Death Toll Mounts in Johnstown Flood

Hereford Gets Rainfall Too

A rowdy thunderstorm brought cooling rain to Hereford and portions of Deaf Smith County Thursday afternoon, but the moisture wasn't expected to be beneficial to crops except for a day or two.

The heaviest rainfall was recorded in the city limits of Hereford, with a couple of reports of 1.5 to 2 inches along Country Club Road in the south part of town. KPAN Radio logged .50 of an inch, and reports around town ranged from .3 to .5.

The Easter community south of Hereford recorded about .20 of an inch. "Just a nice shower" was reported around the Dawn community, east of Hereford, and the rain apparently quit around Milo Center to the north. Up to .50 of an inch was reported between Hereford and Milo Center.

"Not even a sprinkle," was the report from the Simms Grocery and Farm Store. There was no rain reported in the extreme northwest part of the county, either. A check with Northwest Grain & Fertilizer showed about .20 of moisture was recorded there, with "a little more rain to the south." There was also a report of a "good shower" around Adrian.

County Agent Justin McBride said the spotted rainfall "might help the corn for a few days", but said the primary benefit would be to cool things off. The rainfall started about 1:20 p.m. in town.

There were scattered thunderstorms all across Texas during the night, according to AP reports. Much of the turbulence died down and another round of thundershowers broke out this morning from the South Plains into West Central Texas.

Hereford had the heaviest rainfall reports in the Panhandle, while moisture amounts ranged up to 1.7 inches at Winters in the Abilene-San Angelo area.

Partly cloudy skies with more scattered thunderstorms were predicted in all sections today. Thunderstorms were expected to continue through Saturday with the low tonight in the mid 60s and the high Saturday in the upper 80s.

Hereford Receives Rebate of $28,000

Hereford has received its July city sales tax rebate in the amount of $28,212.28, bringing the total payments this year to more than $200,000.

Hereford has received $201,698.62 this year, nearly $20,000 more than last year at the same time. Hereford received $182,444.47 a year ago in rebate checks from January through July.

This year's seven-month total is 10 per cent ahead of last year's figure for the period.

Hereford received $14,168.68 for its July share of the one per cent city sales tax in 1976.

Rebates to date for 1977 in the state are running 20.3 per cent ahead of last year's totals. State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office mailed rebate checks last week totaling $23.6 million to 808 Texas cities, boosting the total for the first seven

Sweet Reflections

The reflection of the Dameron Park monument in the standing water beneath it spelled good news for Hereford residents Thursday. Rains of up to two inches fell in some parts of the city, lightly flooding some streets but for the most part providing welcome relief from the recent heat. (Brand Photo by Keith Ribnick)

Action Possible at Next HISD Meeting

Board To Consider Proposed Calendars

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

The Hereford Independent School District because legislators have shortened the school year by five days probably will adopt a new school calendar by the next meeting of the district's board of trustees.

Dr. Harrell Holder, HISD superintendent presented three proposed calendars to the board for consideration during a special meeting Thursday night. The board probably will adopt one of the three or a combination of the calendars in another special meeting Thursday, July

The special meetings have been called to study the new school district policy manual. The manual is a combination of policies from the Texas Association of School Boards and the Hereford Independent School District.

The manual contains approximately 500 pages, each of which will be scrutinized by board members. The board finished approximately one-fourth of the policies in Thursday's meeting, asking questions about certain statements in the manual and making one change.

The board decided to change its official regular meeting times from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month. The board had met at 5 p.m. the last two months but the policy was not official until Thursday's special meeting.

One of Holder's proposed calendars, which he called Calendar "A," provides for teacher in-service days on Aug. 22-24, Nov. 4, Nov. 18, Jan. 23, Feb. 23-24, May 5 and May 26.

School would start on Aug. 25 and end May 25. Christmas break would be from Dec. 22 through Jan. 2, with Easter JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Refugees and a volunteer army battling mud and fatigue have found 46 dead in this flood-ravaged city. Dozens are missing, and damage is put at more than $200 million.

On Thursday, bodies were pulled from bashed houses and twisted rubble littering the scarred seven-county flood area in southwestern Pennsylvania.

"We're expecting more bodies," said deputy Cambria County coroner Arthur Keiper from his makeshift morgue in the East Hills Elementary School near here. Officials said they had no way yet to accurately guess how many might be dead.

Scattered looting was reported throughout the area, and some residents armed themselves to protect what little they had left. Police arrested three men ransacking a Johnstown bar Thursday night.

Half an inch of fresh rain beited this devastated city of 41,000 Thursday afternoon, briefly raising fears of another deluge, before tapering off to a steady drizzle.

"Oh, my God, were people concerned," said county Civil Defense director Elmer Shenk. "It looked like a major storm, and that's all we would have needed."

The city was evacuated shortly before the storm, which set off mudslides in several areas. Winds up to 65 miles an hour whipped up caked mud, cutting visibility to 100 yards.

The National Weather Service forecast good weather for the weekend, however, giving cleanup crews hope that they would be able to resume work in earnest.

"There is hardly anything that creates the mess a flood creates," said Jack Minnotte, chief of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers' engineering division assigned here.

The Corps said damage in Johnstown alone would exceed $117 million.

"Had we not built the flood control project in Johnstown after the 1936 flood, those damages today would be $465 million," said Herman Lardieri, a flood plain management expert.

President Carter declared the region a federal disaster area on Thursday and dispatched special assistant Greg Schneiders to serve, as Schneiders described it, as the President's "eyes and ears."

Richard Sanderson, staff director from the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, was assigned to coordinate federal relief efforts.

He told reporters he plans to set up one-stop relief centers where victims can take care of all their flood-related problems at one time.

An estimated 50,000 persons were displaced when torrential rains pushed mountain rivers and streams over their banks along a 70-mile stretch of the Conemaugh River valley.

College dormitories and school buildings were converted to makeshift shelters, but many survivors simply packed what few belongings they could find and pulled out.

"The family won't be able to come back, not with this stink," said George Finley, 55, a welfare father of five, whose trailer home is nearby Huff was washed away.

"What are you supposed to do when you lose everything and you didn't have nothing to start with?" asked his wife Alberta as she packed the children in an old blue station wagon for the ride to a friend's home.

While some people packed, state troopers used billy clubs to pike for bodies in waist high mud the consistency of pudding in nearby Seward where water washed away as many as 50 mobile

Carter Stages Tour of Rig

YAZOO CITY, Miss. (AP)—President Carter, in a demonstration of his administration's interest in oil production, is heading for an oil rig perched on the edge of the Continental Shelf.

After fielding questions from sweltering Mississippians at a national broadcast public meeting Thursday night, Carter today was to visit a huge drilling platform that stands in 500 feet of water in the Gulf of Mexico off the Louisiana coast.

"It's a good way to illustrate the fact that, contrary to the full-page ads the oil companies are running in newspapers, there is a considerable interest or emphasis on production in this administration's national energy policy, to the tune of billions of dollars," said White House press secretary Jody Powell.

Powell said, for example, that under the administration energy plan, oil companies would have $15 billion worth of additional incentives over a five-year period to explore for fresh supplies of natural gas because of the administration's proposal to raise prices.

Powell's reference to oil company advertising apparently was aimed at Mobil Oil, which had full-page ads in some newspapers today. Those ads were sharply critical of the administration's energy plan.

At Yazoo City, Carter told his audience at a steamy high school that he believes present federal programs can be continued, if not expanded, and taxes cut with the federal budget in balance by 1981.

He said this could be done "under normal economic circumstances" if the bureaucracy is reorganized and properly managed.

Reviewing his first six months in office, the President said continued high unemployment was a disappointment. But he said one part of a welfare revision program he will unveil next month would "encompass an additional one million new jobs."

Before going to Mississippi, Carter stopped at Charleston, S.C., to address the annual Southern Legislative Conference.

There, he discussed relations with the Soviet Union, saying his administration seeks cooperation and a "genuine accommodation."

The president took note, however, of "some negative comments from the Soviet side" about American positions.

"If these comments are based on a misconception about our motives, we will redouble our efforts to make them clear," he said. "But if they are merely designed as propaganda to put pressure on us, let no one doubt that we will persevere."

He said part of the Soviet attitude "may be due to their apparent and incorrect belief that our concern for human rights is aimed specifically at them or is an attack on their vital interests."

Questioned about his intent to produce the neutron bomb pending a decision on whether to deploy it, Carter said, "I don't believe that the neutron bomb is more which or immoral than the present one Soviets have as well."

Families Recreate Deadly Pennsylvania Scene

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—When the rains began, Richard Stantz was drinking Black Velvet and Mountain Dew with the boys.

His fiance, Rita Joe Searle, had been swimming at Ideal Park with her three young sons and her mother.

Richard's brother, Ray, was minding their children, while his wife, Deborah, played bingo at the Knights of Columbus recreation on her day off from her maid's job at the Enterprise Motel.

The two Stantz families lived in separate apartments, two buildings apart in the Solomon Homes project, along Solomon Run Creek in Johnstown.

Rita got home at 10:30 and put the kids to bed. Rich arrived at 11:30.

"It was already pouring rain so bad I felt like a fish," he said. Deborah, meanwhile, stopped off at a bar. As she prepared to leave, water already was coursing through the street, car bumper high. At 12:45 a.m. her girl friend Marian phoned to say if she was going home, now was the time.

While Richard and Rita watched television the power went off. Their clock stopped at 11:52. Rita switched her radio to battery power.

Deborah arrived home at 1:30 to an apartment lit only with candles. They invited Marian, who had no candles, to come over with her five children.

Lightning stabbed at the darkened city. Marian looked out the window and said, "Oh, my God, the bridge over Solomon Run just washed away," said Deborah. The lawn outside their apartment building, three feet above sidewalk level was under water.

By now the radio station was warning motorists to stay off roads. But nothing more.

Then the saga of Solomon Run began.

"I said, 'My God, look at the cars floating down Solomon Street. There are people screaming for help,'" Richard recalled. "They were going so swift, no one could help them."

Rita "I was stunned, it was too unbelievable to know water was deep enough to carry cars."

By 12:30, cars were tumbling down Solomon Street, a slight incline.

Through the lightning flashes, Rita saw half of the office building that serves the housing project being washed away. On nearby Widman street, she could see a fire truck evacuating people.

About that time, Ray and Deborah joined neighbors outside to see what help they could give.

They woke an elderly woman in a first-floor apartment and Ray carried her to a higher building.

Across Solomon Street, water swept away a house. A father and son went with it.

"We couldn't get across the street," Ray said. "Boulders were rolling down the river and Solomon Street. The water was washing telephone poles and trees down. After one boulder the size of a house came down, half the highway collapsed."

Pennsylvania Route 56 is beside Solomon Run, curving S-like past the housing development.

"When the highway collapsed, the water changed course and started washing other buildings out," Ray said. "It began coursing between the buildings, smashing cars against them. Some of the foundations began collapsing."

All the while there was continuous rain and unearthly noise. At 2:30 a.m. Deborah heard people shouting for help in the Glenn Graham house across Solomon Street. The occupants were on the second floor, because the ground level was under water.

"We made several attempts to help them," Ray said, shaking his head at the memory. "Somehow the six members of the family made it 10 feet across the roof to Margie's Bar, next door."

Egypt, Libya Feud Grows in Bloodshed

CAIRO (AP)—The Arab League today was trying to mediate the increasingly bloody dispute between Egypt and Libya, who accused each other of provoking an air and armor battle on their border in the North African desert.

Mahmoud Riad, secretary general of the Arab organization, reportedly sought to convene an emergency meeting of foreign ministers of member nations to resolve the dispute.

After Thursday's Egyptian-Libyan clash, Riad issued a statement deploring the "terrible incidents along the border" and urging the two sides not to escalate the conflict.

In reporting the battle, Cairo said Libyan forces had invaded Egypt from the west and were repelled. The Libyans said Egyptian troops had attacked a Libyan village, killing women and children.

Governor to Sign School Bill Today

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—An 11-day special legislative session that probably will be remembered most for prompting the resignation of a supreme court justice has adjourned.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe planned to sign today the session's major product, a bill increasing state school aid by $945.4 million over the next two years.

Before shutting down late Thursday afternoon, lawmakers passed and sent to Briscoe bills tightening state supervision of nursing homes and allowing Texas government to build a deepwater port for supertankers if oil companies fail to do the job.

They also sent the governor a bill wiping away a technicality that would have made citizens of 39 flood-prone counties ineligible for federal flood insurance.

Shamrock to Build Large Dumas Plant

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Diamond Shamrock Corp. will build a $25 million fluidized bed catalytic cracking unit at its McKee refinery near Dumas, Tex., the firm announced Thursday.

The company said the cracker, a unit which produces high octane gasoline in the crude oil refining process, will give the firm the capacity to produce significant amounts of unleaded gasoline while meeting federal requirements.

Construction is to begin in early fall with completion expected in October 1979, the diversified chemicals company said.

Dallas Jail Closed To New Prisoners

DALLAS (AP)—It wasn't exactly a last-minute telephone call from the governor, but Dallas County Sheriff Carl Thomas and county commissioners got a last-minute reprieve from having to close the county jail to new prisoners.

U.S. District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes agreed Thursday to extend her deadline for closing the jail to new prisoners from 1 a.m. today until 1 a.m. Tuesday because she apparently was happy with progress being made toward construction of a new jail.

The judge had earlier ordered the jail closed because it did not meet state jail standards and commissioners had not taken decisive action in their attempts to choose a jail site, purchase the land and draw up plans.

Police Report

Carol Rose of Hereford reported to police Thursday that someone had taken her purse containing between $70 and $80 from her car.

The purse was under the front seat of the car, parked in a Hereford parking lot. It contained credit cards and a checkbook besides the cash.

Two juveniles were arrested Thursday for burglary.

TV for the Birds Proves 'Baretta' Star

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP)—It's a spoiled life these temperamental Hollywood stars lead.

From the comfort of his air conditioned van, one of the $1,000 per week stars reflected on his show biz success.

"Wash your socks," Fred said.

The star, a bargain basement cockatoo who has garnered fame and fortune on Baretta's shoulder, is now the most popular animal actor in the business. The acclaim has placed the yellow and white bird above such stiff competition as Morris the Cat, Benji and Gentle Ben on the wildlife star circuit.

Fred is in Arlington this week as part of a 90,000 mile tour of the nation. His trainer is not impressed with Fred's success.

"Fred is nothing more than a spoiled child. He's a spoiled brat, really. He's very temperamental like most actors," Bob Greenwood said.

Greenwood started at the bottom of the animal training business—cleaning up behind the big cats at Lion Country Safari. He met Fred five years ago at an animal talent agency yes, an animal talent agency in Hollywood.

"Agent Ray Berwick found Fred in a pet shop and got him at a bargain price out in California. Cockatoos like this are really hard to find in this country and usually sell for about $3,000," Greenwood said.

The five years have taken their toll on Greenwood. The continuous exposure to Fred's ear-piercing screeches have left the trainer partially deaf.

But he said he enjoys the work because there seems to be some sort of magic between the bird and his audience.

"Most people really like birds. They're exotic, something different from a dog or cat. There are a lot of misconceptions about birds. For one thing they're not dirty animals," Greenwood said.

"Yes, he's picked up some four-letter words," Greenwood said.

And Fred, being a clever adlibber, keeps television censors on their toes.

The natural gas industry is faced with an embarrassing predicament—too much gas and no place to keep it. Even though one of the most severe winters in history has just passed, interstate pipelines are being forced to cancel emergency purchase agreements and gas producing states are shipping only 90 per cent of the gas they could produce.

The current surpluses may disappear as soon as the weather turns colder this fall, but at the moment there is emergency gas available but not market for it. Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp., which last year saw storage fields drop to dangerous lows, applied for permission from the Federal Power Commission to buy 150 million cu. ft. of emergency gas for its customers from an intrastate pipeline. By the time approval was granted by the FPC, the weather had warmed up, gas was being pumped back into storage and Transco's customers took only 20 million cu. ft.

Pipeline company officials, remembering sleepless nights when they were negotiating for more gas last winter, don't like to present situation any more than they did last year. But, they do not have enough storage facilities for any more gas than they are presently taking.

Many gas utilities and distribution companies have long lists of curtailed industrial customers, but it is doubtful that those customers could take any gas immediately if present curtailments were lifted. Many industrial customers along the East Coast, were shut off so long that they have converted to alternate fuels. In some markets fuel oil is now cheaper than natural gas. In other instances, industrial customers negotiated directly with the producers in the spot gas market, or have made take or pay contracts for fuel oil good in the summer as well as the winter.

These industry fuel conversions have added to the difficulty in the FPC's estimates of winter natural gas shortfalls. The commission recently predicted that next winter's curtailment would amount to 23% of "firm requirements". But those firm requirements were actually the total amount of gas that the pipelines had agreed to deliver to noninterruptible customers under old contracts—most of which were written when gas was readily available. It's doubtful that many large industrial users could take on the surplus gas.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators of both parties are predicting that President Carter will approve a compromise public works bill that drops nine of 18 controversial water projects from the budget.

"We have no indication to give you whether he will accept it," a White House spokesman said this week after a House-Senate conference committee agreed to terms on the bill.

But Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the conference committee that worked on the measure, said, "I believe the President will sign it."

The Abundant Life Want Less

BY BOB WEAR

SOME OF OUR WANTS ARE JUSTIFIED, but it is obvious that the wants of many people are out of control and many are totally unrealistic. We must learn to draw the line between wants associated with our needs; and those which are the off-spring of greed, self-indulgence, vainglory, covetousness and the like. There is a difference, and what a difference!

IF WE ARE ALWAYS WANTING something else, we are never able to be totally thankful for what we do have. Our wants are predominate in our thoughts, and we are blinded to what we do have. This is one of the most common ways in which we human beings make ourselves poor.

EVERY ONE IS POORER in proportion as he has more wants, and counts not what he has, but wishes only for what he has not.—Anon.

WE MAY HAVE EVERYTHING we need for our living, for our work, and for every legitimate life-function; but want more. If this describes us, we are in trouble; because we have set ourselves on a frustrating course. This inordinate desire can very easily blind us to the fact that we are already well-equipped. Thus, we become as though we were not well-equipped. This is a loss we impose upon ourselves, and this is a mistake.

THE MORE WE GET, the more we want is an aphorism which finds substantial support in the practical knowledge of the human experience. "He who loves silver shall not be satisfied with silver; nor he who loves abundance with increase; this is also striving after the wind."—Bible.

THE APPETITE GROWS by that on which it feeds. "When goods increase, they are increased who eat them; and what good is there to the owners thereof, except the beholding of them with their eyes?"—Bible.

If we permit our wants to get bigger and bigger, we will destroy all possibility for personal contentment and peace of mind. The appetite soon becomes so big that satisfying it is beyond the realm of possibility.

WE CAN UNCOMPLICATE our living experience by wanting less. This means that we rid our lives of the destructive feelings of avarice and covetousness. The way is made clear for appreciation of what we have, and a continuing thankfulness which becomes a source of strength and happiness.

AN EMPTY LIFE CANNOT be filled with things. Many people refuse to curb their wants, and let them become progressively more demanding. This is a hopeless manner of life. The hidden hunger is never satisfied, and the real life is wasting away because of malnutrition.

PERSONAL HAPPINESS and effectiveness are encouraged as the individual wants less, and makes the best of present blessings and benefits.

Death Scene

Minutes later the house washed away.

The people in the bar then put a ladder to the roof of the Mack bungalow on the other side, Ray said. Just as Mack and his wife got down, their home was swept off.

At 4:30 a.m. Ray and his wife were in another building. "I had a flashlight and saw something moving," he said. He reached down and pulled two women and a baby from waist deep water, miraculously alive.

Over the rain and the thunder they heard gunshots from the nearby MA Lounge, a tavern that seats about 50 people.

"They were trying to signal for help," Ray said. "People couldn't get to them. I don't know how many died there."

Richard and Rita, meanwhile, stayed in their apartment on higher ground.

With the first light of day, they walked outside.

"It was a lot worse at daybreak," Richard said, "because you could look out and see the lines hanging from light poles, the busted cars, the crashed buildings, the ripped off pavement with gas pipes on top."

Helicopter pilots told them to go to a road at the top of a steep hillside in back of the apartment complex to be picked up by army trucks. Ray Stantz, his wife and their three children made the climb, taking only diapers for the children and two cans of soft drinks.

Richard and Rita, meanwhile, noticed that their two cars had been smashed by the autos parked on either side.

"I wasn't worried about myself," Rita said. "We still had gas and water, but no lights. At least that's what I thought until I tried to flush the toilet and there was no water and tried to turn on the stove and there was no gas."

But Rita was worried about her mother, who lives three miles away. "Richard decided to put my mind at ease by going over there."

Richard "I walked through mud and water up to my neck, went under water twice."

But he made it and found the mother, Rita Hunt, being taken care of by friends. He walked back, arriving shortly after 2 p.m. The walk, normally 45 minutes each way, had taken more than four hours.

Christmas and Easter breaks for students would be the same as in Calendar "A."

Calendar "C" would make the closing day of school on May 19. School would begin on Aug. 29. In-service dates would be Aug. 22-26, Nov. 4, Nov. 18-19, Feb. 24 and May 20, Nov. 19 and May 20 fall on Saturday.

Christmas break would be from Dec. 23-Jan. 2, while Easter break would be March 24-27.

Holder told the Brand this morning he plans to recommend the approval of Calendar "A."

"It's going to be very difficult for us to line up in-service days with less than 30 days notice. That's why I plan to recommend Calendar 'A'."

In other business Thursday, the board agreed to advertise for bids on a metal shop building, 75 by 40 feet, at La Plata Junior High, on paving improvement at the football stadium and on construction of a small parking lot, 66 by 84 feet, at the high school.

The parking lot would be built between the current parking lot and the northwest entrance of the high school.

Ray Barber, TSTA insurance committee chairman, represented health insurance proposals to the board. Action on the proposed insurance program available to HISD employees must be taken at next Thursday's meeting.

Thursday's meeting lasted approximately 4 hours—from 7:11 p.m.

Women Returning To Work Need New Skills

NEW YORK (AP)—Women coming back into the job market after a lapse of even a few years will be faced with new language, complex new equipment and new administrative responsibilities, warns an official of a firm that supplies temporary office help.

Data processing systems, telecommunication systems, word processing, information storage and retrieval, microfilm and microfilm, computerized filing, text editors and dictating equipment with electronic indexing are some of the new complexities, says Patricia Morse, corporate vice president for Olsen Temporary Services.

Typing, steno and bookkeeping are good basic skills and are helpful, but there are many facets of office work to become familiar with in today's fast moving business," she says. "There are media typewriters, automated typewriters with screens to display stored data, 'mag card' machines, 'talking typewriters,' which will all seem strange to the woman who has been away from the office for six or seven years," she adds.

To illustrate the changes that have taken place, Mrs. Morse points out that the categories of typists listed by temporary help services can run as high as 17, ranging from manuscript and correspondence typing to statistical, billing, coding and clerical typing. Keeping skills up-to-date and keeping in touch with changing office systems is important for the woman who expects to re-enter the labor market, says Mrs. Morse, who offers some practical tips based on her travels and contacts with working women across the country.

"One of the most unusual skill sharpeners we've heard used," she notes, "is the woman who practiced her steno by taking down her favorite TV show and reading it back to her husband."

Some other ingenious methods she found practiced are using steno to do shopping lists, take club meeting minutes, note phone messages, or "keep track of involved agreements with my kids."

"Someone without a typewriter at home rented the use of one at the local library every few weeks and practiced on 'current business news' from magazines there," Mrs. Morse relates. "Another woman has her husband bringing home business equipment catalogues and still another sets up tours of a large nearby business office for high school classes and shamelessly goes along."

Being involved in community work, club work and taking extension courses are all helpful to women who add up to a 38,000,000 work force today, she says.

"And," she points out, "one way to stay 'with it' is to work as a 'temp' even a few days a month to keep up with the fast-changing systems,

San Jose Continues Cleanup

Residents of the San Jose area near Hereford will band together again Saturday morning to continue cleanup operations in the area, Robert Gallegos of the San Jose Steering Committee has reported.

Residents are asked to meet at 8 a.m. Saturday to begin the cleanup work. The volunteer work in the area is part of a continuing effort to improve the environment at San Jose as the residents there try to secure a loan for the improvement of their water system and the construction of a sewer system. The cleanup is being conducted with the cooperation of the State Health Department.

Deaf Smith County has provided assistance with tractors in the area Wednesday for moving purposes.

President Carter Disappointed

Steel Hike Could Wreck Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter, disappointed by a new U.S. Steel Corp. price increase, is concerned that the hike could undermine the administration's anti-inflation program, his chief economic adviser says.

"The government can't do it alone. There has to be some general restraint shown by others," Charles L. Schultze, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said of the anti-inflation effort.

Schultze, who asked reporters to his office Thursday evening, criticized U.S. Steel shortly after the nation's largest steelmaker announced price increases of 6 per cent on structural steel and 7 per cent on tin mill steel.

"The administration believes such action is clearly inconsistent with efforts to control the inflation rate," Schultze said. He said Carter had "expressed his sharp disappointment with this development."

Structural steel is used in construction, while tin mill steel is used in food and beverage cans.

Although U.S. Steel said the increase is needed to offset higher labor charges and other costs, Schultze said the steel industry has raised its prices in recent months much faster than the average increase for American industry.

"We've got to let the public know about it," he said, when asked what the criticism would accomplish. "We have to look at it in terms of what's been happening."

If other steel makers follow U.S. Steel's lead, he said, overall steel prices will be 12.5 per cent higher than they were in September. The latest increase is the fifth significant hike in 10 months, he added.

The steel price increase and the Carter administration's criticism of it came on the same day that the government issued another unfavorable report on inflation, showing the struggle to contain rising prices has a long way to go.

The Labor Department said consumer prices rose six-tenths of 1 per cent in June, the same as in May, and were up 4.4 per cent for the first six months of the year. Prices rose only 4.8 per cent in all of 1976.

Some administration officials had indicated they expected a much better price performance in June after recent improvements in wholesale prices, including a decline of six-tenths of 1 per cent in June.

The administration took heart from another key economic report that showed the economy grew at a healthy 6.4 per cent annual rate in the second quarter of the year, as measured by the gross national product. The same report revised upward the first quarter growth to 7.5 per cent from the 6.9 per cent report previously.

Combined, the growth during the first six months of the year averaged about 7 per cent, well above the administration's target for over-all economic growth this year of about 6 per cent. The administration expects an easing in economic growth to a rate of about 5 per cent during the second half of the year, still a favorable figure.

Some economists have expressed concern that the nation's economy might run out of steam in the second half of the year and could undergo a sharp slowdown, similar to the one in 1976 when unemployment began climbing again after mid-year. This could occur again if GNP growth slips below a 4 per cent rate.

Unemployment did increase in June to 7.1 per cent, up from 6.9 per cent in May and the first increase in several months. Retail sales have sagged for three consecutive months, another sign that a slowdown of some degree is at hand.

Now You Don't See It, Now You Do

Even after Hereford State Bank's old building was leveled this past week, the view of the new facility was marred by the old bank vault and mounds of rock and dirt from the foundation. But, the bottom photo shows the lot has been cleared this week and will soon be ready for new paving and landscaping. Meanwhile, bank patrons are using the rear entrance to the new financial institution.

Lady Chief Defeated In Election Landslide

COLUMBO, Sri Lanka (AP)—In a stunning election landslide, the opposition United National party today ousted Prime Minister Sirimavo Bandaranaike, the world's only woman chief of government.

The vote, continuing a Sri Lankan tradition of unseating incumbents, made 70-year-old opposition chief Junius Richard Jayewardene the new leader of this island nation south of India.

With three-quarters of the vote counted from Thursday's national elections, his party captured 105 seats and was well on its way to securing the two-thirds majority it said it needed to bring Sri Lanka "a new society."

Mrs. Bandaranaike's Sri Lanka Freedom party had won a total of only three seats, including her own. An ethnic minority party won 15 seats, and the rest were scattered among other minor parties.

The austere Jayewardene had spent four decades near the center of power in Sri Lanka, the former Ceylon, but he had never before held the top job.

After a campaign blending capitalist and social welfare policies Jayewardene had been expected to do well in the voting. Sri Lanka's eighth parliamentary election since gaining independence from Britain in 1948. But the results surpassed his most optimistic expectations.

Jayewardene was to take over the prime ministership formally later today or Saturday.

The island's National Security Council mapped strategy for a smooth transition of power. Thursday's voting was peaceful. During the campaign, 13 persons were reported killed in political violence in this nation of 14 million.

The defeat of Mrs. Bandaranaike, 62, ending a seven-year term, leaves the world without a woman national leader for the first time in years. The widow of a former prime minister, she became the world's first woman prime minister in 1960 elections. She held power then for five years.

She was the third leader in the region to be turned out of office this year. India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi lost national elections in March, and Pakistani President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto was removed by the army earlier this month.

Like Mrs. Gandhi, Mrs. Bandaranaike alienated voters by imposing a repressive national emergency, curbing political press freedom and extending parliament beyond its elected term.

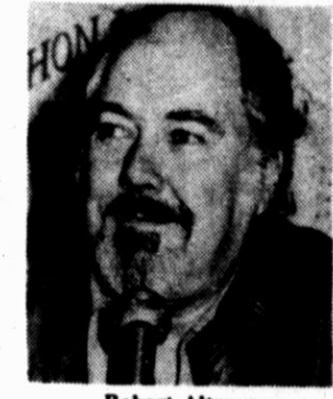

Under the Sri Lankan constitution, Mrs. Bandaranaike need not formally resign. She is deemed to have resigned as soon as the last results are announced.

New Benefit
Legal services may become the newest fringe benefit. The Conference Board notes. A number of unions are sponsoring plans which provide various legal services for industrial and service workers. And about 30 plans supported by companies have been reported.

The Education Ladder
There are sharp differences in the nation's educational profile, according to The Conference Board. Only 18 per cent of the 65-and-over population have had any college training. But among those between 25 and 34, 40 per cent are university-educated.

What people are saying...

Robert Altman

"NOW you're going to tell me? NOW you're going to make a change? I think she's got a right to be angry."
— Robert Altman, film director, in a recent interview.

"Truman Capote is an excellent writer with nothing to say. His writing is glorious, but he doesn't tell me anything. You get to the end and say, 'so what?'"
— Richard Bach, author of "Jonathan Livingston Seagull."

"How do you think a Spanish woman or an Italian woman or any Catholic woman who is seriously Catholic feels after she's stretched through 13 children and ruined her body and her life and everything else? Just a slave to dump out this mass of people and then the Pope comes along and says it's O.K., you can use contraceptives now. She's going to say,

"Before we reached our present level of technology, it was clearly better to be smart than stupid. But you could argue that the development of nuclear weapons is a regressive step."
— Carl Sagan, author and professor of astronomy and space sciences at Cornell University.

"I never paid much attention to the rock press until I started seeing things about me. It's so jivey. I found myself looking things up in the dictionary just to see what the guy was saying."

— Tom Petty of the Heartbreakers in a recent interview.

"We are moving from a 'cowboy' economy where there was always a new frontier and plenty of everything for the taking, plus a vast land to swallow up whatever was no longer useful, into a 'spaceman' mode in which resources are limited. How these are used, reused and disposed of must be carefully planned."
— Walter J. Neppi, president of J.C. Penney Co., in a recent interview.

"Marriages are not eternal, so why should divorces be? I don't trust people who don't marry again after their divorce. I am not sure they are that passionate."
— Jean-Pierre Aumont, French actor, who remarried the woman from whom he had been divorced 13 years earlier.

"I am a restaurateur to support my habit. At the time, it seemed like a

Care in Choice of Sitter Urged

NEW YORK (AP)—"It's vitally important to select baby sitters carefully. They are, in effect, parents-in-absentia, and can wield a tremendous influence upon the child," warns an authority on child development.

Irene Clepper of St. Paul, Minn., offered parents advice on hiring a sitter during a Workshop for Baby Sitters she conducted here recently, sponsored by Kenner Products, a toy manufacturer.

Mrs. Clepper, past director of public health and education of the Minnesota State Medical Association, has conducted seminars on child development and play for teachers in the Minneapolis public school system.

"If you pay attention to certain fundamentals, you can be sure that the baby-sitting experience will be an untroubled and even rewarding one for your child — and for yourself," says Mrs. Clepper, who is currently working on her doctorate at the University of Minnesota, where she is involved in a research project on child development.

What is a good sitter?
"She — or he — is alert, conscientious, knows some first aid, and enjoys playing with children," Mrs. Clepper says. The latter is very important, she adds, because "play is the way a child learns, and parents just don't play enough with their children today."

How does one find a good sitter?

"Ask neighbors who have used one before," she suggests. "Using a neighbor's older child is good, too, because then the sitter will be familiar." If this is impossible, call a reputable agency. "But always, always ask for references — and check them," she cautions.

Agree in advance on rates, says Mrs. Clepper. Rates will depend on the number of children, ages, local rates, sitter experience, carfare costs and duties required.

"Whatever you do, remember that the sitter's prime responsibility is to watch the children," she admonishes. "Don't load them down with so many duties that they are distracted for long periods. That's dangerous."

On the night of the sitting, request that the sitter arrive early so that the child — and family pets — can get used to the new visitor.

Have ready a list of important information for the sitter.

List the following telephone numbers: family doctor, where you will be, a neighbor, police and fire departments.

Furnish the sitter with personal information about each child, Mrs. Clepper urges, including nicknames; allergies or other physical problems such as fainting spells; snack times, and what is allowed; favorite stories, television programs, toys and activities. The sitter should also know sleeping habits and bedtime.

When the sitter arrives, go over the list and give him or her a tour of the house. While on the tour, check for obvious safety hazards — sharp or pointed objects, open medicine cabinets, loose rugs, locations of cleaning fluids and household cleaners that are potential poisons, matches.

Show the sitter how to regulate the heat or air conditioning, how windows and doors work, where telephones and light switches are located. If necessary, show how the kitchen stove works.

Then, stay for a few extra minutes to see that the sitter and "sittee" are getting along.

Evaluations Of Teachers Public Info

AUSTING (AP)—Student evaluations of public college teachers are public information, Atty. Gen. John Hill said Thursday.

North Texas State University President C.C. Nolen requested Hill's opinion.

A professor in the NTSU history department had asked for a copy of the computer printout on all teachers in the department.

The students anonymously rated the teachers on a scale of one to five on 18 points.

Nolen suggested the information is exempted under the Open Records Act because its "disclosure... would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy."

Hill disagreed. "The documents being sought consist of computer printouts composed of information which is entirely statistical. Individual, student-initiated comments are not part of the printouts."

"In our view, the public, as well as the other faculty members, has a significant interest in knowing student opinion regarding their instructors' performance at a state-supported institution," Hill said.

Witnesses Claim They Saw UFO's

PORTER, Tex. (AP)—Reports of a bright erratic-moving light in the eastern skies early Thursday morning have set this small southeast Texas town abuzz with talk of unidentified flying objects.

A Montgomery County Sheriff's deputy, who insisted his name not be used, said he spotted the mysterious light at 5:08 a.m. today from his patrol car at the intersection of Ford Road and FM 1488 in the Porter city limits.

"It was a big, bright, very intense light. I saw erratic movements in the sky. It was zigging and zagging and moving very fast," he said.

The deputy compared the light movements to circles and twists performed by aerial stunt flyers.

"I watched it for about 10 minutes," he said. "I could tell it wasn't a helicopter or any other standard aircraft. I shined my Q-beam spotlight and then it started coming toward me very fast. It must have been moving a mile every second."

The object abruptly stopped, he said, and was stationary for some 20 minutes. Then, it was covered by a cloud and he didn't see it again.

The deputy said four or five other persons had reported seeing the object before he did. A helicopter from the Harris

County Sheriff's Department was dispatched but a spokesman said the crew sighted nothing unusual.

Col. Joe Hope, chief of safety at Ellington AFB near Houston, said several calls came in early today concerning the object. However, nothing was detected on base radar screens.

Jamey Bowers, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Bowers of Porter, said he saw a similar object Wednesday morning and again Wednesday night from his bedroom window.

The boy described what he saw as a pattern of bluish green, red and yellow lights, flickering on and off.

As with most UFO sightings, those who saw the lights or objects are generally the only ones convinced.

"It's just a big bunch of mess," said a harried Montgomery County Sheriff's dispatcher.

Elkettes Plan Cookout In Park Late in July

The Hereford Elkettes held their regular meeting Wednesday night in the B.P.O. Elks Hall, with Nanah Braly acting as president.

Those in attendance were Louella Manning, secretary; Martha Bridges, parliamentarian; Bonnie Johnson, Carol Rettman, Pat Stevens, and Dora Lee Howell.

Reports were given on the swimming party that was held on Saturday night.

Also there was a report on the ladies Elkettes' Bowling League team which is in first place as of now.

A committee was appointed to get the next news letter out which is scheduled to be mailed the first week in August.

Plans were made on the hamburger supper which will be held in the 7:30 p.m., July 30, at Veterans Park.

The meeting was closed with a prayer led by Nanah Braly.

The next meeting will be the first Wednesday of August.

BE A FRIEND,
HAVE A FRIEND

JOAN DWYER

DIRECTOR

I never again will stereotype people! I've heard all my life that artists are a temperamental, eccentric lot. Not so! This past week I have met some of the most personable, generous, and "folksy" people who happen to be outstanding professional artists.

Never again will I conjure up the image of van Gogh and his bleeding head when I think of art.

I have been impressed with the people I've met in the world of art, and I shall forever refrain from saying: "All artists are....."

Thinly sliced cucumber is a fine addition to a bacon and tomato sandwich; it can replace the usual lettuce.

Ann Landers Obese Babes Okay

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Am I too late to say a word in behalf of the skinny ones versus the fatties? I hope not.

The "Skinnies" in our office put out twice as much work as the obese babes. They are also much better natured than the constant "nosers" who waddle down the aisles.

I'm a "Skinny" and my pantsuits look great even without a jacket—when most women wear to cover bulging hips and big behinds. Doctors keep telling people to lose weight. I think you could have been a little kinder to us, Miss Landers. How about an apology.

DEAR E: Sorry, my four top secretaries are all fighting the battle of the bulge and they are the most efficient women I have seen in ANY office. This is not a plug for obesity because these energetic females are not fat, but they can certainly outwork any "Skinny" in the U.S.A.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I hope you don't think I'm crazy but I want to help my son who is in the seventh grade. His teacher is well known for her bizarre assignments but this one takes the rag off the bush.

John is practically blind trying to find the words "unsubstantiated" and "exhaustive" in two separate sentences in the same newspaper. We have searched for almost a week (his 13-year-old sister is also looking) but apparently no one uses these words but his English teacher.

My husband suggested that you might come to the rescue. Will you please use these two words in your column?—Cockeyed in Columbus

DEAR C.L.C.: In the year following an election you shouldn't have much trouble finding the word "unsubstantiated." But I'm happy to save your son the exhaustive search. Have a good day.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After dining with a woman friend (in a fine restaurant), I applied lipstick. She informed me that it was in poor taste to put on lipstick at the table.

Will you kindly settle it. Yes or NO?—Willing To Learn

DEAR W.T.L.: It is perfectly all right to apply lipstick at the dining table. In fact, it makes sense if the ladies' room is a distance away—often upstairs or downstairs.

Combing the hair, putting on eye shadow or curling lashes WOULD be in poor taste, but a little nose-powdering and dab-ing on of lipstick is OK.

DEAR ANN: I read with interest the letters from teachers who complained about the kids acting like animals.

May I present the other side? Maintaining discipline is a difficult problem when a teacher is faced with 20 to 30 bored students. Most students are tired of games, tired of movies, tired of milk breaks and tired of listening to a tape recorder instead of human voice. They are also tired of field trips and tired of teachers who have no imagination and don't really like kids. If the teachers would do what they are paid to do, discipline would be no problem.

Concerning respect: How can students respect a teacher who goes around bad-mouthing them? People usually get what they give. It's about time the students were shown a little respect—On Their Side

DEAR ON: Thank you for another point of view. Your letter is not without merit.

Nazareth to Host German Festival

The community of Nazareth will be somewhat transformed into a small German village Sunday as its fifth annual German Festival begins. The city, southeast of Hereford, celebrates its German heritage by inviting area residents to the yearly event.

Nazareth citizens prepare their own style of German sausage, served for dinner on Sunday afternoon. According to Jerome Brockman, festival chairman, the sausage will be served with assorted German side dishes at the evening meal (beginning at 4 p.m.).

Besides plenty of German food, Nazareth residents will provide musical entertainment for all in attendance during the afternoon and through the evening.

The first event of the day will be 1 p.m. baseball games, in which area cities will square off and play for the Nazareth championship title. A special arts and crafts show will highlight the afternoon's activities, as well. The art show will be in the school cafeteria and visitors will vote on their favorite display.

Dancing will play an important role in the festival's activities, as many Nazareth citizens and visitors will "take to the streets" throughout the day. Round dances, including polkas and waltzes, will begin at 1:30 p.m. The grande march will start at 2 p.m. in the school gym.

The Havlik Polka Band will be featured for dancing throughout the festival.

Tickets for the sausage dinner are priced at $3.00 for adults and $1.75 for children. Dance admission will be $2.50 a person.

State-Line News

MRS. C. L. HUTCHINS

Weary state-line farmers have completed their wheat harvest for this year. Expenses have been very high, help scarce and the price of wheat has put some farmers in the red. Wheat acreage for 1978 probably will be cut almost in half because of the wheat price. Jim Monroe probably was the last large wheat acreage farmer to finish completion of harvest in far west Deaf Smith County.

Most local gardens are producing fresh vegetables. The canning season is keeping the ladies quite busy, while the men are stubble mulching for long hours.

Recent guests in the home of Mrs. Lula Cross and son Mike included her son Honel and Judy Cross of Hereford and friends Wayne and Donna Reid and sons Lee, Leslie and Michael, all of Ranchville, N.M. Honel Cross and Wayne Reid were former college classmates when they attended Panhandle State College at Goodwell, Okla.

Richard Kaylor and children Racy, Sam, Sally and Kathy recently have moved from the state-line area. They will be missed.

Mr. and Mrs. Jordan Miller attended the North Plains Iris Flower Society chapter meeting Sunday afternoon in the home of a member, Mrs. Delpha Downing, in Canyon.

Mrs. Downing showed guests slides of the Iris National Convention this spring in Memphis, Tenn. The slides included one of Mrs. Miller's hybrid Irises, a variety of Ruth of Moab.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I am a 17-year-old male and wash my hair every night. I have heard from so many people that if I keep this up I will lose a lot of my hair at an early age. I use the milder baby shampoos. Will washing my hair every night (especially since I have pretty oily hair) be bad for it?

DEAR READER—Not nearly as bad as not removing that excess oil. The oil is sebum which is particularly irritating to the skin. It can cause a scaly condition known as seborrheic dermatitis. In uncontrolled cases it can cause lesions in the eyebrows, over the shoulders and even over the rest of the body. If you do have very oily hair you are doing the right thing. You should use only one application of shampoo instead of two as many products suggest.

Because of the volume of mail Dr. Lamb cannot answer your letters personally but he will answer representative letters of general interest in his column.

Executive Dish Calvin Coolidge, who invited members of Congress to breakfast meetings at the White House, startled his guests one morning by pouring coffee and cream into his saucer. In confusion, several others at the table did the same. Without a word, the President placed his saucer on the floor for his dog.

Members also enjoyed an exchange of rhizomes bulbs and informal visiting. The Hostess served homemade ice cream, cake and lemonade to 20 members attending.

Mrs. Thelma Reed and her grandson, Rickey Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elden Reed of Amarillo, were Wednesday morning guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Hutchins and her mother, Mrs. Mollie A. Reese.

Mrs. Reed was a former neighbor of the Hutchins and were en route to Clovis, N.M., to visit her brothers, Carl and Alex Massey.

Mrs. Reed announced the birth of her sixth great grandchild, a daughter born to the Rev. and Mrs. Mike Reed of Fort Worth. He is the oldest son of the Eldon Reeds of Amarillo. The baby girl, Rachele Dawn, was born May 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hughes spent Sunday in Muleshoe, and were dinner guests in the home of their daughter and granddaughter, Mrs. Peggy Burnett and Mesilla. Other guest in the Burnett home included Casey King of Muleshoe.

Marcus and Brandon Reed of Clovis spent Sunday with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Luther A. Hutchins, while their parents, Carolyn and Stephen Reed, and other friends spent Sunday at Ute Lake, located near Logan, N.M.

Elmer Fryar of Hereford, a former Broadview resident, underwent major surgery last week in Deaf Smith Hospital. He was hospitalized for removal of a growth from his toe and an abdominal hernia. At this writing Elmer is showing good improvement.

Mrs. Ruth Ridley and her brother-in-law and wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Pat Ridley of Clovis, attended the annual Ridley Family Reunion in Midway, Ark., last weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Sharp. Thirty-two members of the Ridley family registered for the social event.

Sympathy is extended to the Morrison family on the recent death of their brother and uncle, Marvin Morrison, 78.

Mr. Morrison was the brother of Edwin (Bud) Morrison of Hereford, a retired rancher and farmer of Walcott community and an uncle of Junior Morrison of Walcott. Marvin Morrison often visited in the Walcott community and Bippus communities. Burial was in West Park Cemetery in Hereford.

Mrs. Verna Shannon and her brother, Freddie Riley, and friend Leslie Hamilton, all of Lubbock, arrived Saturday morning to visit over the weekend in the home of their brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Riley and children Lori, Eddie and Carrie. The group attended morning church services held at the Rosedale Baptist Church.

Joining the group for dinner in the Riley home included their mother, Mrs. Fred Riley, and son Dennis of Fort Sumner, N.M.

The Rev. Richard Clymer, pastor of the Rosedale Baptist Church, has announced the showing of the film "Corrie" at the church on the evening of July 31. This is a Billy Graham film and all residents of the area are welcome to attend.

New Rosedale Baptist Church officers were elected when the church met in conference on Wednesday evening. Those receiving offices were: Sunday school director—Floyd Brown; training union director—Jordan Miller; nominating committee—Floyd Brown, Chairman, Jordan Miller, Opal Potts, Jimmy Schell and Lucy Harrison; budget committee—Ernest Brown; Chairman—Wayne Tate; Inez Short; Ernest Riley and Marilee Osborn.

Residents are welcome to attend all services at the Rosedale Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Artie Don Foster and daughters Christie and Teresa of Huntington Beach, Calif., arrived by plane Thursday in Amarillo to visit for the next two weeks in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Foster and Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Hutchins, and great-grandmother Mrs. Mollie Reese.

Mrs. Jimmy Trower of Carlsbad, N.M., spent Wednesday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Seals. Other guests included a friend, Mrs. Charlie Hultman, who enjoyed dinner with the Seals family.

Mrs. C.L. Hutchins visited Saturday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thrasher and son Max in Clovis. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Pete Wells of Portales, N.M.

For God So Loved The World

FAITH CAN PROVIDE COMFORT WHEN SORROW STRIKES

Sooner or later, sorrow must cast its dark shadow over all our lives, in many forms and in varying degrees; either directly or indirectly through someone we know. It may be occasioned by the death of a loved one or a dear friend; or possibly a major event such as a broken relationship, a career disappointment or a child in deep trouble. Whatever the source, God's love is ever present to provide comfort and a positive way out of the abyss of sadness; and once you have discovered this, you can help someone else to find it. If you acquire the habit of seeking God's guidance at the Church of your choice BEFORE sorrow strikes, you will automatically do so whenever it does.

"And it shall come to pass in the day that the Lord shall give thee rest from thy sorrow."
—Isaiah 14:3

For what human ill does not dawn seem to be an alleviation?

Rested Reuss Rips Reds

BY KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

For three days during the All-Star break, Jerry Reuss heard crickets chirp and the wind blow through the trees in a sleepy New England retreat.

Thursday night, he heard the crack of Al Oliver's bat and the wind of his pitches blowing by batters.

Both kinds of noises were significant to the Pittsburgh Pirate left-hander. The first provided needed therapy and the second a needed victory, as the Pirates beat the Cincinnati Reds 6-2.

"I stuck my feet in the Atlantic Ocean and washed away the first half of the season," said Reuss, talking about his dismal 4-10 record before Tuesday night's All-Star Game. "It seemed the farthest thing from my mind was pitching."

"I slept late, sat on the porch, heard the crickets chirp. These are things I don't hear during the baseball season."

Reuss allowed but six hits in one of his strongest performances of the season and had plenty of help from his teammates. The Pirate defense contributed three three double plays and Oliver drove in a pair of runs.

Reuss also had some assistance from the fans in notching his 100th career victory. The Pirates broke open the game with three runs in the fifth, courtesy of a fan's umbrella.

Leadoff batter Frank Taveras hit a foul popup and Cincinnati first baseman Dan Driessen had a chance to catch it near the railing but the ball struck a bright blue umbrella and eluded him.

The Reds briefly argued that it was fan interference, but first base umpire Paul Pryor said the ball was in the stands when it hit the umbrella. After that incident, Taveras tripled to start the three-run rally.

In other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the San Francisco Giants 9-6; the Chicago Cubs edged the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 12 innings; the St. Louis Cardinals blanked the Houston Astros 4-0; the Montreal Expos turned back the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-0 and the San Diego

Padres nipped the New York Mets 3-2 in 10 innings. Phillies 9, Giants 6

Pinch-hitter Jerry Martin's bases-loaded triple capped an eight-run sixth inning that carried Philadelphia over San Francisco.

The Giants had taken a 6-0 lead off winner Jim Lonborg, 4-3, on a grand slam homer by Gary Thomasson in the third and a two-run homer by Marc Hill in the fifth.

But then the Phillies sent 13 batters to the plate in the sixth, collecting six hits and four walks to take the lead.

Cubs 4, Braves 3
Bill Buckner's run-scoring pinch single in the bottom of the 12th lifted Chicago over Atlanta. With one out in the 12th, reliever Rick Camp, 5-2, walked both Manny Trillo and Joe Wallis before Buckner delivered his game-winning hit.

Camp took over for Phil Niekro at the start of the inning after Niekro had yielded seven hits and struck out eight in 11 innings. Paul Reuschel, 4-1, who followed starter Bill Bonham and Willie Hernandez to the mound was the winner. Cardinals 4, Astros 0

Keith Hernandez socked a home run and Gary Templeton tripled and scored two runs, leading St. Louis over Houston behind Bob Forsch's three-hit performance. The Cardinals made the most of four hits off Houston right-hander J.R. Richard, 9-7, while notching only their fifth triumph in 17 games.

Hernandez' eighth homer of the year came off Richard with two out in the second inning, giving St. Louis a 1-0 advantage. Templeton singled and eventually scored on Ted Simmons' grounder in the fourth and the Cardinals added two insurance runs in the sixth on Jerry Mumphrey's single, Templeton's triple and another Simmons grounder.

Forsch struck out two and walked five en route to his fourth straight victory.

Expos 4, Dired a four-hitter and Tony Perez drove in three runs as Montreal blanked Los Angeles. Rogers, 10-8, recorded his fourth shutout of the season, tying him with Cincinnati's Tom Seaver for the league lead.

Steve Garvey's second-inning single, a single in the seventh by Reggie Smith and base hits by Johnny Oates and Bill Russell in the ninth were the only safeties off the Montreal right-hander. Rick Rhoden, 10-7, lost his fourth game in a row for the Dodgers.

Padres 3, Mets 2

George Hendrick's bases-loaded single off Skip Lockwood in the 10th inning lifted San Diego over New York. With one out, singles by Bill Almon and Mike Ivie and an intentional walk to Dave Winfield loaded the bases to set the stage for Hendrick's decisive hit.

San Diego reliever Rollie Fingers, 7-4, gained the victory.

The Mets, who outhit the Padres 13-7, missed a big opportunity in the 10th when Lee Mazzilli struck out and Bruce Boicclair later fanned with the bases loaded.

Trevino in Lead

BY BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

OAKVILLE, Ont. (AP)—Lee Trevino was the first to predict that his first-round lead in the $225,000 Canadian Open Golf Championship would not stand up.

"It's like my little boy said," Trevino quoted. "There's two things that won't last: a dog that chases cars and a pro that misses greens."

Trevino missed more than his share of green Thursday, but he saved things with what he called "the best putting round I've ever had."

"In all the years I've played golf, and I've played golf for a lot of years in a lot of tournaments, that's the best putting round I've ever had."

"I didn't shoot 67. I putted 67. From where I hit the ball, I should have had about a 72. And it would have been a good 72, not an easy one."

"I've got to start hitting the ball better if I hope to do anything."

Trevino, trying to rebuild his game following major back surgery last winter, one-putted 11 times and once holts a 45-footer to save par on his way to the five-under-par effort that put him one stroke in front of nine players tied at 68.

Heading that group was Jack Nicklaus, designed of the tough, hilly, leg-straining 7,090-yard Glen Abbey Golf Club course that is being played for the first time and will be a permanent site for this national championship.

Nicklaus, who has yet to win the Canadian title, shared the No. 2 spot with Bruce Lietzke and Tom Purtzer, each of whom had two eagles on his back nine. George Archer, Tom Kite, Mike Morley, George Cadle, Jimmy Wittenberg and rookie Jeff Mitchell.

Tom Weiskopf, winner of two of the last four Canadian national titles, was at 69. Al Eiberger at 70 and defending champion Jerry Pate at 71.

In a large group at 72 were Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Ray Floyd. Ben Crenshaw blew to an 80.

Trevino, whose rags-to-riches saga includes five major championships and a blitz of the American, British and Canadian national titles in 1971, has had to restructure his game following the surgery. And he hasn't won in more than a year.

Tennis Entries Down This Year

A surprisingly small field of netters entered this year's Hereford Closed Tennis Tournament which got underway this morning at the high school courts. Tournery directors Charles Allison and David Zinser attributed the fact of vacations and a lack of response by the future members of the HHS tennis team to the low turnout, especially in the Junior Division.

"We seem to have a lot of possible players out of town on vacation," Allison commented while readying the courts for play this morning. "I don't know where the high school players are, but I figured they'd all be here." Zinser added.

As a result of the low entry figure no action will be held this year in Boys 18 singles or doubles, or either 12, 14, or 18 singles of doubles. Junior brackets filled enough for play included Boys 12 singles, Boys 14 singles, Boys 16 singles and doubles, and Girls 14 singles and doubles.

"We did place the older girls into the novice women's events with their permission so they would get a chance to play," Allison said.

Adult events are scheduled to begin Saturday morning with finals in those areas set for Sunday. The Men's open bracket was filled readily, as were the Novice Men's and Women's singles divisions. No play will be held in Men's or Women's Over 35 singles or doubles, but action will be held in Women's Open singles and doubles. Men's doubles, and Novice Men's doubles.

Only two returning champions signed up for this year's meet. Norman Hill will defend his Boys 14 singles crown, while Connie Cupell and Pat Pruitt will try to make it two in-a-row in Women's Open Doubles.

Notables absent include Hardin-Simmons-bound Steve Hoover, Sandra Thomas, winner in both the Girls 14 and 16 singles brackets last year, and Dennis Merlino, a triple winner a year ago in Men's Open singles, Men's doubles, and Mixed doubles.

Culpepper Second

AMARILLO—Ron Glover of Amarillo moved into the top spot in the late-model standing for the second half of the season at Southwest-Speedway but the previous leader, Hereford's Jim Culpepper, is close behind.

Glover, third in Saturday's main event and semi, owns a 440-425 point lead over second-place Culpepper, who finished fourth in the feature race.

Hereford's James Davis, who took runner-up honors in the first heat, shares seventh place with Borger's Danny Masten with 160 points, only 10 behind sixth-place Wally Moulder of Amarillo. Wayne McCullar, also of Hereford, placed third in the first heat and is 13th in the standings with 20 points.

Royals Cut Lead; Mariners Move Up

BY HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

The Kansas City Royals, seeking another division title, keep closing in on first place in the American League West. The expansion Seattle Mariners, hopeful of finishing out of the cellar, are all the way up to sixth and wouldn't mind staying there.

The Royals sliced another half-game off the lead of the idle Chicago White Sox Thursday night with an 8-1 rout of the Detroit Tigers and trail the division leaders by just two games. Meanwhile, the Mariners edged Oakland 4-3 and dropped the A's into the basement, one-half game behind Seattle.

"It's easy to get someplace, but it's tougher to stay there," said Seattle Manager Darrell Johnson, whose Mariners have been in last place almost steadily since the start of the season. "It's kind of like getting to the major leagues. A lot of players get there, but not that many stick around."

Elsewhere, the Boston Red Sox split a doubleheader with the Cleveland Indians, winning the opener 11-4 but losing the nightcap 8-2; the New York Yankees split with the Milwaukee Brewers, winning 7-0 and losing 5-4 in 10 innings, and the Minnesota Twins nipped the California Angels 3-2. Baltimore, Texas and Toronto also had the night off.

Al Cowens had four hits and drove in five runs in Kansas City's triumph while Paul Spittorff fired a four-hitter for his third complete game in 22 starts. The victory was the seventh in a row for the Royals, longest winning streak of the season for the defending champs.

Mariners 4, A's 3

Ruppert Jones and Julio Cruz drove in two runs apiece for Seattle while Glenn Abbott defeated his former Oakland teammates for the third time in four decisions. Abbott lost a shutout bid in the seventh when Wayne Gross hit a two-run homer. Mitchell Page homered in the ninth for Oakland's final run.

However, Jones ripped his 18th homer to get the Mariners started in the second inning and his sacrifice fly in the third made it 2-0. Cruz delivered the other two runs with singles in the fifth and sixth.

Red Sox 11-2, Indians 4-8

Home runs by Andre Thornton, John Lowenstein and Bruce Bochte highlighted the Indians' victory while Butch Hobson slammed a three-run homer for his second hit in Boston's nine-run seventh inning that decided the opener.

Jim Bibby was clipped for Jim Rice's 24th homer but still won the nightcap with help from Jim Kern. Larvell Blanks' two-run homer off Luis Tiant gave the Indians a 3-2 lead in the seventh inning of the opener but a single by George Scott touched off the Red Sox' nine-run explosion in the bottom of the inning. Tiant went seven innings and fanned eight, including Rico Carty in the fourth for the veteran hurler's 2,000th career strikeout.

Brewers 0-5, Yankees 7-4

The Brewers, three outs away from being shut out in both ends of the doubleheader, rallied with four runs in the ninth inning of the nightcap and then won it in the 10th on rookie Dick Davis' two-out bloop single. The Yankees took the opener as Catfish Hunter fired a five-hitter for his first shutout of the season and Graig Nettles hit a three-run homer.

Cecil Cooper, who ignited the Brewers' four-run rally with the leadoff homer in the ninth against Ed Figueroa, led off the Dory Funk, Jr. returns against Ervin Smith Saturday night in Lions Club wrestling at the Bull Barn. The former world champion was surprised last Saturday night when the youthful Smith held him to a long draw. This weekend's match will see a special stipulation: The match will be two out of three falls, with a 60-minute time limit.

Funk, Smith Top Wrestling Action

Funk feels that his skill and experience must see his hand raised under these conditions. The former champ, at 243, keeps in shape by working his ranches in and around Canyon and Umbarger.

Smith, at 235, was the national A.A.U. wrestling champion, captain of Tampa University's football team for two years, and a shot putter of note. He is currently half of the Western States Tag Team title holders, along with good friend and sometimes arch-rival Teddy Dibiase.

Dibiase, 245 pound ex-West Texas State footballer, is slated to meet 250-pound Randy Colley, Georgian now wrestling out of Dallas. Colley may be remembered here as a rough and tough spoiler who irked many area fans.

Vicki Williams, blonde bombshell who has been wreaking havoc against girl wrestlers such as Cora Combs and Dora Doyle, will clash again against long time foe Lei Lani Kai. Williams is the number one contender for the world title for women held by the Fabulous Moolah.

Dennis Alberts, a former collegiate crapper who has quickly taken to the rougher ways of the pro ranks, will take on Tyro Gary Starr in the opener. Starr, young hopeful from Houston, steps in a 240 pounds against his stockier opponent's 230.

In last week's mat contests, Abdulah The Butcher and Super Destroyer were counted out of the ring. The Butcher is managed by the notorious J.J.

10th with a single off Dick Tidrow, his fourth hit of the game. One out later, he stole second when catcher Fran Healy was unable to hold the ball on a pitchout. After Tidrow fanned Jamie Quirk, Davis looped his game-winning hit to right field.

Another rookie, pitcher Sam Hinds, kept the Brewers in the game after they fell behind 4-0 in the first inning by hurling 71-3 scoreless innings, allowing just two singles.

Twins 3, Angels 2

Bobby Bonds homered off Dave Goltz as the Angels scored twice in the top of the first but Nolan Ryan tied it against Nolan Ryan with a two-run triple in the bottom of the first and scored on Larry Hulse's two-out bunt single.

Dillion, whose bloody feud with Dick Murdoch was highlighted by many ring injuries.

In other matches, Dibiase topped Alberts in a bruising match. Alberts substituted for a no-show Kurt Von Brauner. Funk eked out a draw with Smith, while Starr had to be satisfied with a draw against Houston's Lynn Denton.

Action at the Bull Barn starts at 9 p.m.

Schulte Wins Twice

Nazareth's Bob Schulte came away a winner twice at the first performance of the 26th Annual Hereford Rodeo Thursday night at the Hereford Roper's Club Arena.

Schulte claimed the top spot in Bull Dogging with a time of 8.5 seconds, and teamed with Ricky Black to win the Team Roping event in a time of 16.3

Other winners Thursday included J.T. Henry of Happy in the Bareback Broncos (Score of 53); Ronnie Kester in Calf Roping (9.2); Bob Wade of Tulia in Saddle Broncs (Score of 51); Vicki Henry of Broadview, N.M. in Barrel Racing (16.5); and Johnny Jarvis of Stinnett in Bull Riding (Score of 67).

The second night of action beings at 8 p.m. tonight

Message to Washington

TAX TROUBLES

MESSAGE—We have a small business and I feel that the Internal Revenue Service is constantly throwing obstacles in our path. We received a letter from the IRS saying that our employer identification number we use on our tax returns was issued to another company. They want us to use a new number. We have used this old number for seven years and, knowing IRS, this is bound to confuse our records. I don't want our withholding and Social Security payments to be credited to another taxpayer's account and have the burden of proof that we have paid on us. Why are they doing this to us?—Mrs. H.P., San Antonio.

SENATOR BENTSEN RESPONDS—The IRS has informed me that they were in error when they issued a new employer identification number to you. They regret any inconvenience. You should destroy any records you have received with the new number and continue using the old one.

GI BILL DEADLINE

MESSAGE—I served four years in the Air Force, being released in May, 1963. I then served four years in the reserves. Although VA education assistance was available, I did not feel I could honestly utilize it until this year when I returned to school to take some business and management courses. I completed my first semester, under the GI bill, and enrolled for another semester only to be told by VA that my veterans benefits were available only through May 31, 1977. I do not feel this is fair. Out of 36 months of assistance to which I was entitled, I have only used four months. I believe this is grossly unjust.—J.E., Houston.

SENATOR BENTSEN RESPONDS—I'm afraid you have run into an immovable deadline. The Veterans Administration tells me that a veteran is eligible to receive an educational assistance allowance for 10 years after discharge from the service. Under current law there is no provision for an extension of this time limit. In fact, a recent effort was made to move the eligibility back to eight years but that was defeated in Congress.

Do you have a problem with government? MESSAGE TO WASHINGTON cuts through the red tape to get answers to your questions about Social Security, veterans benefits, immigration matters and other problems you may have run into in your dealings with the Federal Government in Washington. Write MESSAGE TO WASHINGTON, c/o Senator Lloyd Bentsen, U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510. Inquiries to MESSAGE TO WASHINGTON are sometimes edited before publication, but the intent and substance of the inquiries are maintained.

8,000 Apply For Shuttle Space Crew

WASHINGTON (AP)—More than 8,000 would-be astronauts have applied for berths on the crew of the Space Shuttle which is scheduled to begin orbiting the earth in the early 1980s. Many last-minute entries still are being reviewed even though the deadline for applications expired at midnight June 30 after a year-long recruiting effort the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said. The long list will be pared to about 150 finalists who will be given preliminary screening tests and physicals at the Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas. The final list will be narrowed to 30 to 40 astronaut candidates who will be accepted for a two-year training and evaluation period at Johnson. NASA says the first 15 pilot and 15 mission specialists will be notified of their selection by December. Training will begin next year.

NASA already has 30 people available as Space Shuttle crewmen, including 27 astronauts assigned to the Johnson Center and three in government positions in Washington. These include nine scientists.

BOB BULLOCK Comptroller of Public Accounts

Dear Mr. Bullock: I am a student, with a question. How much money does Texas receive from the federal government, and how does this compare to the other states?

In 1976, the State of Texas received $1.8 billion in federal assistance, ranking it fourth among the 50 states in total federal aid. The states that received more than Texas were New York, California and Pennsylvania.

On a per capita basis, however, the federal aid picture is not as good for Texas. In terms of total federal dollars per person, we ranked ninth from the bottom.

Mr. Comptroller: Are the labor charges taxable when a welding shop makes wrought iron chairs and a table for my patio?

Yes. The full amount charged for the items would be subject to the tax. Labor in the manufacturing process is taxable so long as it is not a repair.

Dear Sir: Is the money from life insurance policies exempt from the state Inheritance Tax?

The first $40,000 received from life insurance policies are exempt from the tax if the policies are made payable to a named beneficiary. If the insurance is payable to the estate, the total amount received is taxable.

Sir: I am a serviceman stationed at Fort Hood, but I claim Virginia as my residence. Do I have to pay property taxes in Texas?

You must pay tax on any real property you own in Texas. Your personal property, however, is taxable only in Virginia.

Rep. Poage Accepted South African Favors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Whether he knew it or not, Rep. W.R. Poage accepted financial favors from South African sugar producers who needed his good will to share in the U.S. market, the Justice Department says.

Poage's relationship with South African lobbyists was described in a government lawsuit, and the Texas Democrat confirmed parts of the account.

The situation may raise fresh questions about the close relationships between special interest groups and members of Congress with influence over legislation affecting them.

A Justice Department source said there is no possibility of criminal charges in the Poage case because the statute of limitations has expired. That rule requires campaign finance violations to be prosecuted within three years after they occur, and most other federal offenses must be prosecuted within five years.

Poage is the key figure in the story. At 77, the crusty Texan is the oldest member of the House. As chairman of the agriculture committee for more than a decade, he made important decisions about the government's farm policies. He lost the chairmanship in 1974 in a fight with the Democratic "young Turks" in the House but continues as the committee vice chairman.

Players on the South African side include two New York lawyers, John R. Mahoney and Philip R. McKnight, registered as lobbyists for the South African Sugar Association, an organization of sugar producers.

The South Africa Foundation which is based in Durban, South Africa, and maintains a Washington office, is another major figure.

According to the Justice Department, the association is financed by South African business leaders and its purpose is to promote a favorable South African image.

In the civil suit filed in U.S. District Court, the department accused the foundation and the two lawyers of submitting "false and misleading" statements about their lobbying activities.

They failed to disclose that the sugar producers put up the money for favors to Poage, to Rep. William Wampler of Virginia, the ranking Republican on the agriculture panel, and two other committee members, the suit said. Government lawyers declined to identify those two.

With the lawyer-lobbyists smoothing the way, the sugar association provided Poage and the two unidentified congressmen with "a private executive jet in November 1970 to travel from South Africa to Rhodesia and back to South Africa," the suit said.

Mahoney and McKnight knew this "would create a conflict of interest situation" because the congressmen were influential in determining South Africa's allotment of the U.S. market under the sugar quota system then in effect, the government said.

So they arranged "to make it appear outwardly" that the foundation paid for the jet, the government alleged. The same arrangement was used in May 1972 to hide the sugar association money paying for a Rhodesia-to-South Africa flight by Poage and his administrative assistant, Dale Hennington, the government said.

Wampler and committee counsel John O'Neal received "a 10-day expense-free visit to South Africa in August 1973," and once again the sugar producers picked up the bill while the foundation was the ostensible host, the suit said.

Poage also received a $1,000 campaign contribution and $1,800 worth of round-trip Washington-Dallas airline tickets from the South African sugar producers in 1971, the government said.

In both cases, Mahoney laundered the gifts so it would be difficult to trace them to the sugar producers, the government said.

In response to the allegations, Hennington said neither he nor Poage had any idea the sugar producers were paying for the favors. "Nor have we had any knowledge of it since that time," he said.

He acknowledged that Poage accepted the free flights, the campaign contribution, and the airline tickets but said there was nothing improper or illegal about the matter.

Documents on file at the Justice Department's Foreign Agents Registration Unit show the South African Foundation claimed to have sponsored South African visits by Rep. David Bowen, D-Miss., Rep.

John Flynt, D-Ga., and his wife, and Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., and his wife.

"Yes, he did make the trip to South Africa and four other African countries in late December 1975," said John Perkins, and aide to Bowen, who's on the Agriculture Committee. "As far as he knew, the South Africa Foundation paid for the trip. He presumed they raised the money from the major business interests in the country, including the Chamber of Commerce does in this country."

Dlynt, who's directing a House probe of South Korean influence-buying in Congress, said the foundation helped arrange his 1972 South African business trip for the House Appropriations Committee.

"They invited me to go as their guest, but I declined," he said. "I asked for a complete listing of any expenditures made on my behalf and I wrote either two or three checks to the foundation to pay for it."

35% of Police Officers 'Are Really Dangerous'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A psychiatrist who has screened and counseled thousands of police officers over the last 13 years says 35 per cent of all police now on duty are "really dangerous."

The conclusion is drawn by Dr. Edward Shev of Sausalito, Calif., author of a newly published book entitled "Good Cops-Bad Cops."

Shev, 57, says that interviews and consultations with some

6,700 police officers and applicants in 20 California communities have convinced him that "natural cops constitute only 5 per cent of all police, men and women, who know intuitively how to handle both the work and pressures of being a cop."

Shev, who practices in San Francisco and is chief of neurology at Marshall Hale Memorial Hospital here, says 60 per cent of all police are "treatable" in that they perform their duties well most of the time but have a breaking point under pressure.

"But the really dangerous police are the 35 per cent who make up the third category. These are the "untreatable" men and women—the bad cops. Their personalities are not suited to police work, and they are unable to learn about themselves or accept treatment that would allow them to function adequately as police officers," Shev said.

"We give a man or woman probably the widest discretionary authority to put us in jail, to shoot us, to crowd-control us, to take away our liberties—without understanding how stable that individual is," he added.

"My theme is, if we give somebody that much authority in a free society, I want him or her to be the sanest guy or gal that we can find."

Shev began working with police in his own town, across the bay from San Francisco, in 1965. Still at it, he screens prospective policemen, conducts psychological sessions and counsels individual officers. One Shev's psychiatric assessment, the Sausalito council chose its new police chief.

Shev says the nation's next FBI director should have a psychiatric check-up before taking office. He offers himself to President Carter, at a fee, to screen candidates for the post.

Economy Does Better Than Some Expected

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's economy expanded at an annual rate of 6.4 per cent in the last three months, surpassing the administration's expectations for the second quarter in a row, the government reported Thursday.

The Commerce Department said the main reasons for the big second quarter increase in the Gross National Product were strong rises in total sales and inventory buildups.

The report revised the increase in the first-quarter GNP from an annual increase of 6.9 per cent, reported last month, to a new figure of 7.5 per cent.

Prices, as measured by the GNP, rose at an annual rate of 6.7 per cent in the second quarter, compared to 6.9 per cent in the first quarter.

The GNP measures the market value of the nation's output of good and services. It is the most important sign of the strength of business and indicates the prospects for improving unemployment.

Administration officials said this week they expect the economy to grow at a 5 per cent rate for the next 18 months, a pace that will reduce unemployment to 6.6 per cent at the end of 1977 and to 6.1 per cent at the end of 1978.

The unemployment rate is currently 7.1 per cent.

They have been predicting increases of 6 per cent during the first half of this year.

The second quarter increase was the ninth in a row for a gradually expanding economy. The largest increase in that period was 9.2 per cent in the first quarter.

Final sales increased $52.3 billion in the second quarter, compared to $40.7 billion in the first. Export, however, were unchanged from the first quarter.

Inventory investment amounted to $19.7 billion in the second quarter, up $5.9 billion from the $13.8 billion accumulation in the first quarter.

Consumer spending rose $21.6 billion, compared to $33.4 billion in the first quarter. Purchases of durable goods, such as automobiles and furniture, increased only $2.1 billion, compared with a rise of $10.7 billion the quarter before. Nondurable goods went up $8.7 billion, compared to $7.8 billion the previous quarter.

A big factor in the second quarter increase was a $7 billion increase in federal government purchases of goods and services, compared to $2.1 billion in the first quarter.

The government continually revises its figures and will put out a new estimate of second quarter growth next month.

The Carter administration has emphasized repeatedly that economic growth peaked in the first half and is not expected to be as strong at the end of the year. But it says a 5 per cent growth rate would be encouraging.

Alice Rivlin, director of the Congressional Budget Office, said Wednesday she thinks growth will be between 3.6 per cent and 5.1 per cent in 1978, below administration estimates.

The quarterly GNP report showed an increase of $6.3 billion in business fixed investment for the second quarter, compared to $9.4 billion in the first quarter. Nonresidential construction outlays increased $2.3 billion, compared to $900 million.

Net exports of good and services rose $100 million, compared to a decline of $11.2 billion in the first quarter. Exports increased $5 billion and imports increased $4.9 billion.

Shari Lewis Calls Clubs Good Outlet for Children

By CONNIE GRZELKA
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Shari Lewis, the children's entertainer, feels no need to hand out ideas to kids as though they had none of their own.

"Kids have sensational ideas. It's important that they explore their own ideas instead of just listening to those set forth by adults." This encourages children to trust their own concepts and themselves, explains the star of television's "The Shari Show."

Pointing to surveys that indicate that children are programmed to regard life as a series of events in half-hour segments, as in television, Ms. Lewis offers a suggestion: The old-fashioned club.

"Any number of children can start a club, even two or three. When there are other children around, there's always someone who'll trigger the activity to completion," she says.

A project is rewarding only when it is completed, she adds, noting the low frustration and concentration levels found in many children today.

Ms. Lewis, a former Scout and children's group leader, tells children how to organize a club and how to make it work on their own in her 15th and latest book, "The Kids-Only Club Book."

Her own daughter, Mallory, 14, had tried to start four or five clubs over the past several years, but all attempts were short-lived. The reasons for such quick dispersions, says Ms. Lewis, usually include an unwillingness to work with adults and a simple lack of organization.

"The Kids-Only Club Book" gives children tips on getting members, electing officers, finding a meeting place and creating a club symbol. Ms. Lewis provides the specifics for putting on carnivals, puppet and magic shows, plays and craft fairs.

The author started working with young audiences at age 13, when she had her own show on a local television station here.

She claims to have no theory on working with children, but says, "I try to work as artistically as possible while staying within the framework of kids. It's only when you try to turn on guess kids that you turn out trash."

Ms. Lewis, who gives her age as "timeless," says:

"I was a grownup when I was little; I'm a child now that I'm grown up. I feel very much the same person I was when I was a child. After working with children so much, I find that you don't have to peel away as much of the onion skin as you do with other grownups."

Sterilization Chosen Over Other Methods

NEW YORK (AP)—Sterilization of both sexes has become so popular a method of birth control that it now rivals the pill and is the most commonly used method of birth control among couples married 10 years or more, according to a study. A study of 3,403 married white men and women indicated that about 6.8 million couples had chosen surgical sterilization to prevent unwanted birth, compared to 7.1 million wives using the pill. An additional 1.1 million persons were sterilized for medical reasons.

The survey conducted in 1975, is the fourth in a series of National Fertility Studies conducted at Princeton University. It was released Thursday.

The percentage of married couples who use sterilization for birth control almost quadrupled in 10 years, jumping from 8.8 per cent in 1965, to 16 per cent in 1970 and to 31.3 per cent in 1975, the survey said.

The survey indicated that the pill was still predominant among the young and newly married, while sterilization was more prevalent among those married 10 years or more as well as among couples who have had all the children they intend to have.

The use of condoms dropped by half between 1965 and 1975 and the use of diaphragms declined slightly, the survey said.

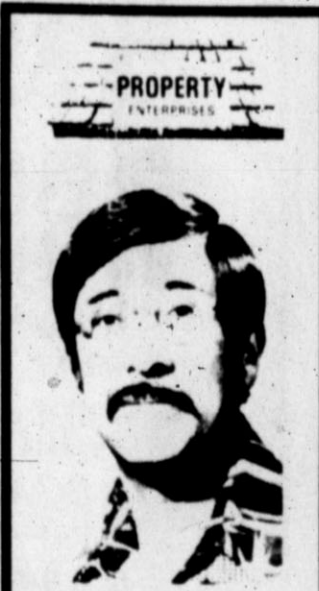

Intrauterine devices, or IUDs, gained in popularity between 1965 and 1973, but declined in use in the following two years. The researchers suggested that publicity about the hazards of the Dalkon shield IUD may have frightened women about IUDs in general.

The survey indicated that female sterilization has been increasing a bit more rapidly than male sterilization, but the percentage of marriage where the male was sterilized was about the same as where the female was sterilized.

The study was conducted by Princeton University professors Charles F. Westoff, who is director of the institution's Office of Population Research, and by Norman B. Ryder, faculty research associate in the office. It was funded by the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development.

The analysis, appearing in the current issue of Perspectives magazine, a publication of Planned Parenthood Federation of America, was done by Westoff and by research assistant Elise F. Jones.

Their conclusions were drawn from data gathered in interviews with white women who had been married by age 25. The woman had been married only once to men who also had been married only once and for more than five but fewer than 25 years.
