

Bone excavation continues

No pathology report yet

Yellow police ribbon sectioned off the yard at 307 Roosevelt today while authorities excavated for bones discovered Monday following a teenage girl's report of being abducted and beaten at the two-story house.

According to the Deaf Smith County district attorney's office, an Amarillo forensic pathologist, Dr. Ralph Erdmann, expects to determine today whether the bones are human. Erdmann took some bone samples Monday.

Justice of the Peace O.K. Neal said Monday that the county had a duty to assume the bones are human until proven otherwise, however no positive evidence that the bones were human had been found early today.

The search began at about 2:30 p.m. Monday after the 17-year-old girl told authorities that she was beaten at the home Sunday night and saw the bones. District Attorney Roland Saul said the girl was not raped.

Lawmen found an opening in the floor of the north bathroom downstairs. Underneath was a hole or dug out area stretching 10 to 15 feet southwest of the floor opening. The resident of that address, Florentino Carbajal, 20, has been arrested on charges of aggravated assault.

According to the district attorney's office, the girl had previously lived with Carbajal, but had moved out.

She was treated at Deaf Smith General Hospital and released on Monday.

Reagan rejects deficit reduction package

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of President Reagan's Republican allies are bitterly questioning his leadership after he sent the latest congressional budget effort into a tailspin by rejecting a proposal for higher taxes and a delay in Social Security increases.

"We made the offer, the president said no. That's over," said Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan. "I think for a while, at least ... there'll not be too many Republican senators listening to pleas from the White House on anything."

Dole said some GOP senators expressed disbelief Monday when the president torpedoed the Senate's three-year, $338 billion deficit-reduction package without offering Congress any new plan for reviving stalled budget negotiations or stopping the flow of government red ink.

It was the second time this year the president has walked away from a politically sensitive deficit-reduction package pushed by GOP senators.

The president's problems with majority Republicans in the Senate were sure to come up today in a White House meeting between Reagan and GOP leaders from the House and Senate.

"No process of Congress is any better than the will and the leadership that is forthcoming," said Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., chairman of the Senate Budget Committee. "In this case, there is not a will to address this huge deficit, and the White House has indicated that the significant portions of real deficit reduction are off the table."

Nonetheless, it appeared all but certain that Congress will begin a monthlong recess Friday with no more than a modest package of domestic spending cuts in place to combat the deficit. Some legislators said even that may not be possible.

"Any chance for this year getting a real, significant, reliable, credible deficit-reduction package is gone," Domenici said.

Reagan rejected the centerpiece provisions of the Senate's package, which included:

—Imposing a $5-a-barrel fee on imported crude oil and a $10 fee on refined products. This would have raised an estimated $25 billion over three years.

—Making inflation adjustments in Social Security and other benefit programs every two years, instead of annually. This would have saved $12 billion through 1988.

—Adjusting personal income tax rates to account for inflation every two years instead of annually. This would have saved $7 billion over three years.

The plan was projected to trim next year's expected $230 billion deficit by $65 billion.

Conferees from the House and Senate, seeking to draft a compromise version of fiscal 1986 budgets passed by each chamber, have been deadlocked for weeks, and the new Senate package was a last-ditch effort to spur movement.

Two TRLA cases reversed by appeal

A case concerning farm workers in South Carolina will have an impact on agriculture producers throughout the country, according to Texas Rural Legal Aid attorney Randall Marshall, because a ruling has established that the grower is the employer of the worker and is responsible for payment of minimum wage.

And in another case, a local vegetable shed has been ruled to not be exempted as a farm labor contractor.

Barrett-Fisher Co. of Hereford has been declared a farm labor contractor and is placed on the Oct. 21 docket at district court to settle further issues in a wage dispute case.

An appeal to the Fifth Circuit Court in New Orleans has reversed rulings made earlier in the case by Judge Mary Lou Robinson in Amarillo.

Judge Robinson now must rule on whether any violations were committed by the company and, if so, what the monetary damages would be.

The class action suit involves 100 to 150 workers who allege three violations of a federal wage law. The court has the authority to award up to $500 per person per violation.

The other case involves three migrant worker families from Dimmitt who were recruited by Waldo Galan, a crew leader from that city, to work in South Carolina for a vegetable grower. The suit was filed in the fall of 1980 and when in trial during 1982, it was determined by the court that the workers made less than $1 an hour.

Judge Robinson's rulings — which were reversed — found that the South Carolina grower was not the employer of the field workers and was thus not responsible for insuring minimum wage payment. She also ruled that the workers had not proven the certain number of hours worked individually.

In the reversal, it was held that the grower is the employer. It was also ruled that when the employer does not keep records he cannot complain about the damages.

The case was sent back to Judge Robinson to calculate the amount the grower will have to pay.

Bone Excavation

The excavation for bones continued today at 307 Roosevelt following the arrest of the resident of the two-story home. The search began Monday afternoon after an assault victim reported seeing the remains in the basement of the home while abducted. The resident of the home, Florentino Carbajal, 20, was arrested for aggravated assault.

White House refuses Soviet test proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House beat the Kremlin to the punch by first revealing — and then immediately rejecting — a Soviet proposal for a ban on nuclear weapons testing by the two superpowers.

At the same time, while deriding the Soviet offer, the White House announced it had invited Moscow to send a team of experts to the United States to monitor an underground nuclear test in Nevada.

Trying to undercut the propaganda value of the Soviet offer, the Reagan administration said Monday that the last time the United States agreed to such a moratorium — in the early 1960s — the Soviets followed a three-year test ban "with the largest series of high-yield explosions in history, including the largest single nuclear test ever conducted."

The White House said the Soviets appeared ready to do the same thing again.

Describing the U.S. invitation to the nuclear test as a "far reaching offer," presidential spokesman Larry Speakes said it was an unconditional proposal and did not require a reciprocal visit by an American team to the Soviet Union.

The Soviet Union did not flatly reject the U.S. offer but called it a ploy to divert attention from Moscow's test ban proposal.

The sudden flurry of initiatives came in the midst of a recess in the stalemated nuclear arms control talks and appeared aimed at scoring public relations points for each side.

At the White House, a senior administration official charged that there had been "a significant acceleration in the number of nuclear tests by the Soviet Union" over the past month.

"Clearly this was designed to put the Soviet Union in a position not to need to test over the next five months and to break out on an accelerated schedule as they did in 1961 ... without real costs to Soviet programs," said the official, briefing reporters on the condition he not be identified.

On Capitol Hill, Sen. Edward M.

Kennedy, D-Mass., introduced a resolution in the Senate calling for renewed U.S.-Soviet talks aimed at achieving a comprehensive test ban, and debate and a vote on the measure was set for today. Last year, the Senate gave 77-26 approval to a similar resolution.

The test ban proposal was relayed to the United States on Sunday through diplomatic channels, then was made public by an announcement in Moscow on Monday.

The Kremlin said it would unilaterally ban all nuclear tests beginning Aug. 8, the 40th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Hiroshima, until Jan. 1. After that, the Soviets said, the ban would remain in effect only if the United States refrains from nuclear testing.

At the White House, the administration official said it would hurt the United States to halt testing now.

"Given the scope and scale of Soviet modernization programs and U.S. restraint, U.S. testing is necessary to ensure the continued credibility and effectiveness of the U.S. nuclear deterrent," the official said.

Discussing the offer for Soviet scientists to visit Nevada, Speakes said, "This is an effort to demonstrate that we would go the extra mile in order to get some results in arms control discussions. We would characterize it as a concrete step that indicates our good faith and seriousness in approaching arms control negotiations."

By monitoring a U.S. test at the site of the explosion, the Soviets would be able to calibrate their instruments and be able to more accurately measure the results of future tests from afar, the administration said.

Reagan had made a similar offer last September, proposing that the United States and Soviet Union exchange visits by experts to measure nuclear weapons tests at the actual test sites. The Soviet Union has refused the offer, Speakes said.

Fossilized waste clue to civilization

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Fossilized waste of an Indian found in New Mexico may support a theory that ancient civilization in the area may have been too dependent on agriculture, researchers say.

The ancient waste found near Silver City includes the remnants of the man's last meal, a gruel-like mixture of ground corn, seeds and a broth made from mustard plants.

Harry Shafer, a researcher with Texas A&M University, said the Indian was in his late 30s or 40s when he died some 1,000 years ago and was probably a member of the lost Mimbres culture.

The western New Mexico burial site is among six ruins excavated since 1978 by Texas A&M University and the Earth Watch organization.

The contents, which provide the first solid evidence of what the pueblo-dwelling Mimbres ate at the time of their disappearance between 900 and 1100 A.D., were determined. Pollen in the fossilized waste came from mustard plants, corn, squash and a family of common weeds still eaten by Hopis today, said Karl Reinhard, a doctoral student.

"Mustard flowers were probably made into and seeds were added to make porridge or gruel," Reinhard said.

Shafer said that even limited information on diet could help test the theory that over-dependence on farming and laxness in gathering wild plants contributed to the fate of the Mimbres.

"Farming may have let them adapt too well to their environment," Shafer said. "The Mimbres lived in a river valley set among the desert hills. They would have needed to

Dog bites, bike thefts fill weekend docket

Hereford police investigated three dog bites during the weekend among the various routine calls of burglary and mischief.

Monday's incidents included chopped battery cables, a shot glass sliding door and kitchen items being stolen from the Lions Club portable hamburger stand which was parked behind the Bull Barn.

Police also checked out two bike thefts, a juvenile assault case, a wire pulled from a vehicle radio and an assault where a man came into a house with a pipe as a weapon.

During the weekend juveniles were involved in the vandalism of two vehicles. One vehicle had a wrench thrown at it and another was simply kicked by a youth.

Missing from 141 Juniper is a Pomeranian male dog, red and blond with a blue collar and red identification tag. The owner reported that their second dog was still in the yard. Five bikes were reported stolen since Friday and one bike was picked up by police.

A camera and cash was reported missing from a burglary which occurred after residents returned home from the weekend.

At the city firing range about 800 feet of garden hose was reported missing. Some of the hose is red, the rest is green.

Police took a report of some juvenile girls who were involved in a fight on Main Street.

Several domestic problems were reported, also.

A juvenile was arrested for minor in consumption, theft and evading arrest. Other arrests were for public intoxication, assault and public intoxication, traffic warrants, fighting and disorderly conduct, and criminal mischief.

Pastoring one church

Clergy couple divides responsibilities

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Despite the problems that go along with a husband and wife team co-pastoring a church, Randy and Elizabeth Terry say they get a lot of satisfaction from their ministry.

The Terrys took over as pastors of Forest Hills Presbyterian Church in Helotes July 21.

It is not their first co-pastorate. They worked together as associate ministers at a Presbyterian church in Racine for four years before moving to Helotes.

The Terrys said they have discovered the key to success for married ministers is keeping clear who leads in what areas.

"Trouble happens to many clergy couples when the people say, 'He's really the pastor' or 'she's really the pastor,'" Mrs. Terry said.

The couple said they have a avoided a lot of conflicts because they have different talents and they can divide responsibilities easily.

Terry said he likely will lead the stewardship and property committees. His wife will be in charge of evangelism and worship.

When it comes to acting as moderator of the session, or the church's governing body, the two will alternate.

"One of the things that turned us off when interviewing for church jobs was when people would say they could find 'children's work' for me," said Mrs. Terry.

The Terrys tried to avoid that stereotype at the church in Racine, Wis. They divided the Christian education work, with him handling the younger children.

The Forest Hills Church, which has about 110 members, has only one minister's position, which the Terrys are sharing.

The arrangement will work out well, they said, when Mrs. Terry gives birth to their first child in December.

The couple met while at the College of Wooster and married in 1973.

White appears on 'Dallas' show

PLANO, Texas (AP) — Gov. Mark White went before the cameras to play his favorite character for an upcoming episode of the television series, "Dallas."

"I'm happy to be here with you all today," White said, playing himself and waving to a pretend rodeo audience as the cameras rolled.

But the governor said Monday after filming his one-liner that he's not ready to relinquish the keys to the statehouse for a job in Hollywood.

Asked what he would do just in case he's not re-elected next year, White said, "I don't think I have to worry about that part. I don't think that's going to be a problem we'll have to deal with."

White donned khaki pants, a blue western shirt and a straw hat to play the role of a special guest of Miss Ellie, actress Barbara Bel Geddes, at her benefit rodeo.

After completing his one-liner in just one take, the governor strolled through the movie lot talking to actors Linda Gray (Sue Ellen Ewing), Steve Kanaly (Ray Krebbs), and Jared Martin (Dusty Farlow), and others who star on the weekly nighttime soap.

White's appearance will be aired Nov. 15 marking the 200th episode of the show.

"Governor, just wave as if you're waving to a standing ovation. You should be used to that," said director Corey Allen.

Hot weather forced White to change shirts during the filming, but the show's executive director Phillip Caprice said filming White took only one take.

After the performance, White presented a proclamation to Caprice saying the series has been of "global importance" and has brought $25 million to the state since its beginning in 1978.

Ms. Gray presented White with a cowboy hat similar to one worn by J.R. Ewing (Larry Hagman).

"This is an official J.R. hat," she said. "If J.R. gives me any trouble I'll have a replacement."

White said he didn't know how much he would be paid for the appearance, but said the money will go to a charity — possibly one operated by the Screen Actors Guild.

Tennessee welcomes Saturn plant

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Gov. Lamar Alexander knew the eight-month, 36-state scramble for industrial America's top prize — the General Motors Corp. Saturn car complex — was over when he got a call from GM Chairman Roger Smith.

Smith called the statehouse Monday and said, "Congratulations." "The largest company in the world, after the biggest and most extensive search that anybody can remember, is putting in Tennessee the largest one-time investment in American history," a beaming Alexander told the press.

The official announcement, printed on General Motors stationery and given to reporters at a meeting room near the statehouse, was anticlimactic. The U.S. senators from Tennessee, both Democrats, announced last week that Spring Hill, 30 miles south of here, was the choice.

The jubilant Republican governor joined other state officials at a news conference, where they were photographed in front of a blue banner that read, "Tennessee Welcomes Saturn."

The show was Tennessee's alone. GM officials, who called the selection of Spring Hill tentative, didn't take part, saying they would meet with reporters here today.

Alexander said even he wasn't sure what drew GM to Spring Hill, population 1,100, but said there was no doubt the state had landed the plant and that GM didn't call the decision final because no negotiations had been held with state, local and utility officials on a long list of items.

Saturn Corp. President William Hoglund, in a statement, identified those items as roads, sewers, education and training for employees, environmental matters and the cost of taxes, water, electricity and natural gas.

"They'll tell us their needs," Alexander said. "We'll try to meet them. We have no doubt that we can."

Talks with officials of Saturn Corp. begin on Wednesday, he said.

Patients stand by cancer clinic

NEW YORK (AP) — Patients of a controversial cancer clinic that dispensed drugs that may be tainted with AIDS virus remain fiercely loyal to the clinic and its director despite the threat of contamination.

The Immunology Researching Center Ltd., in Freeport, Grand Bahama Island, was ordered closed July 17 by the Bahamian government.

The clinic's director, Lawrence Burton, dispenses a cancer treatment he calls immuno-augmentative therapy, and many patients believe he has cured them of cancer even though U.S. specialists say the treatment is unproven.

"I am a patient of Dr. Burton's, and if they close his clinic, I will die," said Rosie Arbogast of Tacoma, Wash., in an interview. She said Burton was treating her for advanced liver cancer. "I'm in my third year of remission, I have no symptoms, I lead a very beautiful life."

Asked about the risk of contamination with AIDS and hepatitis — evidence of which has also been found in Burton's drugs — Mrs. Arbogast said, "It happens in the States, too, that people get hepatitis or AIDS from somebody's blood."

"If Dr. Burton's clinic is closed because of that, hundreds of people will lose their lives."

In June, Dr. Samuel Insalaco and Dr. Gale Katterhagen of Tacoma General Hospital found that eight of 18 samples of blood-derived drugs Insalaco got from a patient of Burton's showed evidence of the acquired immune deficiency syndrome virus.

Officials in Alabama and Florida subsequently found evidence of the virus in samples obtained from other Burton patients. On Monday, Florida health officials warned that patients who continue treatment with the drugs are at risk of AIDS.

"These patients are very, very attached to their treatment," said Insalaco. "They're very upset it's closed now. To them, I've given them a death sentence. They believe their tumor was under control and now it's going to disseminate."

Interviews with about a dozen of Burton's patients substantiate Insalaco's assessment. Glenn Austin, of Border, Texas, said he takes shots every day for a serious form of cancer called mesothelioma, which he says is under control. "My doctor here (in Texas) says I'm his miracle child," Austin said.

Dr. Gregory Curt, assistant director of the National Cancer Institute's division of cancer treatment, said Monday that up to 1,000 people have been treated by Burton since 1983, according to Burton's own publications.

Former Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox, another of Burton's patients, said Monday he's more afraid of AIDS than of the cancer that has plagued him since 1979.

"I'd rather go with straight cancer than AIDS. There's more dignity with cancer. There's no hope with AIDS," Maddox told the Macon (Ga.) Telegraph and News.

Trustee gives views on teacher residency, nuclear dump, city lawsuit

Letters to the Editor

Dear editor:

It was very interesting reading the three (3) "Letters To Editor" in the Sunday edition of the Hereford Brand. One dealt with the lawsuit presently against the City of Hereford, another dealt with the nuclear dump, and the last dealt with teachers residing in our county. I would like to briefly discuss each one of these issues.

The first issue concerns the City of Hereford lawsuit. In my opinion the lawsuit brought against the City of Hereford is strictly political and has nothing to do with helping the Hispanic community of Hereford. If the place on West Highway 60 really wants to help the Hispanic population then they should concentrate their efforts in registering the Hispanics so they can vote. And, also, stay in the realm of their charter which is to help poor people regardless of race, color, or ethnic background with civil cases such as family problems, tenent-landlord disputes, and helping these people obtain government benefits which they maybe entitled to receive. Nowhere does it state in their charter that they are suppose to bring class action suits against a governing body in our country, state, county, city or school district.

Even if they are successful in their lawsuit, that does not mean an Hispanic will be elected to a particular district. This should be evident from the school board election last Spring. The Hispanic community had a candidate for Place I of the school district (and by the way, he would have been a very capable board trustee and also he is a personal friend of mine) and that district chose to elect an Anglo. There are many good and capable Hispanic citizens in our community that would do an excellent job in the governing bodies of our area. Why do they not seek office? I do not know. Maybe they are like a lot of the rest of us in that they have business' to operate, jobs to take care of, or maybe they just don't have the time. Whatever their reason is, by going to single member districts will in no way assure a Hispanic will be elected to a governing body.

In response to the tremendous expense to the taxpayers to defend this lawsuit, I only have this to say. There comes a time in life that everyone, whether it's a he or she or a town or a country, has to stand up for what they believe in and fight. This may not be right and it is very unfortunate but this is the way it has been since time began.

The second issue concerns the nuclear dump. It was very interesting to read just across the page from "Letter To Editor" the article written by Dr. Bernard Cohen about "Do We Really Have A Nuke Waste Problem". I Personally think the Chamber President and the City Commission are doing the proper thing by sitting on the fence right now. Until we obtain more data concerning the dump, which would entail drilling a test well, we really do not know what the DOE will decide. It is quite evident that they are going ahead with the test well from all information that can be gathered. This does not mean that a dump site will be located here. There will be many years of study before a final decision is made. After the test well is completed and all the tests made, it is very conceivable that the dump would not be located here.

What concerns me more than the possibility of nuclear radiation is the reality, because it is already happening, of polluting our Ogallala formation. Take a drive sometime in the country and see how many old abandon wells there are that are improperly plugged, do not have a plate welded on the top of the casing, or have holes by the concrete pump base which would allow rainfall run off to go directly to our water source and carry chemicals, manure and whatever.

Then, also, consider the deep disposal wells that are drilled to dispose of waste water from plants. What happens to our Acquifer if one of these wells leaks? It is in liquid form and it would go directly to our water. At least with Nuclear Waste, this waste will be in containers.

In responding to the third issue concerning teachers residing in our county, I have this to comment. In the first place, if I said they had to live in our county, I was wrong in stating this. I should have stated, which is also School Board Policy, that they reside in our School District. The Northern and Western parts of our county are not even in our School District.

The Policy of the School District for everyone in the community to read is as follows:

"The District is an integral part of the community from which it draws its support. All employees of the District are expected to be participating citizens of the community which provides for their employment. This includes support of community efforts, involvement in community affairs, and patronizing community businesses.

For this reason it is the policy of the Board that all school personnel reside within the District.

It is recognized, however, that occasionally circumstances arise which require an employee to reside outside the District. In such cases, written application for deviation from the policy must be made to the Superintendent for his approval or rejection. This decision is subject to appeal to the Board under established procedures. The application must be made in advance of moving from the District or, in the case of new employees, in advance of initial employment.

Approval of residence outside the District will depend upon the nearness of residence to the District, the ability of the employee to perform the duties assigned, and the probability of the employee maintaining active participation within the community.

Violations of the provisions of this policy shall be punishable by immediate termination of employment."

This policy will not keep qualified teachers from taking a position with the Hereford Independent School District. Adding more fringe benefits will only cost the taxpayers more than they are already paying and it will not assure we will have anymore applications to fill teaching positions.

What will attract qualified teachers to our town and School District is for the town, School Board, and Administration to become unified and to honestly and sincerely promote our town to the prospective teachers. This town used to be this way until a place on West Highway 60 located here.

Brand reporter accepts editor's post

KIM THOGMARTIN

Kimberly Thogmartin, reporter and feature writer for The Hereford Brand the past two years, has been named news editor of The Canyon News.

Thogmartin assumed the new post Monday. She replaces Doug Simpson, who resigned to become sports information director at West Texas State University.

"We hate to lose her," Brand publisher Speedy Nieman said Monday. "She has been a real asset to our news staff and a popular reporter with many people in the community." Her replacement has not been named.

A native of Missouri, she moved to Hereford from Kansas City where she was employed as an advertising consultant for a group travel company. She studied business management at Platt College and journalism at Missouri Western State College, both in St. Joseph, Mo. She plans to complete her college degree at WTSU.

Thogmartin has two children, Jason, 10, and Jesse, 8. Her interests include teaching children's Sunday School at Mormon church and studying classical voice. She is the daughter of Mrs. Gene Anderson of Hereford.

Thogmartin, 29, was a member of the legislative affairs committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Battle over offshore revenues begins

By KATHRYN BAKER Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The seven-year, $6 billion battle over offshore oil and natural gas revenues between the federal government and seven coastal states has moved to the halls of Congress.

If they agreed on nothing else, the parties to the dispute did agree in testimony before the House Interior Committee on Monday that Congress should legislate the answer.

"I'm afraid without comprehensive and permanent legislative solution, this issue will remain in litigation for years to come," testified Rep. John Breaux, D-La.

Since 1978, when Congress decided that revenues from shared offshore leases should be divided between the federal government and the states in a "fair and equitable" manner, the Interior Department and the states of Alaska, California, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Florida have been arguing about what is "fair and equitable." In the meantime, about $6 billion has accumulated in an escrow account.

Louisiana and Texas have sued over the money.

William D. Bettenberg, director of the Minerals Management Service in the Interior Department, testified it is "clear that negotiated agreements under the current law are exceedingly difficult to obtain."

"We hope all parties will join together and support a legislative settlement which resolves all existing claims and prevents new disputes from developing," Bettenberg said.

offer to the states of 16-23 percent of a portion of the revenues from shared offshore lands, the Reagan administration now favors a House Budget Committee recommendation that it give the states 27 percent of a portion of the revenues.

Texas Gov. Mark White, who testified Monday, and the governors of Alaska and California in written statements, said they are sticking with the states' demand for 37.5 percent of the revenues — including royalties on the oil and gas produced, not just rents on the leases and the "bonuses" paid to get a lease.

for several congregations.

"We both went through a stage of anger at the established church," she said. "But in my church work I saw dramatic, dynamic things happen to people when in the church's small groups."

At the same time, Terry was growing disillusioned with his job selling jewelry for a large chain.

So he quit his job and took another one as a church custodian at half the salary.

The job allowed him to work with the youth group and to call on parishioners.

When he started thinking of entering the ministry, Terry said, "Betsy was shocked. Being a minister's child, she felt very safe from the institutional church with me."

"Before I knew it," she said, "I found myself in a preaching class."

maintain a delicate balance between population size and available food, water and firewood."

If crop failures occurred in consecutive years, the Indians may have left the valley, eventually joining other Indian cultures, he said.

Also found in a valley near the burial site were stone remains of a rudimentary irrigation system used before Spaniards came to New Mexico, Shafer said. The system provides further evidence of the importance of agriculture to the area's early inhabitants, Shafer said.

Hundreds of other artifacts, including bones, burial pottery, jewelry, corn-grinding metates, stone tools, stone points and dozens of adobe ruins, were left behind by the Mimbres, Shafer said.

One ruin showed three different periods of building and habitation from about 900 to 1050 A.D., he said.

It's incredible how versatile the egg is! It can be prepared in a number of ways—poached, hard-cooked, scrambled, fried, and baked—that range from casual to dressy, and from "last minute" to "make ahead."

—The yolks of eggs may vary in color depending on the diet of the hen.

—Neither the yolk or shell color have any bearing on the freshness or the nutritional value of the egg.

—The shell color is determined by the breed of hen.

Eggs have a high nutrient density because they provide excellent protein and a wide range of vitamins and minerals in proportion to a low calorie count.

Eggs provide the following nutrients:

Protein - good for growth & repair of body tissue

Vitamin A - helps to see

Vitamin B - builds firm muscles & keeps nervous system health

Vitamin D - builds strong teeth & bones

Vitamin E - is an antioxidant protecting red blood cells from blood-destroying agents

Vitamin K - makes the blood clot

Minerals - phosphorous, iodine, iron & zinc

Eggs are found in the meat group; 2 eggs are considered 1 serving or meat.

The yolk of the egg contains lecithin, Vitamins A, D, E & K, lepid, almost all the iron and cholesterol.

Cholesterol is also found in the blood and nerve tissues of the human body; in fact, in every cell of the body.

In addition to being present in all food products of animal origin, cholesterol is synthesized (made) and metabolized (used) daily in the body.

History: Eggs were a delicacy in ancient and biblical times and a staple food whenever abundant. Ancient people considered eggs as a sacred symbol and believed that the egg represented the world. Breaking of eggs was a ceremony and a means of foretelling events. Men of early times hung eggs in Egyptian temples of worship and artists glorified them in paintings and sculpture.

You might enjoy these recipes using eggs. A few years ago, Leslie Conkright entered this breakfast casserole using eggs in a food show. I know you'll enjoy it.

Breakfast Casserole

1 1/2 cups browned sausage

3 eggs

1 1/2 cups milk

2 cups French bread

1 1/2 cups cheddar cheese

1 Tbs. + 2 tsp. flour

1 teaspoon dry mustard

1 teaspoon instant onion

1 tablespoon melted butter

Beat eggs add milk and beat. Mix in remaining ingredients and pour into a 1 1/2 quart casserole and chill overnight. Let stand at room temperature for 30 min. then bake at 350 degrees for 40 min. Serves about 6 people.

Baked Eggs In Pepper Pots

A low in calories meal can be a colorful celebration! Scallop or sawtooth the rims of the peppers when you cut their tops off and your eggs will be framed by pretty petals. Bake a bit more or less than the recipe directs to suit your own taste.

4 Large green peppers (about 4 oz. each)

8 eggs

1/2 cup catsup, taco sauce or chili sauce, divided

1/4 cup (1 oz.) shredded Cheddar or Monterey Jack cheese, divided

Cut tops off peppers and remove seeds. Parboil, if desired. Stand peppers upright in muffin-pan cups or custard cups. Break and slip 2 eggs into each pepper.

Top with 1 tbsl. of the catsup and 1 tbs. of the cheese. Bake in preheated 350 degree F. oven until whites are set and yolks are soft and creamy, about 30 minutes.

Parboiled peppers will be less crisp than raw peppers after baking. To parboil, drop seeded peppers into boiling water. Cover and cook over medium heat 3 minutes. Drain well.

4-H Around the County

By DAVY VESTAL
County Extension Agent

The 4-H clubs of the county are gearing up for the Jubilee. This year the 4-H will sponsor an ice cream booth with parent-leaders committee, a children's barnyard with animals compiled by all 4-H clubs, a horse and buggy ride sponsored by the horse club.

The parade will feature the Deaf Smith Co. Drill Team "Sparkling Spers" as well as a general 4-H float containing many active 4-H'ers showing their projects.

Progress Showman'shi Clinic has been set for Aug. 24 at the Bull Barn. The clinic judge and instructor is a former vo-ag teacher and county agent from Martin County of Stanton Rick Vestal. Now, owner and operator of Vestal Meat Co. in Lamesa, Rick will place steers and lambs and point out good and bad showmanship techniques and feeding improvements.

All 4-H'ers and FFA'ers of this county are urged to attend. Weigh in will begin at 7 a.m., Saturday with judging beginning around 9:30 to 10 a.m. The 4-H Horse Club will provide concession and lunch. The public is urged to attend.

The Houston Livestock Show Calf Scramble is looking for participants for next years rodeos. If you are interested in scrambling you need to contact Davy Vestal at the county extension office by Sept. 10. If you catch a calf you will be awarded money to purchase a breeding animal to show next year in Houston.

Four-H Club jackets now available. For more information contact the office and will pass it on. The jackets will need to be ordered by Sept. 27. These jackets are a good way to support our county in district and State activities.

The 4-H Shooting Sports Club hosted a trap shoot this past Saturday at the Hereford Gun Club. We'll have results next week. Also, the club is preparing for state competition which will be held in San Antonio Aug. 8-10. Ten of the 27 shooters will travel with adult leader to the state shoot. The club has been shooting every Saturday morning at the Hereford Gun Club and has participated in the 4-H Sponsored Postal League competition this summer.

4-H BAKE SHOW WORKSHOP

Interested in entering the County 4-H Bake Show? I'm sure you'll want to attend the 4-H Bake Show Workshop next Thursday at 9 a.m. in the Flame Room, Energas. Many 4-H'ers will be helping with the workshop. You will learn what is expected of you to enter the County 4-H Show on Aug. 23. During the workshop you will bake cookies which you will have for lunch. Drinks will be provided.

Four-H'ers - come and invite a prospective 4-H'er.

Ladies Lead Line

Join us in the fifth annual Hereford Lady's Lead Line Show on Saturday, Aug. 17, in Dameron Park. Thea civility will be a part of Hereford Town n' Country Jubilee. You're eligible to enter if you're a 4-H'er, or a member of FFA or FHA. You'll need an ewe lamb and must have made your garment of wool or a wool-blended.

There are three divisions - juniors (8-10) intermediates (11-13) and seniors (14-19). You must be entered by Aug. 9. For more information, call Louise Walker, CEA, at 364-3573.

Togo

The Republic of Togo has slightly less than 3 million people and is situated on 21,853 square miles of the southern coast of West Africa. Its neighbors are Upper Volta and North Benin. The population is divided between the Bantus of the south and Hamitic tribes in the north.

Big Ben is also a 9,007-foot volcano on Heard Island in Antarctica. It last erupted in 1960.

Only simulated fish

Surimi not exotic additive

The term "surimi" on the frozen fish food label may sound like an exotic additive, but it's not. Actually, surimi is the name given to a simulated shell fish.

Surimi-based products are created from fresh fish with natural or artificial flavoring added, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutrition specialist.

"The fish filets are minced, washed, strained and mixed with sugar, sorbitol and salt to yield a concentrated fish paste," explains Mary K. Sweeten. "The surimi fish paste is then frozen, and later thawed and restructured into various products or ingredients."

Surimi-based seafood items include simulated crab, scallops, shrimp and lobster. These products come in a variety of forms and textures including tails, sticks or legs, flakes, chunks, and pre-breaded morsels or portions in thawed or frozen forms, says the specialist.

"Because surimi products are economical compared to shellfish, they're a natural for stretching the food budget," Sweeten says.

Alaska pollock, the major ingredient in most surimi manufactured today, is one of the largest finfish resources in the world, so the long term price outlook for this food product is excellent, she adds.

"Whenever any food takes on a new form, consumers worry that the nutritional value is reduced," Sweeten observes. "But surimi, like fin and shellfish, offers a high percentage of protein, important minerals and vitamins."

Most surimi-based products are also pre-cooked and require only heating for hot dishes, or no cooking for use in appetizers or salads.

Food and Drug Administration rules require that surimi-based products which resemble other foods and are intended to be substitute for them be labeled "imitation," Sweeten points out.

Local women attend conference

Frances Parker and Naomi Hare of the First United Methodist Church attended the 1985 Mission Education Event of the Northwest Texas Conference July 19-21 at South Plains College in Levelland.

Jeanne Butler, Helen Langley and Mildred Fuhrmann attended the same event July 22-24.

The educational event was designed for United Methodist Women and other persons involved in mission studies and programs. Participants took one study and had an opportunity to attend a two-hour sampler of another study. The studies were "Daniel", "Native Peoples of North America," and "Caring for God's Earth."

Time was also spent in option groups on current issues and officer training. The total school was training for church service.

The theme, "Creating A Future With Justice," related the three studies stressing that partnership and a caring community can replace historic oppression and discrimination. In addition, responsible use of natural resources can protect God's creation both now and in the future.

Participants will bring their knowledge and skills to the programming of their local church mission work in the coming year.

Psychological viewpoint given on baseball strike

By HOWARD ULMAN AP Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) — No box scores with the morning coffee? No arguments about the pennant race at lunch? No baseball games to watch on television after a rough day at the office?

With the deadline for a walkout by major league baseball players just a week away, how will fans ever cope with the dawn-to-dusk deprivation that a strike would bring?

"We're all aware that children need to have routines and need to know what to expect," said Kathleen White, an associate professor of psychology at Boston University. "We sometimes forget that adults need that, too. Life's more comfortable when you know what to expect."

Stress brought on by a change in routine can lead to headaches, stomach aches and colds, she said.

"In stressful situations, some people turn to alcohol," she added.

Spouses no longer able to get rid of their inner rage by yelling at a game being shown on television might turn that anger toward family members, White said.

Jack Levin, a sociology professor at Northeastern University, said baseball's reach extends far beyond the foul lines.

"It's a daily event that people prepare for," he said. "It gives life a feeling of security. ...It's not just a game. It's not just kids collecting cards. Losing baseball is like losing good friends."

Harvard psychologist Paul Andreassen, an assistant professor specializing in group behavior, said he doesn't expect people to jump off buildings if wealthy players and wealthy owners can't figure out how to keep the game of baseball going.

"It's entertainment for people and, certainly, they care if teams win or lose," Andreassen said. "But I'm sure they can substitute another form of entertainment for it. I wouldn't wait around for the murder rate to go up."

Harold VanderZwaag, a member of the sports studies department at the University of Massachusetts, also downplays the impact of a strike.

"The person who really follows baseball probably would be very disappointed. I don't know if we'd ever want to use the word depressed. I think they'd have to be rather psychologically unsound to be depressed."

The key to coping with a strike is to find something to fill the gap, VanderZwaag said, suggesting that the start of the National Football League season could satisfy sports addicts.

But in early August, as teams are getting ready for the stretch run and Pete Rose mounts his final assault on Ty Cobb's all-time hit record, mornings without box scores could knock fans a bit off balance, Andreassen said.

Stephen Jay Gould, a Harvard anthropologist and an avid baseball fan, called the sport "a regular part of one's life."

"All things have a season, as they say in Ecclesiastes, and this is the baseball season."

Dorsett still working on financial problems

By DENNE H. FREEMAN AP Sports Writer

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Dallas Cowboys defensive tackle Randy White says Tony Dorsett isn't the only National Football League player who has had bad experiences with agents.

"They are not concerned about players after they get the signing bonus. You hate to see a guy like Tony get ripped off," he said.

Dorsett was to meet with the Internal Revenue Service in Dallas to discuss his financial problems. Dorsett's new agent is Howard Slusher, who also represents White.

"Slusher is a good man," White said. "He'll help Tony. You have to feel bad for Tony. He's certainly had his share of adversity."

Dorsett was subject to $1,000-per-day fines while he missed training camp but Coach Tom Landry says he wants to talk to Dorsett before he makes any decision whether to fine him.

"I can't tell what I'm going to do until I talk to a player," said Landry. "I don't want to hear anything second hand. I need to know it from the horse's mouth."

"I've got to know the facts," said Landry. "I'll talk to Tony this week." Dorsett called club President Tex Schramm Saturday night and said he wasn't reporting to training camp despite the possible fine.

Slusher convinced White to hold out all of training camp last year.

"Tony's situation is different from The Harlem Globetrotters basketball team won 333 games and lost only eight during the 1951-52 season."

34 from five counties participate

Deaf Smith 4-H trap shoot held Saturday

By DAVY VESTAL County Extension Agent

The fourth annual Deaf Smith County 4-H Shooting Sports Day was held this past Saturday at the Hereford Gun Club.

The trap shoot was deemed very successful by event coordinator Weldon Stephan. Thirty-four 4-H'ers from five counties participated in the event.

Chad Stephan of Hereford received the first place trophy in the senior division for his near-perfect shooting, hitting 73 out of 75. Mark West of Castro County placed second in the individual contest with 70 hits out of 75.

Todd West of Castro County was third, hitting 69 out of 75. Other Deaf Smith County 4-H'ers who participated in the senior division were Phillips Webster, with 63 of 75 for fifth place, Scott Robbins with 55 of 75, and Jeannie Thomas with 45 of 75.

In the senior team division, Todd and Mark West paired up to shoot a total of 139 of 150 for first place, and close behind were Phillip Webster and Chad Stephan of Deaf Smith County, shooting 136 of 150 for second place.

In the junior division, individual placing went like this: Kevin Wheelless of Castro, 47 out of 50, and Jay Gruckley, 47 out of 50, for first and second respectively; and Aaron Savage third with 45 of 50. Other Deaf Smith County individuals were Michael Lemons 39 of 50, Kirby Kaul 36 of 50, Keith Kelso 33 of 50, and Shane Gallagher 32 of 50.

Junior team trophies went to Jay Gruckley and David Buckett of Castro County, first place; Ty Keller and Kevin Wheelless, second; and Aaron Savage and Kirby Kaul, third place.

Deaf Smith County 4-H'ers did well in the sub-juniors division. Shawn Sciumbato received a second place trophy with 47 of 50 pigeons hit. Audy Sciumbato received the second place trophy by hitting 40 of 50, and Cain Neal of Parmer County placed third.

Other Deaf Smith County sub-juniors were: Patrick Newton, 35 of 50; Dan Metcalf, 33 of 50; Kevin Kelso, 30 of 50; Cameron Betzen, 30 of 50; Randy Robbins, 29 of 50; David Russell, 25 of 50, Cory Newton, 23 of 50, and Sandy Lindley, 22 of 50.

Audy and Shawn Sciumbato teamed up to receive the champion team trophy. Audy Storms and Cain Neal from Parmer County placed second.

Counties with 4-H'ers at the trap shoot were Briscoe, Hale, Parmer, Castro, and Deaf Smith.

Many of these 4-H'ers will travel to San Antonio to compete at the state 4-H trap shoot on Aug. 7.

mine and I really don't have any insight into what he will do," White said. "I just did what I felt like I had to do under the circumstances to get a fair settlement."

Dorsett would like to renegotiate his seven-year contract that brings him some $400,000 per year. He is in the fourth year of the pact. At one time, he had a 15-year deferred contract at $100,000 per year, but decided he wanted the money up front.

Dorsett was hit in Dallas with a $400,000 back tax notice by the IRS. The agency, which seized two of his houses in north Dallas, also has attached his paychecks since last October.

The last non-kicker to lead the National Football League in scoring was Walter Payton in 1977.

Hough's pitching performance offset

Brewers edge Rangers 3-2

By MIKE EMBRY
AP Sports Writer

Teddy Higuera was in a hurry to get the game over, and it nearly got away.

Higuera, a rookie pitcher for the Milwaukee Brewers, stopped the Texas Rangers on five hits Monday in taking a 3-2 victory.

Higuera struck out two batters to lead off the ninth inning. But Gary Ward and Bill Stein followed with two-strike singles before Higuera retired George Wright on a pop-up to third to end the game.

"I just wanted to get it over with and get the last out," said Higuera, who gave up only one walk and registered a season-high 12 strikeouts in improving to 8-6.

Milwaukee Manager George Bamberger was glad to see that Higuera was throwing 89-miles-per-hour fastballs in the first inning and in the ninth.

"What I like to see is the pitcher get that taste of victory," Bamberger said, "and then reach back for a little more on his pitches.

Higuera's performance offset a strong outing from Rangers' knuckleballer Charlie Hough.

For 7-3 innings, Hough was on top of Brewer hitters with his topsyturvy knuckler. But the beginning of the end came when Paul Molitor stroked a single to left.

Hough walked Robin Yount, and that was followed by run-scoring singles by Cecil Cooper and Ted Simmons to give Milwaukee its final margin. Both hits were on two-strike pitches.

"He had a great knuckleball tonight," Simmons said. "But for two pitches, Cooper and I were just trying to make contact."

Greg Harris came on to relieve Hough. He walked Ben Oglivie to load the bases before getting Bill Schroeder on a fly to deep right for the third out.

"Charlie had a three-hitter," Texas Manager Bobby Valentine said. "The ball was dancing. I thought he had it all the way."

Hough, dropping to 9-11, gave up three runs on five hits, three walks and had four strikeouts.

"I was throwing the first two pitches in there," Hough said. "That's usually the key. When I'm on, I'm getting ahead of the hitters."

Sports briefs

By The Associated Press
BASEBALL

NEW YORK (AP) — More than eight months after negotiations began, the two sides in major league baseball's labor negotiations said they finally are ready to move on to the major issues one week before the strike deadline.

The remaining issues, which include multi-million dollar proposals on pensions and salary arbitration, have been held in limbo since the two sides began work on a collective bargaining agreement last Nov. 14.

NEW YORK (AP) — Outfielder Pedro Guerrero of the Los Angeles Dodgers, who batted .579, was named the National League's Player of the Week for the period of July 22-28.

At one point during the week, Guerrero reached base 14 straight times to set a club record.

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — New York Yankees Manager Billy Martin, suffering a partially collapsed lung, will remain in Arlington Memorial Hospital for two to three days while his team plays in Cleveland.

Martin was examined today by a respiratory specialist, who said the Yankee manager had suffered a "25 percent collapsed lung" as the result of an injection for back spasms by a doctor Sunday that punctured one of his lungs.

FOOTBALL

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP) — Record-setting running back Eric Dickerson officially became a holdout when he failed to report to the National Football League training camp of the Los Angeles Rams.

Dickerson, who established the NFL single-season rushing record of 2,105 yards last year, has been seeking to extend the four-year, $2.2 million contract he signed before the 1983 season, his first as a professional.

BASKETBALL

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The newly established Kansas City Sizzlers made guard Regan Truesdale the Continental Basketball Association's top draft pick in the league's first-ever college draft.

Kansas City, selecting first in the 14-team minor league draft, chose Truesdale, who averaged 21.5 points a game for The Citadel last year.

The largest paid live attendance for a heavyweight boxing championship bout was in 1926 in Philadelphia when 120,757 fans saw Gene Tunney take Jack Dempsey's title on a decision.

Milwaukee took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Yount tagged a 2-2 pitch over the left-field fence for his 10th homer of the season.

"It was a pretty good pitch," Hough said. "He just happened to hit it hard."

The Rangers tied the game in the fourth when Oddibe McDowell led off with a triple to right and scored on Toby Harrah's groundout to short.

Texas went up 2-1 in the seventh inning on O'Brien's 12th home run, driving a 2-2 fastball to the right-field bullpen.

"That was a great pitched game," Bamberger said. "We had to have a great pitched game to beat them."

Royals 4, Tigers 2

The Kansas City Royals are making a race of it in the American League West just eight days after the California Angels looked like runaway winners.

The Royals won their seventh consecutive game, 4-2 over the Detroit Tigers Monday night, to pull within 2½ games of the idle Angels, losers of four straight to the AL East-leading Toronto Blue Jays.

"We're getting some breaks right now. That's what it takes," Royals Manager Dick Howser said.

Against the defending World Series champion Tigers, Steve Balboni hit a two-run homer and Hal McRae had a two-run single while the Royals got another strong pitching performance from Bret Saberhagen. He allowed just seven hits in 8 1-3 innings to raise his record to 12-5.

Saberhagen took a six-hit shutout into the ninth, but he gave up a homer to Lance Parrish and was replaced by Dan Quisenberry, who gave up two more hits, including an RBI single by Chet Lemon.

McRae's two-run single off Dan Pety, 11-10, who allowed seven hits in nine innings, gave the Royals a 2-0 lead in the third and Balboni made it 4-0 with his 19th homer in the ninth.

Blue Jays 4, Orioles 3

Damaso Garcia, who has 52 runs batted in from the leadoff spot, homered off Baltimore's Mike Boddicker in the 10th to extend Toronto's club-record winning streak to nine.

Willie Upshaw and Ernie Whitt also homered for the Blue Jays, who maintained their seven-game lead over New York in the East. Upshaw gave Toronto a 2-0 lead in the second with his 10th homer and Whitt followed with his 13th.

Tom Henke, making his first appearance of the season for Toronto after being called up from Syracuse Monday, got the victory with two innings in relief of Jimmy Key.

Fred Lynn and Floyd Rayford homered for the Orioles.

Yankees 3, Indians 2

Dave Winfield hit his 14th homer for New York in the ninth to make the game a rout, but it was his cushioned grounder in the seventh that led to the tie-breaking run against Cleveland.

With the score tied 2-2, the Pete Rose recorded the 4,000th hit of his major league baseball career off pitcher Jerry Koosman.

Yankees had the bases loaded and two outs when Indians shortstop Julio Franco booted Winfield's soft ground ball, and Dan Pasqua followed with a two-run single for a 5-2 lead.

Ed Whitson, 6-7, picked up the victory, the fifth in his last six decisions, by scattering six hits in seven innings. Dave Righetti got his 18th save. Bert Blyleven, 9-11, was the loser.

Mariners 8, Twins 6

Seattle had 15 hits, including two homers from Gorman Thomas and one from Dave Henderson, to outlast Minnesota.

Henderson's three-run blast off Frank Eufemia, 3-1, his ninth of the season, broke a 5-5 tie in the seventh after Alvin Davis led off with a double and Jim Presley walked.

Thomas, who has hit five home runs in his last three games, belted a two-run homer to cap a four-run Seattle first. He added his 22nd of the season leading off the fifth for a 5-0 lead. The Twins tied the score with a two-run homer by Dave Engle and a three-run blast by Kirby Puckett.

Ed Nunez, 5-1, was the winner in relief.

Brewers 3, Rangers 2

Milwaukee, held to two hits through seven innings by knuckleballer Charlie Hough, rallied with two runs on RBI singles in the eighth by Cecil Cooper and Ted Simmons to beat Texas.

Ted Higuera, 8-6, a rookie left-hander, pitched a five-hitter for the Brewers, allowing only one walk and notching a career-high 12 strikeouts.

Paul Molitor started the Brewers' rally with a single and Robin Yount followed with a walk off Hough, 9-11. Cooper and Simmons then hit RBI singles.

Pete O'Brien had given Texas a 2-1 lead in the seventh with his 12th homer.

There were 59 games in the 1984 National Football League season which were decided by three points or less.

Dodgers increase lead in National League West

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Inasmuch as Mariano Duncan, the rookie shortstop of the Los Angeles Dodgers, is hitting nearly 100 points higher batting right-handed, it has been suggested he might be better off abandoning his switch-hitting experiment.

But Duncan is working tediously with batting coach and fellow countryman Manny Mota.

"Every day I work at it," said a smiling Duncan, a native of the Dominican Republic. "Manny pitches — and he's got a good breaking pitch — and I hit, and hit and hit."

And his work is paying off.

Take Monday night, for instance. Batting right-handed against San Francisco starter Vida Blue, Duncan knocked in the tying run with a double in the fifth inning. Then, with the bases loaded in the sixth and facing ace reliever Scott Garrelts, he tripped batting from the left as the Dodgers erupted for seven runs for a 10-5 victory over the Giants.

It was Duncan's first triple in the major leagues.

The New York Mets edged the Montreal Expos 3-2 in the only other National League game Monday.

The Dodgers pounded out 15 hits, including four by right fielder Mike Marshall and three by veteran catcher Steve Yeager.

The Dodgers have now won six of seven, and 15 of 19 games to lead the San Diego Padres by five games in the National League West.

The Dodgers trailed 3-1 after Jeff Leonard's two-run homer in the sixth inning. But Los Angeles paraded 10 batters to the plate in the bottom of the sixth in their biggest inning in two years.

Blue, 5-4, took the loss, but Garrelts bore the brunt of the attack.

Garrelts took a 0.99 earned-run average into the game, the best ERA in the majors. But he was shocked for four runs in only two-thirds of an inning — three came home on Duncan's triple. A wild pitch allowed Duncan to score.

Bob Welch, 6-1, recorded his fifth straight win.

Mets 3, Expos 2

New York rookie Rick Aguilera wanted to give away half of his victory because he showed up at Shea Stadium with a "50-50 chance" of pitching.

"My right shoulder was very stiff and the trainer (Steve Garland) did a tremendous job," said Aguilera. "Once I got loose, I was fine. I would have liked to finish the game, but I can't argue... we won."

Keith Hernandez, who leads the major leagues with 16 game-winning RBIs, doubled in two runs.

Tim Wallach's ninth homer, a two-run shot off Orosco, accounted for Montreal's runs in the ninth.

Aguilera walked two and struck out four, retiring 11 consecutive batters in one stretch.

Astros beat Red Sox 5-3 in Hall of Fame game

By DONNA CASSATA

AP Sports Writer

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Successive home runs by Phil Garner and Harry Spilman in the 10th inning lifted the Houston Astros to a 5-3 exhibition baseball victory over the Boston Red Sox in the annual Hall of Fame game Monday.

Garner drove Tom McCarthy's first pitch of the inning into the right field stands and Spilman homered on McCarthy's next toss.

Houston had trailed 3-1 going into the ninth inning, but tied the game on RBI singles by Kevin Bass and German Rivera.

Tim Tillman singled to start the inning and moved to second as Glenn Davis drew a walk. Tillman scored on Bass' single.

After Dickie Thon struck out, Chris Jones singled and Davis attempted to score. Rightfielder Randy Anderson's throw to the plate was in time and Boston catcher Marc Sullivan tagged Davis out.

River's single then scored Bass to tie the game.

The Red Sox had taken a 1-0 lead on Marty Barrett's second-inning homer. Houston tied the game on Jones' home run to right field in the third inning.

Boston increased the lead to 3-1 in the seventh inning as Steve Lyons lined a two-run homer into right-center field.

Houston pitcher Charles Kerfield, who replaced starter Mike Madden in the seventh inning, got the victory. Madden struck out nine before being relieved in the seventh.

McCarthy, who took over for reliever Chris Bayer in the eighth inning, absorbed the loss for Boston.

The game attracted a capacity crowd of 9,791 that included Vice President George Bush and New York Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan.

The Hardest Thing To Do

Is The Easiest Thing To Do

Sound confusing? Well, think of the hardest thing you have to do. If you're like many people, saving money will be at the top of your list. It just seems to be one of the roughest things to do anymore.

Yet, it doesn't have to be that way. At our bank, the passbook account is an easy way to save money. You simply add to it, in any amount, at any time. Your money is safe and secure — always there when you need it.

Why not resolve right now to deposit a little out of your check each payday. Before you know it, your passbook account will add up to a tidy sum.

For more details come to our bank. We're pioneering new ways of service and security for you and your family.

Ann Landers

Turn the other cheek

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I read the letter from the young woman who asked if she should contact her illegitimate son's grandmother, it brought back painful memories.

Several years ago my son got a girl pregnant. He decided he wanted nothing to do with "Bernice" or the baby. I'm ashamed to admit I supported that decision.

Bernice went to the Coast to be born with her aunt. After the baby was born she wrote and asked if I wanted to see my grandson. I replied, "No. Please leave us alone."

I would give anything if I could turn back the hands of time. My son was killed six months ago in an industrial accident. I wrote Bernice and the letter came back, "Address Unknown."

I hired a detective to track her down. Within 10 days I had her phone number. I called and asked if I could come see my grandson. She told me she is happily married and wants nothing to do with me or any member of my family.

I will never forgive myself for turning my back on that young woman. My little grandchild will be four this year and I don't even know his birthday.

Please print my letter as a lesson for others. Fate played a cruel trick on me and I deserved it.—HEARTSICK IN THE EAST

DEAR H: If Bernice reads this I hope she will reconsider. It would cost her nothing to let you come see the boy—and would enrich her life immensely. Although the Old Testament says, "An eye for an eye," I prefer the New Testament's "Turn the other cheek."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our three teenagers are on drugs. The kids deny it but we have evidence. Please recommend a book for us AND for them. We are worried sic.—S.O.S.

DEAR S.O.S.: "Getting Tough on Gateway Drugs: A Guide for the Family," by Robert L. Du Point, Jr., M.D., contains a gold mine of non-nonsense information. It could save their lives. Now in paperback—a bargain at $7.95, published by American Psychiatric Press.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please tell your readers not to put stamps upside down or sideways on envelopes. Stamps are canceled by machine and when they aren't on right the mail must be sorted by hand. This creates a delay.—EFFICIENT IN RICHMOND

DEAR RICH: Frank Goldie, Chicago postmaster, says you may be efficient but your information is incorrect. Stamps upside down or sideways are "machinable."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Small wonder that 32-year-old man can't spell. English isn't spelled the way it sounds. Unless he has a gift for memorization he will have plenty of difficulty with our crazy language.

This has infuriated me ever since my youngster entered first grade. Johnny would pick up a book, so eager and proud, trying to sound out the words. But how does one sound out words such as through, rough, trough, enough, bough, said, knew, isle, double, ghoul, pneumonia, beaux, honor, etc? We hear alarming reports about how poorly our children read but no one proposes the obvious remedy—standardizing spelling. Nor is it only to our children that we owe this consideration. With English the unofficial international language, we owe it to the world.—I SPELL WELL BUT MY TYPING IS LOUSY (LANSING)

DEAR LANSING: How does one go about implementing such a transition? It sounds too formidable to contemplate. I don't have a clue. Do you?

Going to a wedding? Giving one? Or standing up in one? Even if you're already married Ann Landers' "New Bride Guide" will answer questions about today's weddings. Myths listed about seat belts

It is indeed strange thinking about seat belts that permits so much death and suffering in the name of personal convenience and unwrinkled clothing, says a safety official.

Most of this "strange thinking" is based on a number of common myths about seat belts, says Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

—Myth: Seat belts are unnecessary for short trips.

Fact: More than 70 percent of injury-causing traffic accidents occur within 25 miles of home, according to the National Safety Council. More than 80 percent of all collisions happen at speeds of under 40 mph. People who were not wearing seat belts have been killed in accidents that occurred at speeds as low as 12 mph—about the speed you would be driving in a parking lot.

—Myth: Seat belts trap people inside cars, and I'd rather be thrown clear.

Fact: "Thrown clear" is a misnomer. Being thrown from a vehicle usually means flying through the windshield or catapulting out a door. The force of a collision can fling you as much as 150 feet onto a roadside object, into the path of oncoming traffic or scraping along the pavement. For these reasons, if you are thrown from a vehicle in an accident, your chances of being killed are 25 percent greater. What's more, instead of being trapped, belted occupants are likely to be conscious and unhurt, and therefore better able to escape in the rare situation where fire or submersions are added dangers.

—Myth: Seat belts cause injuries.

Fact: Study after study in the United States and abroad show a substantial decrease in the number of serious injuries in actual auto accidents among those who are belted versus those who aren't. In the rare instances where injuries due to belts have been reported, either the belt was inappropriately worn or the crash was so severe that the occupants would have been killed or seriously injured if they had been unbelted.

—Myth: I don't need belts since I'm a careful driver.

Fact: No matter how good a driver you are, you can't control the other car. There's no way to protect yourself against someone else's bad driving, poor judgements or mechanical failures. Even good drivers can be killed or injured in a crash.

—Myth: I don't need seat belts; I can brace myself.

Fact: The force of an impact at least 10 mph is equivalent to catching a 200-pound bag of cement thrown from a first-story window, according to the National Safety Council. At 35 mph, the force of an impact is even more brutal. There's no way your arms and legs can brace you against that kind of force—even if you could react in time.

Card of Thanks

CARD OF THANKS
The family of Bobbie Ellis wishes to express a heartfelt thank you to the many fine friends of Bobbie, who made our time of bereavement much easier. The many thoughtful kindnesses, of neighbors, friends, ladies of the Central Church of Christ, minister Bob Wear, and many others is greatly appreciated. We came here from many places as virtual strangers. We depart as friends. Your loving care and kindness are exceeded only by our gratitude.

Says Fidel Castro

'U.S. trying to sabotage plan'

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP) — Cuban President Fidel Castro says the United States is trying to sabotage his plan to hold an international conference next week on Latin America's "life or death" struggle to cope with its $360 billion foreign debt. Castro charged Friday night the Reagan administration is enlisting the support of U.S. airlines to prevent delegates from traveling to Cuba for the conference. The Cuban leader spoke to a crowd of more than 100,000 people who gathered in this southeast coastal city on the 32nd anniversary of the start of the Cuban revolution. Castro said the United States is concerned that a consensus is developing in the hemisphere to support a debtor's rebellion.

"The imperialists are losing sleep thinking about this snowball which is advancing, this volcano which is erupting," he said.

Castro reiterated his view that Latin American countries should cancel their foreign debts, while adding that a broad spectrum of views will be heard at the conference.

He said leftists, centrists and conservative politicians will attend the four-day meeting along with academicians, economists, labor leaders and even evangelical Christians. Representatives of Cuban churches, whose influence has been sharply diminished under the revolution, also will attend, he said. Much of the multibillion-dollar debt is owed to U.S. banks. State Department officials have criticized Castro's call for debt repudiation, claiming he is continuing to repay his own debts to Western banks and should not urge a different policy to other governments.

Castro said U.S. attempts to undercut the conference "sometimes are so dirty that its airlines cooperate with the government. It is trying to sabotage trips, delay the delivery of tickets and create difficulties of all kinds."

But, he said, the conference will go ahead on Tuesday as planned. At least three former Latin American presidents are expected to attend the conference, along with a 54-member delegation from Brazil, which has a foreign debt above $100 billion.

Castro said per-capita income in Latin America is at the same level now as it was in 1975, and that without debt cancellation, a potentially explosive situation will develop. Critics have charged that Castro is trying to exploit the debt issue to enhance his prestige in Latin America. But he described his involvement as a selfless gesture aimed at preventing social chaos.

The United States says it is entitled to remain at the base under a 1934 treaty that can be abrogated only with the consent of both countries.

During the American Revolution, George Washington seldom commanded more than 10,000 troops at one time.

TUESDAY Shopper's Guide

A page filled with outstanding bargains and services!

Just a reminder, if your old furnace is about to give up, you might want to consider a new, high-efficiency heat pump. If your air conditioner needs replacement but your gas furnace is still in good working order, an add-on heat pump may be the answer. The most efficient system is the geothermal heat pump. It may be used in the conversion of an existing system or a new installation. Call (806) 364-1166
