Commission Approves R-S Budget

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County commissioners Monday approved the $191,837 revenue-sharing budget, allocating most of the money for public transportation in the county.

Commissioners, who had approved the proposed use of the federal revenue-sharing funds in a meeting earlier this year, voted to spend $125,000 for public transportation, $51,837 for general government, $5,000 to the county library, $5,000 to the museum, $3,000 to health services and $2,000 to the county law library.

The commission, which gave tentative approval to the overall county budget June 12, will take final action after holding a public budget hearing July 9.

In other business Monday, commissioners gave tentative approval to the $43,389 juvenile office budget, authorized District Attorney Roland Saul to proceed with plans to move the law library from the commissioners' courtroom, purchased a truck for Precinct 3 and approved a contract with Western Data Services of Waxahatchie for updating the county tax roll.

Juvenile officer Roger Bowers asked for a $2,000 increase ($10,000 to $12,000) for his assistant, but commissioners denied the request. Assistant Luis Rangel instead received the same 7 percent salary increase awarded to other county employees.

"I'm sure it's low compared to other assistants," Commissioner James Voyles said. "But if we do anything, we need to sit down and look at the whole picture. We need to make some other salary adjustments, but I'm sure we can't do it without a tax increase."

Commissioner Bruce Coleman recommended leaving the raises at 7 percent for fiscal year 1979-80.

"We know we're going to have a major problem next year because of the Tax Relief Amendment. It'll require a tax increase then, so if we can get through this year without a tax increase I think we should," Coleman said.

Saul recommended moving the law

Many Hereford firms and businesses are participating in a special advertising campaign which is being launched with a "Buy in Hereford" theme this week. A special section is included in today's Brand and the campaign will continue for seven more weeks. Shown above are some of the merchants at Sugarland Mall around one of the posters which appears at each participating store this week. Businesses all around the community are involved in the promotion, and many sales people and managers will attend a business seminar tonight hosted by The Brand.

Theme for the first week of the campaign will be "Buy in Hereford."

You will find a great welcome at all the firms displaying the "Buy in Hereford" poster.

The Brand will host a dinner and business seminar tonight at the Community Center for approximately 175 business people and sales personnel. Louis W. Capone, business consultant, will speak on "how to win customers and increase sales" during the 90-minute seminar.

During the campaign, merchants will renew their efforts to supply customers with exactly what they want at reasonable and fair prices and to provide them with courteous service, assistance and personal attention.

Texans with even numbered license plates had their chance to fill up today under a three-county gasoline sales restriction plan, with five more counties scheduled to join the plan at midnight Wednesday.

Gov. Bill Clements' energy adviser said Monday Brazoria, Collin, Liberty, Ellis and Montgomery counties will join the odd-even gasoline rationing plan, the first in the state since World War II.

Ed Vetter, head of the Governor's Office of Energy Resources, said he expects Texas to have 20 million more gallons of gasoline in July than in June. The increase, based on refinery reports to the federal government, "gives me some basis for very, very cautious optimism," Vetter said.

Gasoline lines in Dallas, Tarrant and Harris counties were shorter Monday, he said. Those metropolitan areas were the first to be placed under the odd-even restriction.

"We have been in contact with some of the retail sales organizations as well as major suppliers who have company-owned stations in Texas regarding the first day of sales restrictions in Dallas, Tarrant and Harris counties. It is their consensus that lines have been shortened materially and that there are not enforcement problems at this point," Vetter said.

He said Exxon polled 25 to 30 of its stations in each of the three counties and found their lines were 25 to 40 percent shorter.

"I want to emphasize that one swallow does not make the summer. It may take two weeks before this system settles down," Vetter said.

He also said that by the end of the week, service stations will have flags to indicate their supply situation - green for all products available, yellow for emergency use only and red for nothing available. Vetter said violation of the governor's order - which established the odd-even sales system and placed upper and lower limits on gas purchases - is a federal offense.

"Citizens who believe there is a willful violation may call toll free 800-424-246 and report to the Department of Energy representative as specifically as possible the nature of the complaint," he said.

Meanwhile, Texas drivers and businesses tried to find ways around the gas shortage. But while a few drivers tried to skirt the rationing plan Monday, service station workers said customers were policing themselves.

A Dallas discotheque is fighting the gasoline shortage by providing rides to and from the club in radio dispatched vans. DaVinci International is offering the transportation nightly to North Dallas residents.

Some station operators gave the few violators the benefit of the doubt.

"We've been informed not to get our heads blown off," said Roger Chapman, an attendant at an Exxon station on Houston's Eastex Freeway.

Two drivers with even-numbered plates came to the station, he said. "I checked their gauges, and they were empty, all right," Chapman said he filled their tanks.

The rule requiring a $6 minimum purchase seemed to cause more problems than the odd-even rule, an informal survey of stations showed.

Some stations charged $6 even if the actual cost of the gas was less. Others charged the amount of purchase, but warned customers about the new rule.

Nick Catsinas' Exxon in Houston limits individual purchases to 10 gallons. All even-numbered cars were turned away, a spokesman said.

Carter To Propose World Oil Measure

TOKYO (AP) - President Carter ended preliminary talks with Japanese leaders today on the seven-nation economic summit at which he will propose a plan to bring world oil supplies and demand into balance by next year.

Word of the energy proposal was relayed to reporters by Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal, who said the objective would be to fix country-by-country targets for restraining oil imports.

Blumenthal said the import savings within the industrialized western nations and Japan would total two million barrels a day - approximately the amount by which supplies currently fall short of demand.

The treasury chief said the Carter blueprint, which would need the approval of the six other summit participants, would contain an enforcement mechanism yet to be put in final form.

Blumenthal said U.S. officials have received positive responses from Saudi Arabia and Kuwait about Carter's proposal.

Meanwhile, Carter said he expects the summit to produce a specific plan for easing the plight of Indochinese refugees.

Elaborating, Carter told a group of reporters: "What we want to do, obviously, is to get the entire world to participate in the acceptance of the refugees, and also to get the world to induce the Vietnamese to change their policy to cut down on the large numbers who are having to leave Vietnam."

Asked if he thought a specific proposal would emerge from the summit meeting that begins Thursday, Carter gave a one-word answer: "yes."

American officials, who asked not to be named, said Carter and Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira devoted parts of two days of formal talks to the refugee question and pointed to a separate meeting on the subject between Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and Japanese

Monday Soaker Boosts Area Corn Crop

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Widespread showers here over the weekend have caused a delay in Deaf Smith County's wheat harvest, but good moisture accumulations have proven timely for other crops in the local area and the precipitation has been well received by area farmers.

Wheat harvest was just gaining speed here, when the rains fell Sunday, but sowing of the golden grain is expected to roll ahead again within the next couple of days as fields dry.

In the meantime, the rainfall came at a particularly advantageous time for the local corn crop, which is in a stage of rapid growth now and in need of irrigation.

The "natural irrigation" is particularly satisfying to farmers in light of a recent announcement by Pioneer Natural Gas Co., primary supplier of irrigation fuel in the area, that the base price of irrigation gas to farmers is being hiked by 10.6 percent.

Rainfall represents appreciable savings not only on groundwater, but in pumping expenses for farmers as well.

Precipitation was fairly general over the county, and most locations received at least an inch of moisture in a storm which edged its way into Deaf Smith County from the northwest late Sunday evening.

A heavy line of thunderstorms was tracked from open country into the Atrian and Vega Vicinities, and eventually thunderclouds began to drift southeast, drenching the countryside as they went.

Dryland country to the west, where the wheat harvest was getting underway in earnest, received good-rainfall accumulations, which could prove a boost to summer grain sorghum and hay crops.

The Bruce Coleman farm at Walcott recorded 1.30 inches of moisture, while the Clint Homfeld from 47 miles northwest of Hereford received an inch.

The Jim Perrin farm 43 miles northwest of Hereford also received one inch of rain, and Mrs. Perrin indicated that early yields of dryland wheat harvest prior to the rainfall were good, ranging from 10-28 bushels per acre, varying with individual fields.

A spokesman for Northwest Grain, west of Farmer's Corner reported rainfall of 1.50 inches from Sunday's storm, and indicated that dryland farms 15 miles west of that location received from 50 to

6 Killed, 8 Injured In Car-Pickup Collision

Six Amarillo residents were killed and eight persons - including three Hereford residents - were injured in a car-pickup crash two miles north of Umbarger about 10 a.m. Monday.

All six fatalities were in the car, which also carried five of the injured victims. Dale Scott, 47, plant manager of Shur-Grow Liquid Feed in Hereford, and his sons - Mike 12, and Jason, 8 - were in the pickup and sustained serious injuries.

State troopers said the car with 11 passengers - five adults and six children - was southbound on FM-168 when it apparently failed to stop at a stop sign and struck the pickup truck, going west on FM-1062. The pickup was pulling a stock trailer loaded with grain.

The DPS identified the dead as Antonio Yuregas, 24; his wife, Yolanda Moreno Yuregas, 24; Ester Moreno, 17; Raquel Moreno, 22; Roel Moreno, 2; and Joanne Gonzales, 5.

The eight injured persons were listed in serious to critical condition at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo. Scott sustained a shoulder injury and possible back injuries. Jason, his younger son, suffered possible internal injuries, while Mike sustained a fractured right ankle.

State Trooper Steve McCraw described the mid-sized, two-door car with the 11 passengers as "mass of bodies tangled in a car." Officials said Yuregas was apparently the driver of the vehicle. He was pronounced dead at the scene, as was an 8-month-old baby. Two were dead on arrival at the hospital, and two more died shortly after arrival.

The five injury victims from the car were listed as Rolando Moreno, 19, of Muleshoe; Albert Moreno, 20-month-old; Gabriel Moreno, 3; Mary Christine Moreno, 1; and Adam Gonzales, 4.

The investigating trooper said that as best as he could determine, at least three adults and two children were in the front seat of the car driven by Yuregas.

Four ambulances from the Canyon Fire Department and Metropolitan Ambulance in Amarillo and Canyon were dispatched to the scene. The state trooper reported it took about 40 minutes to remove the dead and injured from the automobile.

Superman McCarter Has Varied Talents

By MARCHERRING
Staff Writer

Regardless if he's disguised as Superman, training for the marathon, on the tennis courts or in the pulpit, Mack McCarter is a unique individual.

McCarter, pastor of the First Christian Church, has been in Hereford for 2½ years and feels that his duties as a minister do not stop with the sermon on Sunday morning.

"As a Christian, my life would be dictated on how I can live the kind of life that exemplifies the teachings of Christ, not only as pastor, but as an individual as well," McCarter said. "Whether I'm out jogging or comforting a person who is hurting, my calling as a Christian remains the same."

McCarter's enjoyment of life is seen in his wearing the Superman shirts. He said he gets a lot of kidding from people because of his unusual shirts but it's all in fun.

"I gained notoriety as a Superman because of a picture of me in the paper wearing my T-shirt in a softball game. I got two of the shirts from my sister to wear, a white one for everyday and a blue one for formal occasions," McCarter said.

McCarter, an avid athlete in high school, now spends his free time jogging and playing tennis, although a person can find him on the ski slopes or on the softball field if the opportunity exists.

"I really enjoy participation in athletics," McCarter said. "My running has helped me stay in shape and the chance to exert myself physically, helps ease the tension after a long day." McCarter's running has a specific goal to work towards, that of the Clovis Marathon this year.

"I've been running at a pace of long distance training for a little over a year now," McCarter said. "And if I can keep from injuring myself, I hope to be ready to run the big one at Clovis."

McCarter, his wife Judy and two kids, Nancy, age 10 and David, age six, came to Hereford from Brownwood, where they had been for 14 months. Prior to that he was at Levelland for 3½ years.

"I came from south Louisiana, in Shreveport, and came to Texas to attend college and have been here ever since," McCarter said.

Gromyko Won't Reopen Negotiations

MOSCOW (AP) - Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on Monday ruled out a reopening of SALT negotiations if the U.S. Senate refuses to ratify the arms limitation treaty.

Switching from Russian to English at a news conference to emphasize his point for Americans, Gromyko said Senate rejection "would be end of negotiations - end."

"No matter what amendments would be made, it would be impossible to reopen negotiations. Fantastic situation," he said.

The Soviets have taken a hard line against any Senate modifications of the treaty, which limits the number of long-range Soviet and American missiles and bombers until the end of 1985. But their statements previously seemed to leave open the possibility of a return to the negotiating table after some period of time.

Western diplomatic sources said Gromyko's statement represented an effort "to scare the hell out of" opponents of the treaty, "which tactically probably isn't a bad thing to do at the moment."

Senate foes of the SALT II pact are expected to push for amendments, reservations or other statements attached to the treaty calling for such changes as inclusion of the Soviet Backfire bomber as a strategic weapon.

Estes Attorneys

Say Sales Legal

DALLAS (AP) - Attorneys for Billie Sol Estes Monday grilled prosecution witness

M.L. Copenhaver about his role in the manufacture and sale of 36 mysterious steam cleaners.

Defense attorneys claim at least eight of the cleaners existed, that the sales were made in good faith and that the rest of the equipment would have come into existence if Copenhaver had lived up to his end of the deal.

The federal government has charged Estes and co-defendant Raymond K. Horton with making more than $500,000 from the sale of steam cleaners that never were delivered and that did not exist.

But the defense says Copenhaver failed in his obligation to manufacture the equipment even though Estes and Horton paid him more than $30,000.

Copenhaver said Monday he was asked merely to provide brochures, invoices and "expertise," not to manufacture the cleaners. Copenhaver said he was told Horton would assemble the cleaners with the help of his expertise.

Copenhaver said he asked Estes for more money when he realized the project was a "flim flam" and that he was "sticking his neck out" by allowing his company name to be used in the scheme.

Henley Trial Jurors

Hear Last Arguments

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) - After hearing three days of often gruesome testimony from the prosecution - and no evidence at all from the defense - jurors in the Elmer Wayne Henley murder retrial returned to the courtroom today to hear final arguments.

Henley, 23, is being tried here on six murder counts stemming from a homosexual torture and death spree that left 26 Houston-area boys dead in the early 1970s. Henley was convicted of the charges at a 1974 trial in San Antonio.

However, that verdict was overturned on appeal when defense lawyer Will Gray of Houston successfully argued that Henley was improperly denied a venue change hearing.

As he had done in San Antonio, Gray rested here Monday without offering any defense evidence or testimony. Gray had said he is confident that if Henley is convicted, the case would be overturned on appeal. The defense lawyer claims State District Judge Noah Kennedy committed reversible error during jury selection.

The state wrapped up its case Monday with testimony from parents of the six victims and a Pasadena policeman.

OPEC To Raise Base Price of Oil

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) - The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries opens its 54th meeting today with its 13 members already agreeing that they are going to raise their base price for crude oil but still arguing about how much the increase will be.

Analysts predicted a new price of just under $20 a barrel, which would add a nickel a gallon to the price of gasoline and heating oil in the United States.

Such OPEC price hawks as Iran and Libya were seeking a jump to as much as $27 a barrel, nearly double the current base price of $14.55 and 59 percent above the average price for OPEC oil, due to surcharges, of $17 a barrel.

An increase that large could add at least 12 cents per gallon to prices for U.S. consumers. But such moderates as Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates were lobbying feverishly to keep the price below $20.

"I will not go for any sharp rises in the price," said Mana Saed Al-Oteiba, the oil minister of the United Arab Emirates and OPEC's current president.

Towering Inferno

Hereford volunteer firemen were called to their own training field at midnight Monday to put out a blaze on their 50-foot training tower. The tower, which was used for ladder and rescue training, already was consumed by the fire by the time four units of the fire department arrived. The tower was built by firemen over an eight-month period, receiving its finishing touches in April. The cause of the fire is still under investigation, according to Fire Marshal Jay Spain. Although energy questions did not figure in Carter's talks with Ohira today, American sources said the two leaders agreed to sponsor a joint meeting of experts on nuclear power safety - a related topic - in the weeks ahead. Blumenthal told an influential group of Japanese businessmen at a luncheon meeting that he would not be surprised if summit participants agree continued development of nuclear power is essential.

Citing the nuclear accident at Three Mile Island in Pennsylvania, Blumenthal said "I do not believe that that incident will in any way significantly slow down nuclear development in the world or in the United States."

Carter began the day jogging with his wife Rosalynn and swimming with her and daughter Amy, 11.

Both Amy and Rosalynn were fully recovered from a bout with an intestinal virus that forced them to cancel some public appearances Monday.

Along with his duties as pastor of the local church, McCarter is involved in the Ministerial Alliance, of which he is president this year.

Saul also requested that a small space on the fourth floor be utilized for storage.

Commissioners authorized Saul to proceed with plans to move the library to a vacant space, which will require flooring and other work, and voted to allow him to use the south part of the fourth floor for storage. Estimated cost of repairs to the proposed library room is $2,500, according to Saul.

Commissioners voted to buy a 1972 truck-tractor or $7,100 from Jake Diel Construction for Precinct 3. The bid was the lower of two submitted.

Western Data Services, at a cost of approximately $200 (each) to the county and school district, will install phone lines connected to a computer, which will continually—and in a matter of seconds—update the tax roll.

Commissioners also Monday discussed repairing leaky roofs on the library, museum and Bull Barn.

Emory Brownlow, of Brownlow Brothers Construction, was authorized to look at the Bull Barn roof to determine what repairs should be made. The museum roof will be repaired through funds in the museum budget, while the library roof is still under warranty.

Rain

.70 inches of rainfall.

Pioneer Fertilizer at Milo Center recorded one inch of rainfall, and a spokesman for that firm indicated that no damaging weather accompanied the precipitation.

KPAN radio logged 1.10 inches of rainfall for the city of Hereford in a shower which fell for over an hour.

To the south of Hereford, the Easter community made up for some of the rain it missed out on in the spring, receiving .60 inches of rainfall Saturday, and an additional 1.30 inches Sunday night.

A spokesman at that location indicated prospects are for one of the finest wheat crops in many years in the Easter vicinity.

Rainfall was also heavy to the east of Hereford with Dawn Co-Op in the Dawn community recording 1.75 inches of rainfall Sunday.

Harvesting of wheat in some locations was expected to resume as early as today with favorable drying conditions, but heavy dew and overcast skies this morning offered prospects of another day's delay in resumption of the wheat harvest.

Dense fog last night reduced visibility to near zero in eastern sections of the Panhandle, but those conditions burned off into the day, and a warming trend is predicted to begin in the local area by tomorrow, creating favorable field drying conditions for the harvest.

Showers and thunderstorms moved across portions of West and North Texas yesterday, as well as the South Plains, and a tornado was sighted near Abilene.

That city received 2 1/2 inches of rain in only a 30 minute period yesterday, prompting a flash flood warning.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms also lingered in Central Texas early today.

station and Everitt's Texaco in Houston, but they were moving faster than last week.

Everitt said he "chased off" three customers with even-numbered plates. He said, however, the cars were from Mexico and the drivers couldn't speak English. The new rules do not apply to cars with foreign or out-of-state license plates.

There were no lines or customers at one Fort Worth station Monday. P.D.Q. gas station attendant Clovis Proctor admitted his $1.22 per gallon pump price might have caused the slowdown. But, he said, if motorists don't want to wait in line for gas, they'll pay the price.

One Garland attendant gave in to a pregnant woman in a car with even-numbered plates.

"She was pregnant, all right," Dave Smith said. "But the way she ran out of there, I'm not so sure she was in labor."

A Fort Worth customer got gas for a car with even-numbered plates by hauling a trailer with odd-numbered tags.

Two Southwest Dallas dealers said the plan is too complicated.

"By the time this is all over in September, we'll all be in the nuthouse," said the manager of Gulf station who did not want her name used.

Across the street at a more expensive Texaco station, manager James Hooper said he isn't about to enforce the plan.

"It's too much to contend with," he said. "You've got your minimums, your license numbers and you're supposed to be running a gas station."

But Bud Adams of Bud Adams' Exxon in Dallas disagreed.

"The odd-even system has made a whale of a difference," he said. "We're not even having to direct traffic."

"Business is good," said Akram Alswaleem, owner of Akram's-Texaco in East Fort Worth. There were 120 cars in line when he opened Saturday, he said. Monday afternoon, there were 18 waiting to fill up.

"It's easier for us and easier for our customers this way," he said.

Assistants Named At Aikman, Stanton

High school golf coach Terry Russell and third-grade teacher John Dominguez will be recommended for assistant principalships in the Hereford Independent School District. Superintendent Harrell Holder announced Monday.

Russell will be recommended for the position at Stanton Junior High School, replacing Allen Brown who was recently named La Plata Junior High principal. Dominguez will become assistant principal at Aikman Elementary School, replacing Bill Gentzel.

Gentzel has accepted the job of assistant principal at Perryton High School.

Russell, who received his bachelor's and master's degrees from West Texas State University, has taught social studies in Hereford for five years. He will resign as golf coach to accept the administrative position, Holder said.

Dominguez, who will resign as president of Hereford Classroom Teachers Association to become Stanton's assistant principal, is an instructor at Tierra Blanca Elementary School. Dominguez, also a graduate of West Texas State University, has taught in Hereford for six years.

Gentzel, is in charge of the migrant summer school program in the Hereford Independent School District.

"It's a pleasure to announce the promotion of these two young men. Both of them have performed admirably for the school district, and I feel they will make excellent administrators," Holder said.

"About Bill Gentzel, I want to say that the job at Perryton offers him excellent opportunities for advancement toward his professional goals. We're sorry to lose him, but wish him the best," the superintendent added.

Gentzel's resignation was accepted during this month's meeting of the school board. Holder's recommendations for assistant principals will be made at the July 13 meeting of the board.

Family Injured

A 22-year-old Hereford man, his wife and 3-year-old daughter were injured early Sunday morning east of Hereford when their westbound 1979 Chevrolet crashed into a car parked on the north side of U.S. 60.

Alejandro Sermino Jr., of Grand E-Trailor Park, his wife Lisa, 19, and daughter Amy were taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital after the accident in the westbound lane of the highway. Sermino was treated at Deaf Smith General Hospital, and his wife and daughter were transferred to Amarillo in serious condition.

According to Texas Department of Public Safety trooper Gary Whitfill who investigated the accident, Sermino fell asleep behind the wheel approximately six miles east of Hereford. The car collided with a parked 1973 Buick, which had apparently sustained a blowout and was left abandoned on the highway.

The Buick was owned by Charles Lee Stork Jr., of Amarillo.

Both cars were totaled in the accident, according to Whitfill

Skylab Continues Falling to Earth

WASHINGTON (AP) - Skylab "knocked out of position by a computer error, was back on track Monday, dipping nearer to Earth at the rate of 1.1 miles a day, the space agency reported.

The big space station is expected to fall upon our planet between July 10 and July 20, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said as it began issuing daily forecasts on Skylab's demise. It said there is a 50 percent probability the end will come before July 16. Te re-entry figures are the same as those reported last Friday.

NASA said the spacecraft was 155 miles high, a drop of eight miles since it was shifted by ground command into a new sideways position last Wednesday. The purpose of the shift was to keep the vehicle stable to give ground stations the possibility of some control in the final hours.

Carlos Leal, of 405 Ave. D, was in stable condition today at Deaf Smith General Hospital following a Sunday afternoon stabbing.

Taken into custody in an attempted murder charge was Daniel Villarreal, 20, of 206 Blevins. Bond on Villarreal, who remained in Deaf Smith County Jail this morning, was set at $15,000.

According to police reports, the stabbing occurred around 3:30 p.m. Sunday following an argument between the two men at 206 Blevins. Witnesses told police the men went outside and began to fight with Villarreal pulled out a knife.

Leal ran into a neighbor's yard and fell, according to witnesses. He was stabbed in the back and chest, police said.

Robert Barrientes, 18, and Arnulfo Barrientes, 19, both of 911 S. Julian were arrested over the weekend in connection with the Friday night stabbing of Rudy Castillo, 19, of 405 E. 3rd. They were charged with aggravated assault.

In that incident, Castillo received numerous lacerations during a fight at the Knights of Columbus Hall, on Country Club Drive. He was released from the hospital Sunday.

Hereford Detective Roger Scott made the arrests Sunday.

Bond on Arnulfo was set at $15,500, and $15,000 was set on his brother.

In one of their busiest weekends of the year, police arrested seven persons for public intoxication and four for driving while intoxicated.

Juveniles were charged with theft over $20 in connection with a stolen bicycle, and another youth was charged with theft under $5 after he allegedly stole a hot dog at Seven-11, Park Ave. and U.S. 385.

Clyde Eubanks, 236 Ave. B, told police that someone stole the mag wheels off his car while it was parked behind his house over the weekend. The wheels were valued at $350.

Someone broke the gasoline pump windows at Murillo's Ate Station, W. Highway 60.

A $300 plate glass window was smashed by a rock at Texas Rural Legal Aid, W. Highway 60, over the weekend. Plate glass windows also were broken at Pizza Hut, W. Highway 60, and Bamco, 102 North St.

Vandals apparently used blunt instruments to smash windshields on cars owned by Mary Castillo, Progressive Rd., and Ruben Marty, Blue Water Garden Arts.

A 1974 Oldsmobile was stolen and later recovered after someone entered Burney's Used Cars, 126 Bennet, by breaking a window and stole a set of keys inside a desk. The vehicle was found in Canyon, but no arrests had been made by this morning. Someone broke out the glass in the electric meter at Texas Employment Commission, 700 S. 25 Mile Ave., over the weekend.

Pannell Seed Co., 327 W. 2nd, reported that somebody broke a window in the back of the building, entered the premises and went through desk drawers. Nothing was reported missing, according to police.

A woman told police she was walking home in the 200 block of Higgins around 11 p.m. Saturday when a man drove up to her, pointed a gun and told her to "get off the street."

Police are seeking a suspect after obtaining a description of the vehicle.

A clerk at Allsup's, 910 E. Park, reported that someone stole $10 worth of gasoline Sunday.

Police received a report of a family fight in the 300 block of Lake Sunday. According to police reports, a woman complained that her husband hit her with a belt before she locked him out of the house. He managed to get back inside the house, then beat her up, investigating officers stated.

Police investigated a major one-car traffic accident around 2 a.m. Monday. According to reports, a vehicle driven by Joe San Miguel, 17, of 235 Ave. E, was going east on Bradley, turned north on U.S. 385 and skidded into three steel posts concreted in the yard of Hank Williams, 308 W. 8th.

San Miguel, who apparently suffered internal injuries in the accident, was treated at Deaf Smith General Hospital and released. A passenger, Sonja Harvey, 20, of 613 Austin St., sustained minor injuries.

A 19-year-old man in the car was not injured.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

For some reason, Americans cannot work up a scrap of compassion for (a) a Mercedes with a flat tire, (b) a price increase in polo scorecards, (c) the woman who holds down the homefront while her husband travels.

The first two I could understand, but why pick on a woman who is bravely shouldering the responsibilities of both mother and father? The women assure me it is true. A friend of mine kept a log of her week just to prove a point.

On Monday, she went to a parent-teacher conference alone to be told her son stole paper towels from the restroom (the girls'), wrote an obscene word in the dust on Mr. Gripper's car, and was flunking lunch. She said her husband travelled a lot and the teacher said she should be glad he was working.

On Tuesday, the dog got hit by a motorcycle, the house payment got lost in the mail and her daughter tried to crush a tin can with her hand like the bionic woman and required a tetanus shot. She told the doctor her husband travelled a lot and he said she was lucky she had a car.

On Wednesday, the television set blew a tube, the car developed a wheeze and she had to cancel a night out with the girls. Her mother-in-law said, "Be thankful you have the children."

On Thursday, as she was making a left-handed turn in her VW Rabbit, a car plowed into the back of her. As she sat there crying softly, "The rabbit died...the rabbit died..." a police officer stuck his head in the window and said, "You're lucky, lady. Nobody got hurt."

On Friday at the supermarket, so bored she was carrying on a conversation with a broom display, she went through the mechanics of shopping—lashing one kid to the basket, getting another out of the bean display where he "found" a hole in a bag of pinto, and on finding the third had eaten an unknown amount of fruit, offering to weigh him and anything over 53 pounds, pay the difference. The checkout girl in noting all the convenience foods said, "You're lucky to have your husband gone a lot. At least, you don't have to cook big meals."

On Saturday, she car-pooled it to Little League, two haircuts, one dentist appointment, baton twirling lessons, the cleaners, the post office, and a birthday party. As she pulled in at dusk, a neighbor yelled over the fence, "You're lucky. At least you get out of the house."

On Sunday, she dragged the brood to church. As she extended a limp hand to the minister, he said, "Glad to see you. At least coming to church gets rid of the kids for an hour. Incidentally, if you sleep during the sermon, I'll understand." He was the only one who did.

Ann Landers

Unfair Husband

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 23 years old, a college student, and I work at a part-time job. I have a wonderful husband and have had three beautiful children in three years.

The problem is this: My husband wants a very large family. I don't. But I can't bring myself to tell him because I'm sure it would upset him terribly.

When we have sexual intercourse he doesn't want me to use any contraceptives. Of course, HE never uses anything. When is the best time to have sexual intercourse without getting pregnant? My friends say a woman is safest right after menstruation. Is this true? I'm going to sign this letter -- Tired Of The Delivery Room

DEAR TIRED: I would never presume to advise you on this subject. If, for example, your periods are irregular, I could put you right back in the delivery room.

You and your husband should have a talk with your gynecologist. If you've had three babies in three years, you could end up with a dozen before you are 34.

It is unfair (and selfish) of a man to insist that his wife have a large family if she doesn't want one. Women often change their minds about the number of children they want after they've had a few. You certainly have the right to change yours.

It's your body. You're the one who must carry the babies, deliver them, and for the most part you will be the one who will take care of them. If your husband is as "wonderful" as you say, he will allow you to make this decision.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a practicing internist in Boston. I, too, suffered from bruxism (grinding of the teeth at night), but it wasn't a psychiatrist who helped me, it was a dentist.

I learned that joint dysfunction and a faulty bite often cause the problem. My muscle spasms and facial pains which resulted from the nightly grinding produced a great deal of emotional tension during the day.

Why did you suggest a psychiatrist? -- M.D. in Brookline

DEAR M.D.: I suggested a psychiatrist because grinding of the teeth at night is often a symptom of anxiety.

Since that letter appeared, however, I've been informed by at least one hundred dentists that the principal cause of bruxism is right in the person's mouth. I'm happy to print your letter for the benefit of others whose situations more closely resemble yours. Thanks to all who wrote. The altered advice reads as follows: "See a dentist first. If your teeth are not at fault, get counseling."

Here's another suggestion from a reader in California:

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband used to grind his teeth at night and it drove me nuts. I moved into the guest bedroom and told him he'd have to sleep alone until he did something about his nerve-wracking habit. After three days, "Mr. Crunch-A-Bunch" went to a dentist and got a plastic gadget for his mouth. (It's like the ones prizefighters wear.) That was the end of the grinding. I'm signing this letter -- Sleeping Side By Side Once Again And Loving It

DEAR LOVING IT: How nice! Thanks for letting us know.

There were some somber moments and a few minor confrontations, but most parades and rallies commemorating the 10th anniversary of the beginning of the national gay rights movement were marked by a festive mood.

In New York, where the "Stonewall Riot" unofficially spawned the national crusade for homosexual rights 10 years ago, about 100,000 gay rights advocates marched up Fifth Avenue Sunday to a rally in Central Park.

The parade was led by members of the original 13 arrested at the Stonewall Inn, a club with a predominantly homosexual clientele.

Police raided the club June 28, 1969, for allegedly serving liquor without a license. The evicted patrons and a sympathetic crowd outside resisted arrest, started a fire and pelted police with rocks, bottles and an uprooted parking meter. The episode became a symbol for gay rights advocates.

Only a few marchers were costumed Sunday, but one heavyweight man in an evening gown and a Mae West wig displayed a sign announcing, "Not every boy wants to grow up to be a Marine."

The nation's largest Gay Freedom Parade was held in San Francisco, where about 200,000 gay rights supporters surged along Market Street to a rally at Civic Center Plaza in front of City Hall.

The mood was upbeat, in contrast to the violence five weeks ago when angry protesters clashed with police over the voluntary manslaughter conviction of former Supervisor Dan White. Gays claimed the charge was not severe enough for the November shooting deaths of Mayor George Moscone and homosexual Supervisor Harvey Milk.

Many believe the episode heightened tension between gays and police, some of whom resented Chief Charles Gain's demand for police restraint in the clash.

In Miami, about 2,000 marchers clogged an 11-block route through the downtown area. Police said the group doubled from about 1,000 after television crews left.

Dade County gays have twice suffered setbacks at the polls, gaining national attention when entertainer Anita Bryant rallied conservative voters to repeal a Dade County gay rights ordinance. Last November, a referendum to re-enact the ordinance also failed.

"People remember a lot of things today that have happened in the past decade," said gay activist Bob Kunst. "But they can look around and see that we've started to turn things around."

In Portland, Ore., some minor clashes developed between marchers and persons opposed to the demonstration.

About 400 persons danced and heard speeches after a parade through downtown Portland, chanting, "Gay, straight, black, white - same struggle, same fight."

Some persons opposing the march carried signs saying "God Hates Homosexuals."

In 1941, Finland announced that it was at war with the Soviet Union for the second time in two years.

In 1944, Allied forces captured Cherbourg, France from the Nazis.

Ten years ago: There was serious racial violence in the Midwestern cities of Kokomo, Ind., Cairo, Ill., and Omaha, Neb.

Five years ago: The tempestuous 10-year marriage of Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton was dissolved in a Swiss courtroom.

One year ago: A bombing at the Versailles Palace in France wrecked three rooms containing art works celebrating the Napoleonic Era.

Today's birthdays: Writer Colin Wilson is 48. Electrical engineer and inventor William Lear is 72.

Thought for today: No matter how fair the sun shines, still it must set - Ferdinand Raimund, Austrian actor and playwright, 1790-1836.

LIBRARY GRANTS

NEW YORK (AP) - The libraries of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Art Institute of Chicago and the Cleveland Museum of Art have received grants from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation to participate in the Research Library Information Network (RLIN).

RLIN is a nationwide library automation and information program developed by and located at Stanford University.

The three museums, which applied jointly for the assistance, will be the first museum art libraries in the RLIN computerized program, which services more than 120 research, academic, public and special libraries throughout the country.

"The grant will help to provide nationwide access to the combined holdings of the three museums and enable the volume of work involved in cataloging all current material to be shared by these institutions."

Hill Strikes Out 21

Redbirds Upend Palo Duro, 8-3

A Swing And A Miss

afternoon. Hereford won the contest 8-3 to move their record to 3-5 for the year. [Brand photo by Marc Herring]

Chris Hill and Jeff Hazelrigg provided the necessary impetus for the Redbirds offensively and defensively as they downed the Palo Duro Dons for the second time this season, 8-3 in American Legion baseball action Sunday afternoon.

Hill, the 'Bird's fireballing righthander, mowed down 21 of the Palo Duro batters on strikes, facing only nine batters above the minimum 27.

Offensively, Hazelrigg pounded out a double and a home run to speak the Redbird's attack. He went 2 for 4 at the plate, collecting three RBI's.

Other offensive stars for the local team were Hill, who stroked two doubles and a triple to help his own cause and Don Weemes who blasted two triples.

Bob Hillerby, manager of the team was happy with the way the team performed, both offensively and defensively.

"We were hitting the ball consistently off of the Palo Duro pitcher which helped our guys' confidence," Hillerby said. Along with the pitching from Chris we played as well as we needed to win some games in this league.

The Dons got on the board first, scoring two unearned runs in the initial inning. Hereford could not get a score across the plate until the third frame, when a walk to Don DeLozier and Hill's triple made the score 2-1.

Another tally was added in the fourth as another walk, this time to first baseman Steve Bartels, a passed ball and a sacrifice by Alan Daughtery moved Bartels to third and a double by Hazelrigg knotted the score at 2-2.

The Redbirds added three more runs in the fifth and seventh frames. Weemes cleared the bases with a triple in the fifth and then scored on an error by the centerfielder for the three tallies in the fifth and in the seventh. Weemes' triple and a single by Daughtery pushed the first run across the plate and then Hazelrigg's homer scored the final two runs for the team. Palo Duro was handcuffed all afternoon by the speed of Hill's pitching, unable to score an earned run in the contest.

Hill put the side down on strikes four of the nine innings as only bases on balls and fielding errors kept him from enjoying a shutout.

The Don's were only able to come up with two hits in the game, a single in the first inning by Clyde Artis and a double down the third base line by John Wilson in the fifth frame.

With the win, Hill brings his record to 1-2 for the year and the Redbirds are now 3-5 for the year. The next game for Hereford will be Friday as they travel to Amarillo to play Borger at Potter County Stadium.

Second Wind

The American Legion baseball program is on the upward swing mainly because of the work of Bob Hillerby. Hillerby, in charge of the program now for two years, sees a bright future for the baseball program and hopes to have it back the way it was in the late '60's when the games were competitive and the fans enjoyed the afternoon out in the sun to watch the local boys play.

"Right now we barely have enough boys out for the team to call it a full size group," Hillerby said. For instance, this last Sunday we only had nine players show up.

"Hopefully by next year, we can do some things to make it an honor to play on the Legion team, instead of an obligation. If we can get 34 or 40 boys out to try out for a team that will carry 25 members then the ones that make it will know that it is their talent and desire that makes up the team. This will improve the players' attitudes and also improve the quality of play, since the guys on the field know that there are others that do and want to play if the opportunity arises.

Hillerby stated that the talent exists in Hereford to field one of the best teams in the area for a baseball team, if we can get the players out and get some dedication from them and the coaches.

With the team that we are fielding now, we should be able to beat anyone in the district, but things need to be better organized, on our team and in the district, Hillerby said.

The district is made up of teams from Hereford, Canyon, Borger and Amarillo, and because it has been the way it has for such a long time, the Amarillo schools have the best deal.

At the start of the season, Hereford was scheduled to play only two games of the 12 game schedule at home while the rest were to be contested in Amarillo or Canyon. So regardless of the talent having to play as the visitor all the time takes a toll on the team.

Now, the team has been able to get some things changed and they will play nearly half of the games at Whiteface Field.

Another example of a problem in contrast to other Legion programs is the number of games played.

"There are some districts that play nearly 50 games a summer," Hillerby said, "and we are able to only schedule 12. That really hurts the team and our chance as a district to represent the area in the playoffs."

Among the benefits of playing Legion ball are that coaches and scouts from the colleges and pros are at a lot of the games and it is there that high school games that most of the players for college scholarships are given.

In a visit with some of the scouts they are out there looking for players that are interested in playing the game on their own, not just because they can get a credit from it in school.

If the pros think that there is some talent in the games then it should be worth a baseball fan's time to go and see a local Legion game.

Johnson Ready For Pro Ball

NEW YORK (AP) - The gleam is there in the eyes, the sparkle that makes Earvin "Magic" Johnson more than a basketball player.

He's a pro now - it became official Monday when Johnson signed his contract with the Los Angeles Lakers after they made him the top choice in the National Basketball Association draft. But he's still the same ebullient teenager who lit up the college basketball world last winter.

"I'm so happy just thinking about next season," he said, with genuine enthusiasm, as he lounged in his room at the Plaza Hotel prior to the draft. "I'm really excited, I can't wait for Sept. 15."

That's the date he'll report to the Lakers' rookie camp and begin life in the play-for-pay ranks. Does Johnson feel he can have as much fun in pro ball as he had leading Michigan State to the NCAA title?

"I definitely do," he responded without hesitation. "I enjoy playing basketball. Every game I play is fun. That's not going to change."

Other things have changed for the 19-year-old from East Lansing, Mich.

"I'm a businessman now," he said with a smile, then he rolled his eyes toward the ceiling. "The phone is always ringing. A guy comes in with what he says is a great insurance deal or a great investment. All sorts of deals have been coming in."

"It's been good and bad. There are times when you want to be left to yourself, so that part is bad. But it's forced me to learn a lot about business at a young age and that's good, because if I make a mistake now, maybe I won't make it when I'm older."

"I'm going to make mistakes, on and off the basketball floor, but I'm going to try not to make the same mistake twice."

One change Johnson would like to make involves the Los Angeles fans, notorious for their laid-back approach to the Lakers.

"Hopefully we'll be able to change their attitude," said the 6-foot-8 Johnson, who is expected to team with Norm Nixon in the Lakers' backcourt. "I want to create some excitement. That's going to be a challenge."

Johnson is a young man who doesn't shy away from challenges. Rather, he relishes them. That's why he decided to turn pro after his sophomore year at Michigan State, joining the Lakers for a reported $600,000 a year.

"I wanted to play pro ball all my life," he reflected. "When I got the opportunity to go with a good team, a strong franchise, I had to take it. It was a great opportunity and a great challenge, and I just had to go."

Some NBA officials look to the arrival of Johnson and Boston rookie Larry Bird and the return of Bill Walton with San Diego as spurring interest in pro basketball next season. All three are outstanding team players, a common trait that is not common at all in pro ball.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) - Outfielder Garry Matthews of the Atlanta Braves batted .481, drove in 10 runs and scored 11 last week to earn National League Player of the Week honors, the league office announced.

Over that span, Matthews had 11 hits in 24 at-bats, including four home runs, four doubles and one triple.

The American League also announced that Fred Lynn of the Boston Red Sox won the American League Player of the Week award. Lynn hit 500, with 12 hits in 24 at-bats, including six doubles, and three home runs. He also had 10 RBI.

Jackson Still A Yankee

TORONTO (AP) - The New York Yankees have rejected Reggie Jackson's request to be traded with a verbal slap at the sidelined slugger while Manager Billy Martin adopted a policy of silence after firing one final shot.

Shortly after the Yankees announced Monday night that "the club has done all it intends to do toward bringing Jackson around," Martin said he would have "no comment whatsoever anymore on that subject."

It was another wild and crazy episode in the on-again, off-again Jackson-Martin feud but this time owner George Steinbrenner was in Martin's corner, and the next move was up to Reggie.

In a statement released during Monday night's game here against the Blue Jays, the Yankees disclosed that Jackson had asked the club last Thursday to put him on waivers so that a possible trade could be worked out.

Ironically, Jackson's name along with six other Yankees had been put on the American League waiver list two days earlier, usually a routine piece of baseball business, even for star players. The waiver period expired Monday and Jackson's name was withdrawn when he was claimed by several clubs, including the Blue Jays.

"It was not an idle claim," said Toronto club president Peter Bavasi.

"I'm not trading Reggie Jackson," said Yankee President Al Rosen, "unless I can get a Reggie Jackson in return."

The outfielder, asked about the constant turmoil surrounding his dealings with Yankee management said, "It's no fun." Jackson added he has been on waivers before and that the procedure once was explained to him by Oakland A's owner Charles Finley.

"Charley told me I was on waivers once or twice," Jackson said. "He said it was a formality, that sometimes you do that to speak another player through. Sometimes, you have a lesser talented player who you want to waiver. So you lump him with a bunch of others. The other teams figure they're not gonna let those guys go, so they'll just waiver the whole group. And the one guy you really want waived is slipped through."

Since Jackson did not clear waivers and was withdrawn, his name cannot appear on the waiver list again for 30 days, meaning he will remain a Yankee for at least that long. After that, who knows?

"No man is indispensable," Steinbrenner said.

Getting Down

Steve Bartles hits the dirt in American Legion action Sunday afternoon. Bartles scored the Redbird's first run after a passed ball by the Palo Duro catcher.

Upsets Mark 1st Day Of Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Defending champion Martina Navratilova faced a tough first-round match today in the Wimbledon women's singles.

In the opening round of women's competition, the 22-year-old Czech born champion met 20-year-old South African Tanya Harford, who reached the semifinals at the Wimbledon warmup tournaments at Beckenham and Chichester.

"I would have hoped for an easier opening match," said the Dallas-based Navratilova.

Harford, from Johannesburg, is ranked 117th in the world and had to prequalify here. She won all her qualifying matches in straight sets and is full of confidence.

"My motto is not to give up until you have lost the final point," said Harford, who has lost more than seven pounds since last Wimbledon.

In the first day of men's singles Monday, a man who described himself as "an horrendous grass court player" caused the biggest upset in the men's singles. Pat DuPre, a 25-year-old Stanford University economics graduate, beat fourth-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis 7-6.

6-3, 3-6, 3-6, 6-3.

"That was my best ever performance on grass," DuPre said. "I have never done a thing on grass before."

Born in Belgium, raised in Birmingham, Ala., but now living in La Jolla, Calif., DuPre had beaten Gerulaitis a number of times as a junior.

"I was not intimidated and I felt he was really vulnerable," he said. "I had nothing to lose and he had everything to lose, so I wasn't at all nervous and decided to play aggressively."

DuPre's aggression paid dividends in the final set when he broke Gerulaitis in the first game and then attacked his opponent's serve at every opportunity.

New York playboy Gerulaitis stormed from the court after the match and refused to meet reporters.

Meanwhile, John McEnroe, controversial 20-year-old new millionaire of American tennis, believes a new mental approach can help him to the men's singles title which this year carries a prize of $40,000.

McEnroe, whose path to the final is made easier by the disappearance of Gerulaitis, said: "I didn't really think I had a chance to win the first two years I came here. Now I think I can win — my attitude is very different."

McEnroe, christened "super-brat" by British reporters who have castigated him for his on-court outbursts, cruised to a 7-5, 6-1, 6-4 win over American left-hander Terry Moor in the first round.

NBA Draft Has Many Surprises

NEW YORK (AP) — Who got the best of the National Basketball Association draft? Los Angeles, Chicago, New York, Detroit and Milwaukee had the first five picks in Monday's lottery, and all appear to have done well.

But Seattle and New Jersey may have done best of all.

The NBA champion Sonics, owning the sixth and seventh picks because of deals, cashed them in for 6-foot-9 center-forward James Bailey of Rutgers and guard Vinnie Johnson of Baylor.

Bailey gives the Sonics a good big man who should fit right in with players like Jack Sikma, Lonnie Shelton and Tom LaGarde and provide extra rest for aging forwards John Johnson and Paul Silas. Vinnie Johnson, meanwhile, is a highly rated backcourtman who will give Seattle depth at that position.

"We feel we got two quality players," Coach Lenny Wilkens said. "Bailey gives us a lot of versatility and Johnson is a take-charge, run-the-show type of guard."

"There's no better team to be drafted by than Seattle," Bailey said. "I think playing with people of their caliber will help me, and it will give them more depth."

New Jersey would like to have gotten Bailey, a local favorite since the Nets play their home games at the Rutgers Athletic Center.

But they still managed to strengthen their frontcourt with the eighth and 11th picks on the first round, taking highly touted Calvin Natt of Northeast Louisiana and 19-year-old Cliff Robinson of Southern Cal.

"It's quite an unbelievable draft for the Nets," Coach Kevin Loughery said. "I expect both of these players to put in an awful lot of minutes."

Natt, 6-5 and 225 pounds,

Houston Splits With Cincinnati

HOUSTON (AP) — The old and new guard paraded to the pitcher's mound at the Astrodome Monday night and when the dust cleared from the Houston-Cincinnati double-header it was a deadlock.

Cincinnati's Tom Seaver was his old masterful self in the opener, parcelling out three hits until he tired in the eighth and needed relief help to complete a 2-1 victory over the Astros.

That snapped Houston's six-game winning streak and cut its lead over the Reds in the National League Western Division to 4½ games.

Then came Astros rookie Randy Niemann, tabbed by Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark as an AA pitcher at best. Niemann scattered six hits and shut out the Reds 3-0 to restore the Astros' 5½ game bulge going into tonight's series finale.

"A lot of people are asking if Tom Seaver is finished," Seaver noted. "Anytime you have someone who has pitched as many innings as I have for 13 years there comes a point where you wonder if he can pitch anymore."

"I feel fine physically and I'm only 34 years old. Once I got my good pitching back, the good location and the changing speeds, I knew I was pitching the way I can."

None of the near capacity crowd in the Astrodome or the national television audience doubted Seaver's ability Monday night.

George Foster's 17th homer of the season, a two-run shot in the first inning, was all Seaver needed. After yielding a triple to Craig Reynolds in the first inning, Seaver didn't allow another hit until Cesar Cedeno's lead off single in the seventh.

Seaver tired in the eighth and gave way to Dave Tomlin and Doug Bair, who pitched the ninth to get his 10th save of the season.

Reynolds scored Houston's lone run in the first on Cedeno's sacrifice fly.

Niemann, called up from the Astros' minor league system to fill injury gaps, got the second shut out of his brief major league career to run his record to 3-0.

"I just tried to keep it close," Niemann said. "I knew if I could keep us within one run," we could win the game because we've been doing it all year."

Niemann dueling with Cincinnati starter Mike LaCoss through six scoreless innings until the Astros finally broke loose in the seventh with four runs off five hits. Jose Cruz clubbed a run-scoring double to the rightfield corner to start it off.

Enos Cabell's triple brought home two more runs and Denny Walling's single plated the final run.

"We didn't have much to get excited about until the seventh inning of the second game did we?" Astros Manager Bill Virdon asked. "It was important for us to come back and win the second game. It was a struggle. But we got the runs when we needed them."

Expo Play Brings Fans To Park

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It's not the national sport in Canada, but the way the Montreal Expos are playing baseball these days it soon could be.

The Expos have won their way into the hearts of their fans, not to mention first place in the National League East.

"We have confidence in ourselves as a ballclub," says first baseman Tony Perez. "This is something we didn't have before. We just have to play the best — and see what happens."

So far, things have been pretty good — a solid 41-25 record which includes two more victories Monday night. The Expos beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2 in the completion of a suspended game, then 8-2 in the second game at Busch Stadium.

"Our club is the club to beat," said Montreal Manager Dick Williams. "I do respect all the other clubs in our division. But the Expos are having fun. They know they can play well; they believe in themselves."

The Expos' victories were their 10th and 11th in their last 15 games.

suspended after 10 innings on May 17 to permit the Cardinals to make flight connections.

Larry Parrish belted a three-run homer and Gary Carter chipped in with a two-run shot to pace Montreal's triumph in the regularly-scheduled game. The Montreal victory in the second game featured a seven-hitter by left-hander Dan Schatzeder.

Player Busy

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Kufeld captained the Yeshiva basketball team in the 1978-79 season and that was only a small part of his busy program.

He was a speech and drama major and received high marks. He won a contest, staged by the Yeshiva Speech Club. He managed to squeeze in a two-hour "deejay" show once a week. He was the make-up supervisor of a school production of the Broadway hit of a few years back, "Pippin."

Kufeld also coached a high-school basketball team and won the discus-throwing championship in his college intramural track program. When he had a few minutes of spare time, he also wrote sports features for the school newspaper.

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Ted Turner, skipper of the sloop Tenacious, was awarded the coveted Blue Water Bowl in the prestigious Annapolis-to-Newport yacht race.

Turner's 61-foot sloop finished third behind Summer Long's Ondine and Robert W. McCullough's Inverness at Castle Hill Light, but finished first on corrected time.

Inherited hair genes
DEAR DR. LAMB - I would appreciate it if you would tell me how a hair transplant is performed and how natural it is. Can you get it cut and will it regrow? Is it like the rest of your natural growing hair?
DEAR READER - The usual technique is to take plugs of hair from the sides of the scalp where hair is abundant and transplant these plugs to areas where the hair is sparse or absent. Much of the male pattern baldness as seen in men is because the hair follicles involved have an inherited different metabolic characteristic. These hair follicles actually produce a form of male hormone, different from hormones produced by the other hair follicles. This particular variation is associated with small or rudimentary hair growth, if any at all.

It's odd but every hair follicle that you have has its own genes which determine how the hair follicle behaves chemically. The ones at the side of the head are least likely to have these kinds of genes and, therefore, a man may become bald at the front of his head and still have an abundant quantity of hair on the sides of the head.

When the hair follicles are transplanted from the side of the head to the bald area, of course the follicles retain the basic genes that they inherited. That means that the hair in the new transplanted position behaves exactly as it should have behaved in the old position. So, it grows like natural hair and can be cut like natural hair.
To give you more information about hair, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 12-6, Hair Care. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-adressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am a 77-year-old woman and I walk a r.r. or more every day if it doesn't rain. Four years ago I spent a week in the hospital after an electric shock treatment for rapid and irregular heartbeat. Since then I have been taking medicine regularly. This medicine has kept me free from any further attacks, for which I am thankful.
However, this past year I've noticed I am much more forgetful. In conversation, words or names leave me suddenly. Things I am familiar with are suddenly lost. This is embarrassing and I have been wondering if the medicine has anything to do with this. If so, is there any danger in continuing the medicine indefinitely?
DEAR READER - The list of medicines you included in the rest of your letter are common ones used effectively to treat your condition. None of them would be responsible for your tendency toward forgetfulness.
I am afraid that this is a problem that occurs in many people as they get older. As you've no doubt noticed, your loss of memory or forgetfulness is for recent events. You can probably remember things that happened when you were a girl rather easily.
I wish there was something that I could recommend that would really help you, but it's not an easy problem. If you want, you can try some of the books on memory training and see if they will help. There are any number of these that you can get through most bookstores. Most of the methods have basic similarities.
DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 58 years old and in good health. I had my womb removed nine years ago and have been taking estrogen for 12 years. I stopped taking it two months ago after all I had read about it. I can say I feel so much better in so many ways, it's unbelievable, but the hot flashes are terrible - about every hour night and day. It's really hard. I expected to have them and it's worth it but how long will they last? I'm sure I'm through the menopause. I started at 44. I'm also sure estrogen helped me through it but I want to quit it now. Also what other things happen to the body when you quit? My estrogen was reduced for two months before I stopped taking it.
DEAR READER - There have been so many exaggerated claims about the benefits of estrogen. I'm sure you know that. The Fellowship of the Ring and The Two Towers. United Artists. ADMISSION $2.00 & $1.25 generations about estrogen and the menopause that it's perfectly understandable that you'd be confused, as are many other readers.

In the first place, since you've had a hysterectomy, there's no way you can have cancer of the uterus caused by taking estrogen hormones. Second, if you don't have lumpy breasts or breast disease and don't develop any, there's no reason to be concerned about taking estrogen and the possibility of breast cancer.
Beyond that, there is a long list of complications that can occur in some women taking female hormones but there are many other women who use them to great advantage. It makes them feel better and it can definitely improve their health. The Food and Drug Administration has now agreed that an adequate amount of female hormones helps to protect against or delay the degeneration of bones that occurs in middle-aged and older women. I might add that a high calcium diet also helps prevent the problem.
I'm sending you The Health Letter number 5-12 on the menopause to give you more detailed information. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
In addition to the information in The Health Letter, I think it's important to emphasize some of the beneficial effects of estrogen. Yes, it will specifically eliminate hot flashes and often you don't need large doses to do this.
If you think about the body before puberty, you'll realize that it undergoes a lot of changes because of female hormones. When these hormones are diminished sufficiently, there's a basic reversal of these changes. As a result, there's a tendency for the breasts to get smaller, the female organs undergo changes, even the soft tissues that line the female organs change.
This is sometimes the underlying basis for inflammation and irritation. This is why various vaginal creams are sometimes useful in certain cases. Even the ability of the tissues to resist infectious agents changes. There may be thinning and changes in cells at the outlet of the bladder. This may be a contributory factor to frequent urinary tract infections.

The Fourth World

No American of conscience can drive or walk across any Rio Grande bridge into Mexico without some degree of emotional turmoil.
However similar other signs may grow on both sides of the river, the one that grabs your eyes and your heart on the Mexican side is the sight of shabby children with their hands out.
Six, five, four-year-old young beggars.
Inevitably, Americans react with a combination of compassion for the urchins and resentment, anger and frustration at the apparent hopelessness of the situation.
Multiply those by millions in many nations and they comprise a Fourth World of misery, disease and despair.
Inevitably, they overflow national borders.
AP sent Peter Arnett on a survey of the refugee situation. He guesstimated that 10 million men, women and children have no country. Uprooted, by gunfire, revolution, shifting ideologies, changing maps, nationalism, racism and assorted other factors they seek greener pastures - often to find themselves unwanted.
They flee in anything that will float across the South China Sea - to nowhere.
They swim the Danube by night into Austria.
They walk 20 torturous days from Ethiopia to end up in a filthy camp in Djibouti where intestinal disease is rampant and cholera and typhoid are threats.
Former Vietnamese interpreter, Nguyen Phong Lam, 33, went overboard from his surf-swamped fishing boat and crawled onto the yellow sands of the Malaysian coast - only to be beaten up and pushed back into the sea by angry inhabitants who resented his presence.
They flee Afghanistan to Pakistan, South West Africa to Zaire, Rhodesia to Zambia and - in our own hemisphere - Nicaragua to Guatemala.
The flight of war victims from Africa and Indochina and the exodus from Yugoslavia this year will continue to add desperation to the situation.
There will be increasing pressure on the United States to absorb more of the displaced.
In the experience of the United Nations, the best possible solution to the problem is for the refugees to return home.
That is happening in Bangladesh, where 200,000 Moslems who fled Burma are going back.
But scores of thousands fleeing Indochina do not want to go back; they want to go to the United States.
Already, by any numerical standard, the United States has done more than its share. It now hosts some 734,000 of the world's refugees; no other country even comes close.
Britain, 150,000. France, 140,000. Australia, 304,000. Canada, 42,000.

The United States, 734,000. Whereas the entire United Nations this year is spending only $150 million on emergency relief for these refugees, the United States alone is spending $570 million. We have done more than we can afford.
Piteous as the world's orphans are, our own grandchildren are already $800 billion in debt.

Spilled nail polish
POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY - My tiny daughter spilled nail polish all over her permanent press pants (50 percent polyester-50 percent cotton) so I immediately soaked them in cold water. But that did not work. Next I tried nail polish remover but no results. So what do I do? - MRS. D.B.
DEAR MRS. D.B. - The Home Service Dept. of one of the largest washing machine companies says not to use nail polish remover. Sponge with pure amy acetate (buy at the drug store) and if stain persists after laundering sponge with rubbing alcohol to which you have added a few drops of ammonia. Test first. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - The pastry blender in my kitchen seems to be in almost constant use. Naturally it is used for dough and pastry but I use it for chopping eggs to go in egg salad and it works well for breaking chunks of tuna into smaller pieces. Also when I have forgotten to thaw ground beef I empty the frozen meat into a skillet with a small amount of water and cook, scraping off the outside as it works. When it's all cooked the blender is used to break the chunky meat into tiny separate pieces that are so nice for barbecue, casseroles and the like. - SALLY
DEAR POLLY - Have you ever opened a box of brown sugar and found it like one solid rock? I have discovered such a lump can be softened by placing it in a shallow baking dish (remove from the package, of course) and then heating it in the oven for a few minutes. This also works in a microwave oven. - VICKY
DEAR READERS - I, too, am very fond of this way for softening brown sugar but find it must be done just when the sugar is about to be measured or used since mine seems to harden again when it gets cold. - POLLY
DEAR POLLY - I no longer have to worry about my recipe cards getting misplaced or messy while I am cooking because my dear husband nailed a clothespin on the underside of one of my wall cabinets and this holds the card at almost eye level. The pin is over the area where I usually do any mixing etc., but is out of the way. - MARYLYN

Guard Corps Give Protection

By MARK CRANE
Associated Press Writer
ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N.J.
(AP)—An elite corps of multi-lingual, college-educated bodyguards is ready for action if the "kneecapping" and kidnaping that has plagued Italy in recent years spreads to the United States.

The Executive Bodyguard Service will protect corporate executives, rock singers or anyone else willing to pay the minimum price of $25 per bodyguard per hour plus expenses.

More than $100 million in ransom was paid to kidnapers in Italy last year alone and most major American corporations have taken out kidnap insurance for their key executives, costing up to $400,000 a year in premiums, said John Fitzpatrick, operations manager for Arnold M. Jones Detective Agency, which established the bodyguard service a year ago.

"Kidnaping is not a serious reality in the United States at the moment, but it will be in the future as political and economic activism increases," the 6-foot, 6-inch private investigator said in a recent interview. Fitzpatrick would prefer to use the term "agents" for his employees.

"Bodyguards have a negative connotation," he explained. "To the average person, a bodyguard is a hulking brute in a double-breasted suit with a big bulge under his left arm. He's the kind that frisks everybody and says, 'They're OK, boss.'"

The 35 full and part-time "agents" employed by the agency must be able to combine mental and physical agility in fending off a potential attack on a client, with the social graces needed to blend in with the world of corporate execu-

the crowd," Fitzpatrick said. "I want my people to be ignored while they're working — they should blend into the background until they are needed."

Agents undergo a rigorous personal interview and a series of tests in martial arts, firearms and driving.

"We prefer to hire people who have some experience with physical danger — either in the military or a police or fire department," Fitzpatrick said.

A minimum of two years of college is required.

"If nothing else, people who have attended college are familiar with the establishment life."

"This is important because while they're on the job they live two lives — as agents and members of a corporate party," Fitzpatrick said. "I don't want my people to shove peas with a knife."

Most clients are corporate figures who have received anonymous threatening phone calls or have had labor problems. "That's why they come to us."

"In kidnappings, the client is most vulnerable while in motion. We do the same kind of advance work that the Secret Service does for the president before he makes a trip. We set up the transportation and accommodations."

"In one case, we were protecting the chairman of the board of a multi-national corporation that had been the target of protests. As my men drove the man home, someone jumped out of the bushes with a pipe. My people took the pipe away and sat on him until the police came," Fitzpatrick said.

Ham Break

Chris White [N5ALV] takes a break and has a cup of coffee as he watches Wayne White [WDSJYX] operate the club station as Hereford ham radio operators participate in national Field Day last weekend at Whiteface Stadium. Also looking on is Robert Priest [KA5CWY], acting as logger for White. The local group contacted 560 other stations during the contest, which ran from 1 p.m. Saturday to 4 p.m. Sunday. Bob Monical [WB5OXE] also helped out with the contest as did Bob Nigh [KA5BVS] and Bruce Barlowe [WA2DRO/5].

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams

AUSTIN—Energy dominated all issues this week at the State Capitol: how to ration it, how to conserve it, and how to find new sources. Faced with short gasoline supplies and long lines at service stations in the Houston and Dallas areas, Governor Bill Clements mandated last Tuesday that stations must restrict sales through purchase limits and a California-style odd-even license plate number plan. The plan (for Harris, Dallas and Tarrant counties only) restricts gasoline sales to a minimum of $6 and a maximum of 20 gallons, and allows fill-ups for odd-numbered plates on odd-numbered calendar days, and even for even, etc.

Hours after his announcement, Clements' legal advisors remained uncertain on how much authority the governor's office has—if any—to enforce the mandate. More fuel-related troubles appeared on another horizon when Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown told Clements Thursday that a truckers' boycott and sporadic violence around the country threatened Texas' $40 million watermelon and vegetable crop. Brown told Clements his office was swamped with telephone calls from Texas producers in need of trucks to haul their produce to markets. The truckers' boycott, a protest of rapidly escalating diesel prices, aims "to empty food shelves in supermarkets around the country" and is slowly bringing Texas agriculture to a "grinding halt," a Brown aide said. Harry Hubbard, president of the Texas AFL-CIO, said he thought refinery workers and truckers who transport gasoline should not have to wait in line for fuel. "Making Texans stand in line for gas is like making Kansans stand in line for wheat," he said.

Clements came under fire in Austin from conservative State Rep. Dan Kubiak who called him "irresponsible" for vetoing budgeted funds for several alternative energy projects. Kubiak, who successfully sponsored a bill allowing gasoline production in Texas, criticized Clements for hamstringing gasoline and other energies only three days before mandating his gas rationing plan. The Rockdale legislator called on Clements to include "the rapid development of alternative energy" in the Governor's promised special session.

Primary "Death Knell" Sounded

A "Killer Bee" senator sounded the "death knell" for a regional presidential primary, saying he had checked with state officials from New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi with negative results. Those neighboring states, Sen. Ron Clower, D-Garland, said, "do not want a simultaneous primary with Texas."

Clements earlier had indicated he might call a special session to consider a regional primary if enough interest was aroused.

Other projects with neighbors may be more successful. Clements was to attend a Friday meeting of the Southwest Border Regional Commission—composed of Govs. Bruce King of New Mexico, Jerry Brown of California and Clements—to sell his positions on illegal aliens, narcotics trafficking, and energy. Clements will seek a method to document illegal aliens, stepped up law enforcement to control drug traffic on both sides of the border, and the importation of oil and gas from Mexico's vast reserves at prices acceptable to Mexico.

If the four governors and U.S. Ambassador to Mexico Patrick Duffey agree on a plan, they will depart Brownsville with a date for a summit with the governors of Mexico's six border states.

If the border state governors agree with the plans, the recommendations will be turned over to the State Department as a guide to an international agreement between the two countries.

Clements Calls on LULAC

In his address Thursday to the national League of Latin American Citizens convention, Clements told delegates "You are our greatest resource" in solving the problems shared by the border governors and building closer ties with Mexico. Saying it is better to rely on a friend like Mexico for foreign oil supplies, Clements also brought the 2,000 delegates to their feet when he said oil companies should be required to either reinvest windfall profits into energy production or be taxed "100 percent—1 repeat, 100 percent on those above normal revenue."

If LULAC was pleased with Clements' statements, it also is pleased with his 1978 gubernatorial opponent, former Texas Attorney General John Hill. Five days after the convention, LULAC national director Ruben Bonilla endorsed Hill as the group's choice to replace U.S. Attorney General Griffin Bell, who intends to resign prior to the 1980 primaries. Bonilla said their Hispanic choice, Reynaldo Garza, was recently appointed as 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals judge, but "Hill would be an extraordinary choice" because of his record on civil rights.

Roloff Homes Supported

Despite a State District Judge's orders to close the unlicensed children's homes of evangelist Lester Roloff, the facilities remained open last week. Officials from the Department of Human Resources refused to break through a human barrier of about 300 hymn-singing persons clutching Bibles and American flags, who stood in front of the entrance to Roloff's Peoples Church. The teen-aged residents of Roloff's Rebekah Home for Girls had been moved from the home to the church next door, and their parents and some 150 parents from 25 states kept a front-door vigil.

Roloff voluntarily closed down his Zapata boys' home facilities on June 19 in obedience of the court order, but maintained a stubborn resistance at the girls' home near Corpus Christi. State officials, unsure of how to handle the large crowd, said they did not know when or if they would enter the home. Roloff, meanwhile, says he will "never give up."

Haig Escapes Bombing Attempt

CASTEAU, Belgium (AP)—Gen. Alexander M. Haig, the NATO military commander, escaped unharmed Monday from a powerful explosion that injured three of his guards and damaged his car as he was driving from his home in Obourg to his office in Casteau, an official source said. A motorcyclist was reported arrested not far from the site. A spokesman for Haig, who is due to retire Friday, said the black Mercedes Benz carrying two Belgian policemen and one U.S. security guard was wrecked by the explosion that apparently was touched off by a land mine detonated by remote control.

The guards, who were not identified, were only slightly injured, however, he added, and had already left the hospital. He said Haig went to his office after the explosion and was working as usual.

Police said the explosives went off behind Haig's car, ripping up concrete blocks and stones from a narrow bridge over a ravine. The following car was blown to one side, averting a hole left by the blast, but its roof was crushed by flying concrete blocks, police said. Haig's spokesman earlier said the guard's car had been blown over onto its roof.

The exhaust and trunk of Haig's car was damaged but it was operable. Haig's car was in front of the guards' car and police said there appeared to be a second escort car preceding Haig.

Authorities at first reported only two security guards were hurt. Belgian police, meanwhile, said two men riding motorcycles had been spotted at the site of the explosion, and the Belgian news agency Belga said one of them was arrested in Ath, about 12 miles away.

However, NATO officials said they had no idea so far of who was behind the explosion, and no group claimed responsibility immediately.

The incident took place at about 8:30 a.m. near the village of Obourg where Haig lives, as he was being driven to his nearby office. Obourg and Casteau are a few miles apart.

Casteau, site of Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe, is 31 miles south of Brussels, near the expressway to Paris.

Army explosives experts searching the blast area said the mine, placed under the bridge on a deserted country road, was detonated by a command device about 1640 feet from the bridge. They said only two of the four buttons on the command had been pushed, so they were looking for more explosives.

Haig was President Nixon's chief of staff and virtually ran the White House at the peak of the Watergate scandal until Nixon resigned on Aug. 9, 1974. He is believed to have had great influence on Nixon's decision to resign.

Bulgaria Wants Tourists

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP)—Bulgaria has no illusions about replacing London, Paris or Rome on American tourists' must-see lists. But it does hope to lure more Americans to one of Europe's few places where the dollar is not a beggar's coin.

"We would like to see more Americans here," said Vladimir Sabev, deputy director of the state travel monopoly, Balkantourist. "Our advertising in the United States is attempting to show that Bulgaria, despite its small size, has many historical and cultural places which would be of interest."

Although Bulgaria is one of eastern Europe's least known countries for North Americans, its sandy beaches and relatively low prices have made it a popular destination for western Europeans, particularly Germans.

Sabev said 15,000 Americans had visited Bulgaria last year, compared with 156,000 West Germans, 53,000 French and 45,000 Austrians.

Since the late 1960s, when Bulgaria decided to expand its travel business, tourism has developed into one of the top four national industries and is a major source of hard currency. Some 40,000 of Bulgaria's 8.8 million people work during the peak summer months in some phase of the travel business, Sabev said. Numbers of foreigners visiting Bulgaria have climbed from 200,602 in 1960 to over 4.5 million in 1977, according to Balkantourist. Sabev said the number was expected to increase between 8 and 10 percent this year.

To help meet the demand, Bulgaria has built 364 hotels for foreigners, with over 76,000 beds, compared with only 1,000 beds nationwide in 1966.

In hopes of attracting more Western visitors, Bulgaria has abolished the requirement that foreigners exchange a certain amount of money for each day in the country.

Such mandatory exchange rules are common throughout much of communist Europe and force travelers to spend more than they perhaps would otherwise. Money exchanged under the compulsory rules cannot be changed back into Western cash and taken out of the country.

In addition, foreigners who book tours in advance are issued visas at the border, where they receive a special card entitling them to a 50 percent premium over the official exchange rate for convertible currency.

Sabev said one of the principal reasons for the small number of American visitors was that there is no direct air service between Sofia and the United States.

Another is that there are only about 40,000 people of Bulgarian descent in the United States, compared with the 6.5 million Polish-Americans, many of whom make regular pilgrimages back to the old country.

Those Americans who do manage to come here usually arrive on three- or four-day bus tours from Italy, Yugoslavia or Greece, Sabev said. Major tourist spots on their itineraries include the capital of Sofia, the Rila Monastery, the old cultural centers of Plovdiv and Melnik with their distinctive Bulgarian architecture, the Valley of the Roses, the mountains and beach resorts around Varna.

Development of a foreign tourist industry in this once-backward peasant society has not been without its difficulties, Sabev admits. Staffs had to be trained not only in waiting at tables, cleaning rooms and running a reception desk, but in major Western languages such as German, French and English.

Skunk, pecan, squaw and chipmunk were originally Algonquin Indian words.
