An Austin woman drowned late Wednesday as her husband clutched part of their flash flood swamped automobile when a creek south of Austin flooded an expressway frontage road.
About 40 horrified spectators watched as the man clutched part of the automobile with one hand and held his wife with the other for almost an hour before she slipped from his grasp and drowned.
The spectators would-be rescuers were unable to respond to desperate pleas for help from both the man and woman because of the roaring flood waters of Slaughter Creek on the Interstate 35 expressway frontage road about three miles south of Austin.
Officers recovered the body early today.

The woman's name was withheld by authorities pending notification of next of kin.
Hundreds of Conroe area residents faced the prospects of more flooding today after they were chased from their homes in the Southeast Texas city by a persistent thunderstorm Tuesday.
A stubborn thunderstorm that stalled over this city north of Houston Wednesday poured more than eight inches of rain on the area, creating floods that inundated schools, houses, businesses and highways.
Mayor Carl Barton estimated 130 to 150 homes were evacuated, and another city official said about 500 persons sought shelter in several school and churches.

Evacuations continued into the night, police said. Torrents of rain lashed the area for nine hours, and one gauge measured the rain unofficially at 14 inches. Several highways, including parts of Interstate 45, remained closed today.
The National Weather Service forecast flooding along the swollen San Jacinto River and its tributaries in Montgomery County and downstream to the Houston Ship Channel for several days to come.
One refugee said the water inside his house in Conroe was five feet deep.
Besides the rain, which extended into neighboring San Jacinto and Liberty counties, two confirmed tornadoes were reported in the area. One over turned three mobile homes in a sparsely populated area of Montgomery County and the other peeled a roof off a barn in the Bellville area west Houston. No injuries were reported.
Many of the refugees were schoolchildren stranded in buildings where they had attended classes all day. Schools in the 33-square-mile Conroe district were closed today.
"We'll feed them and then try to get them home," said school district spokesman Carter Pettit.
Some schools buildings could not be used as shelters because they too were flooded.

Juvenile Officer Job Outline Planned

By PAUL SIMS

Deaf Smith County juvenile board members will work with city and school district officials to devise a job description for the juvenile probation officer, it was decided in a joint meeting Wednesday.

City Manager Dudley Bayne, Mayor Bartley Dowell and Hereford Independent School District Superintendent Harrell Holder attended Wednesday's regular monthly meeting of the juvenile board and voiced opposition to the present duties of the probation officer.
Bayne stated similar complaints at Monday's city commission meeting, saying he wanted an officer who would work with potential juvenile offenders before their arrest.

The city owes $2,898 as its share of financing the probation office. The city, county and school district each are responsible for one-third of $35,094.17, the amount needed by the office to pay salaries and miscellaneous expenses.
Each entity is required to pay $974.84. The city has not paid the office in three months.

"When did we get out of the juvenile office business. When did it become strictly a probation office?" Bayne asked the juvenile board Wednesday.

He complained that before Roger Bowers was hired as juvenile probation officer last September, city policemen could seek advice in dealing with the complex state Family Code.

"As you know the Family Code is a pretty extensive piece of business," Bayne said. "I don't expect any of the officers to understand everything in that code."

Bayne charged that Bowers would not handle juveniles "until they are arrested and placed on probation."

Dowell added that the city is paying for juvenile probation office "and not getting the services. We're paying for one-third and we don't have anything to say about what goes on."

Bowers, as he did at Monday's commission meeting, defended himself, stating that his office handles referrals, as well as juveniles on probation.
Bowers said that in the last three months, 155 hours have been spent by his

Shriners' Clinic Scheduled

The 23rd annual Hereford Oasis Shrine Club Children's Diagnostic Clinic is scheduled Saturday, and officials announced that any handicapped children who have not pre-registered should register at 8 a.m. that day in the Reddy Room at Southwestern Public Service Co.
The Shriner clinic is held each year to determine any medical deficiencies in children ranging from infant to age 17. A dozen out-of-town specialists have agreed to participate in the clinic and, along with local doctors and dentists, will make examinations at the clinic for handicapped children.

The clinic project gets underway at 6:30 a.m. Saturday as Shrine Nobles and their wives register at Hereford Community Center. Registration of children begins at 8 a.m. in the Reddy Room.

Children, parents and Shriners will attend a luncheon at noon in the high school cafeteria, where the meal will be served by Hereford Lions Club.

At the conclusion of the clinic, doctors and Shriners will assemble at Hereford Country Club where they will hear reports of the clinic results prior to an evening of dining and dancing.

C-C Membership Drive Head Receives Bull Chip at Breakfast

Mike Patrick, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce membership drive, was awarded the Bull Chip Award for community service at this morning's C-C Fun Breakfast at the Community Center.

The breakfast, sponsored by Hereford YMCA with the assistance of Midwest Systems Analysts, attracted 220 persons—one of the largest crowds to attend the last several Fun Breakfasts.

Chamber director Speedy Nieman presented the coveted chip to Patrick, who headed the drive which brought 66 new members into the chamber.

Patrick is past president of Big Brothers-Big Sisters and Hereford Rotary Club and a former chamber director.

Ben Childers missed out on $100 at the breakfast. A chamber member has to be present to win money in the drawing.

In a drawing open to members and non-members, Bud Eades received $75. In a special drawing for persons who registered in advance for the breakfast, Edgar Brewster won $25.

Demonstrations during the fun-filled breakfast included a tumbling show by members of the Gulf Coast gymnastics team from Canyon. Dean Fox, a highway patrolman, ran on a treadmill from the start of the breakfast to its conclusion to emphasize physical fitness in relation to YMCA programs.

Hereford State Bank received a plaque for having the most employees—13—at the breakfast. Hereford Toast Masters were runners-up with 12 members.

Harlan Vander Zee, past president of Hereford State, accepted the plaque.

Upcoming community events announced at the breakfast include Miss Hereford Pageant, April 28; Women's Division Tennis Tournament, Saturday; Beauti-

Court Rules Journalists' Thoughts To Be Revealed in Libel Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court, voting 6 to 3, ruled Wednesday that public figures suing for libel may inquire into a journalist's "state of mind" and the editorial process behind the allegedly libelous statement.

Handing the news media a major legal defeat, the justices ruled that reporters and editors enjoy no constitutional protection from having to answer such questions in libel cases.

"We have concluded that the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals misconstrued the First and 14th amendments and accordingly reverse its judgment," Justice Byron R. White wrote for the court.

The decision is a big victory and former Army Lt. Col. Anthony Herbert, who is suing CBS and others in a $44.17 million libel action.

The decision means lawyers for Herbert will be able to ask at least some of the questions they previously were barred from asking in pre-trial proceedings.

"According to an absolute privilege to the editorial process of a media defendant in a libel case is not required, authorized or presaged by our prior cases," White wrote.

He said that to give journalists such an absolute privilege "would substantially enhance the burden of proving actual malice, contrary to the expectations of

Officials Defend Disaster Drill

A young woman was visiting Deaf Smith General Hospital early Tuesday evening when the first ambulance load of supposedly injured children arrived.

Another ambulance, carrying more kids, soon pulled up to the hospital. Soon there were two dozen children with injuries ranging from a severed leg to a severely-damaged neck being treated by doctors and hospital personnel.

At least, it seemed like they were hurt and undergoing emergency treatment.

The woman, after she was told it was all part of a drill involving the various emergency agencies in Deaf Smith County, exclaimed: "They shouldn't play games like this."

Vehicles driving down Highway 60 slowed down as their drivers, some stunned, watched the post-accident procedures that were happening. Rescuers were freeing trapped children from inside the bus, carrying others on stretchers to ambulances and covering seven kids with blankets, signifying fatalities.

With the numerous rescue and law enforcement vehicles flashing their red and blue lights, it was, from a spectator's viewpoint, spectacular. And, to some of those watching, it was downright scary.

Police said one man saw his granddaughter lying on the ground and had to be assured the accident was being staged. Another man attempted to administer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to a child, according to officers.

Why the blood, the moans, the bus, the realism?

"Our objective is not to alarm or make anyone feel scared about the situation," said hospital administrator Jim Bullard, who contrived the drill with help from other heads of emergency agencies. "Our objective is to prepare ourselves so that when the real disaster does occur, and we have seen evidence in our surrounding area recently, that it could, the alarm that we might have accidentally put into people will be well worth the lives we might save because of our practice."

Bullard said realism is "important" because it creates more tension in those involved in rescue and treatment.

"It makes the local agencies feel as if it's more than just another practice session," he said.

Bullard said that persons who have complained about the tactics used, "might be the same people who would be more unhappy if something real did

Big Cotton Trailers Nixed by Clements

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A Democratic senator shouted the praises of Republican Gov. Bill Clements on Wednesday in protesting a bill that would authorize larger cotton trailers on Texas highways.

Sen. A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston, noted Clements had vetoed a ratemaking bill Monday favored by the trucking industry, and said, "The lobby has not yet got a grip on the governor of Texas."

The cotton trailer bill would allow trailers or modules to be lengthened from 45 feet to 49 feet and to increase loads by 2,000 pounds per axle.

Debate broke off before the Senate voted on Sen. Raul Longoria's bill so senators could dine on Jewish specialties, such as matzo balls and angels, provided by Schwartz.

The bill was set for further debate at 1:15 a.m. today.

"This governor might save the people Texas $1.5 million by vetoing this bill," said Schwartz. "The veto enhances respect for Gov. Clements ... on free enterprise issues, he continues to be right and to do what he thinks is right."

Schwartz said, according to the state highway department, the larger loads will increase road wear 25 percent to 40 percent.

Judge Rules Marvin To Pay $104,000

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Corks popped and champagne flowed as Michelle Triola Marvin celebrated the $104,000 she won from Lee Marvin, while the actor claimed he won "on all counts" the suit his former lover filed against him.

Miss Marvin and her lawyer, Marvin Mitchelson, toasted at a party what they said was a triumph in her suit to win $1.8 million, an estimated half share of Marvin's earnings during the time she lived with the actor.

A beaming Miss Marvin arrived at the party with her poodle, a present from Marvin during the time they lived together.

Miss Marvin's friends, other attorneys and members of the press were invited to Mitchelson's palatial office for the party.

Although the Superior Court award was only 6 percent of what she had sought, Miss Marvin said a larger sum would surely have been appealed by the actor.

"If I had won all of Lee's worldly goods, I'd probably be in court until I was 80," Miss Marvin said several hours after Judge Arthur Marshall ruled Wednesday in the landmark case.

More Shah Friends Killed in Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's firing squads executed even more of the shah's men Wednesday as a warning from Tehran's local religious leader against "another dictator" widened the split among the leaders of the Iranian revolution.

Six military men ranging in rank from private to major were shot before dawn in Tehran for taking part in the massacre of hundreds of anti-shah demonstrators in the capital Sept. 8, Radio Tehran announced.

A Car That Runs On Water

There is an automobile which requires nothing more than water in the gas tank. It runs on water. You can purchase such a car right now.

Then why doesn't everybody? The future is pregnant with a dozen exciting new kinds of energy.

There is a farming community in Iowa-Forest City-which has sustained its economy more than adequately with a combination of industry and agriculture.

But when two vicious winters in a row shut down schools and factories, Forest City realized that the lifeblood of a modern community is fuel.

It is fuel that keeps us warm and keeps the wheels turning.

So Mayor Eugene Morris decided. "Until we achieve energy independence we will have no economic security."

However long it takes the rest of us, Forest City intends to become energy independent posthaste.

In Europe and Africa and Asia and India they already have in operation coal gasification plants. Their primary product is ammonia, but they also produce sizable quantities of pure hydrogen.

Hydrogen is a super clean and ultimately efficient fuel but it is costly to produce hydrogen from water.

The gasification of coal promises more cost efficiency. The technology already exists. The coal is pulverized, then with steam, air and/or oxygen, depending on which process is used, the reaction drives off gaseous carbon monoxide, hydrogen and methane.

Forest City has let a contract to Billings Energy Corp. of Provo, Utah, for the design study to determine which process is best in this instance.

Hopefully, Forest City will be using hydrogen energy before its present natural gas supplies begin phasing out in two years.

This Billings Energy Corp. already offers "an automobile that runs on water."

You drive the car home, plug it into a wall socket, and overnight enough hydrogen is developed from water to fuel the car for the next hundred miles.

A 1977 Dodge Omni was the first car converted. The prototype is available now. The problem is cost.

For the car and the hydrogen generator, which must be installed in your garage, the present cost is $30,000.

Obviously prohibitive. But with communities such as Forest City pioneering in the manufacture of "cheap" hydrogen," these developments, hand in hand, might well solve a lot of our problems in a hurry.

"Right now, with the case load we've got, we can justify two probation officers, not a peace officer or someone to handle truancy matters."

Holder said he did not expect Bowers or assistant Luis Rangel to handle routine finances, but to work with the principals when a potentially dangerous or criminal situation arises.

"We're not here to take away our money. There's no question that Deaf Smith County needs a probation officer," Holder said. "If we switched the whole burden of paying for the office over to the county, the taxpayer would still pay for it."

Holder said his principals have been unable to receive assistance from the juvenile probation officers when they needed it. "Our principals tell us that some situations haven't been settled."

Juvenile probation board president Charlie Bell said he had thought that Bowers had been doing preventative work, as well as working with probationers.

Board member Doug Manning said he, on the other hand, "thought all along that we had a juvenile probation officer—I didn't know until just a few minutes ago that I didn't agree with Charlie."

Manning requested that a compromise be worked out.

"It's not a personality thing as much as this board just hasn't really done its homework. I think we can work out a compromise but we can't afford to put the juvenile probation officer in a position to force him into being a counselor and disciplinarian to too great a degree," Manning said.

Holder suggested that Rangel be used as a juvenile officer. "If Roger serves as an investigative officer on a serious offense and then works on the judgment end, you might have a conflict of interest. Let Rangel serve by giving us assistance," Holder said.

Assistant District Atty. Jerry Smith said that before Bowers was hired, friction between the juvenile probation officer and former DA Andy Shuval's office was high.

"As a result there was a big backlog of cases," Smith said. "When I came here, some of the cases were 1 1/2 and 2 years old. And there were checks in drawers and money in paper clips for restitution which hadn't been paid. We didn't have any idea whose the money was."

"Now, we're dealing with both the backlog and a weekly intake," said Smith, adding that it will take another

"three or four months" for the backlog to disappear.

"We as a board have not functioned," Manning said. "We ought to have been going through this kind of stuff." He pointed to a backlog on which Bowers had written down the breakdown of his office's hours during the last three months.

"All we've ever gotten excited about is when we've had to hire a juvenile probation officer," Manning said. "And, all we do every month is just listen to his report."

"Does not the power to hire and fire give the board the power to supervise?" Holder asked. He recommended that the board draw up by-laws regarding the probation office.

"We will certainly listen to the three entities that support us and will certainly come up with some kind of compromise that will be agreeable to all three bodies, I'd certainly like to write it with you two gentlemen (Bayne and Holder)," Manning said.

Bowers agreed that a compromise is necessary. "And we need a target date," he said.

"We need to do it as soon as possible," Manning said.

The board resolved to devise a job description for Bowers' office.

Woman Awarded $500,000 in Suit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The husband of a woman who suffered permanent brain damage after taking a diuretic prescribed by her longtime physician won a $500,000 medical malpractice suit Wednesday in the Texas Supreme Court.

Ernest Cooper had sued Dr. Ernest Sears of Harris County for $2.5 million on behalf of his wife, Emma Jane, who was a 47-year-old cafeteria worker when she was stricken in 1972.

After suffering brain damage, Mrs. Cooper was institutionalized, and doctors said she would require constant care the rest of her life.

Court records show Mrs. Cooper went to Sears, her doctor for 20 years, on Oct. 12, 1972, complaining of not feeling well and "puffiness" in her face and hands.

Sears prescribed one tablet a day of Enduron, a moderate diuretic.

Mrs. Cooper later called Sears' office and said the tablet had made her feel ill, and the nurse told her to stop the medicine until Sears returned to town on Oct. 20. On that day Mrs. Cooper saw Sears again and told him she was still not feeling well, she had nausea and the puffiness, or edema.

Sears told her to resume taking the Enduron.

On Oct. 21, Mrs. Cooper called her husband home from work, and the next day, a Sunday, Cooper called the doctor. Sears told him to give his wife only liquids and bring her into the office on Monday.

Cooper gave his wife a glass of tea and shortly afterwards found her unconscious. He rushed her to Heights Hospital, where she was admitted in a coma.

Sears' final diagnosis was brain damage due to coma caused probably by a severe electrolyte imbalance.

Electrolytes, the Houston appeals court said, are such elements as sodium and potassium in the blood that are absolutely essential for life. An imbalance of electrolytes, can cause death, the court said.

Woman Awarded $500,000 in Suit

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The husband of a woman who suffered permanent brain damage after taking a diuretic prescribed by her longtime physician won a $500,000 medical malpractice suit Wednesday in the Texas Supreme Court.

Ernest Cooper had sued Dr. Ernest Sears of Harris County for $2.5 million on behalf of his wife, Emma Jane, who was a 47-year-old cafeteria worker when she was stricken in 1972.

After suffering brain damage, Mrs. Cooper was institutionalized, and doctors said she would require constant care the rest of her life.

Court records show Mrs. Cooper went to Sears, her doctor for 20 years, on Oct. 12, 1972, complaining of not feeling well and "puffiness" in her face and hands.

Sears prescribed one tablet a day of Enduron, a moderate diuretic.

Mrs. Cooper later called Sears' office and said the tablet had made her feel ill, and the nurse told her to stop the medicine until Sears returned to town on Oct. 20. On that day Mrs. Cooper saw Sears again and told him she was still not feeling well, she had nausea and the puffiness, or edema.

Sears told her to resume taking the Enduron.

On Oct. 21, Mrs. Cooper called her husband home from work, and the next day, a Sunday, Cooper called the doctor. Sears told him to give his wife only liquids and bring her into the office on Monday.

Cooper gave his wife a glass of tea and shortly afterwards found her unconscious. He rushed her to Heights Hospital, where she was admitted in a coma.

Sears' final diagnosis was brain damage due to coma caused probably by a severe electrolyte imbalance.

Aggie Moms Hear History of A&M

Texas A&M University, established in 1876 with three buildings and six students, now has an enrollment of 31,000, with an estimated 300 million dollars in its physical status. The school, tripling in size during the last dozen years, has been for these past few years the national leader in enrollment gains.

Those items of information and others were presented by Dr. Lowell Schake, Ph.D., last week at a dinner hosted by the Hereford Aggie Moms. Dr. Schake teaches both graduate and undergraduate courses in beef production at A&M.

About 40 Aggies, Aggie parents and friends gathered in the Halbert Room to hear Dr. Schake's discussion about the growth, programs and activities at the school predicted by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, to have the largest increase of any public senior college during the next 10 years.

Concerning the school's three primary programs, teaching, research and public service, Dr. Schake touched briefly on the activity and growth in each area. Texas A&M is No. 1 in the nation in total agriculture, engineering and veterinary students. In animal science alone, there are 1200 students and 200 graduates enrolled. A&M has a faculty of 1750, three-fourths of these are Ph.D.s, and many from foreign countries. Texas A&M attracts students from every state in the nation and 75 foreign countries.

Dr. Schake expressed his belief that A&M's increase during the past 10 years compared to some other institutions' decrease reflects its conservative, hard working atmosphere. A&M boasts more national merit scholars than any other institute in the Southwest, ranking 15th in the nation. Entering freshmen scored 135 points higher than the national norm on SAT (Scholastic Aptitude Test).

Although 2200 in number at the present time, the Corps of Cadets still provide the leadership and standards at the school. Approximately one-third of A&M enrollment is now girls, who were admitted to the all male school about 15 years ago.

In research, the National Science Foundation ranks A&M among the 20 leading institutions in expenditures for research activities. Studies range from pollution control to highway safety, energy conservation, higher crop yield, animal health and urban transit.

As a public service, Texas Engineering Extension Service offers a variety of training programs benefitting the people of Texas; some 400-450 meetings are held every year.

Although the school recognizes imperfection Schake said it is significant that drug usage on campus is minimal. He went on to stress the importance of the students' home life and background training. He feels the students are getting more independent and sophisticated. Due to increased experiences, going off to college is not the big event that it used to be, and this makes the job of teaching different too, he said.

Associated with the school since 1962, Dr. Schake referred to himself as a "transplanted Aggie." He was presented with a gift of appreciation from the Aggie Moms by their president, Charmaine Klett.

Reviewing History

Charmaine Klett, president of Hereford Aggie Moms, is shown with Dr. Lowell Schake, Ph.D., as they read "History of Texas A&M University 1876-1976." Dr. Schake addressed the local Aggie Moms last week, outlining the growth, programs and curriculum at A&M.

Ann Landers

Truckers Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Do you want to save some lives? If so, please print this. I'm the wife of a truck driver. I returned a few days ago after a cross-country trip with my husband. I'm still shaking as I recall the number of tragic accidents that were avoided only because of my husband's skill and split-second timing. Please do millions of people a favor and print the following tips to those who are driving passenger vehicles.

1. Don't pull out in front of a truck unless you have plenty of room. If you're adhering to the 55 m.p.h. speed limit, this means at least 1/2 mile to one mile. Most semi-trucks have a gross-loaded weight of between 70,000 and 80,000 pounds. This weight will not stop on a dime. Either the truck will go into the ditch or you will be creamed.

2. Know who is behind you. When you approach a traffic light and it turns yellow, look in your rear-view mirror. If a truck is approaching fast, go through the yellow light. If he can't stop and you DO, you'll be pushed through the intersection anyway.

3. Drive the speed limit when conditions are good. Slowpokes are a hazard. If you enjoy sight-seeing, do it on a highway where commercial vehicles are not permitted.

4. When you pull into the left lane to pass, for heaven's sakes, pass! Don't drive alongside a car for five miles. Someone else might want to pass, too. When it's a truck you're trying to pass, be aware that the truck drive has a blind spot. If you're in a small car, you will be out of sight in certain places. Pass as quickly and safely as possible.

I could go on and on but these are the major problems. Please tell your readers, Ann, to remember this above all: If a car and a truck have an accident, the people in the car are almost certain to get the worst of it. -- Mpls. Trucker's Wife

DEAR WIFE: On behalf of my millions of readers, thank you for what is sure to be a life-saving contribution to this column.

DEAR ANN: Recently my husband and I had dinner at a Japanese steak house with two other couples. As is customary, we were seated around the cooking area enjoying ourselves.

We all ordered a glass of plum wine. A young woman seated nearby asked if the wine was good. I replied, "Yes." She then asked me, "May I taste yours?"

I hesitated -- reluctant to share my glass with her. Another woman in our party then passed HER glass. The stranger took a sip, said,

"Thank you! It's delicious," and passed the glass back.

My husband felt I was ungracious for not sharing my glass with her and said, "Mrs. C. really showed you up."

Was I impolite, as my husband claims? -- Mrs. X

DEAR MRS. X: Sorry, I disagree with your husband. It was extremely rude of that woman to ask for a sip of wine from your glass. You were wise to hesitate and Mrs. C. was foolish to offer hers. A tactful response would have been, "The wine IS delicious. May I order you a glass?"

Dance To Benefit Kidney Foundation

The Panhandle Kidney Foundation will hold their semi-formal benefit dance on the night of Saturday, April 28 in the Knights of Columbus Hall. The charity event is to be sponsored jointly by St. Anthony's Women's Organization and the Knights of Columbus.

Admission to the dance will be $15 per couple. All ticket proceeds will go directly to the Kidney Foundation. A live band of local musicians will perform.

Tickets are available from Mrs. Thomas Albracht, 276-5817, Mrs. Walter Paetzold, 364-2723 or Mrs. Leander Reinart, 276-5561. Also, individuals who are interested in making a donation to the Kidney Foundation may contact one of the above women.

Allen Brockman and Leander Reinart are currently serving on the board of directors of the Kidney Foundation of the Panhandle. Both men are from Hereford.

Lone Star Women Prepare for Forum

Members of Lone Star Study Club made plans for their role in the Women's Forum luncheon to be held April 30 during a business meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. G.W. Newsom. Mrs. Frank Morgan and Margaret Ann Durham acted as cohostesses.

Mrs. Durham, president of the club, heard standing committee reports and it was announced that the club's final spring meeting will be a covered dish luncheon May 8 at the Community Center.

Mrs. Jim Bookout, program chairman, introduced the program, which was given by Mrs. Virgil Dodson and her grand-niece Kathy Morrison. Combining posters and slides, they depicted the contrasting beauty of the Lone Star State. They told their audience of the state's 70 state parks, three national parks, four national forests and four state forests as well as other tourist attractions.

Mrs. Dodson and her grand-niece revealed that 14 states could easily fit into Texas' boundaries with the District of Columbia thrown in for good measure. They also emphasized the ten major travel trails in Texas.

In attendance for the program were Mmes. L.N. Cox, Arthur Dettmann, W.H. Goettsch, H.E. Henslee, Don Davidson, F.O. Naylor, John R. Stevenson, J.C. Williams, S.S. Williams, M.H. Wiseman, R.G. Blue, Jim Higgins, Robert Thompson and S.A. McCathern.

Mrs. Springer Gives Lecture

Local aesthetician Daleine Springer presented a lecture on skin care last week to approximately 30 members of the Amarillo Hairdressers Association. The program was given at Lady Fair Salon in Sunset Center.

After her presentation, Mrs. Springer answered questions from the audience concerning skin care products, their use on various types of skin, machine application and techniques.

Bob Parks of Salon 2900 expressed appreciation on behalf of the Hairdressers Association to Mrs. Springer for her time.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

At least a dozen times during a year, I will hear from a reader who wonders what a superficial column on Monday dieters, oversexed coat hangers, legally dead football enthusiasts, and siblings who argue for a living, is doing in a newspaper.

It does seem incongruous -- in the midst of global wars, energy crises, unemployment, rising food costs and nuclear threats -- that my prime concern is taking the static electricity out of my underwear.

On occasion when the criticism gets through to me, I pull out a letter written by a surgeon in Derry, N.H. In it, he describes the cardiac operating suite in a general hospital.

"I stare in wonder like any visitor.

"The blood sweeps rich and red through the bypass pump, its pulsating progress checked constantly by the 'pump driver,' the technician entrusted with this flow of life. Other artisans huddle over their machines and monitor the rhythms of existence.

"The knives flash in the brilliance of the overhead lights. Clamp, tie, cut.

"The hours go by. The surgeons stand like storks over the patient and by their side leans the nurse orchestrating with now weary gestures the clamor and chatter of the instruments, the sounds of survival.

"All is science. Technology is god. The room is a cathedral to the detachment, the unreality and the impersonality of modern life. And to life's inconsistencies.

"Because there, over there in the corner, beside the stainless steel supplies, the burnished sinks, the abundant accumulations of the systems of surgery, there on the notice board with all its checklists and warnings and instructions to those who worship at this temple, is stuck a piece of newspaper, the down-to-earth, back-to-basics benediction of the Erma Bombeck columns.

"I call it re-entry to reality. A welcome home."

I've read that letter a thousand times. Maybe I need reassuring more than my readers that this day a new baby will utter his first words, "Make him stop looking at me," a bird will get sauced on pyracantha berries, and my mother will duly report that she became constipated...in Mexico.

Mike Hull To Receive Bachelor's

Mike Hull, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Hull of Hereford, will receive his bachelor's degree during spring commencement at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

Hull's major field of study is psychology.

Wayland Baptist College is a four-year liberal arts private institution. It celebrated its 70th anniversary in 1978. After nearly three-quarters of a century, Wayland maintains a strong enrollment of nearly 1,200 students in one of four degree programs. In addition to its traditional liberal arts program, the school offers a specialized vocational-industrial degree, the Bachelor of Science in Occupational Education.

Local Residents Return From Bluebonnet Tour

Eight Hereford residents were among the 119 area people on the South Padre Island/Rio Grande Valley/Blue Bonnets tour sponsored by Trailways Tours of Amarillo.

Those from Hereford were Mr. and Mrs. J.O. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Gilliland, Lilah Grubb and Ethel Womble. Robert and Alice Thompson served as escorts. Also on the tour were Mrs. Doyle Hinrichsen and Frank Jones, former Hereford residents now from Hagerman, N.M. and Canyon, respectively.

J.O. Robinson was master of ceremonies at one of the Farewell Banquets and Marlin Gilliland at another. The tour departed Amarillo on three Trailways Silver Eagle Motorcoaches. The route was through Lubbock, Lamesa, Big Spring and San Angelo. The first night was spent at Uvalde.

They left Uvalde, passed through Laredo, then followed the Rio Grande Valley through McAllen and Harlingen to South Padre Island for two nights. The next morning they went to Brownsville, where they boarded Gray Line buses for a shopping and sightseeing tour of Matamoros, Mexico. Early in the afternoon, they returned to South Padre Island across the Laguna Madre by way of Queen Isabella causeway. There the group enjoyed a seafood dinner at Louie's Backyard Restaurant.

Leaving South Padre Island, the route of travel was through the vast King Ranch, 823,400 acres, to the headquarters. A tour of the ranch headquarters featured feeding pens, show pens, thoroughbred training stables, quarter horses, and Santa Gertrudis cattle grazing in the lush pastures.

On arrival in Corpus Christi, the tour groups boarded Gray Line buses for a tour of the beautiful bay front, Corpus Christi Bay, the United States' ninth largest port, residential areas, Corpus Christi Cathedral, yacht basin, and harbor bridge. Then the travelers enjoyed one final evening of the sale air of the Gulf of Mexico.

A short morning drive allowed for a noon arrival in San Antonio. That afternoon shopping, visiting the Alamo, attending an interesting five-screen, quadraphonic presentation entitled "Remember the Alamo," dinner and strolling along the river was enjoyed at the tower of the Americas Restaurant located in HemisFair Plaza.

Leaving San Antonio at mid-afternoon, the sightseers traveled to Austin. After dinner they drove down Congress Street for a night view of the Capitol building, the campus of the University of Texas, the Governor's mansion, and then to their rooms. The next morning, they took a guided tour of the State Capitol and visited the Lyndon Baines Johnson Library, where three floors of the eight-story structure contained exhibits highlighting President Johnson's public career of forty years.

The next stop was at Johnson City and a visit to Johnson's Boyhood Home, preserved essentially as he knew it. Continuing on, the group boarded a National Parks tour bus to visit the one-room school house, the Lyndon B. Johnson birthplace, the Johnson Family Cemetery, the "Texas White House" and across the beautiful ranch lands stocked with registered Hereford cattle, and along the Pedernales River back to ranch headquarters. Afterwards, the group traveled to the Highlander Inn at Burnet for their farewell banquet.

The last day took the tour members on a leisurely, meandering trip through the Texas Hill Country for a view of Texas Bluebonnets, found in profusion along with other colorful wild flowers.

The travelers returned home last mid-week.

IN WASHINGTON Martha Angle and Robert Walters Another oil Serenade

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The nation once again is being serenaded by the major oil companies, offering the latest rendition of their theme song: With the "right economic climate," the petroleum industry can serve the country's energy needs.

The lyrics never change. "Companies need added income in order to accelerate domestic production," says the American Petroleum Institute in arguing for decontrol of crude oil prices now regulated by the federal government.

Those controls currently impose a ceiling price of about $12.50 per barrel for "upper tier" domestic crude obtained from "new" wells that began production since 1975. For "lower tier" crude from "old" pre-1975 wells, the limit is approximately $5.50 per barrel.

That substantial price disparity is supposed to stimulate exploration for previously untapped sources of oil. But the multinational energy corporations, as usual, aren't content with a price that has increased more than 400 percent since the early 1970s.

They want the "cartel price" established by OPEC, the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, which now stands at about $13.50 per barrel in the country of origin and almost $15.00 per barrel for oil landed in the United States.

The petroleum industry has a penchant for portraying itself as a bastion of free enterprise which could satisfy much of the nation's energy demand if only it were unshackled from the artificial government price restrictions administered by inept bureaucrats.

But a recently released report, commissioned by the Department of Energy, conclusively demonstrates that the federal government — and the taxpayers who provide its financing — has provided billions of dollars to prop up companies engaged in the exploration, production, refining and distribution of oil.

The little-publicized report is the product of a two-year study conducted by the Pacific Northwest Laboratory of Richland, Wash., a subsidiary of the prestigious Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio.

The Battelle analysts examined all federal incentives provided from 1950 through 1977 to stimulate production of various forms of energy, then assigned costs to those incentives based on 1977 price levels.

Included were both direct subsidies, usually in the form of federal expenditures, and indirect incentives such as tax deductions and other potential industry payments that the government foregoes collecting.

Federal incentives under the present system of control, in the form of a premium price for "new oil," totalled $23.94 billion. For low-production "stripper wells," the industry received an additional $12.14 billion worth of benefits.

The notorious tax deduction known as the "oil depletion allowance" has been worth $36.23 billion to the industry, while another special tax advantage for "intangible drilling and development costs" provided a $14.16 bonanza.

Additional billions of dollars in government incentives have flowed to the oil companies in the form of federally financed geological surveys, oil import quotas, and artificially high tariff rates for oil pipelines.

There's more, including the Interstate Oil Compact Act of 1935, the Connally Hot Oil Act of 1935, the Jones Act of 1915 and the Deepwater Ports Act of 1974.

Not included, because it's technically not an incentive for domestic oil production, is a scheme that prior to 1975 allowed the oil companies to receive a full credit against their federal taxes for uncounted billions of dollars paid in foreign taxes.

The 27-year total for all direct and indirect subsidies: Almost $101.40 billion. But that hasn't satisfied the oil industry, which now wants another round of "financial incentives" — at an additional cost of $13 billion to $15 billion per year.

Rangers Split With Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) - The short series with the Cleveland Indians ended one day too late as far as Texas Rangers Manager Pat Corrales was concerned.

Gary Alexander's three-run homer in the seventh inning Wednesday gave the Indians a 6-4 victory, a split of their two-game series with the Rangers and their first win against Texas in five meetings this season.

In fact, the third homer in as many days for the awakening Indians gave Cleveland its first triumph over the Rangers in 14 games, and only its third in 24 meetings dating back to July 17, 1977.

"They (the Indians) just hadn't been hitting and I said (Tuesday) I wanted to get out of here before they started that stuff," Corrales said, shaking his head. "They've got some guys that can flat drop it on you quick."

For the Indians, who picked up only their third victory in 10 outings this season, it was a moral booster as they headed into a day off today.

"That's the day I've been waiting for since the season started," said Alexander, who came up with three hits and a bases-loaded walk for his fourth run batted in of the game.

"I think everybody's been loosening up since the first home run Monday at Boston by Toby Harrah. Before that, everybody was pressing to hit it out because that's what everybody was expecting from us."

"Now we're relaxing and everybody is starting to swing like they can," the power-hitting catcher added.

Left-hander Sid Monge, 1-0, gained the victory with three innings of one-hit, shutout pitching in relief of rookie right-hander Eric Wilkins. Wilkins limited the Rangers to seven hits and struck out seven, while Monge added four strikeouts.

"He (Wilkins) got in a couple of tough situations and really bowed his neck and worked out of it," said Cleveland Manager Jeff Torborg. "I was very pleased with the job he did, and he's going to be better every time out."

The 22-year-old pitcher, who made only his second major league appearance, agreed with his manager.

"My curve ball, which is a lot like a slider, is really my best pitch, and I'm not even close to throwing it well yet," Wilkins explained. "When I throw it right, you'll see what I mean."

"Right now, I'm relying mostly on my fastball, but I'm not afraid to throw it (the curve) outside or in the spots."

As for Monge, who has given up one run and seven hits in 10 1/2 innings, Torborg said. "He's gaining more confidence in himself every time he goes out there. Sid is pitching a lot and it seems like the more he pitches, the better his stuff gets."

Astros Take 2 of 3 From Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Houston Astros Manager Bill Virdon watched his team win its second successive series over Los Angeles and remarked in understanding, "I'd say we have established the fact that we can stay in the same ballpark with the Dodgers."

The latest Houston victory came Wednesday night as Vern Ruhle threw a six-hit shutout at Los Angeles in the Astros' 4-0 triumph.

Houston increased its lead in the National League West to two games, and Los Angeles dropped 3 1/2 games behind and into fifth place, the lowest the Dodgers have been in the standings in three years.

"We just couldn't produce a thing," said Los Angeles Manager Tom Lasorda after his club suffered its seventh loss in its last nine games and second shutout defeat in three nights.

Houston jumped on Los Angeles' starter and loser Doug Rau, 0-2, for three runs in the second inning and that was plenty for the 28-year-old Ruhle, who earned his first victory in three decisions.

Ruhle, released last spring by the Detroit Tigers after experiencing arm trouble, permitted only two runs past first base in pitching his third NL shutout.

"It was nice to get a few breaks and getting those runs early made my job easier," said Ruhle.

"He had good control, good stuff and enough zip on his fastball," Virdon said following the Astro's seventh complete game in 13 starts, and the mound staff's fourth shutout.

Third baseman Ron Cey collected three of Los Angeles' six hits. Cey, who had labored through a 0-for-19 slump, said, "He (Ruhle) pitched very well. Their pitching staff is hot. That's one reason we're getting beat, because someone else is playing good baseball."

"We're just not doing some of the things we know we can do. But a lot of clubs would like to be 6-8."

Rau said afterward that part of his problem is a sore shoulder. He has failed to last more than five innings in any of his three starts and his earned run average is 6.23.

"The stiffness in the shoulder definitely is bothering me," said the Los Angeles left-hander. "It's throwing me off, but with six days before my next start, I feel things will change."

Jose Cruz doubled home Houston's first run in the second inning.

By The Associated Press

MIAMI (AP) - Ralph Ortega, who said he wanted to come home to Miami, got his wish Wednesday when the Miami Dolphins obtained the 25-year-old linebacker from the Atlanta Falcons for a third-round choice in the National Football League draft.

"It feels very good to be with the Dolphins," said Ortega, a prep star in Coral Gables, Fla., and later the University of Florida.

Ortega was a second-round draft pick by Atlanta in 1975 and was a starter on the 1977 Falcon defense that allowed only 129 points. But he had contract disagreements with Atlanta, then suffered knee and ankle injuries in preseason play last year. He spent the season on the bench, waiting out his option.

Then he signed a two-year contract with Atlanta last week to facilitate the trade with Miami.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Mayor Richard Berkley says he's looking forward to "many pleasant mornings, savoring both victory and grapefruit for breakfast."

After Tuesday night, he's hoping he won't have to swap that for the doldrums and some Kansas City steaks.

Berkley's office said Wednesday he had placed a friendly wager with Phoenix Mayor Margaret Hance over the outcome of the National Basketball Association playoffs between the Kansas City Kings and Phoenix Suns.

The stakes: Kansas City steaks vs. Phoenix grapefruit.

Berkley's confidence took a shot Tuesday night when Phoenix won the first game of the best-of-7 series 102-99 in Phoenix. The two clubs meet again Friday night in Kansas City.

NEW YORK (AP) - Stuart Goldstein of the United States and Mohibullah Khan Jr. of Pakistan won first-round matches in the $10,000 Boodles World Cup Squash Racquets round robin at the Uptown Racquet Club here.

The competition, first ever featuring champions from five countries, saw Goldstein, the 1978 World Pro Champion, defeat Mario Sanchez, Mexico's top player, 15-13, 17-15, 15-9.

Khan, the Pakistani champion and No. 3 in the world, beat Ahmed Safwat, No. 1 in Egypt and five-time British Open champion, 15-12, 11-15, 15-7, 15-5. Khan and Safwat were making their first appearance in U.S. competition.

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) - Salisbury State College football coach Richard Yobst submitted his resignation Wednesday to return fulltime as assistant dean of student affairs, school officials said.

'Roone's Revenge' Killing Telecasts Luzinski's Shot Powers Phillies

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Add "Roone's Revenge" to the long list of problems dragging down the image of the National Basketball Association and its national television ratings.

For those not up on their letter games, the NBA has not always been on CBS and it hasn't always been in trouble. In fact in 1973, when the New York Knicks won the championship, the NBA was on ABC and on top of the Sunday ratings heap, easily beating its competition - NBC's hockey and CBS' "Sports Spectacular."

But pro basketball decided to take its product elsewhere and, according to ABC, was underhanded in its method of delivering the NBA to CBS. Which brings us back to "Roone's Revenge."

When he lost pro basketball from his stable, Roone Arledge, president of ABC News and Sports, counter-programmed boldly and brilliantly on Sunday. The results are that Sunday "Wide World of Sports" is now the top weekend sports series with a rating of 14.0, meaning 14 percent of all television homes are watching. ABC's other Sunday shows - "International Boxing" and "The Superstars" - are ranked third and fourth, respectively.

And where is the NBA on CBS, you ask?

In 15th place for all weekend sports series with a rating of 4.8. The ratings have been so low that last month an NBA game drew a 4.9 while the women's college basketball championship on NBC later in the day drew a 5.1 the day drew a 5.1.

And don't think Arledge and ABC aren't smiling all the way to the bank.

When Bill Russell was cackling and commenting on the NBA broadcasts for ABC in 1973, pro basketball's season ratings were a 10.0. Those ratings included some prime time broadcasts but they still were markedly better than CBS' current figures.

But some elements in the pro basketball community were disenchanting with ABC. In particular Jack Kent Cooke of the Los Angeles Lakers and Franklin Mieuli of the Golden State Warriors. According to Jim Spence, vice president of ABC Sports, Cooke and Mieuli wanted to concentrate on cable television and they figured CBS would be less difficult to deal with on that issue than ABC.

So Spence says that on the advice of Cooke and Mieuli, the NBA lawyers wrote a contract offering pro basketball to ABC but demanding that the network's broadcasts be at 2 p.m. on Saturday. That day, of course, is reserved for college football on ABC.

"We had first rights to the NBA but they structured it so we couldn't accept. We had a contract for college football, and they knew that. The NBA chose to leave us, they screwed us. But it's probably the best thing that's ever happened to us."

One year later, Spence reports, Mieuli and Cooke's lawyer, Alan Rothenberg, came to see Arledge about getting the NBA back on ABC.

"It wasn't a very long meeting," Spence said.

Right now ABC is the golden network, and it isn't because of the color of their announcers' blazers. The NBA episode proves that even when ABC loses, it wins.

Hollmann Signs With SMU

DALLAS (AP) - Mark Hollmann, a 6-foot-9 pivot man from Edison Junior College in Ft. Myers, Fla., has signed a national letter of intent to play basketball with Southern Methodist University.

Hollmann averaged 21.8 points per game and 11.0 rebounds while leading Edison to a conference championship and the state finals.

SMU Coach Sonny Allen said of Hollmann "He will help us out at pivot. He is a good, solid, top-notch player and he'll give us a lot of inside strength."

The fireworks at Three Rivers Stadium was a little premature, and anyway, it hardly compared with the rocket Greg Luzinski sent into the fifth level seats.

"Awesome. That's the only word to describe it," said Philadelphia pitcher Randy Lerch of the 500-foot shot by his teammate that gave the Phillies a 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh Wednesday night.

Luzinski's sixth-inning home run to left was the first ever by a visiting player into the fifth level's yellow seats. It went over the fence at the 350-foot mark, about 85 feet above the ground.

Former Pirate Bob Robertson was the only other man ever to hit one to that spot, and Pirates first baseman Willie Stargell sent one to the same level in right field in 1973.

"I thought it was going out of the stadium," Don Robinson, the Pirates losing pitcher, said after he watched Luzinski launch one of his curve balls.

Luzinski's two-run homer his second of the season, came three innings after Bake McBride's third home run in two nights gave the Phils a 1-0 lead.

Stargell homered off Lerch in the eighth, driving in two runs, and in the ninth - for one brief moment - the Pirates thought they had escaped their third straight loss and fourth this season to the Phils.

In other National League games, San Diego edged San Francisco 7-6, Montreal defeated the New York Mets 6-5, St. Louis downed the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 14 innings and Houston whitewashed Los Angeles 4-0.

Padres 7, Giants 6

Joe Coleman's pitching line in the San Francisco-San Diego boxscore showed all zeros, but his one pitch lost the game for the Giants. San Francisco reliever Gary Lavelle was ejected by plate umpire Dave Pallone, an amateur ump subbing for the major league's striking pro umps, with the score tied 6-6, two outs in the bottom of the ninth and a 3-1 count on Mike Hargrove. Lavelle argued too vehemently that his fourth pitch to Hargrove was not a ball.

Coleman's only pitch of the ball game was low and outside, forcing home Bill Almon with the winning run and capping a three-run San Diego rally.

Expos 6, Mets 5

Montreal rallied for two runs in the ninth - including Ellis Valentine's game-winning single - to send the Mets down to defeat for the fourth straight time.

Warren Cromartie's bases-loaded, double-play grounder scored the tying run, and then the Mets watched helplessly while Valentine's hit handed New York its fifth one-run loss of the young season.

Cards 3, Cubs 2

Tony Scott scored from third base on Mike Phillips' slow roller down the first-base line to tie the game in the seventh inning, then seven innings later knocked in the winning run with a single. With one out in the top of the 14th, Keith Hernandez doubled, and after an intentional walk to Ted Simmons, Hernandez took third on a forceout. Scott's line single to left brought Hernandez home.

Supervised Trap Shoot Scheduled for Youth

Local youngsters will get an opportunity to shoot under adult supervision during a youth day at the Hereford Gun Club Sunday.

Activities will get underway with registration at the HGC range east of the Hereford Airport at 2 p.m., and youngsters will begin shooting at 3 p.m.

According to Jim Clarke, HGC president, the youth day is being conducted to help demonstrate to local youngsters and parents that trap shooting is a good family sport.

The youth day will also provide an opportunity for instructing youngsters in the proper handling of firearms, as well as giving youth who have never fired a gun an opportunity to do so.

Activities will be broken into age groups for 14 and under and 15 through 18, and according to Clarke, youngsters 14 years of age and under must be accompanied by a parent.

Following a session of safety instructions to be provided by HGC members and local law enforcement officers, the two age groups will be allowed to fire at 10 trap targets. The top shooters in the two age groups will receive a trophy.

Gun club members will provide guns and ammunition for those who do not own a firearm, but Clarke indicated that those youths who have their own guns may bring them, and will be expected to furnish their own shells.

No fees will be charged for the trap shooting during the special activities.

A regular practice session for gun club members will precede the youth day activities at 1 p.m.

Clarke indicated that local residents are invited to make the youth day a family event.

Restroom and concession facilities are available at the gun club.

Competition at the regional level begins tomorrow with the girls track team Barbara Scott representing the area in the golfing domain and the HHS tennis doubles team of Pudgy Vargas and Jimmy Rameriz all in Lubbock, working for a spot in Austin.

Miss Scott will be making her third consecutive trip to the regional level and will be trying to repeat her sophomore performance when she landed a state berth with a second place finish at regional.

The fens track team, which will be sending five individuals and three relay teams will be after a possible team trophy and spots in the state meet in May.

The mile relay team, after some impromptu checking has the second fastest reported time, at 4:03.3, and Coach Roy Shipp feels the girls can dip below the 4:00 mark if the conditions allow it. Members of the team are Darlene Sanders, Velma Arroyos, Linda Walterscheid and Louise Mays. Other team members competing in the meet are Beverly Nixon, Connie Huffaker, Theresa Schilling, and Jennifer Griffin.

The tennis duo of Vargas and Rameriz captured second in the district meet a couple of weeks ago and will be trying to match that performance or better this weekend as they compete in the Region I meet.

SW
If you want to see some excellent track competition in Hereford, be out at the track today at 4:30 to witness WTSU Invitational. There will be four college teams entered and the action will be exciting.

SW
The Boys track team, under Coach Lester Kirkland, will also be in Lubbock this weekend as they compete at the district level for the 4-4A track crown.

According to Coach Kirkland, the mile relay, the 880, the 440 and the 220 will be the strong points for the Whitefaces. But along with these, the rest of the team will be running and gunning for an opportunity to match the girls success in the area of track.

SW
Speaking of running, Dean Fox, Hereford's own "Marathon Man" took fourth in his division last weekend in a half-marathon and will be going this weekend to a meet in Amarillo where he will run the 13 mile course once again.

The next time Fox plans on running a full marathon will be the Amarillo fun-fest in May.

SW
As unexciting as running may seem, there are some individuals in Hereford that make it a habit and it is more than something that has to be done but a way to relax.

One example of this is Janey Whitaker, who every morning at 6 and in the afternoon can be seen running at the Whiteface track along with other running enthusiasts.

Mrs. Whitaker said that what started out as a way to lose weight now is just a daily part of her lifestyle and a part that she enjoys.

Mayer Invited To Championships

HOUSTON (AP) - Gene Mayer has labored quietly on the "back courts" around the World Championship Tennis circuit this season never advancing past the quarter-finals or endangering the computer rankings of his opponents.

Yet suddenly, Mayer finds himself invited to center court for the WCT Championship finals at Dallas April 30-May 6 where he will have a shot at a $100,000 payday along with such superstars as John McEnroe, Jimmy Connors, Vitas Gerulaitis and Bjorn Borg.

Mayer assured himself of a trip to Dallas Wednesday at the $175,000 WCT tournament at River Oaks Country Club when he defeated Puerto Rico's Francisco Gonzales 6-0, 7-5.

Earlier, Mayer upset No. 1 seeded Harold Solomon to keep alive a slim chance at reaching the finals.

The WCT points Mayer has earned so far in the tournament, coupled with the fact that Arthur Ashe, Guillermo Vilas and Roscoe Tanner will not play at Dallas, clinched at least the No. 8 spot for Mayer.

Although aware he's backing into the tournament, Mayer plans to play more than a supporting role at Dallas.

"Right now I'm just happy to be in the tournament but by the time I get to Dallas I'll be expecting to win," said Mayer. "I'll do a lot of practicing before the finals."

In the only other match completed on Wednesday's rain-shortened schedule, fourth seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain easily defeated West Germany's Ulrich Pinner 6-4, 6-0.

Orantes is playing in only his fourth tournament in seven months, trying to overcome the effects of a knee operation and a bout with tennis elbow.

"Since I haven't played a lot, I don't have a lot of confidence," said Orantes, the 1975 U.S. Open champion. "So today I just tried to keep the ball in play. I've played well in practice, but you need to play tournaments to improve."

Pinner assisted Orantes with his lack of patience and with his attempts to come to net. Orantes took control in the final game of the first set with several tricky drop shots that left Pinner screaming in frustration at one point.

"I think after the first set he felt he couldn't beat me," said Orantes, who never has lost to Pinner. "He normally doesn't come to net but I think he tried to change his game and try something different."

Second seeded Roscoe Tanner had won the first set 7-5 against Italy's Adriano Panatta before tournament director Harry Parten announced the tournament was being suspended for the day because of approaching thunderstorms

76ers Hope Home Court Cools Spurs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The Philadelphia 76ers are in hot water, and the coming of the Ice man is no remedy.

That's because the Ice man is San Antonio's explosive forward George Gervin, who has hit 25 of 37 shots for 60 points in the Spurs' two victories over the 76ers in their best-of-seven National Basketball Association playoff series.

Friday, San Antonio will want to defeat the Sixers, who hope that the homecourt advantage will dull the Spurs' shooting.

And it's not just the Ice man who's been red hot. In Tuesday's 121-120 victory in San Antonio, Larry Kenon had 27 points giving him 57 points on 26-for-51 shooting in two games, James Silas added 24 and the Spurs shot 59.1 percent as a team.

In the first game Sunday, the Spurs shot 52 percent, giving them a 55 percent accuracy average from the field in the two games, compared to the Sixers' 48.5 percent.

"I thought we did a good job of cutting into their execution,"

Richard Sheppard, D.D.S. General Dentistry

Hours by appointment.
909 E. Park 364-7490 said the Sixers' Julius Erving, who had 25 points and pulled the 76ers to within a point in the closing seconds Tuesday.

"But they got great individual efforts," Erving said. "How long can you continue to shoot 60 percent? The law of averages has to swing in our favor if we keep playing hard."

Not according to the Spurs. "They're scared," said Silas, whose knees once again seem capable of taking him to the heights of his American Basketball Association reputation after two years of limping recovery.

"They tried everything and it didn't work. I can see they're frustrated," said Silas.

"We'll sweep it in four," said Spurs' center Mike Green. "Nah, make it five. So we can wrap it up at home."

The Spurs' confidence is in marked contrast to their past playoff performances. The Central Division champions haven't won a playoff series since 1968 - when they were the Dallas Chaparrals in the non-defunct ABA. They've lost 10 straight series since then, never winning two consecutive games before the matchup with the Sixers.

"It's the mark of a championship club, a club making the big plays," said Allan Bristow, whose crucial 23-foot jumper with 49 seconds Tuesday magnified a five-point performance.

"I can't remember ever winning a close game in the playoffs. It takes a game or two like that to win the championship," added Bristow.

So the Spurs are riding into town on a high horse. But the 76ers are far from ready to throw in the towel.

Lakers, Sonics Move To LA In Western Playoffs

SEATTLE (AP) — As if the Los Angeles Lakers aren't in enough trouble, Seattle's John Johnson had to rub it in.

"Gus Williams recently gets keyed up when he goes down there (Los Angeles)," Johnson said Wednesday night after Williams led the SuperSonics to a wild 108-103 overtime victory over the Lakers in their National Basketball Association playoff series.

The triumph before 26,862 Kingdome fans, the Sonics' largest crowd this season, gave Seattle a 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven Western Conference semifinals series. Game 3 is set for Friday night in Los Angeles.

The 6-foot-2 Williams, a fourth-year pro who played college ball at Southern Cal, scored six of his game-high 38 points in overtime, including a 20-footer with 52 seconds left that broke a 103-103 tie.

Williams has scored 65 points, grabbed 11 rebounds, dished out five assists and made four steals in the series.

"He wants to play better,"

Johnson said. "It'll be a great game."

"It's going to be tough there. You've got to win on the road if you're going to go places. It's that simple."

Williams said, "Things seemed to fall into place tonight. We played good ball up until the last couple of minutes. The Lakers never really gave up. We'll have our hands full down there."

Wednesday night's game was one each team thought it had wrapped up in the final, frantic minutes of the fourth quarter.

The Lakers trailed 93-85 with 2:15 left to play, then gained a 93-93 tie with 52 seconds left on Adrian Dantley's basket off a steal. The Sonics came down court and Los Angeles rebounded Johnson's missed shot. The Lakers worked the ball around the perimeter before Norm Nixon canned an 18-footer with 10 seconds left for a 95-93 advantage.

After the teams traded time-outs, Dennis Johnson inbounded the ball to Williams who passed it to Sikma. Sikma's 15-footer was blocked by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar with three seconds left, but Sikma grabbed the carom and fed Dennis Johnson on the baseline. Johnson's 18-footer at the buzzer sent the game into overtime.

"I saw six seconds left when Abdul-Jabbar blocked Sikma's shot," said Nixon. "The team kind of relaxed because they thought time was going to expire."

"I feel good about all of my shots - as long as they go in," said Dennis Johnson, who scored six of his 17 points in overtime.

Jerry West, the Lakers' coach, said his team shouldn't be counted out of the series.

"I don't think our players feel that this is over yet," he said. "All we want to do is play as well as we have done in these last two games. Tonight they got a very fortunate break at the end of regulation time to tie it."

"You've got to win tough games somewhere along the line this time of year," West continued. "I would have loved to have played these last two games on our court."

Abdul-Jabbar, as usual, led the Lakers with 31 points, 15 rebounds and seven blocked shots.

The other second-round series also resume Friday night, with San Antonio at Philadelphia, Washington at Atlanta and Phoenix at Kansas City.

The Spurs won the first two games of their series at home, with guard George Gervin, the NBA scoring champion, getting 60 points on 25-for-37 shooting.

Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham says he plans to continue using forward Bobby Jones, a 6-foot-9 defensive star, against the 6-7 Gervin, a move he initiated in Tuesday night's 121-120 loss.

The move became necessary because of the injury to 6-5 guard Doug Collins. Philadelphia's top three healthy backcourtmen, Henry Bibby, Maurice Cheeks and Eric Money, are all small guards, and Gervin shot over them for 31 points in the series opener Sunday.

"I'm not really comfortable about doing it," admitted Jones. "For me to guard Gervin, we'll have to get more action on defense. You have to recover so quickly because he can beat you. It takes something out of your offense."

"You could see George's eyes light up when he knew they were changing their defense just for him," observed San Antonio center Billy Paultz.

Atlanta gained a split of the first two games at Landover, Md. by winning 107-99 Tuesday night.

"The victory gives us control of the series," said Tree Rollins, Atlanta's reserve center who scored four key points down the stretch.

The Hawks, who have won their last 17 home games, will be at home for three of the remaining five games of the best-of-seven series.

Phoenix goes for a 2-0 lead in its series with Kansas City. The Suns, led by Walter Davis and Paul Westphal, wiped out a nine-point halftime deficit en route to a 102-99 decision over the Kings in the series opener Tuesday night.

The Suns were leading 98-97 with 32 seconds left when Kansas City's Bill Robzine stole the ball from Truck Robinson and started to drive to the basket. But Robzine had the ball swiped away by Phoenix's Don Buse, setting up a stuff shot by Alvan Adams that sealed the victory.

Zimmer Simmering Over Umpire Dispute

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer

Don Zimmer has had his fill of the fill-in umpires.

The manager of the Boston Red Sox became enraged after Dallas Parks, a former International League umpire who is one of the replacements for the striking major league umpires, called ball four on a 3-1 count with Boston's Steve Renko pitching to Milwaukee's Sixto Lezcano with the bases loaded. That forced in the first run of the game, and the Brewers went on to win 4-1.

After the call, Zimmer marched to the mound, ostensibly to talk to Renko. When Parks came out to break up the huddle, the Red Sox manager gave him an earful.

"He said he blew the call," Zimmer said of Parks, who was unavailable for verification of that assertion. "It was a hell of a time to blow a call. I've never been an umpire biter and I don't want to be. I won't go out there unless I think I have a point."

Milwaukee got three more runs in the seventh inning on consecutive home runs by Paul Molitor and Sal Bando, a triple by Cecil Cooper and a single by Larry Hise. Boston's only run came on Rick Burleson's homer in the eighth.

In other American League games, the California Angels outscored the Minnesota Twins 11-6, the Chicago White Sox beat the Toronto Blue Jays 12-5, the Cleveland Indians topped the Texas Rangers 6-4, the Oakland A's defeated the Seattle Mariners 5-2 and the New York Yankees beat the Baltimore Orioles 3-1.

Angels 11, Twins 6 California won its seventh in a row, beating Minnesota in a game that included five errors and nine unearned runs. "It wasn't an artistic success, but so what?" said Angels Manager Jim Fregosi.

Former Twin Rod Carew went four-for-four plus a walk, scored three runs and drove in two for the Angels. It was the 44th four-hit game of Carew's brilliant career.

White Sox 12, Blue Jays 5 Greg Pryor, the No. 9 batter in the Chicago lineup, had three hits and drove in four runs as the White Sox pasted Toronto with an 18-hit attack.

Yankees 3, Orioles 1

Tommy John scattered eight hits in 7 1/2 innings for his third consecutive victory and Jim Spencer and Reggie Jackson belted home runs to lead New York to its fourth straight triumph.

Spencer's home in the fifth inning snapped a 1-1 tie and struck the facade of the third deck in right field, while Jackson's blast in the sixth inning cleared the fence near the 417-foot mark in center field.

He also won another American tour title in 1978, took the individual championship in the prestigious World Cup and then touched off the 1979 season by winning the first event, the Bob Hope Desert Classic.

With him out, nine multiple winners are left in the field. That will be chasing a first prize of $54,000 over the 6,889-yard, par-72 La Costa Country Club course.

The most recent, of course, is newly crowned Masters champion Fuzzy Zoeller, who also won in nearby San Diego earlier this season. Zoeller said he's "still on Cloud 9" from his playoff victory in Augusta, Ga.

One of the men he beat in that sudden death affair, Tom Watson, comes in with perhaps the strongest credentials, however. In addition to his Player of the Year titles the last two seasons and his position atop the year's money-winning list, Watson has finished second, first and second in his last three starts.

With his strong play and the sudden revival of Jack Nicklaus, who missed the Masters playoff by a single shot, another in the dramatic series of Watson-Nicklaus confrontations is a possibility.

Other multiple winners from the last 12 months are defending champion Gary Player, Andy Bean, Lee Elder, Lon Hinkle, Bruce Lietzke and Lanny Wadkins.

Hubert Green, Ben Crenshaw, Ray Floyd, Tom Kite, U.S. Open champ Andy North, Jerry Pate and Lee Trevino are other leading entrants. Also on hand are Bob Byman, Rod Funseth, Jerry Heard, Barry Jaeckel, Mark McCumber, Mac McLendon, Gil Morgan, Jim Nelson, Jack Newton, Jim Simons and Ron Streck complete the field.

NBC will provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday.

The tournament is sponsored by Mutual of New York.

Mahaffey Absence Leaves ToC With 28

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — The withdrawal of PGA champion John Mahaffey, who had planned to make a comeback try here, has left an elite field of only 28 pro golf tour winners arrayed for Thursday's start of the $300,000 Tournament of Champions.

Mahaffey, who underwent surgery on his left hand that was damaged in the Bing Crosby National Pro-Am, has been out of action for almost three months.

He arrived in La Costa over the weekend to practice for this exclusive event that brings together only the winners of regular pro golf tour tournaments from the preceding 12 months.

"He tried to play, but the hand became badly swollen and he had to quit," one tournament official said.

"He could have teed off and played a couple of holes and then pulled out and gotten last-place money ($3,400)," another official said, "but he said that wouldn't be right, wouldn't be fair to the people or the sponsors so he withdrew and went home."

Mahaffey, whose career has been plagued by injuries, last year won the Ben Hogan award for a comeback from another hand injury as well as elbow problems. That comeback was capped by his victory in the PGA National Championship.

He also won another American tour title in 1978, took the individual championship in the prestigious World Cup and then touched off the 1979 season by winning the first event, the Bob Hope Desert Classic.

According To USDA Projection

Corn Down Only One Percent

WASHINGTON (AP) - With demand for livestock feed rebounding, farmers say they will plant almost as much corn this year as last, when they wound up harvesting a record crop, according to the latest government survey.

The Agriculture Department said farmers intend to plant about 79.2 million acres of corn this spring for the 1979 harvest, less than 1 percent below last year's planted acreage of 79.7 million acres.

It said also that farmers plan to boost soybean plantings 7 percent to 68.8 million acres from 64 million acres in 1978. Last year's soybean harvest also was a record.

The prospective crop plantings were indicated in a survey April 1 of 44,000 farmers across the country.

Farmers in the major Corn Belt states said they plan to cut corn acreages about 1 percent this year, but those in the south central region intend a 6 percent reduction. Producers in the Southeast and West said they will plant 2 percent and 3 percent more, respectively.

Corn is the leading U.S. grain and, as feed, is vital for the production of meat, milk and poultry products. Soybeans are the source of vegetable oil and high-protein meal used in feed.

No forecasts of actual crop production were included in the report. Most of the crops will be planted in the next couple of months and will be harvested in the fall.

Cotton farmers said they plan to boost their plantings to 14.4 million acres, up 8 percent from less than 13.4 million acres last year.

Increased plantings also were indicated for durum and other spring-planted wheat. Winter wheat farmers also boosted their plantings last fall for the 1979 harvest.

But the report said farmers intend to plant fewer acres of some other crops, including sorghum, oats, barley and rice.

In a survey report last January, the department said farmers intended at that time to plant 1.2 percent more corn this spring and 3.5 percent more soybeans. Cotton plantings were indicated at 6 percent greater than last year.

Farmers currently are eligible to enroll in acreage set-aside programs aimed at curbing the production of wheat and feedgrains, primarily corn.

A similar set-aside program was in effect last year, requiring farmers to take part of their cropland from production in order to qualify for federal price supports on their crops.

Wheat production in 1978 dropped to 1.8 billion bushels, the first harvest in four years of less than two billion bushels.

But last year's corn crop, aided by nearly ideal weather, soared to another record of 7.1 billion bushels, up by more than 10 percent from 6.43 billion in 1977, the previous high.

Soybean output also climbed to another record last year of 1.84 billion bushels, up 4.5 percent from 1.76 billion bushels in 1977.

Cotton production, beset by poor yields and a smaller acreage, dropped 25 percent to 10.8 million bales last year from 14.4 million bales in 1977.

Although the U.S. grain stockpile is the largest since the early 1960s, export demand has been brisk and prices generally have held up relatively well.

The farm price of wheat in March, according to the department's preliminary figures, averaged $3.01 a bushel at the farm nationally against $2.67 a year earlier. Corn was even with a year ago at $2.15 a bushel, while soybeans were $7.08 a bushel, compared to $6.20 a year earlier.

Another reason for grain prices holding up despite the huge supply is the government's reserve program. Farmers have about 1.3 billion bushels - mostly corn and wheat - stored under it, locked off the market for up to three years or until prices rise enough to trigger release of the grain.

An increase in livestock feeding also is a big factor in the demand for grain, with pork and poultry expansion providing larger markets for feed grains and soybean meal.

The survey showed that farmers intend to plant 4.38 million acres of drum wheat this spring for 1979 harvest, up 7 percent from last year.

Plantings of other types of spring wheat were indicated at 14.8 million acres, up 4 percent from 1978.

Last December the department said winter wheat producers planted 51.5 million acres last fall for 1979 harvest, an increase of 8 percent from a year earlier.

Other crops in the April 1 planting survey and their acreages included:

-Sorghum, 15.6 million acres planted for 1979, down 5 percent from 1978.

-Oats, 15.04 million acres, down 8.2 percent.

-Barley, 8.64 million acres, down 13.5 percent.

-Flaxseed, 837,000 acres, down 6 percent.

-Rice, 2.94 million acres, down 4.4 percent.

-Sugarbeets, 1.17 million acres, down 10.8 percent.

-Sunflowers, 4.9 million acres, up 75.3 percent.

All Risk Insurance Deadline Announced

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation (FCIC) has announced that farmers in Dallam, Deaf Smith, Hansford, Moore, Castro and Parmer counties have until April 25 to apply for all-risk insurance on their 1979 corn crop.

The FCIC also announced that farmers in Deaf Smith, Oldham, Randall and Collingsworth counties have until April 30 to apply for all-risk insurance on their 1979 cotton and grain sorghum crops.

According to Ben A. Jordan,

Jr., Regional Director, a number of significant improvements have been made in the insurance coverage for 1979 crops, including a substantial increase in the amount of protection offered on corn, sorghum and cotton.

The FCIC program is designed to provide protection against natural hazards such as drought, insects, hail, disease and excessive moisture. Coverage extends from the time a crop is seeded until it is harvested.

The program is administered through the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Locally, information can be obtained from the County Federal Crop Insurance Office, 1416 West 8th, Amarillo, Telephone: 806/376-2268.

Pig Sale Scheduled

The Hooker Okla. FFA will conduct a pig auction April 28 at the bus barn, one block south of Main Street in Hooker.

The sale begins at 1 p.m. with a judging contest to precede the auction at 11 a.m.

A free registered gilt will go the high individual FFA or 4-H judging contest competitor.

AAM Slates Panhandle Session

District 1 of the American Agriculture Movement will hold a "skull session" Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Carson County Ag Barn in Panhandle.

Topics for discussion will include gasohol legislation and progress on the fuel, pros and cons of a grain compact, and whether or not to organize.

Members will be continuing a standing discussion on whether to adopt more formal organization guidelines for the AAM.

Local Residents Attend TGFA Convention

A number of local grain industry representatives are among those meeting in Dallas today for the annual convention and trade show of the Texas Grain and Feed Association.

The convention is scheduled to continue through Saturday at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dallas.

Among local residents attending are Cal and Judith Mitts of Northwest Grain of Hereford, Richard and Berta Ottesen of Farr Better Feeds of Hereford, Percy M. and Betty Willson of Black Grain Co., Ken Walser of Poarch Bros. Manufacturing of Hereford, Jerry R. Skaggs of Shur-Gro Liquid Feed of Hereford, and Cliff Skiles of Veigel Grain of Hereford.

Also attending are Gene and Velta King of Easter Grain, Inc. of Easter.

For Rent

You're doing without a Zimmatic center pivot. Saving your hard-earned capital for other improvements. Don't want to borrow right now.

But it's costing you money every year you wait. Two ways. First, you're losing the extra crop production you get under irrigation. Second, inflation is at work. Boosting prices, dropping the value of your dollars.

Why not rent a Zimmatic under our new lease plan? Let the system pay for itself and put some extra money in the bank for you at the same time.

Our rates are reasonable. You can include freight, installation, pump...

other "above ground" items in one flexible package, tailored to your needs. Why wait to irrigate? It's just costing you money. Call us today for details on our new lease plan.

FFA Teams to Compete At Tech Judging Contest

LUBBOCK - Some 1,600 vocational agriculture students from throughout West Texas will converge on the Texas Tech University campus Saturday, to participate in the 52nd annual Texas Tech Vocational Agriculture Judging Contest. Included among them will be Hereford FFA members.

Coordinating the event is General Superintendent Jerry D. Stockton, chairman of the university's department of Agricultural Education. A special guest will be W.H. Meischen, executive director of the Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association, Austin.

Eleven contests will be held, with winners in six of them going on to Areas I and II of the state Future Farmers of America competition. The five other events are known as Texas Tech contests. These are related to cotton, wool, crops, land and range and pasture plants. The latter contests were established because of their importance to the economy of the South Plains.

The livestock, dairy cattle and wool contests will be held at the new Livestock Arena, the first time this facility has been used for the annual vocational agricultural judging events.

Events begin at 7:30 a.m. and results are to be announced at 2 p.m. in the University Center Ballroom. Immediately after these announcements Jay Eudy, Area I vocational agriculture supervisor, and Supervisor Hulan Harris of Area II will certify the teams from their areas who qualify to attend the state FFA Judging Contest April 28 at Texas A&M University.

Directing the various contests will be Texas Tech faculty: Dr. Robert C. Albin, chairman, Department of Animal Science, Livestock, dairy cattle, wool, poultry and meats; Dr. Dwane G. Miller, chairman, Department of Plant and Soil Science, cotton, crops, and land; Dr. Donald E. Burzlaff, chairman, Department of Range and Wildlife Management, range and pasture plants; Drs. Milton L. Peoples and R. Max Miller, milk and dairy foods; Prof. Marvin J. Dvoracek, chairman, Department of Agricultural Engineering, and Drs. Lewis Eggenberger and M.J. Cepica of the agricultural education faculty, agricultural mechanics.
