DSGH confident of bond sale soon

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith General Hospital's financial picture is becoming rosier, and could soon be much improved with the imminent sale of $1.5 million in bonds, the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board learned Thursday night.

Attorney Alan Rhodes and Pat McGinty, CPA, both said much of the work has been done to prepare the bonds for sale, and a rating is being obtained from Moody's. The bonds will then be scheduled for sale.

"Once that hurdle is passed we should be home free," McGinty said.

"We hope Deaf Smith General Hospital has the proceeds in three weeks," Rhodes said. The board also approved Rhodes' recommendation that their lease agreement with Ed Barrett, which provided $250,000 for emergency room equipment, be changed to a simple loan agreement, with ER equipment as collateral. Barrett will be repaid with bond proceeds.

The bonds will be repaid quickly—in 10 years, at seven percent interest. That means payments of $213,566 a year, or about one-third of the current tax proceeds. The bond election last February that authorized the sale would allow the district to raise taxes to repay the bonds, but board member Frank Zinser reminded the board that voters "were promised we wouldn't raise taxes for at least a year or two."

Interim administrator Phillis Morrison presented a cash flow statement, collection summary and operating report that shows DSGH is beginning to come around from money-short to near-profit status.

In October, DSGH had $626,617 in patient revenue, and other income which, after deductions, came to $765,874—including $243,000 in tax collections. Expenses totaled $452,244 for the month, showing a net of almost $310,000.

The cash flow picture is improving, but still in the red by $56,531.

Morrison's expense report showed that expenses for October were $404,552—down $12,000 from the average for August, September and October, $62,000 less than July, and $31,000 less than the average from October, 1986 through June, 1987.

"We were able to cut expenses by beginning a purchase order system," Morrison said. "Before, department heads were able to pretty much order what they wanted. Now, they have to have a purchase order signed before they can buy anything. Usually, if a person has to have a purchase order approved by someone else, they order only what they must have, not just a tendency to order."

The board's search committee of Dr. Gerald Payne, Dr. Jim Herbertson and Ralph Detton reported that they are continuing to interview applicants for the administrator's post, and a consensus of the board indicated it was not interested in any proposals from Hospital Corporation of America.

"HCA has a tendency to gobble up little hospitals," Herbertson said. The committee, and the board, is interested in Health Management Professionals, an Atlanta-based group that owns no hospitals and, at most of the hospitals it manages, has a policy in place that it will not purchase the hospital.

HMP, in fact, is currently doing a survey of DSGH, and is expected to have a proposal on hand before the December board meeting.

The committee, and the board, indicated no leanings toward either a management company or an administrator. The committee has interviews scheduled Saturday, Tuesday and later next week with three administrator candidates.

The board also agreed to advertise for bids for employee group health and life insurance, looked at a capital equipment needs list, and talked computer software and maintenance proposals.

Pen-ridin' Whipple gets poetry published

By JOHN BROOKS
Managing Editor

"As I wrangle with my memories I'm thinking of the past,
I started wrangling horses as a kid.
Just watch that ol' remuda, and keep 'em on good grass,
How I long to do the things that I once did."

"Memories of the Past," Melvin Whipple, 1965

It's not that Melvin Whipple doesn't appreciate the work he's got—any cowboy appreciates a steady job, and a cowboy worth his salt isn't out of a job for long.

He just has a hankering for the way it was, when the now-67-year-old cowboy at Sugarland Feed Yard was a kid growing up in the wide-open spaces of Utah and Arizona, where the Wild West is still wild and wide open.

That hankering shows in his poetry. By day, Melvin's a pen rider—about all that's left for a real cowboy in 1987.

By night, he's a pen writer, composing poetry, mostly about cowboyin' and the West the way he and few others remember.

You can look at the words, and, if you like Western things and read Louis L'Amour you might appreciate them. But to hear Melvin Whipple . . .

His eyes and your eyes spark a fire. The body, and the spirit, are livened up.

"Printed and published verse is an important aspect of cowboy poetry but the heart of the tradition lies in recitation, either of original creations or well-known verses that have been around for many years," said Dr. Jim McNutt, director of research and collections at The University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures at San Antonio.

"On my first visit to Melvin's home south of Hereford, I sat across from him at the dining table and listened to him reading several of his poems aloud. He read with a careful sense of meter that would be hard to discern on the printed page, and he recited The Zebra Dun in its entirety with scarcely a hitch, then told me he had first learned it 50 years ago."

McNutt has edited Echoes of the Past, both a book of Whipple's poetry and a cassette of his readings, which are a sort of galloping iambic pentameter.

Melvin's still riding pens, even though he admits that at 67 he's getting "too damn old to sit in that saddle all day, especially in a feedlot. I'm just a dumb cowpuncher getting old."

But being an old cowpuncher means he has a lifetime of memories—especially about the way it was before they fenced in all the land, and even after they fenced in northern Arizona, where land was sold by the water rights, not by the acre.

Melvin had 28 sections worth of water rights when he sold his place, Grassy Mountain, 24 years ago. "I guess in Texas that would be a lot of land," Whipple said. He worked that land for about 40 years. "It was a helluva hard life and a helluva good life. "All I ever wanted to be was a cowboy. If I had to do it all over again, that's what I'd do."

"You may see this ol' cowboy today, ridin' in some feed yard,
Or maybe in some old folks' home, suttlin' a deck of cards.
A way down deep those old hands are all about the same,
They'd like t' live their life agin, back on the old home range."—Melvin Whipple

$1.3 billion bailout begins at Vernon S&L

DALLAS (AP) — Federal regulators are launching the costliest thrift rescue in the nation's history today, saying damage that former officers wreaked on Vernon Savings and Loan Association is beyond repair.

Despite the ouster of the thrift's past board and several months of management by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, the Dallas-based institution was hopelessly insolvent and getting worse, FHLBB chairman M. Danny Wall said Thursday night.

Vernon's 10 offices will be closed today while federal regulators embark on their $1.3 billion rescue plan by transferring Vernon's insured deposits to the newly created Montfort Savings Association, he said.

The FHLBB, regulator of 3,200 thrifts nationwide, said Montfort will operate as a mutual association owned by depositors under management by the bank board, FHLBB spokeswoman Martha Gravlee said.

The new entity will receive $200 million in cash and a $1.1 billion note from the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., which guarantees S&L deposits up to $100,000.

"We've done the best we could to salvage what we could out of that operation," said Tom B. Scott Jr., the chairman of the Vernon board of directors who will also be Montfort's chairman.

Scott, president of Unifirst Bank for Savings of Jackson, Miss., said he would be in Dallas today for a 1 p.m. board meeting at Vernon.

Vernon's net worth had sunk to negative $716.86 million by Sept. 30, and was projected to top negative $1 billion by next year. At the end of September, it had assets of $1.17 billion and deposits of $1.4 billion.

"The damage done to Vernon by the management before March of this year was irreparable," Wall said. The current management, appointed by the bank board March 20, inherited a portfolio in which 96 percent of the loans were not paying.

Under the direction of Donald R. Dixon, who acquired Vernon in January 1982, the institution increased its assets tenfold by making large, speculative development and construction loans, according to the bank board.

The FSLIC filed suit in April for $100 million against Dixon and other former officers, charging fraud and other breaches of the officers' duties.

"It's a massive problem," said current Vernon board member Thomas J. Hayman of Dallas. "It's a

Gramm-Rudman cuts underway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capitol Hill deficit-reduction negotiators said today an agreement is imminent. Nevertheless, President Reagan intended to order $23 billion in across-the-board cuts to kick in at midnight.

"The proper description is 'codeword imminent,'" Democratic Rep. William H. Gray III, House budget committee chairman, said before today's discussions began.

White House chief of staff Howard H. Baker Jr. said Thursday night that, as far as the president was concerned, the clock had run out on the administration-congressional negotiations to find an alternative to Gramm-Rudman's across-the-board cuts. The cuts were to be imposed today.

A two-year agreement to cut $75 billion could be stillborn anyway, because large numbers of House and Senate Republicans oppose it.

"One problem is making absolutely sure what we want is indicated in the tax area and will be agreeable to the president, because that's where he feels very strongly," said House Republican Leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois, who appeared with Gray on NBC-TV's "Today" show. He said the plan must not increase tax rates set under the 1986 tax revision.

"If we can get that locked up very tightly later on today, then I think there are good prospects for the president to sign on," he said.

Gray, of Pennsylvania, said the agreement would not change the tax rates "of any individual taxpayer whatsoever in America." He said the plan would ask defense contractors to pay their taxes earlier, delay the lowering of estate taxes and take other "base-broadening" steps.

But one month after Wall Street's "Black Monday" gave new impetus to the deficit-reduction drive, Democrats conceded the GOP revolt against the plan could make it impossible to pass.

The administration and Capitol Hill bargainers ended their 19th session saying they still had to complete details of how spending cuts would be enacted, and make sure Reagan, congressional leaders and committee chairmen were agreeable.

"It's going to be another tough day, and we're hopeful we can reach agreement tomorrow," Sen. Pete V. Domenici of New Mexico, senior Republican on the Senate Budget Committee, said after Thursday's meeting.

The negotiators' work, however, left them facing the deadline established by Gramm-Rudman. Under the law, the president must order the $23 billion across-the-board cuts today unless another way to trim an equal amount from this year's deficit has been enacted.

It is likely to take weeks before any accord stemming from the Capitol Hill negotiations could become law. And some federal agencies, under orders from the White House Office of Management and Budget, began cutbacks Nov. 10.

Legislative leaders had said for some time that if a budget agreement appeared near this week, they would ask Congress to approve a postponement of today's Gramm-Rudman deadline.

But on Thursday, with administration officials and numerous GOP lawmakers saying they would oppose an extension, Baker said the president would order the Gramm-Rudman cuts.

Lawmakers could partially or completely restore the withheld money with future legislation. In addition, because of government spending procedures, the full impact of the cuts will not be felt for weeks.

But unless the money is provided later, $11.5 billion will automatically be pared from military spending and $11.5 billion will be taken from domestic programs.

The cuts would translate to 8.5 percent reductions in domestic programs and 10.5 percent cuts in military spending, Social Security and many programs for the poor and veterans are exempt.

Some Republicans said they believed the automatic spending cuts would help pressure the bargainers to nail down a deal, while others said Gramm-Rudman is preferable to the plan envisioned by the negotiators.

"A lot of us don't think the Gramm-Rudman fix is that bad," said Rep. E. Clay Shaw Jr., R-Fla. "We just feel there's too much emphasis on taxes."

Applicants racing for commission

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The new State Racing Commission may not be staffed with the most qualified Texans because of strict financial disclosure requirements for appointees, Gov. Bill Clements' office says. The public members selected to serve on the regulatory board will have to file lengthy, detailed personal financial statements similar to those required for people applying for bank charters, James Huffines, Clements' appointments chief, said Thursday. The financial statements also must be available for public scrutiny. "A lot of our nominees will reconsider their level of interest once they see what financial disclosure is required," Huffines said. "I don't think a lot of these people realize what all is required." He said the rules could discourage some of the most qualified nominees. Texans overwhelmingly approved legalization of betting on horse and dog races for the first time in 50 years. The racing commission will regulate the industry. A total of 148 people have applied or have been recommended for the six positions on the commission, and six to 12 more names are coming in daily, Huffines said. But he predicted that the crowd will thin considerably when the financial disclosure rules are explained and they are told they will not be paid. "Once they take a look at the application that has to be filled out, I don't think that 70 percent of them will do it," Huffines said. Applicants also will be subjected to thorough background checks. A list of applicants and nominees released by Huffines on Thursday included former Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade and former Dallas Cowboys quarterback Roger Staubach. Staubach was nominated by Donald Delottell of Hamilton, Ohio, who described himself as a boyhood friend. Wade applied for the job. He said he was encouraged to do so by friends who own racehorses. "I know you will have hundreds applying, but I have decided that it would be a challenge to me and would like to put my hat in the ring for one of the positions on the Racing Commission," Wade wrote the governor. Clements will name the six members of the commission and is not required to choose from among those submitted for consideration. Huffines said Clements hopes to make his selections by the end of the year.

Two of those selected must be veterinarians. Two others must have some knowledge or experience with horse racing and two must be familiar with dog racing. The state comptroller and the chairman of the Public Safety Commission will serve as ex officio members of the panel. Other nominees on file include Fred Currie of Fort Worth, a stockbroker and owner of thoroughbreds. His file contains recommendations from Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Texas Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance, state Sen. John Monford, D-Lubbock, and Rep. Bob Leonard, R-Fort Worth. Texas House Speaker Gib Lewis recommended Wendy Churchill, a Fort Worth horse breeder; Leonard Pratt, a Colleyville breeder; and George Y. Siddons Jr. of Fort Worth. Dallas veterinarian Kenneth D. Cantrell was recommended by Dallas County Judge Lee Jackson and state Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas.

Report says North interfered with criminal probes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lt. Col. Oliver North pushed the FBI to investigate opponents of the Nicaraguan Contra rebels and tried to stall other probes that threatened to reveal his secret Contra supply operation, the congressional Iran-Contra committees say. In one instance detailed in the committees' final report, North encouraged the FBI in mid-1986 to investigate Jack Terrell, a former pro-Contra mercenary who had become disillusioned with the rebels. Terrell had begun to cooperate with a group that sued North associate Richard Secord in connection with alleged gun- and drug-running involving the Contras. North, a top National Security Council aide until he was fired in November 1986, contacted FBI official Oliver Revell when he learned the bureau was investigating an alleged assassination plot against President Reagan by figures who favored Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista government. North offered the help of an associate, security consultant Glenn Robinette, as someone familiar with Terrell's activities. The FBI accepted North's offer of assistance but eventually terminated the investigation, concluding that Terrell wasn't a threat to Reagan. The Iran-Contra committees also concluded that North and his boss, then-national security adviser John Poindexter, interfered with seven criminal investigations when the probes threatened to expose the Reagan administration's secret Contra supply operation. The private supply operation was set up after Congress banned U.S. military aid to the rebels. In one case, the U.S. Customs Service at North's request halted for six weeks an investigation into allegations that the Maule Aircraft Corp. of Moultrie, Ga., had shipped four aircraft to support the Contras in possible violation of U.S. export control laws. North told Customs Commissioner William von Raab that the company's owner was a close friend of Reagan, that people involved in the plane shipment were "good guys" who had done nothing illegal and that the aircraft were being used only to supply the Contras with medical and humanitarian supplies. He also told the Customs Service that the probe could compromise national security, including an effort to obtain the release of the American hostages in Lebanon, the report said.

Kissinger says

History to vindicate Nixon

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The rehabilitation of Richard Nixon's reputation is well under way, as reflected in the first national conference on his presidency, says former Secretary of State Henry Kissinger. About 150 scholars, journalists and former Nixon administration officials, including H.R. Haldeman, John Ehrlichman and Charles Colson, sat amiably Thursday on panels with former opponents and critics. And as keynote speaker, Kissinger concluded an emphatic defense of Nixon's foreign policy by recalling his meeting in 1974 with the despondent president two nights before Nixon resigned in disgrace over the Watergate scandal. "History will treat you more kindly than your contemporaries," Kissinger said he told Nixon. "I believe this conference is proof that this process is well under way," he said of the three-day meeting at Hofstra University. Nixon was invited to the conference, but declined, according to a spokesman for the ex-president, who lives in northeast New Jersey. In his address, Kissinger tried to discourage debate over whether he or Nixon was the primary architect of such foreign policy moves as the establishment of relations with the People's Republic of China. "I was his associate and his subordinate," said Kissinger, who was Nixon's national security adviser before becoming secretary of state. "I say this so we can avoid ... the fruitless exercise to see who contributed what part to what decision." Nixon decided "before he ever met me" that a nation with a quarter of the Earth's population could not be ignored, Kissinger said. "So that should settle the argument of who thought of it first," Kissinger said. "I came to the same conclusion independently." Professor Stephen Ambrose of the University of New Orleans, author of the recently published "Nixon: The Education of a Politician," faulted the Nixon administration for not ending the war in Vietnam sooner. "Think if we were out of Vietnam in 1969," Nixon's first year in office, Ambrose said earlier in the day. "Nixon mishandled the retreat at a terrible price in lives and treasure and his own reputation." An irritated Kissinger dismissed such criticism, saying that the North Vietnamese did not want to negotiate an end to the war.

The nation could not change its policy in Vietnam "as if it were switching a television channel," he said, adding that it was "presumptuous for outsiders to pretend they had a monopoly on virtue." Ehrlichman, who was Nixon's domestic adviser, said his former boss was a pragmatist. "He was essentially a problem solver," he said. "When you presented him with a problem and some options, you didn't get ideological results." Elliot Richardson, who held numerous cabinet posts in Nixon's administration, said Nixon "had it within his grasp to become our greatest post-World War II president." Richardson had no answer for why

Nixon did not. There were what he called "flaws of character," but Richardson wondered if a different Nixon would have succeeded so well in some areas. "I still don't understand him," said Hugh Sidey, longtime Washington correspondent for Time magazine. Sidey described Nixon as an enigma who "didn't understand the oath of office he took, but understood the world" better than other American leaders. "Maybe we will have to live with this contradiction: achievements in the books, but failure in the human dimensions that mean so much to leadership in the presidency," he said.

Babbitt pressing for new tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — This must be a frustrating time for Bruce Babbitt. While federal officials are engulfed in dramatic negotiations to reduce the deficit, no one seems to be paying much attention to the one guy with a plan. Babbitt, in the early days of his longshot Democratic presidential campaign, proposed a new tax. Wall Street was still flying high, but Babbitt said the deficit had to be cut, we'd all have to face the fact of it, and here's how to get started: a 5 percent national sales tax. He was still pushing the plan Thursday, and with the need to cut the deficit by $23 billion or $75 billion or $100 billion, you half expect someone to pay attention. Instead, Babbitt's funds are running low and his prospects seem increasingly remote. In Columbus, Ohio, Secretary of State Sherrod Brown helped launch Babbitt's Ohio campaign at a Monday Luncheon Club meeting of 400 past and present Democratic officeholders. Former State Democratic Chairman Eugene "Pete" O'Grady said "we just sit and listen," and the group heard Babbitt outline several positions that have set him apart from most of the other Democratic contenders — especially his new sales tax and his notion to tax the Social Security payments of high-income recipients. Yesterday, Babbitt entered the lion's den for a debate against four of his Democratic rivals — before an audience representing the elderly in Des Moines. He said the federal deficit "is being used as an ax to cut away at social programs that we've built for half a century," and warned that increased taxes were essential or the programs would face more danger. Referring to Sen. Paul Simon, currently the Democratic frontrunner in Iowa, Babbitt said he likes Simon's proposals but said Simon is a bit shy on how to pay for them. "He has a tendency to drive past the toll booth without putting anything in," Babbitt said. Babbitt believes voters will come to favor his "national consumption tax" (a sales tax designed to raise $40 billion-$60 billion, with food and other necessities exempt), but after 1984 it's no wonder he's out there all alone. Democratic nominee Walter Mondale pledged to raise taxes in kicking off his fall campaign, and when the air cleared he'd won one state and lost 49. Thus, the field of 1987 has been, shall we say, reluctant to embrace a tax increase — Babbitt's or anyone else's. Among the 11 other candidates for president, the Republicans all pledge not to raise taxes. Democrats Jesse Jackson and Richard Gephardt say they'd consider a new tax on imported oil. Simon is interested in boosting the excise tax on cigarettes.

GOP leader unhappy about Gorbachev invite

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House is backing off a plan to ask Soviet General Secretary Mikhail Gorbachev to become the first communist leader to address a joint meeting of Congress, administration and congressional sources say. The idea all but died Thursday after House Republican leader Robert Michel joined 79 other congressmen in asking President Reagan to find a less formal setting for lawmakers to meet with Gorbachev during the Dec. 7-10 summit. Faced with a GOP revolt, White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater issued assurances that "we have not proposed or asked for a special session of Congress.... The Soviets are considering what they want to do, and will let us know in a few days." Another senior administration official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said, "I would be very surprised if he (Gorbachev) ever ends up addressing a joint meeting." Michel, R-Ill., said asking Gorbachev to address a joint meeting of Congress "would be a terrible mistake and I have relayed my views to the State Department." Aides to House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, said "a White House liaison officer" had requested that Gorbachev be invited to address a joint meeting of Congress, and that Wright and Senate Majority leader Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., had set the time for 10 a.m. on Dec. 9. "A request for a visit by a leader is made by the White House and then the speaker and the majority leader come up with the time when it would be best to do this," said Charmayne Marsh, Wright's spokeswoman. An aide to Byrd said the majority leader endorsed the idea in a meeting last Friday with the Soviet ambassador to Washington, Yuri Dubinin. Three congressional sources, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the idea was discussed without any apparent objections Tuesday at a breakfast meeting attended by Wright, Byrd, White House chief of staff Howard H. Baker Jr., Treasury Secretary James A. Baker III and James C. Miller III, director of the Office of Management and Budget. Some Democrats said the dispute was between the White House and the conservative wing of the Republican Party. "If they don't want Mr. Gorbachev here, all they have to do is pick up the telephone and say, 'We don't want it,'" said another Wright aide, Wilson Morris. "Really, it's a fight between the president and his own party. When they settle it, they can let us know. There is no reason to point fingers." The Democratic whip, Sen. Alan Cranston of California, endorsed the proposed appearance, saying that "giving Gorbachev the cold shoulder is no way to end the Cold War."

problem that has to be worked out." Dixon was ousted in March when Vernon was converted from a state charter to a federal charter and a new board of directors was appointed. The Vernon rescue is the biggest ever in terms of the cost to FSLIC, Ms. Gravlee said. The earlier record was the $681 million bailout in 1986 of Sunrise Savings and Loan Association of Boynton Beach, Fla. Those transactions are dwarfed only by the $4.5 billion bailout in 1984 of Continental Illinois Bank & Trust of Chicago by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., a separate agency that insures commercial banks. Regulators hope to sell Montfort eventually, reducing the cost of the bailout, Ms. Gravlee said. FSLIC also may reduce the size of the note over time by transferring healthy assets, such as paying loans, to Montfort. Vernon's 10 offices will reopen Monday under the new Montfort name, honoring the same rates and terms on all certificates of deposit, she said. Vernon had been based in the North Texas town of Vernon, but was moved to Dallas in March. Depositors with less than $100,000 in the institution will have immediate access to their money Monday. Depositors with more than that must apply for access in writing. Ms. Gravlee said a small number of deposits were above the insurance limit, but she said the bank board could not yet put a dollar limit on the amount. Vernon is the 16th association to be liquidated by the bank board so far this year, the second in Texas. Two others Texas thrifts were declared insolvent and bought out by other institutions. The FHLBB liquidated 21 institutions last year, and Wall this month predicted that 33 liquidations would occur this year and more than 50 next year. The bank board had been hamstrung in dealing with the problem of ailing thrift institutions, particularly in oil patch states like Texas, because its insurance fund was technically insolvent. It was forced to keep many insolvent S&Ls, so-called "zombie thrifts," afloat because it lacked the money to pay off depositors. President Reagan in August authorized a three-year, $10.8 billion recapitalization of FSLIC, funded by long-term bonds paid off by healthy thrift institutions. The bank board has sold $1.1 billion of the bonds so far.

Mission yearbook: We are asked to give thanks for the ministry of The United Mission to Nepal. Though this ministry must conform in word to a statement that says, "The United Mission to Nepal shall not engage in any proselytizing and other activities which are outside the scope of their assigned work", this does not keep them from "doing" the Gospel in such a way that the message of God's grace does get through. By living the Gospel for the people of Nepal, the workers of UMN equip the local people to be and speak the Word of God in the most effective way possible. Please pray today for this ministry that reminds us that God alone is Lord of the Harvest.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm sending a letter that appeared in the letters column of the San Bernardino Sun.

What a wonderful world this would be if more people had this man's attitude. I hope you will find room to print it.—Arthur E.

DEAR ARTHUR: You bet. What a beautiful guy! Thanks for letting us know about him. Here's his letter:

"On May 11, I was shot through the head by a 16-year-old kid who was trying to steal my car. The .22 bullet went through my right eye, crashed through my sinuses and lodged under my left ear.

"On August 27, the Sun printed a letter that referred to that 16-year-old 'gun punk' who ruined my life. Not true. I believe I am one of the luckiest people alive.

"How many people live when a bullet passes through their head? Of course, I am sad to have lost an eye, but I'm twice as happy to be walking tall and loving life, appreciating every little thing like never before—things I used to take for granted; like rain, an orange, a kiss.

The articles in the Sun about me were aimed at my financial dilemma resulting from a system that is not prepared to help victims. Though my impending eviction has been staved off for another month, and my rightful income has been lost in red tape, I'm thankful that my problems are only monetary.

Every morning I celebrate life. I'd rather live than win the lottery! Call it God's eloquence! Call it karma! Call me unquestionably happy!—Ted Morgan

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't know if I'm a kleptomaniac, or just a shoplifter out of control. I've been shoplifting for about two years and had a very close call yesterday. I've always imagined how humiliating it would be if I got caught, but the close call yesterday really hit home and made me realize how devastating it would be.

Like many shoplifters I don't steal because I need things. I steal because it's a challenge. I love the excitement of getting away with it. I have a wonderful family. My husband and I are both professionals and though I have taken a break from work to raise a family, we can afford to buy whatever we need.

I have vowed a dozen times that I will stop shoplifting but I always go back to it. Of course, I'm ashamed of myself and this makes it difficult for me to seek professional help. Please tell me what to do.—San Luis Obispo, Calif.

DEAR S.L.O.: You have a psychological problem that can be treated only by a professional. I urge you to contact a psychiatrist, psychologist or social worker. Do it now. The embarrassment of confessing will be nothing compared to the humiliation if you are arrested and the incident becomes public knowledge.

You need to find out why the thrill of risk-taking means so much to you that you are willing to take such chances.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Another postage stamp story: While in London our teenage daughter mailed several postcards using U.S. stamps. They were delivered! Aren't the English lovely?—Wabash, Ind.

DEAR WABASH: Yes! Yes! Yes! And isn't London wonderful?

Feeling pressured to go "all the way" because everyone else is doing it? You're not alone. For answers to your questions about sex, and to learn how your peers really feel about it, write for Ann Landers' newly revised booklet, "Sex and the Teenager." Send $2.50 plus a self-addressed, stamped No. 10 envelope (39 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Three other HHS spikers are also honored

Kahlich is on all-district first team

Hereford High School setter Tricia Kahlich, a senior, was named to the all-District 1-4A volleyball team, and three other HHS players were also honored in the all-district selections. Wisty Mars, a junior, was named to the all-district second team. Libby Kosub, listed among the honorable mention selections, is the sophomore of the year, and Cande Robbins, who was second in the sophomore of the year voting, is also an honorable mention selection.

Hereford Coach Brenda Reeh said, "I'm very pleased with the selections for honors this year. We are represented by four players who are extremely deserving. Pampa, the district champion, is the only other team to be represented by as many as four players on any of the three teams."

Kahlich was named to the all-district second team last year. She led Hereford in serving with 271 good serves, including 16 service aces.

"Tricia has started on the varsity the past three years for us as setter and has shown tremendous improvement each season. Her enthusiasm for the game has grown each season and resulted in her becoming quite a leader on the court," Coach Reeh said.

"As a setter, Tricia had to quarterback the team much of the time and handled those responsibilities quite well," Reeh adds.

Mars started as the middle blocker for Hereford, and had 380 good spikes and dinks, including 92 kills.

"Wisty was a spark plug for us a number of times this year. When one out of every three of your good hits is a kill, it really helps the momentum stay on your side," Coach Reeh said.

"Wisty did a good job of maturing into a controlled, consistent, all-around player who helped as much defensively as she did offensively. She likes to be around the ball and is very aggressive when she gets there," Reeh notes.

Kosub and Robbins are the only two sophomores in the district to be selected for all-district honors.

"Between Libby and Cande, these two gathered all of the votes for sophomore of the year. The sophomores on both the varsity and junior varsity drew lots of attention around the district this year and that makes the future of Hereford volleyball look real bright," Reeh said.

District volleyball coaches, in voting for all-district selections, do not vote on their own players. Kosub received four votes for sophomore of the year, and Robbins had three votes.

"Libby turned into our most consistent defensive player. She had 411 good service receptions — 50 more than the next closest player. She was our second leading server with 238 good serves, 24 of which were aces," Coach Reeh said.

"Libby was also our second strongest hitter with 294 good hits, 68

Michael Jordan of the Chicago Bulls had the three top-scoring games in the 1986-87 NBA season. Jordan had two games with 61 points and one with 58.

Hereford is the site today for a class 2A area football playoff game between West Texas High School and Abernathy High School, at 8 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium.

West Texas High, 9-1, is a six-point favorite over Abernathy, 9-2, according to the Harris Rating System. Last week in bi-district playoff games, West Texas High defeated Quanah 28-7 and Abernathy beat Shallowater 22-7.

HART'S HEISMAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Offensive players have dominated the voting for the Heisman Award. The last lineman to win the trophy was Leon Hart, who played both offensive end and on defense for Notre Dame in the 1949 season. Players went both ways at that time.

Hart, by the way, a large and agile man, also on occasion took a turn a fullback.

WTSU closes out season against ACU

The West Texas State University Buffaloes close out the 1987 football season Saturday at home against Abilene Christian, and will aim to give the school its third straight winning season.

The Buffs are 5-5 overall, including a 2-2 Lone Star Conference record. Abilene Christian is 1-3 in the conference and 4-6 overall.

Saturday's game begins at 1:30 p.m. at Kimbrough Memorial Stadium. A WTSU win will give the Buffaloes their third consecutive winning season for the first time since the 1968-70 seasons.

Eighteen Buffalo seniors will make their final appearance in WTSU uniforms, including quarterback Steve Kragthorpe, running back J.R. Compton, and place kicker Kyle Carter.

Compton is among the all-time leaders in school history in three categories - third in rushing (11 yards behind fourth place Pete Pedro), fifth in pass receptions, and fifth in scoring. Carter is seventh in the all-time scoring list.

Abilene Christian is the only Lone Star Conference school to hold a lead in an all-time series against West Texas State. Abilene Christian leads the series 11-10, but the Buffaloes won 32-28 last season in a game that clinched the conference championship for WTSU.

Last week, Abilene Christian led Texas A&I 21-0 before A&I came back to post a 35-28 victory. Abilene Christian ranks second in the conference in total defense, 247 yards per game - first in pass defense, allowing 119.7 yards per game, and in rushing defense the Wildcats are giving up 127.9 yards per game.

The Wildcats are led by sophomore quarterback John Paul Webber, who has 804 yards passing with seven touchdowns this season. Roderick Jones and Randy Arnold are among the top five pass receivers in the conference.

West Texas State scored a 29-7 victory over Eastern New Mexico last week. J.R. Compton led the Buffs with 103 yards rushing in 28 attempts and was voted the conference offensive player of the week. Compton needs just 79 yards to become WTSU's first 1,000-yard rusher since Bo Robinson in 1977.

The Buffaloes were led on defense by nose guard David Newman, who had 15 tackles - five for losses and three quarterback sacks.

Michael Washington of West Texas State leads the conference with an average of four pass receptions per game, and Compton is third with 3.5 per game.

Compton is ranked ninth in Division II rushing with a 115.0 average per game. WTSU's punter Sean Fredericksen is ranked second in the conference and sixth nationally with a 41.3 average.

A&M, Texas head for Thanksgiving showdown

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

Texas A&M and Texas are headed for a Thanksgiving night showdown to decide the Southwest Conference's Cotton Bowl representative to enter what happens on Saturday.

The 16th-ranked Aggies, who have won five games in a row, meet the revenge-seeking Texas Christian Horned Frogs at noon (Raycom regional television) on Saturday in Fort Worth.

The Longhorns host the Baylor Bears, who have never won under Coach Grant Teaff in Austin, at 1 p.m.

A&M and Texas are both 4-1 in SWC play and they could both lose and meet in Kyle Field for the host team in the Cotton Bowl.

Arkansas is 5-2 and the only way the Razorbacks could get a ticket to Dallas on January 1 is if both A&M and Texas lose on Saturday then tie on Thanksgiving night. The Hogs lost to both Texas and A&M.

In the only other SWC game this weekend, Texas Tech can earn an Independence Bowl invitation with a victory over the Houston Cougars in the Astrodome in a 7 p.m. game.

Texas A&M has won 14 consecutive games against the Horned Frogs, including a 74-10 slaughter last year.

There's also no love lost between A&M Coach Jackie Sherrill and TCU Coach Jim Wacker.

Wacker has accused Sherrill of running the score up on him.

"We have 15 seniors who want to erase memories of last year's game," Wacker said.

Sherrill said A&M won't let down even if it doesn't have to win.

"Our confidence is high right now," Sherrill said. "We need to maintain that through the Texas game. We can't allow ourselves to go flat."

Sherrill said his team is prepared for a hostile greeting.

"I really believe it will be our toughest game all year," Sherrill said. "TCU is a dangerous offensive team and Tony Jeffery is a tremendous running back with a talent for making things happen."

The Aggies were four-point favorites over the Frogs.

Texas was a 10-point pick over Baylor, which is 6-4 and still a possible Independence or Bluebonnet Bowl participant.

"Texas is obviously on top of their game and highly motivated," Teaff said. "Eric Metcalf has developed into one of the most exciting and dangerous players I've seen in the league in a long, long time. He is truly a great player."

Texas Tech Coach Spike Dykes has yet to enjoy a victory on the road with his Red Raiders. All six triumphs have come at home.

The Raiders and Cougars have two of the most potent offenses in the SWC.

"They scare you to death with their big play ability," Dykes said. "They are on a roll after beating Texas like they did (60-40). We'll have to be on our toes every play."

News briefs on hunting, fishing

QUAIL HUNTING

AUSTIN (AP) - Quail hunters harvested more than 8,600 bobwhite quail during the first four weekends of public hunts on the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Chaparral Wildlife Management Area in Dimmit and LaSalle counties.

According to the agency, "the hunts started with a bang" Oct. 17-18 when 1,066 hunters took 5,116 quail.

David Synatzke, area manager, said the total harvest is an all-time high for the 15,200-acre area.

LARGEMOUTH BASS

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Calaveras Lake, a power plant reservoir on the outskirts of San Antonio, is improving its production of largemouth bass in spite of heavy fishing pressure, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

An October survey showed collection of 158 bass per hour, a 26 percent increase from 1986 totals.

PHEASANT HUNTING

AUSTIN (AP) - Surveys in 17 Panhandle counties indicate ring-necked pheasant populations are about 6 percent above 1986 levels, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has reported.

Prospects are good for the Dec. 12-27 hunting season, the agency said.

The daily bag limit is two cock pheasants per day, four in possession. The department said one leg must remain attached to the carcass of any pheasant taken until the bird reaches its final destination.

During his record 2,130 consecutive playing game streak, Lou Gehrig of the Yankees was twice replaced by a pinch-hitter. Earle Combs did it in 1932 and Myril Hoag in 1935.

Rogers Hornsby, a Hall of Famer with a lifetime batting average of .358, played for five different major league teams.

Walter Johnson was a star pitcher for the Washington Senators for 18 years before he finally got a chance to pitch in the 1924 World Series against the New York Giants.

WE DESERVE BETTER

Panhandle Citizens for a Better Amarillo Newspaper (PCBAN) is a regional group formed as a result of irresponsible journalism practiced by the publisher of Amarillo's only daily newspaper, the Globe-News. The group, comprised of citizens from Amarillo and surrounding communities, has joined together to demand professional, constructive and objective news coverage in the Panhandle.

— Cancel Subscriptions: PCBAN is asking all Panhandle citizens to cancel their Globe-News subscriptions immediately. Call 376-4488. Citizens should rely on other area and regional newspapers and the broadcast media. Cancelling is an essential step toward our goal of obtaining a high quality paper for all of us to enjoy.

— Withhold Advertising: PCBAN is asking all area advertisers to refrain from placing ads on each Tuesday, beginning Tuesday, November 24. A full description of this program will be provided to all Globe-News advertisers. Supportive advertisers will be recognized and given full credit by PCBAN.

— Attend Rallies and Forums: The first PCBAN forum will be held on Monday, November 23 at 5:30 p.m. at the Amarillo Civic Center. This will be an old-fashioned town meeting. All Panhandle citizens are invited and encouraged to attend!

— Recruit Support: PCBAN is calling on all Panhandle citizens to recruit their friends and associates to participate and support the objective of obtaining a better Amarillo newspaper for the whole Panhandle.

Study Club contemplates Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving was the program given by Della Stagner when members of La Afflatus Estudio Club met in the home of Tresa Hale with Jennie Terrell serving as co-hostess.

President Terrell conducted the meeting and those present recited the Pledge to the American and Texas flags. Eleven members were present and read the club collect. Roll call was answered by each member's favorite thought. The program was then turned over to Stagner.

Stagner talked about not thanking people who have touched our lives and not saying thank you enough.

Members present were: Aileen Montgomery, Pet Ott, Stagner, Terrell, Mary Williamson, Bea Hutson, Alberta Higgins, Hale, Opal Elliston, Virginia Beasley, Lydia Hopson.

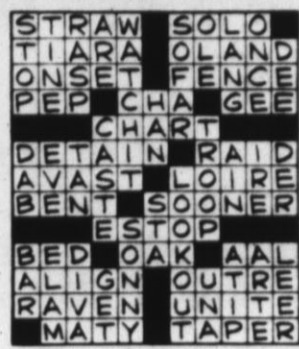

The next meeting will be Dec. 1, and will be a Christmas luncheon in the Mary Herring home.
