Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas May 15, 1975
74th Year, No. 39 34 Pages plus TV Section 15 Cents

A western dress up day will kick off a busy weekend of activities Friday as the Hustlin' Hereford Hall of Fame Professional All Girl Rodeo makes its debut here.

Three rodeo performances featuring some of the best competitors on the GRA rodeo circuit will highlight the weekend activities. Cowgirls will compete for an estimated $25,000 in prize money.

Rodeo performances will be held Friday and Saturday at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Hereford Riding Club arena. Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12.

Events will include bronc and bull riding, barrel racing, steer undecorating and goat roping. Jim Shoulders, owner of 16 world championships as a competing cowboy, is stock promoter for the rodeo.

The rodeo is sponsored jointly by the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce and the Girls Rodeo Association.

Other activities set for Friday include an elementary school poster contest at Sugarland Mall and a dance to be held Friday evening.

Bobby Wynn will be the featured entertainer at Friday's dance from 9:30 to 1 a.m. The dance will be held in the Little Bull Barn.

The National Cowgirl Hall of Fame will also open here Friday and three honorees will be inducted.

The inductees include Jackie Worthington, Alice Greenough and the late Sissy

Thurman.
The Hall of Fame will be located in the basement of the Deaf Smith County Library for about two years, but plans call for the eventual construction of a modernistically designed structure which will cost between $500,000 and $800,000. The structure has been envisioned by architects will consist of four square rooms on each corner of the building, connected by a gymnasium-sized rectangular building.

Plaques honoring the first three inductees will be shown as temporary exhibits. A bronze likeness of each of the inductees will be erected later.

Local residents will have an opportunity to take part in numerous activities Saturday afternoon with a parade and fun events scheduled.

Jim Shoulders will serve as marshal of the Hereford All Girl Rodeo Parade scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday.

The parade, which will feature some 60 entries, will form up at Sugarland Mall. The formation will proceed down Ave. B to Main Street, then to Second Street, and will disperse at Roosevelt Street for fun events to be held at Damron Park.

Women's greased pig and milking contests, open to all competitors, are scheduled for 4 p.m. A men's cowchip throwing contest also will be held.

A $1 entry fee per event will be charged. Individuals may sign up for the contests at the Hereford State Bank, or they may enter at the park on contest day. Certificates will be presented to first and second place winners in each of the events.

A stick horse race for children will also be held at the park. Divisions for children three years and under and four through six will be featured.

Following the fun events, members of the Merry Mixers Square Dance Club will perform a dancing exhibition.

The Hereford Rotary Club will provide the fix'ins for a barbecue dinner to be held at the park from 5:30-7 p.m. Cost of the meal is $1.50 per plate with a portion of the proceeds going to the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

Action will get underway again at 7:30 Saturday evening with the second performance of the All Girl Rodeo, and Bobby Wynn will provide entertainment at a dance at the Little Bull Barn from 9:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. to close out the evening.

The final rodeo performance will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m.

A $600 all-around trophy saddle will be awarded to the top cowgirl in the Hall of Fame Rodeo.

Other honor graduates ranking in order with their grade averages are: Jim Goheen, Joel Fahrman, Sue Roberts, Stan Fry, D'Lynn Davison, Danny Collins, Kent Hollingsworth, Janette Schlabs, Laurie Young, Leesa Sledge, Deborah Klechak, Lynn Wiley, Cynthia Rutherford and Vicki Payne.

The class selected Rev. Doug Manning, pastor of First Baptist Church, to make the address at baccalaureate. Rev. Bill Lang, pastor of St. Thomas Episcopal Church will give the invocation and Rev. L.D. Mays, pastor of New Zion Baptist Church, will give the benediction.

Property Assessment Raised Board Approves School Boundary

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

Knowing the heat is yet to come, the Hereford School Board of Education jumped into the fire of two controversial subjects as they raised from 45 to 60 per cent the assessment of property for taxes and finalized the boundaries for the new elementary school at a regular meeting Tuesday.

These actions were followed by a new format of board meetings known as Citizens Involvement Discussion, a thirty minute period for citizen participation for those registering with the board president prior to the start of the meeting. Tuesday's session resulted in a tense dialogue between the board and Dr. Joe Whitley, a place 3 candidate in this year's race, over teacher rights, school election and board policies.

Probably the decision to draw the most concern is that of the school boundaries, which were approved for the coming school year to satisfy the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare ratios for ethnic makeups in the schools.

SUPERINTENDENT Roy Hartman received a letter dated May 9 from HEW referring to the March 14, 1975 case of Adams v. Weinberger, in which the U.S. District Court ruled essentially that 125 school district in, 17 Southern and Border states, including Hereford, must "rebut or explain the substantial racial disproportion in one or more of the district's schools."

The court defines a disproportionate school as one of which the percentage of local minority students in the entire school district by 20 per cent or more. Hartman said the decision was based on the 1972-73 Civil Rights Survey of the HEW, which found Central School to be disproportionate.

"I have replied to the letter and explained that the situation has been corrected," he said. "The letter is timely however as we are now setting our new boundaries which must meet the requirements of the court order."

THE ADMINISTRATION and the elementary school principals met at great lengths to arrive at the boundaries and "I recommend them to the board with the changes noted," the superintendent said. Board members agreed that the HEW guidelines locked in the boundary decisions except for scattered areas and the board unanimously approved the new boundaries.

Board member Ron Zimmerman noted that complaining calls would definitely be received and asked what the policy was for approving requests for transfers.

Hartman said they were not accepted only on an individual basis through his office if a special physical handicap or hardship is shown. "We do not grant transfers because a student wants to finish up at a school so bad he can taste it."

The ethnic makeup estimates for the 1975-76 school year at the schools varies from 33 per cent Anglo and 67 per cent other at Central (New school) to 47 per cent Anglo and 53 per cent other at Tierra Blanca. The total non-Anglo enrollment next year is estimated at 55 per cent. It is now 52 per cent.

A city map showing the boundaries is reproduced in this issue with an explanation of significant changes.

The change in per cent of property assessment came after discussion at the past three or four board meetings. It had been 45 per cent of the fair market value for federal funding advantages, but was changed to set the stage for a possible tax increase during the summer.

Hartman explained that loss in the tax base due to lower cattle numbers in the feedlot and increased costs would probably require about $300,000 more in revenue to operate during 1975-76.

"I DON'T KNOW what the state legislature is going to do (with school refinancing) nor do I know exactly what it will cost next year, but we have to raise more money and the only way I know to do it is through reassessment."

Presently the district cannot raise the tax rate to gain more funds because it is at a maximum of $1.50 for operation maintenance and 50 cents for bond indebtedness. The tax rate is reset each year based on the amount figured to be

Gas Hearing Opens Today

Hearings on the Federal Power Commission ruling which lowered the use of natural gas for agriculture from second to third priority will get underway today (Thursday) in the US District Courtroom in the Federal Building in Lubbock at 9 a.m. The hearings will continue through Friday.

John Aikin of Hereford, attorney for the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association, is urging all farmers to travel to Lubbock for the hearings.

"WE HOPE TO HAVE thousands of farmers in Lubbock. We should have representatives from all of the commodity groups and farm organizations there, but it's important for individual farmers to attend," Aikin commented.

"We would like to fill the federal building from top to bottom and overflow into the street with farmers," said Jack King, research director for Grain Sorghum Producers Association of Lubbock. "It's important to show that we are concerned."

The FPC based its December ruling on the use of alternate fuels such as gasoline or propane to power irrigation units. Although the FPC decision applied only to customers of El Paso Natural Gas Co., the action could result in the curtailment of natural gas as an agricultural fuel throughout the country.

Hearings on the decision started April 8 before the FPC in Washington, D.C. and were moved to the southwest where farmers will be hardest hit by curtailment of natural gas. Hearings were also set for Albuquerque and Phoenix in addition to Lubbock.

REGISTRATION points for farmers who travel to Lubbock will be set up at all three downtown Lubbock banks and at the offices of the High Plains Water District.

Con Men Sought By Officers

Deaf Smith County sheriff's officers are currently seeking confidence men who obtained a check by false pretenses here Friday and then altered it.

According to Sheriff Travis McPherson, the con men hit at Hart Friday afternoon, posing as REA inspectors. They obtained a check for $1,800 from a resident of that community, altered it, and cashed it for $1,800.

The con men then made their way to a home 15 miles northwest of Hereford where they again posed as REA inspectors. They charged an "inspection fee" of $2.50, altered the check to $6250 and cashed it.

"We have reports that they went to Clovis after striking here and tried to cash a check for $9,000, but the bank refused. We have a suspect in Clovis whom we are attempting to apprehend at this time," said McPherson.

available for assessment purposes.

The board approved the 60 per cent assessment for property after figures were presented on how much it is estimated to bring the district using sample tax rates.

JIM CONKWRIGHT, president, said, "It should be understood that this is not a tax increase. We are not raising taxes tonight."

Clark Andrews, board member, said however that a tax increase was inevitable, but would not come until the tax rate had to be set sometime in July.

During the citizen involvement discussion, Whitley approached the board to air views he claimed were discovered during the recent school board election. He brought a tape recorder to keep track of the discussion because he said persons often misquoted him during the election.

He questioned the board policies on teacher participation in politics, on ability of teachers to talk about school business with board members, and on petitions passed through the schools.

Whitley said the board should refine its policy, if one exists, to allow teachers free access to board members without fear of job loss or other pressure. Hartman referred to a speech he makes each year to the faculty in which he says discussions of school administrative related matters should be channeled through the chain of command of the district.

Zimmerman also ran into teachers who didn't feel free to discuss school matters with board members, but felt like it was a communication gap causing the problem. Teachers present said they didn't feel intimidated by any procedures or policies relating to discussions or so called "gag rule" with board members and thought that any teacher should be able to easily interpret them. They refuted Whitley's claim that 50 per cent of the teachers felt this way.

The petitions apparently circulated through the schools in the past involved political involvement. Hartman said it was his and the school principal's prerogative to approve petitions if circulated in schools during school hours.

It was the consensus that communication brought on most of the problems. Whitley suggested that the board meeting be recorded for future reference, and that the minutes might be published.

Conkwright said the board might consider a revised statement concerning teachers-school board member discussion to explain it more clearly. He commended Whitley for his views and suggested more persons should do so.

In other business, the board:

- Scheduled a call meeting for 4 p.m. today to hold a hearing for Wayne Woodward, teacher whose contract was not renewed. He taught at La Plata.

- Heard a report from Margaret Bell, chairman of the English department. She reviewed the program and said the major emphasis now is to teach the basics to better prepare students to handle the English language.

She also explained new courses to be implemented under the Quarter System beginning next fall. They will be elective courses which are not often offered in English.

- Approved resignation for the following teachers: Janna Johnson, Patricia Pruitt, Darlene Suthers and Keith Munnerlyn. The only teacher to join the faculty is Mary Robinson.

- Discussed the continued funding of the Early Childhood Program, which had come under some federal scrutiny because of a similarly titled one in Daltart. However, it is being backed by Representatives George Mahon for continued funds.

the year" in baseball. We failed to note in that release that Roy was also named as soph of the year in football this past fall. The dual honor is rather unique.

Tony Mason, guest speaker for the All Sports Banquet, was great, and we're sorry we didn't know more about him before the event and urge folks to go hear him. Personally, he's the best I've heard at a sports banquet since I listened to Grant Teaff several years ago. He had a real message for youth, and I hope they enjoyed it as much as the adults!

If you'd like to get a preview of next year's football team and help a good cause at the same time, make plans to attend the Whitefaces spring football game May 23. The tilt will be conducted as a benefit game for James Self and his wife, who lost one of their twin sons after birth recently. Self was formerly on the coaching staff at the junior high level. A fund has also been initiated by friends at Hereford State Bank to help with the extraordinary hospital expenses.

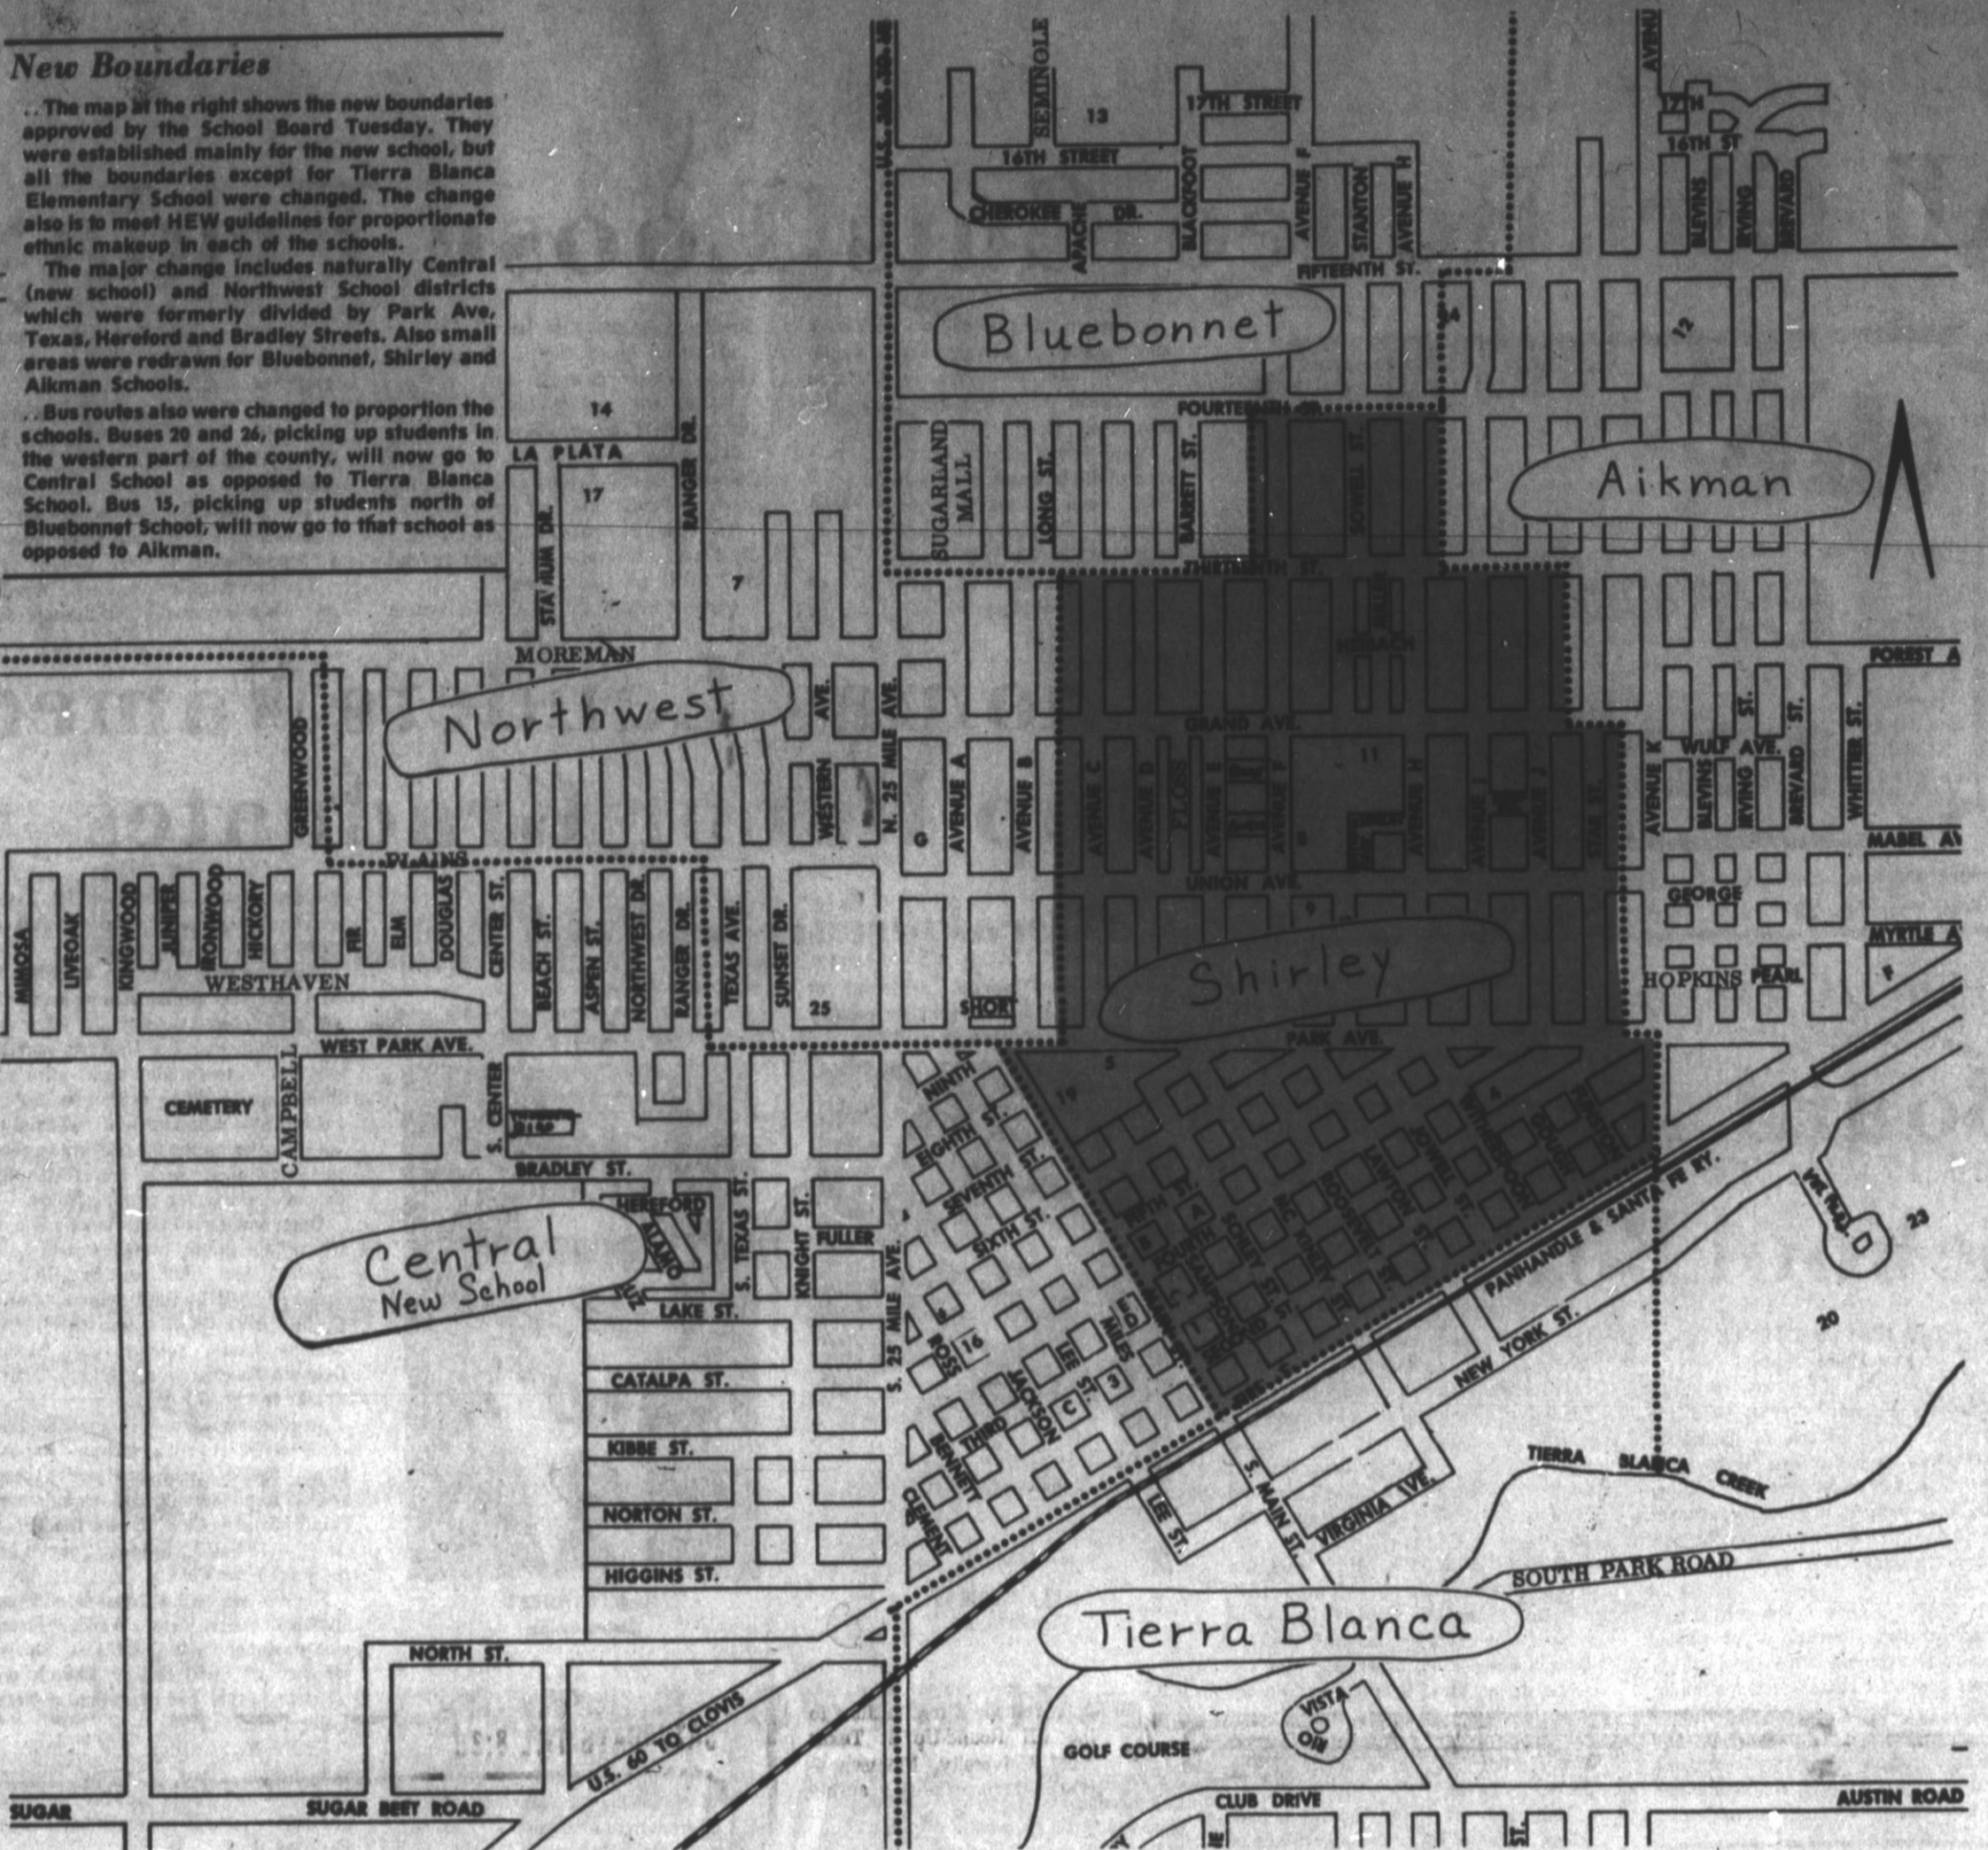

Local agricultural leaders are hoping that many farmers and businessmen will attend the FPC hearings in Lubbock today and Friday to register a protest against the priority change in natural gas as a farm fuel. Only a limited number of persons will be able to testify, but local leaders of the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association point out that it is important for farmers to let people know they were there and would have liked to testify.

New Boundaries

The map at the right shows the new boundaries approved by the School Board Tuesday. They were established mainly for the new school, but all the boundaries except for Tierra Blanca Elementary School were changed. The change also is to meet HEW guidelines for proportionate ethnic makeup in each of the schools.

The major change includes naturally Central (new school) and Northwest School districts which were formerly divided by Park Ave., Texas, Hereford and Bradley Streets. Also small areas were redrawn for Bluebonnet, Shirley and Aikman Schools.

Bus routes also were changed to proportion the schools. Buses 20 and 26, picking up students in the western part of the county, will now go to Central School as opposed to Tierra Blanca School. Bus 15, picking up students north of Bluebonnet School, will now go to that school as opposed to Aikman.

Champion Cowgirl Likes Rodeo Trail Commissioners Deny Bull Barn Use Request, 2 Employee Raises

By PENNY JESSUP
Brand Staff Writer

How many kids are fortunate enough to eventually, at some point in their lifetime, become pretty good friends with their childhood idol?

The odds are high against it. Few little girls ever get to know Billy Jean King or Miss America.

JUST A WEEK AGO to night this cowgirl made a trip to the Amarillo Air Terminal to pick up the champion cowgirl, Sammy Thurman. With her rope bag in one hand and hat, complete with Eagle feather in the other, Sammy was sporting that ever present smile, ready to tackle whatever laid ahead during her week to come in Hereford.

Back in 1960 there was an anxious little girl in southeastern Oklahoma who had high hopes of someday becoming the World's Champion Barrel Racer. Her idol was a young lady from California who was born of a Choctaw Indian father and part Cherokee Indian mother. Sammy Thurman was born in Kingman, Arizona and lived in California and Nevada while growing up. Her father, Sam Fancher, rodeoed professionally so Sammy was born right into Rodeo.

At the ripe old age of three, Sammy, better known by her close friends as Sam, had two horses and a burro.

"I CAN'T remember the first time I rode a horse," explained Sam. "When I was five I rode calves exhibition at some rodeo and I've been participating by one means or the other ever since."

Sammy represents the Girls Rodeo Association (GRA) as Director in charge of All Girl Rodeos and is more than qualified as she's pretty "shiny" in all the events.

Sammy started "down the road" in 1969 and made it to the Finals for the next eleven years barrel racing. "I've made my living for the past 16 years doing exactly what I want. The sun never comes up that I don't pursue my career and there's nothing I'd rather do," explained Sammy. "There aren't many people who go through life never doing anything they didn't want to. I have."

SAMMY HASN'T rodeoed as hard for the past 4½ years but explains, "Through my experiences and the fact that I'm a champion, I am able to have successful barrel racing clinics and train and sell horses for my living."

In the past her clinics have dealt mainly with barrel racing. Sammy explained, "Barrel racing has been the one event girls could compete in at the RCA (Rodeo Cowboys Association) rodeos and the only way to make any money."

"There's been a tremendous growth in the GRA. We are nation wide now and a lot of Canadian girls participate. Contestants are coming out of the High School and College ranks and are good at other events than barrel racing," Sammy explained, "It was lack of interest that caused All Girl rodeos to fade out but we've got a lot of contestant interest and there's more of a professional attitude about the sport these days."

Sammy hopes for the day when the RCA will include more events for girls. "The public will demand this; and they will want to see the girls get as much prize money as the fellas. The men who will be running the RCA in 10-15 years are the guys who came up from the college ranks and they will accept the girls because they grew up accepting us," added Sammy.

AS MANY YEARS as Sammy has been around rodeo and ranch life, she's only been hurt three times and none of these times was in rodeo competition. Two times grand entry horses fell with her and tore the cartilage in her knee and once while helping her father on their ranch a horse fell and broke her ankle.

Sammy has been in two Hollywood movies—"Horse of the West," a Walt Disney production where she played supporting actress for a horse and "In Cold Blood," a true story by Truman Capote about the Clutter family murder in Kansas. There she played a key role as the mother of Perry Smith, the slayer.

Sammy's advice to young rodeo athletes is to attend a good school. "It's not necessary for an instructor to be a world's champ to be good at it and there are a lot of good rodeo schools around," commented Sammy. "In the timed events it's most important to have a top notch horse."

Sammy's future plans include holding All Girl rodeo seminars and helping the GRA in every way possible.

Many Hereford residents have had the pleasure of meeting this all time great and Sammy says that Hereford, Texas is a place she will always have a lot of fond memories of and will always be more than eager to come back.

Salary increments for two county employees were rescinded, an evangelist's request for use of the Bull Barn was denied and a bid for electrical wiring in the county library was accepted by the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court in a regular meeting Monday.

The lengthy session also included discussion on recreational uses for the recent 30-acre county land purchase, review of the county's Blue Cross-Blue Shield insurance, consideration of Revenue Sharing fund uses for the coming year and a report by Librarian Gwen London on the library's participation in the Texas Panhandle Library System.

CRIMINAL DISTRICT Attorney Andy Shual and District Clerk Lola Faye Veazy appeared before the commissioners to request about a $25 a month for the assistants to the chief clerks that work in their offices. The assistants work three days a week and receive $269.20 a month in compensation.

Shual said the assistants salaries ought to be raised to about $294 a month, equal to the per hourly wage paid the chief clerks.

BOTH SHUAL AND VEAZY agreed that the part time workers were required to know as much as the full time chief clerks.

clerks and that a better salary would make it worthwhile for a person working only three days a week. Shual also said that previous arrangements had been set to pay the two assistants at 60 per cent of the $489.60 a month salary paid the chief clerks or $294.

County Judge Sam Morgan said that he thought the salary increases were deserved but that they would actually have to be identified as emergencies if approved.

Commissioner Austin Rose Jr. said, "I don't think we should be adjusting salaries at different times during the year. I thought we just did it once each year. If we do it now, we'll be getting requests from other offices."

Concerning the request for the Bull Barn, Commissioner Bruce Coleman asked who locally was sponsoring Evangelist Mildred Mills of Pennsylvania who requested use of the county facility. No one seemed to know exactly and Coleman thought that the request should be turned down if it was a person coming from out of the county.

"I DON'T THINK we should grant it's use to anyone not sponsored by a local person or group," he said. The Bull Barn was used by Mills last year, but only about 40 persons attended the meeting at which collections were taken up according to J.C. Simpson, Bull Barn caretaker.

Commissioner James Voyles said the facility should not be furnished for every "side show or group which comes through here, especially those taking money out of the county."

The commissioners unanimously denied the request and noted that a policy ought to be established on the Bull Barn's use.

Owens Electric was awarded the bid to install electrical sockets in the basement of the library. It was for the amount of $1,050.

The added sockets are needed for art displays and other exhibits placed in the library.

IN THE LIBRARY REPORT, Gwen

London was concerned with inconsistency in the operation of the Texas Panhandle Library System (TPLS) which includes 17 member counties in a 25-county area.

Listed as problems with TPLS membership were lateness of book arrivals in the interlibrary loan system, restricted book purchases and loss of local control over library practices. The librarian noted the benefits but cautioned a close look at membership renewal.

Discussion on the 30 acres centered around using the land, located just south of 15th Street near Aikman School, for multiple recreational purposes rather than just for the four or five baseball diamonds for Kids Inc. Judge Morgan suggested a meeting with the Hereford City Commission to discuss possibilities of annexing the land for utility reasons.

BILL ALBRIGHT, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, conferred with the Commissioners Court on progress made by the C of C Goals for Progress Quality of Life committee in seeking a multi-purpose recreational building including an indoor swimming pool.

The Revenue Sharing for the county will amount $234,175 from June 30, 1975 through June 30, 1976. The county must soon make application on how the money is to be spent.

Old West Is Backdrop For Historic Accounts

Historic novels which reveal the wide scope of the Southwest are being featured this week at Deaf Smith County Library.

Renowned western writer Jessamyn West has capped another milestone with "The Massacre At Fall Creek," which relates the obscure, brutal murder of a peaceful Indian tribe. The depth of conflict between the Indian and white races is woven in the swift-paced story which carries the reader from the killings, through the murderers' trial to the haunting aftermath.

Against a similar setting, author Keith Bryant portrays a totally different aspect of the American West in "History of the Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway." The sweeping account captures the flavor of the early railroad and describes the developing empire of the ATSF. In the factual narrative, Bryant paints a detailed picture of the evolution of the railroad giant which was conceived in 1824 and remains today in the form of Santa Fe Industries.

Deaf Smith County Library is open free to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday and Thursday; from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays and until noon Saturday.

THE MASSACRE AT FALL CREEK
by Jessamyn West
In 1824 an explosive event on the American frontier threatened massive and bloody Indian reprisals. The little-known and long-forgotten record tells of the brutal murder of innocent, peaceful Indians, including women and children, by five white men. From this scant evidence of history Jessamyn West has fashioned an exciting and richly plotted novel of haunting meaning.

The sweep of the narrative centers upon the killings, the trial of the murderers, and the strange, moving aftermath. Tension is heightened by the threat of massed Seneca warriors ready to fall upon the frontier settlements if justice acceptable to the Indian chiefs is not meted out.

The swift pace is sustained by a brilliantly realized cast of characters, Indian and white. The depths of human relationships in their intricate variety—hate, devotion, revenge, compassion, and, above all, love—are constantly woven into the strong fabric of this tale. Particularly engaging are Hannah Cape, the appealing, natural heroine, and her lover, Charlie Fort, a lawyer for the defense, through whose eyes much of the adventure is seen. And the spell of Handsome Lake, the extraordinary Indian prophet, permeates the thematic counterpoint with undeniable modern implications.

HISTORY OF THE ATCHINSON, TOPEKA AND SANTA FE RAILWAY
by Keith Bryant

At the company picnic on the banks of Wakarusa Creek, Kansas, in 1869, Colonel Cyrus K. Holliday proclaimed to the assembled group: "Fellow citizens, the coming tide of immigration will flow along these lines and, like an ocean wave, advance up the side of the Rockies and dash their foamy crests down upon the Pacific." In equally eloquent terms, he further envisioned the ATSF's extension to the Gulf of Mexico, to the Halls of Montezuma and along the legendary Santa Fe Trail. His unbounded enthusiasm may sound ridiculous to the reader today, but an optimistic belief in progress was a dominant threat in American life in the decades just before and after the Civil War.

The time was ripe for expansion, territorially and commercially. Indeed, at the time of Colonel Holliday's death in 1900, much of his dream had come true.

In the twentieth century the Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway not only continued to expand, but also acquired oil, timber land, uranium mines, pipelines and extensive real estate holdings. In its hundred-odd years of existence, the railroad giant would suffer growing pains, three national depressions and a major reorganization. But by 1974 the company had become one of the rail industry's showcases—an example of a prosperous railway doing what it could do best: hauling freight economically, rapidly and profitably.

Peak events in the developing empire of the ATSF include acquisition of an enormous land grant in Kansas, which became a major part of the nation's breadbasket; epoch-making battles between rail giants including Jay Gould, who made the Atchinson an independent entrance into California; the extension of the road into Galveston and the Gulf of Mexico, a result of acquiring the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway; the vast changes brought about by the technological revolution of the twentieth century; and total restructuring in 1968 which created Santa Fe Industries of which the Railway remained the largest and most profitable segment.

The History of the Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway is the story of such dynamic leaders as William Barstow Strong; of investors willing to take risks on the railway and the region it served; of workers committing their careers to railroading; of the great progressive strides in railway technology.

It is also the story of the development of the Southwest and of the contributions made by the Santa Fe to the growth of industry, agriculture and the process of urbanization in the region.

The Abundant Life There Is A Way

By BOB WEAR

"There is a way", an acceptable way, for us to manage our personal life in relationship to all legitimate responsibilities, obligations, and essential changes. We may not be able to have all parts of our life situation just exactly as we wish, or even as we think they should be. In such instances, the way will be found in sensible adjustments, adaptations, and modifications.

WE ARE LIMITED, but, in many aspects of living, we are often more capable than we think we are. Although some limitations are real and fixed, and must be accepted graciously; some can be overcome, if we are willing to study, and plan, and work, and persevere. In all of this, it is helpful to remember that "there is a way", an approved way for us to continue a reasonably effective manner of life. Though it is not necessarily ideal, it can be the very best of which we are capable; under the existing circumstances.

Though the way may not be ideal, it is still helpful for us to know that we have the opportunity to make this way the best it can be. This, however, is not all. In these less desirable ways, we can be searching for better ways; or perhaps we can find the opportune time to make a complete change, a justified movement to another and preferred way.

THERE WILL BE NO CHOICE, in some things, except from the standpoint of how we handle ourselves. Even so, "there is a way"; a way to cope with our sorrows, our disappointments, and our failures. It will be the way in which we handle ourselves most appropriately. We can learn to do this very well.

"Our life style must change." This is the general message we are receiving in these days of financial and energy difficulties. In view of the truth of this conclusion, we must face up to the fact that the changes can be made. We don't know yet just exactly what must be changed, but we will learn.

"THERE IS A WAY" to make these essential changes, and to make them with the minimum of displacement and unpleasantness. This means that we must not permit our first inclinations of resentment and disappointment to dominate us, but rather be understanding; and condition our thinking so we can do what has to be done.

There may be inconveniences, some alterations in established routines, and even some privations; but these can be endured. Many of us know that "there is a way". If we don't know this from past experiences, and are unable to find a satisfactory way; let us remember that there are people who can and will help us. If we do need help, we must get it. We can help each other.

"There is a way" to do what has to be done.

Annual Banquet Honors Athletes

By SPEEDY NIEMAN
Publisher

A dynamic talk on the "Ingredients of an All American" by Coach Tony Mason, University of Cincinnati, capped off the 8th annual All Sports Banquet after HHS athletes were recognized and awards presented Tuesday night in the Bull Barn.

The annual News Service Awards, for outstanding contribution in each sport, were presented to: Terry Bell, football; Lynn Tarr, basketball; Mike Munnerlyn and Debbie Albright, track; Harvey Torres, baseball; Curtis Stoerner, golf; Susan Grimsley and Rocky Rodriguez, tennis; and Evelyn Urbanczyk, volleyball. The awards are sponsored by The Brand and KPAN Radio.

A special award, announced to a standing ovation, went to Cuby Kitchens, veteran Hereford coach who will start his 20th year in the system this September. The "Sports Achievement Award" was presented by the sports committee of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, with Mack Tubb making the announcement.

The "honors" night continued with the athletes presenting a bronze sculpture of a coach to the coaching staff, as well as a watercolor painting, and the cheerleaders presenting a wood-carved Whiteface plaque in honor of the 1974-75 athletes. The cheerleaders also presented a gift to their sponsor, Barbara Stagner.

Tom Simons, president of the Whiteface Booster Club, sponsors of the banquet, was master of ceremonies for the event. Athletic director and head football coach Fred Upshaw introduced all coaches and helped other members of the staff in distributing awards to the team members. Simons and Speedy Nieman of The Brand presented the News Service Awards.

Coaches who made the team presentations included Helen Reed, volleyball; Roy Shipp, girls' track; Terry Russell, golf; Steve Thomas, tennis; Robert Priest, boys' track; Aaron Bourland, baseball; Barry Arnwine, basketball; and Upshaw, football. Mike Munnerlyn and Terry Bell made the presentations on behalf of the athletes, and Karen Kitchens spoke on behalf of the cheerleaders.

Mason, a former assistant coach at Purdue and Michigan, is a popular banquet speaker, having made 97 speaking engagements since November.

With a tell-it-like-it-is delivery, the Cincinnati mentor spelled out the ingredients which make an All-American, and "are the same it takes to make a success."

He outlined these ingredients as: (1) Spiritual soundness, (2) Courage, (3) Winning, and (4) Respect. Mason is a strong supporter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and maintained that "you don't have to use vulgarity or be a loud-mouth to be an athlete...you show me a loud-mouth and I'll show you a weakling," he said.

"You have to have courage to be a man, to live up to your convictions, to abide by rules, and to stand up and be counted when it counts," he told the athletes. He added that he believed in the courage to be patriotic, that you "Must have the courage to be different, but not radical."

Speaking on the ingredient of winning, Mason said "you must excel—it's no disgrace to lose, but it is a disgrace not to give 100 per cent." We all have the opportunity to excel in some ways and "it's a sin if you don't use 100 per cent of what God gave you," he emphasized.

And, as to respect, Mason linked this with respect for your body, respect for others, but—most importantly, he urged the young athletes to have "respect for your parents." The coach urged youngsters to tell your parents, "I love you." He said he knew it was hard to do, but "one day it will be too late."

Mason was rewarded with a long-standing ovation from the appreciative audience, and he visited with well-wishers long after the banquet ended. He spent much of the day with the coaching staff at spring football training, and praised the athletic program here.

Tubb, in presenting the special award to Coach Kitchens, gave a brief history of his years in the Hereford system. Kitchens was head basketball coach from 1955 to 1967, and also served as an assistant football coach, golf coach, and baseball coach during some of his years in high school.

His 1957-58 basketball team won district and regional crowns and lost the first game in the state playoffs. His 1958-59 team went all the way and lost to Houston Smiley in the finals of the state tourney. He resigned as basketball coach in 1967 and took the Stanton Junior High coaching post, which he has held since that time.

Kitchens was involved in a couple of "firsts" in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star basketball games. He played in the association's inaugural game in 1946; he was coach for the North team in 1960; and his son, Keith, played in the 1973 game.

The watercolor, a scene portraying all sports, was donated for the coaches' office by Mildred Guinn and was presented by Mike Munnerlyn. The bronze sculpture is unfinished, but wax mold of the work was unveiled at the banquet. Bell also paid special recognition to several individuals on behalf of the team. These included trainer "Doc" Walls, Sylvia High, who provided refreshments at booster meetings, and Simons, sports director of KPAN. Decorations for the banquet were made by mothers of the athletes with Karen Payne as chairman.

Outstanding Athletes Named

P&W Sets 1975 Hunting Seasons

Deer seasons across the state for 1975-76 will be generally the same as last year, including the situation in Webb county.

In other deer action, the Commission adopted a Wildlife Division proposal to issue only antlerless deer permits instead of tags in those 37 counties which previously had either-sex bag hunting last year.

Otherwise, the general deer season will continue as defined in the regulatory authority proclamations, this season Nov. 15, 1975, through Jan. 4, 1976, in most of the state. Other area seasons are Nov. 22-Dec. 7 in the Panhandle and Nov. 29-Dec. 14 in the Trans-Pecos.

Turkey seasons generally will be concurrent with deer seasons. With both species, some individual county regulations vary, whether under the regulatory authority of the Commission or by general law statute.

The South Texas quail season runs Nov. 1, 1975-Feb. 1, 1976; Trans-Pecos, Nov. 15, 1975-Feb. 1, 1976; Possum Kingdom and Northeast, Dec. 1, 1975-Feb. 15, 1976; most other areas of the state, Nov. 15, 1975-Feb. 15, 1976.

In the southernmost third of the state, javelina may be hunted Oct. 1-Jan. 4.

Antelope season in the Texas Panhandle was set for Oct. 4-7 and in the Trans-Pecos and Permian Basin areas, Oct. 4-12.

Ring-necked pheasants may be hunted only in Panhandle counties Dec. 13-28; prairie chickens in some Panhandle and Permian Basin counties Oct. 18-19.

A Nov. 15-21 season was established for hunting aoudad sheep.

TP&W Commissioners dropped the requirement of checking aoudad and prairie chickens through department check stations. The stations had been operated to collect biological data about the two game species.

Upshaw Pleased With Scrimmage

The football Herd, now in its second week of spring workouts, went through a scrimmage Saturday morning and Fred Upshaw, HHS athletic director was pleased with the overall performance of the gridgers.

"I think we made some progress last week, we just ran our basic offense during Saturday's scrimmage and didn't get fancy, but we looked okay," said Upshaw.

Upshaw pointed out that the defense is ahead of the offense, which is common in the early workouts.

"We had some bright spots in Saturday's scrimmage, the quarterbacks had a few good passes, but we must throw the ball better. We still have a lot of work to do, but the kids are enthused and we, were pretty well satisfied with their performance Saturday," Upshaw commented.

The Herd will continue working on the basics this week, adding "a few new wrinkles" according to Upshaw.

Hereford's freshman footballers went through their first spring scrimmage Friday afternoon and Upshaw reported he was "pleasantly surprised" by the freshmen.

"They did a lot better than we had expected," said Upshaw. "The freshmen did a good job, they picked up a lot in their first week and we hope they keep improving," he added.

Upshaw reported that players will probably not be named to their positions until the final week of workouts, giving the coaching staff an opportunity to closely evaluate each player.

Communications of Hereford.

The duo turned in a time of 105 flat of eight steers in the heading and heeling competition.

Ken Burke and Dennis Motes finished second with a time of 106.7 on eight steers in the close race for first.

The team of Bill Teague and Bill Bomar were only a fraction behind Burke and Motes with a time of 106.9.

Pony Play Begins

Pony League Baseball action got underway in Hereford Monday night.

The Twins defeated the Red Sox 13-6 in the opener.

Tuesday night saw the Tigers Edge the Indians 7-5.

Four teams of 13 and 14 year olds are competing in the league.

Romero To Appear

Ricky Romero, perhaps the most popular wrestler in the Southwest, will appear at the Bull Barn Saturday night under the auspices of the Hereford Lions Club.

He teams with Spanish-American stylist Salvador Dominguez in a wrestling match against Don Fargo and Bobby Jagers. "Body Beautiful" Fargo is reputed to have ridden with a notorious motorcycle gang, while Jagers in an ex-Washington state lumberjack.

In other matches, Moose Morowski will grapple with Mr.

Wrestling, pitting his 300 pounds of brawn against "the man with a thousand holds." Frank Dalton has obtained a rematch with Alex Perez, former national Golden Gloves champion. Perez was later a boxing coach and numbers among his pupils Lt. Paul Ramirez of the Hereford Police Department.

Hereford fans, who know colorful Romero as "Rapid Ricky", may be unaware of his background. Romero came from a ranching family, hence the bright charro outfit he wears to the ring. He was successful as a youngster both in motorcycle racing and stock car driving. His baseball ability also drew a look from big-league scouts, but Romero preferred the hard contact of professional wrestling.

Dominguez, a square and muscular Californian, had a background in boxing and judo.

Wrestling action starts at 9 p.m. Saturday in the Bull Barn.

FAA Test Complete

The Federal Aviation Administration recently gave the FAA exam to the Aerospace Science I students at the Hereford Community Center.

The Aerospace students were excused from school and were expected to show up at the test site at 9:45. The exam usually takes from two and one half to four hours to complete. After completion of the FAA Exam the students are dismissed providing they did not return to the school grounds until after 3:30.

The test, being a federal exam, requires strict supervision and all regulations are followed to the letter.

Aerospace Science I is the ground school for learning the Federal Aviation Regulations and the use of flight computers and aviatonal equipment. Aerospace I students begin preparing for this exam at the beginning of the year.

The Aerospace Science department is headed by John Claypool who also teaches Aerospace Science II which is flight training and instruction.

Leo Members Made Slaves

Leo Club members turned into slaves recently when they were sold to local businesses for $10 to do various jobs.

Fifty Leo members, being excused from school, participated in the work day from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Profits from the day will be used to send some children to the Crippled Children's Camp and Camp Wigwam during the summer. The profits will also be used to pay part of the way for the delegates from the club to go to the national convention in Dallas this summer.

Seven Students Attend Contest

Recent ICT state winners consisted of seven students attending, six contestants and one voting delegate. The contest was the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, held at Astro World in Houston.

Winning first place was Sonny Flores, employed by Consumer Co-op under going training by Bobby Byers. Sonny won the auto electricity contest display.

Larry Vigil won second in the welding display and is employed by B&R Welding under the training by Charlie Brown and Troys Riddle. Second place was won by Steve Jones in the Skill contest. He is employed by Jacks Marine.

Winners in district advancing to state but not placing were Diane Ward, dental assistant under Dr. H.A. Cavness; Zallee McCular, medical lab assistant under supervision of Sherry Blackwell at Hereford Medical Labs.

Representing HHS as delegates in Austin were Alfonso Almanza and Joe Garcia. Debra Jones was entered in a sweetheart contest for the meet.

Club sponsors for Industrial Arts are Terry Williams and Steve Thomas. Projects for non-members were also entered.

Those attending the Austin meet and participating in state competition were Ladonna Woodal, Debbie Feagley, Debra Jones, Dennis Brown, John Paetzold, Frank Blackwell, Alfonso Almanza, Joe Garcia, Stacy Hacker, Melvin Betzen, Blake Dones and Steve Meives.

Placing in the meet were Ladonna Woodal, third in Foundry; Fernando Rocha, first in foundry; and Greg Koenig, second in metal.

The trip consisted of attending meetings, setting up projects and electing candidates. A class field trip was scheduled but later canceled because of time.

The Hereford High School Choir traveled to Galveston this month to compete in the Sea Arama Choral Festival.

The mixed choir received a I rating in concert and a II rating in sightreading.

The choir had members sing in the solo and ensemble division. A trio composed of Andi Askew, Gene Ann Shipley, and Melinda Watts received a I rating for an ensemble.

In the solo division, Gary Landers received a III rating. While the members were not singing, they listened to other choirs and time was given to swim in the ocean.

The choir is now preparing for its annual musical production May 16-17. This year's production is "Fiddler on the Roof."

Students of Six Weeks

Hereford Lions Club recognized four HHS students as students of the fifth and sixth 6 weeks periods at HHS. Wayne Lady, Lions president, makes the presentation to, left to right, Phillip Zinser, Danny Collins, Suzanne Duvall and Laurie Higgins. Honored as teachers of the two periods were Dortha Prowell and Terry Williams. Students are selected on the basis of grades, citizenship and school activities.

auditorium. Seated are Chava, (Melinda Watts) and Golde, (Lesley Euler). Standing are Hodel, (Donna Kendall), Tzeitel, (Amy Cox) and Shprintze, (Gene Ann Shipley).

★★ HHS Choir Presents Musical ★★

"Fiddler on the Roof," a two act musical play is being presented by the HHS choral department Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The story which was originally taken from the book "Fiddler on the Roof," is a satire on how people were once ruled by tradition.

The story takes place in a small Russian Community called Anatevka. The time is 1905, which was during the pre-revolution days.

The play is about a Jewish father who has five daughters. He tries to marry off his daughters, by using the traditional matchmaker. During the play tradition is always being broken and must be accepted by the villagers. The village is later taken over by Russians and the Jews must leave and continue their tradition elsewhere.

With the choral department presenting the musical, several other students will also be participating. The orchestra, directed by Nick Nixon, will furnish the music.

During the play several dances are performed. The choreography was directed by the Hess School of Dancing in Amarillo. The various types of costumes were rented from the Midland Theatre Center.

Tickets can be purchased for $1.75 for adults, and $1.25 for students. The proceeds are to go into the production of the play.

Seven Students Attend Contest

Recent ICT state winners consisted of seven students attending, six contestants and one voting delegate. The contest was the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America, held at Astro World in Houston.

Winning first place was Sonny Flores, employed by Consumer Co-op under going training by Bobby Byers. Sonny won the auto electricity contest display.

Larry Vigil won second in the welding display and is employed by B&R Welding under the training by Charlie Brown and Troys Riddle. Second place was won by Steve Jones in the Skill contest. He is employed by Jacks Marine.

Winners in district advancing to state but not placing were Diane Ward, dental assistant under Dr. H.A. Cavness; Zallee McCular, medical lab assistant under supervision of Sherry Blackwell at Hereford Medical Labs.

Representing HHS as delegates in Austin were Alfonso Almanza and Joe Garcia. Debra Jones was entered in a sweetheart contest for the meet.

Club sponsors for Industrial Arts are Terry Williams and Steve Thomas. Projects for non-members were also entered.

Those attending the Austin meet and participating in state competition were Ladonna Woodal, Debbie Feagley, Debra Jones, Dennis Brown, John Paetzold, Frank Blackwell, Alfonso Almanza, Joe Garcia, Stacy Hacker, Melvin Betzen, Blake Dones and Steve Meives.

Placing in the meet were Ladonna Woodal, third in Foundry; Fernando Rocha, first in foundry; and Greg Koenig, second in metal.

The trip consisted of attending meetings, setting up projects and electing candidates. A class field trip was scheduled but later canceled because of time.

The Hereford High School Choir traveled to Galveston this month to compete in the Sea Arama Choral Festival.

The mixed choir received a I rating in concert and a II rating in sightreading.

The choir had members sing in the solo and ensemble division. A trio composed of Andi Askew, Gene Ann Shipley, and Melinda Watts received a I rating for an ensemble.

In the solo division, Gary Landers received a III rating. While the members were not singing, they listened to other choirs and time was given to swim in the ocean.

The choir is now preparing for its annual musical production May 16-17. This year's production is "Fiddler on the Roof."

Moment of Happiness

Tzeitel, (Amy Cox) and Motel, (Russ Odom) share a moment of happiness in a scene from "Fiddler on the Roof." The two act musical play will be presented by the HHS choral department Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Mother Of The Year Honored

Mrs. Caudie Ola Brown, retired schoolteacher who was born and reared in Hereford, was saluted by KPAN Radio as Mother of the Year this week.

A longtime friend wrote the winning letter which nominated Mrs. Brown for the coveted honor. The testimonial described Mrs. Brown's devotion to her four children, who included Mrs. Emma Jane Roberts of Lamesa, Mrs. Criline Kinsey of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mrs. Martha Jean Burrus of Childress and the late Mr. Emmett Brown.

The Hereford native received her Bachelor degree from West Texas State University and lived at Canyon, Canadian, Bovina and Berger before returning here in 1946. That same year, she was employed by the local school system and worked as an English teacher for the ensuing 24 years. Her students were eighth and ninth graders at Stanton and La Plata Junior High Schools.

Mrs. Brown stated that her first love is teaching. "I just enjoyed it so much," she said. "There is so much pleasure in helping youngsters develop into responsible young men and women."

Her career drew Mrs. Brown into Delta Kappa Gamma Educators Sorority. She is also active in First United Methodist Church, where she taught a Sunday School class for 15 years and is a member of Naomi Hair Circle.

Mrs. Brown is the fourteenth local woman to be named Mother of the Year by KPAN. As recipient of this award, she will receive an engraved plaque and various gifts from the contest's sponsors.

Honorary CowBelles Nominated

Four men who have been vital in the promotion of beef were nominated for the honorary CowBelle award which will be chosen in June. Nominations were heard Tuesday during a CowBelle luncheon in Hereford Country Club.

Candidates for the award thus far include Mike Bradford, Pete Caviness, Melvin Cordray and N.E. "Knocky" Tyler. Recipient of the honor will be announced June 10 during the Dad's Day Barbecue at the Country Club. Husbands of CowBelles will be special guests. Previously earning honorary CowBelle memberships have been Roy Faubion in 1973 and Bill Albright in 1974.

Mrs. Reece Lawson presided at the business discussion Tuesday and Mrs. Dyal Garner delivered the invocation.

Progress reports were given concerning numerous committee projects. In the absence of Mrs. Bill Griffin, Mrs. James N. Roberts will assume duties of the cheer committee. Also, Mrs. N.D. Bartlett was appointed to assist the scrapbook committee while Mrs. Hilrey Aven is absent this summer.

Correspondence included letters of appreciation from the Bachelor's Survival course at Hereford High School and the homemaking class at La Plata Junior High School. Both expressed gratitude for meat portions and literature donated by Hereford CowBelles.

Mrs. Lawson extended thanks to Mmes. Melvin Cordray, Caviness, Albright, Garner, and Shirley Garrison for work as hostesses during the recent Shriner's Clinic here.

A report was given by Mrs. Robert Josseland, who outlined proposals which are currently being considered by the legislature and involve the beef industry and related fields. She listed names and addresses so that letters and addresses could be sent to the proper individuals.

The upcoming Hustlin Hereford Hall of Fame All Girl Rodeo was a major topic for discussion. Mrs. Rachel Hunter detailed progress on the float which will be entered in the parade here Saturday. Also, Mrs. N.E. Tyler explained that the Beef for Girlstown will help to feed the girls when they attend the rodeo activities this weekend.

CowBelle Bill Albright introduced professional cowgirl, Sammy Thurman, who described several aspects of the Girls Rodeo Association and local festivities concerning the Hall of Fame.

Mrs. Bussy Kaul expressed a need for CowBelles to sell rodeo programs during each performance Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Hereford Riders Arena. She also reported on other beef promotion projects.

Envelopes bearing the slogan, "Hereford CowBelles invite you to enjoy Beef," were on display. These will be used in the beef certificate program, sponsored by the local CowBelle organization.

Hostesses for the recent gathering were Mmes. David Hutchins, Dyal Garner, Garrison and John E. Smith. Iris and Jonquills were arranged on dining tables and the registry table was decorated with fresh flowers set in a piece of driftwood.

The next CowBelle meeting will be the Dad's Day Barbecue June 10.

LIKE THE SLOGAN says, "Perform a death-defying act—have your blood pressure checked." As a public service to the community, student nurses from West Texas State University will be checking blood pressure in the Mall today, free of charge.

It's absolutely painless and can deter heart attack, stroke or other serious ailments. Sponsored by the Deaf Smith Hospital Auxiliary, the program is slated in conjunction with National Blood Pressure Week.

NATIONAL NURSING HOME Week is being observed this week at Westgate unit of King's Manor. The public is invited to a number of activities at the local nursing wing.

Nursing homes have recently been branded with a rather negative public image and NNH Week is designed to educate the rest of us about this vital service.

Actually very few persons have ever seen the interior of a nursing home. Joyce Lyons, administrator of the entire King's Manor complex, is concerned about people's general conception of nursing homes.

She agreed wholeheartedly with a nursing home spokesman who said, "The theme for the week is 'you care—we care.' I think that theme or slogan tells a lot about our profession.

"You care about your loved one and the care they receive in a long-term care facility. We care too! This means we work together—we care together—about the total person.

"This team effort involves administrative personnel, registered and licensed practical nurses, nurses' aides and orderlies, physical therapists, recreational therapists, occupational personnel, physicians, dentists, podiatrists, audiologists, social workers and others.

"These are all part of the team meeting the patient's immediate needs today, while helping him achieve the greatest possible degree of rehabilitation and self-sufficiency for tomorrow."

Many nursing home residents have not been survived by family or friends. They are literally alone in this world, having only the companionship of fellow patients and the nursing home staff.

National Nursing Home week gives us the opportunity to visit these men and women who are patients. This will not only please them, but enlighten the public about the fine work being accomplished in the local nursing home.

Involvement is a key work which should be used by the community in volunteer programs. Many of these can be conducted by participation in the Manor Auxiliary, who is hosting an open house Sunday. (See the related story in this issue of the Brand.)

IF YOU WERE surprised to read in the Sunday paper that Terry Hetzel is already a senior at Hereford High School, you weren't alone. We sort of jumped the gun because Terry is still a junior and will be a familiar HHS face for another year.

Speaking of faces, the '74-'75 Round-Up staff did an excellent job on the new yearbook which was unveiled earlier this week. Sponsor Elaine White, co-editors Craig Nieman and Cindy Smart and the other annual students can be proud of their lasting contribution to the Home of the Whitefaces.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT is needed by the Hereford Chamber Singers when they represent this community at the annual convention of Texas Choral Directors Association at San Antonio. The local group has been highly honored as the exclusive community choir invited to sing at the August TCDA assembly.

A non-profit organization, the 35 local singers require some financing in order to operate. Contributions can be sent to the Hereford Chamber Singers, P.O. Box 192, Hereford; or contact Ted Panciera at 364-0311 between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. or Mrs. Beverly Bryant at 364-2900 from 5-10 p.m.

Free Check-Ups Planned At Sugarland Mall Today

The public is urged to take advantage of the free blood pressure check stations which will be available in Sugarland Mall from 9:30 a.m.-7 p.m. today.

Students nurses from West Texas State University will conduct the painless procedure and record the necessary data on forms supplied by Deaf Smith General Hospital Auxiliary. These records will be scrutinized by medical officials and the auxiliary will then send letters advising those with abnormal results to visit their private physicians.

This community service is being held in conjunction with National Hospital Week and National Blood Pressure Month. Theme for the nation-wide awareness campaign is "perform a death-defying act—have your blood pressure checked."

The local program is working under auspices of the American Heart Association. The Area 1 AHA director, Betty Musick of Amarillo, is helping direct today's activities.

Mrs. Ansel McDowell auxiliary vice president, stated, "An individual's blood pressure can serve as a barometer to one's general health. Blood pressure varies according to age, height and weight, but anyone can have abnormal blood pressure regardless of age."

She continued, "High blood pressure can forecast heart attack, stroke and other serious health problems. We ask that local residents visit the free check stations today. A similar procedure at a doctor's office would cost approximately $3."

Cancer Bike-A-Thon Scheduled Saturday

Spring Fling Draws Crowd

A bike-a-thon will be sponsored Saturday morning by the Deaf Smith County unit of the American Cancer Society.

Riders will register at the parking lot at Sugarland Mall at 8 a.m. and will follow the same route as last year.

A new idea has been added to the bike-a-thon this year. The final leg of the route will be made by the younger riders or those pacing themselves at a slower speed.

The second group of riders will select a riding partner for a team event and trophies will be presented to the first three teams of winners.

Prizes will also be awarded to the riders with the most sponsors, the most money raised, the youngest rider to finish and the largest family participation.

Entry blanks may be obtained at all Hereford school offices, KPAN radio and Jones Motors.

Additional information on the bike-a-thon may be obtained by calling 364-0285 or 364-3150.

Do it Today!

Pick a day to quit smoking. Face D-day and maybe grit your teeth. It could be easy or it might be hard but one thing is certain, says the American Cancer Society, you'll be lessening your chances of getting lung cancer.

More than 100 persons from across the area danced at the Merry Mixers Spring Fling Saturday night in Sugarland Mall.

Square Dance Clubs which were represented included Grand Squares, Golden Spread, Whirly Birds and Levis and Lace, all of Amarillo, and groups from Friona, Nazareth, Dalhart, Olton and Altus, Okla.

Gary Goetz of Texhoma was the caller as about 100 spectators looked on. Special participants included Mr. and Mrs. Ed Barbee of Lubbock, educational directors of Texas State Federation of Square and Round Dancers; and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Packard from the Amarillo Council of Square and Round Dancers.

Spectators were recognized from Altus, Okla., Arlington, Roswell, N.M. and Porterville, Calif.

Members of this community are urged to visit Westgate unit of King's Manor in observance of National Nursing Home Week, May 11-18.

Manor administrator Joyce Lyons explained that numerous activities, culminating in a reception Sunday afternoon, have been scheduled to coincide with the observance. Manor Auxiliary members will pour tea at Westgate from 2-4:30 p.m. Sunday for visitors.

Receiving guests will be Mrs. Lyons, J.J. Dunham, Auxiliary president; Mrs. Don Davidson, diversional activities director; Jerry Barton nursing supervisor; the Rev. DeWitt Seago, chaplain; and Jim Conkright, president of the board of trustees.

Rodger Ruland, social activities chairman for the Auxiliary, will preside at the refreshment table with the assistance of members of Hereford Assembly, Order of Rainbow for Girls.

No formal program is planned, however piano music will be provided by Mrs. James Hull Sr., Westgate resident, and Mrs. Wayne Thomas, Auxiliary member.

ANOTHER HIGHLIGHT of the week for Westgate residents will be a trip this afternoon to Deaf Smith County Historical Museum. As always, visitors are invited to attend regular activities.

ACCORDING TO Mrs. Lyons, few individuals have ever seen the interior of a nursing home. Prior to World War I, a nursing home was known as the almshouse or poor farm—a place where the poor went to die.

Following the war, society demanded better conditions in these establishments. The advent of Social Security stimulated expansion of the profession and for the first time, places were built for the sole purpose of operating as nursing homes.

In 1967 there were 13,000 licensed nursing homes in this country serving just 700,000 beds. In 1974 there were 16,000 facilities serving 1,100,000 people.

Basically there are three types of facilities:

SKILLED NURSING—which provides what the title implies—continuous nursing service on a 24-hour basis. This facility is staffed by registered nurses, licensed practical nurses and nurses aides who provide services prescribed by the patient's physician.

Emphasis is on medical nursing care with restorative therapy, physical therapy, occupational therapy and others. This type of facility is recognized by both Medicare and Medicaid programs.

INTERMEDIATE CARE OR RESIDENTIAL FACILITIES—These facilities may provide regular medical nursing and social services in addition to room and board for persons not capable of fully independent living. The level of nursing care is less than that provided by a skilled nursing facility. This type of facility is recognized for the Medicaid program.

Both Skilled Nursing and Intermediate Care Facilities, participating in either the Medicare or Medicaid program, must meet the National Fire Protection Association Life Safety Code.

Many nursing homes throughout the country provide numerous services for the community. They may operate a meals on wheels program—taking balanced meals to individuals at home, a home health service providing medical services to individuals at home, offer the services of their therapists to members of the community, bring members of the community into the facility for meals and activity. Some operate a 24-hour day care center.

This type of service which is not limited to the day time hours—gives a family the opportunity to have an older member of the family receive nursing care during the night if needed. Long term care facilities provide a telephone insurance check with individuals at home. Other facilities have residents who operate a "friendly visit" service.

In 1972—over 689,000 nursing home residents were discharged and returned to normal life in the community. This is a good indication of the change our patient profile is taking. Today, because the cost of nursing home services is approximately one-fourth that of a hospital, more patients are transferring to a long term care facility to convalesce.

Patients who are recovering from a fracture, an accident or a stroke and who no longer require the acute care provided by a hospital may take advantage of the rehabilitative services offered by a skilled nursing facility and benefit from the lower costs.

National Nursing Home Week is May 11-18 this year. It is appropriate that this special week begin on Mother's Day because 70 percent of our resident are women. The theme for the week is "You Care—We Care."

Mrs. Lyons continued, stating the King's Manor is fortunate to have an Auxiliary with approximately 100 members. "These meet many of the patients' needs in our home," she said.

Auxiliary volunteers visit with patients, read to them take wheelchair patients for strolls and are drivers for recreational, shopping and other excursions.

"Those who have given their time in these activities have, without exception, found the rewards to be far in excess of the time contributed," Mrs. Lyons commented. "This is always true when we give of ourselves in an unselfish act that contributes to the well-being and happiness of a fellow human."

"We hope to see each and every available citizen of Hereford in the near future, hoping that it will be the first of many visits in the months and years ahead," she concluded.

DEBBIE HOOVER AND SUE HAMLETT...honored at party

Graduates Honored At Spring Luncheon

Miss Sue Hamlett, Miss Debbie Hoover and other 1975 spring graduates of Hereford High School were honored Saturday at a luncheon in the Terrace Room of Hereford Country Club.

Mrs. Thomas Hamlett and Mrs. Melvin Hoover, mothers of the two girls, were hostesses for the party which featured a motif of delicate spring flowers. White daisies, wildflowers, greenery and babybreath nestled in small baskets marked each guest's place at the dining table. The centerpiece featured a dip 'n' drape doll strolling through a miniature garden of fresh flowers, edged with a small white picket fence.

Diced canteloupe, strawberries and other fruit in halved pineapple "bowls" were served with finger sandwiches and iced tea. Baked Alaska was offered for dessert.

Following the light lunch, guests enjoyed conversation and perusing the high school yearbooks recently received. Post graduation plans were also discussed.

In addition to Misses Hamlett and Hoover, who will be roommates at Texas Tech University this fall, honored guests were Christie Ottesen of 116 Nueces, Cindy Rutherford of 107 Mimosa, and Debbie Lindsey of 806 Irving.

Also, Kathy Manning of 231 Ranger, Debbie Klechak of 139 Hickory and Nancy McDonell of 120 Kingwood.

Mythology Used At Installation

Apples of Gold depicted tales from Greek and Roman mythology for officer installation ceremonies Tuesday when Lone Star Study Club had lunch at the Country Club.

Mrs. Dale Tinnin completed her term as president by leading the installation. She related the legend of the goddess Atalanta who challenged young men to foot races. If her opponent won, he would receive her hand in marriage; otherwise, he would lose his life. Following a string of fallen comrades, Hippomenes was smitten with the fair Atalanta, but realized that he could not win a fair race against her.

Recognizing Atalanta's love for beautiful objects, Hippomenes hid three golden apples in his tunic and then dared her to race him. As she outdistanced him, he threw the first two apples in front of her; she paused briefly but left them behind.

Finally, after Hippomenes cast the final apple, the temptation was too great for Atalanta, who stopped to get it. Hippomenes won the race and Atalanta's hand in marriage.

Mrs. Tinnin connected this myth with scriptures from the Bible as she installed each new officer who was given a golden apple to place on a framed tree replica. She stated that sacrifice is worthwhile if it leads to golden apples.

Placed in office for one-year terms were Mrs. Carl Williams, president; Mrs. W.O. McCutcheon, vice president; Mrs. Baker Womble, secretary; Mrs. Henry Vaughn, recording secretary; Mrs. M.H. Wiseman, treasurer; Mrs. Tinnin, parliamentarian. The new president, Mrs. Williams, announced that committees would be appointed at a later time.

During this last meeting of the spring, members revealed secret pals and exchanged gifts. Also, an invitation was received from Jim Conkwright, who asked members to attend the tea at Westgate Nursing Home Sunday afternoon.

Bicentennial decorations were also on display, including a bright "76" symbolizing the year of America's independence from Great Britain.

Hostesses were members of the social committee, including Mmes. Womble, Gaston Baer and Hardy Benson.

Members present included Mmes. Jim Rookout, J.J. Durham, H.E. Henslee, McCutcheon, G.W. Newsom, J.E. Shirkey, Tinnin, Edward Warren S.S. Williams.

Also, Carl Williams, Wiseman, Womble, Robert Thompson, V.E. Dodson, C.O. Phillips, Ray Suit, C.D. Kelton, S.A. McCathern and John Moore.

Veleda Members Conclude Year

Business was finalized Tuesday evening by Veleda Study Club members meeting in the Medallion room of Rural Electric Company.

Mrs. Armon Lauderback, departing president, directed installation of officers and presented each with a memento of her future duties. She incorporated this year's theme "tis the mind that makes the body rich" into the ceremony.

Placed in office were Mrs. John Poindexter, president; Mrs. Hugh Clearman, vice president; Mrs. J.R. Oglesby, recording secretary; Mrs. Lloyd Crume, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Laurence Ruther, treasurer; Mrs. Bill Bradley, historian.

During the business segment, Mrs. Ruther read letters. One was an invitation from Jim Conkwright to the Westgate open house Sunday and the other was a request for financial support for the Hereford Chamber Singers.

Mrs. Frank Zinser Jr., parliamentarian, read the club by-laws and a motion to update them was tabled. Members voted to assemble this summer for an out-of-town trip to see a show.

Each of the programs, which were grouped under the topic Investments for the future, were reviewed as the season concluded. Members analyzed rewards of program sessions.

Homemakers Change Name of HD Club

Young Homemakers Extension Club opted to change their name to Tierra Blanca Home Demonstration Club Thursday when members met in Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas.

The club's former name will be taken by the new HD group now known as Hereford Extension Club. These changes will take effect this autumn.

Also, these members were elected to office: Mrs. Don Daugherty, president; Mrs. Marvin Welty, vice president; Mrs. Allen Evers, secretary-treasurer-reporter; Mrs. Richard Patzig, council delegate.

Mrs. Patzig was chosen as the club's nominee for delegate to the state convention at Abilene this summer. Three delegates from this county will be sponsored by the HD council.

Legal Secretaries Initiate New Year

New officers of Deaf Smith-Castro Counties Legal Secretaries Association were installed last week following a dinner at K-Bob's Steak House.

Eighteen members and guests witnessed the installation proceedings which involved the following: Barbara Wheat, PLS, president; Clara Vick, vice president; Mary Pagett, secretary; Mildred Fuhrmann, treasurer; Mabel Caffey, governor; Ruth Wayne, PLS, national representative.

Installing officers was Jimmy L. Ross, Dimmitt attorney, who was guest speaker and presented the Code of ethics and administered the oath of office.

Also on the agenda was the chapter's first presentation of a scholarship. Laurie Lyn Young, a senior at Hereford High School, was recognized for achievement of goals in the secretarial field.

Another highlight of the evening was recognition of Thomas W. Kendrick, Amarillo attorney, as "Boss of the Year." Ruth Wynne made the presentation of an inscribed trophy bearing the statue of justice.

Acting in her new position as president, Mrs. Wheat played an award to be presented to Mildred Sheffy, PLS, in recognition of her efforts to organize the DSCCLSA chapter and her service as charter president. The Chapter was established more than a year ago.

Vegetables Cooked On Outdoor Grill

Cooking meat outdoors is a great way to keep the house cool in summer—but don't forget that vegetables can be cooked on the grill too, Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist, said this week.

"Skewer raw vegetables and cook on the coals, turning slowly until done. Raw vegetables such as potatoes, carrots and onions may parboiled a few minutes before placing on the skewer to hasten cooking time," the specialist pointed out.

Frozen vegetables can be cooked on the grill in aluminum foil folded into a package, using the drug-store wrap.

"Place the frozen vegetables in the center of a piece of heavy duty aluminum foil. Dot with about 2 tablespoons of margarine or butter, 2 teaspoons of water and 1/4 teaspoon salt for each 10-ounce package.

"Close the package carefully to keep moisture inside. Place it on the grill and cook 15 or 20 minutes, turning once or twice," she said.

Plans Launched For Fathers Day

Preliminary plans for the Beef For Father's Day, sponsored by Hereford CowBelles, were outlined Tuesday morning by committee members at Hereford Country Club.

Co-chairmen who directed the planning session were Mrs. Elmo Hall and Mrs. Jim Perrin.

Projects which will be conducted in conjunction with the Father's Day celebration include beef advertisements to be placed on posters and on placemats which will be given to local restaurants. Also, a beef drawing which one can enter by registering at The Barber Shop, is scheduled. Special emphasis is to be placed on beef gift certificates which are recognized by all major grocery markets.

Publicity spots will be broadcast on KPAN Radio, it was announced, and selected beef recipes will appear in The Brand during June.

Active on the Beef for Father's Day project are these CowBelles: Mmes. Leroy Johnson, Joe Reinauer Sr., C.O. Taylor, N.E. Tyler, M.C. Littlejohn, Gene Bradley, Bob Sims, Rachel Hunter and George Warner.

Ford says he opposes a consumer agency.

Auto makers find signs of industry's recovery.

School Plan Bad, Says Local Leader

Despite a release from Gov. Dolph Briscoe stating that the Hereford Independent School District would receive more state aid under his school financing program, when fully implemented, the local TSTA leader claims that local taxes would have to be increased under his plan.

Carolyn Waters, president of the Deaf Smith County chapter of the Texas State Teachers Association, stated this week: "After carefully studying the governor's plan, we find that in order to maintain the present quality of school system, our local taxes will have to be raised. Further, this would be without additional benefits to the students and without teacher salary increases."

Mrs. Waters added that the plan "could put us in a situation where some of our programs which are essential to quality education could be phased out." Under the present school finance program, she explained, Texas schools are on an 80-20 ratio, with the local district raising 20 per cent of the funds. Under the governor's proposal, the schools are rated differently and Hereford would fall under a 55-45 ratio, according to Mrs. Waters.

"I feel that taxpayers should be aware of these facts and I encourage letters and telegrams to our state senator and representative in support of quality education for our students," stated Mrs. Waters.

In a news release from Austin this week, Gov. Briscoe reported that Hereford now receives $2,423,000 in state aid for school financing and the amount that would be provided under his proposal when fully implemented would be $2,710,000.

"One of the main thrusts of my program," reported the governor, "is to equalize taxpayer effort. With limited state dollars, some districts of average or better-than-average wealth or taxing ability would not receive increased state aid, but would not be penalized in reduced state aid."

"No school districts in Texas would be required to increase local taxes to pay for any part of my plan except those wealthier districts which would need to increase their efforts to provide for any teacher salary increase approved by the legislature," the governor's statement continued.

The governor's release concluded: "The time has come to substantially equalize educational opportunities and taxpayer efforts in the state system of public education. If we do not, I can assure you that the courts will. I prefer—and think the vast majority of Texans prefer—legislative action now. It can be done in this regular session within available state revenues and without new taxes."

Summer Registration Is Scheduled At WTSU

Registration for West Texas State University summer classes will be June 2 for the first summer term and July 14 for the second, according to the regular schedule.

For beginning freshmen, an orientation and academic advising session will be held June 2 from 9 to 11:30 a.m. in the Activities Center, with registration from 3 to 4 p.m. Classes begin June 3 and will last until July 10, and usually will be daily for 90 minutes each.

The WTSU schedule is offering a wide variety of regular and special offerings. There are more than 50 short courses, lasting from two to three weeks, for teachers and other special interest groups.

Farm Sales Hit Record But Income Drops Off

Farm sales hit record highs in 1974, but incomes didn't. Gross farm returns were an estimated $5 billion over 1973's record, but still not enough to offset spiraling farm production costs.

These boomed to an all-time high of $75 billion, according to the USDA, and trimmed net returns by about $5 billion from 1973's record $32 billion.

Everytime a Congressman gets angry about something, he starts an investigation.

Bushland Report Favors Sunflower Production

Sunflowers—the source of a superior edible vegetable oil—appear to be adapted to the Texas High Plains where good yields were recorded in a one-year study conducted by researchers of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Research Service (ARS).

Total world production of sunflowers is about 3.7 million metric tons annually, making it the world's second most plentiful edible vegetable oil after soybean oil. The oil is very high in polyunsaturates and is comparable in some ways to corn oil. It is stable in storage, but not as stable as cottonseed oil. The meal is about 40 per cent protein and is valuable for use in animal feeds.

In the Texas study, ARS soil scientists Paul W. Unger and Ordie R. Jones and agricultural engineer Ronald R. Allen, working at the ARS Southwestern Great Plains Research Center in Bushland, conducted three experiments with five cultivars—a variety named Peredovik (66), one commercial hybrid, and three experimental hybrids—under various irrigation and dryland management systems.

The scientists report that seed yield generally increased as the number of irrigations increased. Based on averages for all cultivars, a single irrigation at flowering resulted in a 247 pound per acre yield increase over those irrigated only for emergence. Three growing-season irrigations increased yields by 549 pounds per acre over seeds that received the emergence irrigation only.

Seeding rates and irrigation levels had slight but significant effects on total oil content of the seeds, with amounts ranging from as low as 38.6 per cent for one hybrid to as much as 48.5 percent for another hybrid.

In the dryland management experiment, there were yield variations between sunflowers grown on plots established on summer-fallowed land and those grown on a conservation bench. Yields on the summer-fallowed plot ranged from a low of 680 pounds per acre to a high of 1,010 pounds per acre. Yields on the conservation bench ranged from a low of 350 pounds per acre to 1,020 pounds per acre.

The wide range in yields among the four cultivars under dryland conditions can be attributed primarily to differences in plant populations and irregular seed emergence. The latter caused problems at harvest and reduced yield because seeds were lost from older plants while younger plants were not mature. Since the price per pound for sunflower seed was about three times that for sorghum, the high yield of 1,020 pounds of seed per acre compared favorably with grain sorghum yields of 1,800 pounds per acre on similar plots.

Sunflowers have a relatively short growing season of about 100 days, so they have potential for producing good yields following irrigated wheat in a double cropping system. This potential was studied in the third experiment using two tillage treatments—clean tillage and no tillage.

The sunflower plants emerged within 10 days. Despite a high population of volunteer wheat following an estimated 20 per cent hail damage to the preceding wheat crop, the fast growing sunflowers competed well.

Yields of the two cultivars tested in the experiment were considered good. Peredovik (66) yielded 1,160 pounds of seed per acre in a clean tillage plot. The commercial hybrid used produced yields of 1,570 pounds per acre in the clean-till plot and 1,750 pounds of seed per acre in the no-till plot.

Many insect species were seen on the sunflowers, particularly after they had begun to bloom. However, the only significant insect damage was caused by snout beetles which girdled about 6 per cent of the plants just below the heads in one experiment. Carrot beetles, which are severe insect pests of sunflowers in some locations, were not observed during the experiments.

Also of interest is the fact that the sunflowers suffered very little damage in a hailstorm that stripped the leaves on grain sorghum and destroyed soybeans.

Gripp Honored At Vet School

Monte G. Gripp of Hereford has been named a Distinguished Student in veterinary medicine at Texas A&M University, announced Dean George C. Shelton.

The honor is awarded to students who have excelled academically in the College of Veterinary Medicine professional program leading to a doctor of veterinary medicine degree. Dean Shelton noted a 3.25 grade point ratio or better out of a possible 4.0 is required during the spring trimester.

Gripp, a third year veterinary medicine student, is the son of Glenn Gripp, Star Route, Hereford.

An Important Procedure

David Dziuk goes through an important procedure as he sets an irrigation tube in an oat field south of town, helping to put in motion the process of irrigation so important to local crops. An opinion issued by the Federal Power Commission could put an end to the use of natural gas as an irrigation fuel and effectively put an end to irrigation here. Hearings on the opinion are set for today (Thursday) and tomorrow in Lubbock at the US District Courtroom. Area farmers are urged to make their voices heard at the hearing in order to obtain the return of natural gas for agriculture to No. 2 priority.

Head Asks Congress For Import Ban

A resolution passed by the Texas House of Representatives calling on Congress to impose a six-month ban on all beef imports is now on its way to President Ford, Vice-president Nelson Rockefeller, Agriculture Sec. Earl Butz, and all members of the Texas congressional delegation.

State Representative Fred Head, of Athens, author and sponsor of the resolution, noted that he was pleased with the "broad-based support for this measure."

Citing his reasons for requesting a ban on all foreign beef, Head explained, "Today's cattlemen are finding themselves caught in a serious cost-price squeeze, while Texas housewives are paying increasingly higher prices for foreign beef that is not subject to the same standards as domestic beef."

"When imported beef and beef by-products compete with our superior quality American beef, then prices become artificially low, and ranchers can't get a fair return on their investment." Head noted, adding that "feedlot operators are 'hurtin' for certain' because they are selling their cattle to meat packing companies and other wholesalers and retailers at a lower price than they paid for them."

The influential state representative also pointed out that a ban on beef imports would help consumers "because they are currently paying inflated prices for lower-quality foreign beef."

"Agricultural production is important to Texas and to the country. That's why we must have policies that protect agri-business from short-term plummets of prices," Head said.

Hybrid Cotton Moves Closer

Hybrid cotton, a long-time dream of plant breeders, may be ready for commercial production by 1978 or earlier.

While further testing is planned, a University of Arizona cotton breeder believes he has come up with a hybrid that will boost cotton yields about 15 percent. As an added bonus, Dr. Lee Stith says the hybrids also will have a genetic resistance to verticillium wilt and other plant diseases.

The National Cotton Council

says the complicated process of developing a hybrid cotton started some 30 years ago in Mississippi. And seeds from that state's project — abandoned because of unfavorable weather conditions—were used by Dr. Stith in starting his own testing program.

Once the new hybrid is available, the Arizona breeder believes it will be adopted quickly by cotton growers.

Some serious talk about West Texas gas

By K. B. "Tex" Watson, Pioneer president

Living in the middle of an area known for its abundant gas deposits, it's hard to imagine West Texans threatened by a shortage of natural gas. However, there is the possibility that governmental regulations could create a shortage here. If we are not vigilant, we could see much of our gas supply allocated to other areas. Or we could see price controls make it impractical for producers to drill additional wells in this area. What can the average citizen do to prevent that from happening? I would suggest that he be aware of the problem and support Pioneer's efforts to maintain our gas reserves.

ALL THOSE INTERESTED IN THE ECONOMY OF OUR AREA

Everyone interested in agriculture - businessmen, farmers, employees, housewives are urged to attend the Public Hearings on priority of natural gas supply to our irrigation farmers from Priority No. 2 to Priority No. 3. Our entire economy could be sorely hurt if the availability of natural gas for irrigation use was changed to Priority 3. Attend both of these meetings in Lubbock, Thursday, May 15 and Friday, May 16, 9:00 AM to 5:00 PM, Federal Bldg. 205 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas. Register and go on record in protest of the change of legislation. Our economy depends on it.

Wheat Research Tour Scheduled

Wheat breeding and production research will be featured at a field tour for interested farmers and agribusiness people Thursday, May 29, at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland.

Dr. Paul Unger, Acting Center Director, stated that the tour will begin at 1 p.m. and is being sponsored by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Agricultural Research Service, Soil Water and Air Sciences, and Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Observation of commercial and experimental wheat varieties in both dryland and irrigated nurseries will be the high point of the tour according to Dr. K.B. Porter, Texas Agriculture Experiment Station wheat breeder. Previous research at Bushland has produced Tascosa, Starday, Caprock, TAM W-103, widely grown wheat varieties in the Southern Great Plains. Some of the experimental lines in the 1975 irrigated nursery yielded more than 90 bushels per acre in 1973 trials where varieties Scout & Centurk yielded 76 & 78 bushels per acre. These new lines were developed by crossing Centurk and Scout with other commercial varieties.

Research plots with wheat streak mosaic, tawny mustard control, hybrid wheat, greenbug resistance, wheat rye crosses, and tribolite will also be on the tour route. Limited tillage farming, winter wheat and sorghum, and cultural practices for producing sunflowers will be discussed. Finally forage production experiments and alfalfa varieties will be observed.

Damaged Gardens May Require Replanting

Home vegetable gardens are highly susceptible to high winds, heavy rains and hail contained in spring thunderstorms in Texas. And recent weather has taken its toll.

"Damage is often widespread, and then decisions must be made as to whether to leave the damaged plants in the garden or to start over and replant," points out Sam Cotner.

"Some plants such as squash, cucumbers and beans often receive heavy damage," says Cotner, a vegetable specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "They generally recover slowly, if at all, so it is often best to replant. If there is sufficient room, the less damaged plants can be left while the remainder of the crop is replanted."

According to Cotner, most vegetable seed will germinate rapidly now that the soil has warmed, so replanting is often the best alternative. Of course, if transplants can be obtained, the gardener can gain several weeks of valuable growing time.

"In many areas it is too late to replant some garden crops such as potatoes, carrots, cauliflower and other cool season vegetables."

"Due to late season cool weather, spring gardens have generally been making limited growth until the past several weeks," points out the specialist. "So, even though replanting will bring some delays, these may not be quite as great this year due to overall seasonal conditions."

Whether gardeners leave damaged plants to recuperate or whether they decide to replant, the overall delay in home vegetable production will mean closer attention to care and maintenance of the growing plants in the coming months, emphasizes Cotner. "Insects will become more active as the growing season progresses, so plants must be checked more closely and control measures taken as the situation warrants. Also, watering will become more critical as the growing season enters the hot summer months.

"Adversity such as that resulting from severe weather damage tests the 'true grit' of the home gardener," says Cotner. "It makes him realize that vegetable production isn't all 'peaches and cream' and that all the fresh produce at the supermarket doesn't just happen. Hopefully, however, it will bring all home gardeners closer to nature and to living things, and will instill in them the will to try again."

For the best advice on what to plant in your area, contact your county Extension agent or your local nurseries.

TSTI Slates Convocation

Convocation for 151 candidates for graduation from Texas State Technical Institute, Mid-Continent Campus, will be held May 22 at 8 p.m. at the Villa Inn in Amarillo.

The Honorable Charles Reynolds, Court of Civil Appeals, Seventh Supreme Judicial District, will be guest speaker. Also assisting with recognitions will be Lovell A. Pillow, general Patterson, Amarillo member of the board of regents; and Dr. Fred Lanphear, Mid-Continent manager of instruction.

Associate degrees will be conferred upon 27 students. Diplomas will be received by 92, and 32 students have earned certificates.

Highlighting the commencement program will be the installation of 1975-76 Students Congress officers by J.W. Solis, manager of student services. The officers are Terry Favor, Jayton, electronics; Mark Ony, Dalhart, electronics; and Cathy Kilkuskie, Phillips, commercial art.

Ribbon Cutting

Lawn Mower Safety Is Advised

Lawn mowing can be hazardous to your health, especially if you disregard safety when using a power mower.

Every year 55,000 Americans are treated in hospital emergency rooms for injuries resulting from the use of power lawn mowers. Many victims lose fingers or toes; some accidents prove to be fatal.

"Most of these lawn mower accidents could have been prevented if a few safety rules had been followed," contends

Wayne Keese, agricultural engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, who is in charge of safety educational programs.

"The first rule in safe operation of a lawn mower is to become completely familiar with your machine. Read the owner's manual carefully. Make sure everyone who will be operating the lawn mower understands the controls and knows how to stop the engine quickly in case of an emergency," emphasizes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

"Before mowing, clear the entire lawn of sticks, stones, wire and debris—anything that could be thrown by the mower blade. Then get pets and small children out of the mowing area."

Keese advises disengaging the clutch and shifting into neutral before starting the engine. Keep your feet away from the blade when starting the engine.

"Stop the engine whenever you leave the mower, if even for a moment," cautions Keese. "Always stop the engine and disconnect the spark plug wire if you intend to check or work on the mower."

"Also stop the engine and allow it to cool before refueling. And use safety containers for gasoline," advises the engineer. "Exercise extreme caution when mowing on slopes or wet grass, and never pull the mower toward you. Use a 'plug-in' electric mower only when the grass is dry," adds Keese.

Tornado Engineering Course Slated At Tech

A Texas Tech University short course on engineering for extreme winds and tornadoes is expected to draw 25 architects and engineers to Lubbock May 19-22.

The short course is being presented by Texas Tech's Department of Civil Engineering and Institute for Disaster Research, in cooperation with the American Society of Civil Engineers. Daily sessions, from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. will be held at the Hilton Inn.

Among the participants will be personnel from governmental agencies concerned with the effects of natural hazards and those engaged in designing structures to resist extreme winds—including tornadoes and hurricanes.

Dr. James R. McDonald of the civil engineering faculty is coordinator for the short course which will be taught by faculty who have done research in wind engineering. He said that three things have made engineers increasingly aware of the need for new concepts in structural designs which resist high winds. "The need for providing occupant protection in public buildings, and the need to provide a maintenance of vital functions and public services."

McDonald said, "are the most common reasons."

"In addition," according to McDonald, "engineers are depended upon for the prevention of accidents in nuclear power plants and nuclear related industries. Structural design is essential in accident prevention," he said.

McDonald said the approach for the short course will take into account the "balanced risk" in structural design—the provision of safety factors consistent with economical restraints.

Lecturers for the short course include Dr. McDonald, Dr. Kishor C. Mehta, and Dr. Joseph E. Minor who is director of the Institute for Disaster Research.

Barrel Racing Event Climbs in Popularity

Today the colorful cowgirl's barrel racing contest is a full-fledged part of the rugged, fast, exciting and easily understood by the novice fan, barrel racing provides a thrilling yet gentle contrast to the slam-bang action that characterizes big league rodeo.

With their own Girls Rodeo Association working hand-in-hand with the Rodeo Cowboys Association, regulators of the sport in the U.S. and Canada, barrel races were held at 498 rodeos in 1974. An increase in approvals of 26 rodeos last year, is a good indication of the jump in popularity for the girls' competition. By the time the season ended after December's National Finals Rodeo, prize money totaled $387,444, an increase of $32,823 over 1973.

It all began, logically, in Texas, back in 1948 when a group of girls who were rodeo buffs set down rules for a race run around three barrels in order that they might establish a place in the arena for their interest. Growth was slow—rodeo sponsors and producers tended to laugh when approached about including a cowgirls' contest. But the girls hung tough. In ten years they were competing for a total guaranteed purse of $29,000 for the whole season.

By then though, the G.R.A. officers had learned the strongpoints of their appeal was the element of glamour the girls added and the pacing of their contest. They G.R.A. adopted rules requiring the contestants to ride in every grand entry—often outnumbering the male contestants in the parade—and to wear colorful western wardrobes at all times. They themselves policed the conduct of their event, hurrying the girls in and out of the arena, calling down the girls who slowed things by letting their hats blow off during the run. In short, they "sold" their contest and themselves.

G.R.A. regulations and practices have been patterned closely after those of the R.C.A., on whom the girls depend for support and guidance. But in a healthy relationship the girls depend for support and guidance. But in a healthy relationship the girls are independent of mind to the point they will strongly disagree with Rodeo Cowboys Association policy when it concerns things in which they share a stake.

All G.R.A. members are independent athletes. Other than abiding by the G.R.A. and R.C.A. regulations, which they must agree to do in order to become members, the girls are their own boss. Each can travel to as many or as few rodeos as she chooses, big or small. But there is a price for this independence. Of all pro athletes, rodeo contestants have the least security. Non have any contract salary, guarantee of expense allowance. From their winnings must be paid the travel and living costs and the entry fee for each race. The latter is added back to the guaranteed purse and goes to the winners.

More than any other rodeo contest, the horse and horse-rider coordination are vital to success. Cowboys will often borrow steer wrestling or roping mounts, and win. But take a barrel racer off her own horse and it's a whole different world. The contest is that exacting, and the competition that close. The slight wrong shift of a girl's weight on a turn is enough to ruin a good run.

As a result, the price of winning barrel horses has gone up and up. They are now by far the highest-paid commodity in rodeo, even though a calf roper will win three times as much money to earn a championship. Two years ago, a horse brought $15,000 in a transaction between two barrel racers, and prices in the double figures are not uncommon. Anything priced below $5,000 is suspect.

Good barrel horses must be extraordinary animals. They need the spirit and sprint speed of the Quarter Horse—which most of them are—and the maneuverability of the oldtime polo ponies. They must be solidly built—the leg-foot strain on the sudden turns is tremendous. They must be durable. The hauling and changes of climate and feed are great problems for any performing horse. As important as any other factor, they must have the mental makeup and nervous system to adjust to and hold up under the intense pressure of competition and the ever-different distractions of different arena conditions.

The Girls Rodeo Association counted 491 members for 1974, and another 1,321 girls had obtained contest permits—the apprenticeship status for barrel racers. The growth in the past two seasons has been impressive. Rodeos have gone up more than a third. Canada alone accounted for 51 new approvals, other states opened up where never before the G.R.A. had achieved a foothold. Subscriptions to the monthly NEWS has gone up 50 per cent and the G.R.A. now has a fulltime secretary and office where all routines are kept current from day to day.

In summary, the girls have taken their local sport and made it a businesslike professional activity. They show all indications of expanding even more rapidly. They now plan barrel racing clinics across the nation, and have set up advertising and promotion arrangements with western clothes manufacturers and have initiated their own public relations office in Tucson, Arizona. All agree their progress is their own thing—it has nothing to do with today's ballyhoo about women's lib.

1975 Emmy Awards

Change has caught up with the Emmy Awards show and things may never be the same again. This year 19 of television's top-rated, talented actresses will host the presentation, replacing the solitary male host of previous years.

The 1975 Emmy Awards presentation on Monday, May 19 (8:00-10:00 p.m.), on the CBS Television Network, will be hosted by, in alphabetical order, Beatrice Arthur, Lucille Ball, Carol Burnett, Cher, Teresa Graves, Michael Learned, Mary Tyler Moore, Susan Saint James, Jean Stapleton and Karen Valentine.

Commenting on his precedent-shattering decision to replace one male host with 19 women, producer-head writer Paul W. Keyes said, "This is the year for women, and what better way to recognize it than on a television show which attracts one of the largest viewing audiences of the year with 19 of television's loveliest actresses as our official hostesses?"

While leading the team in the rescue of several women being held hostage by two known killers in a message parlor, Hondo is grazed by a bullet. "The Church and Homosexuality"

"We want to simply talk about the fact that homosexuals have felt that the church did not accept them, except as sinners..." says Reverend Tom Mauer, moderator of a panel which delves into the problems of homosexuality in terms of the Church. The discussion is part of a program of sexuality reassessment given by the University of Minnesota for seminarians and other professionals. ABC News' "Directions" presents an exploration of this revolutionary development in theological education in a special two-part documentary, "They'll Know We Are Christians by Our Love." Part II, "The Church and Homosexuality," will air on Sunday, May 18 (10:00-12:30 p.m.), on the ABC Television Network. ABC News Correspondent Frank Reynolds narrates the films, which are produced by Ernest Penfold.

The six-day seminar in human sexuality includes a careful consideration of one of the most difficult dilemmas facing the Church today: the issue of homosexuality.

"They'll Know We Are Christians by Our Love" was written, produced and directed by Ernest Penfold. The program was produced in cooperation with The Commission on the Status of the Clergy of the National Council of Churches. Executive producer is Sid Danton, Manager of ABC News' Television Public Affairs.

"Directions" is a presentation of ABC News Public Affairs.

"A Member of the Family"

"A Member of the Family," a film from England inspired by Anne Swartz's famous novel "Black Beauty," will be re-aired on the CBS Children's Film Festival Saturday, May 17 (10:00 noon-1:00 p.m.) in color on the CBS Television Network (R).

Dr. Gordon, whose daughter Jenny owns the horse Black Beauty, takes his horse to a veterinarian's office for a check-up. One day, the boy accidentally is thrown from a horse and is hospitalized. His mother, Mrs. Gordon, is very angry with the veterinarian, but Black Beauty brings the family to the rescue just in time. The next morning, the local magistrate and the constable visit the Gordon to question the alleged recent robberies in the area.

Heed runs away and hides in the woods, where he is found by Sylvia, who threatens to turn him over to the police unless the boy helps him rob the Gordon's house. Black Beauty saves the day by trapping Sylvia in the Gordon's barn. Finally freed of suspicion, Ned is accepted as a member of the Gordon family.

"A Member of the Family" was filmed by LMI Productions, Inc. In conjunction with Fremantle International, Inc. Produced by Sidney Cole, it stars Stacy Donning as Burr Tillstrom's Kula, Fran and Ollie with Fran Allison as hosts of "The CBS Children's Film Festival."

"Weekend" looks at hard life of country music hopefuls in Nashville

The life and hard times of people who go to Nashville to make it big in the country music business will be spotlighted by NBC News' late-night TV magazine, "Weekend," in one of the features in its May 17-18 edition. The program will be presented on the NBC Television Network Saturday, May 17, from 10:30 p.m. to 12:00 midnight. In some areas it will be presented Sunday, May 18, in the same time period.

Country music is big business and Nashville, the biggest recording center in the nation, is where the action is. In its first report, "Weekend" zeroes in on the men and women from many parts of the country who have moved to Nashville to play and sing in bars in hope of winning recognition.

"It's a hard life," says Bill Hill, who produced the story. "Many of these people—singers, pickers, song writers—are no longer kids. Some have been in Nashville for years trying to make it, and most have a tough time making ends meet." One of them, singer Sharon Thompson says: "I thought it was going to be the end of the rainbow, I really did. Unfortunately, it didn't turn out the way I expected." Hill notes that they all use a phrase "crying your dear" working hard with the realization that you have to put in a long time in the hopes of being discovered. "Very few of them ever make anything," he says. "They'll sometimes perform in bars just for tips."

100th running of the Preakness to air on CBS

Celebrating the first centennial, the 100th running of the $150,000-added Preakness, second level in the triple crown of horse racing, will be broadcast on the CBS Television Network Saturday, May 17 (4:00-5:00 p.m.).

Jack Whitaker, host of the Preakness, will be joined by race analyst Frank Wright, race analyst Chic Anderson, race callers Ken Sogler and Phyllis George, roving reporters, will be the broadcast team.

While the field has not yet been set for the Preakness, a 1- and 3/16-mile race for three-year-olds carrying 124 pounds, remains the last year's two-year-old champion and Eclipse Award-winner Football Platoon, who came in first in all seven of his starts in 1974. He won his first two starts in '75 before suffering his first career defeat in the Florida Derby. He returned to Championship form in capturing the Wood Memorial Saturday (April 19). Other nominees include New York stakes winners Singh, Laramie Trail and Meadow Stable's Lety.

Singh, in three starts this year, has won three stakes, the Peter Pan, Swift and a division of the Gotham. He has won five of ten career starts.

Laramie Trail has won two stakes this year, a division of the Bay Shore and the Gotham, and was second to Singh in the Swift.

Lety, who is a come-from-behind runner, has indicated he'll be a tougher competitor as distances stretch out.
