Cruising Continues

Drag Traffic Uncurtailed by High Gasoline Prices

DENISE SMITH and Written By KERRIE STEIERT

[EDITOR'S NOTE: Despite spiralling gasoline prices and current emphasis on energy conservation, local teenagers continue the high school tradition of cruising "the drag," a pastime here for approximately two decades. In a series ot articles on the drag, The Brand will present views of this activity, which is seen as a form of entertainment by the city's teenagers and as a problem in varying degrees by some adults. The first installment of the three-part series will ask 'the question "The Drag--Is It a Problem?"]

It is Saturday night. Hundreds of headlights streaming from late-model cars pierce the summer darkness as the city's teenagers indulge in a nocturnal prowl, better known as "making the drag." While the heavy traffic of sports coupes and sedans threads its way down 25 Mile Ave. and Park Ave.. throngs of teenagers and young adults gather on parking lots lining the main route.

It is not uncommon to hear a vulgar phrase shouted from one vehicle to another and the emptied beer cans accumulate in small heaps on neighboring business property. Peak hours for cruising are from 8 p.m. until midnight with most congested traffic conditions occurring on weekend nights.

Occasionally, a racing engine serves to challenge a nearby driver to a brief speeding duel and the two roar off in the night to be swallowed up in the ever-changing traffic scheme. A pick-up makes the drag circuit with a group of teens riding in the truck bed. throwing small objects at passing vehicles.

. These observations were made by The Brand during an hour's ride on the drag route during a Saturday evening when the teenage traffic was comparably busy. Following the customary path from The Sonic Drive-Inn, north on 25 Mile Ave. east on Park Ave to the turn-around at Quick Car Wash. The Brand computed that a complete lap is 1.9 miles long and, on a busy night, a driver can make three laps in an

WHY DOES the drag exist? The common response to this question came from teenagers and adults alike: "There's nothing else to do in Hereford." Lack of organized activities which would be considered acceptable to teenagers, coupled with the American love for driving, have produced a gas-guzzling teenage pastime, prevalent in many communities throughout the nation.

City Manager Dudley Bayne responded to the complaint that there is not enough organized recreation provided for local youths. "They (the teenagers) want something like a disco and there's not much the City can do about that except allow teen dances at the Community Center," Bayne said.

Sheriff's Deputy Phil Sciumbato, former juvenile probation officer who spent his teen years in Hereford, feels that the city" has good recreation facilities, but not enough of them." He praised the local YMCA programs, stating that they have encouraged youth to "do things with their families."

Local teenagers see the drag as a social function where they can meet with their friends. Most of the teens who spoke with The Brand felt that youths do not abuse their privileges on the drag with one explaining, "We don't abuse it any more than adults do by throwing out their trash and canned Cokes."

A few teens stated that "Too many kids think of a car as a plaything." They added that this attitude could be remedied by parents who are more strict with their child's driving privileges.

continue to cruise the drag despite rising fuel costs. although several admitted that their gasoline allowance money came from their parents. Some teenagers are cutting down on the use of gasoline by parking their vehicles along the drag route. With a mercurial population, the drag often attracts

Tradition 'Drags' On

On a typical weekend night, the beams of headlights blur and merge as one while hundreds of teenagers and young adults flock to "the drag." In "THE DRAG is a problem, although not a serious one." according to Sgt. David Wheeler, an officer with the local police department for the past eight years. The main difficulty associated with the drag is the litter which accumulates on the parking areas of private businesses, the policeman explained. Also, an increase in the number of fistfights on the drag has been noted this summer.

The City police patrol the drag route regularly, and keep three to four police units in circulation when the cruising traffic is heavy, such as on weekends or after a football game. Sgt. Wheeler stated that it is up to the individual officer's discretion when policing the drag.

"In the past, we have run kids off parking lots when they are littering, but we got quite a lot of heat from their parents. Also, in order to file charges, we must have a witness to the 'actual violation." Sgt. Wheeler said.

The officer puts stock in his belief that teenagers deserve equal treatment under the law. "Today's teenagers are tomorrow's citizens and taxpayers. I think you should give the juvenile a break when he is not causing trouble or

Brand Wins Service Recognition

SAN ANGELO .- The Hereford Brand. nominated by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, won the Community Service Award presented by West Texas Chamber of Commerce during the awards breakfast of the West Texas Press Association Saturday here.

The award was presented to The Brand for overall community service and the promotion of community development.

"You bet. I'm happy about it. That is considered among newspaper people as a very coveted award." Brand Publisher O.G. Nieman said Saturday.

"It shows you're doing a good job in the community. I'm proud of my staff for performing the type of service that led to this recognition.

School Books To Be Scrutinized

AUSTIN. Texas (AP) - It's time for the annual battle over which textbooks will be used in Texas public schools. The State Textbook Committee will hear complaints Monday through Thursday about the 44 textbooks up for adoption this year.

Publishers will sweat through whether the $23 million worth of books will make the approved list for order by local school

Eighteen groups and individuals have protested one or several of the titles. The objections and book publishers' replies fill 11 volumes.

Both the protesters and publishers' representatives will appear at the fourday bearing. The 15-member textbook committee will make its selections Sept.

The State Board of Education will hold a public hearing Nov. 8 on the committee's recommendations before making final selections Nov. 10.

Only high school texts on typing. health, computer math, government and auto repairs are up for review this year. Approximately one-sixth of all public school subjects are reviewed each year. Texts are adopted for a maximum of six

GRA Rodeo Festivities Set Thursday

Nationally-ranked female riders and ropers from throughout the country will be in Hereford for the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame All-Girl Rodeo scheduled for 7:30 p.m. performances Thursday through Saturday

The Girls Rodeo Association (GRA)sanctioned event and its related activities will provide local residents a wide spectrum of activities to choose from. including for the first time an Old Fiddlers Contest beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday at Dameron Park.

A parade will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday from Sugarland Mall to downtown Hereford, an open-calf roping contest at 11 a.m. Saturday in the Rider's Club Arena and an art show all three days of the rodeo in the basement of the county library, which houses the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

Dances featuring big-name countrywestern singers will begin at 9 p.m. Friday and Saturday at the Bull Barn. Kenny Dale, best known for "Red Hot Memory" and "Bluest Heartache of the Year." will perform Friday night and Red Steagall, reknowned on rodeo and stock show circuits, will be in Hereford for the (See RODEO, Page 2)

Storms Kill 4 In Eastern States

By The Associated Press

Brief but violent thunderstorms left at least four people dead, a dozen injured and thousands of homes without electricity as they whipped through five Eastern states.

Two Boy Scouts were killed Friday in Paxton. Mass., when trees ripped from the ground by violent winds fell on them. A New York City woman also was killed by a falling tree branch, and a Lansdale, Pa., man died in a weather-related traffic collision

The storm system also roared through Connecticut and New Jersey. All five states reported property damage from high winds and uprooted trees, in addition to downed power lines and electrical outages. Early damage estimates in Pennsylvania reached nearly $2 million

In Massachusetts, the storms were accompanied by tornado-like winds, but no confirmed twisters were reported. The Boy Scouts were killed at a scout camp in central Massachusetts, in a suburb of Police said John K. White, 10, died when a tree fell on his tent. And a 11-year-old Michael R. Asselta died when the tree under which he was standing was toppled by winds.

Carter May Announce More Staff Changes

The latest shakeup, announced Friday by White House chief of staff Hamilton Jordan, left Jordan clearly in charge of the White House operation, planning more changes, and appearing optimistic about the president's re-election committee operations.

"These are my decisions," Jordan said after disclosing that he worked two to three weeks on the shifts.

He said he informed Carter of his intentions, and won presidential approval. And he made the point that he, not Carter, was announcing the changes.

They are the latest in a series of changes stemming from Carter's domestic summit conference at Camp David in early July. By Jordan's forecast, they are "the beginning" of the shifts in the White House staff itself.

In his earlier moves, Carter named Jordan chief of staff and shifted five Cabinet members.

Governors Urge Chrysler Support

DETROIT (AP) . While six of the nation's governors were urging President Carter to help the financially ailing Chrysler Corp., the automaker's own financing subsidiary was doing what a lot of people do when their credit has gone sour - visiting a finance company.

Chrysler Financial Corp. said Friday it had agreed to sell to Household Finance Corp. its right to collect payments from car buyers. The $500 million sale will help Chrysler Financial repay persons who have bought its unsecured IOUs when those loans come due.

Household Finance will give Chrysler Financial $300 million on Aug. 21 and, if long-term lenders approve, another $200 million in September. The agreement provides for possible sales of more installment contracts through 1982.

Household, the nation's third-largest finance company, makes consumer loans and other loans.

Also Friday, six governors sent a telegram to the president suggesting the federal government help Chrysler through a combination of tax credits, loan guarantees or revisions of federal standards

The message was sent by Govs. Hugh Carey, New York; William Milliken, Michigan; James Thompson, Illinois; Pierre DuPont, Delaware; Joseph Teasdale, Missouri, and James Rhodes, SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Texas (AP) -Gov. Bill Clements, calling for adherence to a good neighbor policy, says the Mexican oil spill has caused little damage here and he sees no reason to sue the Mexican government.

Clements flew over the South Texas coast Friday and said he saw no damage that could not be easily cleaned. But he added that the sheen of oil lingering offshore could still cause problems for this resort town.

What has happened to date we can easily clean up. But it could get much worse. We don't have a problem yet, but that's not to say we won't have one." Clements said.

A State Department spokesman announced Fridy that Petroleos Mexicanos (PEMEX) apparently intends to open an office in Brownsville to contract for cleaning up beaches. Lisle Rose said the State Department had received "informal word" of PEMEX's intentions.

Coast Guard reports late Friday indicated the oil was still stationary off the coast.

"Some very small tar balls were found behind the boom at the Brazos-Santiago Pass near Brownsville. They were immediately skimmed up," said Jim McGranachan of the Coast Guard.

Brand Managing Editor Paul Sims carned third place in editorial writing for "It Sims to Me." Plainview and Snyder were first and second, respectively, in the category.

The Brand, because it won the division last year, was not eligible for the general excellence award, which went to Vernon. Big Spring and Snyder were second and third in the division.

Big Spring was first in newswriting and photos. Vernon in column writing, Plainview in editorial writing, and Sweetwater in advertising composition in the daily-newspaper class.

The Amarillo Globe-News won the Free

Enterprise Award presented by West Texas Chamber of Commerce for perpetuation of the free-enterprise system.

Friday, those attending the convention heard a report from Texas Press Association President Bill Doshier of Kerrville, listened to a speech on government regulations by Ed Coltharp of West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and conducted a roundtable discussion on solving newspaper problems.

Besides the awards breakfast. Saturday's activities included a critique of West Texas newspapers by Dr. Martin Gibson of the University of Texas journalism department and received advertising ideas from Ted Bennett of Quality Ad Services. A business meeting and election of

In a separate report Friday, USDA held to its estimate that the Soviet Union's total 1979 grain harvest would be 185 million metric tons, down 22 percent from last year's record 237.2 million. The weather has improved for those crons but "considerable uncertainties remain" while the harvests proceed, the Foreign Agricultural Service said.

The board's first estimate of production of grain sorghum, was 779 million bushels, up 4 percent from 1978, while its initial forecast of the cotton crop indicated 13.7 million bales, 26 percent more than 1978.

Trying to gauge the farm economy as a whole, the board put its "all-coop" index at a record 37 percent higher than the 1967 benchmark of 100. The new figure is 6 points above last year.

Record foodgrain and oilseed crops, plus cotton's sharn advance are responsible, the board said.

In a third report, USDA said world grain production now is seen at 1.51 billion metric tons, a drop of 4 percent but still the second-largest ever and more than expected last month. A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds, or nearly 40 bushels of corn.

The board estimated the soybean yield at 30.3 bushels an acre, up from last season's 29.2.

The tobacco crop is down 13 percent from last year to 1.77 billion pounds, with burley production newly estimated at 566 million nounds

Although the price of gasoline is rapidly approaching the one dollar mark, teenagers and young adults continue to burn the costly fuel in round trips on "the drag." WE'VE BEEN reading a lot about the recession and what economic experts project, and most of them apparently believe it will be a moderate downturn. ## Methods To Save Gas Evident on Interstate

Three trails, all reflecting fuelsaving transportation, cross at the Texas-New Mexico border on Interstate 40 near here.

The travelers saved gasoline, but they also had problems along the way.

Kelsie C. Miller was car pooling long distance. He hitchhikes.

"I can't afford the car and I can't afford the gas,"said Miller, 29, of Key West, Fla.

The bearded Miller carries tent. sleeping bag, cooking utensils and other neccesities in a green duffel bag.

"That duffel bag is kind of like a house," he says, "One bedroom, a bathroom, a kitchen and the world's largest front vard."

But the experience is not without hassles. "I've been beat up a few times and locked up a few times," says Miller, who uses his thumb instead of a gasoline credit card. "But 80 percent of the people

"He's done that to me before," Miller said, "He just doesn't like hitchhikers for some reason.'

Rain doesn't bother Miller. "I just hitchhike from under a bridge," he says, adding that he doesn't intend to buy a car.

"I've owned some cars but I drink a lot and wreck cars."

Nigel D. Chadwick, an Air Force security policeman on leave, was motorcycling from his home at Plattsburgh, N.Y. to visit relatives at Eagle, Colo.

Chadwick said he was stopping here — a place he had never heard of — to buy suntan lotion. Chadwick's red arms showed he should have stopped miles ago.

"I made about 3,000 miles on $30 or $40 worth of gas," said Chadwick as he sipped coffee along the road on his 26th birth-

Chadwick said southern police stopped his motorcycle but did not issue a speeding ticket when they saw his security police identification.

Our government, if nothing else, provides for some interesting coffee-shop discussion.

Did you hear that a federal advertising campaign is being planned to encourage use of the Susan B. Anthony quarter-sized dollar?

Well, that only prompts a one-sided argument around local coffee places, where folks tip with Susan B. Anthonies only to get rid of them.

Did you hear that the government is planning to subsidize Chrysler to offset the automaker's ailing financial situation? Now, that argument could go either way and I'm not committing myself right now.

Instead, I offer the remainder of this space to Associated Press business analyst John Cuniff to provoke Monday's coffee-shop talk in Hereford. His thoughts on the subject:

"To be or not to be, that is the question...whether it's wiser economically to let a weakened corporation fail or support it with government subsidies or loan guarantees?

'To let Chrysler Corp. fail, say its supporters, would mean a sea of troubles for all Americans. For the federal government to provide any extraordinary aid to Chrysler, say others, will mean the very same.

"Already a sea has engulfed Americans, a sea of questions that must be answered, because what happens to Chrysler could be the answer to what happens to similarly stricken companies in years to come. And that involves the political and economic systems under which we'll live.

"Though no other giant companies are now believed to be in such dire straits, some of them conceivably could fall into difficulties similar to those that beset Chrysler.

'Such companies are large, "mature," slow-growing; they often carry a baggage of executive bureaucracy, inefficient plants, and debt. In some instances they are complacent; in others they are fighting frantically and often futiley.

"Chrysler Corp., the nation's 10th largest manufacturing corporation, one of the most important defense contractors, employer of more than 250,000 workers, has been hemorrhaging financially. It could die.

"To avert this fate, the company has sought a $1 billion advance against federal income taxes. The Carter administration has indicated instead that it might guarantee up to $750 million in private loans.

"And so the questions: Isn't it the American way to permit corporations a profit as the reward for efficiency, and to allow them to die when their lack of competitiveness causes them to lose money.

"If the government saves Chrysler, won't it be at odds with its own goals to reduce inflation by making industry more productive? Shouldn't Chrysler be permitted to die to make room for efficient competition?"

THE GARDENER RETURNS

It must be old age setting in. I have become domesticated at alarming rate. It seems impossible but, I have moved from a guy who thought bindweed was great groundcover to become a gardener. A second-year gardener, at that!

Last year was a disaster. I had no idea a garden should be carefully laid out in neat rows. I just planted the stuff and prepared to wait for harvest. When the crop began to grow so did the weeds. I did not know which was crop and which was weeds. Crabgrass and corn look a lot alike when they are

By the time the crops got big enough that even I could identify them, it was too late. I had found out the tomatoes needed shade and the only shade they had was the johnsongrass. The beans were supposed to grow up poles and the only poles they had were the careless weeds. I spent the summer with a waste-high jungle in my backyard. The sum total of the production was eight beets and a ton of cucumbers. Why is it a garden always produces one crop in such an abundance, your friends shun you to keep you from unloading some more on them?

Thin year was going to be different. We got a late start due to some construction in our backyard but I was not to be denied. I carefully made rows. We carefully planted. I have pulled weeds, sprayed bugs, and carefully watered. I now have eight beets, two stalks of corn, one cucumber vine and a great crop of what I thought, was squash.

This would be squash, was planted in a neat row. It looked like an important plant. It began to put on a long curly thing that showed promise of being squash. I have nurtured these plants like they were a precious commodity. I hate squash but I was determined to reap something from the garden even if it was something I did not want to eat.

Last week my mother came to visit. I was not too anxious to show her my pitiful garden but I thought the fine crop of squash would redeem the thing at least to some degree.

Mother took one look and said, "Those are not squash, they are Devil's claws."

Oh, well, at least they are healthy Devil's claws...

WASHINGTON (NEA) - As time passes, it becomes clearer that Jimmy Carter's Camp David energy summit was organized more to lay the groundwork for his second presidential campaign than to launch a new energy program.

Carter's supporters can point to the flurry of new proposals he sent to Congress as well as to the changes he made in his Cabinet and White House staff. The fact is that most of these steps were either planned well in advance or represent little change in Carter policy.

The significant factor was that they were designed to kick off Carter's re-election bid in grand style. Unfortunately for the president, the expected boomlet fizzled and his poll ratings remained at about the 30percent approval level of a month earlier.

The reasons should be apparent. Look at the personnel changes first.

At the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, incoming Patricia Roberts Harris lacks. the experience and administrative ability of predecessor Joseph A. Califano Jr. on the issues facing her department. but she shares his liberal bias about the ability of government to solve the public's problems. She almost certainly will battle White House aides on key issues, as did Califano.

The economic-policy switches sending G. William Miller to replace W. Michael Blumenthal at the Treasury Department and Paul A. Volcker to replace Miller as chairman of the Federal Reserve Board had little policy significance and primarily . reflected Blumenthal's problems in doing business with Carter's staff.

Moon Landrieu at Housing and Urban Development and departments too late to shape new programs or revamp old ones before the 1980 campaign.

Griffin B. Bell had been grooming Benjamin R. Civiletti to succeed him as attorney general for several months. Similarly, James R. Schlesinger's departure from the Energy Department was long expected and Charles W. Duncan Jr. was chosen only to get that woeful bureaucracy in order.

The major question stemming from all these changes is why Carter waited so long to run his government more effectively.

Nor does the designation of Hamilton Jordan as White House chief of staff carry much significance. Jordan was always the top aide in the Carter White House and giving him the title won't help him with his admitted weaknesses in administration and social grace.

Carter's energy proposals were either his own warmedover plans or ideas that hd gained favor in Congress despite their serious problems. as later debate would show.

The centerpiece of Carter's televised message was an $88 billion crash program to develop alternative fuels from the nation's coal, oil shale and gas. But, as The New Republic noted, these synthetic fuels are extravagantly expensive, will produce little supply in the next decade and will help finance the major enery companies. .

The House passed a much more limited version before Carter's speech and the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee has raised serious questions about the environmental dangers of the plan.

The other major Carter proposal was creation of an Energy Mobilization Board that could bypass legal requirements that have delayed construction of energy facilities. While many members of Congress agree that will be asked to support a bill now pending in Congress that would establish "rational criteria for the imposition of the sentence of death" for federal

This coming week certainly promises to be exciting and full of activity in Hereford. August 16-18 are the dates of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame Weekend.

The All-Girl Rodeo began in Hereford five years ago. Today it has grown to one of the most reknown of "all girl" rodeos with added money of $500 per event and the presentation of a new beautiful horse trailer for the All Around Cowgirl.

In addition to the nightly rodeo at 7:30 in the Hereford Riders Club Arena, there will be dancing Friday and Saturday night with Kenny Dale and Red Stegall. Beginning Saturday morning at 11, a large turnout will be on hand for the Hall of Fame "Old Fiddlers" contest to be held at Dameron Park. Contestants from throughout the state will be on

At 2 p.m. Saturday, we will have the Hall of Fame Parade, which also promises to be very enjoyable. This will begin at Sugarland Mall and will proceed through downtown Hereford.

One very important highlight of the weekend is well worth the drive to Hereford to see. The Third Annual Hall of Fame Western Heritage Art Show and Sale will be available for public exhibit at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame Center located at 211 E. 4th. Displays will include paintings and sculptures done

Editor's Note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith County grass farm examines a new government windmill this week, from a distance.]

Dear Editor: According to an article I read in a newspaper the other day and have been thinking about ever since, the government has built an experimental windmill atop a 4000-foot mountain to see how much electricity it can generate.

What caught my attention was not whether a windmill will work; I firmly believe it will. based on the 2000-year history of the invention, but I can understand Washington's not wanting to go off half-cocked. Furthermore, I believe a and will serve 300 families windmill will generate electri- except on still days, that means city if you hook it up to a generator and the wind is would be $11,666. For the 50 blowing. Washington's on sound ground there.

But what did catch my attention was the price. It cost $583,300,000,000. If zeroes $3,500,000. I suppose the running on forever confuse you. government is the only the figure is pronounced 583 organization in the world that billion, 300 million dollars. requires three and a half million dollars to build one windmill. However you've got to remember it may have taken two years or more to complete an expensive environmental impact study on the effects of whirling blades on honey bees that might show up in the area. And how about horseflies? Have you thought about that? The government estimates the windmill will generate enough electricity for at least 300 families, when weather conditions are ideal. Some people claim that weather was ideal for six and a half months back in 1923, but I have no proof

The energy officials who dedicated the windmill said it may be a large part of our answer to OPEC. I got to figuring. If it costs $3,500,000 the windmill-cost-per - family million families in this country. the cost of providing windmills for all would come to

The best of barbecue and plenty of rolls, salads, pies, and cakes were served to about 500 people at the annual picnic of the Eastern Star and Masonic orders. The stage for the cccasion was set under a grove on T.C. Ivey's Tierra Blanca creek ranch, east of Hereford.

The second oil producer on land owned in Fisher county was brought in partially by Roesser & Pendleton. When oil rose 1500 feet in the hole the production company began to remove their large pipe from the hole. Pay dirt was found at 3185 feet in a semi-wildoat test.

Campaigning for office in Deaf Smith County is not very expensive, judging from the final filing of expensive accounts which were due August 6. A total of only $1,448.44 was spent by the 28 candidates in the first primary race. ### Trial To Answer Questions

EDITOR'S NOTE: The murder-for-hire trial of a Texas millionaire, which begins Monday, raises some unusual and provocative questions. Those issues are explored in this article, a cooperative effort by The Associated Press and Carolyn Ondrejas and ron Hutcheson of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

> By MIKE COCHRAN Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - On Jan. 22, in the secrecy of a Houston jury room, a 47-yearold medical secretary scribbled out a brief, emotional note. It said:

"We, the jury, have reviewed, discussed and debated the evidence innumerable times, each time reaching the same conclusion...we feel we have faithfully fulfilled our duty as jurors and it would serve no purpose to continue to deliberate." Minutes later, a tight-lipped, chain-smoking judge ended the three-month ordeal. He declared a mistrial and freed the millionaire defendant on -$30,000 bond.

"The system," Judge Wallace Moore said angrily. 'has been abused."

the system of which he spoke undergoes a new and perhaps sterner test, one which raises a multitude of provocative ques-

Beginning Monday, a jury of eight men and four women will sit in judgment of industrial czar Cullen Davis, 45, reputedly the richest criminal defendant in Texas history.

The State of Texas contends he ordered the contract murder last August of his divorce judge and others and paid FBI informant David McCrory $25,000 in the mistaken belief the judge was dead. It was an alleged crime only of words, for the judge was not harmed.

But the state maintains he is guilty of solicitation of capital murder and conspiracy to commit murder, either offense punishable by a maximum of life in

The often witty, stylishly dressed and darkly handsome defendant insists he was framed by his bosomy, blonde, ex-wife Priscilla, 38.

She, in turn, maintains Davis was the "man in black" who wounded her and killed her lover and her daughter in a bloody shooting spree at the secluded Davis mansion in 1976.

An Amarillo jury spurned the testimony of Priscilla and two other "evewitnesses" and acquitted Davis in 1977 of the child's murder.

'The judicial system is a farce." Priscilla fumed after the Amarillo verdict. "Cullen's money can buy anything. He is above the law.

After the Houston mistrial. lead defense lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, who reportedly commanded a fee in excess of $1 million, denied Davis purchased his freedom.

"Those who say that are bitter, dissident, irresponsible people who have no expérience as to how it is to be poor or wealthy." he said.

"They don't know that both the rich and poor are vulnerable targets in this country." He called the hung jury. "a classic example of the integrity of the American jury - they debated the pros and cons every way and in the end they voted their consciences. They reached the unanimous verdict that they could not agree on the guilt or innocence of Cullen Davis.'

Havnes labeled the result "a victory for the system.

Prosecutor Jack Strickland disagreed, saving:

"I don't think it shows you can buy justice, but I think the system is the loser in this trial...there was no resolution of the issues and in large measure. much of what we were about here dissolved into non-issues.

"I don't think the expiration of time or the process was well served here. The system was indeed abused.

Strickland's boss, District Attorney Tim Curry, conceded the system was not flawless, and questioned his own ability to cope with the Davis case.

'I was under the perhaps naive belief that the system works regardless of whether you're rich or poor.

"I guess the system, as we know it, is just not designed for this sort of situation...no one involved in it will tell you candidly it is perfect.

'But it's the best we have. and on a day-to-day basis it works. You run into times when it falters and fails...it's a cold. cruel world out there. You just have to hustle along with what you've got."

Retired Judge Arthur Tipps of Wichita Falls, who has presided over Davis' bond and venue hearings, agreed with Curry that the system itself is in effect on trial here.

"I'm afraid people are saving that if you have enough money. vou can beat the judicial system...based on the acquittal in Amarillo and the hung jury in Houston." he said.

People, particularly the uninformed, think the wealth of the parties has something to do with the decisions ...

'This is not a typical case. I know of no way to treat it as typical. You can't keep someone from spending money if they have it and can afford it." Some say Davis spent an unprecedented amount of money on legal fees and related trial expenses that included an intensive defense investigation and exhaustive analyses of potential jurors from background and psychological standpoints. Tipps stressed he was not critical of the defense lawyers. who he praised as fine attorneys who are "doing nothing illegal, nothing improper and nothing unethical. But, he observed, "Somehow the judicial system is not geared up to try this kind of lawsuit."

As Joe Shannon, a former prosecutor, once said: "This is a funny situation. It's the only case I know of where the defendant has more money to spend than the state.'

Davis himself says it is not the system, but "my whole life" that is at stake here.

"I think the system works most of the time." he said. "In the courtroom it has. Outside the courtroom. I don't think it

Davis referred to the 15 months he spent in jail after the 1976 murders and the five months behind bars after his arrest last Aug. 20.

"I've gotten my fair shake in court, it's just that I have been locked up at times when other defendants would not have been. I have cases hanging over my head that should have been dropped by the district attorney's office - cases they never intend to prosecute. "They have tried to use those cases, and have used those cases, to keep me in jail...when any other defendant would have been out on bond, and a reasonable bond at that."

Although victimized at times by the system, Davis said, he feels that "in sum total, it's worked as it should work...certain decisions have gone against me...but I'm not quibbling. In the final analysis, things worked out right." Trial Judge Gordon Grav said he felt it improper to comment on the ramifications of this trial but, with a smile added:

"This is more interesting than most cases."

Strickland, the chief prosecutor, said he seriously doubted the system could flourish or fall on the outcome of a single case. including the Davis affair.

"But occasionally, cases come along which are very important indicators, bellwethers, that say a great deal about the system," he observed. "And I think this has the potential for being such a case.' Said Strickland:

"I think certain cases tend to teach us an important lesson about the effects of wealth on the judicial process; about equal protection under the law; about the validity of the whole process we have here.

ARLINGTON. Texas (AP) -Large Len Barker was loving every minute of it.

Astros Niekro After 20 Wins This Season

By ED SHEARER

AP Sports Writer ATLANTA (AP) - Joe Niekro

has picked out the ideal Christmas present for his parents - 20-victory seasons for each of their major league sons. Joe moved a step closer to that mark Friday night when he became the major league's first 16-game winner as the Houston Astros edged the Atlanta Braves 2-1 on Art Howe's tworun single in the eighth inning. His brother, Phil, workhorse of the Atlanta staff, will go for his 15th victory Sunday in the finale of a three-game series between the Astros and Braves.

"I don't really like to think about it, but you've got to think about it a little." Niekro said. "It would be great to look up and see two brothers both winning 20 games. It would be a great Christmas present to Mom and Dad."

However, there is an even more pressing concern for Niekro and the Astros, who cling to a lead over Cincinnati in what has developed into a twoteam race for the NL West flag.

"We've got the kind of club that can win the division." Niekro said. "They've built our team around our ball park pitching, speed and defense. And, that's how we've won." Niekro allowed two hits in each of the first three innings when Atlanta stranded seven runners and gave up just one the rest of the way before relief ace Joe Sambito recorded his 15th save by retiring the final two Atlanta batters.

Even at that, it appeared it would not be enough.

Eddie Solomon checked the Astros on two hits through seven innings, retiring 13 straight at one stretch, before his bid for his first major league shutout

Oilers, Jets To Rely On Youth In Televised Clash

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - The revamped Houston Oiler offensive line, which lost left tackle Greg Sampson to brain surgery last week, and the youthful defensive front four of the New York Jets test their progress in the Astrodome Sunday in a National Football League exhibition

Jets Coach Walt Michaels also will continue looking at his quarterback battle between Richard Todd, lost for the season in the fourth game last year with a broken collarbone, and his replacement Matt Robinson.

There will be no battle for the Oiler starting quarterback job with Dan Pastorini starting the game. Third stringer Guido Merkens, who also doubles as a wide receiver, kick holder and defensive back, may substitute at quarterback.

Both quarterbacks moved the club last week," Michaels said of the Jets' 27-14 loss to Chicago. "We're going to start Richard and hope to get Robinson in the game too. He's capable of becoming a first line quarterback."

The Jets, youngest team in the NFL last season, have continued their youth movement this season. First and second round draft choices Marty Lyons and Mark Gastineau, both defensive ends, played extensively in the exhibition open-

"They tired as the game went powered 1978 Junior Wimalong which is natural for young kids." Michaels said. "They tried to overpower the blocking offensive line instead of using finesse. But they are going to be fine." The Jets returned to a basic 4-3 defensive alignment this season from the three-man front popularized by Oiler head coach

Bum Phillips. The Oilers, who came within one game of the Super Bowl last season, defeated St. Louis 9-7 in their preseason opener Aug. 2. The following day starting offensive tackle Sampson underwent surgery to remove a blood clot from his brain.

Sampson will be lost for the season and backup Mo Towns will fill in at Sampson's position. Starting guard George Reihner also will miss Sunday's game with a lingering knee injury and will be replaced by John Schuhmacher.

"We're going to make it okay, just not as well as if we had Reihner and Sampson in there," Phillips said.

Jets seventh round draft choice Emmett King, a 1,000yard rusher at the University of Houston, also is expected to play before a capacity crowd in the Astrodome, also home field of the Cougars.

Kickoff is at 12:30 p.m. CDT.

Connors To Face Higueras In Semifinal

By HANK LOWENKRON AP Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Topseeded Jimmy Connors isn't worrying about the tactics he'll encounter from Spain's Jose Higueras in their semifinal match in the $275,000 U.S. Open Clay Court tennis championships to-

"He likes long marathon matches." said Connors who won here for the third time last year with a 7-5, 6-1 decision over Higueras in the title match. "I'll just have to go out and play my game. I don't enjoy playing baby tennis ... just staving back there (at the baseline)," he said.

The four top-seeded men advanced to the semifinals with victories Friday. Connors overbledon champion Ivan Lendl 6-2. 7-6. John McEnroe, No. 2 seed, eliminated three-time champion Manuel Orantes of Spain 6-3, 6-3. McEnroe will meet No. 3 Guillermo Vilas of Argentina, a 6-3, 7-6 winner over countryman Jose-Luis Clerc, in the other semifinal. In women's action tonight, four-time winner Chris Evert Lloyd plays longtime rival Evonne Goolagong Cawley for the $20,000 check that goes to the champion.

Llovd, unable to compete here since 1975 because of her World Team Tennis commitments, gave her strongest performance of the week in defeating Renee Richards 6-1, 6-0. Lloyd, the top seed, needed only 69 minutes to eliminate Richards, the former male doctor playing in the semifinals of a major national tournament for the first time. Cawley, who trails Lloyd 19-12 in head-to-head tournament action since 1974, rallied to down Regina Marsikova 4-6, 6-3, 7-5. The 28-year-old Australian native was down 2-5 in the final set, and Mariskova had her at match point three times. "Suddenly I just didn't feel too comfortable," Marsikova said about the turnaround. "I just missed on one shot that would have won the match, and I slipped as I tried to win the match at 5-3."

Marsikova also said the rain. which forced officials to halt play for 20 minutes after the second set, bothered her in that "I kept thinking they were going to stop the match," she said. "I couldn't concentrate."

"I tried not to do too much with it (the ball) then," said Cawley about her game plan when she rallied. "I just wanted to run after everything and get everything back into play. It was just a matter of settling down, and I think she got tired at the end."

Cawley, who lost to Lloyd 6-3, 6-2 in the semifinals at Wimbledon in their only previous 1979 meeting, was confident she could end her opponent's streak of 25 consecutive match victories here.

Raiders-49er Contest Missing Big Name Stars

By BOB GREENE AP Sports Writer

Some of the biggest names in the National Football League will be on hand tonight when the Oakland Raiders play host to the San Francisco 49ers. But most of them will be sitting on the sidelines.

Several key members of the Oakland Raiders' championship team of three years ago will hold reunion

Willie Brown and Pete Banaszak retired after last season. Injury problems appear to have ended the careers of Clarence Davis and Willie Hall. And other Super Bowl XI starters, such as Fred Biletnikoff, George Atkinson and Dave Rowe, have been cast off by the Raiders.

'They'll probably dedicate the game to them," said Bill Walsh, the 49ers' new coach, when he heard of the Raiders' plans to honor former players tonight.

The 49ers also will get in the "guess who's here but not playing" act. O.J. Simpson still hasn't recovred from an injury.

And his replacement in the backfield, Paul Hofer, San Francisco's leading rusher, has a hamstring injury.

That leaves rookie Phil Francis to carry the running load with Steve DeBerg and rookie Joe Montana probably sharing the quarterbacking duties as they did in last week's 13-10 victory over the San Diego Chargers.

Oakland, which has won 10 of the 12 games between these Bay Area rivals, will go with quarterbacks Ken Stabler, Jim Plunkett and Dave Humm. Plunkett, ironically, was the 49ers' starter when the two teams met in their preseason clash last year.

In the only NFL afternoon preseason game Saturday, the Chicago Bears were slated to take on the Saints in New Orleans.

Saturday night, the Detroit Lions will be at the Buffalo Bills. the New York Giants meet the Steelers in Pittsburgh, the Miami Dolphins continue their cross-state rivalry with the Buccaneers at Tampa Bay, the Baltimore Colts meet the Browns at Cleveland, the Green Bay Packers clash with the Cincinnati Bengals, the Minnesota Vikings tackle the Chargers in San Diego and the Washington Redskins go the Denver to meet the Broncos.

Today, the Los Angeles Rams meet the New England Patriots, the Houston Oilers play host to the New York Jets and the Dallas Cowboys travel to Seattle to take on the Seahawks.

Tampa Bay has yet to beat Miami in their four meetings so far. Still, Miami has no reason to take the Bucs lightly.

"Tampa Bay's given us some of the roughest games we've had over the last few years," Dolphins center Jim Langer

Miami edged Tampa Bay 28-21 in 1976, the Bucs' first sea-triumph. Last year, the Dolphins stopped a Buccaneer drive at the Miami 2 with 1:49 left to play to take home a 24-17 victo-son. In 1977, the Dolphins needed an interception at the Miami 17 to preserve a 13-7

ry. And their one regular-season meeting ended with Miami on top 23-20 on Garo Yepremian's field goal with 55 seconds remaining.

"I think Tampa's at the stage we were at in the early '70s when we played Baltimore in the preseason," Langer said. "It was like the Super Bowl for us: it was our chance to gain respect."

The Baltimore-Cleveland game will mark the return to a-Browns' uniform for veteran defensive end Jack Gregory. Cleveland re-obtained Gregory from the New York Giants two weeks ago.

"It's obvious Jack has a lot of experience," Browns Coach Sam Rutigliano said. "There's no question that Gregory will make us a much better football

Washington will be out to continue its mastery over Denver. The Redskins have won all five previous meetings, including a 30-3 regular-season verdict in 1974, the last time the two teams met.

Both Detroit and Buffalo have new coaches in the second yearof rebuilding programs. And both are relying on youth in some key positions. Detroit owns a 5-4 edge over the Bills in preseason clashes.

Rookie quarterback Jack Thompson - the "Throwin' Somoan" - will make his home debut when Cincinnati plays host to Green Bay. Bengals Coach Homer Rice said Thomp son will share playing time with veteran Ken Anderson, as he did in last week's 40-28 victory over Detroit.

"A number of our young players distinguished themselves" in the exhibition season opener, Rice said.

Another rookie, Russell Erxleben, will get a chance to redeem himself today. The former University of Texas star, the 11th player taken in the NFL draft, missed two close-in field goal attempts and shanked a punt for just 19 yards in his pro debut for New Orleans last

"It's just a matter of going." out and kicking the ball and getting the first one," Erxleben said. "I'm hoping I won't be nervous but I know I will be."

This is an early warning to Bill Rodgers and his cronies--I have started a running program, which will more than likely lead to my winning the Olympic marathon in the near future. Do you think that they are ready to turn in their running shoes and give up since they are aware? No, well me neither and I guess that I will be compassionate enough to let them win some of the time. Gee, am I a nice guy or what? In reality, the running is a new venture of sorts, since I have attempted such programs many times, but this time I'm going to make it, and if I don't, well there is always next time. My goal as one of the running breed is not to be able to run a sub-four hour marathon or win a particular race, but to just feel good about myself.

It is amazing that as recent as five years ago, while in high school, running was just a dreaded part of workout, which was a part of athletics. At that time if I was to be given a choice, running would have been the first thing eliminated, now I'm doing it voluntarily. I must be getting senile.

My goal is to be able to run for one hour without stopping at a reasonable pace, like 10 minutes a mile. Now that is not too fast, but the aerobic benefit is there, so good will be accomplished.

As far as aerobics are concerned, it is an exercise alternative that is viable. If running is not something that turns you on, other forms of exercise can benefit the body through the aerobics standards, including swimming, walking, golf, tennis, just about any favorite pasttime that involves physical activity. The ratings of each sport are different, but the average individual needs to accumulate 30 points a week of aerobic points to meet minimum requirements. A word of warning though, aerobic conditioning works on the heart and cardiovascular system of the body, so be careful, in fact it wouldn't hurt to have a doctor's ok before attempting any strenuous exercise program.

Rudy T. Future Less Valuable?

HOUSTON (AP) - Rudy Tomianovich, the Houston Rockets star forward, said he felt no threat before a onepunch fight that crushed in the front of his face.

"I felt no risk at all," he said, when trotting over to a disturbance involving former Los Angeles Laker Kermit Washington and former Rocket Keven Kunnert. The punch he got knocked him out for the rest of the year.

Tomjanovich, who will earn $300,000 next season, is suing California Sports Inc., owner of the Lakers, for at least $1 million in damages suffered Dec. 9, 1977, when Washington slugged him.

The Rockets captain, now 30, suffered a broken nose, fractured skull and dental and facial injuries.

Tomianovich, who spent more than two hours on the stand in federal court Friday, said the incident jeopardized his future as a professional basketball player.

State's Largest Freshwater Gamefish Unfamiliar to Many Texas Anglers

freshwater sport fish in Texas remains unfamiliar to many fishermen.

Perhaps it's because the flathead catfish has so many names. Depending on local custom, the fish is variously known as vellow catfish. Opelousas. Op. Ap. Bottom Molly or mud cat.

They're all the same fish. according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fisheries biologist Joe Toole of Marshall. and flatheads are found in almost all the state's major streams and reservoirs.

The variety of names applied to the flathead may be a result of the fish's color changes. In clear waters, the adult is dark olive brown with a mottled almost gold in color.

In contrast, the two other major Texas catfish-species -blue and channel catfish ... usually range from a dark gray twisting the line (as is the case on their backs to a silver gray or with channel catfish), but to white sides and underbelly.

fishermen who venture out each year with equipment and bait designed for channel catfish always exceptions to the rule, flatheads usually are strong enough to break away from light lines and small hooks.

A properly designed trotline for large flatheads should consist of 6/0 to 8/0 hooks, doubled #15 nylon seine twine or heavy monofilament for drop tightly stretched main line lines and a strong braided or twisted nylon main line.

Swivels for the drop lines are not a necessity but are beneficial if rigged properly. If swivels are used, avoid the sucked into the mouth with a appearance; in turbid waters, common snap swivel or the flatheads tend to be yellow or trotline clips commonly sold. The small aluminum or brass brads used have visions of bringing home a on light-weight trotlines to large flathead. While there are position swivels will usually slip with large fish. Hooks should be spaced at four-foot intervals on the main line on 18-inch drop lines.

The techniques used in setting trotlines vary with individuals just as in other types of fishing. A trotline with a appears to work best in lakes. A flat head actually "inhales" its prey by forcing water through the gills and creating a strong suction action. As the prey is sharp lateral jerking of the head, the hook will normally penetrate in the side of the mouth as the catfish moves off. A slack line allows the fish too much maneuverability and the hook may not be set. This is especially true in waters with submerged logs or rocks, which are favorite habitat of flatheads.

Proper tension may be achieved on a line by using heavy weights. Old cast iron window weights are ideal, but any weight of eight to 12 pounds will suffice. If the optimum fishing depth is not known, a single heavy weight in the center of the line will place the hooks at a wider depth range. A weight near each end of the line will place the hooks between them at a uniform depth.

An easy method to determine line depth is to tie a piece of light rope knotted at one-foot intervals at the center of the weighed trotline and lower the line on the rope. Then measure the rope length as the line is pulled up. While the depth is not critical during fall or early spring, a certain degree of water stratification occurs during summer months. Very little dissolved oxygen is present

Under these conditions, bait fish will die on a line set too deep. Because flatheads feed exclusively on live bait fish, it is important to keep the lines set at the proper depth. Depth is important in river trotlines, in that the hooks should be near the bottom.

Flatheads generally feed on fish species, taking whatever is and bullhead catfish are prime bait choices for fishermen. Sunfish should be hooked immediately below the dorsal (top) fin or through the tail in

Perhaps the most popular swivel eye to rotate around the below the middle layer of water still water. Some fishermen known as the thermocline. prefer to bait bullheads by running the hook through the mouth.

Care should be taken when checking a trotline because a large flathead often will remain motionless on a line until the boat is directly over it. Unless completely exhausted, a flathead will make several powerful runs as the boat approaches. A fisherman should be alert and most available. In most waters, ready to drop the line sunfish of all species, suckers temporarily if the fish is fighting hard. A poorly hooked flathead can effectively use its weight to tear the hook free if the line is boating flatheads weighing 30 pounds or more. Smaller fish may be netted with a heavy-duty landing net, although extra caution should be used when boating them in small boats or at night. A strong but inexpensive gaff may be constructed from a hardwood hoe handle and a 14/0 saltwater hook. This device also is useful

Bass fishermen know the value of submerged creek or river channels in a reservoir. Knowing the location of these inundated steams also is important to flathead fishermen because they serve as pathways in picking up the main line when for big catfish. Often a trotline set parallel and immediately adjacent to a deep channel will be most productive.

In most counties, trotlines must be tagged with the owner's name, address and date remain in public waters must be redated at the expiration of each 90-day period. Also, trotlines may not be set in the vicinity of any public boat dock, bathing pier or swimming beach.

This potential mixed bag is a possibility in the Guadalupe River below Canyon Dam, a stretch of water already familiar to a small navy of canoeists and innertube floaters.

"There may be another river in the United States where you can catch such a variety of fish. but I certainly haven't heard about it." said Bob Bounds, inland fisheries management coordinator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The picturesque Guadalupe has earned some acclaim as the state's best put-and-take rainbow trout fishery, but its sometimes swift currents and limited access keep anglers the population of the other sport tures. But its fragile appearance from putting much of a dent in fishes in the river, according to

Before Canyon Lake Dam was constructed, the Guadalupe had populations of sunfish, catfish, largemouth black bass and the Guadalupe spotted bass (a subspecies found only in Central Texas river systems). Shortly after impoundment of the lake in the mid-1960s, the department began stocking rainbows in the swift, cold tailrace waters below the dam.

At the same time, Canyon Lake became the recipient of generous stockings of smallmouth bass, walleyes and striped bass. These fish have exceeded expectations by growing and -- in the case of smallmouths and walleyes -have reproduced. Natural reproduction of stripers in Canyon is suspected but not yet confirmed by department biolo-

These imported fish have expanded Canyon Lake's fishing scene, and a sizable number of them have tumbled through the dam into the river below, Bound's said.

It might seem that this mix of species would cause problems within the narrow confines of "The trout stick to the riffles and swift areas. stripers and walleyes like the deep pools, and the bass tend to find the eddy areas where overhanging trees provide shade.'

There even are differences in the habitat preferences of the three bass species. Bounds said. The largemouths like shallow. shaded areas close to the bank. while spotted bass venture into swifter water toward midstream. Smallmouths like to hug

Sea Turtles Face Survival Struggle

AUSTIN — Sea turtles appear to be one of the most perfectly adapted.yetmost vulnerable, of creatures along the Texas Gulf Coast.

The endangered Ridley sea turtle has gotten a measure of recognition of late because of scientists' efforts to introduce a breeding population in Texas. and more recently because of the potential threat of an oil spill in Mexico.

But there also are four other species of sea turtles found in Texas coastal and Gulf waters. All are not on the brink of extinction like the Ridley, but of the four none is common.

The Sportsman's Den

Here I am, with nary a single light field load of 71/2's made up, and dove season will be upon us in less than three weeks.

Funny how one day it's summer, then you look at the calendar and bird season and fall both seem to rush up at once.

I like the way it evolves though. The season steadily progresses toward opening day again, and then with an action as simple as flipping over the leaf of the calendar, the door has been flung open to a whole other element.

We'll get our traditional first go at doves Saturday, Sept. 1, with shooting time beginning 30 minutes before sunrise and running until sunset.

I've seen an amazing number of native mourning doves that have reared their young right here in our area this year, and from my own observations, I'd say our dove numbers are up this year.

Of course, the late August wet spell is yet to come .-- The one that will send the grey speedsters scurrying down off the Caprock to the peanut and cotton country that draws most of our birds after a

But the early days of the season could still be especially good this year.

And just as the doves begin to really shake up the old shotgunner's confidence, here will come the early teal season, with more speedsters to dodge the shot charge with their snappy aerial maneuvers.

Teal season will run Sept. 15-23, with shooting hours from sunrise to sunset.

I especially like the shirtsleeve duck hunting associated with this season. Excepting the mosquitoes you will encounter out in a shallow cattail lake, the surroundings are reasonably pleasant for this sport, and your senses are pretty well at their keen anticipatory edge. It's enjoyable sport to slosh out where the teal are working the open water in front of the cattails, brush your way through green foliage into a makeshift blind and stand spellbound by the sound of the wind rushing through the primaries of a flight of bluewings as they slip over your head in a twisting flight that dips near the water. The water isn't the liquid agony it will be in a few months more if you are sloppy and let some ooze into your boots or slip on the soft, muddy lake bottom while making a retrieve.

But the bluewings are every bit as fast, and during this brief season you can really enjoy the maneuvers of these little characters.

Not to mention whetting your appetite for the winter and the mallards, pins and Canada geese that will eventually follow. Such are the things that dreams are made of as a man goes about pushing the charge bar, loading up a box or two to shore up hopes for good flights, crisp evenings and the proper follow-through on Yep, it's time to unlimber the press and crank out those 71/2's, and with each shot charge we'll pour in an equal measure of anticipation.

Final details are still being worked out, but the Hexeford Ducks Unlimited fund raising turkey

Labrador puppy who has hac six months of intensive training on now to sniff out marijuana, has been walking down school hallways here lately. His services have been used by the Dallas Independent School District and other area school districts - at $50-to $100 per school visit - in an attempt to discover marijuana on campus and to discourage youngsters from bringing some-thing extra in their lunch bags.

Ever since a group of parents suggested to the school board that Dallas experiment with the pot-sniffing dog, school district officials said, they have approached the entire matter with extreme caution.

"We've been through the lockers. We don't go into the cars," said Bob Bourdene, director of student discipline for the DISD. If marijuana is found in a locker, he said, the student will not be arrested but will be counseled, with his parents in attendance.

Archery Deer Hunt Open

AUSTIN — Applications are being accepted for archery deer hunts to be held during October on the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Gus Engeling Wildlife Management Area in Anderson County.

The deadline is 5 p.m. Aug. 28 for submitting applications. A public drawing will be held in Austin at 10 a.m. Aug. 31 during which 300 permits will be drawn for the hunts slated for Oct. 22-24, 25-27 and 29-31. A $20 fee will be charged for each permit issued.

Permits will be issued for two-day hunts, with a one deer limit. A two-day hunt begins at noon on the first day and ends at noon on the third day.

Instruction sheets and application forms may be obtained by writing department headquarters at 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Tex. 78744, or by contacting one of the regional law enforcement offices.

Officials stress that public hunts are part of an ongoing wildlife management program and not necessarily indicative of: high deer populations. They also stress that all participating hunters must visibly wear a minimum of 400 square inches of daylight fluorescent orange material with 144 square inches apearing on both the chest and

The Engeling area is located 20 miles northwest of Palestine on Highway 287.

Archery deer hunting also will be permitted on two other management areas, but with no permits or fees required. These are the Pay Mayse area in Lamar County and the Dam "B" area in Jasper and Tyler-Counties. Both are Oct. 1-31 and both have a one buck limit.

New State Park Open

AUSTIN - Mustang Island State Park opened to the public June 29, after several postponements caused by construction delays. Already it is becoming popular, according to Park Superintendent Tommy Hicks.

Many inquiries are being received, he said. On weekends the 48 available trailer sites are usually filled and the majority are taken on weekdays. These sites, available at $4 per night, are located just off the beach and have water, electricity and a central dump station. Reservations are advisable and may be made by writing Mustang Island State Park, Box 326, Port Aransas, Texas 78372 or phoning 512/749-5246.

A beach camping area has some 300 sites available at a charge of $3 per night. Restrooms, showers and fresh water are within 500 feet of each site. Also on the beach are 100 shaded picnic sites, conveniently near comfort stations and bathhouse. There is a $2 entrance fee for vehicular traffic but pedestrians are permitted free beach access. Barricades designate the 2.3 miles where through traffic is banned; also, state law requires all vehicles to be street legal. Mustang Island State Park. bought by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department in 1972, stretches 5.1 miles along the Gulf and covers 3,790 acres. It is split by a water exchange pass.

with the, 1.6-mile north side beach area and part of the south side undeveloped. Hicks said, even with the gasoline shortage, visitors have come from such distances as El Paso, Waco and Fort Worth and some from out of state. Inquiries. have been received from sponsors of an annual surfing contest for all of Texas and for a sailboat regatta, to hold events at the park. And more and more people in the region, he said, are being attracted to the park's clean and attractive beach.

ZIP! IT'S NAMED!

WASHINGTON (AP) - Whitcomb L. Judson, a Chicago engineer, filed the first patent for a "slide fastener" in 1883, but it failed to capture the public's fancy mainly because it tended to catch on things or spring open at disquieting moments in alarming places.

It wasn't until 20 years later that the zipper became dependable when a Swede, Dr. Gideon Sundback, attached the matching metal locks to a flexible backing, according to IPO Inc., a non-profit public educational group dedicated to preserving the patent system as an incentive to innovation and crea-

79-80 HUNTING GUIDE OUT

LUBBOCK - The new Guide to 1979-1980 Texas Hunting & Sport Fishing Regulations should be available soon at license vendors and P&WD offices across the state.

The 24-page guide for sportsmen will contain a summary on various licenses, permits and tags, fur-bearing animals, protected and endangered species, lake regulations, general saltwater sport fishing regulations, and general hunting and freshwater sport fishing regulations.

Each of the 254 counties across Texas are listed alphabetically with the various hunting dates and fishing rules affecting the sportsman in each

The counties are also listed as being either regulatory (governed by P&WD regulations established by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission) or non-regulatory (governed by general law or special statute both established by legislative

Each county is also designated by a number and letter so it can be located on the state map in the centerfold of the guide.

P&WD regional and district law enforcement offices are sportsmen to visit or call for fish, or water safety violation.

Included on the back cover is a pictoral guide showing the white bass, striped bass, and the hybrid bass. These fish have become so popular and numerous in Texas that most anglers now have a chance at catching one or more of the three species. Hunters will note that quail bag and possession limits are not included in this guide. These regulations will be set at a later date after the current population of birds are determined by the P&WD. Regulations for migratory game birds are also scheduled to be set by P&W Commission action later in August and are not contained in this guide. These regulations will appear in a separate guide.

AUSTIN - New state fish 176 1/2-pound broadbill on July records have been established in the broadbilled swordfish and amberiack categories. The State Fish Records Committee of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has certified a 286-pound broadbilled swordfish caught by James Lee Culver of Matagorda. The fish was caught 85 miles southeast of Port Aransas Aug.

The new swordfish record is the latest in a flurry of activity in the swordfish category, as the record has been broken three times in 13 months, and a fourth fish would have been a state record if caught only a few weeks earlir.

Culver's fish surpasses the current record held by Joan Pulley of Seabrook who caught a ger of the gods.

Shop for Big Game Handgun

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) - As that a second shot isn't needed more and more states open big game hunting to handgunners. shopping for a suitable firearm has become a sometimes baffling, and expensive, proposition for the newcomer.

Many states, such as Colorado, have taken away some of the mystery of selection by setting certain minimums. In Colorado a hunter must use at least a .357-caliber Magnum with a minimum barrel length of four

For the hunter not hampered by budgetary problems, a .44caliber Magnum with target sights and stocks is a logical choice. The now famous Smith & Wesson Model 29 is a favorite, but often is sold for as much as $500 by some dealers who claim they have to pay retail prices or more to get them. Ruger has designs on this market with a stainless .44caliber Magnum revolver due for release soon at a price of less than $350. There are other options available, though, for the shootist on a budget who can be happy with less gun that still qualifies when tapped on the shoulder by a game warden. When a spending ceiling of less than $200 is applied, the field is narrowed considerably. Buyers then can choose from domestic utility models produced by S&W, Ruger, Charter

Arms or Abilene. First, the hunter must decide whether he wants a single action or a double action. Simply explained, the shooter must cock the hammer each time he shoots a single action. A double action can be fired by pulling the trigger through a full cycle which cocks the hammer, then lets it fall. The double action also can be fired single action. A double action in the hands of a true shootist is faster if a . Games was held in Athens in second shot is needed. Single action enthusiasts will argue that often if the handgunner knows what he's doing.

An S&W Model 13, the cheapest domestically manufactured .357-caliber Magnum available today, was tested and found to meet the rigors required of a hunting

The Model 13 has a 4-inch heavy barrel, is double action and comes with non-adjustable sights built into the frame and

The Model 13 comes in either blue or nickel finish, the former available at a suggested retail of $147.50 and the latter at $161. The Model 13 was used in simulating a test which requires the Colorado handgunner to put four of six shots into an 11-inch circle at 50 yards shooting from any natural position without artificial rest.

A 6-inch barreled Ruger with adjustable sights also was put through the paces and, not surprisingly, produced a somewhat tighter group. However, the stainless Ruger is more expensive, retailing at about $192.

For the hunter wanting to take advantage of the growing opportunities to hunt with a pistol, the plain vanilla Model 13 offers a chance to get in on the sport for much less than $200.

The purchase is just the start. though. A handgunner who plans to hunt big game must practice regularly. Only through constant drill can a shooter be relatively sure he can place his shots with certainty.

Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony To Attract Pioneers In Rodeo

By KERRIE STEIERT Women's Editor

Five of the seven women to be inducted into the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center will be here next weekend for the formal induction ceremonies Saturday evening. The induction service will be the highlight of the Hall of Fame weekend, Aug. 16-18, which will include three performances of the professional All-Girl Rodeo, a parade, art show, barbecue,old fiddler's contest, open calf

NARCISSA WHITMAN

Narcissa Prentiss married Dr. Marcus Whitman, February 18. 1836, in Angelica, New York. Narcissa Whitman began a journey unheard of for females on her honeymoon. This trip would take her to Oregon, as the first white woman ever to cross the Rockies.

across the Allegheny Mountains. Most people were afraid of the speedy train. It sometimes got up to 15 miles per hour. Marcus asked Narcissa if she wanted to take the stage instead, she replied, "And be jolted over steep mountain passes! Not to mention missing a ride on the first railway across the Allegheny Mountains. No. thank you!" So they took the railway this part of the journey.

Narcissa wrote home, "Husband had a cup tied to his saddle in which he milked what we wanted to drink; this was our supper." Their beds were their saddle blankets spread on the ground over their Indian rubber cloaks. The saddles were their pillows: The outside prairie stars, their cover.

The missionaries and fur traders crossed the Rocky Mountains by the south pass. This pass was much easier to take than the north pass used by Lewis and Clark. The party had Springs when they saw a band of Indians riding over the brow of a slope. They were the Nez Perce, the Indians the missionaries were to teach.

September 1, 1836, they arrived in Vancouver. While at Vancouver Marcus told Narcissa they had mapped out the general location of their missions. They were to be in the Walla Walla Fort area asplanned. Marcus said Dr. McLaughlin had invited the ladies to stay there for the winter. Then the men would return in the spring after they had built a cabin. Proper care was what Narcissa needed now; they were to have a child in roping and two dances.

The induction ceremony will take place during the final night of rodeo competition (Saturday) in the Hereford Riders Club Arena with radio personality Tumbleweed Smith (Bob Lewis of Big Spring) officiating. Rodeo Parade Marshal Dianne Pingree, publisher of "Texas Woman" magazine will be on hand to present plaques to each of the honorees.

The seven 1979 inductees are Narcissa Whitman (1809-1847). Nancy Binford, Vera McGinnis, Mary Parks, Reba Perry Blakely, Isora DeRacy Young and Dora Waldrop. Except for Mrs. Whitman, all of the inductees are surviving and five will be present for this weekend's festivities. Mrs. McGinnis, who is now 88, was unable to make the trip from her home in California.

Twenty-one women have been inducted into the Hall of Fame each year since its inception in 1976, making a total of 28 honorees after this year's ceremony. Honorees from past years are Jackie Worthington, Sissy Thurman, Alice Greenough Orr. Margaret Owens Montgomery, Sacajawea, Fern Sawyer, Blanche Altizer Smith, Jewel Duncan, Kathryn Binford. Bernice McLaughlin. Lucille Mulhall, Rhonda Coy Sedgwick, Mike Ried Settle, Synda Yokley Woodyard, Enid Justin, Karen Womack Vold, Wanda Harper Bush, Margie Greenough Henson, Fave Johnson Blesing, Fannie Sperry Steele and Tad Lucas.

Five honorees from past years will join the 1979 inductees Friday evening for the annual reunion supper at the Hall of Fame. Special guests will include Fern Sawyer of Nogal, N.M., Bernice Mc-Glaughlin of Des Moines, N.M. Jackie Worthington of Jacksboro, Tx., Rhonda Coy Sedgwick of Newcastle, Wyo. and Jewel Duncan of Toyah. Hostesses at the reunion supper will be members of the welcome committee of the Women's Division, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

At 9 a.m. Saturday morning, the honorees will be invited to a coffee in the E. B. Black Historical House and, afterwards, will tour the County Museum. Vera McGinnis

VERA McGINNIS

Vera McGinnis is one of the few pioneer cowgirls around today who can actually tell us how it was with the cowgirls in the rodeo arena back in the early part of the century. She pioneered the rodeos and bullrings, and her career spanned a generation and led her from Wild West Show to rodeo to circus, back and forth: From a homestead in Wyoming to a cabin nestled in the Sierra Foothills: from the back of a stubborn burro all the way to the great arenas and theartres of New York, London, Europe, and the Far East. While in the far east she did two command performances for the Sultan of Johore. She has performed doing champion winning tricks and displaying horsemanship in more different countries than

For Vera McGinnis, championships and the trophies and prize money went hand in hand with heartaches and broken bones. She says her real prize was "A world full of color and experience found in no other walk of life." Vera is remembered as the girl who rode the fastest and dared the

DORA WALDROP

Dora was born of pioneer settlers of the Oklahoma Panhandle. She learned to ride at the age of 3 on a retired coyote-chasing horse that form-erly was used by her father to rid his cattle herd of the calf-eating critters.

Ranchers were desperate for "cow savvy help" during WWII so Dora would help coutry friends move herds of cut-outsale cattle on week-ends. Dora was now Mrs. Ed Waldrop, and her helping her friends on weekends led to the purchase of Amarillo Streak, a ranch trained gelding, smart enough to learn any game. Amarillo Streak and Dora thus began a winning career in rodeos, playdays, and horseshows...many faithful years of training horses and competition for Dora. Barrel racing was being introduced into the local rodeos about this time, and Dora was the first to persuade the Amarillo Range Riders to include girls barrel racing in their events.

1951 was the only year to see Dora injured by a horse. She then turned to writing articles. Several were sold under the pen name of Dora Road. "The Western Horseman," "Horse Lovers." "Quarter Horse Journal." published "Condition Your Horse, First"; "Training for Barrel Races': "Youngsters. Train Your Own"; "Square Dancing on Horse-

Soon Dora was riding again and in 1958 barrel racing became so competitive that Dora asked Bob Marrs to make her a special barrel racing saddle. He did; It was 20 pounds lighter than the stock saddle and enabled Dora and Pecos to win many competitions.

Texas horsewoman. Dora's horses have been great individual performers which were winners in their particular events. As one retired there was always a teplacement to continue on in almost perfect performance. This speaks well for Dora as a trainer. She has a love for each of her horses, and they in turn give her their best effort.

Dora Waldrop is a standout

Dora is still competing in horse shows and rodeos. She says, "When I get too old to climb on a horse. I'll get a stepladder." Dora will be a contestant in this year's (1979) Hall of Fame All Girl Rodeo August 16, 17, 18, in Hereford. She lives in Amarillo.

REBA PERRY BLAKELY

For the first time the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center is honoring a woman who is a historian. Reba Perry Blakely is a recognized researcher, author and authority of early days in the West. Her historical articles have appeared in a dozen western magazines.

For the last 36 years she has been researching and documenting the coming of the pioneer and the horse to the West. She is a member of the Historical Society of The National Cowboy Hall of Fame. She was trained for research by the State of California through their finance department, and all her writings have to be as accurate as possible.

Ms. Blakely not only is an accomplished author, she is also an accomplished horse woman. She grew up near Puyallup. Washington, and at age 11 she knew she wanted to be as talented with horses as the Drumbeller family of Walla Walla. They were beautiful. talented, and affluent...great there wasn't a big demand for women calf ropers then, but she liked it and would almost go hungry to feed calves to rope when practicing.

When Isora was told that she'd be inducted into the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame this year, she confessed that when she was a little girl her one wish was to grow up to be a cowgirl and to be in the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

To Exhibit Art

m. Loys Raymer of Dimmitt will be among 40 women artists displaying their work at the Western Heritage Art Show and Sale to be staged during the Hall of Fame Weekend, August 16-18. Until recently she lived at Odessa, Kerrville and Hosuton. Mrs. Raymer says that she is more intersted in painting the western people than the horses. She has turned in recent years to painting more portraits than any other subject. She has expressed a preference for faces with "rugged character." Exhibits of her work have been held in Austin, Houston and other Texas cities including the Plains Art Show at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame in May of this year.

The Wheatheart of the Nation Beauty contest originated at the Perryton Celebration of 1947. when the event was conceived as a way to call attention to the record breaking wheat crop that year when Ochiltree County produced 11.000.000 bushels of wheat, at that time 1

The first contest was held at the Celebration dance in the county warehouse in Perryton. and Miss Jean Watson of Borger was the winner.

The Wheatheart Beauty contest was held at the Perryton Celebration dance until 1945 when it outgrew those surroundings and was moved into the Perryton High School auditorium as a separate event.

The Wheatheart contest grew over the years and provided national publicity for the wheat industry as the Wheatheart's picture moved over Associated Press. United Press. and television channels.

For the first few years, cash prizes were given to the Wheatheart winner. In 1951 the first prize was an expense paid trip to Havana, Cuba. Later winners had trips to Florida and for a number of years the Wheatheart was honor guest at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, Canada. The Wheatheart was guest of honor at the Seattle World's Fair.

Several years ago the prize was changed to $1750 in college scholarships. Miss Wheatheart Club. Fellowship of Christian receives $1000 college scholarship. $500 college scholarship goes to the 1st runner-up, and $250 college scholarship goes to the 2nd runner-up.

> The Wheatheart of the Nation Beauty Pageant is now recognized as one of the top such events in the Southwest and attracts contestants who have won beauty titles and who make this an outstanding field.

The Wheatheart of the nation represents the entire wheat industry during the year of her reign and each winner serves as goodwill ambassador for the wheat industry.

Summertime always brings a motley collection of science fiction and horror movies with this season presenting the likes of "Alien," "Nightwing," "The Amityville Horror," "Dracula" and others. This onslaught of supernatural characters brought to mind a list of science fiction themes which we once compiled as a tribute to those monsters, maniacs and malevolents of every day life:

The Twilight Zone--Channel 19 on your CB radio. The Monster that Ate the World--Inflation.

Superman--A politician campaigning for office. The Man without a Head--That same politician after elected to office. The Creature from the Black Lagoon--Your son who couldn't resist "watching" while they blacktopped the pavement. The Amazing Man Who Glowed in the Dark--Your husband who tried to save money by repairing the electrical wiring himself. The Day of The Triffids--Your Venus Fly Trap plant, which suffered an overdose of fertilizer. Flying Saucers--A reality when your daughter, late for a date, is informed she must wash the dishes before leaving. The Body Snatchers--A father's impression of the boys who date his daughter. Dracula--Cleverly disguised as employees for the Internal Revenue Service. The Mad Scientist--The newlywed bride who endeavors to surprise her unsuspecting husband with her revised version of Hungarian goulash. Dr. Jekkyl and Mr. Hide--A before and after depiction of Dad upon learning that his birthday gift from Junior is a Great Dane puppy.

Curse of the Werewolf--Befalls your husband when he returns from vacation and discovers that he left the cord to his electric razor in the San Francisco Holiday Inn.

Attack of the Mole People--Occurs when your newborn baby gets his days and nights switched.

The Night Stalkers--Tom Snyder, Johnny Carson and Sermonette.

The Invisible Man--The boss when you're searching for him so that you can request a raise. Frankenstein--The boss when you've found him and requested a raise.

The Incredible Shrinking Man--Don Rickles when they let the hot air out.

The Haunting of Hill House--When news of Watergate broke on Capitol Hill.

The Thing that Came from the Sea--Howard

Whatever Happened to Baby Jane?--Frequently asked by Tarzan's mother-in-law.

The Outer Limits--The ceiling on the price of Arab Psycho--Anyone who cannot differentiate between science fiction and reality. Sometimes the case with newspaper columnists.

Native of Small Town, Mother Finds Hereford Good For Family

By DENISE SMITH Brand Staff Writer

Rosie Griffin, a young. attractive woman currently working on her degree in biology at West Texas State University and the mother of two daughters, states "Hereford is a nice town to raise a family, of course I'm a little prejudiced since I've lived here all my life. But I think the people really care about their town and the children here."

Mrs. Griffin, a graduate of Hereford High School, attended the University of Texas for a year and a half after which she married and began raising a family. Two years ago she started back to school at West Texas State University working on a degree in biology. She has a year and a half left before receiving her degree.

Being the daughter of Clarence Strange of 203 North Bennett, Mrs. Griffin is the wife of A.T. Griffin of 133 Oak. She is the mother of two daughters Jennifer, 17 and Amy, age 14. She is also the sister of two lodge, presently being leader of 16 senior girls. She recently returned from Camp Fire camp attending as leader of the nature department.

She is currently a CPR instructor and has been on the Miss Hereford Pageant committee for three years in the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

She has done volunteer work for the school district at Stanton Junior High and is a representative of Northwest Elementary School.

The civic-minded homemaker is a reader of fiction and historical novels having a minor in history, an avid plant lover, and a spectator of various

She enjoys yard work in general, and attends bridge parties. Having taken lessons in golf and tennis, Mrs. Griffin is increasing her athletic abilities.

As a family, the Griffins attend the First Baptist Church. They camp, waterski, attend movies, and dine out together describing themselves as very family oriented.

Graduating in 1960, Mrs. Griffin was involved in several school activities such as Future Teachers, class officers, and

"Since I was so active in high school I encourage my daughters to be also," commented Mrs. Griffin, who finds it important to be involved with other people and active in community happenings.

Mrs. Griffin was married in 1961 meeting her husband while working for Griffin and Brand. Their first daughter was born in 1962 and the youngest in 1964 both being delivered at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

As the mother of two, Mrs. Griffin stated, "A mother needs to be interested in what her children do. She needs to encourage them and be available when they need her.

Working outside the home and raising a family would be extremely harder," she added, emphasizing the importance of a mother being with her children.

After receiving her degree from college, Mrs. Griffin is considering a teaching career. But for now she states, "college is really fun."

Mrs. Griffin shared with the Brand two recipes suggested for bridge parties or any special occasions:

BE 'ENERGY SMART' ... WITH UTILITY RECORDS "

Be "energy smart" with utility records, especially in buying or selling a home. They give a quick picture of a home's energy usage, and they tell you about local utility rates.

IDEA FOR SELLERS

If you're selling your home. consider making a summary sheet about your utility costs for prospective buyers. It's easy to make a summary sheet using past utility bills. Just write down two figures for each month during the past year -the amount of electricity and gas used and the total cost each month. Electricity amounts appear on your monthly bill as "kilowatt hours." and gas amounts appear on your bill as "cubic feet" or "therms." Energy consumption reflects your home's energy-conserving features, the heating and cooling facilities and the energy-use habits of your

IDEAS FOR BUYERS

If you're buying a home, ask solving any billing problems questions about utility costs and amounts of energy used. Ask if you can see copies of past utility bills. If that isn't possible, ask for an estimate of energy amounts used and cost. Ask about the energy-use habits of family members and the appliances in the home. especially those that will stay with the house. Also ask about any energy-saving features of the home, such as insulation, caulking, window types, heating and cooling features and any others that may exist. Also notice window exposures--westfacing windows need special protection from afternoon sun in

NEW-HOME BUYERS New-home buyers may have more difficulty estimating utility costs. Ask your real estate agent or builder for information, or ask others already living in the neighborhood. Call the utility companies to obtain specific rate information.

MAKE 'ENERGY CHECK-UP' Once in a home, keep accurate records of utility costs and energy amounts you use. Read electric and gas meters once a month. Read them even more often if you want to check the effectiveness of any "energy changes" you make -- such as a new appliance, a new energysaving feature or a new energy-use habit. Jot down the information on your calendar or some other handy place. Then you're ready to compare and make changes that will save energy and money as needed. Also, this system is helpful in

Church of Christ Introduces Minister

The elders of the Central Church of Christ have announced that Wilson Wallace is their new minister

He is a native of Texas, being born in Denton. He has worked prior to Hereford in Woodbridge Virginia. He attended the University of Texas and graduated from the University of Oklahoma.

His early preaching was in evangelistic work and after his marriage he worked with local congregations. He has preached in 25 states and held 250 gospel meetings:

A special feature of Wallace's work is in teaching Bible classes in homes, using a series of charts to illustrate the lessons.

Wallace is the fourth generation of ministers in the Church of Christ: his father. Foy E. Wallace Jr., a noted debator and writer; his grandfather. Foy E. Wallace Sr., a Texas frontier preacher of the gospel, and his great - grandfather. Thomas Knox Wallace who settled in East Texas in 1849 to farm and preach.

Wallace married Peggy Mc-Gahee who was raised in Celeste, near Greenville in North Texas. They have four children and one grandchild. The eldest. Julie, is married to Thomas McCormack who is principal of the school at Holliday, Tenn.

The eldest son, John, is married and lives in Corsicana. Foy III is in school at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos and Jamey is at home in junior high school.

The Wallace's are not strangers to West Texas, for in their early married years they's resided in Plainview

The IBM 5110 Computing System, with a price that starts at under $18,000, is proving to be what many business firms need to get started with their own small computer:

IBM invites you to an "open house" to see how a small computer can help you manage a growing business. You can drop in whenever you like on the continuous demonstrations and presentations.

You'll discover how the 5110 can handle such jobs as payroll, accounts receivable; inventory control and general ledger, as well as provide timely management reports. And how your own people can learn to run it in just a few days.

Make a note now on your calendar to stop by the 5110 "open house" at a time convenient for you. Or for more information, call us at the number below.

Let's hear it out here today for all the subs who are filling in for your paperboy while he or she is on vacation.

Those brave little bands of stand-ins roaming around cul-de-sacs with an illegible list in one hand, driving a bicycle with the other, and balancing 65 papers on the handlebars.

It's time to pay tribute to the patron saint of newspaper subs everywhere...Margaret Howell, Toledo, O. Margaret was your basic, full-time mother until her 14-year-old son sustained a neck injury during the aftermath of the 1978 Ohio blizzard and was unable to deliver on his paper route.

Not to worry. Her son had a "system" whereby the route was color-coded.

Red: Skip the first house on the corner partially facing the third hole of the golf course.

Black: Deposit paper in milk box on left side of the house.

Yellow: Vacation one week. Green: Vacation two weeks, etc.

Super Mom Howell then donned two newspaper bags, each weighing one half ton, and stepped from her porch into the snow. She would never have been heard from again had it not been for her young daughter. After two hours they were frozen. They also had three papers left over.

When Mrs. Forsham phoned to inquire, "Don't I get a paper tonight?" Margaret checked her color-coded list and informed her she was not to return from her vacation until next Monday. If she wanted a paper, she'd better tunnel on down to the house with the first dormer on the second-story Beaten and depressed, our heroine did the only thing left to do...put a neck brace on her son and shoved him out into the snow to re-deliver the route. The first customer had the audacity to say, "You poor boy. I'm so glad you're back because the service has been lousy since you're been gone. (Margaret Howell is being personally sponsored for

More Calves From Superior Cows

Embryo Transfers Offering Vast Possibilities For Improving Local Dairyman's Milking Herd

By JIM STEIERT Brand Farm Editor

While most dairymen are concerned primarily with keeping the daily milk production of their cows at a high level. N.R. Jones of Hereford is keeping his eye not only on the milk tank. but on calf output per cow as well.

Jones has hit upon a method which can virtually double the number of calves dropped by the top producing cows in his herd, providing a rapid avenue of improvement for his overall dairy operation here.

The local dairyman has resorted to embryo transfers from a superior milking animal in his herd to grade heifers.

According to Jones, he administered fertility drugs to a donor first calf heifer and 10 recipients, then waited 15 days and repeated the fertility drug Following another three day time lapse, the donor was artificially inseminated with semen from one of the top Holstein bulls in Canada.

A week later, six embryos were non-surgically removed from the donor and implanted in recipients by cutting a hole in their side and implanting the enibryo on the uterine horn;

The local dairyman revealed that two recipients failed to host the transfer and one carried a calf six months and aborted, but three heifers calved successfully dropping two heifers and one bull calf.

- The original donor is now expected to drop a full-term calf within the next 20 days, giving the donor a whopping calf production total for its age.

And what has Jones smiling about the whole thing is that the donor cow has an impressive daily milk production average of 75 pounds. This superior performance characteristic is highly heritable .-- Thus, his original cow has the potential to place a number of strong milkers back in his herd.

Jones is now planning to repeat the whole procedure with the same cow 60 days after she calves again.

'As far as I know, this is the first time such a program has been used on a dairy herd in the Hereford area. It's a fast way to improve your herd when compared with more conventional manners," commented

A veteran of some 22 years of dairving in the Hereford area. Jones came here from Greenville, where he also operated a

He currently has a herd of some 55 dairy cows, although at its peak, his operation here involved a 120 head herd.

Jones has utilized artificial insemination in his dairy breeding program for 15 years. and saw the embryo transfer process as a viable method of markedly improving production. while getting maximum use of the superior animals in his herd.

"It's pretty basic. The average U.S. production per dairy cow is 11,000 pounds of milk. My donor cow will produce 25,000 pounds Over a normal life span for a cow, about five years, you'd expect four calves from the animal, two of them bulls. Under this system. I've had four calves already from the donor cow, going on five, and she's only three years old." commented Jones.

"A good cow has seven generations of very good and excellent cows ahead of her. She can transmit superior traits to many calves, and if that cow is superior most of her offspring will be superior too," he continued.

According to Jones, if the transfer system works out as well as his first impressions indicate it might, every animal in his dairy herd could be the progeny of only three cows in as little as five years.

While embryo transfers are occupying the attention of Jones, he is also intrigued with the idea of sexing semen used in Al procedures, and currently has a bull at the Lokey Animal Clinic in Lubbock.

current calf crop from the female populations in spermatozoa, giving stockmen a choice of sex ratio of 80 percent and above in future progeny of their parent stock. Jones knows such sex differentiation could prove particularly valuable to dairymen, who seek a high proportion of female calves.

The Hereford dairyman has been using sexed semen in his program for four months and has found that the conception rate is comparable to unsexed

"It will be another nine months beore we find out if we come up with 80 percent from my very best herd cows females." Jones indicated with

"Just a small percentage of males are preferred in dairying. A registered Holstein female is worth five times what a male going to the fattening pens will bring." he continued.

Explaining the procedure at the Lokey Clinic in simplified form. Jones indicated that three processes are utilized to separate male and female populations in semen by researchers in Lubbock.

Visual observation through powerful microscopes, metering of the respiration rate of spermarazoa to differentiate between male and female are two methods. Female populations are also noticeably slower in movement, and can be recognized by this characteristic. according to Jones.

intends to utilize the results of embryo transfers, and any successes that might be forthcoming from sex differentiation specifically to improve he concluded.

"I'm sure there would be a good market for the heifer calves, once I get some consistency in the program. but I probably won't be turning loose of any of them for a while. I plan to maintain my own herd. raise calves, and lease the milking rights to the herd to another individual for now," stated Jones.

"I feel like I can combine the advantages of having access to semen of top dairy bulls through artificial insemination with radically increased calf output through embryo transfers, and possible sex selection of the offspring. This can mean production of much improved dairy stock in greater numbers. in addition to meaning higher milk production when the progeny of such efforts go to the milking barn." he opined.

Jones is another of the local milk producers who agree that the dairy industry is on the upswing in the Deaf Smith County area.

'There's no doubt in my mind that this is the best area in the U.S. for livestock. Dairying could very well grow significantly, and has already shown some growth here in the last couple of years. The energy situation may have a lot to do with future milk is going to Dallas. Fort Worth and Houston. With the For the present. Jones price of fuel and the trip to the market area involving 700 or 800 miles, fuel cost and availability could have a lot to do with any future growth of dairying here.'

Embryo Transplant Progeny

Hereford dairyman N.R. Jones has a time keeping these three dairy calves corraled. Although they look much the same as any other Holstein heifers and bulls, they are the product of an embryo transplant project undertaken by Jones in an effort to improve the performance of his milking herd over a short period of time. Jones is among the first local dairymen to work with embryo transplants. He's convinced he can radically increase the calf output of his best dairy cows while retaining top milk production through procedure. [Brand photo by Jim Steiert] .

Fees to Increase For Soil Testing

irrigation water tests conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service soil testing laboratories will increase Sept.

The increase in fees is necessitated by the increase in the costs of chemicals, equipment and labor, said Dr. Dale Pennington, soil chemist in charge of the soil testing laboratory at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center here. It is the first fee increase in several years. Pennington

Beginning Sept. 1, the Extension laboratories will charge $4 for each regular soil fertility test, which now costs $2. A test of soil fertility plus testing for zinc, iron and manganese will cost $7 instead of $5. Testing for soil salinity. which now costs $4, will increase to $7. Irrigation water tests will cost $8 instead of $5.

Even with the fee increase. these tests are still a good investment for the farmer. rancher and homeowner. Pennington said. The increasing costs of fertilizers and fuel used in applying them make it more important than ever to know exactly what is needed and in what amounts to improve the soil for maximum yield, he said. Campbell and Ward were mentioned as possible candidates for Outstanding Agribusinessman, while Schlabs and Urbanczyk were mentioned as candidates for Outstanding Area Young Farmer.

Local applications for the area awards program are due August 27. according to FFA advisor Jess Robinson.

Chapter members selected mid-February as the preferred time period for a shortcourse on oxy-acetylene welding. The shortcourse, to be staged as an educational effort for local YF members, would be held at the HHS ag building; according to tentative plans.

Members advised Robinson to make contact with YF representatives making the program available and request the February course date.

The annual Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show and arrangements for the event were also discussed by members.

Ward was appointed to make arrangements for a donation to the Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Reserves for security patrols at the Bull Barn and Little Bull Barn while livestock are kept at that area for the annual show.

Members were also informed of the deposit policy of the county concerning the use of the Bull Barn and other facilities at the site, and the need to sign a contract for the use of the buildings.

An apparent mixup concerning the dates of this year's stock show and scheduling of the use of the building has been cleared up, and the local chapter is creasing. again planning on its original show dates of January 24, 25 samples. The lab here serves 82 and 26, according to Schlabs.

CORN

Southwestern cornborer egg lay is underway in all corn growing areas of the Texas Panhandle.

True armyworms have been observed in corn in the Dallam County area. Most of those worms were found in fields that have grass problems or in fields that had received hail damage with the subsequent weeds and grass coming in under the corn. The armyworms for the most part are still in the grass, for very little damage was observed on the corn. Producers need to check for this pest in the grassy areas of their fields. The armyworm will not be very active during the day so look for the pest in the grass, under trash on the ground, or under the leaf sheaths of the corn. This pest

The Tierra Blanca Soil & Water Conservation District is losing a good hand as Ed Blackwell departs to take up a new job as District Conservationist over Panhandle way, beginning

Not that we begrudge him the opportunity for advancement, because Ed has earned it.

My motives are greedy, I guess. I hate to see a good news source go. Ed has been real good to keep me in the know on what's going on conservation-wise around this part of the country, as all the other fellows over at the SCS office have been and will continue to be.

Ed has come by and taken me out on stories ranging from Russian olives to wooly loco and dozens of topics in between in the time I've been at the farm desk here at The Brand. He's made my job easier and interesting, and I appreciate that.

I know all the folks at the SCS office, the SWCD board members and all of the local farmers who have worked with him join me in wishing Ed the very best.

TURN

Maybe you wear a source out after so long. maybe not, but my feeling on the matter is when you have a gold mine, gather in the nuggets.

The latest trip to the farm garnered us another of those "nuggets" last weekend.

From the trip, we came back with this bit of sage "When a man offers you ten dollars more for your horse than he's really worth, you better sell him, because ill fate will befall the critter if you don't.'

Dad allows as how this is so, basing his statement on the experiences of his youth.

Seems as how the family had in its possession a fine young stud horse out of good stock that caught the eye of many a passer-by.

Dad indicated the horse was a promising specimen, just coming into its own, really.

He hadn't graduated to full-fledged status as one of the farm working horses just yet though, because he hadn't made the trip to Tulia and back to the family spread. That jaunt to Tulia was the ultimate test of the nature of a horse back in those days, so Dad says.

Anyway, folks were mighty impressed with the horse, and more than one man made an offer to buy him.

There was one fellow who just had to have the young stud horse...Couldn't take no for an answer...offered $10 far and away above what the critter was worth, wanted him so bad.

But, the prominent thinking was that a fellow ought to keep a horse if he was really worth that

So the stud horse stayed at the home spread, and the prospective buyer went away minus the pony of his dreams.

I guess things have a way of working themselves out. Dad tells how the prize horse was penned with some other animals that night.

One of the lowly mules slipped open the gate and did his usual routine of backing up to the granary. The mule used his rear drive assembly to get in his licks on the door to make some grain fall out for his own consumption.

On this occasion, however, the kicks were delivered with unusual relish, and the door yielded to superior force, breaking and unleashing an avalanche of grain.

Needless to say, this champion example of the sublime in equine was the first one with his head in the grain bin.

The horse that had brought a buyer's bid $10 in excess of his worth filled his gut with grain, foundered, and was no more for the scene around that spread.

Now, I don't know just exactly what moral you could draw from Dad's tale of the horse that should have been sold, but I think there's a message there somewhere...

Maybe it's another example of the fact of life that no matter how smart you think you've been in any trade, some jasshonkey is bound to come along and show you up.

My wife Kerrie and I mark our third anniversary Tuesday. Doesn't seem that long, but time passes quickly when you've got a good partner, I guess.

Anyway, I just thought I'd say how much it means to me for all that Kerrie is, everything she's' given me, and that I realize just how priceless my 'better half' truly is.

I know it's not easy being the other half of a cooperative with a fellow who spends much of his time dreaming about hunting and fishing, and the rest of it rambling off on a turnrow somewhere, but I know there's no better partner with which to share the life around my spread.

Water District to Participate In Tax Appraisal Districts

The High Plains Water District Board of Directors adopted a resolution during their regular August meeting to participate in each of the county-wide tax appraisal districts soon to be established within the Water District's 15 county service area. The decision will mean a substantial savings to the Water District which would otherwise be required, as an ad valorem taxing unit, to contract and pay fees on a per parcel basis to an appraiser for each county within its boundaries outside of Lubbock County.

The board also discussed Texas' new tax guidelines implementing HB 1060 and figuring a value-in-water deduction for agricultural land which is taxed on productivity rather than on market value. Value-in-water is not related to land purchase price, nor is it the same as a cost-in-water income tax depletion allowance. All irrigators whose agricultural land is appraised on productivity would be eligible for the value-in-water depletion allowance on federal income tax

FCIC Seeks Comment

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is seeking comment on the proposed regulations for insuring cotton in Deaf Smith County. Written data, comment, or views must be submitted by not later than August 17. 1979, to be sure of consideration.

deduction for the value of water used in agricultural land will be figured on a five year sliding average using the difference in sale price between irrigated and dry land, beginning with 1980 figures.

Information required to compute groundwater depreciation values would include current estimates of the value of water (the difference in the average selling price of dryland and irrigated land). quantities of underground water present on a parcel, and rate of decline.

The High Plains Water District has been compiling data and constructing maps on saturated thickness and decline rates within its boundaries as a part of its cost in water income tax depletion program since 1966. The Board is anticipating. the need for this data in the wider area of the High Plains and the possibility that the District would be requested to provide the required information to the appraisal districts. Board members are currently exploring options. costs, and manpower required for providing such data.

directed the District staff to begin a public awareness campaign to alert irrigators to the possible hazards and potential danger of chemically contaminated groundwater drained or seeping back into wells because of worn or malfunctioning check valves on automated irrigation systems.

Don Smith, District assistant manager, related details of two costly incidents where unchecked backflow of chemicals into underground water supplies fatally poisoned livestock and threatened the welfare of families. Appreciating the seriousness of the issue, but seeking to avoid adopting new regulations at this time, the board preferred to use educational channels to make irrigators aware of the need for caution when using their irrigation distribution systems to apply chemicals as a part of their farming operation.

The board also heard that this year's cost in water income tax depletion program for assigning decline values to individual parcel claims is being expanded. It will include the remaining counties of the District (Cochran, Hale, Lynn and Crosby) and no further decline maps will be used.

Visitor from 'Down Under' Finds 'Hoppers Problem Too

By JIM STEIERT Brand Farm Editor

Even the land "down under" isn't immune to the depredations of the pesky grasshopper, according to Stephen Monkton. 30. a wheat and sunflower farmer from New South Wales who visited the Hereford area Friday as part of his own personal agriculture education gathering tour.

Hoppers have been a particular problem in the Panhandle this year, but according to Monkton, the has taken on international proportions.

"It's terribly bad at home. I haven't seen such numbers of grasshoppers in my life. There are so many they cover up the road only a few miles from my home," the visitor explained.

Monkton is concerned with much the same problem that confronts the American grain farmer--high production costs offered for his product.

hoping to find ideas here in this country which will help me get more production out of my wheat acreage," he continued.

Monkton farms some 2,000 acres of wheat and sunflowers. and operates 3,000 acres of rangeland which support a herd of Hereford cattle.

An average yearly rainfall of 26 inches makes dryland wheat farming a bit more reliable in his home area than it is in the Panhandle, and his wheat crop will often produce an enviable problem with the pesky critters 36 bushels per acre, while sunflowers will yield 1,000 pounds per acre.

Although sheep have been a part of Monkton's agriculture program, he has turned to cattle, feeling he can take better advantage of his native grass and sown oat pastures with less labor in this manner.

Wise Management Can Cut Farm Tax

COLLEGE STATION -Manging farm and ranch income properly is vital to managing one's income tax liability.

Dr. Ashley Lovell, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, emphasizes wise management of all types of income during the current tax Often livestock sales can cause problems in income management, says Lovell.

In 1977 and 1978, many Texas cattlemen were forced to sell excessive numbers of breeding livestock because of the drought. Normally, any gain realized would be recognized for income tax purposes. However, due to forced sales caused by the drought, if replacements are purchased within two years of the year of forced sale. producers can defer paying tax on the gain.

Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loan proceeds are considered as income the year they are received or the year a commodity is sold, whichever the producer chooses. The producer who chooses the first option can influence his taxable income situation by properly timing his commodity's entry into the CCC loan program. Once the decision is made, the producer must have IRS permission to change his election. Lovell explains.

According to the economist, a loss from a commodity hedging futures transaction is considered a necessary business expense. However, a speculative futures contract results in a short-term or long-term capital gain or loss. During 1979, a speculator should consider the six-month holding period required to establish a long-term capital gain or loss from liquidating a futures market

The effect of additional off-farm income on an individual's tax liability situation should also be considered in income management. Such income may affect one's social security tax liability and future

social security benefits.

A related concern is whether or not the off-farm income will enable one to "income average," says Lovell. Unless off-farm income offsets a poor vield or commodity price situation, income averaging may be necessary. On the other hand, a taxpayer may not qualify for income averaging if there is no off-farm income. Regardless, a taxpayer should compare this year's developing income situation against last year's in managing one's income tax liability.

The economist encourages producers to consult a tax accountant or attorney regarding business details. . -----

Stephen Monkton of New South Wales looks over material on Arrowhead Mills during a stopover in Hereford. Monkton, who manages his family's wheat, sunflower and cattle farm, has been touring the U.S. picking up ideas on agriculture methods that could mean higher production in his own operation. The visitor indicated that high production costs and low markets for wheat are problems for farmers in his own country, just as they are for American men of the land. [Brand photo by Jim Steiert]

DEAR GEORGE 'M SORRY

We are long time friends, and I hardly know how to tell you this--I know that you are in Real Estate and remember that you were Best Man at my wedding And George, I remember when you rushed my wife to the hospital when ou first baby arrived since I was out of town visiting my sick mother. And, yes I'm sorry about the dent I put in the fender of your new car when you so gracion loaned it to me last month. All of this makes it hard for me to tell you that I have ust listed my home for sale with FIRST REALTY because they have such errific sales exposure which I really need

4-14-tfc

George, FIRST REALTY is a member of the HOMES FOR LIVING network, which brings buying prospects from over 25,000 Real Estate Professionals in all 50 states plus Canada. FIRST REALTY has competent, FULL TIME REALTORS who can offer both new and used HOME WARRANTIES. Their. courtesy and enthusiasm is fantastic and I know that my home will sell in record time, at Full Market Price. George, I know it sounds almost too good to be true, but if you will call 364-6565 and ask for any member of the "FIRST TEAM" you'll be as convinced as I was, and I know you'll understand and still be my friend.

DEAR LESTER

UNDERSTAND!!

5-243-tfc

our wife to the hospital when your first child was born, because you were siting your mother, who was III. I can even forgive you for denting my fender nth when I loaned you my new cat.

When I first learned you had listed your home for sale with FIRST REALTY, I must confess, I was a little upset. But, Lester, I took your advice and called FIRST REALTY at 364-6565, and isited with one of the "FIRST TEAM" Realtors, and I have to agree...you're right: They have one of the finest advertising programs, I've seen, and they are member of Multiple Listing service. The people at FIRST REALTY really mpressed me with their professional knowledge and conscientious attitude. I now your home will be sold in the shortest possible time, and you'll receive the m price. Lester, we are still Friends, and I'm CONVINCED, as a matter of fact, I'm having my Real Estate license transferred to FIRST REALTY.

Today In History

Today is Sunday, Aug. 12, the 224th day of 1979. There are 141 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1898, the peace protocol ending the Spanish-American War was signed after hostilities lasting three months and 22 days.

On this date: In 1530, troops of the Holy Roman Empire restored the Italian city of Florence to the Medici family.

In 1658, a guard of eight men, probably was the first police force in America, was established in the Dutch colony of

New Amsterdam. 1851. Isaac Singer of Pittstown, N.Y., was granted a patent on his sewing machine. In 1941. President Franklin Roosevelt and British Prime Minister Winston Churchill met at sea to draft the Atlantic Charter.

In 1970, West Germany and the Soviet Union signed a nonaggression pact in Moscow and hailed the accord as marking a new era in their relations. In 1977, the first test flight of the U.S. space shuttle took place as the craft was launched from a Boeing 747 over California's Mojave Desert.

Ten years ago: Roman Catholics. Protestants and police were clashing in Londonderry in the worst outbreak of violence in Northern Ireland in 30 years.

Five years ago: President Gerald Ford made a televised appearance before a joint session of Congress three days after taking office and called for restraint in government spending to help control inflation.

One year ago: The National Center for Disease Control said researchers had found apparent Legionnaires' Disease bacteria in water used to air condition a hotel at Indiana Universty in Bloomington, where several 3 40 Scale note people became ill.

Today's birthdays: Actor John Derek is 53 years old. Singer Buck Owens is 50. Mexican comedian Cantinflas is 68. Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., is

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Spasm of esophagus

DEAR DR. LAMB - I had an X ray of my stomach about a year ago to deter-mine whether I had a hiatal hermia but they found none. At that time I was having a lot of trouble with gas, burping even after I drank water and a sore feeling in the belt area in the front. At times then I ate or drank some-Hitle and then stop. Then I would feel a contraction and it would pass through. But when I had a bad attack, I would be awake the entire hight and have pain between my breasts and across my chest. It was not a severe pain but I would feel sore for a day or so afterwards. My heart has been skipping a beat for about five ears now and I first noticed t when I had one of these bad attacks of trapped gas. My gallbladder was re-moved 15 years age so that isn't the problem.

I'm 62 years of age and have seen a cardiologist about the skipped beats. After cardiograms and wear-ing a monitor for 24 hours, he said it comes from anxiety. He also thought I could have a spastic colon because of the pain in my left side. It feels as if something is in there that shouldn't be there and it seems to stick under my left breast. The thing that bothers me mostly is the skipping of the heartbeats. I feel it mostly when I have these attacks but it does subside when I take Librax for a while. I have no trouble with my bowels. I would appreciate your thoughts on this condi-some people by disturbances of the digestive tract, including distension of the colon with gas or other problems.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardias, to give you more information about these conditions. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I can't be certain what is causing your pain but as you describe it, it sounds like even when you drink liquid that it is blocked before it enters the stomach. If that's true, you could be having a spasm of your esophagus. This won't show on an X ray unless the spasm occurs at the time the X ray is taken. Think of it as a muscle cramp. It only hurts when the muscle is cramping and in between time the muscle appears normal. Such a contraction can cause chest pain and discomfort.

If you have a lot of gas, it can accumulate in the colon and cause pain underneath the rib cage above your belt line. That's because the colon is located around the outer edge of your abdomi-nal cavity. The upper part of the colon passes directly across underneath your ribs. It bends underneath the diaphragm on the left side. At this point, gas can accumulate and cause pressure directly under the diaphragm which could give you the sensation you're complaining about underneath your left breast. You can have normal bowel movements colon. DEAR DR. LAMB - Will you please explain the difference between arthritis and gout? Is Indocin the best thing for either? My doctor gives no encouragement in either case. My husband has gout and takes Indocin.

DEAR READER - Gout is caused by high levels of uric acid production by your own body cells. Uric acid salts can cause acute in-Answer to Previous Puzzle

Under a five-year agreement with Russia, the U.S. agreed to supply a minimum of 8 million metric tons of grain each year. Any sale of grain above that amount is prohibited unless specifically ordered by USDA. USDA Economist Howard Hjort has stated publicly that the shortfall in grain production in the Eastern Hemisphere could mean Russia may want to buy as much as 20 million tons of grain in 1980, the fourth year of the agreement. But the announced limit of 10 million tons of wheat sales casts doubt as to whether that predicted total will be realized in aggregate sales of other grains.

Simplifying the entire situation from the Texas Farmers Union perspective, state president Jay Naman called the U.S .-- U.S.S.R. trade agreement "nothing more than a complex set of rules that amounts to a game of trade restrictions."

With grain prices now stronger." he continued. "the Administration is lifting plant-optomistic press reports of increased foreign sales. They are suckering farmers into more fence-row-to-fence-row planting to create another domestic grain surplus and then plugging up international trade channels to keep the prices cheap at home.

"It doesn't matter how good foreign demand is when a Secretary of Agriculture has the arbitrary power of trade restrictions. Our trade negotiators decry all forms of trade restrictions and barriers in

OTHER countries. But as soon as domestic commodity prices begin to rise, as they have with wheat, those same 'free trade' advocates suddenly become market manipulators to restrict exports and create domestic surpluses through one economic trick or another.

There should be vivid memories among wheat farmers of the early seventies reign of Earl Butz when grain prices strengthened and they were told to go for all-out production since the government promised to sell ed.

it abroad. Then came an embargo: then came bumper crops; the came years of bankrupt grain prices that we are just now working out of.

We've seen the 'Boom and Bust' script too many times now in agriculture and have memorized it by heart. The combination of no set-aside, low supports and trade restrictions always ends sadly with cheap farm prices and additional thousands of farmers going out of business." Naman conclud-
