President may announce new exchange accord tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is expected to announce to the nation tonight completion of a new agreement with the Soviet Union providing for broader exchanges of culture, students and scientists.

In a nationally broadcast address at 8 p.m. EST, Reagan also was likely to outline his hopes for success at next week's summit meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev.

State Department officials said after a year and a half of negotiation, an "umbrella framework" for the exchange agreement had been worked out through emissaries in Moscow and Washington. It replaces an agreement suspended in 1980 to punish the Soviet Union for sending more than 100,000 troops into Afghanistan the year before.

Reagan and Gorbachev could sign the new accord when they sit down together in Geneva, Switzerland, next Tuesday and Wednesday, said the State Department officials, who insisted on anonymity.

"There are a few dots and dashes remaining, but they should not present a problem," one of the officials told The Associated Press Wednesday night.

"It's good news. It's a gain," the official said. "It can yield a lot of understanding."

Meanwhile, The New York Times reported in today's editions that the two nations will announce at the summit that they have agreed to combine efforts to halt the spread of chemical weapons.

Although the cultural exchange agreement was suspended after the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan, there have been cultural exchanges between the two superpowers, on a case-by-case basis. Negotiations on the new, formal agreement picked up over the last six months, with most of the work being done in Moscow, the State Department official said.

But despite the breakthrough, U.S. summit expectations remain modest. A senior administration official says the success or failure of Reagan's meeting with Gorbachev may not be clear until Soviet behavior around the world is measured months later.

With major nuclear arms control agreements already ruled out, the official told reporters at the White House on Wednesday that Reagan hoped to alter Gorbachev's attitudes about the United States but realized fundamental Soviet policy would not be changed in Geneva.

"The president doesn't have any illusions this meeting will change the ideological underpinnings of the (Soviet) state," the official said.

He described the president's mood as both calm and excited, and said he was reviewing the history of past U.S.-Soviet summit meetings and the "chemistry" of the participants to prepare for his talks with Gorbachev.

In their meetings, the official said, "the president wants to establish a basic understanding in the mind of the General Secretary of what our concerns are" and to tell him U.S. research into an anti-missile defense system was neither "visionary" nor "a political stunt."

In that regard, the official said "there is a Soviet attitude of mistrust of us" that Reagan hoped to change through "personal dialogue" with Gorbachev.

House votes to extend debt limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today approved and sent to President Reagan a bill temporarily refilling the Treasury's empty coffers with borrowed money, apparently averting a government financial crisis tomorrow.

The House, by voice vote and without debate, accepted the Senate's version of a short-term increase in the government's debt limit.

The bill would avoid potential embarrassment for the president as he leaves for his summit with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev. Reagan has indicated through a spokesman he will sign the legislation.

The White House warned Wednesday that unless the Treasury has the power to borrow more money, the government will stop paying its bills on Friday.

The administration supports permanent legislation raising the national debt ceiling to $2.078 trillion — more than twice the red ink of when Reagan took office in 1981 and enough to last through another $200 billion deficit year.

The Republican-led Senate, with White House support, has refused to raise the debt ceiling above the $2 trillion threshold without attaching a plan to gradually end the annual deficits.

To keep up the pressure for the balanced-budget plan, the Senate Wednesday night approved extending the debt ceiling only until Dec. 6, rejecting the Dec. 13 date passed earlier in the day by the House. Both houses passed $80 billion in new borrowing, but by cutting off that authority earlier, the Senate bill brings about the next crisis sooner.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said today Democrats accepted the Senate date, although he said the Republicans were the ones who originally proposed the House-passed version.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., said today the Senate date would actually keep the government afloat until Dec. 12, and the House version until Dec. 19. He said he liked the earlier date to avoid "us being Scrooge here and bringing the government to a halt on Christmas eve."

Cotton Drops

Foggy days and traces of precipitation cause the cotton to look sag a bit, but ASCS officials say the moisture shouldn't hurt the quality of the fiber too much. With possible accumulations of one to two inches of snow in the forecast, cotton may not be the only white in the fields Friday morning. Lows tonight will dip into the 20s.

Peres demands Sharon's apology

By ARTHUR MAX Associated Press Writer

JERUSALEM (AP) — Foreign Minister Yitzhak Shamir, who heads the shaky coalition government's Likud bloc, said today that if Prime Minister Shimon Peres fires right-wing Cabinet member Ariel Sharon, Peres must resign and bring down the government.

Rafi Edry, a spokesman for Prime Minister Shimon Peres' Labor Party, reiterated on Israel radio today that Peres plans to fire Sharon today unless the controversial minister apologizes for attacking Peres' peace efforts.

Also speaking on the radio, Shamir said Peres had agreed not to fire any ministers without Likud agreement and said if he fired Sharon, "then this coalition agreement which is at the foundation of this government will cease to exist."

In such a case, Shamir said, "It is the premier's job, his duty, to go to the president and tell him that the national unity government can no longer survive, and to resign."

The right-wing Likud and left-of-center Labor Party, Israel's main political foes, formed a tense national unity government 14 months ago. Sharon is a leading Likud member and contender for the party leadership.

Peres announced his intention to fire Sharon at a three-hour Cabinet session Wednesday night, but delayed handing him a letter of dismissal to await an apology.

Sharon, minister of commerce and industry, told the Cabinet he regretted insulting Peres, but refused to withdraw his criticism of Peres' policies, said ministers who emerged from the late-night session.

Edry said Peres wanted Sharon to apologize specifically for six separate accusations.

Consumer debt hits record

By BILL MENZES AP Business Writer

Consumer debt soared to record levels in September and auto sales slumped early in November as a result of the end of cut-rate financing offered by the major U.S. automakers at the end of the 1985 model year.

Americans took on $10.6 billion more debt than they paid off in September, the Federal Reserve reported Wednesday, saying most of the gain was due to the buying of cars.

The increase topped the record $9.09 billion set in May 1984 and far outdistanced the $6.3 billion increase for August, prompting warnings by some analysts of a coming consumer spending slowdown.

"The consumer is over-extended given the current economic conditions," said Sandra Shaber, an economist at Chase Econometrics, a research firm. "Consumer demand isn't going to collapse, but it certainly is going to slow down sharply from what we had in the first nine months of the year."

Cut-rate financing offered in late August and early September by the major automakers prompted part of the debt increase.

State

Low-interest home loans available

AUSTIN (AP) — Approximately $111 million in low-interest home loans will be available to Texans beginning Nov. 25, the Texas Housing Agency announced Wednesday.

Low- and moderate-income applicants will be eligible for 30-year mortgages at 9.7 percent. A down payment of 5 to 10 percent will be required.

To qualify, an individual applicant must have an adjusted gross income of $33,000 a year or less. Total family income cannot exceed $42,000 a year.

In most areas of the state, the loans will be limited to first-time homebuyers or applicants who have not owned a home for three years.

Lenders will begin accepting applications Nov. 25 for homes priced $80,000 or less. Applications for more expensive homes will be accepted beginning Jan. 2.

About 100 lenders across the state are participating in the program.

White announces two appointments

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White Wednesday appointed Aaroneta Pierce of San Antonio and Henry Miller Jr. of Dallas to the Texas Commission on the Arts for terms extending to August 1991.

Pierce, 42, immediate past vice president of the San Antonio Performing Arts Association, is replacing Jocelyn Strauss, San Antonio, whose term expired.

Miller, 71, chairman of a real estate company, is replacing Dr. Francis Morris, Austin, whose term also expired.

White reappointed Dallas lawyer George Bramblett Jr., 45, to the Texas College Coordinating Board for a term extending to August 1991.

Man charged of murder in child's death

DALLAS (AP) — Grand jurors have upgraded to murder the injury to a child charge against a man police say posed as a woman to get baby-sitting jobs.

Richard Arthur Gilbert initially was charged with injury to a child because the medical examiner's office had not ruled a baby's death homicide when the original indictment was returned Oct. 23, prosecutor Rider Scott said.

Gilbert, 29, is accused of dipping a 4½-month-old University Park boy he was caring for in scalding water on Sept. 26. The child died of his injuries on Oct. 16.

Both the murder charge, issued Wednesday, and the other count carry a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

Gilbert is also accused of sexually assaulting a 2-year-old boy he was baby-sitting earlier this year.

Police said the two children's mothers thought Gilbert was a woman. He used the name Jean Gilbert and wore women's clothing and makeup, they said.

Infant child, babysitter missing

COPPELL, Texas (AP) — Police in five Southwestern states have been alerted to watch out for a baby sitter who disappeared while watching a two-month-old Coppel girl.

Police here say they fear the child may have been stolen in order to be sold.

Officers say Mallory Elizabeth Sutton and the sitter disappeared between 12:30 p.m. and 3:30 p.m. from the child's home.

Police Chief Tom Griffin said the mother, about 20, left for work about 12:30 p.m. after the sitter arrived. She called about 3:30 p.m. and got no answer. When the mother returned home from work at about 6 p.m., she found the baby and the sitter gone, along with the child's clothes, baby formula and bottles and a photograph of the girl.

The taking of the photograph indicates the child may have been abducted in order to be sold, Griffin said. He said child-theft rings have been known to scan classified ads and pose as sitters in order to steal children.

The FBI and the Dallas County sheriff's office is aiding in the investigation, Griffin said.

"At this point, we have no leads," the chief said.

The child has reddish-brown hair and blue eyes and weighs 11 pounds, Griffin said.

The sitter was described as white, about 30 to 50 years old, about 5 feet 5 and about 150 pounds. She gave a name that police believe is fictitious.

National

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission was giving final consideration to merger proposals that would transfer the operating licenses of 31 of the nation's most watched and listened to broadcast stations and formally eliminate one of the best known entities in the communications industry.

When completed, the two largest broadcast transfers in history will see the American Broadcasting Companies cease to exist as a separate entity after 32 years and Metromedia Inc. to go out of the television broadcasting business for the first time since 1959.

If the FCC approves the $3.5 billion deal today as expected, Capital Cities Communications Inc. will become Capital Cities-ABC Inc. and own a far-flung corporation including a television network; several radio networks; business, inspirational, high-tech, agriculture and special interest publishing operations; video programming enterprises, and a motion picture production and distribution house.

It will have 25 radio and TV stations.

International

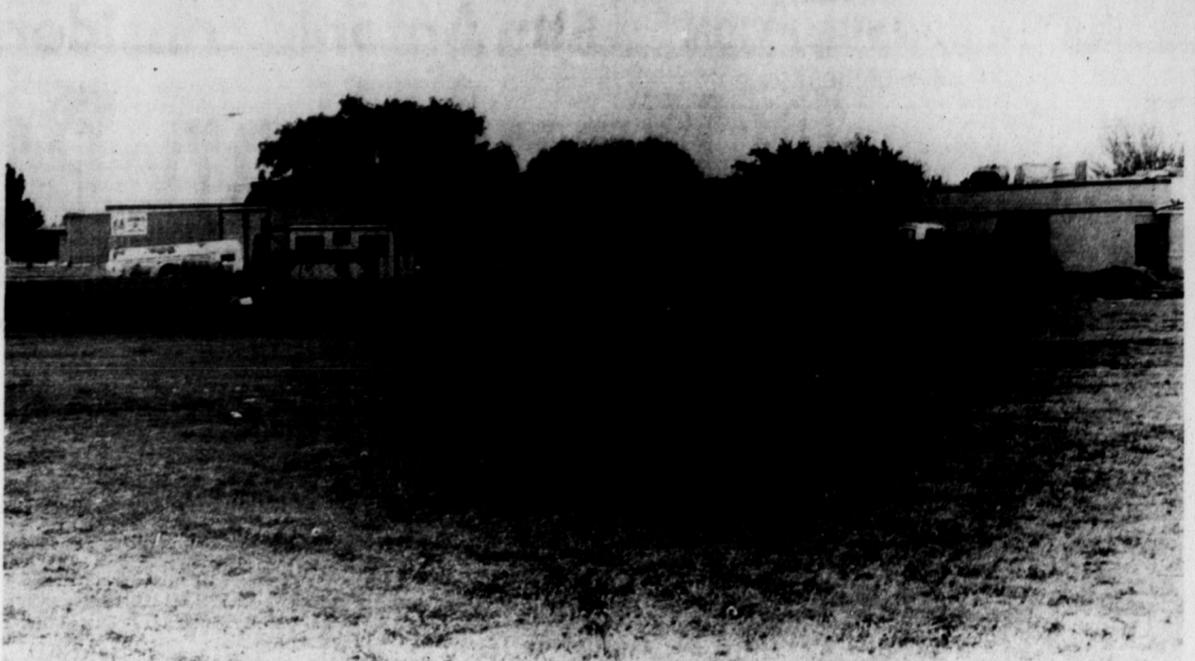

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — An agreement giving the Irish Republic a consultative role in running predominantly Protestant Northern Ireland appears imminent, and preparations are under way for the British and Irish prime ministers to sign it, newspapers said.

The British and Irish governments said their cabinets were scheduled to meet today, and the newspapers said they were expected to approve an accord.

They said the agreement would give Ireland an unprecedented "consultative role" in Ulster's affairs. The papers said the summit could take place Friday.

Officials from both sides held another round of talks Wednesday, and the newspapers reported signs of preparations at four different sites in the Irish Republic and Northern Ireland for a meeting between prime ministers Garret FitzGerald of Ireland and Margaret Thatcher of Britain.

Officials of the two governments refused to comment on the reports which appeared in The Irish Times, The Irish Press and The Independent. The newspapers did not reveal their sources.

Victims right's

Local D.A. offers help for victims

What happens when you or a loved one are the victim of a criminal act, or a witness to a criminal offense? The initial reaction can be emotional and charged with tension. Such reactions can be filled with fear, hatred, revenge, and uncertainty. These are normal reactions, particularly if the crime is one of violence, or threatened violence, or if your home or personal property is involved.

If the person responsible can be identified, the incident is brought to the attention of the criminal justice system of which my office is a part. Other components of the system include the police, the courts and judges and the correctional and probation systems of our State. The system is a complex one and can be confusing as well.

The criminal justice system of Texas, like that of other States, is quite closely tuned to providing constitutional safeguards for persons accused of crime, but has little built-in protection for the rights of victims of criminal behavior.

Beginning Nov. 1, 1985, we in the Criminal District Attorney's Office have undertaken an educational campaign to tell victims and witnesses that the criminals aren't the only ones who have rights. Victims have rights, too, and we want to tell you what some of those rights are. To begin, a victim is a person who is the victim of sexual assault, kidnapping, or aggravated robbery, or who has suffered bodily injury or death.

A victim, guardian of a victim, or close relative of a deceased victim is entitled to the following rights:

1. The right to receive from law enforcement agencies adequate protection from harm and threats of harm arising from cooperation with prosecution efforts;
2. The right to have the magistrate take the safety of the victim or his family into consideration as an element in fixing the amount of bail for the accused;
3. The right, if requested, to be informed of relevant court proceedings and to be informed if those court proceedings have been canceled or rescheduled prior to the event;

Research examined on "NOVA"

LUBBOCK — Research conducted by Texas Tech University's Institute for Disaster Research will be examined in a Nov. 19 national broadcast of Public Broadcasting Service's "NOVA," which will look at the scientific study of tornadoes.

The program will air locally at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 19, on KTXU-TV, Channel 5, Texas Tech's Public Broadcasting affiliate.

A crew from "NOVA" visited the campus in the spring during a tour through the Plains states to explore the research into one of nature's most powerful phenomena.

4. The right to be informed, when requested, by a peace officer concerning the procedures in criminal investigations and by the district attorney's office concerning the general procedures in the criminal justice system, including general procedures in guilty plea negotiations and arrangements;

5. The right to provide pertinent information to a probation department conducting a presentencing investigation concerning the impact of the offense on the victim and his family by testimony, written statement, or any other manner prior to any sentencing of the offender;

6. The right to receive information regarding compensation to victims of crime as provided by the Crime Victims Compensation Act (Article 8309-1, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), the payment of medical expenses under Section 1, Chapter

299, Acts of the 63rd Legislature, Regular Session, 1973 (Article 4447m, Vernon's Texas Civil Statutes), for a victim of a sexual assault, and when requested, to referral to available social service agencies that may offer additional assistance; and

7. The right to be notified, if requested, of parole proceedings concerning a defendant in the victim's case and to provide to the Board of Pardons and Paroles for inclusion in the defendant's file information to be considered by the board prior to the parole of any defendant convicted of any crime subject to this Act.

This is the first in a series of articles that we hope to present informing you of your rights. If you need more information please do not hesitate to contact our office at 806/364-3700.

We will do all that we can to minimize the inconvenience and lack of communication which often characterize a victim's or witness' contact with our system. We hope that you will rely upon us to represent your interest and protect your rights in this manner.

Home remedies for chili burns being studied

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Scientists will be dunking hands in vegetable oil and cool water in an attempt to find out which readily available home remedies actually relieve chili burns.

The 24 female volunteers will be asked to dip their digits in a slurry of chopped chili for a fixed period of time, said Dr. William Troutman, director of the University of New Mexico Poison and Drug Information Center.

"Then one hand will be placed in a cool-water bath and one hand in a container of vegetable oil," he said. "Then they will be periodically evaluated as to which one is providing superior relief of discomfort."

The majority of chili burns occur in the fall when the harvest comes in and people begin roasting the vegetable.

Chili pepper pungency is determined by the amount of capsaicin, an alkaloid that burns people with sensitive skin.

The center has received many suggestions for soothing fiery fingers.

"Vinegar and sugar and honey and, well, you can name it and somebody has recommended it," Troutman said Wednesday.

The research won't examine all proposed remedies at once, but "we'll take it one step at a time," he said.

HEALTH FOOD FOR HOGS

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — No longer are health foods marketed only to humans.

This results from the development of a process to sterilize spoiled cheese that had been stored in the lockers.

San Antonio considers regulating concerts

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The City Council is weighing the beat of heavy metal rock music against the cries of conservatives in considering a proposal to make the city the first in the nation to impose age restrictions on concert-goers.

City Hall is under pressure from groups who object to rock lyrics and on-stage violence and illicit sex acts at the city-owned Convention Center Arena.

But opposition to any crackdown is just as vocal in the nation's 10th largest city, considered one of the top heavy metal concert markets in the country.

A proposed ordinance would bar children younger than 13 from concerts where certain sexual and violent acts are depicted on stage. The proposal, which comes up for debate Thursday, specifies sadistic or masochistic sex, rape, incest, bestiality and exhibitionism.

Earlier in the year, the council considered ways of banning objectionable lyrics at rock concerts.

When City Attorney Lowell Denton determined any such action would be unconstitutional, council members took aim at concert theatrics.

The parents found a surprising ally in Mayor Henry Cisneros, a liberal Democrat who supports efforts to impose restraints on the concerts.

"I think reasonable people would agree (those activities) ought not to be entertainment for children," Cisneros said.

"We're following a common sense rule here," he said.

The council ordered the ordinance prepared after a city-hired child psychiatrist conducted a $2,000 study on the effects of rock music on youngsters.

"Glamorization and the glorification of rape, suicide, incest, dehumanizing sexuality and violence as a way of life — all of these are potentially harmful to young people — especially those predisposed to having difficulties," said Dr. Robert Demski.

"In the past, rock 'n' roll has dealt with innuendo and double entendre. Now it's overt and graphic. There is no longer any hinting."

"It's potentially hazardous," he said. "If a child is already depressed, as many of them are, this may be the final push over the edge."

The Community Families in Action, formed over drug abuse among children and teen-agers, selected other targets after attending rock concerts.

Board member Sylvia Branch identified such problems as teen-age suicide and pregnancy and the health hazards involved with loud music.

The group asked the council to outlaw smoking at the arena, which it did, establish a noise level and to consider an age level at which young people could not attend alone.

"We just want parents aware of what their children are being allowed to go in and see," said Mrs. Branch, a mother of five. "We are interested in protecting our children from influences detrimental to their health and welfare. We just felt the content of rock concerts we attended was not healthful."

Concert promoter Jack Orbin contends the city would suffer financially if the law passes because major mainstream rock groups will not play "in the repressive state of San Antonio ... It would be sort of like playing South Africa."

Orbin, who said he books about 90 percent of San Antonio's rock concerts, said he believes the council is intent on censoring lyrics and not of any graphic depictions.

"We don't believe rape and mutilations occur on the stage, period," he said. "We don't feel our groups are advocating or glorifying this kind of activity."

Orbin is cooperating with a parents group called Parents Against Subliminal Seduction in setting up interviews with rock groups and providing previews of lyrics to be sung at upcoming concerts.

"We're a middle of the road organization made up of old rock 'n' rollers who enjoy rock music," said Lynn Gladhill a 39-year-old mother of two who heads the group.

"Obviously, the people of this city have not done their homework," she said. "Even the city council. They haven't gone to the concerts. I'm feeling very sorry for the youth of San Antonio because these musicians are being labeled unfairly."

"We've got a group of 50 and 60-year-old people in this city that would find anything obscene," she said.

The whole controversy can be blamed, she said, "on the parents for wanting City Hall to babysit their kids."

Seventeen-year-old Holmes High School student Carmen Medina agrees.

"We're not condoning what a lot of bands do. But the parents ought to decide and not the government," said Ms. Medina, who helped organize a pro-rock concert high school group called Rocking Youth Defending Equal Rights. Scholars comprise a large part of its membership.

Teen-agers who attend rock concerts, she said, "have generally been known as degenerates. I'm in the National Honor Society. School plays a very important part of our lives. But we also like to go to rock concerts."

But Robbie Holland, 13, supports barring younger students from violent concerts.

Teen-agers, she said, don't listen to the words as much as the beat and the music.

"They don't think of the words as anything evil," she said.

Musician Frank Zappa, who recently testified at congressional hearings in Washington against proposals for warning labels on records, said Cisneros was "behaving like a right-wing Republican."

The Recording Industry Association of America, representing most record companies, recently agreed to a form of record labeling, with warnings about lyrics explicitly describing sex, violence or drug use.

At New Mexico State

WT ends grid season Saturday

West Texas State University plays its finale of the 1985 season Saturday when the Buffaloes play at New Mexico State at 1:30 p.m.

WTU had an open week last week, while New Mexico State lost to Fullerton State 21-17. The Buffaloes have a 5-3-1 season record, including 3-1-1 in the Missouri Valley Conference.

New Mexico State is 0-6 in the Pacific Coast Athletic Conference and 1-8 for the season. WTU and NMSU have not played any common opponents this season.

West Texas State leads the all-time series against New Mexico State, 25-11-2. WTU won last year's contest 21-13 in Las Cruces, and has won five of its last six games against NMSU.

"New Mexico State has to be the best 1-8 team in the nation. They have good athletes who play hard, and they have played well on several occasions this season," Buffalo Coach Bill Kelly said.

"The ball hasn't bounced their way. We expect as tough a football game as we've faced all year. Our kids will have to play well in order to win," Kelly adds.

NMSU Coach Fred Zechman said, "We had two major faults in the loss to Fullerton State. One was our special teams' kick coverage, and the other was their big pass play."

Fullerton State returned a kickoff 98 yards for a touchdown in the first quarter, and threw a 67-yard touchdown pass with 13 minutes left in the game. The touchdown pass was the game-winning score for Fullerton State.

"Our offense misfired too much. It was our worst game this season as far as pass protection. In this day and age, an offense has to put more than 17 points on the board in order to win," Zechman said.

Fullerton State quarterback Jim Miller has completed 152 of 278 passes this season for 1,582 yards, five touchdowns and 15 interceptions. In comparison, West Texas State quarterback Tod Mayfield has 259 completions in 429 attempts for 2,867 yards, 16 touchdowns and 14 interceptions.

Joe Rowley is New Mexico State's leading rusher with 442 yards in 68 carries. He is averaging 49 yards per game.

Rowley also leads his team in pass receiving with 45 receptions for 402 yards.

Stan Carraway is WTU's leading receiver with 68 catches for 1,046 yards and eight touchdowns. Wayne High of Hereford and Tony Alexander each have caught 38 passes for the Buffaloes.

High's catches have been for 258 yards, and Alexander's catches have been for gains of 390 yards. Each has

For HHS girls' basketball team

District to be challenging, unpredictable

By GARY CHRISTENSEN
Sports Editor

The District 3-5A girls' basketball season is seen as a challenging and unpredictable one by Hereford High School girls' head Coach Larry Sowers.

"The HHS varsity girls' team, which had a 10-6 district record last season and an overall record of 11-1, opens the season next Tuesday at Levelland.

"We have a pretty good looking bunch of kids this year. But the way this district is, we might finish in the top two, or it might be in the bottom two. It's hard to say," Coach Sowers said.

Last season, Hereford placed fourth in district.

"We could play better than last year, and still be no better than fourth. We lost a playoff berth last year by three points," Sowers continues.

The three points Sowers spoke of were: a loss by one point to Amarillo High in the last game of the season, and a loss by two points to Plainview in the second-to-last game of the season. If the HHS girls had won those games, they would have tied for second place in the district.

Returning starters are the leading scorer from last year's team, Natalie Sims, and the tallest player on this year's team, Shelly Edwards.

"Natalie's the best outside shooter I've ever had here. She shot 53 percent from the field last year to set a school record," said Sowers, who is beginning his seventh season as head HHS girls' basketball coach.

and then scrimmaged with Nazareth on Tuesday.

Five athletes did not scrimmage because of injuries, and two other players have been unable to even practice because of UIL ineligibility rules.

"Hopefully, the scrimmage experience was good for us. Hopefully, we learned some things, learned something about ourselves," Sowers said.

"We played better after our first scrimmage. We didn't win the scrimmages, but I feel we played well enough to learn something," he adds.

Sowers notes that he played the scrimmages with three different groups of players, which he referred to as varsity, second varsity, and sophomores.

Tuesday's season opener is scheduled at Levelland at 6:30 p.m., with the junior varsity contest set for 8 p.m.

Hereford plays a non-district game at Dimmitt on Friday, Nov. 22, at 6:30 p.m. The junior varsity game is scheduled for 4 p.m.

The Hereford girls have just those two non-district games to prepare for District 3-5A action. The district opener is against Tascosa on Tuesday, Nov. 26, at 7:45 p.m. at the Hereford High School gym.

The junior varsity contest against Tascosa is set for 6 p.m. that night.

"We open the season against Levelland, the team many people pick to win state in 4A. When you scrimmage two teams picked to win their districts, and open against a team picked to win state, we hope we can be ready for our first district game," Sowers said.

Bullets file protest in NBA

over disputed call

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) - The Washington Bullets have filed a protest with the NBA over a disputed free throw call during the team's 124-122 overtime loss Tuesday to Detroit, the team said.

With 40 seconds left in regulation, Washington forward Dan Roundfield was fouled and consequently sank two free throws to tie the score at 110. But referee Jim Capers ruled the second shot was made after a Detroit player had requested a time out and made Roundfield take the second free throw again—which he missed.

Gooden wins N.L. Cy Young Award

By JOHN NELSON
AP Baseball Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There were still three days left before Dwight Gooden would turn 21 years old, and already he had added the National League's Cy Young award to his list of birthday presents.

"I guess things have moved along pretty rapidly in my career," Gooden said Wednesday from the dais, a birthday cake with 21 candles on it in front of him.

At the tender age of 20, Gooden had been voted unanimously as the best pitcher in the league, one year after he had been recognized as the league's best rookie.

"Last year, I won the rookie award, and that was special because you only have one chance," Gooden said. "And the Cy Young is a great honor after finishing second last year."

With his birthday coming on Saturday, Gooden became baseball's youngest Cy Young winner ever and also the first player to win the rookie and Cy Young awards in successive years. The right-hander had a record of 24-4 and led the National League in earned run average, strikeouts, complete games and innings pitched in 1985.

Gooden received 120 points, including all 24 of the first-place votes cast by the Baseball Writers' Association of America. He thus became the seventh pitcher to receive the award unanimously.

John Tudor of St. Louis, 21-8 during the season, was second with 65 points, followed by Orel Hershiser of Los Angeles with 17, Joaquin Andujar of St. Louis with 6, Fernando Valenzuela of Los Angeles with 4, Tom Browning of Cincinnati with 3 and Jeff Reardon of Montreal with 1. Tudor was listed second on 21 ballots, with the other second-place votes going to Hershiser, Andujar and Valenzuela.

The other unanimous Cy Young winners were Sandy Koufax in 1963, 1965 and 1966 — years when the Cy Young voting covered both leagues — Denny McLain in 1968; Bob Gibson in 1968; Steve Carlton in 1972 and 1977; Ron Guidry in 1978, and Rick Sutcliffe in 1984.

Votes are cast by two members of the BBWAA from each National League city with a first-place vote counting five points, second three points and third one.

At Texas Stadium

Red Raiders go against SMU on Saturday

Coming off a whopping 63-7 victory over Texas Christian, the Texas Tech Red Raiders battle the SMU Mustangs Saturday afternoon at Texas Stadium in Irving.

Texas Tech has a 4-5 season record, including 1-5 in the Southwest Conference, and SMU is 4-2 in the conference and 5-3 overall.

The Red Raiders lead the all-time series against SMU 18-14, but SMU has won the last four contests between the two schools. Texas Tech leads 9-7 in games played in Dallas.

Texas Tech had the best offensive day in school history last week in defeating TCU 63-7. Billy Joe Tolliver, a freshman, set a Southwest Conference record for most yards passing in one game, 422.

Tolliver threw five touchdown passes, had 398 yards total offense, completed 26 of 43 passes. He also achieved a string of eight consecutive pass completions, including one against Texas and seven against TCU.

"Everything just fell into place. We needed that win," said Texas Tech Coach Jerry Moore.

Harris Rating System picks for this week

The following are the picks by the Harris Rating System for West Texas high school football games, with season records in parenthesis (all games are playoff games except the class AAAA games and the District 1-1A games):

CLASS AAAA: Odessa Permian (9-0-1) by 14 over Palo Duro (8-1); Midlane Lee (8-2) by 8 over Amarillo High (9-1).

CLASS AAA: Borger (5-4) by 7 over Levelland (5-4); Lubbock Dunbar (5-4) by 8 over Canyon (3-6); Lubbock Estacado (8-0-1) by 35 over Dumas (2-7); Snyder (4-5) by 2 over Andrews (4-4-1); Sweetwater (8-1) by 38 over Fort Stockton (2-7); Monahans (6-1-2) by 5 over San Angelo Lake View (5-4); Pecos (6-3) by 4 over Lamesa (4-5).

CLASS AAA: Tulla (7-2) by 6 over Perryton (8-2); Post (8-2) by 15 over Fabens (6-3); Idalou (8-1) by 20 over River Road (4-4-2); Kermit (9-0) by 27 over Lubbock Roosevelt (6-4).

CLASS AA: Sanford-Fritch (8-1-1) by 6 over Quanah (6-3-1); Abernathy (9-1) by 11 over Crosbyton (7-2-1); Shallowater (9-1) by 21 over Haskell (3-7); Memphis (10-0) by 14 over Panhandle (7-2-1); Lockney (5-3-2) by 9 over Hale Center (3-6-1); Hamlin (10-0) by 9 over Morton (9-1).

CLASS A: Sudan (8-1) by 1 over Vega (9-1); Nazareth (9-1) by 16 over Amherst (5-3-1); DISTRICT 1-1A: Wheeler (9-0) by 34 over Gruver (5-3-1); Booker (4-5) by 31 over Lefors (1-8); Phillips (8-2) by 15 over Groom (5-3-1); Claude (4-5) by 37 over McLean (0-9).

"There is no substitute for happiness and that's what we are feeling right now. Billy Joe Tolliver really is a spark to our football team. The next two games are going to be exciting for us.

"SMU is one of the most talented teams in the nation. We will have to play the best game we have played this season, but I'll tell you this, we are looking forward to going to Dallas.

"One of the key matchups will be in the middle with Chris Tanner (Tech center) going against Jerry Ball (SMU noseguard)," Moore said. Moore commented this week about where Tolliver was early in the season.

"Billy Joe bruised a shoulder during two-a-days but he didn't tell anybody. He wasn't throwing effectively at all and in fact we jumped on him about him not playing as well as we knew he could.

"Then the season started and we didn't have a chance to get him into a game until North Texas State and we lost the ball when he fumbled the first snap.

"Then the second series wasn't much better. But he kept working hard in practice and he finally showed his potential at the end of the Rice game.

He has a lot of confidence in himself and that feeling spreads throughout the team. He has great field of vision and his arm commands respect."

Times have changed

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I laughed when I read that old column you ran on wedded bliss to show how times have changed. I humbly submit a version for the 1980s. I'd love to see it in print.

1. If you aren't going to be home for dinner telephone and let him know.
2. If you come in late, throw your briefcase in first. If it comes back to you, go to your mother's.
3. Make him keep his clothes in his own closet.
4. Keep him in working condition. (The male is really the weaker sex.)
5. Tell the kids to ask their father.
6. Be understanding when he has a headache.
7. Ask him what's for dinner—or are we fasting?
8. If you happen to buy identical suits, don't wear them when you're out together. It looks tacky.—WITH IT IN MICHIGAN

DEAR MICHIGAN: Thanks for a breezy reminder of how times have changed.

'Love basket' to be donated by study club

Grace Tinnin's home was the meeting place for members of Lone Star Study Club Tuesday afternoon.

Repeating of the club's pledge opened the session and Verna Sowell, president, conducted the business meeting.

It was decided that gifts of canned goods and money would be brought to the December meeting for a love basket. The basket will be presented to a needy family for their Christmas dinner.

It was decided that the next meeting will be held Dec. 10 in the home of Ursalee Jacobsen.

For the program, Ruby Stevenson reviewed the book, "Bubbles" which was an autobiography written by Beverly Sills. Stevenson explained that Sills is one of the most ac-

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I spoke to my psychiatrist and told him I wanted to write to you. He said, "Go ahead. Can't hurt. Might help."

I am 28 years old. Seven years ago I developed chronic depression. After four years of agony, I was given medication and began to pull out of it. During my depression I tried suicide three times in one month and was committed to a state mental hospital. (They let me out after four weeks.) I am no longer suicidal, according to my psychiatrist, and am doing quite well.

My psychiatrist advised me not to return to my former occupation. It pays two-and-a-half times as much as I am now earning. He claims that if I take on too much responsibility I will fall apart.

I am extremely shy, have an inferiority complex and hate the job I have. I have never felt loved by anyone except one girl, and that was several years ago. (I'm female and straight.) My mother, father, sisters and brothers deserted me when I was ill. My cousins and friends snubbed me. In addition to feeling alone and abandoned, I went through hell being depressed.

I asked my psychiatrist to tell me the truth about my mental illness. He said if I avoid pressure situations and continue to take my medication faithfully, I may lead a fairly normal life.

Should I believe him, Ann? Meanwhile, is it worth it to stay in a job I despise? Please let me hear from you. I read you every day.—CLIMBING OUT OF THE DARKNESS IN NEWARK

DEAR CLIMBING: It sounds as if you are in the hands of a highly competent doctor. Please listen to him.

Reach out for friendship. I'm sure you have a lot to give and there are so many folks who, like you, are lonely. Look in the phone book for Recovery, Inc. (It's free.) Attend the meetings. Recovery's members share problems similar to yours. The emotional support they give one another is phenomenal.

Your life can be better but you must make an effort to help yourself. Others have made it, and you can, too. Good luck and God bless.

completed opera singers in the United States today. She has sung in all the great opera houses around the world. She was also invited this past week to be a guest at the White House where Prince Charles and Princess Diana were honored.

The message of the book is that through handicaps, trials, disappointments and hardships, one can do what he or she wants.

Sills' mother, a teacher, and her husband, Peter Greenough, were inspirations that pushed her on to reach her goals. At the present, she is director of the New York City Opera and is training 150 voices for the opera.

Hostesses Tinnin, Evadne Cox and Sowell served refreshments of finger sandwiches, nuts, mints, cake, coffee and spiced tea to those present.

They included a guest, Martha Noel, and members, Opal Bookout, Oneita Davidson, Bertha Dettmann, Margaret Ann Durham, Wilma Goetsch, Hilda Havens, Ursalee Jacobsen, Bibby Morgan, Lucile Naylor, Zoe Williams, Winnie Wiseman, Ruth Womble, Alice Thompson, Jessie Mae Dodson and Mildred Elliott.

Sesquicentennial discussed by Dawn Music Study Club

The Hereford Senior Citizens Center was the setting for the regular meeting of Dawn Music Study Club Tuesday.

President Mary Parker presided for a discussion of events planned in connection with the Sesquicentennial. A letter was read from Ralph L. Winter, Bordertown, South Australia, which was received by Susie Curtsinger, secretary of the club. Activities are now being planned for the 1986 celebration.

Reports were made by members attending District I Federated Music Clubs Convention held recently in Borger.

Mrs. Reese Stewart gave a report of "Heroes and Hard Times" which included the conditions and times which led to the beginning of Negro spirituals, some of which started in Africa and later adopted to the hard times suffered in America. Music of the program was a tribute to the works of Bob Wills and his Texas Play boys. A piano solo, "Spanish Two Step" was played by Curtsinger.

Mrs. Orval Galley played "Big Beaver" on the piano and Parker accompanied Mrs. Carl Wimberly in a voice rendition of "San Antonio Rose." It was followed by "Don't Be Ashamed of Your Age," a voice solo by Curtsinger accompanied by Wimberly.

The entire group joined in singing "Ida Red" and "Good Ole Oklahoma" with Wimberly at the piano and Curtsinger on harmonica.

Galley accompanied as the hymn of the month, "We Plough the Fields" by Matthias Claudrus' was sung in unison.

Others attending were Mrs. Alfred Smith, Mrs. J.R. Caraway and visitors, Edith Shepherd and Lola Munson.

A tour of the Senior Citizens facilities was conducted following the meeting.

Nominations being accepted for Woman of the Year

A secret committee on the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Women's Division is now accepting nominations for the coveted Woman of the Year Award.

Anyone can submit a nomination, even non-members. The nominating letter doesn't have to be signed, but the nominee's qualifications should be listed and be at the Chamber office by Dec. 20. The only stipulation is that the nominee must be a member of the Women's Division.

Past recipients for the award include Mary Herring, Margaret Formby, Carroll Ann Simmons, Leatrus Clark, Georgia Sparks, Virginia Adams, Susie McGee, Sherry Hoover, Inez Albright, Lavon Nieman, Wynell Robinson, Violet Reinauer, Katherine Kester and Irene McKinster.

FLU KILLS THOUSANDS

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 20,000 to 50,000 people die from flu and related pneumonia each year in this country, according to the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

This puts the flu fifth on the list of killer diseases. It is the only infectious disease in the top 10, reports Feeling Great Magazine.

The National Institute of Health, which houses just one of the many influenza research centers around the world, spends $6 million a year studying and analyzing flu viruses.

Blaylock named Honorary CowBelle of the Year

The Hereford CowBelles' Honorary CowBelle of the Year Award was presented to Frosty Blaylock during the organization's luncheon Tuesday at the Hereford Country Club.

Dee Ann Trotter, club president, made the presentation to Blaylock, who is owner of Frosty's Meat Market, in recognition of his support of the local club.

Trotter was named CowBelle of the Year by Hereford CowBelle members and was presented a silver CowBelle logo charm designed by James Avery by Charmayne Klett.

The business meeting was called to order by President Trotter and Klett gave the invocation. Juanita Bowles, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting.

The group had as their guests, Mary Louise Haseloff of Rockport, Hollis Klett, John Horton, Johnny Trotter and Frosty and Judy Blaylock.

Installation of officers was performed by Peaches Reinauer. Officers for 1986 include Dee Ann Trotter, president; Kay Hall, first vice-president; Lorraine Anthony, second vice-president; Darlene Fields, Beef for Father's Day chairman; Zula Arney, treasurer; and Juanita Bowles, secretary.

Trotter read letters of appreciation from Bert Rutherford, director of communications for the Texas Cattle Feeder's Association; Roger Berglund, vice-president of communications of the National Cattlemen's Association; and Mike Bowles, president-elect, TCFA, in response to the luncheon prepared and served recently by the Hereford CowBelles for 20 food editors and writers who visited the Hereford area.

While in the Hereford area, the group was hosted at a luncheon held at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center by the local organization.

The CowBelles prepared and served the "Southwestern Lite Broil," mandarin orange salad, bran muffins, parslies new potatoes and beef brownies.

The CowBelles also had as their guests during the special luncheon many Hereford area feedlot operators and other city dignitaries.

The editors, in commenting on the tour, said this tour allowed them to put beef and fat in better perspective and helped them gain more understanding of the problems of beef production.

Rutherford was quoted as saying that the luncheon in Hereford featured beef in a positive manner and was one of the highlights of the three day tour.

Also, during the Tuesday luncheon, members were reminded that dues should be turned into Donna Jones by Nov. 30.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party Dec. 10 in the home of Charmayne Klett.

Special Recognition Given

Frosty Blaylock was awarded the Honorary CowBelle of the Year Award during the Hereford CowBelles luncheon held Tuesday at the Hereford Country Club. Also, Charmayne Klett (at right) presented Dee Ann Trotter a silver logo charm for recognition of CowBelle of the Year.

British explorer Henry Hudson entered the bay later named after him in August of 1610 on his fourth and last voyage seeking a northwest passage to China. He explored the bay's eastern shore for the next two months and then wintered in James Bay. The following June, Hudson, his son and loyal members of his crew were set adrift in an open boat when other crew members nuttimed because supplies ran short. Nothing is known of the abandoned party's fate.

At any given moment there are more than 2,000 thunderstorms brewing in the earth's atmosphere.

New Officers Installed

During the Hereford CowBelles luncheon held Tuesday at the Hereford Country Club, new officers for 1986 were installed. Standing with Charmayne Klett (at left) are Zula Arney, treasurer; Juanita

OTHER PLANS THAN SOCIAL SECURITY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Half of all full-time workers in commerce and industry in the United States and three-fourths of all government civilian personnel are now enrolled in retirement plans other than Social Security. More than 50 million Americans are estimated to be enrolled in pension or profit-sharing plans that provide retirement income, according to the American Council of Life Insurance. It adds that some 168 million Americans had earnings credits for Social Security at the start of 1984, of which more than 151 million already qualify for payments when they retire.

Ways with Wine
by David Hutchins

I WANT YOUR BODY
While the body of any liquid ranges from watery to thick and creamy, the terms used for wine range from "light" to "heavy." However, all judgements about body are relative, not absolute. To observe the body of a wine, swirl the wine in the glass and watch what happens on the wall of the glass. Heavy wines will form a "sheet" as they slide down the sides. "Light" wines will form streaks or "tears." For example, the body of a Cabernet Sauvignon should be heavy. It should "sheet" on the glass. If it "tears," something may be wrong with it. Conversely, a Chenin Blanc, which most of us want extremely light, should form "tears." If it does not, it will be too heavy.

With the holidays just around the corner stop by THE STORE and stock up on our fine wines and beer to go with your special menu. ABC's 'Shadow Chasers' tonight, NBC's 'Hostage Flight' slated Sunday

NEW YORK (AP) — It's come to this: ABC must stoop to scaring up viewers on Thursday nights with "The Shadow Chasers," a ghastly, un inventive comedy-adventure that tries to rip off "Ghostbusters" but ends up with nothingness.

Overwhelmed by the phenomenon of NBC's "The Cosby Show" on Thursday, third-rated ABC dropped the failing "Fall Guy" and tonight introduces "Shadow Chasers" as the first replacement series of the new season.

ABC should give up the ghost. The story in "Shadow Chasers" is moronic, and the special effects are tame. Passing for the cinematic supernatural is lots of shaky furniture and falling objects. At least the show does attempt a kooky irreverence, which was the core of "Ghostbusters," but the effort misses more than it hits.

"Shadow Chasers" is about yet another Odd-Couple team playing slapstick and solving mysteries. The difference is that these mysteries involve the supernatural, rather than your man-made, made-for-TV killing and robbing. Be thankful for one thing: we're spared gunfire and car chases tonight.

Jonathon MacKensie (Trevor Eve) is a bookish anthropology professor whose first love is researching flotsam and jetsam. To get his grant money, he agrees to investigate the juicier, unexplained phenomena that fascinate his boss at the Georgetown Institute of Science. Jonathon ends up working with Benny Benedek (Dennis Dugan), a film-flaming reporter for a supermarket tabloid whose beat is UFOs, psychic encounters and other paranormal experiences.

The lunacy portrayed by Dugan, the late, do-gooding Captain Freedom on "Hill Street Blues," is the best thing about "Shadow Chasers." Benny, prone to loud ties and louder shirts, milks his fringe celebrity anytime, anywhere. He's even discussed his quickie books about the supernatural on the "Merv Griffin Show."

Interest in the sensational presumably is one reason for making NBC's Sunday night movie "Hostage Flight," but it is not the only one. The film, despite some cliched characters, is a suspenseful story with a bit of a moral bite.

Four terrorists — one woman and three men — hijack a domestic American airplane and waylay it to New York. One of the hijackers, disguised as a caterer, managed to stow their guns and explosives in the cabin before they boarded the flight. The terrorists booby-trap the plane and threaten to kill one hostage every hour until their leader is released from a London prison.

This movie does not glorify hijackers. They are portrayed as ruthless, indiscriminate killers. No effort is made to treat them as human beings with a cause. They barely interact with their hostages, whom they refer to as "bourgeois pigs."

There seems no possibility here of "The Stockholm Syndrome," the psychological occurrence in which hostages begin sympathizing with their captors.

The passengers include a professional photographer (Dee Wallace Stone), a young mother (Barbara Bosson), a grandfather (Jack Gilford) and an older couple on their second honeymoon (Rene Enriquez and Ina Balin).

A Chicago police lieutenant (John Karlen) also happens to be on board.

Ned Beatty plays an FBI agent who negotiates with the hijackers from New York's Kennedy Airport but is frustrated because they won't open a dialogue with him, communicating only through the pilot.

NO ANIMALS AT THIS PRESERVE

SKOKIE, Ill. (AP) — If you're an animal lover, you may have absolutely no interest whatever in visiting "The Game Preserve" in Peterborough, N.H., but students of American history and sociology may feel differently about it.

According to the "1985 Mobil Travel Guide," "The Game Preserve" is a museum in Peterborough which features exhibits of more than 850 American board and card games, dating from as early as 1812. An antique shop is included in the museum.

BLACK ENTERPRISE

States with most black-owned businesses

The number of black-owned businesses grew by nearly 50 percent between 1977 and 1982, the latest year for which figures are available — and 40 percent of the nation's black-owned firms are located in just five states.

Small investor is no longer naive investor

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that the stock market averages are at new highs, Wall Street's brokers are concerned about their ability to attract ordinary or small investors into the marketplace.

It used to be easier to do, because it was widely believed that the stock market was the American way to wealth, and that by owning shares in a listed company you were in effect casting your vote for financial democracy.

The New York Stock Exchange even promoted the idea of owning a piece of America, and for a while the shareholder population soared, because as they were saying then, the market is the elevator to a new level of prosperity.

But small investors today are not as naive as they were 20 years ago, one reason being that so many of them lost their shirts, only later realizing that their entrance into the market was a signal for the professionals to sell.

Another factor in the intellectual growth of small investors was the growth of impartial research, including the finding that you just can't trade in and out of the market and expect to make anyone but your broker rich.

Studies have shown that long-term, inactive investors do as well as or better than traders seeking to outguess the market. As one adviser, The Patient Investor, says: "The more decisions ... the greater the chance of error."

The realization was enhanced by the so-called institutionalization of the marketplace, which means that most trading is not by individuals in competition with each other but by the likes of trusts, and pension and mutual funds.

The small investor's education was abetted by other factors too, including the realization that his neighbor who put money into a house, for example, was becoming a lot better off financially — with no professional advice at all.

Later, another breed of small investors learned that good money could be made in their own backyards, simply by investing in small, start-up companies run by local people with whom they had a direct relationship.

And, as banks became deregulated, their proliferation of products — most of them less risky than stocks — offered still more competition to the stock market, while further educating small investors.

Today's stock market atmosphere is made even more cautious by the knowledge that no matter how hard the Securities and Exchange Commission tries it cannot control the use of inside information, especially involving takeovers.

Knowledge available to only a relative few insiders can, of course, give them a decided advantage over those who seek to invest on the basis of publicly available information. And small investors fall into the latter category.

ART CENTER GETS GRANT

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Colonial Williamsburg's Abby Aldrich Rockefeller Folk Art Center has received a $250,000 challenge grant from the National Endowment for the Arts.

The grant initiates a $9 million fundraising effort for the expansion of the folk art center — $5 million for construction and $4 million for additional endowment.

Colonial Williamsburg is required to raise $750,000 in matching funds before it can obtain the $250,000 grant.

LANDSCAPE EXHIBITION

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — A panorama of the American landscape is on view at the Minneapolis Institute of Arts in an exhibition of paintings by George Inness.

The show, which runs through Jan. 12, 1986, contains 65 paintings by the 19th-century American landscape artist. This, says the museum, "is the first major survey in 20 years of Inness' work and features many of his finest and most important masterpieces."

The paintings contain views of the rolling hills of the Catskill Mountains, the river valleys of Pennsylvania, and the swamps of Florida.

But more quality

Fewer Christmas releases

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The lucrative holiday season will bring the nation's theater owners fewer movies than usual, but, as one of them says, "The secret is quality, not quantity."

Larry Gleason, president of the Mann Theaters chain, adds: "Last year we had one picture — 'Beverly Hills Cop.' This year we have three or four that could be big winners."

Earlier this fall, it appeared that the film companies would once again flood the marketplace with holiday attractions. Then the dropouts began.

Columbia Pictures withdrew Richard Pryor's seemingly autobiographical "Jo Jo Dancer, Your Life Is Calling," about an entertainer's crackup.

Nothing wrong with the movie, the studio claimed; it simply wasn't ready because Pryor is doing it all himself.

Universal withdrew a Steven Spielberg presentation, "The Money Pit," a comedy with Tom Hanks and Shelley Long. Reportedly, further editing was needed.

Earlier, Columbia had decided against a Christmas release for "Murphy's Romance," starring Sally Field and James Garner. Orion decided against bringing out a Tim Conway comedy, "The Longshot."

As a result of all this, the major film companies will field only 11 new holiday attractions this year instead of the usual 15 to 18.

Here is what Hollywood is giving us this Christmas:

"Rocky IV," in which you-know-who stages a climactic and symbolic ring battle with a Soviet fighter.

"Jewel of the Nile," with Michael Douglas and Kathleen Turner reprising their roles from "Romancing the Stone."

"Santa Claus: The Movie," Dudley Moore and John Lithgow in a Christmas fantasy from the makers of the "Superman" movies.

"Spies Like Us," escapades with "Saturday Night Live" alumni Chevy Chase and Dan Aykroyd.

"young Sherlock Holmes," a Steven Spielberg presentation depicting the famous detective and Dr. Watson as schoolboys.

"A Chorus Line," Richard Attenborough's film version of the Broadway musical.

"One Magic Christmas," Mary Steenburgen in a Disney film directed by Philip Borsos ("The Grey Fox").

"Clue," a star-studded murder mystery based on the board game.

"Enemy Mine," a science fiction adventure about space travelers Dennis Quaid and Lou Gossett Jr. landing on an alien planet.

"White Nights," dancers Mikhail Baryshnikov and Gregory Hines as prisoners of the Soviets.

"Out of Africa," Robert Redford and Meryl Streep in Sydney Pollack's film based on Isak Dinesen's tales.

Notices

NOTICE TO ALL PERSONS HAVING CLAIMS AGAINST THE ESTATE OF JOHN W. SHAW, DECEASED

Notice is hereby given that original Letters Testamentary upon the estate of JOHN W. SHAW were issued to me, the undersigned, on the 11th day of November, 1985, in the proceeding below my signature hereto, which proceeding is still pending, and that I now hold such letters. All persons who may have claims against said estate which is being administered in the county below named, are hereby required to present same to me at the following address: 240 Northwest Drive, Hereford, Texas 79045, before suit upon same is barred by the Statutes of Limitation, and within the time prescribed by law.

DATED this 11th day of November, 1985.
s/ GRACIE I. SHAW, Independent Executrix of the Estate of JOHN W. SHAW, Deceased, No. 3455 in the County Court of Deaf Smith County, Texas.
