

Hospital Improves Financial Situation

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith General Hospital improved its financial status by $474,408 from fiscal year 1978 to 1979, which ended for the hospital district on Sept. 30, administrator Jim Bullard told Deaf Smith County Hospital District directors this morning in their regular monthly meeting.

Bullard, in presenting the year-end report, said the hospital had $189,349 in net revenue over expenses in fiscal year 1979, compared to a $285,059 loss during the previous year. However, the 1978 figure includes an adjustment of $209,672 for uncollectable accounts which had occurred in 1978 and previous years.

The hospital increased its net patient revenue in 1979 over 1978 despite a dropoff in census during the last few months of the year. The slow trend of late continued in September, with an average daily census of 26.2 (adults and children, not including newborns) when the hospital's break-even point is approximately 30 patients per day.

In September, a month Bullard said he was not satisfied with because of the census, the hospital admitted 217 patients, including newborns, compared with 209 for the same month last year.

However, surgical procedures in the month were up from 69 last year to 77, outpatient visits from 540 to 604, laboratory tests from 3,935 to 4,085, radiology procedures from 438 to 453, ultrasound procedures from zero to 53, respiratory therapy treatments from 379 to 668 and physical therapy treatments from 379 to 474.

The hospital had $12,425 in expenses over revenue during the month, compared to a 7,624 deficit in September, 1978.

Deaf Smith General had budgeted $10,886 in revenue over expenses for the month.

For the year, the hospital had budgeted $288,922 in revenue over expenses, a 34 percent variance from the actual net income.

There were 72 drop-ins in 1979, compared to 52 in 1978, Bullard reported. "Those are significant figures," he said. "Those are mostly ladies with no pre-natal care."

During fiscal year 1979, there were 11,022 patient days, compared to a budgeted figure of 10,750. In the hospital's original revenue projections for the year, it expected to yield an average $198 in revenue per patient day, but instead had an average of $215, an 11.15 percent variance from the budget.

Expenses also were higher than the forecasted figure by 10.25 percent.

Utilities were up 13.4 percent over last year, supplies 12 percent, pathologist fees 18.5 percent, food 47.5 percent and collection expenses 132.7 percent.

Bullard said the reason for the drastically-increased collection expenses was the hospital's intensified effort to receive payment on accounts.

Net income per patient day in 1979 totaled $17.17, compared to a $7.03 deficit last year. Excess net patient revenue, which does not include tax money, over patient expenses per patient day in 1979 was $2.13 compared to a $20.22 deficit the previous year.

The hospital had a $3,616 deficit at the bank on Sept. 30, 1979, compared to a $18,314 deficit cash position on the same day last year.

Dr. A. T. Mims, chief of the hospital's medical staff, reported to the board that local physicians are concerned with a proposed state law which would require surgeons to reveal all possible complications of an operation to the patient before surgery.

"We try to tell our patients what they want to know about what can go wrong," Dr. Mims said. "To list every possible problem would become a frightening thing to patients."

Directors present included Frank Zinser Jr., Ed Reinauer, Jerry Smith, Deward Roberson, Warner Lawson and Dr. Gerald Payne.

High Rates Worrying All Groups

CHICAGO (AP) — In the nation's big cities and in its small towns, anxiety infects the economic environment, bankers say.

Surging interest rates spell frustration and uncertainty for young people seeking their first home, for farmers planning next season's harvest, for merchants anticipating Christmas, and for the elderly fearing a frigid winter and sky-high fuel bills.

"We're going to have real problems," says Ray Cline, of the Citizens State Bank in Hartford City, Ind. His statement strikes a responsive chord among a sampling of commercial and mortgage bankers interviewed across the country.

They are staring at a prime rate as high as 15 percent, prospects of an unprecedented 14 percent mortgage rate, and a shortfall of funds that make borrowing in many states all but impossible.

Some areas, such as Denver, Los Angeles, Houston, and Washington, D.C., — all with booming economies — should weather the tight-money storm better than most others, say these bankers.

Yet, even the nation's capital, considered recession-proof by many, will feel the pinch, says William Blomquist, senior vice president of Colonial Service Company, in nearby Rockville, Md. He describes a "tremendous slowdown" in home sales.

Like so many in his field, Blomquist won't — or can't — predict when interest rates will fall. Some bankers and home builders hope the credit crunch may ease by next summer.

"But, it's bound to get worse before it gets better," says Paul W. Styles, a Chicago mortgage banker.

Clements: Raising Home Interest Not Solution

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements is working on home building problems in Texas but he does not think increased mortgage interest rates is the solution.

Clements was asked at an informal news conference Monday if he had considered increased mortgage interest rates as a subject for the 1980 special legislative session.

"I have not really considered that," Clements said. "I have been considering what other things we in Texas might do to solve the problem but I don't have a solution."

"For one thing, I don't see raising home interest rates as a solution. I strongly believe that higher rates would not be in the best interest of the state and the nation. This would just add to the inflation."

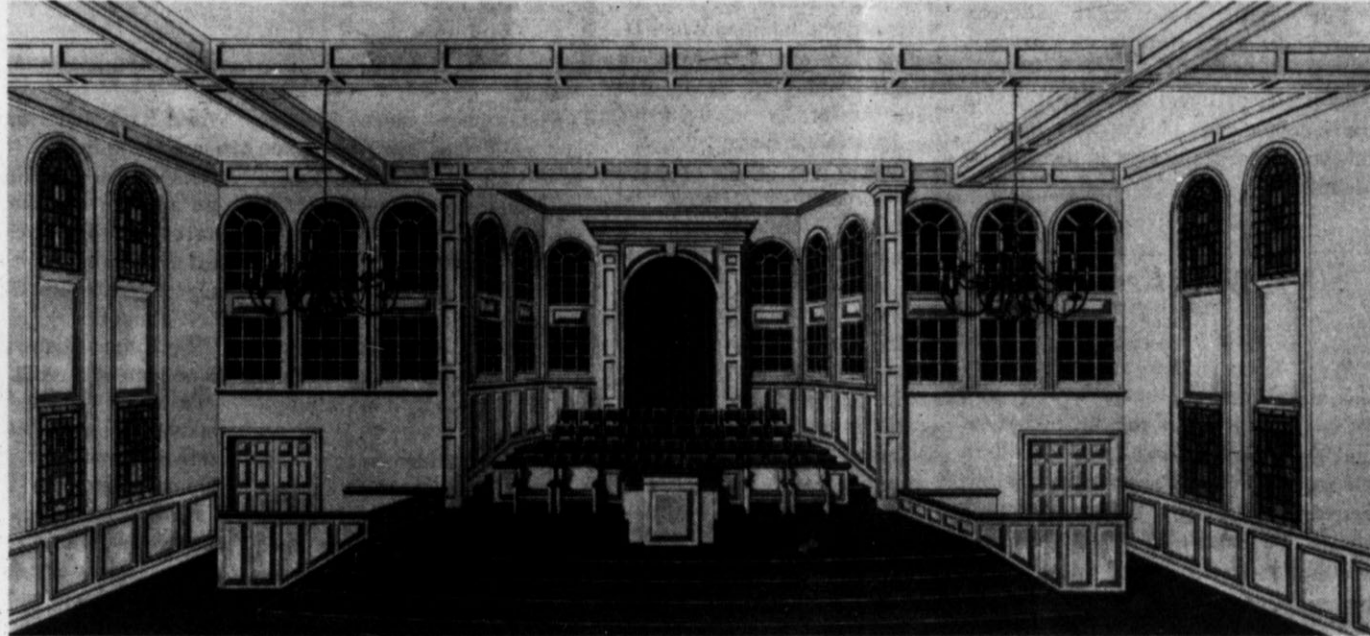

"I do not believe we can stand the kind of interest rates we have now."

Clements said that "other tools" have to be used, other than increased interest rates.

"I have been considering some of these ... there could be margin restrictions on the stock market and there could be something concerning down payments on homes," Clements said.

Clements at first opposed an increase of legal interest rates for home loans from 10 to 12 percent during the 1979 Legislature but later supported the increase after federal agencies threatened to cut off VA and FHA loans for Texas.

Clements also said he knew nothing about some published reports there might be another gasoline shortage this winter, because some gasoline refiners had been diverted to producing heating

Baptists Approve Building Project

First Baptist Church of Hereford Sunday approved for a $660,000 renovation and remodeling of the original church building. Above is an architect's sketch of the proposed new sanctuary. Contract was awarded to L.L. Sams Co. of Waco, a firm specializing in church remodeling and furnishings. Work is scheduled to begin in January with a completion schedule of 20 weeks. The original building was erected in 1928, and plans call for complete renovation of that structure. Fund raising activities will begin immediately.

91 Reported Injured

Quake Rocks Valley

CALEXICO, Calif. (AP) — With aftershocks still grumbling, thousands of Imperial Valley residents picked up shattered possessions today after a thundering earthquake injured at least 91 persons.

Police and volunteers patrolled against the threat of looting.

Damage from Monday's quake, measuring 6.5 on the Richter scale, was widespread throughout this agricultural valley of 90,000, straddling the U.S.-Mexican border about 100 miles east of San Diego. Buildings crumbled and roofs collapsed. Automobiles were smashed by falling debris. Highways buckled, including sections of Interstate 8. Twenty rural bridges were damaged. Several pillars broke out. Shattered glass was everywhere.

Firefighters stood by as officials worked to drain more than 90,000 gallons of gasoline and aviation fuel at a fuel tank farm near the Imperial Valley Airport. Nearby commercial establishments were evacuated, and authorities said they feared aftershocks could further damage three ruptured tanks, igniting a "mammoth fire."

It was the strongest quake in the 48 contiguous states since the Feb. 9, 1971, Sylmar-San Fernando quake which killed 65 people and also registered 6.5 on the Richter scale.

A six-story, 8-year-old "earthquake-proof" county government building in El Centro shifted and tilted when support pillars cracked and was declared a total loss by state disaster officials.

"Our building, I thought was going about one foot either way. I guess it was something like being on a rollercoaster," a mayor's aide said.

There were no major problems at El Centro's schools. Students had been sent home at noon as part of a disaster drill. The quake hit at 4:16 p.m.

Parking Law Tabled 3rd Time

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Hereford city commissioners Monday for the third time tabled a proposed ordinance regulating the parking of boats, trailers and recreational vehicles on city streets.

Commissioners, meeting in regular session, took no action on the ordinance, requested by citizens concerned with the traffic hazards created by the parking of large vehicles on streets, after admitting the difficulty of enforcing such a city law.

City Attorney Earnest Langley, who said in a meeting two weeks ago that the Texas Municipal League could find no similar ordinances in other cities, repeated that claim Monday night.

Langley added that it might be impossible to enforce, or even draw up, a legal ordinance.

"We've got to have some length of time for loading or unloading," Langley said. "A lot of people, for example, leave their boat in the street overnight after storing it."

Commissioner Wes Fisher, who originally strongly favored the ordinance, changed his mind after he said he realized the difficulty of enforcing a parking ordinance.

Iran, Libya Increase Prices for Crude Oil

NEW YORK (AP) — Iran and Libya, ignoring OPEC price limits, have raised their crude-oil prices, and analysts say it could foretell another round of increases for world petroleum prices.

The Libyan and Iranian price increases were first revealed by a newsletter that covers the industry and were confirmed confidentially by spokesmen for several U.S. companies that buy the oil. Iran and Libya provide about 10 percent of the oil used by the United States.

"If we're not going to be able to write a suitable ordinance, I'd say we just drop it," Fisher said.

Commissioners, instead of doing that, tabled the matter for the third time.

Langley read a proposed ordinance which regulated the parking of trailers wider or longer than standard-size passenger vehicles, trailers without red or yellow reflectors at night, recreational vehicles and boats.

Commissioners, in other business: —authorized bidding for five new patrol cars for the Hereford Police Department.

—authorized bids for a sprinkler system for the new city hall, which will be completed in November or December.

—resolved to authorize the issuance of $30,000 in certificates of obligation as payment to the contractor for the new city hall.

—voted not to amend the curb and gutter contract with the city hall contractor.

—approved a proposed 8.4 percent rate increase, requested by Southwestern Public Service, for city street lights.

The last street-light rate increase for the electric company was 2½ years ago.

City Manager Dudley Bayne said SPS planned to file for an overall rate increase in the near future.

Monday's price increases, plus a 10 percent boost last week by Kuwait — to $21.43 — are seen by analysts as touching off a series of leaping increases by individual members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Mexico, not an OPEC member, raised its prices last week by $2 to $24.60.

Analysts expect that, like two earlier rounds of increases this year, the individual increases will culminate in a general rise in OPEC's set prices. The cartel meets in December to discuss prices.

An overall OPEC price boost could add still more cents to the prices of gasoline and heating oil in the United States.

Meanwhile, in California on Monday, a federal judge refused to reconsider his dismissal of a price-fixing suit against the OPEC nations. U.S. District Judge A. Andrew Hauk has ruled OPEC's pricing actions had "no direct impact" on the price of fuel in the United States, and concluded crude oil prices are "lower than they ought to be" in view of inflation.

Chamber Schedules Driving Course

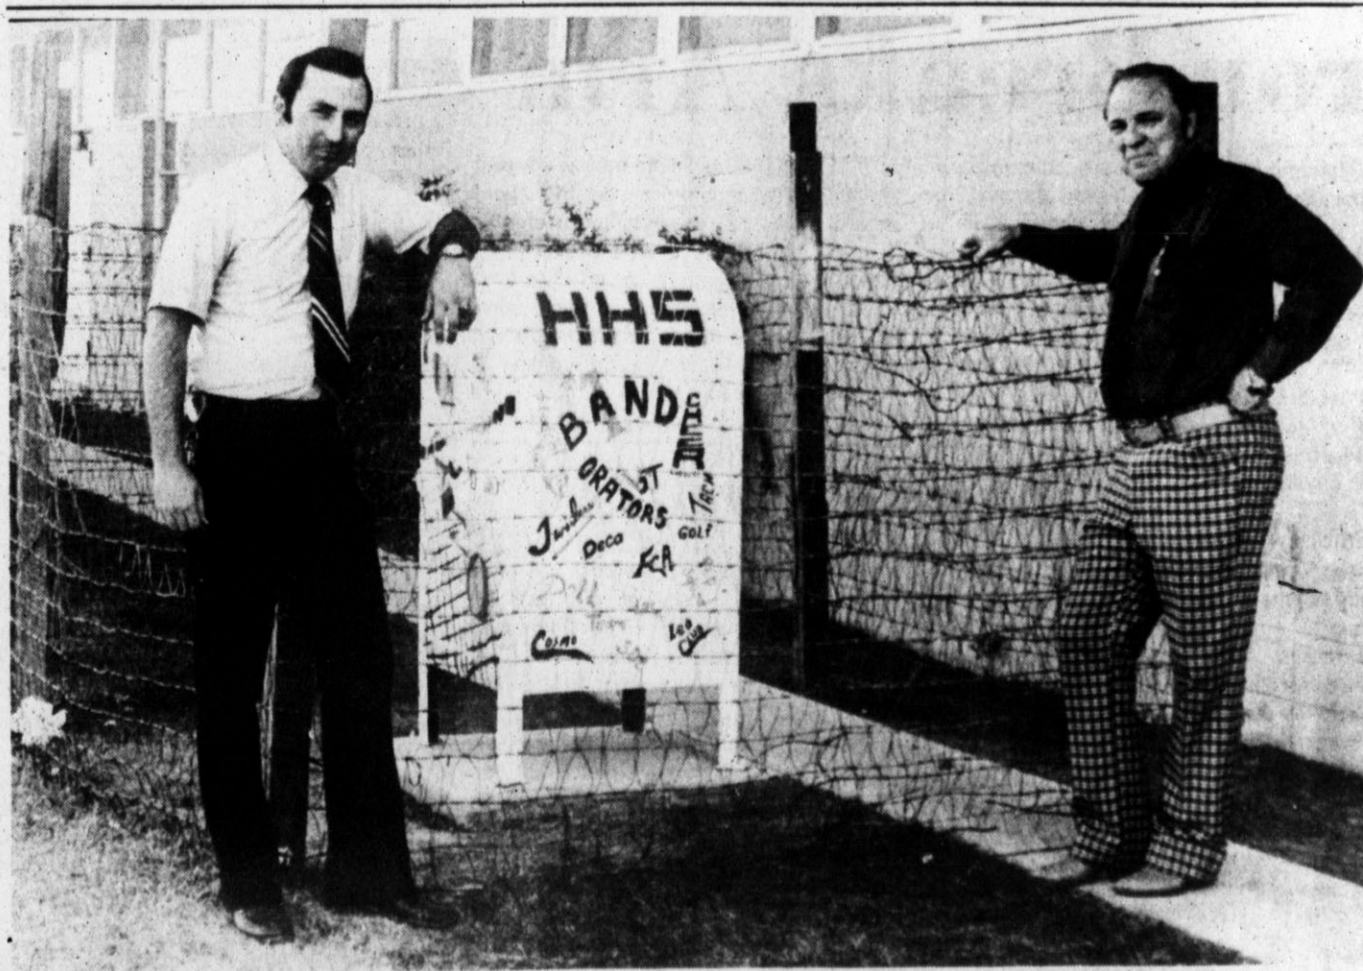

A defensive driving course, which will enable Hereford motorists to receive lower rates on their liability insurance, will begin at 6:30 p.m. today in the Community Center.

The second part of the course, sponsored by the health and safety committee, of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, will be at 6:30 p.m. Thursday in the Community Center.

The Texas Department of Public Safety will conduct the course, which will cost $3 per person. The course will cover all aspects of defensive driving.

The two-day course will be held entirely in the classroom and will include a workbook for participants.

Interested persons should contact the chamber before 5 p.m. today.

What's a Nice Mailbox...?

Hereford High Principal Ron Geyer, left, and Superintendent Harrell Holder have been questioned by curious passersby lately about the oddly-painted mailbox inside the fence in front of the school administration building. The officials explained that the mailbox will be used for school district mail and for sending back library films to companies. Since it was recently painted by a high school art class, it is inside the fence to avoid being touched while wet. [Brand photo by Paul Sims]

WTSU President Announces Donation

CANYON — The Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation of Amarillo has donated $200,000 to West Texas State University for academic merit scholarships.

WTSU President Max Sherman, Harrington Foundation Vice President Dick Palmer, and WTSU Director of Development Keith Winter made the announcement recently.

"It is the desire of the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation to create a permanent endowment fund for academic merit scholarships to the University to be known as the Don and Sybil Harrington Academic Scholarship Fund," Palmer said.

Palmer said the Foundation has specified that WTSU designate a committee each year to select scholarship recipients. Criteria for selection will be "superior academic achievement."

Selection, Palmer said, will be identical to the selection process utilized to choose WTSU President's Honor Scholars. The scholars are chosen from membership in area high school honor societies. This fall semester, 322 scholars from a four-state region have accepted $100 scholarships. The success of the WTSU President's Honor Scholars program was a factor in the presentation of the gift.

The money will be invested and interest used for the scholarships, Palmer said.

"The Harrington academic merit scholarship program will add to the quality of the whole University. The classroom will be strengthened by the presence of these scholars, professors will be challenged, and fellow students will be encouraged. These scholarships provide WTSU a rare opportunity to have a high percentage of each freshman class composed of strong students," Sherman said.

"This gift from the Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation will assist WTSU in its endeavor to attract scholastically talented students from the Amarillo area," said Winter. "We appreciate the Foundation's interest and support of our area young people and its confidence in the quality of education administered at WTSU."

4-H Firsthand

By AGNES TAYLOR
Assistant County Extension Agent

"4-H — AN OPPORTUNITY FOR LEARNING"

"Opportunity" is calling Texas youth. Whether or not they answer the call can have an important effect on their experiences down the pathway of life.

That opportunity is 4-H, a youth development program for boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 19 conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

And, now during National 4-H Week, is an excellent time for interested youth to learn more about 4-H and its action-oriented learning-by-doing programs.

4-H provides youngsters an opportunity to learn something that will help them in everyday life, such as health, safety, conservation, leadership, citizenship and nutrition. Then there are learning opportunities that may lead to a fuller and richer life, such as knowing how to tune a small engine, how to grow vegetables, how to cook and sew, and how to raise and train an animal, to name only a few.

And there's a uniqueness about 4-H that makes it a special type of program. 4-H is something different to everybody because of the different backgrounds and experiences of each and every member. Thus, 4-H boys and girls learn from one another by sharing these experiences, plus they have additional experiences on their own through guidance from adult leaders and Extension professionals.

Extension professional staff backing up the 4-H program offers another unique advantage. In whatever area a youngster's interests lie, there is a knowledgeable specialist to provide background and training to guide the youth along the way.

4-H also involves the youth's family—it's a family affair. Many 4-H experiences happen at home, and this is where 4-H'ers actually work with their projects. So youth and their families work and learn together. Hopefully, these experiences will help family members communicate more openly and thus become more close-knit.

4-H provides an opportunity for youngsters to "practice" for the real life experiences they will encounter in the future. Such training can only lead to a more complete and more meaningful life.

Jail Likened to Hotel

GRAHAM, Texas (AP) — While two jail escapees eluded capture, city and county officials complained the jail they broke out of was more like a "hotel" where prisoners can "walk out at will."

Deputies and state troopers set up roadblocks around the town of Bowie northeast of here, searching for David Bowman, 20, and Christopher Lamb, 17.

Officers said they escaped Sunday night by scaling a nine-foot chain link fence around the exercise yard — the seventh breakout from the Graham jail in the past 16 months.

"It doesn't even have any bars — there's not a single bar in this building," complained Police Chief Bill Paul. He said the new city-county jail was built to federal specifications, including glass windows in the cell walls.

"They said we got to provide prisoners something to look out at," Paul said. "They (the windows) are supposed to be unbreakable glass, but prisoners have broken them out and escaped numerous times."

"At least the old jail had bars on the cells," he added.

"The taxpayers paid a bunch of money for a jail and it turns out to be a motel," said District Attorney Boyd Richie. "We've got people in there who are dangerous folks and it seems as though they can just walk out of there at will."

The local officials claim the federal government, which put up matching funds toward building the $330,000 jail, is to blame for its shortcomings.

"We were a lot better off back in our old jailhouse before we got mixed up with the federal government," said County Commissioner Glen Denny.

The old jail stands vacant and police officials said there would have to be extensive renovation before it could be put back into service.

After the sixth jailbreak — in which an inmate escaped by crawling through an air conditioning duct — a grand jury said the jail had structural deficiencies and poor supervision.

Officials also criticized the construction work in general. For example, Richie said a concrete wall separating the cells from the administrative offices was not built, even though it was in the plans.

Chad Wanted To Go Home, Father Reports

Chad Green had only one thing on his mind as he neared the end of his struggle against leukemia. According to his parents, he wanted to go home.

Chad, 3, died Friday in Tijuana, Mexico, the center of a legal and medical debate over the effectiveness of Laetrile in treating cancer.

"He wanted to go home so bad he just stopped doing everything," his father, Gerald Green, told NBC News on Sunday. "He didn't want to eat; he didn't want to take his pills."

Home for Chad was across the continent, near Boston. Chad's parents, in defiance of a court order, fled their Scituate, Mass., home with the boy to seek Laetrile, which is not legally available in the United States.

The parents contended Laetrile would stem the cancer that had eaten away at their boisterous son for most of his young life.

The parents said Sunday they still believe they did the right thing when they abandoned conventional chemotherapy treatment for Chad.

"What we should be looking at here," Green said, "is a system that forces a child into exile. Chad was depressed. He wanted to go home. This was his sign of going home."

"He wanted to lay down on the bed so I let him lay down on the bed," his mother, Diana Green, said of the boy's final moments.

"He looked out the window and he said, 'Out the window. I want to go there. Let me go.'"

"And we ... said ... do you want to go outside? We'll take you outside."

And he said "No ..."

"And then he ... said again, 'I wanna go there. Dad, help me.'"

"And then he was gone," Mrs. Green said.

The father said he applied cardiac compression and mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the boy for 10 minutes before seeking a doctor. But his search for a doctor was unsuccessful, he said.

Dr. Julio Selva, a hematologist at the Tijuana clinic where Chad was being treated, said he warned the Greens one month ago they were putting Chad's life in danger by taking him off chemotherapy.

"If the boy had remained on chemotherapy, he would still be alive today," said the doctor. He said the boy's leukemia could have been abated only with chemotherapy.

Following an autopsy in Tijuana, the boy's body will be flown to his birthplace, Hastings, Neb., for burial, according to the parents.

The Greens said they plan to return to Mexico immediately after the ceremony to continue their self-imposed exile while awaiting possible legal action by Massachusetts officials.

If the Greens return to Massachusetts, where Gerald's parents live, they could face charges of civil contempt for violating a Massachusetts court order that directed them to halt Chad's Laetrile treatments.

Laetrile is derived from the chemical amygdalin, found naturally in the pits of apricots and peaches and in bitter almonds. Advocates claim it is an effective cancer treatment, but the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and the medical establishment in this country have banned its shipment across state lines.

Cowboys Trounce Rams

IRVING, Texas (AP) — There's something about the Los Angeles Rams that brings out the old firehorse in Roger Staubach.

Staubach came out smoking Sunday night, completing three touchdown passes and scrambling the Rams' dizzy with five runs for 44 yards.

He connected on his first nine passes and finished the evening 13 of 18 for 176 yards before he departed midway through the fourth quarter in the 30-6 rout.

"He had a great night," said Ram coach Ray Malavasi. "I'm sure he has his bad days, too, but we caught him on one of his better days. With our defense hurt his receivers were open and he really zipped the ball in there."

The crippled Rams lost four more players. Safety Dave Elmendorf injured his back, cornerback Pat Thomas strained an achilles tendon, receiver Billy Waddy pulled a hamstring and backup quarterback Vince Ferragamo broke his right hand.

Los Angeles, now 4-3, went into the game without starting wide receivers Willie Miller and Ron Jessie, and guard Dennis Harrah.

Dallas is 6-1 and tied with the sizzling Philadelphia Eagles for the lead in the National Conference East.

"It was our best effort of the year," said Staubach. "We executed well and I threw the ball pretty well."

The 38-year-old Staubach completed touchdown passes of 18 yards to Tony Hill, 3 yards to Tony Dorsett and 23 yards to Jay Saldi. His second TD pass broke the club record of 136 established by the man Staubach replaced, Don Meredith, who was in the television booth at Texas Stadium.

Ram defensive end Jack Youngblood said, "It seemed like Roger was firing a rifle out there."

The Cowboys totally dominated, holding the ball for over 40 minutes and making 13 of 19 third-down situations.

"Roger was as sharp as I've seen him this year," said Cowboy coach Tom Landry.

Told Landry's remarks, Staubach asked, "Did Tom really say that?"

However, Landry wasn't overjoyed with Staubach, running five times.

"It's dangerous for a quarterback to do that," said Landry. "But it was his night to do everything right."

Elmendorf said, "Roger threw well... they beat us every way they could."

The Cowboys also had their best pass rush of the season,

13 Tackles For McMichael

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas Coach Fred Akers thinks defensive tackle Stev McMichael is the leading contender for the Outland Award, which former teammate Brad Shearer won two years ago.

"I can't imagine anyone being any higher on the list for the Outland Award than Steve McMichael," Akers told his weekly news conference Monday. "He's really fine."

McMichael, a 6-foot-2, 250-pound senior, was credited with 13 tackles — nine unassisted — in Texas' 16-7 victory over No. 3 Oklahoma last Saturday.

Oklahoma, the nation's top offensive team, was held to 158 yards as Michael sacked the passer twice and forced the interception that set up Texas' lone touchdown.

Texas coaches chose sophomore John Goodson, who provided the margin of victory with

Bama Moves To Top Spot

Alabama's defending national champions have unseated Southern California atop The Associated Press college football rankings this week, but Bear Bryant, coach of the Crimson Tide, isn't ready to celebrate.

"I'm not concerned where we are right now," Bryant said Monday, after the new rankings were announced. "I would 10 times rather have our players healthy than be No. 1 right now. It is hard to enjoy being No. 1 under the circumstances."

Although Alabama clobbered Florida 40-0 last Saturday, the Crimson Tide did not emerge unscathed. Among the injured players about whom Bryant was worried were split end Keith Pugh, separated shoulder; offensive guard Mike Brock, hip pointer; defensive tackle Joe Beazley, knee; defensive lineman Warren Lyles, knee; running back Mitch Ferguson, hamstring, and defensive tackle Scott Homan, achilles tendon.

Cross Country Held Here

The Hereford Invitational Cross Country meet was held Saturday with 14 schools participating.

In the Boys Varsity, Tascosa was first with 64 points, Coronado second with 71, and Monterey was third with 76 points. Hereford placed seventh with 176 points.

Manual Carrasco ran the course in 10:24 placing 10th. Rudolfo Carosco was 16th with a time of 10:32. Juan Flores placed 33rd with a time of 10:59. Randy McDonald had a time of 12:00 and Erik Alexander ran the course in 12:02.

Three Games Missed

Frank Cogdell missed only three games in last week's Hereford Brand football contest and he is the winner of the $25 first prize. Cogdell missed only the Lubbock High vs over Caprock. Oklahoma State's upset over Missouri and West Texas State's victory over Indiana State.

Larry Wartes and Wallace Hill each missed four games but Wartes won with a tiebreaker score of 32 while Hill had a 40. The tiebreaker was Miami and Buffalo and the actual total was 24. Wartes will take home the $15 second prize while Hill will receive $10. Ronnie Bell also missed four games and had a tiebreaker of 48.

Seven entries missed five games including Donnie Cornelius, Woody Glass, Danny Boyer, Curtis Cotten, Linda Ramaekers, Pat Manchec, and Duane Albracht.

Missing six games were Jeff Cassels, Thelma Mercer, Jeff Hazelrig, Sofia Segura, and Max Goforth.

31 contestants missed seven games, 44 missed eight, 54 missed nine, and 81 missed ten and above. There were a total of 226 entries.

sacking Pat Haden four times with defensive end Harvey Martin claiming two of the kills.

Haden completed only nine of 26 passes for 122 yards and was intercepted once before he gave way to the ill-fated Ferragamo, who was hurt on the Rams' final offensive possession.

Frank Corral kicked field goals of 42 and 41 yards for the only Ram points.

Dallas exploded for 17 points in the third quarter on Staubach's third TD pass, Rafael Septien's 32-yard field goal and Tony Dorsett's 1-yard run.

Dorsett had his third consecutive 100-yard game with 103 steps on 24 carries.

"We are just hoping to improve each time out right now, and we are playing well," said Landry. "Of course, so are Washington and Philadelphia. So we'll have to get better each week."
