Explaining Loan Procedures

Al Symasek of the Small Business Administration office in Lubbock explains the process of filling for a disaster loan to area farmers during a special session held at the Community Room of the Hereford State Bank last night. Symasek was joined by SBA representatives Lee Clapp of Lubbock and Jim Moore of Amarillo in presenting the program on low interest loans available in areas where disasters may have made other types of loans unavailable. Step-by-step procedures in filling out a loan application were gone over with the gathering of farmers at last night's meeting. The session was sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee. (Brand photo by Jim Steiert)

Bill Proposed To Aid Sugar Industry

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says next to surviving a tornado, nothing is quite so satisfying as getting a refund on your income tax.

Computers are great for figuring statistics, but they don't reflect all factors. Had there been a computer in 1879, it probably would have predicted there would be so many horse-drawn carriages by 1979 that it would be impossible to clear up all the manure.

THERE IS SOME evidence that the average citizen is beginning to rebel against too much regulation. We pay for government regulation in two ways. First, we pay taxes to support the growing staff of agencies required to write and enforce the regulations. Then we pay higher prices for the products and services we buy because of additional costs to comply with these regulations.

Even Sen. Edward Kennedy spoke out recently against excessive government regulations. He said, "There is a government mentality that sees regulations as the natural order of the universe, that equates the Federal Register with the Holy Writ and that believes anything the marketplace can do, the government can do better."

The director of the President's council on Wage and Price Stability figures that the cost of complying with federal regulations is already adding at least 10 percent of the inflation rate, and the bill is continuing to go up. There are more than 100 federal agencies in the business of regulating the private sector in areas ranging from all matters affecting consumers, to anything related to workers' safety and anything affecting the environment in which not only humans live, but the environment of the snail-darter, the kangaroo rat and the furbish lousewart as well.

The big trouble with regulations is that they wind up doing not only what is necessary to correct abuses, but also a lot of things that aren't necessary. It's difficult to do much about removing existing regulations, but a revolt against the proliferation of new regulations is long overdue.

The chairmen of two powerful House committees introduced legislation on Thursday that would come to the aid of hard-pressed producers in the domestic sugar industry.

Rep. Tomas S. Foley, D-Washington, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, and Rep. Al Ullman, D-Oregon, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, introduced legislation that would increase import duties on foreign sugar a quarter-cent per pound, while boosting the domestic sugar producer's guaranteed price to 16.1 cents per pound for the 1979 crop.

Introduction of the sugar legislation comes after Congress killed a bill in October that would have hiked the domestic sugar price.

The death of last year's sugar legislation in Congress came after a prolonged bout between sugar production industry representatives and administration officials over what administration officials called the "inflationary effects" of proposed sugar legislation.

At one point in the 1978 conflict, administration officials dubbed the sugar issue "the dirtiest game in town," but sugar grower representatives, including Bill Cleavinger of Wildorado, president of the Hereford-based Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association fired back that the administration was bowing to its own special interests on the sugar legislation issue.

The sugar legislation issue has become particularly crucial over the past three years, with the lack of a domestic sugar policy.

Massive imports of cheaply produced, low grade foreign sugar have made the United States a virtual "dumping ground" for foreign sugar.

At the same time, domestic producers, faced with severe spirals in cost of production, have been forced to the brink of abandoning production of both sugar cane and sugarbeets, and a number of sugar processing factories throughout the country have been forced to close, due to the economic situation in the sugar industry.

The Holly Sugar Corporation, headquartered in Colorado Springs, Colo. and which operates a factory in Hereford, has reported huge losses in its overall operations during much of the period in which the sugar debate has raged, and spokesmen for the firm directly attribute many of the losses to the lack of a

Revolutionaries Execute Generals

Fearful Americans Begin Air Evacuation From Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - An Islamic firing squad executed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's hated secret police chief and three other generals at Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's headquarters during the night as the revolutionary government confiscated all royal properties in the country.

Fearful Americans were packing their bags for an evacuation airlift expected to start Saturday. A preliminary flight took off today with 167 of them.

Radio Tehran reported that pro-

Khomeini forces appealed for tear gas to disperse an attacking mob after a night-long street battle in eastern Tehran, but that three days of fierce fighting in the northwestern city of Tabriz had ended and the government was in control.

Three other generals were killed last weekend by guerrillas as Khomeini's forces were taking over the country, but the government said the four just executed were "the first group of traitors" to be tried by revolutionary courts. It said Khomeini attended the trial.

The executions were announced by state radio accompanied by martial music. The official Pars news agency said the generals were shot at 11:50 p.m. Thursday, but other sources said the executions occurred about 2:30 a.m. today, and that the firing squad consisted of 10 men.

The state radio said the generals were convicted on charges of "torture, massacre of people, treason to the country and earthly corruption. They were sentenced to death and the verdict was immediately carried out by Islamic armed forces." It also said their property had been confiscated.

The generals were Nematollah Nassiri, chief of SAVAK, the shah's dreaded secret police and one of the most hated men in the country; Manuchehr Khosrowdad, head of the elite paratroopers; Mehdi Rahimi, martial law governor of Tehran, and Reza Najfi, governor-general of the central city of Isfahan.

Summit Talks In Mexico Clouded By Differences

MEXICO CITY (AP) - Mexico's President Jose Lopez Portillo has had the last word again during his summit session here with visiting President Carter, declaring that too-often his poor countrymen who go to the United States "have to sell themselves."

Lopez Portillo, who surprised and irritated U.S. officials Wednesday when he in effect accused the United States of deceit and abuse, threw a fresh discordant note into the across-the-border summit early today.

Responding to a toast at a dinner given in his honor by the U.S. president, Lopez Portillo said:

"This, Mr. President, I believe, is the most serious matter of our times - the fact that there are men that can buy men and that there are men that have sold themselves. And this is what happens very frequently with our poor people that go to the United States."

Carter and his associates had thought the summit talks were back on track after the shaky start Wednesday when Carter was given a correct but cool reception and was lectured by Lopez Portillo in the first toast of the summit during a luncheon given in Carter's honor.

A high White House official who asked not to be named said Thursday night that Lopez Portillo had indicated agreement when Carter, at an unannounced private 10-minute session earlier in the day, suggested that too-strident Mexican references to disagreements between the nations could be counterproductive.

Carter's session with Lopez Portillo was followed by reports of summit progress and the scheduling of a breakfast meeting between the two leaders - actions seen as indications that the Carter visit was going well.

Then came Lopez Portillo's emotional toast, during which he told Carter, "I am deeply moved, and I shall try to be more stable."

The official, who asked not to be identified, said the implications of Lopez Portillo's blunt remarks led Carter to make a direct public response. In a toast of his own at a state dinner late Thursday night, Carter told Lopez Portillo:

"The people of the United States are fair and decent people, in their dealing with people of other nations."

The U.S. president said the two neighboring countries should "adopt attitudes towards each other that are suited not to the past but to the realities of the present and the needs of the future."

At his unannounced, 10-minute private session with Lopez Portillo on Thursday morning, Carter was said to have argued that overemphasis on differences, particularly historical differences and

New Cold Front Brings Snow

By The Associated Press

A fast-moving cold front moved into the Gulf of Mexico early today, leaving behind it extremely cold temperatures and the threat of snow, sleet and freezing rain across much of Texas.

Forecasters warned stockmen in Central Texas and in the Concho Valley to take measures to protect newly born animals and recently shorn goats and sheep. The areas expected cold temperatures and the threat of freezing rain.

Some light snow fell in western sections of the Panhandle and South Plains during the night. The snow was expected to move eastward during the day and night. South of the snow areas some rain fell during the night with El Paso receiving the most. .33 of an inch. The rain was expected to spread eastward.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the lower teens in the Panhandle to the upper 60s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Extremes ranged from 12 at Dalhart to 69 at Brownsville.

Other early morning readings included 14 at Amarillo, 16 at Wichita Falls, 36 at Texarkana, 25 at Dallas-Fort Worth, 46 at Houston, 50 at Corpus Christi, 43 at Del Rio, 26 at San Angelo, 43 at El Paso and 21 at Lubbock.

Camp Fire Banquet Set

The senior girls of Camp Fire will have "their night" this evening at the Bull Barn as they officiate during the annual Awards Banquet. Fathers of the girls and boys in Camp Fire will be special guests for the box supper, which will begin at 7 p.m.

With Tom Simons acting as Master of Ceremonies, the senior girls will conduct the banquet, which will be highlighted by the presentation of numerous awards. Recognition will be given to Camp Fire members who participated in the National Art Competition and No Greater Love program. Also, tenure awards will go to those girls having three year, five year, seven year and ten year memberships. Recognition will also be bestowed on those 24 members of St. Anthony's parish who completed a series of religious projects to merit a medal for the "I Live My Faith" program.

Several honorary awards will be given tonight to adult members of the Hereford Council. These awards are in addition to tenure honors for five and ten years of service as a Camp Fire leader.

However, the traditional highlight of the evening will be the presentation of the WoHoLo Medallions to deserving senior girls by Camp Fire Council president Alex Schroeter.

Receiving the WoHoLo this evening will be Lisa Drake, Becky Aguirre, Barbara Scott and Lee Anne Hughes.

'Preventive Medicine' Prescribed For Government's Deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) - After studying the problem of federal deficit spending, the Democratic Research Organization has prescribed a little "preventive medicine" by suggesting Uncle Sam balance his budget.

The DRO unveiled its "humanitarian" version of a balanced federal budget resolution Thursday, noting Congress must act before the states force a constitutional convention on the question.

Rep. Richard White, D-Texas, the DRO chairman, said the House resolution has introduced for the group has 44 cosponsors.

Nine similar resolutions have already been introduced in the House but the DRO version "is the humanitarian approach ... that will allow us to control inflation - the spectre haunting the American public," said Rep. Larry McDonald, D-Ga.

Rep. Phil Gramm, D-Texas, and a former Texas A&M University economics professor, said a Constitutional amendment requiring a balanced budget would "close a loophole created by history in our system. Each household, each businessman know they are restrained by what they can spend ... government deficit spending falls hardest on the poor. It's time to take preventive medicine."

The DRO resolution calls for a balanced federal budget except in time of war or if two-thirds of the House and Senate vote to depart "from budgetary balance."

White also noted that recent polls have shown the American people in favor of a balanced federal budget and "the House will follow the mandate of the general public on this issue."

White added that the judiciary committee, which will first consider the resolution, "is cognizant of the number of states calling for a constitutional convention."

Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., added that unless Congress acts, "the 50 states will force a constitutional convention to consider the question and we don't want that."

Rep. Beverly B. Byron, D-Md., noted that 28 state legislatures have "gone on record favoring a balanced federal budget so a lot of groundwork has already been taken care of."

Study Begins On Implementing Tax Relief

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - It was a taste of things to come.

The House Ways and Means Committee began workouts Thursday for future skirmishes about how to fit family farmers, urban households and the elderly into the voter-approved plan for $1 billion in tax cuts.

Committee members tentatively agreed on key provisions of legislation implementing the Tax Relief Amendment.

Highlights receiving informal approval include:

- Equal treatment of corporate and family farms in taxing agricultural land on its productivity, rather than its higher market value.
- Exemption of two personal cars per family from property taxes.

A $10,000 homestead exemption only to those elderly and disabled persons with annual incomes of $7,500 or less.

After a weekend break, the panel will start work Monday on a draft of the legislation.

Rep. Stan Schlueter, D-Salado, warned his colleagues that rural House members would amend the bill to deny any tax breaks to corporate farms.

"What it boils down to, is do you want to help the family farmers or agriculture," said Rep. Bennie Bock, D-New Braunfels.

"I don't care if you're a corporation and you own 20 acres of you're an individual and you own 20 acres," Bock said. "If you're doing the same thing with it, it makes no difference."

The committee told its staff not to distinguish between corporation farms and individually-owned tracts in a bill draft.

Members went along with Davis' proposal that only two cars or trucks per family be exempt from local property taxes.

Rep. Gerald Hill, D-Austin, suggesting exempting all personal cars since many tax assessor-collectors have said it would be almost impossible for them to track down a third car in a family.

But the chairman said if all personal cars were exempt from taxes, they also would be immune from confiscation for payment of debts.

Committee members agreed to reimburse local governments 100 percent of their lost revenue from car taxes in 1980 and 50 percent of the car taxes in 1981. Not all counties, school districts or cities tax automobiles.

Under the constitutional amendment approved in November, elderly and disabled persons may apply for a $10,000 homestead exemption in addition to exemptions granted to all homeowners.

But as the elderly population grows, some limit should be placed on the tax break, Davis said. Otherwise, too many tax bases would be frozen from 10 to 15 years, until the elderly homeowner died or sold the residence.

The committee agreed on a $7,500 maximum annual income for the disabled

Winter Weather Strikes Nation

By The Associated Press

Snow, freezing rain, sleet and freezing drizzle stretched from Michigan into the Northeast today.

Snow was over most of the Great Lakes region while in the northern portions of the Ohio Valley, snow was mixed with freezing rain and drizzle. That weather pushed to the east, into eastern Pennsylvania, Maryland and New Jersey.

Winter storm warnings were posted across the northern half of Michigan, southeastern Pennsylvania and southern New Jersey.

A storm system pushed across Oregon today, causing some light rain and snow in higher elevations from northern California to western Washington.

In the Southwest, there were some rain showers and a few isolated thunderstorms in southern New Mexico and extreme southwest Texas.

Except for drizzle in the southern half of the Ohio Valley and a little snow in the Colorado Rockies, the rest of the nation had dry weather early today.

Gray Seal Pups Born

In Louisville Zoo

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - Twin pups have been born to Lucy and Snoopy, the Louisville Zoo's gray seals, in what officials said was the first twin birth of seals in captivity.

The first arrival, a 20-pound seal, dipped into the chilly water of the harbor seal pool Thursday with Lucy, its mother, for its maiden swim about 90 minutes after birth. "The pup is very active," said Ma'ry Duane, a zoo spokeswoman. Officials have not been able to determine the sex of the babies, but they suspect that one is male and one female. The pups will be named when their gender is determined.

Ice Quakes Due To Subzero Temps

TOWNSEND, Mass. (AP) - Geologists at the Weston Observatory say subzero temperatures are causing ice quakes - buckling in the earth's outer crust, creating effects similar to small earthquakes.

The winter phenomena were reported in Harvard Monday by geologists at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and in Townsend on Tuesday. A quarter-mile crack in the earth was discovered running through a Townsend barn and two driveways. The fissure was a quarter inch across and two inches deep. Weston Chibus called the breaks "a giant frost heave."

Billy's Wife

Undergoes Tests

ATLANTA (AP) - Billy Carter's wife, Sybil, has undergone tests for phlebitis and was enjoying the "peace and quiet" at St. Joseph's Hospital, a nursing supervisor says.

"She's up and around, sneaking to the snack bar and so forth," nursing supervisor Sally Allen said Thursday.

Mrs. Carter was admitted to the hospital Wednesday after she complained of pain and swelling in her right leg, said a hospital spokeswoman, who asked not to be identified.

The tests were conducted earlier Thursday, but the results had not been completed by late Thursday. Mrs. Allen said. There was no indication how long Mrs. Carter would be hospitalized or whether further tests would be needed.

Jail Cell Preserved As Memory

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - A jail cell that held the Rev. Martin Luther King during the 1960s civil rights struggle may be preserved as a memorial.

Mayor David Vann said Thursday he wants King's cell left untouched during a court-ordered renovation of Birmingham Jail. The renovation calls for enlarging inmates' quarters by combining some of the small cells. One of those small cells was where King wrote his "letter" of resistance to black leaders.

Pawnshop Legislation Toughened

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - You might think twice about trying to start a pawnshop in the future if Sen. Tati Santiesteban has his way.

The El Paso legislator won Senate passage Wednesday of a bill requiring future pawnbrokers to prove a "good moral character," have $50,000 in net assets and pay up to $2,500 investigation fees for a license from the state consumer credit commissioner.

"This bill puts teeth in the existing pawnshop act," he said, adding Texas pawnbrokers support the bill that would make it harder to open a pawnshop.

"This will make pawnshop owners sophisticated, first-class citizens," he added.

Senators passed the bill to the House, 29-0.

The credit commissioner would consider each pawnshop license application after a public hearing. All pawnshop owners near the application's proposed location would be notified.

If a corporation runs the business, each officer, shareholder and director would have to meet the "good character" requirement.

Owners also would have to carry general liability and fire insurance and pay an annual $100 fee.

An investigation fee of $1,000 would be charged and an additional investigation fee of not more than $1,500 could be required. If the license is denied, the investigation fee would be forfeited but the $100 license fee would be returned.

Santiesteban said the bill would prevent pawnshop owners who have been indicted and convicted of crimes from retaining control of their store through relatives or friends.

Store licenses could be revoked if the commissioner discovers lack of "good moral character," or if the owner has been convicted or indicted for a crime "involving moral turpitude."

Pawnshops licensed before Oct. 1, 1979 would be exempt from the licensing and investigation procedure and would be able to maintain only $25,000 in net assets.

Persons now working at pawnshops would pay an investigation and license fee of $10, but future workers would have to pay a $25 license application fee.

Persons operating a pawnshop without a license would be subject to a $10,000 fine or one year in jail. Unlicensed employees would risk a $1,000 fine or six months in jail.

In a note on the bill's fiscal implications, the state legislative budget officer said pawnshop license applications probably would decline if the bill becomes law.

Budget officer Tom Keel said despite the expected decline in applications, the new employee license fees and higher license charges would make up for any lost revenue.

The House passed and sent to Gov. Bill Clements for signature bills that would:

-Extend from 30 to 60 days the time prosecutors have under the Speedy Trial Act to bring to trial misdemeanor cases - mainly traffic offenses - punishable only by fines.

-Appropriate $161,805 to the Board of Registration for Professional Engineers to put finishing touches - including landscaping and a sprinkler system - on the board's new office building, scheduled for completion this summer.

The Senate passed to the House bills that would:

-Establish reciprocity agreements between Texas and other states using uniform child custody laws. Texas would not have to recognize custody decisions in states not conforming to the uniform code.

-Give doctors, podiatrists, veterinarians and chiropractors the option to list fees for laboratory work done by a third party on a patient's bill. The fees would have to be listed upon a patient's request.

-Allow hospitals for the mentally ill and mentally retarded to release information about dead patients with the permission of the person's estate executor or close relative.

REUNION

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The 50 members of Arlington High School's 1925 graduating class have been a close group.

They conducted their first class reunion in 1926, their second in 1927 - and met recently for the 53rd consecutive year.

Sixteen members of the class attended the reunion. "After 53 years, lots of us are incapacitated or have already gone over the great divide and got their diploma," said Robert Fielder.

EPA Warns Of Danger

DALLAS (AP) - The Environmental Protection Agency is warning citizens to be on the lookout for cylinders of hydrogen cyanide, a potentially dangerous material used as a fumigant.

Adlene Harrison, EPA regional administrator, said that after a certain age, cylinders of the hydrogen cyanide may trigger an internal reaction resulting in an explosion.

"The force of a cylinder explosion is tremendous," Mrs. Harrison said Friday. "These cylinders represent a serious danger to the public."

The gas, stored as a liquid in the cylinders, is used as a fumigant for insect and rodent control in the grain industry and for termite control by commercial exterminators.

Mrs. Harrison said the EPA is coordinating recovery efforts with producers because of the experience it has had in the safe disposal of the cylinders.

"I want to warn the public that if anyone finds a cylinder of unknown origin, it should not be touched or disturbed in any way," Mrs. Harrison said.

"Authorities should be notified so that precautions can be taken to assure public safety."

The cylinders are distinguished by the block letter identification "HCN" and with identifying tags.

The cylinders were supposed to have been returned to the producers within 90 days of their original shipment. However, a large number of them have not been returned, the EPA said.

A major producer, Cyanamid, stopped selling liquid HCN in 1968 and has been trying to recover outstanding cylinders.

The cylinders come in 5-, 30-, 75-, and 166-pound sizes. Persons aware of such cylinders should contact Cyanamid collect at 609-799-0400. Ext. 2184.

Kidnap Witness Shot In Face

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Tex. (AP) - A South Padre Island man, expected to be a prosecution witness in the trial of a doctor indicted for kidnaping, was shot in the face early today as he went to get his morning newspaper, police here said.

Officials at Valley Community Hospital in Brownsville reported that John Hensley, 40, was in critical condition.

A suspect arrested shortly after the shooting was to be arraigned later today.

Hensley is married to the former wife of Dr. Archie Burkhalter, a Pasadena physician indicted in November for allegedly kidnaping his former wife from here in October.

Prosecutors have alleged Burkhalter entered his ex-wife's apartment, sedated her and took her to a Pasadena hospital he owns.

The doctor subsequently released his wife.

Shortly after the morning shooting, a Port Isabel police officer arrested a man on the causeway connected the island with the mainland.

Port Isabel Justice of the Peace Bud Emmons said the red Cadillac the man was driving had the back seat removed. The car was equipped with lush carpeting that ran through the trunk. Emmons also said holes cut in the trunk could allow a person to lay prone in the trunk and fire out the back.

There was no official estimate of the value of the royal properties in Iran, but unofficial estimates place their worth at several billion dollars. The shah and his family also are estimated to have foreign investments running as high as $20 billion but these are not affected by the decree.

Before leaving Iran the shah transferred title of all his personal holdings to a foundation that was to use them for the good of the people. The institution, called the Pahlavi Foundation, valued the holdings at $233.95 million.

The monarch and his immediate family moved Thursday from Marrakech, Morocco, to Rabat, the Moroccan capital, and settled in a government guest house. A correspondent for the London Daily Telegraph reported that "men around the shah" told her the monarch thinks pro-Moscow communists will soon take over in Iran and he will have to live out his life in exile.

The shah left Jan. 16 following Khomeini's year-long campaign to end "corruptive" Westernizing influences on Iran's traditionally conservative Islamic society.

Unconfirmed reports put the casualty toll in the past three days of fighting in Tabriz, Iran's fourth largest city, as high as 700 dead with thousands wounded. Radio Tehran blamed the fighting on "counter-revolutionary SAVAK agents" and said a nightly curfew remained in effect even though the revolutionary forces had regained control.

Some 65 trucks loaded with food and other commodities were reported dispatched to Tabriz.

The U.S. government hoped to start evacuating Americans Saturday, using two Boeing 747 jumbo jets chartered from Pan American World Airways. About 800 were expected to leave on the first two flights.

Pan American sent a Boeing 707 to Tehran from Bahrain today and it took off for Frankfurt, West Germany shortly after noon carrying most of its 90 employees in Iran plus any other Americans who could get aboard the 183-seat plane. The airport was heavily guarded by guerrillas loyal to Khomeini.

Six U.S. Air Force C-130 transports and five HHS3 "Jolly Green Giant" helicopters were being sent to the NATO base at Incirlik, Turkey, 850 miles from Tehran, in case they were needed for the airlift.

The U.S. government expects some 5,000 of the 7,000 Americans still in Iran to leave the country. It arranged the evacuation airlift after scores of renegade gunmen stormed the U.S. Embassy in Tehran Tuesday and held Ambassador William Sullivan and 101 Americans prisoner for several hours before the revolutionary government freed them. Two Marines were slightly wounded in the attack.

antagonisms, could be counterproductive.

Aides relayed Carter's sentiments to other Mexican officials, underscoring the American irritation.

On at least one major issue, absolutely no progress was reported after the talks' first two days. This was the annual influx of at least 500,000 Mexicans entering the United States illegally.

On this score, sources said Lopez Portillo asked for understanding and urged that U.S. employers and border patrols show sensitivity to Mexican feelings in their treatment of aliens.

The president and Mrs. Carter entertained the Mexican president and his wife at the state dinner at U.S. Ambassador Patrick J. Lucey's residence, where the visitors were staying.

Earlier, the two presidents and their wives attended a concert by the Mexico City Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Leonard Bernstein.

During the day, the Carters flew by helicopter to the remote pig farm village of Ixtioco el Grande, where they sampled the local peanut crop, mingled with farmers and school children and were serenaded by a chorus of "Dixie."

The village of 3,500 was given a fresh coat of white paint and several dozen pigs were imported for the admiration of the presidential couple.

Sugar

workable sugar policy in the U.S.

Sugar and sweetener legislation took on increasing importance in 1978, and the ranks of those working for a sugar bill began to spread into other commodity organizations during the peak of the 1978 battle over sugar.

The Texas Corn Growers Association, headquartered in Dimmitt, sent representatives to Washington to work alongside T-NMSBGA representatives in efforts on behalf of a sugar bill, and at its recent membership meeting in January, TCGA members voted to continue the sugar and sweetener legislation efforts this year.

Additional support for the domestic sugar industry concerning sugar legislation is expected to come from the National Corn Growers Association this year, as corn industry representatives work to preserve a viable sweetener market.

Foley and Ullman stressed in introducing their legislation Thursday that "many sugarbeet and cane farmers and processors, unable to make ends meet, will go out of business unless they find some relief."

The Ways and Means Committee is sharing jurisdiction over the sugar program with the Agriculture Committee because domestic crop prices are set by the duties imposed on foreign shipments, which account for about 45 percent of U.S. consumption.

An Associated Press report indicated this morning that the Carter administration will soon offer legislation that is "very close" to the Foley-Ullman bill.

The increased import duties proposed would allow American farmers to raise their prices a quarter-cent per pound for the 1978 crop, bringing the wholesale sugar price to 15.25 cents per pound.

Wholesale prices could rise up to seven percent more a year through 1982 to account for higher production costs. U.S. growers would also be given a direct subsidy of up to a half-cent per pound.

Wire service reports indicate that if cheap imported sugar were allowed to enter the country duty-free, domestic prices would be forced down 8-9 cents per pound.

The price at which foreign sugar is sold in this country has for decades set domestic prices.

Area sugar industry spokesmen have expressed concern over the livelihood of the domestic sugar industry.

They claim that maintenance of domestic production is essential to avoid dependence of the U.S. on the availability of foreign sugar, which could be cut off by oil cartel-type action.

and persons over 65 in order to qualify for the added homestead exemption. The figure could be adjusted in future committee deliberations.

Other points tentatively agreed to were:

-Determining what is agricultural land by whether it has been used to grow crops or support livestock for five of the past 15 years or by a new owner's affidavit that he will use the land principally for agricultural purposes.

-Using a capitalization rate to determine the land's productivity value based on the current Federal Land Bank rate plus 2 percent, or 10 percent whichever is greater.

-Exclude aliens and alien corporation from the revised method of computing property taxes on agricultural land.

-Allow landowners with open space property within city limits to benefit from the agricultural tax break if the municipality does not provide water, sewer service, and fire and police protection.

The Abundant Life

WE CAN BE USEFUL

BY BOB WEAR

TOO MANY PEOPLE assume the view that they cannot be useful persons. Of course, they are mistaken. They are mistaken, because all of us can do useful things. The major problem is in the limited outlook. Part of this is a failure to realize just how much there is that we can do. Too many opportunities are overlooked, because of incorrect classification of what is useful and what is not.

THERE ARE OPPORTUNITIES for usefulness all around us. In the home, the office; the shop, the schools, the neighborhood, the church, there are useful things to be done. The courtesies, the acts of thoughtfulness, the words of kindness and good cheer, the encouragement we give, the sympathetic understanding we extend, the helping hand, etc. are all ways of being useful. In fact, the possibilities of usefulness are almost unlimited.

SOMEONE MAY SAY, "but these are all such little things, and I want to do something big and exciting." It is probably a very serious mistake to call anything useful a "little" thing. Of course, by some standards, some actions and some services may, in some ways, be more helpful than some others. If, however, we make too much to do about "big" and "little" usefulness; we may spoil everything. Usefulness is usefulness, and must be seen and appreciated as such.

THE MAELSTROM ATTRACTS more notice than the quiet fountain; a comet draws more attention than the steady star. But it is better to be the fountain than the maelstrom, and the star than the comet, following out the sphere and orbit of quiet usefulness in which God places us." - J. Hall. WE HAVE A NEED to feel that we are useful, and most of us do useful things and would like to do more. Too many of us keep thinking that we would do more useful things, if we had more money. Some of us feel that we would be more useful, if we had more schooling. Then, some of us just keep telling ourselves that we would be more useful, if we had better breaks. The question is, "Are we being as useful as we can be with what we have, where we are?"

WILLINGNESS TO BE USEFUL is one of the basic requirements for a useful life. With this willingness, there must be a continuing alertness to the opportunities for being useful. These are not qualities of the self-centered life, but are prominent in the wisely mature person who is properly interested in himself; but has a genuinely wholesome regard for his fellowmen.

WE CAN BE USEFUL in many meaningful ways, and such actions have two-fold benefits. They contribute to our sense of self-fulfillment and wholesome self-satisfaction, and make significant contributions to the betterment of others and to the improvement of the total life situation.

Ann Landers Women's Rights

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My boyfriend, who is 19 years old, moved to another state. I am 17, work part-time and do baby-sitting so I have some money of my own. (I get no allowance.)

Lately I've been having terrific hassles with my parents. When Jed calls me collect they refuse to accept the call, even though I am sitting right there. They just say, "Marianne isn't at home." I don't mind paying for his calls, and as long as it's my money I don't think they have the right to do this.

My mother says in her day no respectable boy called a girl collect, and no decent girl would accept such a call. Jed has a job but he's just getting by and the only way he can talk is if I pay on my end.

We'd all like your opinion on this. -- The Sound Of His Voice

DEAR VOICE: In principle, you have a point. It's your money and if you want to spend it on collect calls from Jed, you should be able to do it. Practically, however, your mother is right. A fellow who would call his girl collect, except in case of emergency, demonstrates a lack of integrity and a surplus of poor judgment.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When a relative gives you a present you don't care for -- something you'd never select on your own -- and it doesn't fit in with the decor of your apartment, are you obligated to hang it?

What about hurt feelings? You wouldn't believe the trouble I'm having with my husband over this. As you can guess, the gift came from a member of his family. Please reply soonest. -- Hellzapoppin'

DEAR HELLA: Since the gift came from a member of the family I feel it is perfectly OK to say, "We appreciate your thoughtfulness -- the gift is lovely, but it doesn't fit in with our decor. Would you mind if we exchanged it for something more suitable?"

If your husband refuses to go along with this, agree to hang the -- er -- white elephant for a brief period of time (planned to coincide with a visit from the giver), then move it elsewhere -- to the storage room, for example.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm not a teenager. I'm a grown woman who should have known better -- but I didn't. Two weeks ago I "shoplifted" a $55 leather purse from a department store. I got away with it but I haven't had a good night's sleep since.

I hate what I did and I hate the purse. I'll never carry it. I want to return it but I'm afraid I may be arrested or told never to come into the store again. I've been told cash gets ripped off in post offices a lot these days so I'm afraid to send the money. Please suggest a solution. -- Guilt-Ridden

DEAR G.: Have a cashier's check, in the amount of $55, made out at a bank. Request that your name not appear. Send the check to the store with a note of explanation and an apology -- anonymous of course. You'll sleep better the minute the check is in the mail.

CONFIDENTIAL: Yes Or No??? Should I go? My advice is NO. It would be like asking a barber if you need a haircut.

Select Ground Beef According to Use

COLLEGE STATION - Consider use when choosing ground beef. Frances Reasonover recommends.

Miss Reasonover, a foods and nutrition specialist, is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Ground beef is marketed at three different levels of lean, she explains.

Ground beef with not less than 70 percent lean, which constitutes the regular grind, is a favorite for beef burgers, sloppy Joes, chili and spaghetti.

Ground beef with not less than 75 percent lean is selected for meat loaf, meat balls, tamale pie, noodle and rice casseroles.

Lean ground beef with not less than 80 percent lean is excellent for low-calorie diets, beef patties and combination dishes.

Waist watchers will want to choose the leaner ground beef in order to lower the dietary fat in meals, the specialist suggests.

Turner can be used in yeast breads and coffee cakes to give them a lovely golden color. But use the spice cautiously because just a dash or two goes a long way.

ADULT HUM DRUMS

The Hum Drums will get you if you don't watch out.

Oh, what happens to those bright, enthusiastic, joyful people who at one time seemed so concerned, responsible and helpful toward children and people in general.

We've all seen them rushing here and there in cars full of happy, wiggly children or picnicking in the park. They're easy to identify by the distinguishing "touch of love." A mustard kiss on the cheek or a chocolate handprint on a snow white pair of slacks. But no one cares, they're the most popular ones in the crowd. Listen and you'll hear their name called again and again.

Do these people just fade away? I think life's Hum Drums get 'em.

Energy Crisis At Moment Of Truth For U.S.

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Former presidential advisor Walt Rostow said Tuesday the United States faces a moment of truth in its energy crisis. A federal official acknowledged that the Carter administration is considering gasoline rationing.

Rostow, former advisor to the late Lyndon Johnson, said the nation has wasted five years in preparing for the energy crisis expected in the early 1980s and now must rely on its own resources.

Rostow and general counsel Lynn Coleman of the federal Department of Energy addressed the Texas Energy Advisory Council.

The council unanimously adopted a resolution calling on President Carter, Congress and the American people to launch an all-out energy effort.

The national effort would include elimination of price controls on crude oil and natural gas; accelerates granting of exploration leases and production licenses in such areas as Alaska and the North Sea; an easing of environmental restrictions; and financial incentives to use more sophisticated recovery techniques.

Rostow said the Central Intelligence Agency predicted in 1977 that crude oil demand would exceed production in 1983. He added, however, the oil crisis of the 1980s "is closer to us" because the revolution in Iran has disrupted oil exports to the United States.

Rostow said Iranian production had fallen in six weeks from six million barrels to 650,000 barrels a day, or approximately enough to meet its own domestic needs.

He predicted a possible slight decline in oil and gas production in this country this year, which would result in the United States' requirements for foreign oil rising by one million barrels a day.

Director William Fisher of the University of Texas Bureau of Economic Geology estimated oil reserves in Mexico and China at 60 billion barrels each, but Rostow said neither they - nor the Saudi Arabians - would save the United States.

Fisher said Mexico produces only 1.5 million barrels of oil a day, and its goal is 2.25 million barrels by 1980. China produces two million barrels and has a goal of eight million barrels by 1990.

And even if the chaos in Iran should end, Rostow said, there have been reports that oil production would resume at only 40 percent to 60 percent of previous levels.

"We must now at last face the task of all-out energy production," said Rostow.

"Professor Rostow, as I see it, is right as usual," said Coleman.

Rostow is a University of Texas professor of history and economics.

Coleman said the mandatory rationing of gasoline is a contingency plan but would require approval of both houses of Congress.

"We see the situation as serious, though not critical," said Coleman.

He said the United States is drawing 500,000 barrels a day from its crude oil stocks, but added, "If production is restored in Iran, we might not have to resort" to severe conservation measures.

He said the administration is urging compliance with the 55 mile-an-hour speed limit, driving less and setting thermostats at 65 degrees in the winter and 80 in the summer.

Should mandatory measures prove necessary, Coleman said, the administration is considering closing service stations on Sunday and requiring specific thermostat settings in large buildings, including apartment complexes.

He said more drastic measures, such as gasoline rationing, would be sent to Congress by the end of the month but would be "placed on the shelf for standby capacity."

State Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown asked Rostow what he recommended for immediate action, and Rostow made these proposals:

-Deregulation of prices on oil and natural gas, with legislation requiring "windfall profits" to be ploughed back into production.

-A prompt settlement of the standoff between production and environmental restraints.

-A decision on whether production should be undertaken on federal land, which has as much as 80 percent of the nation's natural resources.

-Collaboration between private and public sectors in developing technology to produce synthetics, coal, lignite, shale, solar and geothermal energy.

"We're going to need everything we have," he said.

HEW Orders Warning

WASHINGTON (AP) - HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr., today ordered that doctors and other health specialists be warned about the risks of propoxyphene - the key ingredient in the popular prescription pain-reliever called Darvon.

Califano also ordered a hearing April 6 to discuss whether the Food and Drug Administration should take steps to limit the availability of the drug.

He said the FDA would recommend by June 1 whether propoxyphene should be placed under more stringent government rules that would limit its use.

Califano denied a motion by the Health Research Group, an organization founded by consumer advocate Ralph Nader, to ban the drug immediately as an imminent health hazard.

Propoxyphene is the key ingredient in Darvon, the trade name used by Eli Lilly and Co. It also is sold as propoxyphene and under the names of Darvon Compound and Darvocet N.

Califano said propoxyphene, the third most frequently prescribed pain reliever, is "generally not dangerous" when taken as directed but said it now is ranked second to barbiturates as the prescription drug most often associated with suicides. It also has been implicated in some accidental deaths, particularly when mixed with alcohol or tranquilizers, he said. And it is addictive, he said, although not as addictive as heroin or morphine.

Director Promises Changes In Federal Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) - Budget Director James T. McIntyre Thursday promised "the most sweeping changes in regulatory management in our nation's history" as part of the anti-inflation program.

The Carter administration is taking aim at regulations which it considers costly to business, forcing them to pass on costs to the consumer.

Many businesses have complained of excessive costs from pollution, safety and paperwork regulations.

While contending that regulations are needed, the administration says some efforts duplicate others and some are unnecessary.

In a speech to the Business Council, McIntyre said, "Our proposals will demand a review of every government regulation within a specific time period."

"Our proposals will allow the public to help shape regulations in a way that was not existent before," he told the corporation chairmen.

"And our proposals...will enable you to take a look at significant proposed regulations at the initial stages of development and not after they are already on the books," McIntyre said. "We are discovering - to the surprise of some - that we can live without certain regulations.

"The withdrawal symptoms from air transport regulation turned out to be higher profits and lower fares."

Television Movie Changes Bavarian Villagers

NEW YORK (AP) - In the Bavarian village of Oberammergau, the townspeople were reported in a mood of shaken bewilderment in the wake of the German television showing of "Holocaust," a drama of the Nazi slaughter of Jews.

"There is a feeling of shock throughout much of Oberammergau," Hans Schwaighofer was quoted. He is director of a proposed changed text for the village's world-renowned "Passion Play," whose past versions have been widely criticized as anti-Semitic.

His comment was among reactions gathered from West German sources by the American Jewish Committee, which says the NBC-made TV film evidently has produced "an earthquake in the German soul."

"It's a turning point," says Rabbi Marc H. Tanenbaum, the committee's interreligious affairs director. "Nothing since World War II has so permeated the mentality of the German people."

He says extensive telephone checks with German officials and other community leaders indicate the impact has been far greater than U.S. press accounts have indicated, opening channels for widened interreligious dialogue and affecting the German political climate.

For instance, he says, west German polls found that the proportion of people favoring extension of time for Nazi war crimes trials beyond its scheduled expiration this year tripled from only 14 percent before the TV showing to 47 percent afterward.

As a result of the new openness on the issue, the American Jewish Committee is organizing a study in depth by German social scientists of the show's impact among German Protestants and Catholics, and the implications for the future.

"It's an unprecedented opportunity to deal with Nazism in Germany in a cooperative way that was never possible before," he says.

Among German Jews, now numbering 27,000 in West Germany, a remnant of the 500,000 in pre-war Germany, Tanenbaum says indications were that the film brought "a sense of historic development" in the national climate.

Tanenbaum says the telephone checks gave particular attention to reactions in the village of Oberammergau, where the famed "Passion Play" has been produced each decade for more than a century, attracting hundreds of thousands of tourists.

There, "the impact has been tremendous," Schwaighofer was quoted. "Many people are walking around the streets of the village saying, 'God's sake!' shaking their heads in disbelief. 'How did we let it happen?'"

The Consumer Alert
by Mark White
Attorney General

AUSTIN—As the cost of living continues to rise, so does the number of deceptive offers urging individuals to "make money at home in your spare time."

While such gimmicks are not new, they are especially unwelcome during a time when many consumers are searching for ways to earn enough to meet their obligations, and when they may be counting on earnings from the advertised "work at home" plan to succeed.

Lawyers in our Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division say that although there are many legitimate offers for persons to make money from work done in the home, it seems that at present the fraudulent plans are the ones that are proliferating.

Such work at home schemes are most often advertised in newspapers or magazines. They can generally be identified because they almost always promise high profits for little work, and because they require the respondent to pay money to get further information or to get the items that must be sold to make a profit.

The main thing to remember about deceptive work at home plans, according to our attorneys, is that they are selling something rather than offering employment.

For instance, the U.S. Postal Inspector, who is charged with enforcing mail fraud laws, frequently deals with operators who sell scraps of materials and instructions for turning them into salable items such as earrings, supposedly to be sold at high prices to persons on mailing lists which also are supplied to the consumer.

Almost all of the persons who respond to such ads not only have no profits to show, but they are also out the expenses of the materials, mailing lists, and postage.

One other typical aspect of the phony work at home scheme is that the consumer is led to believe the company will buy back the products "if they are up to our standards" in case they do not sell.

Typically, the goods don't sell, the company won't buy them back, and the consumer ends up with a gross or two of the product in his or her garage.

Other deceptive tactics include companies that offer for sale instruction booklets and other material to be resold for a profit. Sometimes the consumer doesn't receive shipment after sending payment. Other times the publications are ones that could have been obtained for free, usually from the U.S. Government Printing Office.

For instance, he says, west German polls found that the proportion of people favoring extension of time for Nazi war crimes trials beyond its scheduled expiration this year tripled from only 14 percent before the TV showing to 47 percent afterward.

As a result of the new openness on the issue, the American Jewish Committee is organizing a study in depth by German social scientists of the show's impact among German Protestants and Catholics, and the implications for the future.

Early Development Important For Child

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

As a teacher of physical education, Terry Parker knows the good that can come from having small children take part in basic exercise and gymnastics classes and she is doing her part to give the kids in the Hereford vicinity that opportunity.

With the emphasis on learning the beginning motor skills, Mrs. Parker has started a class at the Hereford YMCA to teach these programs to area children.

"The class concept concentrates on the children learning to use their bodies to the greatest advantage," Mrs. Parker said. "If the child can learn to hop or be able to jump in control - that is to not lose his balance while jumping, then the class as far as the individual student is concerned will be a success."

Other than teaching the basic motor skills, the development class will also stress the learning of basic skills, such as tumbling, skipping and other coordinated activities. Being able to master what the class offers will give the child the ability to do better in other activities at a later time.

A graduate of Arizona State University with a degree in Physical Education, Mrs. Parker is interested in teaching the elementary and younger aged children.

"It is rewarding to see that the students I am responsible for, start to comprehend and succeed in what is being taught," Mrs. Parker said. "Although I am certified to teach P.E. at all levels, the satisfaction of seeing the student learn something new is very rewarding and this happens more often in the younger children."

The class which meets at the YMCA office in Sugarland Mall on Tuesday and Thursday at four p.m. and is open to any youngster 3-5 years old. Cost for the class is $11.00 for non-members and six dollars for YMCA members.

UCLA Miracle Stops ASU

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Those Hollywood endings are all the same: "It's UCLA every time, it seems."

Hard to beat anywhere - but almost impossible at home - the second-ranked Bruins turned an apparent loss into a victory at Pauley Pavilion Thursday night, beating Arizona State 85-83 with some late-game theatrics.

"We had the game absolutely won," said Arizona State Coach Ned Wulk, stunned by the dramatic turn of events. "It was completely disheartening to lose. Everything was happening at the other end of the court and we couldn't get any information to the players."

What happened was certainly enough to frustrate any coach.

The Sun Devils had an 83-79 lead with nine seconds left, but fouled Roy Hamilton at this point and the UCLA guard made two free throws. Then UCLA's Kiki Vandeweghe stole the inbound pass from Arizona State's Tony Zeno and was fouled by Zeno in the resulting action. Vandeweghe made two shots to tie the game at 83 with seven seconds to play.

Blake Taylor missed a 20-foot shot for the Sun Devils with five seconds to play and Zeno fouled Holland on the rebound.

"There was no doubt that Brad Holland was fouled," said UCLA Coach Gary Cunningham. "The only question was, had time expired?"

It hadn't - and the call went UCLA's way. Whereupon, Holland converted both shots with many UCLA fans hanging expectantly at the rim of the court. Holland sank the first shot of the one-and-one situation for the winning point, then put in the other while the UCLA fans swarmed around him at the foul line.

"We just have to make it exciting, I guess," said Vandeweghe.

Elsewhere, top-ranked Indiana State remained undefeated after 24 games, beating Southern Illinois 69-68; third-ranked Notre Dame blasted Mahattan 86-63; No. 8 Michigan State stopped Indiana 59-47; No. 9 Louisville tripped St. Louis 78-62.

UCLA, the Pac-10 leader with an 11-2 record and 19-3 overall, trailed 40-27 at halftime before rallying to take the lead late in the game. Then the Bruins lost it for a while before their heart-stopping finish.

"Luck was just with us tonight," said Cunningham. "I felt my team thought the game was over when they were down by four points in the last nine seconds. But I never felt we were out of the game. I never do. I've seen teams win like that in the last seconds. For one of the few times this year, everything I planned in the end worked out."

Lietzke Leads After First Round At Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - Bruce Lietzke said he knew it had to happen. It was just a matter of when.

"My putting always comes around," he said. "Sometimes I can get pretty frustrated waiting for it, but I always know it will come around sometime."

Now it's back: back to the tune of a pace-setting 7-under-par 63 in the first round of the $250,000 Joe Garagiola-Tucson Open golf tournament. His only question now is: how long will it last?

"If I keep on putting like this, and I have a certain amount of confidence in my putting - now, it's going to be a wild weekend.

And I'm talking about low numbers. Very low numbers. Maybe even lower than this."

Lietzke, the cross-handed putter who holds the Canadian Open title, one-putted nine times in the warm sunshine to establish a 1-stroke lead Thursday. Just off his shoulder at 64 were former Masters champ Tommy Aaron, rookie Mike Brannan, Curtis Strange and Jim Nelford, a left-handed putter from Canada.

Frank Beard, who has been within sight of the $1 million mark in career earnings for the past two seasons; Frank Conner and John Schroeder shot 65s on the 6,708 yard Randolph Municipal course, which is being played this season on a once-only basis while Tucson National, the traditional site for this event, is being renovated.

Arnold Palmer struggled to a 72 - only 2 over par but a relatively high number in the extremely low overall scoring - and must improve if he is to make the cut for the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. Hubert Green, the winner of last week's Hawaiian Open, had a 74 and also was in danger of failing to qualify.

Bronco Meeting March 4

The Bronco Baseball organization will have a meeting March 4 to discuss the rules, policies and the dates of tryouts.

Everyone interested in the league and its operation is welcome to attend. Parents of prospective players and those interested in coaching as well as coaches and managers should be there. Buddy Peeler, president of the league announced.

Bronco is affiliated with the local Kid's Incorporated organization, with leagues for boys ages 7-12. Leagues include T-Ball for the 7-8 age group. Minor league for 9-10 years old and the major league for 11-12 years old boys.

Youth Cage Coaches Needed

The YMCA will be starting its youth basketball league the first part of March and coaches and girl players are still needed according to Program Director Weldon Knabe.

The league, which will be for third through sixth graders, will have its games played on Saturday as well as having practice the same day. Teams will be comprised of a third and fourth grade league and a fifth and sixth grade league for boys and for girls, if possible.

If there are not enough girls to have the two leagues, the four grades will be combined to form one group Knabe said. "This is a change from last year where the boys and girls played on the same team, which we felt was not fair for everyone involved." Coaches are very much in need, with anyone high school age or older eligible to coach.

The entire league operations will take place on one day, Saturday, with the team practicing the hour before they play. Knabe said. Games will be played in the high school gym with practices in the adjacent girls' gym. "That way it only takes two hours out of a person's weekly schedule with a practice day and availability of a gym not having to be worried about," Knabe said.

Anyone interested in coaching or playing for a team should contact the YMCA office at Sugarland Mall or call 364-6990.

Cosmos Play

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) - The Cosmos, champions of the North American Soccer League, will make their only appearance this year against the Detroit Express in an exhibition game March 20 at the Pontiac Silverdome.

That is the final game of an eight-game exhibition schedule announced Thursday by the Express, which leaves Sunday for Florida to open training camp. The Express will later travel to Bermuda and Europe to complete their preseason work.

Players Contemplate Strike Against NFL

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - National Football League owners could face a player strike because they "are refusing to talk" to free agents, Ed Garvey says.

Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, claimed Thursday at the players' annual meeting that the owners are conspiring to by-pass the NFL's collective bargaining agreement.

"Management is in breach of the collective bargaining agreement," Garvey said at a news conference, "and because they are in breach we do not feel we are bound by the no-strike agreement."

Although he would not say a strike was definitely coming, Garvey remarked that it was "certainly" a possibility. The key issue, Garvey said, is that the clubs won't talk with players who have become free agents.

"They've just decided not to bid for anyone else's players," he said. "Can we prove that? I don't know."

Garvey said that none of the 104 free agents at the end of last season have been signed by new clubs, and that in the previous year, only six out of 126 free agents went to other teams.

The NFLPA's contract with the owners gives a free agent's old club the right of first refusal, and the opportunity to match any offer a free agent receives from another club.

Any club signing a free agent must turn over draft choices according to a formula based on the salary it pays the free agent signed.

The NFLPA staged a strike during training camp in 1974.

The meeting, called by Garland DePrang, Wister Cleverger and Larry Garvin, is being held to discuss the possibilities of sunflower production in the local area. Cougars Waylay Raiders, 103-89

HOUSTON (AP) - Texas Tech Coach Gerald Myers says he knew his Red Raiders would have a tough game against the Houston Cougars—but his players apparently didn't get the message.

The underdog Cougars hit nine of their first 10 shots from the field and finished the game with their best shooting percentage of the season, 63.2 percent, en route to a 103-89 victory in the lone Southwest Conference basketball game scheduled Thursday night.

"Instead of coming out real dedicated, we seemed to be kind of satisfied tonight," said Myers, whose Raiders suffered their worst loss of the season. "Houston started out great, like they were ready to play."

"Our guys just didn't realize what they were getting into. This was the last home game for Houston's seniors and I knew they would have a lot of emotion."

Emotion and a hot-hand. The Cougars hit 63.9 percent from the field in the first half when they outscored the Raiders 19-2 to start the game and led by 28 points, 54-26 at halftime.

The Red Raiders, who had their five-game winning streak snapped, joined the shooting duel in the second half by hitting 67 percent but the Cougars didn't slow down, finishing the game with a 63.2 percent average.

The Cougars, led by Ken Williams with 27 points, were hot on offense, but Coach Guy Lewis was just as pleased with his team's defense.

"That could have been the best defense we've played all year," Lewis said. "I was really pleased with our defense the first 20 minutes."

Tech dropped to a 17-7 overall record and a 9-5 SWC standard prior to a showdown Saturday against the University of Texas in Austin.

"I don't know how this is going to affect us for the Longhorns," Myers said. "You just can't predict those things."

Geoff Huston and freshman David Little got Tech started in the second half. The pair shared scoring honors for the Raiders with 19 points each. Huston had one point at halftime and Little had six.

Houston closes out its regular season schedule Saturday against Arkansas while Tech must face Texas in Austin Saturday and then host Arkansas Tuesday.

Rockets Slip By Trailblazers 119-116

HOUSTON (AP) - Moses Malone says the Houston Rockets need to do one thing during the next 10 games.

"We have to play good defense and hustle on the road if we're going to win," said Malone, who scored 33 points and grabbed 18 rebounds in Houston's 119-116 National Basketball Association victory over Portland Thursday night.

"Defense is going to win the games for us. It's going to be very important for us to play well because nine of our next ten game are on the road."

Malone scored 10 points in the third quarter to help key a Rocket burst which saw Houston take a 92-83 lead at the end of the period.

Houston, which had trailed by 11 points in the second quarter, took the lead for good 65-63 with 10 minutes remaining in the third period.

Rick Barry, who added 20 points for Houston, said the Rockets started to play defense in the third quarter.

"We weren't playing defense the first part of the game," Barry said. "We were playing slow motion basketball. In the second half, we started getting the ball into Moses more and shutting off the middle."

The Blazers pulled within two points twice late in the fourth quarter, but Malone scored each time to help ice the victory.

Ron Brewer led Portland with 30 points and says the transition from the college ranks to professional basketball isn't as difficult as some people believe.

"It's not like a lot of people think," he said. "There are a lot more better players out there but you just have to go out and play the game."

Portland plays the same type of offense as we did it Arkansas - a set type."

The victory was Houston's fifth in its last six games and moved the Rockets within one game of first place San Antonio in the NBA Central Division.

The loss snapped Portland's five game winning streak and was only the Blazers' second loss in their last 10 games.

Bills Enter Scouting Group

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) - The Buffalo Bills have entered into a National Football League scouting combine with the Dallas Cowboys, Seattle Seahawks and San Francisco 49ers, the team said Thursday.

Stingley Slowly Recovering

BOSTON (AP) - Paralyzed wide receiver Darryl Stingley recalls watching his New England Patriots on television, thinking: "I could almost feel myself down there playing."

"I was just coming into my own as a player. I was just learning about the game," Stingley said Thursday in his first news conference since suffering a spinal cord injury late in a 1978 National Football League exhibition game.

Speaking to reporters in Boston by telephone from the Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago, Stingley said he has had no communication - "none whatsoever" - from Jack Tatum, the Oakland Raiders safety who smashed into the Patriots receiver on a pass play last Aug. 12.

Stingley's doctor praised the player's rehabilitation. But when asked if Stingley will ever walk, Dr. Vin Sahgal said, "No comment."

But the doctor said "the sky is the limit" for Stingley's recovery, adding, "You never say there's something a patient can never do. Ignorance in this field is colossal."

"He can now feel touch and pressure in his lower extremities," Sahgal said. "It means that part of the spinal cord may be intact. He can hope to use his legs for something functional."

The conference call was held in the office of Stingley's lawyer, Jack Sands of Boston. Sands and the player's wife, Tina, announced the establishment of a trust fund that will accept donations to pay for the education of Stingley's two boys, ages 10 and 7.

NFL players and New England fans already have donated more than $25,000 to Stingley. Patriots insurance covers his medical bills. This month, he will begin receiving an NFL pension of $2,000 per month, retroactive to Aug. 12, and Social Security payments.

Sands was unable to provide a dollar total for the injured player's medical bills.

Stingley has some use of his right hand and can feed himself with aid from mechanical devices.

"I'm doing pretty good, surprisingly," said the 27-year-old former Purdue star in a voice at times barely audible.

Stingley answered only questions he had screened in

Houston Narrow Favorite In SWC Track

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) - The Houston Cougars are fast becoming a Southwest Conference indoor track and field dynasty. They seek their third consecutive title tonight in the sixth annual event at the Tarrant County Convention Center.

The Cougars have excellent talent in the field events and could possibly sweep the hurdles to rate the favorite's role once again.

Houston Coach Tom Tellex gives opponents their due but points out: "We will be tough."

Tellex said: "I think Arkansas and Texas A&M will be tough, too, and it will be close. Of course, you never can count out Baylor."

"I don't know about Texas because I have not seen them at any of the meets. Arkansas is very good. They didn't have any men for the field events last year. Now, they do, and they finished with 66 points last year."

The preliminaries start at 1:30 p.m. today with finals beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the 11,000-seat convention center.

Officials were hoping for a crowd of 10,000 after falling into hard luck last year when a snowstorm hit, limiting attendance to only the hardy.

Houston scored 93 points with Baylor finishing second with 87.

Baylor Coach Clyde Hart isn't so certain the Bears can get that close again.

"This league has improved tremendously over the past year because this season it will be a five-team race instead of a three-team race as in years past," said Hart. "I look for Arkansas, Houston, Texas A&M, Texas and Baylor as the contenders with Rice given an outside shot."

Tellex has point-producing hurdlers in Charles Whigham, a transfer from Texas Southern, and Jeff Marino. They finished 1-2 in a recent Oklahoma City meet in the 60-yard hurdles.

The Cougars return two of the eight individual champions - Brett Dames, who established a record 16-7 leap in the pole vault and Mark Baughman, who has been over 60 feet in the shot put.

Baylor has always been a threat in this meet, winning one and never finishing lower than second.

"This year's meet, by far, will be our toughest challenge we've ever had to either finish first or second," said Hart.

Texas A&M football star Curtis Dickey will be the favorite in the premier event - the 60-yard dash. Dickey has been running well against some of the finest competition in the country in recent meets in California, New Mexico and New York.

New Giant GM Forced To Hurry

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - By all accounts, the New York Giants didn't give their new general manager much time to think about their offer.

"A lot of things went through my mind, but I recognize a good job when I see one," George Young said Wednesday night when he met the media. "By nature I would have liked to try and sleep on it, which I was not able to do."

"We told him it would be desirable to make up his mind fast," Giants co-owner Wellington Mara said.

Young was contacted by Mara early Tuesday morning. He was on an 8 a.m. flight Wednesday morning from Fort Lauderdale. He met the Maras in the National Football League headquarters and spent the balance of the day discussing the job.

"The biggest challenge is picking a coach and evaluating the people inside and making decisions by draft time in May," Young said. "I will have a lot to say with making a strong recommendation for a coach."

But with any major decision I will have to talk with the ownership."

The Giants have already interviewed Seattle's Jerry Rhome and Joe Restic of Harvard. Wellington Mara informally interviewed Dan Reeves of Dallas two weeks ago.

SMU Wins Recruiting War

HOUSTON (AP) - Southern Methodist broke out on top in the Southwest Conference football recruiting race when the Mustangs bolted from the gate to sign blue-chip running sensation Craig James.

"Obviously we are ecstatic, we are just ecstatic," said SMU Coach Ron Meyer after he inked the Houston Stratford star to a SWC letter of intent Thursday.

"I'm just glad it's over," said James, who set an all-time Class 4A rushing record of 2,411 yards and was considered one of the two most sought-after schoolboy running backs in the state.

"We think Craig adds tremendously to a great class already coming to SMU," said Meyer. "We are really excited."

That Mustang stable of new recruits includes seven athletes named in the Dallas Times Herald 1978 blue-chip list, compiled in a secret ballot by conference coaches.

James played down reports he had wavered in his commitment to play football at SMU after hearing reports the Mustangs could be in hot water with the National Collegiate Athletic Association over re-ruitment of another offensive wizard - running back Eric Dickerson of Sealy.

"I have tried to get Eric to come to SMU," said James. "I am not afraid of competition, I love competition and I would like to play in the same backfield with Eric. I'm not worried. I'm not going to be a blocking back."

Earlier, James declined to identify the persons who warned him of impending recruiting problems at SMU. "I don't want to do that. Let's just say some other college coaches and some members of the media," said James.

A new Pontiac Trans Am is the driving force behind the controversy swirling around the annual conference recruiting wars.

Dickerson, probably the most sought-after Texas running back, is driving the new car that he said was a gift from his grandmother.

And the speculation now is that Dickerson will be driving that car to SMU in the fall.

NCAA investigators have talked to Dickerson about that car and an unidentified source at Texas A&M, which originally

Donald F. Graff
Son of Proposition 13

Never underestimate the power of a popular movement to panic the political establishment - particularly a movement concerned with something as popular as money.

California's Proposition 13 is perhaps the most recent spectacular case in point. But that tax-slashing measure, affecting directly only one state and the result of a mere referendum, is bush league compared to the movement now underway to impose a balanced budget upon the federal government.

The means would be a constitutional amendment. And with approval already having been voted by more than a score of legislatures, the movement is almost in sight of the 34 states necessary to summon a constitutional convention for the purpose.

California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., from whom new highs - or lows - in political trendiness came as no surprise since Proposition 13 opened his eyes to the relationship between wallets and votes, joined up early. He

HEALTH
Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Sciatica is a symptom

DEAR DR. LAMB - The doctor has told my husband he has sciatica, as he has so much pain in his right leg and hip. Do you have any information on this problem that you can give me?

DEAR READER - Sciatica is a nonspecific term. It is related to pain in the hip, down the back of the thigh, sometimes to the back and side of the calf, and to the foot. Basically, it's a symptom and you have to look beyond that to see what is causing the problem.

The pain can be caused from some irritation or inflammation of the sciatic nerve which runs to the areas I mentioned. In about 90 percent of the cases of "sciatica," the problem is related to the spine itself. This can be either because of arthritis, disease in the intervertebral disc or some disease in the sacroiliac joint.

Pain is usually the most prominent symptom. Depending upon which nerves are involved, there may be lack of sensation, tinglings and other symptoms including the sensation of "pins and needles." It's not necessary to have these symptoms, however, and still have irritation of the sciatic nerve with pain.

How should it be treated? That depends entirely upon what is causing the irritation of the sciatic nerve. If it happened to be external compression of the nerve, for any reason, some of these can be corrected. A good example here might be a ruptured disc in the lumbar spine area. Most cases are benefited by physiotherapy, others require surgery.

The next time you see your doctor ask him what's causing the sciatica and perhaps he'll have time to discuss that with you as well as what might be done in your husband's particular case.

Since sciatica is often caused by osteoarthritis, I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-10 to give you more information about this common problem. Others who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10018.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Please explain an abdominal aneurysm. Can it be seen visibly? I have a lump the size of a marble about five inches to the right of my navel and have had for four years. My family doctor says it might be a cyst. I am concerned because my father died of an abdominal aneurysm at age 57. I am a male, age 47.

DEAR READER - An aneurysm of the abdominal aorta means a sacular dilatation of the main artery in front of the spine. It supplies all the abdominal organs. This sacular dilatation occurs because the wall of the aorta weakens.

You can see or feel an abdominal aneurysm if it's large enough, and some of them can become fairly large. You may not see small ones except with X-ray studies. Since the aorta is just in front of the spine, there are a lot of abdominal organs in front of it. When an abdominal aneurysm becomes visible, it's usually a fairly central, rounded mass. It's not something you'd expect to see as far as five inches to the side of the navel.

I have no way of knowing what your lump may be, but it could be a small, fatty tumor or a cyst, as your doctor has suggested.

is reported preparing to launch a nationwide "balance the budget" campaign which only incidentally might also enhance his presidential availability. Right on, Jerry!

Other political names, especially of the governor's own Democratic persuasion, take notably different views of the prospective amendment. President Carter finds it "dangerous," to Sen. Edward Kennedy it is "ominous" and from labor's George Meany comes the definitive evaluation of "a very dangerous, right-wing legislative threat."

The predominant response in Republican ranks is handwringing. On the one hand, there is concern that Democrats could pre-empt a traditional Republican issue - economy in government. On the other, there's recognition of the dangerous oversimplification of the idea and the possibility that as political issues go, it might well turn out to be more effective as a boomerang.

It is not necessary to oppose fiscal responsibility on the federal level to be able to shoot holes in this proposal for achieving it. A constitutional convention is a cumbersome approach, has not been utilized since the original gathering and conceivably could become a "runaway" - rewriting the entire document.

The foremost consequence of a constitutional budgetary limitation might be fiscal chaos, depriving an administration of the flexibility necessary to meet economic and political crises. The entire nation could become a Cleveland. Further, it is no service to the nation to clutter the Constitution with matters better handled through the existing political processes. An amendment would not be an adequate substitute for responsible performance in the public interest on the part of an administration and the Congress, or of state government.

The latter has not been showing up too well on the amendment business. The kindest word for the haste with which many legislatures have endorsed the convention call is "unseemly." Less thought and debate has been devoted to the issue in several chambers than to changes in local speed limits - considerably less, since deviations from the nationwide 55 miles-per-hour could cost a state funds from the federal highway program.

Which brings us back to money and a possible ourselves way of easing federal budget problems. As a New York congressman, Rep. Peter Peyser, suggested to Governor Brown, California might consider giving up the funds it receives from Washington under the myriad state and local aid programs. That at a stroke would cut the budget deficit by close to $4 billion. And if all the states renounced their federal doles, it could be wiped out altogether.

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Feb. 16, the 47th day of 1979. There are 318 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1959, Fidel Castro was sworn in as the premier of Cuba after the overthrow of the Batista regime.

On this date:
In 1804, a force of American servicemen under Lt. Stephen Decatur slipped into the North African port of Tripoli and burned a U.S. frigate that had been captured by pirates.

In 1846, the first Texas state legislature met in Austin.

In 1862, during the Civil War, about 15,000 Confederate soldiers surrendered at Fort Donelson, Tenn.

In 1871, the Franco-Prussian war ended in a defeat for France.

In 1967, 13 American helicopters were shot down in fighting over South Vietnam.

In 1968, New York Sen. Robert Kennedy announced he would seek the Democratic nomination for president.

Ten years ago: The lunar new year was observed in Vietnam with a truce broken only by minor skirmishes.

Five years ago: The foreign ministers of Egypt and Saudi Arabia arrived in Washington for talks about the Arab oil embargo against the United States.

One year ago: Japan and China signed a $20 billion trade pact in Peking.

Today's birthday: British movie director John Schlesinger is 53.

Thought for today: Sin and dandelions are very much alike. To get rid of them is a lifetime fight, and you never quite win it - William Allen White, American writer, 1868-1944.

The Lighter Side

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - A local advertising agency didn't want to turn out a turkey of an ad for a client's poultry processing equipment. Only a chic chick would do.

So the idea hatched by the Shimer-vonCantz agency was to deliver a chicken stepping out of a chauffeur-driven silver Rolls Royce. The ad was for the Frick Co. of Waynesboro, which wanted to show its products in poultry processing plants owned by Holly Farms.

"We got offers for a chicken that could be hypnotized, someone offered us a stuffed one, and someone even wanted to give us a turkey," said Valerie Brauckman of Shimer-vonCantz.

Then they were introduced to "Sophie" through the Dawn Animal Agency in New York.

A problem, though, was how to keep Sophie from fouling up the ad. Chickens normally don't pose for still photographers.

"We excited someone with a whip, you know, a trainer," said Miss Brauckman. "But all he did was turn the chicken upside down, shake it around, then turn it right side up.

"It just sat there dazed for five minutes. That's how we got all those still shots."

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) - A spur of the moment yen for whipped topping got Tony Harold in a jam.

The 20-year-old Moscow man pleaded guilty Tuesday to a charge of petty larceny, was fined $100 plus court costs and was placed on six months probation by 2nd District Magistrate Robert Felton.

Harold opened a can of dessert-topping while walking through a local grocery store. He took the top off the can, squirted some of the topping into his mouth, replaced the cap, put the can back on the shelf and walked out of the store.

OUR GREATEST LEADERS HAVE BEEN GUIDED BY FAITH

The leaders and founding fathers of free nations who are remembered and honored throughout their country's history have all had several things in common, despite their differences in personality and temperament. Without exception, they have been men of strong character, with an unselfish devotion to duty, a determination to overcome every obstacle and a complete subordination of all personal glory to the best interests of their country. They were men with a kind of principle that is hard to find today, and this was largely a result of their faith, upon which they depended for guidance during the dark hours of adversity. Attend the Church of your choice and learn some of this faith with which our revered leaders gave us our priceless heritage of freedom.

"Behold, I have given him for a witness to the people, a leader and commander to the people."
—Isaiah 55:4

One language held his heart and lip,
Straight onward to his goal he trod,
And proved the highest statesmanship
Obedience to the voice of God.
