

Farm Groups Lobby for Gasohol

Bus Disaster

Realism was the special touch added to Tuesday's staged bus rollover which "injured" 20 children, the driver and another adult and "killed" seven other children. Emergency agencies, including Deaf Smith

General Hospital, were involved in the disaster, which fooled a lot of drivers on U.S. Highway 60. Cars slowed down and people stared at the accident scene; and others couldn't help but try to see what was going on inside the hospital. (Brand photos by Jim Steiert, Paul Sims)

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - State officials received free samples of gasohol, and representatives of three farmers groups joined legislators in a Capitol rally Tuesday in support of bills legalizing the manufacture of alcohol for motor fuel.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown said the only opposition to the proposed legislation had come from liquor interests.

David Senter, a Burleson farmer representing the American Agriculture Movement, said, "We don't want to drink it. We just want to burn it."

Gasohol - a combination of unleaded gasoline and grain alcohol - was pumped into the tanks of vehicles of state officials. The Texas Agriculture Department, Texas Oil Marketers Association and two private firms sponsored the test project at an Austin service station.

Brown said that large-scale manufacture of gasohol in Texas would provide new markets for agricultural products and extend dwindling petroleum supplies.

Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, a co-sponsor of proposed legislation that would allow the manufacture of grain alcohol in Texas, called gasohol "an idea whose time has come."

Pointing out that Brazil has used gasohol as a primary motor fuel for the past five years, Kubiak called the alternative fuel "one of the immediate answers to our energy problems."

Should the bill pass this session, Texas would become the 11th state to legalize full manufacture of gasohol, Kubiak said.

A proposed gasohol plant, to be built by the Rio Grande Valley Sugar Growers Association and Midwest Solvents Inc., already has been guaranteed a $15

TRLA Lawyers Barred

RAYMONDVILLE, Texas (AP) - Lawyers for Texas Rural Legal Aid, who last week represented striking farm workers arrested on picket lines, Tuesday were barred by a state district judge from further involvement in criminal proceedings.

Attorneys for local onion grower Charles Wetegrove had complained that the TRLA lawyers - funded with federal tax money - were violating guidelines by representing strikers arrested on misdemeanor charges.

State District Judge Darrell Hester, saying he was merely restating the law, issued a temporary injunction preventing TRLA involvement in criminal matters.

Randy Fleuriet, representing TRLA, argued that the legal aid group is not barred from representing clients charged with misdemeanors that do not carry possible jail time. TRLA attorneys indicated they would appeal the ruling.

The Texas Farm Workers Union on April 4 began a strike of Wetegrove's fields and packing shed. A company manager testified here that the strike cost the company about $300,000.

Attorney Rollins Koppel said the harvest returned to normal Monday after about two weeks of stalled operations.

Koppel had also claimed at the hearing before Hester that TRLA had violated the law by engaging in labor activities.

Willacy County Sheriff Oscar Correa testified that the presence of the TRLA attorneys on the picket lines hindered deputies' efforts to maintain law and order.

But Hester said his injunction would not specifically bar TRLA lawyers from offering legal advice on picket lines.

Deposits Rise At Local Banks

Deposits at both Hereford banks were up at the end of the first quarter of 1979 from the end of 1978, possibly signifying a stable local economy.

First National Bank deposits on March 31 stood at $57,565,000, an increase of approximately $1 million over Dec. 31 deposits. Hereford State Bank deposits on the last day of March were $29,355,000, compared to $28,511,000 on Dec. 31.

Net loans at First National on March 31 were $43,367,000, down slightly from the Dec. 31 figure of $45,241,000. Hereford State Bank had $21,611,000 loaned out on March 31, compared to $21,276,000 at the end of 1978.

First National assets on March 31 were $64,387,000, down from $65,410,000. Hereford State assets were $33,766,000, compared to $32,721,000 on Dec. 31.

Drill Involves Agencies, Stuns Others

Bus rollover. Twenty-nine children, driver, one sponsor aboard. Seven dead, all others injured. Bodies lying everywhere.

That set the stage for the multi-agency disaster drill early Tuesday evening inside the Hereford city limits on E. Highway 60.

There was nothing phony about the way emergency vehicles responded to the call. Three fire trucks, numerous law enforcement vehicles and ambulances from both Hereford companies charged down the highway toward the yellow bus lying on its side.

Hereford policemen had to keep traffic moving as drivers slowed their cars to gaze startingly at what they apparently thought was a real disaster. A crowd gathered yards away from the accident as a dozen emergency medical technicians began checking over the elementary-school age kids lying on the ground.

Firemen opened the back of the bus after learning that several kids were trapped inside. Other firemen soaked an apparent gasoline leak.

Children received triage—the act of prioritizing victim's needs—and some were put in the ambulances. Injuries ranged from a severed leg to minor cuts and bruises. Others had head, chest, neck and internal injuries.

Ambulances rolled to Deaf Smith General, first with the more seriously wounded, and then returned for more victims.

Texas Department of Public Safety troopers and Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office deputy reservists kept the crowd from interfering with rescuers at the scene.

An old man, who did not know the disaster was only a drill, attempted to give mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to one of the children. A black man asked anything to help. Another man, who said he was the grandfather of one of the "injured girls," grasped his heart and signed, "Oh, my God," when a policeman told him it was not real.

It took 38 minutes from the time firemen received the call for the scene to be cleared of the injured. The last victim was transported from the scene at 6:41 p.m.

Troopers and policemen closed off streets around the hospital, allowing only emergency vehicles to pass.

Inside the hospital, victims were being tagged according to needs. Names of the victims were taken down, and all on the bus were accounted for. The walking wounded—those not requiring immediate emergency treatment—were taken to a holding area.

Four youngsters, including the one who lost his leg, were rolled off to surgery. Several others were treated in the emergency room then taken to hospital rooms.

Drs. Dennis Cannon, Jesse Perales, Clyde Rush, Howard Johnson, Millard Nobles and David Carruth went through the motions of checking victims, some of whom were lying on cots in the hospital's halls, and treating others.

Hospital personnel, like firemen and law enforcement authorities had done early, responded quickly. Persons manning the switchboard called in off-duty nurses, laboratory and X-ray personnel, hospital dieticians and housekeepers.

Business office, medical records and clerical personnel also were called in to tag victims according to priorities and taken names.

Parents of the victims were taken to the hospital board room, along with ministers George Belfore and Scott Andress who were there to console the grieving and concerned relatives.

The Red Cross and Civil Defense also had personnel in the hospital to assist with the crisis.

It all ended around 7 p.m.

Deaf Smith General administrator Jim Bullard called a critique session for all individuals involved in the crisis from the time of reporting to the finish. Bullard was the man who set up the drill, receiving assistance from John Gilliland, Fire Marshal Jay Spain, Civil Defense coordinator Bill Bradley, Morgan, DPS SGT. David Dodge, nurses Gerry Hollinger and Doris Morgan, Sheriff Travis McPherson and Ron Smith.

The purpose of the drill was to see how emergency people in Hereford would react in a real situation. Although everyone knew a drill was planned, only the aforementioned group knew when it was to take place.

"There are things that happened at our place, small things probably, that we can do better," Bullard said at the start of the critique session.

A hospital radiological technician said the hospital was "hit with an onslaught" shortly after the wreck and suggested that the walking wounded not be sent so quickly from the scene. He added that hospital personnel obtained "conflicting estimations" of the number of victims.

"We found out we didn't have enough clerical people," Bullard said. We need some quicker assistance in the clerical area—taking names, recording injuries, making sure they were tagged.

"I personally don't think we moved some from the lobby area that did not need immediate treatment to the holding area quick enough. At a real emergency, some of those people would have been in shock and needed to be

Showers Provide Needed Moisture to Area

By JIM STEIERT

Rainshowers returned to the Hereford area Tuesday evening, and the storm front which moved in from the west deposited some much needed moisture over scattered portions of the dryland wheat country in the western reaches of Deaf Smith County.

Heavy clouds began building by mid-afternoon Tuesday, and edged their way toward the city of Hereford, accompanied by rolling thunder and bright lightning.

The heaviest rainfall reports from last night's slow, soaking storm were reported from the far west sector of the county near the New Mexico border.

The Clint Homfeld farm 47 miles northwest of Hereford recorded well over an inch of rainfall, and Mrs. Homfeld told The Brand this morning that the shower was "close to 1.50 inches."

The rainfall could not have come at a more opportune time for dryland wheat in the sprawling far western reaches of the county, where the crop was beginning to show early signs of moisture stress.

Sufficient soil moisture storage now should carry the crop into the grain filling stage and provide for a wheat harvest this summer, barring inclement weather.

Most other rainfall reports in the local area were close to .50 inches.

Pitman Feedyards 17 miles west of Hereford recorded .50 inches, as did Northwest Grain at the Simms community, where light showers fell over a general area.

Half-inch reports were also received from Easter Grain, south of Hereford and Pioneer Fertilizer at the Milo Center community north of Hereford.

KPAN radio also logged .50 inches for the city of Hereford proper.

Rainfall tapered off rapidly to the east of the city, and a spokesman for Dawn Co-Op reported only a light shower.

Even light rainfall should prove an aid to the overall wheat crop here, while farmers would like to see meaningful rainfall to help them cut the cost of the pre-plant irrigation now underway.

Widespread thunderstorm activity was forecast for much of Texas today following last night's thunderstorms, including some heavy storms in South

Beef Task Force To Have Free Hand

WASHINGTON (AP) - A new task force investigating the nation's beef pricing system has been told by Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland it will have a free hand to carry out what he called "probably the most important" study on the subject ever undertaken.

The task force, appointed by Bergland last month, represents producers, the meat industry, consumers, the retail and wholesale sector and academic interests.

It was formed after department investigation reports late last year, although not citing any illegal doings, showed that a relatively small number of large meat packers, brokers and supermarkets have the major voices in setting daily wholesale beef prices.

Bergland spoke briefly Tuesday at the panel's organization meeting at the Agriculture Department.

"I can assure you that I have absolutely no notion as to where this department should be going in this matter and will reserve all judgments and all opinion until you get done," Bergland said.

Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, as chairman of the House Small Business Committee, has been pushing for legislation aimed at making the market reporting system and daily price quotations reflect more accurately the amount of cattle and beef bought and sold in the country.

Bergland noted that the Senate and House agriculture committees also have a "strong interest" in the pricing system.

The task force has scheduled three hearings to gather information on beef pricing. Those are set for Omaha, Neb., April 23-24; Amarillo, Texas, April 26-27; and Washington, May 10.

Bergland said the department will be guided "if not directed, indeed, by your recommendation" on what changes, if any, should be forwarded to Congress.

Until the task force's final report is ready, he said, "we are resisting any temptation to venture any opinions" on the subject.

Reports Highlight C-C Meeting

Committee reports and announcements concerning the C of C Fun Breakfast, and a report on upcoming Women's Division activities highlighted a regular monthly meeting of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce directors Tuesday afternoon.

Executive vice president Mike Carr urged directors to attend the Fun Breakfast, scheduled Thursday at 6:30 a.m. in the Community Center. The breakfast will be sponsored by Hereford YMCA and Midwest Systems Analysts.

Mary Herring, Women's Division president, announced that Beautification Week is slated April 23-28, but that her organization plans to continue the clean-up, fix-up drive all year. A city tennis tournament for women is scheduled Saturday, with age divisions beginning at the 6th grade and continuing to the over-45 division.

Mrs. Herring also announced that a rabies clinic is set from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday at the Fire Station. The division's big project—the Miss Hereford Pageant—is to be conducted April 28. That will be followed by the Little Miss Pageant on May 5.

Mike Patrick, membership committee chairman, appeared at the board meeting to report on the recent new member campaign. He announced that 66 new members were signed up during the drive. These included 48 general memberships, 15 in the farm and ranch division, and three individuals.

A report on the Hustlers was given by Carrell Ann Simmons, chairman. The group has had our ribbon-cutting ceremonies for new businesses this year and has conducted registration and welcomed people at two local meetings. Several of the members had also attended area chamber banquets. The group will provide ushers at an upcoming Chamber Singers' concert.

President Ken Rogers reported on a West Texas Chamber convention which he and Carr attended recently. Rogers was pleased that the Deaf Smith C of C had input into the agricultural area of the Hospital, Others React to 'Disaster'

Children waited for treatment in the mail hall of Deaf Smith General. Doctors, nurses and hospital personnel worked rapidly, taking care of nearly two dozen patients within an hour.

The blood "flowed" as children played their parts during Tuesday's staged accident. Victims were tagged according to their needs and transported to Deaf Smith General Hospital, which sponsored the drill.

Hereford firemen were among the first to arrive at the scene on E. Highway 80.

The Rev. George Belford "consoles" the mother of one of the children who was dead on arrival at the hospital.

New 1980 Cars Here Thursday

Two Hereford auto agencies will unveil all-new 1980 models Thursday, and all of them will feature front-wheel drive and impressive fuel economy figures.

Pratt Chevrolet-Oldsmobile will be showing the 1980 Chevy Citation in four models—4 door and 2-door hatchbacks, coupe and club coupe, and the sporty X11.

Stagner-Orsborn Buick-Pontiac will be showing the Buick Skylark and the Pontiac Phoenix, both compact cars with the new front-wheel drive.

The new cars all have rack and pinion steering to respond quickly, front-wheel drive to pull around cars and get into parking spaces with ease, new transverse-mounted engines, and EPA estimated gas mileage of 24 in the city and about 37 on the highway.

The dealers invite all area citizens to get behind the wheel of one of the new cars "to really appreciate" the design and engineering that has gone into the new lines for 1980.

Obituaries

FAY GAUGGEL

Fay Gauggel, 77, of King's Manor died last night after a lengthy illness in Bonham Hospital in Bonham. She had been a resident of King's Manor for eight years.

Services will be held tomorrow at 3 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church. The Rev. William McReynolds, pastor; the Rev. Wallace Kirby, chaplain of King's Manor; and the Rev. Dewitt Seago, pastor of First United Methodist Church in Lockney will officiate. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

She came to Hereford in 1971 from Fort Meyers, Fla. She was married to the late Mr. Herman Gauggel in Birmingham, Ala.

Survivors are three sons, Herman of Birmingham, Ala., Carl of Fort Worth, and George of Honolulu, Hawaii; a brother, Glen Bynum of Birmingham, Ala.; and a niece, Mrs. Don Davison of Hereford.

HENRY M. GILBERT

Henry Matthew Gilbert, 76, of Sudan died Monday in Lubbock. He was the father of a local resident, Mrs. Audrey Powell.

Services will be at 10 a.m. today in First Baptist Church at Sudan. The Rev. Truman Johnson, pastor, and the Rev. Moses Pidilla of Whitharral, will officiate. Burial will be in Sudan Cemetery with Masonic graveside rites. Arrangements are under direction of Hammon's Funeral Home at Littlefield.

Mr. Gilbert was born in Dierks, Ark. He came to Sudan in 1926. He was a retired farmer and a member of Khiva Shrine of Amarillo, Sudan Masonic Lodge No. 1241, Lubbock Southern Rights groups and Littlefield Masonic Chapter and Council. He was former district deputy of Masonic District 97, a member of ASCS committee for 12 years, and was active in Sudan civic activities.

Additional survivors include three sons, Alan of Balmorhea, Mickey of Alvin and Ronald of Sudan; a daughter, Mrs. Pat Wilson of Lubbock; a sister, Mrs. Nancy Jones of Florence, Ore.; 11 grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

WILLIAM M. STEWART

William Melvin "Mel" Stewart, 94, died yesterday.

Services are pending with Smith & Co. Funeral Home. Mr. Stewart was born in Pinckneyville, Ill., in 1884. He came to Deaf Smith County in 1908, moved to Vega in 1952 and to Hereford in 1976. He was a retired rancher.

He was a member of Vega United Methodist Church, a charter member of Hereford Riders Club, a Vega Kiwanis Club member, and a 50-year Mason and Shriner.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Hicks of Hereford and Mrs. Melvina Sandro of Phoenix, Ariz.; two grandsons and three great-grandchildren.

Peeper 'Ditches' Attempt

A window peeper ran into problems in the 500 block of Ave. G Tuesday night, according to Hereford police reports.

A complainant called police at 11:18 p.m. to report a window peeper. Police said the peeper was almost caught by the residents of the house after he fell into a 12-foot cellar being dug in the back yard.

The peeper was seen crawling out of the cellar and limping rather slowly down the street while holding his arm.

Thames Pharmacy, 110 S. Centre was the scene of an attempted burglary between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 5:03 a.m. today.

A patrolman noticed the door of the pharmacy was open about three inches, but a bar inside the door prevented it from being opened wide enough to allow entrance. Police said the door had been pried open.

Ruby Jennings and Roxie Travis, both of 420 Sunset, told police Tuesday that someone entered their home around noon Monday and stole $25 from their purses. The women said they had been gone more than an hour when the burglary occurred.

Police said entry was gained through the unlocked front door. Police received a report of children throwing glass into the street in the 700 block of S. Texas and another of kids throwing rocks in an alley in the 200 block of Ave. C.

Police issued two speeding tickets Wednesday, one for no driver's license and another for running a red light.

Act Provides Break

Did you know that if you are a homeowner 55 years of age or older, you were given an outstanding tax break by the 1978 Revenue Act in the shape of a once-in-a-lifetime election to exclude from income up to $100,000 or any profit on the sale of your principal residence?

"This advantage goes for condominiums and cooperative apartments too. With the costs of condos and co-ops doubling, tripling and otherwise exploding, right along with many homes, this tax break is something to consider seriously. Ordinarily, or course, you would have had to pay capital gains tax on your profit unless you bought another residence for at least as much as your selling price," said Neil Cooper, president of the Hereford Board of Realtors, this week in a special statement.

"Here are some points to remember: first, you must be 55 or older when you make the sale of the house, co-op or condominium; secondly, the house, co-op or condominium must be your principal place of residence. For example, if you own a summer cottage which you live in for only a month or so during the year, that is not your principal residence. So if you sell that cottage, you will not be able to exclude from tax the profit that you might make there," Cooper said.

"Thirdly, if you are 55 or over, but not yet 65 years old when you make the sale, you must have owned and used the property as your principal residence for periods adding up to three years or more during the five year period ending on the date you sell or exchange it. If you already are 65 or over, when you sell the place, and the sale is completed before July 26, 1981, you can qualify for the election if you owned and occupied the property as your principal residence for five out of eight years before the sale, even if you don't meet the three out of five year test," he added.

"There's one more thing to remember," Cooper said, and that is that this is strictly a one-time happening. Once you and your spouse make an election on a sale or exchange of a principal residence, neither of you can make a similar election for any following sale or exchange of a later principal home.

"Realtors urge that everyone should think carefully when making the decision to take this great tax advantage. For example, if you hold off...say you are 54...waiting to sell your home to take advantage of this tax break, you may find that there is a deterioration in the housing market or in the conditions of your neighborhood. This decision's something only for the individual person to make and sometimes that can be tough."

Private Property Week continues through Saturday, said Cooper, adding that local Realtors are participating in the affair.

moved." Spain said the fire department needed to buy additional cots to use in emergencies involving numerous victims. "We ran out of cots at the scene," Spain said. "We may need to use more of the hospital's cots." Critics seemed minor compared to the laurels tossed around in the meeting. "I think it went very well," Dr. Canon said. "For the first drill, it went extremely well. It's great practice." Bullard praised the agencies for their cooperation.

"Of all the drills I've been a part of, this one is by far the best simply because of the cooperative spirit that all the agencies showed. Should the real thing ever occur in Deaf Smith County, the cooperation will be unsurpassed. It will be excellent," Bullard said. "I thought everything went real good," said Spain. "We got our firetrucks out there in a hurry, and victims got to the hospital in good time."

Morgan, police officers Dale Morgan and Richard Pack, McPherson and Dodge all said that the crowds, both at the scene and the hospital, were not much of a problem. "I thought the children were just great. They played their parts like everyone else and did a terrific job," someone said during the critique session.

The children were Camp Fire Girls and Boy Scouts from several Hereford elementary schools and La Plata Junior High.

Details on ways to further improve the handling of a real emergency will be discussed in a meeting of the drill planners at 2 p.m. Thursday in the hospital board room.

and West Texas. Although most of the thunderstorms during the night produced small amounts of rain, usually .25 of an inch or less, Midland reported 1.62 inches. Most of the rain at Midland came during a 25-minute cloudburst late Tuesday night.

Forecasts called for more widespread thunderstorm activity across much of the state today. Highs were to be mostly in the 70s and 80s with a few readings in South and Southwest Texas expected to reach the lower 90s.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the 50s in the Panhandle to the 70s in South Texas. Extremes ranged from 51 at Amarillo and 76 at both Brownsville and McAllen in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

Care announced that the health and safety committee, headed by Dr. Dennis Canon, was to meet again this week to update plans on an Emergency Medical System for the county, and to outline a program to be included in health classes in the schools. Attending the meeting were Rogers, Jake Webb, Dr. Milton Adams, Speedy Nieman, Jerry Payne, Butch White, Paul Abalos, Jonny Cloud, Earl Brookhart and Mrs. Herring. Directors absent were Dave Hopper, Joan Coupe and Raymond Schlabs.

million federal loan. Supporters of state gasohol legislation said the plant could produce 15 million gallons of alcohol annually for the production of 150 million gallons of gasohol.

Sen. Bob Price, R-Pampa, said the gasohol bills include $20 million for pilot gasohol manufacturing projects and $20 million in state grants for other firms who enter the gasohol business.

Corn and other grains, along with citrus peels and mesquite trees, could be used to produce the alcohol portion of gasohol, Brown said. Brown asserted there would be two gasohol plants "producing thousands and thousands of gallons" in Texas within a year.

After the rally, an experimental automobile which burns 100 percent pure alcohol was demonstrated by representatives of Texas A&M University. Dr. W.B. Harris, a chemical engineering professor, said the alcohol-to-gasoline ratio could be gradually increased so vehicles eventually run on almost-pure methanol.

New Combine Model To be Shown

White Implement Co. of Hereford will host a display of one of the newest combine models Thursday at the local firm's dealership on North Highway 385.

The John Deere 7720 Titan, one of five new combine models, will be on display.

According to Chris White of the local implement company, the new line of machinery offers up to 45 percent more capacity than present John Deere combines and the ability to cut grain losses by as much as 65 percent.

The Titan combine line will also offer 51 percent more grate area for better threshing and separating, White continued.

The new combine model will be on display throughout the local firm's business hours Thursday.

Meat Board Director Lauds CowBelle Work

Bob Josserrand, president of Pro-Cattle Company, praised CowBelles as the National Livestock and Meat Board's No. 1 promoter Tuesday afternoon during a program and business meeting of Hereford CowBelles. The group met at K-Bob's Steak House.

Josserrand is one of the 67 members of the Beef Industry Council of the National Livestock and Meat Board. He is one of four directors to represent Texas and is chairman of the beef promotions committee of Texas Cattle Feeders.

In addressing the CowBelles Tuesday, Josserrand outlined the goals of the Meat Board as follows: budgeting funds, directing funds, nutrition and food science for the red meat industry, release of all consumer information, meat grading and reviewing program, review government activities concerning the red meat industry and governing research grants.

Josserrand explained that the Meat Board has an operating budget of more than $3 million. He discussed the different advertising programs sponsored by the Meat Board on radio, television, newspaper, magazines and in an educational format for high school home economics departments.

The Meat Board coordinates the various aspects of beef promotion by National Cattle Feeders, Texas Cattle Feeders and the CowBelles so that they will work together as a team, Josserrand said. He displayed posters to be used for the Beef for Father's Day promotion, which will once again be sponsored by the CowBelles.

Focusing on the CowBelle organization, Josserrand stated that their effectiveness in beef promotion is well-known. Grocers report that beef sales increase 30 to 100 percent when CowBelles conduct a promotional event in their stores. Josserrand urged the CowBelles to support the Beef Cook-Off as part of their efforts in promoting beef.

After Josserrand's speech, the CowBelles convened for their monthly business meeting. Guests recognized were Mike Carr from the Chamber of Commerce, Bill Griffin, honorary CowBelle, and Joyce Smith, Patsy McGinty and Audrey Howard.

Welcomed as new members were Dixie Williamson and Mary Cameron.

Freda Cordray, chairman of honorary male CowBelle nominations, announced that the candidates this year are Nocky Tyler, Bob Josserrand and Jim Tucker. Winner of the honorary designation will be kept secret until the CowBelles' barn dance on May 17. Serving on the nominations committee with Mrs. Cordray were Marv Tyler and Ruth Newsom.

The Barn Dance is slated to begin at 8 p.m. on the 17th in the barn on Joel and Dixie Williamson's farm. Admission will cost $10 per couple. Live entertainment is to be provided by "Susie and Group." Guests will bring beverages, chips and dips.

CowBelles voted to give $50 to Pete Caviness, who is sending a truckload of hamburger meat to the Wichita Falls area, which was recently hit by a devastating tornado.

It was announced that the CowBelles will have an exhibit at the County Health Fair May 12 at the Bull Barn. Joyce Geiger will be chairman of the project.

It was reported that the local CowBelle unit will have a representative attending the Region IV workshop May 7 in Oklahoma City. This workshop will involve beef promoters from Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas. Serving as hostesses Tuesday were Sue Sims, Randy Griffin and Charmagne Klett.

Westway Baptists Pay Off Mortgage

Westway Baptist Church celebrated the final payment of the church property mortgage with a note-burning service Sunday morning.

Taking part in the note-burning were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Landers, who joined the church in 1930 shortly after it was organized; Olin Baird, deacon, and his wife; and the Rev. Orville Atkinson of Plainview, former Westway pastor, and his wife.

The Rev. Gene Suttle, pastor, delivered the morning message. Guests in the congregation included former members from Arizona, Lubbock, Louisiana and Dimmitt.

Lunch was served after the worship service.

Correction

The residential Beauty Spot of the month for April, as named by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, was the Jack Dudding home at 121 15th St. The name was incorrectly printed as "Dunning" in Tuesday's issue of The Brand.

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Dance Masks of Mexico," an exhibition of traditional Mexican craft form, is on display at the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History through Dec. 31.

Burning Note

Ann Landers

Anguished Son

DEAR ANN LANDERS: These days with so many people popping up with bobbed noses, vastly reduced (or enlarged) breasts, fantastic hairpieces (after 20 years of baldness), capped teeth, facelifts and eye-jobs, what should a surprised observer say?

You dealt with this problem several weeks ago, but I didn't get much out of your answer.

So many of my friends are going in for recycling that I'm truly at a loss as to how to deal with the startling transformations.

Do these people want to be told they look better? It seems that after going to so much trouble (not to mention expense), something should be said. On the other hand, I'm told, most women who have had facelifts prefer to pass themselves off as "well-rested." How about some guidelines? -- Ambushed in Azusa

DEAR Ann: "You look wonderful" or "terrific" is always appropriate -- assuming she or he does, of course. Unless the individual volunteers more information, stop there.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've read many letters in your column from parents whose children have broken their hearts. Very little is said about the reverse situation. It's time someone spoke out.

My mother was an alcoholic and my father was a workaholic. She was never sober and he was never home. Miraculously I survived a hellish childhood and I'm still beleaguered by their problems. I get incoherent calls from Mother about Dad. I get calls from Dad begging me to "do something" about Mother. They both beg me to come home and "straighten things out." It's not as if I live next door, Ann -- I'm thousands of miles away!

For years I've tried, without success, to help them. It's useless. Yet they continue to cause me untold grief by trying to draw me into their disputes. Any suggestion? -- Anguished Son

DEAR SON: If you've urged them to get counseling, suggested AA for her and Al-Anon for him -- you've done as much as any child can do. The rest is up to them. Parents can guilt-trip children in a very subtle manner. Don't let them booby-trap you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a male homosexual in my very late teens who would give anything in the world to be straight. I refuse to have physical relations with members of my own sex although the desire is strong. The thought of it disgusts me and goes against my moral and religious training.

My friends are all heterosexual. No one suspects I have this problem. I have no feminine mannerisms -- not a single clue that I am not perfectly normal.

I've tried so hard to change on my own, but it hasn't worked. Please tell me, is it humanly possible to cure this sickness? Has anyone ever done it? I pray

Landers to Receive Bachelor's Degree

Gary Landers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Landers, 205 Higgins, will receive his bachelor's degree during spring commencement at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

Lander's major field of study is biology and chemistry. Wayland Baptist College is a four-year liberal arts private institution. It celebrated its 70th anniversary in 1978. After nearly three-quarters of a century, Wayland maintains a strong enrollment of nearly 1,200 students in one of four degree programs. In addition to its traditional liberal arts program, the school offers a specialized vocational-industrial degree, the Bachelor of Science in Occupational Education.

POETRY AWARD NEW YORK (AP) — May Swenson has been awarded the $10,000 Fellowship of the Academy of American Poets, which is given for "distinguished poetic achievement."

Miss Swenson, the 38th American poet to be named an Academy Fellow, is the author of eight books of poems. Her latest is "New & Selected Things Taking Place."

Military Notes

Wesley W. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wilson of 525 A. West 15th, has just completed his Electricians Mate Third Class in the U.S. Coast Guard, which he received in New York, N.Y. April 12.

He is presently home on a 20-day leave and will return to Wilmington, N.C.

He is a 1976 graduate of Hereford High School. He enlisted Oct. 17, 1977 and was sent to Albuquerque, N.M. From there he was stationed in Freeport, where he was made fireman.

Get SSA help by phone

Here's a federal agency averaging 54,284 phone calls daily. That may sound like someone is burning up the wires. Well, you are.

The phone calls go to the Social Security Administration's Teleservice. SSA says it is delighted to field them. SSA began setting up Teleservice a decade ago, first in Washington, next in Los Angeles (which now has the nation's single biggest Teleservice center). Today there are 31 Teleservice centers, in most major metropolitan areas.

Robert P. Bynum, an acting deputy commissioner of SSA, says 92 to 93 percent of all people getting checks from SSA are within Teleservice range, meaning they can phone without paying a toll. Since more than 38 million people get SSA-processed checks — Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and Black lung benefits in addition to retirement, disability and survivors benefits — that means a lot of folks can get questions answered on the phone, free.

Bynum says nine of 12 problems raised by SSA callers are solved on the telephone, saving tremendous amounts of time and energy.

EXAMPLE: If you're about to start your first job, you must have a Social Security number (assuming the job is covered by Social Security, as 94 of every 100 are). If you're under 18, you give your name and address to the Teleservice representative and SSA will mail you the necessary form and instructions on how to fill it out. You follow the instructions, mail back the form and you'll get your Social Security card in the mail (if you're 18 or over, you have to do this in person).

SECOND EXAMPLE: If you want to change your address (or name, because of marriage) on your SSA record, phone the nearest Teleservice center. You DON'T have to go to your SSA office to do this.

THIRD EXAMPLE: Some retirement or survivors benefits can be handled entirely by phone. You give the Teleservice representative the basic information and SSA mails you the necessary forms. You fill them in and mail them back, along with the "evidence" (birth certificate, death certificate, or whatever) needed to validate your claims. SSA mails back your evidence and, if all goes smoothly, you soon start to receive your monthly check. About 25 percent of claims are taken by mail now.

Bynum says Teleservice representatives handle "routine but important" matters. "Our objective is eventually to provide free telephone service to all residents of all 50 states."

He concedes Teleservice "still has some growing pains," especially when there's an issue that draws a great deal of public attention. Such issues are when there's a threat to cut Social Security benefits, even marginally, as President Carter urged Congress to do in his January budget message, or, alternatively, when benefit increases are imminent.

At those times, says Bynum, you may find Teleservice lines busy. But keep trying.

"In any month," Bynum said, "we get about 100,000 calls about checks not arriving on time." One way to avoid this is to authorize electronic transfer of your benefit straight from SSA to your bank account.

Teleservice is only one facet of SSA's push to reach the public. SSA maintains 1,300 offices around the country to handle more complex questions, and it operates nearly 3,500 "contact stations" to which local SSA offices send representatives twice a week, twice a month or, in very remote places, perhaps once a month. Schedules for such visits normally are posted in post offices and other public places.

But for starters with a Social Security (or SSI or Medicare) question, most people should consult Teleservice. The phone number is the Social Security Administration's number in your phone book — and you'll find SSA listed both by itself, under "S," and under "U.S. Government, Department of Health, Education and Welfare." You take it from there.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, April 18, the 108th day of 1979. There are 257 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1906, San Francisco was hit by an earthquake. The quake and fires destroyed half the city.

On this date:

In 1847, American forces captured Cerro Gordo Hill in Mexico. It was the first point of resistance on Gen. Winfield Scott's march on Mexico City.

In 1942, early in World War II, an air squadron led by Lt. Gen. James Doolittle took off from an aircraft carrier and attacked Tokyo and other Japanese cities.

In 1977, a Pulitzer Prize was awarded to the American writer, Alex Haley, for his bestseller tracing his roots back seven generations to an African village.

Ten years ago: Gustav Husac was taking over control of Czechoslovakia after the ouster of Alexander Dubcek as head of the country's ruling Communist Party.

Five years ago: Egypt announced it was ending more than 18 years of exclusive reliance on Soviet arms supplies and would seek armaments elsewhere.

One year ago: The U.S. Senate voted approval of the treaty to gradually turn the Panama Canal over to Panama.

Today's birthdays: Actor and producer Robert Hooks is 42. Catcher Gary Carter of the Montreal Expos is 25.

Thought for today: Follow your honest convictions and be strong - William Thackeray, British novelist, 1811-1863.

Think Metric

Frazier Follows Dad's Footsteps

NEW YORK (AP) - If you're an interprising photographer wanting to pose a former heavyweight boxing champion with his fighting son, you have to get something different. "How about Marvis sitting on Joe's lap?" the photographer suggested.

"No lap," snapped Smokin' Joe Frazier. Nobody argued. It looked just as good to have father and son perched on the arm of a chair, comparing clinched fists.

"Look," said Joe, looking toward his offspring, "his fist is bigger than mine. He can punch with it, too."

Marvis Frazier, 18, Golden Gloves heavyweight boxing champion of the United States and aspirant is a gold medal in the 1980 Olympics in Moscow, beamed.

The Fraziers rode one of the family Cadillacs up from Philadelphia to appear on NBC's "Today" show, promoting the Olympathon, a grass roots fund-raising drive for next year's U.S. Olympic effort.

Conceivably, he could square off against Cuba's highly touted Teofilo Stevenson, winner of the Olympic gold in Montreal in 1976.

The prospect doesn't disturb Marvis. "If he shows, I'll fight him," says Smokin' Joe's boy levelly. Marvis has facial features like his famous dad, but there all resemblance ceases. At 6-foot-1 1/2, he is two inches taller. He is a lean 205 pounds compared with Joe's present 234 and top fighting weight of 220.

Smokin' Joe was what his name implies - a swarmer, a veritable windmill of punching power featured by a deadly left hook. His style called for him to soften up a foe with body blows and then put him away from a hook that could come from anywhere.

Marvis is a standup workman - quick and sharp with a snapping left and a right that can almost tear a head from its moorings.

Gun Club Youth Day Scheduled Sunday

The Hereford Gun Club is hosting a free youth day at its facilities east of the Hereford Airport Sunday. According to HGC President Jim Clarke, the function will give local youth an opportunity to learn proper firearms handling and actually fire a gun under careful adult supervision. HGC members and local law enforcement officers will be providing instructions in safe gun handling during the session. Gun club members will provide guns and ammunition for the event. Age groups will include 14 and under and 15-18. Clarke emphasized that youngsters 14 years of age and under must be accompanied by a parent to participate in the activities.

Baseballers Drop Two To Westerners

Scoop And Throw

John Wagner fields a sharp grounder from his shortstop position in yesterday's game against the Lubbock Westerners. Wagner made the play but it was not enough as the Westerners swept the twinbill, 6-3 and 14-7.

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

Errors continued to plague the Hereford Whiteface baseball team as they dropped their fourth consecutive doubleheader in a twinbill with the Lubbock High Westerners yesterday, 6-3, 14-7.

In the first game the Herd played the game close most of the way but the lack of hitting really hurt the team, Coach David Ashby said.

"Except for the first inning we played pretty well," Ashby said, "but the four errors allowed them to score some unearned runs and we couldn't score with our lack of hitting."

Unable to score the men on base was another problem of the

"Faces, as they left seven men on base in the first game.

Coach Ashby did see some bright spots for the 'Faces as James Dudding and Kevin Bunch got extra-base hits to get them out of their slumps.

Ernie Suarez started on the mound for the Whitefaces, giving up eight hits. Kevin Bunch replaced him in the seventh to retire the Westerners.

The second game appeared to be much more to the liking of Hereford fans as the Whitefaces took a 4-2 lead in the second inning and it was not until the sixth that miscues caught up with the Herd.

At that point, with the Herd down by one run, the Westerners erupted for seven tallies to take a 14-6 lead, and the Whitefaces could only manage one run in its half of the frame to finish the scoring in the game that was called because of darkness.

Norman Hill was the starting hurler for Coach Ashby and the sophomore lasted four innings before being replaced by Bunch in the fifth.

Once again Bunch collected a double in addition to the double of John Wagner. The losses bring the Herd's district record to 0-8 and the end of the first half of district play.

"Now that the first half is over, we can regroup and work on competing in the second half of play," Coach Ashby said. "Saturday begins a whole new season for us and we need to make the most of it, and if everything will fall into place we can be a factor in the district outcome."

In other district action, Monterey swept a twinbill from the Coronado Mustangs to gain at least a tie for the first half title with a 6-2 record. Coronado must play a makeup game with Plainview to finish off the first half.

Saturday the Herd will play the Bulldogs in the first games of the second half with action starting at 1 p.m.

Tanner's Rocket Serve Wins 1st Round Match

HOUSTON (AP) - Second seeded Roscoe Tanner, equipped with a cannonball serve and volley game best suited for fast surfaces, admits the slow clay courts at River Oaks Country aren't his favorite battlegrounds.

But don't try to convince Victor Amaya or third seeded Eddie Dibbs that Tanner's game is weakened by the clay courts.

"Tanner is one of the most under rated players on clay," said Dibbs, who is a highly touted clay court tactician. "He's got great ground strokes."

Tanner, whose trademark is one of the hardest serves on the pro tour, sprinkled 13 aces throughout his match Tuesday as he easily whipped Amaya 6-2, 6-4 in a first round match of the $175,000 World Championship Tennis tournament.

Dibbs got off to a slow start before winning 11 consecutive games in a 7-5, 6-0 victory over Sherwood Stewart, U.S., in another first round match.

"This is not my favorite surface but I'm getting more confidence on clay," Tanner said. "I've gradually improved my ground strokes."

Tanner and Dibbs would meet in Saturday's semifinals if they should win their next two matches.

Tanner showed little of the effects of a three-weeks layoff from the tennis wars.

"I've been playing some golf," Tanner said. "It helps take some of the pressure off for awhile. We certainly didn't do it for exercise. We rode in a cart everyday."

Tanner rode Amaya right out of the tournament with his lightning serve. The Lookout

Mountain, Tenn., native hit three aces in the second game of the match to set the tone.

Amaya was broken in the fifth and seventh games of the first set runaway. Both players held service in the second set until Tanner broke Amaya in the seventh game. Tanner then served for the match in the 10th game and won it typically with an ace at the first match point.

Stewart, from nearby Baytown, took a 5-2 lead against the slow starting Dibbs. But Dibbs, who lost to Jimmy Connors in a Grand Prix tournament at Tulsa, Okla. Sunday, won the next 11 straight.

Dibbs held in the eighth game and broke Stewart in the ninth but Stewart still had a chance to win the first set when he had Dibbs at double set point in the 10th game.

But Dibbs won it after two deuces to continue his mastery over the fading Stewart.

In other first round matches Tuesday Ricardo Ycaza, Ecuador, defeated sixth seeded Wojtek Fibak of Poland, 2-6, 6-1, 7-6; eighth seeded John Alexander, Australia; beat Balazs Taroczy, Hungary, 6-4, 7-6; Ulrich Finner, Germany, defeated Tom Okker, The Netherlands, 6-1, 6-3.

Ten Naple Off Critical List

ATLANTA (AP) - Atlanta Falcons linebacker Garth Ten Naple, injured in the auto accident which killed teammate Andy Spiva two weeks ago, has been taken off the critical list, according to a spokesman for Northside Hospital.

He was listed in serious condition Tuesday night.

"He remains in intensive care," said hospital spokesman Ron Wolf, "but he has been taken off the respirator. He remains unconscious, but his condition is improved."

Ten Naple, who like Spiva missed the National Football League season with a knee injury last year, suffered massive internal injuries in the accident.

Bell Leading Rangers From Fourth Spot

CLEVELAND (AP) - It may startle some Cleveland Indians fans, but Buddy Bell is hitting cleanup for the Texas Rangers. The third baseman, who never had more than 64 runs batted in during seven seasons with the Indians, already has become a big RBI man for the Rangers.

The handsome blond, hitting fourth in the potent Texas lineup, drove in three runs Tuesday to help the Rangers keep their amazing mastery over the Indians with a 6-2 triumph.

That raised Bell's RBI total to eight, gave Texas a big boost toward its seventh victory in eight games this season and sent the Indians reeling to their 13th straight defeat at the hands of the Rangers.

In fact, Cleveland, 2-7 going into today's game with Texas, has not beaten the Rangers since April 17, 1978, when Rick Waits shut them out 6-0.

"I know how frustrating this thing the losing string is for them," Bell said. "I was there last year. But we're just playing good baseball right now. Everybody's playing with confidence."

The soft-spoken youngster broke out in a shy grin when asked about hitting fourth.

"This was the fifth game I've hit fourth," Bell explained. "He (Manager Pat Corrales) put me there because Richie Zisk was sick. I've had all eight RBIs from the fourth spot.

"I know it's not really my spot and everybody here knows it's not my spot, but I've been successful hitting fourth. I'm not a big RBI guy, but I'm feeling comfortable hitting there. I'm just going to enjoy it." It was Waits, 1-2, the Rangers picked on for their first four runs Tuesday. After dueling Texas starter Ferguson Jenkins, 3-0, to a 1-1 deadlock through five innings, Waits gave up three runs in the sixth.

Bump Wills and rookie Bill Sample reached base on infield hits and moved up a base on a sacrifice bunt. Bell, who also had a run-scoring double, then broke the tie with the first of two sacrifice flies.

A walk and singles by John Ellis and Jim Sundberg capped the rally and chased Waits. Meanwhile, Jenkins and reliever Jim Kern, another ex-Indians, stopped Cleveland on six hits and each struck out six Cleveland batters.

The only Cleveland runs came on Andre Thornton's leadoff homer in the fifth and a run-scoring single by Jim Norris with two out in the ninth.

"We just have not played the way we are capable of," said Cleveland Manager Jeff Torborg. "We'll come out of this, but I just wish we'd hurry up."

"I'm not planning on a lot of lineup changes right now. The guys who have to come out of a slump have to do it in the field. They can't do it from the bench."

Dodgers Even Series With Astros

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Steve Yeager, hitless for the season entering Tuesday night's game, was so thrilled with his eighth-inning that broke a 6-6 tie that he nearly missed tagging first base.

The home run was the critical blow in Los Angeles' 10-6 victory over Houston, only the Dodgers' second win in their last eight games.

"I didn't know if I tagged the bag or not," said the Los Angeles catcher, "but I wanted to make sure. So I went back and tagged it again.

"That would have been something. To hit a home run and miss the bag."

Yeager, as well as the rest of the Dodgers, have been mired in a prolonged slump but ended it with an 11-hit attack against five Houston pitchers.

Steve Garvey, who had only one hit in his previous 15 at-bats, slugged two home runs and drove in three runs. Ron Cey, hitless in 19 at-bats, singled and drove in a run with a sacrifice fly. And Dusty Baker, with just one RBI in his first 12 games, homered and singled.

"It's great to see us come back and get some hitting," said Jerry Reuss, 1-0, who emerged with the win after relieving starting pitcher Andy Messersmith.

"It's hard to be an aggressive club when you're not hitting," said Baker. "But this team never quits. That's the great thing about our club."

The Dodgers built a 6-1 lead for Messersmith on Garvey's two home runs, the 10th time in his career he has homered twice in one game, and Baker's solo blast. They also benefited from five Houston errors, three by catcher Alan Ashby.

But in the sixth, Cesar Cedeno slugged a three-run homer to cut the lead to 6-4. And in the eighth, after he had retired the first five batters he had faced, Reuss' walked Cedeno and Jose Cruz and then gave up run-scoring singles to Enos Cabell and Bob Watson as the Astros rallied to tie the game.

The Dodgers started their winning rally in the eighth when Baker walked. Reuss, attempting to sacrifice, forced Baker but Yeager followed with his homer, a high fly to left that barely cleared the wall.

"I knew I hit it good, but I did not know if it was too high or not," said Yeager, who also singled in the sixth for his first hit of the year.

The Dodgers followed Yeager's homer with successive Derrel Thomas, Dave Lopes and Bill Russell and Cey's soaring

Phillies Bomb Pirates

By JOHN NELSON AP Sports Writer

Pittsburgh Pirates Manager Chuck Tanner looked like a man grabbing at straws when he singled out 31-year-old right-handed relief pitcher Enrique Romo as the bright spot in a 13-2 loss to Philadelphia.

It was Romo who yielded Garry Maddox's grand slam homer in the Phils' six-run fifth inning Tuesday night.

However, pointed out Tanner, in the next 2½ innings, Romo gave up one hit, struck out five and didn't walk a man.

"Romo is a good sign. After he gave up the grand slam, he came back, he didn't fall on his face," Tanner said.

Outside of Romo, there wasn't much to cheer about on the Pittsburgh bench. The Phils past starter Bert Blyleven, 0-2, for 10 hits and seven runs in the first 2½ innings, and they went on to collect 17 hits in the ball game.

Bake McBride homered twice to drive in five runs and Mike Schmidt added a solo shot, his fourth, for the Phils. Steve Carlton, 2-1, went six innings, gave up both of Pittsburgh's runs on Bill Robinson's first-inning homer; and rested the last three innings.

Elsewhere in the National League, Montreal edged the New York Mets 5-4 in 12 innings, the Chicago Cubs downed St. Louis 5-3, Cincinnati whipped Atlanta 7-4, San Diego got by San Francisco 4-3 and Los Angeles topped Houston 10-6.

The Phils now have won all three meetings of the two teams this season, and it was Carlton's second victory of the season over Blyleven.

Expos 5, Mets 4

Rodney Scott drilled a single to right field, scoring Dave Cash, and gave Montreal a 12-inning victory over New York. Cash, a pinch hitter, drew a walk off Mets reliever Skip Lockwood and advanced to second on a sacrifice by Andre Dawson, whose seventh-inning homer had tied it 4-4. Willie Montanez picked up his first homer of the season for the Mets, a two-run shot in the fourth.

Cubs 5, Cards 3

Rookie Scott Thompson singled home and doubled, driving in two runs, and Dave Kingman clouted a two-run homer that carried the Cubs and left-hander Ken Holtzman to victory. The win was Holtzman's first in the National League since 1971.

Ted Simmons drove in two of St. Louis' runs with his second homer of the season in the fifth. Kingman's homer was his third.

Reds 7, Braves 4

Cincinnati scored all its runs in the first inning, getting two-run hits each from winning pitcher Tom Hume and Dan Driessen. The Reds sent 11 men to the plate in the first inning, eight of them after two were out. Hume went 7½ innings, surviving a pair of homers by Braves catcher Dale Murphy and a solo shot that Gary Matthews nearly put into the third-level seats in left field at Riverfront Stadium.

Padres 4, Giants 3

Gene Tenace hit a two-run homer, his first of the season, and Dave Winfield drove in the winning run for the Padres in the eighth with a single. Rollie Fingers got the victory - his first decision - in relief of Eric Rasmussen. Rasmussen checked the Giants on four hits through five innings before yielding Bill Madlock's two-run homer.

nerup to Gaylord Perry last year in the National League Cy Young Award balloting, is now signed through the 1984 season.

Hooton was a collegiate baseball star at the University of Texas before entering pro baseball.

The team's complete their three-game series tonight.

The team colors of the Chicago Bears are orange, navy blue and white.

Gold Sox Blow Out Midland, 14-6

Jody Davis slammed two homers as the Jackson Mets opened their Texas League baseball season with a 5-4 victory over Shreveport.

In other Texas League action, Amarillo beat Midland, 9-6, in a game shortened to five innings because of rain and Tulsa edged Arkansas, 2-1. El Paso's scheduled game at San Antonio was postponed because of rain.

It was the first game of the season for both Jackson and Tulsa.

Davis had a three-run homer in the third inning Tuesday night and then capped off his offensive outburst with a two-run homer in the eighth inning. Jackson trailed, 4-3, at the time of the second homer.

Shreveport's Steve Wilkins had his fifth homer of the season in the sixth inning with two men on base.

Amarillo's Gold Sox exploded for six runs in the fifth inning to overcome a 6-3 Midland lead.

The outburst came just before a cloudburst that ended the game before the sixth inning was completed and became official. Amarillo held a 14-6 lead in the bottom of the sixth when the heavy rain ended the game.

Gary Pickert, 1-0, was the winning pitcher. Midland relief pitcher Mike Allen was charged with the loss.

Tulsa Drillers first baseman Jim Barbe doubled in the winning run as Tulsa edged Arkansas, 2-1. Barbe's double came in the eighth inning in a game played before about 14,000 fans at Driller Park. John Butcher was the winning pitcher.

Angels, Ryan Shutout Twins

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins fans gave Rod Carew a standing ovation. Thanks to Nolan Ryan, it was the only time they cheered all day.

Carew, the seven-time American League batting champion who was traded by the Twins to California last winter, returned Tuesday to Minnesota for the first time.

He was welcomed with open arms by the 37,270 paying customers attending the Twins' home opener.

Then Ryan took the mound and silenced the Twins on four hits, striking out 10 batters en route to his 38th career shutout, a 6-0 victory by the Angels.

In Tuesday's other American League games, Oakland nosed out Seattle 6-5, Boston edged

Milwaukee 6-5, New York beat Baltimore 5-1, Texas trimmed

Cleveland 6-2, Detroit defeated Kansas City 6-3 and Chicago whipped Toronto 6-1.

Carew, who made about $150,000 last year - far below the going rate for superstars - is now in the $750,000-a-year range with California.

He batted four times and got one single, in the eighth inning. But his bat - he's hitting at a .357 clip - wasn't needed. By the end of the seventh inning California had all its runs.

Ryan outpitched the Twins' Dave Goltz with a three-hit, 10-strikeout performance last week for his other victory this season. He got the only run he needed Tuesday in the first inning when Rick Miller opened the game with a triple off Goltz and scored on Don Baylor's single.

A's 6, Mariners 5

Oakland attracted a crowd - crowd? - of 653 paying customers, barely half their previous mark for dismal attendance of 1,252 fans.

And the way the A's and Mariners played, perhaps they'd have preferred to keep the game a total secret. The teams committed an even dozen errors, nine by Seattle. The A's squeezed out the victory on Jim Essian's two-out, bases-loaded single in the ninth inning.

Red Sox 6, Brewers 5

Fred Lynn is supposed to hit more for average than for distance - but right now he's miles ahead of where he expected to be.

"I can't keep this up. Nobody can," he said after hitting his sixth home run of the young season, tops in the majors. The ninth-inning shot came after Jerry Remy coaxed a leadoff walk from former Boston teammate Reggie Cleveland. It vaulted the Red Sox to their victory and cut the Brewers' East Division lead to one-half game over the Red Sox and Yankees.

Yanks 5, Orioles 1

The Yanks' Ron Guidry found the smoke that had deserted him in his first two starts, checked the Orioles on three hits and fanned 10 Baltimore batters en route to his first victory.

"I was throwing hard," he acknowledged. "I wasn't trying to, but I was ... Mentally this game is going to help me. I've got to where I don't have to worry about pacing myself to go nine."

Reggie Jackson's leadoff homer in the seventh broke a 1-1 tie and New York added three runs in the eighth, two on Roy White's double.

Tigers 6, Royals 3

Steve Kemp's seventh-inning single off Al Hrabosky broke a 3-3 tie, then Milt May made the Mad Hungarian madder with a two-run double to lead the Tigers past Kansas City. The Royals played the game under protest over an interference call that temporarily took a run away from them in the top of the seventh.

White Sox 6, Blue Jays 1

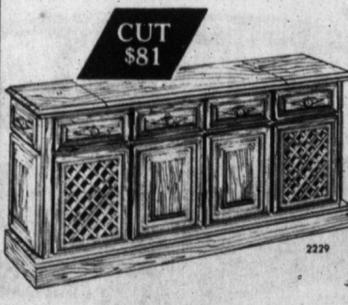

Wayne Nordhagen drove in a pair of runs while Francisco Barrios and Mike Prolly teamed on a three-hitter in Chicago's victory over Toronto.

Barrios retired 14 batters in a row before John Mayberry led off the seventh with a double. Prolly then took over, retiring the side and held Toronto hitless the rest of the way.

Accident Provides Study for Future

EDITOR'S NOTE - A lot of things are bound to change for the nuclear industry in the wake of the Three Mile Island accident. Investigations, reappraisals, and reassessments are already under way, and they're likely to touch every major aspect of energy policy and energy technology. This is the last of five articles exploring these changes.

By ANDREW SCHNEIDER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The scientist who wrote the textbook on risks of nuclear power says the nation will "learn more from the study of this one event at Three Mile Island than from 10 years of reactor experiments."
"Until now," said Dr. Norman Rasmussen of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, "We've only had hypothetical cases to deal with. Now we have the real thing."
Rasmussen is author of the "Rasmussen report," long considered the industry bible on reactor safety.

The accident at the atomic power plant near Harrisburg, Pa., has generated an intense review of the entire nuclear industry, its technology, safety, and future.

Within a week of the start of the nation's worst commercial nuclear accident, nine congressional inquiries were ordered. More have been scheduled, and a presidential commission will conduct an investigation.

"It's time to stop for a moment, find out how we got there where we are and determine if it's where we want to be," said Arizona Rep. Morris Udall, chairman of the House Interior Committee energy subcommittee. "If we don't do this now we may never get another chance."

The cry for a halt was picked up and echoed by hundreds of anti-nuclear groups throughout the country.

Several state officials also demanded a pause.

In New York, Gov. Hugh Carey said he didn't think there would be any nuclear plants in New York's future "for many years."

In South Carolina, Gov. Dick Riley said he would oppose any future nuclear energy facilities.
In Oregon, on orders of the governor, the agency charged with approving new nuclear plants reopened hearings on a proposed, twin-reactor unit along the Columbia River.

In Massachusetts, lawmakers voted 151-1 for a resolution urging Congress to halt the licensing of all new nuclear plants.

But other state leaders thought no action should be taken. One, Texas Gov. William Clements, even said, "There are four plants under construction. I wish we had eight."

Critics of nuclear programs said indications of human error and the failure of six safety systems at Harrisburg prove that atomic plants are unsafe.

Yet, industry spokesmen use the same date to argue that elaborate, duplicated safety systems eventually worked and prevents a catastrophe.

Rasmussen said the statistical analysis in his report envisioned "a possible scenario of system failures" like those at the Pennsylvania plant.

"We knew it could happen some day, but we didn't expect it to happen now," Rasmussen said. "Our figures indicated that a series of problems such as reported at Three Mile Island could occur once in 20,000 reactors years. It happened in the first 500 years of operation and that was unexpected."

"It's like playing poker. You know that sooner or later you'll draw four aces. It could happen the first deal of the game or after playing for 25 years."

Rasmussen said he remains confident of the safety of reactors but plans to reevaluate his statistical probabilities.

"Harrisburg will be a learning experience, he said, adding, "Oh man, have we learned."
While technical experts debate the mechanical problems, government and industry leaders are agonizing over another critical problem raised by Harrisburg - public reaction.

From Maine to California, anti-nuclear groups took to the streets with banners saying "No Nukes" and "No More Harrisburgs."

In the state of Washington, a judge dismissed trespassing charges against 148 anti-nuclear demonstrators arrested last year for occupying the construction site of the Satsop nuclear power plant. The Gray Harbor, Wash., county attorney requested the charges be dropped because he said the Three Mile Island incident would make it impossible to find six impartial jurors.

"All the talk about radiation dangers may serve to regenerate the public's persistent belief that anything nuclear can produce a mushroom-shaped cloud," said Dr. Robert Taylor.

Taylor, former director of the National Council on Radiation Protection, has been involved with the nation's atomic activities since the early 1930s.

"We started off with the bomb and that set a bad image," Taylor said. "If the first use of electricity had been the electric chair we'd still be fighting for the light bulb today."

The nuclear power industry was in trouble long before the Three Mile Island accident. Utilities, wary of the rising costs and regulatory problems, have for the past several years canceled more nuclear plant orders than they have placed. Last year saw 12 cancellations and only two orders.

The four makers of nuclear plants were hoping Congress would act this year to shorten the long period - now up to 12 years - between the time a utility decides to build a nuclear plant and the time it begins operation.

Industry leaders said President Carter, in his latest energy message, had planned to press for a law to gradually shorten that period to six years. They said the president would have pointed to nuclear power's good safety record.

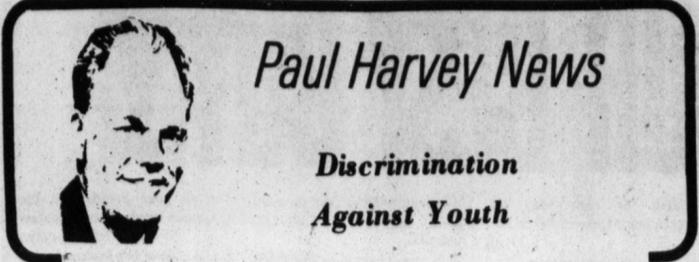

Instead, after Three Mile Island, Carter announced appointment of a panel to recommend improving the safety of nuclear plants.

Energy Secretary James Schlesinger said the administration will submit a bill to shorten regulatory delays, but its chances of passage seem slight.

For all the problems, some utilities remain devoted to nuclear power. "The way I see it, the country has absolutely no alternative," said O.J. Peterson III, the treasurer of Virginia Electric & Power Co., which is building three nuclear plants. "If they can't develop nuclear, they won't have enough energy."

The two largest makers of nuclear plants, General Electric and Westinghouse, have enough orders backed up to keep going for a few years, by which time they hope utilities will resume placing orders.

But some analysts have said they think the smallest manufacturer, Babcock & Wilcox, may abandon nuclear plants, which account for a relatively small proportion of its business. Babcock & Wilcox designed and built the Three Mile Island plant.

Paul Harvey News

Discrimination Against Youth

Mr. Alton Newell, a Texas manufacturer, first wrote what I am going to try to condense.

He wrote it under the caption: "Bad News for Teen-age America."

He says that if you were born 16 years ago, literally, and figuratively the world since then has "gone to pot."

Just when you get old enough to drive a car, your country runs out of gas.

City air is too polluted to breathe and country water is too polluted to fish and fish are too contaminated to eat.

Nuclear power plants spew radiation over your generation. Spray cans are destroying the ozone. If cancer doesn't kill you you'll drown when the ice caps melt.

Horsefeathers!

Young Americans--school-age Americans--if you can get off the self-pity-pot for a hundred seconds, I'd like to show you a really great place to grow up in if you want to.

You can see it from your own window.

Out there is a country where crime declined three percent last year.

A country where marriage rates are stabilizing and the divorce rate is declining.

Had you been born a hundred years earlier you'd have had a life expectancy of 30 years. Born when you were, and having survived the precarious first years of life, your odds are excellent of living to be a healthy, active hundred.

Some insist your generation will freeze in the dark.

Some of those scaredy-cats are helping a three-inch fish hold up a $100 million power project.

But in spite of the obstructionists, there are more than 50 nuclear power plants operating in the United States--entirely safely.

And we have enough coal for a thousand years, maybe two-thousand.

Such a multiplicity of assorted energies are presently proving themselves that these promise the most exciting opportunities since the Industrial Revolution.

Pollution or air and water, almost everywhere that they are measured, are measurably less than nine years ago.

Historians will not find many,

if any, of our nation's 200 years when we have enjoyed less social ferment, less labor strife, less disease and more take-home prosperity than right now.

The horizons for women have been pushed beyond the kitchen window--a rather long way beyond.

Farmers are about to move up from the back of the bus.

Physically, your generation is so improved over any previous that we can't reprint the athletic record books fast enough to keep up with you.

And whatever you see you don't like--change it!

One person can?

Ralph Nader did.

For better or worse, Madalyn Murray O'Hair did.

And Howard Jarvis.

So, June Graduate, look out that window.

You have yourself a country that's mostly civilized, an economy still mostly free, a church door that's still open and unwatched, and you have a chance to preserve and protect and defend and improve these things as we did.

I hope you can do better than we did. But you could do worse!

The Lighter Side

CLEVELAND (AP) - A river that used to be so polluted it once caught fire may become a fountain of youth - for a monster in a disaster movie.

An advertising executive has asked permission to use a bridge over the industry-lined Cuyahoga River as a backdrop for a movie in which a monster feeds on river pollution and rises to threaten human life.

"It is one of the gloomiest places in the entire county - the ideal location for a monster scene," said Morton Myers, president of American Searchlight Advertising Co.

Myers asked county commissioners on Thursday for permission to use the Detroit-

Superior bridge for one day to shoot a scene for the yet-untitled movie he plans to produce.

Commissioners said they would grant Myers' request if his liability insurance is approved.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - Will Rogers once said, "There's more talking and less said over phones than in Congress."

Despite the humorist's disdain for telephones - and telephone books - Southwestern Bell has decided to use his picture on one million telephone books in the Oklahoma City area.

A portrait of Rogers was painted especially for the 2,000-page books, which honor the 100th anniversary of his birth on Nov. 4, 1879.

Rogers apparently disliked telephone books worse than telephones, ranking them with dictionaries for uselessness.

"I got me a dictionary one time, but goodness it didn't (his spelling) last long. It was like looking in a telephone book. I never called up anybody in my life if I had to look up their number."

"Nobody is worth looking through all those numbers for, and that's the way it was with my dictionary," Rogers wrote in 1933 in one of his columns.

30 Homes Hit In Edinburg Storm

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) - About 30 families were evacuated from their homes early Tuesday as a torrential overnight storm dumped some seven inches of rain on this South Texas city.

The families were taken to the local high school gym as the water threatened their homes. City officials said the water began to recede by 10 a.m.

Tuesday and families were beginning to return home.

The thunderstorm left many streets choked with water and President Ralph Schilling cancelled classes at Pan American University. The Hidalgo County courthouse also was closed for the day.

Citation 4-Door Hatchback

CHEVY CITATION.

Citation goes a long way on a tank of gas. But that's just the start. Citation has the traction of front wheel drive, rack-and-pinion steering, front disc brakes, and a transverse-mounted engine that's cradled in rubber-cushioned mountings to reduce engine vibration. Sleek Citation is easy to park, yet big enough for five adults and lots of cargo. See Chevy Citation for yourself. And to really appreciate it, get behind the wheel.

EPA ESTIMATED MPG 24 CITY ESTIMATE
38 HIGHWAY ESTIMATE
With standard 4-cylinder engine and manual transmission

Remember: Compare the estimated MPG to the "estimated MPG" of other cars. You may get different mileage depending on your speed, trip length, and weather. Your actual mileage will be lower in heavy city traffic, and your actual highway mileage will probably be less than the estimated highway fuel economy. The "estimated MPG" is more likely to reflect actual overall mileage than the "combined estimate". Chevrolet cars are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions.

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Texas
Senate passed legislation this week by Sen. Bill Meier of Eulless that will alter the Consumer Protection Act.
Some say "alter" is not a strong enough word for what the proposed changes will do to the six-year-old consumer law.

Backers of the consumer act had predicted such a seige would happen this session, and when the attack came, proponents of the law,
led by Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin and Sen. Babe Schwartz of Galveston, vowed to grind the Senate to a halt with filibusters and talkathons.

Doggett claimed Meier's
bill would "gut" the consumer law. Schwartz said the proposed changes would tip
the scale in favor of the seller and leave the buyer out in the cold.

Despite such charges,
Meier easily garnered enough votes to bring up his bill on the Senate floor and when he did, the fight was all but over to save the consumer protection act from becoming what some observers said would be only a ghost of its former self.
Lacking enough votes to kill

Meier's legislation, opposing senators could only hope to put off the inevitable and maybe squeeze a compromise or two out of Meier and his forces.

Doggett, in his now famous filibuster tennis shoes ("Not sneakers," he said.
"It's the sneakers we're after here.") and Schwartz, running on what appeared to be an endless supply of energy, engineered two separate filibusters lasting a total of almost 25 hours.

One talkathon by Doggett was against a measure by Sen. Tom Creighton, not Meier. But Creighton's bill, which eventually passed the Senate, which lets auto dealers add on a $35 charge for getting cars licensed and registered, drew fire from Doggett, Schwartz and others because it, too, they felt, like Meier's bill, was spawned by the business lobby and left consumers to find for themselves.

While each side traded
flak over Creighton's bill, senators tried to reach some compromise on the real target of the Doggett-Schwartz filibusters—the consumer protection law.

Some compromises were worked out, but those were called "cosmetic" by Doggett, who helped write the consumer protection act before ever coming to the Senate, and there were few who disagreed with his appraisal of the compromises reached.

If Meier's bill gets through the House and past the governor's desk, consumers can expect these changes in the law that for the past six years has guaranteed them a redress of their grievances with the business world: 1) consumers would not have the right to bring class action suits, but the attorney general will still have that power; 2) triple damages will no longer be mandatory but up to the judge or a jury; 3) consumers will now have to prove that a businessman knowingly sold them a deceptive product or committed a fraudulent act, and other "alterations."

Meier said his bill "strikes
a balance" between consumer and businessman. But Sen. Ron Clower summed up the opposition's feelings
when he said: "We don't have a consumer protection act. We have a consumer-fraud act."

In The House

Legislation regulating strip mining of coal, lignite and uranium has glided through the House with so few objections that you would think legislators didn't know Texas was sitting on substantial deposits of those resources.

In fact, by 1985, Texas, already third in uranium reserves, will probably become one of the country's biggest producers of coal and lignite. Deposits stretch from Texarkana to Laredo.

Legislators are aware of such facts, and some lawmakers even pointed out that not long ago you couldn't have passed a strip mining bill without lengthy and sometimes heated discussions. But, at this point, legislators appear resigned to the fact that bills pushed by Speaker Bill Clayton and his "team" are for all practical purposes unstoppable. The strip mining bill is only one example.

"I may have been born under a tub, but I wasn't born yesterday," said one lawmaker. "Ten or 25 people can't stop 'em," that same legislator added, speaking specifically about the strip mining legislation muscled through the House by the Clayton forces.

The strip mining bill passed by the House was 80 pages long and some members complained about not having time to thoroughly understand the document.
Other lawmakers said it wasn't worth their time or effort to fully understand the piece of legislation and then maybe mount some opposition against it since it was almost a foregone conclusion that Clayton and his supporters would pass the bill and pass it easily.

Cholesterol basics

DEAR DR. LAMB — I would like to know just what is cholesterol? Is there any way you can rid your body of it once you have it? Would you list in two groups the foods that are highest in cholesterol and the foods lowest in cholesterol?

DEAR READER — Cholesterol is a yellow waxy substance formed chiefly by your liver. It's emptied with the bile from your liver into your small intestine.

Cholesterol is an animal product. That means that you get cholesterol from animal foods as well as from cholesterol formed by your liver. Both sources are mixed together in your small intestine and absorbed through the intestinal wall back into your circulation.

You can help lower blood cholesterol by decreasing the cholesterol in your food and by decreasing your fat consumption. The fat in your food enhances the absorption of cholesterol into your circulation. Then if there's a way to block the absorption of the cholesterol, that will help. And finally if there's a way to encourage your liver to form less cholesterol, that helps.

There are some substances on the market that will bind the cholesterol.

There is a new oil substitute that isn't absorbed that does bind with part of the cholesterol and then it's eliminated with the rest of the undig-ested food material. This substance has not been cleared for public use yet and is in the experimental stage. Meanwhile, a low-cholesterol diet and adequate amounts of exercise are measures that you can do which help in many instances. You must be absolutely certain to keep your body weight down to prevent obesity if at all possible.

Now about your different food lists. To give you some general guidelines about low-fat, low-cholesterol diets, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet Preventing Atherosclerosis. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for

it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper,
P.O. Box 1551, Radio City
Station, New York, NY
10019.

Since cholesterol is an animal product, it follows that none of the vegetables, fruits or cereals contain any cholesterol at all. People sometimes get confused about coconut oil because it has a large amount of saturated fat in it. The coconut oil doesn't contain cholesterol
but the saturated fat enhances absorption of cholesterol and stimulates the liver to produce excessive amounts of cholesterol. Otherwise, you can consume
most of the fruit, vegetable, cereal group without any concern about cholesterol and very little concern about fat content. Of course, you mustn't add fatty-cholesterol substances to those foods.

The most commonly used food that contains lots of cholesterol is the egg yolk.
Each egg yolk contains about 225 mgs of cholesterol.
If you're trying to limit your intake to 300 mgs a day or less and use many egg yolks,
you will quickly have exceeded your allotted amount.

As a general rule, 100 grams (three-and-one-half ounces) raw weight of the edible portion only of meat, fish and poultry contains about 70 milligrams of cholesterol. That's really not very high when consumed in reasonable portions.

Butter fat contains quite a bit of cholesterol. Skim milk, uncreamed cottage cheese
are relatively low in cholesterol and provide a good source of calcium for your diet.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I had a gallbladder X ray recently.
The doctor said it showed that I had two small stones but he said unless I started having trouble with colic to let it alone as long as I can.
I have a lot of pain under my left shoulder and now

I'm frequently sick to my stomach. Will you please send me some information on gallstones and tell me if there's anything I can do to get some relief?

DEAR READER — I will send you The Health Letter number 4-9, Gallstones And Gallbladder Disease, but I think what you'd better do is go back and see your doctor.
Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station,
New York, NY 10019.

Pain under the right shoulder and in the right neck is fairly common secondary to gallbladder disease. Nausea and indigestion can be a problem. Your doctor's intention, I'm certain, was to let matters rest as long as you weren't having symptoms but now you are having symptoms that require an explanation. If they're not associated with the gallbladder stones, you still have a problem that needs resolution.

There are many people who have silent gallbladder stones and don't know they have them until they have an X ray. In other instances, the stones are associated with disease of the gallbladder and you can have severe attacks of pain in the upper right abdomen.

In some ways the attacks resemble appendicitis except the location is higher.
The pain can also go through to the back, over the lower right ribs, the gallbladder can become inflamed and it can even rupture. So it's important that you find out what's causing your pain and treated and if they're related to the gallstones that you know are already there.

Wichita Falls Becomes Test Area for New Communications

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tornado wracked Wichita Falls, Texas, has become the successful testing ground for a new emergency satellite communications system rigged by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Air Force.

When the city was struck by a devastating tornado Tuesday, only one outside telephone line was working.

"We felt this would be a good chance to see how this satellite system works," Col. James Butera, director of the rescue coordination center at Scott Air Force Base, Ill.

An Air Force Jeep roved the city's devastated areas, reporting on damage, deaths, injuries and relief needs. A second was stationed at a disaster command post in the state capital at Austin.

"By putting one in Austin and the other in Wichita Falls, we could tie the two command posts together through the satellite," Butera said. "The Jeeps also are equipped with very sophisticated VHF, UHF and other communications gear, so the one in Wichita Falls was placed initially at the command post to establish communications links with state police, fire officials, helicopters, search teams and ham radio operators."

Air Force communications experts on the vehicles talk with each other by transmitting through the Applications Technology Satellite No. 6 (ATS 6) in a stationary orbit 22,300 miles above the equator.

They also are able to communicate through the satellite with the Air Force Rescue Coordination Center at Scott, which handles requests for any outside resources or aid that is needed.

How is the system working in its first real test?

"It's just beautiful, we're really excited about it," he replied.

Meanwhile, Les Zeenstra, an engineer for the Communications Satellite Corporation (Comsat), flew to Wichita Falls Thursday afternoon to set up a four-foot portable antenna to establish contact with the Communications Technology Satellite (CTS), a NASA payload being used for a number of experiments in both the United States and Canada.

In one of the experiments, Comsat and the American Red Cross are testing the feasibility of coordinating disaster relief efforts. After several demonstrations with mock disasters, the effort received its first true test during last year's flood at Johnson City. It worked well then, reported Comsat's John Flinck. Zeenstra, who can fold his antenna into a suitcase, will establish three channels with CTS: a regular phone channel, a teletype line and a facsimile transmission circuit. This will provide assured links with Red Cross headquarters in Washington, providing officials with information on what help is needed.

All this bodes well for government plans for a satellite that would be used exclusively for disasters and search and rescue operations.

Air Force officials said if the plan is approved by the White House in 1985, and will have 500 channels, instead of the one available on ATS 6. The channels would be allotted to state and federal agencies.

In Manhattan in 1683, the British colonists feared an attack by the French. They dumped dirt into the harbor to extend the shoreline so a platform could be built for a battery of guns. And that is how the Battery got its name, according to New York historians.

The United States and Spain signed the treaty of San Lorenzo in 1795, and Spanish troops withdrew from Mississippi Territory shortly afterward.
