

Candidate's Wife Visits

Campaigning in the Panhandle Wednesday, Ellen Temple, wife of Democratic candidate for governor Buddy Temple, warned that Texas is facing critical issues in the next decade but the answers to solving these problems is not more taxes.

Mrs. Temple began the day in Canyon, then made a stop in Hereford before continuing her swing through the Panhandle with additional stops in Dimmitt, Tulia, Claude, Silverton, Clarendon, and Memphis.

Temple urged voters in the Democratic primary to look carefully at the tax proposals of the various candidates.

"Buddy feels the state can meet its obligations without additional tax burdens on its citizens and solve pressing problems in education and law enforcement," Mrs. Temple said.

"On the other hand, attorney general Mark White is proposing that the state's oil and gas severance tax be increased."

"I think energy costs are high enough and the simple fact is that Texans consume more than 50 percent of the oil produced here and nearly 75 percent of the natural gas. More taxes on these products would result in higher and higher utility and energy bills for Texans—not out-of-state customers."

She said the "key to making our homes and streets safer is more and better-trained police officers. The prevention of crime is just as important as the apprehension and conviction of the criminal."

Mrs. Temple said her husband will propose greatly increased teacher benefits including salary hikes to keep qualified teachers in the classroom and recruit promising educators.

"If we don't make teaching competitive with other industries and professions more and more teachers will flee the classrooms each year and then we'll have a real disaster," she said.

Repairs to Black House Approved

Deaf Smith County Commissioners agreed to repair work on the E.B. Black house and tabled a request from J.P. O.K. Neal when the court met in a special called session Wednesday morning.

The court authorized painting and general repair work to the E.B. Black historical house. A local contractor was awarded the contract for the work at a cost of $3,685 to the county.

Justice of the Peace Neal had appeared before the court at its last regular session Monday, asking for a part-time clerk to help his office catch up with a backlog caused by an increase in the work load. The court tabled the matter Monday, and did the same thing Wednesday, opting to place the request on the April 26 agenda for action.

Neal told the court Monday that his office had been swamped with paperwork due to recent law changes, and that he needs another employee to work a half-week (20 hours) to help catch up. Neal told the commissioners that he and his two secretaries had put in 70 hours overtime during the past 30 days, all at no cost to the county.

In another matter Wednesday, the court approved the use of the room which has housed the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center for storage of county records.

The Hall of Fame has been moved to its new location at the former Pitman residence, and the headquarters will be officially dedicated Saturday.

County Clerk B.F. Cain said the storage space involved at the library would probably hold "about half" of the records currently stored on the fourth floor of the county courthouse.

Deadline Here For Tax Filing

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The scene will be commonplace tonight: A weary American rushes to the Post Office, drops an envelope into a collection box and breathes a sigh of relief. Once again, Mr. and Ms. Taxpayer will have settled accounts with Uncle Sam.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for almost all couples and individuals to file their federal income-tax returns. If the past is any guide, perhaps 10 million or more of them will wait until the last minute to complete the chore, creating monumental traffic jams around many metropolitan Post Offices.

As a rule, 20 million to 22 million returns are filed on April 15 each year. Although 2 million more returns, a total of 96 million, are expected this year, the number filed through April 9 was 62.8 million, or almost 1 million fewer than at the same time in 1981.

While tonight marks the close of the 1981 taxpaying year for most Americans, it will be May 5 before the average worker earns enough to pay federal, state and local taxes for 1982, according to the Tax Foundation.

The Washington-based research organization, says this year's "Tax Freedom Day" will come one day earlier than in 1981, due to the reduction in individuals' federal income taxes enacted last year.

That marks a reversal of a long-time trend that saw the date gradually become later each year. In 1930, the red-letter date was Feb. 14. It reached March 9 in 1940; April 4 in 1950; April 18 in 1960; April 28 in 1970 and May 4 in 1980.

"Tax Freedom Day" is the date on which the average worker would have earned enough to square things with the tax collector if every dollar earned since Jan. 1 had been earmarked for that purpose.

In any given year, seven of every nine taxpayers get a refund. On returns processed so far this year, refunds are averaging $704, compared with $636 during the same period last year.

Not all the letters mailed tonight to the Internal Revenue Service will be tax returns. Because they can't locate records and other necessary papers, many taxpayers will be unable to meet the filing deadline and will ask for an extension.

A 60-day extension is automatically given a taxpayer who files a Form 4868 requesting it. But that form must be postmarked before midnight, and the extension just gives a taxpayer more time to file the Form 1040 return — it

To Defuse Crisis

Haig Returning to Buenos Aires

By R. GREGORY NOKES
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., under growing pressure to find a compromise in the Falkland Islands crisis, is making another try at defusing what he called an "exceptionally difficult and exceptionally dangerous problem."

Haig left Washington shortly after 8 a.m. EST today on the 16-hour flight to Buenos Aires, his second trip to the Argentine capital since he began his peace-seeking mission April 8. He has twice visited London on his shuttle.

In London, meanwhile, British defense officials told Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher that elements of the 31-ship Argentine fleet may be sailing in the direction of the Falklands.

The officials said in a statement that most of the Argentine navy was still in port, but that "some elements of the Argentine fleet" may now be leaving port "and in that case we would expect them to sail south," toward the Falklands.

The officials said they doubted the Argentine ships would "risk breaching" the war zone Britain has established around the islands, but predicted the ships "may ... sail close to the Argentine mainland and even skirt the maritime exclusion zone in an attempt to score some propaganda advantage and bolster up morale in Argentina."

The Defense Ministry said no major Argentine warship had entered the zone and said officials could not confirm Argentine claims that two of its coast guard gunboats went to the Falklands Tuesday.

Britain, which has a fleet steaming to the South Atlantic, has said all Argentine ships in a 200-mile radius of the islands are subject to attack.

Earlier, Mrs. Thatcher told a special meeting of Parliament that Argentina must withdraw its troops from the islands before negotiations can be held on their future sovereignty. Argentina seized the islands April 2.

President Reagan, responding to reports that the Soviet Union has been providing intelligence information to Argentina on British fleet movements, said the Soviet should "butt out" of the crisis.

Haig asked both Britain and Argentina to make "responsible and defensible adjustments" in their positions before it is too late.

"It is an exceptionally difficult and exceptionally dangerous problem," Haig said. "The positions that both countries hold are deeply felt, and in many cases mutually contradictory."

Haig said he had developed some "new ideas" after his talks in London earlier in the week and had described these to Argentine officials over the telephone on Wednesday.

Campaign Stop

Mrs. Ellen Temple, (right), wife of Texas gubernatorial candidate Buddy Temple, made a brief stop in Hereford on behalf of her husband's campaign Wednesday morning. She took time to visit with Brand staffers Sandy Pankey and Bob Nigh before continuing on her trip across the Panhandle. The visit was Mrs. Temple's first to the Panhandle area. (Brand Photo).

On Misconduct Charges

Harding Re-Indicted by Grand Jury

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Defense attorneys say they are waiting to see if new indictments returned against State Treasurer Warren G. Harding will fend off their attempts to have the official misconduct charges dismissed.

A Travis County grand jury re-indicted Harding on Wednesday after defense attorneys made a courtroom bid to have the original indictments dismissed because of faulty wording.

"After the hearing, the state threw in the towel," said Tom Booker, an associate in the law firm defending Harding. He said the new indictments were an attempt "to cure the insufficiency."

"Whether they have or not we'll just have to wait and see," he said.

Assistant District Attorney David Douglas said the only difference in the new indictments is the addition of the statement about services "belonging to the government of the state of Texas."

"We just added the words the defense complained we left out," said Douglas. Defense lawyers maintained the original indictments did not allege Harding misused services belonging to the state.

Harding was first indicted March 23 on two third-degree felony official misconduct charges that allege he had two state employees work on his re-election campaign during state working hours one day in December and one day in January. Defense lawyer Robert O. Smith said in court Wednesday the office-workers were addressing thank-you notes for contributions to Harding's

Committee Urges Negotiations To Halt El Salvador War

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a break with President Reagan's policies on El Salvador, the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and three other moderate senators are urging "meaningful negotiations" with leftist guerrillas to end the Salvadoran civil war.

The four senators called for negotiations in a letter sent to Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. two weeks ago.

The letter has not been made public but its contents were described to The Associated Press.

Government sources said the State Department was in the process of drafting a response, which was expected to reaffirm the administration's opposition to talks with leftist insurgents who boycotted last month's election.

The letter comes at a time when interest in negotiations appears on the decline in both Washington and San Salvador, the capital of the tiny Central American country where an estimated 33,000 people have died in the 2½-year-old conflict.

Centrist and right-wing Salvadoran politicians say the heavy voter turnout in the March 28 election amounted to a repudiation of the leftists, a claim echoed by the Reagan administration.

Although the centrist Christian Democrats won the largest share of the Salvadoran vote, power in the new constituent assembly will be in the hands of several right-wing parties, which hold a majority of the seats and which have vowed to crush the guerrillas militarily.

However, the four members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., chairman; John Glenn, D-Ohio; Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan.; and Charles Mathias, R-Md. — said the election also presented an opportunity to end the war.

"We ... believe that because the guerrilla forces have at least temporarily been weakened by the massive turnout, it is now an opportune time for the elected parties to deal with the FDR-FMLN from a position of strength," the letter said.

FDR is the Spanish acronym for the Democratic Revolutionary Front, the coalition of leftist opposition parties.

County Totals 15 Accidents In March

Sergeant Billy Don Scott, Area supervisor of Deaf Smith County, reports that for the month of March the Texas Highway Patrol Troopers investigated a total of 15 accidents in this county.

There were no fatal accidents with a total of no persons killed, six injury accidents with a total of 12 persons injured, and nine property damage accidents.

In District 5B, which includes the top 31 counties of the Texas Panhandle, there were 201 accidents investigated by the Texas Highway Patrol. Highway Patrol Captain Bob Russell reports that the Texas Highway Patrol Troopers investigated no fatal accidents with a total of no persons killed, 91 injury accidents with a total of 158 persons injured, and 110 property damage accidents.

Kraft Resigns Post With NASA

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Dr. Christopher Columbus Kraft Jr., a key member of the management team that put America on the moon and developed the space shuttle, announced plans to retire late this year.

Kraft, 58, director of the Johnson Space Center, said Wednesday he would retire following the first operational flight of the space shuttle Columbia, scheduled for November.

Columbia has made three flights and has proven its worth, said Kraft Wednesday, and "I'm proud of our accomplishment there. This is a good time to leave."

"This will be a transition period for activity at the Johnson Space Center and a reasonable time to depart," Kraft was quoted in an official statement.

He said in an interview that he will continue as a member of a board of a hospital management firm here and has received employment offers from several aerospace companies.

Retirement of Kraft from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration marks the end of an era for the nation's space program. His announcement follows by less than two months the retirement of Donald K. Slayton, the last of the original seven Mercury astronauts to leave the space program.

Kraft's was a powerful civilian voice in a space program that is becoming increasingly a military effort. Some observers believe Kraft's departure will contribute to the ascendancy of the Air Force in management

Bracken Edmon is giggling because two broken arms haven't stopped him from riding his bike. The five-year-old was bucked from a horse three weeks ago and had casts extending above his elbows during the first 10 days of his injury. Farmers Dependent On Changes In Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half the farmers in Texas could be out of business next year unless Congress makes changes this year in the farm program, a group of Texas legislators has told Agriculture Secretary John Block.

The delegation, led by the chairman of the Legislature's House Agriculture Committee, met with Block after earlier sessions Wednesday afternoon with Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas; Vice President George Bush; and Charles Shuman, administrator of the Farmers Home Administration.

Rep. Leroy Weiting, D-Portland, said he and nine other Texas legislators came to Washington to give Block and Shuman a picture of how dismal the farm economy is in Texas. Three other members of Weiting's agriculture committee were among the group.

"We're bringing them grass-roots information. They're living in a vacuum, we feel, and we want to express to them the seriousness of the problem as we see it," said Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City.

As many as 65 percent of all Texas farmers are unable to make the payments on loans they took out on last year's crop, Weiting said.

"We've got immediate problems that are so severe that unless changes are made in 1982, we are going to lose as many as 60 percent of our farmers in 1983."

Armstrong Says He Has Endorsements Representing 300,000 Voters

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong says his gubernatorial campaign has been sparked by the "reality" of endorsements from groups representing 300,000 voters while his opponents are relying on "false illusions of momentum."

"You just can't fake reality," Armstrong said Wednesday, repeating what has become a campaign slogan in his underdog bid for the Democratic nomination.

At a Capitol news conference, Armstrong said the "hard votes" represented by the endorsements are more valuable than the "illusions" relied on by major opponents Attorney General Mark White and Railroad Commissioner Buddy Temple.

The "illusions" include personal loans taken by White and Temple to boost their campaign coffers, according to Armstrong. Also, he said White and Temple have relied on polls for a sense of security.

Armstrong read a list of 17 endorsements he has received and said, "They have been coming in like a waterfall in the past 10 days. These are people who have made a decision and will go to the polls."

"The cure for elitist government is a true grass roots campaign. I am pleased that our grass roots campaign is right on schedule," he said.

He said the endorsements represent at least 300,000 registered voters, including 200,000 from the Mexican-American Rural and Urban Coalition.

Another 10,000 are represented by the Sierra Club, which named Armstrong in its first-ever endorsement in a gubernatorial race.

Temple and White both have said Armstrong will run third at the ballot box. White said Monday that Armstrong "is about to slip off the page."

While Temple and White have attacked each other in their campaign ads, Armstrong has gone unmentioned.

Court Refuses To Order Treatment For Dying Infant

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A mentally retarded infant who can't eat because of a birth defect will be allowed to die instead of getting an operation to correct the problem.

After an emergency hearing Wednesday, the Indiana Supreme Court voted 3-1 not to interfere with a decision by the child's unidentified parents to forgo treatment for their 6-day-old son, who suffers from Down's syndrome.

Meanwhile, a couple in Evansville said Wednesday they would like to adopt the dying baby.

"How can they let a little baby starve to death? In my mind I can't comprehend that," said Shirley Wright, whose 3-year-old daughter also has Down's syndrome. She said she heard about the case on the radio and with her husband, Bobby, hired a lawyer to contact the Bloomington couple.

Hall Of Fame Receives Painting

The Old West still lives...in the paintings and drawings of Robert Wesley Amick. One of Amick's paintings, "Tejas Warrior," was recently presented to the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame by the Hereford State Bank.

Amick, a significant painter of the western scene for many years, was born in the vicinity of Canon City, Colo. in 1879 and was educated in the Canon City schools, where he was graduated from high school in 1899. He was subsequently graduated from Yale University Law School and for a time practiced law.

But the call of painting was too strong for him so he left law to study painting and for many years had a studio in Old Greenwich, Conn., where he lived and painted his many paintings of cowboys, Indians, horses, buffaloes and the rest of the western scene.

Amick became well known as an illustrator for many popular magazines such as "Harper's," "Scribner's," "The American,"

"Redbook," "Harper's Bazaar," and "Metropolitan."

Between the years of 1921 and 1929 a number of his paintings were reproduced in art prints by the U.S. Printing and Lithograph Company, and many of these were placed in schools and libraries all over this country.

In 1938 Amick had a two-man exhibit with Frederic Remington at the Douthitt Gallery in New York City. He also had one-man exhibits in various galleries in the East through 1945 and remained an active painter until his death in 1969.

He is buried in Canon City, and this appeared to be a suitable place to exhibit his works honoring this son of Canon City, who always considered the West his real home. A special exhibit featuring Amick's paintings will be held in the gallery of the Canon City Fine Arts Association from May 23 until June 13.

Gift to Hall of Fame

The Hereford State Bank has given the painting, "Tejas Warrior," to the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center. The 30x40 oil of a Palomino stallion was painted by artist Robert Wesley Amick and has hung in the bank since 1968. With the pain-

of the space shuttle. He is the last member still working at NASA from an original team of 35 aerospace engineers called the Space Task Group. They were selected to develop America's man-in-space program in 1958, during the frantic days following the Soviet launch of Sputnik. The United States was just entering the space race and was then far behind the Russians.

A key element in that effort was establishing a sophisticated ground command post for directing the space missions. Members of the space task group, including Kraft, organized the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston and built the famed Mission Control Center, a concentration of computers, communications and engineering expertise. Starting with Gemini 4 all of the U.S. manned flights have been guided from that complex starting just moments after launch.

"Mission Control lent an ease and elegance to running those missions," said Gilruth. "He was a key person in making all that happen."

Police Report

Unpaid Check

Big Daddy's Restaurant reported to Hereford police that two former employees had eaten in the restaurant and left without paying Wednesday.

The two had been fired on Tuesday. They ate without paying on that day, however the cost of the meal was taken out of each final paycheck.

Wednesday's meal remains unpaid.

Harding

office holders account. Smith said the account reimburses the state for miscellaneous expenses and is not a campaign fund.

The indictments are void. Smith said after the brief pretrial hearing, because "they accuse Mr. Harding of some acts that aren't crimes."

Smith had asked State District Judge Tom Blackwell to dismiss the original indictments because they did not specify a statute allegedly violated and because they did not spell out that the work was allegedly done on the government's time.

Blackwell had planned to rule on the motion to dismiss on Friday.

Harding has maintained that the indictments were politically motivated. He was without opposition in his re-election campaign until news of a grand jury investigation of his office surfaced days before the Feb. 1 filing deadline. Harding now has four opponents.

Smith downplayed the indictments when they were handed down after weeks of grand jury testimony that suggested much stronger allegations were being investigated.

Prosecutors say their investigation of Harding is continuing with a new grand jury, but Douglas refused to comment on any aspect of the inquiry.

Harding has filed a million-dollar civil rights lawsuit against Travis County District Attorney Ronald Earle and the Public Integrity Unit of Earle's office.

Each charge carries a penalty of up to 10 years in jail and a $5,000 fine.

does not extend the time for paying taxes.

This means a person requesting the 60-day extension must include with Form 4868 a check for the estimated amount of taxes owed.

Failure to file a tax return — or an extension request with a payment of estimated taxes owed — by midnight will subject a taxpayer to a civil penalty of 5 percent of taxes owed for each month that the return is late. This penalty may total up to 25 percent of taxes owed. There is a criminal penalty of up to a year in prison and a $10,000 fine for failure to file.

PAUL L. DISHMAN

Memorial services for Paul Lake Dishman, of Dallas and formerly of Hereford, will be Friday morning in Walnut Hill Methodist Church in Dallas.

Mr. Dishman died Wednesday. He was born Aug. 22, 1926 in Hedley, Texas and graduated from Hereford High School in 1943. He married Phyllis Radovich Dec. 24, 1950.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Paul Lake III and a daughter, Lian Johnston, both of Dallas; his mother, Mrs. Roy Jewell of Hereford; a sister, Mrs. V.C. Hopson of Dimmitt; one grandchild, Paul Lake IV; two nieces and one nephew.

LEONARD RHODES

LITTLEFIELD

Graveside services for Leonard Rhodes, 66, who was the brother of Elsie Jones of Hereford, were at 2 p.m. yesterday in Littlefield Cemetery with Bill Bryant, a retired Church of Christ minister from Lubbock, officiating. Arrangements were by Hammons Funeral Home in Littlefield.

Mr. Rhodes died at 11:30 p.m. Sunday at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock after a brief illness. The Wichita Falls native was a World War II Army veteran.

He moved from Spade 15 years ago to Littlefield, where he was employed as a truck driver for Roy Reid Tire & Supply. He was a member of the Littlefield Veterans of Foreign Wars Post and Crescent Park Church of Christ in Littlefield.

Other survivors include his wife, Azalea; a son, David Ronald of Houston; three daughters, Linda Smith of Dumas, Sue Weaver of Alexandria, La., and JoAnn Robinson of Lubbock; and six grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Gary Don Newton, Wayne Matthews, Marvin Matthews, Marvin Weaver, Johnny Weaver, and Carl Reed.

ERA -- One Last Look

For the second time in as many months, a respected institute has indicted TV newscasters.

An earlier survey revealed their political bias. Now The Media Institute has evaluated 1,492 news reports during the oil crisis of 1973-74 and 1978-79 and finds that TV listeners were more confused than enlightened.

The new analysis of network TV reveals that the newscasters relied mostly on government sources: only 2 percent sought information from industry sources. Further, televised discussions dealing with solutions relied on government 77 percent of the time.

Understandably, therefore, those proposed solutions were weighted toward rationing, price controls and other assorted government remedies.

The Wall Street Journal, willing to acknowledge the vulnerability of all newspeople to "manipulation," suggests that we media people need constantly to remind ourselves that government spokespersons are usually protecting their government jobs; "jobs often dependent on the continued existence of the problem."

To expect government people to recommend free-market remedies is rather like expecting Zsa Zsa Gabor to renounce wedding cake.

It is interesting, though, that the public response to all these government solutions was to "overthrow our government" in 1980.

The American people, overdosed on anything, throw up.

Equal Rights For Women. If you and I are tired of hearing and reading about ERA, imagine how wearied state legislators must be.

They have been buttonholed, badgered, cajoled, picketed, threatened and deluged with a paper avalanche of argument pro and con.

As the battle dragged on there's been enough repetition of each argument so that I think I've heard each at least a few times.

But so have they, the lawmakers.

There could be no useful purpose in any re-evaluation of the whys and why-nots.

So 90 days from today it will be all over.

Time for ratification of Equal Rights For Women as an amendment will have expired.

Before that happens—I wonder if the state lawmakers of Oklahoma and Illinois and North Carolina and Florida would be willing to read my column scheduled for Saturday, May 1, for one last discussion on this subject.

Any three of those states could change their vote—either because they are in session or with a special session.

And these states — do or don't — will make history.

So if the undecideds in those states want to compare points of view with somebody who has been as undecided as you — may I respectfully request an audience. May 1 next. Thank you.

Obituaries

Union Street, will be at 2 p.m. Friday in Rose Chapel of Jililand-Watson Funeral Home with the Rev. J.L. Bozeman, retired Baptist minister, officiating. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Jililand-Watson.

Mr. Brock died Tuesday morning in Deaf Smith General Hospital. He was born Dec. 9, 1899 in Hillsborough, Texas, and married Pearl White Nov. 21, 1921 in Crosbyton. He came to Hereford in 1930 from Crosby County. He was employed by the Hereford School System and was a Baptist.

Survivors include his wife of the home; four sons, Kenneth of Canyon, Alton of Oak Harbor, Wash., Clyde of Houston, and Richard of Carlsbad, N.M.; three daughters, Mrs. Mary Parker of Hereford, Mrs. Ida Davis of El Cajon, Calif.; and Mrs. Virginia Schmidt of Sunray, Texas; three brothers, Charles and Ralph, both of Lubbock, and Earl of Dimmitt; three sisters, Myrtle Dalton of San Angelo, Eunice Hovestadt of Lubbock, and Edna Holcomb of Leesville, Texas; 24 grandchildren; and 25 great-grandchildren.

ELLA E. HARPER

Services for Ella Eugenia Harper, 92, will be at 11 a.m. Saturday at Avenue Baptist Church conducted by the Rev. Buster Grigg, pastor. Burial will be at 2 p.m. (CST) in Grady Cemetery, Grady, N.M.

Mrs. Harper died at 6:30 a.m. today in Deaf Smith General Hospital. She was born Feb. 11, 1890 in Basin Springs, Texas and married E.H. Harper April 15, 1914 in Clovis. He preceded her in death in 1960. They came to Hereford in 1948 from Hugo, Okla. She was a member of Avenue Baptist Church.

Survivors include her sons, Leo Harper of Colorado Springs, Colo., Dale Harper of Burnet, Texas, Melvin Harper of Dumas, and Everett Lovvorn of Grady, N.M.; one daughter, Grace Wagner of Eugene, Ore.; 21 grandchildren; 35 great-grandchildren; and four great-great-grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers, the family asks that donations be made to the building fund of Avenue Baptist Church.

Drama Presentation, Art Exhibits Highlight Study Club Guest Day Tea

Approximately 40 guests were registered at the Pioneer Study Club Guest Day Tea Tuesday afternoon at the Community Center. The program theme, "Celebrate the Arts," was carried out in three parts—performing, visual, and creative arts—introduced by fine arts committee members Mmes. Mary Panciera, Eunice Petersen, and Guy Walsler.

Mrs. Panciera introduced John Claypool the Hereford High School Drama Department, who in turn introduced members of the cast of "Macbeth."

The students performed a scene from the play, which was presented at the recent District One Act Play Contest in Lubbock. Chris Crowley, who plays a dual role of Shakespeare and Banquo, was named to the All District Cast and Bruce Wright, who plays Macbeth, was named to the All District Honorable Mention Cast at the recent contest.

Following the drama presentation, Mrs. Petesen gave a section on the visual arts, and Mrs. Walsler presented a section on creative arts. Paintings, crafts, ceramics, and a variety of other items done by club members were exhibited.

Refreshments were served from a tea table covered with a linen cutwork tablecloth which was handmade by Mrs. Walsler. A spring floral arrangement adorned the table.

Ann Landers Get Out At The First Sign

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have great empathy for the woman who flipped over her doctor's beautiful eyes. (She forgot what she went to see him about the moment she walked into his office.)

That woman is luckier than I. If it's only his eyes, she can look at the ceiling or the floor. I fell madly in love with the whole man. He was my therapist.

I lived from one session to the next and made up "emergencies" in between. I would have run off with him; left my husband and family—everything—if he had given me the slightest bit of encouragement.

One day I blurted out my feelings. He was amazed and embarrassed—explained he was happily married and trying to help me make my marriage better. Anything between us was out of the question.

I was crushed and humiliated. I had made a complete fool of myself. Of course, that was our last session. Seven months have passed and I am still praying for God's help to get all thoughts of this man out of my head.

I advise any woman who becomes emotionally involved with her doctor, lawyer, counselor, clergyman—whomever—to stop seeing him the moment she recognizes the signs.—This Too Shall Pass

DEAR WISH: You are not alone, dear. Every day brings dozens of letters from women (and men) who relate similar stories. I can't improve on your advice. It's perfect. Thanks for sharing.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My smart-alec husband opened up his big mouth to the judge and now he has to serve 15 days for ignoring a large number of traffic tickets. Of course, it was in the newspaper—and the phone hasn't stopped ringing.

The thought that the father of my children will have a jail record makes me sick. I have three—a little girl, six months old, and two boys, seven and nine. What should I tell them?—Monterey, Calif., Heartache

DEAR HEART: It doesn't matter what you tell the girl, but you'd better tell the boys their father had to go to jail.

Explain that he is not a criminal, he didn't hurt anybody, but he broke some laws that had to do with driving a car—and now he has to pay the price.

Club Holds Guest Day Tea

Members of the Pioneer Study Club hosted a Guest Day Tea Tuesday afternoon in the Community Center. The cast of "Macbeth" from the Hereford High School Drama Department (pictured above) presented a scene from the play as a part of the "Celebrate the Arts" program, which also included art exhibits by club members. Pictured below are Pioneer Study Club members, left to right, Mrs. O.G. Hill, Sr.; Mrs. Ray Johnson, publicity chairman; Mrs. R.L. Wilson, president; and Mrs. L.H. Lookingbill, Sr., social chairman. Ft. Worth Businessman To Speak On Saturday

The Hereford chapter of Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International will meet at Hereford High School this Saturday evening. A buffet supper, catered by the Caison House, will be served from 7-7:30 p.m. and the meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. The meal is $3.75 per person.

This month's speaker is Paul Yarbrough, Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship field representative from Ft.

Worth. A salesman and investor in stocks and oil, this businessman is a sought after speaker who has appeared on national television and in many churches.

Severely wounded in World War II and later caught up in the bondage of alcoholism, Yarbrough says that his life was turned around and his injuries healed at that point in his life when Jesus became his Lord.

Public Invited To Missionary Services

Greenwood Baptist Church is hosting a missions conference through Sunday with slides and field reports from missionaries serving in three countries.

Services on Thursday and Friday nights are at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday services are at 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Wednesday night featured

Mark Butcher, a missionary to Germany. Alvin Smith, a missionary to Mexico, will speak tonight, and Friday night Young Houston, with the Christian Association for Missionary Projects, will speak. Richard Pickett, a missionary to Brazil, will hold both Sunday services.

Community Support Sought

For Clean-Up Week May 1-8

The beautification committee of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce is making plans for Clean up Week, May 1-8. During this week, committee members are encouraging local residents to help in cleaning up and beautifying residences, businesses, and public places.

A team effort of planting red and white petunias all over town is being organized, and the committee wants to encourage everyone to participate.

A poster contest, emphasizing Clean Up Week is presently being conducted for fourth, fifth, and sixth graders.

Janice White is in charge of the contest. Chairman of the beautification committee is Avis Blakey.

Many cacti bear edible fruit, and shelter or otherwise help sustain creatures of the desert community, including man. The giant saguaro — which sometimes towers 50 feet — may house white-throated wood rats at its base.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I got this straight from the Census Bureau: Marriage is coming back.

For those of you who follow trends, it marks the end of the most popular diets of the '70s: a divorce and 500 calories a day. It signals the return of the dinosaurs who roamed the earth in twos. It might possibly mark the end of Jill Clayburgh movies.

It all sounds like a scenario from "Little House on the Prairie." Family life is supposed to stabilize. Households will move out of the cities and back to the rural areas. People will know what they want before they get stuck with it. And all because the great chunk of population born during the baby boom (1946-1964) is getting too old and too tired to play the singles game.

Marriage has gone through a lot of rhetoric during the past decade. Some of the terminology I understood. Most of it, I didn't. It's a wonder any of us survived it. If marriages are to flourish again, they're just going to have to spell some things out.

Meaningful Conversation: What is it and is it fattening? No one has a clue what it means. We're going to have some guidelines on what qualifies as meaningful, and do we have to ruin a perfectly good meal with it?

Writing Your Own Marriage Contract: This has been too ambiguous. Can you get taken to court for nocturnal headaches? Lying? Wrapping your gum in the contract and pitching it?

New Sexual Freedom: How does this differ from the old sexual freedom? Why do I need a manual for it? Can you order new parts?

Shared Responsibility: Has a nice ring to it, but who gets custody of the child with intestinal flue at 3 a.m. and how come you're going to be a father in three months and your stomach is still flat?

Non-Traditional Marriage: I know it has to do with acute boredom with monogamy, but the only couple I ever knew in a non-traditional marriage that worked were Buffy and Claude—and they were two pet rabbits.

Naturally, I'm delighted with the return of marriage. It'll do a lot for matched towel manufacturers and bridal paraphernalia. Maybe we'll even get a new vocabulary that we can all understand.

BEHIND THE SCENES
— If you've been following the exploits of Professor Quentin E. Deverill on CBS' "O.E.D.," which stars Sam Waterston in the title role, you've probably noticed his witty and ingenious secretary. She's played by Caroline Langrishe, a talented actress whose credits include the film, "Someone Is Killing the Great Chefs of novel by Norma Klein, that probes the dilemma of a modern family torn apart by their 14-year-old daughter's casual sex life. The book's cover seems to have been inspired by those designer jean ads featuring Brooke Shields. It shows a teen-age girl clad in tight jeans and a revealing blouse reclining suggestively next to a young man.

MACHO MAN — Although Burt Reynolds has said he's going to retire from acting to go behind the cameras to direct, he continues to make one film after the other. He's wrapping up "Best Friends," a comedy for Warner Bros. that co-stars Goldie Hawn. Following that, he'll star in an MGM-Warner Bros. coproduction of "Bogart Slept Here," a tongue-in-cheek detective thriller. Reynolds then plans to appear in a screen adaptation of Robert Ludlum's spy thriller "The Bourne Identity."

MISSION CONTROL — Tom Wolfe's best-selling astronaut saga, "The Right Stuff," just went before the cameras in San Francisco. The Ladd Co./Warner Bros. release stars Charles Frank as astronaut Scott Carpenter, Scott Glenn as Alan Shepard, Ed Harris as John Glenn and Dennis Quaid as Gordon Cooper.

Spinning off success

Can you name the only TV series to have spun off five of its characters into successful series of their own?
If you guessed ABC's "Happy Days," you guessed correctly. The sitcom, which began as a 1972 "Love American Style" vignette, has been the cornerstone of ABC's prime-time attack since January 1974 when it joined the network on a weekly basis.
"Happy Days" was originally a piece of 1950s nostalgia, which focused on the Cunninghams, a typical American family of that decade. But viewers soon were attracted to two characters: the clean-cut Richie Cunningham (Ron Howard) and the leather-jacketed Fonzie (Henry Winkler). Despite their different lifestyles, their relationship flourished.
Once they had established Fonzie and Richie's relationship, the show's writers began concentrating on other characters such as Fonzie's two lower-middle class friends, Laverne and Shirley (Penny Marshall and Cindy Williams). They were given their own series in 1976, which has become successful.

To the producers' (Paramount) credit, they insisted that the characters grow older as the series moved chronologically from the late '50s into the early '60s. Unfortunately, there were times when the show became too predictable. It seemed as if Fonzie would always be there at the last minute to smooth over conflicts in an episode's plot.

To restore interest and to offset the supercool Fonzie, a manic alien named Mork was introduced in a special episode. The reaction to the character, played by comedian Robin Williams, was overwhelming. As a result, Williams was also given a prime-time series, "Mork and Mindy," which debuted in 1978 and has been airing ever since.

Ron Howard left the show last year. But his character hasn't been written out of the show's story line. Meanwhile, Fonzie's role has been de-emphasized in favor of Erin Moran who plays Joanie, a precocious teen-ager, and Scott Baio, who plays Chachi, her boyfriend. They were recently given their own show, "Joanie Loves Chachi," which looks promising.

As long as the producers and writers can inject talented young performers into the series, "Happy Days" will continue to be a successful pipeline for new projects.

Today in History

Associated Press

Today is Thursday, April 15, the 105th day of 1982. There are 260 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On April 15, 1968, two unmanned Soviet Sputniks linked up while in orbit around the Earth.

On this date:

In 1689, France's Louis XIV declared war on Spain.

In 1959, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro arrived in Washington, D.C., to begin a goodwill tour of the United States.

In 1974, a military coup in the West African country of Niger overthrew the government of President Hamani Diori.

And in 1979, an Easter morning earthquake shook western Yugoslavia, with reports of at least 100 people dead.

Ten years ago, President Nixon ended a visit to Canada by signing an agreement for a joint effort to clean up the Great Lakes.

Five years ago: President Carter's chief trade negotiator, Robert Strauss, said something had to be done to reduce textile and apparel imports to the United States.

Playoff Scramble Ends; 76ers to Be Avoided

By BARRY WILNER AP Sports Writer

The scramble to make the playoffs in the Eastern Conference is over. The race to avoid the Philadelphia 76ers in the first round of those playoffs is heating up.

The New Jersey Nets and Atlanta Hawks clinched the final two National Basketball Association postseason berths Wednesday thanks to the Pistons' 119-111 loss to Philadelphia, which eliminated Detroit from the playoff picture.

The Nets beat the Bulls 98-94 and moved into the fourth-place tie with Washington in the conference standings. The Hawks, who are sixth by a half-game, were idle.

Whichever of those three teams finishes sixth in the conference will face the 76ers in the best-of-three opening round of the playoffs. Since the Sixers are 56-24, the second-best record in the NBA behind Boston, that's not a comforting prospect.

Atlanta has three games left — a home-and-home series with Indiana and a visit to Washington. The Bulls also host Philadelphia, while the Nets entertain Boston and travel to Detroit.

The Nos. 3 and 4 teams in the conference play each other in the opening round.

Seldom-used forward Jan vanBreda Kolff's two free throws preceded the decisive points for New Jersey. Ray Williams led the Nets with 23 points. Don Collins paced Washington with 20.

"It's very ironic that Jan vanBreda Kolff, who has been here a long time and who hasn't played much this season, put the icing on the cake to get us into the playoffs," said the Nets' Len Elmore.

He played in only 38 games this season, but he did not criticize Coach Larry Brown for the way he was used.

"Larry worked us real hard and we started growing as a team," van Breda Kolff said. "He said we can play against Philadelphia and Boston, and we started believing it."

In the Western Conference playoff race, both Phoenix and Golden State won, while Houston and San Antonio lost.

The Suns, Warriors, Rockets and Denver Nuggets all are 45-35, with the Spurs 47-33. Los Angeles and Seattle have clinched and San Antonio will be in with one more victory. Three clubs among the four tied at 45-35 will make the playoffs — unless the Spurs lose twice and they all win. Then several complicated tiebreakers come into play.

Phoenix' 104-92 victory over San Antonio and the Warriors' 104-93 verdict over Seattle eliminated Portland

Stadler Looking Ahead to Relief

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Craig Stadler was looking forward to a bit of welcome relief today in the first round of the $350,000 MONY-Tournament of Champions.

"It'll be nice to get out and play a relaxing round of golf," said Stadler, who has been on a frantic, non-stop pace since winning the coveted Masters title in a playoff at Augusta, Ga., last Sunday.

"It's just been so damn hectic," said Stadler, who once had to get up at 2:30 in the morning to attend a television network interview. He's been swamped by telephone calls, messages and interview requests.

"I'm a little drained from it all," he said Wednesday after a final practice round over from the playoff chase.

Elsewhere, it was Boston 100, Milwaukee 91; Kansas City 114, Dallas 95; Chicago 120, New York 116; Denver 141, Houston 122, and Los Angeles 128, Utah 115. 76ers 119, Pistons 111

Julius Erving scored 33 points as the Sixers beat the Pistons for the 17th straight time in Philly. Kelly Tripucka had 23 points for Detroit.

Suns 104, Spurs 92 Phoenix built a comfortable margin through three periods, 83-69, and Walter Davis and Dennis Johnson each scored 20 points for the Suns, who held George Gervin, the NBA's top scorer, to 14 points.

Warriors 104, SuperSonics 93 World Free's 37 points — 33 in the second half — paced Golden State. Bernard King added 20 points and 10 rebounds, while Gus Williams scored 23 for Seattle. Sonics center Jack Sikma, who had averaged 24.5 points against the Warriors this season, was held to five by Ricky Brown and Sam Williams.

Nuggets 141, Rockets 122 David Thompson, who scored only four points the night before, erupted for 26 in just 22 minutes of action. Kiki Vandeweghe and Alex English both scored 22 points for Denver, and Moses Malone had 27 to top the Rockets.

Celtics 100, Bucks 91 Reggie Johnson's 20 points and nine rebounds coming off the bench led Kansas City. Reserves Ernie Grunfeld and Larry Drew also sparked the KC attack with 17 and 16 points respectively. Rolando

Ohlmeyer Leaving NBC Sports 'Family'

By LARRY SIDONS AP Sports Writer

The man who brought you the "Silent Bowl" is stepping down.

Don Ohlmeyer will end a five-year reign as executive producer of NBC Sports on May 1, to spend more time as an independent producer of television programs.

"It's a little bit like leaving your family. There're a lot of feelings here," Ohlmeyer said Wednesday, shortly after announcing his decision. "But I'm not going to be a stranger."

Indeed, Ohlmeyer will remain with NBC Sports as a consultant. During that time, he is barred from working with the sports departments at either ABC or CBS.

"But I am going to be doing sports and entertainment programming for NBC — pilots, TV movies, and program packaging," he said. "I can also do entertainment programming for the other networks, and sports for cable TV."

Ohlmeyer worked as a producer at ABC Sports, where he helped originate the "Superstars" series and get "Monday Night Football" off the ground.

Under the management of Roone Arledge, ABC Sports in the late 1960s and early '70s developed a reputation as a pioneer, both in coverage and technical production. Ohlmeyer brought that theme along when he moved to NBC as executive producer in 1977.

NBC became known as the "live" network, for its coverage of major league baseball, college basketball and the National Football League's American Conference.

"SportsWorld," a sports magazine show featuring live interviews and investigative reporting, became a critical and commercial hit, and helped move Bryant Gumbel in broadcasting's superstar ranks.

Ohlmeyer also brought in Dick Enberg, who last year won the sports Emmy as best play-by-play announcer, and Al McGuire, the former Marquette University coach, as college basketball analyst.

There have been some bad times, too.

Ohlmeyer was widely criticized for the "Silent Bowl," an 1980 telecast of an NFL game between the Miami Dolphins and New York Jets without announcers.

Late last year, NBC Sports lost Gumbel to the network's

"Today" show.

And in 1980, when President Carter ordered a boycott of the Olympics in Moscow because of Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, NBC decided against telecasting the Summer Games.

"I don't think I've ever been more depressed about anything in my life," Ohlmeyer said of the Olympic loss. "To have that opportunity taken away through no fault of our own. It's like planning a vacation, getting there and having it rain for a week."

Ohlmeyer says he has never had any desire to move upstairs.

"I'm not big on suits and meetings," said the man who can generally be found, dressed in jeans, in the NBC control room. "I like to do shows."

the 6,911 yard La Costa Country Club course. But that's alright. It's well worth it."

While this elite gathering of only the winners of PGA Tour titles from the last 12 months often is a low-key, relaxing, easy-going week for golf's touring pros, Stadler can't realistically expect much relief from attention.

He's a native of the area and has a large group of family and friends with him. "It's going to be a hectic week, but I'm sure a lot of them are going to be from now on," he said. "There's no real adjustment necessary. I just need to find time for some rest."

Chief among his challengers are defending title-holder Lee Trevino, Tom Watson and Tom Kite.

The Celtics closed with a 14-2 surge to clinch the triumph, which dealt Milwaukee a severe blow in its race with Philadelphia for the second-best record in the East. It was the Bucks' third loss in a row, dropping them two games behind the 76ers with two games left.

Kevin McHale had 20 points for Boston and Marques Johnson had 26.

Kings 114, Mavericks 95 Reggie Johnson's 20 points and nine rebounds coming off the bench led Kansas City. Reserves Ernie Grunfeld and Larry Drew also sparked the KC attack with 17 and 16 points respectively. Rolando

Blackman and Jay Vincent collected 16 points each. Lakers 128, Jazz 115

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar put in 22 points and Jamaal Wilkes, Earvin "Magic" Johnson and Bob McAdoo each scored 20 for Los Angeles. Adrian Dantley hit 28 points for Utah.

Bulls 120, Knicks 116 New York wound up with a losing record at home for the first time since moving into the current Madison Square Garden in the 1967-68 season. The Knicks were 19-22 at home.

Artis Gilmore scored 10 points in a 5½-minute span in the final quarter to pace Chicago. Reggie Theus had 21 points and Gilmore had 20 for the Bulls, while Maurice Lucas scored 22 and Marvin Webster registered season-highs in points (20) and rebounds (19) for New York.

HEREFORD TEXAS
Chapter of Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International WELCOMES YOU
To hear what God is doing in our time, men ladies, teenagers from all occupations.

Our speaker this month is PAUL YARBROUGH, FGBMFI Field Representative from Ft. Worth, Texas. Bro. Paul has been involved as a businessman as a salesman, as well as, an investor in stocks and oil, he however, will be coming to us as an ambassador of the Lord Jesus Christ, rather than a successful businessman. Paul is a highly sought after speaker in FGBMFI circles. He has appeared on national television, giving testimony, and serves the Lord as teacher and speaker in many Churches.

Paul was severely wounded in W.W. II and later was caught up in the bondage of alcoholism. There was a point in his life when Jesus became truly Lord. God's powerful love brought Paul out of darkness, instantly delivered him from alcohol, and healed him of his war injuries.

Come fellowship with us in the Lord and hear this outstanding testimony delivered in an extraordinary, God-given gift of humor.

TAX EXEMPTIONS — AVAILABLE THROUGH DEAF SMITH CO. APPRAISAL DIST.

Exemptions can reduce the tax bill to qualified persons

Property owners in Texas are not required to pay property taxes on their household goods, personal effects and family supplies for home or farm use. Taxpayers also enjoy several kinds of exemptions and other forms of tax relief. The first of these is the residence homestead exemption. A "residence homestead" is defined as a structure, together with the land and improvements, used for residential purposes. In other words, a residence homestead is basically a home and a yard. A mobile home—even a mobile home located on leased land—can qualify as a residence homestead. The amount of land used for residential purposes may not exceed 20 acres. The chief appraiser will determine how much land actually qualifies.

If you owned your home and used it as your principal residence on January 1 of the appropriate tax year, you may claim it as your residence homestead and receive a tax exemption on it for purposes of school taxes. You may also be entitled to certain optional exemptions if offered by the jurisdictions which tax your property.

You will still qualify for the homestead exemption even if a portion of your residence is used for other purposes—for example, if it is used in your business.

Moreover, you will not lose your exemption if you temporarily move away, provided you intend to return and do not claim a residence homestead elsewhere. For instance, if you enter a nursing home and rent your home, you will still qualify for the homestead exemption if you intend to return and if you do not claim a homestead in another jurisdiction.

Applications must be filed on official forms available from the appraisal district, and property owners should note that it is a criminal offense to file a false application.

General homestead exemption

School homestead exemption: If you qualify for a residence homestead, you will be entitled to a $5,000 exemption off the market value of the homestead for school tax purposes. In other words, if your homestead has a market value of $60,000, the exemption will reduce the taxable value to $55,000. This taxable, or assessed, value is the figure to which the tax rate is applied to determine the amount of your tax liability.

If the market value of your home is $4,000, the $5,000 school exemption will reduce the market value to $0. In this situation, your exemption will be $4,000. The amount of an exemption which you receive cannot exceed the market value of your homestead.

The school homestead exemption is available to the general public as long as valid applications are filed with the appraisal district office before the end of the rendition period (see Tax Calendar).

County homestead exemption: If you qualify for a residence homestead, you may also be entitled to a $3,000 exemption from the assessed value of your home from county taxes. However, this exemption can be granted only from the portion of the county tax rate levied for farm-to-market roads or flood control. Therefore, if your county does not tax for this purpose, you will not be entitled to this exemption. Applications should be filed with your appraisal district office.

Are you 65 or older?

If you are 65 years of age or older on January 1 of the tax year, you are entitled to an additional $10,000 exemption off the market value of your residence homestead. This exemption applies to school taxes only and you should apply for the exemption before the end of the rendition period.

You may not receive both a $10,000 over-65 exemption off the market value of your homestead and $10,000 disability exemption (discussed later). If you are qualified for both, you must choose one or the other.

Tax ceiling imposed: If you have applied and qualified for the over-65 homestead exemption, your school district tax bill cannot increase as long as the property qualifies for the exemption. While your property may increase in value through the years, the taxes which you owe in any year cannot be greater than the amount you owed in 1979 or in the first year you qualified for this exemption, whichever is later. (NOTE: Should you make an addition to your property after qualifying for a school tax ceiling, the chief appraiser must calculate a new higher ceiling based on the value added by the improvements, other than normal maintenance.)

If you would have qualified for the over-65 homestead exemption in 1979, but failed to apply, you have an opportunity to have your tax ceiling adjusted to the amount it would have been if you had applied for the exemption in 1979. You must make application with the appraisal district office before April 1, 1982, in order to receive this adjustment. The chief appraiser will publish a notice of the provisions of the exemption in a newspaper once a week for three weeks prior to the deadline.

Are you disabled?

If you are disabled and qualify for the residence homestead exemption, you are entitled to receive an additional exemption of $10,000 off the market value of your residence homestead. This exemption applies to school taxes only.

"Disabled" for purposes of this exemption means either that, because of physical or mental disability, you are unable to engage in any substantial gainful work; or that you are 55 years of age or older and blind and by reason of the blindness are unable to engage in your previous work.

If you are receiving disability benefits under the Federal Old Age, Survivors, and Disability Insurance Program administered by the Social Security Administration, you will qualify as long as you apply on time.

If you are receiving disability benefits under any other program, you will not automatically qualify. You must still meet the definition of disability stated above and apply before the end of the rendition period.

Again, you may not receive both a $10,000 over-65 exemption off the market value of your homestead for school tax purposes and a $10,000 disability exemption. You must choose one or the other.

Are you a disabled veteran or qualifying survivor?

Texas law also provides for a disabled veterans' or survivors' exemption. Certain disabled veterans or their survivors may be entitled to a partial exemption from property taxes. This exemption can be applied to any property—not just a homestead—that is owned on January 1.

Depending on the percentage of your disability, you may be entitled to an exemption ranging from $1,500 to $3,000 off the property's assessed value. In order to qualify, you must be a Texas resident and file an application annually at the appraisal district office.

You must designate only one property to receive this exemption, regardless of the number of jurisdictions in which you apply. In other words, if you own more than one taxable property in a particular jurisdiction, you must select the one property to which the exemption will apply.

You are required to present documents stating the percentage of a service-connected disability from either the Veterans' Administration or a branch of the armed services. Proof of marriage, death or age may also be required.

Who qualifies as a farmer or rancher?

In addition to the exemptions described above, qualified farmers and ranchers or timber producers may enjoy another form of tax relief.

Two amendments to the Texas Constitution permit agricultural and open-space land to be taxed generally at its productivity value instead of market value. These provisions are effective only if applications are filed with the appraisal district office in a timely manner.

Rural acreage in many areas of Texas is increasingly in demand for housing subdivisions, shopping centers, country homesites and industrial development. For example, some ranch lands and wooded pastures in desirable locations increasingly are becoming worth far more in market value than their value for producing crops or cattle.

Therefore, recognizing that higher property taxes might exceed income from the land, Texas voters approved two changes to the State Constitution permitting agricultural valuation and open-space land valuation under certain conditions.

Article 8, Section 1-d

This provision in the Texas Constitution permits agricultural-use valuation of land provided certain qualifications are met. These include:

- The land must be owned by a natural person—partnerships, corporations or organizations may not qualify;
- The land must have been in agricultural use for three years prior to claiming this kind of valuation;
- The owner must apply for this designation each year and file a sworn statement about use of the land; and
- The agricultural business must be the land owner's primary occupation and source of income.

Applications for appraisal under this provision must be filed annually with the chief appraiser during the rendition period. For good cause, the chief appraiser may extend the deadline for not more than 60 days.

If you miss the application deadline, as noted earlier, you may file a late application anytime before the appraisal review board approves the appraisal records. In such a case, because of the late filing, you are liable for a penalty of 10 percent of the taxes saved that year by receiving the productivity valuation.

Article 8, Section 1-d-1

This provision in the Texas Constitution allows open-space valuation of land. "Open-space land" includes agricultural land and timber land. Qualifications for designation under this law are made less strict. Most farmers or ranchers who are unable to qualify for agricultural-use valuation will qualify for open-space land valuation.

Under this provision, the following qualifications must be met:

- For agricultural land, the land must be currently devoted principally to agricultural use to the degree of intensity generally accepted in the area.
- For timber land, that land must be used with the intent to produce income and be currently and actively devoted principally to the production of timber or forest products to the degree of intensity generally accepted in the area.
- For both, the land must have been in agricultural or timber use for at least five of the last seven years.

Special exemptions for farmers

Farm products, including livestock and poultry, still in the hands of the producer are exempt from property taxation and no application for exemption is required.

Implements of farming or ranching are exempt from taxation if owned by an individual who uses them in the production of farm or ranch products. The property must be individually owned; corporate or partnership ownership will not qualify. This exemption must be applied for annually.

Angels, Mariners Give Fans Their Money's Worth

By BRUCE LOWITT AP Sports Writer

There's nothing like a little baseball. Only problem is, California and Seattle don't know the meaning of "little." They played 13 innings Wednesday night. The last 10 were your run-of-the-mill extra-inning game. The first three were tacked on to the 17 innings they played Tuesday night.

That's more than three games' worth in two nights. For the Angels, at least, it was worth it. A pair of victories, 4-3 in the 20-inning affair, then 2-1.

In the rest of the American League it was Texas 4, New York 1; Toronto 5, Detroit 4; Chicago 5, Boston 4; Oakland 7, Minnesota 5 in 12 innings; Cleveland 6, Milwaukee 2, and Kansas City 3, Baltimore 2.

"I was just glad we could walk away with a tie after 17 innings Tuesday night," said Don Baylor, who had six hits in the two games. "We were down to our last out and managed to tie it."

In fact, the Mariners were down to their last out in the ninth inning of both games but managed to tie it each time. It was in the 15th inning, after Seattle had gone ahead, that the Angels knotted things 3-3 and prolonged the agony.

"Our hitting will come around," Baylor said. "Reggie and I feel the same way, we know we have to produce or we're not going to win."

Reggie - Jackson, of course - finally found a bit of ammo in his bat. After going 0-for-20, he singled in the third inning to drive in the Angels' first run in the regularly scheduled game.

"You know we're going to hit, so the club getting pitching like it has gives us a lift," said Jackson, now batting an anemic .161.

Bob Boone of the Angels got the winning hit that brought the 20-inning affair to a close. "No, I wasn't tired," he said. "After it goes on, you start getting a little slap-happy. I was glad we could get the first one over in three innings, though."

Bobby Grich had the winning hit in the 10-inning game, a double in the bottom of the 10th after his wild throw on a potential game-ending double-play ball gave Seattle a run and forced extra innings. Rangers 4, Yankees 1

Billy Sample didn't like the idea of being relegated to the bench when Lee Mazzilli arrived from the New York Mets. He wanted to be back in left field. Against the Yankees, he was. And he also was on the bases.

He was hit by a pitch once, walked once, and stole second and scored each time, on singles by Larry Parrish and Buddy Bell.

"I was glad to play, to get out on the field and work out my frustrations with physical activity," said Sample, who returned to the lineup when Mazzilli was sidelined with an injury.

Blue Jays 5, Tigers 4

Like Sample, Buck Martinez couldn't wait for the chance to play hero. Toronto's reserve catcher stepped to the plate in the bottom of the ninth with two outs and a man on second and singled to beat the Tigers.

"I'm always in the game, always ready," he said. "I was just trying to make good contact. I'm not that good a hitter where I can aim the ball at anybody." White Sox 5, Red Sox 4

Unbeaten Chicago is off to its best start since 1959, when it won the American League pennant - and the Windy City fans haven't even had a chance to see them in person yet.

"Being 4-0 is great because these four games have been all on the road," said Tom Paciorek, whose three-run homer in the seventh inning upended Boston. "Beating the Yankees twice and the Red Sox twice is a compliment to our ballclub." A's 7, Twins 5

Tony Armas "hits in the clutch all the time, not just this year," Oakland Manager Billy Martin said after Armas hit in the clutch twice against Minnesota, putting the ball over the Metrodome wall each time.

He boosted the A's into a 5-5 tie in the eighth inning with a solo home run, then unloaded a two-run shot in the 12th for the victory.

"I hit the first one real good," Armas said. "It would go out in any ballpark. But the second, I wasn't sure if it was good enough."

Indians 6, Brewers 2

Designated hitter Andre Thornton had three singles and drove in three runs to lead Cleveland's 10-hit attack while John Denny and Dan Spillner teamed for a seventh-inning homer against the Brewers, who had averaged 10 runs in the previous four games.

"That club can score runs awful fast," Indians Manager Dave Garcia said. "It takes good pitching to stop them."

Royals 3, Orioles 2

Amos Otis followed an intentional walk to George Brett with a two-out, ninth-inning single that boosted Kansas City past the Orioles.

Jerry Martin of the Royals and Baltimore's Lenn Sakata traded solo homers.

WHO AM I?

Once I was the top athlete in Olympic history in my sport. At age 18, I won four gold medals in the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo. Then I won another in 1968. After that, I retired with a total of 22 world records and 37 U.S. records.

Red Raiders Score Well In Signings

By The Associated Press

The Texas Tech Red Raiders signed their fifth straight New Mexico schoolboy Player of the Year Wednesday, landing Hobbs' Tony Benford on national signing day.

Benford is a 6-foot-3 guard, who averaged 27.5 points and 16.3 rebounds per game. He is a cousin of graduating guard Steve Smith.

"Tony is one of the finest players we have had," said Hobbs' Coach Ralph Yaker. "He is without a doubt an outstanding college prospect."

Tech Coach Gerald Myers also signed 7-1, 245-pound center Bob Evans of Temple, Calif., who will become the biggest player to ever wear a Red Raider basketball uniform.

Evans, who did not play organized basketball until two years ago, averaged nine points and six rebounds a game last year for Cypress College, the top-ranked California junior college last season.

Tech also signed Ray Irvin, a 6-10 center from Blue Springs, Mo., Kent Wojciechoski, a 6-11 center from Moorpark, Calif., and guard Tim Ford of Grafado. The All-Stater Irvin averaged 21.5 points and 12 rebounds.

Myers said, "Ray has the size that can help us inside. He has good mobility and has an excellent chance of developing into a fine college basketball player."

Ford averaged 23 points and 12 rebounds per game and was named to the Texas Sportswriters Association All-State team. Wojciechoski averaged 17 points and 16 rebounds a game in his last schoolboy season.

Baylor Coach Jim Haller signed 6-5 guard Gary Heyland, of Texas Class 5A champion San Antonio Churchill.

John Graves, a 6-10 forward from Glendale Junior College in Phoenix, Arizona who averaged 19 points and 10 rebounds also joined the Bears.

Guard Karl Willock of Albuquerque, N.M. became new Texas Coach Bob Weltlich's first basketball recruit Wednesday. The 6-3 Willock averaged 19.1 points and 10.3 rebounds per game in leading El Dorado High to a 24-2 record.

David Seitz, a 6-8 forward from Shades Valley High School, Birmingham, Ala., also signed with Weltlich.

Seitz averaged 21.9 points and 9.1 rebounds per game.

Arkansas signed 6-2 Willie Cutts of Bryant, Ark., 6-4 Mike Ratliff of Brooklynt, N.Y., and 6-8 Darryl Bedford of Smyrna, Ga., a suburb of Atlanta.

Cutts, an all-state selection the past three years, averaged 21.4 points, six assists and five steals per game last season. He also was named to five high school all-America teams.

Ratliff averaged 22 points and 12 rebounds a game last season, while Bedford averaged 20.2 points and 14 rebounds and was named player of the year in the largest classification of Georgia high schools.

The Razorbacks also signed Keenan DeBose of Killeen, 6-5, who averaged 30 points per game, and Erick Poerschke, 6-7, Houston Memorial, who averaged 14 points and 9 rebounds per game.

Texas Christian signed 6-10 center Tony Papa from Angleton and 6-8 forward Matt Minnis from Houston Memorial.

Papa averaged 16 points and 9.3 rebounds a game last season, while Minnis averaged 12 points and eight rebounds.

"We're very pleased to have Tony," said TCU Coach Jim Killingsworth.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am 24 years old, 6 feet 2 and weigh 195 pounds. I like to run, play tennis and bicycle. When I was 14 years old I had a ruptured spinal disk after broadjumping on blacktop. The disk was removed (laminectomy) and I recovered rapidly and have never had any problems.

the floor), and voluntary contractions of the abdominal muscles. Remember that sit ups work only the upper abdominal muscles.

Strengthen your seat muscles, too. Bumps and grinds help here. Some good exercises to strengthen those long muscles along the back will help. And you should do your set of exercises every day. I'd also like to see you develop a program of stretching your muscles every day. Again, don't strain but stretch. Your present program is fine but those exercises won't strengthen your trunk muscles much. Jogging is OK and good exercise but it won't do what you need done to strengthen your trunk muscles.

Braves Psychologically Lifted, Complete Sweep of Cincinnati

By JOHN NELSON AP Sports Writer

The Atlanta Braves are off to their best start since they played in Boston, and pitcher Tommy Boggs says there has been a psychological change.

"Now, there's no doubt in our minds we know we can go out and win," Boggs said after the undefeated Braves won their eighth game.

Boggs started but did not figure in the decision as Atlanta completed a three-game sweep at Cincinnati Wednesday with a 5-2, 10-inning victory over the Reds.

The Braves are off to their best start since statisticians began to keep records of that sort in 1930, when they were the Boston Bees. Since Boggs joined the organization four years ago, the Braves have posted a 266-323 record.

"It's easy to handle something like this," Boggs said. "It's easier to handle than what we went through for the last four years."

Boggs was long gone before the action began in earnest Wednesday.

Bruce Benedict's RBI double in the ninth inning knotted the score 2-2, and he walked with the bases loaded and two away in the 10th inning to force in the tie-breaking run. Rafael Ramirez doubled home two insurance runs.

"We proved right there that we could battle back," Benedict said. "We flat out took it from them. That's the sign of a good team."

In other National League games, Montreal edged Pittsburgh 5-4, the New York Mets clobbered Philadelphia 8-1, St. Louis shaded the Chicago Cubs 3-1, San Diego nosed out San Francisco 3-2 and Houston nipped Los Angeles 2-1.

Cincinnati took a 1-0 lead in the second when Cesar Cedeno doubled, advanced to third on a single by Clint Hurdle and scored when Mike O'Berry grounded into a fielder's choice.

Atlanta tied it 1-1 in the third on a wild pitch by Reds starter Frank Pastore, and Cincinnati gave Pastore the lead again in the bottom of the inning when Dan Driessen doubled home a run.

The loss dropped Cincinnati to 2-6. "Our start naturally is a disappointment," said Reds Manager John McNamara. "Beating anybody would be tough the way we're playing."

Expos 5, Pirates 4
Pinch-hitter Jerry White slugged a two-out, three-run homer in the sixth inning, rallying Montreal to victory in its home opener before 35,941 at Olympic Stadium.

Scott Sanderson worked six innings for his first victory, yielding three hits and two unearned runs. Mets 8, Phillies 1

Leadoff hitter Mookie Wilson slugged a two-run homer, and Ron Gardenhire drove in three runs to back right-hander Mike Scott to his first victory this year for New York.

Scott, 1-1, scattered seven hits, walked one and struck out four.

Cardinals 3, Cubs 1
Andy Rincon tossed a three-hitter, and the Cardinals got two runs in the seventh inning on a two-out single by Tommy Herr to beat Chicago. Rincon struck out four and walked five as he overcame a shaky start to post his first victory.

Ozzie Smith got St. Louis started in the seventh with a one-out single. Cubs starter Ferguson Jenkins overthrew first base on Rincon's bunt, allowing Smith to go to third and Rincon to second. After another out, Herr singled both men home for a 3-1 lead. Padres 3, Giants 2 with a single and scored on a double by Bonilla, who then came home on Sixto Lezcano's double. Renie Martin's bases-loaded wild pitch in the fourth gave San Diego its winning run.

Astros 2, Dodgers 1
Alan Ashby broke up a pitching duel between Don Sutton and Burt Hooton, slugging his second homer in two games and third of the season to break a seventh-inning tie. Steve Garvey's single gave the Dodgers a run in the top of the first but Houston got in back in the bottom of the inning on Jose Cruz's single.

Borg's Dignity Being Trampled

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

Bjorn Borg is not the only great sports champion to have his dignity trampled upon by shameful rules and regulations of the establishment.

It happened to Muhammad Ali. It happened to Ben Hogan and Arnold Palmer. Years before any of these, it happened to Jim Thorpe.

Wimbledon was to decide today whether to force Borg, a five-time men's champion, to qualify for the 1982 event or to defy tennis' Grand Prix Council and allow the Golden Swede an automatic pass.

Leaks from across the sea made it clear that that Wimbledon will adhere to the rules. The ancient All-England Croquet and Tennis Club is not a member of the establishment. It is the establishment.

So instead of telling the Council to go and fly a kite, as it should do, Wimbledon officials probably will notify Borg to earn his way back to the Center Court against a bunch of kids and outsiders.

Here's hoping Borg has gumption enough to tell the blue-coated fathers, "Thanks, but no thanks, I'll take my business elsewhere."

Not that this will ruffle a single hair on the head of the august, stuff-shirt Committee. If Wimbledon can withstand a strike of the top men pros, as it did in 1973, it's not going to yield to a single individual, even one of the stature of Borg.

Borg is the golden-haired Viking who burst upon the tennis scene as a teen-ager in the 1970s, winning six French Opens, five consecutive Wimbledon, two Italian, two Masters and the WCT while four times finishing as runner-up in the U.S. Open, his jinx tournament.

Before losing to John McEnroe in last year's Wimbledon final, he was everybody's No. 1. He is the biggest gate attraction, at a reported $5 million a year one of the highest paid athletes in the world.

Borg is caught up in a tennis war between the Grand Prix and Lamar Hunt's World Championship Tennis (WCT), fighting for quality players and the sponsors' bucks. To protect its flanks, the Grand Prix tour, of which Wimbledon and the U.S. Open are members, requires players to sign up for at least 10 of its tournaments to qualify for four events.

Borg signed for seven and spent most of the winter relaxing on the Riviera — his first vacation in years.

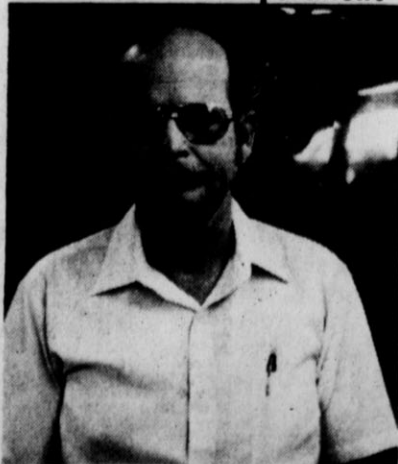

The Empire State Building has a maximum sway of 2.97 inches, recorded in 1936.
