) — The Association of Junior Leagues will undertake the largest, privately financed project in its 56-year history: Project V.I.E., Volunteers Intervening in Equity.

The women's voluntary organization has received a $790,000 grant from the Edna McConnell Clark Foundation to fund a three-year pilot project. It is aimed at giving older volunteers a chance to use their education, career experience and knowledge of the community to help others get services or rights.

Business concerning the Miss Hereford Pageant drew to a close Monday night when members of the steering committee and various committee chairmen convened. Reports were heard concerning finances and other aspects of the March 12 pageant, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. Also, Nanah Braly and Donna Warrick, co-directors of the Little Miss Pageant, commented that the junior pageant received good response.

Members of the steering committee who attended Monday's meeting were Lavon Nieman, Mary Herring, Linda McDowell and Donna Vander-Zee president of the Women's Division. Also present were the directors of the local pageant, Sharon Hodges and Wynelle Robinson.

Committee chairmen who spoke were Sarah Clark, entries; Linda McDowell, advertising;

Carrell Ann Simmons, tickets; Marcia Snyder, auditorium; Georgie Sparks, judges; Kylee Gentry, parties; Lavon Nieman, program books; Nancy Hall, decorations; Mysedia Smith, backstage; and Sharon Davis, wardrobe.

Ann Landers Boyfriend Is Liberated

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to write a few words about our "liberated" daughter. Maybe it will help other parents who have the same problem.

Sarah is 25, attractive, and intelligent. She has been living with her boyfriend for the last two years. (Or I should say, HE has been living with her.)

This "liberated" woman, besides working an eight-hour day, cleans the apartment, does the laundry and cooking. She also schleps the heavy bags of groceries up two flights of stairs. Her boyfriend pays for half the rent and groceries. This is liberation?

Thirty-one years ago when her father and I were married, the rabbi told us to help one another. Money was tight and times were hard, but I was more liberated then than Sarah is now. I didn't have to hold down two jobs. I made a home for my husband and he took care of me. Sarah has a live-in boyfriend but no wedding ring and no license.

The one who is "liberated" is the boyfriend. He is getting a real bargain and can leave whenever he feels like it. Please say something, Miss Landers. -- A Mother

DEAR MOTHER: I have never been in favor of those light-housekeeping arrangements. The woman is almost always the big giver as well as the big loser. According to my mail and what I hear on campuses, eight out of ten live-in couples end up not speaking to each other -- and those who do speak use language that is unprintable.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I will soon be celebrating our 50th wedding anniversary. I was 16 when we married and Harry was 19. We didn't have a dime. College was out of the question. We were lucky we could put food on the table.

Harry and I have had a good life together. We thank God for every day. Our children are wonderful. They have given us

15 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. We feel blessed.

Now the question: Our children want to honor us at a dinner party and invite 50 guests. I would like to surprise everyone and wear my white wedding gown. Would it be in good taste? -- Hope You'll Say Yes

DEAR HOPE: It's a wonderful idea! How lovely that you can still get into it, dear. My heartiest congratulations!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please settle a family dispute. We have been married for 15 years. I have always considered my husband normal in every way. Now something has happened that makes me wonder.

Lately he has been asking me to tie his wrists together behind his back, and also his ankles. He wants to be left alone, on the bed, for anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour. (I watch TV or sew.)

Then he calls me in to release him and we make love. I must admit this crazy idea has certainly improved his ability to perform sexually.

He says it is just fun and games. I say it's kinky. Is there anything wrong with it? I'm signing myself -- Linked To A Kink

DEAR LINKED: You're right. It's kinky. But if it helps him perform better, it's not "wrong."

Should he start wanting to tie YOU up, that's another matter. Tell him, "Not on your tinfole, Buster."

TAKE A BOW, POP

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Texans have devised at least 932 ways and occasions to amuse themselves in the next six months—from a rattlesnake fry to Van Cliburn's International Piano Competition.

And there's 102 rodeos scheduled in between, according to the Texas Highway Department's Calendar of Texas Events for April through September.

Texans Entertain In Different Ways

Aside from the 251 scheduled days of rodeo performances—in only 183 calendar days—there will be Victoria's Armadillo Confab, Alley Oop Day in Iran, Olney's One-Arm Dove Hunt and the World Championship Slingshot Tournay at Carizo Springs.

That doesn't even include Junction's Kow Kick, Taft's Boll Weevil Festival or Galveston's Sand Castle Sculpture Contest.

And for those who delight in culinary events, there will be four different chili cookoffs, Freer's Rattlesnake Fry, the Southern Hushpuppy Olympics in Lufkin and an International Gumbo Cookoff in Orange.

They'll also barbecue a buffalo in Granbury, while black-eyed peas will reign supreme in Athens and pinto beans will be king in Kingsville. There's also more than a dozen major ballets, opera festivals in Dallas, Houston and Fort Worth, about 35 symphony concerts, a Bach music festival in Victoria and a month-and-a-half Shakespeare Festival in Odessa.

Estimates show that 8 in 10 of all women visit a physician at least once a year while the male ratio is 7 in 10, says the Health Insurance Institute.

Fine Arts Festival Opens Here Tomorrow

Artists and craftsmen will be amassing their creative products at the Community Center this afternoon in preparation for the annual Fine Arts Festival, which starts tomorrow. More than 600 exhibits are expected to be on display at the Center Saturday and Sunday for the general public. There will be no admission charge. Festival hours are from 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Saturday and from 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

The array of fine arts items will include approximately 100 paintings, stained glass, needlework, bronzed castings and sculpture, floral arrangements, decorated pastries, carvings, literary works and other diverse hobbies. Seven special attractions will also be offered in conjunction with this year's Festival. Again, there will be no admission fee. A special literary program featuring the co-authors of "Panhandle Pilgrimage," is planned at 3:30 p.m. Saturday. Pauline and R.L. Robertson, who wrote the historical book, will be keynote speakers.

Also slated tomorrow is a paper tote painting demonstration by Amy Gilliland at 2:30 p.m. Ceramic tote painting will be featured in a program at 2:30 p.m. Sunday when Carol Gerik will practice the art.

An added feature from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Saturday will be a display and demonstration of making silk flowers. Through the efforts of Hereford Garden Club, a representative of the Amarillo Garden Center will give this program. Dramatic entries will again have a role in the local Festival. At 11 o'clock Saturday morning, prose and poetry selections will be recited by students from Hereford High School. These students will also perform dramatic readings at 3:30 p.m. Sunday.

Under the direction of Bill Devers, the Community Youth Choir will give a concert at 1:30 p.m. Sunday for the audience at the Community Center.

Ruth Black is chairman of the Fine Arts Festival, which comes under the jurisdiction of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. Also serving on the Fine Arts committee are Fran Brown, Kay Cotten and Edith Brandon.

Caravan Assembling For Las Escarbas

Las Escarbas, a restored ranching site which has historical meaning for residents of Deaf Smith County, will be officially dedicated at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The old ranch has been moved from this county and restored at the Ranching Heritage Center of the Texas Tech University Museum at Lubbock.

The tours committee of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division is organizing a car caravan to Lubbock Sunday for all interested persons. There will be no charge for participants.

The caravan will assemble at 9:30 a.m. Sunday at the Chamber of Commerce office, 701 N. Main. Upon arrival at Lubbock, the local travelers will eat lunch prior to registering at the Heritage Center. Betty Gilbert is chairman of the Chamber tours committee.

Las Escarbas once stood on the fifth division in Deaf Smith County and was a part of the 3-million acre XIT Ranch. Residing in the ranching headquarters were the Reinauer brothers—Fred (deceased), Joe and John, who administered the family estate. The homestead was also a recreation center for XIT cowboys, a storehouse, guest quarters for visiting owners and an office for ranch management.

Be A Friend, Have A Friend

ANALYZING RELATIONSHIPS

In analyzing the status of my relationship with a child, I need to know what signals I'm receiving.

First, I'll consider the positive signs that tell me a child respects me and is happy I am his friend.

These messages are both verbal and nonverbal. He might demonstrate affection, show concern for my feelings, express themes of adult-child warmth in his imaginings, seek assistance with a difficult task, share an accomplishment, or model my behavior. Most kids will ask me to watch them do a trick or give me a drawing they've labored on, or show me a blue ribbon won in a track meet. I heard the end of "Little Red Riding Hood" changed to where grandma reappears, the wolf runs away (instead of being chopped into), and everybody is back to normal. There's even an added bonus of a new friendship with the woodchopper. Kids will give me a clue as to how they consider me and our relationship...all I have to do is look, listen and feel.

Balloon Sale Here Slated Tomorrow

"Romania or Bust" is the current motto of Hereford Chamber Singers, who will be selling helium-filled balloons Saturday at Sugarland Mall and Downtown. The balloon sale will begin at approximately 10 a.m. tomorrow.

Proceeds will defray freight expenses for the Singers' trip to Romania this summer. The local choir, directed by Bill Devers, is also planning various other fund-raising projects, including a White Elephant Sale on April 30. Persons wishing to contribute tax-deductible sale items are asked to contact Rose Ann Smith at 364-4065 after 5 p.m.

Dr. Duffy McBrayer, a member of the Chamber Singers, is finance chairman.

Obituaries

JOE RAY HYSINGER

Services were conducted this morning in First United Methodist Church for Joe Ray Hysinger, 48, who resided 15 miles northwest of the city. The Rev. H.L. Thurston, retired Methodist minister, officiated. Burial was in Rest Lawn Memorial Park by Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Hysinger, who died Wednesday at Deaf Smith General Hospital, came to this county in August of 1962 from Otton. He owned farmland in this county.

Born June 4, 1928 at Crowell, he married Vilas Ziegler Sept. 22, 1946 at Plainview. He was a member of First United Methodist Church and was past worshipful master of the local Masonic Lodge 849. He belonged to the Oasis Shrine Club.

He is survived by his widow; a son, Joe Ray Jr.; two daughters, Vickie of the home and Mrs. Renee Coker of Amarillo; his mother Mrs. H.A. Hysinger of Otton; two brothers, Jim Hysinger of Hereford and Jack Hysinger of Muleshoe; and a sister, Mrs. Helen Slack of Holliday.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests memorial donations to the Shrine Burns Clinic at Houston or Scottish Rite Crippled Children's Hospital.

Palbearers were C.P. Worthan, Fred Boern, Mike McGill, H.R. Jacks, Jim Cherry, and Denny Barnett.

Special Guests Welcomed

Sharon Hodges, co-director of the recent Miss Hereford Pageant, serves punch to the two scholarship winners, Kyle Poteet, Miss Teen and Miss Hereford Dee Anne Calson. The new title bearers were present at the Country Club Wednesday evening, when color films of the pageant were shown to a group of Chamber women. (Photo by Phyl Smith)

Mrs. Paschel Pageant Affairs Is Honored At Courtesy Draw To Close

Mrs. Richard Paschel was honored at a layette shower Sunday in the Dawn Community Center.

Serving as the centerpiece was a pastel ceramic design of a baby bottle filled with an arrangement of small flowers, flanked by creamers, one holding cotton swabs and the other containing diaper pins. The serving table was covered with lace over a yellow cloth. Cake, punch and coffee were served to approximately 40 guests.

The Ti-Ya-Ta-Wa Adventure group from Aikman Elementary School met Tuesday at the Camp Fire Lodge.

The group decided to have a bake sale April 16 and everyone decided what they would bring. Attending were leader Pat Vinton, Carlette Messer, Crystal Finley, Wendy Roe, Ginny Flores, Leslie Robbs, Karri Vinton, Tracy Shepherd, Michelle Ford, Danna Trevino, Rhonda Cates and Michelle Hughes.

JUNIOR LEAGUE GETS PROJECT GRANT

NEW YORK (AP) — The Association of Junior Leagues will undertake the largest, privately financed project in its 56-year history: Project V.I.E., Volunteers Intervening in Equity. The women's voluntary organization has received a $790,000 grant from the Edna McConnell Clark Foundation to fund a three-year pilot project. It is aimed at giving older volunteers a chance to use their education, career experience and knowledge of the community to help others get services or rights.

Business concerning the Miss Hereford Pageant drew to a close Monday night when members of the steering committee and various committee chairmen convened. Reports were heard concerning finances and other aspects of the March 12 pageant, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. Also, Nanah Braly and Donna Warrick, co-directors of the Little Miss Pageant, commented that the junior pageant received good response.

Members of the steering committee who attended Monday's meeting were Lavon Nieman, Mary Herring, Linda McDowell and Donna Vander-Zee president of the Women's Division. Also present were the directors of the local pageant, Sharon Hodges and Wynelle Robinson.

Committee chairmen who spoke were Sarah Clark, entries; Linda McDowell, advertising;

Carrell Ann Simmons, tickets; Marcia Snyder, auditorium; Georgia Sparks, judges; Kylee Gentry, parties; Lavon Nieman, program books; Nancy Hall, decorations; Myaedia Smith, backstage; and Sharon Davis, wardrobe.

Ann Landers Boyfriend Is Liberated

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to write a few words about our "liberate-" daughter. Maybe it will help other parents who have the same problem.

Sarah is 25, attractive, and intelligent. She has been living with her boyfriend for the last two years. (Or I should say, HE has been living with her.)

This "liberated" woman, besides working an eight-hour day, cleans the apartment, does the laundry and cooking. She also schleps the heavy bags of groceries up two flights of stairs. Her boyfriend pays for half the rent and groceries. This is liberation?

Thirty-one years ago when her father and I were married, the rabbi told us to help one another. Money was tight and times were hard, but I was more liberated than Sarah is now. I didn't have to hold down two jobs. I made a home for my husband and he took care of me. Sarah has a live-in boyfriend but no wedding ring and no license. The one who is "liberated" is the boyfriend. He is getting a real bargain and can leave whenever he feels like it. Please say something, Miss Landers. -- A Mother

DEAR MOTHER: I have never been in favor of those light-housekeeping arrangements. The woman is almost always the big giver as well as the big loser. According to my mail and what I hear on campuses, eight out of ten live-in couples end up not speaking to each other -- and those who do speak use language that is unprintable.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I will soon be celebrating our 50th wedding anniversary. I was 16 when we married and Harry was 19. We didn't have a dime. College was out of the question. We were lucky we could put food on the table.

Harry and I have had a good life together. We thank God for every day. Our children are wonderful. They have given us

15 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. We feel blessed.

Now the question: Our children want to honor us at a dinner party and invite 50 guests. I would like to surprise everyone and wear my white wedding gown. Would it be in good taste? -- Hope You'll Say Yes

DEAR HOPE: It's a wonderful idea! How lovely that you can still get into it, dear. My heartiest congratulations!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please settle a family dispute. We have been married for 15 years. I have always considered my husband normal in every way. Now something has happened that makes me wonder. Lately he has been asking me to tie his wrists together behind his back, and also his ankles. He wants to be left alone, on the bed, for anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour. (I watch TV or sew.)

Then he calls me in to release him and we make love. I must admit this crazy idea has certainly improved his ability to perform sexually.

He says it is just fun and games. I say it's kinky. Is there anything wrong with it? I'm signing myself -- Linked To A Kink

DEAR LINKED: You're right. It's kinky. But if it helps him perform better, it's not "wrong."

Should he start wanting to tie YOU up, that's another matter. Tell him, "Not on your tinfole, Buster."

When I was a teen-ager, we often called each other "Cabbage Head", in a way it was a compliment, and then sometimes, especially when feelings were hurt, we would say it in such a way that it was not very complimentary. What do you know about a cabbage head?

The following information is taken from an article about cabbage, in The Texas Horticulturist Magazine. I found it interesting and want to share it.

"I wonder what would happen if...?" are words which often preface thoughtful questions posed by creative gardeners and horticulturists around the world. Questions concerning innovative cultural methods to enhance the usefulness of plants precede most of the break throughs in horticultural science.

Cabbage seems like a simple plant to grow without much glamour or exciting possibilities. Everyone knows that you cut out and discard the solid heart or core, in preparing the head of caggage for food. Actually the stem is the core when preparing a head of cabbage for the table. Well, not quite everyone. Mrs. Evelyn Hilbreth, an avid Lubbock vegetable gardener, saves the hearts and replants them.

Several years ago, Mrs. Hildreth wondered what would happen if she planted the whole heart (core) from a head of cabbage that she was preparing to cook. Well she decided to plant it, and soon the cabbage core sprouted roots out the bottom and commenced to grow.

The approximate chronology of what happened when she planted her first cabbage heart in a pot of vermiculite: It was started in the house, then she transplanted it to her garden where it grew into a large plant which bore three small heads, each weighing eight ounces. The plant survived the winter and went on to produce four more heads and many seed pods in the summer of 1975.

When I saw the plant for the first time in October of 1975, it had fifty-six vegetative growing points with at least twenty-four little heads in various stages of growth. It went right on living and making little cabbages through the winter in order to help Mrs. Hildreth celebrate the Bicentennial. The variety of the cabbage was unknown, but it appeared to have behaved as a perennial in Lubbock. Mrs. H. continued to plant cabbage heads (hearts) for two or three years.

One interesting aspect of this technique of vegetative or asexual propagation is that the skillful gardener can actually propagate an F1 hybrid, keeping it true to type. Perhaps Mrs. H's cabbage grew so vigorously because the heart came from an F1 hybrid.

In the summer of 1976, an odd thing happened to one of the plants. Half of the plant produced a bountiful crop of seed pods, while the other half formed at least six good little heads of cabbage.

The magazine shows several interesting pictures of the various growths produced by Mrs. H., with the cabbage hearts, (core) she has planted. One picture shows a three-year old plant with 24 heads forming on it. Another shows how she transplanted one of the small heads into the vegetable garden, and in a nearby picture, Mrs. H. is cutting several of the small heads to prepare for dinner.

Another picture shows the freshly-cut cabbage heart (core) planted in a can of vermiculite. When the plant started growth, it was transplanted into the garden, and later produced several branches of heads while on another branch of the same transplant, there were several seed pods in various stages of growth.

Later the seed were gathered, when matured, and were used to re-seed another cabbage plant. The seed pods are similar to yellow wax beans, not as large but in coloring and development.

If you wish to plant a cabbage heart, you will need several materials besides a cabbage stem; a five to six-inch diameter pot or can with holes for drainage and enough horticultural vermiculite to fill the container in which you will place the stem.

Use care in selecting the stem (heart) taking care to cut out the stem very carefully and that there is a portion of the leaf base of each leaf attached to the stem or core (heart). Buds form new vegetative shoots, hence new leaf growths are located on the stem in the axils of the old leaves.

Place the cut end down, in the container in which the vermiculite has been poured (container should be sterilized carefully) roots will sprout out of the cambium in the base of the stem. Moisten the vermiculite until excess water drains out of the bottom of the container or pot.

A typical cabbage stem (heart) has many vegetative buds along its length. Several vegetative cuttings can be made from one stem. Each cutting consists of a V-shaped portion of leaf petiole base, the auxiliary bud and a small attached slice of the parent stem containing cambium tissue.

The Abundant Life

By Bob Wear

There are many ways and many times, when we must make "new beginnings". We know, of course, that some things about our lives cannot be changed; even when we want to change. There will be some undesirable consequences which we must accept. We may have some strong regrets about some things. We may even be humiliated by some of our mistakes. All of these can be realities, and, for some people, the life situation may even be worse. Nevertheless, many "new beginnings" can be made.

We must not let ourselves become bogged down, with a hopeless, helpless feeling of despair and defeat. It seems rather easy to let our mistakes and even the necessary routine of living to cause us to become obsessed with the view that our life situation is so unalterably fixed that there is no chance for beginning again.

Even though some things we have done, or left undone cannot be changed and must be accepted as part of our life situation; there is something better than complete discouragement. There is certainly no justification for deliberately doing the things that worsen our living experiences.

It will not always be easy to re-direct our lives; great efforts are often required to make indicated reforms. In the fullest sense, it is not possible to correct all of our mistakes; but we can do our best, with expectations for much rewarding success.

We must not give up, and

REC Tour Awarded To 2 Area Youths

A Nazareth girl and a Friona boy were judged winners at the 13th annual Government-in-Action Youth Tour awarded by Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative. They are Joyce Acker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Acker, Nazareth, and Bryan Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnston of Friona.

Alternate winners in case either of the winners is unable to make the all expense 12-day trip to Washington D.C. next summer are Lodonna Brockman, Nazareth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brockman, and John Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Carson of Friona.

All communities in the service area of the Cooperative are invited to select two boys and two girls to represent their town who compete against each other in Hereford.

Each interested youth is provided background information concerning electric cooperatives in general and the local cooperative in particular. From this information, they prepared five to eight minute talks and also were given a written quiz on all information provided.

Judges in the Wednesday night contest held in the Medallion Room of the Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative in Hereford were Buddy Peeler, KPAN, Hereford; Gil Patsche, KZOL Radio, Farwell, and Jerry Marvin, KDAN Radio, Dimmitt.

The contestants are judged on knowledge of subject, speaking ability, poise, personality and appearance.

Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, organized in 1937, operates more than 3200 miles of lines in its system at an investment of over sixteen million dollars. It has over 8300 meters in four counties.

David Pruitt of Deaf Smith Electric was in charge of this year's oratorical contest.

On the trip to Washington, local winners will join winners from other states in visiting the White House, Mount Vernon, the Capitol and many other points of interest and will have lunch with their legislators. They will also visit points of interest between Texas and Washington, D.C.

GROUP PREDICTS NEED FOR OPTOMETRISTS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The American Optometric Association, celebrating the 50th anniversary of Save Your Vision Week, predicted that by 1990 the United States will need 18,000 new practicing optometrists to provide eye care for the nation.

This number would be needed, the association said, to reach the adequate ratio of one practicing optometrist to 9,000 persons.

Namath Approves Rams Trade Deal

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Ah, the allure of Hollywood. Broadway Joe Namath apparently has chosen to take a mammoth salary cut and possibly play backup to a second-year pro on the Los Angeles Rams—and be close to the movies.

Jimmy Walsh, Namath's agent, said Thursday the man who quarterbacked the New York Jets for 12 years has given permission to be traded to the Rams.

Eager would perhaps be a better word. Namath has been trying to go West for the past three years.

After thinking about Namath's $450,000 annual salary, the Jets now appear ready to unload him.

According to National Football League rules, if the Jets pick up the option year of Namath's contract, it would cost them $495,000 for the gimpy-kneed veteran. NFL regulations provide a 10 per cent pay hike to players who play out their options.

Namath, who led the Jets to victory in Super Bowl III against Baltimore eight years ago, likely would be an under-study to Pat Haden, the Rhodes scholar from Southern California.

The Rams might have to pay Namath $175,000 to act as Haden's backup, but it would give the team a chance to unload James Harris, who has asked to be traded.

Namath has appeared on television and in motion pictures and reportedly feels his presence on the West Coast would enhance his chance of making big money in those areas of the entertainment industry.

"Based on bits of information I'd rather not disclose, I'm convinced the Rams will do what is necessary to acquire Joe," Walsh said Thursday.

Namath's agent said he met with Rams officials four times during the past two weeks to determine if there was a sincere interest in acquiring Namath, adding he did not know when a deal might be concluded.

If a deal cannot be made by the Jets, they must inform Namath by April 1 if they plan to pick up the option year on his contract.

Locals Facing Busy Weekend

Athletes from local schools have another busy weekend ahead beginning today, and local golf fans can see the Herd and the rest of the district linksters in action on the John Pitman Golf Course.

Coach Terry Russell's golfers will play host to the rest of the district as round robin play continues. And, in other golf action today Hereford's Barbara Scott will compete in the girls' third round at Lubbock.

Scott currently holds a 12-shot lead over the rest of the district fems, owning a 111 total after two rounds of play. Her nearest challenger is Plainview's Becky Garrett, who stands at 123.

Also on tap today are the Herd tennis teams playing in the Berger Team Tournament, the baseballers playing at Berger, and the Stanton and La Plata girls track squads in a meet at Dumas.

Action tomorrow includes the Herd track team at Plainview and the high school girls thinclads at Big Spring.

The Herd golfers are currently fourth in the district with a 632 total behind Plainview's 579, Lubbock's 597, and Monterey's 616. Coronado rounds out the list with a 684.

Two Whiteface players are within striking distance of the district leaders, including Plainview's Greg Weathered, who has a 138 two-round total to top the chart.

Hereford's George Yocum has a 152 total with Tommy Weaver five shots back at 157. In between the pair and Weathered are Lubbock's L.G. Flores (145), Plainview's John Horne and Rob Kinkaid (146), Lubbock's Mario Ramirez (148), Lubbock's Mark Jarrett (149) and Plainview's Kelly Raper (151).

The Hereford netters are coming off a strong showing at the Lubbock meet last week, but have been stung a bit in district action. The Whitefaces boys' team finished 2-6 in league play, while the girls were a notch lower at 1-7.

A dual match against Dumas and the Amarillo Relays are the only activities left on the net schedule before the district tournament gets underway April 15-16.

Coach Rick Stewart's baseballers are 3-7 on the year, but two of those three wins came in the Hereford tourney in which the 'Faces claimed the runner up spot behind a strong Caprock squad.

Two games remain on the non-league diamond list, with the Herd travelling to Canyon next Monday, and then hosting Levelland Tuesday afternoon at Whiteface Field.

District baseball action kicks off April 5 with the 'Faces playing host to Plainview in a 2:30 p.m. contest.

The junior high girls track teams are fresh off of fine showings in the Hereford meet last weekend. La Plata claimed firsts in both the 7th and 9th grade divisions, and finished 2nd in the 8th grade. Stanton posted a 2nd in the 7th grade, 5th in the 8th grade, and 4th in the 9th grade divisions.

The varsity fems took fifth in a strong field at the Hereford meet, while the Herd boys matched that finish behind standout performances by James Mays in the 880 and Paul Bell in the 100.

District Hosts

These Hereford golfers will host the rest of District 4-4A golf squads at the John Pitman Golf Course today as the district round robin matches continue.

Playing for Hereford are [L to R] George Yocum, James McDowell, Tommy Weaver, Doug Walterscheid, and Kelly Kitchens.

Dribbler Tryouts Saturday

All minor and major girls who were not on a major team in the Little Dribblers program last year need to be on hand for tryouts Saturday, March 26 at 1 p.m. in the high school gym.

A coaches meeting will be held at 6 p.m. Saturday in the Jim Hill Hotel with the draft for the league to begin at 8 p.m. Interested persons may call Darleen Carroll at 364-6395 for information.

Dory Funk Returns To Wrestling Scene

The Hereford Lions Club has announced that former world heavyweight wrestling champion Dory Funk, Jr. returns next Saturday night in mat action at the Bull Barn. He teams up with stocky dynamo El Bracero to meet the formidable team of Swede Hanson and Rip Hawk.

Funk enters the squared circle at 243 pounds, his partner at 218. El Bracero is from old Mexico, while Funk ranches around Umbarger and Canyon, Texas. Hawks is a former wrestling coach who has deserted the classic amateur style to rip, tear, and maim opponents. Hence his ring name, "Rip". His partner, 315-pound Hanson, boxed for seventeen years and lettered in six sports at college. He, too, is a spoiler. Their combined ring weight is 570 pounds.

In semi-main action, Abilene's Don Slatton, the lawman, meets French-Canadian newcomer Neil Guay. Slatton is a towering 6-6 former boxer, and saw rough-and-tumble street action as a Taylor County Deputy Sheriff. At 240 pounds, his reach and striking power make him tough opposition. His opponent is a 6-4, 290-pound giant who combines surprising speed and agility with his bulk.

Durable El Lobo, 228-pound Mexican toughie, returns against Good News Jackson of Los Angeles. Jackson, at 265, was better known to sports fans under his real name, Carlos Payne. He was a middle linebacker at UCLA, and played briefly for the Los Angeles Rams. A newcomer to the grappling ranks, he is used to hard contact, but faces off with a seasoned and wily opponent.

In last week's wrestling action, Jackson lost out to experience when popular Reggie Parks gained a victory with a stump puller—a little-seen submission hold. Until Parks reversed the trend, Jackson dominated that match with a forty pound weight advantage and superior strength.

In the semi-main, Clyclone Negro, the Venezuelan powerhouse who recently won the international title, defeated Cien Caras. Caras, a wrestler and movie star from south of the border, fell to Negro's pile driver.

In the main event, Ricky Romero and El Bracero faced beauty and the beast—Alex

Perez and Doug Somers. Perez beat El Bracero in the first of three falls with a body press. Bracero returned the favor with two Mexican splashes and a press. In the third fall, Perez and Romero were the two legal men in the ring. They were counted out while carrying on with one of their classic donnybrooks outside the ring.

Wrestling action will start at 8:00 p.m. this Saturday night in the Bull Barn.

Mays Fourth In State

Hereford's outstanding half-miler James Mays currently holds the fourth-best 880 time in the state according to a list of state bests released today.

Mays' time of 1:56.6 at the Hereford meet last Saturday puts him behind Brazosport's Jimmy Walts (1:54.7), and San Antonio Fox Tech's Leon Banks and Port Isabel's Todd Harbour, who both own 1:56.0 marks.

The speedy Herd senior will get a chance to lower his time tomorrow when the 'Faces compete in a meet in Plainview.

New York Met pitchers led the National League in complete games last season with 53. Next best figure was 47 by San Antonio and Los Angeles hurlers.

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Bob Risch has held off the charge of two other Californians to win his third American Golf Tour event by three strokes.

Risch, formerly of the University of Southern California, carded his second straight 68 Thursday after an opening round 66 for a 202 total. Runnerup Paul Wise of Lawndale, Calif., finished with a 66 and a 205 total.

Bill Brask of Vista, Calif., finished third with a 206 total, followed another stroke behind by San Angelo's Jim Mundell.

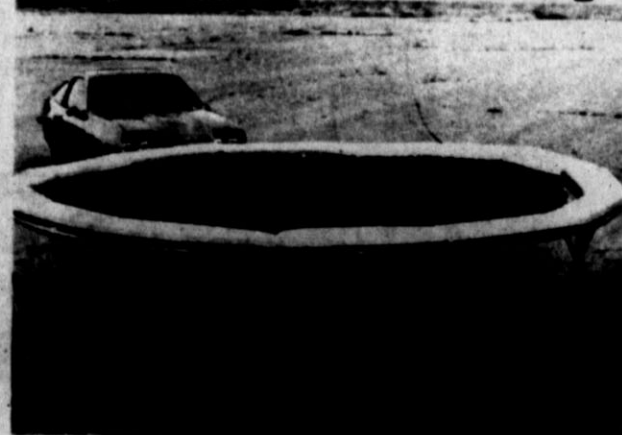

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—When the Spurs' Larry Kenon gets his shooting rhythm, there's no stopping him—or so he says.

The Houston Rockets certainly would agree as Kenon personally led San Antonio to a 118-112 victory in a National Basketball Association game Thursday night with a fourth quarter surge.

The Spurs led 95-94 with 6:11 remaining with Kenon struck for six consecutive points. That put San Antonio on top 101-96 with 4:40 left.

Kenon, who finished with 23 points, connected for eight more tallies before the game ended to even the season series with the Rockets at two games apiece.
