

Texas Residents Brace for Continued Flooding

By The Associated Press
Jefferson County residents along the Neches River have piled more than 55,000 sandbags near their homes hoping to hold back the river's expected record crest of 12 feet today.

And south of Sam Houston National Forest the Trinity River, swelling from the overflow of Lake Livingston, was expected to crest at 29 feet today.

No rain was forecast until mid-week, but feeder creeks and streams in north Liberty County continued to rise. In Hardin and Jefferson Counties, however, water levels were slowly inching back to riverbeds.

Muddy water still swirled through many homes in the Cook's Lake Road area near Pine Island Bayou and residents figure it will be 2 to 3 days before they can return home.

"My house is 4 1/2 feet off the ground, lady, and I had 2 feet of water in my house Sunday," said Buddy Spell, who built his home near Clear Lake Bridge in 1948.

Liberty County Judge Dempsey Henley said at least 4,000 residents would be affected by the flooding.

"These people are prepared for this," said Liberty County Sheriff C.L. "Buck" Eckols. "We haven't had any people stranded because these people help each other."

Hardin County Judge Ray Hardin said between 2,000 and 3,000 homeowners would be eligible for low-interest federal loans to repair flood damage. More than 28,000 sandbags held back water from the swollen Pine Island Bayou, where more than 150,000 gallons of water flowed over the spillway each second when the bayou crested Sunday.

The small city of Cleveland in Trinity County also geared for an expected 29-foot crest of the Trinity River today.

As Village Creek flowed past its banks from the Pine Island Bayou, about 60 families were evacuated Sunday. Hardin County Sheriff Billy Paine said it would be 2 to 3 days before Village Creek, Massey Lake and Willard Lake residents could return home.

Major flooding also has been reported in the Romayor and Moss Bluff areas of North Liberty County. Pinewood resident David Marler said he and his Jefferson County neighbors almost welcomed the water into their homes.

"There was so much tension from watching it come up so slow, that we were all getting grumpy," Marler said.

And if the murky water inches into their communities has not created enough problems for Southeast Texas residents, snakes seeking drier ground and looters looking for an easy profit plague homeowners and law enforcement officers.

"Looters just lie in wait for the people to get out," Eckols said. "They (looters) come out all over and we just can't get back up there to catch them."

But Beaumont residents along the Neches River chased water moccasins who crawled up from the swampy areas near their homes.

"They're killing snakes, but they can't get them all," said Arthur Bell, a self-described "modern day Noah." "They've (the snakes) got uncles and brothers."

"But any snake that bites me will be wrong. It'll be dead."

House To Approve State Funding Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A $20.3 billion two-year state budget bill that would spend far more than Gov. Bill Clements wants has won preliminary House approval, 93-49.

The House takes a final vote - a formality - today.

Next stop for the massive bill to keep state government operating in 1980-81 is the Senate, which has yet to debate its own version.

After the Senate passes its bill, a House-Senate conference committee will try to blend the differing spending ideas of the two chambers into a single measure.

Clements will get the final shot and has threatened to veto a general appropriation bill that fails to leave over a sizeable amount for use in cutting property taxes.

The House bill exceeds Clements' budget recommendations by more than $500 million.

It leaves for tax relief, school finance or other expenditures only $261 million.

Another $269 million is "on the table" for spending but has essentially been committed by legislative leaders for use in avoiding an automatic rise in local school taxes next fall.

The left over dollars would have totaled far less had not representatives voted 76-67 for a 2 percent across-the-board cut in most spending items. That added $200 million to the amount "on the table."

Already in the bill was another rider automatically reducing nearly all appropriation items by 2 percent.

House members needed the cuts because in four days of debate they eagerly had added new spending items to the bill written by the House Appropriations Committee.

An amendment Monday upped the pay raises for state employees from 5.1 percent to 7 percent annually, but only on the first $20,000 of salary.

That means a $40,000 executive would get the same $1,400 raise as a $20,000 middle management bureaucrat.

"I have some connection with business," said Rep. Buddy Temple, D-Diboll, whose family's interests

Clements Vows: More Control To Stay Issue

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements says one rebuff in the Senate will not make him give up his fight to give Texas governors more financial control over state agencies.

By a three-vote margin, senators took Clements' budget execution plans off the Senate debate calendar Monday. The vote was 18-13, with 21 votes needed for continued debate.

"I'm terribly disappointed," Clements said a few minutes later. "I had anticipated it would come out in good order. But I assure you I am not going to let it drop."

Sen. Ike Harris, R-Dallas, author of the proposed constitutional amendment that would let governors reduce, as well as veto, separate appropriations made by the legislature, said he would try again before the end of the session, May 28.

"Of course, it's obvious I've got to talk with some people and chance some minds," he said.

Harris said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby laid the measure out for the debate vote Monday after Hobby and Clements talked last week about the governor's program.

"It's obvious the governor wanted the Senate to take a run at it at this time," Harris said.

Sen. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, said Clements' demand for more control of the budget was "probably the most insidious proposal we will have so far as constitutional amendments are concerned." He said the governor could totally undermine the Legislature's intent, for example taking away money set aside for community based correction facilities.

Brooks said he decided budget execution by a chief executive was not a good idea after former President Richard

Carter Says Defeat of Proposal Would Jack Oil Company Profits

WASHINGTON (AP) - Sentiment is building in Congress for a windfall profits tax on oil revenues, but President Carter fears the ultimate beneficiaries will be the oil companies.

Carter said Monday opponents of his proposal to divert additional oil profits to new energy-related programs are trying to pull off a "charade" that will create $4 billion to $5 billion in more oil company profits.

The president has announced he will use his administrative authority to decontrol oil prices beginning June 1 and is urging Congress to approve a windfall profits tax to help exploit new energy sources, fund mass transit and help the poor pay rising utility and fuel bills.

His play would levy 50 percent tax on new revenues that result from decontrols. The proposed tax has met with a mixed reception in the House and Senate, but Carter said opponents have begun a campaign "to hoodwink the American people by passing a windfall profits tax that is in fact a charade."

Carefully avoiding any opponents' names, Carter said in a speech before the National Academy of Sciences that he anticipates efforts to pass an amendment that would "kickback" to the companies $4 billion to $5 billion on top of the estimated $6 billion they would realize in extra profits under his plan.

Such a plowback proposal would require companies to turn added profits to discovering new oil fields or developing existing reserves. Sen. Russell Long, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and a key influence on tax matters, has said he would favor a windfall profits levy, but only after sufficient time elapses to see how oil producers use higher profits from decontrols.

An aide to the Louisiana Democrat said the senator would not comment on Carter's speech.

Meanwhile, the idea of a windfall profits tax received a boost from different sides of the aisle - Senate Minority Leader Howard Baker and Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the Senate Energy Committee.

Baker said the president "can have the windfall profits tax for the asking...I'm hard-pressed to find anyone who's opposed to it."

"The president should not blame Congress, however, for windfall profits to the oil companies. This is backwards," Jackson said.

Farm Prices Peaking, USDA Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department's chief economist says he thinks farm prices, after setting record highs four months running, may be "close to their peak for the year."

If the statistical indications that produced that view are valid, average prices at the farm for all food and fiber producers could hold steady "well into 1980," Howard W. Hjort told newspaper farm editors Monday at their annual meeting.

"Meat prices may have peaked," as well, Hjort said.

The Agriculture Department is holding to its prediction of an 8 percent to 10 percent rise in retail food prices this year, but the outlook now "is closer to 10," Hjort said.

Farm prices last month averaged 23 percent higher than a year ago. Because they fluctuate so much, farm prices in one month aren't considered a solid indicator of retail food price trends.

Records show farm prices do have an impact over several months, however, despite the fact that processors and other "middlemen" account for 60 percent of

Absentee Voting To End Today

Absentee voting for Saturday's Hereford Independent School District trustee election ends at 5 p.m. today in the school tax office.

Sixty-nine persons had voted by 5 p.m. Monday, possibly forecasting "a good turnout Saturday," Fred Fox, tax assessor-collector, said.

Incumbents James Gentry, Clark Andrews, Mack Tubb and Jim Arney are seeking re-election. Ernestina Tijerina, Elida B. Alonza and Sylvia Mae Wallace are other candidates.

Voters may select four candidates or fewer, according to the rules of an at-large election. The top four vote getters will be elected.

"If we can get 15 or 20 more today, I think we'll have a good turnout Saturday," Fox said.

More than 2,000 voted in the April 7 election of three trustees.

AAM Lauds 'Grass Roots' Input

Maintaining "grass roots" input into the American Agriculture Movement remained a topic of concern during a special AAM "skull session" held in Panhandle Sunday afternoon.

While a portion of the gathering of farmers on hand for the meeting indicated their support for an officially organized, dues-supported AAM, others maintained that the identity of the farmer must be maintained, and that farmers must be involved in any decision making process.

"AAM is dead without some sort of national organization. It's time we quit fighting among ourselves and get something done," commented Ralph Roming of Friona.

"I've had people tell me personally that if we'd get our act together, quit chasing rabbits, quit chasing quail, quit double plowing and set ourselves a goal, then they would come through with some money to support AAM," he continued.

Jerome Friemel of Hereford reminded the gathering that the organization issue will be resolved after information from across the state is presented at the AAM convention later this year.

"This is going to be decided on the grass roots level. Whether we organize or how we organize will have to be decided by everyone," commented Friemel.

Proposed dues ranging from $25 per farmer to $500 each were discussed during the session, with a third proposal involving a base rate of $50 and an additional assessment of 10 cents per acre in production.

AAM is currently supported by contributions from area individuals and businesses, and members pay their own expenses to state conventions and other movement meetings.

"There's not necessarily anything right about it, but without money to lobby and buy votes, we can't get anywhere. It's not right, but we're talking about

Postmaster-Philatelist Pushes Stamps

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Nolan Grady was forced into stamp collecting, but the Hereford postmaster, whose job makes the hobby a natural, now takes pride in his assortment of U.S. commemoratives.

"I'm what you call a casual collector. I'm not really a bonafide stamp collector. I just like to add various and sundry stamps to my collection whenever they become available," said Grady, who has worked at the Hereford Post Office for 31 years, 18 as postmaster.

Four years ago, Brady's Amarillo boss-the sectional center manager-told him he would be the philatelic coordinator for the region.

"At that time, I knew nothing about stamp collecting, so I borrowed a book from Milton Adams about stamp collecting. I read it, and a few days later I was sent to a training conference in Oklahoma City. There, I got to work with Mr. Weinberg from Dallas. He was 74-years-old then and had been collecting since he was an early child. His collection was worth 3 1/2 million dollars," Grady said.

Of course, the U.S. Postal Service has an ulterior motive in assigning certain postmasters as philatelic coordinators, Grady said.

"We have very few cents invested in a sheet of stamps," he said. "If we can sell a sheet of 50 commemorative stamps, we'll have a margin of profit that exceeds 95 percent. Any business in town would give their eye teeth for that kind of profit."

But, that's not the only reason he talks to schoolkids about stamp collecting and pulls out his displays to show those visiting his office.

"I feel it's a good hobby for our young people to become involved in-it's entertaining and educational. A survey showed that students who started collecting by the fourth, fifth and sixth grade and stayed with it invariably ended up in the top five percent of their graduating class," Grady said.

"I wasn't a stamp collector as a kid. And I didn't end up in the top five percent."

As postmaster, Grady's regular duties include the management of 29 employees-11 city carriers, five rural postmen, 10 clerks, a star route carrier, a maintenance man and his superintendent.

As one might expect, a big part of his job is handling complaints. The most

Pickup Crash

Kills 8, Injures 4

CROFTON, Md. (AP) - A pickup truck carrying 12 young people on a dark, isolated stretch of rural road crashed into trees and overturned, killing eight persons and injuring the others, police said.

Four males and four females in their mid-teens to early 20s were killed and three males and a female were injured - two critically, according to reports from hospital officials.

"It was quite a tragic thing," said Sgt. Richard Smith of the Anne Arundel County police.

Officials were trying to sort through personal items of the Monday night accident victims in an effort to identify them.

"It's a major problem trying to find out who's who," Smith said.

The bodies and the injured persons were at five separate hospitals today.

Seven persons died in the crash, officers said. A 15-year-old boy died on the operating table early today at the University of Maryland's Shock Trauma Unit, according to hospital spokeswoman Marianna Herschel.

8 Nuclear Plants

May Be Shut Down

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is considering a suggestion to order temporary shutdown of eight nuclear power plants sharing design features with the stricken reactor at Three Mile Island.

NRC Chairman Joseph M. Hendrie said he anticipates a decision today or Wednesday after further consultation with industry officials.

Only four of the eight plants now are operating - Rancho Seco in California and three Oconee units in South Carolina. But such an order could mean continued shutdown of four other units now out of service for refueling or safety checks - Three Mile Island Unit 1 in Pennsylvania, sister reactor to the one stricken; Arkansas Unit 1 in Arkansas; Davis-Besse in Ohio; and Crystal River in Florida.

If the commission follows the recommendations of some staff members, the plants could be out of service up to a month and reduce electric-generating capacity in the East to an uncomfortably thin reserve margin, NRC officials said.

Idaho Court Battle

Could Doom ERA

BOISE, Idaho (AP) - Idaho officials are girding for a court battle that legal scholars say could reshape the Constitutional amendment process and doom the proposed Equal Rights Amendment.

Idaho's legislature approved the ERA in 1972 but rescinded that approval in 1977.

With bipartisan support from Gov. John Evans, congressmen and senators, Attorney General David Leroy says he will challenge federal contentions that a state cannot rescind approval of an amendment. He says he also will challenge Congress' right to extend the ERA's ratification period from the original cutoff date of March 22, 1979, to 1982.

"Our objective is to better define the rights, authorities and processes for state legislatures concerning the processes of amending the Constitution," Leroy said. "This will be a landmark case. It has monumental consequences concerning the federal relationship between the states and Congress."

Leroy said he planned to file his suit in U.S. District Court in Boise within the next few weeks.

'Greedy Kid' Bill

Passed by Committee

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Senate Finance Committee has decided to at least "embarrass" Texans who try to make their parents eligible for welfare by acquiring their property.

Such transfers would make it appear the parents had virtually no financial resources.

The committee voted unanimously Monday to require Texans to disclose recent transfers of money and property in completing forms to become eligible for nursing home care financed by the state and federal government.

Sen. Tom Creighton attributed the tactics to "greedy kids who are trying to capture the family inheritance by placing old people on the welfare rolls at the taxpayers' expense."

Sen. Bill Meier, D-Eules, asked Legislative Budget Board staffers if the Legislature could require Texans to submit affidavits on the ownership of property.

"You can require anything you want to," Meier was advised.

"Under oath?"

"If it's not under oath, it's not worth the paper it was printed on," said Meier.

politics and surviving," stated Friemel.

Ted Godfrey of Spearman urged a continued high level of support.

"We've got to be willing to keep paying what we are now. Dues of $50 or $100 won't let us do all the things we want to do. We'll end up having to cut back," he claimed.

Also discussed in Sunday's session was a proposal being considered by legislators in 14 grain-producing states to study grain marketing procedures.

Friemel reported that the measure, known as the grain marketing compact, will be activated upon approval by five state legislatures.

"Prices for grain are determined by the U.S. Trade Commission, but that could change with the adoption of the compact," said Friemel.

"In the new plan, decisions will be made by the Interstate Grain Compact Commission, composed of one senator, one representative and one grain producer appointed by the governor," he explained.

Clements

Nixon impounded funds that Congress had appropriated.

"This merely allows the governor to reduce line items in the general appropriation bill," said Harris, R-Dallas. "He already has the power to veto such separate items."

Harris said his proposed constitutional amendment also would allow the governor to veto riders or special provisions in the state spending bill, which already are questioned by many legal sources.

"This just means the governor can just go in there with a pencil and rewrite the whole bill," protested Sen. Bill Patman, D-Ganado.

Sen. Bob Vales, D-San Antonio, said the measure made no provision for the Legislature to be called back into session to consider overriding the governor's veto if the veto was made after the Legislature adjourned.

Another portion of Harris's measure would authorize the Legislature to let either the governor or a committee headed by the governor exercise fiscal control over agency appropriations according to conditions and limitations laid down by the Legislature.

If approved by two-thirds of the legislature, the proposed constitution change by Harris would be put to voters on Nov. 4, 1980.

The Senate refused for the second time this session to debate Sen. Roy Blake's bill denying unemployment benefits for certain persons who quit their jobs or who are discharged for reasons such as embezzling or gross misconduct.

Blake needed 21 votes and got only 18. The first time Blake tried to bring the bill up he got only 13.

Since January 1978, Blake said, the state, counties, cities and school districts have been covered by the unemployment compensation law and pay dollar-for-dollar for benefits awarded unemployed workers.

"I have been told by an official of the Dallas Independent School District that their estimated loss in 1979 will exceed $650,000 and will result in an increase in their tax rate of 2 cents per $100 valuation," said Blake, D-Nacogdoches. "My bill does not impose any hardship on those who are unemployed through no fault of their own but would simply eliminate some of the abuse."

House members, besieged over the weekend with telephone calls from nursing home administrators, voted 85-53 to pile on another $86 million in Medicaid payments to nursing homes.

Rep. Bob David, R-Irving, sitting in for Speaker Bill Clayton, who suffered all day from hoarseness, upheld points of order knocking out two controversial riders.

One would have prohibited the Texas Department of Human Resources from spending money on abortions or for purposes - such as counseling - that might lead to abortions.

The other told state university administrators that the Legislature meant for them to use all reasonable and legal means to keep homosexual organizations off-campus.

Davis said in both cases the riders were unconstitutional attempts to enact general law through the state budget.

There were some fireworks as the appropriations debate neared its end.

Rep. Milton Fox, R-Houston, tried to take $2 million from the Texas Commission on the Arts and Humanities and give most of it to two predominantly black universities - Texas Southern and Prairie View A&M.

"This is a gut check amendment. We are going to see whether or not you can stand the heat," said Fox.

He assailed lobbying by the "blue blocs" on the commission for tax money and contended most were so rich that "they could raise this kind of money out of their loose change."

But black legislators expressed outrage at the tradeout Fox was seeking.

Rep. Clay Smothers, D-Dallas, accused

Fox of insincerity, called his proposal a "Br'er Rabbit amendment" and asserted: "We don't want these kinds of handouts."

"Racism and bigotry can wear some strange clothes," Fox replied.

Fox's amendment was tabled, 107-32. Also tabled were two attempts - one at 18 million followed by a $6 million proposal - to buy the 212,000 Anderson ranch in the Big Bend Country for the state.

Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong has sought the money for more than four years as an opportunity to preserve a unique and beautiful piece of wilderness.

Rep. Bennie Bock II, D-New Braunfels, a late convert to the Anderson Ranch purchase, called the ranch "a natural wonder" that would repay the state's investment many times over.

Clerk Reports Theft of Gasoline

A clerk at Allsup's No. 112, N. 25 Mile Ave., reported Monday afternoon that a black male purchased one quart of oil and $3 worth of gas, then put $5.97 worth into his tank and drove away.

Mrs. John Heard, 427 Sunset, Apt. B, told police that she was in her yard working around 7:30 p.m. Monday when she noticed a Mexican or Mexican-American male walking into her house.

According to police, she told the man to leave the house. He left and did not return.

Cecil Williams, 507 Lawton, said that someone pried off a bedroom screen, entered his house between 6 and 9 p.m. Sunday and stole $160 from a wallet. Police are investigating the burglary.

Police arrested a man on a driving while intoxicated charge at 1:04 a.m. today in the 300 block of Ave. B. Around 1:30 p.m., police arrested a man for public intoxication in the same block.

Officers noticed open doors at Southwestern Public Service Co. and Thriftway early this morning. Both doors apparently were left open by accident.

Police received a call concerning two possible truants at Allsup's No. 112, N. 25 Mile Ave., Monday afternoon. No children were found by police at the convenience store.

A report of children playing in the intersection of Oak and W. Park Ave. also was unfounded, according to police.

Police received a call of a loud motorcycle in the 200 block of Funston Monday. Investigating officers cited the rider for operating a motor vehicle without registration.

Other tickets issued Monday included five for speeding, two for no driver's licenses and one for exhibition of acceleration.

When Is Old Enough To Drink?

There is no more flagrant affront to our school age sons and daughters than the practice of their parents putting an "X" on a movie.

Presumably that "X" says that until you become "X" age the movie is dirty.

Come now-if it's filth it's filth. It has nothing to do with how old or young you and I and they may happen to be.

Our discerning offspring readily recognize such hypocrisy for what it is.

Now we come to the question of an arbitrary drinking age for young people.

Today's average teen-ager is taller, healthier, handsomer and smarter than the average of any preceding generation.

But his judgment has not matured at the same rate. Physiologically and biologically he is older than it used to be but the maturing of juvenile "judgment" has not kept pace.

This we can demonstrate with teen-age divorce statistics, with narcotics misuse statistics and with comparative automobile accident statistics.

That is why automobile accident insurance costs more for those under 21. Enough of them have demonstrated that their "judgment" does not yet match their driving skill.

Young people badgered politicians to lower the voting age of 1971 and thereafter demonstrated a singular disinterest in voting.

Many states promptly lowered the drinking age also.

But automobile accidents involving young drinking drivers escalated so rapidly that five states have now increased the legal drinking age and two others are about to.

Last March Chicago re-raised the legal drinking age to 21 in response to increased accidents and increased drink-related vandalism.

Dr. Henry Betts of the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago presented to the city's aldermen convincing evidence that auto accidents involving teen-agers had increased 33 percent since the drinking age was lowered.

To those who argue that our Army accepts teen-agers, Dr. Betts responded, "They may or may not be good fighters; I don't know about that. But I've patched up enough broken bodies to know they are lousy drivers and drinkers."

Under the new law anybody selling booze to anybody under 21 can lose his liquor license.

Fourteen states never did lower the drinking age.

Fifteen states continue to allow 18-year-olds to buy liquor.

A comparison of accident statistics between the "wet" and "dry" states dramatically corroborates the cause-effect relationship.

One of the goofy inconsistencies which remains in most all states-affecting accidents involving drivers of all ages-is that laws are passed against drinking drivers.

Then taverns are put out on highways where the only way to get to or home from one is in a car.

Branding

common is misdelivering the mail-putting it in the wrong boxes. He also continually hears gripes about the cost of stamps and late mail.

"I received a customer complaint not too long ago about a carrier badly misdelivering the mail. I personally went out and checked over 350 mailboxes that afternoon. Of 129 still contained 486 pieces of mail I found only one piece of misdelivered mail. The letter had hung under the flap of the letter on top of it," Grady said.

"Our people are human and make mistakes like anybody else, but I believe our efficiency meets or exceeds any other business in the community."

Grady said the Hereford Post Office meets its "origination-destination"-getting a letter from writer to reader-goal 95 percent of the time.

"We continually monitor our service. In doing so, we complete an origination-destination test where we pick every 10th piece of mail going to a particular route. We record the date of mailing, the place of mailing, and the information is fed into the computer. We have consistently exceeded our goals."

About the ever-rising cost of postage, Grady compared it to the price of hamburgers.

"I can still remember the day when hamburgers went from five cents to 10 cents in Hereford. At that time, it cost three cents to mail a letter. Hamburgers have gone up about 20 times, so postage should be approximately 60 cents a letter if you use the comparison.

"Postage in the United States is cheaper than any other free nation."

Grady, 51, has lived in Hereford since he was a young child. He worked for Santa Fe Railway and served in the Navy before coming to the post office as a part-time employee. He worked 13 years as a postal clerk before his promotion to postmaster.

Grady and his wife, Vida, a registered nurse and supervisor at Deaf Smith General Hospital have raised four children.

Prices

retail grocery prices.

Hjort cautioned that the inklings he has about meat prices at the farm being at or near a peak will not mean any significant slowing of the escalation in retail beef prices, which are not expected to drop for two or three years, when rebuilt herds start going to slaughter.

Moreover, he was talking about is a statisticians' index covering beef, veal, pork, lamb and poultry - weighted by their rank in the meat supply - rather than for a specific meat such as beef.

Hjort said a heavy influx of pork into the market recently sent hog prices down from around $55 per 100 pounds to about $45 a hundredweight, contributing to an overall slackening in the meat price index.

Increases in the chicken supply also are offsetting higher beef, he added.

Hjort said consumer demand for meat probably will continue to be strong, despite the higher prices and preliminary signs that over-all meat consumption in the first three months of 1979 dropped by 1.5 pounds per person.

Personal after-tax income continues to rise by about 11 percent or 12 percent a year and the population is growing enough to offset the per-capita consumption drop, he explained.

In the first three months of this year, he said, consumers spent 4.8 percent of their after-tax income on meat. Government statistics show that's the second-lowest share on record.

Responding to other questions from the writers, Hjort said that a much-discussed "wheat cartel" among the United States and other major grain exporters "would be a disaster for the Great Plains of the United States."

Hjort said markedly higher wheat prices, the aim of a cartel, would encourage many other countries to produce the grain in competition with U.S. growers and some customers to turn from wheat to rice for their food grains.

Clinic Participants

The Khiva clowns from Amarillo entertained while doctors from throughout the state examined during the 23rd annual Oasis Shrine Club Children's Diagnostic Clinic Saturday at Hereford Medical and Surgical Clinic. Handicapped children of all ages visited the clinic for free examinations, according to Shriner Marvin Swanson. There were 27 kids attending the clinic, according to Swanson, who termed it a success. [Brand photo by Paul Sims]

Blood Donors Needed Here

Local residents are reminded that donors are needed to report to the Community Center from 3-6 p.m. Wednesday because Hereford's blood debt stands at 442 pints.

Joan Bookout, chairman of the local blood drive, has asked that local citizens make a special effort to give blood this month in order to defray the following accounts:

Gertrude White, owing 8 pints; Wanda Norvell, 44 pints; Bill Bookout, 4 pints; Anna Carthel, 44 pints; Cirilla Villa, 41 pints; Helen Early, 8 pints; O.H. Culpepper, 24 pints; Bill Lookingbill, 54 pints; Pauline Kropff, 8 pints; George Funk, 12 pints; Ray Solomon, 4 pints; Alvin Hghes, 8 pints; Manuella Mancha, 8 pints; Gladys Lair, 16 pints; Margaret Spande (deceased), 8 pints; Gladys Lair, 16 pints; Margaret Woods, 8 pints; Melvin Betzen, 12 pints; B.L. Hund, 8 pints; David Sumrow (deceased), 80 pints; O.B. Southern (deceased), 20 pints; Maria Guerrero, 16 pints; Laura Milburn (deceased), 12 pints; and Annie Cummings, 8 pints. Gifts of blood may be designated for one of the above accounts, the general pool or blood insurance.

Speaker Examines Family Stability

Family stability and communications were discussed Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Tony Hoffman for members of North Hereford Extension Homemakers Club, who met in her home.

Introduced by the program chairman Peg Hoff, Mrs. Hoffman outlined several aspects which undermine family stability. She shared personal observations in her own family life and invited the audience to share their views.

In examining communications within the family unit, Mrs. Hoffman emphasized that communications are not just words, but involves facial expression, the tone of voice, eye contact, and body language. She stated that all of these elements have a bearing on family life.

After the program, club president Roberta Campbell called the business session to order. She gave a brief synopsis of the program on family communications held Thursday morning by Westway and Progressive EH Clubs. The keynote speaker was Ann Brown of Canyon.

In other business, members selected Naomi Brisendine as their nominee for delegate to the state TEHA meeting to be held in September at Fort Worth.

Members congratulated Mrs. Hoffman on the arrival of a new granddaughter born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Steven Hoffman.

The club's next meeting is scheduled May 3 in the home of Mrs. Martin Wagner.

Other members attending the recent meeting were Mmes. W.J. Lueb, Lilah Grubb and Brisendine.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I really get ticked off at all this flap over the '40s being nostalgic.

How can they be nostalgic when I remember them?

As for the fashions of the '40s coming back, if I were asked to pick an era of clothes to bring back, the '40s would be my LAST choice.

We all dressed like we were going to a war. Our jackets looked like they hung from curtain rods, our skirts were pencil slim, and our shoes reflected our shortage of leather and good sense. Not necessarily in that order.

If there is anything I must protest, it is the resurrection of the hat. Some fashions are better off left buried. They make as much sense as Bette Midler when she appeared at an Emmy ceremony wearing a 45 r.p.m. tacked to the side of her head.

For those of you have never endured a Millinery age, allow me to fill you in.

For the choice of hats of the '40s narrowed to (a) pillbox, (b) pillbox with a veil. The (a) pillbox defied gravity and was attached to the back of your head by a large hatpin which hooked into your scalp. Any hair left under it turned brown and died.

The hat matched your gloves, purse and shoes. If it didn't your mother made you go back into the house and change.

The (b) pillbox with a veil set yet another tone. If you had good skin, the veil covered it. If you had a bad skin, he veil called attention to it.

The veil was not conducive to sneezing, scratching, yawning, talking, kissing or picking something out of your teeth with your tongue. The least movement set it off. Once when I took a deep breath of boredom, I nearly inhaled my hat.

The hat is not in the interest of most women. Most of us need all the help from hair we can get. I only remember one instance when I was wearing my pillbox that I got a whistle from anyone. A tall, dark Marine whistled at me and asked me to store his bag. He thought I was a bellhop.

That's really all I can remember about the '40s. After all, I was only a toddler at the time.

Current Fashions

For Terrific Looks

COLLEGE STATION -- Use current fashions to emphasize best features for a "terrific" look, a clothing specialist, Becky Culp, recommends.

Current slimmer lines add fewer apparent pounds than previously popular tiers, ruffles and other extra gathered yardage, she points out.

Select sharp vertical seams, slits, single pleats and prints for added apparent height.

Ms. Culp is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Sharp horizontal details add width and shorten. Use them to balance the figure for a more symmetrical look.

For example, use popular shoulder fullness to blance a wider hipline, she suggests.

Mute dark or cool colors and small scale prints are slenderizing.

Bright, light or warm colors and large scale prints advance and add apparent pounds.

Cool colors include blue, green and purple while warm colors are red, orange and yellow, the specialist explains.

GROWING FOR FUTURE IN 4-H FORESTRY

CHICAGO - One-third of the total land area in the United States is forested - about 718 million out of a total of 2,264 million acres.

Unlike some of our natural resources, forests are renewable. Managed wisely, they will continue to provide wood and fiber products, jobs and recreation for future generations.

One of the key objectives of the national 4-H forestry program is to teach young people practical skills in forest management and utilization of forest products.

Under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service and with the support of International Paper Company, 4-H member 9-19 learn-by-doing about wise forestry practices. Projects and activities include planting trees from seeds or seedlings, harvesting timber, protecting forests from fire, and becoming familiar with tools of the forest.

4-H'ers learn to appreciate the importance of the nation's woodlands as a source of income, raw materials and enjoyment necessary for quality living. And they explore career opportunities in forestry and related fields.

International Paper recognizes the outstanding accomplishments of 4-H forestry program members with a full schedule of awards: $1,000 scholarships for six national winners, an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress for one winner per state, and four medals of honor at the county level. Winners are chosen by the Cooperative Extension Service.

The company also assists in the development of educational materials for members and leaders in the 4-H forestry program, and underwrites costs of three national workshops.

The forestry program is arranged by National 4-H Council, a nonprofit serving 4-H. National forestry winners are honored at the 57th National 4-H Congress in Chicago Nov. 26-30. More information is available from county extension agents.

MRS. OWEN ANDREWS

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roy Burges went to Springfield, Mo. Sunday, to see their children, Rocky and Vivian Andrews and the new baby born to them Easter Sunday. The little boy, weighing 3 pounds and seven ounces, has been named Jamie Dean. Vivian was to be released from the Cox Medical Center at Springfield the last of the week, but young Jamie was expected to remain awhile longer. The Andrews live on Route One, Carthage, Mo.

Mrs. B.H. Baldwin recently visited her daughters, Mrs. Wes Earp at Denton and Mrs. Ben Dean of Dallas and their families. She and the Eugene Baldwins had attended a music recital in Lubbock in which her granddaughter, Joy Earp Crane participated. She is a music major at Tech and the recital was part of her requirement for the degree, which she expects to receive this summer.

The Eugene Baldwins and Mrs. Baldwin also recently attended a golden wedding reception for her brother, Draper Keene and his wife at Levelland.

Mrs. Annie Lee Dobbins is recovering from a foot injury which she suffered recently at her home. She stayed with her daughter and son-in-law, the Edgar Vinsons while unable to walk well.

Medical Emergencies To Be Seminar Topic

A PEP Seminar focusing on "Handling Medical Emergencies" is to be held Thursday in Amarillo's Hilton Inn and the public is invited to attend free of charge. The seminar is being sponsored by the Family Living Youth Task Force of the Texas Extension Homemakers Association (TEHA).

Beginning at 9 a.m. with coffee, the seminar will be called to order at 9:25 by Mrs. Leo Forrest, chairman of the Family Living Youth Task Force. Mrs. Joe Everett, District TEHA director, will be presenting the devotional. Mayor Jerry Hodge will deliver the welcoming address.

An overview of the Family Living Youth Task Force will be given by Sue Farris, District Extension Agent.

Dr. Ronald R. Lacy, MD, who is medical director of Amarillo Emergency Receiving Center, will present a program, "The First Thirty Minutes," and will explain the necessary lifesaving procedures immediately after an accident or sudden illness.

"A System to Save A Life" will be examined by Betty O'Rourke, Regional director of Panhandle Emergency Medical Systems. At 10:45, the film, entitled "Life or Death" will be shown. "Help! What Can I Do?" is to be the program topic presented by Virginia Scott, RN, MSN and director of Amarillo Emergency Receiving Center.

During the noon buffet luncheon, Dr. Denzil O. Clegg, associate director of Texas A&M University, will speak briefly. Resuming the workshop programs at 1 p.m., cardio-pulmonary resuscitation and the Heimlich Maneuver will be discussed by Gary Hedgecock, consultant and instructor trainer with the Red Cross.

Two Hereford men, John Gilliland, Emergency Medical

Technician and Archie Dwyer, CPR instructor-trainer, will be demonstrating life support skills in a program, entitled "Hang On Baby, Help's Coming."

A panel of physicians will be fielding questions from the audience at the close of the seminar.

Local members of the Family Living Youth Task Force are County Extension Agent Joyce Shipp and Mrs. Leroy Johnson.

Persons interested in attending Thursday's seminar are asked to pre-register by calling 364-3573.

Luncheon Planned

The Women's Forum will meet Thursday at the Community Center for a covered dish luncheon at 12 p.m.

All local clubs and any interested individuals are invited to attend.

Elementary School To Meet With Parents

Northwest Elementary School will have a meeting with the parents of Title I, Title I Migrant, and bilingual students Thursday, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

The meeting will be a discussion of Title I, Title I Migrant, and bilingual programs. Teachers and aides will be present to explain the different phases of the programs.

A steering committee, consisting of no less than eight people, will be elected. This committee will work on helping the school to improve the programs that will be used for the next two years.

Everyone is welcome to attend. The Earnest Harders are getting ready to move into their new 3 bedroom home, located near Easter Community center. The house is being bricked and otherwise about ready for them to move.

Ann Landers

Perverse Children

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Yesterday I overheard a conversation in a drugstore. I'd like to tell you about it in the hope you will print my letter and help somebody.

One woman was telling another about her niece. "The child is so perverse," she said. "She does everything she can think of to annoy her mother. Lately she has been pulling huge chunks of hair out of her head. My sister decided to fix that little brat once and for all. She cut some of the child's hair off with a scissors, chopped it into bits, mixed it in with her mashed potatoes and butter and made her eat it."

Ann, I was just sick. I taught school for many years and had two such little girls in my class. I knew these youngsters had emotional problems and recommended a psychologist. Both mothers cooperated and took their children for counseling. (One of the fathers went, too.) Within a few weeks the hair-pulling stopped in both instances. The youngsters' grades improved and there were no more problems.

If parents would only listen to their children with their hearts! -- H.G.C.

DEAR H.G.C.: I hope and pray all parents of hair-pulling children will see your letter. This goes for eyebrow and eyelash pulling, too.

Such behavior is a symptom of anxiety, insecurity, fear or anger. These youngsters need professional help and I'm delighted you pointed out in your letter that it was highly successful in the cases of your two students. Bless you for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 20 years old and would love to have a baby. My boyfriend says he likes the idea, too. We both have good jobs. Mine pays for all hospital expenses and there is a neat clause for maternity leave. It wouldn't cost my folks a penny.

The only thing that worries me is how they would take it. But then I keep telling myself I have to live for ME, not my parents. Please give us the go sign, Ann. We really want this kid. -- In Love

DEAR LOVE: Do you both want the kid enough to get married? If not, my advice is forget it. You aren't mature enough to be parents.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Concerning the letter from "Fed

Up" who asked if there are any decent men left in the world: you wanted to know what she was doing arguing with a boy in his apartment until 2:00 a.m. Well, Ann, she was probably trying to get him to drive her home.

I've been in the same boat, sometimes till 4:00 a.m. In our small town there's no such thing as taxi service and the only alternative is to hoof it. It's a long, scary hike on dark roads. Is it wrong to expect a guy to keep his hands OFF, especially on the first date? I'm 23, attractive, intelligent, hard-working and pleasant. I've never been asked out to dinner. I've been treated to a movie exactly twice.

I hope you have a better answer for "Fed Up" before she becomes as bitter and cynical as I am. I guess the decent men must be on the other side of the moon. They're sure not here where I live. -- Thoroughly Disgusted

DEAR T.D.: You are 23, attractive, intelligent, hard-working and pleasant. You've never been invited to dinner by a guy and only twice to a movie? Maybe if you weren't willing to go to a man's apartment on a first date, he might take you someplace else. Try it.

Report Cards Prove To Be of Importance

COLLEGE STATION - Report cards are important -- but put them in perspective, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

A report card is a hint, a taste, a sample and an invitation to parents, she explains.

Report cards are not a declaration of war between parents, children and teachers.

They should say to parents, "Come for a conference and let's discuss the progress your child is making."

A report card can help parents discuss with the teacher how they can better support their child's learning at home.

Daily encouragement--not a threat every six or nine weeks--motivates a child to learn, the specialist points out.

Tiny boxes on a report card cannot adequately express six or nine weeks of learning experiences, hundreds of activities and exercises, thousands of ideas and thought exchanges.

Instead of heaping dismay upon a child for bad report card grades, assist him in learning the things he has evidently missed out on, Miss Taylor recommends.

School should provide an environment and a place for young children to learn skills that will help them on their way toward maturity.

Report cards are indicators of progress, not a concrete report of how smart or dumb a child is, she adds.

Ticks Plague Pets in Summer

COLLEGE STATION - Tick populations increase dramatically with warmer weather, causing inconvenience and health hazards for homeowners and pets.

Ticks are biting, blood-sucking parasites, and their bites may become inflamed and infected due to toxic secretions, points out Dr. Cliff Hoelscher of Stephenville, area entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Tick paralysis, tularemia and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever may be transmitted through tick bites.

According to the entomologist, brown dog ticks and American dog ticks are the most common in Texas home landscapes. Brown dog ticks are reddish-brown while American dog ticks are yellowish-brown when unfed and slate gray when engorged. The brown dog tick rarely occurs in rural areas; instead, it hides in crevices around buildings. American dog ticks are most often found along roads and trails.

A female tick may lay several thousand eggs, beginning a two- to four-month life cycle. Remaining stages--six legged larva (seed tick) and eight-legged nymph and adult--generally develop on separate host animals. After each feeding, the tick drops off the host and temporarily hides until the next development stage.

Regardless of the species, control is basically the same for all ticks, says Hoelscher. Heavy infestations in the home may require treatment by professionals. Household sprays containing 0.5 percent diazinon or ronnel will control light infestations.

Outside the home where vegetation is thin, use 5 percent carbaryl (Sevin) dust, at 20-25 pounds per acre. Increase the rate as vegetation thickens, advises Hoelscher. If using a spray, mix five tablespoons of 25 percent diazinon emulsifiable concentrate (EC) in one gallon of water. Apply one gallon of spray per 1,000 square feet. Carbaryl gives the best residual control. When spraying, pay particular attention to roadsides, animal trails and paths.

Most species of ticks can't survive in cleared areas where they are exposed to excessive sunlight and predators, points out the entomologist. Keeping areas clear of debris is important in tick control.

Hikers and campers may want to use repellent materials on their jacket cuffs or the bottoms of their trousers. Also, Hoelscher recommends tucking trousers into the tops of socks or boots. Sleeves buttoned tight will also aid in protection.

The entomologist advises pet owners to examine their animal frequently. Light infestations can be controlled by rubbing carbaryl dust into the pet's hair. Also, treat the animal's sleeping quarters every week.

If a tick becomes attached to the skin, remove it with a slow, steady pull. Be careful not to break off its mouthparts. A drop of chloroform, isopropyl alcohol, ether, acetone or fingernail polish rubbed over the tick may help remove it. It can be removed a half-hour later with less damage to the skin because its oxygen supply is cut off, says Hoelscher.

Boys Third At Meet

Regional, District Meets Cap Weekend

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

Lubbock was the place to be this past weekend for the sports buff as regional golf and track and district track meets were being contested in the Hub city.

Barbara Scott, in her third consecutive trip to the regional meet finished in fifth place with a two day total of 177. Miss Scott, the 'Faces only fem golfer was second in the district race for 1979.

The HHS girls track team went to the regional meet with three relay teams and five individuals and came away with a seventh place finish and 22 points.

Although there were not any state qualifiers for the team, Coach Roy Shipp felt the team competed very well, and as they were young this year, next year will be even better. According to Coach Shipp, only Veja Arroyos and LuAnna Berryman of the regional qualifiers will be missing from next year's squad.

For the Whitefaces, Louise Mays finished fifth in the 440 with a time of 59.0 and Darlene Sanders was third in the 220 with a time of 25.5.

Other point producers for the Herd were Beverly Nixon in the 80 yard hurdles (fourth), Arroyos in the 880 (fifth) and a fourth in mile relay. Members of the team are Sanders, Connie Huffaker, Arroyos and Mays as they clocked a 4:01.3.

In the other events, the spring relay team of Huffaker, Jennifer Griffin, Nixon and Lindy Walterscheid was seventh with a time of 50.3, and Theresa Schilling leaped 32-8 in the triple jump.

The 880 relay team, which failed to qualify in the semifinals consisted of Mays, Sanders, Berryman and Walterscheid as they ran a personal best of 1:45.3 in the prelims.

The boys division of the track competition was at the district level and the Whitefaces took third place in the team standings and will be sending two individuals and two relay team to the regional meet on April 28.

Paul Bell won the 220 in a time of 21.5 and Juan Flores will be representing the 'Faces in the 880 as he finished second with a time of 2:00.2.

The sprint relay team accomplished a rare feat at the district meet as they won an upset victory, the first sprint team from Hereford to do so since 1968.

Coach Lester Kirkland said the team did an outstanding job in the meet, and was real proud of the team's accomplishments.

"Our boys just competed super," Kirkland said. "Especially Barry Morgan who finished third in the 120 hurdles. He ran a 14.9 which is nearly half a second faster than he had ever run before and he finished just a breath away from the second place guy which would have qualified him for the regional meet.

"Also Norman Brown in the 440 ran .6 of a second faster than he had before and he finished in 50.5 to take third place," Kirkland said.

The spring relay team, made up of Keith Adams, Brown, Joe Walker and Bell ran a 43.3, nipping Lubbock High at the tape by about a step.

The mile relay team knocked 1.5 seconds off their best time as they ran a 3:23.6. Members of the team are Bell, Adams, Glenn Yosten and Brown.

Other point producers for the Herd were Yosten in the 880 with a third Walker in the 100, also a third, and Morgan's third in the hurdles.

MISSION, Kan. (AP) - The University of Central Florida will host the Division I-AA football championship Dec. 15, the National Collegiate Athletic Association said Monday.

I-AA is the NCAA's division for school's smaller than the football powers, but larger than the Division II schools. The game, to be broadcast by ABC, will be held at the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Fla.

The NCAA also said its Division II championship will be Dec. 8 at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque, and the Division III title game will be Dec. 1 at Fort Valley State College in Phoenix City, Ala. Both will be regionally televised.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) - Darrell Waltrip, third behind Richard Petty and Buddy Baker in the Virginia 500 last weekend, has maintained his lead in the NASCAR standings released.

Waltrip now has 487 points, 86 more than Bobby Allison, who finished fourth in the race at Martinsville Speedway. Cale Yarborough is third with 1,308 and Petty fourth with 1,299 through nine events of the 11-race schedule.

Benny Parsons has 1,244 for fifth place, followed by rookie Joe Millikan, 1,242; Donnie Allison, 1,224; Dale Earnhardt, 1,216; D.K. Ulrich, 1,131, and Richard Childress, 1,090.

While Waltrip continues to lead in winnings with 154,870, followed by Petty, $147,615; Bobby Allison, $124,605; Yarborough, $106,965; Baker, $105,805; Donnie Allison, $86,515; Earnhardt, $69,050; Millikan, $63,210, and Parsons, $40,110.

The next event, May 6 at the Alabama International Motor Speedway, is the Winston 500.

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) - The Rochester Americans of the American Hockey League and the Buffalo Sabres of the National Hockey League have reached a two-year working agreement.

The Women's Golf Association will be sponsoring a Mixed Doubles Tournament Sunday, April 29 at the local golf course, it was announced.

The 18 hole affair will have a 2 p.m. tee time with entry fee for the event being $10.00 per person. Individuals can sign to play and a teammate will be assigned.

To enter the scotch doubles, contact the pro shop by Saturday April 28, at 4 p.m.

The scotch doubles format will allow for an even distribution in playing between the men and women, with the women teeing off for the pair every other hole.

minor league Amerks each season.

Amerks President Bruce Davey said, "We're finally with an organization that's willing to spend money to make money." Buffalo has the second-highest payroll in the NHL.

Earlier, Buffalo severed its minor-league arrangement with the AHL's Hershey Bears and the Amerks cut their ties with the NHL's Boston Bruins. The Bears remain affiliated with the NHL's Washington Capitals.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ron Waples, third in the standings for the last two years, has taken over the 1979 lead in the North American harness driving race, the U.S. Trotting Association announced Monday.

Waples had 136 triumphs in the latest USTA figures for a 10-victory lead over Herve Filion, the North American dash champion in 10 of the last 11 seasons. Carmine Abbatiello is third with 115 triumphs.

In the money category, Filion leads with $904,309 to $807,020 for archival Abbatiello. Ben Webster is third with $666,278.

Billy Casper is five-time winner of the Vardon Trophy, awarded each year to the pro golfer with the lowest average score.

Whitefaces Drop Two To Bulldogs

Errors and not being able to score the people on base is becoming an old and tiring story to Coach David Ashby, as once it again it was these two nemesis that foiled the Hereford Whitefaces in their attempt to win a district contest in baseball.

In the first game the Herd outhit the visiting Plainview Bulldogs 10 to nine but the Bulldogs won the contest 16-5, due to the errors committed by the 'Faces.

There were 2 miscues by the Plainview team and the Herd compiled 12 of the mistakes in the initial contest.

The second contest had fewer hits but the 'Faces again tallied more than the Bulldogs but walks and leaving 12 men on base slowed the Herd in the 5-3 loss to the visiting team.

James Dudding came away with the Whitefaces only extra-base hit in the second game, a double in the sixth inning.

Next action for the Whitefaces will be April 28 in Lubbock as the squad will go against first half co-champion Monterey in a double header, beginning at 1 p.m. at Lowery Field.

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) - The Washington Bullets seem to be getting their annual post-season tuneup from the Atlanta Hawks.

After sweeping two games from the Hawks in last year's preliminary playoff series, the Bullets said the competition sharpened their execution for the march to the National Basketball Association title.

The matchup is just as intense in the quarter-finals this year, and it seems to be reaching the same conclusion: the Bullets will try to close out the best-of-seven series with a victory at home tonight.

After splitting the first two games in Washington, the Bullets went to Atlanta - where the Hawks had won 17 in a row - and took two straight over the weekend to assume a commanding 3-1 lead in the series.

"In our last two games," said Washington Coach Dick Motta, "we played about as good as we can play."

The other Eastern Conference semifinal resumes Thursday with the San Antonio Spurs, leading 3-1, hoping to oust the Philadelphia 76ers.

The Western semifinals continue Wednesday when the Seattle SuperSonics carry a 3-1 lead into their contest against the Los Angeles Lakers while the Phoenix Suns carry a 2-1 lead into their game at Kansas City against the Kings.

Bullets forward Bob Dandridge, who scored 19 of his 31 points in the final 17 minutes of Washington's 120-118 overtime victory on Sunday, has been superb. He leads the Bullets with 112 points and 20 assists.

Forward Elvin Hayes, with 89 points and 54 rebounds, and center Wes Unseld, with 50 rebounds and 16 assists, completes a veteran Washington front line which has 31 years of NBA experience.

That experience, Motta said, can make a difference in the playoffs.

"We found out last season what it took to win on the road in the playoffs, and how to overcome crowd noise and the rest," Motta said.

"Shots start getting harder in the fourth period," he said. "Things tighten up. Suddenly they mean a lot more. That's when it's nice to have veterans like Elvin, Bobby and Wes."

Down the stretch Sunday, Dandridge scored 13 of Washington's final 20 points and assisted on two other baskets.

By contrast, although both teams are shooting a below-par 44 percent, the Hawks dipped to 21 and 31 percent in the fourth quarters of two of their losses.

Forward John Drew, one of only two Atlanta players with five years' NBA experience, has been held to 55 points or an average of 13.7 per game - nine points below his 22.7-point average which led the Hawks in regular season play.

Atlanta also has wealth problems.

Center Wayne "Tree" Rollins and guard Eddie Johnson were suffering from knee injuries, and forward Dan Roundfield had a shoulder injury, Brown said. Rollins' knee problem is so serious that an operation may be needed, said the coach.

The SuperSonics have the home court advantage but not the home court advantage.

The game was scheduled for the Seattle Center Coliseum because the Kingdome, the Sonics' regular home this season, is occupied by the Seattle Mariners for a baseball game with the Boston Red Sox.

Los Angeles Coach Jerry West said he plans no changes for the fifth game, though he recognizes two differences between the teams.

"Very obviously, the first one was their rebounding, and in the backcourt we just haven't contained those guys," West said.

Seattle guards Fred Brown, Gus Williams and Dennis Johnson outscored the Lakers' backcourt 65-38 Sunday.

In rebounds, Seattle leads by an average margin of 49.5 to 36.3.

San Antonio needs a victory to take the other Eastern Conference semifinal.

"We are playing as well as we can and we have so much confidence," said the Spurs' James Silas.

"Yeah, we're in the driver's seat, but we can still have an accident," said San Antonio Coach Doug Moe. "The biggest thing is to guard against over-confidence. We can't afford that."

Kansas City's Kings may have to do without forward Richard Washington, who is listed as questionable for the contest due to an injured right ankle.

Dogies Compete At Dumas

Five of the six Stanton Dogie track teams traveled to Dumas with the eighth grade boys winning a first place team trophy.

The eighth grade boys, led by the two first-placers of Alfred Ball in the hurdle events, scored a team total of 84 points to win its division.

Other first places by the team included a quarter mile win by Joe Castillo in $5.4, Charlie Garza in the mile with a clocking of 5:10.3, and the mile relay team, consisting of Ball, Steve Beene, Castillo and Jay Hodge.

The sprint relay team, made up of Beene, Castillo, Freddie Garcia and James McDowell captured sixth in the one lap event.

The field events, led by the second place finishes of Castillo in the high jump, and Rodney Simon in the discus helped the team accumulate 29 points of the total. Other point producers for the Dogies in the field events were third by McDowell in the pole vault, fifth in the long jump by Ball, and a fourth and sixth in the shot by Ricky Valdez and Edward Swain.

In the track events, a second in the 120 yard hurdles produced eight points by Hodge, while he also added a fourth in the 440. Armondo Rodriguez was fifth in the 880 and Billie Rodriguez was sixth in the mile.

The seventh grade Dogies finished fourth in its division, scoring 45 points.

The mile relay team led the Dogies, finishing in second place with a team members Jeff Streun, Rolanda Nava, Ted Rameriz and Andrago Trevizo.

Rameriz also had a second in the 880 and Trevizo came in with a second in the quarter to lead the team in points.

The girls' teams, finished fourth twice and fifth in the overall standings, with several individual accomplishments highlighting the Dogies' efforts.

The seventh grade girls had firsts in the 880 yard relay, the 880 yard run, the high jump and the triple jump to score 82 points for the day's work.

The relay team, Angie Roddy, Cynthia Ray, Michelle Hughes and Michelle Connolly clocked a 1:56.8 to win the two lap relay. Yolanda Alanaz timed in 2:46.6 was the other winner on the track for the Dogies, with Miss Ray taking two firsts in the high jump and the triple jump.

Other point producers for the Dogies included Connolly in the 100, the 400 relay, Liz Hayes' fifth and sixth in the 220 and 100 dashes and Angela Walker's sixth in the shot.

The eighth grade also finished in fourth compiling 76 points. Angie White was the individual champion, winning the high jump, the 80 yard hurdles and taking second in the triple jump.

The other first by the team was a 2:39.7 clocking by Barbara Weaver in the 880. Shirley Morrison was second in the mile, and the sprint relay and half mile relay was fourth.

Participants in the relays were Holly McNeese, Barbara Brown, Tanya Jones and White. Brown was also sixth in the long jump with a leap of 12-8.

The freshmen girls at Stanton finished with 56 points to take fifth in their division. The only first recorded by the team was by Jill Pickens in the high jump, as she cleared 5-0 for top honors.

Pickens was also third in the hurdles and along with Joyce High, Gail Bartels and Lori Albracht finished third in the 440 yard relay and fourth in the 880 yard relay.

Beatrice Moreno clocked a 6:03.7 in the mile for second place and Cynthia Streun was fourth in the 880. Albracht finished sixth in the 220 with a time of 28.3.

Field event points were accumulated by High in the long jump - fifth and a fourth and sixth by Maria Medrine in the discus and shot.

Spurs' Moe Hopes Team Doesn't Get Overconfident

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - San Antonio Spurs' Doug Moe almost choked in the middle of a sentence.

Moe was talking to the media after his team defeated the Philadelphia 76ers 115-112 Sunday to take a 3-1 lead in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series.

Moe's sudden silence was brought about by what he heard James Silas telling other reporters.

"I predict we'll finish them off Thursday in San Antonio," said Silas, whose 19 points helped forge Sunday's triumph. "I don't care what position we have to take or what we have to do. We don't plan on coming back to Philadelphia. Then, we'll take 'em one game at a time against Atlanta or Washington," Silas said.

"We are playing as well as we can and we have so much confidence," said the 6-foot-3 Silas, who may win an award as the NBA come-back player of the year.

Silas missed most of the past two seasons because of an injury. He played in 79 games this year and scored 1,266 points - an average of 16 per game.

When Moe got his voice back, the Spurs coach observed, "Yeah, we're in the driver's seat. But we can still have an accident. The biggest thing is to guard against over-confidence. We can't afford that."

Moe said he really had no explanation for deciding at the last minute Sunday to use Larry Kenon to guard the 76ers' Julius Erving.

"I was saying what I usually say before the game," Moe explained. "Allan Bristow take J Erving K Kenon take Bobby Jones. And I just stopped. I said, 'No, K you take Julius.' I don't know why I said it. Just kind of a feel thing I guess."

So all Kenon did was go out and hold Erving to 15 points, just four through the first three periods. Erving got 11 in the last quarter, but they came late in the game when the Spurs were in front.

"He (Kenon) did a good job hustling, overplaying, busting his chops at both ends of the floor. It's the most defensive pressure that I've had put on me," said Erving, who only got off 17 shots.

'Curiouser and Curiouser' Is Scene Of Yanks Clubhouse

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

Things around the New York Yankees' clubhouse are, as Alice in Wonderland would put it, "getting curiouser and curiouser."

Pitcher Rich Gossage and reserve catcher Cliff Johnson get into a locker room brawl, resulting in injury to Gossage's $2.75 million right thumb.

With the ace reliever on the sidelines from six to eight weeks, there could go George Steinbrenner's hopes for a fourth straight pennant and third straight World Series title.

It was a stupid act - mature men acting like schoolboys. At today's wage levels, it was about as dignified as a Rockefeller squaring off against a Mellon on the corner of 51st St. and Park Ave.

Now a new chapter opens in the continuing drama: "Will Billy Martin Return as Yankee Manager in 1980 - or Won't He?"

Bobby Richardson, former Yankee infielder and a close friend of Martin's, riddled the waters when he told an audience last week that the Yankees had no intention of giving Billy his old job back - that the promise made him on the Yankee electric scoreboard was just a public relations gimmick to cool the heat of the fans.

Suddenly depositions surfaced concerning Martin's behavior at the opening of Bachelors 3 Restaurant in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., on Feb. 28.

According to published reports at the time, Martin allegedly got involved in a fracas and suffered an injured hand. He showed up with a cast on his wrist.

Martin insisted the reports were unfounded. Other guests at the scene backed him up. A probe failed to uncover any untoward conduct.

Steinbrenner at the time said there would be an investigation. "We promised Billy and his agent that if he were found innocent in the Reno case a previous altercation in which Billy was charged with punching a sportswriter and got in no further trouble, the 1980 manager's job would be his. That still stands," the Yankee owner insisted.

Who asked for the depositions? Were the Yankees trying to build a case against Martin so they could be excused for not keeping their end of the 1980 bargain?

"That is ridiculous," said Steinbrenner. "It is not our style. We operate above board. If there are requests for depositions, they are not coming from the Yankees."

Meanwhile, those who attended the Bachelors 3 bash apparently have become concerned that Billy Martin's career has been jeopardized by the Fort Lauderdale report and are endeavoring to get Billy off the hook - if there is one.

ordered to register with New York's secretary of state as a fundraiser, according to officials here.

And the organizing committee's contract with Creative Mailing Consultants of America Inc., to solicit funds from the public by mail, has been referred to the Attorney General's Charities Fraud

Bureau for review, officials in the State and Law departments said.

"The question of how much compensation is being provided to the professional fundraisers - that's the question we're focussing on," said Timothy Gilles, a spokesman for the attorney general's office.

While declining to detail their current inquiries, state officials privately admit that post troubles with the LPOOC's fundraising efforts encouraged the current review.

The contract with Creative Mailing, of Capitol Heights, Md., was signed this year after two previously designated companies sued the LPOOC for alleged contract violations.

The companies and the LPOOC, which had hoped to raise as much as $10 million, settled out of court.

The new contract is being reviewed to see how much of the funds raised will be kept by the mailing company, according to Gilles.

Company Vice President Raymond Grace confirmed that he had provided the attorney general's office with samples of an earlier mailing and cost figures. However, he declined to make those figures public, saying he could not without permission from the LPOOC.

Grace said his firm did not have exact income figures and would not be able to project the cost-benefit ratio until it finished tabulating test results.

Pro Football Hall of Famer Johnny Unitas threw at least one touchdown pass in 47 straight NFL games from 1956-1960.

Silas finally passed to George Gervin, who was fouled immediately, but the buzzer sounded ending the game. Gervin converted his two free throws to complete the scoring.

"I tried to communicate to the players to get a foul, but the crowd was yelling hard and I couldn't be heard," Cunningham said.

The real reason, obviously, was the Silas had the ball and is an excellent foul shooter. The 76ers tried to get Silas to pass off to a player less accurate at the foul line.

Ranger Double Plays Stop Toronto

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) - The Texas Rangers, who had an iron-glove infield in 1978, turned a club record tying five double plays Monday night and it was like Christmas to struggling right-hander Doyle Alexander.

Alexander, who had been shelled in three previous starts but bailed out by Ranger bats, handcuffed Toronto on three hits in seven and one-third innings as Texas blanked the Blue Jays 5-0.

While Alexander was earning his first victory of the year, Jim Kern collected his second save by mopping up the last inning and two-thirds.

There was no comment from the Ranger players who barred the media from the dressing room because of the presence of woman sportswriter Alison Garden of the Toronto Star.

Al Oliver slashed two singles as he extended his batting streak to 13 consecutive games for the Rangers.

Toronto manager Roy Hartsfield bemoaned the silent Blue Jay bats, saying "The way we are going right now we have to reach up to touch the bottom. I'm not taking anything away from Alexander but we are just not hitting."

"Of course, it helps when you get five double plays."

The Rangers were 11th in the American League in double plays last year.

Four of the double plays were started by second baseman Bump Wills, who ironically had two errors.

Texas jumped on Toronto starter Jim Clancy 1-3 for three runs in the first inning.

Billy Sample walked and sped to third base on Oliver's hit and run single. Sample scored when second baseman Dave McKay booted Buddy Bell's grounder.

Richie Zisk then singled to score Oliver and Oscar Gamble delivered a sacrifice fly.

Texas made it 4-0 to nothing in the fourth inning when Gamble and Jim Sundberg singled, moved to third on a flyout, and scored on Nelson Norman's sacrifice fly.

In the eighth, Buddy Bell tripped and John Ellis sacrificed him home.

In tonight's game, Steve Comer 1-1 of the Rangers meets Dave LeMayczyk 0-0 for Toronto.

Amarillo Clobbers Diablos

By The Associated Press

Ken Barton's bases-loaded single in the bottom of the 11th inning gave the Tulsa Drillers a 6-5 Texas League baseball victory over the Shreveport Captains Monday night.

In other Texas League action, Amarillo shelled El Paso, 16-6, and Midland edged San Antonio, 6-5. Arkansas' game at Jackson was postponed because of rain.

Earlier, Tulsa's Jose Barrios hit a grand slam homer to tie the game at 4-4 and Barton homered to give the Drillers a 5-4 lead. Steve Cline, who came on in relief of Gene Schmidt in the eighth inning, took the victory and boosted his record to 2-0. Ray Rainbolt was the loser.

Tim Flannery had a single.

two doubles, a triple and homer as Amarillo took an easy 16-6 over the El Paso Diablos. Amarillo had 24 hits, including homers by Flannery, Brian Greer and Joe Hicks. Eric Mustad, who required relief help from Greg Wilkes, was the winning pitcher. Wilkes pitched three innings of shutout baseball in relief. Mark Miller was the losing El Paso pitcher.

Jim Tracy singled with the bases loaded in the ninth to give the Midland Cubs a 6-5 victory over the San Antonio Brewers.

Jesus Alfaro had a two-run homer in the first for Midland as the Cubs held a 5-0 lead until San Antonio tied the game in the seventh, setting the scene for Tracy's last-inning heroics.

Roaring in ears

DEAR DR LAMB: I have a noise in my ears with every heartbeat. At night when my head is on the pillow, it sounds like small thunder. At other times it has a swoosh tone, sometimes very faint, but it can then become a mild roar, particularly if I'm the least bit active.

My doctor thought I had a clogged artery in my neck and a specialist discovered this was true. The artery was cleaned out and I was back to work in a month, but the ear sound did not go away. In fact, the last few months it has become more annoying. The doctor who operated on the artery says I may have a clogged artery at the base of the brain, but it would be dangerous to operate. About two months ago I had a brain scan and it was normal.

An ear doctor says he doesn't know what the problem could be. I have noticed that I can take three to four deep breaths and the noise will stop for about five seconds. Then it starts again. It is sure causing many sleepless nights. Do you have any idea what this could be?

DEAR READER - It's a symptom and you're doing the right thing to have it investigated. It's quite true that an obstruction of one of the arteries in the neck
