DSGH, Methodist formalize agreement

By GEORGIA TYLER
 Staff Writer
 A new era will begin Tuesday at Deaf Smith General Hospital when a management agreement with Methodist Hospital of Lubbock becomes effective.
 An interim administrator, Ron Rives, will replace Gary Moore on Tuesday. Moore spent about 25 minutes in an executive session with the Deaf Smith County Hospital District Board after the Methodist agreement was approved Thursday evening.
 On returning to open session, the board approved an agreement with Moore that compensates him for the time, about 14 months, remaining on his current contract.
 The amount of the settlement, $77,032.20, is assumed by the Methodist system, as set forth in the agreement between DSGH and Methodist. Moore has agreed to provide the district with a full release of liability for his salary.

 Beginning service Tuesday as interim hospital administrator, Rives (currently assistant vice president of regional services for the Methodist Hospital system) played a leading role in presenting the proposal for affiliation of DSGH with Methodist in late July.
 He has been associated with the Lubbock hospital system for 14 months. Rives spent his early life at Wheeler and attended Texas Tech University. He is a graduate of the Methodist Hospital School of Nursing and earned certification in health care administration from Trinity University in San Antonio. He served two years in the U.S. Air Force.
 Prior experience in hospital administration was in Shamrock, Trinity (near Dallas) and Lamesa. Rives joined the Methodist system while in Lamesa.

 The interim administrator expects to be on site Tuesday to begin work. Rives said that during the next 60 to 90 days, candidates for the position will be screened and a recommendation will be made to the board.
 Under terms of the agreement between DSCHD and Methodist, the hospital district board still is responsible for employment of an administrator, with recommendations to be made by Methodist.
 During a 30-minute review of the agreement, approved tentatively on Aug. 20, clarification of some points was provided the board.
 In particular, the agreement calls for "first right of refusal" by Methodist on programs that might be

"The hard thing is giving up. I've strived to be fair in everything I did."
--Gary Moore
 initiated by DSGH. The district also is barred from contracting any service with another hospital, giving Methodist exclusivity in that area.
 Consultants that might be called in during the year's term of the agreement will be paid by Methodist.
 Salaries for the administrator and a comptroller will be paid by Methodist during the first six months of the agreement's term.
 Methodist also has committed to expenditure up to $30,000 for physician recruitment. DSGH will participate in a purchasing service through Methodist, a practice that could reduce expense of some buying.

 After the board voted unanimously to "facilitate the management of the hospital and the implementation of the Methodist system affiliation agreement" by approving an agreement with Moore, a resolution commending him was passed.
 Raymond Schroeder, board president, expressed appreciation to Moore for his service the last four years, observing that the board believes the hospital is "in a better position now than when you came."
 In response, Moore remarked, "The hard thing is giving up. I've strived to be fair in everything I did."
 "It's important that the staff and community come together to support Deaf Smith General Hospital."

Saul may face charge in accident

A Hereford man recovering from injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident last Friday night north of Canyon could be facing charges in connection with the accident in which another man died.
 According to a story in the Thursday Canyon News, Department of Public Safety Cpl. Richard Diegelman said he expects the DPS to complete its investigation today. The results of the investigation will then be handed over to Randall County District Attorney Randy Sherrod, who may file charges against David Dean Saul, 23, of Hereford.
 Saul was the owner of the 1983 Honda motorcycle on which he and Jerry Don Winchester, 22, of Hereford were riding last Friday night. Diegelman said Saul was probably driving the motorcycle when the accident occurred.
 The motorcycle was clocked, on radar, at 76 mph on Interstate 27 by DPS Trooper Mark Carden, who turned to attempt to intercept the motorcycle. The motorcycle left I-27 and went down a service road for about two miles, running past a "rolling roadblock" established by Diegelman on the frontage road. The motorcycle, according to the DPS, was going over 100 mph.
 The motorcycle crossed at the Buffalo Stadium exit overpass to the other side of the freeway and struck a concrete embankment. Diegelman saw a dust cloud and was unable to stop his patrol unit before running over Winchester's body, which was lying in the roadway.
 According to Randall County Justice of the Peace E.J. Hail, a preliminary report from the autopsy indicated that Winchester's injuries were consistent with those sustained from being thrown from a motorcycle. Hail is expected to rule the death accidental, but told the Canyon newspaper that the ruling would not interfere with the filing of involuntary manslaughter or other charges.

Cantaloupe? Yes, you can Perry says Texas melons safe to eat

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said a test of nearly 100 cantaloupes from across the state found no trace of salmonella bacteria, blamed for a rash of food poisoning cases earlier this summer.
 To prove his point, Perry ate from a cantaloupe at an Austin grocery store Thursday during a news conference.
 "We now have conclusive proof that Texas cantaloupes on the market today are absolutely safe to eat," he said.
 "This should allay any fears consumers may have about our state's melon crop," he said.

PERRY

The random sampling of cantaloupe tested included melons from Pecos, Comanche, DeLeon, Collin and Maverick areas. And they were tested at a private laboratory in San Antonio.
 Earlier this month, the national Centers for Disease Control said more than 400 people in 23 states and Canada had become ill from eating cantaloupes this summer, most in June and July. Researchers assume there are dozens of cases of salmonella poisoning for every one that is reported and confirmed.
 CDC investigators said contaminated cantaloupes in Illinois, Michigan and Minnesota apparently came from the Rio Grande Valley of Texas. Melons implicated in a New Jersey outbreak were said to come from Texas, Arizona and California.
 Salmonella bacteria can cause mild to severe food poisoning, with symptoms including vomiting, diarrhea, cramps and fever. It is most commonly transmitted via poultry or other meats, eggs or dairy products, but produce-related outbreaks have been reported occasionally.
 Perry released a statement from CDC division director Dr. Mitchell Cohen, who said, "The current crop of cantaloupes has not been implicated in any transmission of disease."
 "The salmonella food poisoning cases reported by the CDC Aug. 16 would have involved cantaloupes no longer on the market today," Cohen said.
 Despite the statement, Perry said the public is confused.
 "We're talking about people's livelihoods being damaged, from growers to farm workers to packers to shippers and retailers."
 Jerry Walzel, vice president of government affairs for the Texas Citrus and Vegetable Association in Harlingen, said last week ripe cantaloupes worth $1.5 million were sitting in the fields of the Pecos region because there have been no orders for the melons.

Yeltsin wants federation

MOSCOW (AP) - Russian President Boris Yeltsin is seeking to allay fears of Russian expansionism, saying his vast republic would be the heart of a new system of equal states leaving limited power for Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev.
 Since last week's failed Kremlin coup, non-ethnic Russians have grown nervous with Yeltsin's rapid-fire decrees expanding his authority and with Russia's claim that it reserved the right to negotiate its borders.
 Ethnic backlash hit Russia's southern neighbor, Kazakhstan,

Thursday when it was swept by demonstrations in several cities.
 "I want to state firmly that the collapse of the center is not tantamount to a collapse of the country, let alone Russia," Yeltsin said Thursday in an address broadcast on Radio Rossiya, controlled by his government.
 "The striving to create a new, really free, really voluntary Union of sovereign and, I stress, equal states remains strong," he said.
 "Full-blooded states and not phantoms will be united in the Union."

As Yeltsin sought to calm republican nerves, the national legislature on Thursday formally knocked out the central pillar of power that betrayed Gorbachev last week.
 The Supreme Soviet voted to suspend the Soviet Communist Party's activities nationwide and freeze its bank accounts.
 The ban was temporary, pending an investigation of the party's role in the coup.
 It followed an avalanche of resignations by Communists and bans on the party across the country.

South Plains cotton attacked by aphids

By CHIP BROWN
 Associated Press Writer
 LUBBOCK (AP) - Cotton growers on the South Plains are hoping a fungus spreading through their fields will be able to stop a massive attack by plant-munching aphids.
 Hundreds of thousands of acres of cotton from the Midland area up to the High Plains are in jeopardy of quality and yield damage due to the aphids, which feast on the nutritional juices of the cotton stand.
 "The fungus is attacking the aphid and seems to be responsible for a fairly rapid decline in the population in a number of fields right now," said

James Supak, cotton agronomist for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service in Lubbock.
 Don Johnson, executive vice president of the Plains Cotton Growers, said he hopes the fungus is not too late.
 Johnson said the aphids have caused up to 50 percent losses in some fields across the South Plains.
 "It's the worst infestation I can remember in several years," he said.
 "It would be nearly impossible at this point to estimate how much damage has been done, but it appears to be significant."
 Farmers are especially concerned because the aphids have resisted initial pesticide treatments.

 "I have never seen such a heavy infestation," said Jett Major, agriculture extension agent in Hockley County. "Usually the aphids are not a problem, but they have resisted the insecticides."
 The aphids excrete a honeydew residue on the leaves which inhibits photosynthesis.
 Farmers are hoping the fungus can stop the aphid before the cotton boll begins to open over the next couple weeks. If the aphids spread their sticky, yellow residue to the white cotton boll, the lint would endure severe quality damage, Supak said.

 Last week the U.S. Department of Agriculture estimated the 25 county area surrounding Lubbock which produces a quarter of the nation's cotton, would produce a whopping 3.35 million bale crop this year.
 Only 1981's 3.522 million bale crop would be higher.
 But Johnson said the aphid outbreak would certainly alter the optimistic forecasts.
 "It's highly unlikely we will reach the USDA estimate," Johnson said.
 Supak said the aphid outbreak was first detected in Martin County near

"It's the worst infestation I can remember in several years." Doc Johnson, Plains Cotton Growers, Lubbock
 Midland and prevailing winds helped push the bugs to the Plainview area, about 45 miles north of Lubbock.
 The majority of the aphids are females, which "multiply like crazy," Supak said.
 Growers have resorted to multiple pesticide treatments in order to combat the pests. And while the aphid has been seemingly immune to the chemicals, many of the beneficial insects have been killed by the sprays, Major said.

 Beetles, spiders and various forms of larva which feed on damaging insects has been reduced, making the cotton plant vulnerable to the boll worm, which attacks the cotton boll.
 "For the most part, we are turning our attention toward the boll worm," Major said. "We have done all we can to stop the aphids and we are now to the point of throwing up our arms. Nothing is working."

Attorneys claim client railroaded

Defense grills murder-for-hire witness

HOUSTON (AP) - Attorneys for Wanda Holloway today are trying to convince jurors their client was railroaded into a murder-for-hire plot designed to help her daughter get a spot on the high school cheerleading squad.

Defense attorneys on Thursday grilled Terry Harper, the state's key witness and Mrs. Holloway's former brother-in-law, about discrepancies between his trial testimony and answers given in a deposition last February.

"My memory was a whole lot better in February than it is now," Harper said.

Harper told jurors Mrs. Holloway asked him to hire a hitman to have Verna Heath, the mother of her daughter's cheerleading rival, kidnapped or killed. If convicted, Mrs. Holloway could be sentenced to life in prison.

Prosecutors say Mrs. Holloway believed Amber Heath would be so distressed about her mother's death or disappearance she would drop out of cheerleader competitions, giving Mrs. Holloway's daughter, Shanna Harper, a better chance of making the team.

Harper testified that Mrs. Holloway first called him about Mrs. Heath last fall and that he later went to authorities, offering to tape their conversations.

But on Thursday, when defense attorneys asked if he was the first to mention kidnapping to Mrs. Holloway, Harper replied, "I guess that's a possibility."

"Each time I had a conversation with Wanda, they (detectives) told me different things," Harper said. "I did my best to tell them what they needed to know."

Attorneys also questioned him about initially saying he used a tape recorder to take down conversations with Mrs. Holloway and now is testifying he was wired to record the conversations. Harper said he recorded all telephone conversations with her, but now recalled at least one more phone call during which the recording equipment malfunctioned.

Marla Harper, Terry's estranged wife, testified Wednesday that her husband and his brother, Tony Harper, framed Mrs. Holloway in an attempt for Tony Harper to gain custody of her children. Mrs. Holloway won custody in 1980 during a bitter divorce from Tony Harper.

Since Mrs. Holloway's Jan. 30 arrest, Tony Harper has been awarded joint custody of Shanna and her brother, Anthony Shane Harper.

Marla Harper said Terry, who has been married seven times and had 15 jobs in the past three years, had been written out of the family will and he hoped helping Tony would get him back into the family's good graces. In addition, she said her husband hoped to become rich and famous in retelling the tale.

Terry Harper maintained he led authorities to Mrs. Holloway, agreed to tape six conversations with her and to testify against her for altruistic reasons.

"I'm doing this to save a woman's and girl's life from a woman who wanted them killed," Terry Harper said. "I don't expect to make money."

But Tony Harper later testified that he had fielded at least 20 offers for movie rights, that he had an attorney handling negotiations about a possible movie and that his brother Terry wasn't happy about his percentage of profits.

Terry Harper denied being involved in a scheme with Tony.

"This whole thing wasn't to get custody of his kids, they're almost grown," Terry Harper said. Shanna is 14 and Shane is 18.

"I don't know what he thought," Harper said when asked if his brother resented Mrs. Holloway's custody of the children. "I'm sure any man would, just like any woman would."

"There was never a time during this whole ordeal that I thought about changing custody," Tony Harper testified. He said the lawsuit filed Feb. 13 seeking custody of the children was "used ... as a tool" to allow him to get counseling for the children after Mrs. Holloway initially had refused.

Defense attorneys also produced three character witnesses Thursday who described the Harper brothers as not trustworthy.

Survivors of boat wreck ate seaweed

NEW YORK (AP) - Three survivors of the fury of Hurricane Bob floated on a tiny raft in the Atlantic for 12 days and survived by telling each other stories, eating seaweed and fish.

Two men and a Texas woman who is five months pregnant arrived Thursday at Kennedy Airport after a Navy crew braved shark-infested waters to rescue the trio.

A tired but happy Edward Provost, 42, of Pawleys Island, S.C., told reporters of the ordeal, which started at Little River Inlet, S.C. on Aug. 16.

Dressed in blue pajamas, his ankle swollen and cut, Provost praised a Navy rescuer who on Wednesday jumped into the water as a half dozen sharks circled their small life raft about 80 miles south of Cape May, N.J..

"This man," Provost said, draping his arm around Petty Officer 3rd Class Steve Doerner, "dove into water filled with sharks to get my two crew mates out. This guy is unbelievable. He's the real hero."

Provost, skipper Marc Dupauillion, 26, of Calabash, N.C. and Allison Wilcox, 32, of Austin, Texas, were forced to abandon their 38-foot sloop almost immediately after they set out from South Carolina. They were taking the sailboat to Newport, R.I., for the boat owner and were supposed to be there by Aug. 21.

When they failed to arrive, a Coast Guard search was launched on Aug. 23.

Strong winds from Hurricane Bob up to 70 miles an hour tore the mast of the sailboat off and 40-foot waves battered the craft.

After they were hit by a water spout, the three climbed into an octagonal life raft, grabbed a survival kit, some food and three gallons of water. But their provisions went overboard on one of the 15 times the high seas rolled the raft over.

Provost said they survived by catching fish, telling each other stories and eating "a lot of seaweed."

The last three days they had no fresh water and drank sea water.

Ms. Wilcox looked emaciated and weak as she was transferred from the helicopter in an ambulance. Dupauillion waved as he passed reporters but did not stop to speak. He had one foot bandaged and the other was swollen.

Doerner, 24, and Chief Petty Officer David Peters, 30, were part of the four-man Navy crew called in by the Coast Guard to make the actual rescue.

Provost was lifted into the Navy chopper without incident but Dupauillion, who was unable to get the hoist around his waist, fell 15 feet back into the water just as he was about to enter the helicopter.

Despite the fact that there were six sharks underneath the raft, Doerner said he was forced to go under water to hold Dupauillion high enough so that he could grab the hoist.

"I saw the shark go by. I knew he was close," Doerner said.

After rescuing Dupauillion, Doerner went back into the water to get Ms. Wilcox.

Committee will study way bills reach House

AUSTIN (AP) - House Speaker Gib Lewis said a committee studying the way the House operates will focus primarily on the way bills are scheduled for floor debate.

Lewis on Thursday appointed the 19-member Select Committee on Rules and charged members with completing a "comprehensive study" of House procedures before the 1993 legislative session.

The committee also will pay special attention to interactions between the House and Senate, Lewis said. He said decisions on the rules will be made by the entire House.

"It's time for a complete examination of the way we conduct the business of the House of Representatives," Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said in a news release. "The rules are constantly evolving because we are always trying to find better ways to operate."

Some lawmakers and public interest groups have complained that the Calendars Committee, which schedules bills for debate by the full House, operates largely in secret.

Suzi Woodford, executive director Common Cause, said members of the self-styled public watchdog group want to see the committee work more publicly, and the House Speaker elected by secret ballot.

The current rules system "concentrates way too much power in the hands of one person. There's a tremendous potential for abuse," Ms. Woodford said.

"This presents at least the opportunity for some major reform. It's a real opportunity for the process to be opened, and for the members to feel that they'll have more equal footing," she said.

Another House practice that has drawn criticism is "ghost" voting. A controversy arose earlier this month when House votes were recorded for the late Rep. Larry Evans, D-Houston, hours after he had died. Though forbidden under House rules, lawmakers frequently vote for absent colleagues.

Some legislators say there has been a groundswell of support among House members for revision of the rules.

Rep. Al Price, a 15-year lawmaker who has often called for rules reform, said the study "is long overdue," although he said he was disappointed not to be named to the committee.

Hints from Heloise

HANDY GLOVE

Dear Heloise: Hang on to those worn-out cotton and knitted gloves.

Put one on, spray it with furniture polish and give your furniture "the white-glove test." Or spray with glass cleaner and pick up your favorite collectibles and give them a caress to remove the dust.

It's an easy, quick way to get work done and, best of all, the gloves can be thrown in with the laundry and you're all set to go again. — Mary Zeiner, Greenfield, Mass.

TIME SAVER

Dear Heloise: When we decided to wallpaper my kitchen, we had to sand down the walls to remove the texture. This was terribly time-consuming and the dust from the sander was everywhere.

I went to the garage and brought in my husband's planer. I adjusted the blade and ran it over the wall. It took just the bumps off and the mess fell straight to the floor. This cut our preparation time in half and cleanup was a breeze. — Kathy Huso, Billings, Mont.

Seems like a good idea, but apply a light pressure to the plane. Pressing too hard could cause damage to the wall. — Heloise

Move over, Beamon

Powell jumps 29-4 1/2

TOKYO (AP) - Mike Powell broke Bob Beamon's 23-year-old record in the long jump by 2 inches today, leaping 29 feet, 4 1/2 inches in the World Track and Field Championships.

The 27-year-old former UCLA star eclipsed Beamon's record of 29-2 1/2, set in the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City, on his fifth attempt. He fouled on his sixth attempt.

"It's just unbelievable," Powell said as he walked off the field. "It's the greatest thrill in my life. I knew I could make it. Something went wrong on every jump, but then all of a sudden everything went smooth. "I predicted this morning that I would go 8.95 meters (29-4 1/2). I called it. I dedicate this to my mom and my grandma."

Earlier, Carl Lewis had a wind-aided mark of 29-2 3/4 on his fourth jump. Lewis was helped by a 2.9-meters-per-second wind, stronger than the 2-meter limit. The wind for Powell's record-breaking jump was 0.3 meters.

"It hasn't sunk in yet," Powell said. "I knew it was far and I knew it would be close to Carl. When I looked at it I thought it might be a world record. I'm living a dream. The runway is so fast, honestly I thought King Carl would beat me on the sixth jump."

"When I hit 8.54 meters (28-0 1/4) I was just striding. I was prepared to jump 9 meters (29-6 1/2). I had been confident I could jump this far."

Lewis took the early lead with a mark of 28-5 3/4 on his first jump. Powell's best through his first four jumps was 28-0 1/4, but he had a foul which looked much longer than that.

Lewis, who entered the competition with a 65-meet winning streak in the event dating back to 1981, fouled on his second attempt and then moved up to 28-11 3/4, followed it with the wind-aided 29-2 3/4 and a legal jump of 29-1 1/4. After Powell's record-breaking jump, Lewis had a mark of 29-0 on his last attempt.

Lewis, who had the best series of jumps in the history of the event, said he had expected to go farther, but it was Powell who did.

"He had more meets under his belt than I did," said Lewis, who beat Powell by a 1/2 inch in the U.S. Championships in New York in June with a leap of 28-4 1/4. "I had the greatest series ever, but he had the one jump. I wanted to jump far. I could have jumped farther, but Mike did it."

Larry Myricks finished third in 27-7 1/2 to give the United States the first sweep of the medals in the meet.

In other events, Katrin Krabbe of Germany became the first double gold-medal winner of the championships, dominating the women's 200 meters in 22.09 seconds despite a strong headwind and driving rain.

Connors continues to win

NEW YORK (AP) - Now do you believe this tennis phenomenon called Jimmy Connors?

Has he convinced you yet? No? That's fine. Just stay tuned. He's not going away. He figures you'll come around, eventually.

Still wired from his five-set comeback victory over Patrick McEnroe in the first round of the U.S. Open, Connors drilled poor Michael Schapers 6-2, 6-3, 6-2 Thursday night.

In between high-stepping, fist-pumping points, he took time to lead the crowd in a tennis wave, a celebration of who he's been and who he still is in this game.

"I'm a factor," Connors said smugly, five days before his 39th birthday. "Maybe not just here. My goal is to be a factor in the game. It's been a great summer. I've had an opportunity to play good tennis. I want to get in some guys' minds and make them think it's not over."

He doesn't have to convince McEnroe, victimized by the opening-round comeback, or Schapers, who had nobody on his side Thursday night.

This was a Connors celebration from first point to last, less emotional because he didn't have to come from behind, but no less fun for Jimbo.

The victory moved him into the third round of the Open, dangerous territory for him. Connors got that far in the French Open and Wimbledon before losing. Is that a plateau at this stage?

"That is what my boy asked me this morning," Connors said. "He says I've got the third-round blues."

And what did Jimbo say? "I told him to go to bed. I said, 'It's past your bedtime.'"

On a day of stifling heat and humidity, the seeded players advanced without much trouble at the National Tennis Center.

On the women's side, winners included top-seeded Steffi Graf, No. 4 Arantxa Sanchez Vicario and No. 6 Martina Navratilova. Among the men who advanced were No. 1 Boris Becker, No. 4 Jim Courier and No.

6 Pete Sampras, the defending champion.

Graf needed just 39 minutes to pitch a 6-0, 6-0 shutout at Catherine Mothes, the first match of the tournament in which the winner did not drop at least one game.

"I told myself to concentrate on every single point and see how it goes," she said.

It was a mismatch from the start and Steffi knew it.

"She didn't really have the strokes to make the points," she said of Mothes. "That is the trouble that she had."

Sanchez Vicario defeated Kristin Godridge 6-1, 6-1 and was pleased with her performance. "I'm playing really well at the moment," she said. "I have to think positive. I always play well here. I like this tournament. I like big crowds."

Navratilova took out Debbie Graham, eliminating the 1990 NCAA singles champion 6-1, 6-4. It was not much of a birthday gift for Graham, who turned 21 this week.

Even though she is a four-time Open winner, Navratilova realizes she is considered a longshot now. "It's just a matter of whether I can put it together and play my best tennis when I have to," she said.

Becker outlasted Alexander Volkov 6-0, 7-6 (7-4), 6-1.

"I had a very good start and I made sure from the beginning that I had the match in my hands," Becker said. "I could sense after I won the tiebreak that the match was over."

Courier, his shirt soaked by the punishing temperatures that soared well past 100 degrees at courtside, was pleased by a second straight three-set victory, 6-3, 6-2, 6-0 over Jimmy Arias. It was achieved at center court, acknowledgment of Courier's status as a Grand Slam winner following his triumph at the French Open.

"It's nice to be playing on the big courts early," he said. "I've stayed away from the outside (courts) maybe a little bit."

Sampras beat Wayne Ferreira 6-1, 6-2 and was tied 2-2 in the third when a twisted ankle forced Ferreira to retire.

Also withdrawing were Christian Bergstrom, who suffered heat exhaustion in the third set of his match with Arnaud Boetsch; Thierry Champion, who retired in the third set of his match with Anders Jarryd because of a pulled stomach muscle, and Jaime Yzaga, forced out of his match with Aaron Krickstein due to a strained right knee.

Other seeded women advancing were No. 8 Conchita Martinez, who defeated Yayuk Basuki 6-3, 6-4; No. 10 Manuela Maleeva-Fragnier, a 7-5, 6-2 winner over Andrea Strnadova, and No. 12 Zina Garrison, who defeated Sandra Cecchini 6-1, 6-1.

Natalia Zvereva eliminated No. 16 Anke Huber 6-2, 6-4.

Seminoles blast Detmer, BYU

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) - Casey Weldon threw for 268 yards and two touchdowns, outplaying Ty Detmer in the contest of quarterbacks as top-ranked Florida State whipped No. 19 Brigham Young 44-21 Thursday night in the Pigskin Classic.

Heisman Trophy winner Detmer was 19-for-32 for 229 yards with one interception. But kept his 24-game TD passing streak alive when he hit Eric Drage with a 30-yard shot with 7:22 remaining.

But the effort came far too late for the 19th-ranked Cougars, whose inexperienced offensive line made Detmer an easy target all night.

Behind Weldon, the Seminoles' explosive offense rolled up 543 yards, and he completed 21 of 28 passes with no interceptions.

Leading 28-14 at halftime, the Seminoles continued to roll in the third quarter, marching 86 yards on 11 plays to score on a 2-yard run by Edgar Bennett with 7:10 left in the quarter.

Detmer threw for only 16 yards in the third quarter while being sacked for an 8-yard loss. The Cougars' ground game was even worse, posting a 13-yard loss during that span.

A bad snap on a punt by Florida State resulted in a 40-yard loss and set up the Cougars' second touchdown of the half, a 6-yard pass from Detmer to Eric Hughes with 2:27 remaining.

Florida State's Edgar Bennett scored two touchdowns, rushing 19 times for 87 yards and making six catches for 57 yards. Amp Lee ran for 75 yards on 13 carries.

Against the undermanned BYU defense, the Seminoles rolled to a 13-0 lead on their first two possessions as Bennett caught a 4-yard pass from Weldon and ran 3 yards for another score.

On BYU's first three possessions,

Detmer was 2-for-5, had one interception and was sacked for a 14-yard loss. But he regrouped in the second quarter and his 33-yard pass to Micah Matsuzaki keyed an 89-yard scoring drive that ended with Peter Tuipulotu's 21-yard run to make it 13-7 with 14:28 left in the half.

But the Seminoles answered with scores on their next two possessions, on a 6-yard pass from Weldon to Eric Tural, followed by Matt Frier's reception for a two-point conversion, and Lee's 5-yard run.

BYU narrowed the deficit to 14 points on a 10-play, 92-yard drive that ended with Tuipulotu's 22-yard TD run with 2:18 left in the half.

Tuipulotu finished with 58 yards on 10 carries to lead BYU.

The Seminoles became the first winner of the Pigskin Classic after Colorado and Tennessee played to a 31-31 tie in the inaugural game.

Astros snap Phils' streak; Braves stay hot

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

No one exactly confused this year's Phillies with the 1977 team, the one that included Mike Schmidt, Steve Carlton and Greg Luzinski. Still, in this season of streaks, anything is possible. And, until Thursday night, the new version of Phillies looked at lot like the old one, at least at Veterans Stadium.

Philadelphia's team record-tying string of 16 straight home victories got snapped Thursday night when Ken Caminiti drove in four more runs that led the Astros to a 5-1 win.

"It's a shame it's over, but we had a nice run," Phillies manager Jim Fregosi said. "It was a nice thing to go through."

The 1977 Phillies also won 16 in a row at home and went on to win the the NL East. This year's Phillies were 18 games behind when they started their streak - which was part of an overall 13-game winning string - and they're now 14 games back. They were, however, able to catch the much-more-heralded Mets and move up from fifth place.

The Phillies' streak ended partly because Caminiti is on a tear. He drove in five runs in Houston's loss in Philadelphia on Wednesday night, and is 9-for-16 with 14 RBIs in his last four games.

"This is the first time I've ever had a streak like this and I'm really enjoying it," Caminiti said. "Their streak didn't mean anything to us. We're looking for wins."

Mark Portugal (10-6) pitched a six-hitter, struck out six and did not walk a batter in his first complete game since Aug. 13, 1990. He lost a bid for his first shutout since Sept. 17, 1989, when Wes Chamberlain led off the ninth inning with his 10th home run.

Danny Cox (4-6) allowed four runs in five innings. He also was the loser the last time the Phillies fell at home, on July 14.

Pirates 4, Dodgers 1

Pittsburgh used five pitchers and increased its lead in the East to six games while widening the Dodgers' deficit in the West to two games.

Roger Mason (2-0) worked 2-2-3 innings of one-hit relief. Bill Landrum got pinch-hitter Kal Daniels to ground into a double play with the bases loaded to end the eighth and finished for his 17th save.

Because Bob Walk is on the disabled list, Bob Patterson made his first start after 75 straight relief appearances. He left after 3 1-3 innings with a 3-1 lead.

Orlando Merced got three hits as the Pirates swept the two-game series at Dodger Stadium. Mike Morgan (10-9) has won only once in his last 11 starts.

Braves 2, Mets 0

John Smoltz pitched seven strong innings and Ron Gant scored from first base on a single as Atlanta dashed past visiting New York.

The Braves have won four in a row and seven of nine. The Mets have lost three straight and 23 of 29.

Smoltz (10-13) is 8-2 since the All-Star break. He gave up six hits, struck out five and walked one. Mike Stanton finished for his sixth save.

Anthony Young (0-1), promoted from Triple-A Tidewater earlier in the day, shut out Atlanta on three hits for 5-2-3 innings. But then Gant was hit by a pitch and scored when Dave Justice singled on a 3-2 pitch. Rafael Belliard added an RBI single.

Padres 1, Cardinals 0

Andy Benes pitched a two-hitter for his first career shutout in 67 starts as San Diego won in St. Louis.

Benes (10-10) struck out 10, walked one and retired the final 16 batters. Rookie Omar Olivares (7-5) lost despite allowing only four hits in eight innings.

Tony Fernandez led off the fourth with a single, advanced to third on a pair of outs and scored on Oscar Azocar's single. Azocar is 6-for-15 since being called up from the minors Aug. 9.

Reds 5, Expos 4

Barry Larkin and Chris Sabo hit consecutive home runs during a five-run fifth inning that sent Cincinnati over Montreal.

Mariano Duncan, 13-for-20 since coming off the disabled list, hit an RBI single and Larkin's three-run homer, his 19th, put the Reds ahead 4-3. Sabo followed with his 21st home run off Brian Barnes (3-5).

The Reds have hit six home runs in their last two games. They lead the league with 128 homers.

Jose Rijo (11-5) made two throwing errors that set up Montreal's three-run first inning. He did not permit another run and left after the sixth, and improved to 7-0 in 12 starts at Riverfront Stadium. Rob Dibble pitched the ninth for his 27th save in 29 chances.

Cubs 5, Giants 4

Pinch-hitter Dwight Smith singled home the go-ahead run with two outs in the eighth inning as visiting Chicago sent San Francisco to its fifth straight loss.

George Bell hit a two-run homer, his 22nd, and a sacrifice fly for the Cubs. Greg Maddux (11-8) won with an eight-hitter.

Bell singled to start the eighth against Francisco Olivares (4-4) and pinch-runner Ced Landrum advanced on a balk. Chico Walker was intentionally walked with two outs and Smith singled.

Herd's final scrimmage set tonight

The Hereford Whitefaces will have their final tuneup for the 1991 football season today when the Herd scrimmages Amarillo High at 7 p.m. at the field at Randall High School, south of Amarillo.

The Sandies, who reached deep into the Class 5A playoffs last year, are again picked to win the District 3-5A battle. The Herd is the favorite in District 1-4A.

The Herd will likely be without running back Leo Brown, who was injured early in last week's scrimmage with Lubbock Monterey.

The varsity squads will be the only units scrimmaging today. The freshman, sophomore and junior varsity teams scrimmaged on Thursday.

Jays win with David, Devon, defense

NEW YORK (AP) - In a late-August game, the Blue Jays found everything they needed to win a division title and maybe even more.

Toronto discovered David Wells can win, particularly when backed by spectacular defense. The Blue Jays' 6-2 victory over the Yankees on Thursday night was a course in textbook baseball.

There were two great defensive plays, timely hitting and a complete-game effort from Wells for Toronto's fifth straight victory and a 2 1/2-game lead over Detroit in the AL East.

Hot-hitting Devon White also chipped in with a homer, double and single to give the center fielder 14 hits in his last 32 at-bats.

"This is the type of baseball you have to play in a pennant race," White said. "You have to take advantage of the opportunities and take them away from the other team."

Want an example? With Toronto ahead 3-1, Yankees starter Jeff Johnson (5-8) hit a batter and gave up a single to Pat Tabler before a wild pitch put runners on second and third in the sixth. After an intentional walk to Pat Borders, Rich Monteleone relieved.

Manager Stump Merrill's strategy backfired, however, when Manuel Lee hit Monteleone's first pitch into the gap in right-center, clearing the bases.

Toronto also used some clutch defense to take some runs off the scoreboard.

With the Blue Jays leading 2-0 in the third, second baseman Roberto Alomar robbed Don Mattingly of a two-run single with an over-the-shoulder catch of a soft liner to shallow right field.

Both Wells, who had lost his previous five starts, and the Blue Jays went through a rough time for much of August but seem to be going in the right direction heading into September. Wells (13-9) had given up 27 runs over 26 1/3 innings in losing his previous five starts.

"I think we are more relaxed right now," said Gene Tenace, who's filling in as manager for Toronto while Cito Gaston is sidelined with a bad back. "We're getting better pitching and that always helps."

Wells gave up two runs, eight hits, struck out five and walked none for his second complete game of the season.

"David was in a little rut," Tenace said. "But the performance he had out there tonight shows he's working out of it."

White gave the Blue Jays a 2-0 lead when he hit a solo homer, his 14th, with one out in the third, a shot deep into the Toronto bullpen in left. He also helped build a run with a single in the first.

"I look at it as being happy and appreciated," said White, who was acquired last December from California. "It started in spring training under Cito and I've been successful in the leadoff spot."

Toronto added a run in the fourth on consecutive doubles by Candy

Maldonado and Kelly Gruber.

Mel Hall hit his 17th home run with two out in the sixth off Wells, who last won on July 24. Wells is now 6-0 lifetime at Yankee Stadium.

White Sox 7, Indians 2
Chicago snapped its nine-game losing streak as Carlton Fisk hit a pair of two-run homers to power the White Sox past visiting Cleveland.

Robin Ventura also had a two-run homer and Frank Thomas hit his 27th, a solo shot.

Jack McDowell (15-8) became a 15-game winner for the first time in his career, earning his major league-leading 13th complete game with a seven-hitter.

It was the 43-year-old Fisk's 23rd two-homer game and first since Aug. 17, 1988, when he hit a pair off Toronto's Jim Clancy.

Fisk's 12th homer of the year and 366th of his career with none out in the second off Willie Blair (1-2) and helped the White Sox to end their longest skid since 1978.

Dolphins plan conservative offense

By The Associated Press

The Buffalo Bills may be in for a surprise Sunday when they start their season against the Miami Dolphins. Then again, maybe not.

Quarterback Dan Marino says the Dolphins will probably open the season using a conservative offense, similar to the one they used last season when they made the playoffs for the first time in six years. But Marino has not ruled out going to a no-huddle offense - Buffalo's specialty - and a wide-open passing game.

"I'll run any kind of offense," Marino said Thursday. "I'm easy to get along with. But I think what helped us last year was keeping our defense fresh by controlling the ball. That probably will be our philosophy - early in the season, anyway."

The Miami-Buffalo game is one of 13 season openers in the NFL on Sunday. In other games, it's Atlanta at Kansas City; Seattle at New Orleans; Tampa Bay at the New York Jets; Dallas at Cleveland; Philadelphia at Green Bay; Phoenix at the Los Angeles Rams; the Los Angeles Raiders at Houston; Miami at Buffalo; Minnesota at Chicago; New England at Indianapolis; San Diego at Pittsburgh; Cincinnati at Denver and Detroit at Washington.

In Monday night's game, San Francisco visits the Super Bowl champion New York Giants.

With Marino as the triggerman and rookies Randal Hill and Aaron Craver among the potential targets, the Dolphins have the firepower to play a wide-open game. Miami will be hurt by the absence of running back Sammie Smith, who will miss at least four games with a knee injury.

"We can go to the no-huddle at any time," Marino said. "We did the no-huddle years back, before it was popular. It's not like it's a new thing. It's something we've been able to do for a lot of years; we just haven't decided to do it."

One thing the Dolphins can't afford is a continuation of Marino's preseason struggles. Miami's offense scored only three field goals in his seven quarters of exhibition action. The final game against New Orleans was Marino at his worst - five completions in 18 attempts for 68 yards, with interceptions ending the first three series.

Five days earlier, he had signed a five-year contract extension for an estimated $25 million. Marino said the deal, which made him the highest-paid player in NFL history, was not a factor in his performance.

"I look at it this way - there was pressure on me to perform before I signed this contract anyway," he said. "It hasn't really changed much."

Dolphins coach Don Shula acknowledged that Marino's preseason play was sub-par.

"There have been some throws that could've been made that he didn't make that he ordinarily makes," Shula said. "But I think Dan is the least of our problems. I know he's going to be there."

One of Marino's problems was his supporting cast - and those difficulties could continue for a while. Guard Harry Galbreath and tight end Ferrell Edmunds signed this week after missing the preseason. Center Jeff Uhlenhake is still unsigned, and Mark Higgin, Smith's replacement at running back, has started just one game in his five-year career.

Edmunds and cornerback J.B. Brown signed Thursday, but Shula said they probably won't be ready for Sunday. Miami still has four unsigned players.

The Bills' problems are related to injuries, not holdouts.

Jim Kelly, the league's top-ranked passer last season, says he'll play against Miami despite by an ankle injury that sidelined him for the last two exhibition games. But the Bills probably won't have All-Pro defensive end Bruce Smith, second in the NFL last season in sacks. Smith underwent arthroscopic knee surgery two weeks into training camp and hasn't practiced since.

The Bills came to terms with their No. 1 pick, Henry Jones, a defensive back from Illinois. He practiced with the team Thursday after ending his six-week holdout.

Like Miami, the Steelers hope to get their offense rolling early this year as they host the Chargers.

Pittsburgh's offense spent last September on vacation, and only a top-ranked defense that outscored the offense enabled the Steelers to win one of their first four games. Offensive coordinator Joe Walton's "no-go O" went nowhere, finishing the month without a touchdown.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: I am on vacation, but I have left behind some of my favorite columns that you may have missed the first time around. I hope you enjoy them. -- Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from "Out with Teasers" had a familiar ring to it. I have a message for that fellow:

I'm not off my rocker about sex, nor am I a sadist. And I don't need a shrink to analyze my sex drive.

I resent being called a teaser. It just so happens that I have an abundance of natural charm (sex appeal, baby) and your ego was bruised because I didn't topple like most gals you put the make on.

I can't help it if I have animal magnetism that drives men wild. It's their problem if they can't handle it, not mine. Sign me -- Chased But Still Chaste

DEAR C BUT C: Natural charm and animal magnetism, eh? Well, since you just happen to be innocently cursed or blessed, whichever way you look at it, I suggest you make a conscious effort to turn the voltage down a little before you electrocute every male within a radius of 20 miles.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A very close friend of mine was murdered recently, and the person who committed the crime will never be found.

The murderer didn't shoot my friend with a gun or chop her up with an ax, but this wonderful gal and her unborn child are just as dead, regardless. Actually, they died in a car accident because somebody stole a stop sign as a gag. The accident that occurred as a result of this prank was too horrible to describe.

I wonder what the "joker" did with his "souvenir." I wonder, too, if the fun was worth the pain and grief it caused so many people.

Thank you for printing my letter.

Ann, I hope it helps. -- Heartsick Friend

DEAR FRIEND: A letter such as yours should have a very sobering effect on those slap-happy idiots who think it's cute to mess around with traffic signs. Thank you for writing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Here is my two cents' worth about husbands who are starved for affection and turn to another woman.

Good, I can hardly wait. But where is the damned fool who would take my place? Let's see what the other doll looks like after cooking, cleaning, patching clothes for five kids and shopping the town trying to feed them with the money I get.

I'm not complaining, mind you. This is a labor of love. I wouldn't do it for pay -- no amount.

So why can't sex be an act of love? Why not kiss me once in a while and make me feel like a woman instead of a workhorse? I cut his toenails, run his bath and trim his moustache, and in 20 years, he has never so much as made me a cup of tea.

So, to that poor, "Starved Husband," I suggest he bring his wife a candy bar, a bag of peanuts or a jelly doughnut. It might do a world of good. I'd love it. -- Wearing Out Fast

DEAR W.O.: Have you ever verbalized these feelings to Mr. Wonderful? Or are you too busy cutting his toenails, running his bath and trimming his moustache?

If you need to be a martyr, stop complaining. If you are really fed up, tell him, not me.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Former middleweight champion Michael Nunn was arrested after being accused of slapping his girlfriend around, authorities said.

The 28-year-old boxer was arrested Wednesday at his Agoura Hills home after his girlfriend, Loretha Boyce, 28, called for help, said Deputy Rafael Estrada.

He was booked for investigation of felony infliction of bodily injury and freed on $15,000 bail.

"Deputies saw visible bruises on Ms. Boyce's right arm," Estrada said. "Ms. Boyce said he slapped her several times during an argument over problems with their relationship."

Nunn has not fought since May 10, when he lost the International Boxing Federation middleweight title to James Toney in an 11th-round knockout.

A call made after business hours to Nunn's representatives at Ten Goose Promotions went unanswered.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - The former housekeeper for Delta Burke of "Designing Women" and "Major Dad" star Gerald McRaney has been charged with stealing more than $10,000 from the couple.

Paulette Broughton, 44, was charged Wednesday with embezzlement.

Deputy District Attorney Barbara Murphy said Burke and McRaney gave Broughton access to a checking account to make household purchases.

Murphy said the housekeeper wrote 30 checks for her personal use, including payments to a weight-loss clinic and bridal and tuxedo shops.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

OPEN WIDE!

NO MENTION IS MADE IN THE BIBLE OF THAT SCOURGE OF MANKIND, THE TOOTHACHE! BUT AN ANCIENT SAYING PUT IT, "ONE CAN BUY ANYTHING IN THE MARKETS OF JERUSALEM FROM A CAMEL TO A FALSE TOOTH!" MODERN ARCHEOLOGICAL FINDINGS HAVE REVEALED SKULLS WITH EVIDENCE OF DENTAL TREATMENT AND REPAIRS, AND SOME EGYPTIAN MUMMIES HAVE BEEN EXCAVATED COMPLETE WITH GOLD-FILLED MOLARS. IN FACT, EGYPTIAN DESCRIPTIONS OF DENTISTRY METHODS ARE IN THEIR RECORDS DATING AS FAR BACK AS 3700 B.C.!

ABOUT 500 B.C., HERODOTUS MENTIONED ANIMAL TEETH BEING FILED DOWN TO FILL A GAP IN THE HUMAN MOUTH. THESE SUBSTITUTE TEETH, HOWEVER, WERE CEMENTED IN BETWEEN TWO OTHER TEETH AND NOT USED IN BRIEFS, BUT BY EARLY ETRUSCAN TIME, ETRUSCAN SKELETONS REVEAL TEETH HOOKED TOGETHER WITH GOLD BANDS, THE EARLY FORE-RUNNER OF THE MODERN DENTAL BRIDGE. SO OUR ANCIENT SAYING WAS, IN ALL PROBABILITY, TRUE—ONE COULD BUY DENTURES IN THE MARKET PLACES AND BAZAARS OF ANCIENT JERUSALEM.

NEXT WEEK: BIBLE MISCOPYING!
