Ultrasound in Operation

Drs. Evangeline Archer and Millard Nobles perform a thyroid scan on young Kim Claypool, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Claypool, 402 Union, with Deaf Smith General's Hospital's new $75,000 ultrasound unit. The machine, which enables the two radiologists to examine structures within the body, has been in operation since Friday and already has performed 10 scans. Hospital district directors watched Dr. Archer perform a scan on a pregnant hospital employee and watched the fetus inside her move Monday night. Dr. Archer of Amarillo will make regular visits to the Hereford hospital to operate the ultrasound unit. [Brand photos by Paul Sims]

The invitation of Deaf Smith County to file a full application with the Department of Housing and Urban Development for a $110,000 sewer system grant for the San Jose community has marked another chapter in the story of improvement efforts for the labor camp area just south of the Hereford city limits.

County Judge Glen Nelson has received a letter from the Dallas area office of HUD informing him that the agency has determined that the lack of a sanitary sewer system at San Jose poses an imminent threat to the health of residents there.

Officials from the Texas Department of Health Resources, in addition to authorities from Hereford and Deaf Smith County, had been working to acquire an imminent threat ruling that would allow them to seek a grant for a sewer system from HUD.

The sewer project is the second major drive which residents of San Jose, county city and state health officials have tackled in an effort to improve overall living conditions in the San Jose community.

In November of 1978, a $320,000 HUD grant for a water system at San Jose was approved, marking a major breakthrough by local residents in their efforts to correct problems in the San Jose community.

Funds from the water grant are now being utilized in the construction of a water storage tank at San Jose, and a new and vastly improved water well was recently drilled to serve the community.

Water distribution lines are to be installed soon, and according to Ralph Quinones of the TDHR, who has worked closely with the San Jose issue, the entire water project could be completed in three to four months.

San Jose residents have formed their own fresh water supply district, electing a board of governors and a tax assessor-collector, and have been conducting meetings among themselves on various aspects of the functions of the water district.

The current advisory from HUD is particularly pleasing to local officials working for a sewer system grant in that it represents an apparent reversal of an

Thunderstorms Pound Area, Kill 3 Persons

By JIM STEIERT

Violent thunderstorms spawned by a hot summer afternoon went on a rampage across portions of the Panhandle Monday afternoon, while hail, high winds and rains also lashed other portions of the Great Plains states.

Storms began building in eastern New Mexico Monday afternoon and grew in intensity near the Adrian vicinity, before moving off southward.

Another storm worked its way into the Plainview area last night and became a killer, claiming the lives of a father and two sons near Plainview with a bolt of lightning.

Benito Cabello, 38, and his sons Gilbert, 14, and Noel, 12, were killed by lightning near state highway 789 10 miles east of Plainview.

The three had apparently been picking cucumbers on a farm in the area, and were riding in the back of a pickup truck attempting to outrun the storm when struck by lightning in the intense weather.

A third son, the twin brother of Noel, was injured in the freak mishap, and was taken to Central Plains General Hospital in Plainview for treatment.

Lightning knocked out electric service in a portion of Plainview, and some low-lying streets there were flooded as upwards of .75 inches of rain fell in less than an hour last night.

Most of the storm activity in the local area remained to the west of Hereford, although a stiff windstorm hit the city last night.

The city received only .04 inches of moisture in a brief sprinkle, according to KPAN radio.

Along the path of the storm at the Adrian community, where the weather first prompted a National Weather Service thunderstorm warning for Deaf Smith County, rain amounted to .60 inches.

A spokeswoman for Adrian Wheat Growers reported that 2.25 inches of rain fell seven miles south of that community, and very light hail was also reported.

The storm slipped across a portion of Deaf Smith County's far western wheat country, with J.F. Martin reporting 1.60 inches of moisture in the Walcott area.

Bill Page reported only .40 inches of rain at Bootleg Corner, but pointed out that heavier rains fell all around that area, and heavy hail was reported to the west.

The storm intensified once more in the Friona vicinity, and while only .30-.50

House Sets Gas-Rationing Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders, hopeful of putting a standby gas rationing proposal on President Carter's desk by Thursday night, are working hard to reverse a House vote they claim seriously weakened the bill.

However, today's scheduled floor vote on rationing was expected to be close — far closer than Democratic leaders were predicting a week ago.

The standby rationing bill is the first piece of the president's new energy plan to emerge for congressional floor debate.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill said he thought there were enough votes to pass the measure in a form Carter can accept — without a Republican-sponsored amendment adopted last Wednesday that limits the president's flexibility.

"I think we can get the votes to knock that out," O'Neill said in an interview. But the speaker also said he's no longer so sure of his vote-predicting prowess as a result of last week's setback, which he conceded caught him by surprise.

A number of members remain reluctant to relinquish to the president the right to decide how ration coupons should be distributed, O'Neill said. "There are certain members out there who are opposed to what they see as yielding their power."

However, O'Neill said the president must be given the authority to write a standby rationing plan without detail-by-detail interference from Congress, or such a plan would never get off the ground.

The rationing bill was abruptly withdrawn by O'Neill last Wednesday after the House unexpectedly approved, by a 232-187 vote, an amendment by Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman, R.N.Y., giving Congress the right to veto any gas rationing plan in advance.

This would mean Congress would have two opportunities to block rationing — first when the president proposed a plan, and then if he tried to put it into effect.

Hospital To Use Bank To Collect Delinquents

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County Hospital District directors, pending Hereford State Bank board approval, resolved Monday night to allow the bank to handle delinquent patient accounts at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

In a special meeting of directors, they decided that Hereford State Bank would write overdue ex-patients letters stating that the hospital account had been turned over to the financial institution, then mail coupon books, similar to those used in other installment loans.

People would be more inclined to pay the bank than the hospital, hospital administrator Jim Bullard said to the board.

"They will use their expertise in assisting us in collecting accounts. We feel that there will be a stronger obligation to pay the bank because they are a lending institution and we're only here to provide health care," Bullard said.

Board president Frank Zinser said the system would help persons with delinquent hospital accounts in obtaining future credit from the bank.

"For people who do not have credit established anywhere, this will help establish their credit. If they're paying on their note, the bank will be more inclined to loan them more money for other things," Zinser said.

The hospital will add no interest onto the accounts, although the idea was discussed Monday night. However, the bank will charge interest amounting to approximately 14.5 percent yearly on the accounts.

In non-agenda business Monday, the board heard a proposal from Bullard to secure an option to purchase a nuclear-medicine camera system for $67,000 and received a demonstration of the new hospital ultrasound unit.

The board took no action on the camera system, which would enable physicians to do body scans with radiation. Directors instructed Bullard to contact the company to see about purchasing the system for less money.

The ultrasound machine, purchased by the hospital district for $75,000, utilizes sound waves to examine structures inside the body. In the demonstration by Amarillo radiologist Evangeline Archer, directors watched a fetus moving inside the pregnant mother, a hospital employee.

The machine arrived at the hospital last week.

Constructing Water System

Construction of the new water storage tank for the San Jose community south of Hereford got underway yesterday. Here, a crane holds metal plates in place for welding as the first ring of the tank goes up. At right, in the background is the railroad tank car that has served as the San Jose water storage facility. The modern new tank already dwarfs the old storage tank even as its first ring is assembled, and soon it will tower over 30 feet high, with a circumference also in excess of 30 feet. The water tank is part of a water system funded by a $320,000 grant from HUD. Work on the new water system could be completed in as little as four months. [Brand photo by Jim Steiert]

10 Persons Die in Ohio Motel Fire

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP) — Fire swept through a crowded two-story Holiday Inn in this southwest Ohio city today, killing at least 10 persons, authorities said. Others escaped by smashing windows and leaping to the ground below.

Six adults and four children died in the pre-dawn blaze, including one man who apparently had a heart attack while trying to escape, the authorities said.

Guernsey Memorial Hospital officials said 61 persons were treated for injuries and 11 were hospitalized with cuts and broken bones.

A baby was found safe in the arms of the unconscious mother, lying in a pool of blood.

In Columbus, Gov. James A. Rhodes this morning called the fire "a tragedy for our state."

Trapped guests were seen banging on

Unique Area Cancer Center to Be Built

From the architectural design of the building, to the utilization of the newest concepts in treatment of cancer patients, the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center will be "one of a kind" for the State of Texas.

The Center, which will be built in the Amarillo Medical Center, is scheduled to begin construction in September and completion is expected in 1981.

To develop a comprehensive plan to treat and manage cancer in the Panhandle area, consultants from Washington D.C., Madison, Wisconsin, Sacramento, California, and M.D. Anderson Hospital, representing many different types of cancer programs were brought to Amarillo.

The result of this consultation was the formation of the Panhandle Area Cancer Council which is responsible for the Center.

The Don and Sybil Harrington

Cancer Center is designed to support and work with existing cancer programs and activities at St. Anthony's Hospital, High Plains Baptist Hospital and Northwest Texas Hospital.

A new facility is needed to implement the new concepts of cancer treatment and to provide a "visible sign of hope" to residents of the Texas Panhandle area in the fight against cancer.

Because only about 10 percent of cancer patients actually need hospitalization, the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center's approach to treating cancer will be ambulatory. Patients can live at home in familiar surroundings with family and friends while coming to the Center for treatment.

The center will be better equipped to deal with the realities of cancer than most hospitals. In a hospital, efforts are geared to getting the patient well. Unfortunately, a cancer patient often will never recover, but with proper treatment the disease may be arrested and the patient rehabilitated to lead a relatively normal life for the duration of the disease.

Over the past 20 years, a quiet revolution has occurred in this country in the treatment of cancer. And, at this time it has become increasingly clear that the multi-disciplinary approach is most effective in the treatment of patients with cancer.

A group of small independent clinics will be created to provide the patient immediate access to the full range of specialists necessary for modern cancer treatment. The emphasis will be on "small" to insure a personal relationship between the patient, his family and the professionals treating him. Before a patient with cancer is treated at the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center, he or she will be evaluated by a team of specialists such as surgeons, radiation oncologists, medical oncologists and others. (An oncologist is one who specializes in the treatment of cancer.)

For example, in breast cancer, it is important to decide if pre- or post-operative radiation therapy is necessary. It must also be determined if chemotherapy should begin following surgery or be delayed until a recurrence is evident.

Psychological impact on a patient in the loss of her breast requires the sympathetic support of a social worker and perhaps a psychiatrist. And as other forms of treatment become more proven and valuable, they will easily fit into the multi-disciplinary mode of cancer treatment.

In the design of building, architects Paul Rudolph of New York and Wilson/Doche of Amarillo have made an effort to create an environment of support, concern and indeed love. They have conceived the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center as a large home, with a protective roof overhanging a sheltered porch courtyard.

The interior is designed to maximize natural light to give a sense of space, to let in the life which will surround the facility, and to make the patient aware of the beautiful sky which is the predominant natural feature of the Panhandle area.

Whenever possible corridors, which create a sense of isolation and depersonalization, have been omitted, for example, the second floor corridor will be a balcony overlooking the entrance to the courtyard. Stretcher patients from High Plains Baptist Hospital and Northwest Texas Hospital will enter the Center via the second floor balcony and will have a full view of the light and life around them.

The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center will contain the latest in cancer treatment and diagnostic facilities. A radiation therapy section, which will house two linear accelerators, a pharmacy and laboratory, are planned.

A treatment planning module will be instituted at the Center and will be shared with St. Anthony's Hospital. Space has been provided for the Panhandle Regional Tumor Clinic and Registry and the American Cancer Society. The Center will also contain an amphitheater for the purpose of cancer education.

The "quiet revolution" in cancer treatment has been due in large part to research that has come out of America's universities. The Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center will develop a cancer research program in affiliation with the Texas Tech University School of Medicine. The Center will also be physically connected to the Regional Academic Health Center of Texas Tech University.

To make the Center a reality, two grants totaling $4 million have been made to the Panhandle Area Cancer Council from the Harrington Foundation. The construction site of 3.73 acres, and $60,000 for interim financing of operational expenses are granted to the project by the Amarillo Area Foundation.

A campaign to raise a minimum of $1.5 million from regional contributors will begin August 6 under the leadership of businessman Ed Fancher and civic leader Betty Howell. Serving on the Steering Committee to direct the campaign are: Mrs. Lee T. Bivins, C.A. Cash, James R. Cook, Gene Edwards, Mrs. T. Boone Pickens, Berl Springer, Tol Ware, and K. Bert Watson.

At Wits End

PHOENIX, ARIZ.—One hundred sixteen degrees...I live in the Sun Belt.

It's a section of the United States that is so named because the area escapes severe winters and has an abundance of sunshine.

We are having an abundance of sunshine now. To spell it out for you, I haven't been able to cross my legs at the knee since the last of May.

For some time I have felt that those of us who live in this part of the country are misunderstood and much maligned. We have the worst of all worlds.

When the East and Midwest are suffering through the brutal winters, no one is interested that we are having good weather. It's depressing and considered bad taste to talk about it. When we are suffering through agonizing heat waves and droughts, no one cares.

During the snowstorms last year in the East our papers were filled with stories of sacrifice, hardship, and devastation. During our summer, we get an occasional page-one picture of a blonde with three ounces of clothing on her back (none on her front) frying an egg on the sidewalk. No one looks at the egg.

Have you ever heard anyone ask Johnny Carson, "How was it?" Absolutely not.

Elections are won and lost over the ability to clear roads after a snowstorm, but have you ever heard of a mayor being defeated because she couldn't handle "sweat?"

If any of you has an ounce of charity for your fellow person, you will indulge me while I share with you an Arizona summer.

It's where a woman puts on a pair of oven mitts so she can touch her steering wheel.

It's where a bride watches her wedding ring melt and wonders if she's still married.

Where deodorant ads are considered fiction.

Where you cultivate fat friends so you'll always be around shade.

A reader just sent me a clipping on things that are "in" and "chic." According to the story, "sweating profusely" is definitely "in."

Lone Star Members Called to Meeting

Lone Star Study Club convened last week for a called meeting in the home of the president, Mrs. John N. Jacobsen Jr., 115 Oak.

The meeting was called to order by the reading of the club collect. Mrs. Jacobsen announced that an arts and crafts sale is scheduled at the Community Center Sept. 3-11. Rental fees will be $5 per table.

Members of the yearbook committee reported that the club's first meeting of the new season will be a brunch in the home of Mrs. Don Davidson.

Members expressed regret upon learning that a fellow member, Miss Mildred Elliott, broke her hip in a fall while visiting her sister in Alexandria, Va. She is currently hospitalized in Virginia.

After the adjournment of business, refreshments were served.

Attending the called meeting were Mesdames W.W. Goetsch, Jim Bookout, L.N. Cox, S.S. Williams, J.C. Williams, J.J. Durham, W.H. Wiseman, Don Davidson, F.O. Naylor, Virgil Dodson, Frank H. Morgan, G.W. Newsom, Jim Higgins and the hostess.
