

Hail-Stricken Counties May Get Fed Help

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

State Speaker of the House Bill Clayton said Tuesday that Governor Bill Clements has assured him that he will ask President Carter to declare Castro, Parmer and Lamb counties in the Panhandle as disaster areas.

Deaf Smith County, which had severe losses but less damage than the other counties, may be included in the request, according to John Fuston of the local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office.

Clayton said Clements indicated he would make an official request as soon as letters attesting to damage from Friday's crippling hailstorm are received from county judges in the affected areas.

Clayton talked with the judges Tuesday afternoon by telephone and said that all the counties had mailed reports concerning damage in their areas.

Clayton said other counties which received crop and personal property damage from last week's widespread hailstorm may also apply for assistance.

The governor must make the request for disaster assistance before persons in affected areas can be considered for long-term, low-interest federal loans.

Crop and property losses are expected to climb to $300 million in the wake of the hail and windstorm which ripped five counties of the Panhandle and South Plains Friday afternoon and Saturday evening.

The storm ruined thousands of acres of corn, grain sorghum and cotton, in addition to other crops, and devastated homes and property in the Olton area in Lamb County.

Approximately 80,000 acres of farmland in Castro County suffered damage, while damage could exceed $2 million in Deaf Smith County over the 10,000 acres hit by hail, hard rains and high winds.

Deaf Smith County Judge Glen Nelson said he is awaiting word from the ASCS office before writing Clements concerning the amount of damage suffered by a line of farmland from Dawn to near Wildorado in Oldham County.

"We need to do something, but I haven't heard from anyone yet," Nelson said today.

Fuston said his office has mailed Nelson a letter requesting that the affected portion of Deaf Smith County be declared a disaster area.

"We mailed it yesterday (Tuesday)," Fuston said. "I don't know if we'll get in on this first deal with the other counties."

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says about all the energy he has these days is used up in jogging his memory.

In the business of life, Man is the only product. And there is only one direction in which man can possibly develop if he is to make a better living or yield a bigger dividend to himself, to his race, to nature or to God. He must grow in knowledge, wisdom, kindness and understanding--V.C. Kitchen

WHILE VISITING WITH Rep. Kent Hance this week, the congressman told us he was pleased with the volume of returns on the questionnaire he mailed to voters in the 19th district. He had hoped that many citizens would take time to fill out the forms and let their wishes be known on various issues facing Congress.

He related one humorous note about the questionnaires. One lady had written a P.S. at the bottom of a form, noting that her husband checked the "yes" and "no" opinions under column one and her answers were in column two.

A couple of the answers differed on the questionnaire, and the lady made this notation: "Please disregard his answer on No. 9, because he doesn't know what he's talking about!"

IT IS TRULY remarkable how much of our daily conversations are made up of "sayings" or expressions, many of them, no doubt, originating in this part of the country.

Danny Andrews, columnist with the Plainview Daily herald recently reported the efforts of some area residents to compile a list of sayings.

Those residents compiled a list which totaled more than 800 expressions.

Taken alphabetically, a random sample includes: all in the same boat, as easy as falling off a log, barking up the wrong tree, beats anything I ever saw, bleeding like a stuck hog, blind as a bat, breathing down somebody's neck, butter you up, called on the carpet, can't cut the mustard, can't win for losing, catch my drift, clean as a whistle, cool as a cucumber, crazy as a bed bug.

Also there are: dirt cheap, don't put all your eggs in one basket, down in the dumps, down to brass tacks, driving me up the wall, drunk as a skunk, eat crow, elbow grease, eyes bigger than his stomach, fair to middlin', fat as a pig, fixin' to fly off the handle, get it while the gettin's good, get the show on the road, going around in circles, gone to their head, got you over a barrel, grinning like a cat eating glue.

Hard as a rock, hard headed, have your cake and eat it too, high as a kite, hit the hay, hold your horses, hot under the collar, I don't give a flip, I'll be doggone, I mite as well, in a nutshell, I reckon, Jack of all trades, just worn to a frazzle, Katie bar the door, keep it under your hat, keep your britches on, kind of nosy, konked out, the last straw, like a bull in a china cabinet (or china closet), like a chicken with its head cut off, like two peas in a pod, look down their nose, looks like they scraped the bottom of the barrel, love her to pieces.

Bergland To Probe Meat Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says he will move slowly in seeking reform of the nation's wholesale meat trade, relying instead on voluntary improvements by the industry and privately-owned price reporting services.

A review of those efforts will be made next July, he said.

Bergland, in a report released Tuesday, said if the voluntary actions do not materialize, the Agriculture Department "must and will consider other remedies."

The report, dated Aug. 6, involves a long-standing issue over wholesale beef pricing and how information is collected and used to set the daily prices that ultimately are reflected at supermarkets.

Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, as chairman of the House Small Business Committee, has supported legislation to overhaul the price systems, including use of modern electronic reporting systems so more buyers and sellers can get up-to-the-minute information on transactions.

Smith also has questioned the practice of "formula pricing" of beef and has urged mandatory price reporting instead of the loosely-knit system of voluntary reporting that has prevailed.

Formula pricing basically involves a prospective buyer and seller of meat agreeing on a price that will be published at a later date by the Yellow Sheet or some other market reporting service. Whatever the price that is reported on that day for a certain grade of beef, as an example, would be accepted.

Congressional and other critics have claimed that wholesale meat prices, notably beef, are controlled by a handful of big packers, supermarket chains and brokers who report prices daily based on "thin" markets that do not always reflect actual transactions.

The Yellow Sheet, published in Chicago, is the price reporting service most frequently used, according to government officials.

A task force named by Bergland earlier this year to look into the situation recommended July 15 a generally hands-off federal policy. It said the government should not ban the formula pricing of meat, operate a meat-trading system or

Economy Continues Sluggishness in July

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government statistical indicator intended to forecast trends in the nation's economy fell 0.4 percent in July for the third decline in four months, the Commerce Department said today.

The Composite Index of Leading Indicators had fallen 0.3 percent in June, according to revised figures. A modest 0.2 percent rise in May had followed a 2.2 percent drop in the strike-depressed month of April.

Three consecutive declines in the index are said to forecast a recession. But weakness in the numbers since late last year also would tend to confirm the downturn that many economists say began in the second quarter this year.

"It sure shows a sluggish economy at best," said Commerce Department analyst Adren Cooper. "It has been showing such lack of zip that one should be concerned about it."

A department statement blamed much of the July decline on poor performance by business suppliers. The number of companies reporting delivery delays declined — a signal that their suppliers are not extremely busy and are having no problem filling orders.

Also declining last month were contracts for plant and equipment, new orders and building permits, the report said.

Improving slightly were the work week, layoff rate, liquid assets, sensitive prices, stock prices and money supply.

The index last month stood at 139.3, which means that it was 139.3 percent ahead of the 1967 base year.

That was the lowest level since 139.1 in January 1978 and more than 3 percent below its October peak of 143.7, the figure.

Depression Worries Coast Guard Again

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Coast Guardsmen fighting runaway Mexican oil faced a pair of problems today — the renewed threat of a tropical depression and the first indication the oil might be damaging the delicate Laguna Madre.

The depression, which had appeared to be harmlessly spending itself in Northern Mexico, unexpectedly moved slightly offshore late Tuesday and scientists said it could strengthen if it remains over water.

The Coast Guard had feared Monday that the depression, with sustained winds of 35 mph and gusts up to 50 mph, would intensify into Tropical Storm Elena and swamp the floating barriers that protect the Laguna Madre.

That sensitive 100-mile-long lagoon harbors rare wildlife and serves as a breeding ground for shrimp and other commercial marine species.

Much to their relief, the depression veered inland about 80 miles south of Texas late Monday. National Weather Service scientists had said there was an outside chance it would go back over water, but acknowledged the shift late Tuesday was unexpected.

The weak depression had an ill-defined center and was virtually stationary just offshore about 120 miles south of Brownsville.

"We are essentially back to where we were Monday, it is not as strong as it was then, the winds are only 15 to 25 mph. If it stays over water there is a better chance of it strengthening. It is something to watch," said Coast Guard spokesman Jim McGranachan.

However, there were no immediate predictions that the depression would strengthen.

Coast Guard officials reported Tuesday night that concentrations of tar balls were found on the extremely delicate Long Island in the southern Laguna Madre. The oil was apparently driven into the lagoon Monday when the area was lashed

Vanderbilt Defense Rests

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors in the capital murder retrial of former Amarillo police officer Jimmy Paul Vanderbilt planned to call one rebuttal witness today before the start of final arguments.

Vanderbilt's defense attorneys rested their case Tuesday after calling only one witness. Vanderbilt did not take the witness stand in his own defense.

Amarillo Police Capt. E.M. Smith testified that a Wisconsin man had confessed to the slaying of 16-year-old Katina Moyer, the crime for which Vanderbilt is charged.

But Smith said the information did not fit the crime, and the man who confessed was turned over to a mental institution.

Prosecutors rested their case Monday after calling Tere Chris Tucker, 25.

The woman testified she had been abducted by Vanderbilt two weeks before Miss Moyer's body was found April 2, 1975, with a gunshot wound in the head.

Vanderbilt is accused of killing Miss Moyer, the daughter of former state Rep. Hudson Moyer. The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals overturned Vanderbilt's conviction and death sentence handed down in his first trial in Amarillo in 1976.

District Judge Larry Gist, hearing the case in Beaumont on a change of venue, has ruled inadmissible all written and oral statements Vanderbilt made to police after his arrest.

Soviets: Defector Offered Seas of Whiskey

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. "provocateurs" baited Bolshoi Ballet defector Alexander Godunov with promises of "mountains of gold and a sea of whiskey" and then started "dirty slanderous rumors" to make him leave his wife, the newspaper Literaturnaya Gazeta reported today.

It was the first Soviet account of why the Bolshoi's 29-year-old star left a touring troupe in New York a week ago and obtained asylum in the United States.

Literaturnaya Gazeta, a weekly that is the official mouthpiece on literary and cultural matters, did not say that the dancer defected. Instead it said he "disappeared" last Wednesday without saying a word about his plans to his wife, ballerina Ludmila Vlasova.

A dispatch by the paper's New York correspondent, Iona Andronov, gave this version of the "bandit operation" that took Godunov away from his wife and the Bolshoi:

The "huge success" that the 150-member Bolshoi troupe scored at the start of its New York engagement on Aug. 1 forced U.S. "provocateurs...in desperation to undertake an impudent political sabotage." They focused their efforts on Godunov, trying to make him leave the Bolshoi and stay in the United States.

"He was literally under siege everywhere by a whole team of instigators who promised him mountains of gold and a sea of whiskey."

"That bait probably was not sufficient. And then these trappers of men's souls decided to strike at his psyche, planting in the American press dirty slanderous rumors about his wife in order to persuade the husband to leave her and to break him spiritually."

"Unfortunately, the main plan worked and on Aug. 23, Godunov disappeared without saying a word to his ballerina wife, Ludmila Vlasova."

The correspondent said Godunov is being "kept under guard in a secret place" and that his only statement to the press so far were the words: "I am in a state of complete shock and horror."

On Tuesday, the Soviet news agency Tass made the first official mention of Godunov since his defection and said the circumstances of disappearance were "not yet clear."

Literaturnaya Gazeta also published an interview today with Miss Vlasova, who returned home Tuesday after a 74-hour U.S.-Soviet standoff at Kennedy Airport.

In the interview she was quoted as saying:

"After the sudden disappearance of my husband, I immediately felt that I was in danger. Everywhere I walked, an automobile with unknown people in it followed me."

"That is why I decided to return home immediately on the next Aeroflot flight, though I was very worried about my husband."

When U.S. officials grounded the plane and police surrounded it, "it was absolutely clear to me that they were plotting against something awful," the ballerina reportedly said.

Attempts by Western reporters to interview Miss Vlasova continued to be unsuccessful.

Protestants Plan Revenge on Irish

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) - A Protestant guerrilla organization pledged revenge on the Irish Republican Army for the killing of Lord Mountbatten and 18 British soldiers, and a few hours later a Roman Catholic was killed on his Belfast doorstep, touching off speculation that the Protestant backlash was under way.

As forces of the Irish Republic and Britain hunted for the IRA bombers who blew up Britain's famed soldier-statesman and two days ago, the outlaws Ulster Freedom Fighters declared in a statement delivered to local newspapers: "In view of the latest wave of Irish Republican Army attacks, we will resume hostilities against known IRA men."

Tuesday evening Patrick John Hardy, whose brother was killed during riots in Belfast four years ago, was shot and killed by two men who escaped on a motorcycle. Six of the man's 10 children were inside the house.

Hardy was the 24th person killed in Ireland this week as a result of the 10-year-old war in Northern Ireland.

Hurricane David Continues Big Blow

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) - Hurricane David, one of the most dangerous storms to threaten the Antilles islands, bypassed Barbados during the night and headed for Martinique, 350 miles southeast of Puerto Rico.

The 3 a.m. advisory from the U.S. National Weather Service in San Juan said David's center was 80 miles east-southeast of Martinique and should pass over the French island during the morning.

The weather service said the hurricane was moving west-northwest at about 145 mph and was expected to maintain that speed and direction for 24 hours more.

Hurricane warnings were in effect for the islands of Guadeloupe, Dominica, St. Lucia, Barbados, St. Vincent and the Grenadines, in the Lesser Antilles chain curving south from Puerto Rico to the north coast of South America.

The hurricane watch was discontinued for Grenada, southwest of Barbados.

David's top winds dropped Tuesday evening from 150 mph to 140. But the weather service's midnight advisory said the weakening trend did not continue, top winds were still 140 mph, and "David is still a very dangerous hurricane."

Clements Says

Damage May Worsen

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements, whose "calm, cool and reasonable" attitude toward the Mexican oil spill has exposed him to criticism, says coastal residents need to know the damage will worsen and might continue for another four months.

Clements flies to the coast today for a helicopter tour of the greasy beaches and conferences with city and county officials from the Gulf of Mexico area.

The governor also planned a late morning news conference in Corpus Christi before returning to Austin.

He asked the U.S. Small Business Administration on Tuesday to declare Cameron, Willacy, Kleberg, Kenedy, Nueces, Aransas and San Patricio counties disaster areas.

A declaration would entitle businessmen in those counties, hard-hit by a drop-off in tourism because of the spill, to obtain low-interest loans from the federal government to tide them over.

He also asked the SBA to waive its rule that an "incident" be over - that it have a firm beginning and ending date - before it will accept applications.

Khomeini Orders

War on Rebellion

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini issued new orders to crush the Kurdish rebellion in northwest Iran and reports of executions mounted despite peace overtures from the Kurds.

Khomeini sent Moslem cleric Hosseini Kermani on a factfinding mission to Kurdistan Tuesday with orders to "crush the outlaws if need be," Tehran Radio reported.

Kurdish sources said 57 Kurds were executed by firing squad in Saqqez Tuesday in addition to the 51 announced throughout Kurdistan since Khomeini's prosecutor, Ayatollah Sadeq Khalkhali, was sent to the region two weeks ago.

The sources, reached by telephone in their stronghold in Mahabad, said Khalkhali's tribunals in Saqqez to the south, found the 57 guilty of "anti-revolutionary activities."

They said the bullet-riddled bodies of the condemned were "dumped into the street outside the town's garrison as grief-stricken relatives gathered around."

The official Pars news agency said only that 11 Kurds and nine army deserters were executed in Saqqez Tuesday. There was no independent confirmation of the figures supplied by the government or the Kurds.

impose mandatory reporting on the private sector.

After reviewing the task force report, Bergland said he believes "the meat industry has traditionally been one that has functioned well for the benefit of all citizens with a minimum of government regulation" and, "I do not want to see that changed."

"However," he added, "I must strongly emphasize that this department is vitally concerned about any deficiencies and problems in the meat pricing and price reporting systems."

Bergland said a special USDA panel

"will encourage all segments" of the meat industry to broaden the base of price reporting and will look into setting up standards for adequate reporting.

The report also included copies of letters to Lester I. Norton, Chicago, publisher of the Yellow Sheet, and to William Albanos Jr. of The Meat Sheet, Elmhurst, Ill., urging them to carry out the recommendations for improving the reporting services.

As to electronic price reporting, Bergland said private industry may be ready to make the necessary investment to carry out pilot tests without federal aid.

However, Bergland said USDA, as a purchaser of meat, is looking at the legal aspects of participating in a pilot test of electronic meat marketing and has suggested the same to the Defense Department.

Bergland said recommendations for mandatory price reporting and licensing are premature and that "it is my hope such a requirement can be avoided through voluntary cooperation" of the meat industry.

Man Stabbed; One Sought

Hereford police were planning to make an arrest today in connection with the stabbing of Domingo Garcia, 203 Ave. H, around 6:40 p.m. Tuesday at Dameron Park.

Details were sketchy in the incident, which involved a fight between Garcia and another man, whom police say they have identified.

Garcia was stabbed once in the lower chest area with a pocketknife. He was listed in fair condition today at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Bill Alejandro, 824 Blevins, reported Tuesday afternoon that someone shot out a window in a tool shed in his back yard with a BB gun. Police said nine shots had been fired at the window.

Jeff Hammond, Route 5, complained that his car was broken into while it was parked at Hereford High School Tuesday and 14 eight-track tapes had been removed. Entry was gained by breaking a vent window, reports showed.

Hereford Day Care Center, 215 Norton, told police that a window was pried open either

Monday night or before the center opened Tuesday morning and $2 to $3 worth of change and an intercom were stolen.

Vernon Lewis Exxon, 403 N. 25 Mile Ave., reported that a man driving a 1979 blue and white Pontiac Grand Prix stole $6.30 worth of gas. Police are planning to make an arrest in connection with the misdemeanor.

D&F Shamrock, 611 N. 25 Mile Ave., reported that while the owner was outside putting fuel into a truck, someone removed $122 from the cash drawer.

A clerk at Seven-11 Convenience Store, N. 25 Mile Ave. and 15 St., said Tuesday that a young, black female ordered $5 worth of gas, put it in her car and left without paying.

Officers also investigated an illegally parked car at Pizza Hut, W. Highway 60, Tuesday morning.

Shah Remains Loyal

MEXICO CITY (AP) - The deposed Shah of Iran goes around Mexico visiting tourist sights, seeing friends, playing golf or tennis - all under very tight security.

But, say aides, he also is disturbed about events in his country and is working on his memoirs.

"He remains loyal and patriotic," one of the aides, Mark Morse, said of the shah's concern for events in Iran that he left last January.

Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his family are "basically vacationing" in a posh Spanish-style villa in Cuernavaca, a colonial resort 50 miles south of Mexico City, Morse said.

"He's a classic tourist. He enjoys museums and is intrigued by the Aztec culture," Morse said in a telephone interview with The Associated Press. "His life is as normal as possible."

"But he continues to be disturbed about what is happening in his country which is in a shambles now." Except for one news conference held after arriving here, the shah has shunned reporters.

Security around the shah was sharply increased in June after Iranian revolutionary court judge Ayatollah Sadeq Khalkhali authorized the deposed monarch's assassination and said he would give a reward to anyone who carried it out.

Iran is now led by the Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, one of the shah's long-time foes, who is establishing an Islamic republic to replace the Pahlavi monarchy.

Far from living in isolation, the Iranian imperial family, under heavy guard, visits with friends in Cuernavaca and other parts of the country, goes sightseeing and occasionally night-clubbing and receives visitors, who have included former President Nixon and former U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger. Morse declined to name any of the shah's other visitors and friends.

"We have received thousands of letters from all over the world since we've been in Mexico - and I don't think we've received one negative letter," Morse said.

"We've gotten several offers from Americans saying that if he needs a place to stay they have property available," Morse added. But he said the shah and his family plan to stay in Mexico for the foreseeable future.

The shah, Empress Farah and their four children - Reza, 18; Farahnaz, 16; Ali Reza, 13; and Leyla, 9 - entered Mexico on June 10 on three-month tourist visas. The visas are renewable, and eventually could be upgraded to distinguished visitor permits.

Another aide, Robert Armao, said that at home in Cuernavaca, "the shah leads a very quiet, relaxed lifestyle. He reads, trying to keep up with the situation in his country. He's also working on his memoirs."

He said the shah plays tennis and golf and "he's in good shape, thin and tan." The enormous villa sitting on a three-acre estate is surrounded by high bougainvillea-covered walls and includes a large swimming pool.

Adjoining it and divided by a small mountain stream is the golf club, Los Tabacchines, one of Mexico's most exclusive.

Cuernavaca, a city of 220,000 in a series of small valleys, is a quiet resort favored by wealthy foreigners as a place for seclusion, especially by retired Americans because of its balmy year-round weather.

The estate belongs to the widow of a wealthy Mexican architect, and last year rented for about $13,500 a month, according to local residents. This could not be confirmed. What the shah pays has not been disclosed.

Since moving to Cuernavaca, the shah and Empress Farah have made trips to the silver-mining center of Taxco, 112 miles south of Mexico City, to the southern state of Oaxaca and "occasional trips to Mexico City to go shopping or visit friends," said Morse.

Morse - who, along with Armao, is an American - said the four royal children have been studying English and Spanish all summer with special tutors and plan to enter school in the fall. But he would not reveal where - whether in Mexico or in the United States, as is rumored in Cuernavaca.

FBI Informant Called By Davis Prosecution

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Prosecutors unveil the heart of their case against millionaire Cullen Davis with the testimony today of FBI informant David McCrory.

McCrory, 41, is Davis' former beer-drinking buddy who last summer cooperated in an elaborate investigation that led to Davis' arrest Aug. 20, 1978.

It is McCrory who claims Davis ordered him to negotiate the murders of State District Judge Joe Eidson and others on an alleged "hit" list. He has been living with a new identity in another city under the federal Witness Protection Program since January.

And it was McCrory who was secretly wired with body recorders to capture two parking lot meetings with Davis on tape. Those tapes are the meat of the state's murder-for-hire case against the Fort Worth industrialist.

Davis is charged with soliciting the murder of Eidson, the 61-year-old jurist who was presiding over the drawn-out Davis divorce trial.

Eidson himself played a small part in the investigation, posing for photographs in a ketchup-stained T-shirt to simulate his "death."

The picture-taking session was directed by FBI agent Joe Gray, who wrapped up his third day of testimony on Tuesday. The photos, simulating Eidson's "body" in the trunk of a car, were to be McCrory's "proof" of Eidson's death. But Davis claims he never saw the black and white Polaroid snapshot.

During defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes cross-examination of Gray Tuesday, he touched for the third time on a conversation between FBI agents and citizens who may have witnessed McCrory's debriefing following his Aug. 20 betrayal of Davis.

The last meeting between Davis and McCrory took place on the parking lot of a Fort Worth restaurant and was filmed by Gray, hidden in a surveillance van about 100 yards away.

Following the meeting, McCrory, Gray and other agents met on the parking lot, where Gray removed the body recorder from McCrory's back.

Gray testified that as he and other agents were leaving the parking lot, they stopped and talked briefly to "citizens" also parked at the restaurant.

Harcourt dro had asked FBI agents Ron Jannings and Jerry Hubbell, who testified last week, if they had witnessed any such conversation.

but I hope we do. "Of course, we don't have the big total amount of damage that these other places do, but if you were one of these farmers on that strip between Wildorado and Dawn, you'd think it was big. Those crops look really bad, especially the milo."

Fuston said that although he would like to include the county in Carter's initial declaration, it is not crucial to do so.

"I think everybody's getting in an awful big hurry to try to estimate damage. We know we've got a lot of damage, in fact, $2 million is a conservative figure, but it'll take seven to 10 to 14 days to tell if these crops are going to respond or die," he said.

"It's a lot harder to tell on corn and milo how these plants are going to react, as opposed to cotton and soybeans, where the leaves are gone and the plants are gone."

"We don't need to be in too big a hurry, but I can understand the farmers' thinking. They'd like to know that we're going to be declared. But, until we harvest what we can of these crops or decide that nothing's worth harvesting, a producer wouldn't be eligible for a Small Business Administration loan anyway."

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock

toured the affected counties, including Deaf Smith, Sunday. "I have never seen this kind of damage," Hance said.

"Most of these crops were really good—maybe even records. Prices were finally up a little and a lot of these men were hoping to recoup losses from the last few years. This will really set the whole area back," the congressman said.

Fuston said Hance told him Sunday that Deaf Smith county should be designated as a disaster area.

"I talked with Mr. Hance and it was agreed then that he would try to help us get on that declaration," Fuston said.

ures indicate. The index fell 0.2 percent in the first quarter and 1.7 percent in the second quarter - the first quarterly declines in the index since the first three months of 1975, when the nation was coming out of its last recession.

The Carter administration only recently admitted that the economy probably began falling during the second quarter of this year into what would be its seventh recession since World War II.

Carter economists say more than 1 million people may lose their jobs before the end of the year. The total output of the nation's economy, forecasters say, could decline more than 1 percent from the fourth quarter of 1978 to the final quarter of 1979.

Meanwhile, there was mixed news Tuesday on the nation's foreign trade balance. According to Commerce Department figures:

-The overall U.S. trade deficit decreased to $1.1 billion in July, from $1.9 billion in June.

-But the nation paid a record $4.8 billion to import foreign oil and petroleum products, exceeding the previous high of $4.6 billion in March 1977.

U.S. exports rose to a record $15.7 billion in July, up 4.2 percent from the previous high of $15 billion in June. That increase more than offset the higher oil import costs stemming from price boosts adopted July 1 by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Overall imports, meanwhile, fell from the record $16.9 billion in June to $16.7 billion last month. Among the import categories showing declines were food and live animals, chemicals and related products, ores and lumber, and passenger cars.

The volume of imported oil increased 1.8 percent in July to 245.9 million barrels, but the total price rose 13 percent, from $4.3 billion in June to $4.8 billion in July.

The U.S. trade deficit for the first seven months this year totaled $12.9 billion, compared with $20.1 billion for the same period last year.

The Carter administration hopes to hold the trade deficit to a maximum of $24 billion this year, about $4.5 billion below last year's level.

Spill

by the outer edges of the depression. Scientists said they will not be able to gauge the environmental impact until the situation could be studied.

The environmental sensitivity and importance of all areas on the coast threatened by history's worst oil spill have been rated in the fertile marshes along Long Island ranked at the top of the list.

Hans Stuart of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service said those marsh areas are valuable spawning areas and said, "This could be significant."

Skimmer vessels, which might have scooped up some of the oil as it seeped in Monday, could not be used during the nasty weather.

Earlier Tuesday scientist had reported a monstrous patch of oil, up to 15 miles wide and at least 30 miles long, looming just below Brownsville and appearing ready to further devastate the tourist industry on the busy Labor Day weekend.

But Tuesday night scientists said that there are "indications" that huge slick might have been driven on to Mexican shores by the depression's winds.

Stormy weather prevented reconnaissance flights that could verify that indication.

Dr. Nancy Maynard, a scientist with the government task force battling the spill, had predicted the oil should blacken the already-stained tourist beaches along the entire South Texas coast for the "next few days."

The multimillion-dollar tourist industries at both ends of Padre Island have been hit hard by the massive spill from a still-spewing offshore Mexican well. Tourism is off at least 50 percent at South Padre Island, the area's major resort.

The combination of the storm and oily beaches have left the scenic beaches all but deserted this week.

"The Labor Day weekend doesn't look too promising. It looks like business will be pretty lean at best," Ralph Thompson of the South Padre Tourist Bureau said Tuesday. "This is normally our peak season. We're down 50 percent or more."

The Coast Guard wants the barrier island beaches, which are easily cleaned, to bear the brunt of the goo and are trying to keep it out of the delicate bays and lagoons.

Coast Guard officials completed work Tuesday on the filling in of the Cedar Bayou Pass that separates San Jose and Matagorda islands and leads to the wiper nesting area for most of the remaining 126 whooping cranes. The sand dike across the narrow, shallow pass was the most drastic step yet to keep out the oil.

The Ixtoc 1 test well blew out June 3 some 500 miles south of Brownsville in the Bay of Campeche. It is still spewing about 10,000 barrels of oil per day into the Gulf of Mexico. Almost three million barrels of oil have been spilled.

Mexican officials say it will be at least mid-September before the well will be capped. Capping procedures thus far have reduced the original flow by two-thirds.

'Texas' Closes Record Season

"TEXAS" closed at midnight, Aug. 25, and ended the fourteenth season. Not until June 18, 1980 will the horseman ride to the top of the cliff and salute the crowd with his "TEXAS" flag.

Not until June 18, 1980 will the dancers and singers dressed in the bright colors of the canyon walls come bursting on to the stage in movement and song. And not until June 18, 1980 will the man-made lightning vie with the natural storms.

Although the season was a week shorter, this show drew more visitors than 1978. The unadmitted total was close to 90,000.

In spite of the uncertainty over gas supplies, over a third of the visitors came from more than 500 miles away as they had in previous years, and about a third came from out-of-state.

During the next four days, there have been intensive rehearsals on the Amphitheatre stage and on Thursday, August 30, the new show, "STARS 1979" will open. The dancers of the Lone Star Company (including Patti Hendon of Hereford) will appear with guest artists from New York, Iceland, the Middle East and Ballet West in Utah.

At the close of the evening, Paul Greens "Story of the Palo Duro" will be told in Light and Sound - a spark to ignite imaginations.

Barbecue dinner will be served at the theatre before each performance. Adult plates are $4. Children's (under 12) are $3.

Admission to "STARS" is $3.50 for adults and $2.00 for children under 12. There are no reserved seats.

Ann Landers Unsure Wife

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 51. My husband is 68. We've been married 30 years. I've never slept with anyone else. Sex was always very nice. Everything about our marriage was very nice. We have two boys who never gave us any trouble. We put them through college and they took over the family business. Everything about our lives was too good to be true.

Two years ago my husband had a heart attack, then a second one. It almost cost him his life. He was advised to have open-heart surgery, which he did. Two weeks after the operation he suffered a stroke and was in a coma for several days. When he woke up he couldn't talk, didn't know me and acted like an animal. He had to be in the hospital for over a year.

He's much better now, but not normal. I love him more than anything in this world, but his illnesses have turned him into an old man. He's obsessed with sex and can't keep his hands off me. It makes me sick. I can't feel that way about him again.

My sister says it's my duty to go to bed with him. He has to have constant care and can't drive, so it's impossible for him to get away from me and find someone else for that purpose.

I thank God he's alive, and I love caring for him. But, Ann, I don't think any woman should have to be used for something she doesn't feel. It's like being a prostitute. I've told him I DON'T want him sexually, but he still runs after me all the time. I've had counseling and some sessions made me even more upset and confused. Nothing will change my mind. Please tell me, Ann, do I have to let this man use me just because I am married to him?—Hellish Predicament

DEAR H.P.: Why did you write to me? You have made it clear that you don't want advice, and that nothing will change your mind.

Your question, "Do I have to?" indicates tremendous ambivalence which is understandable. You say you've had counseling. Good. Now I hope you will find another counselor. As in every field, some people are more competent than others. Let's hope the next counselor is better than the last. Good luck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 14-year-old son has informed us that he is moving out of our house and will be living with a 50-year-old man.

I started a few years ago when "John" ran errands for the man and began to receive a lot more money than the errands were worth. Next came expensive gifts and clothes.

"John" is of legal age and told us that he is going to live his own life, and we should keep out of it.

He has never been out with a girl and we are sure there is a homosexual relationship going on here. This man's reputation around town for being "nice to boys and younger men is well known. What can we say to our son to put him on the right track?—Parents In Mourning

DEAR PARENTS: There is nothing you can do to help a person who does not want to be helped, so I suggest you get help for yourselves. There's a national organization for parents of gays. These people help one another to accept their children as they are. The address of Parents of Gays and Lesbian Women is Duane Methodist Church, 201 West 13th St., at 7th Ave., New York N.Y. 10011. Please write to them for free literature. You will be glad you did.

Tuition Scholarships Earned by Local Trio

CANYON — Three Hereford residents have accepted Residence Hall and Tuition Scholarships from West Texas State University for the 1979-80 academic year.

The recipients include Linda M. Ginn and Margaret Southward who each received a $200 award. A $100 award was given to Shawn Klimek.

The scholarships, which range from $100 to $600 in value, have been awarded to students who have exhibited leadership qualities and have superior academic achievement records.

Ginn who is a graduate of Hereford High School, is a junior majoring in medical technology at WTSU. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Ginn of 807 Brookwood, Chico, Ca.

Maize Days Scheduled Next Week at Friona

Area residents are invited to attend festivities during Friona Maize Days Sept. 4-8 in Friona.

The special celebration will begin on Tuesday, Sept. 4, with the Little Miss Friona contest, to be staged in the high school auditorium at 8 p.m. The pageant is under sponsorship of Progressive Study Club.

On the following day, another pageant will be held to determine the Maize Queen with talent competition slated at 4 p.m. and contest finals at 8 o'clock that evening in the school auditorium. Admission to the talent segment will cost $2 per person. All seats are reserved at $3 per seat at the Friona Chamber of Commerce for the evening pageant, to be held at the high school.

Highlighting Friday's activities will be the Senior Citizens Quilt Fair from 2-5 p.m. at the Friendship House. Also planned that day are a slow pitch 3-2 tournament, the Parmer County 4-H Project Fair and the Friona Chiefs football game that evening.

Maize Days will conclude with a full calendar of activities on Saturday. The day will begin with breakfast in the high school auditorium from 5:30-8:30 a.m. as guests of the American Legion. The Dixon Six-Mile Marathon race will begin at 8 a.m. and the Maize Days parade at 10 a.m. The Senior Citizens Quilt Fair is planned from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. at the Friendship House. Also, a pet show will be staged at 2 p.m. on the library lawn.

At noon Saturday, the Friona Volunteer Fire Department will serve barbecue in Friona City Park. Cost will be $2 per person. The Parmer County 4-H Project Fair will be open all day Saturday at the Community Center. To conclude the day, open barrel racing and steer roping will take place at 6 p.m. at the rodeo grounds.

To be held in conjunction with Maize Days, the Friona Evening Lions Club will sponsor a carnival that week in City Park.

AIM Kidnap Party Begins New Year

Members of Alpha Iota Mu chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority were surprised early Sunday morning with a "kidnap party."

The Beginning Day party was held in the home of the vice president, Charla Edwards, where members were treated to a breakfast buffet. Games were played and prizes given to the "sleepiest person" and "early morning glamor girl." A brief business meeting was conducted to present upcoming activities for the 1979-80 club year.

In attendance were Meses. Jim Bower, Julian Bodner, David Dodge, Tony Edwards, Ed Hammett, Steve King, Ron McNeese, Bob Nigh, Sid Shaw, Joe Wallace, Rick Ward and Miss Nancy Graves.

GOURMET BEAN SALAD

East Indian cuisine inspired the seasonings and garnishes.

2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 tablespoons commercial sour cream
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon (or more) curry powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
8 1/2-ounce can dark red kidney beans, drained and rinsed
1/2 of a large tart green apple, pared and diced (about 2-3rds cup)
1 cup diced celery
1 small scallion, minced
Lettuce
Garnishes: sliced banana, flaked coconut, salted peanuts and extra sour cream

Whisk together mayonnaise, sour cream, lemon juice, curry powder and salt. Stir in the beans, apple, celery and scallion. Serve on lettuce. Add the garnishes or pass them in small bowls. Makes 2 large or 3 medium servings.

This huge, handsome loaf may be served on an attractive cutting board.

10 1/2-ounce package hot roll mix
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Yellow cornmeal
2 tablespoons butter, melted

Make up the hot roll mix dough according to basic recipe on package, adding Parmesan with flour mixture. Turn out on a well-floured surface and knead a few minutes. Place in a greased bowl; turn to grease top; cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled - 30 to 45 minutes. Turn out again on a well-floured surface and knead again for a few minutes. Shape into a loaf. Place in a 9 by 5 by 3-inch loaf pan that has been greased and sprinkled with cornmeal; let rise again in a warm place until doubled - 30 to 45 minutes. With a sharp knife cut several diagonal slashes (each about 1 inch deep) across top of loaf; brush with butter and sprinkle with cornmeal. Bake in a preheated 375-degree oven 40 to 45 minutes. If loaf browns too much toward end of baking, place a sheet of foil over the top.

The name is given to the men and women who assemble the drill rigs, put the pipe in the ground and do everything else needed to keep the oil drill operating. Three to five are needed on every rig.

In the early 1970s, there was a glut of roughnecks in the United States, with some 22,000 of them unemployed. Currently, due to the expanding search for domestic oil, there aren't enough roughnecks to go around. More than 30,000 are employed but more are needed, Phillips Petroleum reports.

PROPER INFLATION NEW YORK (AP) — "Maintaining proper air pressure in new and retreaded tires not only extends tread wear, it's economical and saves oil as well," says Robert Berg.

Berg, coordinator of the Tire Retread Information Bureau (TRIB), says average inflation for most passenger tires is between 22 and 26 pounds a square inch. If a tire registers below that amount, "it generates excessive heat, which is a cancer that eats away at both the tire body and its tread and slowly destroys the integrity of the tire, and ultimately its safety."

"If a tire is overinflated, it eventually will fail as well. At the very least, it will prematurely wear out in the center of the tread," he adds.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas Attorney General Mark White, after inspecting beaches damaged by the run-away Mexican oil spill Ixtoc I, said last week he hasn't ruled out the possibility of suing Mexico and the company which drilled the well.

Such legal action might pit the state's top lawyer against the governor, if the investigation showed faulty equipment caused the blow-out. The drilling company, SEDCO, Inc. of Dallas, is owned by Texas Governor Bill Clements.

"We're not going to hesitate to try to discover the fault in the blowout," White said, but added it could be months before the blame can be pinpointed.

White acknowledged the possible suit is a touchy political issue with state as well as international implications.

The offshore well which blew out on June 3 is the largest in history and has covered thousands of square miles in the Gulf of Mexico with crude oil.

Officials say the well is expected to be capped sometime in mid-September, and that crude oil will continue to wash onto Texas beaches for three months after that.

White's lawsuit is being considered to collect damages that have already been inflicted on the Gulf Coast tourist, fishing and shrimp businesses and for clean-up costs, among other things. The oil spill which has covered 130 miles of Texas beaches has cost state taxpayers $2.2 million so far.

Clayton Launches Inquiry

Speaker of the House Bill Clayton has also begun a legislative inquiry into the damage caused by the spill. The House Environmental Affairs Committee, chaired by Rep. Bennie Bock, D-New Braunfels, held a public hearing Friday at Corpus Christi. The Speaker visited Port Aransas and Brownsville last week while acting as governor of Texas, the first time in history a House speaker has performed that chore. By a quirk of circumstances all three persons ahead of Clayton in the state's chain-of-command were out of the state: Clements was vacationing in New Mexico, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby was vacationing in Wyoming and Rep. Bill Bracklin, D-Dallas, senate president pro tem, was in Alaska.

Veto Costs $63 Million

The Legislative Budget Board announced Friday that a veto of new state construction projects could wind up costing the state $63.4 million in two years.

If the Legislature decides then that the construction projects which Clements vetoed in June are necessary, inflation and other costs will have driven up the price. Inflation will account for an extra $51.6 million and state fees for office rent will add almost another $12 million.

The LBB prepared the cost report for Hobby who said, "Most of them (construction projects) were originally recommended by the governor."

Clements to Europe Next

The governor and a delegation of Texas agriculturalists will visit the Soviet Union and four Eastern European countries during a three-week trip next month. Among those in the delegation are Carroll Chaloup-ka, president of Texas Farm Bureau; State Sen. Bob Price, R-Pampa; McAllen Mayor Othal Brand; and James H. Clements of Kingsville, president of King Ranch.

The entourage will visit Hungary, Poland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia.

Boy Can Play

Attorney General White, in an opinion released last week, ruled that a 16-year-old orphan can play football at Lorena High School near Waco.

The boy lived in an orphanage at Corsicana last year and played high school football there. He was adopted by a Lorena couple and wanted to play football at Lorena, but the University Interscholastic League said no.

White's opinion upheld a law passed in the recent session which exempted foster children from "durational requirements" which had previously denied participation in sports for up to three years.

Legislative Playwright

"The Kingfish," a play about the controversial one-man ruler of Louisiana, Huey P. Long, who was assassinated in 1935, opened in Washington, D.C. last week. Co-authors are a couple of Texans, Larry L. King and Ben Z. Grant.

Grant is a 10-year veteran legislator from Marshall. This is his first play. King is the author of the Broadway hit, "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas."

Houston Residents Warned By Ford

HOUSTON (AP) — Full-page advertisements run in local newspapers by the Ford Motor Credit Co. warned Houston-area residents to take a close look at that used truck or car being sold at a big discount.

It might be one of the 359 new cars and trucks severely damaged when Ford dealers in Dickinson and Baytown were hit by late-July flooding caused by tropical storm Claudette, said advertisements in Tuesday's papers.

They said some of those vehicles, which were sold under an agreement that stipulated they were to be dismantled and used for parts only, are turning up on used car lots.

The advertisements also publicized the vehicle identification numbers of the cars, which included Fairmonts, Fairmont Futuras, Mustangs, Pintos, Thunderbirds, Granadas, LTDs, LTD IIs, light vans and trucks.

Tom Foote, a spokesman for Ford Motor Credit of Dearborn, Mich., said a federal court suit filed in Little Rock, Ark., Friday seeks an injunction to block further sales of the vehicles to the public.

Foote said the suit was filed against Kenneth Stephens, who purchased the cars, and five other salvage dealers.

The sales contract agreed to by Stephens of Imboden, Ark., stipulated the vehicles were to be broken down and sold only for scrap or parts, Foote said.

An Englishman, John Lees, walked across the United States in 1972, covering 2,876 miles from Los Angeles to New York in 53 days, 12 hours, 15 minutes. He averaged almost 54 miles a day.

Landry Predicts Cowboys Will Be Ready For Opener

DALLAS (AP) — Backed into a corner by injuries, Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry says his team will come out swinging Sunday against the St. Louis Cardinals in the regular National Football League season opener for both clubs.

"We'll attack," Landry said Tuesday at his weekly news conference. "I won't be conservative. We probably can get deep (passes) more this week."

The Cowboys will be gunning for their 15th straight season-opening victory. Their last opening loss came in 1964 — against St. Louis.

Dallas' offense will show some new faces, or some old faces at new positions. Wide receiver Butch Johnson will miss the game with a broken finger. Tight end Jay Saldi could be called on to fill the slot, or Landry could reclaim waived players like Chris DeFrance.

Absent in the backfield will be Tony Dorsett, still suffering from a broken toe. Landry darkly said he must prepare for the possibility that Dorsett will miss the entire season. "I've got to concern myself with the possibilities," he said. "You want to make sure that thing (the toe) is well." Veteran Preston Pearson likely will see action at running back, as will rookie Ron Springs.

"Springs is tough, hard-nosed runner," Landry said. "Obviously, Springs is the No. 1 guy who can replace (Dorsett)."

Another offensive worry is lineman Rayfield Wright, suffering from a bruised leg bone.

Defensively, the loss for the season of All-Pro safety Charlie Waters still hurts. His backup, Randy Hughes, still has knee problems and might not play. That would mean move cornerback Bennie Barnes to safety and installing rookie Aaron Mitchell at cornerback.

Mitchell saw plenty of action at that position Saturday in the Cowboys' victory over Pittsburgh. Overall, Landry said Mitchell performed well.

Landry said the Cardinals are much improved over last season because of a beefed-up running game. "I'm not so much

HHS Fans Meet 'Hostile Herd'

Community support of the Hereford High School football program was evident Tuesday night as more than 700 boosters enjoyed a "Meet the Herd" night, sponsored by the Whiteface Booster Club.

Introductions of the three high school football teams—varsity, junior varsity and sophomores—and the serving of homemade ice cream, along with entertainment by the HHS band and cheerleaders highlighted the evening's festivities in Whiteface Stadium.

Head Coach Don Cumpton introduced his staff in both the high school and two junior highs after which the high school coaches introduced their respective players.

As each sophomore and JV player was introduced, his parents, sitting in the stands, also were acknowledged. The varsity parents joined their sons on the field during the introductions.

There are 59 members of the Shorthorns—the sophomore football team. There are 31 Longhorn JV members and 47 players on the Whiteface varsity.

Throughout the night, Booster Club memberships and caps, signifying a supporter of the "Hostile Herd," were on sale by the club.

After the introduction of players, ice cream, prepared by the parents of the football players, was enjoyed by the crowd.

The Herd varsity also showed fans its various offensive and defensive alignments.

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Rockets and the Los Angeles Lakers settled out of court a $1.8 million damage suit that involved the slugging of Rocket star Rudy Tomjanovich by former Laker Kermit Washington in a December, 1977 NBA game.

The settlement included a clause that prohibited disclosure of the amount of money the Lakers agreed to pay the Rockets. Houston had asked $900,000 in actual damages and $900,000 in punitive damages for the loss of Tomjanovich during most of the 1977-78 season.

Earlier, a five-man, one-woman jury awarded Tomjanovich $3.3 million for the injuries. He was given $1.8 in actual damages and $1.5 in punitive damages.

TCU Coach Miffed At Mustang Mania

By DENNE FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Texas Christian's annual football grudge match with Southern Methodist Sept. 18 has taken the appearance of a personal rivalry between TCU Coach F.A. Dry and Mustang mentor Ron Meyer.

"It's as close to a personal rivalry as I've ever had ... he took a cheap shot at my kid," Dry told writers on the Southwest Conference Press tour Tuesday.

Dry is no longer speaking to Meyer because of the statement made a year ago.

"I didn't say anything about it last year but now I'm...off," said Dry.

Meyer was quoted on the SWC tour last year as saying "I did F.A. a favor...he (Mike Dry) couldn't make our team anyway."

Dry's 18-year-old son Mike played for Meyer two years ago in six games. He transferred to TCU from SMU but sat out last season. The elder Dry said, "I heard Meyer said he did me a favor by taking Mike. He didn't do me a favor."

"Mike wanted to play in the Southwest Conference but he didn't want to play for me. He wanted to go to SMU. I called Ron and asked if it was okay."

"I told Ron I would take care of the scholarship. Mike was not on scholarship at SMU but he decided he wanted to quit. Meyer called the kid twice after he was turned down then took the cheap shot," Dry continued.

It was the second criticism of Meyer from a head coach during the SWC tour. Rice Coach Ray Alborn said Meyer ran the score up on the Owls in a 58-0 victory last year.

The feud between Meyer and TCU began in Amon Carter Stadium two years ago when the Horned Frogs scheduled their game at 4 p.m. and the tilt was played in near 100-degree heat.

"I nearly lost two kids that day and I'll never forgive TCU for that," Meyer was quoted about the incident a year ago.

Meyer told The Associated Press two weeks ago that Dry had been avoiding him.

"I sat down by F.A. at a football luncheon and he wouldn't speak," said Meyer. "I finally told him 'hello' and stuck out my hand and he shook it. But that was all."

Dry said Tuesday that he had not made an effort to talk to Meyer about the incident.

The younger Dry is currently running third-string outside linebacker.

The elder Dry said of his 6-4, 210-pound sophomore son, "I told him he would not get to start if he was equal to the other kids. He has to be better. He's not on a scholarship here because I can afford to send him to school. Besides, I want to save my scholarships."

Oliver Leads Rangers In Rout of Yanks, 10-2

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Al Oliver attacked New York Yankee pitching for a homer, two singles and a double Tuesday night and said they felt much better than the four hits he got the night before.

"Any time you get hits it's a good feeling, but it's especially good when you win," the 32-year-old outfielder said after the Texas Rangers exploded for eight runs in the sixth and seventh innings and beat the Yankees 10-2.

Texas had lost five in a row and 30 of 40 since the All-Star break. The Rangers have not won two in a row since Aug. 1. Jim Kern's victory in relief was his first since June 30. The right-hander gave up one hit, struck out two and walked none over the last four innings to raise his record to 11-4.

The contest was a 2-2 draw through 5 1/4 innings. Oliver singled to center to light the fuse that bombed the Yankees.

With one out, Buddy Bell and Willie Montanez hit back-to-back singles to score Oliver with the go-ahead run and they moved to second and third on catcher Jerry Narron's passed ball.

Chris Chambliss fielded Pat Putnam's grounder at first and threw to the plate in time to get Bell, but Narron dropped the ball in the collision.

Narron left the game to have a cut nose stitched, and Ranger Jim Sundberg singled Montanez home for the third run of the inning. With two out, ex-Yankee Mickey Rivers, tripled down the right field line to expand Texas lead to 7-2.

"Those are the Rangers I saw in spring training," Oliver said.

"What psyched us up was when Buddy went home. That's aggressive baseball. You can't tell when a guy will make a wild throw or somebody will drop the ball. When you're eight or nine games back, you can't sit back and wait for things to happen."

Montanez drilled his first American League homer in the seventh with two aboard to round out the scoring. Montanez, obtained earlier in the month from the New York Mets, watched the ball all the way before leaving the plate.

"I hit it pretty good. I knew it was out," said Montanez, who had five homers this year with the Mets.

Bell gave Texas 1-0 lead in the second. He set a Ranger record in the second with his 36th double of the season, moved up on Montanez's grounder and came home on Putnam's sacrifice fly.

The Yankees' only runs came in the third. Willie Randolph walked, moved to second on Piniella's infield single and scored on Chambliss' single to right. George Scott then hit a sacrifice fly to right to give New York a 2-1 lead.

Oliver tied it for Texas in the fourth with his 11th homer, a solo shot to right center.

City Tennis Champs Named

The Hereford Brand SPORTS

Willie Stargell of the Pittsburgh Pirates made the first hit ever at Shea Stadium in New York, a home run on April 17th, 1964, against the New York Mets.

The Hereford Closed Tennis Tournament, completed last weekend, had winners in 14 separate divisions with five groups not being played because of a lack of participants.

In the junior division, Laura Wood won the elementary girls singles with a 6-3, 7-6 match over Marley White. Jason Bodner won the elementary boys singles with a 6-0, 6-1 victory over David Manchec.

Shelly Gentry own the junior high girls singles with Vanessa Sims gaining second. In high school girls singles, Carol Zinser was extended to three sets before defeating Crystal Zinser, 6-1, 2-6, 6-2. Roy Rodriguez won the high school boys singles with a two set win over Adolpho Garcia.

The senior, or adult division winners had Karen Grimsley winning the women's A singles 6-4, 6-2 with Rueban Vargas taking the title in men's A singles 5-7, 7-5, 6-0 over David Zinser.

In men's B singles Rick Wood took first with a 7-5, 7-5 win over Dean Fox.

Doubles competition had the team of McWhorter-Allison win the women's A doubles, and Hopper-White win the men's A division. In men's B doubles, Weldon Knabe and Fox teamed to defeat Easley and Easley 6-4, 4-6, 6-0.

Mixed doubles winners had the team of Grimsley and Vargas win 6-4, 6-3 in the A division and Webb-Green win the B division 6-3, 6-3 over the team of Cassels-Zinser.

Rangers Sign Skipper

DALLAS (AP) — Manager Pat Corrales of the slumping Texas Rangers has agreed to sign a new one-year contract to pilot the American League club next season, team officials say.

Corrales, in his first full season as manager, was offered the one-year contract Monday by majority owner Brad Corbett, executive vice president Eddie Robinson said Tuesday. Corbett told the team before Monday night's loss to the Yankees that Corrales had been rehired for the 1980 season.

Corrales said he hasn't signed the new contract because a few things are being discussed. "We've got the financial part of it worked out," he said.

The rookie skipper replaced former Rangers Manager Billy Hunter on the last day of last season.

"There has never been any doubt in my mind that he (Corrales) would be back," Robinson said Monday. "This just makes it official."

Corbett assured the team during a Monday meeting that there would be no massive player moves this winter for the first time in a number of years.

Chris Chambliss fielded Pat Putnam's grounder at first and threw to the plate in time to get Bell, but Narron dropped the ball in the collision.

Narron left the game to have a cut nose stitched, and Ranger Jim Sundberg singled Montanez home for the third run of the inning. With two out, ex-Yankee Mickey Rivers, tripled

Angels, Tigers Feel They're The Best

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

The managers of the California Angels and Detroit Tigers are both talking tough, as befits their identical 71-61 records. There's just one small difference — the Angels lead the American League West by 1 1/4 games while the Tigers are fifth in the AL East, 15 games from the top.

"I think we're the best club in our division and I think we will win it. I think we have a better ballclub than either Kansas City or Minnesota," Jim Fregosi of the slumping Angels said Tuesday night following his team's sixth loss in seven games, a 12-2 drubbing at the hands of Sparky Anderson's streaking Tigers.

"I'll tell you what — I'm not afraid of Boston or Baltimore or any of them now if we can play like this," said Anderson, whose team has won four in a row and 12 of its last 15 games.

In other AL contests, the Milwaukee Brewers outslugged the Kansas City Royals 11-6, the Texas Rangers shelled the New York Yankees 10-2, the Chicago White Sox downed the Boston Red Sox 7-3 and the Oakland A's beat the Toronto Blue Jays 6-3. The Baltimore-Minnesota and Seattle-Cleveland games were rained out.

Jerry Morales drove in three Detroit runs with a double and single while Champ Summers, Alan Trammell and Jason Thompson homered for the Tigers. Despite the setback, the Angels remained 1 1/2 games ahead of Minnesota and Kansas City in the West Division. The Tigers broke the game open with a six-run third inning.

Brewers 11, Royals 6

Gorman Thomas, Sixto Lezcano and Don Money drove in two runs apiece as Milwaukee snapped the Royals' five-game winning streak. The Brewers, winning for the 14th time in 17 outings, moved past Boston into sole possession of second place in the AL East, 6 1/2 games behind Baltimore.

Houston Dumps Linebacker

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers are now trimmed to their fighting weight of 45 players since they cut three, placed two on injured reserve, reactivated one and added a former Dallas Cowboy.

The big surprise of the Oilers' final cuts was the dropping of six-year veteran linebacker Steve Kiner.

Kiner said it was no surprise to him, however, because he got an indication of it Aug. 18 when Art Sringer started against Dallas.

Also waived Monday by the Oilers were receivers Johnny Dirken and Robert Woods and rookie offensive tackle Wes Phillips.

But Phillips was reactivated Tuesday and the Oilers also picked up offensive guard Tom Randall, who was waived by the Cowboys.

Placed on injured reserve were offensive guards John Reihner, who underwent surgery during preseason training, and John Schumacher, who injured his back in Friday night's game with New Orleans.

Borg, Connors Win Matches

NEW YORK (AP) — Bjorn Borg says he's relaxed and not feeling any special pressure as he bids for his first U.S. Open championship. Defending champion Jimmy Connors, Borg's arch rival, hopes to change that over the next two weeks.

Borg, who frequently has to fight for his life in early matches of major tournaments, breezed past former NCAA champion Matt Mitchell 6-1, 6-1, 6-2 in a first-round match Tuesday at the U.S. Open tennis championships.

Connors, seeded second behind Borg, also won in straight sets, defeating Anand Amritraj of India 6-2, 6-4, 6-4.

Among the women, top-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd opened her quest for a fifth straight title with a 6-0, 6-0 romp over West Germany's Iris Riedel.

Crowds of 10,677 and 7,463 attended the initial day and night sessions of the $563,600 Open, which carries first prizes of $39,000 to the men's and women's singles champions who will be crowned Sept. 9.

Of the 12 seeded players to see action Tuesday, 10 came away with first-round victories. The only exception in the men's draw was Adriano Panatta of Italy, who lost to Kevin Curren, a South African who won the NCAA singles title this spring playing for the University of Texas, 6-3, 7-5, 7-6.

Last year's Cinderella star, Pam Shriver, was upset by little-known Julie Harrington 6-4, 6-1.

The 14th-seeded Shriver, who became the youngest finalist in Open history when she reached the women's singles final at the age of 16 last year, has been bothered by tendinitis in her right shoulder all summer and showed little of her usual effective net game. The 6-footer's serve, which normally sets up the rest of her game, also deserted her, and when the match was over she was visibly shaken as she walked off the court. Coach Don Candy's arm around her shuddering shoulders.

In other opening day matches on the men's side, fourth-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis easily beat Mark Edmonson of Australia 6-3, 6-2, 7-5; No. 6 Guillermo Vilas of Argentina defeated Onny Parun of New Zealand 6-1, 6-2, 7-6; No. 8 Victor Pecci of Paraguay outlasted Andy Kohlberg 3-6, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3, 6-4, and No. 10 Jose Luis Clerc of Argentina beat Bruce Nichols 6-1, 6-0, 6-4.

In other women's matches, No. 4 Virginia Wade of Britain beat Paula Smith 6-3, 6-3; No. 6 Dianne Fromholtz of Australia topped countrywomen Dianne Evers 6-3, 6-2; No. 7 Wendy Turnbull of Australia outlasted Marie Pinterova of Hungary 4-6, 6-3, 6-4; No. 8 Kerry Reid of Australia defeated Rosie Casals 6-1, 6-2; No. 9 Billie Jean King downed Zenda Liess 6-3, 7-5; No. 11 Kathy Jordan beat Betty Ann Stuart 6-4, 6-0, and No. 15 Ann Kiyomura topped Beth Norton 6-4, 6-1.

White Sox 7, Red Sox 3

Ross Baumgarten pitched seven strong innings and Chicago profited from four Boston errors in dumping the Red Sox back into third place.

A's 6, Blue Jays 3

Jim Essian's three-run homer gave Oakland a 3-1 lead in the fifth inning. However, Toronto tied it in the bottom of the fifth on Alfredo Griffin's inside-the-park homer and the A's took the lead for good an inning later on an RBI single by Rob Picciolo, who had four hits. Picciolo doubled a run home in the eighth and scored on Rickey Henderson's single.

Rick Langford scattered seven hits and struck out 10 in hurling his seventh consecutive complete game.

In other women's matches, No. 4 Virginia Wade of Britain beat Paula Smith 6-3, 6-3; No. 6 Dianne Fromholtz of Australia topped countrywomen Dianne Evers 6-3, 6-2; No. 7 Wendy Turnbull of Australia outlasted Marie Pinterova of Hungary 4-6, 6-3, 6-4; No. 8 Kerry Reid of Australia defeated Rosie Casals 6-1, 6-2; No. 9 Billie Jean King downed Zenda Liess 6-3, 7-5; No. 11 Kathy Jordan beat Betty Ann Stuart 6-4, 6-0, and No. 15 Ann Kiyomura topped Beth Norton 6-4, 6-1.

Expos Edge Astros Out of League Lead

MONTREAL (AP) — It was a classic confrontation between the crafty relief pitcher and the determined batter, but in the end Warren Cromartie of the Montreal Expos literally walked away with the decision.

After forcing Houston Astros' reliever Joe Sambito to throw nine pitches with the bases loaded in the ninth inning, Cromartie walked on a 3-2 delivery to force in the winning run in the Expos' 7-6 victory Tuesday night.

"Cromartie did a hell of a job," said Houston manager Bill Virdon, who saw his team slip out of first place in the West Division for the first time in 91 days.

"Sambito did well, too," he added. "He just couldn't get Cromartie to hit a fair ball. I'd like to see what he would have done if he had hit the ball fair but that's something you can't bring back."

The Expos' outfielder hit four fouls during his battle at the plate, including one that bounced out of first baseman

Cesar Cedeno's glove down the right-field line.

"The thing you have to do in that situation is not put any pressure on yourself," said Cromartie. "I was surprised how relaxed I was. I always try to put a lot of concentration on the pitcher I'm facing."

"I don't care how many foul balls I hit. The way I look at it, the pitcher is still ahead of you if he gets you to hit foul balls."

A lead-off single by Larry Parrish against reliever Peter Ladd, 1-1, and walks to Jerry White and pinch-hitter Chris Speier had loaded the bases with none out, but Rodney Scott and Dave Cash left the game-winning task to Cromartie when they lofted shallow fly balls to right field.

Manager Dick Williams said that Cromartie was a fitting hero in the drama since he had rallied the Expos from a 4-0 deficit with a three-run double against starter Joaquin Andujar in the third inning.

Andujar had been staked to the lead after a four-run outburst in the second, which included his own two-run home run. With a 6-0 career mark against the Expos, the result appeared inevitable.

But after the Astros moved ahead 6-4 in the fourth inning, highlighted by Denny Walling's RBI double, Montreal fought back to even the score in the eighth on Larry Parrish's 21st homer of the season and a fielder's choice by Dave Cash.

Meanwhile, 21-year-old David Palmer, who relieved starter Steve Rogers after four innings, baffled Houston batters on three hits until the Expos' ninth-inning heroics to gain his sixth victory in eight decisions.

His stellar relief job included a career-high eight strikeouts. Of the 51 pitches that he threw in the five innings, 43 were strikes.

While the loss was a costly one for the Astros, Virdon said the team had nothing to prove now that it was faced with the challenge of recapturing first place from Cincinnati Reds.

"In my mind, they've already proved their character," said Virdon of his ball club. "But they haven't really proved anything until they can win over an entire season."

Reds Rip Phillies, Take Half-Game Lead

The last time the Houston Astros were not first in the National League West, it was the Memorial Day weekend.

So today is a Red-letter day for Cincinnati.

After a long uphill climb, the Reds finally moved ahead of Houston Tuesday night with a 5-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies while the Astros were losing a 7-6 decision at Montreal.

"We're starting to come together now," said Reds Manager John McNamara after watching his team win its seventh straight game and 17th in the last 22. "We got very good pitching and three home runs."

The pitching came from rookie Frank Pastore and Tom Hume and the home runs from Joe Morgan, Ray Knight and Dan Driessen.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh defeated Los Angeles 4-1; Chicago beat San Diego 3-1; St. Louis nipped San Francisco 2-1 and Atlanta edged New York 6-4.

After Garry Maddox put the Phillies in front 1-0 with his 12th home run of the season in the second inning, Cincinnati tied the game on Morgan's homer opening the fourth. Knight homered leading off the fifth to put the Reds in front again, 2-1, and Cincinnati scored three more times in the sixth on Driessen's homer.

Time For A Quick-Load

Deaf Smith County Sheriff's Reserve member Bill Brady and DPS Trooper David Dodge of Hereford plop down on the mats and reach for quick-load devices before assuming the prone position in PPC police course pistol competition Saturday. The DSC Sheriff's Reserves sponsored the meet, held at the local police range. Dodge set a demanding pace in the competition, compiling an outstanding 518 total score in the event, fired with service revolvers and wadcutter ammunition. Such functions help sharpen the skill of area law officers and are an asset to their safety, as well as that of the populace they protect.

Grimsley Sports Analysis

Baseball More Than Hot Dogs, Apple Pie

In San Francisco, pitcher Vida Blue threatens to bring a shotgun to the lockerroom and "blow away" reporters who pester him. That failing, he says he might resort to a baseball bat. Teammate John Montefusco walks out after being fined $500 for sneaking a few nips on the team plane against rigid club rules. Some players are in open revolt against Giants manager Joe Altobelli.

Next scene: Somebody will write a book and call it "Candlestick Capers." Peanuts, popcorn, "getcha cold beer here" and baseball...

On an evening unfit for man or beast, on sloppy turf in a drenching rain, Reggie Jackson loses his footing and misplays a fly ball to right field. The crowd boos nastily and refuses to let up every time Reggie sticks his nose out of the dugout.

This is the man who was courted by Yankee owner George Steinbrenner, who signed for $2.9 million and struck three titanic home runs in the clinching game of the 1977 World Series — catalyst and drink-stirrer of the two-time world champions.

"Fans are blood-thirsty," once moaned John Thomas, the first seven-foot high jumper, after failing in the Olympic Games. "They're like spectators in the Roman Colosseum in the old days. You have to please them every day or they yell 'Off with the head.'" Chicken clowns, bedsheet signs, exploding scoreboards and baseball.

Ray Kroc, announcing a plan to spend $10 million to improve his San Diego ball club, was asked by the AP's Norman Clark if he would be interested in the Yankees' Graig Nettles and the Reds' Joe Morgan, who may be up for grabs. Kroc licked his lips like a man who had just devoured a Big Mac and said, in effect, "Sure, that would be nice." Boom! He hadn't had time to wipe his chin before Commissioner Bowie Kuhn had slapped him with a $100,000 fine. The offense: tampering.

That's a fragile no-no in free-market baseball these days — and a rather silly one. Kroc was not devious. He made no overt move to contact either of the super stars. The hamburger baron, realizing his error, quickly apologized. His sin was similar to that of Atlanta's maverick Ted Turner who, admittedly emboldened by a half-dozen martinis, three years ago expressed a similar, off-the-cuff interest in Gary Matthews. The yachtsman-sportsman had the wind knocked out of his sails with a $10,000 fine and a year's suspension.

Baseball should bring its archaic tampering rules into accordance with reality. If an owner actually schemes to lure a player from his current employer, throw the book at him. If he simply expresses an opinion, forget it.

Apple pie and baseball. Whatever became of Kate Smith, anyhow?

Laker Owners Agree to Pay

HOUSTON (AP)—The owners of the Los Angeles Lakers professional basketball team have agreed to pay an undisclosed amount of money to the Houston Rockets, thus ending after only one day of testimony a $1.8 million damage lawsuit.

The legal action was the second of two against the Lakers for injuries suffered by Rudy Tomjanovich, Rocket team captain and once top scorer, on the night of Dec. 9, 1977.

Tomjanovich was hit in the face by a punch from Laker forward Kermit Washington. The Houston star suffered multiple facial injuries, a fractured skull, a fractured jaw, a broken nose, and leakage of spinal fluid.

Earlier, a five-man, one-woman federal court jury awarded Tomjanovich $3.3 million in damages.

The Rocket suit, being heard by the same jury, asked for $900,000 in actual damages and $900,000 in punitive damages for the loss of Tomjanovich for most of the 1977-1978 season.

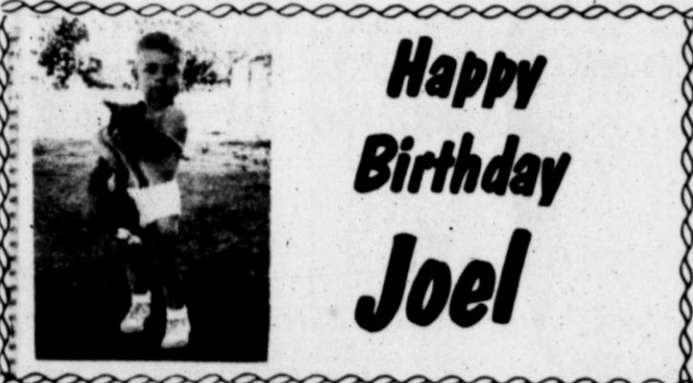

Washington, now a member of the San Diego Clippers, was not a defendant in either suit.

Laker attorney Robert Dunn said the award to Tomjanovich, which was $600,000 higher than the plaintiffs had asked, would be appealed because "it is obvious the jury over-reacted. There would have been quite a bit of difference if the case had been tried somewhere beside Houston."

The settlement of the second suit was unknown even to U.S. District Judge John V. Singleton.

The judge, in dismissing the jury Tuesday, said, "a settlement has been reached and the amount will not be disclosed to anyone, not even to this court."

Local Chapter to Host State WIFE Convention

The Deaf Smith County Chapter of Women Involved in Farm Economics (WIFE) will host the State WIFE Convention here Sept. 7-8, according to local WIFE president Wilma Allred.

A called meeting of the local chapter has been scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 6, at 8 p.m. at the Hereford State Bank, in preparation for the state convention proceedings.

Special speakers will highlight the state WIFE Convention here.

Dr. Lance Crombie will be the featured speaker for the Sept. 8 banquet.

Dr. Crombie is a Minnesota farmer who holds a Ph.D. and who has worked extensively with alcohol fuels made from farm products.

He has operated his entire farm and home on alcohol-based fuels for two years, and will outline details of the operation during the upcoming session.

State Rep. Betty Denton of Waco will be the featured speaker for a Sept. 8 luncheon at the Community Center.

Ms. Denton is the only woman member of the state agriculture committee, and was in Hereford during the past winter for a special hearing on corn production problems in the area.

Both the banquet and luncheon programs will be open to the public on a "dutch treat" basis, according to local WIFE officials.

A legislative workshop for WIFE members is set for the morning of Sept. 8. Delegates to the convention will get word on how they can present area interests to their legislators more effectively.

An election of state officers and transaction of official business is also expected to occur during the upcoming convention.

Membership in WIFE is open to all women directly involved in agriculture, or who have an interest in agri-business related activities.

Gasohol derived from farm products and alternative crops will receive special emphasis during the annual Deaf Smith County Crops Tour scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 6.

The tour is sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Agriculture Committee and the County Crops Committee.

This year's tour will begin with a one hour session on gasohol, scheduled for the Community Center at 1 p.m.

According to County Agent Justin McBride, the various methods of making alcohol for use in gasohol will be discussed during that portion of the crops tour activities.

Individuals experienced in the field of alcohol production will be on hand to explain the various processes and to outline procedures from on-farm facilities for making fuel to major production plants.

"This session won't deal with the organizations, but simply with costs, methods and what type of production can be expected from various commodities," stated McBride.

Following the hour-long session on gasohol, tour participants will take to the road for an afternoon of viewing crops and hearing presentations.

Corn varieties will be examined on the Charles Schlabs and Kenneth Christie farms, where approximately 100 corn varieties will be on display for observation by area farmers.

A total of 12 soybean varieties will also be on display at the Schlabs farm, and farmers will also have an opportunity to view the plant sandhorn, which is a new bloatlless legume just making its appearance in the local area.

A topic of discussion during another tour stop will be checking the operating efficiency of irrigation wells.

A stop at the Bobby Veigel farm will highlight the use of furrow diking in grain sorghum to take advantage of available rainwater and cut down on the requirements for irrigation.

At the Veigel farm, alternate rows have been dammed in the crop, and the increased utilization of rainwater with this method has cut irrigation requirements down to one application.

Sunflowers will be discussed as a crop which has greater potential in Deaf Smith County than most agriculture officials here originally considered.

A sorghum variety demonstration will be highlighted on the Jerry Roberts farm, where some 18 varieties of sorghum will be available for viewing.

A demonstration on controlling field bindweed in roadside ditches will also be featured, in addition to a discussion of weed control through the use of a wick applicator with Roundup in cotton and soybeans.

The tour will be carried live on local radio, and according to McBride, a bus will be available to those needing transportation on the tour.

The tour is expected to conclude around 5 p.m.

Thurber Heads Roundup

Jim Alexander of Abilene, general chairman of the Cattlemen's Round-Up for Crippled Children, has named Bud Thurber as area chairman.

Cattlemen wishing to donate livestock or equipment to benefit the West Texas Rehabilitation Center should contact an area chairman or the Central Office of WTRC, 4601 Hartford, Abilene, Texas 79605.

The 20th annual Round-Up will raise money to help the handicapped being treated at WTRC's three campuses in Abilene, San Angelo and Snyder.

"We appeal to every rancher, farmer and stockman to join in the Round-Up to help crippled youngsters," Alexander said.

"We anticipate a record number of calves, horses, and other livestock donated for sale—with all money going directly to the Rehab Center to provide treatment programs for the handicapped."

Dates for the sales are cattle sale, September 24, Abilene Auction; horse sale, October 6,

Checking Grass Control

Local agriculturalists examine control of watergrass afforded by herbicides during a stop on a field tour sponsored by Funk Seed International and Ciba-Geigy here Tuesday. Demonstrations on the new Milocep/Herbshield program for more effective grassy weed control were a highlight of the tour, and farmers also had an opportunity to ask questions concerning sorghum varieties from Funk Seeds. [Brand photo by Jim Steiert]

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Donald Duck, the star of 128 Walt Disney cartoons, has turned 45 years old. His first screen appearance was June 9, 1934, as a bit player in "The Wise Little Hen" but, according to the man who knows him best, Donald's real personality didn't develop until his second film, "Orphan's Benefit."

The man is Clarence Nash, Donald's voice in every film.

Nash, 74 and retired for nine years, said Donald's voice had been inspired by a pet goat he had raised as a boy in Independence, Mo., that made "a strange noise when it was hungry."

The population of Michigan's Upper Peninsula — which is the size of Massachusetts, Delaware, Rhode Island and Connecticut combined — is only 330,000, reports National Geographic.
