

County: DSG Should Pay for Ambulances

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County commissioners didn't say no, but still handed Deaf Smith General Hospital Administrator Jim Bullard the first setback in his campaign to put an ambulance service in the hospital and finance it with city and county funds.

Bullard appeared before commissioners Monday to request that the county join the city in financing a hospital-operated ambulance service which would replace the system now operated by Hereford's two funeral homes.

Directors of the funeral homes have stated that they want out of the ambulance business, prompting Bullard to appear with his proposal before the hospital district board, city commission and county commission.

City commissioners took no action last week but left Bullard with a favorable impression toward the proposal. One city commissioner—Emory Brownlow—said, in fact, that the proposal should be approved.

County commissioners were not that agreeable, however. Commissioner J.F. Martin said that since the hospital district is a taxing authority, it should rise its taxes enough to finance the ambulance service.

"You're right, we're all taxing entities. But, our problem is we have set our tax rate for the year...And, we have made no conditions, set aside any tax monies this fiscal year," said Bullard, who added that the hospital district "cannot afford" to assist in the financing of the service.

"We're in the same boat," Austin Rose told Bullard.

Coleman said that since the hospital is responsible for indigent care, it should be responsible for the ambulance service. "The responsibility for indigent care does lie in the hospital, but I can't see how the operation of ambulance even borders on indigent care. I think there is a broad line—you'd really have to stretch it. I also think that we're dealing more with moral obligation than we are legal

Krueger Appointed Mexico Ambassador

WASHINGTON (AP) - An ambassador-at-large for Mexico, confirmed by the Senate, may be on official duty by the time Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo arrives at the end of the week for talks with President Carter.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee cleared the way Monday by voting 9-6 in favor of Bob Krueger's nomination for the new position.

The last hurdle remaining for the former Texas congressman is confirmation by the full Senate, with a vote expected to be scheduled as quickly as possible.

Most opposition came from Republican committee members. Krueger lost a tight, bitter Senate race last year to incumbent Sen. John Tower, R-Texas.

Carter nominated Krueger as ambassador-at-large and coordinator of U.S.-Mexican relations in June, but word of the choice first circulated in the spring.

Krueger moved into State Department quarters in July while waiting for Senate action. The nominee took an active part in the natural gas negotiations that led to an agreement announced Friday.

He received an angry response from Lopez Portillo by suggesting that the U.S. was interested in discussing liability for the oil leasing Texas beaches from a runaway Mexican offshore well.

Krueger testified on his own behalf last week before the committee, but some senators skeptical of the need for a precedent setting title requested an additional meeting with Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher before the vote.

The title "ambassador-at-large" apparently never has been given to an official responsible for U.S. relations with only one nation.

Christopher told the committee that the appointment of a second ambassador for Mexico would not push the U.S. toward creating equivalent posts for other

More Suits Filed Over Pope Visit

By CHRISTOPHER B. DALY
Associated Press Writer

Holidays for schoolchildren and county workers in Iowa are the targets of the latest lawsuits inspired by Pope John Paul II's upcoming visit, and in Washington, D.C., dissident priests are urging a clerical boycott of the papal Holy Communion service.

Plans for the rare papal visit have also prompted dissent in Boston, where a federal judge was to rule today in a suit brought by birth control activist Bill Baird over the archdiocese's decision to reserve for persons of its choosing 18,000 of the available seats for a papal Mass on the Boston Common.

Boston is the first stop on the Roman Catholic leader's U.S. itinerary. After his arrival from Ireland on Monday, the pope will also tour New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Des Moines, Iowa, and Washington.

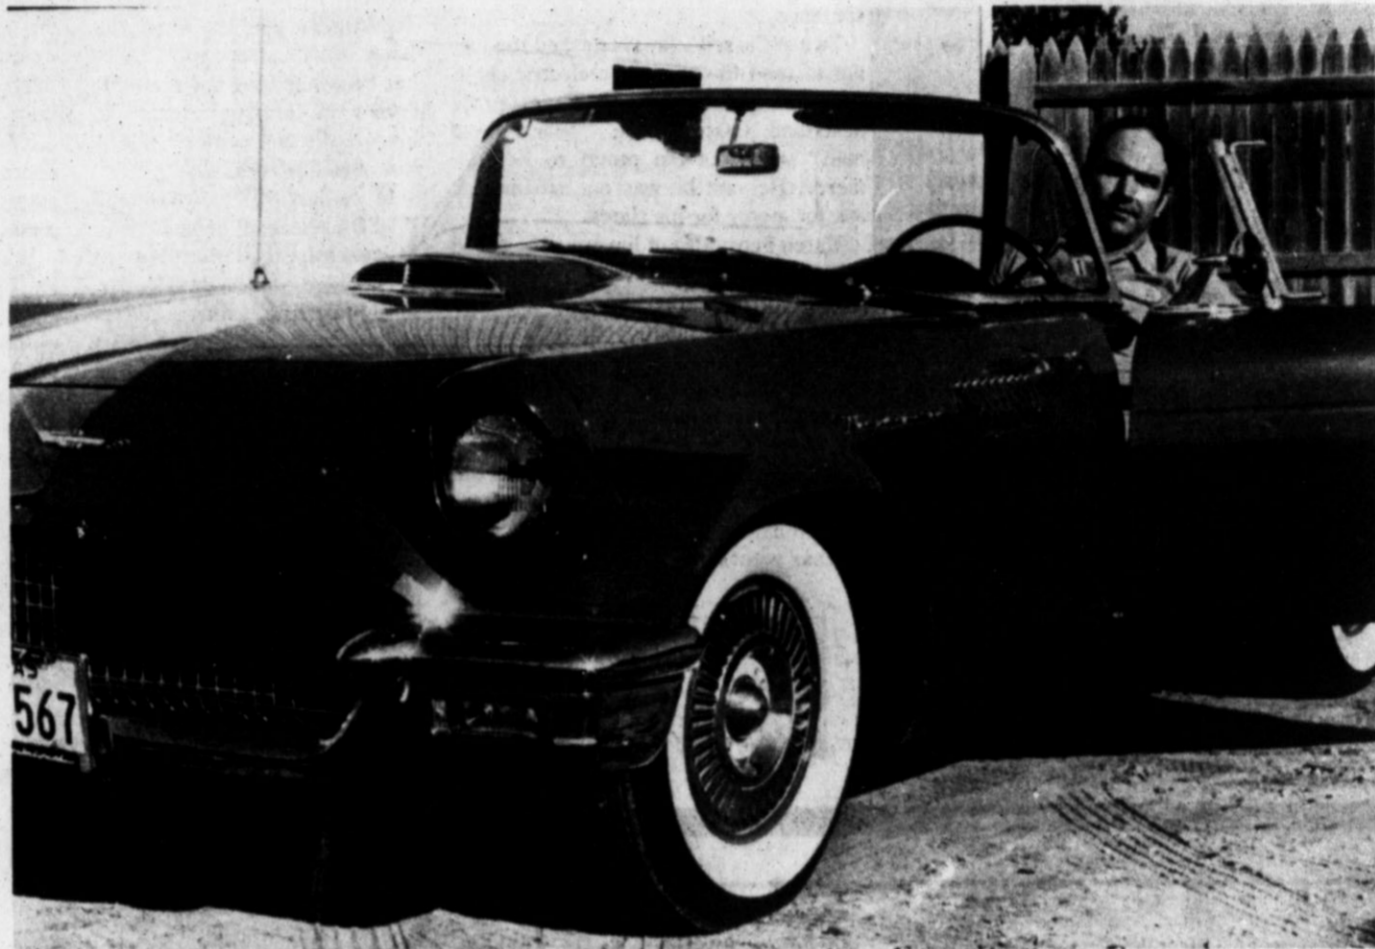

In Iowa, the state Civil Liberties Union stressed that its quarrel is with public—not church—officials in the suit it plans to file today to overturn the decision to close schools in the Lenox School District southwest of Des Moines during the pope's visit.

On Monday, the ICLU went to court to stop Polk County supervisors from giving workers a paid holiday on Oct. 4, claiming a violation of constitutional guarantees of church-state separation. A hearing was set for Thursday before U.S. Judge William C. Stuart.

Steven Brown, executive director of the ICLU, told a news conference that the group objects to the day off because some $50,000 in tax funds would be spent on holiday salaries and because it would deny county services to the four plaintiffs in the suit.

Brown said that while the pope is a head of state, he is coming primarily for

Duration Charges with Service PUC Economist Recommends

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Special "lifeline" telephone rates — designed to give a price break to the poor — could cost talkative Texans more than normal rates under a Public Utility Commission staff proposal.

That was the admission of staff economist Julie Parsons during cross-examination Monday at the PUC hearing on Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s request for $145.2 million in rate increases.

Several persons involved in the hearing, which began Sept. 14, gave it a good chance of concluding today after Bell produces five rebuttal witnesses.

Ms. Parsons drew up PUC staff recommendations for allocating the rate increases among different classes of Bell customers, with a large chunk falling on residential consumers.

Her recommendations would raise monthly household bills by from 90 cents to $1.20, depending upon how much of Bell's revenue needs are met by other customers.

She also said "lifeline" or measured rates should be based not only upon the number of calls made in a month but also on how long they last. Under the present system, a lifeline customer pays less than the normal rate but must also pay eight cents per call if he or she makes more than 25 calls a month.

If duration of the call is added to the lifeline equation, Bell has suggested allowing $2 worth of free calls each month, based on four cents for the first minute and one cent for each additional minute.

"What if somebody made 25 10-minute calls?" asked Carol Barger, attorney for the Consumers Union and the Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now.

Ms. Parsons replied the result would be to add $2.50 to the customer's bill and make it higher than if he or she obtained regular telephone service.

"If they made 25 three-hour calls, the result would be even worse," she said.

Ex-Russian Official Says UN Full of Spies

LONDON (AP) — At least half the 300 Soviets employed by the United Nations are spies and one is a special assistant to Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, said former Soviet U.N. official Arkady Shevchenko, who defected last year.

"There is a saying that they consider the U.N. the tallest observation tower in the Western world for intelligence activity," said Shevchenko, who left his post as under-secretary-general for political and security affairs in April 1978 for U.S. asylum.

A special assistant to Waldheim is an officer of the KGB, the Soviet secret police, Shevchenko said Monday on the British Broadcasting Corp. morning television show "Panorama."

BBC said it could identify only one Soviet special assistant to Waldheim, Victor Leshiovski. He was not available for comment at U.N. headquarters in New York.

Teacher Banquet Scheduled Tonight

Fifty-one Hereford Independent School District instructors will be welcomed to Hereford tonight at the Community Center during the annual Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce New Teachers Banquet.

The banquet will start at 7:30 p.m. It will be highlighted by presentation from four local residents on the history and attributes of Deaf Smith County.

Hereford Chamber Singers will present their all-new fall show for the first time at the banquet.

Local businessmen will sponsor the new teachers tonight.

The public is invited.

"They consider it as the best place for the propaganda, and later discover that it's one of the best places for their intelligence activities, and actually the U.N. has become one of the most important bases for the KGB or GRU," he added. GRU is Soviet Military Intelligence.

Another top-ranking Soviet agent fingered by Shevchenko was Geli Dneprovsky, the new chief of personnel at the U.N.'s Geneva headquarters. Waldheim, acting on allegations by Britain and other Western powers, last year ordered a probe into charges Dneprovsky was a KGB agent, and "Panorama" reported he was appointed under heavy Soviet pressure.

Some 300 Soviet citizens work as U.N. professionals and interpreters, said Shevchenko. The organization has 10,595 employees.

"I would say it would be a fair guess it would be the minimum that half are KGB or GRU officers," he said. The GRU is Soviet military intelligence.

FDR Lincoln To Be Displayed

A 1935 Lincoln once driven by Franklin D. Roosevelt in California parade will be the featured car of the Hereford Rotary Club Antique and Special Interest Car Show Saturday and Sunday at the Bull Barn.

More than 30 cars have been entered in the show, with additional entries from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico expected this week, according to chairman Dan Warrick.

The Lincoln, which is owned by an Amarillo man, was entered in the 1977 Rotary Club show.

Consumer Prices Up In August

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher energy costs continued to surge through the economy in August, pushing consumer prices up 1.1 percent, the government said today.

The sharp rise was the eighth consecutive monthly increase near or above 1 percent, the Labor Department said. And it occurred despite a leveling-off in food prices, which showed no change in August.

If there is no break in the price pattern, the nation will end the year with an inflation rate above 13 percent — the worst since World War II, economists said.

The Labor Department today also introduced its new energy report, which gives monthly price statistics on gasoline, fuel oil and other energy costs.

The report showed the impact on families of the 60 percent rise in crude oil prices enacted by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries since the start of the year.

Among the statistics: —The average price for a gallon of gasoline last month across the nation was 96.7 cents, up 28.2 cents since the start of the year.

—The average price of fuel oil was 80 cents per gallon, up 25.5 cents since December 1978.

In another report, the Labor Department said Americans' average weekly earnings were badly eroded by inflation in August, falling 0.8 percent in the month. Spendable earnings, which are weekly earnings after Social Security and federal taxes are deducted and adjustments are made for inflation, fell 0.9 percent in August, the third consecutive monthly decline.

The Carter administration has been hoping for a turnaround in inflation before the end of the year.

But Labor Department economist Patrick Jackman said signs of that turnaround are not yet visible in the Consumer Price Index.

The report said "about two-thirds of the (August) increase was due to higher energy and home ownership prices."

Transportation prices were up 1.5 percent for the month, with most of the rise blamed on a 4 percent surge in gasoline prices. Public transit costs also rose.

"In the 12 months ended in August, gasoline prices increased 46.1 percent."

Use Tumbleweeds for Car Fuel?

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — It's nearly tumbleweed season in West Texas, that time of year when autumn winds break the bushy plants off near the ground and send them rolling over the prairies.

Most folks don't pay much mind to the round, airy weeds as they breeze across the landscape. But not Dr. Garry Hawkins.

Hawkins, an engineering professor at the University of Texas-El Paso, sees fuel in those tumbleweeds.

He is working on a project to make an alcohol from them that could be mixed with gasoline and would be much cheaper than the current "gasohol," which is a mixture of gasoline and alcohol distilled from food grains.

"In this area we're up to our tails in tumbleweeds," the 35-year-old mechanical engineer said. "I guess they grow nearly in everything. I've seen them growing in sewage water."

Hawkins says he first heard of gasohol when he was a student at Texas A&M. He says a moonshiner who sold corn liquor to students said he was running all his tractors and other farm machinery on the same liquid.

The engineer says the tumbleweed product would cost about 30 percent less than the alcohol used in gasohol which is being sold in the Midwest. He says the alcohol produced from weeds would cost about $1 a gallon.

"We can beat the price by using waste materials instead of a food staple like corn or grain," Hawkins said.

Hawkins explained the tumbleweed has a cellulose in its basic structure. The cellulose — needed to make alcohol — is hard to isolate because it is bonded together with a cement-like substance.

"It's like a reinforced concrete pillar where the cellulose fibers are the metal rods inside the cement," he said. The trick is to get the cellulose away from the bonding material.

Hawkins is working on a method to release the bond with sulfuric acid. Hawkins says the acid is a waste product from a nearby refinery and a smelter and is available in amounts up to 80,000 pounds daily.

"Both of these places are up to their ears in sulfuric acid. They don't know what to do with it. So it's pretty cheap," he said.

Hawkins said after the cellulose is removed it can be changed into sugar and distilled to alcohol in the same process used by whisky-makers.

Hawkins said one to three gallons of alcohol would be used with 10 gallons of gasoline to extend the limited fossil fuel reserves.

"We would also like to look at running on pure alcohol," he said. "With pure alcohol fuel, we could have more efficient engines with higher compression without having to worry about the 'pings,'" he said. Carburetor jets would be changed before standard vehicles could use straight alcohol.

If Hawkins' research is successful, southwestern automobiles may soon be running on "tumbleweedohol."

Antioch College Refutes Masters Charge

YELLOW SPRINGS, Ohio (AP) - A spokesman for the school says that Antioch College has no correspondence programs and had nothing to do with the granting of masters degrees to five Laredo, Texas, coaches.

Dorothy C. Scott, a public relations representative for the Yellow Springs college, said on Monday that Antioch West, not Antioch College at Yellow Springs, oversees the Texas program.

Both institutions are part of Antioch University, which is headquartered in New York City. The Ohio branch is the only residential campus in the system and the only branch called Antioch College, Ms. Scott said.

"It is important for us in Yellow Springs to emphasize that we have never sent a degree program in Texas. We don't have any correspondence programs," she said.

The controversy over the diplomas developed when it was reported by the Laredo Times that the five coaches received degrees from Antioch without attending class, taking a written test, seeing instructors, using textbooks or taking courses.

Pentecostals Expect Christ Any Moment

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - The 58-year-old leader of the United Pentecostal Church International says Jesus Christ could return at any moment, and his 500,000 followers in the United States are gearing up to get everybody ready.

The Rev. Nathaniel A. Urshan, re-elected Monday to a second two-year term as general superintendent of the St. Louis, Mo.-based church, immediately began pushing plans aimed at bringing God into more lives.

"We believe it's very imminent," Urshan said of Christ's reappearance. "We believe it could happen at any time and we should be ready."

He said current events mirror New Testament prophecy of the Second Coming, including earthquakes, famine, growing violence, perilous economic conditions and "disarray in political leadership."

In addition to expanding its missionary efforts overseas - where the church has 216,000 members in 70 foreign countries - he said the American membership is praying more, fasting more, and in general, "living lives that are pleasing to the Lord."

That includes not smoking or drinking and paying a 10 percent tithe to the church. Divorce is frowned upon, and women members don't cut their hair in the belief it was given to them by God as a covering and should not be removed.

Bergland Expects Rock Island To Roll

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he expects the strikebound Rock Island railroad to be back in operation within a few days.

Bergland said Monday that "back-to-work orders are being issued to workers today, literally, and tomorrow, and by the end of the week, I'm told, the Rock Island should be back in the business of hauling grain."

Bergland commented in a telephone interview with a group of farm broadcasters.

The arrangement for Rock Island, he said, is only a "temporary remedy" that fails to solve the longer-term question of it and other railroads in similar straits.

"There are at least 10 railroads operating generally in the grain region that are in some kind of financial difficulty, and the matters don't seem to be getting any better," Bergland said.

"They can't borrow money to fix up their tracks, they can't build or lease new locos, and generally are not able to invest at a pace that the business would otherwise demand."

Bergland said the Agriculture Department, in cooperation with the Transportation Department, is looking at railroads from an agricultural perspective to see what might be done on a more permanent basis.

Cassell Sentenced For Policeman's Death

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) - A Washington Circuit Court jury on Monday sentenced Harold Dovey Cassell, 22, of Denison, Texas, to life in prison without parole for his role in the death of a Springfield policeman.

The jury deliberated slightly more than two hours in determining Cassell aided James Ray Renton, 40, in the Dec. 21, 1975 slaying of John Tillman Hussey, 23.

After another 45 minutes of deliberation, the jury returned the sentence.

Two of Cassell's lawyers asked the jury not to send Cassell to the electric chair. Gordon Cummings of Fayetteville described Cassell as a "poor, proud man" who was too proud to beg for mercy. He said he was not ashamed to ask for mercy for his client.

Karen Pope, also of Fayetteville, asked the jury to remember the accomplice theory prosecutor Kim Smith of Fayetteville had mentioned. She told the jury Smith had not contended Cassell was the one who pulled the trigger, but said he was at the scene.

Cassell's parents, "Pete" and Helen Cassell, were in the courtroom throughout the trial, listening to testimony from about 50 state and defense witnesses.

Nitrite Study Refuted

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department is keeping a low profile in a flap developing in Congress over a study of sodium nitrite, the chemical used by processors to cure bacon and other meat products.

The study, which prompted USDA and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to consider banning sodium nitrite as a food additive, has been "scientifically discredited," 14 House members said Monday.

They wrote Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland and Patricia Harris, secretary of health, education and welfare, to ask them "to remove the cloud of doubt and confusion" over nitrite.

Marilee Menard, a spokeswoman for the Food Safety and Quality Service of Bergland's department, said the Food and Drug Administration of HEW has been handling the scientific review of sodium nitrite. No immediate comment by USDA was available, she said.

In August 1978, USDA and the FDA released the study by a Massachusetts Institute of Technology research scientist. It suggested that nitrite causes cancer in laboratory animals and probably humans.

Nitrite is used in 7 percent of the food supply - most notably to preserve meat products against the growth of bacteria that cause botulism, a deadly food poisoning.

Before the study became public, nitrite had been a concern at the agencies because of a cancer-causing byproduct - nitrosamine - formed during digestion or cooking of some foods containing nitrite.

Permissible levels of nitrite in bacon were lowered in 1978. Present law requires the agencies to ban any food additive found to directly cause cancer in animals or humans, regardless of its benefits.

In March, Bergland and then-HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. asked Congress for an exemption for nitrite, to allow them to phase it out of the food supply as substitutes were found, if it were confirmed as a cancer cause.

In the meantime, they said, government and other scientists would review the study in detail. The review was to be completed this fall. Neither House nor Senate committees have taken any action on the request.

The House members said that an interim report on the review by Universities Associated for Research and Education in Pathology, Inc., "indicates that the study is so scientifically discredited that it should not under any reasonable circumstances serve as a basis for regulatory action."

Wayne L. Pines, spokesman for FDA, said, "The preliminary report ... is just that, and it would be premature for anyone to reach any conclusions about the validity of the MIT report on the basis of an interim report."

Pines confirmed, however, that the interim report "raises some questions about some aspects" and that "in any study and in any evaluation of this intensity, there are bound to be questions raised throughout the process."

But the report did not say the MIT study was invalid, Pines said.

"We will make no judgment until the final report is in, and I hope other people will maintain the same openmindedness," he said.

An upcoming review by the General Accounting Office, the investigative arm of Congress, also is unfavorable, the congressmen said.

A separate report by the Library of Congress staff recently found that the agencies "abandoned normal procedures" in announcing a probable ban or phase-out before the reviews were completed, they said.

"We therefore strongly urge you to take no regulatory action based on the discredited study and ask that you immediately issue public announcements to remove the cloud of doubt and confusion over the use of nitrites that has been caused by your previous actions," they wrote.

McInnis Tapes Involved in Battle

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) - The legal battle has begun over whether jurors in the civil harassment trial of Hidalgo County District Attorney Oscar McInnis will hear tapes of conversations in which the prosecutor allegedly plotted a man's death.

FBI agent Richard Graham of San Antonio explained to the jury Monday how the recorded was taped to Rodriguez' back and removed after each conversation with the district attorney at the Hidalgo County Jail.

Under cross-examination by McInnis' lawyer John Lewis, Marmolejo denied suggestions he was out to ruin the district attorney politically and replace him with Wood.

Lewis questioned the sheriff about his meeting June 1, 1978, with then-Gov. Dolph Briscoe to discuss the developing case against McInnis.

"You did, in fact discuss the possibility of getting Mr. Wood appointed to Mr. McInnis' job, didn't you?" Lewis asked.

"I said I would like someone I could trust, someone I could respect, like Jon Wood," said the sheriff, who added Canales told him to let someone in state government know about the McInnis situation.

Marmolejo also disagreed with Lewis' conclusion that he held a grudge against McInnis for not obtaining an indictment against one of the sheriff's potential political challengers.

If the jury agrees with the bar's complaints against McInnis, the judge will decide whether to bar the prosecutor's future practice of law.

The district attorney is suspended from office pending a separate suit to remove him from his 12-year post. He also faces a trial later this year on charges of lying to a federal grand jury about the alleged scheme.

Federal officials took over the case, came to Edinburg, and wired Rodriguez with a sophisticated recorder to tape additional conversations with McInnis.

The intended target of the alleged scheme was once married to a woman McInnis represented in a child custody fight. Villanueva was not killed as Rodriguez cooperated with law enforcement officers and tried to get McInnis to believe the alleged plot had been carried out.

Marmolejo said he listened to the tapes, then agreed with his personal lawyer Jon Wood that federal officials should enter the case.

The sheriff, Rodriguez and Wood met with U.S. Attorney Tony Canales in Houston and turned over the three tapes to FBI agents.

Police have a suspect in connection with recent harrasing telephone calls to a Hereford man.

Faye Villegas, Fullwood Apt., reported Monday that someone had stolen her purse. Officers are planning to arrest two suspects, in connection with the incident.

Jan Taylor, 110 Ave. K, told police that someone had thrown rocks at her house, breaking some windows.

Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal ruled cause of death from natural causes.

The infant was born July 10 at Deaf Smith General Hospital. Rosary services were conducted Monday evening at Smith & Co. Funeral Home chapel.

Services will be held today at 4 p.m. in St. Anthony's Catholic Church with the Rev. Paul Haefner, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in St. Anthony's Cemetery under direction of Smith & Co. Funeral Home.

Survivors include grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arturo Gonzales and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar G. Rodriguez, great-grandparents Mrs. Adelardo Gonzales and Mrs. Eudeliz Reyna, all of Hereford.

obligation at this point," Bullard said.

Commissioner James Voyles said that the district attorney's office has contacted the state attorney general's office to determine responsibility for the service.

The Brand later learned that an opinion has been received by the district attorney's office. In a letter to County Judge Glen Nelson, District Atty. Roland Saul stated:

"Furnishing of such services is in the authority of the hospital district and also within the authority of the city and county within the hospital district. No single entity seems to have the duty of providing an ambulance service, but all have the authority."

Commissioners took no action on the proposal.

A Blue Cross-Blue Shield Insurance representative told the court that the county's premium for hospitalization insurance for employees had been raised 10 percent, effective Oct. 1. Commissioners approved the new rates.

County Auditor Alex Schroeter, who had been authorized to contract an independent firm to audit county books in order to comply with federal revenue-sharing laws, said that Brown, Graham and Co. of Hereford had agreed to conduct the audit.

Commissioners approved Schroeter's recommendation and voted to pay for the audit out of revenue-sharing funds.

In other business Monday, commissioners:

-heard a second report on the division of the juvenile probation and child welfare boards from child welfare board member Sherry Hoover, who said that the original contract creating her board should be followed when appointing new directors and running the board.

-approved a contract with Panhandle

Emergency Medication System which necessitates the payment of $3 per local ambulance call by the county to PEMSS.

-approved payment of an estimate of $2,500 for construction of a new watering system for the courthouse lawn.

-heard a proposal from Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal to move the social security office which would allow his staff to have additional office space, but took no action.

-approved a state contract which would reimburse the county for expenses incurred in sending juvenile offenders to the Texas Youth Council.

-tabled action on renewal of a contract with the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act until a contract can be written for the two county and CETA.

-appointed assistant librarian Diane Pierson as acting librarian until a replacement for librarian Marsha Burchinal, who is moving, can be hired.

in its international balance of payments of as much as $10 billion next year.

That would be a dramatic turn-around from last year's record $14 billion deficit.

Such a development should help the U.S. dollar recover some of its recent losses on international markets, Solomon said.

In other economic news Monday: -The Treasury Department postponed two note sales, saying that congressional failure to approve debt ceiling legislation for the fiscal year that begins Monday made it impossible for the government to insure delivery of the notes.

The action delays today's scheduled sale of $3.25 billion in two-year notes and the sale of $2.5 billion in four-year notes, originally scheduled Wednesday.

Later, the House Ways and Means Committee voted to try again this week to secure House passage of a debt limit bill. The federal debt now is $830 billion but must fall back to $400 billion if such legislation, turned down by the House Thursday, is not passed.

Mail Fraud Blamed For Public Ripoff

American consumers lost more than $489 million to mail fraud and misrepresentation by mail over each of the last five years, Postmaster Nolan Grady said today.

Sept. 24-29 has been designated the fourth annual Postal Consumer Protection Week by Postmaster General William F. Bolger to heighten public awareness of the problem.

Grady emphasized that the majority of companies who are a part of the $60-billion mail order industry are honest and dedicated to customer satisfaction. But a few operators are out to bilk the public, as in many other industries.

"The nation's best defense against unscrupulous con artists using the mails is an informed public," Grady said. "Everyone should be constantly on guard against what are really unbelievable claims and get-rich-quick schemes."

The Postal Inspection Service actively investigates mail fraud and false representation by mail, and assists with mail-order and service problems.

"Swindles aimed at consumers are limited only by the imagination of the con artist," Grady said, "because they've learned that many people are willing to invest their hard-earned money on offers which sound too good to be true."

Typical examples of mail frauds and false representations by mail include a variety of investment offers, phony franchises, miraculous "cures" for a variety of illnesses, weight reducing plans with no proven medical value, and work-at-home schemes.

"The elderly are quite often prime targets for these schemes," Grady said, "because they are trying to protect their savings from the effects of inflation."

Grady urged consumers to ask companies to back up their claims if an offer sounds unbelievable and too good to be true. "That's the best way to protect yourself," he said. "But if you feel you've lost money to a fraud, or haven't received the merchandise you ordered, contact my office or a postal inspector." Phone numbers are listed under U.S. Government Postal Service in local telephone directories.

nations. He said relations with Mexico are different because more agencies in the Washington bureaucracy have a say in issues affecting them.

"More issues span the dividing line between foreign and domestic concerns, more domestic departments and agencies are involved and more issues directly involve domestic concerns," Christopher said.

One of Krueger's main responsibilities would be to supervise U.S.-Mexican groups that discuss problems involving energy, trade, finance, industry and development, migration, border issues, law enforcement and tourism.

Christopher said the title "ambassador-at-large" would make Krueger's position more effective and would not interfere with the status of the ambassador in Mexico City.

"Rather, the coordinator's function would be to develop a coherent and coordinated U.S. policy toward Mexico," the deputy secretary of state said. "He would be responsible for working closely with a high-ranking Mexican official of equal rank and would serve as chairman of a special interagency group of cabinet and sub-cabinet level officials here in Washington."

Krueger did not attend the committee's session Monday. He said in a telephone interview he was not surprised by the vote.

The nominee added that Senate confirmation will make some parts of his job easier but his duties had started without it.

"When we concluded the natural gas deal in Mexico ... I said in my judgment we have now removed the biggest symbolic obstacle in the relations between the two countries," Krueger said. "We're expecting a good meeting with President Jose Lopez Portillo."

Krueger, of New Braunfels, represented Texas' largest congressional district which stretches from San Antonio

Red Cross Talk

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In 1975 or '76 you printed a letter from someone who was critical because you praised the American Red Cross. This organization is still being put down by veterans of World War II who resented paying for coffee and doughnuts.

The American Red Cross has been doing a wonderful job for so many years. It thrills me to see them in action everywhere in the world where disaster strikes. There is no way to measure the amount of human suffering that has been alleviated by the American Red Cross. Please, Ann, say it again...Stockton Volunteer

DEAR STOCKTON: I'll say it again--and add some current information.

The American Red Cross was on the scene, in a big way, to help the victims of the tropical storm Claudette. They also rendered heroic service when Houston was hit with unprecedented floods this year. Last spring, the American Red Cross was Johnny-on-the-spot to give aid to the victims in Wichita Falls when the tornado struck.

On the international side, The Boat People have been given food, shelter and medical care through the good work of this worthy organization. I say, bless them.

Here is a rerun of the letter knocking the Red Cross, along with my reply.

DEAR ANN: I was irritated by your kind words for the American Red Cross. As a veteran of World War II who served overseas for three years, I'd like you to know that the organization you praised was no favorite of the men and women in uniform.

We had to pay the Red Cross for coffee, doughnuts, meals and overnight lodging while the Salvation Army supplied coffee, doughnuts and meals free.

So please Ann, don't be so generous with your bouquets. Toss them only to the worthy and preserve your credibility.--G.I. Joe of Long Ago

DEAR JOE: A blizzard of letters similar to yours hit my desk after that column appeared. I wrote to the top officials of the American Red Cross for an explanation and received an eye-popping response. It was documented by a copy of a letter dated March 20, 1942, from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson of Norman H. Davis, chairman of the American Red Cross. Here's the inside story, and pretty it isn't.

All English and Australian men in uniform had to pay off-base food and lodging because voluntary giving (which is characteristic of the United States) is not the pattern in other countries.

The Red Cross, which has never accepted a dime from the U.S. government (and to this day relies totally on voluntary contributions), was asked to establish club facilities for U.S. servicemen overseas where troops from all allied forces would be welcome. The Salvation Army did not have this responsibility.

Allegations have persisted since World War II that the Red Cross made a profit overseas. Nothing could be further from the truth. The clubs operated at a loss and represented a heavy financial burden to the Red Cross. Moreover, the public image on the Red Cross was badly tarnished when they were forced by Stimson to go along with the British high command.

How unfair that this splendid organization has had to take the rap for a decision made by the U.S. Army. Today, 35 years later, the truth is known by only a few.

ins were distributed among members for reviewing.

The next LAE Club meeting is scheduled for Oct. 2 in the home of Ora Morgan. The program will be "Adventures."

Those members attending were Opal Elliston, Eva Gilliland, Tresa Hale, Lucille Hughes, Allyne Johnson, Irene Markham, Aileen Montgomery, Ora Morgan, Della Stagner, Mary Whiteside, Alberta Higgins and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Terrell.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

September...the season when schools open their doors...school janitors become sex symbols...and little children wander around the halls muttering, "My Mom can drive."

Throughout the years, I thought I had heard just about every horror story of volunteer mothers you could think of. But I hadn't heard the one about the busload of Head Start children which my friend in California volunteered to help transport.

That memorable Monday, 75 three- and four-year-olds boarded a bus to be transported to the Jewish temple a couple of miles away. A pastor was in charge of the driving and my friend sat in the front seat and was in charge of "tranquility."

The children were dropped off and picked up again without a hitch. Now all that was left was to drop children off in the arms of their waiting mothers at 15 street corners in Venice, California. It would have worked out perfectly had someone remembered to tell the mothers.

They took the children back to the temple to check their records for addresses, only to find the doors locked. They threw themselves on the mercy of the children. It seemed all 75 of them lived in a white house with a fence around it and two trees in the front yard.

They put plan B into operation, which was to stop at every street corner while the reverend led them in prayer. Occasionally, at these stops they dragged strangers in off the street to see if they recognized anyone on the bus. (By this time the children were into their third afternoon nap.)

After four hours, the children were all safely at home. Not to be daunted on the next trip, our school volunteer decided to remedy this situation by hanging a colored bird around the neck of each child. The pink birds would get off at the pink corner, the green birds on the green corner, etc. Her only problem was that she ran out of colors and one group had blackbirds around their necks. When a mother heard her call out to a group of black children, "All blackbirds off the bus," she called her a bigot and demanded her resignation.

The life of a school volunteer is not an easy road. It takes stamina, time and personal sacrifice. In your infinite mercy, take a school volunteer to lunch this week.

Not in the school cafeteria, for crying out loud!

4-H Firsthand

By AGNES TAYLOR
Assistant County Extension Agent
4-H CITIZENSHIP MEANS INVOLVEMENT

To most young Americans, good citizenship means voting, respecting the flag and standing to sing "The Star Spangled Banner." To five million 4-H members, citizenship means all these things—and much more.

As participants in the national 4-H citizenship program, these boys and girls are responding to the needs, rights and responsibilities of others as they develop their own citizenship skills. Across the country 4-H members are helping the elderly, working with the handicapped, teaching low-income children, beautifying their communities and becoming involved in local, state and national issues.

4-H members 9-19 are finding solutions to local problems through research into the needs of their communities and then taking action to fulfill those needs. In California, 4-H'ers designed a day camp program for nearly 100 low-income children. A 4-H club in New York carried out a special project for the physically and mentally handicapped. And a group of Florida 4-H members surveyed needs of senior citizens and then planned parties and involved them in a wide variety of recreational activities.

Each year, more than 6,000 boys and girls from across the country meet during the summer in Washington, D.C., at the National 4-H Center for weeklong conferences to learn more about citizenship and their American heritage. They return home to put into practice the skills they learned while in the nation's capital.

4-H citizenship projects and activities are supervised by the Extension Service. Young people can be recognized for their accomplishments in 4-H citizenship through awards sponsored by the Coca-Cola Company.

Coca-Cola offers recognition for 4-H'ers at all levels of participation: nine $1,000 scholarships nationally, an all expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago for one member per state each year, and four medals of honor for each county.

During the congress two of the nine national citizenship winners, along with their counterparts in the 4-H achievement and leadership programs, are selected to receive Presidential Awards. Winners are chosen by the Extension Service and awards are arranged by the National 4-H Council.

To get more details on joining 4-H and getting involved in citizenship programs, contact the county Extension office.

Proper Food Handling Prevents Illnesses

COLLEGE STATION — The rising popularity of backyard cookouts, picnics and camping means more opportunity for food mishandling.

However, food spoilage and foodborne illness should not be problems if proper handling techniques are used, emphasizes Dr. James H. Denton, a poultry marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

When preparing food, provide plenty of clean working space, use clean utensils and containers, wash your hands with soap and hot water, and provide adequate cleanup facilities following preparation, he suggests.

Adequately cook foods at the proper temperature. If possible, cook food immediately before it will be eaten. Avoid cross-contamination between-cooked and raw foods, cautions Denton.

A town is a group of people.

If you think U.S. inflation is bad, consider Germany in 1923. Early that summer, a hotel room cost 375,000 marks a day and a ride on the street car 5,000 marks, according to an article in The Conference Board's magazine. Three weeks later, the same room cost 18 million marks and the street car ride 60,000 marks. Store prices were determined day by day by multiplying the basic price by a constantly rising index.

Fading Astros Lose Two; Expos Split

Lowly Braves Stop Houston

ATLANTA (AP) — The fading Houston Astros can only hope for a miracle after being stunned by the cellar-dwelling Atlanta Braves Monday night, but Manager Bill Virdon concedes even that might not be enough.

"I would say it would take even more than that," said a downcast Virdon after his Astros were thumped twice by the Braves 5-4 and 8-1 to fall 2½ games off the pace of the Cincinnati Reds in the National League Western Division pennant chase.

Houston has five games left and the Reds have six. "You don't ever concede until you're out of it but ... you have to win to stay in the race and we didn't," said Virdon of his club which is involved in a pennant race for the first time in its 18-year existence.

Virdon refused to believe Houston folded to the pressure or that it took the Braves lightly. The Astros had beaten Atlanta in 10 of 14 games previously this season.

Beal Tapped as Aggie Starter

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas A&M pressed quarterback David Beal into service Monday to replace injured freshman Gary Kubiak.

Kubiak, from Houston St. Pius, started for A&M Saturday when the Aggies upset Penn State, 27-14, but he suffered a hyperextended left elbow on A&M's first offensive play of the game.

Beal, a junior from Russellville, Ark., who has lettered two years, returned to duty after recuperating from a shoulder injury suffered in late summer drills. Beal and Mark McQueen, a freshman from Temple, will back up starting quarterback Mike Mosley against Memphis State Saturday night.

Is The Snake Fading Unhappy World of Stabler

By Murray Olderman

OAKLAND, Calif. (NEA) — The first thing you notice about Ken Stabler is that he looks a lot older than a guy who'll be 34 Christmas Day.

That's because gray predominates in his scraggly beard and in the unruly hair that falls around his head — almost like the working end of a mop. His stomach juts out beyond his belt line. When he walks, there's a limp to his shuffling gait.

This is the athlete who makes $342,000 a year for playing football and professes to be deathly unhappy in his current employment.

Stabler has been officially with the Oakland Raiders for nine years. On their taxi squad in 1968 (a second-round draft pick from Alabama), he was farmed out to Spokane of the Continental League. He missed 1969 altogether because he simply went home. (Serious domestic problems kept his mind off football; he was subsequently divorced, the first of two marriages gone awry.)

He joined the Raiders in 1970. He threatened to leave again in 1974 by signing a contract with Birmingham of the now-defunct World Football League; it folded before he was to report in 1976. Al Davis, the managing general partner of the Raiders, didn't talk to him for three months after that bit of "disloyalty."

Then for a four-year stretch, culminated by a superlative romp through Super Bowl XI on Jan. 9, 1977, Stabler was the premier quarterback in football, demonstrating an ability to throw the ball accurately and long — the equal of any passer in history.

Last year Stabler slipped, and so did the Raiders. He stopped talking to the media — all types — before the 1978 season was half over.

This past January, having ostensibly invited Bob Padecky of the Sacramento (Calif.) Bee to his home in Gulf Shores, Ala., Stabler triggered a bizarre merry-go-round of the press. It reportedly wound up with the police finding $3,000 worth of cocaine under the fender of the writer's rented auto.

To this day, that hasn't been explained satisfactorily. When Padecky walked by Stabler after the quarterback reported late to the Raiders this training season, he was greeted with a succinct expletive. (Stabler did condescend to resume dialogue with the rest of the press.)

I must confess some complicity in Padecky's situation. On the Raiders' last trip of 1978, to Miami, I was sitting next to Padecky on the team's chartered plane. Davis, the Raiders' boss, walked down the aisle and stopped to chat, a social visit. But since Davis's mind is always on football, the slide of the Raiders — failing to make the playoffs for the first time in seven years (only the second time in 12) — quickly took over our conversation.

That week, John Crittenden of the Miami Daily News had called Davis for a column, trying to fix the blame for the Raiders' collapse. "Well, if you got to blame anyone," said Davis after first hedging, "put it on the guy who makes the most money." Meaning Stabler.

Now Davis said: "Look, you hope your big guy plays up to 90 percent of his capabilities. You can still win if he's at 75 percent. But if he's only delivering 60 percent, you're in trouble." The allusion to Stabler was unmistakable.

Next to me, Padecky perked up. "Hey, that's good stuff," he said. "You think I can use it?" Well, it wasn't off the record. He wrote it.

The quotes were picked up by other papers. Stabler saw them and was incensed. And eventually Padecky was entangled in a drug "incident" that made national news. And sent Stabler even further into seclusion.

He emerged long enough to criticize Davis for airing publicly his gripes about the quarterback's performance. Then he proceeded to use a public forum, Sport Magazine, to blast the abilities of his receivers and offensive linemen on the Raiders — with specific names. After demanding to be traded, he reported late to the Raiders' 1979 training camp.

The fact is, Ken Stabler can't afford not to play football. He has had two costly broken marriages. He has had a string of poor financial investments. He has led, and leads, a raucous personal life which is also a money drain.

"All he's got to do," says Al, "is play the way he's supposed to. If not ..." The implication is clear: Kenny Stabler and his gray beard won't be long for Oakland.

Abilene Cooper Remains No. 1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Top-ranked Abilene Cooper continued to dish out points in giant portions in Class 4A while Jasper in 3A, Pittsburg in 2A and China Springs in Class A easily held onto their top rankings in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football poll.

Cooper, the season long No. 1 ranked team in 4A, decked Fort Worth Haltom 52-0 last week to maintain its trend of lop-sided victories.

Jasper held a solid lead over No. 2 ranked Lubbock Estacado and Pittsburg easily kept ahead of Childress in 2A. China Spring lost some ground to runner up Falls City in Class A following China Spring's 17-14 victory over Class 2A Waco Robinson.

Houston Stratford, the defending state 4A champion and ranked No. 5 last week, lost to No. 2 LaPorte 26-23 and dropped to eighth this week.

Montreal Keeps Half-Game Lead

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates got all the support they needed from their fans in the stands. It was on the pitching mound where they were hurting.

With a crowd of 49,137 at Three Rivers Stadium chanting "Defense, Defense" and waving yellow "Terrible Towels" left over from Pittsburgh's football fandom, Pirate followers exhorted their baseball team to hold back the Montreal Expos in the second game of a doubleheader Monday night.

But Kent Tekulve couldn't. "The Expos have come back too many times," said Tekulve after allowing the Expos to tie the game with three runs in the eighth inning. "You never expect them to roll over and play dead. We had them on the ropes. That's my situation. I'm supposed to finish them off."

"But I didn't. I gave them a second life and they took advantage of it." After Montreal's rally made it 6-6, the Expos won the game 7-6 in the ninth on Ellis Valentine's run-scoring single. Coupled with a 5-2 loss to Pittsburgh in the opener, the split kept Montreal's National League East lead over the Pirates at a tenuous half-game.

The Houston Astros, meanwhile, were beaten 5-4 and 8-1 by the lowly Atlanta Braves and dropped 2½ games behind the idle Cincinnati Reds in the NL West.

In other NL action, St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 7-2 and New York stopped Chicago 3-1. Valentine's game-winning single in the second game for Montreal, which came off losing reliever Grant Jackson, was his first hit in eight times at-bat on the night.

Bill Robinson drove in three runs with a homer and a triple to lead the Pirates' first-game victory.

The Expos and Pirates meet again in single games tonight and Wednesday to close out their season series.

Cardinals 7, Phillies 2
Ken Oberkfell singled home the tie-breaking run in the sixth inning as St. Louis beat Philadelphia in a game highlighted by Pete Rose's record-making 200th hit of the season.

The Phillies' star reached the coveted 200-hit circle for the 10th time in his career with a single in the second inning, thus becoming the first major league player to accomplish that feat. The hit, which extended his hitting streak to 22 games, enabled him to break the record he had shared with the legendary Ty Cobb.

Pete Vuckovich, 15-10, was the winner with relief help from Roy Thomas. Randy Lerch, 10-13, took the loss.

Mets 3, Cubs 1
Richie Hebner hit three doubles. Elliott Maddox belted his first home run in over a year and Craig Swan scattered six hits to lead New York over Chicago.

The loss spoiled Joey Amalfitano's debut as interim manager of the Cubs. Amalfitano took over for Herman Franks, who announced his resignation earlier in the day.

Swan evened his record at 13-13. Dennis Lamp, 11-10, took the loss.

Angels Top K.C. To Lead by 4

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — The California Angels edge closer to the American League West, title, leading now by four games with just five to play.

They combined the five-hit pitching of Nolan Ryan with the hitting of Dan Ford and the fielding of second baseman Bobby Grich to down defending AL West champion Kansas City 4-3 Monday night.

The Angels and Royals meet again here tonight and Wednesday night, and California finishes the season with three games at Texas.

The Angel victory was the only American League game Monday night.

The Minnesota Twins, with six games to go, hold third place in the AL West, 4½ games behind the Angels, and like Kansas City must pray that the Angels stop winning.

"A miracle might not even win it for us now," said Kansas City Manager Whitey Herzog, who hoped for a sweep of this three-game series. "We could win all five left and still not win it."

"The Grich play under the situation was as good a play as I have ever seen. It was the ball game. Instead of having run-

It was in the eighth inning when Kansas City catcher Darrell Porter was hit by a Ryan pitch while leading off. Then Pete LaCock rifled a grounder to the right of Grich, who dove, grabbed the ball while lying on his side and flipped to shortstop Jim Anderson — who touched second and threw to first to complete the double play.

After the double play, the capacity crowd of 40,423 gave Grich a standing ovation. "It made all those 12 years worth it," Grich said of the applause.

With the "magic number" at two, the Angels could clinch the pennant tonight, since any combination of California victories and Kansas City defeats totaling four would end it.

The Angels have had complete-game pitching victories from Chris Knapp, Dave Frost and Ryan to reverse a recent pitching slump.

ners on first and third with none out, we had none on with two out."

The veteran Grich's spectacular play went well with the four runs driven home by Ford's single and two sacrifice flies after the Royals grabbed a 3-0 second-inning lead on three unearned runs.

Flag Football Begins

The Hereford YMCA kicked off its 1979 flag football season for 3rd through 6th graders Saturday with a total of seven games.

In the NFL's first game, the Cowboys came from behind with a fourth quarter TD to beat the Saints 18-14.

The Cardinal defense held the Packers to only one touchdown and went on to win the game 25-6.

In the third game the Rams and Bears played to a 13-13 tie. The Falcons nudged the Lions on a fourth quarter touchdown 13-12.

In the AFL division (5th and 6th) the Jets held the Dolphins scoreless, beating them 20-0. The Colts beat the Oilers 12-6 and the Chargers and Raiders played to a 0-0 tie.

Top Four Teams Hold High Spots in Rankings

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Southern California, Alabama, Oklahoma and Texas continued to dominate The Associated Press college football ratings today, while Missouri vaulted into fifth place and Penn State and Notre Dame tumbled out of the Top Ten.

Southern Cal, a 48-14 winner over Minnesota, received 51 first-place votes and 1,286 of a possible 1,300 points from a nationwide panel of 65 sports writers and broadcasters.

Alabama, which routed Baylor 45-0, received 13 first-place ballots and 1,235 points. Last week, Southern Cal led 49-12 in first-place votes and 1,227-1,153 in points.

Oklahoma held onto third place with 1,122 points following a 49-13 drubbing of Tulsa while Texas received the remaining first-place vote and 1,040 points after finally opening its season with a 17-9 victory over Iowa State.

The top four teams have been the same since the preseason poll.

Missouri jumped from ninth to fifth with 898 points for trouncing Mississippi 33-7 and Nebraska climbed from seventh to sixth with 862 points after downing Iowa 24-21.

Michigan State defeated Miami of Ohio by that same 24-21 score and rose from eighth to seventh with 816 points while Houston, which had the week off, moved up from 10th to eighth.

Rounding out the Top Ten were Washington and Purdue, which were 12th and 17th a week ago. Notre Dame skidded from fifth place to 15th by losing to Purdue 28-22 while Penn State bowed to previously winless Texas A&M 27-14 and slipped from sixth to 18th. Washington defeated Oregon 21-17.

This week's Second Ten consists of Michigan, Florida State, Arkansas, Ohio State, Notre Dame, North Carolina State, UCLA, Penn State, Southern Methodist and Louisiana State.

Last week it was Michigan, Washington, Pittsburgh, Florida State, Arkansas, Ohio State, Purdue, Southern Methodist, N.C. State and UCLA.

Pitt dropped out by losing to North Carolina 17-7. The Panthers were replaced by LSU, which walloped Rice 47-3.

Browns Crush Cowboys In Battle of Unbeaten

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland quarterback Brian Sipe gave his teammates a pat on the back for coming up with the big plays, but Dallas linebacker Thomas Henderson couldn't believe the things that happened to the Cowboys in their 26-7 loss to the Browns Monday night.

"We were probably as surprised as most of the fans were," Sipe said. "They (the Cowboys) turned the ball over in critical situations, and it's a credit to us that we came up with the big play."

The veteran quarterback ignited a 20-point, first-period explosion by capping Cleveland's first possession with a 23-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Dave LLogan.

Don Cockroft missed the extra point, but Dallas was forced to punt and Sipe, who connected on 15 of 28 passes for 239 yards, struck again. This time he combined with tight end Ozzie Newsome for a 52-yard score on a broken play.

The stunned Cowboys tried to come back in a hurry, but free safety Thom Darden added insult to injury by ending Dallas quarterback Roger Staubach's string of 150 passes without an interception. He picked off a pass intended for running back Ron Springs and ran 39 yards for a touchdown to build the margin to 20-0 just seven minutes and five seconds into the nationally televised game.

The Cowboys, 3-1, did bounce back after Darden's score on a 48-yard pass from Staubach to wide receiver Tony Hill. But, despite dominating the rest of the half and all of the third quarter, Dallas was stymied by an uncharacteristic rash of errors.

Three fumbles, another interception by Darden, a blocked 35-yard field goal try by Rafael Septien and Septien's missed 47-yard attempt spoiled Staubach's 303-yard passing performance — on 21 of 39 — and kept the Cowboys off the scoreboard the rest of the way.

"They're rolling now," said Henderson about the unbeaten Browns. "They're hot. They're screaming out there like Oklahoma University.

"I don't think much of their offense, though. Did they get some breaks tonight?" he asked with a shake of his head. "They must have had a fairy godmother out there. They scored 20 nonsense points."

The Browns, playing without injured running star Greg Pruitt — who suffered a sprained knee in the second quarter — added a touchdown early in the fourth period on a two-yard dive by fullback Mike Pruitt. It was Cleveland's first score on the ground this season.

Herd Volleyball Team Loses To Tascosa

The Hereford High School Varsity volleyball team dropped their record to 4-6 last night after being trounced by the Tascosa Rebels in the straight games 15-5 and 15-2.

Both games started out to look as if they would be close, but the enthusiasm showed by the Herd team quickly dwindled and gave way to many mistakes.

The Herd looked their best in the beginning of the second game when they jumped out to a 2-0 lead but that was the last of the scores they would get in that game, as the Rebels came back and went on to win the game, 15-2.

The weakest part of the game for the Herd was their receiving of serves at one point in the second game Tascosa served for seven straight points.

The victory gave Tascosa a 6-5 record.

Tonight the Herd will try to put it all together as they travel to Amarillo and take on Caprock.

Oilers Avoid Panic, Win With Comeback Heroics

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers, who have engineered more Houdini escapes than the late master himself, have one feature built into every game plan that apparently works — don't panic.

The Oilers were down 23-0 to New England last year when they came back to win 26-23 in a game many players feel solidified the Oilers as a contender.

Oiler Coach Bum Phillips dusted off the old "New England Game Plan" Sunday when the Oilers trailed Cincinnati 24-0 before rallying to a 30-27 victory on a 29-yard field goal by Toni Fritsch.

"When teams get behind they start looking for a quick way to catch up," Phillips said Monday. "If we had known a way to score quick, we'd have done that in the first place."

"We don't give up. We had confidence in our game plan going into the game and we stuck with it. Sometimes it takes a little bit longer to win a football game."

The Cincinnati game will go down with the New England game as another reference point to show the Oilers' comeback resiliency.

"We did the same thing against New England last year," Phillips said. "We scored right before the half and it gave us something to talk about in the dressing room."

"It gave us a reason to think we could comeback. But yesterday proved what I've said about this team for the past two years. Our club is capable of beating anybody."

Oiler linebacker Gregg Bingham said last year's New England game turned the franchise around.

"The New England game made this football team," Bingham said. "It was the key game in the history of the Oilers in the NFL. It made us believe in ourselves. We've been a different team ever since. Nobody gives up."

The Oilers certainly didn't give up Sunday.

Fritsch booted a 43-yard field goal with four seconds left in the half that cut Cincinnati's lead to 24-10. Dan Pastorini hit Ken Burrough with a 35-yard touchdown pass earlier in the quarter and the two scores gave the Oilers something to hang their hats on.

The outcome of the game still depended on Fritsch's toe as the squat Austrian soccer style kicker booted a 29 yard field goal with 29 seconds left in the overtime to complete the Oilers' comeback.

The Oilers now have a 3-1 record going into Sunday's game in the Astrodome against Cleveland.

"He's the best field goal kicker in the world," Phillips said of Fritsch. "He just doesn't miss many. If you can get it on the ground right, he'll kick it. The only ones he missed last year were bad snaps."

The Oilers will take a 3-1 record into Sunday's game in the Astrodome against Cleveland.

Tampa B. 'Buckin' for Good Year

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The Tampa Bay Buccaneers are playing the biggest confidence game in the National Football League.

The club that began its life as a punching bag for one team after another and a punchline to one joke after another is doing all the punching now — and laughing while it does.

"We're getting that killer instinct," says Ricky Bell. Until recently he was known primarily as the answer to the trivia question, "What running back was drafted No.1 when Tony Dorsett was drafted No.2?" Now he, rookie runner Jerry Eckwood and second-year quarterback Doug Williams are helping to give the Bucs an offense to go along with their defense.

"Remember how the fans here used to talk about putting up signs on the 20-yard lines, 'The Bucs stop here?'" Bell recalls. "We used to wonder, 'How are we going to blow it?' 'What's going to go wrong this time?' And somehow we'd make the mistake that would cost us another touchdown."

Husband, Wife Win Football Contest

Husband - and - wife entries tied for the fewest games missed in last week's Hereford Brand Football contest, but the "missus" came closer on the tiebreaker total and claimed the $25 cash prize for first place.

Bobbie Kitchens missed only five games, as did husband Cuby, but she guessed 48 points would be scored in the Purdue-Notre Dame contest and the actual total was 50. Cuby guessed 45 points for the tiebreaker and came away with second place and $15 cash.

Three entrants missed six of the games and George Petree, 213 Ave. K, won the third prize of $10 by coming closer on the tiebreaker. Wayne Amstutz and Karen Marsh got honorable mention with six misses each.

There were 212 entries in last week's contest. Those who missed seven games included Craig Keating, Bryan Peeler, Gary Duggan, Melvin Kalka Sr., Jeff Loerwald, David Varner, Raymond Schroeder, Nancy Howard, Scott Howard,

Now, when we get down near the goal line we know we're going in."

That's confidence. And that has helped the Bucs build a 4-0 record. Not bad for a team which, in its first year, went 0-14, was 2-12 its second time out of the gate and managed a 5-11 record last year.

"The attitude we have now is that we can beat anybody," says linebacker Cecil Johnson. "If we lose, it'll be because we beat ourselves. Nobody's going to beat us."

Even after their first three victories this season they were scoffed at. Look at who they beat, the fans said. Detroit, Baltimore and Green Bay, three teams which, collectively, have a 2-10 record today. Wait'll they meet a REAL team — like the Los Angeles Rams — the fans said.

On Sunday they beat the Rams 21-6. The only points Los Angeles scored came on a first-quarter interception before the Bucs scored all their points in the second period. After the game, All-Pro defensive end Jack Youngblood of the Rams assessed the Bucs simply: "Anybody who takes them lightly is a fool."

"Some people are sure to say the Rams were down and we were up and we lucked out," says Lee Roy Selmon, a super defensive end. "This is a confidence builder for us. We'll use it to our own advantage. I think it will convince a few people that we really are a very good football team."

"I guess in a way we're still convincing ourselves. Each time we win we get that much more confidence. And I'll tell you one thing; it's sure nice to be on the clean end of the stick, for a change."

Confidence. The Bucs possess it the way the Pittsburgh Steelers do. They're winners. They don't wonder how long this can go on. They don't wonder if they'll win again next week. That kind of thinking is for losers. They KNOW they're good.

Akers Concerned About Missouri

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Coach Fred Akers dismissed quarterback Donny Little's poor passing performance against Iowa State as a problem of "timing" and said he never considered replacing him.

Akers warned Monday, however, that Texas has "got to be ready to play when the game starts" and must "execute" to have a chance to defeat Missouri this weekend.

The two top-10 teams play Saturday at Columbia, Mo., with a record Missouri crowd of 75,000 expected for the 1:30 p.m. CDT kickoff.

Missouri whipped Mississippi, 33-7, to raise its record to 3-0 last Saturday, while Texas defeated Iowa State, 17-9, in its opener.

Little gained only 35 yards on 16 carries and completed just two of 10 passes for 10 yards. He threw an interception that halted a Texas drive at the Iowa State 28 yard-line.

However, Akers told his weekly news conference he liked the way Little, a 200-pound sophomore, directed the team. "He was very enthusiastic ... did a good job on audibles, and he had some key runs and key reads on options," Akers said.

"The main problem with the passing was timing," said Akers. "Donnie was too anxious, too quick throwing the ball — he had more time than he realized."

Halfback A.J. "Jam" Jones was voted the most valuable Texas offensive player of the game after receiving a grade of 96 from the coaches. Jones, also a 200-pound sophomore, scored twice on one-yard runs, carried 23 times for 125 yards and, according to Akers, had "a fine night blocking."

End Henry Williams, a 240-

pound senior, was named the best defensive player. Williams had nine tackles, sacked the quarterback once and pressured him twice. Akers said Williams' tackles included "three super big plays" that prevented "potential long gains, possibly scores."

The vaunted Texas defense yielded 132 yards total offense in the first half but held Iowa State to 20 yards and two first downs in the second half. "The entire (defensive) football team perked up and picked up extremely well," said Akers.

However, Akers said, Missouri is "farther along with its program than Iowa State is, and it has proved it three times already" — beating San Diego State, Illinois and Mississippi.

"Missouri is improved, with a lot of experience, and has a great young quarterback" in Phil Bradley, the Texas coach said. "He runs, he throws and he's an opportunist. They have a very well balanced attack and big running backs that can move."

One possible advantage for Missouri is that it plays on grass, and Akers said not a single member of the Texas squad has played on anything but artificial turf in college.

Texas, however, will practice on grass three days this week.

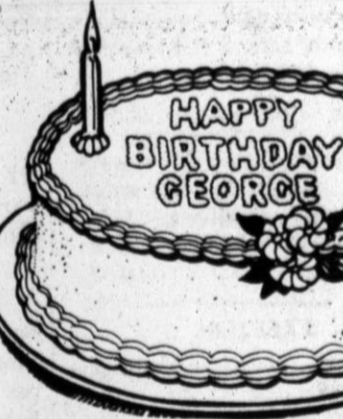

"Missouri is a tough, physical football team," said Akers, "but so are we, and it should be a heck of a contest."

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — Place kicker Don Stump, a sophomore from Port Arthur, Texas, has accounted for nearly 60 percent of the points scored so far this year by McNeese State, which boasts a 4-0 record.

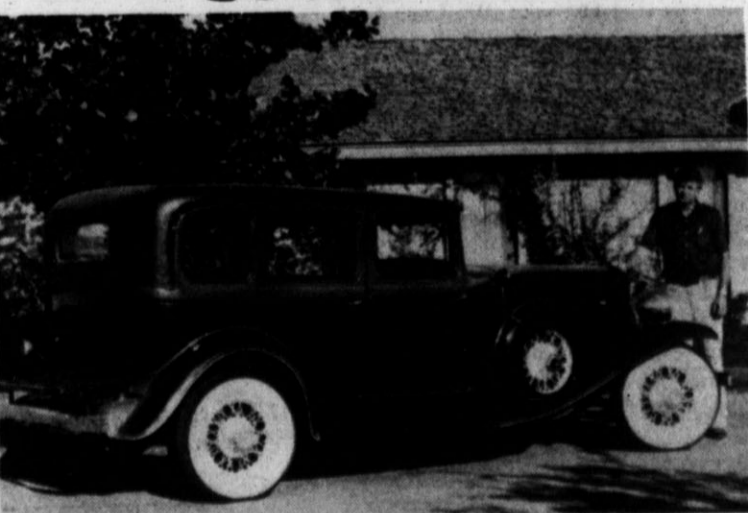

Twice, Stump's field goals have been the only point McNeese has put on the scoreboard to win.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Work crews have yet to cap the off-shore oil well spewing barrels of crude daily into the Gulf of Mexico, but all the early indications of a courtroom collision between Gov. Bill Clements and Texas Attorney General Mark White apparently will be realized. White told reporters last week he will sue SEDCO, the drilling company founded by Clements, and Mexico's nationally owned oil company PEMEX sometime this fall.

SEDCO is now run by the governor's son, B. Gill Clements, while the governor's stock is in a "blind trust." Though the governor may never appear in the courtroom, the political effect of the lawsuit will remain the same: one of the state's top Democrats will confront the top Republican state official.

White said he will allege negligence on the part of SEDCO, which had leased the off-shore rig used by PEMEX to drill the blown-out well.

"It (the blow-out) wasn't an act of God. This thing occurred apparently because of mismanagement, negligent operation, negligently maintained equipment, whatever," White said.

He added that SEDCO's subsequent sinking of the damaged rig in deep international waters on July 12 "cast grave suspicions on everything they (SEDCO officials) have said" about the company's role in the blow-out.

White said he expects to delay until after President Jimmy Carter and Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo meet Sept. 28 and 29.

Clements, meanwhile, has been unavailable for comment while leading a Texas delegation tour of several Communist-block countries. Reports indicate he is optimistic about future joint U.S.-Yugoslavia ventures.

When he returns he will find a message on his desk from Speaker of the House Bill Clayton saying there is no political support for a special session of the Texas Legislature.

Clements had promised to call the legislators back to Austin to pass an initiative and referendum bill, among other issues, but Clayton advises the legislators who failed to reach agreement on the issue last spring would probably not resolve the issue in a special session.

State Rep. John Bryant of Dallas, who heads the House minority bloc, thinks Clements should offer a pure initiative and referendum proposal or none at all.

Demo Chairman Race In times past a Democratic Texas governor has always hand-picked the chairman of the Texas Democratic Party, but not this season.

With Republican Clements in the statehouse, the crucial Demo leadership post may be filled by a person emerging after a bona fide convention ballot, not one standing in the shadow of a governor.

Three prominent Democrats are mentioned for the job: State Rep. Luther Jones of El Paso, Houston lawyer John Odum and Democratic Executive Committeewoman Carrin Patman of Ganado.

With election of the chairman over a year away, others are sure to be considered.

Ms. Patman is the wife of State Sen. Bill Patman, who is expected to meet a serious primary challenge for his seat from State Rep. John Wilson of La Grange. Wilson, who had long eyed the Speaker's chair, instead has mustered the opposition Patman incurred as a participant in the "Killer Bee" episode last session.

Short Snorts Billy Goldberg, the current party chairman, will not seek re-election. Instead, he has announced he will join the movement to draft Sen. Edward Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Col. Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, will retire on Dec. 31. The veteran law enforcement officer, 62, gave health problems and age as his reasons for stepping down.

A $20 million miscalculation by the staff of the Public Utility Commission may result in a higher-than-expected rate hike for a telephone company.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company may now be granted the entire $145.2 million hike it requested last month. The PUC staff had recommended a $136.4 million hike, but following discovery of the error, it changed its recommendation to $156.4 million, about $9 million more than the company can receive legally.

Rhode Island calls itself America's "first vacationland." The claim goes back to 1524, when the Italian explorer Giovanni da Verrazano sailed the coast. He found Narragansett Bay so pleasant that he stayed a fortnight.

HEALTH

Not a comparable situation

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In one of your columns you said that there was an increased tendency to develop atherosclerosis in men who have had a vasectomy. You said the sperm cells are not allowed to escape and remain in the body and are treated as foreign protein leading to the increased risk of hardening of the arteries.

Doesn't this same problem exist in single men like myself who for ethical reasons do not engage in sexual intercourse until marriage? Does it mean that I'm running the risk of developing atherosclerosis because I'm not engaging in sex?

DEAR READER — In my previous column I referred to some research studies that had been done which did show an increased tendency to atherosclerosis or at least to develop higher levels of cholesterol.

The animals that were used for this study were on a very high cholesterol diet and I'm not sure that this information can be directly transferred to man. However, it's significant enough to suggest that men who have had a vasectomy should be particularly careful in terms of their diet and body weight and exercise.

Specifically, such men should be sure to be on a relatively low-fat, low-cholesterol diet and avoid obesity and smoking cigarettes. I don't mind giving that advice because it's good for all men and if everybody did it, we'd have a significant decrease in heart attacks.

To give you a better idea of the factors that do increase your risk of heart attacks, I am sending you The Health Letter number 13-2, How To Measure Your Risk Of Heart Disease. Other readers who want this information can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Refraining from cigarette smoking could also prevent lung cancer, the leading cause of cancer deaths in men. If it were not for the increase in lung cancer, the deaths from cancer would actually be declining for each age group.

No, I don't think you can compare a vasectomy to your personal situation. There is no evidence that not having sex will lead to having heart disease. The simple truth is, as long as the exit for the sperm cells is not blocked, as occurs with a vasectomy, any build-up or accumulation of them will simply result in their migration to the prostate gland.

You may not realize that the sperm cells represent such a small portion of the male organism that their contribution with the naked eye. Almost everything else comes from the prostate gland and other secretory glands. The sperm cells merely migrate up the vas deferens tube to the prostate gland.

So, from a scientific point of view, it doesn't make much difference what you choose to do about your sex life insofar as the risk of heart disease is concerned.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you please send me some information on hiatal hernia. I have a friend who is supposed to have one. He can't have a meal without getting up to release some of the pressure. Sometimes it's so bad he eats very little and goes directly to the bathroom to throw part of it up and then he comes back to eat some more. It's especially bad when he's not feeling well.

He works seven days a week and long hours which gives him very little rest so he's always in a rundown condition. He has lost 35 to 40 pounds in six months and I'm worried it could be something else. When a doctor is mentioned he always says there isn't time.

Could you tell me what kind of food he should eat and what he should stay away from. He lives alone and doesn't fix proper food but I'm sure he will try if it comes from you. Could it be a rupture that causes this discomfort? Many times he will have to get up at night to relieve himself and he says it's an air lock.

DEAR READER — I wish there was an address on your letterhead because your friend should go see a doctor at once. Those are not the usual symptoms of a hiatal hernia.

Your letter sounds like you're describing an obstruction to the normal passage of food into the stomach. That could be because he's had an old hiatal hernia and the acid contents of his stomach have irritated the lower part of the esophagus, ultimately causing scarring and obstruction. But no one can tell that without a careful examination.

I'm concerned for fear he might have an obstruction caused by cancer or some other serious problem. Certainly that much weight loss with those symptoms requires immediate examination. Anyone who has difficulty swallowing or retaining the food they have eaten must be examined immediately.

There is a rare medical condition of spasm and obstruction of the lower part of the esophagus that prevents passage of food. This can be due to scarring but there's too big a risk that it could be something more serious and whatever the condition is, it should be treated.

I would have sent you The Health Letter number 4-8 on Hiatal Hernia if you had included your address. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Many people who have a small hiatal hernia have no symptoms at all. Most of them do deserve at least some intelligent management such as change in life style to prevent the possibility of developing scarring and obstruction in the lower part of the esophagus.

Although I do not know what your friend has, and no one can tell without an examination, it is true that people who have a hernia of a portion of the stomach through a hole in the diaphragm are most prone to trouble while lying down. The hernia affects the closure mechanism between the esophagus and stomach and if the stomach is full, its contents tend to leak into the esophagus. That is why propping up the head of the bed in such cases helps.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a big problem. My doctors have found out I have a fibrous tumor in my uterus and it's as large as a grapefruit and growing. Now they want to take out my whole insides. I'm 50 years old but I have a 30-year-old husband. I don't know anything about the female organs and it's terrifying me to be mutilated like that. They call it a hysterectomy.

I'm 200 pounds and the doctors say I need to lose weight before the operation. I can't. I'm so disturbed and frustrated I'm drinking alcohol which is keeping me fat.

I'm very anemic from losing lots of blood every month and the doctors don't want to wait with the operation. I need some information on what happens to women without female organs. Can I lose weight fast in one month?

DEAR READER — Fibroid tumors are fairly common. They're made up of muscle and fiber tissue similar to the muscular wall of the uterus itself. If they're small and don't cause any problems, they can be ignored. When they cause excessive bleeding, an operation is usually necessary.

You're overly concerned about the surgery. It should not affect your sex life. The removal of the uterus does not affect the birth canal.

At your age the doctors will probably remove the ovaries. For that reason you may need some female hormones immediately after surgery, but the doctors will have to decide that in your individual case.

You probably want to know how this will affect your husband's response and it shouldn't affect him in any way. If it does, it's more apt to be psychological rather than being related to any real change in you that he would notice in any way.

Now about your weight. It's quite true that surgery is a great deal easier in people of normal weight. Being obese not only makes the surgery more difficult but it increases the complications regardless of what kind of abdominal surgery is being performed.

You can't expect to lose much fat in just a month's time. You might safely lose eight pounds of body fat. The scales may show a little more weight loss because of the loss of fluid. To do that you'd have to be on a fairly strict diet and some surgeons don't like their patients to be on a strict diet immediately preceding surgery. That's a problem you're going to have to work out with your own doctors.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer
Brass comes clean

DEAR POLLY — I would like to know an easy way to clean "hanging" brass plates. — B.S.C.

DEAR B.S.C. — Remove the plates from the wall where they are hanging and clean with a good commercial brass polish according to directions on the can. So as to retard tarnish for quite a time I suggest lacquering them. It is easier to have them done professionally but if that is not possible you might follow this procedure: Wash in hot suds, rinse in clear hot water and dry well. Handle as little as possible to prevent finger marks. Apply denatured alcohol to entire surface and let dry. Remember that alcohol is poisonous. Spray with a transparent lacquer and let dry. When the lacquer finally starts to wear off remove the remainder with the alcohol and re-lacquer. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Just as one of the readers did we purchased an old Bible at an auction and it, too, had a musty odor. I put ours in a plastic bag with some whole cloves, sealed the bag and left it until the odor had disappeared. — DELORES

DEAR POLLY — I have been helped by so many of the Pointers that I feel it is time to share one of my own. During the hot summer days it is hard to pull on sandals if one is not wearing stockings. I find that rubbing a small amount of talcum powder on the top and bottom of each foot makes sandals slip on very easily. — ELAINE Hells Canyon forms part of the border between Oregon and Idaho. It is the deepest gorge in North America. It drops 7,900 feet at its deepest point. This is enough to hold six Empire State Buildings stacked one on top of the other.

The Chamber ... and You

By F. MICHAEL CARR
Executive Vice President

This past week has proved to be the most significant and wonderful one I've ever had. A very special happening occurred this past Saturday my wife and I became the proud parents of a beautiful son. I'm sure that it's only natural for me to feel this way, but I did want to share these feelings with you. I'd also like to give a little very well deserved praise to a group of wonder folks.

The staff of the Deaf Smith General Hospital is certainly to be commended for the excellent job it is doing. The facilities and excellent administration that the hospital offers are such that we should be proud.

Isn't it true that we are always seeking ways to improve our city or make it attractive for those looking at us as a place to move to? Well, I must very openly express my sincere thanks to the entire staff, administration and doctors at Deaf Smith General Hospital for the excellent job that they do. Hospital care is certainly a selling point that a town should not overlook. It is just one more aspect that we must have in order to make Hereford a favorable place to live.

This week is going to be a full week of activities that we want all of you to be aware of and to get involved in.

The New Teachers Banquet will be held tonight at 7:30 at the Community Center. Over 50 teachers will be welcomed to the Hereford school system. We would like all of them to know that on behalf of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce we extend a warm welcome.

We especially want them to become actively involved in the areas that interest them and become acquainted with what Hereford has to offer. Let's all make these folks feel at home by offering them a warm welcome.

The time is here again. It's Fun Breakfast time at the Community center this Thursday morning.

Breakfast will be served starting at 6:30 a.m. It's early, but it's worth it. All of our new car dealers—Jones Motors, Pratt Chevrolet, Stagner-Orsborn, and Orval Watson Ford—will be displaying a new line-up of cars and trucks. Maybe they'll even throw in some extra good deals for you.

Anyway, you look at it, the morning will be full of fun and laughs, so make your reservations today.

For a first-hand presentation on the various types of gasohol plants and their feasibility for this area, we invite all interested parties to attend a special meeting to be held in the West lounge of the Community Center at 7 p.m. Thursday. You can use the west entrance for your convenience. A special guest speaker, Rene Losier from Switzerland, will be on hand to discuss the gasohol program. There will be time for questions and there will be refreshments served.

In 1945, Nicaragua became the first country to formally accept the charter of the United Nations.

Although both Arwak and Carib Indians inhabited Barbados at one time, the island was uninhabited in 1627 when the first white settlers arrived from England. In less than a decade slaves were brought from Africa to work the sugar plantations, which continue to serve as the mainstay of the island's economy.

Hotel Doomed

DALLAS (AP) — She stands silent now, price tags spelling out her worth like the sidewalk hostesses that sometimes frequent the streets outside her doors.

The elegant Baker Hotel, one of the grand dames of Dallas hotels is suffering the indignities of sale, public clearance and ultimate destruction. She has been sold to Southwestern Bell which plans to erect a spanking new office building on the spot she has occupied for more than 50 years.

Her doors have been closed forever to honeymooners, partygoers, high school prom dancers and civic club luncheons.

And for the first time in memory, she will stand silent in the heart of the wild Texas-OU all-night street party Oct. 5, a melee over which she has presided for decades.

No water balloons will sail out her windows onto the frantic, drunken celebration that precedes the Texas-Oklahoma football season and signals the opening of the State Fair of Texas each fall.

But even now, she teems with activity, probably not to her liking. Crews from National Content Liquidation, Inc., crawl about her innards, tagging everything salvagable for the 45-day public sale that opens Wednesday.

"We're selling everything, the paneling, ceilings, doors, floors," said NCL president Clem Long. "When we leave here in 45 days, you'll have a skeleton of a building."

You could almost feel the great lady shudder.

Gracious to the end, even the tags on her chandeliers have not dimmed her stately presence. And she was hospitable enough to allow some sloppy memories to creep into a recent tour.

Elevators slide up and down their chutes in the silence, their wood-paneled interiors waiting in the lobby for guests long gone.

Their wrought-iron doors (not yet priced) will make great coffee tables, Long predicts.

The brass banisters leading from the lobby, now smooth from a million gloved touches, are priced at $18,000. Two gold and fake marble pyramids will go for $250 (the pair).

Upstairs there is no creamed chicken, no cold rolls in a basket, not even the hint of a green pea in sight in the giant meeting room. Brown-rimmed plates are stacked and marked for sale, rows of copper steamers gleam under massive crystal chandeliers ($6,500).

A line of typewriters, adding machines and vacuum cleaners (waiting for price tags) from the most out-of-date to the most modern, chronicle the nuts-and-bolts operation of the hotel's crew.

A steel and brass gate ($60) closing a marble employee staircase to the public now gapes open. The stairs, Long said, will be sold, too.

U.S. spending for Medicare and Medicaid has risen steadily since 1965, according to a Conference Board analysis. In fiscal 1979, it is expected to reach $41.4 billion.

Judge Considers Possible Delay

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — District Judge Gordon Gray today waited for a medical report on an injured juror in the Cullen Davis murder solicitation trial before deciding whether to delay the trial or continue with only 11 jurors.

Juror Kathryn Holman, 53, a housewife, broke her leg during a weekend shopping trip and underwent surgery Monday.

The seventh week of testimony was interrupted until Gray could determine how long Mrs. Holman would need to recuperate.

"If it's going to be too long, we will go on," Gray told the remaining jurors. "But if it's a short-time thing, say a week or 10 days, you can be excused until she can be back with you."

Gray excused the jurors at midmorning and said they would be notified by phone as to whether the trial would proceed or be delayed.

The judge said the trial could continue with 11 jurors if the attorneys on both sides wanted to proceed.

However, Gray said he would not recommend such action, and the attorneys concurred.

"I tend to agree with the court at this juncture," Richard Haynes, chief defense attorney, said. "We need to wait and see what the prognosis is."

Prosecutor John Bankston said, "Obviously the law does allow us to excuse that juror, but the decision to delay the trial or continue with 11 jurors is a dilemma."

"It's dangerous to proceed. It's like driving a car without a spare tire. It scares me to death," Bankston alluded to the fact that should a second juror become disabled during the remainder of the trial, a mistrial would be mandatory.

A previous attempt to try Davis, charged with trying to have his divorce judge and others killed, ended with a hung jury in Houston last January.

Resentment Mounts Against Boat People

From the mailbox: "How would you feel... watching our government and our churches and our charity agencies falling all over one another helping the boat people... while we Vietnam veterans who fought their war for them are forgotten? Betrayed, that is how you would feel. Betrayed by our own government." Signed, William Schwalbach, Glencoe, Ill.

Any wife recognizes the husband who is extra nice when he has been extra naughty.

Americans generally are similarly transparent in our manner when, ashamed of some shortcoming, we seek to compensate.

We have cruel, unresolved and worsening social problems right here at home resulting in crime and depravity unprecedented in human history; rottenness so rampant the stench is stifling.

What do we do about it? With a shining face and a benevolent smile we throw open our arms to "the boat people."

We want the world to see how truly good and kind and generous we really are.

But if Americans want to demonstrate goodness and kindness and generosity we should begin with our own unemployed, our poor, our own elderly. To neglect these while pretentiously embracing boatloads which include spies and draft-dodgers from Asia is conspicuously hypocritical.

And it's not nice! America is entering a period of economic recession. Last month our economy failed to generate enough new jobs for home folks.

Americans, homegrown and adopted, fight the wars and turn the wheels and buy the bonds and pay the taxes that upkeep our country.

Don't they deserve first consideration—rather than vaingloriously inviting hundreds of thousands more outsiders to claim the available jobs, free housing, free food, free training and tax-free welfare income?

When resentment sets in, these boat people will be first to feel it.

But by then they will be subsidized, organized and entrenched.

President Carter is a man whose roots have engendered genuine empathy for poor people.

To him to crusade for "human rights" is as natural an obligation as to love one's neighbor.

Yet being a truly "good neighbor" does not start with some distant hue or creed or clan. It starts with the guy right next door.

British attempts at settlement in Canada occurred as early as 1628 in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.
