Five dead in Chicago area

FDA urges Tylenol halt

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration today advised consumers nationwide to stop using Extra-Strength Tylenol after officials disclosed a second batch of cyanide-tainted pain reliever had been found. The poison-tainted medicine is linked to as many as five deaths.

Both suspect batches were recalled nationwide by the manufacturer. Bill Rados, FDA press spokesman in Washington, said the agency acted after officials indicated they could not be certain how many batches of the best-selling over-the-counter remedy have been contaminated. The manufacturer said the problem was limited to the Chicago area, where all the deaths occurred.

Cook County investigators said they have found that the Extra-Strength Tylenol capsules taken by the victims had been "pried open" and laced with the deadly poison before being sold. The Cook County medical examiner's office said it was treating the deaths as possible homicides and trying to determine at what point the poison could have been put into the capsules.

Lawrence Foster, vice president for public relations for Johnson & Johnson, the parent company of the manufacturer, said the second batch found to contain cyanide, 1910 MD, was made in Round Rock, Texas. He said they had been recalled nationwide, but he did not

Bad lot numbers found in Texas

DALLAS (AP) — Bottles of Extra-Strength Tylenol bearing the control numbers of those lots being recalled because of five deaths in the Chicago area have shown up in several cities across Texas.

The first lot contained the control number MC2880 and the second had the number 1910MD.

There were reports of bottles of the second lot being found in Waco, San Angelo, Bowie, Gainesville, Amarillo, Tyler and at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio.

know how many bottles were involved or where they had been distributed.

He said fact that the cyanide-laced Extra-Strength Tylenol came from two sources — the first lot found contaminated, MC2880, was made in Pennsylvania — "leads us to believe strongly that the problem rests in Chicago."

There had been reports from Du Page County officials that there might be a third suspected contaminated batch, MB2738, because a

September grocery prices down

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The end of summer brought a drop in grocery prices, with bargains at the meat counter helping to cut supermarket bills last month, an Associated Press market-basket survey shows.

For the second month in a row, retailers offered special promotions on beef items during September, and the AP survey showed lower prices in many areas for hot dogs and hamburgers.

The AP survey was based on a list of 14 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, selected at random and priced at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973. Prices have been rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month.

The latest survey showed that the marketbasket bill increased last month at the checklist store in six cities and decreased in seven cities, for an overall decrease of an average of six-tenths of 1 percent.

During August, in contrast, the marketbasket bill increased in seven cities and decreased in six cities, with the changes averaging out to a drop of 0.01 percent on an overall basis.

Comparing prices today with those at the start of the year, the AP found that the marketbasket bill rose an average of 4.1 percent during the first three-quarters of 1982.

The big savings for consumers in recent weeks have come on beef products like the chopped chuck and all-beef frankfurters included in the AP survey.

Prices for all red meat — beef and pork — rose during much of the first part of the year, reflecting generally lower supplies. Weak consumer demand, due in part to the recession which has left people with less money to spend, have caused beef

Baytown bomb explodes; FBI continuing search

BAYTOWN, Texas (AP) — One of five bombs found at a Gulf Oil Chemicals Co. petrochemical plant exploded while being defused, and FBI agents were investigating whether more bombs had been hidden as part of an extortion plot, officials said.

No injuries were reported and four bombs were deactivated with a water cannon without any explosion, said Sgt. W.D. Marsh of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

DPS supervisor Wayne Pullen said the four may have been duds.

Gulf and FBI officials refused to comment on news reports that a letter that sparked the search for explosives had demanded at least $15 million and warned that 10 bombs would be exploded unless the money was turned over within 120 hours, or by about noon Sunday.

Marsh said after the five bombs were neutralized Thursday that the FBI still was sweeping Gulf's Cedar Bayou plant to see if any other bombs were there. The FBI and Gulf refused to confirm that any bombs were found and would not comment when asked if they were still looking for explosives.

"The actions which were taken that required the relocation of personnel and observers have been completed and any devices which were located have been neutralized," said FBI Special Agent Ron Kettler. "No further comment can be made concerning this matter." (See BOMB, Page 2)

Schmidt fights for position

BONN, West Germany (AP) — Fighting for his political life, Chancellor Helmut Schmidt denounced the liberals who defected from his ruling coalition and teamed with the conservatives in today's parliamentary bid to oust him.

"The voters will not forget this behavior for many years," Schmidt told his opponents in the packed Bundestag, the lower house of Parliament.

"Your way of behaving is legal, but it has no inner, nor moral justification," Schmidt said, referring to the parliamentary vote of no-confidence later today that was likely to see Schmidt, a Social Democrat, replaced by Helmut Kohl, a Christian Democrat with conservative views like those of President Reagan.

Schmidt, 63, said those planning to vote him out of office lacked credibility because they were attempting to change governments without first going to the voters for new elections.

He challenged his opponents' pledge to hold elections next March. "I think it very improbable

Rainfall .95 of an inch here

Cloudy skies and light rain—the remnants of Hurricane Paul-dotted portions of West Texas, the Panhandle, and the South Plains today.

Those clouds cooled the area off and dumped .95 of an inch of rain on the city of Hereford during the night Thursday. The near-inch of moisture raised the city's yearly total to 14.86 inches, above the average total of 14.02 for the first nine months of the year.

September's total rainfall in Hereford was 1.14 inches according to KPAN, the official weather station in the city. Other reports of rainfall included a report of 1.10 inches on Star St. and accumulations of up to .90 of an inch to the east and south of town.

Sprinkles also were evident in South Central Texas along with a band of clouds that stretched southward to include the lower coastal plains.

Mostly clear skies were the rule across the rest of Texas.

Heavy rains hit El Paso, stalling hundreds of cars at water-covered intersections Thursday. The National Weather Service said 2.14 inches fell in the city before skies cleared during the afternoon.

Some underpasses were swamped with water four feet deep, and residents of six apartments in the Continental House complex about three miles west of downtown El Paso were evacuated because of high water.

The forecast called for partly cloudy skies in Central and West Texas with mostly fair skies in East Texas through Saturday. There was a chance of widely scattered showers or thunderstorms in West Texas.

Light rain and thunder-showers also was forecast for South Central Texas and along the lower coast.

Mostly cloudy skies, along with showers and thunderstorms, were forecast for most of the state tonight. The shower activity was expected to end Saturday, beginning in Southwest Texas.

Herefordites enjoy visit to Hereford

By JERI CURTIS

Like any proper tourist, Albert Tittensor got lost in Dallas. In a big town like that it's easy for someone from Hereford to wander off the trail. Especially if it's Hereford, England, one hails from.

But it wasn't until he got his family to Hereford, Texas, that he drove on the "wrong" side of the road while trying to find the Frank Ford residence.

In England, the traffic keeps left instead of right and the driver's side of a car is on the right. "It's very hard to remember which is your right arm and your left arm when you are in that situation," he said of driving an American rental car on the West Texas highways.

He said he nearly ran some red lights because the signals are "up in the air" instead of on posts on the curb.

Tittensor and his wife, Janet; her mother, Mary Cluff; and the daughters Chareth and Tracey; arrived in Hereford last week to return a visit paid by Frank and Margie Ford several years ago after the families became acquainted through the Chambers of Commerce. Ford had written the England office to request prayer for a revival from the sister city. The chamber leader forwarded the letter to Tittensor, a lay youth and children's ministry worker in the Elim Pentecostal Church.

While soaking in a bit of the Texan way of life, Tittensor hopes to pick up on youth ministry trends here, also. He gave one example of English trends — several churches in his hometown of about 30,000 host a monthly ecumenical youth service. Mrs. Tittensor is enjoying an almost childlike excitement during their living geography lesson.

"I tell you what really thrilled me (driving from Dallas across the scenic route through Snyder) was when I saw those skylines like I had seen on westerns ... I could just imagine Wella Fargo there," she chattered. "I was really sort of cowboy mad when I was a girl."

"It's so thrilling to see everything so big," she added. "The houses are so close (at home) because England is so squashed." Although her Hereford — pronounced something like hear-a-ford — is larger in population, she said this town looked so much larger.

And friendlier, perhaps due

Local stores pulling stock

By BOB NIGH
MANAGING EDITOR

While no evidence of any capsules of Extra Strength Tylenol pain reliever have been found in searches of shelves conducted by local merchants, at least three outlets have pulled the drug off their shelves in the wake of the deaths of five persons in the Midwest this week following use of the pain killer.

Linda Vermillion, registered pharmacist at Edward's Pharmacy, said she had pulled the capsules off the shelves this morning "to be completely safe." Ms. Vermillion said a check for the lot no. MC 2880, which contained the contaminated capsules which have been attributed to the five deaths in the Chicago area, showed none in her store.

Furr Foods, Inc. spokesman David Torres said that his store had been instructed to pull all Extra Strength Tylenol capsules off its shelves by the chain's office in Lubbock.

Moore's Jack N' Jill store has pulled all of the drug in capsule form off its shelves and has been instructed to return them to their warehouse in Liberal, Kan. according to store manager Jim Fleming.

In a similar move, Price Less Foods also pulled the drug in tablet form off its shelves today. The store does not sell the Tylenol in capsule form according to a spokesman.

Quick checks with Gibson's Pharmacy and McDowell Drug also showed none of the lot number of the drug to be in their stocks.

Across the country today, thousands of drug stores and drug distributors moved swiftly to take the drug off their shelves.

The lot number in question, MC 2880, was shipped to outlets in 34 states, 30 east of the Mississippi River, as well as in North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and part of Wyoming.

Even though there have been no confirmed poisonings outside of the Chicago area, the nation's poison-control centers have been swamped with calls by worried consumers.

President departs for Texas Medical Center

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian President Zail Singh left Thursday for the United States where he will undergo a heart examination and possible surgery at the Texas Medical Center in Houston.

The 66-year-old chief of state was seen off at Delhi airport by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, Vice President Mohammad Hidayatullah, cabinet members and armed services chiefs. He appeared cheerful and acknowledged the greetings of hundreds of well-wishers.

Singh departed on a special Air-India jetliner for Houston, with an overnight stop at Geneva, Switzerland. His entourage includes cardiologist H.S. Wasir of the All-India Institute of Medical Sciences and two other eminent physicians, his daughter, brother and a nephew. The daughter, Mani Kaur, also is a doctor.

SMU president refuses request for appearance

DALLAS (AP) — The president of Southern Methodist University said "no" Thursday to a national Republican staffer who inquired about renting a campus auditorium Oct. 11 for a political rally featuring President Reagan.

"No matter who is coming, we do not feel it is appropriate to the best interests of SMU to serve as a staging area for political rallies, whatever the partisanship," SMU president Donald Shields said.

"We don't in any way wish to embarrass the president of the United States," he said. "We would be delighted any time to have the president of the United States."

Campus policy prohibits rallies that are partisan, not organized by students, and not directed toward the campus community, Shields said.

"We're very concerned about the integrity of the university," he said.

The event would benefit senatorial candidate Jim Collins, a Texas congressman from Dallas who is seeking to unseat Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

Dee Travis, Collins' campaign manager, said it was the National Republican Senatorial Committee seeking use of SMU and not the Collins campaign.

TEC sets contributions at $28 per person

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Acting under a law hastily passed last month, the Texas Employment Commission today set Texas employers' 1983 contribution to the unemployment fund at a minimum of $28 per employee.

The TEC also voted to notify Gov. Bill Clements today that it estimates the state will need to borrow $300 million from the federal government in order to keep Texas' unemployment trust fund solvent through January.

The new tax rate goes into effect in January. Employers will also pay a surtax during first quarter of 1983 to cover interest on the federal loan. The amount of the surtax won't be known until the money is actually borrowed.

The amount of the federal loan is based on projected unemployment claims. TEC Comptroller Jim Hines told the commission that claims jumped $15.3 million between August and September.

"We don't know if it will level off, so we're shooting with the higher figures, so we won't have to come back with a supplemental advance," Hines said.

After the TEC warned that the trust fund was perilously close to bankruptcy, Clements called a special legislative session to change the tax formula that would have resulted in an increase of up to 2,000 percent in employers' payments.

Based on the new formula and a balance today in the trust fund of $76.1 million, TEC Chairman Nolan Ward and Commissioner Ken Clapp voted to raise employers' taxes by 0.3 percent. Richard Mellado, the commission's third member, was absent.

Under the old formula, employers taxes would have gone up 3 percent, to a minimum of $210, Clapp said.

The Baytown Sun's source said the plant shutdown cost Gulf $1.5 million Wednesday and estimated that Thursday's costs would total $2.5 million.

Gulf spokesman Michael Kumpf said he did not know how much the shutdown cost the company and added, "At this point we aren't even concerned with that." He said the main concerns were protecting the people and property at the plant.

The company has said it believes the community was not endangered by the devices found at the plant. The facility, on more than 400 acres of a 1,000-acre tract, is not near any homes or businesses, Gulf spokesman Kirk Vogeley said.

The nearest school is 1½ miles away. Baytown school officials have discussed contingency plans for an evacuation should that be needed.

that you will dissolve Parliament in January so that the people can vote on March 6," Schmidt said. "Please, tell Parliament and thus the whole people today, without ifs or buts, that we will elect a new Parliament on March 6."

On the eve of the vote, Schmidt sought to reassure West Germany's Western allies, telling a hastily convened meeting of the diplomatic corps in Bonn that "our partners must know that in democratically constituted states, changes in political leadership are normal."

"I know that abroad, the long shadows of our past sometimes distort events and opinions in our country and sometimes revive old doubts in the Germans," he said. "I beg you to have trust in the constancy of the Germans."

West Germany has been run by the center-left coalition now headed by Schmidt for the past 13 years. It won a new four-year term at the polls in 1980. Schmidt has been chancellor for 8½ years and enjoys wide popularity.

Kohl would be the first West German chancellor elected in a no-confidence vote. Under West German law, voters elect the parliament which in turn elects the chancellor to a four-year term.

White also writes that "bureaucracy is the cancer of the American economy... our elected representatives and even our President become so tangled in its web that in the end the Bureaucrats run this country to perpetuate their malignant growth."

There are eight autonomous commissions created by Congress, says White, which are known as the 4th branch of government. The easiest way to eliminate these creations of previously-elected representatives is to have your present representatives cut off their money supply.

"You have the powers of the pen to inform your representative and your fellow citizens. Together, we have the power to elect representatives of our choice."

Plague remains unbeatable

By JENNIFER PARMELEE
Associated Press Writer

Plague, a virulent disease often perceived as just a relic of the Middle Ages, still infects wild animal communities in the American West and continues to threaten the expanding population of humans.

So far this year, 17 cases in humans have been reported to the Centers for Disease Control's plague laboratory in Fort Collins, Colo. Three cases resulted in death.

"There haven't been any breakthroughs (in eradicating plague)," says Allan Barnes, plague specialist for the Fort Collins lab. "We're just trying to keep things from getting worse."

Plague still is relatively rare in the United States — nothing like countries such as Burma, where Barnes says 100 cases a year constitute "just a drop in the bucket." But health officials say they're powerless to halt the spread of the bacterium among wild rodents and they worry that the current back-to-nature trend will bring humans still closer to plague-carrying vermin.

In addition, while Westerners are learning that plague can strike in modern times, health officials say there are many doctors — especially those from the East Coast — who fail to recognize it.

On average, there are about 15 cases of plague a year in the West, with more than half of them in New Mexico. During the past two years, plague has also stricken humans in Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Arizona, California, Oregon and far-western Texas.

In addition, plague-carrying fleas have infected wild rodents across thousands of miles of mountains, prairies and deserts in Idaho, Nevada, Washington, Montana, and as far east as Kansas and Oklahoma.

Though it once was concentrated in rat-infested slums, plague now is most common in rural areas and finds victims in every economic class.

The disease caused a stir last year when a plague-infested wood rat was trapped less than a mile from President Reagan's ranchhouse in Santa Barbara, Calif. A writer from Klamath County, Ore., who was "intrigued with wildlife" contracted plague in 1981 because he fed small, plague-carrying animals around his mobile home, Barnes says.

This summer, a youngster attending camp in the mountains of southern Colorado caught plague from fleas.

While hunters and hikers risk exposure to plague-carrying fleas and animals, Barnes says the problem is worst when people build their houses and woodpiles in an area that attracts small animals.

"People mostly get plague where they live," he says. "The rodents come right up into their yards."

This is particularly true on the American Indian reservations of the Southwest, where half of the human cases — and close to half the plague deaths — occurred during the past two years. All but three of the cases were Navajo Indians from the vast, 126,000-square-mile reservation that covers parts of four states.

"The Navajos live in small 'camps' scattered all across the environment, not like the Pueblo Indians, who live in towns," says Dr. Bruce Tempest, who coordinates the Indian Health Service in Gallup, N.M. "Other people tend to form communities that could eventually drive the rodents out. These people live with their animals."

Two of those who contracted plague and died were a Navajo man and woman in their 20s, according to Barnes. The pair twice was sent home from New Mexico clinics after doctors failed to diagnose the early symptoms — headaches and fever — as plague.

Barnes says their families resorted to traditional medicine — the advice of medicine men — and the two became critically ill. They died shortly after being admitted to the Gallup hospital.

Hastening their deaths was the fact that they suffered from a combination of septicemic and pneumonic plague.

While bubonic plague, which affects the lymph glands, is the most common, the untreated disease advances to takes three other forms: septicemia, which enters the bloodstream, and primary and secondary plague pneumonia, which enter the lungs and are the most contagious and life-threatening.

All forms are curable through the use of common antibiotics if diagnosed in time. Still it is a lethal disease, with a mortality rate running as high as 60 percent if untreated, Barnes says.

Out of this year's cases, three were secondary plague pneumonia, 13 were bubonic plague and one was the rare primary plague pneumonia.

An individual can only contract primary plague pneumonia by being exposed to a carrier of secondary plague pneumonia, Barnes said.

This year's victim — only the second American in more than 50 years to be so stricken — was a Wyoming woman whose plague-ridden pet cat coughed in her face.

The Black Death of the 14th Century, which wiped out an estimated half of Europe, was named after the black patches and boils — or "bubos" — that appeared on the victims near the lymph glands and was a combination of pneumonic and bubonic plague.

taining cyanide-filled pills.

Two more victims were in fair and stable condition today at Good Samaritan Hospital in Downers Grove after taking Extra-Strength Tylenol.

Foster said he was told by Cook County investigators that the cyanide-loaded capsules "had been pried open and placed back together."

Arlington Heights Police Sgt. Michael R. Ossler said investigators were searching records for clues to a likely suspect "such as someone who had poisoned medicine before."

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
My children (ages five and 10) own the Arcade on Park Avenue. They own Arcades in Dallas, and since I am involved in helping in their business, I feel qualified in speaking on this subject.

In response to the citizen Pam Fogo, about the police called to the Arcade scene... it was for a parking problem, not for sex, crime, drugs or drinking. Our neighbor Mr. Flesher, solved the parking problem by asking the kids not to park on his property until after 8 p.m. The real problem came when another Man told the kids he didn't want them on his property anytime. Yes, that's his right, but when on Sunday morning did you ever see a furniture store that is closed haul cars off because church members parked on his property? Or on Fridays on a Football game or at the skating rink etc? There should be some business ethics trying to help the kids, especially when they are supervised. We have a reserve Deputy patrolling the parking lot and inside. Thus far we have only had to warn a couple of people about drinking and refuse admittance to the same. Where are all the illegal acts that Pam Fogo talks about?

Just suppose that in the event she did see the acts as she stated, surely she would have called the police or sheriff's office and reported it immediately, yet, there were and are no reports. In her statement concerning drugs: To see the buying of drugs and I believe if you will call the sheriff he will verify that we have a very strict disciplined Arcade.

As far as the businessman staying up all night to protect his property... well if one man who does not want the kids to park on his lot when he is closed is an example of Fear, then maybe this man should check his motives. No, I don't see things like sexual activity, drinking, and buying drugs, and if I or We (Employees) ever did see anything as such, we wouldn't write letters we extent of the Law.

Gulf refused comment on whether it had placed an advertisement bearing the name of a Gulf security official, Bob Quintana. The ad in the classifieds of the Houston Post read: "George Liedstrom, have received your packages, but couldn't keep the secret. Still need the instructions to open them and willing to pay the bill. Mail to slow and insecure. Please contact Bob Quintana at the main office."

The company received the bomb threat Tuesday afternoon and finished its shutdown Thursday. Chemicals were drained from the plant to reduce the danger. The facility, 30 miles east of Houston, makes highly volatile petrochemicals used in the manufacture of plastics, antifreeze, cosmetics, detergents and synthetic fabrics.

Gulf said the only workers remaining at the plant were those needed for maintenance, security and safety. The shutdown will continue "until Gulf feels it is safe to resume normal operation," Gulf spokesman Berry Smyth said late Thursday night.

The plant normally has about 650 Gulf employees and 450 contract construction workers.

Pullen said bomb experts from the Houston police department and Fort Hood deactivated the devices at the plant.

During the deactivation of the bombs, service roads to nearby Interstate 10 were blocked off, reporters were prices to decline, however.

The AP found the price of chopped chuck decreased last month at the checklist store in seven cities; the price of all-beef frankfurters was down at the checklist store in six cities.

No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents.

The day of the week on which the check was made varied depending on the month. Standard brands and sizes or comparable substitutes were used for the survey.

The AP did not try to compare actual prices from city to city. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase or decrease.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar. A 15th item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list after the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Ann Landers Ideas unfounded

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Do you believe a male's ability to make love has anything to do with his ethnic background? I have heard it said that Swedes are cold and the Finnish "don't start and rarely finish." My sister is living with a Swede and says he is terrific. My next-door neighbor married a man from Finland, and after 20 years he is still chasing her around the kitchen table.

The French have been touted for ages as the world's greatest lovers, but I can tell you from experience their reputation is better than they are. English men are reputed to be cold, but my first affair was with an English actor and he was dynamite.

Where do people get these ideas anyway? Who spreads this propaganda?— Lover Of Facts On Lovers In Niagara Falls

DEAR NI: Both super studs and super duds can be found among all ethnic groups. No one country turns out the best or the worst. We've heard it said that Latins are lousy lovers, but my mail from Brazil and Venezuela says it ain't necessarily so. Obviously, the certificate of origin means nothing in the bedroom.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back you ran 12 golden rules guaranteed to make life easier. As I recall, they weren't profound or philosophical—just good old plain common sense. Try to hunt it up and run it again, Ann. My kids are teenagers now and I want them to see it. Thanks in front.—Maimie In Dubuque

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I and our three young children went to the park last Sunday. I brought a picnic lunch.

At about 4 o'clock in the afternoon two teenage boys ran past us. One was wearing absolutely nothing but a little green baseball cap, and the other was wearing only a smile. I was so shocked I couldn't speak.

My husband laughed and said, "They're just streaking!" I was flabbergasted. Isn't this against the law?—Bug-Eyed In Binghampton

DEAR BING: It is indeed. It's called indecent exposure.

Toll-free alcoholism number available

Area residents who need confidential help with an alcoholism problem can now call toll free 1-800-692-4165 from anywhere in the Panhandle and get referral information.

The new service offered by the Amarillo Council on Alcoholism is made possible by a grant from the Texas Commission on Alcoholism.

The 24-hour service is linked to a corps of volunteers who are available to give information on treatment and rehabilitation programs, and prevention methods. A volunteer coordinator has been selected by the Council and training of the volunteers is underway.

"This service is for anyone who has a problem with alcohol," said Don Pipes, Executive Director of the ACA. "When we hear about someone having an alcohol problem, we usually think of a person who drinks too much and needs to stop.

"We're certainly going to be dealing with those kind of people but, we're also going to be helping the families of those abusers, employers who are trying to find help for a worker and people who need more information about alcohol treatment and rehabilitation.

"A major problem the abuser has," Pipes continued, "is in making that first call for help. If he or she is somewhere outside Amarillo, it takes considerable effort to make a long distance call. We feel the toll-free number will make that first step easier to take."

Figures assembled by the Regional Alcoholism Authority show the volunteers will be busy. About seven percent of the area population, or just over 21,000 people, are directly affected by the disease of alcoholism.

Skaggs among nursing students at Texas Tech

Nursing School has begun its second year of classes at Texas Tech University Health Sciences center (TTUHSC) School of Nursing. Among the entering freshmen is Sharon Skaggs of Hereford.

This year's classes include 72 students representing 28 different communities. Students include those with no previous nursing background and those who are Licensed Vocational Nurses (LVNs) and Registered Nurses (RNs) in pursuit of the Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BSN) degree.

Teddy L. Langford, R.N., Ph.D., dean of the School of Nursing, noted that previous learning is recognized at TTUHSC in admission procedures. Thus, LVNs and RNs on diploma programs may, upon review of academic records and/or examination, be enrolled at levels of training commensurate with previous learning.

Aglow Fellowship plans mother-daughter luncheon

Stephanie Reed of Lubbock will be the guest speaker at the Saturday meeting of Hereford Aglow Fellowship. The mother-daughter covered dish luncheon begins at 11:45 a.m. at the Christian Assembly, South Main.

Special music will be provided by the Atchison family. Mrs. Reed will speak on developing a positive self-image. She says that this becomes possible when we see ourselves as God sees us through Jesus Christ.

Mrs. Reed, who was a contestant in the Miss Mississippi contest in 1970 and was named Mississippi's Miss Wool, received numerous other honors throughout her high school and college days. She is married to Joe Reed, NFL San Francisco 49er, and they currently reside in Lubbock and attend Trinity Church. They have three children.

In 1980 the couple organized "Victory in Jesus" to spread the Good News of Jesus through his music and family evangelism.

All mothers and daughters are invited to attend.

Bible Lands tour planned

PORTALES — A tour of the Bible Lands is being offered by Eastern New Mexico University from Dec. 26 through Jan. 4.

Dr. Vance Holland, associate professor of political science at ENMU, will conduct the tour with his wife Ruth. The tour is scheduled to depart New York on the first day and arrive in Amman on the second day. In Amman the group will be met by a tour representative and taken to the hotel.

The tour of the Bible Lands will begin with the sights of Jericho and the Dead Sea. From there the group will proceed to Jerusalem. The following day will be spent in Bethlehem visiting the Tomb of Rachel and the Church of Nativity which is built over the stable where Jesus was born. The rest of the tour will consist of visits to Galilee, Tiberias, Tel Aviv and Cairo. On the final day the group will depart from Cairo to return to New York.

The cost of the trip, including meals, air and surface transportation and hotel, is $1,265 per person. The tour may be taken for two hours of graduate or undergraduate credit.

For more information concerning the tour, contact Dr. Vance Holland, station 19, ENMU, Portales, N.M., 38130; (505) 562-2509.

Choose colors to enhance skin, hair

One secret to choosing a well-balanced yet striking wardrobe is to learn what colors enhance your skin and hair tones and look best on you, says Becky Saunders, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Color should draw attention to your face and make it appear brighter. To find your best colors, try holding different swatches of fabric against your neckline.

Opinions of friends may also be helpful in deciding what colors look best on you, the specialist says.

Funds to be made available for home heating, cooling

AUSTIN — Low-income Texans faced with home energy cutoff for heating or cooling may qualify for payments from $3 million in federal funds set aside for energy crisis intervention (ECI), according to the Texas Department of Human Resources.

The money, made available to Texas counties, will be distributed to energy suppliers on behalf of eligible households.

One payment is allowed each household between October 1 and March 31. Another payment is allowed between April 1 and September 30. A maximum of $90 per period can be paid if the household applies and is found eligible.

Officials at DHR explained that once the fund is exhausted, no further payments can be made.

The department has negotiated contracts with local agencies to handle outreach, applications, eligibility determination, and payments to energy suppliers.

Qualification for ECI payments is limited to households with a total gross monthly income of less than $305.50 for a one-person household; $499.50 for a two-person household; $684.50 for three; $845.50 for four; $998.50 for five; and $1,166.50 for six.

At least one person in the household must be a U.S. citizen or a legally admitted alien. If a household's past due energy bill exceeds $90, and funds from other sources are not available, the household might not qualify for ECI help. The goal of ECI, officials emphasized, is to maintain the flow of energy to the household.

Early settlement doubtful

Strike drags on

By IRA ROSENFELD AP Sports Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bargainers for National Football League players and club owners are immersed in intensive negotiations aimed at ending an 11-day-old strike, but the principals are not optimistic about a quick settlement.

The two sides met for more than 10 hours Thursday in the longest single bargaining session since negotiations began in February. But there was no indication the parties were narrowing their differences.

"I can't be overly optimistic at this point," Jack Donlan, the owners' chief negotiator as head of the NFL Management Council, said prior to resumption of talks today.

A bitter and weary Gene Upshaw, president of the NFL Players Association, predicted a long strike.

"The players out there should be concerned. Nothing has changed. Absolutely nothing of substance has happened. It's a sad state of affairs," Upshaw said.

On Thursday the NFL announced the 14 games scheduled to be played Sunday and Monday had been canceled, the second weekend of the season to be lost by the players' strike.

Also Thursday, in Buffalo, New York State Supreme Court Judge Rudolph Johnson ordered Turner Broadcasting System Inc. to show cause why it should not be barred from getting NFL players to play in games while they are under contract to their teams.

The NFLPA has arranged a 20-game series of All-Star games featuring striking players. Turner Broadcasting has agreed to guarantee the players' union $500,000 for exclusive broadcast rights to each game.

On another front Thursday, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle admitted he met with union officials this week to discuss alternative scheduling when, and if, the strike is settled.

Rozelle, who testified before a House subcommittee reviewing legislation to give the league a limited antitrust exemption, also admitted the league received about $75 million in September from its network television contracts, despite not playing its scheduled games.

Rozelle also revealed that the networks had paid an additional $20 million to the league last spring.

Meanwhile, Thursday's bargaining session ended with both sides trading verbal blasts.

John Bunting, the Philadelphia Eagles' player representative, accused the owners' negotiating team of practicing "Soviet-style negotiations — we will give you nothing."

The talks, which began Thursday afternoon, were the second face-to-face bargaining session since the players struck Sept. 21.

Negotiators, still unable to agree on distribution of the owners' five-year, $1.6-billion financial offering, moved to non-economic issues.

The attempted end around the monetary stumbling block proved futile.

Pitt favored over Mountaineers

Auburn to upset Nebraska

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

For the third time in four games, the Pitt Panthers are faced with the prospect of meeting another Top Twenty opponent, one bent on knocking off the team picked as No. 1 in the Associated Press preseason rankings.

Saturday's foe is No. 14 West Virginia, a neighbor of Pitt's from 75 miles down the road, and the Mountaineers never need any extra incentive for this backyard brawl.

Anyway, Pitt is no longer No. 1 despite a 3-0 record, but the Panthers, who edged North Carolina (No. 5 at the time) 7-6 and slipped to second place and then beat Florida State 37-17 only to drop to third, whipped No. 19 Illinois 20-3 last weekend and vaulted back to second place, only seven points from the top.

With the emergence of West Virginia (3-0 just like Pitt) and Boston College on the national scene, the East has something to crow about besides Pitt and Penn State.

"The Mountaineers are for real," says Pitt Coach Foge Fazio. "You can't beat Oklahoma and Maryland and not be for real. West Virginia is now on a par with Pitt and Penn State."

Be that as it may, the line is 10½ points and the favorite is ... Pitt 35-24.

Last week's record was 41 right, 10 wrong and one tie for a percentage of .804. For the season, it's 141-36-2 — .797. Against the spread, last week's score was 16-11-0 — .593, bringing the count for the season to 49-36-0 — .576.

No. 8 Nebraska (favored by 9½) at No. 20 Auburn: Pat Dye has the Tigers growing again. Can the Cornhuskers recover from that heart-breaking loss to Penn State? Upset special of the week ... Auburn 20-17.

San Diego State at No. 1 Washington (no line): Huskies warm up for the Pack-Ten schedule ... Washington 35-14.

LSU at No. 4 Florida (7½): the unbeaten Bayou Bengals will find out if they're for real ... Florida 21-17.

Arkansas State at Alabama: two coaches from For-dyce, Ark., but Larry Laceywell never rassled a bear like the Bear did. That might be easier than playing ... Alabama 38-7.

No. 6 Georgia (4) at Mississippi State: the Bulldogs will win...and the Bulldogs will lose ... Mississippi State 20-17.

North Texas State at No. 7 Southern Methodist: Eric Dickerson, Craig James and the rest of the Mustangs keep galloping along... SMU 42-7.

No. 9 UCLA (21½) at Colorado: having beaten up on the Big Ten (Wisconsin and Michigan), the Bruins move on to the Big Eight ... UCLA 27-13.

Texas Christian at No. 10 Arkansas (12½): TCU gave SMU all it could handle last week and may suffer the consequences ... Arkansas 31-14.

No. 11 Notre Dame (8) at Michigan State: the Irish are fast making last year just a bad memory ... Notre Dame 24-14.

Monterey slips past LHS, 9-7

LUBBOCK — While many expected a lopsided game, District 3-5A leader Monterey withstood a rash of turnovers to remain undefeated as it outlasted cross-town rival Lubbock High, 9-7, Thursday night here.

The Plainsmen, now 5-0 on the year and 4-0 in the district race, turned the ball over six times (five fumbles and an interception). Lubbock, still looking for its first win of the season (0-4), lost the ball four times (two fumbles and a pair of interceptions).

Monterey, which managed only 132 yards total offense, scored when defensive back Norris Blount returned an interception 107 yards in the opening quarter and on Scott Segrist's 32-yard field goal in the final stanza.

Lubbock's only TD came in the fourth period on a 30-yard pass from Mike Starkey to Frank Campos, the district's leading pass receiver. The touchdown came with 56 seconds left to play.

The Westerners, who scored on Monterey for the first time in four years, rolled up 178 yards total offense.

Lubbock will host Caprock next Friday, while Monterey has an open date.

New Fall Fashions

A luncheon and style show were held Wednesday at the Hereford Country Club for club members. Pants, Cages, Louise's and Etcetera furnished clothes for the event. Sharon McNutt, at left, is wearing belted corduroy pants designed with front pockets and pleats. An Angora sweater accents the new fall look. Shirley McCullough is modeling a long belted jacket emphasizing the new baggy look over a circular skirt. Completing her ensemble is a simple blouse fashioned with a circular collar.

Policies Announced

Weddings, engagements, anniversary and similar announcements are published free of charge by The Hereford Brand as a courtesy to our readers. Those who submit such articles are asked to abide by the deadlines and policies established by The Brand Staff. Items must be submitted promptly in order to be newsworthy. The Brand reserves the right to edit all copy. Wedding and engagement forms are available in the Brand office, 313 Lee St., an aid in preparing articles for publication. Information for wedding should be submitted the Monday before the wedding date. Weddings reported more than a week after the event will be published in condensed form. Please do not ask for articles on weddings more than a month old. Engagement announcements should be submitted at least one month before the wedding date. Engagement and anniversary announcements should be submitted by noon two days before publication, or Thursday noon for Sunday publication. Photos for weddings and engagements should be black and white glossy pictures, which can be picked up after publication. Snapshots are not generally suitable for reproduction. Articles for bridal showers should be reported for immediate publication. Photos of showers will be accepted only if they are timely and of adequate quality for reproduction in the newspaper.

Wall coverings can brighten a room

COLLEGE STATION — When a room needs that "extra spark," one solution is to add texture, pattern and color with wall coverings, says Dr. Peggy Owens. "Wallpaper provides a number of solutions to a variety of decorating problems. It can camouflage uneven or damaged walls, soften irregular architectural features, create a color scheme or set a mood," explains Owens, a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

A wide variety of wallpaper patterns and styles are available to select from, the specialist says. "Remember, the type of wallpaper chosen will have a bearing on wearability, washability, removeability and cost. Before buying, consider what is expected from the wall coverings — and what features are needed for the area being covered. Many so-called "wallpapers" are not paper, Owens emphasizes. They are made of vinyl, metallic foil, burlap, fabric, cork, grass and wood. A few examples include: — Machine-printed papers — generally, there's a wide selection that is durable and pre-trimmed. — Hand printed wallpaper — this is costly, and best hung by a professional. — Washable, wipeable, scrubbable — these are plastic coated or vinyl, and wipe off with a damp cloth. — Prepasted papers — these have an adhesive coating added. Use a wet sponge or dip them in water to use. — Grasscloth and fabric — these materials are laminated to paper and sold in rolls. — Stripable wall coverings — they can be pulled off the wall in full strips without steaming or scraping. — Cushioned-backed wallpaper — washable vinyl covering designed to mask cracked plaster or imperfect wall surfaces. They can be used on rough concrete or cinder block walls. "Zero in on the type of wall covering best suited to your decorating needs," suggests Owens.

Gil Gerard finds his match

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gil Gerard plays a young lawyer whose lifestyle of one-night stands hits a snag when he encounters a beautiful marine biologist with a few old-fashioned ideas in "Not Just Another Affair." It becomes a contest of values and morals between Gerard and Victoria Principal in this humorous look at contemporary mores. CBS telecasts the movie Saturday. "He's a man with all his lines down pat," says Gerard. "But they don't work with her, so he's intrigued and pursues her. "He's 35, unmarried, and very much into the singles scene. Bars, girls, everything. He meets a girl who's totally out of that scene. She's looking for a relationship a little more serious." Gerard, whose "Buck Rogers" series limped along at NBC, suddenly became hot when he and Suzanne Pleshette teamed up for the CBS movie "Help Wanted: Male." It got a whopping 47.7 share in the ratings. "I had been offered five or six other projects before this came along," he said. "I turned them down for various reasons. Then this came along and I thought it was good. It had something to say about modern day mores and morals." Gerard also has a second

Today In History

By The Associated Press
Today is Friday, Oct. 1, the 274th day of 1982. There are 91 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history:
On Oct. 1, 1980, a Warsaw court gave legal approval to Poland's first six independent trade unions.
On this date:
— In 1596, the Duke of Norfolk was imprisoned by Britain's Queen Elizabeth for attempting to marry Mary Queen of Scots.
— In 1800, Spain ceded the Louisiana Territory to France in a secret treaty; the territory was sold to the United States three years later.

— In 1928, the Soviet Union inaugurated its first five-year plan to increase farm and industrial production.
— In 1970, United Arab Republic Vice President Anwar Sadat succeeded Gamal Abdel Nasser as president.
Ten years ago: A gun explosion aboard the U.S. cruiser Newport News off the Vietnamese coast killed 21 sailors and wounded 10.
Five years ago: The United States and Soviet Union outlined the aims of a proposed Middle East peace conference that would ensure "the legitimate rights of the Palestinian people."
One year ago: A car bomb exploded outside the Palestinian guerrilla offices in Beirut, Lebanon, killing at least 50 people.

Today's birthdays: Former President Jimmy Carter is 58 years old, "as is Supreme Court Justice William Rehnquist. Actress Julie Andrews is 47. Thought For Today: Victory belongs to the most persevering. — Napoleon Bonaparte, French emperor-general (1769-1821).
The only woman who was wife of one president and mother of another was Abigail Smith Adams.

Consider nutrients
When cutting calories, consider the nutrient value and the calorie content of foods, suggests Mary K. Sweeten, food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Oranges, melons, grapefruit and strawberries offer high nutrition and low calories. Apricots, peaches, plums and watermelon offer abundant supplies of vitamin A. These choices make up a healthful bargain without adding excessive calories, Sweeten says.

Meeting postponed
The business and board meeting of the Hereford Senior Citizens Center, which was originally scheduled for this afternoon, has been postponed until Friday, Oct. 8 at 2 p.m. A film will be shown and a report will be given by the special events committee.

YOU LIVE YOUR FAITH WHEN YOU SHARE WITH OTHERS

There is no greater expression of faith than the translation of it into good deeds; the sharing of our blessings with those less fortunate than ourselves. However, the concept of sharing goes far beyond the mere distribution of our material wealth to the poor; it also includes the gift of your time, patience, understanding and friendship. Visit the old and the sick; talk to them, read to them, run errands for them, give a ride to someone who is in need of it. Remember that the finest gift of all is that of yourself, given quietly and without fanfare; and you will be the better for it. Learn more about the true spirit of giving by attending your Church.

"He that hath pity upon the poor lendeth 'unto the Lord; and that which he hath given will he pay him again."

— Proverbs 19:17

Those who bring sunshine to the lives of others cannot keep it from themselves.
— Sir James Matthew Barrie
