

Treaty Spells Peace in Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) - Israel's Menachem Begin and Egypt's Anwar Sadat, having jointly proposed President Carter for the Nobel Peace Prize, are taking to the Congress their sometimes divergent visions of a peaceful Middle East.

The Israeli prime minister broached the Nobel prize idea at a gala dinner in a tent set up behind the White House Monday night. The Egyptian president rose quickly to support the idea.

Nine hours earlier, they had signed a treaty ending 30 years of hostility between their two nations, a treaty nurtured by President Carter.

Responding to the suggestion, Carter, at least partially serious, declared:

"If the next nine months of negotiations on implementing the treaty are completely harmonious, then I might consider accepting their nomination. But otherwise, they've made their toasts in vain."

All members of the Senate and the House were invited to question Begin and Sadat at separate sessions in Capitol Hill office buildings today.

Congress will be asked to authorize a $4.8-billion package of grants and loans Carter is proposing for Israel and Egypt, in furtherance of the treaty.

Immediately after the treaty signing, which Carter hailed with the cry, "Peace has come," he conferred with more than a score of Democratic and Republican congressional leaders on the aid proposals.

Throughout a day of celebration, however, Carter did not minimize the hurdles facing full implementation of the accord.

As if to underscore Carter's statement that "differences still separate the signatories," both Begin and Sadat touched on their conflicting viewpoints in public utterances.

At the signing, Begin recalled his joy at the seizure of East Jerusalem by Israeli paratroopers in 1967 - a seizure Egypt and the Arab world still challenge.

And Sadat, in his toast at the dinner, spoke of Palestinians soon being able to "take the first step on the road of self-determination and statehood." Begin and his government firmly oppose a Palestinian state.

Carter, in his toast, seemed intent on urging that all parties,

Tagco Expansion

Tagco Industries, a construction and fabrication firm west of Hereford, is adding 14,000 square feet (as pictured above) to its 12,000-foot facility, and, because of the nature of the industry, is able to do much of the work itself. Tagco will be one of several local industries featured in a special section in The Brand next Tuesday. The salute to industry will be published in conjunction with Texas Industrial Week April 1-7, as proclaimed by Gov. Bill Clements. This year's statewide theme will be "Heading for the 80's—The Lone Star Keeps Rising." (Brand photo by Paul Sims)

Sadat Foes Hope To Wreck Israeli-Egyptian Agreement

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) - Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's Arab foes meet here today to try to agree on action to sabotage his peace treaty with Israel. The big question was how far Saudi Arabia, Egypt's chief financial backer, would agree to go.

Iraq's ruling Baathist Party organized a big rally to kick off the Arab League session. Official Iraqi newspapers called for "concrete measures against Sadat on political, economic, informational and mass mobilization levels."

The meeting of Arab foreign and economic ministers was called to discuss application of resolutions adopted at an anti-Sadat summit conference in Baghdad last November. They call for:

- A boycott of any Egyptian party or person that deals with Israel.
- Suspension of Egypt's membership in the 22-member Arab League and transfer of the league's headquarters from Cairo to another Arab capital.

-Creation of an annual $3 billion fund to help the Palestine Liberation Organization and the "confrontation states" around Israel - Jordan, Syria and Iraq - to build up their military forces to fight the "treacherous peace."

The key issues was whether Saudi Arabia would reduce or cut off financial aid to Egypt of nearly $2 billion a year. Egyptian officials think it won't, because a cutoff would cause economic hardship in Egypt that could cause Sadat's overthrow, and the conservative Saudi royal family does not want to see the Arab world's most populous and, militarily powerful nation taken over by radicals.

The strongman of the Iraqi regime, Saddam Hussein, warned the Saudis and other conservative royal rulers of the Persian Gulf oil states: "The Arab ruler who does not abide by the Baghdad summit resolutions should be considered a traitor, wherever he may come from."

Meanwhile, the anti-Sadat half of the Arab world reacted to the signing of the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty in Washington with strikes, demonstrations, a lot of angry rhetoric and some violence.

A bomb today killed a woman and injured 18 other persons, two of them seriously, in the outdoor market of the Israeli town of Lod. A hand grenade was thrown into a hotel in Arab East Jerusalem Monday, injuring nine persons, two of them American tourists. A mob stormed the Egyptian embassy in Kuwait, smashing doors and windows. A group of "Arab students" occupied the Egyptian embassy in Tehran, and a group occupied the Damascus offices of the Egyptian airlines.

OPEC Jacks Oil Base

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) - The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries decided today to raise the base price of crude oil by 9.05 percent as of next Sunday, to $14.54 a barrel, the oil minister of Qatar told reporters. That would increase American pump prices for gasoline by about two cents a gallon.

The new price is the base price the oil cartel originally had set for next October in its quarterly increase schedule.

The minister said the OPEC oil ministers also authorized new surcharges of up to $4 a barrel over the base price, depending on market demand.

Analysts said if all 13 OPEC members add the maximum surcharge the result would be an additional six cents a gallon added to American pump prices for a total increase of eight cents.

The current price for Arabian light crude oil, the so-called benchmark of the industry, is $13.35 for a 42-gallon barrel. A 5 percent increase in OPEC prices usually increases the American price of gasoline about a penny a gallon.

Analysts here estimated the new base price will add about $13.5 billion to OPEC coffers this year from industrialized Western nations.

The new base price apparently was a victory for the so-called Arab moderates such as Saudi Arabia and Abu Dhabi over more militant members such as Algeria, Iran, Libya and Iraq. Iran sought a base price increase of 29 percent.

The militants apparently settled for the smaller increase in the base price in exchange for the surcharges, analysts said.

OPEC in December agreed on a four-stage schedule of increases totaling 14.5 percent by Oct. 1. The price went up 5 percent on Jan. 1, to $13.35, and the second increase to $13.84 was scheduled for April 1.

Meanwhile, a number of the members took advantage of the oil shortage caused by the suspension of Iran's exports and raised prices by putting on surcharges, generally in the neighborhood of 9 percent. The Geneva meeting was called to try to formulate unified price and production policies.

Analysts said a 29 percent increase in the price of OPEC oil would raise U.S. gasoline and heating oil prices 6 cents a gallon. But the precise impact of a price rise on inflation rates is difficult to pinpoint because "the times when OPEC raises prices in general are times when the world economy is booming and inflation rates are rising," according to Leon Taub, an analyst for the New York consulting firm of Chase Econometric Associates Inc.

John Mugno, an analyst for Citibank, estimated a one-shot, 25-percent OPEC increase might raise the U.S. inflation rate this year by one-half of a percentage point.

One place where OPEC actions have been easily observed is at the American gasoline pump. OPEC's 5 percent

Tax Relief May Cost Taxpayers, Appraiser Tells Commissioners

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County may lose 17 or 18 percent of its total tax funds when the state implements the Tax Relief Amendment, an appraiser told Deaf Smith County commissioners Monday.

"That is a very rough opinion. But we are talking about a substantial loss," J.W. McMorries told the commission in its regular semi-monthly meeting.

McMorries was on hand to discuss the effect of the Tax Relief Amendment, which he said should pass the Senate "in the next two weeks."

The House already has approved the amendment, which includes a law providing for the taxation of farmland on agricultural value instead of market value.

McMorries said he has been in Austin on numerous occasions trying to insure the defeat of the farmland taxation proposal.

"The ultimate result will be a loss of value to the county," McMorries said. "And you (commissioners) will have a problem. You need to get the new value totals in your budget and see what your tax rate is."

McMorries said the county may be forced to increase taxes to make up the money to be lost through implementation of the amendment.

Grade 1 farmland, which is level and of the best quality, presently is taxed on $700 of market value for irrigated land and $150 for dryland. Applying the state's proposed ag value schedules, the land would be taxed on $460 and $125.

Of the total county tax base of $96 million, agricultural land makes up approximately one-half of that, McMorries said.

"We're not going to see tax relief in Deaf Smith County, and that's what I've been telling them (legislators) all along," he said.

McMorries said he would volunteer his services to the county, Hereford Independent School District and Walcott ISD to apply the new values to farmland in the county. He said he would charge the entities "only what it costs me to do it."

The commission voted to employ McMorries and pay part of the cost of his expenses. The two school districts also will share the cost.

Commissioners approved a subdivision called France Estates located six miles

Senate Passes Housing Measures

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Senate has taken a step toward providing adequate housing - "an endangered species" for all but the rich - for poorer Texans.

Senators tentatively approved two proposals Monday to secure "decent and safe housing" for such Texans.

Sen. Carl Parker's proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of $200 million in bonds for housing was approved, 22-7. His bill creating the Texas Housing Agency to administer the program was approved, 23-6.

Final votes were pending on both proposals to send them to the House.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, said Texas "is losing hundreds of millions of dollars" through its failure to set up a state housing agency. He said Texas is one of eight states without such an agency.

"Every other state has had fantastic success" with state housing programs, he said. "It has been well accepted by existing lending institutions."

Sen. Tom Coighon, D-Mineola, Waller, protested that the proposed program - patterned after the Veterans' Land Program - "is just another extension of state government."

Parker responded that it costs more to operate the division of housing in the governor's office than it would to operate the housing agency, and the current division does not even have authority to accept federal funds.

According to a special report, Congress has made $197.3 million in 1978 for the states' housing needs, and Texas cannot apply for any of the money because it lacks a state housing agency.

"Texas has housing problems," the report stated. "Whether in rural or urban areas among low or moderate income individuals and families of various ages and ethnic backgrounds, adequate housing is rapidly becoming an

Brand Editor Earns Award

CORPUS CHRISTI—Hereford Brand Editor Paul Sims earned second place in editorial writing for his column "It Sims to Me..." Saturday in the Texas Associated Press Managing Editor's annual awards contest.

The Brand was entered in Division A, which included newspapers with circulations of 20,000 and less. Most of the state's Associated Press members were entered in the prestigious contest.

Sims' winning entries, both of which ran in 1978, were "Lotta Blind Talk," a column discouraging former Gov. Dolph Briscoe from calling a special session last year, and "Farmers Not Buying," which criticized a farm parity rider attached to the Humphrey-Hawkins full employment bill.

Sims last year won first-place awards in news writing and column writing in the Panhandle Press Association's annual contest. The Brand won "general excellence" that same year. The Hereford newspaper also captured the general excellence award in the West Texas Press Association.

Industrial Section To Run Next Week

The Brand will pay a tribute to Deaf Smith County industry by publishing a special section on Tuesday, April 3.

Feature articles on various local industries, along with pictures and other articles pertaining to the promotion and recruitment of businesses, will be included in the salute.

Industries which have not yet been contacted but would like to be included in the section should contact the news department of The Brand this week.

The section will be printed in conjunction with Texas Industrial Week April 1-7.

The Branding Iron Mrs. Daniels: Seniors 'Worthwhile Project'

By DENISE SMITH
Brand Staff Writer

"When you know something is a worthwhile project and you know that other people feel the same way then you can take that project as far as you want," stated the new administrator of Hereford Senior Citizens Center, Mrs. Al "Ma. e." Daniels.

"We appreciate Hereford's consideration of the senior citizens. They have really helped and that makes all of us happy," Mrs. Daniels said.

Mrs. Daniels arrived in Hereford during August. She received her appointment as administrator of the Senior Citizens Center Oct. 15. Her previous experience in working with the elderly began as administrator of Garretson Retirement Center at Panhandie. Her first year of employment consisted of maintenance, answering the phone, and cooking. It was within that year she was offered the position as administrator here.

"I had just decided that when my children were older, I wanted to go to work outside the home. I knew some of the people in the center and I was hired. I had worked in church Sunday School with many of them and in the neighborhood. Also ever since I was little, older people have been my favorite people," commented Mrs. Daniels.

During her employment in October, Mrs. Daniels has developed many new activities and strengthened old ones. She has hired an activity director, bus driver, and general assistant.

Senior citizens are now enjoying several new health-related activities including an exercise class which involves a walk through Sugarland Mall twice a week, bowling twice a week, and one afternoon spent at the YMCA health club.

With the cooperation of the schools, she has been able to provide a nutrition program. Also being offered are tote painting, quilting classes, the senior citizens own kazoo band (which plans to perform for the public soon) and a sing-a-long.

Her success in these areas is derived from her own enjoyment in working with older people and "there's just more people getting excited about it and more involved. A lot of this is based around the nutrition program. I just think about what I thought they needed, and I know the

Hereford High Cites Honor Roll Students

The honor roll students for the second trimester have been announced by the National Honor Society at Hereford High School.

The 5.0 and 4.5 honor roll is based on the grade scale and course classification used to determine rank in class. The advanced classes are averaged by designating six points for each "A", five points for each "B", and four points for each "C". The advanced classes are: Advanced English, Advanced Geometry, Algebra II, Trigonometry, Analysis-Calculus, Chemistry, Physics, Biology II, Foreign Language II and III, Shorthand, Accounting II, Drafting II, and History of Western Thought. The regular courses use a five point grade scale and the developmental courses are based on a four point average.

The following students are listed according to their classification and eligibility for a 5.0 and 4.5 honor roll:

Sophomores

Bridal Shower Held Saturday

Miss Dana Hampton, bride-elect of David Hutchins, was feted Saturday morning with a pre-nuptial coffee and shower in the E.B. Black house.

The marriage is to be solemnized April 28 in Amarillo. Receiving guests with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Don Hampton and her fiancée's mother, Mrs. David Hutchins.

Dana Hampton and Linda Guinn served cheese balls, sausage balls, fruit bread, spiced tea and coffee from a table centered with a silk bouquet of mauve and white blossoms. Silver and crystal appointed the serving table.

Several out-of-town guests attended the courtesy, including Mrs. Conner Burford and Mrs. Joe Smallwood, both of Muleshoe; Mrs. Fleeta Webb and Mrs. Carl Friemel, both of Lubbock; Lucille Hutchins and Mrs. Harris Hampton, both of Canyon.

Hostesses for the recent shower were Mmes. Gene King, Bill Walden, Jerry Payne, Shirley Garrison, Robert Strain, Elmer Kimball, J.R. Euler, Frank Zinser, Jim Arney, Rex Easterwood, F.L. Eicke, Gilbert Yosten, George Turrentine, Alvis Jolly, Ray Simpson, A.K. Roark, Dwight Banks, Elmo Hall, N.E. Tyler, Paul Conway and Joe Reinauer Sr.

Local Airman Starts 'Brave Shield 19'

Sandra D. Finley, is one among 14 Reese Air Force Base bluesuiters who will be among the 78 Air Training Command people participating in "Brave Shield 19" when the joint-service readiness exercises kick off this week.

Scheduled March 24 - April 19, the readiness exercise will include personnel from 10 ATC bases.

Ground maneuvers forces will be restricted to the Fort Hood military reservation and a small tract of leased land approximately five miles south of Lampassas, where search and rescue operations will be conducted.

Air maneuvers will include the Fort Hood reservation and an area from Austin to Fort Worth and Coleman to Waco.

"Brave Shield 19's" scenario depicts a military confrontation between the mythical countries of Alton and Bando. Airman Finley will be a resident of Alton. Following a buildup in military power by both countries and an accompanying deterioration in foreign relations, Bando invades Alton with a heavy armored attack.

United States Readiness command comes from two major components: the Tactical Air Command, Langley AFB, Va., and the Army Forces Command, headquartered at Fort McPherson, Ga.

Airman Finley is a 1977 graduate of Hereford High School. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Finley of 414 Ave. I. She has recently returned from a one year assignment at Shemya AFB, Alaska where she was a Materials Facilities Specialist with a unit of the Alaskan Air Command. She is presently serving in the same capacity with an Air Training Command Unit at Reese AFB near Lubbock.

Airman Finley entered the Air Force in August, 1977, and underwent basic training at Lackland AFB, San Antonio and technical training at Lowry AFB, Denver, Colo. before beginning her tour of duty in Alaska in January of 1978.

Elkettes To Install Officers

Hereford Elkettes made plans for their installation of officers last week during a business meeting at the BPOE Lodge.

The installation service is slated April 4.

Also on the Elkettes calendar for the spring is their sponsorship of a teen dance on April 14 at the Community Center. "Lively Times" will be furnishing disco music for the dance.

The door prize was presented to Nanah Braly.

Others in attendance were Joyce Walker, Karrol Rettman, Donna Smith, Ruby Gallagher, Opal Holmes, Lilia Reiz, Ruth Hobbs, Martha Bridges, Leona Dunnivan, Kay Ivins and Bell Reid.

Lynn Bridges was hostess.

The physical therapy volunteers met Tuesday for a training session at Westgate Nursing Home and will plan another session soon for those interested who could not attend. The Uniformed Volunteers will be marking National Red Cross Month by honoring doctors with a cake on March 30.

Ann Landers Suicide's University

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I respond to the man who said we should never try to save people who attempt suicide? You called him callous and unfeeling. Well, I guess that makes me callous and unfeeling, too. Furthermore, if you poll the medical personnel in hospitals, you'll discover the majority agree with me, not you.

I work in an emergency room of a large hospital. We see a lot of people who've tried to kill themselves. They O.D. on pills, slash their wrists with razors. Most of them don't die. We spend a lot of time and energy and money saving those nuts.

are not going to win this one. Husbands who are unable to disconnect from ex-wives are incurable. You are fighting a losing battle.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a friend who begins every conversation with this -- "I've been trying to get your line for an hour. Who've you been talking to?"

I always answer her question by naming the person and then I get mad at myself. After all, what business is it of hers? Also, it burns me up to think that she somehow has the notion that I should leave my line free in case she should decide to honor me with a call.

I'd like a suggestion from you as to what I should say when this nifty dame puts me on the spot like that. -- Nonplussed

DEAR ANN: It is clearly none of that lady's business who you were talking to, and you should let her know it. The next time she asks, say the Queen of Sheba, Bobby Orr, or King Tut. She'll catch the drift.

Emergency rooms have enough patients -- good people who want to live. Suicidal creeps cut into the quality of care for the emergency patients. In my opinion, the law should be changed. Would-be suicides should be given another dose of the same stuff they took when they came in. The world is crowded as it is. Why save a person who places no value on his own life? Whenever I read about a cop or a fireman who risks his neck crawling out on a window ledge to rescue some crock who threatens to jump, I do a slow burn. Screw you people just lounge up the environment. Who needs 'em? -- Not Cool, Just Honest

New Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. George David Ashby are the parents of a daughter, Allison Nichole Ashby born March 24. She weighed 7 lbs. 2 pzs.

Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Hernandez are the parents of a daughter, Ernestina Hernandez born March 24. She weighed 8 lbs. 8 ozs.

DEAR COOL AND HONEST: You work in a hospital. Buddy? You should be working in a morgue where it doesn't matter whether or not you consider the people worth saving. Unfortunately, twisted characters like you can make a big difference. Obviously, your mind is not only closed, but nailed shut. I won't waste good advice on you.

DEAR ANN: How much "understanding and patience" must a second wife have to prove she really loves her husband?

When I married Elmer he said his first wife was a liar, a cheat, and a lazy, no-good tramp. Everything rotten -- she was it. Now I find he is meeting her after work to talk about the children. He is also taking her to lunch in little out-of-the-way places -- again, to talk about the children. He takes off from work in the middle of the day to go to PTA meetings with her because he doesn't want to disappoint the children.

The children, incidentally, are 21, 20, 15 and 8 years of age. The three oldest are married. When I tell him I think he is handing me a line of garbage and that I am going to leave if he doesn't stop seeing his ex-wife, he begins to cry, falls to his knees and begs me to forgive him. Somebody has a screw loose and I'm beginning to think it's me. What do you think? -- Suspicious

DEAR SUS: Face it, lady. You

School of Nursing Plans Open House

The Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing of Amarillo, Texas is having an Open House for the Public on April 1 from 1 to 5 p.m. at its new location 7201 Evans Blvd at the Amarillo Medical Center.

The offices, audiovisual center and classrooms were furnished by a grant from the Helen Fuld Health Trust Foundation. Gymnasium equipment has also been provided for the students and is located in the Pavilion Gymnasium.

The Trust is an outgrowth of the Helene Fuld Health Foundation established in 1935 by the late Dr. Leonhard Fuld and his sister for the health, education and welfare of student nurses. The fund provides grants for 125 nursing schools throughout the United States and in several foreign countries.

The public is cordially invited to attend the Open House.

YHT Members Attend Area Dinner Theatre

Members of the Hereford chapter, Young Homemakers of Texas, enjoyed an evening out Friday, when they traveled to Amarillo for a buffet dinner and live performance at French McCormick's Dinner Theatre.

After supper, the local women saw the comedy play, "Right Bed Wrong Husband." Local YHT members who attended the performance were Shirley Carlson, Bobbie Patzig, Barbara Weatherford, Marilyn Culpepper and Gail Blain.

YHT's next meeting will be a style show and guest night at the Community Center, beginning at 7:30 p.m., April 3. A spring fashion preview will be presented by Gaston's. YHT will honor its current Little Sister and announce the new Little Sister for 1979-80.

An outstanding turnout of 75 women were noted during YHT's recent program on self-defense, presented as a community service project. A number of junior high students were present, as well as women representing all other age ranges.

Club Meets With Agent

Cultural Extension Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. John Hunter recently.

Deaf Smith County Extension Agent, Joyce Shipp, gave a program on weight control. She showed slides and gave comments on each. She stressed that women should count calories and use a chart on foods for fitness.

Mrs. John Hunter, president, presided over the business discussion. Opening exercises were given by Mrs. Hunter with "March Winds Bring Ideas of Spring." Roll call was answered by each member, telling of their spring projects.

Those in attendance were Mmes. Grady Parsons, M.H. Wiseman, Art Luis, Jewel Rogers, Arthur Detman, Tom Hargrave, and a visitor, Carrie Mae Doak.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I am absolutely fascinated by the boy King Tutankhamon, whose tomb was uncovered 56 years ago revealing treasures never imagined.

The very idea of being buried in an apartment stocked with 5,000 dazzling works of art, sculptures, alabaster vases, perfumed boxes and gold chariots is beyond comprehension.

This country has never been big on taking it with them, but the other night as I was pondering the possibility it occurred to me that it wasn't a bad idea.

Unlike the woman who wanted to be buried with a phone "just in case she got a dial tone," I am inclined to be a little more practical. Not that I'm ready to go, but when I do, here's a list of things I want to take with me.

All the warranties -- Why make it easy for the second wife? Let her try to anticipate whether the toaster has three days left, the TV has 22 days, or the thermostat in the dryer is covered only if it goes out during an eclipse.

The ultra-suede suit -- This one holds a lot of memories for me. It took me three months to pay for it, only to board a plane and discover it had been chosen as the official uniform of Braniff Airlines.

My book of rare phone numbers -- This includes all the biggies -- plumbers who work Sundays, doctors who answer their own phones and cleaning women who are not allergic to excessive dust.

The formula for my hair color -- Through conscientious experimentation and great expense (from grants and personal finding) we finally hit upon something that will cover the roots. I have no intention of leaving it to strangers.

My birth certificate -- Some things you wouldn't want to fall into the wrong hands.

Timex watch -- Do you have any idea what a commercial that will make it 2,000 years?

Scarsdale Diet -- This could also be reproduced on my tombstone.

Charge cards -- These could be displayed in six or seven urns throughout the tomb.

Granted, this isn't a bullion bonanza you'd expect to find, but who is to say that in years to come my mood ring on my third finger, right hand won't be considered a "treasure"?

State Needs Own HR Commission

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The sticky "molasses of federal bureaucracy" no longer would frustrate Texans involved in discrimination complaints if the state had its own human rights commission, a House committee heard Monday.

The House State Affairs Committee sent a bill creating a Texas Commission on Human Rights to a subcommittee for more study after hearing an hour's testimony.

"We feel very strongly that the state of Texas, in creating this commission, would be limiting the power of the federal government. The state of Texas should take the leadership instead of having to abide by decisions from outside," said Rep. Reby Cary, D-Fort Worth.

Cary's bill would establish a nine-member commission to enforce laws against discrimination in employment, housing and public accommodations.

Federal agencies must yield their jurisdiction when a state or city has its own civil rights agency.

Commission duties would include helping create local human rights agencies, which would have first-hand authority to resolve civil rights complaints.

Bill Hale, executive director of the Fort Worth Human Relations Commission, said Cary's bill would cut through the "molasses of federal bureaucracy and federal red tape in the area of civil rights."

State and local agencies would deal with civil rights complaints instead of the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Justice Department and the Department of Housing and Urban Development, Hale said.

He said the EEOC provides money when a state or local agency handles job discrimination complaints in its place.

While a complaint still could reach the EEOC, that agency "must give 'substantial weight' to the state or local finding," Hale said. The EEOC has upheld the Fort Worth commission 97 percent of the time, he said.

David Chappell of Fort Worth, a corporate lawyer and chairman of the American Bar Association's Young Lawyers

Division, said a cooler emotional climate occurs when job complaints are heard locally.

"A businessman, he said, 'is no longer a hero in the community for taking on the federal government' when he deals with a local commission instead of the Washington bureaucracy.

Larry Spencer, executive director of the Houston Council on Human Rights, said it takes the EEOC at least 1 1/2 to 2 years to decide complaints.

"Those whose rights are abused and those who are unjustly accused deserve speedier action, at the state level," Spencer said.

The Legislative Budget Board estimates the commission would cost $350,000 in state funds its first year, rising to $1.1 million by 1984. It predicted the number of employees would rise from 20 in 1980 to 103 in 1984.

Rep. Wilhelmina Delco of Austin, a co-sponsor, said the cost was "a reasonable one when you look at the cost of not addressing grievances at the state level."

Doctorless Nurse Authority Classified in Senate Bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Two legislators introduced a bill Monday they say would clarify the authority of a nurse when a doctor is not present.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, and Rep. Mary Polk, D-El Paso, said their bill would create a Joint Practices Committee to regulate what a nurse can do under a doctor's standing order.

The committee is necessary, Truan said at a news conference, because of an attorney general's opinion issued last December saying a doctor usually must diagnose a patient before he can be treated.

The senator said many registered nurses - in rural and urban areas - now treat patients for routine ailments under standing orders from physicians.

"There are a number of nurses, particularly those that work in industry, that are concerned about their liability," Truan said.

"Without a definite ruling of what is legal and what is illegal, doctors and nurses throughout the state are left in a quandary as to their daily operating procedures," he said.

The committee would include three doctors, three registered nurses, a pharmacist, a hospital administrator and a public health worker.

"We have been working closely with the various groups that are most concerned," he said.

The new committee might decide, for example, that a nurse could prescribe and dispense medication for head lice, as long as a doctor left a standing order for it.

The committee would base its decisions on current health care procedures. It would not be able to allow nurses to perform under standing orders in "chronic and life threatening" situations, Truan said.

"I consider this bill to be top priority," Ms. Polk said. "For years now, standing orders have covered such areas as immunizations, detection and treatment of venereal disease, family planning clinic services and treatment provided in well-baby centers."

Farmers To The Rescue

If we need oil and the oil countries need grain, why don't we swap?

Historically, in effect, we did. But then in 1973 the oil nations decided to multiply their asking price for oil.

But we did not increase our asking price for food grains. It's not too late.

Until the OPEC nations got their heads together and decided to blackmail us for ever-higher oil prices the price of a bushel of wheat and a barrel of crude was about the same--about $2.

On the world exchanges the two commodities had run neck-and-neck for years--$2 wheat, $2 oil.

Now--in 1979--foreign oil producers have escalated crude oil prices to more than $14 a barrel.

But wheat is still selling for $2 to $3 a bushel.

Make no mistake--the United States controls or has the autonomy to control the world price for wheat and other food grains. We represent 40 to 50 percent of the total world market in this commodity.

Japan and the European Economic Community (EEC) countries are the major importers of American grain and it is in those countries that our dollar is in the most trouble.

Japan purchases American wheat for $2.50 to $3 a bushel, then adds a tariff when it reaches her shores to increase the price to Japanese millers to more than $9 a bushel.

A $6-a-bushel tariff is a windfall for that government.

Is it not we who should be getting that markup?

Better still, why not peg the price of wheat to the price of oil, then, even if the OPEC nations should elect to charge us $100 a barrel it would balance out.

More logically, however, the result would be to hold the prices of both commodities down--as the law of supply and demand did hold them down for decades preceding 1973.

One out of three harvested acres in the United States goes for export.

Because our farmers have been so efficient, we have been much too generous with our neighbors.

Any objective evaluation of world oil consumption and production projected a few decades down the road confirms that the oil-rich nations of the Middle East will exhaust their reserves.

If history repeats itself--and it usually does--those not fat nations will look to us again for handouts in the lean years.

Perhaps we should encourage them to emulate the Biblical Joseph, who wisely set aside grain in preparation for a time of famine.

And if they are not wise enough to do so on their own, we should encourage them to put their money in food rather than in lavish living.

We could rebalance our foreign trade and strengthen our dollar abroad and at home by serving notice now: a bushel of wheat for a barrel of oil. Take it or leave it.

4-H Firsthand

REWARDS OF A 4-H PROJECT LEADER

The basic ingredient in the 4-H program is the 4-H project. And the success that a 4-H member has with a project is largely dependent upon the project leader.

As a project leader you have an excellent opportunity to help young people grow and develop in a rapidly changing world. The most important qualities you bring to your job as a 4-H leader are these:

--A strong belief in the basic worth of each individual as a human being.

--A commitment to the personal development of each individual.

--The ability to relate to children, parents and other volunteers.

--An understanding that leadership can be fulfilling for both adults and youth.

Your leadership is critical to the success of the 4-H program. Young people need relationships with adults who will recognize their need for good feelings about themselves and their need to develop meaningful relationships with other youth and adults. Young people also need to acquire subject-matter knowledge, physical skills and decision-making abilities.

Your success as a leader does not depend on blue ribbons or the number of fair exhibits. The good things that happen through the 4-H program will be visible in the young people themselves -- and in you. Do the young people feel good about themselves and the things they have done? Have they improved in relating to other young people and adults? Did you, the leader, enjoy working with the boys and girls? It is fun.

The single most important quality you bring to the job of a 4-H leader is that you care about young people and are willing to give your time and knowledge to help them develop to their greatest potential.

During your time as a leader, you will surely see many "things" created or planned -- cookies, engines, chickens, dresses or gardens. The quality of the finished product will always be secondary to how the young people and you have grown. Yes, you will grow along with the 4-H'ers. Thus the experience should be a positive and satisfying one for all concerned. If you could possibly contribute 1 day per month to be a 4-H leader, please call the Extension office at 364-3573.

Plainview Deanery Meeting Held Here

The Plainview Deanery meeting of the Council of Catholic Women convened here last week with St. Anthony's Women's Organization hosting the event.

Bishop Laurence DeFalco of Amarillo, six priests and 89 women attended the meeting, which focused on the theme, "Today's Child--Our Hope."

Following registration and coffee, the meeting was called to order by Alta Mae Hartman of Happy, Deanery president.

The children's Mass was said that morning with St. Anthony's Parochial School students leading the singing and readings in conjunction with the theme of the women's meeting. The Homily was given by Deacon Jerome Brockman of Nazareth, who discussed the values which parents should teach their children.

As the meeting reconvened, Mary White, Supervisor of the Counseling Center of Catholic Family Services in Amarillo, spoke on the "Christian Perspective of Mothering."

Workshops on "Sharing Our Concerns" followed a noon luncheon. The workshops were conducted by Mrs. Amandeo Perez of Plainview, Donna Lindeman of Hereford and Mrs. Jerry Gerber of Umberger.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Hartman. Group singing and the closing prayer service were led by the Rev. Rex Nichol of Amarillo.

Appreciation was expressed to Donna Lindeman, president of St. Anthony's Women's Organization, and Sylvia Paetzold, registration and credentials chairman, for their roles in organizing the recent Deanery meeting.

HHS Fems Capture First At Bovina

By MARC HERRING
Brand Sports Editor

Thoroughly dominating the running events at the Bovina Invitational Track Meet, the Hereford Whiteface Girls track team came back from third place after the first day of competition to win the meet with 108 total points.

Using a first in the 400 and 800 meter relays and a second in the 1600 meter relay, the fems withstood a challenge from host Bovina and the Slaton Tigers.

Setting new school record in the 800 meter relay, the 400 meter dash the mile run, and the triple jump. Coach Roy Shipp said it was the best showing of the girls thus far.

In the 400 meter relay, Darlene Sanders, Jennifer Griffin, Beverly Nixon and Lindy Walterscheid posted a time of 50.7 to start the finals off with 20 points. Adding 20 more in the two lap relay with the new record of 1:48.2 was an additional 20 points and then the individual firsts on Louise Mays in the 400 meters and Nixon in the 80 yard hurdles and seconds by Sanders in the 200 and by Velma Arroyos in the 800 gave the 'Faces the points needed to secure its first top finish of the year.

The mile relay, consisting of Walterscheid, Mays, Arroyos and Nixon ran a 4:09.1 to finish second to winner Slaton who had a time of 4:08.6. According to Coach Shipp, the teams battled it out the entire race, with the 'Faces being nipped at the wire.

Next week the fems will be running at one of the toughest meets of the year at the Amarillo Relays. Teams from El Paso, Odessa and then the area teams will clash in the two day meet.

According to Coach Shipp the Herd's mile relay team will be as tough as any there, and with some help from the field events will be able to compete for the title.

For the boys track team, firsts in the 880 dash, 440 dash and the mile relay provided the points needed to finish in a tie for fourth place in the Borger Invitational Meet.

Paul Bell, winner of just about anything he runs, took first in the 440 this week, clocking a 51.5 in the 40 mile per hour winds that gusted throughout the meet.

Also Glenn Yosten continued his attack on the half mile standard, won his specialty in a time of 2:01.7, setting a new meet record with the run. Using the combination of Norman Brown, Yosten, Keith Adams, and Bell the mile relay team clocked 3:31.1 to capture its third four lap trophy in a row.

Winning the meet were the Canyon Eagles and Tascosa Rebels as they tied with a team total of 109 points.

The junior varsity, able to capture one first by Ricky Fuentes in the quarter mile, totaled 48 points in its division.

Fuentes, running a 56.2 also ran legs on the sprint and mile relay teams as they finished fourth and third respectively.

Next week the varsity will travel to San Angelo for a two day meet while the JV's go to Olton to run in a varsity meet.

Golfers Fourth After Three Rounds Of District

After the third round of the six rounds of district competition, the Hereford Whiteface golf team is in fourth place with a team total of 1019.

The third round, played on the local course, had the Whitefaces finish in third with a team score of 343. Winning the round and in a commanding lead overall, the Monterey Plainsmen shot a 313 and have a district total of 930.

Medalist honors for the Hereford round were captured by Cliff Baggett of Monterey with a 72, tying him for the overall lead with teammate Brian Sheffield.

Individual scores for the Herd golfers were Miles Goforth with 80, Mike Craig with 83, Derek Dirks with 86, John Foster 93 and Bill Kirk 94. Junior varsity scores were Jeff O'Rand 83, Keith Pagett 84, Greg Robinson 89, Dee Hairgrove 90 and Charles Kerr 91. Playing as individuals, Hereford golfers Dean Howard and Curt Beard shot 96 and 103.

The next round will be played on the Meadowbrook course in Lubbock.

Hereford's lone girl golfer, Barbara Scott, continues to hold second place after shooting a 99 in the round at Plainview last weekend. Trailing the leader by 24 shots, Scott will be involved in the Amarillo Relays this week and then finish district with the last round to be played at Lubbock's Meadowbrook.

Pampa Relays Tough On Local Junior Highs

La Plata Wins Mile Relay

In the only meet where the local junior high schools face the Amarillo junior high schools, Stanton and La Plata finished fourth and fifth last weekend in the Pampa Junior High Girl's Invitational Track Meet.

La Plata, on the strength of its mile relay team, collected 55 points and continued its dominance in the four lap relay. Running a 4:35.7, 9 1/2 seconds faster than the second place team, used the Maverick foursome of Amy Schumacher, Rhonda Reinart, Cathy Lane and Kellie Howell to outdistance any competition.

Deborah Rogers gave the Mavs its only other high finishes, a second and a third in the 100 and 220 yard dashes. Other places had the 440 yard relay team take third with a time of 54.95 and fifth in the 880 yard relay with a time of 2:01.4.

Normally able to get points in the field events the Mavs were completely shut out in the scoring.

Dogies First In 880 relay

Stanton, edging the Mavericks of La Plata for fourth place with 56 points, used a first in the 880 yard relay and the 16 individual points of Jill Pickens to finish ahead of La Plata and all but two of the Amarillo schools.

Members of the winning relay team were Pickens, Lauri Albracht, Joyce High and Carie Jones. The other second place finish for the Dogies was in the Girl's Track Meet Results mile run where Beatrice Marino clocked a 6:29.9.

Pickens did her scoring in the high jump, where she leaped 4-8 for second and in the 80 yard hurdles, clocking a 12.7 for second place.

The girls from both Hereford junior highs will be participants in the Hereford Junior High Girl's Invitational Track Meet this Thursday.

MSU's Matchup Zone Bottles ISU For Title

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - Coach Jud Heathcote calls it a "Matchup Zone" and can't explain how it works without a blackboard and lots of chalk.

But it succeeded where all else had failed this season... it beat Larry Bird and Indiana State, and helped make Heathcote's Michigan State Spartans the 1978-79 NCAA basketball champions.

"We are elated," the Michigan State boss said in the wake of a 75-64 victory Monday night over the top-ranked Sycamores, defeated for only the first time in 34 games.

"I can't describe my feelings."

With Earvin Johnson scoring 12 points and Gregory Kelsner nine, Michigan State carved out a 37-28 halftime lead. Then unheralded Terry Donnelly suddenly got hot to help the Spartans score the first seven points after intermission and mount a commanding 44-28 advantage with 17:18 to play.

In their unbeaten, storybook surge to the threshold of greatness, the Sycamores had trailed by as many as 11 points several times and rallied to win. But never had they been down by 16, and never had they faced "Magic" Johnson and "Special K" Kelsner. And, hard as they tried to write a happy ending to what had been a fairy-tale season for them and Bill Hodges, their rookie head coach, they never got closer than six.

Bird Takes Loss Hard

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) - They were the team that nobody believed - and they died hard.

None took it harder than the year's most celebrated player, Larry Bird, after a strong, aggressive Michigan State team crushed Indiana State for the NCAA college basketball championship Monday night 75-64.

The "Bird," as his Sycamore supporters lovingly dubbed him, put up a creditable fight, lashing out with all of his 6-foot-9, 215-pound strength, but in the end he had his feathers clipped by a swarming Spartan defense.

He scored only 19 points - 10 below his season's average - and hit only one third of his shots from the field (7 of 21), a comparatively poor showing for the man rated the best all-around collegian of the decade.

He was distraught afterward. He shunned the traditional post-game interview.

After the final whistle sounded, the "Bird," his shoulders sagging and his head bowed, went to the bench and sat down. There he covered his blond head with his massive hands - hands big as toilet seats - according to DePaul Coach Ray Meyer - and later sobbed into a towel.

Bill Hodges, Indiana State's rookie coach, apologized publicly for his All-America star's failure to face the customary post-mortem.

"When you play as hard and as intensely as Larry has, and lose," Hodges said, "you have to have emotion. For Larry, it wasn't just the end of a game. It was the end of a career."

It also marked the dawn of a new career. Now Bird can sign a contract - possibly in the millions - as a pro in the National Basketball Association. The Boston Celtics presently have his rights.

They played very tough

DePaul 3rd

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - DePaul's Blue Demons had it, then they didn't.

"We made too many mistakes," said Coach Ray Meyer, "and let Penn get back into the game."

Those mistakes turned a rout into a bout Monday night, and the Blue Demons had to fight for their lives in order to post a 96-93 overtime victory over the Quakers in the national third-place game at the NCAA basketball playoffs.

"We had 15 good minutes at

With 10:05 remaining and Johnson shackled with three fouls and Kelsner with four, Bird muscled through the air-tight Spartan defenders to hit a short jumper and make it 52-46.

But a Johnson free throw and a Johnson bucket made it 55-46 and returned the momentum to the Spartans, who never let go of it.

At the end, Bird put his face in his hands as if to hide tears. He scored 19 points, a good game for anyone else but a dreadful night for a man who averaged almost 29 through the season and became everybody's player of the year.

"We would have one man and a half on him when he put the ball on the floor," Heathcote explained the defense of Bird. "We would have a forward on him and a guard came in to help. Our defense worked well tonight. We wanted to force the action and get into an up-tempo game."

Heathcote sounded like he was seriously worried during only one stretch in the second half.

"What hurt us most was Gregory getting in foul trouble," he said. "We got cautious and conservative, but the Magic Man put us back together."

Johnson a 6-foot-8 sophomore who may bolt Michigan State to join Bird in professional basketball next season, pumped in a game-high 24 points and Kelsner had 19. Donnelly, who seldom gets much attention keeping company with the likes of Johnson and Kelsner, hit 5-of-5 field goals, most of them in the second half when Indiana State was making its charge, and wound up with 15 points.

"Wherever he went," said Johnson of Bird, "we had two men on him. When Greg went out we tried to slow it down and take some time off the clock. I hit a couple of baskets, then Greg came back and we got the job done."

Hodges, an obscure assistant a year ago, was philosophical in dealing with his only loss as a head coach.

"The Lord blessed us with a tremendous year," he said. "We have a great bunch of players. They never gave up. I don't think they ever will. Anyone disappointed with the success we have had this year has to be a lesser man than I am. They are a team, a unit, and a family, and I love every one of them."

Michigan State's victory gives the Big Ten Conference a rare basketball coup. With Indiana winning the National Invitation Tournament earlier this month, the Big Ten can rightfully claim to be the toughest basketball league in the country.

"We're very pleased, of course," said Commissioner Wayne Duke. "But we aren't going to beat our chest and boast because we know things like this run in cycles, and something we might say tonight will come back to haunt us."

"We have a great bunch of players. They never gave up. I

'Magic' Elated With Victory

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - The Magic Man, Earvin Johnson, had played with bewitching grace, but there was magic to spare in his smile as he sat down to talk about winning it all.

There was a basketball net hanging like a laurel around his neck, and nothing to do but savor the sweets of Michigan State's NCAA basketball title.

It was Johnson who had scored a game-high 24 points, Johnson who had picked up his flagging teammates in the second half, Johnson who had scored a crucial four-point play, and, most of all, it was Johnson who sent Indiana State to its first defeat in 34 games and the Spartans to their first national basketball championship.

The talk at the post-game news conference was of tactics and missed chances; how the Spartans had defended Sycamore All-American Larry Bird, what Gregory Kelsner's foul trouble had meant to Michigan State.

But there was the Magic Man smiling that it-couldn't-have-been-any-other-way smile.

"The coach gave us a job to do on Larry Bird and all we had to do is go out and do it. He gave us a great game plan," said Johnson, who guarded Bird for part of the game.

Kelsner, Johnson's teammate and off-court buddy, picked up his fourth foul early in the second half and the Spartans, hitting on only one giant cylinder instead of two, began to falter.

"When Greg went out we tried to control the ball and take some time off the clock," Johnson said. "And by doing that we kind of lost the momentum for a little while. So coach told me I had to take charge and do a lot more things on offense... So I hit a couple of baskets and Greg came back in and we got the job done."

Johnson, a 6-foot-8 sophomore, had barely sat down when he was asked the question that will continue to be asked in coming days. Will he turn immediately to professional basketball or return to Michigan State in the fall?

"Is this my last college game? I still don't know. Am I going to apply for hardship? I still don't know. When will I decide? Oh no, I've got to enjoy this first. Then I'll decide later, a couple of weeks, I've got a lot of time."

Last Oct. 13, they were opposing pitchers in the third game of the World Series at Yankee Stadium. On Monday, they were on the mound again in different parts of Florida... and this time Don Sutton pitched well and Ron Guidry was shelled.

Umpires Send Five To Testify

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Five more major league umpires were scheduled to testify in federal court today about their reasons for hiring an attorney to negotiate their 1979 contracts.

Nine umpires testified Monday that they had all hired Richie Phillips because they never had any success negotiating themselves.

Meanwhile, the American and National leagues issued a joint statement Monday charging that the umpires are trying to circumvent a valid contract in refusing to report to spring training.

The five-year contract runs through 1981, with salaries ranging from $17,500 for first-year umpires to $40,000 for umpires with more than 16 years experience, plus $53 a day for expenses.

U.S. District Judge Joseph McGlynn is hearing the petition by lawyers for the two leagues asking that he find the umpires in violation of a preliminary injunction McGlynn issued last September preventing a work stoppage.

The leagues' attorneys also are seeking $10,000 fines against the men in blue for each day they stay off the job.

Fifty-one of 52 umpires have refused to sign their individual one-year contracts from the leagues. The umpires contend they are within their rights to individually seek higher wages through Phillips, a Philadelphia attorney who also represents the Major League Umpires Association, as well as National Basketball Association officials.

including a grand slam by Junior Moore - as the Chicago White Sox trimmed the New York Yankees 11-5.

Guidry's spring ERA soared to 8.79 but he explained that he has been experimenting with a changeup - he is basically a fastball-slider pitcher - and, besides, his ERA was over 10.00 two springs ago. All he's done since is win 41 regular-season games and four more in postseason play.

Like Sutton, Atlanta's Larry McWilliams also fired five no-hit innings and wound up blanking Montreal for seven as the Braves downed the Expos 5-2, with Hank Small contributing a two-run homer.

Chris Knapp and Jim Barr combined on a three-hitter and Dan Ford hit a two-run homer as the California Angels whipped the Oakland A's 8-0.

Jose Cruz and Art Howe hit consecutive homers off Boston's Dennis Eackerley in the fourth inning, helping the Houston Astros blank the Red Sox 3-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Joe Niekro, Garry Wilson and Joe Sambito.

Chris Knapp and Jim Barr combined on a three-hitter and Dan Ford hit a two-run homer as the California Angels whipped the Oakland A's 8-0.

Jose Cruz and Art Howe hit consecutive homers off Boston's Dennis Eackerley in the fourth inning, helping the Houston Astros blank the Red Sox 3-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Joe Niekro, Garry Wilson and Joe Sambito.

Kansas City got only two hits against Pittsburgh but one of them was Darrell Porter's second-inning homer and the Royals edged the Pirates 1-0 as Marty Pattin, Ed Rodriguez and Al Hrabosky teamed up on a four-hitter.

George Hendrick of St. Louis was the day's top hitter. He drove in seven runs with a pair of homers, including a grand slam in the seventh inning, powering the Cardinals over the Cincinnati Reds 11-4.

Mike Jorgensen's two-run homer in the ninth inning lifted the Texas Rangers to a 2-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. The blast came off reliever Don Stanhouse, who did not allow a homer last year.

TV People

Astounding young actor Gary Coleman may have just turned 11, but he has the style, timing and delivery of a veteran performer.

"I don't really know where the desire to become an actor came from," his mother says. "It was just one of the many interests that he asked about - and he seemed to be a natural at it."

In addition to acting, Gary is interested in astronomy, space, aircraft and books. He not only reads books. He writes them, too - and even illustrates them with his own drawings. He also likes to play a little golf now and then.

Gary, who also oversaw the decoration of his all-red bedroom, likes to sleep with his socks on, and says his best friend is his 113-pound German shepherd, Champion.

When he isn't acting, reading, studying or writing mystery stories about lost hamsters, he is active with his hobby, a collection of miniature train sets.

Trucking Regulations Discourage Competition

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State regulation of trucking companies discourages competition and leads to permit "dealing," two sponsors of a trucking deregulation proposal said Monday.

DeLay, R-Simonton, told a news conference their proposal would make it easier to enter the trucking business and would deregulate prices over three years.

The Texas Railroad Commission now requires trucking applicants to prove "public convenience and necessity" before receiving a permit to haul goods in the state. The commission also sets routes and prices for transporting commodities.

DeLay said truckers legally sell their railroad commission permits for between $20,000 to $150,000 or lease them and skim off 10 percent of revenues from the second permit holder. Such practices reduce a smaller company's profits and discourage new firms, he added.

"We are not altering the safety or insurance requirements for trucks in any way," said DeLay. "Every truck on the road will have to comply with the standards set by the railroad commission."

Trucking applicants would be required to show necessary capital, insurance, good equipment and insurance coverage to start a business under the proposal, he added.

Several trucking associations oppose deregulation, said Schwartz. He compared the upcoming fight with the lobby over the legislation to "dragging a dead whale up a mountain."

"The system needs to be changed, but like anything else, the trucking lobby and the associations resist any change because the status quo is best for their profit motives," said Schwartz.

The Texas Motor Transportation Association says deregulation would leave some shippers without reliable service, allow large shippers to squeeze out smaller companies and result in more fuel consumption because of additional trucks operating.

However, the Texas Farm Bureau, the Texas Poultry Federation, the Producers Trucking Association, Common Cause and the Texas Conservative Union support the bill, DeLay said.

Trucking regulation began in 1929 when businesses needed protection in the Depression, the representative said.

Times have changed, though, and intrastate regulation results in inequity to shippers, Schwartz added.

"It costs more to send a 40,000 pound shipment from Center, Texas, to El Paso than from Center to Los Angeles," he said.

Bilingual Conference Set For April 4 In Austin

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A first-of-its-kind conference will be held April 4 to push the Legislature toward increased backing of bilingual education, Mexican American educational and civic groups announced Monday.

Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, said his bill to make access to bilingual education mandatory from kindergarten through sixth grade will get a hearing before the Senate Education Committee the same day as the conference.

The state since 1975 has required school districts to offer bilingual programs from kindergarten through third grade.

"We clarify the fact that all children are eligible," Truan said of his bill. "English speaking children are encouraged to participate in the program. That was the intent from the beginning."

"We expect hundreds of people to come in from throughout the state," said Marta Cotera of the Mexican American Business and Professional Women of Austin. "This is going to be an all-out, statewide show of support."

He criticized the Legislative Budget Board's recommendation of $9 million for bilingual education programs for 1980-81, down from the $10.4 million appropriated for 1978-79.

The United States is made up obviously of people who speak many different languages. Everyone is an American regardless of whether they speak Spanish or English or German or Czech.

Truan said Odalmar Garcia of the Texas Association of Bilingual Educators, said a recent study of 32 school districts found 140,000 students with limited English speaking ability who were not in bilingual education programs.

"We are taxpayers, and this is the way we want to mandate that our tax dollars be spent," Ms. Cotera said at a news conference.

The seminar at the University of Texas Lyndon B. Johnson Auditorium will be the first statewide meeting of parent, community and education groups in support of bilingual education, she said.

The study was a project of the Intercultural Development Research Association.

He said bilingual education programs in many school districts have become segregated.

"We are taxpayers, and this is the way we want to mandate that our tax dollars be spent," Ms. Cotera said at a news conference.

AUSTIN — After months of redaction and sometimes word-bogging work, the Texas House of Representatives this week gave final approval to legislation implementing the voter-mandated '88 Tax Relief Amendment.

Passage of the bill, HB 100, came after three days of testimony before the House Taxation Committee.

Coal-Slurry Pipeline Causing Reviewed Confrontation Between State Governors

SHERIDAN, Wyo. — The second Battle of the Little Bighorn opened Monday as the governors of Wyoming and Montana expressed doubts about a Montana-Wyoming-Colorado-Oklahoma-Texas coal slurry pipeline.

Gov. Ed Herschler told hundreds of persons attending a hearing on Texas Eastern Transmission Corp's proposal to divert 35 percent of the Little Bighorn River's average flow that "this must clearly benefit Wyoming before I put my name on it. The benefits must be greater than the costs."

Herschler said he was "neither an advocate nor an adversary" of the pipeline.

Herschler said he alone would decide whether to sign a contract with Texas Eastern by the May 25 deadline set by the Wyoming Legislature.

Montana Gov. Thomas Judge restated his position that the diversion is illegal without Montana's consent under the Yellowstone Compact. The compact says "no water should be diverted from the Yellowstone River Basin without the unanimous consent" of Wyoming, Montana and North Dakota, he said.

"It is a matter of law," Judge said. "I have expressed this before and I intend to make it in the courts if necessary."

Judge said he was hopeful "our common interests will make it possible to reconcile the differences between our states on the issue of coal slurry pipelines."

Texas Eastern plans to pipe up to 25 million tons of coal a year from the Powder River Basin in Wyoming and Montana to Gulf Coast utilities. The company plans to pulverize the coal and mix it with 20,000 acre-feet of water annually from the Little Bighorn.

An additional 22,800 acre-feet of water would be made available for other uses in Wyoming.

Howard Hommer, a vice president of Texas Eastern's Wyoming slurry pipeline subsidiary, said, "A major industrial user is needed to develop this water." Disagreeing with Judge, Hommer said, "Use of this water outside the Yellowstone Basin does not require the unanimous consent of Wyoming, North Dakota and Montana."

Slurry pipelines "are invisible, silent and protect the environment," he said.

Larry B. Baccari, a Sheridan County rancher, who sold water rights acquired by Texas Eastern, said 110,000 acre feet of water now leaves the state in the Little Bighorn in an average year.

"The water should be developed in Wyoming, Accari said, "even though the Crow Indians say we should save it for them, supposedly for their own industrial use."

Actually, the trend in recent years has been to discourage high-speed chases and to rely instead on radios, radar and aircraft. The Pennsylvania State Police Academy, for example, gives cadets more training in horsemanship riding than it does in pursuit driving.

In that sense, one Harrisburg speed-shop owner said even the driver of a hot car would be stupid to try to run from a police cruiser.

"My money's on the state police. They outnumber you 50 to 1, and you can't outrun those radios," said John Maxwell of Maxwell Racing Enterprises. "State police cars are no pookies. They definitely are not dogs."

But Joe O'Connell, manager of the Bash Speed Shop in Philadelphia, said Pennsylvania's police cars were hopelessly outclassed.

He said a 1968 Camaro, with a little help from special manifolds and a four-barrel carburetor, could hit 60 mph in six seconds. And its top speed is a blurring 140.

"I don't understand it. You don't send cops out with 22 caliber pistols," he said.

Ford's engine screeching in protest, the car hit 60 mph.

"That's it. You want to get out and push?" Parker said. The performance of new cars can be improved only with changes in federal laws, which will be getting even more stringent on emissions and mileage standards over the next few years.

"We'll be looking at a four-cylinder police car by 1985, and then a lot of violators will be getting away," said Warran Woodfield, an analyst for the International Chiefs of Police Association.

Woodfield said the association was urging Congress to exempt police cars from laws that say garages may not change emission controls or install four-barrel carburetors, special ignition systems, dual exhausts and other high-performance devices.

But any self-styled mechanic can drastically increase horsepower by equipping engines with turbochargers, while police can't.

"An individual citizen can do it. They can sell you the stuff and you install it. But it's against the law for a garage to do it, including a municipal or police garage," Woodfield said.

Federal Mandates Slow Police

But critics of the idea point out that it is difficult to verify signatures on petitions and go on to ask, "How many times would you have to vote on the same issue?"

Local officials registering their opposition at the senate hearing said elections are costly for school districts to hold. Initiative and referendum powers would give voters on the local level an accessible tool in lowering taxes. That has school board members worried in light of tax cuts that have already been mandated and by further tax base reductions that loom ahead.

An issue for some critics of initiative and referendum powers is not the public's ability to decide wisely on an issue, but whether or not voters will have at their disposal all sides of the question before making a decision.

One witness before the senate committee hearing testimony on initiative and referendum powers pointed out that a single minute of advertising on prime-time television costs almost a thousand dollars. Ad time on radio approaches $200 a minute. Some fear only the rich and economically powerful will be equipped and financially armed to get their side of the issue before the public.

Over minor issues there are already examples where large corporations have been able to use the electronic media to bend the public's opinion almost against its will.

Not despite the fact that Gov. Bill Clements has called initiative and referendum the foundation of his "Taxpayers' Bill of Rights," the issue appears to be stuck on the sidelines and indefinitely out of action.

Is this a victory for Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby? Clements' chief adversary in the Legislature? Perhaps Hobby, the man at the tiller in the Senate, has staked his outright opposition to adding any more levers to the already complicated and delicately balanced machinery of democracy.

What would initiative and referendum in powers mean? It would mean voters could pass laws at the local level, constitutional amendments that applied state-wide, and voters could also strike down laws already on the books.

Simply stated, voters would be able to get a proposed law or constitutional amendment on the ballot by rounding up a certain percentage of signatures of those who voted in the most recent elections. The ballot box and voting booth would become an even more important part of the lawmaking process.

The idea is a single year state budget instead of the traditional two-year spending plan drawn up by the Legislature when it meets in regular session every two years.

A one-year state budget may be needed because of an unpredictable economy. The uncertainty over predicted state sales tax revenues, the source of 40 percent of the state income, may have forced Clements into Jones and Hobbs's corner.

If the Legislature decides to set a one-year budget, it would mean special sessions will be in order.

Clements was quick to point out that he thought a one-year budget for the situation this time around, but that he was absolutely opposed to annual sessions of the Legislature.

Clements this week also signed a $2.4 million appropriation bill to keep afloat the idea of a superport off the coast of Texas. And the governor said he has made up his mind to vote about whether he is for or against raising the state's interest rate from 10 to 12 percent. Everyone probably even the governor is waiting to see what the interest rates will do on the money before tinkering with the law.

Clements told teachers this week he favors the 5.1 percent pay increase suggested by the Legislative Budget Board for all state employees (including teachers) but the governor reiterated his hope that automatic step increases will be done away with. The 1979-80 pay hike for teachers were mandated by state law in 1974. Clements prefers pay raises based on merit rather than those based primarily on experience.

Here, I'll show you the accelerator," he said, jamming the gas pedal to the floor. About 13 seconds later, the
