

City Questions Juvenile Officer's Duties

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Duties of the Deaf Smith County juvenile probation officer were discussed Monday night by Hereford city commissioners and questioned by City Manager Dudley Bayne, who said he has not paid past-due bills owed to the county because of his confusion about the nature of the office.

The city owes $2,898 as its share of financing the juvenile probation office. The city, county and Hereford school district each are responsible for one-third of $35,094.17, the amount required to pay salaries and run the office.

That figures to $974.84 monthly for each entity. The entities pay $14,013 for the officer's salary, $10,000 for an assistant, $4,480 for a secretary, $5,851 for employee benefits and $750 for supplies. Mileage, juvenile placement fees and other expenses are paid for by the county.

The assistant was hired in 1975 under a federal grant, which ran for three years and expired on Dec. 31. In November, 1977, before the final year of the grant, juvenile probation board members voted to continue employment of the assistant, with the cost being shared by the city, school and county.

The city had been paying $500 monthly before this year, Bayne told commissioners, adding that he only recently learned that the reason for the increased billing was the grant's expiration.

"Federal funding for the grant was approved only if the county kept the program going after the funding stopped," Bayne said. "Now, it seems like the city taxpayer pays county taxes. It looks like we're just doublecharging the taxpayer."

And, while the cost to run the office is greater, services have been reduced, Bayne charged.

"We're not getting satisfactory response from the juvenile board or officer. Mr. Bowers (JPO Rogers Bowers) does not care to be bothered with our problems after hours. He's interested in only those on probation and does not care about those we pick up. If the city's going to pay $966 (sic), he ought to be working," the city manager said.

Bayne's confusion lies in the officer's title, he said. "I thought we had a juvenile officer, not a probation officer. When did this change take place?"

Juvenile probation board member Charley Bell told Bayne that the guidelines for operating the office had not been changed.

"Back whenever they made this new family code, they had seminars and they sent us to a seminar. We came back, and Larry Watson, who was the juvenile officer back then, helped us with the family code. I thought we set guidelines and as far as I know, they haven't been changed," Bell said.

"It was my understanding all along that we were buying a juvenile officer," he added.

Bowers told commissioners that when he was hired last September, he understood he was a juvenile probation officer "and not a juvenile peace officer—I was hired under the pretense that's what the job involved."

Bowers said he has instructed officers of the Hereford Police Department not to call him at home between the hours of 1 a.m. and 8 a.m.

"Me and my family have a right..." Bowers said. "It's not necessary in the early morning to be called. The peace officer has the authority to decide whether a child needs to be detained, and I can decide on the matter at 8 in the morning."

"As far as handling only those on probation, I resent that. We handle intakes for the police department and handle preliminary investigations."

Bayne said that preliminary investigations are required before Bowers can present cases to the juvenile board.

"Before, the officers could call the juvenile officer and get help. The police can't get help anymore. The juvenile act is a very complicated thing, and we're not getting the help on it,"

City Buys
Lines, Shop,
Mowers

Hereford city commissioners Monday night accepted bids for the construction of well lines to be paid for in an upcoming bond election if approved by voters, a steel building for the parks maintenance department and two mowers for the municipal golf course.

In other business, commissioners appointed Ed Coplen as mayor pro-tem, named Jake Webb to replace newly-elected City Commissioner Wes Fisher on the Planning and Zoning Commission, authorized bidding to purchase a backhoe for the water department and annexed Blocks 5 and 9 of the Engler Addition in north Hereford.

The lowest of four bids on well lines was $42,414, submitted by Novak Construction Co. of Amarillo.

Two wells are planned for northwest of Hereford, with lines tying into the Ave. C water station. A bid of $82,425 on the wells was submitted by Water Industries last month and accepted by the commission.

No date has been set for the bond election, which commissioners hope will finance construction of seven wells,

Light Rain
Moistens
Hereford

Overcast skies which persisted through most of the day Monday failed to yield appreciable moisture when rain finally began to fall locally last night, but the storm had all the looks of a classic soaker. Heavy thunder and a brilliant display of lightning accompanied a brief cloudburst over Hereford last night, to close out a warm spring day.

Only a trace of moisture was recorded by KPAN radio here, while the Holly Sugar Corporation's Hereford plant recorded .07 inches.

No rainfall was recorded at Bootleg Corner, Dawn, or in the Milo Center vicinity.

Favorable rainfall could prove crucial to the area's dryland wheat crop within the next two weeks, as surprisingly balmy conditions over the Easter holiday began to sap away moisture reserves from a crop which could still pay off handsomely

Tornado Sirens
To Blow Thursday

Hereford Volunteer Fire Department Tuesday postponed testing of the city's tornado sirens until 10 a.m. Thursday.

Cloudy skies, which indicated the possibility of severe weather, caused the postponement, according to Fire Marshal Jay Spain.

The sirens will be tested for several minutes Thursday, weather permitting.

Hospital Continues Success in Quarter

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith General Hospital continued on its road to recovery during the first quarter of the current fiscal year, and administrator Jim Bullard today attributed "operating success" to an increased patient load and controlled operating cost.

Hospital directors voted recently to publish a quarterly financial statement in The Hereford Brand as an attempt to bolster the hospital's public relations.

In a written statement to be included with that forthcoming newspaper report, Bullard said:

"An increased patient load and controlled operating cost have contributed to the operating success during this six-month period. We have reduced the operating note of $71,000 by $45,000 while increasing the operating cash position by $72,720."

The hospital district board examined Bullard's statement and the financial report during this morning's regular meeting.

The quarterly report shows a net income of $229,366, which includes $188,727 tax revenues, of which $79,277 represents money restricted for bonded debt service.

Through March 31, the end of the quarter, the hospital had collected 82.4 percent of its last October assessment.

Uncollectible patient receivables in the amount of $85,931 were set aside in the quarter. Total charity care, including the public health clinic outpatient cost for the six-month period ending March 31 of $48,898.

The hospital's net income, which represents revenue over expenses, for the same three-month period last year was $117,949, which shows that the hospital was nearly doubled in that category.

Cash on hand on March 31 totaled $54,406, compared to a $14,885 deficit last year.

The monthly operating report for March showed $6,024 in revenue over expenses.

The hospital admitted 234 patients, including 39 newborns, in March compared to 215 patients, which included 21 newborns, a year ago.

The average daily census in March was 37.7, compared to 31.4 in March of last year.

Dr. M.W. Nobles presented this morning's medical staff report in the absence of Dr. A.T. Mims, who is recuperating from surgery in San Antonio.

Dr. Mims, who is chief of staff, apparently had a successful operation, Bullard said following the meeting, anticipating that Dr. Mims "should be back to work very shortly."

Dr. Nobles said that the medical staff met with Dr. Evangeline Archer, an Amarillo radiologist who will perform readings on Hereford's $75,000 ultrasound equipment when it arrives in the next few months.

"The staff liked her ideas and procedures," Nobles said.

Bullard told directors that even though the Rohe equipment had been given tentative approval, its purchase would have to be finalized by a public advertisement for bids in the newspaper.

The board resolved to enter into a contract with Rohe for the ultrasound equipment after advertising for bids.

Bullard added that the law requires a five-year limit on the hospital's note term for the equipment. First National Bank has agreed to loan money for the purchase.

New hospital district directors were installed this morning by County

17,200 Flee Mississippi Floods

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) - Record floodwaters poured over sections of the Pearl River levee today, turning more parking lots front lawns and open fields into lakes and more Jackson residents into refugees.

"All my life I've heard about refugees, but I never believed I'd be one," said Robert C. Travis, a Jackson attorney forced to flee his northeast Jackson home.

President Carter designated the state a disaster area Monday, making 25

Mississippi counties and thousands of flood victims eligible for federal assistance.

Jackson city officials estimate 17,200 persons have been evacuated from their homes since Friday.

The National Weather Service said the Pearl River's record rise slowed today, standing at just over 43 feet - 25 feet above flood stage. Officials said they expected a crest of 43.1 feet later in the day. But they said the water, which was roof deep on the city's northeast side, probably would not subside for several days.

At least four deaths were attributed to the flooding, authorities said.

In Alabama, record floodwaters raced down the state's two major rivers - the Tombigbee and the Alabama - after 12 inches of rain drenched parts of the state over the weekend and left at least six persons dead.

"We have survived these trying days and we will continue to survive the trying

The Branding Iron

Jayroe Seeks Regional TAR Vice Presidency

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Melvin Jayroe wants the Region I vice presidency of the Texas Association of Realtors not for reasons pertaining to real-estate politics--the most natural progression would be to become president--but to make himself a better Realtor.

"I don't want to be state president," Jayroe said. "There's too much expense and time involved in it. But, I want to become regional vice president because so many people in our business get their license and just start selling, and they never attempt to increase their professionalism and their education."

"I want to do as good a job as I can and learn all there is to learn about my profession."

It sounds almost like a campaign spiel, but so far, Jayroe has no opposition. If he stays unopposed, he will be elected vice president of Region I, which consists of 12 Realtor boards and 54 counties in the Panhandle-South Plains, at the TAR summer convention in June at El Paso. He will be installed at the winter convention next January at Austin.

If elected, Jayroe will be required to visit all of the Region I boards next year, installing officers and providing programs. 1979 Vice President Della Dunn spoke at the Hereford Board of Realtors' monthly meeting last week.

Jayroe is a director on the state board of Realtors and is Region I chairman of the Multiple Listing Service (MLS). He is a graduate of the Real Estate Institute and has met qualifications to become a Certified Residential Specialist.

Active on the local board of Realtors, Jayroe has been a member since 1969, serving as president in 1970. He was Hereford Realtor of the Year in 1971.

"I desire to be a knowledgeable Realtor. You don't want to go to a part-time doctor or a part-time lawyer or a part-time CPA. You want to go to the very best. Since real estate is the largest purchase, investment, that most young people will make in their lifetimes...if you ever needed a professional--someone that knows the market, financial situations and the best loans possible, you need a good Realtor," Jayroe said.

It's becoming more difficult for Jayroe and other local Realtors to convince people that homebuying is a money-making

Clements Kills Effort To Hike Mortgage Interest Rates by 2%

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements shut off legislative efforts Monday to raise mortgage interest rates by threatening to veto higher charges, but said a special session may be needed on the subject.

The governor's announcement killed hopes of the savings and loan industry to up the state's usury limit this session from 10 percent to 12 percent.

"Too many Texans now cannot afford home loans, not because money is tight but because interest rates already are too high," Clements told a news conference. "If rates are allowed to go even higher, the number of people able to buy homes

Caviness Donates To Victims

Caviness Packing Co. of Hereford has initiated a project to send hamburger meat to Wichita Falls and Vernon to aid the homeless tornado victims. The Brand has learned, and local residents may help with the campaign if they desire.

Pete Caviness Monday confirmed that he decided to truck some frozen ground hamburger to the North Texas cities, and several friends had already volunteered to help fund the project and send more meat.

Red Cross officials estimated Monday that 20,000 persons were left homeless in Wichita Falls, while more than 100 homes were destroyed in Vernon. Kitchens have been set up at various locations for the homeless people.

Caviness said anyone interested in helping on the local project may call him or Beverly at 364-0900. Contributions will be accepted and added to the fund for the meat. A truck carrying the 10-pound bags of hamburger meat is scheduled to leave Wednesday.

The Associated Press reported Monday that the twister demolished 4,160 homes in Wichita Falls, along with 1,172 apartment units, 109 commercial buildings and 21 tax-exempt structures--including 10 churches. Property damage was estimated at $204 million. Damage was tabbed at $5 to $20 million in Vernon.

Tornadoes chewed across both sides of the Red River last Tuesday, killing at least 58 persons and injuring more than 800.

Fun Breakfast To Include Special Features

A couple of extra features have been added to the C of C Fun Breakfast which is scheduled Thursday morning at the Community Center.

A special drawing will be held for all persons attending who made reservations through the chamber office before Thursday. At past breakfasts, the chamber has urged people to make reservations in order that food arrangements can be determined.

In addition, special recognition will be given to the company or business with the most representatives at the breakfast. The breakfast starts at 6:30 a.m. Thursday, and all interested people are invited to attend.

Cash drawings are held at each breakfast for a chamber member who is in attendance, as well as one for anyone registering at the meeting. This month's meeting is being sponsored by the Hereford YMCA, with assistance from Midwest Systems Analysts.

Emcees Doug Manning and Lynton Allred will lead the group in games and cash drawings, call on people to make community announcements, and call on C of C President Ken Rogers to present a "Bull Chip Award".

Men, Women Charged With Triple Slaying

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) - Two men and two women were arrested today in connection with the $1.8 million robbery of a Parolator Security Inc. branch office in which three security guards were brutally slain.

Police said murder charges were filed against Lawrence Pelletier, 26, of Waterbury; Donald Costare, 26, and Donna Costare, 26, both of Wallingford; and Evelyn Vega, 26, of Waterbury.

Plastic garbage bags full of cash stolen in the robbery were hauled into police headquarters but authorities said they did not know how much of the $1.8 million in cash, food stamps, jewelry and checks had been recovered.

The robbery, in a shootout that killed the three guards early Monday at Parolator's branch office in Waterbury, was one of the nation's largest.

"Did you ever see so much money in your life?" exclaimed one detective as he handed bags of money from a police van.

Grocery carts were used to haul the loot through the lobby of police headquarters.

Bill Would Allow

Ejecting Unruly Kids

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The legislative focus shifted this week to unruly school children and financing of state government for the next two years.

Returning from a long Easter weekend, the House scheduled debate today on a bill giving teachers power to eject "incurables" from their classrooms.

A House-approved bill that would increase the penalties for pupil assaults on teachers was on the agenda in the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

The same committee was to hear Sen. Chet Brooks' bill to punish persons who "scalp" tickets to entertainment events, such as music concerts and football games. Anyone charging more than $2 over the regular ticket price could be sent to jail for six months and fined $1,000.

The public was invited to a House-Senate committee hearing on the use of federal revenue sharing funds. Such hearings are required by law, but chairman Grant Jones of the Senate Finance Committee said he has been told only one witness has ever appeared.

On Wednesday, House members will mark the 100th day of the 140-day regular session by opening debate on a $20.4 billion general appropriation bill. The bill leaves $370 million for tax cuts or additional spending.

OPEC Kicks Egypt

Out of Organization

KUWAIT (AP) - The Organization of Arab Petroleum Exporting Countries expelled Egypt from its membership today and announced an embargo on oil shipments to Egypt.

Chairman Omar Al Montasser, the Libyan minister of heavy industries, announced the decision at the end of a two-day OPEC meeting that was attended by the other nine members of the organization.

Egypt walked out of the meeting Monday.

The move confirmed with a decision by the Arab league last month to impose a political and economic boycott against Egypt in retaliation for President Anwar Sadat's signing of a peace treaty with Israel.

The decision to impose an oil embargo on Egypt will mean that Egypt will have to seek some oil supplies from outside the Arab world, its main supplier until the ban was imposed.

Oil industry sources said Egypt produced an average of 90,000 barrels of oil daily during 1978, but it had to import oil from Saudi Arabia to meet its local requirements.

Earlier in the week Egypt was expelled from three Arab financial institutions: the Arab Fund for Social and Economic Development, the Arab Bank for Economic Development in Africa and the Arab Mining Co.

Possible Libel Law

To Force Journalists

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court soon will hand the news media a crushing defeat in a decision that could revolutionize libel law, ABC News reports.

The court is poised to rule that public officials or public figures suing for libel may force journalists to tell what their thoughts, opinions and conclusions were while preparing a news story, the television network said Monday.

The ABC report, aired during the television network's evening news program, said a majority of the court's nine justices will rule in favor of a former Army officer who is suing CBS and others for $44.7 million.

If accurate, the report represents one of the rare breaches in the 190-year history of the high court's vaunted secrecy.

The report by ABC correspondent Tim O'Brien said Justice Byron R. White is writing the court's majority opinion. It said Justice William H. Rehnquist agrees with White that people suing for libel may probe a journalist's "state of mind."

The report said Justice John Paul Stevens tried to dissuade White from his view during one of the court's closed conferences.

Hospital

Clark B.F. Cain, incumbents Ed Reinauer Jr. and Dr. Gerald Payne were installed, along with Warner Lawson, who is serving his first term.

Frank Zinser was elected as president of the board. Duward Robinson and Reinauer were elected vice president and secretary, respectively.

Dr. H.A. Cavness today presided over his last meeting as head of the hospital board. Cavness, who had served six years, did not seek re-election to the board.

Zinser said directors of a recent trip he made to Austin, where he visited the Texas Hospital Association. Legislation being fought by THA includes a bill which would limit the services of licensed vocational nurses and nurse's aides.

Deal Smith General pays dues to THA. The board, after its open meeting, convened into executive session to discuss a personnel matter. No action was taken in the closed session.

Clements

Clements said he will consider calling a special legislative session on the issue.

After three months of considering both sides, the governor apparently rejected arguments by Sen. Bill Meier, a sponsor of 12 percent interest rate legislation.

"I said him I was disappointed, that I thought he made the wrong decision," said Meier. D-Eales, who talked with Clements before the governor's news conference.

Meier said he has scrapped his bill for this session but predicted an emergency will develop soon in the housing industry and prompt a special session.

"But special sessions are kind of risky and you never know how all that would work," Meier said in a phone interview from his Eales office. "I would have preferred that we deal with the economic facts of life in this session."

Flooding

days ahead," Mayor Dale Dunks said. Dunks said reports that the Ross Bazaar Reservoir north of town had broken were not true.

"The dam at the reservoir is not breaking. I repeat - not breaking, and it is not being dynamited," Dunks said.

Dunks ordered the downtown area sealed off as backed-up Town Creek, which normally is channeled underground, fanned out across parts of the city's commercial center. Crews worked to sandbagging the telephone company's downtown headquarters, banks and other business. The Illinois near Plover leveled off at about 8 1/2 feet above flood stage Monday and was expected to begin dropping a few inches each day. Flooding on the Mississippi, Missouri and Meramec rivers forced more than 1,000 residents of eastern Missouri to stay away from their homes, as Gov. Joseph V. Tinsley declared the city of St. Louis and 16 counties disaster areas, the first step toward getting federal aid.

Looter Shot by Police

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) - The police officer who shot and killed a curfew violator has been placed on "limited duty" and will face a grand jury, according to Police Chief Curtis Harrelson. Authorities were trying today to identify the slain suspect, shot in the back as he ran from police before dawn Monday in the downtown area.

Harrelson did not elaborate on what "limited duty" Wright has been assigned to. He said a Wichita County grand jury will interview the rookie police officer Wednesday.

The officer who fired the fatal shot, Jay L. Wright, stopped the suspect for violating a curfew established to discourage looting after a tornado wrecked thousands of buildings in this North Texas city a week ago.

The downtown area escaped the twister that devastated eight square miles, killed 44 persons and caused more than $200 million in property damage. But an 11 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew was in effect citywide.

Wright said the suspect got out of a car, shoved him and ran. The officer said he chased the suspect and fired when the victim turned and reached into his pocket. Wright and his partner, John J. Bailey, said in their police report they believed the suspect was reaching for a gun.

But no firearm was found on the body. The suspect was killed by a single shot from Wright's .357-caliber Magnum revolver.

The chief also ordered an internal investigation, and one of the investigating officers, Sgt. James Spelton, said Wright and Bailey ordered the victim to halt "several times" before the suspect put his right hand into his right pants pocket and started to run toward the officers.

Spelton said friends of the victim, who was in his mid-20's, said he did not speak English.

The shooting victim had been a passenger in a car driven by another man when the two officers stopped them. The driver, who remained in the car, was charged with violating the curfew and released on $28.50 bond.

Police Investigate Burglary of Chips

Taco Tostitos, 308 E. 7th, was burglarized Monday night or early today after someone entered the business after hours through the drive-in window.

Taken were two sacks of potato chips and two soft drinks, police said.

Mike Cleveland, 300-A E. 7th, reported that he was awakened at 3:25 a.m. today by a Mexican or Mexican-American male standing at the foot of his bed.

driver's license violations and two for running red lights. A burglar alarm was sounded at Hi-Plains Savings & Loan at 6:05 p.m. Monday. Police said the alarm was sounded accidentally.

Police were called to silence family arguments Tuesday in the 100 block of Catalpa and 400 block of Knight.

Officers assisted in moving a stalled vehicle from the intersection of Plains and N. 25 Mile Ave. at 4:30 p.m. Monday.

Doors were accidentally left open at El Moline, 130 N. Main, and Moore Scale Service, 200 block of Dairy Rd., Monday. The owners were contacted.

Police received a call Monday concerning a 16-year-old male shooting at ducks with a BB gun in a vacant lot north of the Blue Water Garden Apts. Investigating officers informed the youth of the city ordinance prohibiting the discharge of firearms within the city limits.

Tyler Returns from ERA

Marn Tyler recently returned from an Electronic Realty Associates annual convention in Las Vegas, where more than 7,000 ERA brokers attended the four-day meeting. Marn Tyler Realtors is the ERA associate in Hereford.

Mrs. Tyler said the convention was highlighted by the announcement that ERA is the only real estate company to become a corporate sponsor of the U.S. Olympic Committee in helping send America's athletes to the 1980 games in Moscow.

In addition, she noted, the office here will join 40,000 ERA representatives across the country in sponsoring a fund drive for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. Door-to-door collections will be made May 5-6 for a "Weekend in May for MDA."

Mrs. Tyler announced that with the introduction of several new programs for home buyers and sellers, the local office is "one step closer to providing a one-stop mail estate shopping center."

Television sports commentator and personality Bob Uecker was introduced at the convention as the national ERA MDA

Juveniles

Boyer said. "We do need a juvenile officer—the commission thought that at the time they agreed to pay for this thing, and I agree. Right now, we don't have a juvenile officer and that's what we need," he said.

Boyer's duties should include working with the potential offender "before he commits a crime," according to Boyer.

"I go to dances in Saturday night, and I go out and make the drug and check on probationers at home at night. As far as carrying a gun and taking and arresting a child, that's not the job of the probation officer," Boyer said.

"I'm not asking you to do that," Boyer responded. Boyer said he could "not realistically" do everything Boyer desired because of the office's workload.

"When I came here, there was a lack of record keeping, a lack of bookkeeping in reference to restitution and a backlog of juvenile cases that hadn't been dealt with," Boyer said.

"And there was friction between the district attorney's office and the juvenile probation officer. Something was lacking," Boyer replaced Bud McClelland, who resigned shortly after he was hired to replace Phil Sciombas. Sciombas, who replaced Larry Watson as juvenile probation officer, now works for the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Office.

City Attorney Eamont Langley said that "there is a large area of juvenile law being ignored."

Boyer responded that many cases are handled informally instead of in court.

"Who makes that determination?" Langley asked.

Boyer said the juvenile probation officer decided such matters.

"Why does an arrest have to be made?" Boyer asked. "There are a lot of repeats now that we didn't have before the juvenile board." Boyer answered: "We're working on it." Commissioner Dickie Gerles asked Bell if it would be feasible for Boyer to be the juvenile probation officer and for assistant Lita Rangel to serve as juvenile officer.

"I guess they could, but I don't know if they'd be willing to make that change, and I don't know if you're willing to pay for it."

Boyer said that the increasing number of juveniles in Deaf Smith County makes the proposal unfeasible.

"Studies done in Deaf Smith County and the Hereford area indicate that the area is growing in juvenile population between the ages of 10 and 17. It is anticipated that the delinquency rate will escalate in the next 10 years," Boyer said.

"Our caseload has increased about a third in the last nine months. We had 81 referrals in the last three months."

"In addition, we've been supervising either 50 or 60 cases either on probation or awaiting court. We have to type up social histories, and they are very lengthy. There's a lot of paperwork done in placements. All these services require every bit of a 40-hour week and many times a 50- or 60-hour week."

Boyer and Mayor Bertley Dowell said they would attend Wednesday's 2 p.m. meeting of the juvenile probation board to further discuss the matter.

Superintendent Russell Holter said The Brand Monday he also would attend the meeting. "I'm just interested in finding out what the duties of the probation officer is and will be," Holter said. "There's a question of what his duties are—if he is going to function only as a probation officer or if the officer can assist us in preventing juvenile crime."

Branding

ing proposition. "It's more difficult to buy a house. It takes either 20 or 30 percent down these days, and young couples just don't have that. You can still buy FHA or VA for low down payments, but the government regulations for insuring a property and discount points charged to the seller are very prohibitive," Jayme said.

Jayme favors changing mortgages to 40 years instead of keeping them at 30. "It doesn't make any difference, except it lowers the monthly payments. People don't pay them off anyway. The average time in a house is usually five to seven years," he said.

Jayme worked as a bookkeeper for Southwestern Public Service in 1952 at Amarillo after his discharge from the Air Force. He became chief clerk for SPS and then moved to Panama in that capacity. He came to Hereford as SPS manager in 1962 and worked for the electric company for six more years.

In 1968, Jayme bought into Lone Star Agency after receiving his real-estate license.

Jayme was president of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce in 1972 and was chairman of the industrial development, Blueflats and membership committees of the chamber.

Vice president of Lone Star, Jayme is chairman of the Hereford School Board Advisory Committee, chairman of Deaf Smith County Resources Development Committee and a member of the Tax Equalization Board Planning and Zoning Commission and City Board of Adjustments. He and his wife, Beverly, have had three children, all adults.

"I like Hereford. I like it as a young, aggressive town. It's very progressive, and most of the owners, manager and supervisors are young people. Hereford's not totally dominated by old people, and that's why it's so vibrant," Jayme said.

"The opportunities here are great—if anybody wants to do a good job and get ahead, Hereford's the place to do it."

Jayme's hobbies include golf, snow skiing, fishing and flying. He also occasionally mallebrates—a specialty of his. Jayme taught professional mallebating in the Air Force and at Amarillo and Pampa.

the company included a facility at George Warner Seed Co. and Trucker's Diesel Service. "We subbed out our labor for or five years ago, and that's why we didn't do a good job on the airport hangar," he said.

"I think because this gentleman's here shows us something," Fisher said. Boyne said the city had no experience with the other four bidders. "So I don't really know if they could do a better job than Hallmark," he said.

Commissioners purchased two Toro lawnmowers for the golf course from a Dallas-Ft. Worth company. One of the mowers will cost $7,000 and the other, which will be used strictly on the course's greens, will cost $5,285.

Commissioners accepted a bid of $14,117 from Hallmark Builders of Amarillo for the construction of a 60 by 30 foot shop building for the parks maintenance department. The bid was the lowest of five submitted to commissioners.

City Manager Dudley Boyne urged the commission not to accept the Hallmark bid because of work done by the Amarillo firm on a hangar at the Hereford airport four years ago.

"It was probably the poorest job we've had on metal buildings. It was probably an sorry workmanship as I've ever seen," Boyne said.

A representative of the company attended Monday's meeting and said that the past bad experience in Hereford "helps us as the most to do as good a job as we can."

He said that recent construction by Toro is much less than on a Jacobson," he said.

The two blocks annexed by the commission adjoin Whittier St. between 15th and 13th in northwest Hereford. Low to middle income housing is planned for the subdivision.

with favorable moisture. According to Ed Blackwell of the Hereford Soil Conservation Service office, some dryland fields are beginning to show signs of moisture stress.

"It's pretty spotty at this time, but you can find indications in various fields where the plants are beginning to turn blue," Blackwell stated.

Good subsoil moisture stored up through the winter after an almost ideal fall for the crop has helped bring the dryland wheat along in good shape to this stage, and prospects are still bright for a good yield or dryland wheat if moisture is timely. Blackwell pointed out

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

JUST A MINUTE (jus-ta-min-it), compl. sentence. (a) Unit of time used by children spanning 60 seconds to infinity. (b) Verb prolonging chore or whatever is being done at the moment. Slang: "Get off my case and do it yourself!"

The word isn't in any unabridged dictionary, but it is known to every parent who ever asked their children to do anything.

"When are you going to do the dishes?"

"Justaminute."

"Did you do your homework?"

"Justaminute."

"Are you going to get off that phone?"

"Justaminute."

Children learned a long time ago how effective a tool "Justaminute" can be. By simply uttering the word, they discovered that the table could get set while they were on the phone. The groceries could be unloaded from the car while they were in the bathroom. Their bed could get made while they were playing ball.

Some parents have learned to live with Justaminute. There is a feeling that if you can't break the code, you might just as well give in.

I belong to the death-by-nagging school whose disciples stand around and whine, "Your minute is up!" "You said that ten minutes ago" or "I'm waiting!"

Of course it didn't shave one second off that magical Justaminute.

But my new word did. I founded a word called, "I'LL SEE" (aisle-see) compl. sentence. (a) Giving indication that some consideration will be given to a request, (b) Prolonging a decision on something of importance to someone else. Slang: "It'll never happen."

I'llsee confounded and frustrated children just as much as Justaminute confounded me.

"Can I go to Pég's party?"

"I'llsee."

"Will you have time to shrink these jeans before I wear them?"

"I'llsee."

We've played the game for years. The other night, I told my son to take out the garbage. He jumped up and said, "Yes. Can I have the car tonight?"

I said, "Yes."
Imagine. Our first adverb in 20 years.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think of a man who gets furious when he wakes up and finds his wife has gotten out of bed before him and is therefore not available for instant sex?

I try to be cooperative to keep peace, but some days I must get up earlier than "B" does, and frankly there are mornings when I beat him out of bed on purpose because I don't want to face the "ritual." When that happens, he retaliates with verbal abuse and petty punishment. ("You can't use the car today.")

"B" is 42 and can't get much going at night, but he's rarin' to go in the morning -- sometimes as early as 4:00 a.m. (After which I can't get back to sleep.)

He claims I am selfish and inconsiderate when I refuse him and quotes doctors as saying, "Repressed sexual drives are unhealthy." He also insists something must be wrong with me because I have to force myself to go along with what comes so naturally to him.

I used to believe we could work this problem out if each of us gave in a little, but the man won't compromise. Can you help? -- Pooped In California

DEAR POOPED: Sex can be a weapon -- punishment for displaced anger. It can also be withheld for a variety of reasons. I'm not attempting to analyze your problem but perhaps these insights might be helpful.

You don't say what is required of you in terms of time and energy. If it's only a few minutes you should agree to accommodate "B" in exchange for his promise to leave you alone before the alarm clock goes off.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I received a letter this morning from my grandson -- age 11. It was full of misspelled words and grammatical errors. (NOTE TO EDITOR: LEAVE "MISPELLED" AS IS.) Should I (a) correct his mistakes and send the letter back to him; (b) say something to his parents about the kind of education he is getting; (c) ignore the mistakes?

Too bad our young people today are growing up with so little grounding in the basic skills they will need to get them through life. I await your decision, Ann. -- Vexed In Lexington

DEAR VEXED: Please don't return (a) your grandson's letter with corrections, or (b) tell his parents about the errors. Both would be unforgivable. Be happy that the boy wrote to you. I hear from dozens of grandnicks who would be thrilled to get any kind of letter from their grandchildren.

Incidentally, dear you misspelled "misspelled." (There are two s's in it.) Should I return your letter -- or write to your parents?

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know you are against young married couples living with in-laws -- or next door, even but my husband's folks are so terrific we decided we could beat the odds. Actually the problem isn't them, it's my husband's kid brother.

Tom is 16 -- a loudmouthed, spoiled brat who runs in and out of our place whenever he feels like it. He's always in the fridge and constantly borrows my husband's clothes (without permission).

My husband doesn't like this setup any more than I do but we are both intimidated by the boy's terrible temper. What do you suggest? -- Ashamed To

Fems In Regional Meet

Bell Sets State's Best In 220 Dash

Paul Bell, proving that he is among the best at whatever he attempts, clocked the state's fastest time in the 220 yard dash last weekend at the South Plains Invitational track meet.

Bell, the area's record holder in the 440 clocked a 21.4 furlong to tie the existing best in Texas schoolboy racing.

In the last meet before the district action, Hereford's cinder team collected a team total of 36 points for the day's action. Bell's first was the only top honor garnered by the Herd, but solid places by the rest of the Whitefaces helped the Herd to its point total.

Juan Flores and Glenn Yosten took third and fifth place in the 880, with Flores running a 1:59.8 and Yosten being timed in 2:00.6. Joe Walker added a fifth in the 100 meters with a time of 11.0 or 10.0 converted to yards.

The 440 dash had Norman Brown finish in fourth with a time of 51.4 and the mile relay team took third with a time of 3:25.1. The relay team, made up of Bell, Yosten, Brown and Keith Adams; has the second best time in the area, and the second best in district.

Felix Soliz, in his first attempt to run the mile, clocked a 4:48.3 for seventh place and with more work should be able to lower the time considerably, Lester Kirkland head track coach said.

"I'm real proud of Felix and his accomplishments in the mile," Kirkland said. "We needed a guy in the mile and he agreed to run it."

Kirkland said the district meet looms as a pretty tough contest with Monterey and Coronado the teams that will be strongest.

The district meet will be held on Coronado's home track this weekend, with prelims slated for 9 a.m. Saturday and the finals at 2 p.m. that afternoon. That same weekend, the Whiteface girls will be participating in the regional meet also in Lubbock. The team as far as the coaches know have a pretty good chance to be competitive. "We know how the Amarillo schools are as far as talent," Coach Martha Emerson said, but the other schools, El Paso and the Killeen and Tyler teams, we just haven't heard."

The regional meet will begin Friday afternoon and will run all day Saturday.

Baseballers Face Westerners

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

Hereford's baseball team continued to have its troubles with district competition as the Whitefaces dropped its third consecutive doubleheader to the Coronado Mustangs last weekend, 17-2 and 10-4.

Coach David Ashby's diamond squad began the first game with a bang as Edward Dominguez lined the first pitch of the game over the fence for a roundtripper and a 1-0 lead. That was the extent of the Herd scoring until the fourth inning and the Mustangs moved 11 runners across the plate in their first three innings.

The Whitefaces could manage only two hits off the pitching of the Coronado hurler as the host team pounded the Whiteface pitching corp for 15 hits. Norman Hill collected the other hit for the Herd, a run scoring single in the fourth frame.

Ernie Suarez occupied the mound for the Herd, striking out three and walking seven. The Coronado pitcher faced only 20 batters over the run rule shortened contest of five innings.

The second game started out as a dismal affair for the Herd, as the Mustangs sent seven runs across the plate to take a 7-1 lead after one inning.

From that point on the Whitefaces played about their best ball of the season according to Coach Ashby.

"If we could have just got that first inning, the second game would have been a whole lot different," Ashby said.

Different it would have been as the Whitefaces held the Mustangs to only three runs the rest of the second game and scored three of their own.

Control, or the lack of it, plagued the "Faces once again, as Kevin Bunch walked 12 Coronado batters, seven of those in the initial frame. The bright side of Bunch's pitching performance was that he allowed only five hits in the seven inning contest.

Dominguez, showing that his homerun in the first game was not a fluke, whalloped another in the second game, sending the blast over the leftfield fence in the seventh inning.

As leadoff hitter, the Whitefaces leftfielder led the team with three hits collecting two in the second game.

Hereford will face the Lubbock High Westerners today in a doubleheader at Whiteface field with the first game set to begin at 2:30.

In the other district game on tap, the Mustangs will face the Monterey Plainsmen in a doubleheader to determine the first half champ of district competition.

Kareem Finds Mark In Playoffs

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Few basketball players have achieved as much, yet been subjected to as much criticism, as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar.

So it was only fitting that Los Angeles' towering center should hit the winning shot in the Lakers' first-round National Basketball Association playoff series against the Denver Nuggets.

"That was the shot we wanted to take," said Abdul-Jabbar, whose eight-foot sky hook with 12 seconds remaining gave the Lakers a 112-111 decision over the Nuggets on Sunday in the deciding game of their best-of-three mini-series. "I missed some today, but I didn't miss the one that counted."

Abdul-Jabbar finished with 29 points and 16 rebounds in the Lakers' first victory ever in Denver. The win propelled them into the Western Conference semifinals against the Pacific Division champion Seattle SuperSonics, beginning Tuesday night.

The other Western Conference semifinalists, the Kansas City Kings and Phoenix Suns, also open their best-of-seven series Tuesday night while the Atlanta Hawks play at the Washington Bullets and the Philadelphia 76ers are at the San Antonio Spurs in the second games of the Eastern Conference semifinals. Washington and San Antonio won those series openers.

Ever since the 7-foot-2 Abdul-Jabbar was a schoolboy star at Power Memorial in New York, he has been expected to work miracles, and he has often been criticized for not hustling. "Nobody could criticize Abdul-Jabbar for not hustling in the crucial game against Denver, however."

"The big fellow was really aroused," said Nuggets center Dan Issel. "He was crowding the middle, blocking shots and hitting every shot he took."

Kansas City, the Cinderella champion of the Midwest Division, will have to contend with the star-studded lineup of the Phoenix Suns in the other West semifinal.

The midseason acquisition of Truck Robinson gave the Suns five players who have been NBA All-Stars, with holdovers Alvan Adams, Walter Davis, Paul Westphal and Don Buse.

Washington, the defending NBA champion, overpowered Atlanta 103-89 in their series opener, but the Hawks aren't ready to give up.

"They're an intimidating team because they're big," said Atlanta guard Armond Hill, "but we're not afraid of them." The Spurs have been in 11 playoff series in the franchise's history in Dallas and San Antonio, and have lost the last 10.

Last year they beat Washington 114-103 in their series opener, but the Bullets came back to take Game 2 and eventually win the series. So the Spurs, who clobbered Philadelphia 119-106 Sunday, are approaching Tuesday night's game with caution.

Indy To Be Slower

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Speeds might not come anywhere near Tom Sneva's record of more than 202 mph at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway this year, but the defending U.S. Auto Club national champion says it still should be an exciting show.

"You take 95 percent of the spectators, they don't know what kind of car you're running. They just know if the race is close and competitive," says Sneva. The lower speeds are anticipated because of a recent USAC rule change with reduced the manifold pressure for 8-cylinder engines.

"I think in the past we've seen that as we've restricted horsepower we've had better racing," Sneva said Monday in a telephone interview from his home at Spokane, Wash. "And we've got to be entertaining."

now," Sneva said. Sneva won the pole position last year at an average speed of 202.156 mph. He finished second in the race to Al Unser.

Forsch Stops LA With Five Hitter

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Now that Ken Forsch has pitched a no-hitter in the major leagues, he admits that he's thinking about pitching a second one.

"Sure, I'm thinking no-hitter," said the 32-year-old Houston right-hander Monday night. "I'm in the habit now. I'm thinking about it from the second inning on."

Forsch made the comments following his third victory without a loss this season, a 4-0 shutout over the slumping Los Angeles Dodgers.

Forsch hurled a no-hitter against Atlanta in his first start of the season April 7. Monday night, he went 4 2/3 innings before allowing the Dodgers' first hit, a single by Dusty Baker. In all, Forsch scattered five hits.

Afterwards, Forsch said he did not have his best stuff, explaining, "I didn't have a fastball until about the seventh inning and I had no curveball at all."

What he did have was an exceptional slider, which was enough to hand Los Angeles its sixth loss in seven games while the Astros, off to an 8-3 start, won their third in a row.

Houston got all the runs it needed against loser Don Sutton, 1-2, in the first inning on a walk, a triple by Jeff Leonard and a run-scoring single by Jose Cruz.

Sutton retired 15 Astros in a row during one stretch but then allowed two more runs in the eighth, driven in by Enos Cabell and Rafael Landestoy.

Meanwhile, Forsch permitted only one Dodger past second base as he struck out three and walked only one. He faced only the minimum until Baker got the first hit in the fifth inning. Rick Monday followed with a single, sending Baker to third, but Joe Ferguson popped out to end the only serious Los Angeles threat.

Los Angeles Manager Tom Lasorda said of the slump, "You hope each day we'll come out of it. These guys have played long enough to know there are slumps. I certainly haven't lost faith."

The major contributors to the Dodgers' slump are their key hitters, Steve Garvey and Ron Cey.

Cey is hitless in his last 16 atbats and Garvey, though he snapped a 0-for-13 skid with a seventh-inning single, has only one hit in his last 15 atbats.

The absence of Reggie Smith hasn't helped either. Smith who sprained his left knee last Tuesday night in Houston and has not played since, may not return to the Los Angeles lineup until Friday night.

Houston Manager Bill Virdon pointed to pitching as the key to his team's exceptional start.

"We've got a good, experienced starting staff and we're getting a lot of complete games," he said. "That's been the key."

Houston starters have recorded six complete games in the team's 11 outings. Los Angeles has one complete game in 12 starts.

Pitching tonight's second game of the three-game series will be Joe Niekro for Houston and Andy Messersmith for Los Angeles. Both have 1-1 records.

Start with more control. Finish with more cotton.

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Enlarged prostate?

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have a problem which I do not doubt shared by many others my age and I'd be interested in some comments on the subject. My problem is slow, pressureless urinating which has developed over the past few years and it seems to get slower and slower. No pain - just annoying. The urine's clear. I'm 70 years old and have a little high blood pressure and I take Diazide for that.

DEAR READER - It would help if you had signed your name or let me know whether you are male or female. It does make a difference when you start talking about your problem. I'm going to assume that you're a male and have a prostate gland.

The prostate gland encircles the urethral tube that drains the bladder. It's somewhat like a donut and the urethral tube goes through the hole in the donut. As you get older, the prostate gland either squeezes down or enlarges in such a way as to create pressure on the urethral tube.

It is this obstruction that causes a man to have difficulty in urination. It's a mechanical problem. The stream starts slowly, it often gets very small and sometimes it doesn't shut off completely. Most men who have lived to 70 years of age have such a problem.

The only way to find out whether the prostate gland is enlarged enough to cause you trouble is to have a good medical examination. If that's happened and there's too much obstruction, you can have an operation for it. Whether you should or should not depends entirely on how much obstruction has developed and that can be determined only by examination.

Your chances of dying from a heart attack or stroke are 50-50.

Sports 'Zebras' Endangered Species

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Bob Wortman of Findlay, Ohio, is one of an endangered species—sports "zebras". They wear striped shirts. They emit shrill, ear-splitting sounds from whistles they keep constantly clinked between their teeth. They are always on center stage, yet suffer from lack of identity. They are objects of unrelenting abuse.

They are officials. On the field of play, they are judge and jury. Their verdicts are final.

Now people are arguing they are expendable.

"The electric eye is far more probing and far more accurate," critics contend. "Electronic surveillance is the only way to decide crucial and controversial calls."

"It may come some day, but not in our lifetime," predicts Wortman, a 51-year-old insurance executive who moonlights as an official in both pro football and college basketball.

He is the only man ever to work both a National Football League Super Bowl and an NCAA basketball final. He also is a garbage man. He was in Augusta, Ga., over the weekend with a seven-man force from Ohio heading up the rubbish detail.

"Bob Settemire of our town was a close friend of an Augusta National committeeman," Wortman said. "Bob was asked to get up a few friends to supervise the job. It turned out to be great. We not only get to see a lot of great golf but we get to play some ourselves."

You wouldn't have seen the two Bobs out on the course spearing half-smoked cigarettes before they touched the ground. But, behind the scenes, they constituted part of the most efficient house-cleaning crew in the world.

The Masters' expansive terrain is kept as spotless as the carpet in the East Room at the White House.

Wortman's autumn and winter chores may not be as pheasant but they are equally exacting and many times more fraught with peril.

"After a football game or a basketball game it usually is the better point of valor to get off the field quickly and into the locker room," he said. "I would much rather be a live coward than a dead hero."

Wortman has been working NFL games for 14 years and college basketball for 11. He was one of the crew of Super Bowl V in 1972 and Super Bowl XII a year ago. He officiated the NCAA Kentucky-UCLA and Indiana-Michigan finals in 1975 and 1976.

"Basketball is much faster paced but it requires no more concentration," he said. "Football is much tougher mentally because almost every play in the minds of the coaches and the fans has some impact on the Super Bowl."

Wortman's views on electronic officiating are not based on a fear that the big eye threatens his off-season employment.

"It simply isn't feasible," he argues. "Visually or economically, I don't think fans want to see the human element taken out of a football, basketball or any other game."

Rossman May Need Surgery

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Surgery may be needed for a fracture which ended Mike Rossman's brief reign as World Boxing Association light-heavyweight champion, according to promoter Bob Arum of Top Rank.

Pain from the break kept Rossman from returning to the ring for the 1978 fight against Victor Torres of Argentina in Saturday night.

It is a very serious injury,

Arum said Saturday. He said the fracture is in the hand and extends from the base of the fourth finger to the first knuckle. Rossman's opponent, Torres, was scheduled to fight Rossman on Saturday night but the fight was postponed because of Rossman's injury.

Rossman, 27, is a former world champion in the welterweight division and has fought 14 world title fights. He is currently ranked No. 1 in the world in the light-heavyweight division.

Last Regular Ump Resigns

NEW YORK (AP)—"It was the easiest decision of my life," said American League umpire Ted Hendry, who has filed notice that he is terminating his contract to join his 51 non-working colleagues.

Hendry, a rookie umpire, had signed a contract with the AL before the current contract dispute began and was advised by the Major League Umpires Association to honor his agreement. He did until last weekend, when he decided to submit his resignation.

"I want to be with my brothers," said Hendry, who was greeted warmly by about a dozen umpires who attended a press conference called by attorney Richie Phillips.

Hendry said he was embarassed by the level of officiating he had seen during the two weeks he had worked. "I've been so humiliated," he said. "Most of the guys who are working don't want to work. They're scared. After one game, one of the umps I worked with told me a player had cursed him out and called him 'a homer.' I said, 'Why didn't you run him?' He said, 'You think I should have?' Hey, I've missed some in my time, but that one's easy."

Hendry worked last weekend in Oakland and said the ball and strike calls in Sunday's game between the A's and California Angels "were embarrassing."

Hendry and Paul Prior were the only umpires to sign 1979 contracts and begin the season on duty. Prior submitted his resignation the first week of the season. After a 10-day termination period, he completed his contractual obligations over the weekend. Hendry will work 10 days and then join the other umpires in the dispute.

Meanwhile, the umpires said they would escalate the conflict with baseball and Phillips said the Major League Players Association might become involved.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the players' association, said he had received some calls from players regarding the umpires' dispute and its effect on the outcome of games but that the association had not adopted a formal position on the situation.

Personally, I would say this," said Miller. "I have examined the salary schedule of the umpires and it looks standard to me. That's strictly a personal opinion. The fans and players deserve the best umpiring available and baseball ought to pay for it."

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bill Caulkins set a new American record in the 500-meter freestyle at the National Aquatics Championships in San Antonio Saturday.

Caulkins, 23, of the University of California at Berkeley, won the race in 24:44.4, breaking the record of 25:11.4 set by Bill Wenzel of Michigan in 1964.

Wenzel, who won the gold medal at the 1968 Olympics, was in the pool for the 500-meter race but did not compete because of a shoulder injury.

Caulkins' time was a new American record and also a new world record for the 500-meter freestyle.

The race was the first of the 1979 World Aquatics Championships in San Antonio. The championships will continue through Sunday.

Rodgers Wins Boston Marathon

BOSTON (AP)—Hometown hero Bill Rodgers, the superstar marathoner with a fiery will to win, has renewed his claim to the elusive title as the world's top runner of the grueling road race.

In a tribute that third win, the 31-year-old former school teacher said Monday after wearing down Japan's Yoshihiko Seko to set an American record in winning the 89th Boston Marathon. "I didn't want someone to take it away from me," he said.

The 5-foot-9, 128-pounder from Melrose, Mass., ran away from Seko in the final 10 miles.

Heartbreak Hill, the last of the three Boston events in 2 hours 40 minutes, 27 seconds. It took the U.S. record he set in 1977, winning his first Boston race in 2:09:55.

The victory made Rodgers 45 seconds over Seko with a near-broke-down, 10-mile sprint through cold rain. Rodgers won the 1978 race in 2:10:13 by only two seconds over Jeff Wells of Dallas in the closest 20-mile, 385-yard event on record.

Seko, a 23-year-old college student in Japan, and the winner of the Fukuoka International Marathon in his homeland last December, ran with Rodgers for 20 miles before his legs went numb in the effort of a brutal series of hills in Newton, Mass.

Rodgers, who has won the Rock 'n' Roll race along with back-to-back victories in New York City's young but prestigious marathon, was beaten by Seko last December.

On the run from rustic Hopkinton to Boston, Rodgers said athletes tend to get overconfident, explaining, "You have to restrain yourself. And you have to make your move at the right time."

For the victorious Connecticut native, now operator of a running store located along the Boston Marathon route, that charge came as Seko was struggling uphill.

Rodgers blasted 15 yards ahead on the big incline and widened his lead. Police escorted motorcycles had to move quickly to stay ahead of the hard-driving champion.

whose goal is to win an Olympic gold medal at the Moscow Olympics.

Seko, 23, of the University of Tokyo, had a 2:10:12, 27 seconds, behind Rodgers, a veteran Boston Track Club stabilizer, and Rodgers in 2:12:30. Veteran Jim Fleming of Boston and Neil Walker of Boston runner up, was the early pacemaker in the record field of more than 2,800 qualified runners, but he lost to fourth-place Burkhard J. Meinhart, 39, of Germany, who was fifth in 2:13:14, as a remarkable 84 runners finished the race in under 2:30, a time that would have been good enough to win the Boston race three years ago.

Rounding out the top 10, New Zealand's Kevin Moran, 2:14:07, Bobby Decker, 2:14:30, and Rick Little, 2:14:44, followed. Wells, 2:15:11, and Jimmie Mackinnon, 2:15:12, rounded out the top 10. Wells, who won the 1978 Boston Marathon, was 2:15:11, and Jimmie Mackinnon, 2:15:12, rounded out the top 10.

The race was the first of the 1979 World Aquatics Championships in San Antonio. The championships will continue through Sunday.

Benoit Claims Women's Title

BOSTON (AP)—Jean Benoit, the women's champion of the Boston Marathon, emerged from the locker room after the race and charged that male proponents keep her out of the 1980 Olympics.

"I think women are doing anything they want at any distance," asserted the 21-year-old Bowdoin College senior.

The Olympic Committee is ridiculous not allowing women to run longer.

Under current Olympic rules, the 1,500-meter race, which is run in 4:30, is the longest women's race.

Benoit, 21, of Bowdoin College, won the Boston Marathon in 2:44:30, a new American record. She was 45 seconds ahead of the runner-up, Lynn Cartwright, 2:49:00.

Benoit, who is a member of the U.S. women's national team, said she was disappointed that she was not allowed to compete in the 1980 Olympics.

"I think women are doing anything they want at any distance," asserted the 21-year-old Bowdoin College senior.

The Olympic Committee is ridiculous not allowing women to run longer.

Lynn Continues Homerun Assault

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

While Fred Lynn continues to crack pitches, Toby Harrah is just happy to break the ice.

"I've been hitting the ball hard all year and coming up with nothing," said the Cleveland Indian third baseman after finally seeing one of his shots turn into something.

Harrah hit a two-run homer Monday to help the Indians take a 4-3 decision over the Boston Red Sox.

"It was just a matter of time," added Harrah, who incidentally accounted for his team's first homer of the year as well.

The same might have been said of Rick Wise, who won his first game of the season with a loss.

"It's been a long time coming," noted Wise. "I'm just grateful."

Lynn, meanwhile, continued his homerun assault, hitting the fifth of the young season's 10 off Cleveland pitching.

In other American League games, the Detroit Tigers beat the Kansas City Royals 7-4, the Chicago White Sox stopped the Toronto Blue Jays 8-4 and the Oakland A's beat the Seattle Mariners 4-2.

Harrah's two-run shot was a three-run fifth that provided the Indians with their winning margin. Wise surrendered six hits before getting relief help from Sid Munge in the seventh.
