Job fair set for May 13

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

A Job Fair designed to benefit Hereford area youth is planned May 13 by the Job Services Employer Committee, in conjunction with the Texas Employment Commission.

The Job Fair will be conducted at Hereford Community Center from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. on May 13.

Lewis McDaniel, chairman of the JSEC volunteer group, said the Job Fair will provide an excellent opportunity for local businesses to interview prospective summer and part-time employees. The event is primarily for students aged 14 through 21, but the TEC will be on hand to deal with other job seekers.

"We feel the benefits to local firms and the youth of Hereford area can be tremendous," said McDaniel. He added that some businesses might qualify for a tax credit or other benefits through various programs. The TEC and Panhandle Community Services will have representatives at the Job Fair.

Employers desiring to reserve space at the Job Fair can contact Suzanne Finch at TEC (364-8600) or Mike Carr at the chamber of commerce office (364-3333).

The TEC is distributing information at local schools and will register all students interested in summer jobs. Students will need a driver's license or picture ID, and a Social Security card or certified birth certificate.

The Job Fair will include openings for such things as summer yard work for individuals, and will include anything from a day or two a week to fulltime summer employment.

Further information can be obtained from McDaniel or from David Hernandez, TEC manager.

Good morning America!

The entire student body and faculty from Walcott School were filmed Wednesday morning for a segment scheduled for the national "Good Morning America" show. Phil Huffman (bottom right), promotion manager from KVII TV in Amarillo, orchestrates the children and teachers in their greeting to the nation. Although the episode is to appear on national television, a local film crew was provided by KVII. The ten second segment is scheduled to air on Friday, May 19, at 8:30 a.m.

Bush addresses issues in Austin

AUSTIN (AP) - While admitting that he once didn't know what a chicken-fried steak was, President Bush talked like a Texan when he addressed the Texas Legislature.

He spoke of cowboys and outlaws, cattle and oil. He praised the 101-year-old Capitol building in which he spoke. He even became an honorary Texas Ranger.

"From the Pecos to the Pedernales, from the Rio Grande to the Red River, there is no place on Earth like Texas," said Bush, who calls Houston home.

Bush's speech - Wednesday, which amateur historian Gov. Bill Clements says was the first to the Legislature by a sitting president, touched on serious subjects. He endorsed construction of the super collider, urged increased domestic oil production and called on Congress to pass a savings and loan bill.

But he devoted much of his address to reminiscences about his 1948 move to Texas and his deep affection for the state.

Raised in Connecticut and owner of a home in Kennebunkport, Maine, Bush took some ribbing from Democrats during the 1988 campaign over his claim to Texas, where his address now is a Houston hotel.

"Let me just say a few words about what it means to be a Texan. My credentials," Bush said. "I have my driver's license here. I have my Texas hunting license here. And somewhere, my voter registration slip.

President Bush

"And it is true, I like Kennebunkport. But I am a Texan. I just want to clear the air and say a few words about that."

Unlike Alamo hero Davy Crockett, Bush said, he didn't ride to Texas on a horse but in a red Studebaker.

"And more than 40 years later, that trip is still a vivid memory. Highway 80. Neon Pearl Beer signs appearing in the desert twilight ... And stopping at a cafe.

"I'll admit it. I didn't know if a chicken fried steak was a chicken fried like a steak or a steak that tasted like a chicken. But I've learned," he said, winning laughter from his lawmaker audience.

Bush praised the work of one of "my favorite writers," Texan Larry McMurtry.

"In 'Lonesome Dove,' he described the mythic Texas and conjures that sense of the place we all know so well. I am inspired by a man who can convincingly adopt the voice of the cowboy and the outlaw - men whose only schooling was in dodging bullets, whose only lessons were in how to run or rustle cattle."

And he hailed the Texas Capitol. "Nor is there another capitol in American quite like this one - built with this rose-tinged granite that blushes in the low sun. And this being Texas, we had to build a capitol that is exactly one foot taller than the one in Washington.

"So I hope it's not too much of a cliché to say that Texas stands tall in the heart of this president."

Clements, who escorted Bush into the House chamber for the speech, said the event was historic.

"It's a very special occasion for us in Texas ... Never before have we had a president of the United States address us in this chamber as a president," Clements said, offering Bush a memento that he said was another first.

"This has never been given to a president of the United States before. This is the Department of Public Safety, Texas Rangers, making you a captain in the Texas Rangers," the governor said, handing Bush a badge.

Lubbock Downs gets pari-mutuel license

By WENDY E. LANE
Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK - Plans are off and running for transforming the 20-year-old Lubbock Downs racetrack into a modern facility for both quarter horse and thoroughbred racing now that the track has won a Class 2 pari-mutuel license.

Between now and March 2, 1990, when pari-mutuel racing premieres here, $4.2 million will be spent on a new racetrack, grandstand and other facilities, said track owner and Lubbock businesswoman Jean Arnett.

The fourth track to be licensed by the Texas Racing Commission, Lubbock Downs is the only one west of Abilene to receive a license so far.

But how its betting windows pay off for the track's investors will depend in part on whether a racetrack in Randall County near Amarillo also is granted a Class 2 license.

"That's an unknown for us right now," Mrs. Arnett said.

The existence of a competing track so close to Lubbock Downs could lead to saturation, she fears.

"We are counting on drawing from 125 miles away, but if we were to have a second track that would probably cut into some of our market," she said.

Despite possible competition, Mrs. Arnett said her financial forecasts show the racing enterprise making a profit its first season.

After the racing commission awards a set number of racing days to Lubbock Downs next month, Mrs. Arnett will begin enrolling investors in hopes of raising $3.5 million towards transforming the track into a pari-mutuel facility.

Construction is scheduled to start in August on the new track, pens, paddocks, jockey quarters and bleachers.

"It's almost like starting from scratch because we have opted to move the track to the east side of the property in order to give more parking space," Mrs. Arnett said, "plus it's the only way we'd have room to build a six-furlong chute that the commission required."

A grandstand should be completed in time for Lubbock Downs' second pari-mutuel season in 1991, housing a private club serving alcoholic beverages, 80 betting windows and a restaurant.

Total seating capacity should be about 4,500 when the facility is finished, said Mrs. Arnett.

Lubbock Downs, currently drawing an average of about 450 people on 20 year-round racing days, will stop racing this year in July so that construction can begin. With pari-mutuel, first-year attendance should expand to at least 3,400, and the track has asked the commission for 107 racing days in 1990, Mrs. Arnett said.

However, marketing surveys have shown the track could average as many as 15,000 people a day.

"I think we have been very conservative in our projections," said Mrs. Arnett. "I like surprises on the up side."

The racing commission allows Class 2 tracks to race only 44 days a year, but because no Class 1 tracks will be operating until 1993, smaller tracks will be granted more racing days until then.

"If we have these extra days to get started we can get our investment paid back before we have to cut back (to 44)," she said.

Mrs. Arnett, who became involved in the racetrack business after buying several racehorses, said she's worked for almost two years to bring pari-mutuel betting to Texas and to Lubbock Downs.

Although her track has been successful as a non-betting facility, it draws only "people who are really interested in watching the horses run," she said.

"What you learn is that a lot of people say they love horse racing but what they really like to do is buy a $2 ticket (on a horse)."

'Jane Roe' attends hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) - "Jane Roe," a Texas cleaning woman whose pregnancy led to the 1973 landmark decision legalizing abortion, watched quietly as the Supreme Court revisited her case 16 years later.

Recently emerged from the anonymity that had concealed her real name and kept her away from the court when it decided in her favor in 1973, Norma McCorvey was inside the Supreme Court on Wednesday as an observer during its arguments on whether to overturn the Roe vs. Wade decision.

"I'm very overwhelmed," she said later. "I was just looking around and trying to listen to the arguments. I was thinking, I should have been there in 1973."

McCorvey, as Jane Roe, agreed to become a test case in the legal challenge of anti-abortion laws when she became pregnant with a second child in 1970.

McCorvey, 41, answered questions with great difficulty and stumbled through a nine-line written statement as she met with reporters. Her present attorney, Gloria Allred, assisted her and told reporters that McCorvey has only a modest income, cleans other people's homes for a living, and has a 10th grade education.

Allred, a feminist lawyer from Los Angeles known for her flamboyance, has helped McCorvey put together a movie deal about her experience. McCorvey is being paid as a consultant to the project.

She has been in hiding since April 4, when shotgun blasts were fired at her Dallas home. She suspects abortion opponents were trying to intimidate her.

McCorvey disputed suggestions she has been used in the new case and said she stepped forward at considerable risk because she still believes in the cause of a woman's right to an abortion.

"Our law is in jeopardy for all the women of the United States," she said. "I have to protect Roe vs. Wade."

McCorvey said she considered an illegal abortion in 1970 but was revolted by conditions at a back-alley abortionist's office she visited. She didn't have an abortion.

Instead she gave birth and put her child up for adoption.

Her lawyer said McCorvey considered the experience "far more traumatic to her than an abortion would have been."

Yet McCorvey said she has recently begun efforts to locate that adopted child, whose conception triggered the landmark case.

Allred insists there's no irony or inconsistency there. "The whole point is it's about a woman's right to choose," she said.

So what would Norma McCorvey, once Jane Roe, say to this child? "Well, I obviously wouldn't discuss politics right away," she said. "I'd just say, 'I'm your mom. How about a hug?'"

Wright promises budget surgery

WASHINGTON (AP) - House Speaker Jim Wright is promising "corrective surgery" on a $4.7 billion emergency spending bill that failed when members of his own party broke ranks on the first major budget vote of the year.

Wright and his leadership team will have their first opportunity to recoup next week, when they plan to bring to the floor their plan to implement a separate deficit-reduction pact with President Bush.

In the meantime, Wright promised to retool the emergency spending measure that was labeled a "budget buster" and rejected Wednesday by Republicans and Democrats at both ends of the ideological spectrum.

The bill to expand current spending for veterans, anti-drug programs and other popular initiatives was forced back to committee after a leadership amendment to address the budget-busting complaints was defeated 252-172.

The timing of the defeat was bad for Wright, D-Texas, who is trying to show he can still command the House while besieged by an ethics committee probe into his personal finances. Only a day earlier, Wright had confidently predicted passage of the legislation.

However, lawmakers of both parties doubted Wednesday's vote was a direct reflection on Wright's powers.

"I don't think it reflects on leadership problems," said Majority Leader Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash. "This is not a vote of confidence issue."

Foley had proposed in the amendment to trim other programs - including $1 billion from the military - to help offset the cost of the new bill.

But White House budget director Richard Darman sent lawmakers a statement in which he said he would urge Bush to veto the "fiscally irresponsible" measure.

And in a letter to House Minority Leader Bob Michel, R-Ill., Defense Secretary Dick Cheney said the military cuts would force the Pentagon to stop paying re-enlistment bonuses, reduce training hours, eliminate five to 10 construction projects, lay off scientists and engineers and curtail weapons testing.

EPA may have changed report

WASHINGTON (AP) - An Environmental Protection Agency draft report concluded EPA failed to protect American water supplies from chemical contamination, but higher-ranking officials changed the conclusions to make them more favorable, a comparison of agency documents shows.

An accurate picture of the protection program is crucial to 120 million Americans whose drinking supply comes from groundwater. They depend on EPA and the states to enforce laws to prevent hazardous waste dumps from poisoning their water.

EPA issued its final report last October on groundwater monitoring at 58 of the nation's 1,447 hazardous waste disposal facilities. Some of the hardest-hitting staff criticism of the enforcement program was deleted from the September 1987 draft of an agency task force on groundwater monitoring. Other conclusions were softened.

Among the deletions was a task force conclusion that enforcement of groundwater monitoring was so poor that EPA and state officials "potentially compromise the level of protection provided to the public and the environment."

Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., whose House Energy and Commerce subcommittee was reviewing the reports at a hearing today, said the monitoring program "falls far short of providing sufficient protection against critical threats to our nation's groundwater."

Egg babies teach parenting skills Students responsible for fragile charges

Hereford Junior High students in Life Management Skills classes recently participated in an "egg baby" project.

The project was designed to introduce students to parenting responsibilities.

The students were to boil, decorate, name and be in constant charge of their egg baby for two days, then write a paper on "Feelings About Being A Parent."

A "cutest kid" contest was held, with three winners chosen from each of the six classes. The winners each received bonus points added to their project grades.

Teachers said the project was a "total success." The students decorated and provided very ingenious infant cribs and carriers, and seemed to understand the fragility of the egg babies and the delicacy of a newborn infant.

They also expressed, through their papers, that they had learned that parenting is a full-time job which carries a lot of added responsibilities.

Winners in each class included:
First period: Cindy Streun, Tonya Selmon and Patricia Casarez;
Second period: Erica Lovington, Cynthia Ruiz and Cameron Bell;

Third period: Freddy Garza (grand prize winner), Karen Almand and Becky Bridges;

Fourth period: Aimee Duffy, Elizabeth Garcia and Robert Avila;
Fifth period: Danny Eberly, Connie Castaneda and Michael Melendrez;

Seventh period: Prity Gajiwala, Sonya Manning and Brooke Weatherly.

North case to include 363 exhibits

WASHINGTON (AP) - Jurors in Oliver North's trial are plowing through 363 exhibits totaling some 1,300 pages as they consider the fate of the former White House aide in the Iran-Contra affair.

The office of U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell on Wednesday reported that all of the jurors were bearing up well, following earlier health problems with several members.

Since Monday, when juror Jean Johnson complained of high blood pressure problems, courthouse nurses have made regular visits to the jury. They also gave non-prescription medicines to two jurors who complained of chest colds.

The jurors have put in 27 hours of deliberations since last Thursday. The trial, almost 3 months old, produced 187 government and 176 defense exhibits that are in the courtroom with the jurors as they debate the charges.

The jury has to decide on each of 12 felony counts against North, including lying to Congress to cover up the Iran-Contra affair, illegally converting traveler's checks from a Contra leader to his personal use, and conspiring to defraud the Treasury.

On seven of those counts, if North is found innocent, the jury also must decide whether or not he is guilty of aiding and abetting in the activity, another felony.

Nine of the charges carry maximum penalties of five years in prison and fines of $250,000 each. The other charges have maximum penalties each of 10 years, 3 years and 2 years, along with $250,000 fines - a total of 60 years and fines of $3 million as a maximum if he is convicted on all counts.

Meanwhile, the Justice Department is seeking a federal appeals court order that Gesell conduct a further hearing on a motion by The Associated Press and nine other news organizations to inspect a sealed trial exhibit.

The exhibit is a stipulation summarizing top secret intercepts by the National Security Agency concerning a November 1985 CIA-assisted shipment of Hawk missiles to Iran. North's lawyers used the stipulation in an attempt to show the jury that top Reagan administration officials knew at the time of the plane's cargo.

North's defense of one of the charges against him is that his superiors knew Hawks were aboard the flight, but tried to cover up by saying that no one at the CIA knew until January 1986 that the missiles had been shipped.

Ball mourned by millions

LOS ANGELES (AP) - An outpouring of sympathy from presidents to childhood neighbors followed the death of Lucille Ball, but many said the queen mother of comedy will live on through television reruns and her influence on comedy.

The daffy, redheaded comedian whose harebrained schemes drove her television family crazy and delighted viewers for four decades died Wednesday of a ruptured abdominal artery at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center. She was 77 and died eight days after emergency heart surgery.

A private burial was planned, reportedly with no funeral services in accordance with Miss Ball's wishes.

"God has her now, and, thanks to television, we'll have her forever," said comedian and longtime friend Bob Hope.

Hospital switchboards were swamped with condolence calls and thousands of cards after Miss Ball's death, spokesman Ron Wise said.

Miss Ball maintained her sense of humor even when she was critically ill. Following her operation last week, her first words to her daughter, Lucie, were: "Wouldn't you know - this is the day I was going to get my hair done."

Miss Ball had been improving steadily from the heart surgery, so her death came as a shock.

"She had been walking, her spirits were up. Her family was with her," Wise said. "She responded as well as anyone could respond to that kind of surgery."

He said she woke up early Wednesday complaining about a sudden pain in her back, and in a matter of seconds went into a full cardiac arrest that was caused by a ruptured aorta.

Miss Ball and her late former husband, Desi Arnaz, starred in "I Love Lucy" from 1951 to 1957. In the ground-breaking show, still seen in syndication worldwide, the late Vivian Vance and William Frawley played their neighbors, Fred and Ethel Mertz.

"Probably a lot of what she did rubbed off on what I do," said actress-comedian Jane Curtin, star of the sitcom "Kate and Allie." "But it couldn't be helped, because I memorized her shows."

The show, one of the most popular in television history, was distinguished by Miss Ball's faultless timing, rubber-faced expressions, wide-mouthed wails and extravagant pratfalls.

"Working with Lucy was like receiving an M.A. or a Ph.D. in comedy," recalled Joan Rivers.

Bob Rosati, who lives down the street from the Beverly Hills home Miss Ball shared with husband Gary Morton, said he was watching a rerun of "I Love Lucy" on Wednesday morning when the screen went black and the words "In Memory of Lucille Ball, 1911-1989" appeared.

"I felt I had lost someone in my family. I couldn't believe it," said Rosati, 40.

On Hollywood Boulevard's Walk of Fame, flower arrangements were placed on Miss Ball's two stars - one for her film work, one for television.

Admirers included President Bush, in Southern California at the time of Miss Ball's passing, and former President Reagan.

"Lucille Ball possessed the gift of laughter," Bush said. "But she also embodied an even greater treasure - the gift of love. She appealed to the gentler impulses of the human spirit. She was not merely an actress or comedienne. She was Lucy and she was loved."

EDITOR'S NOTE - Hospital spokesman Wise said that the family has asked that donations be sent to the Lucille Ball Foundation, in care of Irella-Manella, 1800 Ave. of the Stars, Suite 900, Los Angeles, Ca. 90067.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, April 27, the 117th day of 1989. There are 248 days left in the year. The Jewish holiday Passover concludes at sunset.

Today's highlight in history:

On April 27, 1937, the nation's first Social Security checks were distributed.

On this date:

In 1509, Pope Julius II excommunicated the Italian state of Venice.

In 1521, Portuguese explorer Ferdinand Magellan was killed by natives in the Philippines.

In 1791, the inventor of the telegraph, Samuel Morse, was born in Charlestown, Mass.

In 1805, a force led by U.S. Marines captured the city of Demna, on the shores of Tripoli.

In 1822, the 18th president of the United States, Ulysses S. Grant, was born in Point Pleasant, Ohio.

In 1865, the steamer "Sultana" exploded on the Mississippi River near Memphis, Tenn., killing more than 1,400 Union prisoners of war.

In 1965, broadcast journalist Edward R. Murrow died in Pawling, New York, at the age of 57.

In 1978, 51 construction workers plunged to their death from a scaffold inside a partially completed cooling tower at the Pleasants Power Station site in West Virginia fell 168 feet to the ground.

In 1978, convicted Watergate defendant John D. Ehrlichman was released from an Arizona prison after serving 18 months.

In 1982, the trial of John W. Hinckley Jr., who shot four people, including President Ronald Reagan, began in Washington. The trial ended with Hinckley's acquittal by reason of insanity.

One year ago: The U.S. Senate approved a sweeping trade bill, 63-36, falling short of the two-thirds vote needed to override a veto threatened by President Ronald Reagan.

Today's birthdays: "Woody Woodpecker" creator Walter Lantz is 89. Actor Jack Klugman is 67. Civil rights activist Coretta Scott King is 62. Actress Anouk Aimee is 57. Actress Sandy Dennis is 52. Actress Judy Carne is 50. Opera singer Judith Blegen is 48. Pop singer Sheena Easton is 30.

Woman injured in accident

Margaret Mitchell Ewalt, 31, of Summerfield was injured in a one-car accident around noon Wednesday. That accident occurred five miles west of Hereford on U.S. Highway 60.

The 1981 Datsun Ewalt was driving westbound on 60 when it struck the center median, according to the Department of Public Safety.

Ewalt apparently over-corrected and the car went into the ditch south of the road where the vehicle overturned one time.

As of 10 a.m. today Ewalt was listed in stable condition at Deaf Smith General Hospital. Her car was totaled in the accident.

Police investigate stabbing

A man was treated and released from Deaf Smith General Hospital early Thursday morning after receiving a stab wound to the throat in a civil dispute on 13th Street. The case remains under investigation.

Other incidents investigated by the Hereford Police Department were: The theft of a bicycle in the 600 block of Stanton; burglary of a motor vehicle in the 900 block of Columbia; an assault in connection with a domestic dispute in the 300 block of Lawton; a domestic dispute in the 500 block of George;

Reckless driving in the 100 block of Aspen; disorderly conduct and assault by threat in the 400 block of Third; theft of service in the 1100 block of Park Avenue; a citizen filed charges on a man for running a stop sign;

Criminal trespass and reckless conduct with a gun in the 200 block of Whiteface; assault by threat in the 400 block of Avenue I; and violation of a protective order in the 700 block of Avenue H. Police also recovered some stolen bicycles.

A 19-year-old male was arrested on a warrant for public intoxication; a 34-year-old male was arrested for no liability insurance (second offense), no seat belt and failure to change address on driver's license; and a juvenile was arrested for burglary of a business.

City police issued nine citations and investigated one minor accident.

The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department responded to one fire call involving a telephone pole which had caught fire. Firemen were also called to assist in a major traffic accident west of town.

Deputies find stolen goods

The Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department investigated a report of a stolen refrigerator from a site east of town. The item was later recovered. An aggravated assault with a deadly weapon was reported in the San Jose Labor Camp area. No charges were filed.

Arrests made by county officers included a 22-year-old female arrested on a warrant for theft by check, and a 42-year-old male arrested on a warrant for violation of probation.

Cooler weather forecast

Tonight will be mostly clear and cooler with a low of 45. Northwest winds will be 5-15 mph.

Friday will be sunny in the morning, becoming partly sunny in the afternoon. It will be cooler, with a high of 75. Northwest winds early will be 5-15 mph, becoming southeast 10-20 mph by afternoon.

This morning's low at KPAN was 51 after a high Wednesday of 89.

Now You're Cooking

By GAYE B. REILY
Staff Writer

Like many Hereford residents, Camille Williamson is glad that nice weather has returned. "I'm a warm weather person even though I grew up in Spearman," she said. "I love being outside."

Indeed, outdoor activities interest the Williamson family as they enjoy snow skiing, traveling to historical places, playing tennis, and other family-oriented activities. They left the mild temperatures of the Hill Country when they moved to Hereford five years ago from Fredericksburg.

The petite brown-eyed brunette has apparently adjusted to Hereford's extreme weather conditions as she has settled in and become involved in local activities. A past president of Hereford Panhellenic Association, she is a member of Toujours Amis Study Club. She belongs to such professional organizations as Classroom Teachers Association and Texas State Teachers Association and the family belongs to First United Methodist Church.

The parents of two children, Kristen, age nine, and Matthew, age six, the Williamsons are actively involved in the teaching profession. After graduating from Spearman High School, she received her bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Texas Tech University and a master's degree from Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. She teaches third grade at Northwest School after teaching two years in a local private kindergarten.

Her husband, Marc, a native of San Marcos, is assistant superintendent of schools in Hereford, having earned a master's degree from SWTSU. He is currently working on a doctorate degree in public school administration from Texas Tech University.

The energetic woman has not always been in the classroom, however. "I taught junior high math in New Braunfels and third grade in Fredericksburg, then took off a few years when the kids were born. When I went back to teaching, I realized how much I had missed it." In her first year of teaching at Northwest School, Williamson has faced some special challenges since her class is composed of 17 boys and one girl.

In her home life, Williamson admits that cooking is not her strong point but she enjoys creating sweets, which her family adores. "Desserts are our favorite dishes--we are really choc-a-holics. I enjoy Italian food, but the rest of the family is not that crazy about it."

She says she is not a gourmet cook but uses simple, basic recipes instead. In her spare time, she collects spoons and helps her daughter with a doll collection.

COOKIES 'N CREAM ICE CREAM PIE

Pie shells:
1 pkg. Pillsbury Plus Chocolate Cake Mix
3/4 c. water
1/4 c. oil
3/4 c. Pillsbury Ready to Spread Chocolate Fudge Frosting Supreme

Filling:
6 c. (1 1/2 qts.) chocolate chip or favorite ice cream (as Cookies 'N Cream ice cream), softened

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease two 9" pie pans generously or round cake pans.

Blend all shell ingredients together; beat two minutes at highest speed. Spread half of this batter in bottom of each pan; do not spread up sides of pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes but do not overbake. Cakes will collapse to form shells; cool completely.

Blend ice cream until smooth and spread in center of each shell, leaving 1/2" rim. Heat remaining frosting until soft and drop by spoonfuls on ice cream; swirl with knife.

Freeze for two hours, store in freezer. Wrap frozen pies. To decorate, top with slivers of chocolate candy bar. (Makes 2 pies and serves 12)

LEMON CRUMB BARS

14 oz. sweetened condensed milk
1/2 c. lemon juice
grated rind of 1 lemon (optional)
3/4 c. butter
1 c. brown sugar
1 c. oatmeal
1 1/2 c. flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/2 t. salt

Mix condensed milk, lemon juice and rind; set aside.

For crust, cream butter and sugar. Add remaining ingredients, mixing until crumbly with hands. Put half of crust mixture in 9x13" pan.

Spread lemon filling evenly over crust and put remaining crust mixture on top. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees. Cool in refrigerator, then cut into bars.

NACOGDOCHES CAKE

Bring to boil:
1/4 lb. oleo
1/2 c. shortening
4 Tbsp. cocoa
1 c. water

Pour hot mixture over:
2 c. flour
2 c. sugar

Add:
1/2 c. buttermilk (or a substitution of 6 Tbsp. milk and 2 tsp. vinegar)

1 tsp. soda
2 eggs
1 tsp. vanilla

Bake in a greased and floured jelly roll pan for 20 minutes at 400 degrees. Remove from oven and spread icing (recipe follows) on hot cake:

ICING

Bring to a boil:
1/4 lb. oleo
4 Tbsp. cocoa
6 Tbsp. milk
Remove from heat and add:
1/2 tsp. vanilla
1 c. nuts
1 lb. box powdered sugar
Spread hot icing on hot cake. Serve.

CINNAMON ROLLS

1 pkg. dry yeast
3 1/2 c. flour
1 1/4 c. milk
1/4 c. shortening
1 tsp. salt
1 egg
1/2 c. sugar
In a bowl, combine yeast and 2 1/2 c. flour. Heat milk, sugar, shortening and salt until warm. Stir until shortening melts.

Add to dry ingredients. Add egg, beat at low speed of mixer for 1/2 minute, scraping sides. Beat three minutes at high speed. Stir in enough remaining flour to make stiff dough.

Place in greased bowl and turn once. Cover and let rise 1 1/2 to 2 hours. Turn on floured surface. Divide into thirds; roll into rectangles.

Combine and pour one-third of following mixture onto each rectangle:
3/4 c. sugar
6 Tbsp. butter
3 tsp. cinnamon
Roll up and seal ends. Cut into 1" slices, laying cut side down. Cover and let rise 30 to 40 minutes.
Bake at 375 degrees for 20-25 minutes. Drizzle with an icing composed of powdered sugar and milk.

Russell, Rangers earn win

CLEVELAND (AP) - Jeff Russell blew a save and won the game. Geno Petralli golfed at a bad pitch and blooped it to left for the winning run.

April has been that kind of charmed month for the Texas Rangers, and that kind of disaster for the Cleveland Indians.

"It's harder to take when you've lost so many in a row," said loser Doug Jones, 1-1, the victim of Petralli's RBI double in the 10th inning of the Rangers' 3-2 victory Wednesday. "But it's early. We might as well get these out of the way now."

Cleveland has lost four straight and 10 of its last 12 games. Texas is 15-4, beating the team record for April victories by two, with three games left in the month.

Steve Buechele hit a one-out double to left center before Petralli dropped his game-winning, opposite-field double over the head of third baseman Pat Keedy.

"I hit it off the end of the bat. Basically, he got me to do what he wanted me to, but it fell in for a hit," Petralli said.

The Rangers had done all they could to give Cleveland the game. Center fielder Cecil Espy lost routine fly balls in the sun twice in the late innings, giving Joel Skinner a leadoff double in the seventh and Pete O'Brien a leadoff double in the eighth.

Skinner was left stranded at third, but O'Brien went to third on a forceout and scored on Russell's wild pitch. Russell then allowed a run-scoring, bloop single by Mike Young that tied it 2-2.

"The sun was worse than anywhere I've played," Espy said. "I knew anything hit towards left would be trouble."

Skinner's double fell between Espy and left fielder Pete Incaviglia. O'Brien's grazed Espy's glove but was ruled a hit.

"It should have been an error," Espy said.

Russell, 2-0, the Rangers' fourth pitcher, had been successful in each of his previous four save opportunities. He settled down to allow one hit over the next two innings, striking out two.

The Detroit Tigers hit some balls on the nose, but it wasn't enough to keep Jack Morris from taking it on the chin again.

Three California pitchers allowed nine hits and five walks Wednesday night, but the Tigers stranded 13 runners and lost 1-0 to the Angels, who got only four hits off Morris, including a homer by Brian Downing.

The Tigers now have scored seven runs in Morris' five starts, and his 0-5 record marks the first time in his career the 1980s' winningest pitcher has lost five straight decisions. Detroit has been shut out three times with Morris on the mound.

"He can't do anything about the runs," Detroit manager Sparky Anderson said. "When you lose 2-1 and 1-0, there's nothing else you can do. We just haven't been scoring many runs at all."

Downing, who led off the second inning with his third homer of the season, said he could tell early in the game that the Angels wouldn't score many runs off Morris.

"It was pretty obvious it would be a long night against Morris. He had an outstanding forkball," Downing said.

Elsewhere in the American League, it was Texas 3, Cleveland 2 in 10 innings; Milwaukee 12, Minnesota 0; Boston 5, Chicago 4 in 10 innings; Kansas City 5, New York 3; Baltimore 2, Oakland 1, and Seattle 7, Toronto 6.

Chuck Finley, 3-2, allowed five hits and four walks in six innings for California.

First place winners

Davis shines as Astros drop Phillies

HOUSTON (AP) - Glenn Davis is paid to win baseball games with his power hitting, and he's been earning his pay.

But Davis' defensive ability paid off for the Houston Astros Wednesday night as he backhanded what would have been a game-tying double in the ninth inning to clinch a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Davis slugged a two-run homer in the seventh inning, his fourth straight game to connect on a homer. It moved him to within one game of the team record set in 1975 by Cliff Johnson.

The Astros have won three of the last four games in which Davis has homered.

"In 1985 I got seven (homers) in 10 games," Davis said. "People look to me as the power threat on this team."

Phillies reliever and loser Jeff Parrett, 1-1, gave up the Davis home run while squandering a lead in his second-straight outing.

"You surrender the lead and end up losing the ball game," Parrett said. "Right now, Davis is definitely the best power hitter I've faced. I gave him a breaking ball down about knee high and he extended the barrel of the bat and really hit it hard. I made a good pitch, it's very frustrating."

Houston third baseman Ken Caminiti also felt that Davis hit a good pitch.

"That slider he hit was nasty," Caminiti said. "That was a nice piece of hitting. He's the boost that this club needs."

Houston also profited from seven walks, as Gerald Young and Bill Doran both walked and scored in the first inning. Caminiti tied the game with a two-out single in the sixth and Terry Puhl added an insurance run that was needed in eighth inning, after doubling and eventually scoring on a sacrifice fly by Young.

"T.P. (Puhl) came off the bench and forced a double by running hard," Houston manager Art Howe said. "Young's first RBI of the season really made the difference."

For Philadelphia, Juan Samuel opened the game with his first homer of the season and number 20 for the Phillies, who lead the national league in home runs and hitting.

Jose DeLeon was shaky in the first inning and tired in the ninth. In between, he was almost untouchable.

DeLeon, going for his third straight complete game, went 8 1-3 innings, yielding five hits as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the San Francisco Giants 3-1 Wednesday night. The first hit, on the second pitch of the game, was Brett Butler's home run.

After that, DeLeon, 4-1, was dominant until the ninth. After he walked Kevin Mitchell, DeLeon was lifted for Ken Dayley, who got his first save when Chris Speier hit into a double play.

"He pitched another outstanding game, (but in the ninth) he was out of gas," Manager Whitey Herzog said. "I told him he was losing his juice and he agreed."

"I would have stayed in as long as Whitey wanted, but I was tired," DeLeon admitted.

Elsewhere, it was Houston 6, Philadelphia 5; New York 6, Atlanta 1; Cincinnati 6, Montreal 5; San Diego 3, Pittsburgh 1, and Los Angeles 3, Chicago 1.

The Cardinals snapped a 1-1 tie with two runs in the sixth inning. Vince Coleman led off with a drag-bunt single and Terry Pendleton doubled him home. Tom Brunansky then ended an 0-24 slump with a sharply hit, RBI single to left.

Johnson might trade QB Pelleur

IRVING (AP) - Dallas Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson is considering trading quarterback Steve Pelleur, who doesn't have a contract, after the player refused to show for the team's mini-camp.

"I want positive people who are willing to put it on the line 100 percent for the Cowboys," said Johnson. "If not, we'll have someone else in the position."

Former UCLA quarterback Troy Aikman, who recently signed a six-year contract for $11.037 million, was in camp. He took a ribbing from some of the veteran players about his salary.

"I didn't mind the jokes," said Aikman. "It's a fun thing to be kidded about."

But Pelleur said he didn't miss camp because of Aikman's salary.

"I don't want to be treated as a back-up the rest of my career," said Pelleur. "Maybe I'll have to ask to be traded."

He played out his five-year contract last season. Pelleur was making $600,000.

The Cowboys coach said he had talked to Pelleur and would do so again. "The people in my plans are the ones who work in training camp. There are not starters right now. This has to be earned," said Johnson.

"I think Steve will be a productive player with the Cowboys if we get things worked out. We'll take into consideration his feelings and try to resolve things. What's going to happen would be difficult to predict."

Also missing the start of three days' workouts was offensive guard Crawford Ker. He doesn't have a contract either.

"We'll talk to Ker's agent and see what we can get worked out," said Johnson.

Meanwhile, in the Cowboys' front office, new team owner Jerry Jones continued his shakeout. Treasurer Don Wilson, who had been with the team since 1971, was fired in a one-paragraph letter.

"I was kind of surprised," Wilson said. "That's the way it goes around here."

Joe Bailey, former club president Tex Schramm's right hand man for 17 years, announced he was leaving the team to join Schramm with the International Football League.

Bailey had negotiated the club's contracts, a task now taken over by Jones.

"The opportunity with the new league was difficult to pass up," said Bailey. "It has an exciting future to it."

School record holders

Shantel Cornelius, left, and Benny Gozales, right, are among the new school record holders who will be competing in the Region 1-4A track meet this weekend in Brownwood. Cornelius set a new record, going 5-4 in the high jump. Gozales set a record in the shot put with a toss of 56-2. The two records were set in the District 1-4A meet.

Shockers win Lubbock tourney

The Beef 'n' More Shockers of Hereford won the Sixth Annual Brunken Softball Classic in Lubbock last weekend.

By winning the 36-team tournament, the Shockers qualified for the state tournament to be held in August in Austin.

The team went undefeated until the championship game, when LBJ of Lubbock defeated them 6-3. In the second game, the Shockers came back to win the title, 22-16.

The Shockers other games included a 6-2 win over Lubbock Athletics; an 8-5 victory over Brownfield Crusaders; a 7-5 win against Clovis Driftwood; a 12-9 win over Lubbock Rustic; and a 14-2 trouncing of Plainview Padres.

Earning individual awards were Brian Taylor, MVP; Jackie Mercer, all-tourney and the big-stick award; and J.D. High, all-tournament.

The team will play May 5-7 in the Cinco de Mayo tournament in Amarillo and the Mothers Day Festival May 13-14 in Austin.

Track teams ready for meet

Sixteen Hereford athletes will be competing in 10 events Friday and Saturday at the Region 1-4A track meet at Cap Shelton Track at Gordon Wood Stadium at Brownwood.

Competing for the Hereford girls will be Yvonne Padilla in the 3,200 meters; Cande Robbins in the discus; Shantel Cornelius in the high jump; and the mile relay team of Lisa Zepeda, Rachel Alaniz, Jill West and Teresa Castillo.

At regional for the Hereford boys are Benny Gonzales, shot; Kevin Paetzold, discus; Tate Smith, high jump; Brad Mason, pole vault; Pat Mercer, 300 intermediate hurdles; and the mile relay team of Brooke Perkins, George Madrigal, Chuck Lemons and Kelvin Brown.

Here's the schedule for Hereford participants this weekend and their qualifying times or distances:

Running Preliminaries
Friday
300 hurdles: 5:15 p.m. (Pat Mercer, 38.7).
1,600 relay: 5:45 p.m. (Girls, 4:10.1; boys, 3:21.7).

Boys' shot put, 11 a.m. (Benny Gonzales, 56-2).

300 hurdles: 3:25 p.m.
1,600 relay: 4:05 p.m.

The Hereford Lady Whitefaces tuned up for the Region 1-4A track meet this weekend in Brownwood at a meet last Friday evening in Clovis.

"We took all of the girls to Clovis and competed in every event, but we were mainly concerned about those who have qualified for the regional meet," said Hereford coach Martha Emerson.

"This was a tough meet: 14 teams and a state qualifying meet for New Mexico."

Hereford regional qualifiers performed well, topped by the mile relay turning in a season's best in 4:09.5. Yvonne Padilla was third in the 3,200-meter run in 12:46.6, her best time of the year.

Shantel Cornelius was third in the high jump with a jump of 5-3, and Cande Robbins was third in the discus with a toss of 109-1.

MALONE'S CHANCE - HOUSTON (AP) - Karl Malone, the power forward of the Utah Jazz, will have a chance next year to duplicate a feat done once in NBA All-Star competition.

He could become the second man in the history of the pro basketball classic to win MVP honors two years in a row. Malone was named most valuable in the 1989 game here.

Bob Pettit is the only man ever to have won the award two years in a row. Bob, a star of the St. Louis team, won MVP honors in 1958 and the following year shared the trophy with Elgin Baylor.

To our loyal customers,

After 30 years in business, we want to extend our thanks and appreciation to the farmers who gave us the opportunity to serve them and helped us to be successful in business. Because of you, we have been able to enjoy the fruits of this community and area.

We don't go along with the doomsayers who tell us things are bad and won't get any better. We think this is the greatest place in the world, and that folks in the Hereford area have the best opportunity of anyone to grow and prosper, if they are willing to work.

We feel good about the people who have purchased our company. They have a good track record and they are "our kind" of people. We invite you to come by and get acquainted with the organization.

Here's how we looked at the Grand Opening of our Hereford plant in 1965.

Designers opt for softly stated style

By MARILYN AUGUST
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP)--After a few seasons of flamboyance, French high fashion designers are back to basics with softly stated summer and spring clothes.

The mood was breezy and feminine in the lines of 20 designers who unveiled thousands of original outfits in winter previews for audiences that included movie stars and VIPs.

The dresses, each costing $10,000 or more, are custom-made for a mere 3,000 women, yet they set trends for much of the fashion industry worldwide.

There were airy chiffons and silk in a myriad of pastels and gentle prints, bias cuts, body-hugging sheaths and bustiers, oversized pants and pleats. Evening wear looked regal with generous use of embroidery, lace, jewels, and gold and silver applique.

Italian couture King Valentino made his Paris debut, ruffling feathers in Rome and dazzling the French couture crowd with a stunning look that was sweet and sexy, even in prim navy and white.

Indian themes were dominant. Valentino decorated his evening jackets with gold and silver elephants, and Per Spook and Christian Lacroix served up palettes of subtle beiges and creams. Marc Bohan's new designs included a sari effect done with feathery light silk draped around the bodice and over the shoulder.

Yves Saint-Laurent's collection featured slits cut high above the thigh, deep-cut necklines, and his signature feminized tailoring.

Except for Saint-Laurent, it was adieu to oversized shoulders, miniskirts and pouffy ball gowns. The lines were fluid and graceful, with wispy chiffons and soft crepes for both daytime and after dark.

Hems, for the most part, skimmed the knee, though many designers showed the leg with asymmetrical wraparounds and skirts, long and short, slit from hem to waist.

Chanel, however, opted for calf-length pleated skirts for daytime wear, especially good in navy and cream. Worn under long tunic jackets and with two-tone flats, they had a schoolgirl charm reminiscent of the 1930s.

The latest evolution of the classic Chanel jacket showed a longer cut, fastening with a single button just above the waist; the newest Chanel buttons were pearl. A major switch was a smooth leather purse, superseding the chain-handled quilted bag as a Chanel status symbol.

For mens designers, it was the year of the dress. Givenchy took the simple shirtwaist classic and dressed it up or down, depending on the time of day. Pleated or belted, cinched or cravated, dresses were aimed to appeal to those with conservative tastes who still like a touch of glamor.

Pant lovers, thin and not-so-thin, will be comfortable in Spook's pajama pants worn under layers of vests for day or under colorful embroidered tunics for after dark.

Saint-Laurent showed an array of menswear styled trousers for day and evening wear. Cut to just above the ankle, they created a long, slimming line flowing down through high heeled pumps. They were shown with suit jackets that dipped dramatically or with ultra-sheer chiffon blouses.

Guy Laroche was this year's winner of the Golden Thimble award for the most beautiful collection with his classy designs in brilliant colors: sunbursts of yellow, juicy reds and bright oranges melting into the palest of springy pastels.

One of his designs was an elegantly simple black sheath that was high-necked in the front but backless to the waist and circled by white-edged ruffling.

Lacroix abandoned the extravagance of his previous collections and came up with feminine pastels, draping chiffon in flowing pantskirts and embroidered and jeweled raw silk. He used lace and gathered organza for a creamy, cloudlike effect.

Lacroix's palette was strong with sandy beiges evoking the desert, mixing melon and pistachio pastels, poppy reds and persian blue, black, and white and navy.

In most of the collections, curves and busts were emphasized with drapery, belts and buttons. The exception was Lacroix, who covered them with trapeze and triangular shapes.

Torrente maintained parisian chic with daytime dresses of polka dot pastels with kick pleats topped with bows, striking tiered dresses, and wide-brimmed hats. For after dark, there were draped chiffons and crepes, held at the shoulder or waist with jewels or bows.

Hanae Mori also toasted femininity with her floor-length yellow draped sheath, set off by a line of ruffles running from shoulder to toe.

Nina Ricci produced a large collection of simple but beautiful clothes in rich fabrics for all times of day. There were wide soft pants, pleated and swirling skirts and cinched waists, creating a nostalgic prettiness.

For after hours, Ricci served up an understated but elegant long sleeveless evening gown in peach crepe satin with pleated bodice and back.

centered the table.

Hostesses included Frances Zetsche, Mary Ruth Baird, Janice Brownlow, Thelma Cherry, Joyce Duggan, Paula Eubanks, Mary Joe Hamman, Shannon Hagar, Camelia Jones, Juna Layman, Frankie O'Rand, June Owens, Gail Richardson, Mary Lou Shore, Murlene Streun, Glenice Thompson, and Carolyn Waters.

Corelle dishes, an ironing board, a Fry Daddy, a blanket, and salad maker were given to the honoree by the hostesses.

A June 3 wedding date has been scheduled by the couple.

Local entertainers

Presidential inauguration scheduled Friday at WBU

PLAINVIEW (special)--Dr. M. Vernon Davis of Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Kansas City, Mo., will bring the keynote address at the inauguration Friday of Dr. Lanny Hall as 10th president of Wayland Baptist University.

The inaugural convocation is scheduled for 11 a.m. in Harral Memorial Auditorium and is open to the public.

Davis, who is vice president for academic affairs and dean of the faculty at Midwestern Seminary, is among five of Hall's former pastors who will participate in inauguration activities.

Others participating in the convocation are the Rev. Dwaine Greene, pastor of Birdville Baptist Church in Fort Worth; and the Rev. Don Williford, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Brownwood.

Taking part in a special prayer service Friday morning in Brown Chapel are the Rev. Orvel Brantley.

The investiture of the president will be conducted by J.B. Roberts of Plainview, chairman of Wayland's Board of Trustees. Hall's current pastor, Dr. Travis Hart of Plainview's First Baptist Church, will offer a special prayer following Hall's response.

The convocation is the highlight of two days of inaugural activities. On Thursday's agenda is the quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees, followed by an inaugural concert at 7:30 p.m. in Harral Auditorium.

The concert will feature the Symphony Band, International Choir and University Chorale, and is open to the public free of charge. A delegates luncheon at 12:30 p.m. Friday will conclude the inaugural activities.

Hall was named president in mid-December and assumed his duties on Jan. 16 after three years as executive vice president of Howard Payne University.

He was previously deputy executive secretary of the Texas Teacher Retirement System and also served three terms in the Texas House of Representatives, representing Tarrant County.

All offices on the Wayland campus will be closed for the inaugural convocation Friday from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Cristy Bogle honored by bridal shower

The bride-elect of John Keating, Cristy Bogle, was feted with a bridal shower Saturday in the home of Betty Kriegshauser.

Greeting guests with the honoree were her mother, Sharon Bogle, and her aunt, Shirley Greenwell, both of Grand Prairie, and Kathy Keating, the prospective groom's mother.

Colleen Meyer, the prospective groom's sister, presided at the registry. Refreshments included a champagne brunch of fruits, bacon squares, cinnamon rolls, cream cheese crescents, and champagne punch.

Kari Vinton and Paula Meyer served refreshments from brass and crystal appointments. Centering the table was a centerpiece of mauve and pink lilies, primroses, peonies, and Swedish ivy.

Hostesses included Teresa Albracht, Pat Goforth, Jan Dudley, Judy Detten, Karen Payne, Ann Meyer, Judy Metz, Betty Martin, Vinton, Evelyn Walterscheid, Kriegshauser, and Judy Neumeyer.

The hostesses presented Miss Bogle with an electric wok and cookware.

The couple has set June 3 as their wedding date and will marry in Grand Prairie.

Hereford resident attends convention on Padre Island

Mrs. Jess L. Robinson of Bud To Blossom Garden Club recently attended the Texas Garden Club, Inc., 61st Spring Convention, "Valley Time in Eighty-Nine", held in Radisson Resort on South Padre Island.

Over 60 garden clubs were represented with 313 members in attendance. According to Robinson, District VI, Rio Grande Valley area, "rolled out the red carpet" for all those attending.

Many outstanding programs were presented including the judges council design program, "Adventures at South Padre", featuring designs for exhibition tables and transparent designs. Also, presented were "It's For the Birds" by Linda Gardner and Dr. John Fucik's program, "Valley Crossroads", on horticulture in the Rio Grande Valley.

During the installation of state officers, Robinson was installed as District I director. This district covers 60 counties including the Panhandle, South Plains and Permian Basin garden clubs.

Following the business sessions, state awards were given. Bud To Blossom Garden Club received seven awards for best club program, gold-yearbook, world gardening, national land trust, endowment fund, scholarship fund and gold club rating of 548 points. Several of the club's members were presented with "project love" certificates: Phyllis Brown, Wilma Bryan, Mildred Fuhrmann, Naomi Hare and Robinson.

Rebekahs observe founding

Members of Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 were reminded that April 26 marked 170 years of Odd Fellowship in America when they met in regular session Tuesday evening.

It was noted that Thomas Wildey, a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in London, England, had migrated to Baltimore, Md. After several public notices he, through former members of the lodge in England and a close friend, instituted the Washington Lodge #1 April 26, 1819. Odd Fellowship has grown and prospered through the years with hundreds of thousands of men and women being affiliated with the Order.

During the business session with Noble Grand Marie Harris presiding, 15 visits to the sick and 30 cheer cards were reported.

A report was given of the Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs which met in Friona April 22-23. Several members from Hereford attended the business and social activities.

Leona Sowell was welcomed back after a stay of five months in Houston for surgery and recuperation. A welcome home party in her honor is planned May 2.

Lydia Hopson served as hostess to Harris, Sowell, Susie Curtsinger, Jo Irlbeck, Tony Irlbeck, Erma Loving, Jim Loving, Shirley Brown, Faye Brownlow, Merle Boozer, Irene Merritt, Sadie Shaw, Verna Sowell, Anna Conklin, Ben Conklin, Peggy Lemons, Dorothy Lundry and Gene Bishop.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: For 15 years I've been fighting a porno war with my husband. A battle ends. I think I've won. A few months later I find more filthy magazines. I'm not talking about Playboy or Penthouse. I mean the XXX-rated trash that makes me sick to my stomach. He then started with the 8-mm movies, VCR tapes and swingers' catalogues. But what upset me more than anything was finding a pen and pad stuck in a catalogue and little stars next to some bimbo's name.

When I confronted "Jack," he said it's normal for a man to be interested in these things and that he would never write to any of those women.

Ann, I don't know how to deal with this. I feel so hurt and ugly when I find this trash. I used to snoop to see what he was up to, but I don't anymore because it's too painful. The stuff is everywhere--in the car, the basement, just name it.

I thought our sex life was wonderful for him as well as for me, but apparently I'm mistaken. Am I overreacting? Is this behavior normal for a married man in his late 30s?--Lost in a World of Dirt (Buffalo)

DEAR LOST IN BUFFALO: Jack's obsession with pornography has nothing to do with you. Stop feeling inadequate because he finds this garbage exciting. It merely means that his development was arrested at an adolescent level and he is still getting his jollies out of stuff that he should have outgrown years ago.

Stop snooping and stop throwing out his "toys." Accept this oddity as beyond your control, because it is. Perhaps when you stop reacting, he may find it less exciting.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: After the tragic schoolyard shooting in Stockton, Calif., that resulted in the death of five children and the wounding of 29, I was talking with some friends about what can be done to protect our kids. They felt that schoolchildren should be taught to drop to the floor if they are shot at. I had never considered the importance of such instruction, but now I realize that most children would be inclined to run.

I discussed with my husband. He thinks such instruction would be useless because instinct would take over. He said talking about it would only frighten the children.

It seems to me that since we have routine fire drills in school, as well as earthquake drills in some schools, we should be prepared for mass shootings.

The chances now are not that remote. There have been mass shootings everywhere. I would like my children to know exactly what to do if some psychopath should walk into their classroom and start to spray bullets.

Am I crazy? What do you say, Ann?--I Live in Calif.

DEAR CALIF: I see no harm in telling children what to do in all types of emergencies, and this is certainly one.

What can parents do? They can back legislation that makes guns harder to get. This means standing up to the rich and powerful National Rifle Association, which thinks it's OK to sell assault weapons to private citizens.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A while back you asked for the third biggest lie: Here it is: "Money isn't that important to me." Whenever I hear a person say this, I know money is a lot more important to him or her than he or she would like me to think.

Yeutter okays drought relief renewal

WASHINGTON (AP) - Some of the Agriculture Department's federal aid programs of last year have been kicked into gear to help farmers through the 1989 version of drought and privation.

Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter announced on Wednesday the reactivation of some of the key parts of last year's drought assistance package, including permission to graze livestock and cut hay from land set aside for conservation use under 1989 crop programs. Those include programs for wheat, feed grains, rice and cotton.

The emergency measures will apply to Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa where drought has hurt 1989 crop prospects and in counties where farmers meet eligibility standards.

"Rain is what these states need, but I can't guarantee that," Yeutter said. "However, I trust the assistance we are able to provide will help."

Livestock and poultry producers also will be able to buy surplus grain owned by the department's Commodity Credit Corp. at half price. In a related program, CCC will help pay feed cost for farmers who must purchase more than usual amounts of feed for livestock.

Yeutter said he had directed the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service to respond within 24 hours to requests from the agency's state offices for drought aid.

The emergency measures, he said, will "have the potential" to make substantially more acres available to farmers for haying and grazing this year and thus help stem any forced livestock liquidations.

Yeutter said he had also instructed the Farmers Home Administration to sell hay at reasonable cost and take bids for livestock grazing on farmers taken over by the agency in counties where the emergency grazing of set-aside acres has been approved.

Kelly Shipp, Yeutter's press secretary, said the aid package is essentially the same as USDA made available during the 1988 drought, which spread by summer throughout most of the nation and cut last year's harvests sharply.

Asked if there were significant changes from what was offered last year, Shipp said, "Not really, it's pretty straightforward."

Yeutter also announced that a 1989 USDA drought task force has been established, headed by Undersecretary Richard T. Crowder, who oversees international affairs and commodity programs.

The action followed Yeutter's visit April 14 to the hard-hit winter wheat drought area, with Sens.

Robert Dole and Nancy Kassebaum, Rep. Pat Roberts, all Kansas Republicans, and Gov. Mike Hayden.

In a letter to Hayden, Yeutter said he had no authority to extend to 1989 wheat producers the broader relief provisions in last year's $3.9 billion Disaster Assistance Act, a move that had been sought by the governor.

The 1988 law included disaster payments to farmers who lost at least 35 percent of their normal crop production.

Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan., applauded Yeutter's decision but said it was "unfortunate it took him this long to respond."

"It doesn't go far enough but at least it's a recognition that there are people who need help," said Glickman, "and from here we can proceed to provide more help to them."

Dole said, "These first steps can't take the place of a week's worth of rain or a green wheat field but it's the best news yet under the circumstances."

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, USDA's chief meteorologist, Norton Strommen, told members of Congress that except in the central Great Plains, the weather outlook for crops has improved greatly.

"Conditions are much more encouraging than in 1988," Strommen said.

But he said the damage from a February freeze and lack of spring rain has caused irreversible damage to a large part of the winter wheat crop in the Texas and Oklahoma panhandles, west Kansas and southern Nebraska.

Strommen said he expects a more normal distribution of summer rainfall and a weather pattern favorable to the spring planting that is beginning.

Despite the severe damage to the winter wheat crop, USDA and private analysts think the total U.S. wheat harvest will be up substantially from last year when production dropped to 1.81 billion bushels.

Unofficially, those put 1989 total wheat output at around 2.1 billion bushels or more. But that would not be enough to rebuild depleted U.S. wheat stockpiles, siphoned off by export demand the past year.

On June 1, the beginning of the 1989-90 wheat marketing year, the stockpile is forecast by USDA at a meager 549 million bushels, down from 1.26 billion bushels a year ago and 1.82 billion two years ago.

Wheat field day scheduled

The annual Wheat Field Day will be held on May 24 at the Texas A&M University Center in Amarillo and the USDA Research Laboratory west of Bushland.

A morning session starting at 8:30 will be conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture at the Texas A&M Center, 6500 Amarillo Boulevard West. This program will be designed to qualify people for three continuing education units needed for renewal of pesticide applicator licenses, according to Dr. G.B. Thompson, director of research at the facility.

Dr. B.A. Stewart, research director at Bushland, said tours of wheat research projects at the facility will start at 1 p.m. and will qualify for one additional continuing education unit.

Stop will include irrigated wheat variety nursery, research on integrated insect and disease management, as well as utilizing wheat for hay. The dryland wheat nursery, conservation tillage research, and integrated weed management will also be part of the tour.

The field day will be sponsored by Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; Texas Agricultural Extension Service; USDA, Agricultural Research Service; Texas Department of Agriculture; and Texas Wheat Producers.

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 284,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographics Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Become one of the first in our community to own a copy of this magnificent atlas.

COUNTER GIVES YOU MORE.

MORE ROOTWORM CONTROL
Season after season, COUNTER® systemic insecticide-nematicide controls corn rootworms better than any other corn soil insecticide.

MORE ROOT MASS Tests
conducted by nine major universities in the Corn Belt continue to show that COUNTER prevents root damage better than any other product. In fact, 96% of fields tested where COUNTER was used showed no significant rootworm damage. The next insecticide had no significant damage in only 82% of the fields. Don't risk a performance gap in your rootworm control.

MORE VALUE More root mass, more consistency, more performance, more corn.

With COUNTER insecticide, you get more for your money.

West Central holds olympiad

West Central School in Hereford recently held its third annual Science Olympiad, a special day to promote usage of the mind.

Principal George Ochs explained that all students in the school compete within their own class and across grade levels in events which apply principles students have learned in class.

Some events, Ochs said, were the same for all grade levels, while others were structured to the teaching for a particular grade.

Two events, Growing Crystals and Mousetrap Mobile, were completed at home and brought to school for judging.

The crystals were judged on beauty, creativity and unusual shape, and sixth grade Scott Burkhalter was the overall winner.

The Mousetrap Mobile was a vehicle designed to transport a brick for the longest distance, using only a mousetrap as a source of energy. D.J. Warrick, a fourth grader, was the overall winner.

Other events included: --Spool Race, where students designed a racer made of a thread spool and powered by a rubber band, won by J.O. Walls, a fifth grader;

--Aerodynamics, where students designed and flew a paper airplane and tried to land it in a target area, won by fourth grader Michael Davies;

--Science Problems, an application of skills to solve problems and accomplish certain feats, won by fourth grader Trinidad Murillo;

--Taylor Sublett, a sixth grader, won science spelling and map reading;

--The fifth grade team of Tarabeth Holmes, Lyndsi Ames, Scott Shaw and Todd Dudley won Halitosis Football, where two members of a team tried to blow a ping pong ball off a table between two members of an opposing team, who were trying to prevent the ball from leaving the table;

--The Reflection Relay, where a team tried to direct a beam of light around barriers to a target by using mirrors in the shortest amount of time, won by sixth graders Jason Eades, David Vermillion, Jay Moore and Bryan Charanza;

--Circuit Wizardry, where students must recognize open, closed, parallel and series circuits, won by fifth grader Ted Peabody;

--Grab-a-Gram, where students must select amounts of three or more substances that total 250 grams, won by Cafish Nutt;

--Mystery Box, where students identify items in a box only by the sense of touch, won by fourth grader Jason White;

--Large Number Estimation, where students try to guess items like the number of beans in a jar and other estimations, with fifth graders Jami Bell and Brittney Binder and sixth graders Luz Hernandez and Joe DeLaCruz tying for top honors;

--And a pentathlon, a combination of physical skills and scientific knowledge, where students had to answer questions to get the equipment to perform the athletic skills. Honors went to Mrs. Gage's class, fourth grade; Mrs. Delozier's class, fifth grade; and Miss Scriber's class, sixth grade.

Evelyn Lyles was the director, assisted by Darliss Peabody and Debbie Smith. Many parents served as even directors and judges.

Ready to fly high

A group of fifth graders are participating in the Aerodynamics contest at the Science Olympiad held recently at West Central School in Hereford.

Scooting in the pentathlon

LONGEST MOUNTAINS
SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) - The Andes Mountains, which stretch for 4,500 miles from Cape Horn to Panama, make up the longest mountain chain in the world.

One of the Andean Peaks, Aconcagua, rising 22,831 feet in Argentina, is the highest point in the Americas. Many of the high mountains in the Andes are volcanoes, some of them active.

Minerals found in the Andes include copper, gold, silver, tin, lead, iron, plutonium and quicksilver.

It takes craftsmen between three and four months to produce a single Rolls-Royce sedan, while the newest limousine to be sold in the United States takes six months.
