Clements Signs Tax Relief Implementation

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Parts of the tax relief program that was overwhelmingly approved by voters last November have gone into effect, the governor's office said Monday.

Gov. Bill Clements' office said he signed into law the bill that puts into effect the Tax Relief Amendment last Thursday without any ceremony or special announcement.

The action was the climax of a process that began last summer when Gov. Dolph Briscoe called a special session to cut property taxes shortly after California voters approved Proposition 13. The constitutional amendment passed by that special session, and later approved by voters, authorized the 1979 Legislature to enact the so-called tax relief bill HB1060. The compromise bill worked out by a 10-member conference committee was finally approved by the Senate and House the last night of the 140-day regular session on May 28.

Immediate provisions of the bill includes one that each residence homestead will be exempt from $5,000 in school district taxes. Since the act is retroactive to Jan. 1979 the exemptions will be on the 1979 tax notices that most. taxpayers receive in October. In addition, those over 65 and those disabled will be eligible for another $1,000 exemption in school taxes on their homesteads. After qualifying for the elderly exemption.

Also effective immediately is the exemption from property taxes, state. county and school, of all non-business cars owned by a family. However, if a city

Pope Demands Christianity in Poland

CZESTOCHOWA. Poland (AP) - Pope John Paul II demanded today that Poland's Communist government recognize the rights and beliefs of Christians although their view of the world is 'diametrically opposed' to Marxism. It was the most powerful political statement the pontiff has made in the four days he has been in his homeland. In a speech prepared for delivery to a closed meeting of Poland's Roman Catholic bishops, the pope described religious freedom as a fundamental human right and declared that guarantees of religious freedom in Poland's constitution and other documents are meaningful only if they consider "the real needs of the church.

The pope asserted the church's readiness to enter into a dialogue with the

Lions Board Votes To Give Firemen $1,000 for Tool

Hereford volunteer firemen will sponsor a fund-raising country music concert at 8:30 p.m. Friday in Whiteface Stadium, with proceeds going towards a 'jaws of life' rescue tool.

Meanwhile. Fire Marshal Jay Spain was scheduled to speak to the Hereford Rotary Club today, explaining the functions of the tool, which will cost approximately $6,000.

Hereford Noon Lions Club directors voted this morning to give the fire department $1,000, bringing the total amount collected thus far to nearly $3,000. Firemen also are raising money through funds established at both Hereford banks. Tickets for the concert, which is entitled "The Golden Years of Country Music" and is conducted by musicians from South Plains College in Levelland. are on sale for $3 (chair seats) and $2 (general admission). Tickets may be purchased from any ffremen and at both banks, the chamber of commerce office and the fire station.

chruch-state relations. He said "authentic dialogue must respect the convictions of believers, insure all the rights of citizens and also the normal conditions for the activity of the church as a religious community to which the vast majority of Poles belong. 'We are aware that this dialogue cannot be easy because it takes place between two concepts of the world which are diametrically opposed, but it must be possible and effective if the good of individuals and the nation demands it." The text of the speech was released to journalists early today but was withdrawn soon after without explanation. A Vatican spokesman said later that the pope wanted bishops to hear it first before the speech was made public.

Before meeting with the bishops the pope celebrated an open-air Mass for thousands of Polish nuns and said that even "the biggest enemy of the church" could not help but appreciate their dedication.

Poles began gathering at dawn on the hillside below the country's most revered shrine and by the time the Mass began.

the crowd had swelled to several hundred

The pontiff, beginning the fourth day of his return to his communist homeland, looked at the rows of black-gowned nuns and told them their calling was an "exceptional treasure" for the Roman Catholic Church.

He recalled a visit he had once made to a home for sick children in his home town of Wadowice and said even "the biggest enemy of the church would never forget the dedication of the nuns." The pope also recalled his trip to Mexico in January saying his meeting with nuns there "sank deeply into my memory and heart."

Disaster Relief Fund Runs Out of Money

WASHINGTON (AP) - Recipients of about $50 million in disaster relief loans cannot receive the funds until Congress approves a supplemental appropriation for the Small Business Administration, a spokesman said Monday.

The disaster relief fund ran out of money late last month. Standby lists of loan applicants are being compiled at district offices.

Larry Rosengarden of the SBA budget office said it is hard to project the fund's annual needs since they rise or fall according to the number of natural

"It's very difficult to predict natural disasters," he said.

The request for a supplemental appropriation is the first of the current fiscal year, which lasts until Oct. 1.

He said businessmen who are able to get short-term loans from the private sector can apply to the SBA for repayment funds once the supplemental appropriation is approved, probably later

FEC: Carter Owes $50,000 for Election

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Federal Election Commission, after a 21/2-year audit, is asking President Carter to reimburse taxpayers for $50,202.94 spent during his 1976 general election campaign.

The commission determined Monday that Carter's campaign committee owes: -$27,080.69 in interest it earned on taxpayers' money deposited with various telephone companies.

-$15,207 in cash "get-out-the-vote" payments made by individual Carter campaign workers around election day in Michigan, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Tennessee and Georgia.

-$7,915.25 in miscellaneous travel, entertainment, lodging and office expenses for which the FEC found insufficient documentation.

During the general election, Carter's campaign received nearly $26 million from the Treasury under a law providing for public financing of presidential Monday's FEC decision gives Carter 30 days to supply additional documentation to support the contested items, but White House spokesman Rex Granum said the full amount probably will be paid. Granum said it is often more expensive to supply the documentation than to pay the questioned expense.

Granum said the money in question amounts to one-tenth of 1 percent of total expenditures in the 1976 general election campaign. He said he understood this is about the same percentage that has been questioned in other campaigns. The commission auditors originally wanted to bill the Carter campaign for $82,070.72, but the six election commissioners, divided along party lines, blocked much of that on a tie vote. With the three Democratic commis-

Resolution Honors George Family

Mayor Bartley Dowell and County Judge Glen Nelson Monday signed a resolution honoring Hereford High School Principal Jerry Don George and family who are moving to Plainview after spending 21 years in Hereford.

George resigned, effective July 1, to become principal at Plainview High School. George, upon announcing his resignation April 30, called the change "an opportunity for advancement."

George came to Hereford in 1958 as high school baseball and assistant football coach. He was transferred to Stanton Junior High the following year and promoted to assistant principal at that school in 1961.

George was La Plata's Junior High's first principal, serving in that capacity for three years before becoming assistant superintendent of the Hereford Indepen-(See GEORGE, Page 2)

THA Rips Mandatory Controls

DALLAS (AP) - Terming it too bitter a pill to swallow. Texas hospital administrators say they would like to lay proposed cost-containment legislation to Ray Hurst, president of the Texas Hospital Association, said Mnday that hospitals have already proven themselves through voluntary controls. President Carter's proposal would hold hospital cost increases to 9.7 percent in 1980.

"The KKK - Ted Kennedy. Joseph Califano and President Jimmy Carter are after us." Hurst said at the association meeting at the Dallas Convention Center. "This is not a to take over the health care delivery system.

Hurst said the Carter Administration blames a large part of the country's inflation on escalating hospital costs, a theory he terms a "lurid character compared to the facts." Using a study by Data Resources Inc., he said the consumer price index would drop only 110 of 1 percent even if the bill passes and everything the administration predicts happens by 1984. And items other than hospital costs are skyrocketing, said Ray Woodham, chairman of the American College of Hospital Administrators.

"We resent having to be defensive in (See HOSPITALS, Page 2)

County Earns Registration Reimbursement

Deaf Smith County has received a check for $618.40 from State Comptroller Bob Bullock office under a new law designed to encourage voter registration and accurate registration lists.

The comptroller's office mailed County Clerk B.F. Cain a check on May 21.

Bullock said last week that Texas counties will share more than $365,407 in state funds under the new law. The Texas Election Code directed the comptroller's Ad Valorem Division to make payments to counties for reimbursement of voter registration activities.

The code provides local reimbursement of 40 cents for each new registered voter and 40 cents for each cancellation made to update lists.

Bullock said there are more than 5.9 million registered voters in Texas.

Zoning Request Approved by City

Hereford city commissioners approved a zoning change request for a lot in the 800 block of N. Main during a 10-minute regular meeting Monday night.

The request was the only item on the agenda.

We tried as hard as we could to put other things on the agenda, but there's just nothing going on right now." Mayor Bartley Dowell said prior to the meeting.

Charles Brockett, 805 N. Main, had requested that his lot be rezoned from "C Multi-Family" to "D-Restricted." The Hereford Planning and Zoning Commission approved the change and sent the matter to city commissioners.

The Branding Iron Mercer Retiring after 30 Years of County Roadwork

By TOMMY WEAVER Brand Staff Writer

James C. Mercer, who thought the blinking red light at the two lane. intersection of Highway 60 and 385 was a "big thing" in 1953, has retired after 30 years of service with the Texas Highway Department.

"When we installed the light it was a really big thing to the 3,000 people in Hereford then," Mercer said. He retired as maintenance technician III (assistant foreman).

When Mercer joined the department in 1949 there were no four-lane highways in Deaf Smith County, and the Highway Department building was made of tin. Mercer travelled 100 to 150 miles a day checking the roads to make sure they were safe for public use. He was on call 24 hours a day, regardless of weather

"I once spent 21/2 days out in a snowstorm, there were no mobile communications back then. We just jumped in a truck and took off own our own during any type of bad weather, we were constantly making sure roads were passible." Mercer said.

Mobile communication now lets the maintenance crews give their locations at all times, and enables them to cover more

The camp was made up of Italian prisoners only. It was funny because when they brought the first prisoners over it was supposed to be top secret. When we went to get them off the train at Summerfield, there were more people from Hereford there than prisoners or Army put together," Mercer said. .

"At one time there were about 4,000 prisoners out there, but they never did " give us any real trouble. They worked on surrounding farms, and they worked hard, so they were always too tired to try anything.

Photoengravers Strike

At New York Paper

NEW YORK (AP) - Photoengravers struck the Daily News, the country's largest circulation daily, this morning after the breakdown of talks with the News and The New York Times.

But one of the News' negotiators. Gregory Thornton, said the strike by 64 photoengravers - who ready photographic plates used in newspapers - would not keep the News from publishing.

Although photoengravers at the New York Times were also negotiating for a new contract, they opted not to strike.

A total of 12 picketers began marching shortly after 7 a.m. outside the News building in midtown Manhattan and at its truck garage across the street. A heavy police detail was also present.

On the other hand, you may not have been with your employer long enough - or maybe too long. Or perhaps you would have been better off leaving blank the 'time at current address" space on the credit application.

Under such a credit-scoring system, whether a person gets a credit card depends not on his own bill-paying record but on whether he has the characteristics of those who in the past have paid their

Dies in Prison

McALESTER, Okla. (AP) - Gene Leroy Hart, the 35-year-old Cherokee Indian acquitted two months ago of the sex slayings of three Girl Scouts, collapsed in a prison exercise yard and died.

Officials at Oklahoma State Prison said Hart died Monday of an apparent heart attack after more than an hour of jogging and lifting weights late Monday afternoon in 80-degree weather.

Doctors tried for 20 minutes to revive him without success and he was pronounced dead a short while later at a McAlester hospital. An autopsy was scheduled for today.

The death of Hart, convicted rapist, kidnapper and burglar, prompted mixed emotions in all those connected with the 1977 Girl Scout killings, from parents to prosecutors.

Sid Wise, former Mayes County district attorney who saw Hart charged with the slavings at a northeastern Oklahoma summer camp, said the death reflected "the hand of fate."

"It reaffirms my belief that justice will prevail, even if you have to go higher than men and women sitting on a jury." said Wise. "The hand of fate or the Almighty steps in which the system taxes, now levied in several Texas cities. Intangible property, such as stocks, bonds and bank accounts, would be exempt from local taxation, except for those now taxed.

A new system of setting valuations on farm, ranch and timber land exclusively on its ability to produce cash crops would become effective this year also, unless local agencies vote before this July 15 to postpone the start of the new evaluation methods until the 1980 tax year.

Another portion of the bill would limit increases in state spending to the rate of the growth of Texas' economy, based on personal income. This portion would not be effective until May 1981, unless the Legislature met earlier and voted on a state spending bill.

Another part of the bill provides school districts with $220 million in direct dollar-for-dollar reimbursement for revenue they would lose in giving the homestead and real estate exemptions. Another $200 million contained in the separate school finances bill also would serve as reimbursement although it will be distributed through regular state aid channels.

Bargains Hard To Find

By LOUISE COOK

Branding Iron ·

Associated Press Writer Supermarket shoppers found that bargains at the meat counter were few and far between last month, but an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows that overall grocery bills rose only one-tenth of a percent.

The survey indicated that egg prices are continuing to decline; the cost of orange juice has started to drop; and there are a few sales on coffee.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items. checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973, and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list at the end of November 1977 because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

The survey showed that prices this year are rising at a slower rate than last year. The marketbasket bill at the checklist store rose an average of 4.3 percent in the first five months of 1979, compared to an average of 5.3 percent in the first five months of 1978. During May, the AP survey showed the marketbasket bill at the checklist store increased in five cities, rising an average of 4.5 percent. There were several substantial boosts, mainly because of sharp jumps in the price of one or more meat items.

The marketbasket bill decreased at the checklist store in eight cities last month, down an average of 2.6 percent.

On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the checklist store increased by a tenth of a percent last month. That compared with a May 1978 increase of half a percent and with an April 1979 rise of just over half a percent. Meat accounted for a disproportionately large share of the increase. Meats represent 21 percent of the items checked by the AP, but they accounted for 33 percent of the price boosts last month. Frankfurters were the hardest hit, going up in seven cities. The government has predicted that food prices will rise 81/2 percent to 10 percent this year. but the economists concede the uncertain factors like weather and the success of the administration's overall antiinflation drive could upset their forecasts. Increased supplies of pork are expected to take some of the pressure off beef. Pork prices themselves are expected to increase only I percent this year and per capita consumption is expected to rise about four pounds.

A look at the overall number of items in the AP survey showed both more increases and decreases during May than during April. Here are the percentages of increases and

Alaskans Fenced Out Of Alaska

Last November President Carter put another 56 million acres of Alaska in National Monuments -- and thus sealed off from our use $20 billion worth of proved mineral reserves.

As it is, less than one-third of one percent of Alaska's land is privately owned, developable. Can we afford to fence Alaskans out of Alaska?

At the present inflation rate. eight years from now your American dollar won't be worth a dime. And still we persist in shipping 40 billion American dollars every year to the OPEC nations for their oil so those nations can buy up our real estate and our corporations with our money.

Yet we refuse to develop the immense reserves of oil, natural gas and coal within our own country.

Can America afford to keep Alaska on ice?

Alaskans were so excited, so jubilant, when statehood became a reality in 1959. They felt emancipated. No longer would the Department of the Interior dominate their lives.

White House, the Congress and the bureaucracy have found new ways to subjugate Alaska and Alaskans to colonial status.

rich in minerals-two trillion tons of recoverable coal, some of it in seams 600 feet thick. Alaska has the energy, just from this one source, to keep our nation's lights lit and our industry humming for 2.000 vears.

Ther are mountains of copper in Alaska. There is tin and iron. There are vast forests of timber rotting for lack of harvest.

Alaska's oil wealth is known now--but only a tiny fraction of its potential has been tappedwhile Americans continue to purchase 45 percent of their energy from other nations. It is as though Americans, to atone for their environmental sins of the past, are determined to preserve Alaska untouched. Walter Hickel is a former Governor of Alaska, former Secretary of Interior; he has seen his state from inside and

The public thinks this land is being set aside for them. They will learn differently, says Hickel, when they try to visit and run into "No Trespassing" signs and uniformed officials.

Now an increasing number of Alaskans are urging secession. Demonstrations take place almost daily. It's not uncommon for a likeness of President Carter to be dragged through

The law enforcement agencies are superb. I have never seen more well trained and helpful people than our police and sheriff's departments.

How can I say enough about our volunteer fire dept? Trained, dedicated, conscientious and unpaid. All they ask is equipment to do their work. They do not ask for taxpayer's money. Instead, they have booked a wonderful show in Whiteface Stadium for Friday evening in order to raise money for the "Jaws of Life" lifesaving device. Friends, we need this. It may be our father, sister, or son whose life is saved in the next accident. Let's get behind this very worthy cause. It's for us.

Electric costs are skyrocketing. Gas is becoming scarce. Forms of energy that consumers rely upon daily to fulfill the necessities of their lifestyles are also rising in cost or becoming

This problem is less severe in some areas than others. But beware, because the effects of the energy shortage will be toughing our lifestyles. The problem we must deal with first is the mental stumblingblock we have in accepting the fact that our country can actually run short of her vast natural resources. The phrase, "land of plenty" is becoming more of a question than a phrase. There are ways to help our financial budget meet skyrocketing energy costs. We can close off areas of our homes that we do not use often. This way we can save on our heating and cooling costs. Set the home thermostat at 65 degrees F. YELLOW SPRINGS. Ohio most crucial time for the (AP) - Antioch College is flat broke but hopes to get by - with more than a little help from its friends.

The small, private liberal arts college that grew to a behemoth as it led the trend toward campus expansion in the booming 1960s, found itself in immediate need of $2 million earlier this month.

Antioch - noted as something of an educational vanguard found a quick salvation by deferring salaries and other payments.

The facts are, people are not being paid," said the college's chief financial officer, Dudley Woodall.

"The suppliers and vendors essentially are not being paid, or we are agreeing to terms with them. And, the federal government, which is a whole different category, is also standing pat." Woodall said.

Everybody is helping us out by not panicking, by continuing to work: teachers are teaching. union folk are maintaining necessary services, vendors and suppliers are understanding they're not giving us anything. but they are agreeing to terms which are reasonable.

Woodall added: "We consider the outpouring of support a mandate to continue." The college's board is meeting in Washington today and Saturday to work out further details of the financial recovery. and supporters are holding a march today in Ohio to help raise funds. Woodall has said

Woodall, vice president for finance, sat behind his desk recently and recounted the mistakes and unavoidable factors that led Antioch into its financial bind.

What happened, he said, is that Antioch got caught up in the euphoria of the late 1960s and early 1970s when students and funds abounded.

The call then was for expansion." and Antioch mushroomed from one campus to 30 beanches in as many cities across the country. It bloated to about 7,000 enrollment. The main campus, tucked away in Yellow Springs, swelled from its usual 1,100-1,200 pupils to

In order to do this, it required an investment of substantial working capital," Woodall said. "Antioch started out with an endowment of $4 million, which was obviously not Antioch went on a crash diet. Twenty branches were closed, leaving only nine in Boston and Cambridge, Mass.; Kenne. N.H.; New York; Washington; Philadelphia; Seattle; San Francisco; Los Angeles; and San Antonio, Texas, plus the international program headquartered at Yellow Springs.

Programs were looked at on a cost-efficient basis. Some were dropped, others consolidated.

That job is not done. We still have a couple that need shaping up." Woodall said without naming them - "they know who they are.'

Faculty and staff were reduced through attrition, from the 1,000-plus in the halcyon days to about 800 at present. including some 350-450 faculty members. Woodall would not divulge exact faculty salaries. but said the range is in the lower half of what is paid around the country, and that the average Antioch professor earns less than $20,000 a year.

To supplement its reduced teaching staff, the college hoisted its reputation up the flagpole and began drawing quality faculty from surrounding major universities on an adjunct or part-time basis."

It was the Woodall said. "It's called stupidity of his owner that did performance, and it's called productivity. In that sense,

I was following a small pickup truck down the highway. There were two dogs in the back, playing and wrestling. I kept wondering why on earth a driver would allow his dogs to roughhouse in a pickup truck with the back panel down. Suddenly the truck hit a bump and the dogs fell out onto the pavement. I hit one before I could swerve. I knocked the poor mutt thirty feet into the guardrail. We both pulled over and ran to the dog. I was horrified to see him mangled beyond hope -- thrashing in agony. Fortunately, a highway patrolman drove by within head with a pistol.

The owner drove off and I couldn't believe his indifference. In the meantime the officer told me it happens all the time. He said some people tie their dogs to the truck, thinking they won't fall out, but they DO fall out and then they are choked to death or dragged to death at the end of the rope.

Lauck says he is a member of the German National Socialist Party and the Nationalist Socialist German Workers Party. He has also claimed to be a leader of the American Nazi Party, headquartered here.

Lauck said the package arrived Saturday but that he did not check it until Sunday when he noticed it had a "funny looking return address."

AUSTIN -Besides an proving a multitude of other bills on the very last day of the 66th session, the Texas Ergislature also finally agreed on a state budget, a school finance plan and tax different. On the way to the last 24 hours of lawmaking, legislators had been sidetracked by such nagging matters as a presidential primary, alterations to the consumer protection act and a change in the usury ceiling.

The 66th session was no

But with the presidential primary effectively killed by the flight of the Killer Bees" in the Senate, and with changes in the consumer, protection act already passed, and with the usury ceiling upped to a maximum of 12 percent, lawmakers spent the final day of the session working on the hudget, agreeing on the final details of how public schools would be financed and approving legislation to implement the tax relief amendment passed by voters last November.

The state budget for 1980-81 passed by both Houses after some expected haggling over different provisions of the plan would cost $20.7 billion. That's a 19 percent increase over the last two-year spending plan the Legislature drew up in 1977 during the 65th session

When you consider that inflation, it appears lawmakers succeeded in keeping spending levels as low as was humanly possible.

But, the $20.7 budget passed on to Gov. Bill Clements for his signature is $1 billion higher than what he suggested to the legislature in his budget, message earlier in the session. Clements wanted to return an additional $1 billion to tax-

The House came close to passing "indirect" initiative and referendum rights for voters, and Clements, addressing the House on the final night of the session, warned lawmakers that he would be seeing them again sometime in the next two years in a special session on the subject

Included in the state hudget were 5.1 percent pay raises for state employees and a boost of 8.3 percent for Department of Public Safety troopers

Teachers also got a 5.1 percent pay raise on top of automatic step increases. bringing their pay hikes to 7-10 percent.

Last session. Sen. Oscar Mauzy of Dallas, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, found the school finance plan so objectionable he talked until the clock had run out, leaving lawmakers without a plan.

This time, Mauzy said he felt the Legislature had done a better job of "getting equalization aid to the poorer districts"

In the past. Mauzy claimed that the rich school districts were simply getting richer while the poorer ones.

The school fmance package contains $334 million new money for teacher pay. $152 million for equalization to school districts and almost $100 million in additional funds for the operation and maintenance of public schools. Inseparable from the question of school finance is the matter of tax relief legislation. House Bill 1060. the measure to implement the constitutional amendment approved by voters, is expected to cost local school districts across the state almost $384 million. Homestead exemptions will be granted under the tax relief legislation for the elderly and the disabled. Family cars and household goods are also exempted.

And farm and ranch land will be taxed on its productivity rather than its market

What legislators had to agree on was a plan to reimburse local school districts for the tax dollars they would be losing House Bill 1060 contained $200 million for reimbursement and the school finance plan ended up containing $184 million state employees. And Sen Bill Moore of Bryan labelled HB 1060 as "a fraud and a sham" because of the compromises made after heavy pressure was applied by lobbyists from Dallas and Houston. But a representative of the Dallas school district was quick to point out that even with the reimbursement plan plus other state aid. DISD would fall $4.5 million shy of its revenue needs.

And Dallas may not be the only school district that will be facing that same problem after tax relief legislation is put into effect.

That means of course that some programs will have to be cut back or new taxes will have to levied. That led one Dallas school representative to say that he thought any new taxes that might have to be collected should be called the "Briscoe Tax." after former Gov. Dolph Briscoe who called a special session last summer to draw up tax relief legislation. Critics charge that HB 1060 is not a tax relief measure but merely a shifting of the tax burden from local school districts to the state. And those same critics point out that the average homeowner will probably only save $40-$50 in taxes in each of the next two

A town is a group of people.

It is schools.

It is city government.

It is churches.

It is hospitals

It is industry and jobs.

It is retail businesses.

They all have to work together. All must have the support of the people. Or there is no town.

Give your local merchant a chance for your business. You shouldn't spend your hard earned money with him waless his selection is adequate and his price competitive. But give him the first opportunity to make the sale.

For the local retailer pays the highest percentage of local taxes. He most often is the civic leader who dedicates his time and talents to his town. He is contacted first for contributions to charitable projects. He provides jobs. Without his store you have no town.

Arbitration Changes Baseball's Draft Outlook

By HAL BOCK AP Sports Writer

Now that Prof. Raymond Goetz has dropped the other shoe in the Bob Horner arbitration case, the economic fallout will begin immediately." as soon as today, when baseball begins parceling out its top amateur free agent talent.

You can expect teams to be more than a little wary about waving large-sized signing bonuses under the noses of high school and college prospects picked in today's draft. Those bonuses, after all, now immediately become the player's bargaining base when it is time to sign a new contract.

The Atlanta Braves signed Horner off the campus of Arizona State last June and paid him $181,000. That figure included $21,000 in salary and the remainder in various other kinds of payments, most of it a signing bonus.

As far as Horner, his agent, Bucky Woy, and the Players Association were concerned. that $181,000 was total compensation for playing baseball for the Atlanta Braves in 1978. And that meant that under terms of the collective bargaining agreement which permits no more than a 20 percent cut in any year. Horner would have to be paid $146,000 for 1979. Prof. Goetz, it turns out, agreed for the most part, eliminating a few of the fringe payments but ruling the signing bonus a valid part of future negotiations.

Now, as things developed, Horner won Rookie of the Year honors and, in The New Baseball economy, is probably a bargain at $146,000. But don't for one moment think the Braves would have paid him that kind of money if they knew it was going to create a permanent commitment. And don't for one moment think other teams are going to fall into the trap that Atlanta wound up in, especially now that precedent has been established.

What if Horner had been a dud? What if he hadn't been Rookie of the Year but had some other first round choices. turned out to be nothing more than an ordinary ball player? Under terms of Prof. Goetz' award, the club buys blind and can only hope that a player lives up to his draft potential. That is kind of Russian Roulette and Newspaper reports had Seattle seeking an outfielder with some offensive capabilities. Among those prominently mentioned has been Brad Komminsk, a 6-foot-3, 195. pound first baseman-outfielder from Shawnee High School in Lima, Ohio. Komminsk was on a list of players made up for consideration by Keller.

Another candidate for toppick, according to newspaper reports in Seattle, was outfielder Al Chambers of Harrisburg.

Keller's list also included right-handed pitcher Tim Leary of UCLA, and several high school players, including Joe San Jose and brother of Carney Lansford, California Angels third baseman.

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - Texas Coach Cliff Gustafson summed it up well.

Looking ahead to his team's showdown with conference rival Arkansas tonight in the College World Series, Gustafson cracked, "You have to wonder if anybody will want to get ahead.'

He had good reason to feel that way. Both teams fell behind in their first two games of the series, but rallied to win, leaving them the only undefeated entries in the tournament.

That makes tonight's game crucial because the winner will have a big edge in the drive for the title.

"We don't worry when we get behind." Arkansas pitcher Steve Krueger said. "Our (the pitchers') job is to hold the other team down because we know our hitters will come back."

Krueger and his teammates have been looking forward to playing Texas ever since both teams qualified for the series. Texas beat Arkansas four times in five games this year. including twice in the Southwest Conference playoffs.

Catcher Ronn Reynolds shares Krueger's eagerness. "I could probably come back Following a 10-3 victory over

Texas or Mississippi State. "Texas," he said without hesitation. "They're a conference school, they beat us this year, we'd really like to see them again."

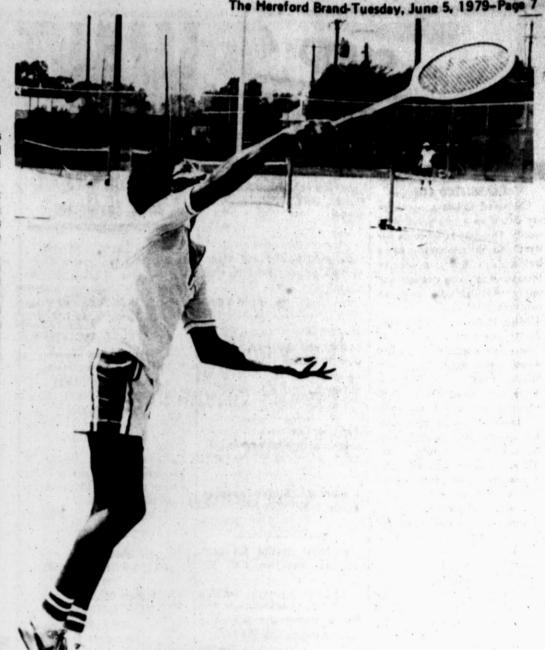

Texas came through with an 8-2 victory over MSU and Reynolds' wish was granted. Texas, the nation's top-rated team and the SWC champion, is 55-6. Arkansas, rated fourth and the conference runner-up, is 48-13.

Texas beat Arkansas 6-2 and 12-6 to win the SWC tourney. Earlier, in a three-game series at Fayetteville, Arkansas won the opener 2-0, but Texas took the others, 3-2 and 1-0.

"Our kids are looking forward to playing Texas," Arkansas Coach Norm DeBriyn said in an understatement. "They know they haven't played the best baseball against them, particularly in two games. They want to go out and play well against

"In the conference playoffs, we were in a situation where we had to beat Texas A&M. It was our season. Then we had to excuses. They just beat us."

AN ALL-SEASON GROWING ADVANTAGE.

PLANT ASGROW FOR

Sorghum

Mustang

Excellent Standability Greenbug Resistant Excellent Yield Potential

You'll have a growing advantage with this new medium-late Greenbug resistant hybrid from Asgrow Research. Growers first notice the beautiful fields of bronze colored heads that are more compact than most bronze seeded hybrids. Threshability is good and yield potential excellent. New Mustang has demonstrated exceptional perrformance under irrigation or dryland. These features. plus strong standing stalks and tolerance to head smut and MDM, mean a real growing advantage for growers.

Bug-Off*

Greenbug Resistant High Yields Either Irrigated or Outstanding Yields In Tests

This Dorado type hybrid shrugs-off Greenbugs and makes dependable high yields under irrigation or the stress of dryland conditions. In 1977 Asgrow Sorghum Trail roundups Bug-Off out-yielded E59+ in 19 locations by an average of 5.9 B/A. A real growing advantage! The strong sturdy stalks carry heads with large bronze grain of high test weight. Bug-Off also provides resistance to MDM, and Races 1 and 3 of head smut

*The name "Bug-Off" is intended to imply only resistance to Greenbugg

Soybeans A5312 New

PVP 7700111

Excellent Emergence Adapted to Sandy Loam Soils Resistant to Powdery Mildew

Easy to Combine Group V Maturity

This outstanding variety is in the Group V maturity range similar to Essex. It is resistant to powdery mildew and Bact Pustule; very tolerant to pod and stem blight; and tolerant to bacterial blight. A5312 is a tall, upright plant type which makes it an excellent combining soybean and offers good threshability. A5312 gives top yields on sandy and sandy loam soils.

Corral

Strong Stalks - Excellent Standability Excellent Drought Tolerance

New Greenbug resistant Corral is a medium hybrid with the bred-in strength to perform exceptionally well under stresses such as limited moisture and Greenbugs. It also has tolerance to the stress of MDM and head smut. Grain is large, bronze and has good threshability. Height of Corral is 40-50 inches with strong stalks for excellent standability. When the growing gets tough, the features of Corral mean a growing advantage for growers looking for greater profit potential.

Bug-Off E*

Greenbug Resistant Excellent Drought Tolerance Medium Maturity

This new yellow endosperm hybrid provides very good standability with moderately open heads and large bronze berries. Bug-Off E is a medium season hybrid with Greenbug resistance as well as MDM and head smut resistance.

If Greenbugs are a problem and maturity necessitates a medium season hybrid; then new Bug-Off E is for you.

"The name "Bug-Off" is intended to imply only .

THE STORY

HAS THIS SHEIK decided to eliminate the middlemen in the delivery of gasoline to American drivers? Not quite. The "Arab" is really Californian Mike Lausten, who donned his costume — complete with gun holster — in an attempt to bring smiles to the tense faces of those waiting in line at his gas station.

The Lighter Side

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) - "We need your support to keep the rain out and the roof on." General Manager Tom Paine told his WGTE-FM public radio audience, not knowing how close he was to the truth.

The pitch opened a three-day membership and fund-raising drive by the station.

Soon after Paine announced the theme to his listeners Friday morning, a leak caused plaster to fall from the ceiling.

Undaunted. Paine continued his broadcast, saying "Now, more than ever, we literally need your support to keep the roof over our head."

ROGERS, Minn. (AP) Beware Big Bird, the Rogers City Council has voted to do away with Sesame Street.

The vote was not an act of censorship against the popular children's television show, however. Council members simply decided to change the name of a street in this town of 500 residents.

About five years ago. developers named a new street Sesame Street. The name was recently changed to John Milless Drive, after the man who sold the land for the development.

"Some business people asked us to change it," said City Clerk Dan Vogt. "They didn't like putting "Sesame Street" on heir stationery."

SHERMAN, III. (AP) - Strict Energy Solution speed limit enforcement now may be in fashion in many of Illinois' gasoline-conscious communities, but it has gone out of style in Sherman.

In 1978, Sherman's police were so accomplished in the art of traffic control that $30,000 of traffic fines.

A group of motorists even filed a class-action suit trying to overturn the village's 45 mph speed limit along the old U.S.

But now, newly elected Mayor Sherwood N. Zimmerman says, "We want to be known as a friendly and courteous town. The kind of publicity we used 'to get definitely was not doing us any Zimmerman said only "one or two" traffic citations have been issued in Sherman since Illinois began heavier speed limit enforcement last month.

Court Refuses To Stop Hunt Hearing

Supreme Court, voting 7 to 2. refused Monday to scuttle hearings intended to determine whether seven members of the wealthy Hunt family of Texas violated commodity exchange

The justices turned down Hunt family arguments that the administrative hearings planned by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission are foreclosed by 1977 court proceed-

Justices Lewis F. Powell Jr. and Harry A. Blackmun voted to hear the appeal, but the votes of four justices are needed to grant such review.

The commission, by law, is authorized to sue any person for alleged violation of commodity laws and is authorized to initiate administrative proceedings against alleged violators.

On April 28, 1977, the commission filed suit against the seven Hunts and an affiliated company. Hunt Holdings Inc., seeking to stop the Hunts from holding too many soybean future contracts.

The suit charged that the Hunts had been exceeding the commission's limit of 3 million bushels of soybean futures contracts that any person or affiliated group may hold.

A federal trial judge ruled that the Hunts had violated commodities law but refused to issue an injunction barring any further excessive holdings. The judge ruled that the chance of future violations was slight.

On Nov. 28, 1977, the commission decided to start administrative proceedings against the Hunts - aimed at halting any overspeculation in soy-

The Hunts tried to block the proceedings, arguing unsuccessfully before a trial judge and the 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that the commission could not invoke its authority to conduct administrative proceed-

review, lawyers for the Hunts parately needs leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) - The argued: "The commission's duplicative administrative enforcement action undermines the integrity of the judicial process and impinges upon constitutional due process of the law and separation of powers."

Government lawyers urged the justices to reject the Hunts' appeal. "The court of appeals concluded that the Hunts' suit is premature because they have not exhausted their administrative remedies." the government

The Hunts' appeal argued that the commission's administrative proceedings clearly should be blocked. If that is correct, the government countered. "then the Hunts suffer no harm from carrying on with the administrative proceedings; a court is sure to vindicate them in the end."

The family members who joined in the Supreme Court appeal are N.B. Hunt, W.H. Hunt. Douglas Hunt. Houston Hunt, Elizabeth Hunt Curnes, Ellen Hunt Flowers and Mary Hunt Huddleston.
