Charter Lion Clubber Honored

Lem Carlyle, a charter member of the Hereford Lions Club, received a 50-year membership award during the club's regular meeting Wednesday. President Gayle Cotton presented Carlyle with a 50-year pin and a certificate recognizing him as a Lion Monarch. Other club members received pins for 10 to 30 years membership in Lions.

THE UNITED WAY campaign will be underway soon, and directors of the organization are facing some tough decisions in seeking to conduct a successful drive. For some strange reason, here in hustlin' Hereford, the UW campaign has not reached its goal very many times.

This has been a paradoxical situation because this is a generous community, and it seems we give more than our share in other charitable drives. We can't help but wonder why citizens are not responsive to the needs of local organizations supported by the United Way.

The UW system of funding local organizations with one campaign drive has great merit. Business people and volunteer workers are looking at one drive, not a dozen. It makes a lot of sense. We hope the United Way board, along with the participating agencies, can come up with the solution for a successful campaign this year.

WHERE WOULD we be without excuses? Have you ever thought how many times you offer an excuse? They seem to be second nature to most people, and usually we don't even have to think to come up with one.

It's just human nature to "save face" instead of admitting you're wrong. Even when the truth would take up less time and serve us better in the long run, we seem to grab an excusable phrase just in the nick of time to save us from the terrible fate of being in the wrong.

What brings this topic to mind is a visit with a traffic patrolman, who may hear more excuses than anyone. How about the motorist who was stopped for speeding, then claimed he had just washed his car and was trying to dry it off?

Another motorist was driving 65 in a 55 mph zone and explained to the officer: "I was speeding because I was losing my brakes and I was in a hurry to get to the repair shop."

Another driver was stopped by a patrolman who had chased the car at speeds in excess of 100 mph. When stopped, the 19-year-old driver told the officer, "I always drive 90 because I get better gas mileage at that speed."

Another driver was arrested for drunk driving and the car was turned over to his

Districts' Property Estimates Increase

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - New estimates of school district property values, the knife that cuts the state aid pie, will average almost double those now in use, sources indicate.

A third of all Texas school districts will be so unhappy with the estimates that they will appeal, says Kenneth Graeber, an associate director of the School Tax Assessment Practices Board.

Graeber told the board he expects 300 to 350 of the 1,080 districts to appeal. Walt Parker, the board's executive director, will present the new figures Friday morning to Gov. Dolph Briscoe, the Texas Education Agency and news reporters.

"The appeals, I assume, will start arriving shortly after the figures are released," Graeber told the board.

Defense Witness Examined

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Prosecutors today were given a chance to cross-examine a witness defense attorneys have tried to weave into a complex web of intrigue involving Cullen Davis' estranged wife and a man who claims the millionaire plotted more than a dozen executions.

Defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes excused Pat Bursleson late Wednesday after grilling him nearly all day about a sequence of meetings he had with FBI agents, Priscilla Davis and David McCrory, the state's star witness in its case against Davis.

But prosecutors would not release Bursleson and asked that he be required to reappear this morning.

Bursleson, a former business associate of McCrory, was the second defense witness called by Haynes during a

Leukemia Drive Begins for Girl

A savings account for a 15-year-old girl with leukemia has been established at Hereford State Bank, according to American G.I. Forum, originator of the drive.

A spokesman for the drive said that persons interested in helping the girl should send contributions to the Norma Rodriguez Savings Account at the bank.

The girl's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jose Rodriguez of 313 Grand.

The spokesman said that Norma must make weekly flights to Dallas for treatments. Money raised in the account will be used to defray expenses.

The higher a district's values relative to other districts, the less state aid it will get in the 1979-80 school year, unless the Legislature again changes the system.

The 1977 Legislature relied on values calculated by the Governor's Office of Education Resources GOER, based on 1975 values.

"Percentage-wise, ours will be considerably higher than the GOER figures, taking into account that we have had inflation," Parker said.

Inflation alone would add 24 percent to the GOER estimate of $232.6 billion in total market value of taxable real estate in Texas, Parker said.

GOER estimated the market value of all Texas real estate at $232.6 billion. Sources indicate the board figures, based on 1977 tax rolls, will total about $450 billion, including approximately $150 billion for intangibles and household goods.

"Every urban district is going to scream bloody murder about the intangibles," said one source.

Mike Moeller, head of Texans for Equitable Taxation, said counting intangibles - such as bank accounts, stocks and bonds - might cost urban districts all their state aid if present formulas are used.

"What the figures are going to do is show your urban school districts as budget balanced districts," Moeller said. Budget balanced districts are so rich

Rotary Club To Feature 1929 Packard

A 1929 Packard Super Eight 645 with a custom aluminum body will be the "star of the show" during the second Hereford Rotary Club Special Interest and Antique Car Show Sept. 9-10 in the Bull Barn.

The show, which last year proved to be one of the most spectator-appealing and unique locally-sponsored events, probably will have more than 70 cars, according to Ken Rogers of the Rotary Club.

"We expect it to be a bigger and much better show than last year," Rogers said. "This Packard will be worth the $2 admission fee itself."

The Packard, owned by Oris Jones of Farwell, is the only one of its kind, Rogers said. It has been driven only 59,000 miles and has been fully restored back to its original condition.

The Department of Interior will attempt to explain its reasoning in the recent order to drain nearby Buffalo Lake during a special meeting to be held in Canyon tonight.

The meeting will get underway at 7:30 at the West Texas State University Science Center.

The Science Center is located on the southeast corner of the WTSU campus.

Area residents who oppose the draining of the lake are expected to be out in force tonight, after draining operations were stopped by a temporary restraining order granted to the Buffalo Lake Survival Committee on Monday.

The committee obtained the restraining order less than a week after its formation during a called meeting at the Umbarger community east of here.

Representatives of the Interior Department, the Bureau of Reclamation and other officials are expected to be in attendance at the meeting tonight to explain the ordered draining of the lake.

Interior officials claim the spillway at Buffalo Lake is unsafe, and that the condition could only be corrected with the draining of the first appreciable amount of water to be held in the impoundment in over a decade.

Numerous Panhandle residents have taken exception to this claim, and dissatisfaction with the Interior decision sparked the formation of the lake survival committee.

With emotions running high on the part of Panhandle residents set on saving their lake, tonight's session should prove lively.

The lake survival committee will return to court tomorrow in Lubbock for a 10 a.m. hearing for a preliminary injunction before U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward, who ordered the draining stopped earlier this week.

Survival committee members are aware that their entire effort to save Buffalo will hinge on the outcome of that session, and will be hoping to gather information and support during tonight's session for tomorrow's hearing.

While area residents gear up for the Electrician's Rights Suit Dismissed

AMARILLO — The civil rights suit against the City of Hereford and several city officials filed by an Amarillo electrician has been dismissed. The Brand learned today.

Judge Halbert O. Woodward of U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Texas dismissed the suit Wednesday here.

Richie had sued the officials on the alleged grounds that his civil rights were violated when he applied for a master electrician's license in Hereford. Richie claimed, among other things, that a test which he would have been required to take in order to receive the license was not fair because other electricians allegedly had not taken the test to become licensed.

Hereford City Attorney Earnest Langley, after Robin Green, Richie's attorney, rested his case in the civil rights trial earlier this month, requested dismissal on the grounds that the defendant had not proved his case.

Woodward, by dismissing the case, agreed with Langley.

HISD Enrollment Surpasses 5,400

By PAUL SIMS

There were 5,413 students enrolled in the Hereford Independent School District as of Wednesday afternoon, according to a report released today by Superintendent Dr. Harrell Holder.

High school enrollment Wednesday afternoon was 1,128, an all-time high. Enrollment in the two junior highs was 1,369, while the elementary-school total for grades 1-6 was 2,429.

Enrollment in the 5-year-old kindergarten program stood at 351, while 108 4-year-olds enrolled in their respective program.

Special education enrollment Wednesday stood at 28.

On Aug. 28 (Monday) the first day of school, the total enrollment was 5,243, compared to 5,167 a year ago on opening day. Holder said a good comparison would not be available until Tuesday, Sept. 5, when students return from the Labor Day weekend.

"We're probably just about where we were last year," Holder said. "Tuesday will tell the story because we'll finally be able to match two corresponding days. We'll match the Tuesday following Labor Day this year against the Tuesday following Labor Day last year. Since we started school on Thursday last year, it would be extremely hard to have a comparison because of the patterns of enrollment in the Hereford Independent School District."

Holder said that there probably were numerous students who took advantage of classes starting on Thursday last year. "There probably were several who took an extra two days of summer vacation," the Superintendent said.

"We have projected our enrollment to be about the same as last year. We anticipate an increased enrollment at Hereford High School and a decreased enrollment at the two junior highs."

Holder added that the elementary school enrollment "probably, will be stabilized when you compare it to last year."

Enrollment at Stanton Junior High Wednesday was 685, one more student than at La Plata.

Enrollment in grades 1-6 at the elementary schools were as follows:

Aikman, 417; Bluebonnet, 389; Northwest, 437; Shirley, 302; Tierra Blanca, 408; and West Central, 476.

Kindergarten enrollments for both 4- and 5-year-olds were as follows:

Aikman, 75; Bluebonnet, 73; Northwest, 69; Shirley, 70; Tierra Blanca, 65; and West Central, 97.

The 28 special-education students are enrolled at Shirley.

Total elementary-school enrollments were as follows:

Aikman, 492; Bluebonnet, 462; Northwest, 506; Shirley, 410; Tierra Blanca, 473; and West Central, 573.

Reserve Board Member Claims Inflation Likely To Get Worse

WASHINGTON (AP) - In a pessimistic new assessment of the nation's troubles with inflation, a member of the Federal Reserve Board said today that inflation might be worse next year than the 8 percent rate so far this year.

"Inflation has clearly accelerated, from the 6 percent area into the 8 percent area, and threatens to accelerate further next year," said board member Henry C. Wallich.

Wallich urged that the government consider a tax incentive program to penalize or reward business and labor for their price and wage behavior, depending on whether it conforms with government anti-inflation goals.

A new approach is needed, he said, because the government's traditional ways of controlling inflation through spending and interest rate policies are not working.

Such a tax incentive plan is "tough," Wallich said, "but we have run out of pleasant options."

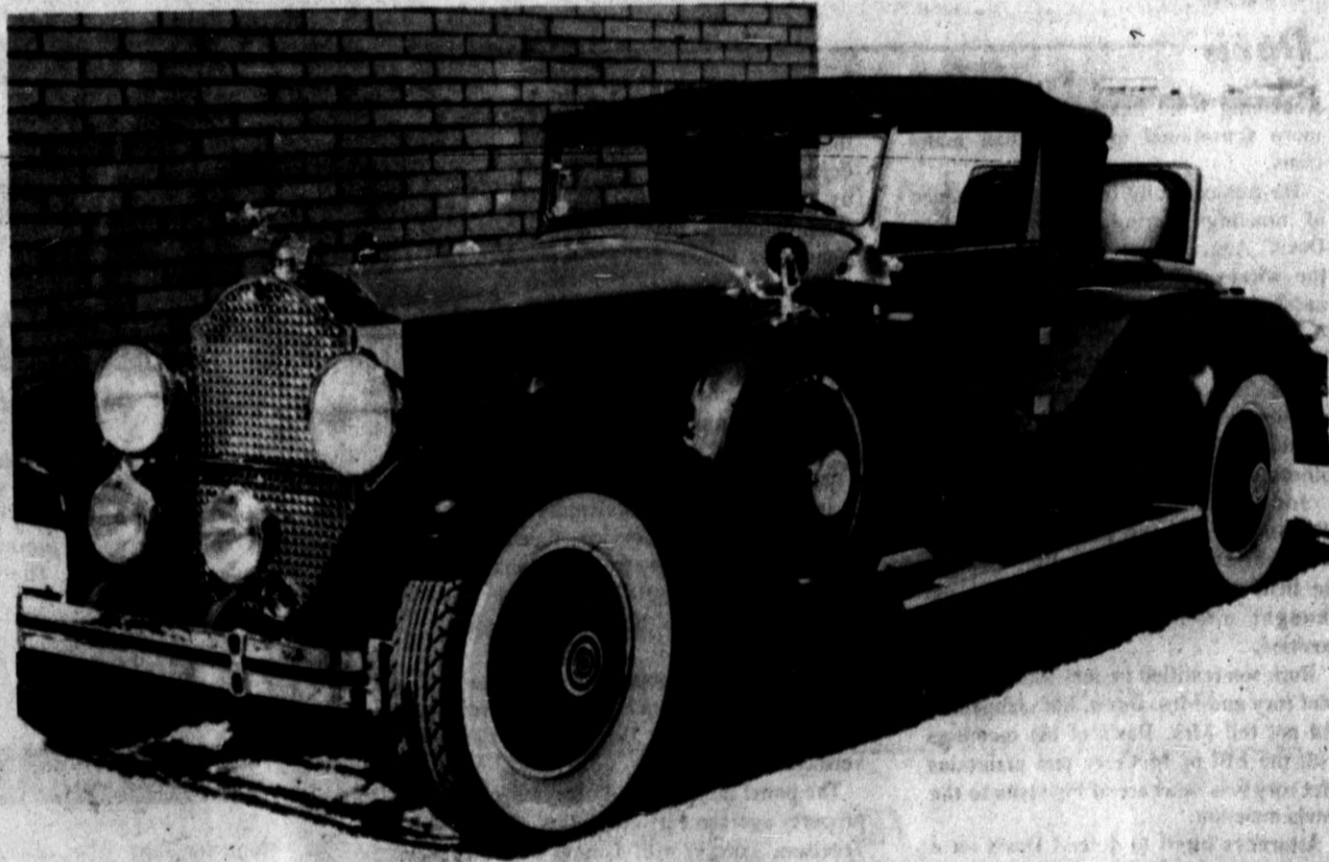

He added: "The same or even more drastic remedies would confront us at higher levels of inflation, plus possibly a severe recession. I hope it will not take such higher levels to convince people of the need for action."

Wallich made his remarks in a speech prepared for the Allied Social Science Association in Chicago. The next was released here.

In its latest inflation report on Tuesday, the government said consumer prices rose by 0.5 percent in July, the smallest increase this year. However, virtually all the improvement was attributed to the first decline in grocery prices in a year.

Prices for non-food goods increased 0.7 percent, about the same as in previous months, indicating there has been little if any progress is slowing overall inflation.

The dollar plummeted sharply against major foreign currencies with a companion announcement by the Commerce Department that the U.S. trade deficit in July was $2.99 billion, nearly double the deficit for June and the fourth largest monthly gap ever between U.S. exports and imports.

Bergland To Buy Vegetables from

Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he's going to be one of the first customers when a group of farmers sell fresh fruits and vegetables in front of his department today.

About 20 producers from Washington's metropolitan area are expected to participate in the venture as a demonstration by the Agriculture Department of direct marketing of farm produce.

Bergland told reporters Wednesday that the event is "part of a continuing series of efforts on the part of USDA to match up consumers with producers" of farm products.

"I'm going there to buy fruits and vegetables for my family, and I expect I'll be buying the world's best food," Bergland said.

However, if it rains the sales event will be canceled, department officials said. Congress provided funds a couple of years ago for USDA to help states carry out local farm-to-consumer projects.

The department reviews plans submitted by state agriculture agencies to develop new projects. About 13,000 direct marketing outlets were in operation when the measure was passed in late 1976, according to USDA.

Direct sales account for only a small part of the food sold nationally, an estimated 3 percent of the fruits and vegetables for example.

Brown Cuts More From California Taxes

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) - Gov. Edmund Brown Jr., who joined the Proposition 13 crusade only after its landslide victory in this election year, chopped another $1 billion off state taxes by signing a bill that will allow Californians to "keep more money in their pockets."

Brown, a Democrat, on Wednesday signed a bill which state Republicans take credit for originating. He said the measure would lead to the biggest state income tax reduction in California history.

The income tax cut - which comes on top of Proposition 13's $7 billion cut in property taxes - will slice taxes an extra $168 for the average California family of four with a $20,000 income.

The combined income tax and property tax cuts will reduce the average homeowner's annual tax bill by $750 to $1,000.

"Not since the income tax was invented have we ever seen a permanent reduction in its provisions so Californians can keep more money in their pockets," Brown said. "This really does help the middle income and lower income taxpayers."

Each taxpayer will get at least a $75 tax cut, while each couple filing a joint return will realize at least a $150 tax cut, unless their taxes already are less than those amounts.

Abortion Trial Ends with Dismissal

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) - Her ordeal over, Maria Elaine Pitchford, acquitted of a charge of performing an abortion on herself, burst into tears and said she hadn't believed a jury would send a woman to jail "for something like this."

The slender, red-haired former psychology student, charged with aborting her fetus with a knitting needle, was found innocent by reason of insanity by a jury which deliberated less than an hour.

Her former fiance had testified against her during the trial to gain immunity, and Miss Pitchford's defense attorney says it may have been his testimony that "tipped the scales on our side."

Dwight Mundy testified Tuesday he had nothing to do with the alleged illegal abortion, but that it had been his idea to visit abortion clinics. Miss Pitchford was turned away because her pregnancy was too far advanced.

"I couldn't believe that they would prosecute someone and put him in jail for 10 to 20 years for something like this," the 22-year-old Miss Pitchford said at a news conference after the verdict.

The law she was brought to trial under, she said, "was not fair as it applied to me." The prosecutors who charged her agreed.

Kidnapped Man Found Dead from Wound

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The 35-year-old son of Mexico's ambassador to the United States has been found dead after being kidnapped by guerrillas who reportedly demanded $2 million "for the struggle of the proletariat." A police source said an autopsy showed he was shot once in the leg and bled to death.

There was speculation the fatal bullet was fired during a shootout between bodyguards and the four men and a woman who ambushed Hugo Margain Chantre and an American friend Tuesday night near Margain's home on the south side of Mexico City.

Police sources said the body was found in a field near Chalco, 18 miles from Mexico City, at 8 a.m. Wednesday, some 12 hours later, and taken to the morgue at Chalco. But it was not identified until 10:30 p.m., the sources said.

Detectives said the body was clad in a suit jacket and underwear, and the spot where it was found was relatively free of blood, indicating Margain had been dead some time before the body was dumped.

Buffalo

next push to save their lake. U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower of Vernon, who serves the Randall County area that includes Buffalo Lake, apparently altered his stand on the lake situation in a prepared statement issued earlier this week.

Canyon and Umbarger residents who contacted Hightower's office to voice their opposition to the lake draining last week came away disappointed when Hightower announced his support of the draining.

Hightower is apparently taking a "show me why" attitude now, however.

In his prepared statement, Hightower said the Bureau of Reclamation, which advised the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife to drain Buffalo Lake, would have to show him why it will take the estimated $80,000 to $100,000 to do a study on how to make the dam safe.

"A large part of our problem in all parts of government today is that we spend so much time studying the problem, we never get around to solving it," said Hightower.

"I will work from the Washington level to see that the structural problems are corrected as quickly as possible and the lake is put in the best possible shape to take advantage of the next time we have this quantity of moisture. I find it disturbing that structural problems of the spillway have been known since 1967, but have not been corrected. We are told, and from comparing reports I have to assume they are correct, that the lake must be drained for the safety of downstream people and property," Hightower commented.

"The fact is that rains of the nature that occurred last spring in the Canyon area or this month in the Albany and Throckmorton area could put enough water into the channel to go over the dam within a short period of time, even if the lake were dry again. The likelihood of a three inch rain is greater than an eight or nine inch rain, but either is possible. The safety of people's lives must be the first consideration," he added.

A spokesman for the Interior Department indicated the lake will be opened to farming once again in the event that it is drained.

The lake survival committee, fighting the draining, continues to collect funds for its "war chest" to finance the legal work involved, and is collecting donations from residents throughout the Panhandle.

Donations to the Buffalo Lake Survival Committee may be mailed to the First National Bank of Canyon, Box 119, Canyon, Texas, 79015.

Hereford residents may leave donations with Jim Cherry at The Barber Shop, 122 West Fourth.

collector cars in this area. It's never been shown in this area," said Rogers, who is spearheading the car show. "It's a better car than the big one we had last year."

Last year's top car was a Lincoln which had been driven by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Other vehicles which should attract much spectator interest include a 1911 truck from Clovis, N.M., and a locally-owned early-year tractor.

"We're going to have door prizes, a concession and automobile literature displays at the show," Rogers said.

week-long bond hearing that has seen more sensational evidence than many trials.

Haynes carefully traced the sequence of meetings during the week before Davis' Aug. 20 arrest, but never asked the witness about the purpose or the nature of those meetings.

Burleson was the intermediary between the FBI and McCrory, who claims Davis approached him with a plan to hire a gunman to kill the judge presiding in his divorce case, among others.

Judge Joe Eidson has since disqualified himself from the bitter, four-year Davis divorce battle, claiming he believed he could be impartial but thought others might question his position.

Burleson testified he met with the FBI, McCrory and Mrs. Davis, but claimed he did not tell Mrs. Davis of his meetings with the FBI or McCrory and maintains McCrory was unaware of his visits to the Davis mansion.

Attorneys hired to defend Davis on a charge of solicitation of capital murder have said they intend to show the millionaire industrialist was set up and framed.

A defense attorney said Wednesday that testimony as developed by the defense Wednesday indicates a "means" by which three people could be communicating through one person... sometimes known as carrying water or

All Hail the Eagles

There will be a very special high school in Port Arthur, Texas, the first of its kind in our nation.

It will be called Bob Hope High. It will be exclusively for crippled children and adults, allowing a severely handicapped person to earn and receive a high school diploma.

It is another medical-related project by the Fraternal Order of Eagles. Which means the Eagles had the idea and their wives will raise the money.

Seriously, the Eagles are promoting it. Bob Hope is contributing both time and resources.

And this is but one of a number of projects related to medicine which Eagles support consistently and without fanfare.

Spokane, Wash., is as close to Shangri as airplanes fly. Last month the Eagles landed there.

The Eagles converged for their convention in such numbers that they overflowed the city. Some slept as far away as Idaho.

I went to this convention, as I have gone to the previous four, to accept on behalf of the Truman family a $25,000 contribution from the Eagles to the Harry Truman Heart Fund.

Around 7 p.m. Monday, in the lobby of the Sheraton across the street from the convention center, longtime Illinois Eagle Clarence Hendrickson slumped in his chair, his head falling backward. He was unconscious.

From the first telephone call until the arrival of the paramedics, only ten minutes had passed. But the brain without oxygen starts to die long before that.

However, the first phone call brought telephone operator Angie Habets from her switchboard behind the registration desk.

Habets noted immediately the gray pallor, the open mouth and frozen grimace of a heart attack. No pulse, no respiration, no response.

She pulled Hendrickson to the floor and opened his shirt. He began to turn blue. Tilting his head backward, Habets immediately began, with her mouth covering his and her hand pumping his chest, a gallant effort to revive him.

His breathing was restored before the paramedics arrived. And Sacred Heart Hospital said Hendrickson, back from the valley of the shadow, is doing fine, will recover.

Both paramedics and doctors credit the prompt and proper resuscitation effort of a switchboard operator who—though certified in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) only one week before—knew what to do. Because on her own initiative she had received Fire Department training in first aid.

There could be no better example of the urgent need to educate people to deal with health crisis. And it is her kind of training that the Eagles have been financing.

And incidentally, that hospital with its splendid cardiac facilities, had also benefited from the ongoing Eagles medical charities.

So who knows how many Angie Habetses they have trained. Who knows how many Clarence Hendricksons they have saved.

Eagles—thank you.

Carlisle Receives Award For 50 Years Club Service

A talk by Hereford High athletic director Don Cumpton and presentation of membership awards highlighted the weekly luncheon meeting of the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday at the Community Center.

L.M. Carlisle, the only charter member still active in the club, was presented a Lion Monarch certificate and a 50-years membership pin.

Other Lions honored, and the number of years of membership: 30 years—Jimmie Allred and John Aikin; 25-years—Earnest Langley and the late R.L. Ethridge; 20 years—Charlie Bell, Arthur Robinson; 15 years—D.C. Kinsey, Glen Anderson, Stan Fry, Philip Shook, Virgil Walker, James Hull; 10 years—John Thames, John Bryant, Nicks Fariss, Gayle Cotton, C.O. Taylor and B.J. Weaver.

Cumpton, introduced by program chairman Herschel Black, outlined prospects for this year's football team at Hereford High. The enthusiastic head mentor reported one of his first goals on coming here as athletic director and football coach was to involve more boys in the program. As of this week, he added, there was 136 boys in the high school program and 350 in the junior high programs.

"The kids are real excited, have an excellent attitude and are working hard," he said of the early practice sessions. Cumpton, who plans to use two platoons as much as possible, said he now has 46 players on the varsity squad. This included 38 seniors, and about nine boys who did not play last season.

While the Whitefaces will not be as big as some 4A teams, Cumpton believes that size is not everything. "Maximum effort is more important, and I think the key is mental attitude."

Cumpton outlined the team prospects by groups, noting that underclassmen would be counted on heavily in the defensive line and secondary and among the receivers. The offensive line will average about 192 pounds per man, which is about average for a 4A school, according to the coach.

The Whiteface boss said the team will have four good running backs—one with great speed and three with average quickness. He added that the quarterback is one of the "most improved" players since last spring's drills. The receivers are young and small, but have adequate speed.

Cumpton rated the linebackers as a strong position with seniors at those posts. The defensive line is not big and will have underclassmen, but "they have good quickness," said the coach.

The Herd will scrimmage Amarillo Tascosa here Friday night and open the season here against Pampa Sept. 8.

CAPT. RONALD WAYNE BROWNLOW

A memorial service for Capt. Ronald Wayne Brownlow, 29, who was born in Hereford and had several relatives living here, was held this morning in Agape United Methodist Church, Lubbock. Lt. Col. Gordon Johnson, a chaplain from Reese Air Force Base, officiated.

Funeral services are pending in Dallas.

Brownlow, a weapons systems officer, and 1st Lt. Mark A. Fellows died at about 6:30 p.m. MDT Monday, when their F-4 Phantom jet crashed on a low-level navigation mission in northwestern Utah.

The Air Force said the craft was on an air-to-surface training mission.

Capt. Brownlow, born in Hereford and reared in Lubbock, attended Texas Tech University and received his bachelor's degree from North Texas State University. He had been in the Air Force since early 1973.

A memorial service for Brownlow and Fellows is planned at Hill Air Force Base.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Brownlow of Lubbock, formerly of Hereford; the widow, Janice; a 2-year-old son; two brothers, Curtis of Arlington and Kenneth of Lubbock; a sister, Sheila Ann of Dallas; and his grandmother, Lois Hutchens of Lubbock.

R.L. ETHRIDGE

Funeral services for R.L. Ethridge will be conducted at 10 a.m. Friday in First Baptist Church with the Rev. Doug Manning, pastor, officiating.

Interment will be in West Park Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Ethridge died Wednesday morning after he was rushed by ambulance to Deaf Smith Hospital. He had been suffering from a long illness.

Mr. Ethridge was a longtime resident of Hereford, coming here in the 1930's. He was employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for 40 years, retiring in 1967 as a telephone repairman.

He was active in Hereford Noon Lions Club and First Baptist Church.

Born Jan. 29, 1902 in Gelson, R.L. Ethridge was valedictorian of the 1922 graduating class of Stanford High School at Stanford. He went on to receive his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Texas in 1925.

Mr. Ethridge went to work for Southwestern Bell in June of 1927. He came to Hereford in the spring of 1937.

He married Lois Clayton Rutter Dec. 4, 1965 in Hereford.

Mr. Ethridge was preceded in death by a brother, who died the year before his birth.

He is survived by the widow; two step-sons, Clayton Rutter of Austin and Nelson Rutter of Clovis, N.M.; a step-daughter, Cieta Rutter of Amarillo and four grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, family suggests memorials to First Baptist Church.

Appellant Didn't Incriminate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The subject of a mental commitment suit can be called as a state witness without violating the person's rights against self-incrimination, the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals ruled Wednesday.

The court upheld a Travis County district court Judge Jodie McGuffin to testify over her attorney's objections. The trial court later ordered the woman committed to a mental hospital.

"Some of her responses to the questions of the state's attorney clearly indicated that she was mentally ill," the appeals court said of her testimony.

"The state is under the duty to ascertain appellant's mental condition at the time of her trial and make reasonable assessment of what that condition is likely to be in the immediate future," the appeals court continued.

The appellant's punishment or guilt for past criminal actions was not at stake, the court said, thus making the right against self-incrimination not applicable.

Subcommittee Fears Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP) - A House subcommittee, sharply criticizing Energy Department officials, says the administration failed to make a convincing case for removing price controls on gasoline and withheld information predicting a possible shortage in 1980.

The subcommittee report said the shortage, forecast by the Energy Information Administration, could be as high as 400,000 barrels a day.

"A 400,000-per-day gasoline shortfall, with or without gasoline controls, would be an unmitigated national disaster," said the report.

The subcommittee said the shortage during the 1973-1974 Arab oil embargo was 280,000 barrels a day.

"The inability of the DOE (Department of Energy) to present a logical and coherent case for gasoline decontrol is attributable to a number of factors," said the House Commerce subcommittee on oversight and investigations, chaired by Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., in a report made public Wednesday.

The department had no immediate comment on the report.

The report cited: "The department's apparent intellectual inability to justify the administration's long-standing commitment to gasoline decontrol.

"Neglect on the part of David Bardin, administrator, Economic Regulatory Administration, charged with preparing the environmental assessment and supplement in reviewing the work of his subordinates." It said the forecast of a possible shortage was included in a June 7 memorandum to Bardin.

"An embarrassing failure of acting assistant secretary for the environment, Dr. James L. Liverman, to fully and effectively discharge the duties of his office in reviewing the environmental assessment."

The subcommittee said it was not commenting on the question of whether the price controls

Hobby Names Max Sherman To Committee

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby appointed a 12-member committee Wednesday to study the delivery of human services. Helen Farabee of Wichita Falls will chair the committee, which includes four senators and eight citizen members.

Other members include Frank Erwin Jr. and Ann Richards, Austin; Barbara Jordan, Houston; Roy Barrera, San Antonio; Morris Atlas, McAllen; Max Sherman, Amarillo; Theodore Strauss, Dallas; and Sens. Chet Brooks, D-Pasadena, vice-chairman; Bill Meier, D-Eules; A.R. Schwartz, D-Galveston; and W.E. Snelson, D-Midland.

June Hyer of the University of Houston at Clear Lake will be executive director of the committee, which must report to the Legislature.

When the Children's Television Workshop produces its adaptation of C. S. Lewis' classic fantasy, "The Chronicles of Narnia," for the CBS-TV network next year, one young viewer here will have a special interest in the show.

After her sixth-grade teacher told the class about the upcoming production of the series' first book, "The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe," 12-year-old Kathy Cummings decided to be prepared for it. She read the complete Narnia novel, then created a 10-foot scroll depicting Lewis' imaginary world.

imposed on gasoline during the Arab oil embargo should be lifted, "but on the competence and credibility of the DOE in addressing the issues surrounding gasoline decontrol."

The report said the Energy Department withheld information indicating the possibility of a gasoline shortage in 1980.

The panel also said: "The DOE had no basis for starting in its environmental assessment and supplement that all gasoline is selling at retail for less than the price permitted by regulation and that retail price controls are therefore superfluous."

"Contrary to the DOE's contention, price regulations are containing gasoline prices at the refinery level."

"DOE had no basis for concluding that gasoline decontrol will not have an adverse environmental impact; in fact, the evidence strongly suggests the contrary."

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

AUSTIN — Sen. Walter Mengden, Houston Republican, announced he will strongly oppose any attempt in the Texas Legislature to ratify the proposed amendment to the U.S. Constitution to give Washington, D.C., two U.S. senators.

"I am shocked and appalled that two-thirds of the members of the U.S. Congress would vote for something so incredibly stupid," he said.

"To give the city of Washington, D.C., two voting U.S. senators—the exact same representation the entire state of Texas has in the Senate—is utter insanity," the out-spoken senator said. Washington, D.C., is not a state, it is a city. If it needs representation in the U.S. Senate, then the people should be allowed to vote for the U.S. senators from Virginia, but not have two all their own," Mengden said.

Clayton Eyes Tenure House Speaker Bill Clayton's staff is reportedly working on a proposal to abolish tenure for all new faculty members at public colleges and universities in the state. The tenure system would be replaced with 10-year renewable contracts, subject to review by administrators and faculty members.

A Clayton aide said this does not mean the speaker is committed to pushing the legislation during the next legislative session which begins in January. "The speaker's staff works on proposals of interest to him and House members often pick them up and sponsor them."

Former Gov. Allan Shivers, chairman of the UT System Board of Regents, said he doesn't expect UT to take a position until the proposal is discussed at length.

Yantis' New Job Hugh C. Yantis Jr., former State Insurance Board chairman, is the new executive director of the National Resources Council. Gov. Briscoe appointed Yantis, 64, to the $38,592-a-year post after the Senate, during the special session, voted 29-1 against Yantis' appointment to the Insurance Board post. Only Bryan Sen. Bill Moore voted for the confirmation of Yantis after Austin Sen.

Stanton Dogie Roundup

Stanton Dogie Roundup will be compiled each week by the Dogie Staff and will consist of news and views from Stanton Junior High School.

Stanton students welcomed eight new faculty members this year. In the English and Language Arts department: Mrs. Aurora Dominguez, from West Central Elementary, Mrs. Elizabeth DeKoster from Frank Phillips Junior High, Borger, and Miss Paula Parks, recent graduate of Lubbock Christian College and a native of Snyder; in Girls' Athletics: Joe Don Cummings, who has been teaching and coaching in Bushland, will also teach World History, and Mrs. Martha Roberts, recent graduate of WTSU, who will also teach American History and Life Science; Donald Evers from Groom will be teaching Math; Leigh Carter from Beaumont will be teaching Industrial Arts; and Mrs. Janie Nino will be Migrant Records Clerk.

First day enrollment at Stanton was 671, with 210 seventh graders, 225 eighth graders, and 236 freshmen.

In addition to the Stanton Dogie Roundup, the Dogie Staff will publish a monthly newspaper to be sold at school and the yearbook, DOGIE, which will be published in the spring.

Lloyd Doggett invoked the traditional "Senatorial courtesy" to block the appointment.

Frank Sheffield, head of the Natural Resources Council since it was created last December, was transferred to a natural resources post in the Governor's Office of Budget and Planning. Sheffield was paid $30,000 while sitting in the chair now occupied by Yantis.

After only one day on his new job, Sheffield resigned saying that he was "deeply disappointed in the decision to replace me as director of the Natural Resources Council."

Yantis' appointment is not subject to Senate confirmation since 1977 legislation creating the Council states the executive director will serve at the pleasure of the governor. Most observers agree Yantis does not expect to continue in the job after Briscoe leaves office in January.

AG Opinions A district judge who is eligible for retirement may be assigned as a special judge even though he may have been defeated for reelection, Attorney General John Hill said.

In other opinions, Hill concluded: "A complaint to a city concerning a subcontractor's administration of a CETA-funded project is subject to disclosure under the Open Records Act."

The Texas Pawnshop Act is not applicable to state banks which under normal banking practices take possession of tangible personal property as collateral for loans.

Taxicab financial and usage reports submitted to a city are subject to disclosure under the Open Records Act.

Jarvis Debate Howard Jarvis, father of California's Proposition 13, called Texas legislators "cowardly" during a speech in Fort Worth. During his Texas stop, Jarvis took on AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard in a radio debate which became heated at times.

Hubbard's frequent calls for a "more considered approach" to tax matters are causing observers to wonder whether organized labor will oppose the tax relief amendment this fall.

Mondale Visit Vice President Walter Mondale made a series of stops in Texas last weekend designed to boost the candidacy of senatorial hopeful Rep. Bob Krueger. One of Mondale's stops included Austin where he attended a reception honoring State Democratic Party Chairman Calvin Guest.

Rains Win Pirate-Red Contest

CINCINNATI (AP) - For the first time at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium, rain was the winner.

The Pittsburgh Pirates were leading the Cincinnati Reds 8-4 after four full innings when a continuing rain shower washed out further play.

A delay of 2 hours and 1 minute preceded the game, but umpire Doug Harvey allowed play to continue through almost uninterrupted rain until ordering the field covered 1:22 after the start of play.

A league rule requiring a minimum wait of an hour and 15 minutes on artificial turf was observed before the game was washed out.

Cincinnati had never lost a playing date since moving to Riverfront Stadium on June 30, 1970.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The National and American leagues have brought their heavy hitters into federal court in an attempt to settle a dispute with the guys who nearly always have the final say - the major league umpires.

AL President Lee MacPhail and NL President Chub Feeney both testified Wednesday, contending professional baseball has no obligation to reopen negotiations with the umpires, who staged a one-day walkout last week.

"I suppose we could renegotiate, but we certainly don't have a moral, legal or any sort of responsibility to do so," Feeney testified.

And MacPhail told the judge: "We feel we that have a valid agreement, that it's complete, that it has a no-strike clause. We don't think we should be forced by the threat of a strike to reopen negotiations. We negotiated every issue raised by the umpires during the contact talks and we have no obligation to reopen those talks."

The umpires, members of the Major League Umpires Association, struck Aug. 25 after demanding 21 new benefits out-lined in a telegram sent to both league presidents Aug. 16.

The leagues obtained a temporary restraining order from U.S. District Judge Joseph L. McGlynn Jr., but it came too late to avert the work stoppage in 13 cities last Friday. The leagues used collegiate and retired professional umpires to umpire the games.

erned a request by both leagues for a temporary injunction to prevent the umpires from striking when the 10-day restraining order expires next Monday.

After three hours of testimony, McGlynn recessed the hearing until 9:30 a.m. today, when seven NL umpires were expected to testify.

The umpires' presence at the hearings Wednesday forced both leagues to cut officiating crews at some night games from four to three.

The National Labor Relations Board also has been asked to force the leagues to reopen the umpires' contract. MacPhail told McGlynn the leagues would comply if so ordered by the NLRB.

The umpires maintain that their contract, signed by their former attorney John Cifeli, is not binding because he did not possess power of attorney and because the pact did not address several points.

The agreement was signed in March 1977. Within a year, the umpires voted to fire Cifeli and hired Richie Phillips, a Philadelphia attorney who also represents National Basketball Association officials.

The umpires are seeking improvements in the contract, which extends through 1981. They want three one-week vacations during the regular season, job security after three years, cost of living increases and increased disability benefits.

The current contract pays a base salary of $16,500, with average salaries at about $25,000 a year.

Former Ram To Boot for Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) - Place-kicker Rafael Septien, who made 60 percent of his field goal tries last year as a rookie with the Los Angeles Rams, will kick this year for the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys.

The Cowboys, who traded All-Pro kicker Efen Herrera to Seattle because of a salary dispute, signed Septien to a contract Wednesday. The terms were not specified.

Septien, a native of Mexico City, was acquired from the Los Angeles Rams, where he kicked 18 of 30 field goals last season, the fourth best percentage in the National Football Conference.

Septien booted 32 of 35 extra points and was the Rams' high scorer with 86 points. Herrera kicked 18 of 29 field goals and 39 of 41 conversions for 93 points last year.

The Rams put Septien on waivers after signing placekicker Frank Corral, a rookie drafted from UCLA in the third round.

Septien, 24, edged out Jay Sherrill, a rookie free agent from North Carolina State and the fourth kicker Dallas considered during preseason. Others under consideration included former Houston Oilers kicker Skip Butler and Ove Johansson, a native of Stockholm, Sweden, who once kicked a 69-yard field goal for Abilene Christian University.

Septien played for three seasons at Southwest Louisiana in Lafayette. He was originally drafted by the New Orleans Saints in the 10th round in 1977. The Saints waived him last summer and the Rams picked him up.

He proved to be most accurate inside the 40 yard line for Los Angeles, hitting 16 of 18 tries. But beyond the 40, he only kicked two out of 12.

Septien rounds out the Cowboys' roster at 45 players.

Dodgers Edge Cubs

Jack Perconte doubled home the winning run in the seventh inning to give the San Antonio Dodgers a 5-3 victory over Midland, a split in their double-header and a full one game lead over the Midland Cubs and the San Antonio Diablos in the Texas League West.

Midland took the first game of the doubleheader, 8-2.

In other Texas League action, El Paso stayed in the title race in the West by beating Amarillo, 4-0. Jackson beat Tulsa, 3-1, and Shreveport beat Arkansas, 4-1.

Joe Hernandez had his 15th homer of the year. Gary Krug had his third homer and Steve Macko slammed his fifth for the Cubs to help Midland take an 8-2 victory in the first game of the doubleheader with San Antonio. Hernandez' homer came with two on and the homers by Krug and Macko came with one on. Jess Albert, 11-9 was the winner. Dave Stewart, 14-11, took the loss.

Midland's Jim Tracy had his eighth homer in the second game, but it wasn't enough as the Dodgers took a 5-3 victory.

St. Louis Trip Astros

HOUSTON (AP) - St. Louis pitcher Bob Forsch would rather forget the last two months.

"It was really hard not to get down on myself," said Forsch, who picked up his first win since June 30 as the Cardinals tripped the Houston Astros, 4-2, Wednesday night.

"I didn't feel I was contributing to the club," said

Forsch, 10-15, of his nine-game losing streak. "I felt I was just taking up space."

Forsch' level of self confidence dropped even lower after Houston loaded the bases with none out in the second inning.

"The second inning was the lowest I've been all season. At that point I felt I'd lost all my confidence. I didn't even know where the ball was going."

But the veteran right-hander came back to retire 19 of the next 21 batters to face him after Julio Gonzalez' double play ball in the second inning and finished with a four-hitter.

"I just made up my mind to throw the ball as hard as I could and the guys made some great plays behind me. I felt I could hold the lead after we scored the four runs."

The Cards, victorious in 18 of their last 24 games following a disastrous early season start, tallied four runs in the sixth inning.

UTEP Expected To Be Pass Oriented

By JOHN MOSSMAN
AP Sports Writer
El Paso, Texas (AP) - Oscar Ramirez, fully recovered from his injuries of a year ago, expects to fill the air with footballs this season as Texas-El Paso seeks a turnaround in its fading program.

"We'll be a lot more pass-oriented than last year," says the 6-foot-2, 200-pound signal-caller who has attracted the attention of pro scouts because of his rifle arm.

"We won't throw as much as BYU, but we will use the short pass to take advantage of weaknesses in the defenses we play."

Ramirez, who despite his hand and shoulder injuries ranked as the third-leading passer in the Western Athletic Conference in 1977, has a pair of inviting targets in split end Bubba Garcia and flanker Harold "The Roach" Johnson.

"If we get Bubba one-on-one, he'll beat anybody," says the senior quarterback. "So will Roach. There's not another team in the WAC with two receivers that good. Both have good hands, they're quick, and they're smart at finding the hole. They'll beat you long or short."

Garcia ranked ninth in the nation with 53 catches for 826 yards and nine touchdowns, winning All-WAC honors as a sophomore. Johnson caught 16 passes for 378 yards and two TDs although he missed several games because of religious beliefs that prohibit him from playing football on Saturday afternoons.

Teams that rely heavily on their air game don't often win with the notable exception of Brigham Young - but the Miners have few alternatives. The past three years, they've had records of 1-10, 1-11 and 1-10, and they're anxious for a reversal of form regardless of the method.

"The main thing we have to do is believe in ourselves," says Ramirez. "We're getting there, but it's not going to be an overnight thing. We think this year will be kind of interesting."

Coach Bill Michael agrees. "Last year all I talked about was attitude," says Michael. "We have made real progress. I think we've turned the corner with our kids."

"We're young and inexperienced, with only eight seniors on the squad. But we have some good athletes, some real quality players especially at the skill positions. I think this is a team that will improve week in and week out."

Nevertheless, Michael conceded that "until we can get some maturity, we're at least a year or two away from challenging in the WAC."

The play of running back Ray Holt should take pressure off the passing attack. Holt, the No. 2 rusher for UTEP for three straight seasons before missing all of last year with a knee injury, returns.

The line, however, is suspect, with only three-year letterman center Leonard Hill returning. The unit has been bolstered somewhat by twins Rod and Rick Miller, who transferred from Long Beach City College. They'll be guards.

Few teams in the country had worse defenses than UTEP in 1977. The Miners surrendered an average of 475 yards and 43 points a game, and not a lot of improvement is expected this fall.

Michael is most confident of his secondary, where cornerbacks Bobby Duncan and Woody Woodruff and safeties Eddie Porkerway and Curtis Stevenson are competent.

But end Elroy Stoglin, a 6-3, 222-pound senior, is the only other quality player on the defensive unit. Four sophomores and a freshman are among the other starters.

The punting is in the hands of Jerry Walker, one of the better kickers in the WAC, while sophomore Steve Folner is the place-kicker.

Freshmen are the backups at nine positions on the UTEP squad, which is a source of concern for Michael.

"I really don't know what sort of win-loss record to expect, because we have so many young people and you never know how they'll react if they're forced into action early," he said.

The schedule:
Sept. 2 - at North Texas State
Sept. 9 - at Air Force
Sept. 16 - at New Mexico State.

Two Herd Members Hurt...

Whitefaces to Tangle With Tascosa Friday

By DON INGRAM
Brand Sports Editor
Coach Don Cumpston's Whitefaces will scrimmage Amarillo Tascosa here tomorrow evening at 7:30 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium.

The Herd will enter the preseason scrimmage without the services of two starters, injured this week in practice.

Cumpston said seniors nose guard James Dudding (77) underwent knee surgery Wednesday morning after suffering an injury Tuesday in practice to his left knee.

Dudding is expected to be lost for the entire season.

The injury is especially critical to the Hereford team because Dudding was the team's extra point and field goal specialist.

"I doubt if we would have done any kicking in the scrimmage anyway," said the coach, "but now we've got to find another kicker!"

Cumpston also said tackle Eliseo Gomez (80) was hurt this week in practice too. The senior suffered an ankle injury but no preliminary report was given as to the extent of injury.

Cumpton said he intended to use the scrimmage as a good practice session.

"They're supposed to be big and tough this year," he said. The Rebels are rated second in District 3-AAAA behind Palo Duro.

Tascosa, 9-2 a year ago and district champs, return only three veterans from last year but are still rated high in the district.

The Herd meanwhile, is rated last in 4-AAAA with Lubbock Monterey, Plainview, Coronado and Lubbock leading the pack.

Cumpton though, who coached Muleshoe to a 9-1 last year, is expected to depend largely on Paul Bell, the area's leading rusher last year.

Also on Herd quarterback Jackie Mercer and running back Robert Graves. Graves was a split end last season while Mercer was a defensive regular.

Also expecting to help the Herd Friday are returning veterans Ronald Lucero, Glen Yosten, Bud Hughes, Steve Sauter, Jay Montgomery, Mike Kerr and Buzzy Abalos.

Others will be Roy Gonzales, Raul Arroyos, Gary Cornelius, Church Schmucker, Joe Mitchem and Keith Finch.

Also Monte Cochran, Robbie Fish, Greg Melugin, Cory Springer, Ed Fry, Anthony Poteet, Cory Christie, Randy Harris, and Donny Lauderback.

Also Richard Olson, Billy Quillen, Lee Reyna, Frank Medrano, Don Weems, Ed Dominguez, Keith Pagett, Don Johnson, Sammy Brown, Arthur Villegas, Kevin Golden, Danny Gaitan, Keith Adams, Barry Morgan, Joe Walker, Joe Cabezuela, Terry Huffaker, and Kevin Bunch.

The sophomores and junior varsity teams are slated to scrimmage Amarillo High there tonight at 4:30 p.m.

Mahaffey Expected To Fare Well at Tourney

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP) - The $225,000 B.C. Open golf tournament opened today with John Mahaffey, currently on a hot streak, among those expected to fare well.

Mahaffey, who has won $96,017 in the last six weeks on the pro tour, will be shooting for the top prize of $45,000 at the seventh annual tournament here, which is named for a nationally distributed coming strip.

Gil Morgan, a 31-year-old optometrist from Oklahoma, returns to the En Jolie Golf Course to defend his first professional golf championship won last year.

The 72-hole tournament runs through Sunday.

Lee Trevino, Lee Elder, Andy North and Fuzy Zoeller, all big-money winners this season, will be among the competitors at the course here in upstate New York's Southern Tier.

Tom Kite hopes to recover from last week's 1-stroke loss in the Hall of Fame tournament. The margin of defeat was a penalty Kite assessed on himself.

Since capturing his first tournament here last year, Morgan has also won the Los Angeles Open.

Famous Cricketer Not Afraid of Fireball

NEW YORK (AP) - Sir Garfield Sobers, one of the world's all-time great cricketers, insists that the 100 mph fireball of baseball's Nolan Ryan would hold little or no terror for him.

"Cricket is much more hazardous for the batsman than your diamond sport," the 42-year-old West Indian insisted after arriving here to introduce the old British sport to the American public.

"The ball we use is about the same size as a baseball but it is twice as hard. It travels at better than 90 miles per hour but, unlike the thrown baseball, it is bounced off the ground, which can make the pitch very deceptive and unpredictable."

"The thrown baseball travels through the air. It may curve or drop but the batsman can follow its flight easily. In cricket, the ball comes off the ground with all sorts of crazy spins and bounces. The batsman needs remarkable quickness to protect himself."

Sir Garfield will be a member of an international cricket team playing an all-star America squad in Shea Stadium next Saturday. The game is a distant cousin of baseball, played with a strange-looking paddle, a wicket and 11 players to the side - most of them lolling in their white pants and funny caps in the outfield.

He said he regretted that an injury will keep Ryan from appearing with the Angels against the Yankees in the series here.

"I have heard much of him," the dark-skinned native of Barbados said. "Just as I have heard of Babe Ruth. Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle. I would love to see how hard you Nolan Ryan really throws."

Sir Garfield was the epitome of propriety as he shared tea and crumpets with U.S. newsmen in the executive offices of American Airlines, sponsor of the cricket match.

He declined to be lured into a controversy on the respective merits of the two games, although he was quick to refute the suggestion that cricket is a tutti-frutti sport played interminably by gentlemen in long white flannels while spectators doze in the stands.

"It is true cricket is not as fast as your baseball," he conceded. "Your game is run-run-run, slide-slide-slide. In cricket, one does not need to run unless he wishes to do so. A test match lasts six hours a day for five days, sometimes six days."

"It may look dull to the average observer but that is most deceiving."

The handsome West Indian said the Yankee misconception of the sport probably stems from the fact that it always has been known as "the gentleman's game" and source of the phrase, "That's not cricket."

Transfer Rule Challenged

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - State District Judge Jim Dear has notified Texas school superintendents that a suit challenging the University Interscholastic League's one-year transfer rule will be considered as a "class action" suit affecting all schools.

The suit was filed by the American Civil Liberties Foundation of Texas, Inc. on behalf of John Sullivan of Austin Anderson High School.

Sullivan moved here with his family from Vermont and was declared ineligible to play varsity basketball in 1977-78.

Dear wrote Texas' 994 superintendents, asking them to post his class-action order so students could see it. "It is only in this manner," he said, "that we can be assured that all persons who may be affected by the lawsuit can be reasonably assured of notice of its existence."

Dear said superintendents should contact him if a student and/or his or her parents want to participate in the suit.

The final judgment, Dear said, will apply to all students who do not ask by Sept. 22 to be excluded.

Rose Benched By Coach

CINCINNATI (AP) - Pete Rose, sitting out two games at the request of Manager Sparky Anderson to lessen his tension, appears all the more determined to continue his assault on batting records.

Anderson said Tuesday he had decided to rest the veteran Cincinnati third baseman, who had only one hit in 22 bats during the Reds' current plunge that has seen them drop to 7½ games off the pace in the National League West.

Rose, talking during a rain delay in Wednesday night's game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, said he wants to make it clear that he was not being benched.

"Sparky and I talked Sunday. He asked me which two games I wanted to take off. We had first talked about Tuesday night's game but it would have put too much pressure on replacement Ray Knight" batting against Bert Blyleven.

"We talked about it again and I thought it would be better for me to sit out here and the first game in St. Louis. Knight batted against Jim Rooker of Pittsburgh before and Silvio Martinez St. Louis in the minors. It's a better opportunity for Knight," Rose said.

Anderson said he had not realized how much pressure there had been on Rose when he broke the National League consecutive-game hitting record at 44 games.

"I don't know" if a rest would help, said Rose. "I never tried it before."

Rose said he felt he was still hitting the ball well but the hits were not falling in. Despite the 1-for-22 dive, he noted he had gone 6-for-54 before setting the consecutive game record.

Rose is resolute in some personal goals this season.

"I am going to lead the league in hits. I'll be the only player to ever do it seven times," said Rose, who now has 164. He also hopes to reach 200 hits to surpass Ty Cobb's record of six 200-hit seasons.

Rose has also surpassed the 3,000 hit career record this season.

He also leads the league in doubles with 43.

Rose believes he can win the National League batting crown. His average is .300 but doubts that .320 will be needed to win this year.

"I think .315 will win it now," he said.

Yung Happy About Heisman Candidate

CANYON — West Texas State coach Bill Yung just smiles at the quizzical look he gets when mentioning that his 1978 club has a bonafide Heisman Trophy candidate.

"I just ask if they remember a guy named Duane Thomas who was all-everything with the Dallas Cowboys...or a guy named Mercury Morris who starred with the Miami Dolphins," Yung relates. "Then I point out that my guy plays at the same school as Duane and Mercury and stands to erase all their records. That tends to make the skeptics more believable of our situation."

The person in question is Melvin "Bo" Robinson, the Buffs' standout fullback who just happened to top the entire country (including 1977 Heisman Trophy winner Earl Campbell) in yards averaged per carry last year. Every time Robinson toted the pigskin he averaged an even seven yards for Yung's club.

In addition, Robinson's 1,399 net yards gained ranked him fourth in the NCAA and his 127.2 per game average was sixth. Needless to say, he accumulated all kinds of honors—AP third team All-American, Missouri Valley Conference Player of the Year, MVC rushing and scoring champion, and all-conference for the second straight season.

Bo is bearing down on the school record of 3,388 career yards rushing set by the vaulted Morris in 1966-68. Only 726 yards are needed to move past Mercury. Should Robinson equal his 1977 output, he would vault past such collegiate greats as O.J. Simpson of USC and Steve Owens of Oklahoma, both Heisman winners. An effort similar to last year would leave him in sixth place on the all-time NCAA rushing list behind only Tony Dorsett (Pitt), Archie Griffin (Ohio State), Ed Marinaro (Cornell), Terry Miller (Oklahoma State) and Earl Campbell (Texas).

Yung is quick to point out that Robinson can do it all despite being classified as a power back due to his 6-2, 217 dimensions. He's carried that frame over 40 yards in a clocking of 4.7.

"There isn't a more complete back around," states the second year mentor. "Bo is as good a blocker and team man as he is with the football. The only fault I can see is that he's a senior this year." Robinson, who played his schoolboy ball at Lamesa in West Texas, admits the honors are nice and that he thinks of the Heisman.

"Every player dreams of being an All-American, but I never really thought I'd get it," he says. "It's an honor even to be considered a Heisman candidate. However, I wouldn't be just totally hurt and destroyed if I didn't get it."

He lists his '78 goals as "get over 1,000 yards again, maybe break the school record, and possibly be a strong candidate for the Heisman. But the best thing would be to win the conference again. I like those championship rings too well." He also is quick to point out that there is plenty of help around, noting "The opponents can't all just key on me and jump on my back. We've got too many other good guys who can run with the football, Kenny Davis and David Johnson to name a couple. If they all stop me, we'll just have another back make All-America this year."

History backs up his statement. New Mexico State keyed on Robinson and held him to 52 yards rushing last year, his lowest total of the season. However, Davis bolted for 131 yards and two touchdowns as the Buffs recorded a victory. "I'm anxious for the season to start," says Robinson. "When games start rolling around some of the pressure is off. I'm excited about the Mississippi State game because it should be one of the biggest crowds I've played before."

Bo also admits his long-range goal is a shot at pro ball, voicing "Like Virginia Slims says, 'I've come a long way, baby.'" Bill Yung is just glad they came along at the same time.

Football doesn't arrive gracefully any more. It just busts through the front door and says "hello" without knocking. Television is the culprit. You have to give the people an early appetizer, even if it means putting the national championship on the line the first week.
This week's appetizer: Alabama vs. Nebraska.

Consumers Warned of Rise In Cost of Preserved Fruit

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumers probably will be paying more for their orange juice, canned peaches, grapes and pears next month, but apple lovers may pay less for their favorite fruit, the Agriculture Department says.

Most canned, frozen, dried and fresh fruit will cost more this fall because crops generally are smaller and some fruits have yet to recover from severe weather.

But apples, priced high all year, should be cheaper thanks to an 11 percent increase in the national crop, department economist Jules Powell said on Tuesday.

He said it is difficult to predict the exact rise in fruit prices this fall, but 12-month government figures show that inflation for fruit has been steeper than for all food and beverages.

The unadjusted Consumer Price Index registered a 16.2 percent rise in fruits and vegetables from July 1977 through July 1978, compared to 10.3 percent for all food and beverages.

"In this fall fruit prices usually are low. They're higher in the spring, and then dip in June and July," Powell said. "This year there haven't been any dips."

"Fruits and vegetables have done a lot to increase total food prices this year," he added, noting that fruit comprises about a quarter of the average family's diet.

Prices for processed fruits dried, canned and frozen - should increase because farmers received higher prices this year while processing and marketing costs have also risen, the department said.

Powell said frozen orange juice prices might rise slightly because a small crop this year followed the crop-damaging freeze of January 1977.

Peaches for coming this year were more scarce than in any recent year and the crop is still trying to recover from the California drought of the summer of 1977, Powell said.

The pear crop remains low, signaling higher prices, while the cost of grapes shows no signs of declining despite a large crop, Powell said.

MD Drive to Begin Here Sunday

Local residents are asked to assist in the collection of pledges during the 13th annual Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon, to be staged Sunday and Monday.

Volunteers are needed to participate in a door-to-door drive Monday afternoon, according to Mrs. Tony Urbanczyk, chairman of the residential collection. Interested persons are asked to contact Mrs. Urbanczyk or report to the Knights of Columbus Hall at 9 a.m. Monday. All drive marchers for MDA will be required to wear official identification tags, which can be obtained Monday at the KC Hall. Directing the door-to-door drive will be St. Anthony's Women's Organization.

Residents are reminded to check for the MD nametag before giving any donations to door-to-door callers Monday.

Telephone pledges will be accepted in conjunction with the televised telethon, beginning at 8:30 p.m. Sunday and continuing until 5 p.m. Monday. Volunteers will be needed to man the phones throughout that time period. Directing this aspect of the local campaign against neuromuscular diseases will be the Knights of Columbus, spearheaded by Raymond Artho.

The local number to call to make a donation will be 364-8770.

Originating from Las Vegas, the TV telethon is held to benefit the medical service and research programs of the Muscular Dystrophy Association (MDA). The 2 1/2-hour entertainment marathon will be carried by a coast-to-coast "Love Network" of more than 200 TV stations, and will also be seen in Hawaii, Alaska, Puerto Rico and Guam.

In this area, the production will be broadcast by KFDD, Channel 10, beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Last year the Telethon produced a record $26.8 million for the national health agency's work, and was seen by an Fourteen members present reported 29 visits to the sick and 16 greeting cards.

Several members and friends were reported to be ill. Sympathy was expressed to two bereaved members, whose mothers had died.

Members voted to send donations to the Terrell Hodges, who lost their building to fire. Also, members agreed to support the Children's Home at Corsicana, designating their gift as pocket money so that the youngsters can attend the State Fair at Dallas.

Peggy Lemons was hostess to Blanche Williamson, Lydia Hopson, Ada Hollabaugh, Glessie Shelton, Anna Conklin, Verna Sowell, Karol Rettman, Edna Mathes, Faye Brownlow, Frances Parker, Martha Bridges, Bessie Saulcy and Susie Curtsinger.

WHITNEY SHOW
NEW YORK (AP) - Some 100 drawings, watercolors and collages acquired by the Whitney Museum of American Art since 1973 are on display through Oct. 1.

The museum says the works "span all 78 years of the 20th century, ranging from Maurice Prendergast's watercolor 'Madison Square, New York' of 1901 to Chuck Close's 'Phil Fingerprint II,' a stamp-pad ink and pencil drawing which was finished early in 1978."

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I have a little piece of costume jewelry I wear from time to time. It's a little button that reads, "If man's home is his castle...let him clean it."

I didn't flaunt that little message back in the days when I was a full-time serf and mother. Face it, I had whole days to devote to dust and static electricity on socks, but as time went on things in the castle began to change.

I became a three-time-a-week court jester for a newspaper syndicate, took on a few more responsible things in the community, and the appearance of three children took a bite out of my long lunch hours.

Most men recognize the need to share some of the domesticity. Others refuse to believe that housework is an equal opportunity employer.

With the opening of school at hand when everything gets crazy, I've made out a manual for husbands who might like to pitch in.

HOW TO OPERATE CHILDREN: Push alarm button on the clock the night before to manual. Set three inches from child's ear. It will activate child at 7:00 who will rush around the house like an out-of-control garden hose.

To keep child in running order, fill with food six times a day and have regular checkups. (You...not the children.)

MATHEMATICAL FORMULA FOR GETTING FIVE PEOPLE AROUND THE TABLE AT THE SAME TIME FOR DINNER: As soon as one meal is finished, start to thaw for the next one. Gauge 1/3 pound meat per person, one potato and two vegetables, subtracting one potato for dieters, adding an extra portion of meat for football hopeful, and trying to anticipate who ate soft pretzels on the way home from school or who had a birthday at the office. Use six o'clock as fail-safe time for which there is no return, being careful to calculate interstate traffic on exit 16, overtime, ride home from friend's house and late practice.

KNOW YOUR LAUNDRY: Clothes in the dirty clothes hamper are not dirty-only discarded. Clothes on the floor have not been discarded, but are only dirty. Clothes on the bed are not dirty and not discarded-only in limbo. Clothes that are being worn are definitely dirty.

JOIN SOMETHING. It may not help you with your frustrations, your anxieties, your loneliness, your boredom, nor will it clean your oven. But they give you little buttons to wear that make you laugh once in awhile.

COLLEGE STATION — Install a "safe" swimming pool, follow swimming rules, and keep safety and rescue devices and first-aid equipment ready to insure swimming enjoyment, advises Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist. Mrs. Seaman is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

When building a swimming pool, consider these tips to insure safety and satisfaction:

- (1) Use non-slip materials on the deck surrounding the pool and on the diving boards and ladders.
- (2) Remember, the use of these materials may cause water to collect on the deck, and algae may begin to grow if the deck is not regularly cleaned.
- (3) Avoid sudden drops in depth when building a pool. Use different colors on the pool bottom to indicate safe diving areas.
- (4) Make all water pipes flush with the pool walls and bottom.

(4) Have licensed electricians install electrical systems following recognized safety standards.

(5) Have enough light to see at night. Install underwater lighting for night use.

(6) Equip ladders with handrails on both sides—small enough for a child's firm grip. Install at least one ladder at each pool end.

(7) Make ladder steps at least three inches wide from a non-slipper material.

(8) Surround the pool with a fence to keep children out when there is no supervision.

Do not provide direct access to the pool area from a house door or patio door—toddlers and other small children could wander out and fall into the pool.

(9) Have a hard-to-climb fence with self-closing gates secured with a lock.

(10) Check local ordinances for safe pool construction requirements.

When using the pool to cool off, follow and enforce basic swimming rules, the specialist urges.

Also, keep essential safety and rescue devices and first-aid equipment ready at the pool, she recommends.

Ann Landers

'Psychology Isn't Bunk'

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You are supposed to be running a lovelorn column, but I notice you keep sticking your nose into things that are out of your line. I am sick of you telling mothers how to raise their children when you are not around to know what kind of children they have. I can tell you that what most kids need today is an old-fashioned crack in the mouth.

I raised seven and never took a bit of lip off any of them. All this modern psychology is bunk. People like you do more harm than good. (Print this if you dare.) -- More Experienced Than You

DEAR EXPERIENCED: A crack in the mouth may serve as a healthy release for the bottled tensions of a parent but it can be extremely damaging to a child.

I am not opposed to a swat on the seat (for children under five) in situations where prompt action might save them from hurting themselves. But entirely too much hitting goes on simply because a parent cannot control his own anger -- and this sort of thing says, "I can hurt you because I am bigger and stronger than you are."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Before a woman marries (second time for both), does she have the right to know how much money the man earns, how much he has in the bank, how much he has in stocks, bonds, real estate, how much insurance he carries, and what debts he has outstanding? When a certain lady asked me these questions, I replied, "How about character? Doesn't that count for anything?" She answered, "Yes, but I can learn that from your behavior."

What do you have to say about this, Ann Landers? -- Second Thoughts In Yakima

DEAR YAK: A woman does, indeed, have the right to know the answers to those questions before she marries. Moreover, a man has the right to ask his intended those very same questions and expect prompt and honest answers.

In fact -- the more answers on both sides before marriage, the few problems and "surprises" after.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My sister and I are the youngest of a large family. I am 15 and my sis is 16. Our problem is that we have 12 nieces and nephews, all under nine years of age. Ever since Sis and I have been 13 we have been expected to baby-sit for our relatives without pay. We are not asked -- we are ordered.

Our mother makes these commitments and no matter what we may have planned, we have to cancel because according to Mom, "family comes first." My sis and I feel this is not fair and we need help from someone whose judgment Mom trusts. She keeps showing us things in the column and has a high opinion of you, so we hope you will be on our side and give us a hand. -- Taken Advantage Of Sisters (Our Opinion)

DEAR SISTERS: Teenagers should not be drafted to sit for relatives. This creates hostility which can turn into full-blown hatred. Some teens offer to sit for members of the family because they want to be of service -- and this is admirable -- but to be forced to do so without pay is grossly unfair and I hope your mother will reconsider.

Aggie Moms Accept Two New Members

Hereford Aggie Mothers Club welcomed two new members at this week's meeting. Mrs. Kenneth Walterscheid and Mrs. Richard Clark, whose sons David and Jason are freshman students at Texas A&M University, were introduced to other attending members who each briefly told about her own Aggie student or students.

Mrs. Walter Hardin read the purpose of the club, which includes aiding and making comfortable local students attending TAM. This year's motto for the state's federated clubs is "United we go forward."

Mrs. Hollis Klett, vice president for projects, listed the following dates and events for the new club year: October 14, District 10 meeting to be hosted by the local club at the Deaf Smith County Museum and E.B. Black House; Nov. 11, annual bake sale, with proceeds to be used for club's yearly scholarship fund; and Dec. 19, annual Holiday Dinner, honoring prospective A&M students and present students and families.

Mrs. Klett, compiling the club's first yearbook, gathered information from the members about their students and plans to distribute this yearbook at the Sept. 25 meeting.

Mrs. Hardin announced that members of the Hereford club will soon be working with Plainview residents in an effort to start an Aggie Mothers club there.

Others attending Monday's luncheon meeting at K-Bob's were Mmes. Alton Hollingsworth, Mel Holubek, J.J. Durham, Bob Hicks, Buryl Fish, Billy Don Brown of Adrian, Frank Ford, David Beavers, Leonard Walterscheid, Steve Clements, Fred Alston and Werner Koelzer.

'Mother's Night Out' Planned By Homemakers

"Mother's night out" means a Home Demonstration Club meeting for 175 Deaf Smith County homemakers. Once a month these young mothers meet and learn how to improve homemaking skills and family relationships, Joyce Shipp, Deaf Smith County Extension Agent, explained.

Studying topics they choose from the Extension Home Economics programs and the fellowship of just being together are the "main attractions," the agent says. As for baby sitters, some members hire one, while others look to their husbands for assistance, Mrs. Shipp adds.

For information on how to join a Home Demonstration Club in Deaf Smith County, contact the Deaf Smith County Extension Office at 304 Courthouse or call 364-3573. Membership is open to everyone regardless of sex, race, color or creed, the agent says.

Fast-Food Fever
Eating out has become very popular. The Conference Board finds. Total consumer spending on eating out is 82 percent higher than at the beginning of the 1970's. The rapid growth of the fast-food trade is a major reason for this trend. Teenagers and working women are providing added customers for the restaurant industry.

A Book Review

TAKE THE "A" TRAIN. By Michael Blankfort. Dutton. 211 Pages. $8.95.

This is the kind of novel that it's fun to read on a vacation weekend, or on a long train ride, or while sitting with a sick friend. It could make an excellent film.

The story revolves around a young, opportunistic Long Island boy named Doc Henshel, who is taken -- and willingly goes -- under the wing of Harlem numbers boss Franklin Gilboa.

Gilboa is more than a rack-eteer, however. He is an educated man who has a paternalistic attitude toward his territory and the people who live there.

The major theme of the novel focuses on the relationship between the adult and the youth, who grows to idolize his mentor.

Doc has rebelled at schooling, convention and his parents. And that natural rebelliousness is what Gilboa capitalizes on in his quest to train the youth as a companion.

Club Cancels Square Dance

Members of Merry Mixers Square Dance Club are asked to note that, due to the impending Labor Day weekend, the club's business meeting and dance, scheduled Friday night, has been postponed.

Other dates of special interest to the square dance club members include: Sept. 15 with a business meeting scheduled to convene at 7:30 p.m., followed by the dance at 8:30 with Jack Thompson of Tulla calling; Monday, Sept. 18 with a workshop beginning at 8:30 p.m. with Freddie McKee of Amarillo calling; and Friday, Sept. 29 with the regular dance at 8:30 p.m.

All of these events will take place at the Community Center.

Active sportswear for all family members is increasing as a favorite sewing project, reports Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Rent Control Spreading Throughout Country

By LEE MITGANG
AP Urban Affairs Writer
NEW YORK (AP) - Rent control, dropped in the nation's major cities since the largest of them following World War II, is cropping up across the country again, not only in cities but in suburbs.

Los Angeles and other California cities are considering imposing rent limits. Washington, D.C., and Boston have such limits. And other cities in Massachusetts, Connecticut,

New Jersey and New York have adopted rent laws in the recent years of inflation and unemployment.

"The middle class is hurting. Their lifestyle is impeded. And they've discovered rent control," explains Dr. George Sternlieb, an urban expert from Rutgers University in New Jersey, a state where many cities and suburbs have adopted rent controls in the 1970s.

In some cases, government-imposed rent limits follow economic developments beyond inflation. Alaska, for example, set up rent guidelines when the oil pipeline caused speculation that rent rents up 200 percent to 300 percent.

Now, a number of California communities are considering rent control as a way to force landlords to share with renters some of their savings from Proposition 13, which required a cut in property taxes.

Sternlieb, who opposes rent controls as unfair and impossible to administer, sees another reason why suburbs are now imposing them.

He says a hidden appeal - "the middle class's dirty little secret," he calls it - is that it tends to discourage new apartment construction. A suburb that wants to stay small, and keep poorer city dwellers from moving in, often finds rent control a convenient ally.

Thus the "no-growth" fringe benefit of rent control may give the system special allure in California, Sternlieb says.

Rent limits are controversial wherever they exist. In New York, landlords and tenants have been arguing over them for years.

One problem here is confusion over a many-layered and chaotic bureaucracy that has grown up in the last 30 years. For 500,000 apartments, mostly older high-rises with long-time tenants, there is rent control, the strictest system. There is less strict rent stabilization for 770,000 others and no control at all for the remaining 600,000, mostly in smaller or new buildings.

Until recently, the city kept controls to help the poor. Now rent control has become a middle-class issue. Proponents including Mayor Edward I. Koch, who himself has a rent-controlled flat, argue that the city must keep some controls to prevent the middle class from fleeing.

Landlords argue that rising property taxes and utility and upkeep bills prevent fair profits under rent control. They also blame it for abandonment and deterioration of buildings, saying this causes property values to drop and leads to higher property taxes for small homeowners.

Tenant leaders contend, however, that real estate speculation, redlining and a host of social ills are more to blame for New York's housing problems than is rent control.

These have been the experiences in some areas:

-Washington, D.C., has had rent control for three years. It is criticized by landlords because of red tape involved in getting rent increases and by tenants who feel the increases granted are too large.

It was nonetheless extended this year in modified form for another three years. Local observers say the City Council extended it because landlord groups fought so zealously to end controls that the council feared decontrol would lead to explosive rent increases.

A study titled "Rent Control" by Monica Lett of Rutgers University cities as acute housing shortage, rapid rent increases and evictions as factors leading to controls in the nation's capital.

-Boston began controls in 1969, followed by nearby Brookline, Cambridge and Somerville. Rent increases are granted mostly on a case-by-case basis, according to Ann Goggin of the Boston Rent Control Board. But last year, landlords were granted a citywide 11 percent increase to cover higher utility and property tax costs.

A housing shortage and one of the nation's highest per capita rent levels are the main reasons Boston turned to controls. The large student population creates a special problem for other residents. Landlords might charge, say, four students $150 apiece to live in a single apartment, which might raise a single family's rent in a similar apartment to $600 without some kind of rent control.

The city passed a law for gradual decontrol in 1976, but up to two-thirds of apartments remain under control. The rent ordinance expires in 1979, however, and then rent control could end altogether.

-Miami Beach, Fla., had rent control for three years, but the Legislature ended it by limiting the law to apartments renting for $250 or less a month - far below most rents in Miami Beach.

City spokesman Zeke George says a push for a new form of control could come if Miami Beach votes in November to legalize casino gambling, setting off real estate speculation.

-In Connecticut, cities including Danbury, Hartford, New Haven and Stamford have a mild system that allows tenants to complain to a local fair rent board that can roll back exorbitant rents.

-About 130 New Jersey communities including Newark have local rent control. The model for their ordinances, and the place where controls are under hottest dispute, is Fort Lee, a city just across the Hudson River from New York with many luxury high-rise apartments. Fort Lee's law effectively limits rent increases to 2.5 percent a year.

Landlords took the city to New Jersey Supreme Court in May, calling the law "confiscatory and invalid." No decision has been issued.

Pope Calls Himself Humble 'Pupil'

VATICAN CITY (AP) - Pope John Paul I told the cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church Wednesday that he will be the humble "pupil" of experienced church officials and asked the cardinals' advice on how to "carry the cross" of administering the church.

John Paul, in a speech to about 80 cardinals, said it was "no problem" for him to recognize his lack of experience in dealing with the Roman Curia, the administrative backbone of the church.

Departing from the text of his formal address, the new pontiff, elected by the conclave of cardinals last Saturday, joked that he knew "only the pontifical yearbook," the Who's Who listing of church officials.

John Paul, who spent his religious career as a local-level priest, educator and bishop, is the first pope elected in 75 years without specialized training as a member of the church's diplomatic corps or as a member of the Curia.

As a result, he said, he will have to count on the expertise of the veteran Curia administration, in particular those he reinstated Monday to the executive jobs that expired upon the death of Pope Paul VI.

"We plan, therefore, to hold as precious the suggestions that will come to us from so valuable advisers, becoming, so to say, a pupil of those who fell deserve our full confidence and our grateful appreciation for the merits acquired in a service of such a great importance."

Among the cardinals addressed by the pope were some who, because of the 80-year age limit imposed by Paul VI, had not taken part in the conclave that elected him.

According to Vatican officials, the former Cardinal Albino Luciani of Venice won election as pope with many more votes than the minimum 75 out of 111 required.

John Paul said that the electoral support he drew "still surprises and confounds us."

He said he envied the cardinals who would be able to go back to their dioceses "and look forward to the joy of encountering so many children, already well-known and tenderly loved."

"This is a joy that has not been granted to us. The Lord knows the sadness that this renunciation raises in our heart. However, in His love, He knows how to mitigate the bitterness parting with the prospect of a broader fatherhood."

On Thursday the pope will meet the diplomatic corps and on Friday he is scheduled to receive journalists and photographers who covered his election. He will be formally installed in a Mass Sunday consecrating his pontificate.

Crash Kills All on Board

NORTH LAS VEGAS Nev. (AP) - A twin-engine Las Vegas Airlines plane plunged to the ground shortly after taking off from the North Las Vegas Air Terminal Wednesday killing all 10 persons aboard, authorities said.

The Piper Navajo crashed about 7:50 a.m., moments after it left the general aviation terminal northeast of Las Vegas.

Chief Deputy Clark County Coroner Dick Mayne said the plane was on a flight to Santa Ana, Calif. According to the flight plan, Mayne said, there were 10 persons aboard. A quick inspection showed there were no survivors, he said.

Don Donohue, a spokesman for the airline, said the plane had a pilot and nine passengers. They were not immediately identified.

Cause of the accident was under investigation.

The blue, white and green plane lay on its belly in a dusty, sage-covered field. The back of the craft was broken, but the plane was relatively intact. It did not catch fire.

Windows had been popped from the plane, and bodies of the passengers were visible, several of them slumped forward in their seats.

Richard Jameson, a Las Vegas contractor and private pilot, was landing at the airport and said he saw the plane go down.

The take-off seemed normal, Jameson said. "It was climbing, but it violently and suddenly pitched to the right and crashed," he said.

Jameson said he saw "something falling with the airplane... it was separate" but landed near the plane. It was not immediately known what the object was.

There were no skid marks, indicating the plane dropped straight down.

The weather was clear, officials said.

The airline has no scheduled flights, Donohue said, but flies on an on-call charter basis between Las Vegas and other Nevada and California points.

"It was a high angle impact which means it was steep going in," Donohue said. "He (the pilot) took off on schedule, but he never got outside the airport boundary. We can't tell what happened."

Radio Network Penetrated Teton

GRAND TETON NATIONAL PARK, Wyo. (AP) - In the raft for aides, Secret Service agents and reporters who accompanied President Carter down the Middle Fork of the Salmon River, the most dominant sound was not the rush of the river.

Instead, at any hour of the day or night, the sound of the ubiquitous radio communication system intruded upon the serenity of the wilderness.

The White House Communications Agency had set up an elaborate radio system for the president to keep in touch with the outside world during his three-day trip. In the mountains high above the river, the communications agency set up at various points along Carter's route, giving each site a name that began with the letter C.

It didn't matter whether you were going through a white water rapid or camped along the banks of the river. There was no escape from hearing the people at the relay stations talking constantly with each other and staff aides.

It usually began like this: "Cowpuncher, cowpuncher. Checkmate?" That meant the checkmate site wanted to talk to the cowpuncher site. Sometimes it was Chaperone or Cablegram.

"They use funny names to amuse themselves," said one White House aide. It was much like the code names Secret Service agents give members of the first family which were also used frequently over the radio.

The press raft knew for instance that 10-year-old Amy had forgotten her eyeglasses when, for several hours, there were various radio messages instructing that "Dynamo's" glasses be put on the next helicopter and flown to the president's daughter.

The radio also was used to keep everyone abreast of the president or "Deacon's" whereabouts, usually as an aide to keep the press raft from getting close enough to see him. Sometimes a staffer in one raft would use the radio simply to tell those in another raft to watch for some local sight such as sheep grazing on the side of the mountain.

The system was installed for the president but several observers concluded it was mainly used by the talkative White House staff.

COMMENTARY

Smoke and political fire

Donald F. Graff

Are the folks who brought us Proposition 13 about to spring another one on us? California's voters could be preparing to do just that, only this time it's labeled Proposition 5 and the subject is nothing so tame as taxation but the separation of the smokers from the nonsmokers — quite possibly belligerently.

On the state ballot this November is a proposal for what is generally regarded as the most comprehensive regulation of smoking rights and wrongs in public places yet attempted in a broad jurisdiction.

Proposition 5, or "The Clean Air" initiative, is two pages of legalese boiling down to a declaration that smoking in certain enclosed areas is "a public nuisance and a cause of material annoyance, discomfort and physical irritation to nonsmokers."

Specifically, it would restrict smoking to lounges or other designated areas in indoor places of employment and public facilities. The latter would include schools, stores, restaurants, meeting halls, lobbies, public transportation facilities and the like. Each infringement would carry a $50 fine. Exempt would be bars — "impossible" to regulate, even the antimoking forces admit — private hotel and hospital rooms, and professional entertainment and sports events.

The initiative is already heating up as a public issue under the leadership of two organizations, support being led by the Campaign for Clean Air and opposition by Californians for Common Sense. Both sides are mounting media campaigns — the opposition's amounting to a "blitz," according to the Clean Air people. They claim to be outspent several times over by Common Sense which, they say, is bankrolled by outside tobacco interests and prepared to spend up to $5 million to defeat Proposition 5.

Common Sense dismisses the complaint, acknowledging that seed money for the campaign came from tobacco sources but claiming large subsequent donations from California businesses in particular.

Business plays a major role in the campaign in another sense. At the drop of a question, Common Sense spokespersons cite a study they conducted predicting an annual statewide drop of more than $40 million in productivity due to more smoking breaks and other inconveniences likely to be experienced by smokers at their jobs should Proposition 5 become law. Cost of creating and designating smoking areas is estimated at another $200-plus million. And they warn of even costlier long-run consequences to the California economy should complications of an anti-smoking law discourage new business from locating in the state.

Opponents say they are not arguing the medical aspects of smoking. That is a matter for scientific research and personal decision. As they see it, the issue is in essence one of invasion of privacy and coercion. Proposition 5 would be inequitable, economically costly, impossible to enforce and one more step toward government by big brother.

In their considerably different view, proponents cite Proposition 5 as necessary legal validation of nonsmokers' rights. They argue that it would be the most effective regulation of smoking practices devised to date, taking into full consideration the interests of smokers, nonsmokers, business and all other affected parties and with sufficient built-in flexibility to accommodate special situations and unforeseen developments encountered following enactment.

On one point, both sides are fully agreed — the significance of the voters' decision on Proposition 5, whichever way it goes. The impact on smoking patterns could be far greater than Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph Califano's federally conducted campaign to curb the national habit.

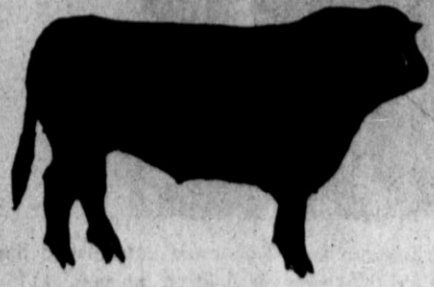

California, it is noted, is a bellwether state politically these days — just ask any tax official. As Californians puff after November 7, so eventually could much more of the nation.

Soybeans Suffering; Big Corn Crop Still Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP) - The nation's soybean crop has suffered in some areas of the South, but fall harvest prospects are for a big corn crop says the Agriculture Department. Based on Aug. 1 surveys, the department earlier this month estimated this year's soybean production at a record 1.77 billion bushels, up 3 percent from last year.

A record corn harvest of 6.5 billion bushels also was indicated by the Aug. 1 survey, up 2 percent from the 1977 harvest. The department will issue updated 1978 crop production estimates on Sept. 12 based on new surveys the first of the month.

Meanwhile, USDA said in a weekly weather review that soybeans in the eastern part of the midwestern Corn Belt were rated in good shape as of Aug. 27.

Soybeans in the western northcentral states were developing more rapidly, with yellowing of the plants - a stage of maturity - ranging from 12 percent in Minnesota to 15 percent in Iowa, the report said.

But dry weather has put stress on the crop in parts of the South where its condition was rated only fair to good as the month drew to a close. Cotton was said to be in fair shape as of Aug. 27, with the harvest spreading

Pressure Remains Heavy On Corn,-Sorghum Prices

COLLEGE STATION — Good corn and sorghum prospects, both in the U.S. and abroad, will keep crop prices low in the coming months. That assessment comes from Roland Smith, grain marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Smith foresees abundant feedgrain (corn and sorghum) crops over much of the U.S. although yields will be down in Texas due to drought conditions. "However, weather could play a crucial role in the Midwest where feedgrains are two to three weeks late. An early frost could damage crops severely and have a bullish effect on prices." According to U.S. Department of Agriculture forecasts, the nation's corn crop is pegged at a whopping 6.5

billion bushels while the sorghum crop should reach 712 million bushels. Both corn and sorghum crops will be down in Texas, however, due to poor weather. "Despite the adequate supply of corn and sorghum and favorable prices to feeders, feed use has lagged behind earlier estimates," notes Smith. Hog producers have expanded slower than expected. "As far as exports are concerned, corn movement overseas is over 10 percent ahead of last year, but sorghum exports are lagging behind 14 percent," says Smith. According to the marketing specialist, world feedgrain supplies are up and should increase over last year. Russia, a major importer of U.S. feedgrains in the past, has a good crop in the making. This, along with strained relations with the U.S., likely will keep exports to Russia at a lower level. However, the decline of the dollar in international exchange should aid the export market somewhat. "For example, the dollar has lost over 30 percent of its value in the past year against the Japanese yen," cites Smith. Where does all this leave farmers? "Producers can expect to see corn and sorghum prices near the loan rate in the coming weeks," says Smith. "Only severe weather in the Midwest, such as an early frost, could bolster prices much at this time. "Where storage is available, cash grain farmers will want to think seriously about holding their crops in hopes that demand will improve by next spring. Farmers participating in set-aside programs with grain eligible for loan should make plans to use the loan and to evaluate the reserve programs. Also, there is a chance that favorable changes in government policy will be forthcoming," believes Smith. There may well be certain attempts by the USDA to tighten feedgrain supplies so as to strengthen prices. Among options could be the outright purchase of grain or allowing 1978 grain to enter immediately into the reserve program. "USDA is concerned about these support measures, though, because they could hurt participation in next year's program," adds Smith. Only 41 percent of corn acreage is in the 1978 program.

Sorghum Team to Seek Markets

LUBBOCK — The drive to expand grain sorghum sales overseas will continue in September as a sorghum promotion team leaves for Europe. Led by Elbert Harp, Executive Director of Grain Sorghum Producers Association, the team will depart Sept. 16 to work in the seven European countries showing the most interest in purchasing grain sorghum. With Harp will be Dr. Reed Richardson of Texas Tech University in Lubbock, Texas and Ben Baisdon of Texas Department of Agriculture in Austin. Dr. Richardson is a livestock nutritionist and will be dealing with problems of nutrition in livestock and grain processing. Baisdon is director of marketing for Texas Dept. of Agriculture and will assist Harp in planning ways to remove trade restrictions on sorghum and of development of better marketing news services to keep foreign buyers informed of price relationships between sorghum and other grains. The team will hold conferences to discuss feeding programs and problems. The men will work in England, Scotland, Germany, Norway, Poland, Romania, and Spain. They will present research data concerning nutritional value of grain sorghum. Emphasis will continue to be placed on the difference in U.S. No. 2 yellow sorghum and the high tannin, (bird resistant,) sorghum being shipped from other countries. U.S. No. 2 yellow sorghum does not have a tannic acid problem but much of the grain that has been exported from South Africa, Argentina, and Thailand is of the type that is low in nutritional value because of the tannic acid content. The result is that livestock feeders are afraid to use sorghum. Grain Sorghum Producers Association and Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, (GSPA-TGSPB,) have been conducting a worldwide educational program since 1975 aimed at showing the difference in U.S. sorghum and the "brown sorghum." The U.S. Feed Grains Council sponsors the sorghum promotional work overseas in cooperation with the Foreign Agriculture Service of U.S.D.A.

MBPXL Reports Earnings Up

MBPXL Corporation has announced earnings of $902,000, or $.35 per share, for the quarter ending on July 29, 1978. In the same quarter a year ago, MBPXL Corporation earned $704,000 or $.29 per share. Sales in the third quarter rose from $246,000,000 last year to $341,000,000 this year. For the nine month period, MBPXL's 1978 earnings of $2.32 per share are 115 percent higher than the $1.08 earned in 1977. President David J. La Fleur expressed optimism that the fourth quarter will be a good one for MBPXL Corporation. He included among the contributors to management's optimism the expected seasonal improvement in demand, the good availability of fed cattle and the expanded fabrication and slaughter production from the Company's Friona plant. Calvin Coolidge, who invited members of Congress to breakfast meetings at the White House, startled his guests one morning by pouring coffee and cream into his saucer. In confusion, several others at the table did the same. Without a word, the president placed his saucer on the floor for his dog.

It is anticipated that the new rates will result in a 1.7% increase in Pioneer's gross revenues on its West Texas Distribution System. The increase in Pioneer's aggregate revenues will not constitute a "major change" as defined in Section 43(b) of Article 1446c, V.A.T.C.S. A Statement of Intent to change said rates was filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas about August 18, 1978, and is available for inspection at the Company's Amarillo office, 301 S. Taylor Street.
