

Police Fire at Charging Car, Arrest Fleeing Driver

A Hereford police officer shot at tires of an automobile late Saturday night as it charged towards his patrol car in the 100 block of Miles following a high-speed chase in which the driver allegedly ran five stop signs and three red lights. Louis Junior Fajardo, 28, of 404 S. Houston in Amarillo, was charged with three counts of aggravated assault on a police officer, fleeing from a police officer, possession of marijuana, felony driving while intoxicated, driving while license suspended and eight traffic offenses after he was finally stopped by several units of the Hereford Police Department following a heart-stopping chase in downtown Hereford. According to police reports, Sergeant

Joe Brown and Captain Ray Morgan were northbound in the 500 block of N. Main around 11 p.m. Saturday when they spotted a southbound 1967 Chrysler and a van apparently racing. Brown turned the patrol car around and began pursuing the Chrysler, which allegedly had run the red light at 5th and Main.

According to reports, the car turned right onto 5th, ran the stop sign at 5th and Miles, turned north onto Miles, turned west onto 9th, ran the stop sign at 9th and Lee, turned north onto Lee towards U.S. 385, ran the red light at 385 and Park Ave., turned east onto Park, turned south onto Main, ran the red light at 5th and Main, turned west onto 5th, speeded past a patrol car roadblock on 5th between Main and Miles, turned south onto Lee, ran a stop sign at 3rd and Lee, turned east onto 2nd, turned south onto Miles and then went out of control. The car spun around in the block between Highway 60 and 2nd on Miles and came to a stop. As Brown's car pulled up, close to the vehicle, the driver floorboarded his vehicle and charged the officers, reports stated. Police reports showed that Brown turned his car sharply to the right then fired two shots at the tires of the suspect's car, which pulled to a stop. The driver got out of his car on the passenger's side, then reached under his

Long-Distance Radar

Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper Gary Whitfill shows off the county's new Decatur radar unit, which has numerous differences from standard units used locally. The radar enables troopers to catch speeders going in both directions and can determine the speed of a truck from more than three miles away. The distance is slightly less on automobiles. Despite the radar's capabilities, Whitfill said local troopers are hanging out less speeding tickets because more people are adhering to the 55-mile-hour-per-hour speed limit due to the gasoline crisis. (Brand photos by Paul Sims)

Walcott ISD Ups Tax Rate

Members of the Walcott school board approved a three percent increase in the tax rate during a regular session last night. Board members approved a tax rate of 47.5 cents per $100 evaluation, and also voted to allow a $3,000 exemption for persons 65 years of age and over.

In another tax-related matter, board members voted against implementing tax on agriculture use values in 1979, but the system will be adopted for 1980.

Hereford Receives Sales-Tax Rebate

Hereford was mailed a check for $15,705.05 from State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office Friday as the city's share of the one-percent optional sales tax.

Bullock's office announced that the July allocations to Texas cities totaled $23.5 million, bringing the yearly total to $241.5 million. That compares to $216.3 million through July 1978.

The office said that rebates are running about 10 percent ahead of last year's pace for the same period.

Hereford's yearly total is $206,311, two percent ahead of last year's $201,260 total.

Other area rebates for July included: Amarillo, $338,887; Lubbock, $371,074; Canyon, $9,846; Dimmitt, $6,116; Friona, $3,082; Plainview, $30,220; Pampa, $49,612; Perryton, $12,901; Dumas, $17,790; and Borger, $20,863.

Q—Is there an ordinance concerning cats being allowed to run in town. They are a nuisance. What can I do?

A—Unless you catch a stray cat and call the Hereford Police Department to pick it up, there is nothing that can be done about the problem, according to animal control officer Butch Trevino. There is no ordinance governing stray cats inside the city limits. Cats picked up by Trevino are turned over to farmers.

Formal Public Utility Commission hearings on the Bell request will begin in September. Intervening cities will pay Texas Municipal League attorneys to represent participants in those hearings.

City Manager Dudley Bayne told commissioners he did not know how much it would cost the City of Hereford to participate, but added that the city paid about $600 in a 1977 fight against a proposed Bell increase.

Municipal league utility attorney Don Butler stated in a letter to cities serviced by Bell that approximately $15,000 was "left over" from last year's case. Butler said the money could either be used in this year's case or refunded to cities which participated in 1978.

After a short discussion, commissioners voted to intervene in the case.

Bayne, in another agenda matter, asked commissioners if they wanted to proceed with an assessment program to pave several city streets. Commissioners took no action, but informally agreed that the program, which is financed by property owners on the affected streets and with city funds, is necessary.

Bayne said that part of the program might include the addition of several storm sewers. "We need a lot of sewers because of our runoff. It'll cost at least

Longtime Hereford Attorney Dies

Bruce L. Miller, longtime Hereford attorney, died at 3:20 a.m. today in Deaf Smith General Hospital at the age of 66. Mr. Miller had been in the intensive care unit of the local hospital since Friday morning, when he suffered an apparent heart attack.

Memorial services are to be conducted at 11 a.m. Thursday in St. Thomas Episcopal Church with the Rev. Charles Threewit, vicar, officiating. Graveside services are to be held in Bellwood Cemetery at Pine Bluff, Ark. Local arrangements are under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Miller was an independent practicing lawyer in Hereford since 1949 and was elected Deaf Smith County attorney in 1964, holding that position for four years.

He was chairman of the State Bar of Texas Grievance Committee for 10 years and was president of the six-county area Bar Association.

Hospital Reports Gain in June

Deaf Smith General Hospital showed $4,138 in revenue over expenses for the month of June—a figure that administrator Jim Bullard said this morning would have been much higher had it not been for "unusual" expenses.

"We had some unusual expenses in there that do not occur on a monthly basis," Bullard told the hospital district

Camp Improvement

To Be Discussed

A meeting on the latest developments in an ongoing improvement project will be held at the San Jose community tomorrow at 8 p.m.

The session is scheduled for the rectory of the San Jose Catholic Church.

Details on the water project at the camp, as well as efforts to obtain an emergency priority for a sewer system in the community will be outlined during the session.

board in its regular monthly meeting.

Bullard said approximately $2,400 was spent pertaining to the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals June 20 survey of Deaf Smith General. "We paid about $1,500 or $1,600 directly to the joint commission, and we had to put some fire doors in our building because they told us last year that we needed to do that. And we had some other things to comply with their last year's recommendations," the administrator said.

Approximately $6,600 was paid to hospital auditor Bill Allen for services rendered over the last four months. Bullard said those services, included compilation of a Medicare cost report and

Construction Permits Down Despite Church

No houses were started in Hereford during June as construction sagged for the sixth straight month, with 10 building permits issued for a total value of $288,100.

The half-year total is $1,058,195, well below the pace of the last several years.

Last year's June permits totaled $813,000 in value bringing the yearly total to $3,194,080. June, 1978 was the best construction month in Hereford during the first six months.

June also was the best month during the half-year period in 1977, with permits totaling $786,360.

If not for a $273,000 San Jose Catholic Church being constructed in northeast Hereford, June construction starts would have been almost negligible.

Permits during the month were issued to Elpidio Ureste, move-in residence, $2,000; Valentine Hernandez, add on residence $500; Roy Balderaz, add on residence, $4,000; Darwin Wilbanks, storage, $350; Ernest Coronado, add on residence, $1,100; J.V. Campbell, storage, $650; Dale Smith, garage, $3,000; Roman Catholic Diocese of Amarillo, church, $273,000; Felipe Pesina, garage and storage, $3,200; and Deaf Smith County, demolish house, no value.

bank reconciliation.

Board president Frank Zinser expressed concern over the costly work of the auditor.

"We are paying a lot of money which may be absolutely necessary, but this thing can really cost us," Zinser said.

Bullard agreed, saying the hospital finance committee would meet with Allen to discuss charges.

Bullard said another expense, incurred in June was the remodeling of hospital rooms. "We put in about $2,000 worth of drapes," he said.

"And, also, we bought some surgical equipment not normally included in our normal operating expenses."

Overall, it was "a good month," Bullard reported.

The hospital overcame a slow start in June after the average daily census through June 21 was "about 28 patients," according to the administrator. "We finish with a 33.5 percent average, so we came on really strong in the last few days."

The best day during the month was 55 patients, which represents a yearly high.

Last year's patient average was 27.3, with the high day during June, 1978 showing 39 patients in the hospital.

The hospital had $40,978 in cash on June 30, compared to a $40,189 deficit a year ago—a 200 percent increase in money on hand.

Bullard reported on the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals survey, saying that several recommendations were made and a report on accreditation would be forthcoming from JCAH.

In last year's survey, which is required

Trustees Tentatively Raise Teachers' Pay

A proposed teacher pay increase and a policy on teacher leaves of absence were discussed during a special Hereford School Board meeting this morning, with both items winning tentative approval.

No action was taken at the special 7:30 a.m. trustee meeting today, but Supt. Harrell Holder was authorized to include the teacher pay hike in the proposed budget and the policy matter apparently will be adopted at the next meeting.

Dr. Holder proposed $100 hikes in the above-state schedule on teacher salaries. The Hereford district currently pays $630 above the state schedule for BA degree teachers and $800 for teachers with master degrees. If approved in the budget, this would increase those amounts to $730 and $900.

For a beginning teacher, this would amount to a salary of $9,700 plus medical insurance for the employee only. The total is estimated at $9,950. For a BA degree with 10 years service, the salary would be $14,190 and the top pay level would be $15,350. The top pay level for a master's degree would be $17,070.

Teachers' pay was increased by approximately 5.1 percent in the recent state legislative session. Non-professional employees had pay increases amounting to about 8.5 percent.

Because of a request for a year's leave of absence to study abroad, the board held a first reading on a proposed policy for professional leaves and absences. If approved, the policy would allow teachers or other certified personnel one year's leave without pay for professional development purposes.

The policy proposal requires a permanent teaching certificate and at least five years consecutive service in the local district, and upon completion of leave the recipient must produce proof indicating attainment of the objective for which the leave was granted.

Trustees attending the board meeting this morning were Sallie Strain (president), James Gentry, Paul Ramirez, Clark Andrews and David Hutchins.

Enrollment Rises, But Districts Down

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The number of public school districts in Texas has steadily declined since 1974-75 but enrollment has risen, the Texas Education Agency reported Monday.

The TEA's annual report to the governor showed Texas had 1,135 school districts in 1974-75 and 1,105 in 1977-78. The number of students in that same period rose from 2,052,015 to 2,589,319, the agency said.

In the 1978 fiscal year, the report said, the TEA handled more than $2.6 billion in state and federal funds for schools.

"This is slightly less than 3 1/2 times the $764 million of support 11 years earlier in 1968," the TEA added. "The proportions of state and federal support, however, have remained virtually constant over this period, varying no more than 2 or 3 percent from the average of about 83 percent for state funds and about 17 percent for federal funds. Private sources of support have been negligible."

American Ag Seeks Explanation

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown owes the public an explanation of why he so strongly opposes creation of a farmers advisory commission, the American Agriculture Movement says.

The organization also said Brown's apology for a racial slur made in a display of temper did not go far enough.

"We accept Mr. Brown's apology to the general public, but we feel he owes a public apology specifically to the black citizens and family farmers of this state," American Agriculture said in a statement Monday.

Craig Bryant of Austin, a spokesman for American Agriculture, said the statement was drafted after a weekend conference call among farmers who took part in a July 10 meeting in Brown's office.

Bryant also said the group decided against making public a tape that was secretly made of the conversation with Brown.

"Since he (Brown) is going to be in office a few more years, we want to get along with him the best we can," Bryant said.

Brown reportedly grew angry during the meeting and said he did not need the farmers' vote to be re-elected because "there are more niggers on a Houston street than there are farmers in Texas."

Somoza Resignation Ends Dictatorship

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) - President Anastasio Somoza resigned early today, ending 42 years of dictatorship by his family, and members of Congress elected the president of their lower house, Francisco Urcuyo, to succeed him.

Urcuyo, 54, was expected to serve only until the arrival from neighboring Costa Rica of the provisional junta named by the Sandinista guerrillas who in a successful, seven-week rebellion fought Somoza's national guard to a standstill and toppled the onetime strongman.

An aide reported the 53-year-old ex-president took a helicopter from downtown Managua to the international airport to board a plane for Miami, where he owns an estate and other property. He was flying to Homestead Air Force Base near Miami, which the U.S. State Department ordered sealed off Monday night by "security personnel assigned to handle President Somoza," an Air Force spokesman in Florida reported. The Carter administration had been urging Somoza to quit for weeks, but the State Department had no immediate comment on his resignation.

Clements Criticizes Carter Energy Speech

NEW YORK (AP) - Texas Gov. Bill Clements criticized President Carter's energy speech Monday, calling it a dodge and saying Carter's plan to freeze oil imports at 1977 levels will bring on a recession.

"I don't think there's any way we can hold our imports to the 1977 level in the short term," the Republican governor said.

"That has dire implications, an ominous ring," Clements said. "What he is doing is bringing about a no-growth policy in our country that would stagnate our businesses. It will bring on a recession and create unemployment. It is not realistic. It's a pipe dream."

The Texas governor also called Carter's Sunday night address "an echo of the other four speeches" and said "If he can't come up with a better answer than he did last night, he's going to be in the same bog-hole he's been in."

"He said all the good words and made all the right motions, but when it came down to facing up to the real world and making the hard, tough decisions, he dodged."

Clements, who appeared on NBC's "Today" program, added, "What we want are specific plans - what we want is a program we can put our teeth into. Words are not enough."

Carter Meeting With Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Carter, who says "I've learned my lesson" and will listen more to private citizens, is meeting with their representatives in Congress for the first time since outlining his fresh agenda for energy legislation.

Democratic and Republican congressional leaders were joining Carter at a White House breakfast meeting today. Carter invited them to discuss the proposals he outlined Sunday night and in two appearances Monday.

The president's Sunday speech was forceful, clear and eloquent, Sen. Alan Cranston of California, the second-ranking Senate Democrat, said Monday.

But Republican Sen. S.I. Hayakawa of California said the address, "like most Sunday sermons," would be forgotten in a day's time.

In a question-and-answer session with union members in Detroit Monday, Carter acknowledged he has lost close

Local Units Called To 'Accident' Scene -But No Wreck

Hereford emergency units were summoned to what was originally reported as a "major accident" this morning on East Highway 60, but the "wreck" passers-by reported turned out to be the matter of the collapse of a pedestrian on the roadside.

According to an investigating DPS trooper, the unidentified man was apparently walking down the roadway when he collapsed.

The pedestrian was spotted by passing motorists, who halted and provided assistance, prompting some individuals to believe there had been a collision.

A rescue and pump unit from the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department, in addition to an ambulance, were summoned, but the rescue and fire unit were then recalled.

The injured man was transported to Deaf Smith General Hospital, where he was in unknown condition at Brand presstime.

touch with ordinary citizens. "I've learned my lesson," he told the annual convention of the Communications Workers of America.

He declared he would spend more time listening to Americans everywhere and said that in the 1976 campaign, "I had to do that or I wouldn't have been elected."

Earlier, before the National Association of Counties in Kansas City, Mo., he said, "We can and will regroup."

And, inviting questions in Detroit, he promised to "open the government" process so that the fresh air of America can blow through Washington."

Both audiences received Carter enthusiastically, giving him standing ovations in mid-appearance.

The unspoken goal of the campaign-like oratory, following 12 days of cloistered consultations at Camp David, Md., is to revive Carter's troubled presidency and boost his re-election chances next year.

He used the Kansas City appearance to detail his energy blueprint, which he said would cost $142 billion through 1980.

The money, he said, would come from an excise tax on oil industry profits that the White House is confident will soon be approved by the Senate. It has already passed the House.

Some of Monday's most enthusiastic applause came when Carter promised to keep oil companies in line. If they do not cooperate with his efforts, he said, "we will not hesitate to use the authority that I have to require the oil companies to meet the basic energy needs of our nation. The oil companies must cooperate!"

Industry officials said the comment betrayed the president's call for cooperation, J.E. Swearingen, president of Standard Oil of Indiana, said, "Carter's continued berating of the oil companies stands out as a divisive tactic in sharp contrast to his call for all Americans to pull together to solve our problems."

New Board Members Chosen

Front Sparks Rainshowers

A stationary cold front provided welcome relief from a summer heat wave for the second straight day today, touching off scattered light thundershowers in the bargain.

The cold front stalled over the Panhandle is expected to prompt showers tomorrow, while taking the edge off July heat that has sapped moisture from area cropland and ranges.

A thunderstorm front moved across a portion of the northern section of the county over the weekend, unleashing scattered showers and some hail, particularly in the Milo Center vicinity north of Hereford.

A spokesman for Pioneer Fertilizer at Milo Center reported that .80 inches of rain fell at that location Sunday afternoon, while up to two inches of rain fell two miles west of Milo Center.

Rain tapered off rapidly to the south of the heavy rainfall concentration.

The Pioneer spokesman reported that hail accompanied the rainfall in the area west of Milo Center, stripping the leaves of some crops, but no major damage resulted.

At Northwest Grain, west of Farmer's Corner, .50 inches of rainfall was recorded Sunday.

Showers provided a refresher for Hereford Sunday afternoon, but KPAN radio recorded only a trace of rainfall.

During a search of Fajardo, the men kicked Morgan in the groin and attempted to hit Fillingim, police alleged. A small quantity of suspected marijuana allegedly was found on Fajardo.

According to Morgan, one of the assault counts involved Fajardo trying to ram the patrol car.

"He missed us by just inches. We were in fear of our lives and the lives of other people," Morgan said.

A large crowd of spectators gathered at the arrest scene, and officers had to direct traffic to keep the flow moving. Fajardo was jailed on $4,000 bond.

In other weekend activity, officers issued 53 traffic citations, arrested two persons for misdemeanor possession of marijuana, two for drunk in control of a motor vehicle, one for public intoxication and disorderly conduct through abusive language and a threat to kill a police officer and one other for public intoxication.

According to police a 21-year-old white Hereford male was arrested in Veteran's Park Saturday night for being drunk in public and threatening to kill an officer.

New Fuels,
We're Getting There

What our government is not doing to increase our energy supply is less than half that story.

What our people are doing is more exciting and more significant.

We are getting there! Fuel costs more and there's not enough of it but...

On the sunshine side of that ledger Colorado is oozing oil. Colorado alone has enough to keep all our cars rolling for the next 500 years. It's contained in "oil shale." Early American Indians called it "the rock that burns."

With oil $2 a barrel it was too costly to extract oil from shale but at $20 a barrel Colorado is almost ripe!

Our nation is yet a long way from energy independence but we're getting there.

One oil company will test market gasahol in one city. Amoco will make available enough of this 20-proof substitute to run all the cars in Ottumwa, Iowa. See how motorists like it. See about supply and pricing problems. Some states are offering to keep the cost down by keeping taxes down on gasahol.

Most cars will run efficiently without any modification on a 20-80 mix.

Oil from coal is yet another option. Several coal-oil or coal-gas projects are presently in development, but it takes four to five years -- if government and environmentalists stay out of the way -- for a blueprint to produce products.

We are not talking here about the more exotic futuristic fuels which may or may not prove practicable. You and I are right now counting chickens that are already hatched.

Nuclear energy now produces 13 percent of our nation's electricity. It is practically the only power for some cities -- such as Chicago. Another bird in the hand, which deserves accelerated development.

Whatever the answers to our energy needs, more government is not.

In Russia the government owns the oil and they have a fuel shortage more acute than our own.

Government in partnership with industry for some mutual objective, however, is traditionally American. The Thomas Jefferson Administration gave Eli Whitney assistance in producing guns with interchangeable parts.

Our nation's railways were cooperative projects, government and industry -- as was our exploration of space.

Recently, however, government has done more resisting than assisting in the energy quest.

Government is spending $12.6 billion this year -- more on regulation of energy producers than on generation of new energy.

So Americans are having to do it themselves. With windmills and solar panels and engines that run on hydrogen.

With corn mills burning corncobs and furniture factories burning sawdust and farmers making methane out of chicken droppings.

What Uncle Sam treats as a monumental problem, Americans individually are discovering to be a thrilling challenge, an exciting opportunity.

While he's getting ulcers his nieces and nephews are going to get rich!

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

It isn't often I have a chance to do something for my country. But China needs me.

It seems Peking which just suffered an invasion of Western styles and trends which our children introduced in the '60s. Or as the Chinese press put it, "long hair, bell-bottom trousers and other outlandish fashions that are decadent and quiet bourgeois."

Cartoons in Communist newspapers are already showing the effects of what happens to a nice boy in a crew cut, Mao jacket and baggy trousers who turns into a long-haired freak and gets drunk on heady spirits and eventually engages in "biling and cooing."

Believe me when I say American parents have empathy and expertise on how to handle these problems. In the interest of friendly relations, we are willing to share with Chinese parents the stages and their progression so that you may know what to expect and how to handle the problem.

First, the hair-in-the-eyes phase. Your child will develop an affliction in which he will snap his head to one side and, for a few seconds, you will actually see his eyes. They will be hostile and you'll be glad when the hair falls back over them.

The second stage develops when you suggest he gets a haircut and he combs it over to one side and secretly uses your hairspray to make it stay. He has begun to do other things like not wear socks with his tennis shoes and uses words like "Chin laing (tough) and "Ho Meingh" (No way!).

The third stage is when he appears for school one day wearing pants he has worn for the last five days. He now owns his own hair dryer.

In the fourth stage his hair is down to his shoulders and he is sprouting hair all over his face. With pure belligerence he will tell you, "Confucius had a mustache this long and no one complained."

The fifth stage, you have lost control. Trousers are frayed, holes are secured with pins, your newspapers have no rubber bands on them since they are wrapped around his pony tail and you arrange for financing for shampoo. You pray he is only "biling and cooing."

The solution is an old American proverb: Parents who adapt style of young people and begin to look like them will soon have young people clamoring few crew cuts and leisure suits!

Ann Landers

Working For Dad

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I married a young man who works for his father. We have a good marriage and are very happy with the way our children are turning out. The problem is my husband's boss -- his father. I am writing to find out if other men who are in family businesses have the same trouble.

My husband (I'll call him Jack) is an executive. He works long hours, is extremely conscientious and wouldn't dream of taking a two or three-week vacation like other employees. The business does well, and the profits are good but we have trouble meeting our bills. No way would Jack be putting in such hours for so meager a salary if he were working for a stranger. I'd insist that he asks for a raise.

I'm sure we are not alone in this situation. What do you suggest? -- Weary In New England

DEAR WEARY: Working for one's father (or father-in-law) has built-in problems that "come with the territory." You've identified just one. (Others I hear a lot about are hassles with brothers, uncles or cousins in the business.)

Jack should sit down with the boss and tell him exactly what you've told me. If he is making a valuable contribution to the business, his father will probably come through. Some people just need to be told. If the boss doesn't come through, your husband should decide whether he might be better off working for someone else -- or maybe himself.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have a four-year-old and a new baby. People frequently stop to coo at the little one and then say to his older brother, "The baby is so cute I think I'll take him home with me."

I know they are only kidding but the four-year-old doesn't. Yesterday he tried to kick an old lady when she made this remark. I was so embarrassed. Please tell your readers it is cruel to say such a thing to a youngster, especially when he is torn between not wanting the baby to be taken -- and hoping he WILL be. It's no fun to suddenly find that a newcomer in the family has stolen the spotlight and is getting all the attention. -- A Mother In Columbia

DEAR COLUMBIA: Thanks for a letter that demonstrates good insight. You know the score, Lady.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to say "Amen" to your suggestion to that woman who had been in therapy for two years and was down in the mouth because she wasn't making any progress. You said, in your usual matter-of-fact manner, "Get another therapist."

I had a similar experience.

After spending too much time and money with a therapist I didn't like (and he wasn't helping me) I went to the head of the clinic and asked for another therapist. The change turned out to be my salvation.

I've been with the second one for ten months and am thrilled with the progress. I've yelled at her, wept in her presence, pounded her desk in anger and swore a few times. She has seen me express every human emotion possible. I now know I am going to make it.

Please keep repeating that advice, Ann. It's GOOD. -- Shelley, Woburn, Maine

DEAR SHELLEY: Interesting that your first therapist was a male and your second a female. Often the sex of a therapist is crucial. Top-notch doctors know this. A secure, competent therapist will turn the patient over to another doctor if he feels he is not making progress. But not all therapists are secure and competent. I say a year is long enough to give it a fair trial.

THE THREE MOST DANGEROUS DRUGS
By Robin & Leslie Conkright

Ford Community 4-H
[EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is published to promote a community-wide program on drug abuse, to be presented Thursday, July 19, in the Ford Schoolhouse. Presenting the informative program will be Phil Scumbato, investigator with Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Department. Ford 4-H Club encourages all interested persons to attend Thursday night's program.]

The three most dangerous drugs are not what you might think. They're harmless-looking pills found in millions of American homes and used unthinkingly by many women. In fact, they're drugs your own doctor might readily prescribe for you - or perhaps already has prescribed. The three most dangerous drugs are sleeping pills, tranquilizers and amphetamines (diet pills).

New studies - requested last year by President Carter himself show that in spite of repeated efforts to control these drugs, they are still being extensively abused and misused. Two Federal agencies, the National Institute of Drug Abuse (NIDA) and the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), blame, in part, doctors who are too quickly to prescribe large amounts of these drugs - oftentimes for problems they may not even help. The government claims patients who use any of the three over a long term risk developing an emotional drug dependence, a more serious physical addiction (with withdrawal symptoms from overdose) and even death.

President Carter is so concerned about this problem that he has asked for a "concerted drive" to identify and prosecute physicians who over-prescribe.

Here's what NIDA and the FDA told the President about the current extent of the abuse and the dangers of sleeping pills, tranquilizers and amphetamines:

SLEEPING PILLS & TRANQUILIZERS

Both these pills belong to the sedative-hypnotic class of drugs, which can be prescribed either for relieving tension or encouraging sleep. (If a sedative-hypnotic is prescribed once before bed to relieve insomnia, it's a sleeping pill. If given more frequently to reduce anxiety, it's a tranquilizer.) There are three types of sedative-hypnotics: barbiturates, benzodiazepines and other substances.

The sedative-hypnotics are the most prescribed drugs in the world. Sleeping pills alone accounted for 27 million prescriptions in 1976. That's an estimated one billion doses! What's worse, barbiturates were implicated in almost 5,000 drug-related deaths.

Except for the benzodiazepines, the sedative-hypnotics all show a very narrow margin of safety between the minimum dose needed for treatment and a dose that's lethal. Anyone who exceeds the recommended dosage risks coma and death.

The reasons for overdosing vary. Some people may be attempting suicide. But others simply reason that if one pill works well, more will work even better. Sometimes the pills cause mental confusion and the patient forgets she has already taken the maximum dosage (in the case of sleeping pills, some women have awakened during the night and absentmindedly taken additional pills.)

Drinking alcoholic beverages or taking other drugs with sedative-hypnotics can produce reactions ranging from mild illness to death.

Think carefully before taking a sleeping pill at all. Dr. Robert DuPont, NIDA director, says many people use sleeping pills when they really don't need them. But if you must use a sleeping pill or tranquilizer, talk with your doctor about using the "safer" ones - the benzodiazepines - though Dr. DuPont says there's a problem with the overuse of these drugs, too. Also, recent studies indicate there may be an association between use of these tranquilizers in early pregnancy and malformations in babies.

Be sure to follow explicitly your doctor's directions for dosage and the times to take the drugs. Don't take any sleeping pill or tranquilizer over a long period of time without consulting your doctor.

AMPHETAMINES

The major medical use of amphetamines is for dieting - and 76 percent of these drugs are taken by women. Though amphetamines should be prescribed only for a short time to help start a diet, many women continue to take them for an extended period or increase the dosage because these drugs make them feel good. They suppress the appetite, relieve fatigue and give the user a "lift."

Amphetamines can easily be habit forming, and tolerance develops quickly, leading the user to try higher dosages. Side effects include restlessness, tremor, irritability, insomnia, confusion, delirium, hallucination, panic states, mood swings, abdominal cramps, convulsions and coma.

The dosages that cause these reactions vary widely. In most people it takes 30 to 60 milligrams (10 to 20 milligrams is a common dose for dieting). However, in some people a dose as small as two milligrams will cause harmful side effects.

As with sleeping pills and tranquilizers, follow your doctor's directions for use explicitly, and don't use amphetamines for long periods of time.

Many doctors also question whether amphetamines are really necessary to begin a diet. They usually aren't effective over long periods and they don't help maintain a weight loss.

INDIAN SPRINGS, Ga. (AP) -- Joel Crane grew up on a farm, enjoying turtle soup, stew and pie cooked by his mother. He still enjoys turtles in soup bowls, on dinner plates and breakfast dishes.

Crane, a 73-year-old, retired, state parks-department employee, catches turtles himself in a local, private pond using a home-made, 5-foot wire basket. In one year, he caught 111 turtles, including a 28-pounder and a 30-pounder.

He grinds up turtle meat and cooks it in an 18-gallon iron pot with corn, tomatoes, onions, potatoes, rat cheese and seasonings.

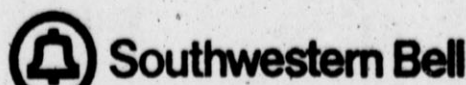

He once cooked 40 gallons of turtle stew for a group of people.

Herd Wins Region-Going To State

PAMPA — After a shaky first inning, Rod Simon and the Hereford 15 year old all-stars held the Canyon all-stars in check for the remaining six frames to win the regional Babe Ruth Tournament. With the 4-2 win, Hereford earned a trip to the state tournament. Canyon started the game much like they did Friday night as they jumped to the lead, scoring two runs on four base hits. Hereford also scored in the initial frame, but it was not until the fourth inning that they tied and went ahead, scoring three runs in a two-out rally. Mike Mason first reached base on a clean single and then moved to second when centerfielder Raymond Martinez was hit by a wild pitch. Arnold Villegas then blasted a double, scoring both base runners to give the Herd the lead. With two outs, Steve George batted in the Herd's final run with a single to score Villegas from second to give Simon and the defense all the cushion that was needed. After the first inning, Canyon did not advance a runner beyond second base, and did not send more than four batters to the plate in any one frame. The win was the second for Hereford over Canyon and gave them the right to represent the region in the state tournament that will be held in Graham, July 23-28. Hereford was able to pick up eight hits in the game, with Villegas the offensive star, collecting two RBI's and scoring the other two runs.

Canyon collected nine hits, but were only able to capitalize in the first inning. Defensively, Canyon committed three errors, while the Herd had two miscues.

Weemes Going To Ranger JC

Don Weemes, starting catcher for the Hereford Whitefaces last year in baseball, received a scholarship to Ranger Junior College in Ranger, Tex., it was announced today.

Weemes, who played three years for the Whitefaces and also three years on the Hereford American Legion team received the scholarship after trying out at the baseball camp ran by the school in June.

Ranger Junior College, a renowned baseball power in the junior college ranks, has won the national title in their division in 1973 and 1978. Former Rangers who have gone on to the big leagues include Donnie Moore of the Chicago Cubs and Mike Childs of the Texas Rangers. The team has won the Region 5 title every year since 1969 with the exception of 1977, when the team finished third. Weemes, in American Legion this year, batted .371 and led the team in triples and doubles. Defensively, he threw out 12 baserunners in 21 attempts.

Kingdome Conducive To Homers

SEATTLE (AP) - It won't take a king-sized hit to get out of Seattle's Kingdome, so batters look forward to tonight's 50th All-Star baseball game with unabashed anticipation.

Even though they'll face the major league strikeout king Nolan Ryan, the National League hitters surveyed the enclosed stadium with happiness.

Davey Lopes, the second baseman from the Los Angeles Dodgers, banged a few balls into the bleachers and observed: "This is very conducive to hitting. Everybody in batting practice was trying to hit the ball over the wall to hear the oohs and aahs from the crowd. It will be a different story against Nolan Ryan."

The right-hander from the California Angels was named for the Americans with Steve Carlton of the Phillies the choice of National League manager Tommy Lasorda. Ryan is 12-6 with 160 strikeouts with Carlton 11-8 with 113.

Lasorda said he went to Carlton as his starter because the American League would send up a flock of left-handed hitters and he wanted a southpaw to be going against them the first three innings.

The game is scheduled to start at 5:40 p.m. PDT as the NL goes after its eighth straight triumph and 16th in 17 games. Overall, after 49 games, the NL has won 30, the AL 18 and there has been one tie.

There will be no designated hitters in this game so the pitchers bat ninth.

The AL batting order has shortstop Roy Smalley leading off, followed by George Brett, third base; Don Baylor, left field; Jim Rice, right field; Fred Lynn, center field; Carl Yastrzemski, first base; Darrell Porter, catcher, and Frank White, second base.

The Kingdome is sold out at $8,960 - a record for the park which measures 316 down the

Renfro To Be Ready Early

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) - Former Texas Christian receiver Mike Renfro, who became a starter for the Houston Oilers his rookie season, expects to return from a knee injury earlier than anticipated.

"There's no pain in the knee and I think I could play in the next to last exhibition game," said Renfro, injured Dec. 3 against Pittsburgh. "I'm sure I'll be ready for the last one (New Orleans) on Aug. 24."

Renfro was the Oilers' No. 3 receiver last season catching 26 passes for 336 yards, including a 58-yard touchdown.

Oiler officials had not expected Renfro to be at full power alleys and 410 to center. Weather doesn't mean much in the enclosed Kingdome, but for outsiders it will be fair with temperatures in the 60's.

Many feel the All-Star Game record of six home runs will be broken. Six homers have been hit in All-Star Games on three occasions, in 1951 and 1971 at Detroit and in 1954 at Cleveland.

Each manager vowed he would use as many from the 28-man squads as possible, but Lemon said, "I feel just as Tommy does. We want to win."

In this game, pitchers are limited to three innings of action each and Lemon said he didn't know who would follow Ryan. He has seven others to choose from including rookie Mark Clear, a reliever for the California Angels.

Lasorda said Steve Rogers of the Montreal Expos would follow Carlton.

Hollywood Wants More Money From Cowboys

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) - The black limousine's chauffeur guided the vehicle into the Dallas Cowboys training camp Monday, and, to no one's surprise, out stepped Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson.

At a reported $100,000 a year for four years, Henderson is unhappy with his lot.

"Hollywood is unhappy," the linebacker told Dallas Morning News columnist Skip Bayless before reporting to camp. "I need more money. I don't want to cause no trouble, but I'm going to talk to them about it when I get there (Thousand Oaks)."

Henderson feels his position is strong. "With the whole strong side Ed Jones and Jethro Pugh, both retired gone except me, my bargaining power has increased dramatically," he said. "And now that they don't have to pay Tom Tall Jones his $150,000, there's more money to spread around."

Henderson didn't talk to newsmen when he arrived at training camp. He wanted to talk with Cowboy negotiator Gil Brandt. Brandt was ready, if not sympathetic. He told Bayless, "We made an agreement, and obviously, Thomas was pleased with it or he wouldn't have signed it. There was no promise of renegotiation. I'll be glad to talk to him about it, but that's all I'll have to say."

Hollywood was unmoved. "You know what Uncle Sam does to a hundred thou?" he asked. "There ain't much left."

While Henderson arrived amid speculation about his future, the other veterans reported quietly, led by All-Pro Randy White, Charlie Waters and Cliff Harris.

They and the other veterans were scheduled for physicals Tuesday before their first workout.

On the practice field, Larry Bethea was the focus of attention. Bethea is getting a hard look at the defensive end slot vacated by Jones, who quit to take up professional boxing. Bethea missed Saturday's scrimmage because of a slight strain of the left knee.

If Henderson made a splash with his entrance, rookie defensive back Doug Dillon of Jackson State made an exit that bordered on one-upmanship. Dillon left camp following his release in a chauffeur-drive white limousine - complete with color television and champagne.

Haden Ready To Lead Rams

By Murray Olderman
LOS ANGELES (NEA) - The very first pass Pat Haden ever threw in the National Football League hit wide receiver Ron Jessie right on the hands, stuck and was carried into the end zone for a 47-yard touchdown.

That was in the opening game of the 1976 season against Atlanta. You might say it's all been downhill from that point. But not if you're Pat Haden. He is still the quarterback of the Los Angeles Rams while critics crawl all over the smog belt insisting the team can't win with him at the controls. Nobody faults his private life. A 26-year-old native Southern Californian, he's a former Rhodes scholar who attends law school and reads deep books while other guys drink beer. He is happily married (with an infant daughter) and lives in a beach front condominium. In general, he looks like a man who could be the future governor of his state. The quarterback problem is mainly physical. Pat weighs 180 pounds and stands at least an inch under 6 feet, which is supposed to be a no-no for someone who makes a living as a professional quarterback.

20 Teams Enter Contest

Everything and more was seen last Saturday as the YMCA's "Anything Goes" competition completed its second annual run. New champions were crowned, fun was evident for all participants and Roger Owens proved that he still has trouble driving a golf cart blindfolded.

The YMCA team won the men's division with what some of the other competitors called, 'a team of mostly flat-bellied kids.' The Catholic Women won the ladies division, dominating the finals and their heat in the preliminaries.

Competition in the men's division was tight the entire way through the finals with the YMCA not claiming the title until after the last event. In the finals were the YMCA, Lions Club I and Lions Club II. These teams were the highest finishers in the prelims in the early afternoon as 10 teams in the men's brackets competed for the final three spots.

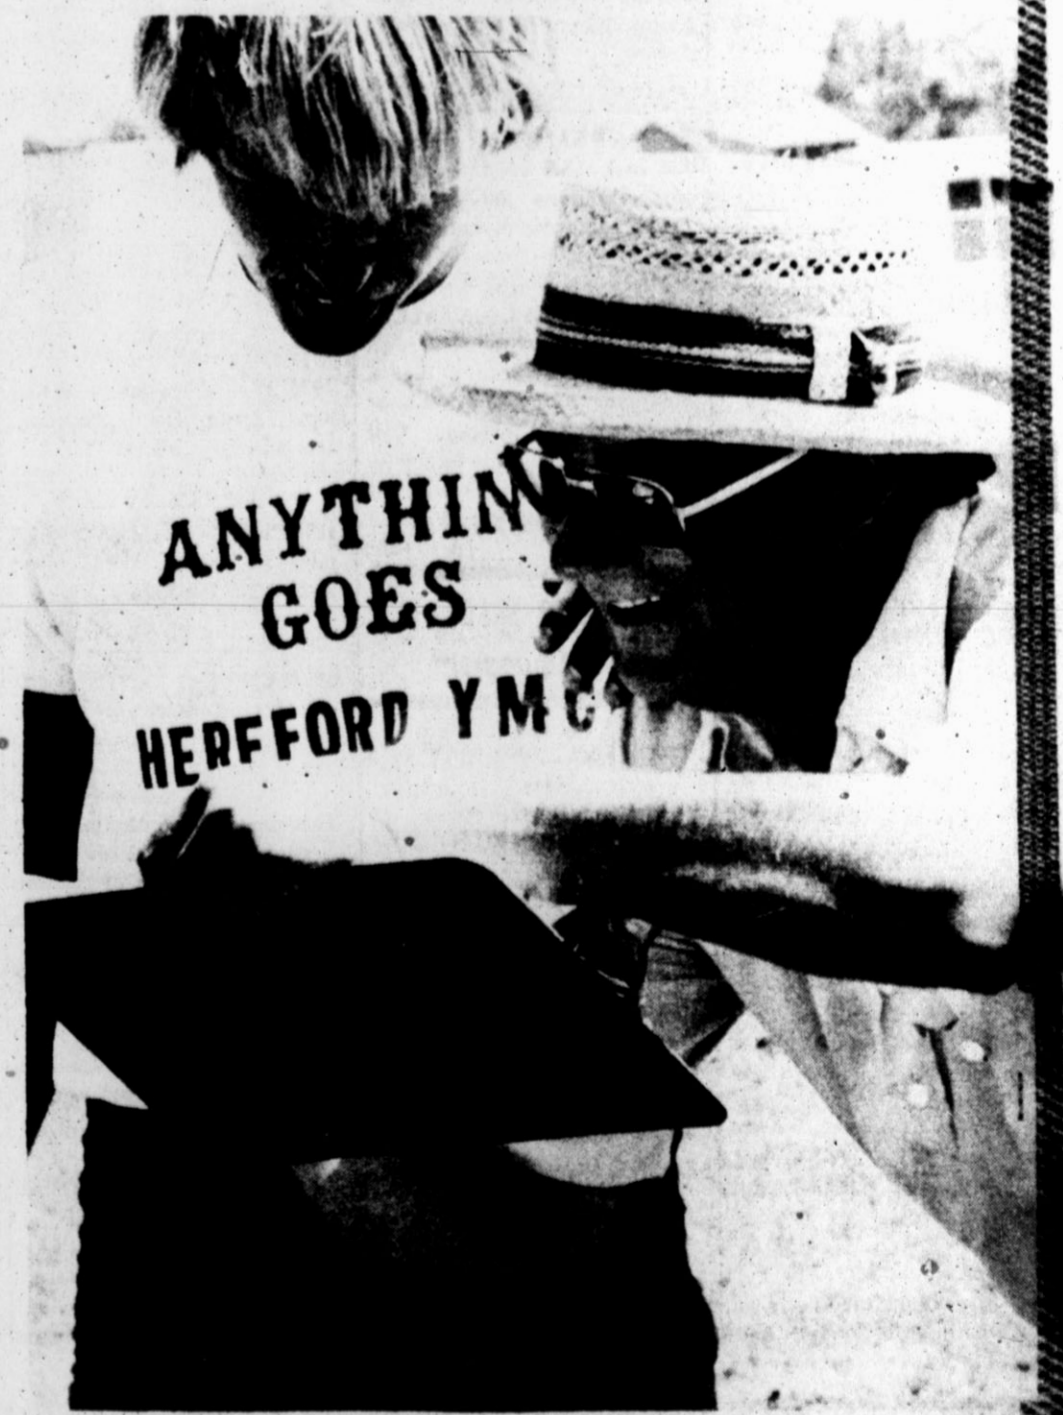

For the women, Hereford State Bank and the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce joined the Catholic Women in the finals, but the outcome was decided after the first three events as the champions captured first in each one. Events such as the three-legged race, spoon and ball, obstacle course, water balloon relay and pole scoot made up the preliminaries, while new events such as golf cart driving, and carpet relay were added to the finals along with changes in some of the other events for the finals.

Each team had a chance to win five points for first, three for second and two points for third in each event. The team with the highest total at the end of the five events was declared the winner.

HEALTH, Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D., Benefits of estrogen, DEAR DR. LAMB - With all the discussion about Premarin, I would like to know if it causes cancer in other parts of the body besides the uterus. At 32 I had a complete hysterectomy with removal of my uterus and ovaries. Since then I take Premarin every day except for one week each month. I was told that after two years the dosage would be lowered. How long should I expect this treatment to continue and am I endangering my health by continuing it? If I don't continue the medication, what results could I expect? DEAR READER - The link between cancer of the uterus and estrogen is the only one that really has strong support at this date. Since you don't have a uterus, you needn't worry about that. The other question that's been raised is the relationship between estrogen and breast cancer. At present it would seem that if a person has normal breasts, that is without lumps, and doesn't develop lumpy breasts, taking female hormones is all right. Of course, regular breast examinations should be done anyway. Other than the lining of the uterus and the breasts, there is no evidence that estrogen increases cancer. In fact, it may prevent it. There are some studies that suggest that the lower incidence of lung cancer in females is related to the female hormones. The other point that you should be particularly inter-

Controversy And Knight Go Together

EDITOR'S NOTE — Bobby Knight is considered one of the country's best college basketball coaches. But his career from West Point through last week's Pan Am Games has been marked by controversy. The first part of this three part series examines that career.

By FRED ROTHENBERG

AP Sports Writer
The coach, who knows it all, approaches a gangly teen-ager, who thinks he does. The coach asks the kid to run as fast as he can to the other end of the basketball court, touch the rim and come back.

The kid struts his stuff as fast as he can.

"Not bad," said the coach. "Eleven seconds. Now do it again."

This time, the coach is on the kid's heels every step of the way, screaming up and down the court. "C'mon...Hustle... Move..." He barks, commanding the kid into a faster gear.

At the end of the second run, the kid looks befuddled. He's puffing a lot harder now. The coach puts his arm around him and stares at his stopwatch. "Now which time do you think was faster?"

The kid, not so strident any more, says sheepishly "the second."

The coach smiles. "Nine seconds," he says.

Bobby Knight, considered by many to be the best basketball coach in the country, has made his point. And if the kid can overcome the shock to his bruised ego, he will have learned a lesson.

It doesn't matter that this wasn't Indiana University, where Knight gets to teach quality players. It was a summer basketball camp for teen-agers. But the motivational technique and results are the same.

In six years as head coach at Army and eight years at Indiana, the 38-year-old Knight has never had one of his players make All-Pro in the National Basketball Association or an all-rookie NBA team. Yet, these players in college gave him 200 career victories by the time he was 35. He now shows a mark of 284-103.

Last season, his Indiana squad - weakened by injuries and suspensions for smoking marijuana and without a single All-American player - won the NIT basketball championship. When the season was over, a computer ranking service called Knight's nine-man team the second best in the country behind Michigan State.

Yet Knight isn't judged by his court achievements alone. Everywhere he goes controversy hangs over him because of his volatile nature and his strong-armed motivational techniques.

At the recent Pan American

Games the spotlight again fell on Knight, coach of the U.S. basketball team. The U.S. was beating the Virgin Islands by 35 points when Knight hotly disputed a charging call. He was ejected from the game and forced to apologize to representatives of the international basketball federation.

Then he got into an altercation last week with a San Juan policeman over the use of a practice facility. Knight wound up in jail for a short time, and the coach and the cop filed assault and battery accusations against each other. Knight faces as much as six months in jail if convicted; Knight's complaint against the cop was dismissed. Knight doesn't recruit showboat players with oversized egos or statistics, and the consensus of coaches is that, in a sport tainted by recruiting violations, Knight doesn't bend the rules.

"The only thing I'm sure of is that Indiana doesn't cheat," says Abe Lemons of Texas. "But that son-of-a-gun thinks he can take five guys off a street corner and beat you."

Knight's players are fundamentally sound and team-oriented, otherwise they aren't Knight's players. His teams play a disciplined, passing-game offense and hard-nosed man-to-man defense. Their trademarks are hustle, intelligence and patience. Practices are fast-paced with players skinning elbows and knees diving for balls.

"Sure he yells and screams a lot, but he's doing it for a purpose. He had my attention at all times," said former Indiana player Steve Downing, a No. 1 draft choice by the Boston Celtics and now an administrative assistant to the Indiana athletic director. "Pretty much to this day I'm still scared of him. I'm always on my toes. But I respect Coach Knight more than anybody in the world. Because of him, I feel I can deal with any problem at any time."

"He treated me like a piece of meat," said Rich Valavicius, who quit Indiana and transferred to Auburn two years ago. "He's rough and tough on you mentally and physically. He's constantly on your case, cursing you out. I was intimidated, and I don't feel I deserved it one bit."

Knight played basketball at Ohio State, where the Buckeyes won Big Ten titles from 1960-62 and the national championship in 1960. One year after graduation, Knight volunteered for the draft with the understanding that his initial duty would be in the West Point basketball program under Coach Tates Locke.

When Locke left for Miami University in 1965, the 24-year-old Knight was named head coach. He quickly earned a reputation as a hot-head, ranting at referees, breaking chairs and getting into hot water with the Army brass.

Knight's Army teams, hampered by a military restriction against accepting plebes taller than 6-foot-6, won consistently. "My most enjoyable coaching experience was at Army," said

Knight. "I loved being the underdog and beating schools with reputations."

He moved to tradition-rich Indiana in 1971, quickly putting his stamp on the program, transforming the "Hurrying Hoosiers" into a typical Knight team, despite an outcry by some Indiana fans who clamored for run-and-gun basketball. He also immediately silenced the whippersnappers that he couldn't handle blacks, or get star players to play disciplined ball.

Indiana went 32-0 and won the national title in 1976, fulfilling one of Knight's greatest dreams. "When he was recruiting me, he told me his goal was to win the national championship," said Jim Crews, a member of the undefeated 1976 team, and now a part-time assistant coach at Indiana. "But he said he was going to do it with good kids."

Bock's Sports Analysis

How To Treat Snobbish Stars

SEATTLE (AP) - When they introduce the All-Star teams tonight, Ted Simmons will be there to take his bow, broken wrist and all. Rod Carew will line up, too, even though his torn-up thumb will prevent him from playing.

Forty-year-old Lou Brock will be there and so will Carl Yastrzemski, dragging an aching Achilles tendon and playing first base instead of the outfield because of it.

So can somebody please explain why if stars like Simmons, Carew, Brock and Yaz can make it, how come Garry Templeton and Dave Concepcion can't fit it in their busy schedules?

Templeton and Concepcion both were selected as backup infielders by Manager Tom Lasorda but both are missing in action, replaced by Craig Reynolds and Larry Parrish, who didn't even have to be asked twice.

Templeton was irked at not being named a starter and refused to come as a reserve, a very adult approach. Concepcion complained of a leg injury which was so severe that he played Sunday for Cincinnati and drove in four runs with a sacrifice fly and a homer. It was obviously a courageous act for him to play hurt that way.

There are some people who could legitimately stay away from this Game but are here because they recognize its importance to baseball, the industry which happens to provide them with a living.

How about the managers, Lasorda and Bob Lemon? They could have begged off. But they are here and happy to be on the scene.

Lasorda's NL champion Los Angeles Dodgers are dragging along in last place. He could have used three days off to recharge his batteries after a disastrous first half. He did not.

Lemon was fired by the New York Yankees - forget all that fancy front office talk, he was told his managerial talents were no longer needed and that's being fired. He could have stayed home in Long Beach, Calif., feet up, sipping a tall cool one, instead of coming here. He did not.

How about a couple of senior citizens, the honorary captains, Lefty Gomez and Carl Hubbell? Gomez not only showed up, he was out there in uniform during Monday's workout. Hubbell is here despite suffering a stroke which has reduced his ability to get around.

How about Sparky Anderson, manager of the Detroit Tigers? He's here, fulfilling a commitment to the Pitch, Hit and Run people. Sparky agreed to represent baseball's official youth program before the seasons started, when he was an unemployed former manager. When he took the Tiger job, he could have pulled out of the PH&R finals here at the All-Star Game. But Sparky would have none of that. He knew the kids were counting on him and he's here.

There's no defense for baseball to deal with athletes who refuse to recognize their obligations - never mind the honor involved - and choose to snub the All-Star Game. But it has been a topic of some conversation here this week.

One suggestion as a substantial fine, but at today's salaries, how much of a dent would that make? Another was to remove the names of absentees from future ballots. But that's not much of a solution either because it would just reduce the validity of the ballot.

So here, at absolutely no charge, is another idea. When next year's computerized All-Star ballot is distributed, fans should remember the players who don't show up tonight and then vote accordingly.

If they can ignore you by not showing up, you can ignore them by not voting for them. There is a suspicion that winding up with 27 votes in the election some year might just wake these guys up. Something or somebody ought to.

MOM UNDERSTOOD

NEW YORK (AP) - Amy Alcott, one of the players on the women's professional golf circuit, credits a lot of her success to her mother.

"I was lucky, I didn't have a Little League Mom," Amy said. "She used to tell me she didn't care if I shot 66 or 88, as long as I was having fun. I've seen a lot of kids ruined by pushy mothers."

NEW YORK (AP) - All-Star catcher Bob Boone of the Philadelphia Phillies has been named the National League's player of the week for the period ending Sunday, July 15.

Boone went 13-for-23 for a .565 average. He also had two doubles and eight RBI as the Phillies won six of seven games and moved into a tie for second place in the NL East with Chicago.

STUTTGART, West Germany (AP) - Werner Zirnigbi eliminated Jose Luis Dameani 6-3, 6-2 and Rolf Gehring ousted Vladko Ivancic 6-2, 6-1 in the opening round of a $75,000 international tennis tournament.

Klaus Eberhard provided West Germany's third victory of the day with a 6-3, 6-3 romp over Andreas Maurer.

In other first-round action, American Ferdi Taygan beat Louk Sanders 6-4, 6-1; Peter Xcigl eliminated Jairo Valesco 6-3, 7-5; Zeljko Franulovic beat Ricardo Ycaza 6-1, 6-1; and John Yuil downed Fernando Dalla-Fontana 6-4, 5-7, 7-6.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Hans Gildemeister beat David Schneider in the first round of the $175,000 Washington Star Tennis Tournament, 6-3, 5-7, 6-0.

Fred McNair retired in the middle of his match against Alvin Gardiner due to the heat and bowed 6-4, 5-5. In other matches, 11th-seeded Eliot Teltcher eliminated Richard Meyer 6-1, 6-4 and George Hardie beat Trey Walke 6-3, 6-1.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) - James Barry stroke away from 24 competitors to set a record in the revival of the Around-the-Island Swim. Barry, 25, finished the 21-mile course around Absecon Island, which includes Atlantic City, in 7:18:30. The race included a seven-mile leg in the Atlanta Ocean.

Barry's time was more than 75 seconds ahead Steve Cassidy, 22, who finished second, and 81 minutes faster than the previous record set last year by Jim Whelan.

BERLIN (AP) - Fifteen nations withdrew from the World Archery Championships to protest participation by South Africa and Zimbabwe-Rhodesia, cutting the field to 28 teams for the first round.

The Soviet Union and the People's Republic of China started the walkout of the championships in West Berlin over the weekend after the International Archery Federation rejected a Soviet demand to bar the two African countries for their white supremacy policies.

Poland, Hungary, Romania, and Czechoslovakia joined the boycott along with India, Finland, Yugoslavia and Ireland. A record 43 nations had sent teams to West Berlin.
